Case Reopened

Secretary Of The Army Reports On Dix Beating

Clifford Civinski, 23, received his discharge from the Army two months ago, but his father Joseph is "not too happy with the discharge and dissatisfied with the Army's investigation of the case."

Civinski, who resides at 230 New Street, was beaten by his fellow soldiers in the barracks after an officer singled him out as the reason for refusal of weekend passes. The incident occurred at Fort Dix last June.

The elder Civinski demanded an investigation into the matter. When the first Army inquiry proved unsatisfactory he got in touch with Congressman Peter Rodino who demanded further investigations. The result was a report from Secretary of the Army Reiser. "I'm displeased with their report. They seem to be taking the attitude, we're the Army. It shows no investigation was made or they're telling me black is white. It's a high-handed attitude. The latest report is even worse than the original one."

"They avoided the signed statement that he was singled out before the beating. The Army's inspector general at Dix betrayed my son's confidence in giving the name of a witness to the company commander. It's parallel to a defense attorney giving the name of a key witness to the prosecutor."

Young Civinski suffered headaches as a result of the skirmish. His father reports that the headaches have diminished but that his general health is unsatisfactory since the incident.

Civinski states the report isn't incriminating but that "it sheds no light on what actually occurred. It indicates they're going to cover up."

In the primary investigation Civinski submitted no evidence. "It was conducted by the Army for the Army." The second was conducted at the insistence of Rodino and Civinski. The secretary's report is the result.

Civinski cites negligence on the Army's part. "When my wife called at the base, she actually heard Cliff being threatened." This was related to the general's aide and he promised to take immediate steps to have my son removed from that general area.

"If a condition like that develops a conflict between a commanding officer and a soldier-it's standard Army practice to put him in another company."

"I know the general's aide contacted the base officer of the day and took action and I know the order to remove my son got to battalion headquarters. What happened after that I don't know. The order was given and never followed up." The secretary's comment in the report, relates Civinski was: "it is unfortunate that action wasn't taken to protect your son."

"My wife and I went to the base and I opened my entire file for the Army. Documentary evidence was submitted. The secretary's report ignored this proof; it didn't even comment on it. It leaves it like the evidence wasn't even submitted. The warning and promise of protection are ignored."

"The thing that bothers me-look my boy's out of the Army now and I could keep my mouth shut, but I'm

Board Candidates Campaign, As Tentative Budget Passes

Teachers Salaries Not Set Yet

The candidates have hit the campaign trail and the board has submitted its tentative budget as matters move toward the February 11 culmination date in the Belleville Board of Education election.

All five men seeking the two vacated board seats were present at a PTA Candidates Night at School 5 Monday. There will be additional such nights at School 10 (January 23, 8 p.m.), School 4 (February 4, 8 p.m.) and possibly one on election eve at School 7.

Teachers salaries have not been worked out as yet and negotiations between the board and the educators will continue later this week. The budget figures are based on a lump sum appropriation for salaries.

Mrs. Shader, secretary of the board, released the following figures:

1969-1970 Budget
Current Expenses--$4,616,104.

Capital Outlay--$155,343.
Debt Service--$278,920.
Total $5,050,367.

This represents a budget increase over last year of $608,144. The board voted on this tentative budget Tuesday night and it was submitted to the county superintendent.

The public hearing on the budget will be held January 30. After the hearing, the board can adopt the official budget and set the amounts to appear on the February 11 ballot. The budget figures are not officially adopted until after the public hearing.

The five candidates began to delve into the issues this week in an attempt to gain voter support.

Decision Delayed

Zoning Variance Hearing Conducted For Central

A lengthy public hearing Monday night on a board of adjustment matter concerning an appeal for a zoning variance by Central Uniform Service Inc., 29 Ralph Street, referred to the next commission meeting, January 27, for a decision.

Ralph Salerno, representing Central, reviewed the history of the variance. On September 19, 1967, Central applied for a variance for use of the premises as a parking lot with space for 10 vehicles. The Town Zoning Board recommended granting of the variance to the Town Commission.

On October 9, the commissioners heard the arguments of Central and the objectors, and tabled the measure. It was carried to May 16, 1968 when further arguments by both counsels were presented. Later the commissioners denied the application.

Central filed a writ to reverse the decision. In the pre-trial hearing, the matter was referred back to the board of commissioners for a full airing at Monday's meeting.

Salerno contended that the Board of Adjustments had recommended that the variance should be granted. He stated that the board felt the property was for commercial and industrial use and not adaptable for residential use. "The parking lot will alleviate traffic by providing off street parking," Salerno quoted from the board's report. It would be convenient to workers, visiting businessmen, and residents. It would enhance the appearance of the premises and not be injurious to neighbors. Health and safety hazards would be eliminated.

Salerno noted the conditions the board imposed when recommending approval of the variance by the commissioners. They were: to provide a grade for drainage; material used must be blacktop; the lot must be enclosed by a cyclone fence with and gate; employ angle parking and not more than 10 trucks at any given time should be parked.

Objections to the variance Salerno cited include: noisy trucks would be pulling in during the morning and starting at night and emitting noxious fumes. "The board saw no problem on these matters with the evidence presented," said Salerno.

"At the public hearings, the professional planners were of the opinion that the area should be rezoned for commercial purposes," Salerno commented. "The majority of the area is commercially occupied. The Valley has found itself rapidly becoming industrial."

Salerno then stated that Central would be in a position to confine the parking to autos and relinquish the use of the area for truck parking.

Mr. Welch has represented the property owners of Ralph Street who oppose granting of the variance from the start of proceedings in 1967.

"We're here to determine the reasons for either granting or denying the variance," he said. I see no reason to change the verdict. It's the same lots, trucks, street and parties."

The previous vote by the commissioners was four to none with one abstention. The Zoning Board passed the recommendation by only 3 to 2.

"Now I understand Central doesn't want to park trucks and are willing to wave that notion of the variance," Welch claims that Central wanted (Continued on Page 2)

FRIENDLY OPPONENTS-The candidates for the Board of Education seats being vacated by Ernest Arvidson and Nicholas Juliano met and spoke at a PTA Candidates Night

America, and is current Chairman of the 1969 Cherry Blossom Pageant.

He has also addressed various P.T.A.'s and civic organizations expounding on their commitment to the civic improvements which can be made in Belleville.

"Caesar Romano has shown his willingness to serve the young people in Belleville and has won their friendship and respect, as will be attested to when he appears at various candidate's night at the local P.T.A.'s in Belleville," said Mrs. Dillon.

"The progressive thinking of Caesar Romano can do much to strengthen the educational process of the young people to whom he is committed and to establish communication between the parents, teachers, children and the board."

Romano feels that the board is a state organ, which in turn deals with the local school system and that only progressive thinking will give the perspective needed.

DUE AT D.C.-Paul Hartunian will attend Richard Nixon's inauguration and hopes to meet and speak with the nation's new leader.

Bellevillite Will Attend Nixon's Inauguration

At least one person from Belleville plans to attend Richard Nixon's inauguration. He is Paul Hartunian, 240 Little Street, who was chairman of the Nixon-Agnew club's campaign committee in town.

Paul, 19, is a graduate of Belleville High School. He is attending Fairleigh Dickinson University in Rutherford where he is enrolled in a pre-med course. Paul hopes to go to John Hopkins medical school. His younger brother, Rich, is a member of the Bellboy basketball and baseball teams.

"I want to get to meet him, not just sit there. I've written to Agnew a few times, discussing political views and things I feel should be changed."

Paul isn't going as a crasher. He has an official invitation from the inaugural committee. He feels his work with Congressman Peter Rodino was instrumental in getting him invited. Paul will go, however, on his own funds. "I'll take the train to Washington on the 19th and stay overnight." He doesn't expect to have trouble finding a room.

Paul worked with Rodino on a youth council (a congress for people under 21). "I sent the idea to Agnew and he's using it now."

Paul has some strong political views and plans to implement them in the future. "I didn't support Nixon alone, because I'm interested in getting into politics."

He campaigned for Humphrey and Wallace and corresponded with the vice president. "To me it was just a major political campaign. I want to become a national political candidate. Now I've got a head start with the Nixon campaign."

By working with Rodino, he has learned the basic machinations of American government. "I'd like to work in Washington this summer with Congressman Rodino. I (Continued on Page 9)

PUEBLO POSTULATING-Sam Fusaro, born in Belleville and now operating a detective agency in the Nutley-Belleville area, has a theory about the capture of the Pueblo, which he expounds in today's Times.

Korea where he worked as a civilian on the international Balance of Payments. He prepared a briefing for Assistant Secretary of Defense, Thomas Morris.

The falling of the American forces in Korea at the time of the Pueblo seizure, according to Fusaro, was one of immediate action against the aggressive North. However, Fusaro claims that the United States did not have enough equipment to make a retaliatory raid on the north Koreans in order to get the ship back.

Fusaro, who believes that we should "Consider Korea our first line of defense," said that the 31 commandoes who came down from the north, were all commissioned officers in the North Korean Army. "It was there aim to kill President Park Chung Lee and they came within three blocks of doing it."

In what has since been known as the blue house incident (the blue house referring to the presidential palace in Seoul) Fusaro says outlined his background and qualifications.

He spoke of his early schooling in Belleville, and of his successful completion of college. He went on to say that in the years since graduation and marriage he has become a parent and home owner.

Casale also spoke of his community service as the Vice President of the Belleville Varsity Club, and as the President of the Board of Trustees of the Belleville Public Library.

He continued with a brief summary of his thoughts and ideas to stand behind our athletic program with both material and moral support. His keen interest in this area comes from his participation in varsity sports in both high school and college. For his fine efforts as an athlete at Belleville High School, Casale was chosen the outstanding athlete of the year.

In summarizing, Casale mentioned that the fine support he received from the people of Belleville last year has led him to try again to seek election. He feels his background, qualifications, and good strong track record make him a strong candidate this year.

The candidate concluded his remarks with a plea for support from the people of School 5 and all Belleville to help him continue a family tradition of community service and join with him in voting 1A February 11.

Leonard Back, commented on the "experience gap" which will result after the February 11 election.

Back stated that the board would soon be faced with the loss of 18 years experience represented by the retirement from the Board of Ernest Adison and Nicholas Juliano.

"Both of these men," said Back, "have given a good measure of service to the citizens of Belleville, and it will be up to the voters of the town to responsibly elect replacements who will most effectively compensate for the 18 years experience loss."

"In past years school board Street citizens in attendance.) John Antonik, 133 Ralph Street then wished to address the commissioners, but Mayor Smith asked him if he was represented by Welch. When Antonik said he was, the mayor stated, "he's spoken for you."

Commissioner then inquired if Salerno has stipulated that Central didn't intend to park trucks on the lot. "Yes," replied Salerno. "If it's only cars that changes the story," commented McGreevy.

