Pico Named Mayor For 2nd Term

School 2 Addition OK'd By Referendum

The School 2 Referendum for $275,000 addition stirred little interest June 29 when some 832 voters — 538 for, and 294 against — approved the measure in one of the highest votes in years. It was a 2-1 vote with 5 percent of the registered electorate turning out.

The annex had no serious opposition, and had been pushed by the Board of Education, during a commencement exercise recently, will include an all-purpose room, a classroom, and an office for the principal. Henry Minasian, who is principal of the school, has an office in both School 2 and 10, which he administers.

Five of the ten school districts defeated the referendum, but the other five managed a relatively heavy turn-out, due to the telephone campaign waged by School 2 PTA. The board of education headed by Ernest S. Arvidson, characterized the passage of the referendum as a "great and welcome surprise."

The measure had been placed on the ballot Feb. 8 along with the school budget, which went down to its second defeat, and had been rejected as part of the school budget.

In the school district only 14 voters opposed the referendum, while 219 gave it the OK. But residents of Schools One and 4 districts gave little support to the proposal, although they had approved similar construction in their schools four years ago.

Victory By Default

Although it was the smallest voter turn-out in years, Board Vice President Rocco Saletta said he was pleased by the results.

"It seemed for a while that everyone in Belleville was against education," he said. "But I am encouraged by what voters have done today." Critics, however, quickly pointed out that a five percent turnout was hardly a mandate of the people.

Board member Dr. Frank Di Ruggiero was also happy with the result and said the results were a good change in the atmosphere.

Acting Superintendent of Schools Michael T. Rosamilia declared the new addition would be welcome because seven classes had been taught in six classrooms. The kindergarten classes has been conducted in a nearby church.

Strumolo Tries To Block Resolution, But Council Votes 3-1 For Mayor Pico

Incumbent Mayor Nuncio R. Pico was named mayor for his second consecutive term Friday afternoon during inauguration ceremonies for three newly elected council members — but it was over the protests of Councilman Vincent T. Strumolo who had sought an amendment asking that Councilman William B. Cullen be named mayor instead.

Councilman Ralph A. Casale and Robert E. Westpy joined with Pico in a 3-1 vote after Cullen was ruled out by his being named in the amendment. Strumolo failed to get a second.

Strumolo explained to a full-council chamber that Cullen had gained the most votes during the May election and was therefore customarily named mayor.

With the four-year terms in office went a $1,500 per year salary. Plus, Mayor Pico once said, the right to unlimited headaches.

Jack Soriano, 44, Cleveland Terr. Bloomfield, was named Town Attorney for his second term. "I'm glad they went for it," he said Tuesday. "I'll try for another good year. Soriano hopes that the new council will adopt the master plan. 'The town really needs it,' he said. He will be paid $8,957 per year. The vote was unanimous.

He's Town Attorney

Golden, who lost his bid for reelection in May.

Despite the objection raised by Strumolo, the new council seemed ready for business during its first Business meeting July 27, the only one scheduled during the summer.

In the immediate future the councilmen will study such diverse topics as the Parking Authority, a master plan, apartment construction, and other progressive movements planned for the town.

Board Of Education Commends Nick Petti

Coach Nick Petti, who has led the Belleville High School baseball team to an unprecedented season marked by their winning the Big Ten championship for the second consecutive year, came in for some kind words from the Board of Education on June 27 when they unanimously adopted a resolution commending the coach.

The resolution observed that it regrets his leaving the coaching ranks. "But recognizes that his decision to devote more time to his guidance functions was made in the best interests of the youngsters he counsels."

Town Council Would Set Guidelines For Schools

By JIM CERES

Chairman BAC

We of the Belleville Action Committee value our vote as much as our opponents, who are telling town residents that their votes are lost when the referendum for an appointive board is successful, is a false statement.

Under an appointed board of education, your vote will be twice as valuable in a council election, where it would be part of 60 percent of the registered voters, thereby reflecting a majority representation of the town voters.

Your confidence in the town council will be manifested in the appointed authority selected for the Board of Education. The fields of religion, education, and civic leaders will afford a good supply of well-qualified candidates for appointment.

