Rutan Estates: Will It Ever Become More Accessible?

When its developer the Walter Hoppel Co. began construction of Rutan Estates some five years ago, he never realized what trouble and inconvenience a slight omission in the construction plans would make for homeowners.

Last Thursday Town Manager John R. Burnett, accompanied by John Bass, a member of the board of directors of Rutan Estates; Ralph Vava, Street Department; and Raymond F. Daly, Town Engineer, took a stroll through the 275-home area across the Third River and had a first hand look at the flaws, inconveniences, and, as some residents claim, the health hazards produced by a stagnant river which winds its sluggish way through the area.

What, No Bridge?

The main bone of contention is the lack of a bridge across the Third River at Carolyn Street. Without it, residents are forced to either walk nearly a mile to Franklin Avenue where the near-bus line operates regularly, or to make a five minute drive to reach a point directly opposite the homes.

"Why, we'd even settle for a foot-bridge," said Bass as he looked hopefully across the river toward Franklin Avenue to block away. Carolyn St. comes to a dead end at the river on both sides.

A bridge had been part of the construction plans, many residents had thought. But later developments, proven in court, said no direct route to the homes. The contractor was free from any commitments to construct a bridge. The next step — and it could be a costly one — would be construction of a bridge at town expense, $40,000, estimated Daly.

Police and Fire

Another facet of the argument for a bridge is the matter of police and fire protection. There is bridge," he said.

But Burnett said he wouldn't recommend that just now. He plans to make a more thorough study of the matter later. "I wouldn't want to put any stress (tax-wise) on property owners," he said.

There have been no serious fires in the Estates since the fact there were indications of their construction. "They need a land settling, curbing decaying, and broken concrete in an otherwise well-kept home area. Most of the repairs, said Burnett, were easily corrected. "A 'hot patch' would do it," said Vava. Other residents claimed "rodents" infested the river's edge. But there was no evidence to back this up.

Cancer Fund Is In Need

Strumolo Urges Groups To Increase Donations To Eradicate Disease

A new appeal for citizen participation in the 1963 Cancer Crusade was voiced today by Belleville Community Chairman Vincent T. Strumolo of 64 Franklin Street.

Strumolo said he was still hopeful the $150,000 goal of the Essex County Chapter, American Cancer Society will be reached by the June 1 deadline.

"In our efforts to insure an effective Cancer research and clinical program that will save the lives of 200,000 Americans in the coming year, we are now instituting a special 'Brigade of 1000,'" the chairman said.

"We will register in this brigade those individuals and firms which will contribute sums ranging from $100 upward to make up what appears to be a sizeable deficit in the 1963 Crusade," the chairman said.

"But the main hope of beating Cancer lies with those citizens who can offer even smaller investments, $1 and upward, to make sure that the present and future generations will be protected from a dread disease which need not exist."

Strumolo asked that all contributions be sent to the home of the chairman or to the American Cancer Society headquarters in Essex at 336 South Harrison St., East Orange.

Books Given To Library By Girl Scouts, Residents

Girl Scout Troop 967 has given the book Camping and Outdoor Cooking to the Belleville Public Library.

The presentation was made April 24th during the library's Family Night program. Speaking for the troop was Girl Scout Troop Secretary, Linda Miller. Other troop members present with their leader, Mrs. A. T. Spooner, were: Linda Miller, Lorraine Lavallo, Trudy Spooner, Tony Spooner, and Diane Walker.

Camping and Outdoor Cooking was especially selected by the girls in consultation with the library because it filled a need in the library collection and also related to the scouting activities and interests of the girls themselves. (Continued On Page 3)

In another seven weeks Paul Anthony Brennan, now a spry 60 years of age, will leave his big mahogany desk at School Three and head for home for the last time.

X-Ray Mobile Unit Will Be In Town May 15-16 For Free Examinations

Wednesday, May 15 will mark the 20th Free Community X-Ray examinations sponsored by the Belleville-Tutty Tuberculosis Association.

The mobile X-Ray unit will be at Brighton Avenue and Harrison Street in the Soho district from 10 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. and at the No. Three Firehouse in Silver Lake on Franklin Street from 2 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Thursday, May 16, the unit will be stationed in front of Town Hall from 2 p.m. to 8 p.m.

He will be taking it easy for awhile after answering the school bell for over three decades in the Belleville School System. He is going to retire.

In an informal letter to Dr. Frank M. Durkee, Superintendent of Schools dated April 23, Brennan expressed his sense of loss at leaving the system. In it he recalled his happy days at the school.

The Fond Memories

"How can I tell you how I feel when some little child yells from across the street, 'Hello, Mr. Brennan?'" he wrote. "It is impossible to describe how one feels when a little first grade girl makes believe she wants to whisper a secret, but gives you a kiss on the cheek instead!"

He recalled registering the children of many of his former students who had since married and formed families. In a gentle bit of whimsy, he said: "Now I ask you, shouldn't a fellow get out before he starts registering (Continued On Page 3)"

Promotions And Training Keep Officers On Alert

Defective John W. Dean, a veteran police officer with 17 years service, added still more information on his favorite subject — completed a three-week course at the New York City Police Academy.

Dean, 42, was promoted to sergeant last week by order of Police Chief Charles H. McGinnis, who correctly figured Dean was top man for the position.

McGinnis, who is a 33 year man himself, makes sure his 34 man department stays in tip-top shape by scheduling them for a two-hour session in classes being held at the Pistol Range near Rutan Estates.

There senior officers, such as Detective Dean, who are particularly qualified for certain aspects of police work, instruct their fellow officers in their particular field.