Mayor Smith ended the harangue by announcing that the commissioners would reach a decision at the January 27 meeting. "We'll go over it carefully before we do," he added.

elections in Belleville have not been exactly a whopping success in terms of voter turnout," Back remarked, but he stated that he was hopeful that the forthcoming election on February 11 would generate greater voter interest in assuring that the two candidates selected for office would be the ones most qualified to fill the "experience gap."

Carmino Petti was also busy this week.

"My decision to be a candidate for the Belleville Board of Education," said Petti "has been induced by a sincere and unselfish interest in our schools, a respect for and an interest in people, a keen desire to be knowledgeable of the community which the school system serves, a willingness to analyze the complexity of the problems and try to work them out to serve the best educational interests of the community."

"The School Board is the communicating link between the community and the school staff. If given the opportunity to serve, it would be my hope to strengthen this link wherever it can be strengthened."

"The Board of Education is representative of the views of the citizens of this town. Upon this foundation the board develops a philosophy of education to fit the needs of the community."

"One of the avenues of approach in the stimulation of interest in education, through our schools, is in the expanding role of Adult Education. A diversified program can be beneficial in affording one the opportunity to improve and develop their area of interest. Education is a never-ending process and the need for adult education is more urgent than ever today."

"As vice-president of the Belleville Adult School Advisory Council, I have been extending my efforts in this direction. The Belleville Adult School program will be expanded this coming spring semester. It is hoped that enough interest will be generated to carry out as many programs as possible," Petti stated.

Michael Albertine spoke of a curriculum for changing times. "We must be able to learn is a very important aspect in the education of our children. As we evaluate our school system, we must remember that the public school system is the keystone of American democracy. Basic to the idea of democracy is the acknowledgement and respect for individual differences."

"As we look at our educational system, we note that the curriculum reflects this allowance for individual differences. E.G., in the high school there are enriched courses in English, mathematics, history, science and languages."

"We realize not every child has the same talent or capacity, not every child has the same vocational future. An education centered upon college entrance requirements is not the best education for a young person whose future lies in a technical, business or trade field. We must further individualize our program to provide for the best possible education for each child."

"It is also necessary to recognize that modern education involves new developments in subject matter and teaching techniques. It is important therefore to invest in updated textbooks and in teaching workshops. These will enable our teachers to use the new texts and methods meaningfully."

"We have a good school system. I hope that I may serve to help make it one of the best."

The polls open February 11 at 2 p.m.

"On the elementary level, this means acknowledging that different rates of learning exist, and that these differences require special teaching techniques."

"On the junior high school and high school level, this means that we must further adapt our curriculum to meet the various future plans of each child."

"It is also necessary to recognize that modern education involves new developments in subject matter and teaching techniques. It is important therefore to invest in updated textbooks and in teaching workshops. These will enable our teachers to use the new texts and methods meaningfully."

"We have a good school system. I hope that I may serve to help make it one of the best."

The polls open February 11 at 2 p.m.

a place to park their trucks. "Perhaps there was never any parking problem to begin with."

"There is a heavy flow of traffic on Ralph Street. I wonder how it will be alleviated by the removal of 10 cars from the street. The parking plan submitted may cause an additional problem. The slots for the vehicles are shown as only 18 feet wide. The town calls for an area 9 x 20 feet for just a car and they want to park trucks."

"There is no room to fit a car in slot eight. They can't get cars out if the lot is filled up. They would have to be removed one at a time with cars having to back out to Ralph Street. It's creating additional traffic."

"The trucks leave at 7 a.m. Presumably the cars pull in at 7. At 8:30 the trucks start to return and when the last arrives is anywhere from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. and some neighbors claim later than that."

"There will be parking 30 inches from a wood frame house that will create a nuisance to the residents. It's not simply a driveway with one or two cars but 10 cars and trucks pulling in day and night."

"Even with the fence the cars will be close to the wood frame dwellings which is detrimental to the residents. Also the trucks are described as 10 foot vans and later as up to 13 feet in length. There will be no room to maneuver. "The application reads vehicles which is ambiguous." Here, Mayor Smith interjected, "it says cars, not trucks."

Welch continued, "They (Central) knew they were buying into a two family zone. It was a speculative purchase to build the lot."

Salerno, then disputed some of Welch's statements, "Central has been making provisions for parking of their trucks elsewhere," he said, "The 10 foot step vans refers to the height of the truck, not the length. If Mr. Welch had read further into Building Inspector Mustacchio's report, he would have seen that he said it would be easy to move the trucks in and out of the parking spaces."

Commissioner Senatore asked where Central intended to park the trucks. "Property owned by a manufacturing company," said Salerno. (No they're not was the demur from one of the Ralph

Elm Street Playground Gets Preliminary Okay

An ordinance to acquire land for a playground on Elm Street was passed on first reading at the Belleville Town Commission meeting Monday night.

At the November meeting plans for developing a recreation area at 602 Union Avenue were defeated.

An ordinance to create part time positions was withdrawn at the behest of Mayor Smith and defeated 4 to 0 (Commissioner Strumolo is out of the country on vacation until tomorrow).

The measure which calls for a Deputy Municipal Disaster Control Director and clerk positions on various boards (part time positions) will be rewritten and resubmitted, Mrs. Sally Hood questioned the ordinance when it was read, stating that the position of Shade Tree secretary had already been passed.

Town Attorney Nicholas Amato stated that the comprehensive ordinance passed November 11, listing all positions for each department in town abolished all other jobs not listed. Since this position was not listed on the comprehensive ordinance, the job was abolished and therefore had to be created again.

The confusion arose when errors were noted in the wording of positions. Commissioner Mary Senatore noted that "I don't have a clerk in my shade tree committee." It will probably be up for passage at the next meeting.

Red Cross Volunteers To Serve At Inaugural

Red Cross volunteer drivers from the Essex Chapter will be among those serving at the Inauguration Day ceremonies for President elect Richard M. Nixon in Washington, D. C. on Jan. 20.

Named to represent the chapter are Mrs. Alan MacNaughten, Park Ave., Verona and Mrs. Nils Montan, Hamilton Dr., East, North Caldwell from the West Essex District and Harold Squire, Moore Ter., West Orange and Joseph Sonsin, Gallo Way, Westfield from the Oranges and Maplewood District.

The volunteers will leave Essex Chapter, East Orange for the capital on Saturday, Jan. 18 driving four of the chapter's radio control station wagons.

In Washington, they will join with 139 other Red Cross vehicles from chapters in the eastern United States and several hundred volunteers who will be assigned to transport handicapped veterans and patients from military hospitals in the area to view the inauguration ceremonies. They will also serve in connection with Red Cross First Aid stations which will be set up for the occasion and also manned by trained volunteers.

Some of the vehicles and personnel will also take part in the Inauguration Day parade.

This inauguration will be the first to which the Essex

Chapter has been invited to send representatives. The Oranges and Maplewood District sent a contingent to the inauguration of President Johnson in 1963.

Red Cross participation in the president's inauguration has become traditional since the President of the United States is automatically Honorary Chairman of the American National Red Cross.

Essex Bandit Getting Richer

Thirteen is not unlucky for the Essex bandit. The man who is believed to have struck at the Peoples National Bank's new branch, held up his 13th victim last week with an undetermined amount from a Bloomfield office of the National Newark & Essex Bank. Where will he strike next?

Police said the man pointed a gun at a teller and told her to fill a bag with cash (the standard routine). He then escaped on foot through a rear exit of the Watessing branch office of the bank at 59 Dodd Street.

The robbery follows the same pattern of previous frisks. "Since 'June,' a man answering the same description has pilfered two banks, seven savings and loan associations and four branch outlets.

Amateur sleuths, here's your man: about 40, 6 feet tall, 190 pounds. He wears eyeglasses and sports a crew cut. Happy hunting.

IS ALBUMIN IN THE URINE SIGNIFICANT?

Albumin may indicate a serious disturbance when it shows up in a urine analysis. Often, it may help to diagnose a kidney problem. It sometimes points to a kidney infection that could develop into a serious illness.

That is why it is so important for everyone to visit their physician for a health check-up at least once every year and preferably twice a year for senior citizens. An early diagnosis of an ailment usually leads to quick relief.

YOU OR YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a delivery. We will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people rely on us for their health needs. We welcome requests for delivery service and charge accounts.

The Space Race

Successful completion of the Apollo 8 flight means the United States has caught up in the race for outer space, perhaps surpassed Russia's efforts. This is of major significance for even as recently as a year ago most scientists were agreed the Russians remained ahead in the dramatic race for space that has characterized the sixties.

One should not be too quick to boast, but should the United States land the first men on the moon in 1969, this would be proof that the U.S. effort has outdistanced that of the U.S.S.R. in several areas. (There is a chance the Russians might attempt a moon landing in the next few months.)

Were it not for the worldwide fight for men's minds, and the propaganda use to which the Communists would surely put a moon landing by Russians, the question whether Americans or others were first to land on the moon would be primarily academic. But today the world is divided, for the most part, between the forces of Communism and democracy and the benefit of being first, from the propaganda, face and prestige view-points, is of major importance in Africa, Asia and even in Europe.

Thus the fact that from a second-place position ten years ago the American space effort has finally achieved first-place is a demonstration of United States industrial potential, technical competence and organizational and financial capacity - which cannot be missed by the world, and which is sure to reflect favorably on democracy in general and the United States in particular.

January, 1969

There is snow on the windowpane.
Framing my room
And the trees are heavy
With frosty bloom

--Anne Lawler

Beginning with the New Year's holiday, and bowl football games and including this year Inauguration Day on the 20th, January is usually the coldest month of the year, but a month also containing many significant historical anniversaries for Americans.

On the 15th in 1777, British won the battle of Princeton, which had the effect of maintaining American possession of New Jersey. Millard Fillmore, 13th U.S. President, was born on the 7th, in 1800, at Locke, N.Y. He is now regarded as a great President, once refused an honorary degree from Oxford, saying he had no attainments which would justify it.

The anniversary of General Andrew Jackson's victory over the British at New Orleans in 1815 is a state holiday in Louisiana on the 8th. Alexander Hamilton's birthday anniversary occurs on the 11th—he was born in the West Indies in 1757 but made his name in New York, where he died in a duel with Aaron Burr in 1804. Burr, feeling insulted, challenged Hamilton, who did not believe in duels. Hamilton fired into the air and Burr shot and killed one of the brilliant figures of the American Revolution.

Vermont was declared an independent state on the 15th in 1777. Benjamin Franklin, one of the great figures in American history, was born in Boston on the 17th in 1706. Daniel Webster, an immortal orator, was born at Franklin, N.H. on the 18th in 1782.

Two great Confederate generals and leaders, Robert E. Lee and General T.J. "Stonewall" Jackson, were born on the 19th and 21st respectively—Lee at the family estate Stratford, in Westmoreland County, Virginia, in 1807, and Jackson at Clarksburg, West Virginia, in 1824. Edgar Allan Poe, one of the greatest early American literary figures was born on the 19th, in 1809 in Boston.