Following Procedure

The present elected method has become a glorified popularity contest and does not represent the will of the majority of registered voters.

Is it any wonder that the record of elective boards — especially the present board member — with its majority bloc have become an autonomous body that has stained the image of Belleville with its record of arrogance and bickering?

We are asking for the referendum in accordance with established school statutes which give a community the right to vote on their choice. Would the regulations of the school statutes not be plainly outlined if they robbed the citizens of their vote?

School Board Duty
To deny the referendum would be contrary to the board president's wishes to leave it to the people of Belleville to decide what they want.

The board of school estimate, which automatically become part of the appointive board structure, can be counted upon to keep a tight rein on school spending without hampering the education of our children.

Three members of the Board of School Estimate will be directly responsible for raising funds for necessary school costs. The mayor and two councilmen will be designated by school statutes. This will eliminate costly school budget referendums, the haggling between the school board and the town council, and will end reprisals against people who do not agree with board policy.

We will leave the financing of education to the men responsible for raising the money for it. The taxpayers will benefit by such procedure as past performances by the town council will vary.

Honorary Cops

All three men were also sworn in as police officers, a routine and honorary title, by Town Clerk Eugene Barnett, who will be re-appointed next March. Barnett needs two years more service before being granted tenure in office.

Also present during the hour-long ceremony was the wives and families of Councilman Strumolo, Cullen and Pico. Absent was former councilman James R.

Fantacone Named Citizen Of Year

The Fantacone's Inspect Plaque

Colony Club Cite Officer For His Fearless Action

Anthony Fantacone, a 45-year-old Belleville patrolman, was named Citizen of the Year during brief ceremonies at The Stadium Monday night by the 25 member Colony Club.

The veteran police officer was cited by the club for his part in saving the lives of some six persons during fires here in Belleville over the past three years.

Vincent Vitty, club secretary of 87 Liberty Ave, made the presentation of a plaque bearing a scroll with the officers named enshrined. "He's a Belleville product," said Vitty in making the award.

Vitty also listed the occasions in which Fantacone has risked life and limb far beyond the call of duty in fires which would have claimed more lives than they did.

In one fire on Washington Avenue Fantacone had rescued a tailor, but the victim died later. Four other lives were saved by the officers prompt and fearless action in another fire.

"I like to think I'm accepting this for the police department," said Fantacone in accepting the award, adding that he was grateful for the honor accorded him by the Colony Club.

His partner is Kenneth Place, who also seems to be on hand when the chips are down. The two recently captured the bandit (Continued On Page 12)

Debbie: She's Little Miss Garden State

MISS DEBBIE CURRENT AND MOM

Stephens Street Tot Wins State's Top Summer Title

A combination of measles, the loss of three teeth, and a winning smile brought fame to Belleville last week in the form of 8-year-old Debbie Lynn Current, June 29 when she was named Little Miss Garden State at Atlantic City.

The pretty School 9 third grader first attracted attention when she won the title of Little Miss Belleville during a month long contest here which drew nearly 300 entries from throughout the town.

She and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Allen O. Current Sr., made the trip to Atlantic City by courtesy of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the event. After checking into the Hotel Dennis and taking in the sights, Debbie got down to the business at hand — namely winning the state title.

Her seven competitors from throughout the state dwindled to four due to a serious freakish mishap that could happen only to children.

"One caught the measles," reported Debbie and another one lost three front teeth while playing. (Continued On Page 12)

Two High School Students Win Lincoln Center Award

The Guidance Department of Belleville High School announced last week that Ellen Mann and Denise Lepre have been selected as winners of Lincoln Center Student awards for the performing arts in New York City.

The awards are given each year to provide an opportunity for outstanding young people to add the performing arts to their experience. The winners will watch and listen to the work of leading performers at first hand in a variety of events throughout the season.

They are given a chance to enjoy the arts in the adult atmosphere of regular performances at Lincoln Center.

This year the awards consist of tickets to six performances — three to the New York Philharmonic and one each to the Repertory Theatre of Lincoln Center, The New York City Ballet and the New York City Opera.