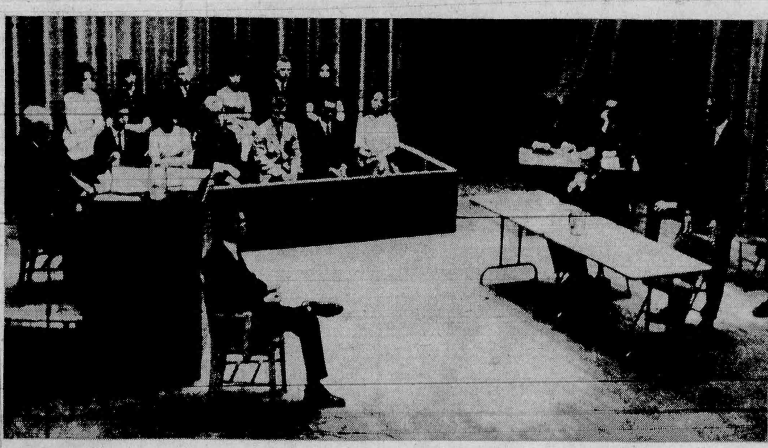

They also get in some pistol practice.

The courses are scheduled to end — temporarily — next month police work — when he recently

Belleville Kids Will Be On Television Program

All dressed up and ready to go are 26 members of the Belleville Elementary school band who will appear on the Sonny Fox "Wonderama" program Sunday morning, May 19. Directing the youngsters will be Joseph Sellitti, who stands at right rear. The band will make its last appearance of the season this evening at 8:30 p.m. at School 8 before PTA members.

Belleville elementary school dance band, under the direction of Joseph Sellitti, will perform on the Sonny Fox, "Wonderama" TV program, Channel 5, Sunday morning, May 19.

The band is comprised of outstanding instrumentalists from Belleville elementary schools. The music these youngsters play and the skill they have achieved easily won them first place in the auditions. During their last performance April 5, at Belleville High School, they imitated some of the great bands of the past, among them Harry James, Tommy Dorsey, Paul Whiteman, Glenn Miller and others. A part of the same program paid tribute to one of America's most famous composers, George Gershwin.

Included in the musical salute were "Embraceable You," "Someone to Watch Over Me," and "Summertime." As a finale the band develops and expounds a typical "jam session" in the same manner as a professional group.

They're Unique

These Belleville youngsters are fortunate to receive this phase of music education, because they are being exposed to one of the few cultures which can truly be said to have started in this country. Their instructor is a person well qualified to instruct a group in this form of music.

Sellitti has played with many of the name bands his students imitate. He also played for years on TV as well as radio. This professional background coupled with his ability to arrange for dance band, plus his music education at Montclair State College and New York University enabled Sellitti to produce this band from Belleville students.

Members Listed

Members of the band are: Paul Skakum, Edward Muscara, Richard Eder, Joseph Mancuso, Alan Greco, Edward Albanese, Mary Dopot, and James Limpert.

Louis Luzzi, Michael Kordansh, Toni Spooner, Ray Kraszewski, Al Cutro, Vincent Cutro, James Rozek, and Lisa Mauriel.

Joy Ross, Leonard rno, John Vitkosky, Gail Ewing, Thomas Ewing, Randi Rubin, David Halpern, Joseph Scala, Richard Baker, and Brian Taylor.

Proud Conductor

"Sure I'm proud of this group," Sellitti said. "But I'm mostly happy because of our string section. It is a known fact that there is an acute shortage of string players in this country. In fact, the major symphonies have to import string musicians from foreign countries today.

"Well," he concluded, "there is no shortage here in Belleville, and I'm happy to say that even our dance band has a violin section and it is the strongest section in the orchestra.

We can thank Schools Superintendent Dr. Frank M. Durkee, Dr. Samuel W. Peck, director of music, our senior member instrumental teacher Frank Scelba, and the newest member Bernie Evans, he said.

The Dance Band will also perform at the P.T.A. program May 9, 8:30 p.m. at School No. 8. This will be the orchestra's last appearance of this school year.

YOU AND YOUR INSURANCE

(A public service column about all forms of insurance.)

"All Risk" Policies Provide Coverage For Most Mishaps

"What kind of insurance would provide coverage if a gust of wind came through an open door and knocked a vase from a table?" a homeowner inquires.

An "all risk" type of policy would cover the loss described. All risk coverage is available under the broadest form of the homeowners policy and is included in personal property and personal articles floater policies.

Persons carrying these insurance forms are reimbursed for all losses except those specifically excluded under terms of the policy. Such policies often have a deductible feature, which means the policyholder sustains part of the loss and the insurance company pays the rest. Deductibles for household property generally range from $25 to $100.

The accident cited above would not be covered under extended coverage endorsements to fire policies or "named perils" homeowners policies. These forms would provide payment only if the damage were caused by a wind-storm—and a gust of wind through an open door could hardly be described as a wind-storm. A homeowner would be reimbursed, however, if a full fledged storm blew a door open and the vase was broken. In these policies, too, there often is a deductible for wind-storm damage. Deductibles usually can be eliminated by paying an additional insurance premium.

The Cops: Vital And Unappreciated

This week — sandwiched in between National Boney Week, National Eat Plump Week, and other worthy causes — is Police Week, dedicated to a much maligned, misunderstood, and one of the most important segments of any society anywhere.

Like Kipling's immortal soldier, the police officer is seldom thought of until he is needed. And then a fickle public wants him badly. When other members of the municipal family get pay increases, who is usually at the bottom of the list? You guessed it: The Cops.

Belleville's busy patrolmen are on the job long after you've turned off the television set, put away the beer bottles, and headed for bed. They prowls the streets nighty, alert for illegal activity; on the watch for fires (they're usually first on the spot); and are stationed at school crossings where they are helped by women crossing guards.

