New Wave of Bickering Frustrates Belleville Officials

PERPLEXED COMMISSIONERS — Shortly after this week's Town Commission meeting which was the scene for a heated exchange with Commissioner Vincent T. Strumolo and Silver Lake residents Commissioners Mary Senatore, Joseph McGreevy and Mayor Ken Smith.

Lake Residents Decry Rats And Mosquitos

A petition bearing the names of about 250 Silver Lake residents was presented to the Town Commission this week calling for relief from "deplorable conditions" in their section of Belleville.

The document was read to the commissioners by Mrs. Toni Ward, a resident of the Silver Lake area, who violently criticized officials who she claimed were ignoring residents' pleas for assorted improvements.

Public Works director Mrs. Mary Senatore later scoffed at Mrs. Ward's charges. She said her department has been busy answering complaints steadily. She reminded residents that it takes time to correct municipal problems but that her department was making marked progress.

The petition said, "We respectfully petition the town and the Commissioners for relief from the deplorable conditions in which we find our Community."

"The sweeping and cleaning of streets, and sewer catch basins have been neglected and have been left in such a shameful state by the former Public Works Administration so as to cause the breeding of flies, mosquitos and other pests, thereby exposing our children and families to the dangers of infection and other diseases carried by these insects."

"The trimming and spraying of trees have also been neglected to create a most frustrating, irritating and uncomfortable situation for all of the local residents due to the bombardment of mosquitos in this area, only because of the lack of interest and competency shown on behalf of the Department of Public Works and its Administration."

Public Dumping Grounds

"Town owned lots have become public dumping grounds and the "National City Dump," as well as a junk yard for the junking of cars, for non-tax paying residents and out of town persons, thereby creating a most dangerous condition of rats and other insects, endangering the lives and safety of our families and children. These persons have knowingly violated the town ordinance and yet have gone unpunished due to the neglect and disinterest of the public works department and its administration."

More Policemen

"With no intention of criticism against any member of our fine police department, we feel that we should have continuous patrolling of the Silver Lake area of Belleville, with two to four men on duty at all times, exclusively for the Silver Lake area, because of the border line dangers which may arise."

"We feel that the above conditions have grown out of proportion, causing a great sense of neglect of all of the local citizens, because of the lack of interest and disinterest on the part of the department of public works and the complete administration of the town of Belleville."

At the present time, the relationship between government and community is at an

Town Planning Board Receives Commission O.K.

The Town Commission appointed new personnel to the municipal Planning Board at its last meeting.

The new members are headed by Mayor Kenneth D. Smith. Also selected are Edward G. Heibert of 26 Belmore Street, for a six year term; Paul M. Hannan of 23 Church Terrace for a five year term; Michael A. Trotta of 147 Jorammon Street for a four year term; John E. Hudson of 18 Hewitt Avenue for a three year term; John Connelly of 30 Marion Court for a two year term and Joseph Grande of 87 Charles Street for a one year term.

Commission Split Seen In Belleville

What had been considered temporary internal tremors on the Town Commission over the past few weeks finally erupted into attacks and charges by local governing fathers.

The post-election texture of compatibility among the commissioners has changed from smooth to extremely rough over the short period since the inauguration. While Mayor Kenneth D. Smith, Mrs. Mary Senatore and Joseph McGreevy appear to have merged their ideas into a common bond, they are now faced with a defiant Vincent T. Strumolo, who claims he is being continually persecuted by the majority of the governing officials.

Cullen Not Vocal

Commissioner William Cullen, although not particularly vocal during the municipal feuds, is more often than not sympathetic toward Strumolo. The result is a usual 3-2 split on those nitty-gritty matters which have plagued the commission since it took office this spring.

The extent of the split and how long it will continue is not simple guesswork, according to those close to the scene.

The latest argument centered upon a contention by Strumolo that the health department is understaffed. He insists that two additional persons are needed to offer sufficient protection for local citizens. The majority on the council does not agree with Strumolo. They claim that there is enough time during the day for the health officer and his inspector to make inspections.

Strumolo said, "Commencing with July 10 of this year when I took over the Department of Public Affairs, up to and including August 8, the registrar, Ralph M. Risoli and I conducted an investigation of our Health Department."

"The results were not good as I found the department in a run-down condition."

"For example: From March 7, 1966 to August 10, 1967, six milk samples were taken. From November 1966 to August 10, 1967, six milk samples were taken in our schools. From March 7, 1966 to August 10, 1967, two meat samples were taken."

"The minimum standards set up by the New Jersey State Department of Health require the collection of samples and laboratory analysis of milk and milk products at least twice a year as well as the inspection of food establishments on a periodic basis, Strumolo said."

100 Nuisance Complaints

"I have further found that from July 10, 1967 to August 8, the health department has received at least 100 nuisance complaints regarding dog bites, ragweed, air pollution, rodents, garbage, waste disposal, swimming pools, poison ivy, insects and housing."

"These complaints have left little time for our health officer and sanitary inspector to devote to environmental sanitation. Our health officer along with our sanitary inspector - stated that it was impossible to conduct the health department on a high level scale without additional help in the health department, Strumolo said."

Belleville has no health program. The people of our community are being deprived of top grade health protection -- and I intend to see that they get it."

"It must be noted that when any municipality is not protected healthwise, that municipality becomes a "dumping ground" for second and third grade food products."

PROTESTING -- Commissioner Vincent T. Strumolo complains that by not including an additional $5000 to his portion of the municipal budget he is forced to work with an understaffed health department. His commission colleagues disagreed and said that the size of the department was already large enough to care for the work load.

Grippaldi Wins A Gold Medal

For Belleville's 20 year old weightlifting phenomenon Phil Grippaldi, second best just would not do. Having placed second in the Junior National 20-year-old Senior National, and North American championships last summer the young Belleville High School alumnus was more determined then ever to continue the ambitious practice schedule that had boasted him to these heights and Junior and Teenage World records.

So it was that a still improving athlete returned to those dual National championships early this summer to capture both the junior and the senior championship and establish himself as the number one United States middle-heavyweight weightlifter.

This was to be just the beginning, however, as the Pan-American games in Winnipeg, Canada, loomed and 198 point class star Phil Grippaldi was to be the leading U.S. entrant.

Upholding his number one status the young Belleville resident responded with a record breaking performance to take a gold medal, and a pair of Pan American and National Records while extending his number one status to that of the Western Hemisphere.

Now the Olympics await Grippaldi as one of the last remaining tests of his supremacy. As the National record holder and champion, his berth to the 1968 affair is definitely assured, as prophesized last summer, Belleville will have a resident participating in the international event in Mexico City.

To date the Winnipeg performance has been the high point of Grippaldi's lifting career as a total of 1047 pounds for a National and Pan-Am record was hoisted in the traditional three lift sequence of Press (352 pounds for another National and Pan-American record), snatch (303 pounds and clean and jerk (392 pounds). This amazing performance broke all existing Hemispheric norms and was done according to knowledgeable sources while the young Grippaldi remains still many years away from his peak.

The potential of Belleville's remarkable weightlifter is unrivaled at this point as a shower of records have been steadily falling since he began the National and International competition circuit two years ago.

Grippaldi, a 1965 graduate of Belleville High School is currently at the University of Illinois taking several summer courses toward his physical education degree.

The amazing story of Philip Grippaldi, international renowned weightlifter began a half dozen years ago when a then 14-year-old grid hopeful began lifting weights in a

Murderer Still Sought By Police

Police this week continue their search for the murderer of the 45-year-old owner of the Simon Liquor Store who was brutally stabbed in his store recently.

Newly uncovered clues have led to an artist's rendering of what the murderer may look like. The suspect who fled from the scene of the murder on foot was wearing a gray straw hat with a black and red braided band with a simulated cloth deather (black, red and gray.)

He is a white male between 35 to 45 years of age. He weighs 190 pounds and stands five feet ten inches tall. His dark hair has gray patches on the side.

Police say that he was wearing a gray windbreaker, a gray or green shirt with khaki trousers.

The detective department has asked that residents who can offer any information regarding the homicide contact the police.

Fleeing the scene of the murder, the suspect apparently dropped his hat; a gray straw chapeau with a red and black braided band.

Detectives Mike Marotti and John Drop were first on the scene after police received word of the homicide.

The body was taken to Clara Maass Memorial Hospital where it was proclaimed dead on arrival.

Police have not established a motive for the crime. Robbery, however, has not been ruled out as a possible motive.

Bewildered and shocked by the savage killing, citizens in the area continue their day to day living apprehensively. They have not yet forgotten the reports of Marturano's body which had suffered knife wounds in the left eye and chest.

On the evening of the incident, a resident of Overlook Avenue recalled her fright when she first learned of the tragedy.

"It was terrifying. My land-lady had turned on all the lights in our building and had flooded the yard with lights also. The police were rummaging through the shrubbery. I was later told they were looking for the murder weapon."

I leave my kitchen light on all night for fear the murderer might return.

A customer who couldn't understand why the Simon Liquor Store was locked was shocked when told of the murder.

Commission Split Beatles Urge Legal Status of Marijuana

"These interior food products are just poured into a town whenever there is not proper health protection."

"My recommendations for a better health program are - appointment of another sanitary inspector; appointment of a health aide; create a housing code; create a new sanitary code and create an air pollution control program as well as other programs that will bring the health department of Belleville to the minimum standards that are required by the state Department of Health."

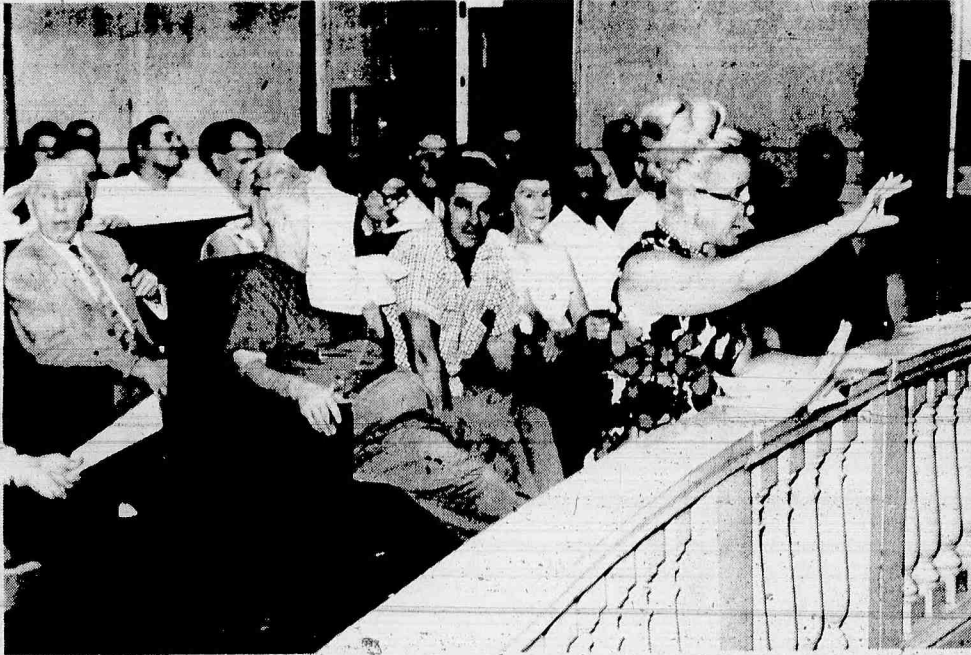

"In a further check with the state Department of Health, disclosed that due to the lack of a program during 1966, the Department of Health of Belleville was deprived of state aid in the fabulous amount of $13,500.00," he concluded.

The Beatles and two members of Parliament were among 65 leading Britons who have petitioned the government to make marijuana legal.

In a full-page ad in the Times of London, the 65 said they had formed a group called SOMA to examine without prejudice all aspects of "heightened mental awareness, with special reference to the effects of pleasurable giving drugs."

The ad urged Home Secretary Roy Jenkins to encourage research into the use of marijuana, allow it to be smoked in private and take it off the dangerous drugs list. Marijuana is now banned in Britain, and smokers can be imprisoned for one year and fined $2,800.

Silver Lake Residents Open Fire With Complaints

PETITIONER -- Calling for immediate improvements in the Silver Lake section of Belleville, Mrs. Toni Ward reads a petition signed by some 250 residents. They complained of rats, mosquitoes and insufficient police protection.

all time low. This is not a healthy outlook for all concerned. The residents of this immediate neighborhood have constantly called and appealed to the town administration to correct those conditions - but to no avail.