The awards are given to 1,000 students in their junior year in the public, private and parochial high schools of the metropolitan area. The recipients are nominated by the school principals on the basis of academic excellence, leadership potential and general interest in the arts.

In addition to the performances, the winners will be invited to a special orientation meeting in October in the Vivian Beaumont Theatre, at which leading artists in music, dance and drama will discuss some of the repertoire to be presented.

ship first at the Broad Street office and in 1959 at the Professional Building, 172 Franklin Ave., Ridgewood.

Dr. Anderton was a past president of the Bergen-Passaic Optometric Society and a past trustee of the State Board of the New Jersey Optometric Association.

He was widely known as a ham radio operator for 40 years, and during World War II as a civilian taught radio for the Army. His County Civil Defense work in communications is well remembered.

Tribute from C. Head

Colonel Carl J. Koenig of Fair Lawn, County Civil Defense director, lauds the efforts of Dr. Anderton in organizing and developing much of the radio communications that are so vital to disaster control operations. His tribute follows:

"Dr. Anderton was on the area CD staff in 1955 when I became County Civil Defense head. When the radio communications co-ordinator for the County resigned shortly thereafter, I appointed Anderton to that post. He held his position until he resigned at the end of 1955 at which time he was given a testimonial dinner and presented with a gold-plated radio code key."

Under Anderton's leadership, Col. Koenig continued, the County radio amateurs volunteering for Civil Defense grew to more than 600 and an effective network of radio communications was established and refined. All of the service on Dr. Anderton's part was done as a volunteer and without remuneration.

Besides his wife, Dr. Anderton is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Robert Seifert of Upper Saddle River; Mrs. Steven Brodbeck of Detroit, Mich.; and Miss Barbara Anderton, a junior at Wittenberg College, Ohio; three grandchildren: two brothers, George Anderton of Spring Lake, and Alfred Anderton of Belleville.

Prevent Garment Sliding

A circle of masking tape, with sticky side out, will make the trouser bar of a hanger skid-proof. Tape provides enough friction to keep pants from sliding and does not leave a mark on fabric. One or two heavy rubber bands on each end of a clothes hanger will keep a vest from sliding off.

Mrs. Willie Was More Than A Cook

Garden School Children Were Her Concern

What's it like to cook for some 30 children and 15 adults on a steady five-day, week-after-week, month in, month out schedule for over 10 years?

Well, to find out let's ask Mrs. Olive Willie of 83 Baldwin Place, who has been head cook at The Garden School in Belleville since 1956.

Mrs. Willie thinks working with the children at the Garden School has kept her young. The children have formed a deep attachment to her, nurtured by her warm, grandmotherly instincts. They turn to her for solace and comfort. They heap their gifts upon her — lovingly made — for her approval.

The duties performed by Mrs. Willie include making out the menus, shopping, cooking and serving a hot lunch every school day. The tasty, economical meals reflect careful budgeting by Mrs. Willie.

Her imagination and creativity in preparing and serving varied succulent dishes, yet remaining within the budget are one of the reasons the staff and children of the Garden School will miss her.

Mrs. Willie has three children and seven grandchildren of her own. Paul, a doctor, and his wife Norma, have a daughter, Paullette; Albert and his wife Norma Jean have three children, Donald, Norma Jean and Patricia. Another son, Robert, is a town fireman. He and his wife Catherine have three children twins, John and James and Paul.

Mrs. Willie hopes to visit her "other" family at the Garden School often, and plans semi-retirement. Clara Maass will be fortunate to have her as a part-time housemother to the students.

The TIMES is a Thursday morning tradition in Belleville.

Frank Orechio Begins Service On Water Board

Frank A. Orechio of 168 Alexander Avenue, Nutley, was sworn in by Superior Court Judge James Giuliano to serve as a commissioner on the North Jersey District Water Supply Commission.

Appointed by Governor Richard J. Hughes, confirmed by the State Senate and endorsed by Essex County's Democratic Senate delegation, along with county leader Dennis Carey, Orechio began his term last week at the commission's meeting, in Wanaque.