They track-down the wily felon, escort the dead to their last resting place, and help keep the crowd moving at sporting events. During the past few weeks the Belleville Police Department has been instrumental in breaking up the ghastly narcotic pushers who infest the area.

Other cops are busily building a baseball field for the kids, which will go just fine with the uniforms they have provided the kids.

But, sad to say, most short-memoried citizens can only recall the traffic ticket given for overtime parking; the brisk officer who may have given them a lecture for jay-walking; or the policeman who handed them a ticket for driving too fast.

Mother's Day Coming Up

Next Sunday will be an auspicious occasion.

It's Mother's Day, the day when Mom becomes Queen For A Day.

Recently a statistician enumerated the different varieties of services required to properly run a home, plus the salary guide required to pay for such services. The figure was astronomical! And Mom, he pointed out, performed all those chores for free. In addition to several which no money could buy.

So as soon as you put down your copy of The Belleville Times, hustle off to a local store and get something for Mother. Candy, perhaps. Even a card, but get something! After all, she's the only one you are likely to have at this late date.

And Don't Forget Your Canine Buddy

Bowser came in for some attention this week too. In addition to all the other "weeks," it's National Be Kind To Animals Week. It is unthinkable that a normal human being would be unkind to any animal, but, alas, the Humane Society has records of ill-treatment coming in regularly.

Most of the cruelty is unintentional. Improper feeding, a severe restriction of movement, the unreported illness of abandoned animals — they all can be blamed on human thoughtlessness.

Children (bless their little hearts!) are also much to blame after they have been given living pets by fond parents. With a very short span of interest, these animals are soon discarded by children in a strange world where they are unable to shift for themselves.

Make this week one that will last ALL year.

"Push Belleville Ahead"

The Belleville Chamber of Commerce is in the process of embarking upon an aggressive membership drive and has taken as its theme "Push Belleville Ahead."

We like the theme. Our constant complaint has been that for too long Belleville has stood still. And when a town — or for that matter — when anything, or anyone stands still retrogression steps in.

Since the first of the year signs have appeared on the Belleville horizon suggesting that Belleville is once again on the move.

Our Town Council, elected less than one year ago, has provided our community with four months of action devoid of the petty squabbles that attended each town meeting for the better part of the first six months of the new Council's term.

By unanimous vote the Town Council hired a new Town Manager, John R. Burnett, former Finance Director for the City of Newark. Mr. Burnett is a mature 57. His presence in Town Hall appears to provide city hall with a stabilizing influence.

Last February the voters went to the polls and reelected to the school board two incumbents who were being challenged by Citizens Tax Council sponsored candidates. Incumbents Ernest Arvidson and Nicholas Juliano shellacked the opposition by an almost two-to-one majority. The result witnessed the demise of the Citizens Tax Council as an effective political force brought more stability to the community.

Now the Chamber of Commerce is moving ahead to push Belleville ahead. The highly successful Cherry Blossom Festival, sponsored jointly by the Junior and Senior Chambers of Commerce projected the community's best face. The Cherry Blossom Parade was "the best ever."

The Chamber's expanded program of work should receive the unqualified support of every Belleville merchant and resident.

It is a very feasible program. It could work if Belleville citizens and merchants adopt the program as their very own. Informal inquiries indicate the Town officials support the Chamber's objectives.

The 18-point program reads:

—Advertise Belleville as the "Cherry Blossom" town.

—Continue improvement of the shopping area

—Push for more "Off-Street" parking

—Push progress through action for Belleville by originating projects to stimulate Civic Pride and United Effort by All for the Good of All

—Improve transportation in town, especially residential to business areas

—Seek environment improvement as a matter of economics and civic pride (New store fronts, more cherry trees, shrubbery, etc.)

—Work for modern street lighting for residential areas

—Work for improved auto parking conditions

—Aid business and industry to expand by providing additional services from the Chamber.

—Work to improve city's spiritual, cultural and civic standards

—Publish a "Retailer" information bulletin for the benefit of local merchants

—Establish a "Solicitation Control Program" in the Chamber (to keep down useless or racket types of solicitation)

—Print and distribute "Welcome to Belleville" signs, or "It's Nice to Have You In Belleville"

—Conduct "Clean Up, Paint Up, Fix Up" weeks

—Publish a monthly bulletin to all Chamber members

—Establish a Bureau of Information for the convenience of tourists, salesmen, prospective business and industrial visitors, providing brochures on population, available business sites, tax rate, industrial payrolls, income per family, schools, colleges and churches

—Work for adoption of a bold and dynamic Master Plan for Belleville's development

—Develop co-operative night shopping program

The above program is a goal. Do you want to make Belleville a better place in which to live and work? What are you going to contribute to make the Chamber's program a fact? Will you do your part?

ROUQUETS AND BRICKBATS FROM SILVER LAKE AREA

To the Editor, The Times-News: I agree wholeheartedly with your editorial entitled "The Town Mourns Its Loss." I had known Mr. Shawger since 1907, when he first came to Belleville to teach. I was in his first class.

In my opinion, Mr. Shawger was a very efficient teacher, a fine citizen and, above all, a gentleman. More than this can be said of him, but I am sure that his death was a great loss to the community.

However there was one sentence in your editorial which burned me to a crisp. This was the sentence: "Mr. Shawger was a very efficient teacher." I was seated at the speakers' table and next to me was Ralph Allaire, then President of the Board of Education. The applause which followed was both spontaneous and overwhelming. I was seated at the speakers' table and next to me was Ralph Allaire, then President of the Board of Education. The applause which followed was both spontaneous and overwhelming.

