Nutty Squirrels Softball Champs

The Nutty Squirrels have again copped the Championship of the Recreation Department Girls Softball League. It has been a complete domination in that these girls have been undefeated for three years. They have also reigned over the girls basketball leagues during this time.

Second Place in the 1963 League was taken by the Casey's All-Stars. The Casey's beat all teams except the Champs.

Tied with 23 records were the Night Crawlers, the Slammerettes and the Chubby Bunnies.

Robert E. Cook, Recreation Superintendent, said that if there was a sportsmanship award given in this League it would certainly have to go to the Phi Del-tas. Although this team didn't win a game, they played hard in every one and actually were a better team than the record would indicate. All of the teams in the League were good sports through out the season but the Phi Del-tas were outstanding, cook said.

Picking Sites For New Plants

What does modern industry want when it picks a new plant site?

The answer: four basic requirements — location near a highway, an abundant labor supply, good land and proximity to markets.

In this order — highway proximity, labor, land and markets — these were the plant location factors mentioned most frequently by 1,363 plants of all types and sizes cooperating in a two-year new plant location study.

that your record is clear of any adjudicated violations of the Alcoholic Beverage Law and Regulations. In that status, and in view of all the circumstances, we are impelled on principles of fairness to give you the benefit of the doubt and to withhold proceedings."

Mr. Laterza was home recuperating from the effects of an eye operation on the day he allegedly sold the wine to the minor.

Political observers suspected the complaint was originally filed to embarrass the Mayor. Special significance is attached to the fact that the State ABC board summarily dismissed the complaint without a formal hearing, because of an insufficiency of evidence.

Almost immediately after the matter was in the hands of the local ABC group, Councilman James R. Golden dispatched a letter to the State body demanding it assume jurisdiction because Golden felt Mayor Robert Laterza would have too much influence with the local group.

Norman Lauterette, local ABC Chief, criticized Golden for interfering in the work of his department. Lauterette had already made a determination to send the complaint to Newark for adjudication to remove any doubt of local influence before Golden's action came to his attention.

At the last Town Council meeting the subject matter produced a hot crossfire between Golden and Deputy Mayor G. George Addonizio who criticized Golden for his tactics in the matter. Addonizio is a former enforcement agent of the State ABC.

Following is the letter from the state to Anthony Laterza and Laterza's acknowledgement:

Dear Sir:

From reports of a recent investigation conducted by Division agents at the request of Hon. Norman D. Lauterette, Chairman of the Municipal Board of Alcoholic Beverage Control of the Town of Belleville, it appears that a minor, David S. Woodruff, age 16, may have been sold two pints of wine at your premises on May 23, 1963.

Hence, question arises as to whether disciplinary proceedings should be brought against you for suspension or revocation of your license on charges that you sold alcoholic beverages to a minor, in violation of R.S. 33:1-77 and Rule 1 of State Regulation No. 29.

After careful consideration it has been decided to give you the benefit of the doubt in this instance and to withhold the institution of formal proceedings. This conclusion has been reached because the available evidence does not appear to constitute proof at that type and degree which the Division, as a matter of policy, generally requires before instituting disciplinary proceedings. Specifically, it appears that Woodruff was alone at the time of the alleged purchase and hence his claim is uncorroborated. Moreover, it is noted that you deny having made the sale and that your record is clear of any adjudicated violations of the Alcoholic Beverage Law and Regulations. In that status, and in view of all the circumstances, we are impelled on principles of fairness to give you the benefit of the doubt and to withhold proceedings.

While in this instance disciplinary proceedings are not being instituted against you, we cannot too strongly warn you of the ever present need for you to see to it that no minors are sold any alcoholic beverages at your premises. Should any violation of like character hereafter occur at your premises, disciplinary proceedings may be forthwith instituted in which event, upon a finding of guilt, the present warning, as well as any other record you may have at the time, may be taken into account in determining the full penalty.

You must let us have, immediately and without fail, a letter signed personally by you, acknowledging receipt of this letter and giving assurance that you will take all necessary steps to see to it that minors are not sold any alcoholic beverages at your licensed premises.

Very truly yours,

Laterza's Reply

Dear Sir:

Your letter of June 27, 1963 advising me that proceedings were being withheld for the alleged incident of May 23, 1963 has been received.

It pleased me to discover that your agency exercised such sound judgment and discretion. I am pleased to know that naked and irresponsible allegations are investigated and analyzed with care.

I was prepared to prove my innocence because on the day in question, I was confined to my home by Dr. Caruso. On May 16, 1963 my eye was operated upon in the hospital. On May 20, 1963 I was released from the hospital, but it was not until May 29, 1963 that the patch and stitches were removed from my eye. However, I am glad that you saved me the time, hardship and expense of such proof as it meant producing the Doctor and five other corroborative witnesses.

You are assured that my employees and I are cognizant of the liquor laws and regulations and will obey them to the strictest letter. We are now more greatly aware of the problem and all necessary steps have been taken to prevent any mishap with minors where humanly possible.

Respectfully yours,

been presented to the public and the Legislature is being asked to act upon bills to submit it to the voters by referendum without there being any clearly-defined, specific plans for expending this vast sum of money. To date, there has been no evidence that this huge capital spending program is the result of a carefully prepared and fully-evaluated long range study of the State's capital needs. Nevertheless, approval of the program, in our opinion, would serve to foreclose the State's reasonable borrowing capacity until at least the year 1985.