Orechio, widely known in GOP circles, is publisher of The Nutley Sun, Belleville Times-News and Newark Record. The bride is the daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. John Dickens of Fairfax, Va. and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Peslak of 43 Chestnut Street, Belleville.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a street length gown with an empire bodice of Alencon lace forming scoop neckline and short sleeves. A lace mantilla was attached to a small pillbox and she carried a Bible covered with an orchid.

Maid of honor was Miss Micki Tinkle of Albuquerque and bridesmaid was the bridegroom's sister, Miss Judith Peslak of Belleville.

Their gowns were pink street length sheaths featuring short jackets and long pleated sleeves. Flowers were pink roses and white carnations.

Best man was Woody Monte of Laurelton, and usher was Donald Zelany of New Mexico.

The bride was graduated from Kaiserslautern High School, Germany and Mr. Peslak is an alumnus of Belleville High School. Both are now attending the New Mexico Institute of Mining and Technology where Mrs. Peslak is majoring in biology and her husband is majoring both in chemistry and physics.

Over 300 BJH Students Make Trip To Washington

Carmine Accomando, an eighth grade student at Belleville Junior High School gave the following account of the class trip to our nation's capital.

Six bus loads of students, totaling more than 300 kids, embarked early Wednesday morning on June 8 for Washington, D. C. The trip was supervised by Pat Forte, a history teacher, and each individual bus was chaperoned by two faculty members. At 9 A.M. a breakfast stop was made in Delaware. At noon the group was lunching at the Holiday House in the nation's capital.

Nine years ago, Washington began a "Summer Jubilee," which is no single event but a combination that offers, fun, education, entertainment and amusement throughout the holiday season.

It ranges from concerts under the stars to Broadway shows at the National Theater. Our own boys and girls were taken on a guided tour of Washington with visits to the House of Representatives, the Capitol building and the Washington Monument. There was also a visit to the grave of the late president John F. Kennedy. Many of the students felt that the two Jimmies memorial was the most impressive sight.

After a return visit to the Holiday House for supper, the kids started their weary way homeward.

Smiling and anxious faces of the parents greeted the group when they arrived home at 1 a.m. Thursday. The general consensus of the student body was that the trip was the most enjoyable and educational that they had and would not have been as interesting without the direction of Pat Forte and other faculty members.

themselves within sight (and sound) of our pharmacy. We do a big business in antiseptics, bandages, and other first-aid items. Same everywhere, probably. But sometimes we wonder if people don't depend too much on first aid—neglect proper medical attention. If there's the slightest question in your mind following what appears to be minor injuries, see your physician. First aid has definite limitations. You can only be sure of proper medical care by seeing your doctor. A prompt visit can save a half dozen later.

GOT AWAY: Throughout the amazingly successful season the Bellboys earned themselves during the 1966 baseball season, it seemed as if Nick Petti had assembled the best squad Belleville ever had seen. Indeed he did, but what about the three that got away?

Traveling out of town to Grace Essex Catholic and St. Benedict's, three potential Bellboys went on to earn All-City honors along with assorted notoriety in the county. Vin Otskey, Dan Gabriel, and Bob Forczak are the three baseball stars who got away.

Meaning no offense or criticism to the cast the Bellboys had assembled, it is no question the parochial trio would have been a big asset. With a second string All-Stater like Otskey adding experience behind the plate and an All-Parochial, Prep, and Private Group like Gabriel on the mound, Belleville would have been unbeatable. Forczak probably would have earned his berth as a fly hawk with the Bellboys keeping an All-Stater at second base in the form of George Debrowski.

ESSEX MEN: Handling the catching chores for Essex Catholic, Otskey was the most celebrated of the trio. He has a second team rating in the state. Belting in excess of 350, big Vin Number Two average hitter, could have fit in as Belleville's Number Two average hitter, probably in the fifth spot of the order to create a line up of Jim Serritella (350), Art Sheridan (390), Rich San Filippo (342), Debrowski (338), and Otskey. What pitcher would want to face that array?

The RBI's and clutch hits, Vin is known for might well have been the key to a GNT crown. His experience behind the plate would also have been asset for the building round corps as would a strong and accurate arm. That's part of what might have been.