When Mr. Pico suggested the change in name, the applause which followed was both spontaneous and overwhelming. I was seated at the speakers' table and next to me was Ralph Allaire, then President of the Board of Education. The applause which followed was both spontaneous and overwhelming.

The resolution was drawn up, presented to the board at the next meeting, and passed on unanimously.

My aim in writing you is to set the record straight. One of town has been buffeted about plenty over the years, and it is time you folks down below give credit where credit is due. So, since we were first with the idea of renaming our school the James G. Shawger School please, for Heaven's sake, don't give credit for it to someone else. Now a word of praise for the new two-column spread of your editorials. They are now more appealing to the eye and easier to read.

Sincerely, MICHAEL CAPANEAR, 34 Franklin Street.

I WANT CREDIT, CRIES THIS RUDDING EXPERT!

To the Editor, The Times-News: Reference: The Belleville Times News, Thursday, May 2, 1963, column "Inside Belleville," p. 6, paragraph 6: "The float, upon which they posed advertised a popular brand of beer which might have caused Peter some thought as to what competitive brands might think."

Messrs. Orechio, Adams and "Aoon," pseudonymous author of the above mentioned column:

The quoted paragraph is irreparably cute.

I have written to Mr. Rodino and to Ballantine to set the record straight, now I will tell you what your reporter could have learned by asking a very few questions. The float was designed by T. J. Gilheany, graduate of Columbia University's School of Architecture. It was built by a small hardworking crew of Belleville Jaycees. It was financed by the Belleville Chapter of the Jaycees. It was advertising the beauties, Belleville and the Cherry Blossom Festival—not beer.

Would it not have been better to have told the truth, that the float was designed by a resident of Belleville, in Belleville as a sort of present to the people of Belleville, in honor of the Cherry Blossom Festival?

Instead you abuse the freedom of the press by telling an untruth that is a credit to no one and an insult to me. It is no way to treat budding professionals if you expect them to stay in Belleville.

Very truly yours, THOMAS J. GILHEANY, 52 Branch Brook Drive, Belleville, P.S. Some free advice on English usage. According to good English usage, articles, prepositions and other unimportant words are not capitalized in headlines and titles unless they stand as the first word on a line. See any English grammar or call the local High School English Department if you don't believe me.

(Editor's Note: "Inside Belleville" is not written by a regular staffer, but, we will keep a closer watch on his syntax. We also consider ourselves lucky, indeed, to have such a skilled — and modest — artisan in our midst.)

By MAX BECK

Our shop repairs about twice as many "portable" TV sets than others, although there are many times more other TV sets than portables in use.

What does that indicate? Simply this, portables don't last as long as regular sets. In order to make it "portable," something has to be left out, and what is in there, has to be jammed together much more than in regular sets, where there is lots of room. In many sets the ventilation is poor. A lot of heat is kept in the set and if there is anything destructive to the parts that make up a TV set, it is heat. Some of the metal cases get so hot that you can hardly touch them. You can imagine how much hotter these sets are inside and what this heat will do to wax condensers, wax impregnated coils and transformers. To top it off, in some sets the circuits are overloaded to capacity. Under these conditions they are, of course, much more vulnerable to breakdown than if there would be a margin of reserve.

We have seen many sets which were just completely worn out after 2 years of use. It costs at least as much to repair a portable than a regular set. Most of the time the parts are buried and almost inaccessible. Even the chassis in a number of sets are jammed in so tight that it takes 2 men to pull them out of the case. This will get even worse, since some manufacturers are coming out with smaller picture sizes.

We can only advise to use a portable TV set "conservatively." Not hours and hours without interruption, day in day out, that's what we mean. And if there is no real need for a set to be portable, you will be much better off to buy for a few dollars more a regular set. In the long run it will be cheaper.

Rodino Gives Academy Exam Information

Representative Peter W. Rodino, Jr., (D., N.J.) has announced that the U. S. Civil Service Commission will conduct its annual examination for Congressional appointments to the United States Naval, Air Force, Merchant Marine and Military Academies, on Monday, July 8.

There will be two vacancies to the U. S. Military Academy at West Point; one vacancy to Annapolis with five alternates; one vacancy to the Air Force Academy with five alternates; and one vacancy to the Merchant Marine Academy.

Applicants interested in competing for these appointments should submit their requests to Congressman Rodino not later than June 1.

Applicants to the service academies, said Congressman Rodino, "are made on the basis of the results obtained in competitive examination conducted by the U. S. Civil Service Commission."

Requirements for applicants include their being residents of the 10th Congressional District, which includes both Nutley and Belleville.

In addition to being in excellent physical condition, all candidates must be not less than 17 years of age, and must not have reached their 22nd birthday at the time of admittance to the Academies.

For full informational data, interested applicants should write to: Honorable Peter W. Rodino, U. S. House of Representatives, Washington 25, D. C.

Strong differences were resolved without compromising principles because the new council's dedication to serve the people surrounded other considerations. Now, unlike West Orange and Irvington, still beset with strife, Belleville is forging ahead with a new found harmony and unity of purpose that bodes well for the town's future. Gone is the petty bickering and the sinister cabals that used the old commission form so long.

Picking a new and widely experienced manager with a wealth of ken about municipal administration in the person of John R. Burnett has lighted the way for a brighter tomorrow in the running of the town's affairs.

With a new found leadership swathed in the refreshing climate of cordial cooperation taking over things are surely looking

Time passes rapidly in the whirlwind of local politics. It seems only yesterday that the voters trocked to the polls to elect the greatest and most shocking turn of events in Belleville's turbulent political life.