The 26th is Michigan Day, commemorating Michigan's admission to the Union as a state in 1837. The 29th is Kansas Day, Kansas having been admitted on that day in 1861 as a free state. The 29th is also the birthday anniversary of Thomas Paine who was born in England in 1737. And the 30th is the birthday anniversary of Franklin D. Roosevelt, the only man to be elected President four times, who was born at Hyde Park, N.Y. in 1882.

Whatever the reason, women are currently embarked on a huge astrology binge, and several women writers are making a very good thing out of predictions. (One noted star-gazer who predicted the election of Richard Nixon in 1960 recently explained her miss by saying Nixon really won, in the popular vote, but that the election was stolen. She didn't explain why she hadn't foreseen that too. The same gazer's syndicate had to wire newspapers running her column canceling her prediction that Jackie Kennedy would not remarry—a column due to appear the day Jackie married Aristotle Onassis.)

People of the world, to varying degrees, at various times, have turned to the stars for advice. It is an escape, a search for easy answers, which is interesting because it has a magic quality, which attracts everyone. The Egyptians, Athenians and Romans all turned to astrologers. Nostradamus electrified the court at Versailles and Rasputin corrupted a nation with astrological predictions.

But as the United States enjoys the latest astrology binge, it is good to keep in mind that it is only entertainment, as some of the top astrology money makers privately admit, and serious decisions of life should be based on more than astrology.

Seems Only Yesterday

1 YEAR AGO

Belleville ended a busy and expensive tragic week. Firemen and Police were catching their breath after a series of fires that ravaged several homes in the community and destroyed an apartment house and business close to the core of the town's commercial center on Washington Avenue. The bitter aftermath included several homeless families, bereft of their possessions, charred into ashes. A fireman, who was crushed under a fallen brick wall, continued to receive extensive care at Clara Maass Hospital. Community organizations joined in a massive attempt to raise $30,000 for the homeless families.

Another major milestone was marked during the week of January 15 for the Belleville Times when circulation leaped to the fifth highest in New Jersey of all weeklies.

5 YEARS AGO

To smoke or not to smoke was the big question smokers were asking themselves since the release of the report of the United States Public Health Service, 'blaming' smoking as a major factor in the rise of lung cancer among men and women in the United States. (Varied opinions of Belleville physicians were cited in the report.)

The first baby contest was officially won by Gail Denise Grissino infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Grissino of 103 Overlook Ave., who arrived at 6:30 p.m. of New Years Day at Clara Maass Hospital. Mrs. Grissino said a bunting - one of the prizes offered in the First Baby Contest - would be worn by the baby on her first debut into the outside world.

Mrs. Amelia M. Rasser of 146 Little St., Belleville retired from the New Jersey Bell Telephone Co. after 42 years service.

10 YEARS AGO

Joseph A. Vecchione of 138 Overlook Ave. was reelected to the post of vice-president of the New Jersey Industrial Editor's Association. The Association, affiliated with the Rutgers University School of Journalism and the American Association of the Industrial Editors, promotes the professionalism of industrial journalism in northern New Jersey.

The Veterans Council committee studied the possibility of erecting a permanent war veteran monument at the site of the present memorial at Union Avenue. The committee was formed at the last public meeting at which William Patton, who was instrumental in setting up the present memorial, spoke.

Parents of School 3 children were welcomed to visit the classrooms at the school's open house PTA Program. Classroom completed up until this half-way mark in the school term was reviewed by the parents and the teachers. There was also a short meeting and discussion on the school budget.

15 YEARS AGO

Mayor James J. Tully, director of Belleville's 1954 March of Dimes announced the appointment of additional committee chairmen for the local campaign to raise 50 per cent more polio-fighting and polio prevention funds.

A second meeting of the New Jersey Cooperative program of Education was held in Hackensack. Superintendent of schools, Evan H. Thompson and the Board of Education again discussed the Belleville School system in the program.

Miss Judy LaDucer was crowned Junior Snow Queen by Father Gerald Walsh at the local Snow Ball, held at St. Mary's Church. She was awarded a gold watch, a gift certificate from the G & G Dress Shop and a studio portrait from Ed Peter's Studio. Miss LaDucer obtained the title by being a member of the CYO and in the age group of under 16 years old.

25 YEARS AGO

Not a single objection to the 1944 school budget was voiced at a public hearing. Only two citizens and three teachers were present as the figures passed their semi-final test. The new budget called for expenditures of $733,000, an increase of $23,000 over the previous year.

Albert Cherin, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Cherin of Perry Street, returned to the University of New Hampshire after a holiday vacation with his parents. A sophomore at the University, under the accelerated plan, Cherin was taking pre-medical courses.

With a goal of $50,000 for its contribution for the fourth war loan drive, the Progress Club of Congregation AAA named Jack Steinhauer and Edward J. Abramson as chairmen of the new formed War Bond Committee. Pledges of $10,000 were already received at the forming of the committee.

40 YEARS AGO

A year of Great Achievement in New Jersey: 1928.

1. The opening of Newark's Municipal Airport.

2. Port Newark - shipping arrivals and departures increased from 285 in 1927 to 361 in 1928, with a consequent increase in cargo tonnage.

3. Approximately 150 manufacturers established in northern New Jersey and several large research laboratories were opened.

4. Completion and authorization of new waterways connecting Port Newark.

5. Lackawanna Railroad electrified 134 mile of track throughout the suburbs, and the Pennsylvania Railroad began the electrification of their lines between New York and Philadelphia.

6. During the year approximately 8,000,000 motor vehicles made use of the new vehicular Holland Tunnel between New York and New Jersey.

Election Comments

To The Editor:

One of Belleville's local weekly newspapers commenting, in its last edition upon the impending local school Board election reports with probable accuracy "all that remains is to see which of them (the five announced candidates) get the support of the local political organization.

If this is so, it offers a sad commentary upon the potential quality of Belleville's educational future.

Already, Belleville because of what appeared political implications has suffered lost athletic prestige upon the football field with the resignation of former coach Tom Testa because of alleged political interference.

Our lawmakers, in their wisdom, have decreed a policy providing complete separation of politics from educational matters. State Statute Title 18 A attempts to assure this independence of educational trustees from political pressures.

It, indeed, will be a devastating blow to the furtherance of the public educational system of this too long politically beleaguered community, if the outcome of school board elections is to be determined by political forces who may be bent upon not only running the town, but, controlling the affairs of our public school system from behind the scenes.

Respectfully submitted,
James R. Golden

Sister Loved The Children

To The Editor:

For the two weeks following the death of Sr. Margaret Louise Robinson of St. Peter's School, I watched your paper, eager to see what kind of an article would appear about a woman of such spiritual stature, and one who had been for 45 of her 83 years a driving, unflagging force for the good in this community.

No mention of Sr. Margaret's service and devotion appeared, not even the briefest of three-line obituaries.

Bishop Costello, in his eulogy for her, said that one of the most frequent things heard of Sr. Margaret was, "Sr. Margaret loves the children, and the children love Sr. Margaret." Of course they did; Sr. Margaret exuded love, and the children felt it and reacted to it as naturally as the shadow follows the substance.

Her love was not restricted to children. Sr. Margaret loved all mankind and all ages: this town and surrounding communities are copiously peopled with solid citizens whom she taught to love their God and love their country and in all ways to so conduct themselves as to be a credit in this torn world, rather than a debit. That was Sr. Margaret's handiwork: was it so small as to have escaped your attention?

If it escaped your attention, I doubt that it escaped that of Our Lord, for if ever He graced us with a singularly blessed one of His elect, surely that one was Sr. Margaret Louise Robinson.

Teach Patriotism In Early Years

To The Editor:

I believe all schools should have a course in the early years of education on Patriotism. How this single God-blessed word made our free America great. Maybe this is what our people need, a sort of building block in early life to make them better citizens as adults. Let us too no matter what court changes, keep the Word of God on our lips. I too believe the United States would be a better place to live if we rid ourselves of communists, people, spoiled, who find fault with our country, Black Nationalists, and all other radicals. This country must never be sold to the communists.

Sincerely,
James J. Ferrara

Business Advisory Group On Education Holds Meeting

The Belleville Public Schools in cooperation with the Federal Government are working with a number of lay people from the community representing business and industry.

In order to improve instruction and receive additional equipment in vocational education, the Business Industry and Educational Committee is assisting in the planning and operation of the program.

Eight areas are outlined by the government in which needs are expressed and worked on by sub-committees. Belleville is involved in all eight areas except agricultural and medical services.

President Richard Mahmarian of the Business and Industry Educational Advisory Committee held the first meeting of this year to discuss the progress of the sub-committees who are outlining a variety of plans for 1969.

Mahmarian reported that a meeting with the Board of Education will be arranged for March at which time the board will be advised of the group's proposals. It was also reported that Lawrence Schwartz, local attorney, would serve as a member of the Committee.

The Office Occupations sub-committee announced that it would be meeting January 23.

A report was made by Raymond Smith, principal of Belleville High School, that approximately 250 graduates and seniors attended the Alumni Tea held in the high school cafeteria on Friday, December 20.

The following members of the Committee were in attendance representing industry and business: Miss Charlotte Baldwin, Wallace & Tiernan Company; Victor Cali, United Label Company; Richard Mahmarian, National Cash Register; Anthony Naturale, Darwood Lounge.

Representing the Belleville public schools were: Dr. Frank DiRuggerio, Board of Education; Thomas Barone, Mrs. Muriel Cerami, Victor DePauw, Miss Carol Filemyr, Seymour Grossman, John Hyde, Herman Knuppel, Raymond Smith, and Miss Ethel Williamson.

Belleville Adult School Offers Spring Courses

The Belleville Adult School offers many new courses for the up-coming spring semester in addition to the courses that were a part of the schedule this past fall. It will be possible for students who took a beginner's course in bookkeeping, shorthand, typing, oil painting, guitar playing, or sewing to take an advanced course in the same area in the spring. Three of these, advanced oil painting, advanced shorthand, and advanced guitar playing, are being offered for the first time.

Among other new courses being offered is that of bowling. The course will be taught in a modern, area bowling alley, complete with the use of all facilities. The low fee of $10 includes 20 hours of instruction, shoes, bowling ball, and the opportunity to bowl a game each 2-hour session.

The course will be held from 1 to 3 p.m. on each of ten consecutive Tuesday afternoons, beginning February 4. Whether you are a rank beginner or would like to improve your technique, this course will provide you with the best of professional instruction.

In addition to the advanced oil painting course, the art curriculum will be supplemented this spring with the presentation of a Drawing and Sketching course. If you aspire to things artistic, the ability to express yourself with pencil and paper is basic. Work with all kinds of sketching media will be offered and the use of live models will make the course all the more exciting. The complete facilities of the high school's art department will be at the disposal of the student.