The citizens of the town of Belleville have chosen to change their form of government because of the conditions heretofore mentioned and other conditions which exist in the town administration. We sincerely hope that it will not be necessary to go to the polls again in this early stage of the new form of government.

Therefore, we respectfully advise that unless appropriate steps are taken to remedy the above situation we shall have no alternative but to seek whatever legal steps necessary to protect the health, safety and well-being of our families.

We further sincerely hope that no further action will be necessary and that the above conditions will be corrected immediately and continue to be so in the future so that we too will not have to scream 'Civil Rights.'

Developer Says He'll Sue Belleville And The Town Commissioners Too

Anthony Tamburro of East Orange, the developer who wants to erect 250 garden apartment units in Fairway Avenue told the Town Commission who would take them to court individually and the community as a whole to show cause why Belleville will not issue a building permit to the developing firm of Pinneas and Tamburro Co.

The fate of a controversial 250-unit garden apartment complex for Fairway Avenue in Belleville remains in doubt following the postponement of action by the Town Commission there last night on an ordinance which would prohibit multiple-unit dwellings from one-family zones.

Although not mentioning the Fairway Avenue project by name, the ordinance - an amendment to the zoning code - would prevent construction of multiple-unit dwellings in residential zones except when it can be shown that they will not cause hardships to the areas.

The ordinance is simply a rewording of a similar measure from which a variance was granted in March 1966, by the former Town Council to the builder of the proposed apartment, Pinneas and Tamburro Co. of East Orange.

COMMISSION'S HOPE

Sources close to the new commission have said that the governing body hopes to be able to rescind the variance, in effect, and therefore block construction, by passing the new legislation. But the commission postponed action and turned the matter over to Town Attorney Charles B. Tedesco for review after the question arose concerning the legality of stopping a builder by legislation though a variance already has been granted.

Tedesco is expected to furnish the commission with an opinion by its Aug. 28 meeting.

Residents of the area have protested the proposed apartment complex since plans were first made public early last year.

Former Councilman James R. Golden said he was not opposed to the code. He added, however, that the ordinance after it is adopted, should be "fortified".

Don Touche, a resident, said he was against garden apartments in the community and stressed the financial hardship which he claims would arise if the apartments were to locate on the Fairway Avenue site.

Local Carnival Draws Big Crowds; Raises $300 for Disease Research

Two years ago Belleville's Steven Tague held a small carnival in his backyard just for the fun of it. Since then he has lent his idea of fun to the recreation personnel at the Fairway Playground as a money-making scheme to aid the muscular dystrophy fund.

The most recent fair, held earlier this week, was not only a success, but amazed local officials and representatives of muscular dystrophy fund raising organizations. The local carnival collected a whopping $300 which will help researchers find a cure for the crippling disease.

Tague this year worked with Miss Janice Misuriello and a contingent of 30 young children.

The success story of the Belleville carnival can be attributed not only to the efforts of the participating youngsters, but also to the Town businessmen, citizens and some industrial concerns which donated items to the children. These were either won as prizes or sold. Over 40 donations were made by the Andrew Jergens Co., the A&P, the Dairy Queen, Carvel, W.T. Grants, along with a list of bakeries, drug and liquor stores and flower shops.

Even the mothers got into the act by preparing cakes for sale at the fair.

Over 400 persons attended the carnival during the afternoon and evening sessions. They took their chances at penny pitching, ring tossing, dart throwing and other such games. They bought hot dogs, soda, cake, brownies and candy from a sweet shop which the children constructed at the fair.

The organizers of the event were aided by Neil Schiaccia, Joe Peldunas and Joyce Rozek.

Mrs. Gladys Hill, Northern New Jersey district director for muscular dystrophy said she "couldn't believe it," when the local children announced that they had raised $300 from a six-hour fair.

She presented the youngsters with a plaque commending them for the efforts.

Commissioner William Cullen also congratulated the young workers.

Business Briefs

By Jack Gurewitz

Well, this is it - photo-offset. Today's issue will be a souvenir one day. As we write this, we of course don't know exactly how the newspaper has turned out, but if all goes well, the type should be clear and the pictures brisk.

Photo-offset and its accompanying "cold-type" composition is big news not only to readers, but to advertisers. For the first time, complete flexibility is offered together with spot color in a wider range of the spectrum than was previously available.

Many local businessmen have already been introduced to the flexible "cold-type" composition through our magazine, affiliate, Accent Suburbia.

Basically, advertisers can be more creative with forceful messages in a variety of formats. We'll be talking personally to most town businessmen about the advantages of photo-offset in the weeks ahead.

Good Turnout at Jerry's

There are some people around town who may have had a slight problem the past couple of weeks. Two of Nutley's most popular dry-cleaners closed up shop and went off for a vacation.

But today comes the clean news that both Tony and Frank Tozzi (Tozzi Cleaners) and Allen Testa (Allen's Cleaners) have all returned from well deserved vacations with business booming - that's normal.

A Pressing Problem?

Commissioner William J. Jernick headed the list of community leaders who turned out for the grand opening of Jerry's Men's Shop last Thursday morning. Located at the busy intersection of Franklin Avenue and Centre Street, Nutley, the store is the second to be opened by Jerry Tasio and Peter Palmieri. The other is in Newark.

So far, business the first week for Jerry's is better than expected. The store is featuring a coupon promotion (see advertisement in this edition) with several gifts as prizes.

Among those joining Commissioner Jernick at Thursday's ribbon-cutting ceremony were Robert Miller, president of the Nutley Chamber of Commerce, and Nicholas Mazola, manager of Janette Nutley Center.

Back to school wardrobe planning is now approaching its peak, according to the Rogers people. ## BELLEVILLE:

Fine Place To Live And Shop

Once again Belleville residents are experiencing a new form of government headed by new public officials.

We have five commissioners who campaigned on the theme of getting Belleville moving ahead again. The message came through loud and clear to taxpayers and merchants alike. Taxpayers were sold on the idea that this new government with new officials would provide us with the opportunity of keeping down the tax burden.

Business men were led to believe that the dawn of a new day had arrived for Belleville. Business men were led to believe that cooperation would be the theme of a new town commission. Directly or indirectly Belleville business men pay substantial taxes to maintain local government. With the cooperation of public institutions, elected officials, and the business community Belleville once again can become a leader in the community of fine towns which are to be found in this great state of ours.

Belleville is a fine place in which to live. Belleville is also a fine place in which to shop. With all the important elements of our community acting and co-operating in good faith, community progress is not far behind. F.A.O.

Babson's Point of View

Rising Danger of Burglary

Whether in the city or in the suburbs, people are a lot more likely nowadays to be victimized by burglars than ever before. So it is only sensible to know how best to avoid this disturbing -- and often costly -- circumstance. And to know, if it should happen, what to do to help recover lost possessions.

Police experts on burglary pretty much agree that carelessness in locking doors and windows makes an easy in for housebreakers, most of whom are likely to be amateurs. The old adage that any burglar who wants to get in will find a way is not taken too seriously by most students of the way of thieves. If entrance is made difficult, chances are that the average felon will keep looking until he finds a house or an apartment that is an obvious easy mark.

Perhaps the "open sesame" for most breaks is the snap lock that clicks shut without the use of a key. Such a device can usually be opened in a moment or two by manipulating a thin, firm object, such as a charge card or a pocket calendar. Drop-bolt, double, and various types of "police" locks provide superior assurance against entry. Your locksmith will help on this matter, and will make certain that there are no weak sections of wood or glass around the lock that could be easily shattered by sudden force. Some reliable locks come with magnetic keys having neither teeth nor grooves so they cannot be duplicated.

It surely should not be considered "silly" -- nor is it particularly costly -- to have locks checked from time to time, and changed occasionally. When moving into a new house or apartment, it is definitely advisable to have the locks changed; same is applicable when maids or other domestics are replaced, especially if theirs was short-term or temporary tenure. Any police officer will advise altering locks in a newly rented apartment, and this is only common sense in a high-rise where strangers constantly move about.

Windows create somewhat of a problem, since they can often be smashed and a simple catch released. Incrowded cities metal grilles are frequently attached either inside or outside the panes. While locked inside grilles are a better guard against burglary than those that can be pried off from the outside, they present a serious hazard for residents in case of fire. Many fire departments have strong ideas on this, and reportedly some big-city departments are testing out window locks that are both safe and burglar-resistant. Night lights are a good idea when a home is to be left vacant; and co-operation of neighbors is always helpful.

Even with the utmost precaution, robberies do take place. Authorities make it clear that they will be grateful if the victims do not put things in order after a place is ransacked. This makes it next to impossible to find the clues that most often lead to capture of a thief and recovery of the stolen goods. Insurance companies should be notified at once and provided with details on all valuable articles known to be missing. Both police and insurance agents are constantly appalled by people's inability to identify stolen goods. Insurers are urged to keep serial numbers of costly appliances. Women should note the furrier's mark on the skins in a luxurious fur coat, since any identification is likely to have been ripped off. In the case of expensive jewelry and such items as sculpture and paintings, color photographs should be taken and put in a secure place such as a safe-deposit box. It is wise, in fact, to keep notations of all valuables together in such a repository. This will do away with the vague descriptions and forgotten details that are so discouraging to police and insurance men.

Final reminder: Police officials insist that there is an excellent chance of successfully solving a burglary ... if they are summoned immediately and if everything in the rifled home is left strictly as is until they have completed their inspection.

Caution Yourself Against Drowning

Vacation time is in full swing, and judging from the experience of other years, approximately 3,500 lives will have been lost by accidental drowning these next few months. This represents at least one half the total number of people drowned each year, and they are crowded into the three summer months.

The annual death toll in the United States from drowning grows larger each year. More than one-half of those dying in this manner are young persons under twenty-four and the largest single age group dying is between fifteen and nineteen years.

Every vacationist should be careful about swimming. Too often we try to do too much in the water when tired, and the penalty is a cruel one.

Seema Only Yesterday

One Year Ago

County Superintendent of Schools William Twitchell, accompanied by Mayor Nuncio R. Pico and Board of Education President Ernest Arvidson, made a tour of School One to inspect the Head Start program under way. All offered praise of the curriculum, staff and facilities -- but cautioned that Head Start's value can be diminished when deprived children return to their home environments.

Patrick John Lee, 38 Tappan Avenue was installed as Commander of Belleville American Legion Post 105 in a traditional installation ceremony. Jack Gorman was installed as first vice commander; Patrick Wynn, second vice commander and Ken Paton, third vice commander.

Citizens favoring the adoption of the appointed board of education system for Belleville announced their organization into the Belleville Action Committee, with a post office box number in Bloomfield.

Five Years Ago

Donald Hulme, Belleville accordionist, was a featured performer on the Ed Sullivan Show on CBS-TV. Hulme had recently won the World Accordion Championships in Europe.

A police report read at a meeting of the Belleville Town Council revealed that Councilman James R. Golden had used town facilities for the preparation of his campaign literature. Police Chief Charles H. McGinnis said in the report that Golden's staff had been seen in the offices of Commissioner George R. Kiernan working on campaign mailings.

Clara Maass Hospital on Franklin Avenue celebrated its fifth anniversary in its new Belleville facility while marking its 92nd year of operation. The hospital's original building was in Newark.

Ten Years Ago

The Board of Education attacked Belleville High vice principal Carl Hensinger's sudden resignation after being appointed to a principalship in another community, calling it a "shoddy trick." Board members stated that Hensinger was at fault for not informing the Board earlier so as to allow sufficient time for finding a replacement.

H. Alexander Smith, New Jersey's senior senator, was principal speaker at the dedication of the new $5,000,000 Clara Maass Memorial Hospital on the Belleville-Newark line. The ceremony was the last in a series of events preceding the transfer of patients from the original structure in downtown Newark to the institution's new Belleville home.

Belleville, Nutley and Bloomfield were still awaiting the results of a study being made by state engineers to determine the feasibility of removing the Essex Plaza tollgate on the Garden State Parkway.

Twenty Years Ago

Several new teachers were appointed to the Belleville High faculty. Salaries -- commensurate with those prevailing at the time -- ranged from $2,200, for a social studies teacher to $2,400 for a teacher of English.