The tempo of present Town Hall happenings has slowed considerably after the maddening pace that engulfed the old campaigning of that epoch "runoff" which resulted in a housecleaning of the old guard in the citadel of Belleville's democracy.

A change in the type of government didn't change the type of argument and controversy that goes hand in glove with politics. Belleville was no different than West Orange and Irvington, communities who had also switched from the commission form of government. Bickering and jealousies clouded the atmosphere and the pace of progress was deliberate and sluggish.

The defeated and vanquished old timers who had ruled the roost at the Hall for over 30 years tried to make capital of the differences brought about by the growing pains experienced by the new incumbents. They cast gibes and slurs at the new regime and tried their best to stir up controversy, which only the gullible fell for.

Racked by senseless bickering and needless conflict, stemming from personality differences and a clashing of opinion over administration, the status of Belleville's new government tottered, like those of Irvington and West Orange. Only level heads and a sincere dedication to get the new administration moving forward stemmed the tide and brought new hope for a better Belleville.

Strong differences were resolved without compromising principles because the new council's dedication to serve the people surrounded other considerations. Now, unlike West Orange and Irvington, still beset with strife, Belleville is forging ahead with a new found harmony and unity of purpose that bodes well for the town's future. Gone is the petty bickering and the sinister cabals that used the old commission form so long.

Career Night At BHS Is Well Attended Here

By JACKIE FOSTER

A Career Night, sponsored by Belleville High Guidance Department, was held Wednesday evening, April 24.

The program was open to all juniors and sophomores and their parents. The program commenced at 7:30 p.m. and ended at 8:30 p.m. It was the purpose of this program to give students an insight on occupations they are interested in by providing an authority to speak on each topic.

Prior to the day of the program, questionnaires were distributed among the students. They were asked to check a first and second occupation they were interested in. The Guidance Department then tried to obtain experts in the majority of the requested fields.

These speakers were stationed in different rooms and notices informing the students where the various occupations could be found were distributed. If a student's first choice was designated, he was expected to go to that room. Among the occupations available were: artist, accountant, beautician, chemist, scientist, engineer, nurse, office worker, skilled trades, and teaching.

We're Not Bragging, But..

By PAULINA RUBINO

In the past few weeks outstanding performances by the B.H.S. cheerleaders and twirlers merited congratulations.

These girls have practiced many long hours perfecting routines and working hard on techniques. As a result, Belleville High School now has three new trophies of which to be proud.

The first goes to the twirling squad under the able direction of Majorette Judi Underwood and the assistance of co-captains Jan Wittik, Marcia Peck, and Judy Treméle. The squad entered into competition recently for the first time at Franklin. After passing a rigid inspection of uniforms and overall appearance, the squad went into their routine.

The result was a trophy for third place, which is exceptionally good for as large a squad as ours — 32 girls — entering competition for the first time. Schools from all over the state and some out-of-state schools also entered.

Then our cheerleaders went into action.

On April 25, our squad competed against six other schools at North Arlington High. Much preparation went into the cheers the girls led and the fruits of their labor were justly rewarded. The squad was judged on formation, pep, smoothness, general presentation, acrobatics, and uniforms. In the team cheers our squad placed third.

On the program was an individual cheer. Our entry was Barbara Russo who did an original version of the gridiron cheer. At Belleville, is the sponsor of the Key Club at the high school.

John Ventura, Robert Cook, and Michael Rosamillar are members of the liaison committee of the Kiwanis Club of Belleville which works with the Belleville High School Key Club.

High Speed Gets Young Driver Stiff Penalty

A contrite teenager stood before Magistrate Edward J. Abramson in Municipal Court last Thursday morning and heard himself sentenced to one year in jail after he was found guilty of speeding 75 mph in a 50 mph speed zone. The sentence was later suspended.

"Why," inquired Abramson of Richard A. Costello, 17, 425 DeWitt Avenue, "were you driving that fast?"

"Well," explained Costello, "there wasn't anyone else on the road." But a Belleville patrol car quickly bagged the speeding car and hailed Costello into court. He told the magistrate he was entering service shortly. The best time to practice economy is when you still have something to practice with — not after you're broke.

Golden: Promises And Economy...

Lets Save Money, Fellas; We Could Use Planning, Too

Councilman James R. Golden called on his fellow councilmen last week to remember their pre-election campaign promises; institute greater economies; and support their efforts to bring order to town government.

He echoed Town Manager John R. Burnett's plan to codify town ordinances and deplored the absence of a "modernistic building code."

"The lack of one," he said, "is reducing our credit rating with resultant increase of fire insurance rates for our citizens."

An About-Face

Last March Golden had taken a leading part in the abolishment of a Planning Board under G. Fred Burlazzi, who had advocated the innovations Golden now calls for.

A building code had been Burlazzi's primary aim. Golden had said, during the hearing March 19 (which ended with the demise of the Planning Board) that an "advisory committee" could easily duplicate the Board's work, and that he would recommend the appointment of such a committee.

Nobody Wants Job

But Golden has had difficulty finding prospective members for his proposed committee. There has been speculation that he would offer the chairmanship to Lee Garson, a member of the discredited Citizens Tax Council.

Garson said April 22 he would gladly accept the offer, if made, because it would "give the CTC a voice in local affairs."

Three Bowling Teams Tie For First Place In Last Week Of Team Play

TIMES THREE BOWLING ... With only one week remaining on the second half schedule, the Olympic Twin Major League finds three teams locked in a first place tie.

The deadlock for the top position was created when Kondreck Studios, first half champs, were dethroned 2-1 by Porcella Jewelers, who lowered the boom on the photographers by rolling a torrid 287 series. Pete Nigro paced the winners with 235-63.