Complementing the popular home hairstyling course will be one in Wigs, Wiglets, and Falls. If you have a hairpiece and would like to know more about styling and caring for it, this course is for you. This course will show you the proper way of setting and combing out the hairpiece, placement of wiglets in your hair, how to wear it correctly, and how to select the right style.

The Adult School is offering a course in physical fitness for men for the first time. Here is an opportunity to work off a bit of that excess weight that you have been meaning to get rid of, and to have a good time doing it. A coordinated program of exercises will get you off to a good start, and a full program of supervised activity (games, use of gym equipment, etc.) will be available. All of the facilities of the school's modern and up-to-date gym will make the course all the more enjoyable.

For those students who have taken the beginner's guitar playing course in the past, Mr. Cundari will be offering an advanced course.

If you have taken the beginner's course at the school, or have some knowledge of the guitar from elsewhere, this course will open up new musical opportunities. Here you will be able to develop your abilities to a much greater extent and make your guitarplaying something to be proud of.

As usual, the school will be offering advanced courses in the areas of golf and sewing, but for the person or couple who has taken Miss Gray's course in American ballroom dancing there will be something new. A course in Latin American dancing will be held for the first time.

If you have always wanted to perfect your abilities with the Cha-Cha, Rumba, or Tango, or any of the other Latin American dances, the opportunity is now being presented. Students may register singly or with another - a special reduced rate is being offered for couples who might care to take the course. Why not give a paid-up registration to your husband as a late Christmas gift - and come along yourself.

A totally new experience in craftsmanship is that of knitting. If you have always wanted to learn how to knit a sweater, a pair of socks - or even a suit, you will have a good start in that direction after taking the adult school's course in knitting. The cost for materials in nominal, the instruction will be professional, and the evening will be an enjoyable one.

In no time at all you will be making beautiful articles of clothing with confidence and skill. Here is a hobby that can be practiced almost anywhere - turn your TV watching time into profit.

A course in reading dynamics (speed reading) will be presented by the Adult School under the auspices of the Evelyn Wood Reading Dynamics Institute. If you find it difficult to keep up with the amount of reading required of an informed citizen, or if you have a hard time digesting the amount of reading required by your job or school, this course is for you.

Your reading rate will go up from three to 10 times and with no loss in comprehension - in fact, comprehension will probably go up with your reading rate. The Institute will present a free demonstration at the high school on the first and last night's of registration, from 7 to 8 PM, in Room 103-105. Come and see what the program will consist of before registering.

Emanuel Meyer, director of the high school's cafeteria, and a chef in his own right, will offer a course in gourmet cooking. The dishes of 7 different countries will be prepared and sampled by the students, along with evenings devoted to the preparation of aspics, salads, and desserts. If you have always fancied yourself somewhat of an amateur chef you can now add a bit of professionalism to your repertoire.

For the boating enthusiast a course in small boat handling will be presented by the U. S. Coast Guard Auxiliary. The cost will be nominal and the value unlimited. All of the information you will need to handle your boat safely and efficiently will be incorporated into the course and you will have the opportunity to get together with people who have the same interests that you do.

Mrs. Arlene Cusick, RN, a member of the faculty of the High School, will offer a course in sex education for parents. There will be no charge for the course and the information that you will receive will be invaluable in understanding of your teen-age children. She has planned a program that will be rich in the use of audiovisual materials, guest speakers, a question-and-answer period.

In this age of complex problems you cannot afford to be without this information - it will give you much more confidence in the handling of parent/children relationships. Mrs. Cusick is much in demand throughout the state as a speaker on this subject and has assisted in setting up similar programs in neighboring school systems.

A special course designed to help the Boy Scout or Cub Scout Leader will be presented for the first time. The first 6 weeks of the school's program will be devoted to Boy Scout Leadership Training while the Cub Scout program will be presented during the last 4 weeks. Registration for the courses is very nominal.

A special program, presented under the auspices of the Speaker's Bureau of Rutgers University, will make available 10 guest lecturers from the University who will discuss current problems both here and abroad.

The course, entitled the world: today and tomorrow, will consider such problems as the international monetary crisis, students vs. the establishment, the urban crisis, black power, the Viet Nam problem, The middle East, the Alliance for Progress, Africa, the problems of East Europe, and the future of the United Nations.

Each of the speakers is an expert in his field and the talks will be followed by a question-and-answer period. The course will provide you with weeks of stimulating conversation and thought.

For further information on these or other courses check with the Adult School brochure or contact Mrs. Sanders at 759-4701. Registration for all courses will be at the High School, 100 Passaic Ave., between 7 and 9 p.m. on January 27, 29, 30 and February 3.

Registration may also be accomplished on the first night of classes, February 4. Mail registration blanks are conveniently located in the brochure.

Local Art Students Paint Surprises For Parents

A real bunny in conversation with a stuffed bunny. Santa Claus' feet emerging from a chimney and a mouse running up a grandfather clock were some of the surprises in store for Belleville parents on Christmas morning.

The bunny and other characters were the subjects of paintings by the youthful students of Belleville artist Nancy Crisp.

"All of the children are encouraged to use their imagination freely in developing subjects," Mrs. Crisp explained. "Sometimes it's easy to figure out where their ideas come from—a poem, a story, a famous painting, but often it's pretty baffling."

One little girl did a landscape with the horizon in excellent perspective. Looming on it in stained glass colors was the figure 7 and in the foreground the figure 6. Mrs. Crisp, whose style is traditional, wondered how the youngster had developed this "Dallesque" technique and what its symbolism was.

Puzzled that an explanation was necessary, the child said, "Well, I'm 6—going on 7—so I painted this for my aunt because I don't want her to forget it."

Another young student had done a painting of the Nativity. The traditional figures of Mary and Jesus were in the foreground. But in the background was a rotund figure in red.

When Mrs. Crisp explained that Santa Claus didn't quite belong in the scene, the girl replied, "Oh, that's not Santa Claus, it's Round John Virgin --you know, 'Round John Virgin, mother and child'!"

Mrs. Crisp, who encourages her youthful pupils to think in story terms, was puzzled also by a painting of a series of smoke circles titled, "The Train" by its young creator who had a wonderful narrative about all the people on the train. Upon questioning, he explained that it had left the station and "of course, you can't see them."

The students, age 5 to 14, attend classes for one hour and a half either Friday afternoons or Saturday mornings in Mrs. Crisp's home and studio, 238 New St.

In addition to painting, they learn art appreciation while munching cookies and drinking soda. They study the masterpieces through the use of a projector and colored slides and make periodic visits to museums.

In good weather, they take field trips and paint landscapes, including Belleville's famed cherry blossoms.

Each pupil works on an individual project of his or her own choice. They use oils, water colors or pastels and study charts for landscape techniques and the famous de Vinci drawings for facial structure and anatomy. Animation is learned by practice on "stick people," one dimensional drawings of figures in action.

She has been conducting highly successful art classes since 1952 and holds a yearly exhibit of the work of her students in the Belleville Library. She speaks proudly of many who have gone on to become art majors in college and some who have become professional artists and teachers.

Mrs. Crisp, who studied at the Art Students League in New York, exhibits her own work in New Jersey and New York. She also speaks frequently before women's groups on the symbolism of religious masterpieces.

In 1958, she received a citation from the town of West Orange for her historical mural, "Highlights of West Orange."

Industrial Management Club Participates In Seminar

The Industrial Management Club of YMCA of the Oranges, Maplewood and West Essex will participate in a seminar entitled "Managing Today for Tomorrow", at Seton Hall University, on Saturday, January 25th, beginning at 9:30 a.m. it was announced by Herbert Everett, President.

The beautiful flowering plants used for gifts and home decorations during the Christmas season will be a year-round joy if you give them reasonable care. Most of these plants can remain attractive long after the holidays, says John J. Kupcho, County Agricultural Agent of Essex County.

All green plants require light. Placing flowering plants in a dark corner will cause their leaves to turn yellow rapidly or drop off. Keep these plants where the light is bright. Artificial light as well as natural light is helpful, but the intensity of artificial light found in most areas is low. Flowering plants are grown in bright greenhouses and they last longer if you keep them in a bright location, Mr. Kupcho continues.

Home temperatures are satisfactory for most Christmas plants. One exception is the cyclamen, which does best at temperatures below 65 degrees. Temperatures of 50 to 55 are satisfactory for cyclamen, and a cool, bright sun porch is ideal for them.

Probably more plants are lost due to overwatering or underwatering than any other reason, notes Mr. Kupcho. Plants, particularly those in clay pots, dry out rapidly when placed in a draft or near heating vent. They're also more difficult to water under these conditions. Root suffocation and eventual death of a plant can result if the soil remains wet for long periods.

Judge the need for water by lifting the pot. The weight of the plant gives a good indication of the water requirement. Water is normally applied to the surface of the planter soil. If plants are watered from the bottom by placing them in water, take extreme care to prevent the soil from remaining too moist.

plan to write to him about that.

In his association with the 10th District representative, Paul said both he and Rodino were upset over the raise in registration rates for motorcycle drivers. "They went up about 15 to 25% for cars and 1100% for bikes."

This was disconcerting to Paul for he owns a motorcycle. "I wrote to June Strelecki and now to the Senate to see what can be done and what they're doing about this situation."

Paul then expounded bits of his political philosophy, on the hypothetical basis of being a congressman. "I would get rid of welfare or screen it drastically. It's extended unemployment. I'd keep the setup but knock out most of the recipients."

On the draft: "I would institute a semi-voluntary draft, increase the pay, cut the length of service time and reduce the number of draftees."

The tax system: "I'd lower taxes and increase government spending." A paradox? No. "Lower taxes would cause increased general consumer spending which would put the money eventually back in the government's hands."

He would overhaul the judicial system; eliminate legal loopholes. "The guy who shot Kennedy will never die." Paul favors capital punishment in every state.

He would lower the voting age to 18; abolish primaries; "They're a waste of time and taxpayers money," but retain the convention set up the way it is.

Well voters, there's an inside look at a possible future name on the ballot. For now, look for him at Washington D.C.

Pueblo Theory

that the South Korean Army was aware that the commandos had crossed the border, but through "stupidity" they weren't stopped until they got within three blocks of the capital building.

After crossing the line of demarcation, the commandos were approached by the Korean Army who in turn passed that information on to the security police. The police, are the ones Fusaro credits with the "stupidity" for not trying to stop the assassination attempt.

Many have asked why the United States didn't react immediately to the seizure of the Pueblo. Fusaro claims that there just wasn't enough equipment to do the job. Fusaro quotes an American officer who said "When ever a Korean fishing boat is seized, the ROK (Republic of Korea) Air Force scrambles, but at the seizure of the Pueblo, the ROK Air Force was not even notified."

Fusaro, since his return to the United States, has reapplied for overseas duty, preferably Vietnam. On his return to American if he is accepted for Vietnam duty, he plans to run for mayor against Harry Chenoweth in Nutley and then for congressman against Peter Rodino.