"It is a matter of grave concern to us that the people of New Jersey will be asked to assume a debt, the interest costs of which are in excess of a half billion dollars (for that is what the bond interest costs will total), without that expenditure purchasing a single additional governmental service or facility.

COSTLY SUBSTITUTION

"A major consideration which prompts our opposition is the fact that, of the $750 million to be borrowed — and for which an estimated $509 million in interest would be paid — only $420 million would actually be for additional capital outlay. The remaining $330 million would be used to continue capital expenditures presently being financed on a pay-as-you-go basis out of current tax revenues. Taxpayers are thus being asked to pay $224 million in interest — merely to substitute $330 million of bond money for a like amount of tax money presently being appropriated for new construction. In viewing this switching of funds, the $509 million interest cost should be considered in the light of the additional construction the program would make available. Because such construction would total only $420 million, the taxpayers would be paying back $2.21 for every dollar of additional construction they would get beyond that which they would have received any way from the expenditure of tax funds.

"Looking at it in another way, by borrowing $750 million and paying $509 million in interest costs, the taxpayers would be facing a total bill of $1 billion 259 million in order to gain a mere $420 million in additional construction.

FISCAL REALITIES

"The Governor's program has been advanced as a means to avoid the imposition of a broad-based tax. However, the proposal reveals no plan to pay for the constantly-increasing cost of running the State Government at present levels of service, to say nothing of the costs of operating and maintaining the new facilities that would be provided under the proposed spending program. The State budget expands at an average rate of about 7-1/4% per year, precipitating new and increased taxes on almost an annual basis. The budget for the fiscal year 1964 now under consideration, for example, will require new revenues of $37.5 million to balance, unless it can be cut appreciably.

"In view of this, the people of New Jersey must soon face up to fiscal realities — the need to raise new State governmental revenue by means of a major revenue-producing tax — a fact attested to by the Commission on State Tax Policy in its recently-issued Tenth Report. The bond program not only fails to answer to this ever-growing fiscal problem but it includes, in our opinion, built-in certainty of not just one form of broad-based tax being levied but also the institution of the other such tax as well.

"Our examination of the fiscal facts surrounding State government — including data developed by the Tax Policy Commission — convinces us that a major new tax is inescapable within five years, even if the bond program is instituted.

"Furthermore, the bond program envisions a $62 million annual increase in State school and highway aid to local communities during the five-year bond-spending period 1964-69. The political facts of life would make it impossible to cut back these expenditures at the end of the period. A new tax would clearly be necessary to carry them on. In addition, the new institutions, colleges and highways constructed under this program will require very substantial annual maintenance, staffing and operating expenditures as the facilities become operational.

"We do not believe that the addition of a single broad-based tax would carry the combined burden of (a) present and increasing costs of services, (b) an expanded State aid program, (c) the operation of the numerous new facilities to be provided by bond money and also provide the necessary debt service.

"Turnpike Surplus In 1972? "Our fears in this regard are given added substance by doubts over the amount of New Jersey Turnpike surplus revenues that may be available beginning in the year 1972 and upon which the Governor's program relies so heavily. For instance, reasonable questions have been raised as to whether Turnpike revenues will permit retirement of its existing debt by 1972.

Obtain The Facts.

"A parallel consideration is that the Governor's target date for taking over Turnpike surpluses ignores the numerous — and expensive — capital projects which the Turnpike will undoubtedly have to undertake in the near future in order to serve its patrons effectively and to realize the roadway's full revenue potential. The Turnpike will, for example, have to be interconnected with new Interstate Routes 290 and 295 — a new interchange will have to be provided with U.S.

1 and the new Interstate 78 old Route 22) at Newark Airport; a connection should be made with the New York Thruway and there is a need to construct two more lanes in either direction north of New Brunswick to relieve mounting traffic density. These improvements will require many millions of dollars and we believe these expenditures will serve to push back the date when the Turnpike surpluses would become available for debt service on the bond issue — or for any other State purposes. Failure to undertake such improvements, could well impair the earning power of the Turnpike. "Another potential development beclouding the Turnpike's future earning power to a degree now unmeasurable is the prospective completion — in the 1970's — of the Federal Interstate Highway system with its toll-free routes that will compete, in varying degrees, with the Turnpike. "Even if the $43 million Turnpike surplus projected by the Governor does become available (Continued on page 9)

Dear folks —

My husband says I'm a complete snob about luggage. Really I'm not, but I do believe you can judge a lot about people by their luggage.

That's why I was so thrilled when that same dear husband said I'd need another bag for our trip. I rushed right down to Lipton's — I dearly love their Ventura luggage, such heavenly colors and so beautifully designed. I have the extra large Pullman case, the hat box and now the dressing case with its distinctive strap-handle — all in soft deep green!

I can just hear those other tourists saying — "Now, there goes a lady of elegance and taste!" (I can dream, can't I?)

Did I remember to tell you that I'm off on a real dream trip? Oh, I'll be writing you each week — why, I could write a book about all my "Lovelines from Lipton's" that fill that gorgeous Ventura luggage!

Which reminds me — I think I'll need that lovely soft pouch piece, too — it has an over-arm strap and a zippered outside pocket for travel folders, maps and such!