Al Porcella helped with a 224 in the middle game, Ken Potts 212-84 and Lloyd George's 224 were tops for Kondreck's.

Two Teams Lead

Meanwhile Parkview House and All Window Products crepted into first place by taking three games off Saturday's "S" and Sunrise Dairies respectively. Windy Antonio's 243-63 and Ed Masters' 206-86 were high men among the four squads.

Basile's led by Bud Mirabile's 246-84, blanked Roseville Auto Body to climb to within one game of first place. Frank Sullivan's 220-55 topped Roseville.

A mere two points behind the leaders, Binky's Tavern defeated Local 410 two games to one behind Earl Haight's 203-576. Walt Levens' 225-575 was high for Local 410.

Olympic Bowl Wins

Lowly Olympic Bowl blanked

Cerrato Plumbers with Frank Juliano leading the way with 226-82. Don Dusham's 223-574 topped Cerrato's.

Kearney Lanes tripped Masters' Fuel 2-1 with Lenny Dudek's 215-563 topping both squads. Paul Bowles' 215 was high for Masters.

Team Standings

Richie Bell's 227-627, Bill Ricca's 209-609 and Nick Lazar's 231-562 were too much for Nick's Texas as the latter was able to win only one game. Craig Mueller 238-646 and Bill Sweeney's 244-612 were high for Nick's Hank Way's 232-573 and Bill Hollis' 214-587 were other top scorers.

Top teams are as follows:

Kondreck Studios 32-19
Parkview House 32-19

Mayor Laterza Is Honored

A testimonial dinner was given in Mayor Robert M. Laterza's honor March 17 by members of the Robert M. Laterza Civic Association, at the Fountain restaurant. The mayor accepted a token gift from Mary Senatore, at right. Paul

A. Brennan, principal at School Three was toastmaster. The mayor asked that money which had been scheduled to be spent for a gift be given to charity instead.

All The Lost Children

The lost children — this is a term used to describe mentally ill children.

Visit a mental hospital and you will see the Little Ones, some as young as four or five, cringing in corners, whimpering with a terror, which never stops because it's deep inside. Children sit in frozen postures, their eyes vacant and lifeless, and the laughter gone.

It was not even known until recently that Little Ones could be afflicted with mental illness. Victims were diagnosed as having brain damage or mental retardation.

But now workers has discovered mental illness among children to be a major medical problem with hundreds of thousands of tiny victims between six and 12, some as young as two or three.

These are truly the "Lost Children" mostly because too little is known about them and too little has been done for them. For all the future is bleak, indeed.

With treatment methods not known to doctors, about a third of these children can be helped back to a normal life. But for the rest, the only hope lies in further research.

The Research Foundation of the National Association for Mental Health is pressing ahead in different areas to find new ways of treating childhood mental illness. The MHA of Essex County, part of the national group, but working here in our own community, is providing residential treatment centers, day care centers and special schooling for mentally sick children. One such project, our own Garden School in Belleville, has made phenomenal progress in a short time.

But your help is needed to support this work; not only money, which is used to help the Garden School, provide referral and information service as well as educational programs for the community.

The Mental Health Association of Essex County needs your time. You can help as a volunteer worker in many phases. This is Mental Health Month. Give generously, not of your money alone, but of your time as well. Call OR 7-1340 and say you want to help.

INTERESTED IN BASKETBALL?

Al LoBallo, Belleville's ever working and popular basketball coach is again bringing another first to Belleville.

Among other things I've already mentioned pertaining to LoBallo's summer basketball work will be his appearance at the Dolph Schaye's Basketball Camp at Lake George, New York where he will be head lecturer from August 25 through August 31.

This camp, in which the Syracuse Nationals play a large roll, is for high school and college boys interested in basketball and who wish to learn more from the nation's top college coaches. Any reader, who is interested or wishes to obtain more information about this may contact me at PL 9-1804.

Coach LoBallo will also be guest speaker at Rutgers University Coaching School and the Pingry School Basketball Camp. The Rutgers session will be on July 24, 25 and 26. Pingry's session will be August 21, 22, 23.

CREW TO FACE HUN'S PREP ON SATURDAY

The Bellboy crew is looking forward to this Saturday's Tri-town race against Hun's Preparatory and Nutley. The race will be on Lake Carnegie, near Princeton University. The start will come at 10:30 a.m. and fans better leave early as this is Huns Homecoming Day and there will be many fans and festivities there.

The Crew has been working hard on a very new catch with a low-stroke. The team should use a "32 stroke" after a quick 44-48 start. It seems that Belleville ran into some bad luck this week as the Queen Bee was damaged in the bow by a sunken plank in the Passaic River. Nevertheless, the team pitched in and admirably repaired the shell with the help of Jerry Weiss, and John Abbot, Assistant coach, Mike Lally has also been working hard this week with his freshmen, who are anxiously awaiting the coming Memorial Day Regatta.

Huns School is always one of Belleville's toughest opponents, for they have one of the best equipped and most emphasized crews in the country. Belleville has been putting a lot of water time in this week and could come home with a victory if they all hit in unison. It is interesting to note that the Blue and Gold haven't crossed over the finish line ahead of the Huns Tigers in five years. For this reason they will really be out there pulling water trying to get that "big one" they've waited for so long.

BASEBALL NINE ABOUT TO TURN TIDE

Strong lefty pitcher, Ray Datrio, pitched a 4-hitter against the Passaic Red Skins last Wednesday as Belleville triumphed 5-2. Datrio didn't throw any walks and only allowed one earned run. The power also came from the plate in this game with Len Luongo hitting in runs with a double and a triple. Luzzi knocked in two with a single, which allowed Datrio and Tomaszewski to score in the third inning.