Fusaro has set up the Russo detective agency in Nutley and Belleville.

Peace Corps Volunteers To Be Tested Saturday

Belleville and Nutley area residents interested in putting their skills to use in developing nations around the world are invited to take the Peace Corps placement test at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday, January 18 at Room B-89, Federal Building, Newark.

The Peace Corps uses the test to determine how an applicant can best be utilized overseas. The test measures general aptitude and the ability to learn a language, not education. The test requires no preparation and is non-competitive; an applicant can neither pass nor fail.

YOU'LL BE GLAD You switched to Electric Glassheat BECAUSE...

(Letters from Glassheat users)

TELL YOU WHY!

"IT'S COMFORTABLE HEAT—

just like sunshine in spring," says one Glassheat owner. "You don't feel hot or cold; you are never aware of the temperature. You are just continuously comfortable, and there are no cold spots."

This is true because Glassheat is the only heating system that warms with Radiant Electric rays exactly like the Sun's own rays. A room heated by Glassheat feels like the sunny side of a barn in the spring sunshine. No wonder people enjoy it, and say so:

IT IS CLEAN—

As one user writes, "Probably the most unique feature of Glassheat is its cleanliness. In 16 years with Glassheat the only room we have had to do over is the kitchen. No need to repaint the other rooms or even wash down the walls."

Says another customer, "No soot, no smoke, no grime. Have never seen anything so clean. And we are saving 30% on the cost of fuel compared to the old system."

YOU'LL SAVE MONEY ON

HEAT. A fact that surprises many Glassheat owners. One writes "We were expecting that Glassheat would be somewhat more economical to operate but we were not prepared for our low annual heating bills. Of course we are also pleased with the savings on our regular current. We take advantage of the special low heating rate."

Another user says, "Though we added two additional rooms, my heating bill amounts to only $175—and we have never been so comfortable. Of course there are no maintenance or service charges. Another saving."

With Radiant Electric Glassheat so inexpensive to install and operate, why pay more for less than the best?

"JUST THE TEMPERATURE WE WANT IN EACH ROOM;

that's one thing I like," says another owner. True, because money saving thermostats throughout the house permit you to regulate the temperature in each room; 65° in one, 75° in another and 50° in a room not in use.

The temperature is uniform from floor to ceiling, causing a user to write, "Years of living with your Glassheat makes me a firm believer in this type of heat."

IT IS SAFE!

No flame, no fumes, no vapor and Glassheat can't overheat. Even accidental contact can't cause blistering. Since there is no flame it is fire-safe. Further it can't burn up the oxygen in the air or reduce the humidity. In fact it maintains a desirable humidity, so there are fewer colds in the Glassheat home and other bothersome ills are aided. No moving parts, so Glassheat is as silent as sunshine. Sound luxurious? It is—in every respect but price and the cost of operation.

How much would this ideal trouble-free heat cost? Send the coupon or call us in person and find out. No obligation.

Belleville Chaplain Made Army Chief

Chaplain (Colonel) Harold B. Lawson this week assumed the duties of chief of Fifth US Army chaplains at Headquarters Fifth US Army, Fort Sheridan, Illinois. He succeeds COL. W. H. Brannan, Jr., who retired on January 1.

Chaplain Lawson, ordained in the United Presbyterian Church in April 1944 after graduation from the Princeton Theological Seminary at Princeton, New Jersey, began his military career as a Navy chaplain in 1945. Following two years of active duty he returned to civilian life in Newark, New Jersey.

He maintains his permanent residence in Belleville, at 13 Tiona Avenue.

In April 1948 Chaplain Lawson entered his Army career and was assigned as assistant Post Chaplain at Fort Dix, New Jersey. A year later he joined the 24th Infantry Division as Assistant Division Chaplain and served with the 24th in Japan and Korea.

Returning to the United States in September 1951, Chaplain Lawson took up studies at Yale University, New Haven, Connecticut, receiving his Master's degree in Theology a year later.

He then served as an instructor at the Army Chaplain School, Fort Slocum, New York, from 1952 to 1956. From there he was assigned as Assistant Division Chaplain, 2d Armored Division, serving with that organization in Germany and Fort Hood, Texas.

In August 1958 Chaplain Lawson assumed the duties of chaplain at Fort Myers, Virginia; then attended the Army Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas. From there he went to the Office of Personnel Management, Chief of Chaplains, in Washington, D.C.

In May 1966 Chaplain Lawson participated in the Foreign Service Institute's national inter-departmental seminar prior to assignment to Vietnam, as advisor to the Vietnamese Chaplains' Corps. When he returned to the United States in 1967 he again was assigned to Fort Dix where he served as Post Chaplain until coming to Fort Sheridan this month.

Listed among COL. Lawson's awards and decorations are the Legion of Merit, the Bronze Star Medal, the Army Commendation Medal with two oak leaf clusters, the Korean Service Medal with five campaign stars, the Vietnam Service Medal, and the Vietnam Campaign Medal with two stars.

Pending the arrival of his wife, Adelaide, Chaplain Lawson is living in bachelor officer quarters at Fort Sheridan. They plan to live on post. They have one son, Peter, 23, a Navy lieutenant.

ARMY CHAPLAIN-Harold Lawson is the newly assigned staff chaplain of the U.S. 5th Army. Lawson lives at 13 Tiona Avenue.

Local Residents Serve On College Committees

Six area residents have been named to administrative and faculty advisory committees in accordance with a broad-based move designed to increase student involvement in the operation of Montclair State College.

According to Dr. Allan Morehead, dean of the college and chairman of the committee on committees, students have been serving on committees at the college for some years but never before to this extent.

Last year a coordinating council was created, drawing its members from the administrative council, faculty council and student government association. This marked the first time a student-faculty body had been instituted expressly for the purpose of promoting communication and coordination between various campus groups.

Included as a student member of the coordinating council this year was John Burke of 22 Laurel Court, Belleville. Burke is also a member of the college and community relations committee.

Also appointed from Belleville was Dolores Rodriguez, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ramon Rodriguez of 566 Union Avenue. Miss Rodriguez is a member of the foreign student exchange committee.

Appointed from Newark was Miss Faye Wilcher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Wilcher of 454 South Tenth Street, a member of the honor system committee and Arlene Mangino, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Mangino of 52 Peck Avenue, a member of the library committee.

Also Mary Nitkewicz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Nitkewicz of 653 Highland Avenue, serves on the library committee, and Regina Nicosia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C.J. Nicosia of 290 Grafton Avenue, is a member of the scholarships and loans committee.

Newark Library Holding Exhibit

More than 3,000 books from 70 publishers will be on display in a Combined Book Exhibit at the Newark Public Library from January 20-25, 1969. This is the second annual such exhibit for teachers and librarians jointly sponsored by the Newark Public Library and the Department of Libraries and Audiovisual Education of the Newark Board of Education.

Hard cover and paperback editions on a wide range of subjects will be available, arranged by subject for elementary, junior and senior high schools. The books are selected for their usefulness as classroom texts or supplementary reading, for required reading, for classroom libraries, to further students' personal interests, for school paperback stores, for guidance and counseling and for the teachers' own professional reading. Annotated catalogs arranged by subject will be available.

In addition to the main collections arranged by Books on Exhibit, Inc. and Combined Book Exhibit, Inc., the Newark

Public Library will have displays of Spanish language books for children and books useful in serving children in disadvantaged areas. Lists for these books will also be available.

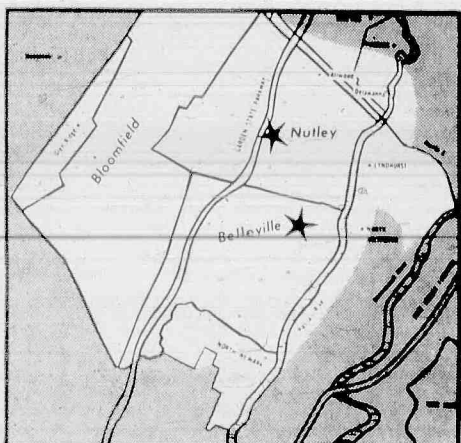

The exhibit will be held in the fourth floor auditorium of the Main Library at 5 Washington Street; and will be open during the Library's regular hours, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., Monday through Friday, and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday. Library staff members and school librarians will be on hand at all times to answer questions or to give additional information.

Superconductivity Material Pushes Thermometer Higher

The highest known transition temperature at which a material becomes superconducting — that is, loses all resistance to the passage of electric current — has been reported by Bell Telephone Labs scientist B. T. Matthias and his associates, G. Hull and E. Corenzwit, together with scientists at the University of California and the University of Chicago.

Matthias and his co-workers have pushed the temperature for transition into the superconducting state of a multi-phase system of niobium, aluminum and germanium to above 20.7 degrees K (Zero degrees K, or Kelvin, is equivalent to 460 degrees F and represents total absence of heat.) This work represents a further increase in the highest attained transition temperature by 0.7 degrees over a record of 20 degrees K reached last year in similar materials by Matthias and Professor T. H. Geballe of Stanford University and Bell Laboratories, and by L. D. Longiotti, E. Corenzwit, G. W. Hull, R. H. Willens and J. P. Maita, all of Bell Laboratories.

Since it is difficult to cool materials to the extremely low temperatures needed for superconductivity, physicists have searched for many years for ways to increase the temperature at which metals become superconducting. Until recently it was thought possible that a temperature near 18 degrees K was an absolute upper limit for superconductivity, but the work reported last year by Matthias and Geballe showed that higher temperatures were possible and encouraged intensive work that has led to the new record of 20.7 degrees K.

One very important feature of these newest superconducting materials is that the transition temperature is substantially higher than the boiling point of liquid hydrogen, about 20 degrees K. This means that the new superconductors can be cooled in liquid hydrogen rather than the much more expensive liquid helium which boils at 4 degrees K. Applications of superconductivity which have not been possible until now because of the high cost of liquid helium may now become feasible.

The niobium-tin superconductors discovered in 1954 were shown in 1961 by Kunzler and co-workers at Bell Laboratories to be capable of carrying very large currents and generating intense magnetic fields greater than 100 thousand gauss when wound into the form of a cylindrical coil or solenoid. Because of their higher transition temperature, the new materials recently discovered by Matthias and his associates may make possible solenoids that produce even more intense magnetic fields.

Only about 30 metals with superconducting properties were known when Matthias became interested in the field. Today more than 1000 superconducting metals are known — largely due to the discoveries of Matthias and his co-workers at Bell Telephone Laboratories and the University of California. Matthias' findings have led him to formulate rules which have brought increased order to the study of superconductivity and have enabled him and others to predict the existence of new superconductors. The phenomenon of superconductivity has been a major factor leading the understanding of the behavior of materials at low temperatures.

Matthias holds a joint appointment at Bell Telephone Laboratories and the University of California at San Diego, where he is associate director of the Institute of Pure and Applied Physical Sciences. The results of this new work are reported in a recent issue of the Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences.