Forczak earned his All-City, and third team group honors at second base. Hitting for a healthy average the little senior would have been a welcome addition to any team. His fielding was also excellent for the Essex team he so ably served.

BENEDICT'S BEST: Having the misfortune of playing on one of the weakest St. Benedict's teams of the decade, Gabriel still managed a 6.8 record and 0.97 ERA to earn All-City, second team All-County, and All-Group honors. With the handicap of an error prone team behind him, the big rubber-armed south paw would have given Nick Petti the third heavy duty pitcher he needed capture scholastic baseball's unprecedented triple crown.

All of big Dan's performances in six of the first eight American Legion games, it seems evident to this writer that even greater honors were due him and could have been easily attained with a winning team. So far Gabriel has a 0.41 ERA for the punchless Legion with a 2.1 record and 35 strike outs in 29 innings.

Can you imagine the effect of a starting line-up with Gabriel, an uninjured Sal Taibi, and Art Sheridan ready in relief would have had on the '66 Bellboys?

Nobody would have worn that trio down. That concludes our brief jaunt into what might have been that never never land of the word "if." Three Bellboys earned impressive honors out of town. Those three could have been well used on the home front.

"PROMISE HER ANYTHING"

(Today Steve Charen continues his round-up story of the past season with the Bellboy Nine, one of the best in high school sports annals. This is the last of a two-part series. — Editor.)

By STEVE CHAREN

Just barely making it under the cut off, Serritella started the year as a reserve. With an unbelievable show of desire and determination, Jim got his way and moved in as a rightfield starter. Displaying a strong arm that felled many a run at the plate, he proved a good choice for that spot. A singles hitter, he also proved an ideal choice and lead off batter with 32 hits (for a record) en route to a .350 average.

Making the change from hurler to flyhawk Rich Pucciarello filled the bill as Belleville's leftfielder. The former basketball ace covered plenty of ground while hurling an occasional 2.0 record. At bat he mangled a .275 mark while fanning only 10 times, one more than San Filippo. Despite appearing in 17 games, Sam Calabria never reached his potential for Petti's Nine. Slated for the rightfield berth the high average hitter got off to a slow start and lost out to an eager team mate. Calabria saw action in the outfield and at first base while hitting .235. He has now finally come around for the American Legion forces where he is learning first base and hitting at a .400 pace with an eye on next year's Varsity berth.

Alternating between the mound and the outfield, Mike Welsh saw action in 15 of the Bellboys games. He finished the year with seven mound appearances for a 1.0 record, 3 scores, a 0.93 ERA, and the best potential to be next year's mound ace. The little lefty also batted an even .300 in 20 at bats.

Mike Mateyka served the same dual role for the Bellboys. Exhibiting the strongest arm on the team, the big youngster hadn't hurled in years, but Petti saw the potential for a "Ken Inglis" hurler and decided to develop it. With experience, he could improve upon the 1.0 record that was fashioned and become the rubber-armed pitcher the Bellboys will need.

Big Bruce Sincob proved a tremendous asset to the Bellboys with four strong mound appearances. Compiling a 0.57 ERA and 1.0 record, the lanky rightlander gave a good account of himself in his second Varsity year.

Pitcher Pisano

Pitching strongly in his only start, Joel Pisano showed the potential to develop into the leading hurler on next year's staff. The junior southpaw went 10 and 13 innings this season without allowing an earned run while yielding only three hits. Using off-speed pitches to good advantage his only decision was a 1.0 failure in a tainted tally.

Handling the back-up catching and helping out in batting practice, Steve Studioso left his mark on the team before moving with family to Bridgeport, Conn. Steve Cerca had been a strong candidate for an outfield job, but a pre-season ankle sprain limited his action.

Next year his strong determination should be a big factor. Coming up from the JV's at the end of the year Soph Tony Cervasio added to this team with a half dozen late innings defensive appearances on the outfield. Bob Banda also came up at the year's end.

And that was the team that rewrote the Belleville record book. Seven players will be missing next year along with the coach that master-minded it all — Nick Petti. Directing his team to seven on run wins with a stealing "run-sheep-run" style, Petti gathered in many a victory a lesser coach would have let slip by.