The squad was really sharp and many of their crisp capabilities were brought out in the field and on the plate. Frankie Ray played excellent rightfield with two beautiful defensive catches that protected the three run lead acquired in the fifth inning.

Last Saturday Belleville was dealt a decisive 5-0 loss by second place Big Ten Champions, Irvington. The Bellboys grabbed a quick 1-0 lead when Datrio doubled and sent Luzzi around the horn. Irvington then scored two runs in the third and two in the fifth, giving them a 4-1 margin. In the inning, Luzzi hit a three run triple that was followed by a Frank Ray right field single which caused Luzzi to tally and Belleville to take a 5-4 lead. Irvington rallied for two runs in the eighth as Ray Ranson doubled to drive in one run and Rich Foster singled in the winning run. The team is starting to think baseball and is playing a hundred per cent better. They are developing more poise and composure. The competition is beginning to find it tough to go against Belleville as the Blue and Gold is stubborn and doesn't give up without a fight.

It seems to be the same old story of not having a field that is causing much of the squad's difficulty but, they are beginning to find and make their own holes. This week they will go against Kearny on Saturday and St. Benedict's on Tuesday. It wouldn't surprise me if Belleville goes out there and comes home victorious.

TRACK TEAM HURDLES OVER OPPONENTS

Saturday, May 4, 13 members of the track team entered the Newark Invitational Meet at Newark Schools Stadium and made a fair showing. The highlight of this meet was Jim Harvey's 2:00.3 half mile, making him the holder of another school record. The previous best time was held by Paul Tucker who — in 1961 — ran it in 2:07. Unfortunately for Jim he was caught in a fast heat and placed fourth, making this Belleville's only tally.

Last Thursday the Bellboys played host to visiting Vailsburg and sent the visitors home with a decisive loss. Underclassmen, Charlie Reed, Rich Del Russo, Chip Lepre, Robert Baker and Ron Johnson were instrumental in bringing about this win. In the Second Annual Class meet held last Monday, the juniors nosed-out the seniors by 5 points. Coaches Testa and Forte are looking for big things from these boys in the future.

Fleet-Footed Belleville Trackmen
Outrun West Side With A 66-42 Tab

They're Baseball Lettermen

April 18 the Belleville track squad played host to West Side and overpowered them with a 66-42 score.

Outstanding performances were contributed by freshman Walter Phipps, who was high man for the Bellboys with 9 points; and Peter Eeles, a sophomore, who pole vaulted 10 feet for first place.

John Stasels started things rolling with a 14.2 high hurdle victory with Walt Phipps second in 15.4. Gus Brown defeated city champ Jim Freeman in a very close 100-yard dash in 16.4 seconds. Tom Greco finishing third in 16.6.

After Jim Harvey and Richie Ziegler tied for first in the mile at 4:51.0, Jim Orsini and Art Asantes finished 1-2 in the 400 in times of 55.6 and 57.1. John Dorner faded in the final yards of the 880 to finish third in 2:11.5.

Chris LaPara again won the 140 yard hurdles followed by Walt Phipps and Pat Ugaro who came in second and third. LaPara's time was 16.9. In the final running event of the afternoon Tom Greco glided through a 23.9 second 220-yard victory as Gus Brown finished third in 24.1.

Gus Brown also jumped a very good 5 feet, 6 inches in the long jump but it was good for only third place as the two West Siders tied at 5 feet, 7 inches. Walt Phipps jumped 20'1 in the broad jump for second place. Art Asantes took third in the long jump 19 feet, 7 inches.

In the weight events Hal Avalon won the shot at 42 feet, 7 inches and Oleg Moiseenko took third. Sibi Sica and Moiseenko finished second and third in the discus to round out the Belleville score.

Belleville's next meet is the Big Ten Conference Championships at Foley Field, Bloomfield on May 2. With their first two victories secured the squad is on the way and they should be tough to beat in the next few weeks.

Three BHS graduates were among Seton Hall University athletes who received letters during a recent Varsity Club Dinner at the school. Klein is a starter with a 1-3 average, who was also awarded a basketball letter; Dattoli is a bullpen pitcher; and Debrowski a reserve outfielder.

Marine First Lt. Richard T. Ward, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard F. Ward of 236 Mill Street, is serving with Marine Attack Squadron 223, which has joined the First Marine Aircraft Wing in the Western Pacific.

The squadron left California late in March to begin the 13-month tour of duty in the Far East flying Douglas Skyhawk jet attack bombers.

The Nurse Who Lost Her Life In Medical Experiment

Miss Clara Maass of East Orange, nurse who sacrificed her life in medical search for yellow fever clues, in portrait taken shortly after her graduation from nursing school.

By JOHN T. CUNNINGHAM

Life never seemed complicated to nurse Clara Louise Maass of East Orange; if duty called, a person answered and did her best. That simple philosophy sustained her through a difficult childhood, but it took her as well to a rendezvous with death in Cuba at age 25.

Clara was the first-born child of Robert and Hedwig Maass, and in quick succession eight other children followed her into the home of the poor young hat maker and his wife.

Thus, at a time when little girls today learn Girl Scout rules, Clara took a job as "mother's helper" in a private home. Her rewards were a bed, her meals and "time to attend school" enough time to take her through three years of high school before family demands forced her to accept full-time work in the Newark Orphan Asylum at age 15. She sent most of her monthly salary of $10 home to her mother.

Accustomed to trusting with out hope, Clara heard with amazement in 1893 that the Newark German Hospital would train young girls to be nurses and wouldn't charge a dime! She became a "probationer" at age 16 and two years later wore her cap proudly as Nurse Clara Maass, proof that a young woman could become a success merely by working all the time.