O Ventura, I love you — and Lipton's, too.

Sincerely,

P.S. Just fancy what a set of matched Ventura luggage would do for the "status" of a campus-bound daughter — oh my!

"Letters from Letty" bring you "news" from Lipton's every week.

- Our New Government - For Better Or For Worse?

One year ago voters of Belleville, displaying unprecedented civic pride generated by a successful government change campaign, rebelled against the entrenched city hall crowd and swept from office every Commissioner seeking a seat on the new Town Council.

No one was spared. Even former Commissioners who braved the campaign felt the wrath of an angry public.

Looking back one year after Council-Manager government replaced the old Commission form July 1, 1962, it is safe to say that Belleville taxpayers are better off because of the change.

Despite the wailing of professional politicians — Council-Manager government is proving a success in Belleville.

One of the reasons for its success is the fact that Mayor Robert M. Laterza, Deputy Mayor G. George Addonizio and Councilman Vincent T. Strumolo are willing to abide by state and local laws which provide that the Town Manager be and act as the Executive Officer of the community.

To his credit, Town Manager John R. Burnett recently made the long expected determination that we have too many people on the public payroll at town hall. And he wants to do something about this unbearable condition. Burnett wants to consolidate, merge, and eliminate unnecessary jobs. Laterza and Addonizio support Manager Burnett. Strumolo agreed to accept the Manager's judgment.

Burnett's decision to save money for the taxpayers by having one person perform the jobs of Building Inspector and Plumbing Inspector met with the stiff and unrelenting opposition of "the people's choices". Councilmen James Golden and Thomas Greco. The 2G's yelled loud and long that only the Town Council could legally merge town jobs.

Both Greco and Golden argued that Town Manager Burnett was usurping the authority of the Town Council when Burnett made a decision to terminate the Building Inspector and transfer his duties to another municipal employee who could double as the town Plumbing Inspector. Burnett's decision will save Belleville taxpayers approximately $7,000 a year.

Instead of offering a motion complimenting Town Manager Burnett for his desire to cut back unnecessary jobs at Town Hall both Golden and Greco began issuing veiled threats about firing the town manager, Laterza, Addonizio and Strumolo.

The record will show that these three councilmen have consistently voted in the taxpayers best interests. At the risk of incurring the displeasure of politically important persons on the public payroll Laterza, Strumolo and Addonizio by their votes have served notice to the vested interests, the special interests, disgruntled elected and defeated office seekers, the plain phonies, and the members of Belleville's everpresent crackpot fringe, that they will not be browbeaten or pressured into voting against the public interest.

As a public service the Times-News will publish in weekly installments a review of the accomplishments and failures of the new government's one year trial, including a summary of the Council's voting record.

With the adoption of a new form of government we did not expect miracles to happen. However, we did expect to see some of the tarnish removed from Belleville's once proud name.

We expected government change would bring an end to the old Commission practice of using the public payrolls as a refuge for relatives. We hoped to see an end to the use of the public payroll as a means of nourishing a personal, political machine at taxpayer expense.

On these points the record is clear.

No longer do we witness citizens making weekly treks to the Prosecutor's office with all sorts of allegations. No longer is the public payroll used for the convenience of family members at the expense of the taxpayers. No longer is the public payroll considered a means to build a personal, political machine at taxpayer expense.

These are solid gains—brought to the people by a new form of government supported by three public officials who have closed their eyes to politics-as-usual.

Without a doubt — one year after the old Commission government was discarded — Belleville taxpayers have it better.

Who's Vanishing?

The American Broadcasting Company's national network recently presented a program called "A Vanishing Breed: Portrait of a County Editor." During the presentation the statement was made that "There are only 2,000 country newspapers left in America."

The American Press magazine, taking exception to these figures, counted the newspapers listed in the latest edition of N.W.Ayer Directory of Periodicals and reports there are "... newspapers which might conceivably be classified as 'sub-urban' instead of 'country'."

What still leaves 6,819 non-daily newspapers which, so far as we can determine, could fit nowhere except in the "country newspaper" category. Also a majority of the 1,200 dailies published in towns of under 25,000 population would fit into the same classification.

The American Press observes that "Perhaps the TV boys were miffed because, as they reported, Landon Wills of Calhoun, Kentucky, who was picked as their example of 'the vanishing breed,' doesn't believe in television and doesn't even have a TV set."

The capable and effective newspapermen who run this nation's country press are not vanishing. And since our freedom depends on a concerned and well informed citizenry, we can thank our stars that they are not. They provide written records of opinions and world events which remain for consideration and are not gone in the wink of an eye.

Knowledge Moves On Wings

The drama and excitement that have come in this age of international jet travel have been given well earned credit. The world has shrunk unimaginably. We can be almost anywhere in a matter of hours, traveling at 600 miles an hour in perfect comfort.

This is a boon to the world traveler, whether he goes for business reasons, to study, or for pleasure and curiosity. He can do in days what took weeks and months not so long ago. And far-sighted men have been talking of a far more important aspect. Peoples who know and understand each other are not peoples who will want war and international upheavals. The basis of the great "people-to-people" movement is to encourage more Americans to go abroad, and more citizens of other lands to come here, and to meet each other. The goals are world peace,

Campus Kings And Queens

Note: This is the first in a series of summer articles which will highlight college students who come from Belleville. The articles will show what some Belleville students have accomplished on campuses throughout the country, and will contain advice to prospective college students. Any college student who feels that he or she is worthy of being highlighted should send a postcard with name, address, and telephone number to this newspaper. It should be addressed "Campus Kings and Queens."