Three Residents At Medical College

Three local residents are hard at work on freshman medical and dental studies at New Jersey College of Medicine and Dentistry in Newark. ATT Claims Residents Are Big on Conversation

New Jerseyans are among the world's leading phone conversationalists, averaging 858 calls annually per person during 1967. This is an increase of 52 calls annually per person over the previous year.

In the United States, the average number of calls per person for 1967 was 667.0 — up 19 from the previous year. Among nations, Canada ranked first in talkativeness, with an average of 667.7 calls per person.

Phone customers in Iceland did their share of talking, too: 606 calls per person, just slightly more than the Swedes, who put through 599 calls annually.

People in Burma, however, won the close-mouthed award. In Burma, the average number of calls per person for the year was 0.7. The Republic of Burma is in southeast Asia.

World-wide telephone statistics appear in "The World's Telephones-1968" compiled annually by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, parent company of New Jersey Bell. Since it takes a year to gather the telephone data from all sections of the world, most of the statistics are as of January 1, 1968.

Today, telephone customers in New Jersey can reach more than 96 per cent of the world's 222 million telephones, 14 million phones more than last year. Connections of five new points were established during 1968 — Christmas Island, Equatorial Guinea, the Falkland Islands, Laos and the Seychelles.

By the end of 1968, New Jersey Bell had 4,254,000 phones in service, an increase of 196,000 telephones over last year. In 1967, 92.3 per cent of the households in New Jersey Bell territory had telephone service. During 1968, this increased to 92.8 per cent.

The United States continued to top the list in terms of relative telephone development, with almost 52 telephones for every 100 persons. Sweden trailed closely behind, with 50 phones for every 100 persons, followed by Switzerland, 42; Canada, 40.7; and New Zealand, 40.6.

Atlantic City held sixth place among United States cities in the ratio of telephones to people, with 78 phones per 100 people. Washington, D.C., continued in first place with 97; Skokie, Ill., with 86, second; followed by White Plains, N.Y., 85; San Francisco, Cal., 83; and Southfield, Mich., 82.

Among the New Jersey cities that topped the national average of 52

Bail Set At $500 For Newark Man

A charge of possession of narcotics against David Lee Bennett, 24, of 321 Broadway, Newark, was referred to the Grand Jury after a preliminary hearing in the Nutley Municipal Court on January 8.

Bennett was stopped by Patrolman Charles Olivo on November 1 for driving a car with a red inspection sticker. During the investigation which followed, it was learned that Bennett was driving while on the revoked list. He was also alleged to be under the influence of narcotics.

On arriving at the police station, Patrolman John Guerin was ordered to move Bennett's car to the rear of the building. When he entered the car, he saw, struck the window visor and a pack of cigarettes fell on the seat, spilling out six glassine envelopes.

Guerin said that the material in the envelopes was tested and found to be heroin.

State Health Department Seeking Pollution Action

Unless prompt action is taken to reduce pollution levels in northern New Jersey waterways, the State Department of Health will seek court action to further restrict the area's building activities.

This warning was issued in Hoboken yesterday by Richard J. Sullivan, Director of the Department of Health's Division of Clean Air and Water, at a Water Resources Management Conference cosponsored by the New Jersey Society of Professional Engineers and Stevens Institute of Technology.

Estimating the cost of an adequate pollution control program at one billion dollars, Sullivan said, "Unless a vast corrective effort is undertaken to eliminate pollution from our streams, bays, lakes, estuaries and coastal waters, further restrictions on building and recreational activities are a certainty. Steps to control pollution must be taken.

The question is whether they will result from the initiative of local government or from state enforcement measures.

"This past summer, the public read about the red tide off our seashore areas, about beach closings and gross pollution of northern New Jersey's rivers," he continued. "We are ready to make an orderly scientific attack on water pollution. But we need help. We must have the understanding of the people and money to build large waste treatment facilities."

Sullivan outlined the danger to water supplies and the loss of commercial and sport fishing areas due to polluted water. He pointed out that New Jersey already faces serious pollution problems that are having a "substantial impact on the state economy," and urged the assembled local officials and engineers to take corrective action before more damage is done.

The Conference, hosted by the Engineering Society of Natural Resources Committee, was attended by government officials and industrial executives. They were brought together to jointly consider and evaluate pending, proposed and possible programs for the management of the water resources in New Jersey's metropolitan counties—Bergen, Essex, Hudson, Morris, Passaic and Union.

Other featured speakers at the meeting were:

Fred J. Elmiger, project review chief of the Hudson River Valley Commission of New York, who described that commission's achievements in conserving the Hudson Valley.

Dr. Arthur Lesser, Jr., chairman of the Department of Economics of Engineering and Management Science, Stevens Institute of Technology, who discussed "The Potential of Industrial Growth Along the Passaic River."

Kenneth H. Walker, director of the North Atlantic Water Quality Management Center, Federal Water Pollution Control Administration, who spoke on "The Federal Government's Role in Water Resources Management in Metropolitan New Jersey."

The Conservation of Natural Resources Committee plans to sponsor a similar public seminar dealing with the problems of air pollution at Rutgers University in the spring.

DeWitt Reports Assets Increase

DeWitt Savings and Loan Association of Belleville, reported total assets of $33,512,233 as of December 31, 1968. This marks an increase of 8.2 per cent from the $30,780,508 reported a year ago, the association's annual report revealed today.

The report, issued by John P. Dailey, President, showed that savings balances held by the institution amount to $30,945,073, as compared to $28,446,516 reported at the end of 1967. Dailey said that while not as good a savings year as 1967, this year was far better than 1966, the year of tight money.

A record dividend totaling $1,372,714 was paid during the year to the 12,170 account holders. A total of $4,537,750 in mortgage loans was put on the books during 1968, bringing total loans to $29,209,649.

In looking ahead to 1969, the annual report indicated that there would be even further increases in the competition for savings dollars. This would present challenges to the savings and loan business and the real estate and housing business.

"There were other factors, too", Dailey continued, "Many families spent more and saved less. Automobiles, homes, color television sets, and hard goods of all kinds experienced soaring sales."

"No doubt some families were apprehensive that many items would cost more next year. For this reason, some money that normally would have been put away in the savings account found its way into the marketplace."

"Though the recovery in savings flow so far has not been striking, it should be noted that the growth in savings is continuing at a slow, steady pace, and we expect this to accelerate during the first half of 1969", said Dailey.

"In view of this increased demand and uncertain savings supply, it would seem likely that mortgage interest rates will remain at about the same levels that prevailed during 1968".

Dailey predicted that 1969 will prove to be another year of progress and development for DeWitt Savings and Loan Association and the community as well.

Essex County CYO Holds Annual March Of Dimes

CYO moderators, Father Affanoso asked that youths of local parishes be allowed to hold a special collection outside of church after each Mass on January 19. Last year the Essex County CYO collected $5,700 to help combat birth defects.

Father Affanoso said "The March of Dimes funds will continue to provide the best medical care for children with birth defects and polio. Our March of Dimes Birth Defects Center at Newark's Babies Hospital along with over 100 other Special Treatment Centers, now being established across the country, will provide a network of knowledge which may some day eliminate crippling."

Essex County CYO, which in the past 25 years has raised a grand total of $182,834 for the March of Dimes, will stage its annual CYO March of Dimes Sunday on January 19 according to County Director Rev. Vincent F. Affanosa.

Bookie Gets Booked

Anthony P. Pucciarello, 33, of 14 Passaic Avenue, Apt. AB-9 who is charged with bookmaking and conducting a lottery, had his case referred to the Grand Jury at the January 8 Nutley Municipal Court.

Pucciarello was arrested by state police on November 26 after they allegedly discovered various bookmaking and lottery paraphernalia in his apartment.

At the preliminary hearing George Friery, a state police criminal investigator, said he discovered numerous "scratch sheets," slips of paper containing horse and football bets and ledgers containing tallies of monetary transactions in the apartment.

Friery, who spent several hours in the defendant's apartment, testified that he took a number of phone calls which, he said, were from persons placing horse bets.

In referring the case, Judge Edwin J.C. Joerg set bail at $2,500 for each offense.

Jaycees Seeking Trends In Town Attitude Survey

In honor of Jaycee Week, Jan. 19 to 25, the Belleville Jaycees are planning several activities.

They are the presentation of the Christmas Lighting Award plaque to the residents of the most decorated home in Belleville, the presentation of Charity Dollars to three local non-profit organizations, and the launching of a Community Attitude Survey on Jan. 24, for the purpose of determining how the Belleville residents feel on over 50 subjects related to their town.

The purpose of the survey (is two fold. The primary purpose) is to give the town residents an opportunity to express themselves on a variety of subjects related to our town.

The second objective is, after evaluation of the survey, to assist the Belleville Jaycees by giving guidance to areas where they might be most effective as a community minded organization.

Richard Dombrowski, Jaycees secretary is chairman of the survey.

The Community Attitude Survey is to be distributed (by the Jaycees in selected areas) on the weekend of January 24. It is strongly urged that residents receiving the survey complete it during the following week.

A Jaycee will call the following weekend to pick up the survey.

Costantino, Hartunian Spark Irvington Victory

Belleville High's basketball team won its second game of the season, after eight straight losses, and avenged an earlier 58-48 loss to the Campers of Irvington, with a 58 to 50 victory at the Bellboys gym Tuesday afternoon.

The game started slowly. Barry Pasko, whose 21 points beat the Bellboys last time, hit a 22 footer with 5:37 remaining in the first quarter for the contest's first points. It was Pasko, feeding his mates and scoring from long range, who staked Irvington to a 14-6 first quarter lead.

In the second quarter both teams exchanged baskets and the Campers maintained a six to eight point edge. Coach Paul Szem put Rich Hartunian on Pasko in an attempt to nullify his effectiveness.

Pasko had 11 points at the half and Irvington's lead was still eight, 25-17.

Vinnie Costantino, who was off in the first half, hit three buckets in a row and added a foul shot to cut the deficit to 25-24.

The Campers built it up again to 32-27, but Costantino chopped it back to one at 32-31 and Hartunian put the Bellboys ahead with a jumper with 24 seconds left in the third quarter.

It was a tie after three stanzas, 34-34.

Both clubs came out red hot in the fourth stanza. Hartunian, feeding Costantino cutting across the middle and scoring himself gave the Bellboys a 46-42 lead with 5:20 to play. For Irvington it was all Pasko. The Belleville lead fluctuated between four and six points and with the score 50 to 44 the Campers called time with 3:40 left.

Two free throws by Caravetta and two by Hartunian made it 56-48 with 1:42 to go and the Bellboys first Big Ten win was in the bag. The squad came up with more points in the final period than they had managed in the entire first half.

One sour note to the victory is the fact that Bob Baker, in Szem's dog house for choosing the play over the Orange game, may not see action for the remainder of the year.