She Liked Florida

Clara volunteered to serve in the Spanish-American War and stayed briefly at Army camps in Jacksonville, Fla., and Savannah, Ga., before reaching Santiago, Cuba. Florida was fun; Clara sent home a photograph of nursing friends and herself in a tent gaily called "Camp Cuba Libre."

Santiago, on the other hand, gave Miss Maass her first awareness of the horrors of yellow fever. She would never forget the victims ravaged by the fever that seemed to come from the air. She would remember always the sufferers with skin yellow as spring dandelions and the silent death that overtook young and old.

Discharged by the Army in February, 1899, Clara volunteered for service in the Philippines in the fall of 1900, requesting that "I be sent on the first transport leaving."

Clara got her wish, with a scant two hours to spare, for her ticket reached her in Newark two hours before the first transport sailed on November 20, 1900. Clara threw together her few belongings and made the ship; duty never found her delayed by suitcases.

Yellow fever stalked the Philippines, too, and a wildly-raging sickness diagnosed as "break-bone fever" felled Clara in the spring of 1901. The government shipped her home.

Now, however, Clara Louise Maass knew what she must do: she volunteered for yellow fever experiments in Cuba. Most Cubans philosophically accepted the sickness as only another complication of life, but a team of United States doctors and a sanitary commission in Havana had singled out the mosquito as the probable transmitting agent. They needed proof.

Clara worked with the Havana commission in the isolated village of Quemados, where an experiment had shown that yellow fever was not passed directly from person to person. A room was carefully sealed off to kill all mosquitoes and then occupied by three non-immune people who wore their pajamas and slept in the bedding of yellow fever victims. The three were not stricken.

That left the mosquito and the only way to prove that the insect carried the sickness was to have humans bitten by a mosquito to which previously had fed on a yellow fever sufferer. Nurse

Beichek Named A Director At Walter Kidde

The appointment of Alexander N. Beichek as assistant director of research and engineering for the Aero-Space Division of Walter Kidde & Company, Inc., was announced today by Edward C. Leeson, Divisional vice president and general manager.

In the new position, Beichek will help direct research and engineering of Kidde's Aerospace products and systems.

Beichek has 14 years experience in development of electronic products. Before joining Kidde, he was division manager of Maxson Instruments Division.

From 1949 to 1959, as chief of the navigation and flight aids branch of the U. S. Army Signal Research and Development Laboratories, Beichek directed engineering organization in the development of navigation systems.

Beichek lives with his wife and three children at 10 Oakwood Lane, Rumson. He is a member of the Board of Deacons of the Presbyterian Church.

Maass joined 20 other volunteers and wrote her mother a disarming note:

"Do not worry, Mother, if you hear that I have yellow fever. Now is a good time to catch it if one has to. Most of the cases are mild, and then I should be immune . . ."

She had her "slight case" after being voluntarily bitten on June 4, 1901. She recovered, of fered her arm for another bite on August 14. This time the fever tore through her tired body, proof positive of the power of the mosquito to bring mankind to the edge of engulfment.

Death came to the East Orange girl on August 24 in Las Animas Hospital in Havana. Several Cuban volunteers had died, too, but Clara Maass was the only American — and the only woman — to die.

Proof in hand, Dr. Walter Reed, Gen. William C. Gorgas and others moved ahead to conquer the death-dealing mosquito, finally acknowledging their debt to the New Jersey nurse. General Gorgas wrote:

"Miss Maass was a most excellent nurse. She died as the direct result of the mosquito bite. Large sums of money and many lives have been saved, and will yearly be saved, by this discovery of the manner of propagation of yellow fever."

Friends brought Clara Louise Maass home for burial in Fairmount Cemetery, Newark. Cuba honored her in 1951, on the 50th anniversary of her death, with a postage stamp but the U. S. Congress refused to pay similar homage.

Clara's alma mater gave her a greater memorial in 1952 by calling the institution Clara Maass Memorial Hospital. The "probationer" of 1893 and the heroine of 1901 will be remembered as long as graduates of this New Jersey hospital nursing school wear Clara Maass caps.

BHS Cheerleader Is Third Place In A County Meet

By MARIA CORINO

On Friday evening, April 26 at North Arlington High School, Belleville received a trophy for placing third in the Eighth Annual Bergen County Cheerleading Competition. Belleville was invited for the third consecutive year.

Each squad was required to do a team cheer and an optional squad cheer. They were judged on formation, coordination, smoothness, acrobatics, pep, general presentation and uniforms.

Barbara Russo, who represented Belleville with an individual cheer, placed second. The 1962-63 squad consists of captain Mary Lallo, Barbara Salamone, Marilyn Paganelli, JoAnn Matraxia, Gail Kenworthy, Claire Tortorello, Donna Betchick, Maria Corino, Sharyn Puchalik, and Barbara Russo. Janet Borino and Angela Maculoso, members of next year's cheering squad, substituted for two absences.

The wings of the common house vibrate at 21,120 motions per minute, or 335 per second. The honeybee wings vibrate 26,400 times per minute.

New Fidelity Thrift Club Proves Popular

A new service designed to assist individuals to save for specific short-term goals, introduced early this month by Fidelity Union Trust Company, has been well received, it was revealed yesterday by officials of the bank. The service, called Thrift Club, enables an individual to set his own savings pace to accumulate a pre-determined sum by means of 50 level payments into his Thrift Club. Under the plan, he may make payments into the Club as low as $2 if his goal is to accumulate $100 in the 50 payment period. A 50-coupon book is used instead of the traditional passbook.