There is also a great emphasis on athletics. Three hours of each day are devoted to athletics, and each young man must participate in either a varsity or an intramural sport each season of the year.

When a man graduates from Annapolis, he is automatically an ensign in the Navy or he may choose to become a Marine officer. A graduate must spend four years in one of these branches of the services. Bob Harvey is undecided about which one he wishes to join.

The Annapolis year is from September until June, but every midshipman must take a cruise during the month of August. During this cruise, he has the chance to put classroom knowledge to practical use.

Bob advises any boy who is interested in Annapolis or a service academy to "Write your congressman no later than the middle of your junior year, since you must take the first tests in the summer following that year." He adds, "Any boy who applies should have some desire to be an officer, and should have at least a "B" average and an interest in athletics."

Robert Harvey, a 1960 graduate of Belleville High School, will begin his fourth year at the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Maryland, in August. While at Belleville, Bob excelled at football and track and he has kept up these interests at Annapolis where he is a member of the Varsity track team and of Cadet Reilly, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Reilly of 44 Berkeley Avenue, will take an active part in various phases of base operations during the encampment period. A member of the AFROTC program at Rutgers University, he will be eligible for appointment as an Air Force second lieutenant upon graduation from college.

The cadet is a graduate of Carteret School, West Orange.

Burbank Will Attend Scout Training Camp

Frederick Burbank of 120 Bell Street, has been chosen to attend the National Junior Leader Training Camp of the Boy Scouts of America, July 14 to 26, at the Schiff Scout Reservation in Mendham.

A member of Troop 351, sponsored by Grace Baptist Church, Belleville, Burbank was one of seven boys chosen from the Newark-Irvington-Belleville area, one from each District in Robert Treat Council, to attend the 12-day camp along with outstanding scouts from all over the country.

Upon completing the program, which includes a training conference and training session to be held in the Fall, Frederick will become a faculty member in his scout district. He will receive a certificate indicating completion of the training program.

To be eligible the young men were registered Boy Scouts at least 13 years of age, First Class or higher in rank, active in their troops or chosen for their potential as future patrol leaders, and possessed outstanding leadership abilities.

UP SPEAK

In Praise Of Thomas Greco

To the Editor, The Times-News:

Mr. Thomas Greco was the voice of the largest number of voters in the town of Belleville. He was elected to say and do the things the citizens of this town wanted said and done. It is too bad that some of the other elected councilmen failed to recognize this fact.

The people voted for a new form of government because they were thoroughly disgusted with him, (not as a person) but because the way this town was being run was the cause of his integrity as a citizen. Had Mr. Greco the cooperating Inspector, he would not be the man he should have had, it is intimidated, yet the same person firm conviction he could have the pocketbooks voted for him. I can answer the confidence of the people by carrying out the duties of his office with dignity and courage. He was trying to offer something constructive and concrete to make this town one that people could and would enjoy living in but with his hands tied he was completely helpless.

I know more people who voted for Mr. Greco who did not like

So it seems a shame that such a man should be forced to tend his resignation. But our voices will not be stifled, and I hope neither will Mr. Greco's.

BECK'S COLUMN

By MAX BECK

Summer came at last, with a "bang", and with it the quest for air conditioning.

As usual, you see the "come on" advertisements which make it appear as if you just buy a small unit, install it yourself "in 5 minutes" and be cool and comfortable. Lots of people who did just this found out to their dismay, that it isn't that easy.

Those small air conditioners with a capacity of 4000 BTU are practically useless, they are far too small for almost any room, unless such a room has no exposure to the sun and most likely would not need air conditioning anyway.

The most frequent mistake is the purchase of a unit that is too small for the requirements. You can't go by the literature which the manufacturers dispense. You may see a figure of "up to 500 square feet" cooling capacity. This is figured for the most favorable conditions, meaning a room on the first floor, only one or two small windows, the sun in the morning only and of course closed off. Such a condition is rare. Mostly people want an air conditioner in the room or rooms which are the hottest in the house, of course. Under such conditions the "500 square feet" cooling capacity quickly shrinks to one third.

In 7 out of 10 surveys which we make we find that there is not enough electricity for the size unit required. That means the electric service has to be changed to 220 volts. If you have this, in all probability you have enough current. You should ask somebody with know how and experience to look the situation over. Follow his advice, but ask for a guarantee that the recommended unit will do the job. Don't try to be your own air conditioning engineer. Probably the job will not turn out right. We offer a free survey of your requirements. There is no charge and no obligation.

We service what we sell.

The ceremony was performed in St. Peter's R. C. Church, Belleville, with the Rev. Thomas G. McCarthy, officiating. A reception was held at the Essex House, Newark.

Texas-Style Reception
For Visitors From East

According to dyed-in-the-wool Texans, everything is bigger and better in the Lone Star State, and a Belleville secretary has discovered that in her case, at least, they might not be exaggerating. Upon her arrival at the Municipal Airport, Austin, Texas, on Saturday, June 23, accompanied by a Newark friend, she found a reception awaiting them the size and warmth of which was the biggest and best she had ever experienced.