An outbreak of vandalism in the Belleville Schools was noted. Police told the times that 67 windows had been broken during a spree at School 7, making that recent total 158. Second was School 9 with 41 lost windows.

A supermarket advertisement in the Belleville Times urged readers to purchase ginger ale at the then prevailing price of six bottles for 28¢, chuck roast at 55¢ per pound, salami for 15¢ per pound and soap for eight cents.

Thirty-Five Years Ago

Serious conflicts arose between the Board of Education and the town Recreation Commission over the recreation group's decision to discontinue operation of the tennis courts adjoining Clearman Field. Board officials stated "We placed the tennis courts in the recreation group's hands... and now we have the courts dumped back into our laps."

It was learned that Belleville had three more streets than town officials had thought -- and town maps showed. Willard, Thorne and Mead Streets, all officially designated as part of Belleville, were on the site of Hendrick's Field golf course, and had never actually gone beyond the planning stage when the golf course was built.

MEGALOPOLIS?

It's an urbanized, highly industrialized strip of land that extends from Boston to Washington. New Jersey is right in the center of this belt of buying power ... and Public Service has been letting America's business community know about it.

We advertise across the nation to attract new industry to the Garden State, because when a firm moves into our state, new jobs immediately become available and New Jersey's entire economy is stimulated. It's all part of our job ... to serve the people of New Jersey.

BECK'S COLUMN

By MAX BECK

Many times customers come to the store and tell us, they saw an XYZ color TV set and the colors were not "right". And then they saw a different make and the colors were much better. When they look at our color demonstration sets, almost invariably we hear that they have never seen color as good as on our sets.

The next question always is: "Which one is the best?" We can only point to the 3 or 4 different sets which we show and ask the customers whether they see any difference. They always tell us that they cannot see any difference, the color on one is as good as on the other. And that is exactly the way it is, under the same conditions, on the same antenna, and properly adjusted, and if the sets are new, THERE IS NO DIFFERENCE. The trouble is that most color TV sets are not properly set up and adjusted for the location where they are used. It boils down to the simple fact that your color TV set will be as good as the service that you get with it. The best set -- if there is one best set -- is not going to perform right if it is not set up right for your location.

Taking for granted that all color sets show a good picture when they are new, does not necessarily mean that they will stay that way. The quality of the parts used has a profound bearing over the long pull, and there are differences in time. The design of the different circuits varies greatly and one design will be more stable in the long run than others. The ease to make the occasionally needed adjustments is important. Magnavox, for instance, has for 3 years an automatic adjustment of the fine tuner, which eliminates the need for frequent retuning. These are things that enter the picture if one picks one brand over the other. Recently a couple of the largest TV manufacturers have gone into color tube production, while formerly they bought tubes from experienced factories. These new assembly lines give lots of trouble. It takes a long time to iron out the bugs. Only a man who works on these sets knows which sets, in the long run, will be better than others. A mere salesman does not know about these matters.

We service what we sell.

New Sea-Run Trout Is Experimental

Experimental efforts to introduce sea-run trout in New Jersey coastal waters are continuing, according to Commissioner Robert A. Roe of the State Department of Conservation and Economic Development.

The aim of the project is to establish a run of trout which will grow downstream to salt water, grow on the ample forage available in the unrestricted ocean and estuarine waters and return to tidal streams as real trophy size fish.

Trout eggs spawned by fish with the sea-going characteristic have been obtained from several sources over the past ten years, including sea-run browns from Scandinavia and England and steelhead rainbows from the Pacific coast.

They have been hatched at the Charles O. Hayford State Hatchery and stocked at various sizes and times of the year in order to achieve the best chance of success.

Vietnam Requires Millions in Chemicals

The Defense Department is buying $57.60 million worth of chemicals to be used in defoliating jungles and crops in Vietnam which hide and feed the Viet Cong.

According to the Pentagon, the chemicals are harmless to humans and animals.

If the trains stop, so does Chatham.

And Summit. And Ridgewood. And Middletown. And all the other communities in New Jersey with large commuter populations. Without commuter railroads, these towns would experience a decline in population, in retailing, in everything that makes a town live. The Democratic Legislature kept these commuter services running with a state subsidy, and with imaginative improvement programs. And it means to keep them running. This is no special-interest give-away, either. The alternative is a sharp increase in highway congestion, highway costs, air pollution. Democratic action saved the commuter service...and a lot more for the taxpayers of New Jersey.

Successful Bazaar

Three cheers for our youngsters. And particularly five who here shall be named, Paula Rota, Susan Ryan, Patricia Lynch, Maryann Bini and Ceria Russell are the quintet who indeed deserve our praises.

These five enterprising young misses recently earned $102.00 to be sent to the USO for the boys in Vietnam. For seven hours on July 27, a bazaar was held. The girls dressed as much alike as possible, all wearing blue shorts with white tops. Local merchants had donated various items and/or gift certificates. Games of all types were on hand for the customers to enjoy. A refreshment stand was kept in full swing throughout the afternoon.

The youngsters mothers got into the act too, by baking many of the delicious cakes that were sold at the cake sale during the middle of the afternoon. And as we've already stated, when the din had died down, and the bazaar had closed up shop, the sum of $102.00 had been totaled. So as we started, we must add: Three cheers for our youngsters. They deserve it. Indeed.

New Voice

At her christening, July 23, baby Dawn proved just how good girl should behave; she slept through the entire proceedings. Godparents Clayborne Spencer (the baby's great-uncle) and Marilyn Rosell (the baby's aunt) were very pleased with their latest relation's actions.

Belleville Jaycees Membership Rally Is Now Underway Here

A membership rally for the local Jaycees organization is underway. Prospective candidates met with Jaycees last week to discuss the background of the organization and the group's hopes for the future.

They were told that one of the greatest threats facing American life is a lack of qualified leaders to accept positions of responsibility and authority in this highly complex society which demands more of a man than a quick smile and a firm handshake.

It is increasingly important that people enter all levels of community service with a specialized knowledge and the special ability to communicate this knowledge to others.

By increasing the awareness of a young man toward his civic obligation, by stimulating his thoughts and energies toward the common good, the Jaycees have accepted the task of building better men to serve the nation. This is a job that competes with the tranquility of back-yard living, vicarious pleasure through television, and the many other diversions afforded the young modern.

To awaken young men to this challenge is vast. As an organization dedicated to, and conceived for, the purpose of providing leaders for the many communities throughout our land, the Jaycee organization is poised for an increasing drain of its manpower into positions of authority in city, state and nation. To maintain a

Reform GOP Has Hat in Ring

A single blonde guarded the only entrance to Ballroom One at the Robert Treat Hotel Thursday morning. Standing just within the doorway of the 50 by 80 foot blue-green room was a dark-suited man speaking softly about the "nerve of them" sending a "spy" to a "by-invitation-only" press conference.

Thus the Essex County Reform Republicans for Party Integrity kicked off its campaign to defeat the Organization Republicans for Clean Government at the primary September 12, with events shaping up into a contest of who can "out-reform" whom.

Above the platform on which the three principal speakers, Walter W. Weller Jr., James H. Wallwork and Milton A. Waldor of the day spoke, floated a billboard size canvas announcing "Boss Blank runs the Republican Organization. Help — Run Him Out!" To the left of the proclamation hung a face-less portrait done in fluorescent.

No More Pro Losers

Weller, chairman of the reform organization, outlined his groups primary promises:

• End boss domination of the party.

• End an era of "professional losers" within the Newark and Democratic Party controlled leadership of the Republican Party.

• Restore the voice of the suburban Republican in party affairs.

• Rebuild a strong, united Republican organization with the desire, will and ability to win.

The campaign Weller stated will be to broaden the base of Republican leadership and to "end boss domination in Essex County that feeds hungry political machines."

Weller, when asked, declined to identify the bosses of the Republican party, saying "We will name them in the course of the campaign."

In Democratic Payroll

Waldor of West Orange and a state senatorial candidate on the reform slate, came closest by specifically attacking the Newark GOP ward chairmen.

"A great majority of the Newark ward chairmen are on the Democratic payroll and are subject to the bidding of the Democratic party in an election," Waldor said.

Waldor continued by charging the "present boss" or Republican County Chairman William F. Yeomans with receiving "favors from the Democratic party." Apparently referring to Yeomans receiving insurance commissions from the Newark Parking Authority, and three ward chairmen, Louis S. Cohen of the South Ward, Gerald Delane of the East Ward and Anthony Couzzi of the North Ward, who hold paid positions with the Newark municipal government under Democratic Mayor Hugh J. Addonizio.

When pointed out that Addonizio was elected in a non-partisan municipal election, Waldor repeated:

"Most of the Republican ward chairmen have bowed to Democratic leadership."

The reformers announced a new form of New Jersey campaigning--the opening of 11 "store front headquarters" in the style of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Mayor John V. Lindsay.

No Longer Whipping Boys

Waldor asserted that Democratic County Chairman Dennis F. Carey will know that "he no longer has whipping boys or errand boys when they (the Reform Republicans) win September 12."

The meeting, Wallwork said, marked the "formal kickoff of a political crusade." "Old-line political bosses of either party can no longer do the job in Essex County or the nation." "New people, new ideas and new faces," are needed.

Wallwork compared the Reform Republicans with Arthur Vanderbilt's successful reform movement in the Republican party in the 1930's.

Wallwork outlined some of the programs he feels are needed in Essex, youth councils, "child day-care centers throughout the county, job-training programs, air and water pollution control, chemical treatment of solid waste and a total transportation program in which the Port of New York Authority is forced to play its proper role.

Both Wallwork and Waldor stressed that the Reform Republicans are not "a group which has splintered from the Republican party." Their candidates and supporters, they reported, have been dedicated Republicans for years but are determined to rid the party of "decadent, tired, can't-win candidates and leadership."

In reference to a reform statement that 75 percent of the Republicans live outside of Newark, Weller was asked if the fact that four of its 10 at-large candidates, or 40 percent, are all

North Ward Newarkers might be a contradiction of the group's goal for fair suburban representation.

Both Wallwork and Waldor rose to reply, insisting that there was no contradiction. This campaign, Wallwork asserted, is a "crusade for new leadership in the Republican party" and has nothing to do with what candidates come from where. Waldor said the candidates were selected for qualifications and ability, not geography.

LAME-DUCK TITLISTS:

Last week a leader of young men or more specifically Nutley's American Legion Baseball team publicly displayed his apparent lack of reading and comprehension ability to attack this column without even once answering the statement he allegedly questioned; perhaps, it was simply a matter of the truth hurting that led Frank Di Marco to a misguided defense of the 1967 Essex County Legion League champions.

DiMarco's attack was the result of a July 27 summary of the 1967 league races that went into considerable detail to explain the season ending chaos that saw a three-way playoff in the West before an inter-divisional championship round could be undertaken. This article concluded with the observation - "With all due respects, Nutley did not have the best squad in the Essex County Legion League. Only the advantage of the earliest ending league schedule of any of the contenders, which meant an additional four days of rest, and the lack of a brutal three-way elimination tournament allowed Nutley to take the Essex title".

For a title-winning coach to be disturbed by these statistically-based remarks is quite understandable, but the inconclusive tirade that DiMarco subsequently delivered did little more than prove that Nutley was the best team in the watered-down Eastern Division of the two-divisional-12 team league.

There was never any question of the Maroon supremacy in the East in the July 27 story (although had fifth place Irvington not risen-up to smite second place Vailsburg on the final day of the season, a two-way Eastern Division tie would have resulted in a sudden death play-off for the dubious distinction of Nutley's Eastern crown).

ATTACK In his ludicrous attack on this column, DiMarco states that the Maroon came from behind to win in the East (which was not even questioned) by taking seven straight games for an 11-5 record. As a scheduling plus points up that the last six games were played in seven days for what was admittedly some genuine stretch-run pennant-pressure.

What is not mentioned however is that every team in the 12 team Essex League encountered similar late season chaos as the schedule was lumped together in a final rush, after early season postponements had created a formidable log jam. This put all of the key teams on equal ground although DiMarco would lead you to believe differently; Belleville for instance, was forced to play eight of its games in nine days or exactly half of its 16 game schedule during the chaotic week-and-a-half of the regular season.