Oh yes, the win streak may be shortlived. The next foe is East Orange, undefeated and ranked second in the state. The game is tomorrow at 8 on the Panthers court.

Belleville and Irvington now both sport 2-8 records.

BECK'S COLUMN

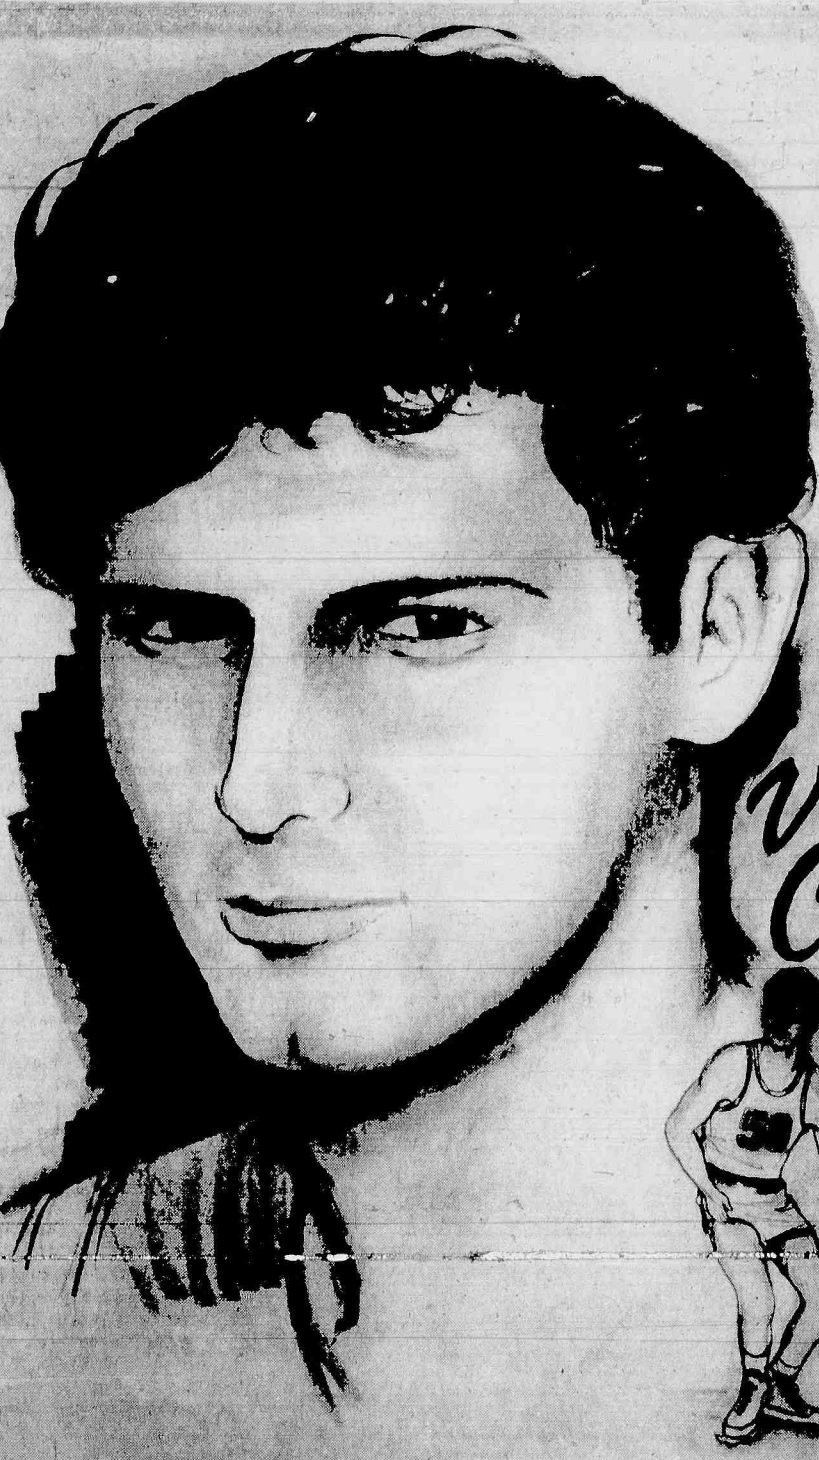

By MAX BECK

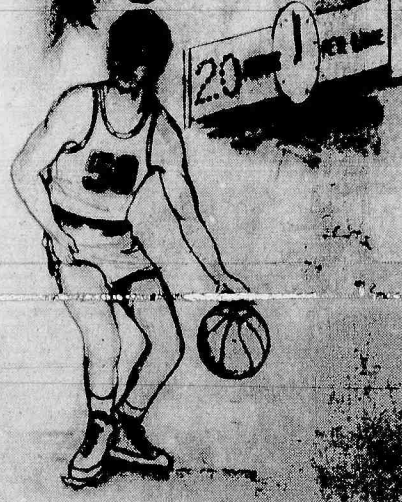

As you know, we try to answer questions in this column, which our customers ask us when they come to our store. One of these frequently asked questions is whether a set is "guaranteed" or "warranted." There is a widespread misconception about these terms. Actually they are the same, and if you don't believe it, look it up in a dictionary. The important part is, what is written on the paper. As one joker expressed it, often "The big type giveth and the small type taketh away." You have to read it all, big type and small type and everything, from the beginning to end.

Thinking that it would help selling their products, automobile and appliance manufacturers in recent years extended their guarantees or warranties even longer and longer, until they found out that they over-extended themselves. Now they are beginning to pull in. Some of last year's automobiles carried a 50,000 miles or 5 year coverage on the motor, drive train etc., and this year it has been cut about in half. Only recently some TV manufacturers changed their policies, some things, like picture tubes, carry a longer coverage and other parts less. There are more complaints made about inadequacies and misunderstandings about this matter than about anything else.

Make sure you read everything pertaining to a warranty or guarantee. We service what we sell. Beck's Radio TV-Hi Fi 667-2275. Open daily 9-6 Mon. Fri. 9-9.

Sports of The Times

By RICHARD DE SINA

The Jets are not the best team in football. They did come up with a super effort Sunday against the Colts.

The quarterbacks decided the game. Joe Namath was flawless, attacking the Baltimore defense defiantly, exploiting continued use of the blitz when the front four couldn't provide a strong pass rush. The few times he was off target, Colt defenders had trouble holding onto their interceptions.

He repeated the same old pattern, the one weak link in the Baltimore secondary, sending George Sauer out to beat him nine times. Namath hardly threw to his other top receiver Don Maynard, who was blanketed by Bob Boyd, even when the Colts were forced out of their zone to man for man coverage. Boyd rarely gets beaten by anybody. Only Gary Collins has made him look inadequate in his long career, catching three touchdowns in the 1964 title game.

Earl Morrall was pitifully inaccurate. He saved his one bad game for the wrong time. It looked as if he were wearing a Giants uniform again.

An omen of things in store for the Colts came at the end of their first drive. Lou Michaels missed a short field goal. Then the Colts failed to capitalize on a break. Ron Porter recovered a Matt Snell fumble. The whole day may have turned when Porter disdained running it into the end zone. He just fell on it to give Baltimore possession. Earl Morrall threw characteristically (for his January 12 game plan) off target to Tom Mitchell. In reaching for the ball which was behind him, the Colts other tight end knocked it into the air and Randy Beverly easily intercepted.

Instead of being down 10-0 the Jets still had a standstill. Namath then drove them to a 7-0 lead, without unleashing the long ball. Morrall missed another six pointer when he failed to spot Jimmy Orr open and underthrew Jerry Hill on the last play of the half. The result was another interception, instead of another touchdown.

The Jets dominated the third quarter and put the game out of reach in the fourth. Johnny Unitas, though he was lobbing the ball, moved the Colts to one score and missed another when he too was intercepted on an underthrown pass.

The Baltimore receivers were open. The Colts quarterbacks failed to get the ball to them. Mackey was thrown to only in the first half and wasn't stopped. The first time he made a reception he carried ten Jets to the sidelines and even the whole bench couldn't tackle him. He failed to hold onto the other tosses in his direction. Behind, the Colts had to abandon their running game which was going well.

Credit the Jets offensive line with a superlative job. Namath was dropped only once before he got his throw away, that coming on a blitz. In addition they beat the quick Colt tackles to death up the middle for Matt Snell's runs.

Johnny Sample gave clearcut evidence of the reasons for his expulsion from the NFL.

Once again frustration will haunt the winter of the Baltimore Colts. As Gus Triandos said when the Phillies blew the 1964 pennant, "It's the year of the blue snow."

Local Knicks Also Climbing

The mighty Knicks have moved into first place in the Recreation Boys Junior Basketball League.

In a very hard fought game with the tenacious Magnificent Seven, the Knicks forged a 26-19 victory to assume the summit position. Both clubs demonstrated really good defense. Rob DiQuattro paced the winners with 10 points while Steve Moraski led the Magnificents with 7.

In the other game last week, the Panthers continued their surge with a 19-13 win over the Fearsome Fivesomes. A continued fast break and superior ball control by the Panthers were the deciding factors.

Byron Davis and Anthony Carr led the Panthers scoring while Barry Blumenfeld led the Fivesomes. This game is

Water And Air Pollution Expenditures To Go Up

Nearly 300 New Jersey firms are planning to spend a total of about $20 million on water and air pollution control equipment in 1969.

This was reported today by Leonard C. Johnson, president of the New Jersey Manufacturers Association. The information, he said, was contained in responses to the Association's tenth annual survey of its membership, received from all 21 counties in the state.

While his organization represents a large segment of the state's entire business community, Johnson said that most of those predicting expenditures on pollution control equipment were manufacturers.

the third successive win for the Panthers and puts them in second place in the League.