Miss Mary Lou Murray of 31 Mt. Pleasant Avenue, Belleville, a secretary in the Belleville office of A & P Food Stores, and Miss Judith Cahill, a Newark nurse, and former Belleville resident, were greeted at the airport when they arrived for a visit with Miss Cahill's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cahill of Austin, with a royal Texas welcome, arranged by Cahill and a group of fellow University of Texas students.

The Cahill's two-year-old daughter, Kelly, was the first to greet the visitors from the East, as they alighted from their plane, after which they were presented with corsages and mint juleps poured from a thermos bottle.

No doubt expecting cowboys, the girls were astonished when George Pearson, a U. S. T student, wearing an Arabian head-dress, introduced himself as "Lawrence of Arabia", after which they were ushered to a waiting "limousine" chauffeured by Miss Cahill's brother.

An "official" sticker on the windshield of the 1949 Jaguar, together with a Texas flag flown from a staff on the front bumper, gave the car the diplomatic touch. The group was then escorted by sports cars with lights on for a quick tour of the Capital grounds and University.

Upon their arrival at the Cahill home they were guests at an informal reception, replete with cake inscribed "Welcome Yanks." During Miss Murray and Miss Cahill's stay in the West, they plan visits to California and Mexico.

Super Salesmen In The Making At High School

Carol Kovacs looks pleased with selection of shoes offered by salesman Gary Gray during sales demonstrations presented by Belleville High School Sales-Consumer Education classes conducted by E. V. Musmanno as an introductory course in selling and marketing fields.

The art of selecting the proper cosmetics for potential customers is demonstrated by salesgirl Susanne Rosa, right. Making their selections are Kathy Nicol and Annette Santaniello, as Richard Martenson, far right, studies products he is about to "sell."

Judge Abromson

cessed properly involved a charge against a merchant that merchant, size was being improperly displayed, for which Judge Abromson levied a $100 fine. Judge Abromson found the same merchant guilty of failing to maintain a hot water supply and a toilet in running order which drew an additional $50 fine. The other case involved a local tavern owner who, after owning the business four months, was told by the health inspector that his restaurant equipment was in violation. The grill was operated for many years with the same equipment. In this matter Judge Abromson found the owner guilty but suspended sentence in view of the past history and the fact that the proprietor was most anxious to remedy the alleged violation.

"The facts are complete and in the record," stated Abromson. "A detailed account of each case before me is recorded in each case jacket. What is a public record and open to inspection by any citizen. It is a matter of common knowledge and fact that I have never been influenced in any case before me by politics or politicians — I wasn't in these cases and will not be in the future. As a matter of fact I do not allow any litigants, and this includes the police, to discuss with me the facts of any case before trial."

It is a matter of record that former Commissioner Kenneth Smith voiced against the appointment of Abromson in 1956 because "Abromson doesn't play ball with the police."

Until Golden attempted to impute irregularities in the conduct of his court recently every comment about Abromson's conduct of the local magistrate's court has been laudatory.

Councilman Golden refused comment when contacted Monday by a Times-News reporter.

YOUR AND YOUR INSURANCE

(A public service column about all forms of insurance.)

EXTRA AUTO INSURANCE CHARGE DROPPED FOR AIR CONDITIONERS AND PHONE SYSTEMS

"My car is equipped with air conditioning," a new car buyer writes. "Will this increase my insurance premiums?"

Not in past years many private passenger motorists with air-conditioning units or two-way radio or telephone communication systems paid added premiums. But last June the National Automobile Underwriters Association, representing more than 400 affiliated insurance companies, announced that collision and comprehensive insurance covering these two equipment extras would be afforded without additional charge in most states.

Comprehensive coverage affords the owner insurance against loss or damage to his automobile from fire, theft, windstorm, hail, glass breakage, flood and other perils.

"The extra cost of this equipment in new cars has dropped sharply as more and more cars are equipped with these items," the NAUA explained.

Early air-conditioning installations cost $650 to $700 and damage to them had to be handled by refrigeration specialists instead of auto repairmen. Today the cost is much less and repair and replacement is now handled in automobile repair shops.

Road Test

You Asked About $1,500 Car

Fiat 1100 Is an Example

So many motorists asked whether they could buy a good new car for around $1,500 delivered that road tester tried a Fiat 1100 as an example.

The Fiat, which has been on the market for some time, is a neat little four-door sedan with plenty of room for four adults or a family couple with three youngsters; it has good trunk space; it has 14-inch wheels with a good road feel, and it has a water-cooled four-cylinder engine of 55 horses power which can push the car to 82 miles an hour.

The Fiat 1100 is a conventional front-engine car with coil springs on the independent front suspension and long leaf springs on the rear. The four-speed manual shift is mounted on the steering column. It is, in other words, an orthodox auto using standard components.

The Fiat, which is made in Italy, sells for $1,536.

Testing shows it to be ideal for commuting, shopping trips and the usual short runs around town. An unexpected bonus is its body quietness, which every passenger notices instantly, and the almost silent operation of its willing engine. The engine, by the way, is also remarkable in the way it starts up instantly at a flick of the ignition switch whether cold, wet or hot.