This schedule pile-up was not the disputed column's point, however, as DiMarco well knows, but conveniently side-stepped. The schedule pile-up mentioned in the July 27 column was not the regular season log-jam which effected every contender and pretender to the throne equally, but the post season chaos that ensued in the West while Nutley peacefully rested its collective arms from the admirable stretch sweep that had brought a divisional crown.

The closed DiMarco comes to covering the interdivisional bone of contention was a broad statement that Nutley's 11-5 was not bettered by any league squad, which is in itself true but deceiving when the fact that three Western Division squads equalled this total, points up the total unbalance of the two leagues. With each Legion team playing ten games against its five divisional foes and six contests against the teams in the other division, it is obvious that only Western domination of the East could have produced the lop-sided final league standings listed below.

The only other mention that DiMarco makes of the West is a by-the-way statement of Bob Miesieski's no-hitter against Cedar Grove, which is described as "one of the top teams in the Western Division" which it admittedly was despite finishing in the second division of the powerful circuit with 21 points.

STATISTICAL FACTS: Getting down to the statistical facts which DiMarco blatantly charged this reporter of being "ignorant of" while completely ignoring the basis of the schedule-advantage statement, it would be well to inform the only one who is "uninformed".

According to statistics confirmed by Essex County League commissioner Cal Ehalt, Nutley concluded its regular league season on a Wednesday while the other contenders including Vailsburg, which stumbled in the East, and West Orange, Livingston and Montclair, which tied in the West, continued their head-banging until all of their postponed games could be made-up on the following Saturday-beginning the Nutley advantage with three days of additional rest.

A play-off for the Western title then ensued the following Monday with West Orange having already won a card draw determined by and, as it were, the Western title the day before. Livingston then proceeded to eliminate Montclair before meeting a rested Cowboy team which rallied for the title for the intangible torment of an intra-divisional play-off for a Division Title and the let-downs that would seem inevitable after such a matter.

This led into the Wednesday and Thursday inter-league Tournament that saw a Maroon team which had just completed a full week's rest from its harried pennant flight take two straight games from a drained West Orange team that had played four pressure filled games over the same stretch and was also having coaching problems according to Ehalt.

This schedule caused advantage should seem obvious especially to a coach who attended most of the pre-Tournament week's game to get a better insight into his probable opponent while a tired Nutley team rested.

It is apparent to this column that the one who is "ignorant of the facts and figures of baseball" is Frank DiMarco.

FURTHER PROOF:

Citing numerous batting averages and pitching records as DiMarco did in attacking this column was indeed impressive, but also unrelated to the issue at hand. Speaking of "facts and figures", where did DiMarco find his third All-State ball-player for the imposing enough yet unrelated statement - "What other Legion team in this county or state can boast three All-State friend's garage to help bolster his 135 pound frame. After several months of this football oriented lifting it became obvious to Grippaldi that perhaps their was more to the sport than just conditioning. At the urging of Recreation Department Superintendent Robert players?"

Admittedly, this column doesn't know, Nutley certainly did not place three men among the first team All-State ranks. Ken Inglis and Art Zincola did repeat in that group, but unless DiMarco counts a column by Nutley columnist Tom Perrota blindly Merrilees, there were only two Nutley All-Staters. To equal that figure "in the county or state", DiMarco had only to look to neighboring Belleville with Charley Cuomo and Jim Catalano among the All-State group.

WESTERN POWER: The subject of Western division power which DiMarco conveniently ignored can best be explained in light of "facts and figures" that prevail, for the Essex League's Western division won 26 of 36 regular season contests from its Eastern cousins while the East could only win seven games and three were tied for a 7-26-3 slate.

More specifically Nutley was 3-3 in this inter-divisional skirmishing which is impressive in defense of the admitted statement of Nutley supremacy in the East, but little else. For while the 11-5 Maroon were losing more than half of their games in the West it was the three co-leaders who were taking the toll, West Orange by a 12-4 bulge, Livingston by a 3-0 shut-out and Montclair by a 6-3 score. The three Nutley Western wins came by 3-2 over Cedar Grove, 10-9 over Caldwell and 4-1 over Bloomfield.

OMITTED: Or so it would seem, if two especially arrogant paragraphs of DiMarco's tirade had not inadvertently omitted from last week's TIMES while appearing in the counter-part paper of the Nutley Sun. The two omitted paragraphs and this column's rebuttal of them follow.

In the words of DiMarco, "This is a group of fine young gentlemen (which may well be, although League Commissioner Cal Ehalt expressed the belief that it was "an unusually cocky and undisciplined group of Nutley ball-players" who had won the crown) who did not rely on scheduling to win (although it was a definite factor in their favor), but rather when the pressure was on went out on the ball field and did their job. My boys played hard all season to be number one and do not deserve to be classified as a "lame duck" champion (although they backed into the title when Irvington upset Vailsburg and then had the advantage of an additional four days of rest before taking on tired West Orange in the inter-divisional tournament) by a second rate sportswriter (?).

"I think the facts and figures prove this and the sportswriter for the Belleville Times should re-evaluate Nutley as a championship team and more important himself as a sportswriter".

SUMMARY: That omitted closing was a mighty stinging blast from a man who managed to conveniently ignore the central issue in presenting a vindictive and pointless case. The reason that DiMarco ignored the issue of Nutley's inter-league play-off adventures and instead dwelt only on the Eastern Division title chase which this column never questioned, is obvious enough, the "facts and figures" did not apply there; the schedule had been a decisive advantage in the final accounting as four days of additional rest allowed Nutley to take the title from the survivor of the Western Division tri-leaders, each of who had already beaten the Maroon in regular season contests when the schedule was not a factor.

In conclusion to paraphrase DiMarco, this column feels that the facts and figures prove the original statement of Nutley's advantage in the inter-divisional play-off. Having re-evaluated everything as suggested, I return the challenge to a vain and

Cook and several others, it was at this point that a 15-year-old Grippaldi changed his standards and began lifting with competition in mind.

The regular body-building type of lifting was now replaced by the more polished Olympic form.

To increase his progress Grippaldi joined the highly publicized Keady Eagles Weightlifting Club in Perth Amboy at this point where he could work out with other athletes striving for the same goal.

Considerable conscientious work later, Grippaldi was ready to make what he described as his first significant showing a year later at the age of 17 by capturing the Junior New Jersey State Championship and then going on to finish second in the Eastern U.S. District.

Hours of practice later, Grippaldi's first record fell in the form of a 295 pound press that shattered the existing New Jersey record.

The re-evaluation by this column was made solely on the record of four days rest and regular season losses by "Nutley as a championship team, and more important" on the 1966 Scholastic Press Association's award as the "BEST SPORT-WRITER IN NEW JERSEY" and over three and a half years of experience with the Belleville Times-News, New York Times, Newark Evening News and the Star-Ledger "as a sportswriter".

sey record-this as compared with his current National mark of 352 pounds.

Ready For Nationals

Competition increased in Grippaldi's eighteenth year as the dream of the international stardom that was to come must have been starting to form. Capturing the Tri-State and New Jersey Lifting crowns handily, the rapidly improving Belleville teen countess teen-age state and District contests during that year as it became apparent that he was ready for National competition.

The next summer, 19 year old

Grippaldi was to tackle just that as he began his stay on the National scene with a flourish by just missing a firstplace finish in the Junior National Championships while breaking two World records with a 336 pound press that decisively shattered the existing Junior World and Teen-Age World Records of 321 1/4 pounds.

Later that summer, the Senior Nationals were tackled and again a second place finish was gained by the powerful Grippaldi.

Going into August the Teen-age World Championships thrust

His overall total of 985 was a National Record for the Middle-Heavyweight Class.

Later that summer the National press mark was to rise again this time to 346 as Grippaldi continued his second best spree in the North American Weightlifting Contest staged in United States Olympic Lifting Coach Bob Hoffman's home-town of York, Pennsylvania.

Number One

Then there was this summer and the end of Grippaldi's rein as second best. He proceeded to capture the Junior National Championships with a 1005 total, the Senior Nationals with a 1035 that included new press mark of 350 along with a snatch of 295 and clean and jerk of 390.

Then came the Pan American Games and Grippaldi's amazing 1047 total to shatter the National press total up once again this time to 352.

As Grippaldi explained it, there are many basic differences between the aforementioned body-building and Olympic lifting styles. Regular bodybuilding lifts are used pre-dominately by athletes whose main idea is to develop certain muscles with a carefully planned slate of exercises suited to the sport in mind. Although there are some physique contests designed with this kind of lifting in mind, this type of step by step weightlifting is not apart of competitive lifting.

WEIGHT LIFTING CHAMP -- Phil Grippaldi demonstrates his form as he wins gold medal in the Pan American games in Winnipeg, Canada. He is now awaiting Olympics competition.

Another Busy Week of Noc Hockey, Checkers, Ping Pong and Softball

By Robert Cooke

We had another good week filled with activities such as kickball, softball, ping pong, noc hockey, checkers and basketball. On Tuesday we had a box lunch contest. The winners were Judy Gleavy and Steven Dempsey for the most original, Mary Jo McBride with the cutest and Patrick McBride with the funniest box lunch.

On Wednesday the boys Junior softball team had a game against the Stadium. It was an exciting game even though we lost. The score was 28-8. We managed to get Marty Peldunas to play and she helped bring the score up. After we were rained out on Thursday, we spent Friday morning in a barrel telling stories and spent Friday afternoon telling jokes and managed to get enough kids to play basketball.

The girls had fun playing jump rope. Even with all the rain we had a pretty successful week.

PLAYGROUND No. 9

Activities at nine has centered around Wednesday's Field Day. As our contestants practice for the challenging events, baseball still looms in the background. After a near victory last Tuesday against number one 9-7, Yosh Moraski and Mike Calla have drilled the boys for the final game of the season. Highlights of last week's game was a triple play by Josh and a fine shoe-string catch by Cappallione.

Tom Bets, Anthony Calla, Al Roberts and Joe Scala were all in the action and Frank Calabrese continued to display his hitting ability. Our weekly Kalah Champ was Mary Ann Jiosi and Noc Hockey champ was Mike Calla.

Our thanks go to Joy Fulmore for her help in handicraft this summer especially in preparation for the library display, and also to Ginny Vitty who has helped at number nine throughout the baseball season. Our watermelon and pit party, cancelled because of rainy weather last Friday, will be held this Friday.

PLAYGROUND No. 1

This week was filled with exciting games, tournaments and swimming. Swimming is rising in popularity with most of the children deserting the playground and heading for the Friendly House.

Due to the damp weather, it was a very short week. First on the agenda was completing our paper mache turtle for the Library exhibit. The turtle was painted and a bow was placed around her neck. She was appropriately christened "Myrtle". Our Senior Softball team is still high man on the totem pole. They posted victories over Acme St., and number nine, with score of 21-3 and 8-7. Homers by Charlie Carr, Doug Brown, Bob Hutchison, Ken Carlson, John Gosicinski and Tom Hunkele helped in both games. On Monday our Junior team lost to the Recreation House 13-9, but they bounced back and slaughtered the Stadium by a great margin.

Every type of tournament was held this week. It is still too early to predict who will represent us at the playground championships.

ACME STREET PLAYGROUND

Monday and Tuesday, between games, everyone was busy finishing their arts and craft articles for the library exhibit on Wednesday. Our paper mache project, with a little imagination can be classified as a UFO.

We didn't have enough time to make the little green men to go with it, but we understood one of the other playgrounds was submitting a Martian. Wednesday was our first, and I think last, watermelon party. The pit spitting was ok but when the rinds started flying, that was the end of the party.

Thursday we had planned to spend the day at Branch Brook park but we were rained out. Friday we played wiffle ball, Kalah and checkers in the rain. Everyone is looking forward to the Playground Championships at Clearman field on Wednesday and the carnival at Fairway playground later this week.

Thus ends another fun filled week at "Dead End" playground.

MSGR. KELLY PLAYGROUND

The playground produced many talented children with bright ideas when the director bought some felt and material.

The children were all gathered around making items to go to the Library exhibit. Everyone was making butterflies, puppets, pin cushions, faces and a few Christmas stockings.

Kathy and Susan McDermott made spaghetti vases which were painted gold. Bridget Fredericks, Benny, Jim and Brenda Briody, and Alice Thomas were all busy making butterflies and faces from felt. Everyone is looking forward to going to the Library to see the exhibit. We finished the week with a watermelon party on Friday.