Jennifer Abbott Named to Accept Foundation Fund

Miss Jennifer Abbott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Abbott of 210 Stephens St., received the second outright scholarship award from the Belleville Foundation last week.

Miss Abbott's academic standing, her well-rounded schedule of extra-curricular activities, and her seriousness of purpose to aid the handicapped won her the $500 award.

She plans to enter Trenton State College with a major in Teaching the Deaf and Hard of Hearing.

Founded by Belleville industrialists in 1942, the Belleville Foundation inaugurated its Scholarship Fund in 1947 and in its second year as Trustees of the Foundation. They approved the new award, to be given annually to the Belleville High School student selected by the Foundation's Scholarship Fund Committee according to their specifications, continuing and extending the Foundation's efforts in assisting Belleville students to attend college.

Belleville's Reins Of Government Change Hands With Scarcely A Ripple

A Dissent (Sotto Voce) Temporarily Mars Event

By GORDON F. ADAMS
Text And Photo's

Political activity is a serious game, it's true, with a high stake for the public welfare; but it's a diverting spectator sport never wholly out of season.

So it was in this vein that the audience, which filled the small council chambers to overflowing, watched the inauguration of the new council Friday afternoon at Town Hall.

At nine minutes after 12 noon the new councilmen took seats around the flower-decked dais — temporarily empty while awaiting its new occupant. From left to right were Councilmen Vincent T. Strumolo, Robert E. Westpy, Ralph A. Casale, William H. Cullen, and Nuncio R. Pico. Standing by ready for his lead role was big, husky Eugene Barnett, Town Clerk and a veteran of many similar municipal chores.

A Town Prayer

But first the clergy had its moment.

"Except the Lord builds the house," said Rev. Bernedetto Pascale, pastor of the Silver Lake Baptist Church. "They labor in vain they who build it. Except the Lord keeps the city, the watchman makes in vain." And Rev. Pascale made it plain he wanted the council to be alert watchmen, not a bunch of bickering little men.

Then the three men, Strumolo, Cullen, and Pico formed a semi-circle around Barnett and placed their hands on the Bible. They all swore to protect the public interest as news cameramen recorded the event.

A resolution was introduced naming Pico mayor for his second term, but Councilman Strumolo — in his first official action as a councilman — proposed an amendment to the resolution, asking that Cullen instead be named mayor because of his standing in the recent election.

Amendment Fails

Councilman Westpy tried to block the move, questioning its propriety, but Town Attorney Jack Soriano said there was nothing wrong in the proposed amendment. Strumolo failed, however, in getting a second to the motion. He had had bitter exchanges with Pico during the past election, but indicated he was ready to let bygones be bygones.

Listening to him under these circumstances made on understand how Hamlet felt contemplating the skull of Yorick.

Cullen, who rolled up the highest number of votes of all the candidates, could have been named mayor, and perhaps world have been had not Pico's experience and the support of Casale and Westpy swung the vote in his favor.

If a deputy mayor is ever named — a position somehow missing in the present council — Cullen should be that man. But it was Pico 3-2.

Speech-Making

The councilmen were also named special police officers by Barnett, whose re-appointment as Town Clerk was also held in obedience for some reason. "That will come later," explained Soriano.

"I'm certain that Belleville will go a long way toward accomplishing great things in the next two years," said Barnett of the new councilmen.

Pico, who drew a solid round of applause after being named Mayor, told the full house, "I'll do my best to keep Belleville in first place in the state of New Jersey." It was a platitude, but well-meant.

Soriano Appointed

Councilman Cullen, sunburned and happy after his return from a Hawaiian vacation, thanked those who had worked for his reelection, "And particularly my wife," he said, "who helped with all the typing" during the April and May campaign. Mrs. Mildred Cullen smiled happily from the front row.

Councilman Westpy, alternately gazing at the ceiling and watching the audience, called for teamwork. "Let's pull together," he cried. "We haven't in the past two years; but let's hope to the next two years."