THIS ROAD TESTER took the Fiat on a long run into New York state and found the front seats unusually comfortable. They are adjustable back and forward, and the test car had reclining seat backs which could be adjusted to suit the body's muscles. The ride was pleasant most of the time on the 92.13-inch wheelbase, but there was a bit of pitching on bumpy country roads which grew somewhat tiresome.

However, given turnpikes and smooth main roads, this driver would have no hesitation in taking a trip across the continent in the car.

Rear-seat passengers were satisfied both by the space provided for the feet and the softness of the cushioning. An extremely tall driver who required the front seat well back might run up the space on the left hand area, but the test driver—at 5'11"—left plenty of room.

The provisions for both heating and ventilating are very good. The heater demists the windshield satisfactorily on muggy, rainy days by rammed air; when the car is stopped in traffic an electric fan can take over the job. Ventilating is handled the same way, and it was entirely adequate on two hot afternoons during the test.

The car has a fuel gauge as well as a water temperature gauge, with idiot lights for the rest. The speedometer was not tested by a fifth wheel apparatus, but apparently was accurate. Two happy gadgets were a windshield washer which throws a lot of water, and a warning lamp which lights when the fuel tank is down.

FIAT 1100 handled like a jackrabbit during 500-mile road test. Maneuverability is aided by shortness of overhanging metal on both front and rear.

to slightly more than a gallon. There is also a hand throttle on the dash, in addition to the choke control knob.

AT NORMAL SPEEDS the Fiat did not falter on rough roads, steep hills or in a slippery test field. The gear ratios have been chosen well, and the tester could not find any road steep enough to balk the car when it was in third gear. Fourth gear, which has a direct 1 to 1 ratio, accelerated the car away from 19 miles an hour without snatch and handled all Essex County hills except the seven-turn windabout road which climbs up from Montclair to Crest Drive in Eagle Rock reservation.

In 500 miles of testing, the Fiat 1100 delivered 35.5 miles to the gallon. The average owner would probably do better because road testing is not conducive to good gas mileage. The Fiat's excubitor is a dual duct model which uses the primary duct for slower speeds; if more speed is demanded, the accelerator pedal stiffens a bit to notify the driver as the second duct opens.

There you are, and it's a $1,500 car!

Change In Use Of Area Codes Announced By New Jersey Bell

The New Jersey Bell Telephone Co. has reminded its customers that area codes will be used in dialing long distance calls between North and South Jersey beginning July 21.

On the same date, the company added, all New Jersey callers will begin using three-digit codes when they dial New York City or Philadelphia area numbers.

The area code for Northern New Jersey is 201 and the code for the southern portion of the state is 609.

On July 21 and after, the telephone user in South Jersey will dial the area code 201 before dialing the number on long distance calls to North Jersey. North Jersey long distance calls to South Jersey will be prefaced by dialing 609.

Area codes will not be necessary on calls within the same half of the state. Neither will they be required on calls between communities along the 201-609 dividing line if the communities are in the same local calling zone the company said.

Many telephone customers in the metropolitan area of North Jersey now use the special code 1-1 in dialing calls to New York City. Starting July 21, they will use the area code for New York City instead. The New York City code is 212.

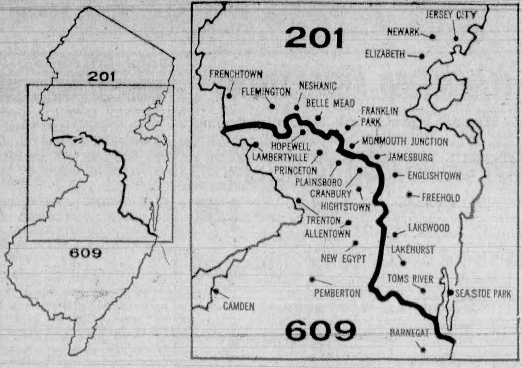

Similarly, many Camden County telephone users dial 1-1 in making calls to Philadelphia. They will switch to the Philadelphia area code, which is 215, on July 21.

Area codes were set up in North and South Jersey several years ago for use by out-of-state callers dialing to New Jersey numbers. In using them on intra-state calling, New Jersey Bell will almost double the supply of usable telephone numbers to meet increasing demands for service.

Most telephone numbers can then be duplicated in both halves of the state after area codes become effective. The area code will serve to distinguish them.

Of the nation's most populous states, New Jersey is one of the last to begin use of area codes on calls within its borders. New York has seven area codes in use and Pennsylvania has a four.

New Jersey Bell estimates that the calling between North Jersey and South Jersey involves less than one-half of one per cent of all calls originating in its exchanges.

Area codes — 201 for North Jersey and 609 for South Jersey — will be used on long distance telephone calls between the two sections of the state beginning July 21. New Jersey Bell Telephone Co. maps show the boundary line between the areas; area codes will not be necessary in calls within the same area. In a related dialing change, area codes will replace special codes 1-1 used by many North Jersey residents calling New York City and by Camden County area residents calling Philadelphia. The area code to be dialed on calls to New York City is 212 and to Philadelphia, 215.

25 year old Robert Westpy. Westpy has been working for several months threatening recall of Council members who refuse to appoint Eugene Barnett. To the post of Town Council, a position presently occupied by Town Manager John R. Burnett at no additional salary.