Even though it was raining the children enjoyed themselves. We congratulate our softball team for losing the game against Clearman Field. Keep it up boys we don't want to break the record with no wins.

RECREATION HOUSE

Although it was a short week at the playground a great deal was accomplished. Monday and Tuesday were spent painting our clown and circus animals which are now on display at the Library. Tuesday afternoon we held our Doll and Model show. There were about 40 participants in all. A round of applause by the audience for each entry determined the

Pigeon Fight Is Continuing

There seems to be no end in sight for the local pigeon scandal. Essex County Court Judge William J. Camarata yesterday called the case of a Belleville pigeon keeper "a nonconforming use in reverse" and commented that it "raises some nice questions."

Many of the questions were posed by Theodore Bellet, Passaic lawyer representing Thomas C. Fahmie of 92 Greylock Ave., Belleville.

Fahmie, who has kept pigeons in his garage loft since 1962, was charged last May with violating the town's health code. He was fined $25 in Belleville Municipal Court on a charge which alleged his pigeons were located too close to an adjacent factory warehouse.

Bellet said yesterday that Fahmie's pigeon loft had been in existence almost a year before the factory extended its building to within about three and a half feet of the pigeons and that no complaint had been filed by the town for another four years.

He further questioned whether the warehouse would be included under the code, citing the ordinance as referring only to "dwellings, stores or office buildings." Judge Camarata said he would reserve decision, pending the filing of briefs and asked for facts on the municipal statute.

winner. Karen Bryne won first prize with her cute little freckle faced doll. It was dressed in a yellow rain coat and hat.

John and Robert Inserra won first place in the Model division with their big steam liner boat with airplanes. The first place winners received card games as prizes. Wednesday brought thrills and screams when the Recreation defeated number one with a fantastic score of 14 to 5. Congratulations boys for a job well done. We had planned a surprise party for Friday, however, due to the inclement weather it was postponed until Tuesday.

STADIUM PLAYGROUND

This week's activities were centered around working on their projects for the exhibit. Everyone worked on the Stadium's original Martians.

Our martian had grass for hair, beads for teeth and horns. The most outstanding articles besides the group's project were David Hughes' bird house and cabin made out of popsicle sticks. Valerie Napolitano made a wishing well out of sticks. The bucket was made out of a bottle top and sprayed red.

Other articles were napkins holders, pot holders, leather purses and modern art pictures done in pastels by John, Karen and Sue Caccello and Kathy Austin.

Mondays and Wednesdays are spent at the Friendly House. Little Kathy Austin is finally learning to swim. Next week our girls softball team will play Fairway for the championship. We are selecting champs for the championship games. As of now Louis Scaltrito, Chris Tremel and Frank Pettie will represent the Stadium.

PLAYGROUND No. 4

This week was one of rare quality. We started off with Leather and this continued throughout the week. On Tuesday the leather was just about finished so we resorted to pot holders, paintings and quiet games such as Kalah, Hockey and checkers. On Wednesday our Handicraft for the summer was collected and we displayed our famous paintings ranging from collage's to mosaic paper cuttings.

We also had the usual pot-holders and handbags. The paper-mache animal that we made was something out of the ordinary, it was an animal, but not of this world. We liked it so much we decided to call it "The Spirit of Number Four"! Thursday and Friday we had an unwanted visitor "Mr. Rain".

It left us with not much to do but the attitude of the children was pleasing. Despite the rains, our girls played a challenging game against the girls from Clearman Field. We started off victorious with the score of 2-0 but the game resulted in a 9-4 score with Clearman the victors.

CLEARMAN PLAYGROUND

This week began with a rush to finish our project before the mold finished it for us. Needless to say, we won the race. A hand of congratulations is extended to all who worked on it. The group consisted of Gabriel Cestaro, Wayne DeFeo, Harry, Linda and Bobby Hertling, Pete and Gary Tchelebi, Mary Ruth and Richard Dill, Frank Russomanno, Joe Esposito and Mark Grace. The entire project was headed by Joe Cestaro.

A Kings Tournament was held with Karen Lewis the victor, Pete Tchelebi and Gabriel Cestaro were runners-up, and they made it a hard contest for Karen to win. In the middle of the week, Joy came by and picked up all our creative projects for the Library display.

Harry Hertling had contributed the most numerous projects from our playground and he should be commended for all his creative and artistic endeavors. Everyone was disappointed when Joy refused to enter our spray painted punks in the display, but when Joy found worms in them, she felt the Library wouldn't appreciate them. Is that the real reason you wouldn't take them, Joy?

On the softball scene, our three teams are still trying for the softball titles. Our senior team played against Acme Street, handing them a 23-6 defeat. The Junior boys beat number four playground 9-4 and slaughtered Msgr. Kelly 15-2. On Friday the girls struggled hard on wet pavement to beat number four with a 7-3 victory, leaving them an undefeated team.

Hay-Fever Victims Warned

The end of the drought may be a boon for farmers and a joy for gardeners, but for hay-fever sufferers it may be the worst season in years.

This painful warning was issued recently by Dr. William I. Weiss, chief of allergy at Saint Barnabas Medical Center, Livingston, who said that excessive rainfall has "caused a wild growth of ragweed which is going to cause higher pollen counts than we have experienced in about eight years."

But hay-fever victims aren't the only ones who suffer, according to Dr. Weiss. He noted that preliminary findings of the two year Chronic Respiratory Disease Research Project, co-sponsored by Saint Barnabas and the New Jersey State Department of Health, show that certain asthma victims, suffer aggravated symptoms during periods of high ragweed pollen count. He noted that these asthmatics may experience greater discomfort without the appearance of any of the traditional hay-fever symptoms.

To inform people affected by ragweed pollen, Dr. Weiss said that Saint Barnabas Medical Center will continue its program of informing local newspapers and radio stations of the daily pollen counts done at the center.

Dr. Weiss made three suggestions to hay-fever sufferers:

1. Urge their local municipalities to undertake an aggressive program of ragweed elimination. He cited the present Livingston Health Department program as a model for other communities, adding that the bulk of ragweed pollen falls within 100 feet of the plant and an elimination program will significantly reduce the amount of pollen exposure from local sources.

2. Hay-fever sufferers should try to spend as much time as possible in air conditioned surroundings. "If a hay-fever victim installs an air conditioning unit in his bedroom and automobile, he will have considerable relief," Dr. Weiss explained.

Commission Project

Poronography Studied

Rep. Peter W. Rodino expressed his gratification with recent House approval of legislation to create a commission on obscenity and pornography.

For several years Rodino has sponsored similar legislation to deal with this problem, and he stated that House passage "marks significant progress in the long struggle to find a satisfactory way to deal with the increasing traffic in obscene material."

"As a member of the House Judiciary Committee," Rodino said, "I am fully aware of the Constitutional questions which have been raised on this issue. Recent conflicting Supreme Court decisions have only served to confuse this already complex problem. While we wait for a definitive solution to differentiate pornography from material with literary, social or other merit, the flood of filth continues to pour through the mails. I understand that the traffic in obscene materials has now reached a figure in excess of 20 million pieces each year."

"Of the greatest concern to me," Rodino added, "is the unsolicited material sent to young people who have had the misfortune to have their names included on mailing lists of dealers in obscenity because they have innocently ordered such items as kits for the construction of model airplanes."

Rodino explained that the bill passed by the House provided for a Commission of 16 members who will be persons with expert knowledge in fields of anti-social behavior, such as psychologists and criminologists. The Commission will conduct a thorough study and recommend effective and appropriate Constitutional means to deal with the flow of obscene materials.

The New Jersey Democrat said he considers pornography as "pollution, and pollution of the worst sort, for it damages the minds of our young people. With this measure we can begin to protect our children -- our most priceless human resource -- and our hope for the future."

Newark, Neighbors

A Rutgers University economist has released findings from a major nation-wide study which point up the considerable disparity in municipal expenditures and tax rate between Newark and its surrounding communities.

Dr. Morris Beck, professor of economics at the State University's College of Arts and Sciences in Newark and a nationally known tax authority, said a full appraisal of tax and expenditure disparities in the Newark metropolitan area will be available in the fall. In light of the recent disturbances in the city however, some of the data points up the enormous fiscal problems faced by Newark in comparison to its suburban neighbors.

The data has been gathered in connection with a nation-wide study of metropolitan fiscal disparities now being conducted by the Advisory Commission of Intergovernmental Relations in Washington. Dr. Beck also will present a paper on "Fiscal Disparities between Central Cities and Adjacent Suburbs--Problems and Solutions" at the annual meeting of the National Tax Association, October 23, in Atlanta.

Dr. Beck noted that, in 1965, Newark spent $186 per capita for all municipal functions, not including school costs or contributions toward county expenses, as opposed to $89--less than half--spent by surrounding municipalities in Essex, Union and Morris Counties. Operating expenditures in Newark, not including capital outlays, came to $148 per capita in 1965 compared with $72 for all 567 state municipalities.

Health and welfare expenditures accounted for 20 percent of Newark's municipal budget in 1965 while Milburn's outlay was 1.2 percent; Essex Fells, 0.7 percent, and Roseland, 3.7 percent. General public assistance, paid to welfare clients who do not qualify for categorical aid, such as aid to dependent children, cost Newark $16.20 per capita in 1965, while the rest of the Essex-Union-Morris area communities spent $1.33.

Despite these tremendous contrasts, state aid to municipalities in general averaged 12.9 percent of municipal expenditures but only 10 percent in Newark. State aid totaled 14 percent in all other Essex County municipalities.

Dr. Beck pointed out that Newark's expenditures have resulted in a 1967 tax rate of 6.62 percent of the true value of real property. In the rest of the Newark metropolitan area the rate averages 3.25 percent.

The 1967 tax base in the city per resident is $4,162, while the per capita value of all taxable property in the surrounding area is $7,619. In several suburban communities, the State University economist said, the value is at least three times that of Newark. He noted that it is $14,468 in Milburn, $13,223 in Essex Fells, $15,539 in Fairfield, $15,576 in Harding Township and $12,179 in Roseland.

Vienna Boys Choir Coming For Unity Concert Series

Unity Concert Course will proudly present the Vienna Choir Boys at the Montclair High School on Saturday afternoon, January 6, 1968. These world-famous youngsters are on their 23rd North American tour.

The choir, founded in 1498 by Imperial Decree of the Holy Roman Emperor Maximilian I, was kept as a performing unit exclusively for the Hapsburg Court until the fall of the Austrian Empire in 1918. Following that time, the historic Choir School had to depend on itself for support, and public concerts were initiated in 1926, and they first toured the United States in 1932.

A rotating system always leaves one complete choir unit in at the Hofmusikappelle and St. Stephen's Cathedral, as well as to appear in performances requiring children at the Vienna State Opera. Other units travel around the world, and each boy is given the opportunity to visit as many countries as possible.

Since boys' voices change, each choir that has appeared here

HELP KEEP BELLEVILLE
DEPT. OF PUBLIC WORKS
MARY V. SENATORE DIRECTOR

Mary Senatore Really Cleaning Up In Belleville

Mrs. Mary Senatore, Department of Public Works director, has initiated a "Keep Belleville Clean" campaign. To get the program started some 50 signs will be installed this week. Also 50 new little baskets will be scattered through the community as well as 50 new benches. The new commissioner said that "a cleaner Belleville is an excellent way to display the town's character." She added that it was also an important move toward improving the town's public image as well as its overall appearance.

"We know residents want a tidy place in which to live, work and shop...we're just helping to provide the tools and the reminders to keep it that way," Mrs. Senatore said.

Summer workers began installing the new benches, signs and baskets this week. Mrs. Senatore was on hand to oversee the location of the new facilities.

She also continued her daily inspection tour of areas throughout the community, pointing out to her deputy Harry Mead those obvious places which need cleaning or improvement.

She said her department has never worked harder in more than a decade on assorted rehabilitation programs.

Regarding complaints from Silver Lakes residents pertaining to rats and mosquitos, she said that these were inadvertently channeled to her department. She said the local health department should investigate such matters.

Regarding the new clean up campaign, Mrs. Senatore added, "A clean town inspires civic pride, invites new residents and better business traffic. It creates a setting for the kind of town that is in the hearts of all its people...the 'beautiful village that is its namesake,' the commissioner concluded.

CONTROLLING LITTER — In an effort to keep ahead of the problem of littering, Commissioner Mary Senatore ordered the installation of litterbaskets and signs. She also authorized the placement of 50 new benches throughout the community this week.