Matmen To Meet Montclair Mounties

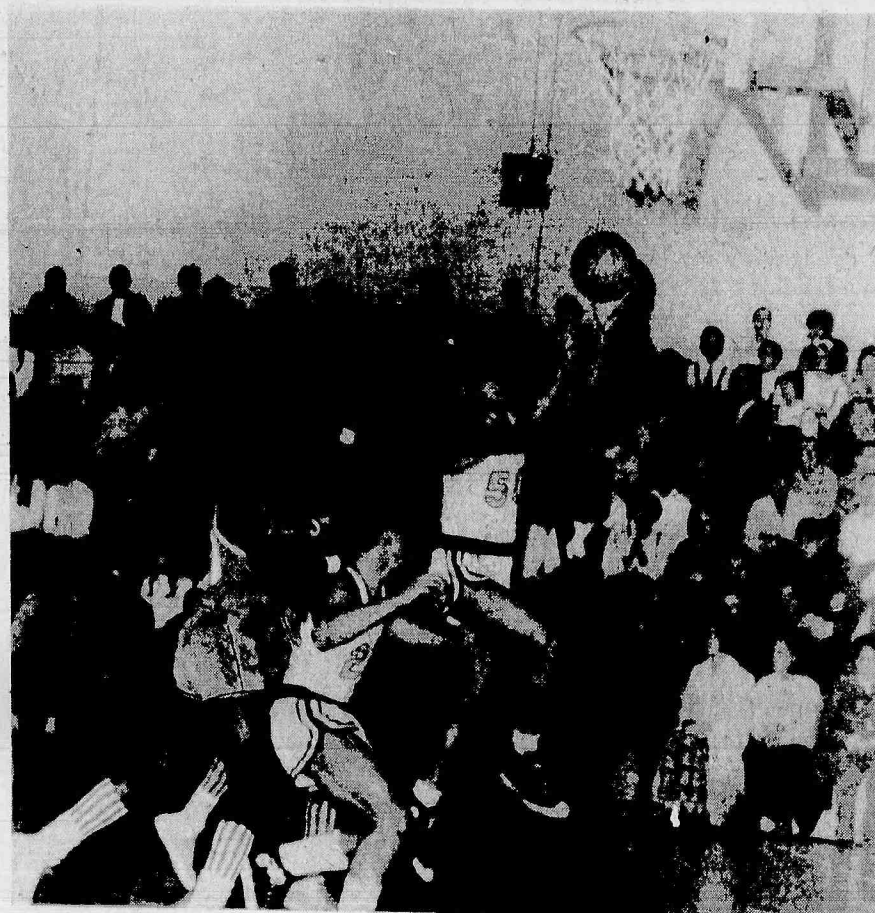

Belleville's matmen faced Bloomfield's grapplers yesterday afternoon in a home encounter. This match was originally scheduled for last Saturday but was rescheduled because of testing requirements at the high school.

Coach Silvestri's squad faces its sternest test tomorrow when the Mounties of Montclair, top team in the Big Ten visits the Bellboys.

Montclair added an impressive decision over Nutley to its undefeated mark last week. The Bellboys lost to the Maroon in their opening match.

Dana Nappi, Jim Wille, and Bob Bonfante have been the standouts for Silvestri thus far in the young season.

Orange put the game to bed in the second quarter. Belleville got juiced by a fast break and a tough full court press, which offsets the Tornadoes insufficient outside shooting. Orange is 7-0 in the Big Ten and pursuing East Orange, 8-0. The Bellboys face the Panthers tomorrow on their court, an unenviable task.

Led by 6-4 senior Countee Hall who popped in 21 points and Harvey Glover who hauled down 20 caroms, the Tornadoes settled the issue by outscoring the Bellboys 26 to 9 in the second quarter.

In the first quarter, Orange had sporadic success with its press. Vinnie Costantino found Rich Motacki open for a hanger on one rally, but then was forced into a backcourt violation the next time up the floor.

The Tornadoes turned an 8-3 lead into 13-3 with strong defensive rebounding and a lightning fast break, equal to Montclair's. Baskets by Caravetta and Costantino cut

Upsala Vikings Meet Indians In '69 Grid

Upsala College will renew its football rivalry with Montclair State next fall. The Vikings will meet Montclair in an afternoon contest on Saturday, October 25, at East Orange, according to Upsala's director of athletics, Donald

B. Walker.

The two neighborhood rivals have not battled each other on the gridiron in five years. Montclair took a 19-0 decision at Viking Field in 1964. The teams have played each other only three times in the last 15 years. Upsala won a lopsided 52-19 contest in 1954, but the Indians were victorious in the 1963 and 1964 meetings.

The Vikings will open the 1969 campaign September 27 at home against Hobart. Arch-rival Wagner will come to East Orange the following Saturday for a Parents Day encounter.

Warren Ceres Voted All-ECAC

Warren Ceres of Belleville, Upsala's six-foot, 245-pound tackle, was named recently to the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference all-star football team for the 1968 season.

The former Belleville High School player was chosen twice during the season on the ECAC weekly all-star squad. At the end of the season, the 1968 team was selected from those players who had made the weekly teams during the campaign.

A junior at Upsala, Ceres is majoring in history. He plans to enter the teaching and coaching profession.

The Viking tackle attended Colorado Western before transferring to Upsala two years ago. Upsala coach John Hooper expects Ceres to be a mainstay of the Vikings line next fall. The East Orange eleven will open an eight-game season against Hobart at home on September 27.

Sightless Bowlers Need Scorekeeper

The Brunswick Olympic Bowling Lanes, 671 Washington Avenue, are where 18 blind or partially sighted bowlers congregate Wednesday evenings between 6:30 and 8:30.

The group the Essex County Pindowners League, is divided into six three men teams. It takes one scorekeeper to cover two teams which bowl on two alleys. Here a problem enters. There are only two permanent scorekeepers and the group requires three.

"We have had trouble getting steady scorekeepers," says Robert Potter, 89 Linwood Terrace, Clifton, one of the blind bowlers. "We need volunteer scorekeepers."

"Joe Costa of the ABC keeps score every week along with another sighted fellow who bowls, but it gets difficult. Everybody can't jump in and grab a pencil. We need someone to sit down and keep score and tell what pins are left."

In order to bowl, a guide rail some 12 feet long is arranged on the approach to the foul line. It runs down the side of the ball carrier and is supported by bowling balls.

Volunteers can contact Potter at 773-2908 or the management of Olympic Bowl (751-2111).

Ice Skating Rink Finally Opens

Belleville finally got ice skating over last weekend and hundreds of people of all ages were able to enjoy this wholesome activity at the Recreation House Rink at Garden Avenue and Joralemon St.

The start of skating was unfortunately retarded by some ten days by a handful of vandals who got onto the ice before it was frozen enough to support weight. Not content to sample the ice, they proceeded to methodically smash up the entire rink.

This, in turn, necessitated waiting until the jagged ice froze solid before the laborious task of rebuilding a smooth surface. The only alternative to this would have been to plow all the ice off the rink and start over.

When the ice is proper for skating, the Recreation Department displays two "Red Ball" signs from the Recreation House, one facing Garden Avenue and one facing Perry Street. If these signs are not up it means no skating.

To assist Bellevillites in knowing the skating situation there is an explanatory message recorded of the current conditions; this may be reached by telephoning 759-3121. Further, when the ice is fit for skating there is supervision, there is recorded music, and at night there are lights.

Generally, the skating hours are 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Anyone injured on the rink when there is not official skating must assume the responsibility for the injury.

Having skating requires the cooperation of everyone in order to get the first ice as soon as possible and to keep it in good condition. Sometimes the best way to have the most skating is to keep off the ice until it is right.

Clara Maass Hospital Starts New Emergency Coverage

Clara Maass Memorial Hospital recently instituted a new program that will provide expanded, and improved round-the-clock Emergency Room coverage.

Greifinger Elected Medical Director

The Board of Trustees of the Clara Maass Memorial Hospital has elected Dr. William Greifinger to the post of Medical Director.

A graduate of the University of Pennsylvania with a BA degree, Dr. Greifinger earned his medical degree at the University of Maryland. He is a Fellow of the American College of Physicians and a Diplomate of the American Board of Internal Medicine.

Dr. Greifinger is currently President of the Essex County Medical Society, and Medical Director of the Newark Board of Education.

Dr. Greifinger has been a member of the Clara Maass Memorial Medical Staff for thirty years. He served as Director of the Department of Medicine for eight years, 1960-1968, and was President of the Medical Staff during the year 1968. Dr. Greifinger is also past president of the St. James Hospital Medical Staff.

Practicing Internal Medicine in Belleville, Dr. Greifinger resides in South Orange, New Jersey. He is married to the former Gertrude Fichman, and they have three sons - Robert, David and Richard.

in making the announcement, stated that full time licensed doctors will be on continuous duty, replacing interns who heretofore have provided this service. These doctors will confine their practice exclusively to the emergency facilities for the treatment of patients who require immediate medical or surgical care.

Under this new arrangement, a patient coming to the Emergency Room may request treatment by his own physician. The Emergency Room fee for service by the physician is not included in the hospital's Emergency Room fees.

Oberg observed that the cost of operating an Emergency Room in a hospital is high. It is staffed by doctors, nurses, technicians and other personnel, twenty-four hours a day, and is equipped to meet the needs of any kind of emergency. A visit to an Emergency Room therefore could run several times greater in cost than a visit to a doctor's office.

These physicians were retained for the program because emergency visits have increased considerably over the past several years and staffing the center in this manner was necessary to meet the increased demands and in keeping with practices and policies adapted in many New Jersey hospitals.

Ward Becomes Chairman Of Cancer Crusade Drive

William F. Ward, executive vice president of the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company, today, accepted the invitation of William G. Bowers, president of the Essex County Chapter of the American Cancer Society, to serve as 1969 Cancer Crusade Chairman for Essex County.

Ward, in assuming the post, asserted that, "the 1969 Cancer Crusade is a crusade of hope. Hope, for the eventual defeat of cancer. Hope, generated by last year's addition of 100,000 cancer-stricken people to the 1,500,000 American ex-cancer patients today walking the earth. Hope, created by the successful results of the Essex County Pap Test Day. Hope, because of the definite advances made in the treatment of leukemia. Hope, given those who have heeded the advice of the American Cancer Society as to physical checkups and are under treatment."

and treated early. Cures can be effected. Youth will be saving lives and aiding their own future as well. The result of such united effort cannot fail but to hasten the day that cancer is finally conquered.

"We call on all to do their part in the fight against cancer with 'A Check and a Checkup,'" said Ward. The American Cancer Society last year assigned over 22 million dollars to research in the laboratories and hospitals of our country. In New Jersey, Princeton University and Rutgers College are active participants in these research programs. The continuing educational programs of the American Cancer Society include professional education for physicians, dentists and nurses as well as the drive to enlighten the public as to the seven warning signs of cancer and the need for immediate medical consultation.

Ward lives at 21 College Avenue, Upper Montclair, with his wife Marjory, their two daughters, Carol and Susan and son William. He is a Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company Career man and a Fellow of the Society of Actuaries.

Ward has served either as executive or trustee of the United Service Organization, Greater Newark Chamber of Commerce, Greater Newark Hospital Development Fund,

ADVERTISMENT

The Bank of Bloomfield starts bank revolution with Free Checking Accounts.

The Bank of Bloomfield—this area's hardest-working bank, but the one with the biggest new ideas—has shaken up the banking industry again. With an offer of a free personal checking account for life to any customer who keeps a $250 minimum balance. No charge for checks, for deposits, or even for postage, we supply post-paid envelopes. Other banks charge $2, $3, $5 or even more a month. A look at your bank statements will prove you can save $25 to $50 a year. Daring new ideas like this made The Bank of Bloomfield one of America's fastest-growing banks. Other ideas include People's Hours, Daily 8-6, Monday till 8:30 p.m.; Saturday 9-12 and Golden Interest Savings that pay you 5% interest on as low as $1000—the biggest return anywhere in this area on the lowest deposit.