On Monday July 1, Westpy, Mrs. Senatore and Addonizio met in the Newark office of Carey to discuss further the leadership question. At that time Carey informed Westpy that the vote he received was illegal. Carey also advised the group that Harry Sullivan was a holdover Chairman. Sullivan tendered his resignation to Carey later that same day, thus enabling Senatore to move up into the vacant chairmanship chair.

In his postal notice this week Carey said another election for chairman will be held later in this fall. Since Mrs. Senatore is now the recognized Chairman of the party, she and she alone will have the authority to call the committee together in the future, including a meeting for the election of another chairman if she so desires.

Patronage matters affecting Belleville are to be cleared through Mrs. Senatore.

Mrs. Senatore is a member and Chairman of the Belleville Board of Adjustment. She lives at 188 Passaic Avenue with her husband Emil and a daughter Rosemary, a recent graduate of Holy Family Grammar School.

When contacted by The Times-News last night Mrs. Senatore said, "I am happy that County Chairman Carey recognized my apparent issue in the campaign election. While Mr. Carey officially recognizes me as the Belleville Democrat Chairman I personally believe Deputy Mayor George Addonizio is the Chairman."

The failure of Harry Sullivan to win reelection to the Town Chairmanship paradoxically will benefit the Democrat candidates this November. Sullivan is on the county payroll at $13,500 a year. So are some of his key supporters in and out of the county committee. These people will be obliged to work for the party candidates this November just to secure their jobs. No such threat hangs over the Addonizio-Senatore group. Their take-over of the local leadership will require them to produce for Matthews and the balance of the Democrat ticket.

In 1972, that amount would be insufficient to carry the debt service of the bond program on a normal retirement schedule until the year 1988 — fourteen years later. The difference between the debt service requirements (which we estimate would be $55.5 million in 1973, for instance) and whatever Turnpike surpluses are available at the time, would have to be made up from general tax revenues.

"This aspect is more clearly defined for the years 1964 to 1972, that period before any Turnpike funds are expected to become available. Under the Governor's plan, $16 million will be made available out of the "freed" funds to cover interest on the new indebtedness in each year 1964-69. To put this in plain terms, $80 million of interest would be coming right out of the bond proceeds themselves. However, for the period 1970-72, or whatever year Turnpike funds become available, that interest cost — $78 million for the three year period — would have to be met from general State revenues.

"All of the foregoing make it clear that the bond proposal is a complete departure from sound fiscal practice. We can only view the bond program as being, for all practical purposes, a deficit financing arrangement which violates the spirit, if not the letter, of the prescription in the State Constitution against such financing.

"To sum up our position:

"1. We are disturbed that the people of New Jersey should be asked to underwrite a massive burden for a capital program that is poorly defined and not based on long range evaluation or planning for the State's capital needs.

"2. We do not believe that New Jersey taxpayers should be asked to pay a total bill of $1 billion 259 million in order to gain $420 million in additional construction.

"3. We are concerned that this program would entail $309 million in interest costs which would produce not one penny's worth of additional facilities.

"4. We feel it is wasteful to incur interest costs totaling $224 million merely to substitute $330 million in bond money for a like amount of tax money.

"5. We are doubtful both as to the amount and the date surplus Turnpike revenues would become available to the State.

"6. We are greatly concerned that the proposed program lacks any provision for easing the problem of balancing the yearly State budgets, and, in fact, would serve to intensify that problem.

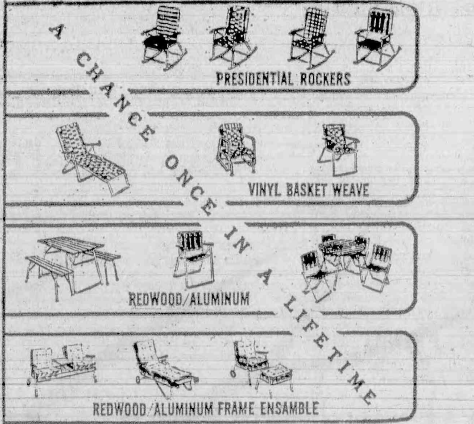

"7. We are convinced that the bond program is not an alternative to a broad base tax for New Jersey but that it carries with it the certainty of two such taxes."

The High Priest Of Rebellion In Jersey

Week after week Rev. James Caldwell strode boldly in his pulpit in Elizabeth's First Presbyterian Church and preached a powerful gospel of separation from England. His pre-Revolutionary War audience listened eagerly and Mr. Caldwell stirred even himself, often he wound up his sermons with angry tears.

Stories came to call him the "High Priest of Rebellion" and undoubtedly he mastered the words of independence long before most others. Yet his only allusion that is still remembered is one he shouted about the roar of cannon at the Battle of Springfield on June 23, 1780.

Young Mr. Caldwell preached his first sermon the day he arrived in Elizabeth Town in 1761 at the age of 20, "what the dew of youth was upon his cheeks." Men who would become widely known among revolutionists sat in his congregation.

William Livingston and Abraham Clark, for example, often stopped after service to shake Parson Caldwell's hand. When war came, Livingston became New Jersey's first governor and Clark was one of New Jersey's five signers of the Declaration of Independence.

Mr. Caldwell preached independence, but not as a personal thing. He married Miss Hannah Caden of Newark in 1763 and she bore him nine children in the next 17 years.

In April, 1776, Colonel Jonathan Dayton marched his Elizabeth Town regiment off to aid the northern army besieging Quebec. He asked Parson Caldwell to come along as chaplain.