BENCH INSTALLATION — Summer help in the Department of Public Works begin work placing one of the 50 new benches which will spot the community within the next few days. Pictured above are Charles Cuomo, Frank Iello and Mike Mondra.

Belleville Boycott Asked

Big Upcoming Nutley Rodeo Called 'Cruel' To Animals

Mrs. Sally Hood, president of the Belleville Humane Animal Association, has asked local residents to boycott Nutley's Annie Oakley Day, which will feature steer wrestling and calf roping. She censured portions of the upcoming event as a "cheap vulgar spectacle which will appeal only to a man's basest nature."

She said townsfolk should dutifully avoid the Labor Day attraction which commemorates Annie Oakley, a trishooter who had lived in Nutley.

Another representative of the humane animal group said the annual affair has been "much despised by animal lovers in the past."

Their particular objections were centered around calf roping, steer wrestling, the leading of animals through fire and the greasing of pigs.

"Taking advantage of terrified little animals is disgusting. How would you like to be greased with vaseline and have somebody start chasing you," the representative noted.

"I'm sure Annie Oakley means nothing to true Nutleyites... she was just a carnival girl who liked guns. Should we respect her for that?"

While Mrs. Hood had no objections to Annie Oakley as a whole, she did violently oppose those attractions which could be interpreted as cruel to animals.

Mrs. Hood said she was surprised that her Nutley neighbors would tolerate or even endorse such apparent cruelties.

The Annie Oakley Day is sponsored by the Nutley Jaycees and Kiwanis Clubs in cooperation with the Department of Parks and Public Properties. Carl A. Orschlo, director.

The celebration will be held Labor Day, at the Park Oval on Franklin Avenue. The program will also include trick riding, barrel racing plus the crowning of Miss Annie Oakley. The Hawthorne Caballeros drum and bugle corps will perform. Show time is at 1 p.m. General admission is $2 for adults and $1 for children.

Narcotics Traffic Is Under Control

Belleville Police detective Harold O'Reilly this week claimed that the community's narcotics problem is no worse than in other towns, and added that the local drug situation is "pretty much under control."

O'Reilly made the disclosure at a recent meeting with the Belleville Jaycees organization. In his account of local dope involvements, O'Reilly added that police know the identity of most of the town's addicts and keep close check on them.

O'Reilly said that some addicts must support a $65 daily habit. To finance these drug needs, some have turned to robbing area homes.

Other addicts attempt to sell "pep pills, goof balls" and heroin to fellow teenagers to get a commission to pay for their own drug needs.

Many of the addicts, O'Reilly said, come from good homes and possess favorable character qualities that are all but destroyed by their drug lust.

O'Reilly said in all his experiences

he has yet to see a "cured addict."

"Once a teen-ager tries dope, he is more often than not doomed to a bleak and short future," O'Reilly added sadly.

He emphasized the need for better co-operation from parents in educating their children about the dangers involved in narcotics. Also, he said he felt that closer co-operation between the area police departments needs improvement in helping each community with their drug problems.

He added that legal restrictions have often hindered police in getting convictions on addicts. "Usually such convictions bring the addict a sentence of two or three years. However, a small percentage of suspects are convicted because of legal maneuvering," O'Reilly said.

The Belleville Jaycees have been conducting meetings with county law enforcement agencies with the hope of working out a plan to aid in reducing the narcotics menace in the town.

Economy Policies Will Be Continued Says Ken Smith

Mayor Kenneth D. Smith made it clear that the Town Commission would continue to maintain a policy of strict economy "with or without the help of Commissioner Vincent Strumolo."

Strumolo complained at a recent commission meeting that the health department was grossly understaffed and wanted to hire additional help. Several of his colleagues on the governing board said that Strumolo's contention was ridiculous.

Smith said, "Economy should be the first and foremost in the minds of each board member and not only to fulfill the promises made during election but for the sake of good and sound government in eliminating wasteful and unnecessary spending."

"It is our intention, Smith added tersely, 'to make a better Belleville with or without the help of Commissioner Strumolo.'"

"I am sure that when the voters of Belleville selected five candidates to represent their town in an official capacity, they did not expect complete accord on every issue—whether it be administrative or legislative," Smith said.

"We are all aware that it is virtually impossible to have complete harmony on every issue. However, rumor has it that our board is 'split' and these rumors emanate from an element that would like to see a so-called 'split' come to pass.

NARCOTICS CONFERENCE — Narcotics Squad Detective Harold O'Reilly tells members of the local Jaycees organization that Belleville's drug problem is "not as serious as we are led to believe." He said that the local menace is "pretty much under control."

Teenager Wins Race For Life; Bleeding Boy Treated At Hospital

A local youngster who almost bled to death after slipping through a glass door is doing well at Clara Maass Memorial Hospital today.

That Donald Paoello, age 15, is slowly recapturing his health can probably be attributed to quick action on the part of Mike Esposito, 17, of 80 DeWitt Place and a friend from Las Vegas. Paoello was in the yard of his home at 830 Joramelon Street, playing with Donald Kowalski, 13, of 74 Joramelon Street when Paoello accidentally slid into a plate glass door, driving his hands and arm through it and severely lacerating his arm.

"There was blood all over the place...so I ran to a neighbors house and got something to help stop the bleeding and to get the ambulance," Kowalski said, recalling the scene.

Meanwhile Esposito and his

Las Vegas friend Louis Costanzo, who has been staying the summer with his aunt at 106 Sanford Place, Belleville, had been cruising the neighborhood in Esposito's car.

When Esposito had glanced over at the Paoello home he was stunned by what he saw.

"There was a boy half limping, half running across the lawn... his hand was clutching his arm and blood was shooting out of it. I stopped the car and we got out and ran over to him and told him that we would drive him to the hospital. He was so scared, . . . all that blood, . . . he said he was going to get the wound covered with compress at a neighbor's house.

 After the boy was bandaged, Esposito helped him to the car and drove him to Clara Maass. But the bandage was insufficient and blood gushed out of the boy as Esposito speeded to into the hospital by himself, but fainted into a deathly shock and his pallor turned ghostly. Esposito and Costanzo scooped the boy up into their arms and carried him in.

 Hospital attendants were waiting. They removed the boy's shirt, studied his wound and then pumped 10 pints of blood into him. But that still wasn't enough. An emergency call went out to a blood bank in East Orange.
 While the hospital waited for the arrival of blood, doctors worked over the boy for two hours in an operating room. He was then placed under intensive care which he received for three days and was finally confined to a hospital room where he is able to move his fingers, sit up and talk.

 Doctors said that the boy will probably have full use of the arm once again in about a year. They also agreed that they boy was saved by a matter of minutes because of the teenagers quick response.

Spotting the speeding auto careening over a hill in Jorammon Street, police took chase, cut off Esposito and was about to give him a ticket for speeding when the frantic boys explained their mission.

Police then led the way for

Mike Esposito

Esposito. "Paoello told us he was tired and wanted to go to sleep, but we knew he would die if we let him," Esposito said.

The boys slapped Paoello to keep him awake. . . to keep his heart beating and blood flowing into his head. Finally the boy passed out. But Esposito was closing in on the hospital.

Pulling up to the emergency room, Esposito was able to revive Paoello. He tried to walk

Babson's Point of View

Borrowing From Tomorrow

Last month Congress voted to increase the federal debt limit to the staggering total of $365 billion. This gives Uncle Sam a green light to borrow even more and could well lead to additional hefty expansion of non-federal public debt and of private debt.

It may be assumed that avoidance of fiscal crisis was the big motivating factor in the Administration's request for authority to create additional debt; but the size of the increase and the relative ease with which it passed Congress points up the fact that deficit financing is certainly in no immediate danger of losing favor in Washington. Time was when no federal debt could be created without a specific enabling act of Congress, identifying and limiting the purpose or program which the debt was to finance. Now -- and for many years past -- the Secretary of the Treasury has blanket authority to borrow, subject only to an over-all limitation by Congress which we call the "federal debt limit."

Deficit financing has been an easy road for Washington to follow. As a result, our federal debt -- which amounted to $54 billion in 1940 -- is now seven times that amount. On a per-capita basis it has expanded from $400 to $1,800, despite the fact that since 1940 our population has increased by about 65 million.

State and local governments, too, have been finding it convenient to "borrow from tomorrow" in financing a wide variety of projects and programs. As a result, total public debt in the U.S. has been rising at a fairly rapid pace during the past quarter century. In the decade from 1956 to 1966, these debts of all governments in our nation rose from $348.5 billion to $475.8 billion, -- an advance of 37%.

However, those who defend this rapid rise remind us that in the same 10-year period the Gross National Product jumped 76.4%. Because of this unprecedented economic upthrust, public debt relative to GNP stood at 64% last year, compared with 83% in 1956.

Economy Policies

Will Be Continued

"In order to clear the air I would like to point out that at the Board of Commissioner's second meeting, each official agreed to hold the line on new appointments, major expenditures and to adhere to the present salary ordinance. "At the same time it was also agreed that Commissioner Strumolo would take over the Department of Public Works, however, we had a transition period from May to July and during this period Commissioner Strumolo completely disregarded our agreement by way of making four new appointments plus hiring 16 temporary employees as summer help. There are 43 permanent employees in this department, how can one determine the need for additional personnel without first making inquiries as to finances and/or work pattern of the department?"

"I might add, two new trucks was another item that was contemplated by Commissioner Strumolo. The commissioner, quite obviously, was over-expending and was doing so without submitting figures for his anticipated budget for his department."

"As a result of Commissioner Strumolo's lack of understanding and inability to listen to sound reasoning, Commissioner Senatore was prevailed upon to take over this department. I had four years experience as Director of the Department of Public Works and I would be remiss if I did not say that Commissioner Senatore is doing a fine job without the four additional employees or the two new trucks that Commissioner Strumolo anticipated buying."

"Commissioner Strumolo then took over the Department of Public Affairs and immediately (the next day to be exact) hired his cousin Mrs. Marie Gammara at a starting salary of $113 per week in the capacity of acting principal clerk. He then attempted to move Mrs. Greta Brickell, and administrative secretary, whose salary is $7625 yearly (plus longevity) to serve as his personal secretary and he also requested an increase of $714 per year for Ralph Risoli, town registrar, who already received a $238 increment plus $350 across-the-board raise. A car allowance of $420 per year for Risoli was setup despite the fact that the position of Town Registrar is strictly a desk job."

Commissioner Strumolo felt it necessary to hire two sanitary inspectors at a salary of $5000 yearly, had he checked the records he would have found that in 1966 there was a total of 1489 inspections and complaints or, 5.9 inspections per day for two men which equals less than three inspections per day. In 1967 - 614 inspections and complaints or, 4.9 inspections per day which equals 2 1/2 inspections per day. On a yearly basis the hiring of the two inspectors actually would be an increase of $16,000 in 1968. The $5000 cut from Commissioner Strumolo's budget is for the remaining twenty week period of 1967.

Commissioner Strumolo planned to hire a Deputy Registrar at a salary of $6000 per year. In this particular instance Commissioner Strumolo heeded the advice of the Board, Smith said.

The worst enemy of the human race is nervous tension, and fast living which causes it.

Ninety percent of all the clubs in the country could be abolished without serious loss to the nation.

It is a sobering responsibility to have people depending on you for truthful information and reporting.

Vacationers come from all over the country to enjoy New Jersey's famed resort areas and cultural facilities. And so do industries. It's an accepted fact that business locates in areas where there are abundant and varied recreational facilities for their employees.

Public Service has been conducting national advertising campaigns to be sure that America's business community is fully aware of the good life to be found in the Garden State. We feel it's an important function because when a firm moves into our state, new jobs immediately open up, "new" money circulates and New Jersey's entire economy is stimulated. ## BECK'S COLUMN

By MAX BECK

It is well enough known that there is a desperate shortage of service personnel for all the machines in use, automobiles, washers, refrigerators, air conditioners, radios and TV of course. With the growing use of the more complicated color TV sets and the change-over of many instruments from tubes to transistors, many of the old time servicers are pretty much lost. Entirely new service techniques have to be employed for these new gadgets. Most servicemen, particularly the older ones, did not go through the "trouble" to learn about these new devices. Owners do not have the money to buy the expensive test equipment.