Jack Soriano, who looks like a latter day Jack Haley in the Wizard of Oz, was sworn in as Town Counsel, an undisputed appointment for the next year. There had been rumors of another attorney being proposed for the position, but it failed to materialize. (Continued On Page 12)

Councilman And Mrs. Vincent T. Strumolo

MAYOR NUNCIO R. PICO, reelected for the second time, took over as mayor after a 3-1 vote during the first official action by the newly reorganized Town Council. Here he takes a serious look at the Council Chambers from the flower-bedecked dais after being sworn in as mayor by Town Clerk Eugene Barnett. Members of the audience wondered why he couldn't have been elected unanimously because of the support behind him. It would have been a good way to start off the new council, they said.

GENTLEMANLY as always, Councilman William H. Cullen glances at his notes while thanking his supporters for returning him to office in the May election. Seated at right is his daughter Mrs. Gail Cook who holds grandson Richard. He slept during the entire inauguration. Cullen could have been named Mayor, but may become deputy mayor after the council discusses the matter soon.

HE BACKED THE MAYOR: Councilman Ralph A. Casale addressed the audience briefly and asked that they consider the public interest first in their duties. Casale introduced the resolution asking that Pico be named mayor, and was seconded by Councilman Robert E. Westpy in a two-pronged action that made it official. At right is Councilman Cullen. In the background is Mrs. Cullen.

HE OBJECTED: Alternately gazing at the ceiling and then at the audience, Councilman Robert E. Westpy, declared an amendment offered by newly-elected Councilman Strumolo that would have replaced Pico's name with that of Cullen, was improper. But Town Attorney Jack Soriano ruled that there was nothing wrong in the amendment. Strumolo failed in the move.

OFF TO A GOOD START: Councilman Vincent T. Strumolo, in his first official act as a councilman, threw a well-aimed monkey wrench into the sedate proceeding when he tried to remove Pico's name from the resolution calling for his election as mayor. It was a useless move that lost the councilman a few friends. At left is John Pico, the mayor's son.

Working Students Don't Have to Quit at $600 Tax Mark this Year

Many college and high school students with vacation or part-time jobs have been advised by parents or employers to stop working before they earn $600. These students have been told that their parents would not be allowed to claim tax exemptions for them if they earned $600 or over.

This is not true, according to Joseph M. Shutz, District Director of Internal Revenue. A parent does not lose the dependency exemption for a student just because the student earned more than $600 in a tax year, he said. The criteria for establishing dependency is not the amount of money earned by the student. It is the amount of support provided by the parent. If the parent furnished more than half the total cost of the student's support, the student may be claimed as a dependent regardless of his earnings.

For tax purposes, a full time student is one engaged in full time study at a recognized educational institution for at least five months of the tax year. A student who works full time during the day and attends school at night does not meet this identification. There is no age restriction in this definition and there is no restriction in claiming a full time student as a tax exemption by his parents, provided of course that the parents furnished more than half his support. Even though a student is claimed as a dependent on his parent's tax return, he still has his own tax responsibilities. He must file a Federal income tax return if he earned $600 or more during the year. He may claim a $500 personal exemption on his own return even if he is listed as a dependent on his parents' return.

He is also allowed a $300 minimum standard deduction which means that he will owe nothing in 1965. A student must file Federal tax return in order to obtain a refund of any income tax withheld by an employer. Refunds, even on income of less than $600 are not automatic. Students or their parents who have any questions on the tax status of students are advised to

ITT In Rift With Comsat On Rates for Space Circuits

ITT World Communications Inc., is charging that the Communications Satellite Corporation read Document 5013, Personal Exemptions and Dependents. The booklet which is free at any Internal Revenue Office, explains this section of tax law in greater detail.

"unjustly and unreasonably" discriminated against ITT Worldcom in quoting charges for 30 satellite circuits between Hawaii and Japan, the Philippines and Thailand in excess of those quoted to the Defense Communications Agency for similar service. ITT World Communications Inc., a subsidiary of International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation made its charges in a filing before the Federal Communications Commission in which it said the action by Comsat "gave an undue and unreasonable preference and advantage to Comsat in its effort to secure a contract to provide the afore-said thirty satellite channels in preference to ITT Worldcom."

Nutley's salary ordinance provides $2,700 annually for the mayor, and $2,250 for each commissioner. Members of the Board of Education are not salaried.