Mr. Caldwell did his duty as he saw it. He preached every Sunday, twice if necessary, and shouldered a musket on the other six days. The practice of praising the Lord and passing the ammunition appealed to the Elizabeth minister; soldiers in turn dubbed him the "Fighting Parson."

He returned in the fall to learn that British soldiers and Tories had threatened his family. Mr. Caldwell removed his brood to Turkey (now New Providence) and later to Chatham and went right on preaching and fighting.

Enemy soldiers burned his Elizabeth parsonage in February, 1779, but Caldwell was back in his pulpit the following Sunday to preach his fiery sermons of resistance.

Now, and for the duration, Mr. Caldwell placed his faith both in the Lord and in earthly aids. Armed entities guarded the doors of the church during the years. The "Fighting Parson" began church service by taking loaded pistols from his pockets and placing them on either side of the Bible.

Inevitably, war struck savagely at Parson Caldwell. British and Hessian troops invaded New Jersey on June 6, 1780 and drove westward to Springfield. Repulsed at Springfield, they returned by way of Connecticut Farms (now Union) where Mrs. Caldwell awaited the return of her husband. There an enemy soldier shot and killed Mrs. Caldwell.

It was an act of wanton murder that shocked friend and foe alike.

A fortnight later, on June 23, the British and Hessians returned with 5,000 men in another major assault on Springfield. The Americans fell back doggedly, firing from every hedge, every tree, every stone pile.

At the edge of Springfield, Colonel Israel Angell's Rhode Island troops held off the invaders with their single cannon, but they began to run out of the powder wadding with which they rammed home their powder and shot.

Parson Caldwell, in the thick of battle as usual, raced to near by Springfield Church, broke open the door and filled his arms with the hymnal by Watts.

"Hallelujah, boys, give 'em Watts!" the parson yelled in the famed voice that soldiers claimed could be heard above the loudest battle. "Put Watts into 'em, boys!" Down into the cannon as wadding went Watts' hymnal, and Angell's men successfully repulsed the enemy in a key spot. Everywhere else American arms

The company has a number of other super markets either under construction or in the planning stage. Each of the new stores will contain at least 20,000 square feet of space.

Some Educational Expenses Deductible

It's time for summer school again and many teachers will be thinking about educational expenses as a Federal income tax deduction.

Expenses for education, according to Director of Internal Revenue Frank S. Turbett, Jr., for the Newark District, are deductible if the course or courses improve the skills required by the person in his job, or meet requirements set by his employer.

Expenses are not deductible if the education or training is undertaken to obtain a new position, or to attain general educational improvements.

If you travel as a form of education, your expenditures will generally be considered as primarily personal in nature and not deductible. This includes travel as a form of education while on sabbatical leave.

On the other hand, the cost of travel, meals, and lodging while away from home overnight for education are allowable as a deduction.

prevailed; the British retreated, burning old Springfield Church in vengeance.

Parson Caldwell's words rang long after his death, for he was shot to death by an American sentry on November 24, 1781, at Elizabethtown Point. Witnesses offered as to whether the sentry shot deliberately or accidentally, but a jury found the sentry guilty and hanged him at Westfield.

The "Fighting Parson" preached no more and when the Battle of Springfield is discussed most people forget that 3,000 men fought there. Remembered always is "Give 'm Watts!"

Engineered to keep your spare in the trunk

Wallace Cobb says:

Take it from me, when you put new U.S. Royals on your car, they're so good the spare tire goes along just for the ride. If you don't rotate tires, you may never use your spare. One reason why is QVCTM. This patented bonding agent fuses rubber and steel cords, virtually eliminating a major cause of tire failure, tread separation. See these tires. Get the price. And you'll go U.S. Royal all around.

Fidelity Union
Exhibit Tells Dramatic Story

From currency printed in Colonial times to the daily use of millions upon millions of checks. From a rudimentary New England iron factory to large-scale modern American industry. From the nostalgia of Rudolph Valentino in his portrayal of "The Sheik" in a bygone era of silent movie "flicks" to other reminiscences of only yesterday. Such is the span of financial influence history dramatically and colorfully traced in a spectacular Banking and the Nation's Growth exhibit produced by International Business Machines Corporation.

The huge exhibit, occupying a substantial part of Fidelity Union's Main office banking floor, Newark, was formally placed on display last week and will remain on view and open to the public daily during banking hours until July 24.

The exhibit, developed by IBM as a public service to call attention to the indispensable role of credit generated by banks in our economic development, following its display at Fidelity, will be shown in other cities around the country.

Striking by reason of its lofty, open design, the exhibit makes effective use of backlit transparent panels and accompanying rare prints and other curios of early Americana to link our proud past and promising future.

To help your phone service keep pace with New Jersey's remarkable population growth, changes in the way you dial certain out-of-town calls have become necessary. DIAL 609 TO REACH SOUTHERN NEW JERSEY. For example: To dial 555-2368 in Atlantic City, simply dial 609 first, and then the Atlantic City number. DIAL 212 TO REACH NEW YORK CITY. Some New Jersey residents have been

These changes will not affect your telephone rates. Detailed information about these changes is being mailed to you. If you have any questions, just call the Telephone Business Office, NEW JERSEY BELL