While the supply gets less and less every year, a large number of new technicians are badly needed. The industry begins now to make a great effort to train new men. The problem is where to find them.

If you have a son who is interested in electronics, he would be well advised to become an electronics technician. This industry is on the verge of a virtual "explosion". The whole field has grown so vast and is expanding more and more every day, that a man never has to worry about having a job.

Supply and demand regulate the price. This is true for merchandise as well as for jobs. When men are scarce and the demand for them is large, the wages go up. This will be the trend in electronics for many years to come.

We have found that the best way for a trainee is to start to work in a shop and go to night school, over an extended period. If he takes a course for 6 or 8 weeks, he learns theory only. By the time he can make use of much of what he had to learn, quite a while has passed. The accumulation of practical knowledge is a long drawn out process. It is best to have the theory progress with the practical experience, over an extended period.

Finance Director Disputes Strumolo's Comments

Commissioner Joseph M. McGreevy this week said he had statistics to prove that the local health department staff was large enough to capably handle present work load. He also criticized Commissioner Vincent Strumolo for not helping to maintain measures of economy.

"I advised Commissioner Strumolo and his deputy, Ralph Risoli that there would be no available money and not to put on any new personnel. I also advised our town treasurer, Francis McCoy not to add any new people to the payroll. The public affairs director told the Board of Commissioners he needed another sanitarian and a health aid and despite the warning that there wasn't any available money to put these two men to work. To be fair about this situation, I looked into the matter very thoroughly and using figures from Health Department reports submitted to the Town Clerk, I found for the year of 1966 that the health department made 541 inspections and answered 948 complaints for a total of 1489, granting that they checked every complaint in person and not by phone, which I divided by 250 working days and found that the department consisting of two men made less than six inspections a day.

"Taking their figures for the first six months of 1967 they made 253 inspections and answered 361 complaints for a total of 614, divided by 125 working days found they made less than five inspections per day.

"So with these results I recommended to the Board of Commissioners that these two positions be deleted from the Public Affairs Budget Proposal.

"At the July 24th meeting, I asked the Commissioners to adhere to the salary ordinance which breaks the salary ranges into steps fully realizing that each Commissioner could raise an employee from the minimum to the maximum if he so desired after the budget is adopted.

"On July 25th, the very next morning, Commissioner Strumolo gave his deputy a raise of three increments and put same in his budget proposal which I recommended to the Board of Commissioners to be eliminated. This three increment raise to Risoli would have meant a total raise of $1302 in the month of July. So, in fairness to all employees, I recommended its elimination from the budget proposal.

"On top of the $1302 raise, Commissioner Strumolo authorized a $420 yearly car allowance for Risoli who has a desk job, no matter how you evaluate it would mean $1722 to Risoli. The Commissioner also had $1500 in his proposal for a deputy registrar which he agreed to eliminate.

"Commissioner Mary Senatore in submitting her proposal had two items totaling $12,000. One item of $800 for replacement of four employees who were no longer with the town and another item of $4000 for replacement of the retiring town engineer. Commissioner Senatore agreed to try to run her department without these employee replacements and I recommended to the Board of Commissioners the deletion of the $12,000 from her budget proposal.

"I would like to point out that these deletions were for salaries covering the 20 remaining weeks in the year of 1967. In the year 1968 it would mean an increase of $16,000 in salaries in the public affairs department. It would mean if Commissioner Senatore finds she can operate her department efficiently without these four employees and with a consulting engineer, she would effect a saving in 1968 of over $25,000.

"The other three departments stayed within the allotted figures of the previous administration. As Commissioner of the Department of Revenue and Finance I will continue to seek economy as I pledged to the people of Belleville," McGreevy said.

"During the recent campaign for commissioner in the town of Belleville, I campaigned for the Revenue & Finance Department and pledged to the people of Belleville a strict administration of economy.

"The Board of Commissioners had to, by law, draw up an interim budget within the existing monies from the budget of the previous administration. To clear up any misunderstanding, I would like to state that when the old administration ceased on July 8th there was actually no dedicated money to any particular department. The total balance of $1,377,172.25 had to be distributed among the five departments as evenly as possible with a budget deadline of August 14, 1967.

"The commissioners sat at a meeting on July 10th and were asked, by me, to submit a proposed budget for the remainder of 1967. At this time I advised the Board that the available balance was very limited and all economy would be appreciated.

J. Morrone In Air-Lift Program

Aviation Machinist Mate Second Class James S. Morrone Jr., USNR, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morrone Sr. of 87 Charles Street, Belleville, has returned from lifting high priority cargo to the Republic of Vietnam.

As a member of Air Transport Squadron 751 (VR-751) attached to the Air Reserve Training Unit Lakehurst, he took part in the Southeast Asia Airlift Program. The squadron carried the Vietnam cargo as far as Barber's Point, Hawaii from their cruise base at the Naval Air Station, Alameda, Calif.

They remained overnight in Hawaii and then returned to California with passengers, mostly combat veterans due for reassignment to the United States.

This was the second Vietnam airlift for VR-751. The Southeast Asia Airlift Program was started by the Chief of Naval Air Reserve Training in 1965 in response to a request from the Commander in Chief Pacific Fleet.

"Each department gave me their proposals. The proposals were itemized and each individual salary requirement for permanent personnel was looked into and checked very carefully with salary increments and longevity needs noted.

"Outside of summer help, which was provided for in previous budget, no new personnel was added except in the Department of Public Affairs."

CANCER STATISTICS ARE FRIGHTENING

The Strang Clinic in New York City, famed for cancer detection, recently reported that one in every 100 patients past 40 who feel well and appear to have good health probably has cancer. Fortunately, reported Dr. Emerson Day, the Strang Clinic director, most of these cancers can be diagnosed by the family physician.

When discovered and treated at this pre-symptomatic stage, the chance of a cure is increased greatly. These facts of life or death make it imperative that every adult get regular health checkups.

George W. Symonds, president of Belleville-Nutley Buick, 66 Washington Avenue, Nutley, has won an award for attaining the highest sales goal of any Buick dealer in the Newark area. Presenting the award to Symonds was R.P. Cornelissen, district sales manager for the Buick Motors Division of General Motors. As part of the award Mr. and Mrs. Symonds are flying to Caracas, Venezuela for a five-day holiday this month.

Al Cherdak, sales manager for Belleville-Nutley Buick, leading sales manager in the contest, and Angelo Samara, sales representative for the local dealership, also were honored.

Cherdak won a five-day trip to a resort in Northern Michigan. Samara, one of the top five salesmen in the Newark Zone, was awarded a color television and will accompany Cherdak on the Michigan trip.

Symonds, who lives at 405 Passaic Avenue, Nutley, said sales at Belleville-Nutley Buick show an increase of 26 percent over 1966, while the general automotive industry is down 10 percent.

Recreation Baseball Playoffs Set Next Week In Belleville

The fifteen-game schedules of Belleville's three Recreation Department evening slow-pitch softball leagues, named simply the Monday, Tuesday and Thursday Night Leagues, came to a close last week with first place trophies being won by Frenchies Grill (14-1), Robsons Club (14-1) and the Fire Department Club sponsored by the Circle Grill, (11-4).

Frenchies and Robsons had clinched their titles early in season by compiling near perfect slates while the Fire Department squad had to come down to the wire before edging out McDonalds and Valentine Electric in some pressure-packed contests.

The three league champions will now square off for over-Belleville honors in a Double-Elimination Tournament or Inter-League Playoff. A trophy symbolic of the Town slow-pitch softball championship will be presented to the winner of the playoffs by the Recreation Department which coordinated the leagues under the direction of Harold "Bud" Brand and Superintendent Robert Cook.

The playoff games are to be played on Diamond Number 1 in Belleville Park at 8 p.m. on the following evenings. The Belleville Series opened last night, August 23, with Frenchies taking on the Fire Department. Tonight the loser of the first game will play Robsons. This is a double elimination tourney (two losses and out).

The series will then resume next Tuesday evening August 29, when the winner of the first game will play Robsons. The remaining games will then be played on Wednesday and Thursday, if necessary, August 30 and 31.

American Legion Baseball 1967 was a season of success and fulfillment for Essex County. Expanded to a twelve-team league, Chairman Cal Ehalt's loop produced two hotly contested pennant fights in its twin divisions, reasonable team balance and only moderate dispute over the annual All-Star game selections.

And yet the face of the Essex Loop will be changed somewhat next time around, although there will still be 12 teams in two divisions, 192 players and 22 coaches will still take part, and Belleville's distinguished Jack Throckmorton will retain his dual role as Assistant League Commissioner and Belleville General Manager much of the face of the league ball 1968 will be changed from the all-star contest to automatic district crowns details will follow.

On the local recreation Department scene, the summers senior Softball and Junior Hardball leagues are wrapping up their activities for the year with a flurry of Championship Tournaments and playoffs.

Still on the recreation front, ground-work is already being laid for the next leg of the town youth program that being the ever-popular football leagues that will be filling its league rosters shortly.

Next week the second part of the columns three part series on local athletes with possible Olympic potential will spotlight a former Belleville High teacher and track coach, a current Nutley resident, and one of the nations top distance walkers, Ron Kulik.

Last week's series opener was devoted to Belleville High alumnus, Phil Gripaldi, a Pan American Games Gold medalist and National Champion Weightlifter. The third phase of the series will be about the exploits of another BHS grad, Bob Boglione.

Having discussed last week's retaliatory column with Nutley American Legion Coach Frank DiMarco, we found him to be a much more reasonable man than his letter of August 10 may have indicated.

Claiming total team effort and not schedule advantages as the key to Nutley's first Legion crown in 15 seasons, the young coach disputed several of the statements from official league offices. One of these points of contention was the Nutley regular season finale which DiMarco put on a Thursday rather than a Wednesday reducing the rest factor by one day to three games rest; the other being a statement by League Commissioner Ehalt of apparent Nutley "cockiness and undisciplined behavior", which DiMarco described as team spirit by a group of ball-players that was very coachable and playing to peak performance after a 4-5 stumbling start; Nutley won nine straight Essex games for the title from that point.

This column feels that the entire situation was inflated entirely out of proportion in recent weeks, while reminding DiMarco and its readers that this space is written as what it purports to be a sports column, which in turn is expected to be opinion.

DiMarco's final rebuttal has been presented in the spirit of equal time.

Now this column will rest its Essex County Legion League supremacy case on its original and documented opinion.

The trickle of nightly exercises has grown to a consistent turn-out of over 35 Belleville High School grid hopefuls as September approaches with the promise of new Head Grid Coach John Amabile and a season opener at East Orange.

Returning quarterback Rich Del Guercio figures to be the key to a Belleville team that will rely heavily on the pass. With two-way tackle Lou Della Terza, tackle Angelo DiModica and a handful of Junior Varsity graduates who saw considerable Varsity action it should be a powerful forward wall ahead of Del Guercio while returning cornerback Greg Kostowitz and reserve quarterback-halfback Tony Cervasio are the other experience keys.

More complete analysis of the personal and prospects of football 1967 at Belleville High School will follow in future issues of the TIMES.

Maintaining a 12 team baseball league obviously has its advantages and its disadvantages. One of the most obvious of the latter is the scheduling problems that inevitable develop not only while trying to promote a 98 game regular season, but also in advancing one team through at least a 20 game slate to the state-wide District Wars.

Going up against teams that have only had to play as few as six games in smaller leagues to reach the Divisional Tourney status is an annoying fault of the system, one that has cost tired Essex representatives in recent years according to League Commissioner Ehalt.

The Essex County League is definitely the biggest Legion loop in the state and according to a recent article in the Sporting News, the Bible of baseball, one of the largest leagues in the country.

It is with these factors in mind that the proposal has been made to be automatically award District Champion status to the winner of any Legion League with ten teams or more. This would allow the champions of the largest loops to draw an early bye before entering directly into the New Jersey Finals.

Currently the Essex winners must take on equal billing league winners like Bayonne from a two team, three game league. Sayerville from a six team ten game league and Union from a seven team, 12 game loop. Only Morris County comes close to matching the extensive Essex League program with a ten league of its own.

If the new districting proposal is approved which appears very likely at this point New Jersey will be expanded from the current two divisional North and South Jersey champions to a four district arrangement including the Essex County and Morris County League Champions as automatic district winners, leaving the other 19 County winners to squabble among themselves at least until another program is expanded to the 10 team class.