BHS Moves Over .500; Vailsburg Out 5-1

With Dan Gabriel tossing a five-hitter and Vailsburg donating five errors, the Belleville American Legionners finally moved among the .500 mark with a 5-1 triumph last week. The win was the Bellboys' third in five outings.

After loading the bases and falling to score in the first round, The Post 105 Pinstrippers broke the scoreless tie and put the game in with a four run eruption in the third round. Steve Cerca, Sam Calabria, and Mike Welsh started the uprising with singles and Vailsburg ending it with four errors sandwiched around Jim Catalano's double.

That was all Gabriel needed, as only one run was pitched who held up a drug store here. For Fantacone, who has been an officer for 11 years, it was just part of the job, but to his fellow officers and town residents it was a job performed well beyond the normal limits of police work. He is married to the former Pauline Gentile of Belleville.

ing football." The other girl she said, had fallen ill somehow, and was unable to take part in the event. But that had nothing to do with it. Debbie would have won it hands down anyway. She's a cutie! And she's from Belleville. And on Sept. 6 she will ride on the Miss America Float.

Belleville

ize and won the unanimous vote of the councilmen. Councilman Casale, in his enthusiasm, wanted to publicly commend Soriano for his good work by resolution. Mayor Pico said jocularly that he didn't advocate such public praise because "He may want a raise."

The New Councilman.
Councilman Strumolo, seated near the rail, rose to express his gratitude to his supporters. He had been a councilman during 1962-64 and had also ran for the council with Pico. Reliable sources had quoted Strumolo as saying he ran for office "for revenge," but this is hard to believe. If so, it will show up in his official action as a councilman.

Mrs. Helen Strumolo watched her husband with quiet pride as she sat beside Mrs. Nuncio R. Pico just behind Strumolo. She was one of the most fashionable women in the Council Chambers.

Then, after Mayor Pico called for the first adjournment under his new authority, the show was over and crowds of well-wishers, handshakers, and those caught up in the enthusiasm of the moment, congratulated all the new council members.

Curiously absent from the inaugural ceremonies were the town critics, among them former councilman James R. Golden. A husband and wife team who regularly hold down front row seats were also missing. But otherwise everyone of importance was on hand for the event.

With such promise for a happier, official family, Belleville may be able to purr in peace as its public officials start leaning on the harness in unison. But don't bet on it.

Earth Capacity For Food Great

The earth has the capacity to meet the food needs of billions more people than now exist.

This optimistic word came from a speaker recently at the opening session of the Northeast Branch, American Society of Agronomy, at the Rutgers College of Agriculture and Environmental Science.

Dr. Firman E. Bear, professor emeritus of soils at Rutgers, explained that large acreages of good farming land are yet to be brought into production.

And the productivity of much land now being farmed could be materially increased by growing better bred crop plants, by using much larger amounts of fertilizer, and by a variety of other means.

Dr. Bear saw the development in time of whole new species of crop plants, made in accordance with planned specifications and with the help of molecular biology.

However, there could be less meat for future generations. The speaker pointed out that feeding grain to livestock and then consuming their meat and milk is wasteful in terms of food economy.

On the average, over four-fifths of the energy values of grains are lost by feeding them first to livestock. Any shift toward a more vegetarian diet would bring complaints at first, but they would gradually die out among succeeding generations that had never known animal-food diets, he said.

Got a gripe? Get it off your chest with a letter to the editor. Address the BELLEVILLE TIMES, 246 Washington Avenue, Belleville.

Club Installs New Officers

The newly elected officers of the Elliott Camera Club took office at a business meeting last week at the Elliott Street School, 709 Summer Avenue, where the club regularly meets. Walter Meinke was reelected president and will serve another one-year term. The new vice-president is Ray Scranton of 323 Park Avenue, a former trustee of the organization.

Other officers include Mrs. Gladys Dorsch, treasurer; Don Cesh, corresponding secretary; and Leroy Crane, recording secretary.

Another club member, Mrs. Marcie Restaino of 351 Broad Street, is the secretary of the N.J. Federation of Camera Clubs Inc. The Newark club is affiliated with the statewide group.