In an effort to further liberalize League Roster regulations Ehalt has proposed an open roster well into the season before a predetermined cut-down date ends experimentation and cements a 16-man roster.

This year standard 16-yr roster rule received its first taste of liberalization with the institution of a three man "taxi squad" for the first three weeks of the season; this innovation allowed player replacement for the first time.

Surprisingly enough after the unusually quiet adoption of a new All-Star selection system which saw no team represented by more than three players and each team at least one mar as the league umpires stood as the major judge and jury of coaches recommendations, Ehalt has expressed the belief that the annual season ending classic may have to be dropped next season because of continued dis-satisfaction with the selection procedure.

Such a move would seem a tremendous error from this column's point of view while removing an incentive to individual players, a large part of the revenue for league operating cost and some inter-county competition.

IT'S NEW, DELICIOUS, HE-MAN SIZED...
THE TEXAS BREAKFAST AT THE AIR
CONDITIONED CITY LINE LUNCH. TWO
EGGS, STEAK, TOAST, COFFEE FOR 99¢.

Good food, generous portions, cleanest grills and serving equipment and fast, friendly service, are making a great reputation for this restaurant at 715 Washington Avenue, Belleville (across from the Public Service Garage). Many home made Italian dishes are served throughout the day, stuffed shells, baked macaroni, veal or sausage with peppers and veal parmigiana.
And the coffee is truly exceptional, it is the pride and joy of City Line Lunch. It is made by a new and remarkable "Pour-omatic" process. An exclusive blend of coffee is used and it yields a mellow, full bodied cup with never a bitter taste. Many customers prefer it black with no sugar and that's the test of a real good cup of coffee.

All the dishes prepared by Tony and Andy,
the new owners of City Line Lunch, can be "taken out". They are packed in special heat-retaining re-usable aluminum containers. City Line has the most convenient hours, daily from 5 in the morning to 6 in the evening and Sundays from 8 a.m. to 12 noon.

Sam (The Hawk) Russo of Nutley, a local celebrity, says "I've eaten in many restaurants in my time and since Andy and Tony have taken over City Line Lunch I eat there everyday, including Sundays and I'm

AAGP Re-elects Dr. M. Perlman

Dr. Maximilian Perlman, 637 Bloomfield Avenue, has been re-elected to active membership in the American Academy of General Practice, the national association of family doctors.

Re-election signifies that the physician has successfully completed 150 hours of accredited postgraduate medical study in the last three years. The Academy, the country's second largest national medical association, is the only medical group that requires members to keep up with medical progress through continuing education.

The Academy, founded in 1947 and headquartered in Kansas City, Mo., currently is spearheading a movement to create a new specialty of family medicine that will enhance the ability of the family physician to provide comprehensive, continuing care to the public. The foundation of this new specialty will be the Academy's postgraduate education program.

GOP Promises Efficiency Over Political Friendship

Essex County Organization Republican Board of Freeholders candidates have called for a county government administration that "will put efficiency and economy ahead of political friendship."

Moving forward on another front, the six Senate candidates on the regular GOP slate challenged the county's incumbent Democratic Senators to "disclose how much Essex County residents have contributed to the $208 million raised during the first year of the 3 per cent sales tax."

In a joint statement issued today, GOP freeholder candidates Mario A. Genova of Maplewood, William S. Macdonald of Newark, and William H. Clark of Livingston, declared that "a $69-million-a-year operation has to be run like a business, not a fraternal organization for political friends."

"A sure way to land a chunk of the taxpayer's money," the candidates asserted, "is to hold another Democratic office, be a defeated candidate, or be part of their own club."

The candidates pointed out that in the last nine years, the county budget has skyrocketed from just over $30 million to an estimated $70 this year.

"This isn't peanuts when you remember that, on the average, Essex County taxpayers spend 33 per cent of their local tax bill to maintain their county government."

"The county government must be handled like a modern, efficient corporation, run by people of integrity for the good of the residents of Essex, with every dollar and decision scrutinized for efficiency, economy and greater service."

The Senate candidates declared that "We want to know how much of the sales tax revenue comes from the pockets of Essex taxpayers and how much has been returned to our communities in the form of new state aid."

GOP organization candidates are Frank L. Bate of Essex Fells, Irwin I. Kimmelman of South Orange, Michael A. Giuliano of Newark, Thomas E. Boyle of Montclair, J. Harry Smith of Orange, and Jack J. Soriano of Bloomfield.

"We intend," they said, "to insist on answers to these questions from now through November and demonstrate to the voters of Essex County that the many promises of property tax relief made at the time the new tax was voted by our opponents were deliberate lies."

Federal Funds Would Improve Soho Hospital

Essex County Freeholder Margaret Marucci-Kelly said early last week that she is taking steps to obtain federal funds for projects to revamp Belleville and Overbrook Hospitals and the county sanatorium in Verona.

If the projects are approved, the federal government would contribute 35 per cent of the estimated cost of $600,000 under the Hill-Burton Act.

In a letter of intent mailed to the Bureau of Medical Facility

Construction and Planning of the State Department of Institutions, (required before a formal application is made to establish priorities) Mrs. Marucci-Kelly outlined the projects.

Each facility, she explained, will be modernized in compliance with the state's specifications for Medicare.

The Soho project would cost $250,000, Overbrook $200,000, and the Sanatorium $150,000.

Former Member of School Board

Warren Davis Running For Assembly

One of Nutley's citizens could be elected to the New Jersey State Assembly in November's election.

This became a possibility when Warren H. Davis, who recently resigned from the Nutley Board of Education, tossed his hat into the state's political ring. His name will appear on the ballot in the primary election on September 12, as a nominee for State assemblyman on the new Reform Republicans for Party Integrity ticket.

"When it was proposed to me to run for the State Assembly," said Davis, "I was honored to be tapped by this fine group of Essex Republicans who are dedicating themselves to end bossism in Essex County."

Davis had been elected three times and served more than eight years on Nutley's Board of Education. He also participated in many recreational activities and was one of the "founding fathers" and staunch supporters of Little League baseball. He formed the Pee Wee Basketball League and was its first president. He organized the roller skating program at Franklin School, helped start the Midget Football League and was chairman of Nutley Recreation Committee for three years.

He also served as president of the Nutley Symphony Society and while on the school board was appointed as a member of a state committee to study and formulate model insurance programs for New Jersey school districts.

Davis said if he is elected he will have the opportunity to take part in state legislative affairs and "most important, I will be able to represent my own community in the Assembly something that no one had done since Ellen Berger held the same office."

Under the new alignment of districts Nutley, along with Belleville and Newark's North Ward, will be known as District 11C.

"It is my sincere hope," said Davis, "that I will be able to align myself with state educational affairs. After spending eight years on our school board and attending several State Federation of School Boards' workshops in Atlantic City, I have come face to face with many problems that school districts are having these days."

"I will set my sights on the improvement of education for our children on the elementary, secondary and college levels."

Schweickert Marks 45th

Carl Schweickert, 29 Fischer Avenue, celebrated his 45th anniversary as a member of Metropolitan Life Insurance Company's field staff, the company has announced.

Schweickert is a senior supervisor of accounts in the district office auditing unit of Metropolitan's accounting and auditing division. He is a member of the Holy Name Society, and enjoys gardening in his spare time.

He and his wife, Dorothy, are the parents of son, Robert.

Education of the handicapped is of special importance, and while New Jersey has done much for these people more can be done for them."

Davis and his family lived in Nutley for 20 years and he owned his own business in town for six years. He is now an executive in the Willner Liquor Store chain

In Newark. He now lives at 492 Harrison Street, where his oldest son, Kenneth, has his dental practice. Ronald, a younger son, just completed two years in the U. S. Army. He is a musician. Mrs. Davis is the former Aurora Cantabene of Bloomfield.

Nutley's Vietnam Committee Needs Help

"Won't you help the Committee to Support American Servicemen in Vietnam to save American and Vietnamese lives?"

Voluntary Chairman, Jerry Leopaldi brought this question back from his recent tour of Vietnam. Generals Walt, McGovern, Admiral Wesschler and former Ambassador Henry Cabot

Lodge along with hundreds of GI's have convinced him that the civic action programs in Vietnam are critical in the task of "helping to save human lives."

SAS, The Committee to Support American Servicemen in Vietnam, a patriotic and tax exempt organization, has raised over $80,000 since its inception 18 months ago.

Helping to establish USO Centers in Vietnam, SAS has contributed $25,200.00 to USO. These monies were primarily used to construct a USO at Da Nang East now known as Da Nang Freedom Hill, Vietnam. Leopaldi dedicated the new USO Center during his recent tour of Vietnam last December.

The U.S. Marine Corps civic action program has received $10,000.00 prior to the official formation of SAS. Re-building villages, homes, schools, clinics, and giving aid to the wounded and sick of Vietnam are all a part of the civic action program.

$700 For Dooley Foundation
The Dooley (Tom Dooley) Foundation received $700 to aid in the support of the An Lac Orphanage outside of Saigon which was also visited and inspected by Leopaldi. Another $500 was contributed to the U.S. Marine Corps Scholarship Foundation. The 52nd Aviation Battalion was awarded $1,300 to help complete an orphanage in Pleiku which was begun by the men of that battalion. In order to aid in the resettlement of refugees in Vietnam, $13,800.00 was contributed to the IUE Resettlement Village at Dong Lac.

One of the most outstanding facets of the work of SAS is the services extended to the returned hospitalized servicemen. SAS volunteers visit the metropolitan military hospitals several times each month bringing gifts and refreshments. Professional people such as Pat Boone, Betsy Palmer, Celeste Holm, Laura Manning, and others provide the entertainment for the GI's. A total of $5,460.48 has been provided by SAS for this program.

Volunteers Are Needed

The SAS Program is in great need of volunteer workers, financial support, and speaking engagements. Sound track color films and slides are available for these engagements.

Leopaldi has issued a call to all Americans who care, to come to the aid of their one half million countrymen in Vietnam. He stated, "During my tour of Vietnam, I personally witnessed the extreme hazards of our GI's. I can also bear witness to their enormous needs which must be satisfied by the voluntary actions and contributions of Americans here at home."

"The SAS program answers these critical needs. The SAS needs and wants assistance from the entire community."

Structures Going Up And Down

Hoffman-La Roche accounted for the major items on the report of July activity in the Building Department of Nutley.

They were issued a permit for an alteration to one of their buildings that will cost $160,000, and they were granted demolition permits to tear down four structures costing $294,700.

Issued during July were a total of 28 building permits, for a total of $217,780 in work. The Hoffman-La Roche demolitions were the only ones issued.

The department collected $961.07 in fees for the month.

The department also completed 213 inspections during July.

Total construction authorized in the first seven months of this year amounted to $1,840,192.75, compared to $2,147,409.60 in the same period last year.

Demolitions so far this year stand at $351,700 against $307,000 for the same time last year.

Peter Liloia Now Newark Consultant

Liloia recently completed an assignment for the firm as project manager on the civil works for a 52-station, 1,200-mile Western Union Northwest Microwave System. Other assignments for the firm included Area Coordinating Engineer for Western Union's Transcontinental Microwave Telecommunications System and resident engineer on the supervision of construction of a section of Interstate Route 84 in New York State.

Liloia was educated at Swarthmore College and Princeton University and served in the U.S. Navy during World War II.

Bill Will Curb Crime

Rep. Peter W. Rodino said that legislation passed by the House August 9 would provide urgently needed aid to states and local communities in the effort to combat crime and enable people to again walk the streets of our cities without fear.

Rodino, a sponsor of the original "Safe Streets and Crime Control Bill" and ranking member of the House Subcommittee which developed the legislation, said he considers it "a vital weapon in the struggle against crime and violence."

Tax Law Facts Can

Save Aggravation

When the average home owner sells his home, some knowledge of the simple tax laws involved in such transactions may save him enough for his down payment of his new home, says Nicholas Friday, president of the 2900-member New Jersey Association of Real Estate Boards.

"Most people," notes the state's Realtors' president, "don't bother to familiarize themselves with the tax laws involved in their own homes. As a result, they often overpay the taxes and don't take advantage of laws and government regulations which allow for tax postponements."

These reductions and eliminations of out-of-pocket dollars, adds the veteran Realtor, can go a long way towards helping the family who is selling one home in order to move into a newer one.
