Queen Contest Composed Of Bevy Of Town Beauties

Among the ten finalists chosen to compete for the Miss Belleville crown on April 26 at Belleville High School are a former Miss High School Queen, a current Miss High School Talent Queen and the sister of a former Miss Belleville.

The finalists chosen will compete in swimsuit, evening gown and talent categories for the crown which is currently being worn by Miss Carol Jean Cornish, Miss Belleville 1968.

For the winner of the Miss Belleville crown there is a $500 scholarship presented by Peoples National Bank & Trust Co. of Belleville. The first runnerup will receive a $250 scholarship from the Belleville Kiwanis and the second runnerup will receive a $125 scholarship from the Colony Club of Belleville. The third and fourth runnerups will be presented $75 and $50 scholarships respectively by Jolly Cleaners. In addition trophies will be presented to the winners.

The finalists are:

Miss Francine Casale, 18, of 85 Fairway Avenue, a Freshman at Rutgers University majoring in History. Miss Casale is interested in all types of water sports and is an avid sports fan. While attending Belleville High School, she was active in cheerleading, the chorus, the newspaper and several other activities. Miss Casale had first thought of entering the law field since her father is a lawyer but later decided on teaching.

Miss Casale will either do a modern jazz routine or a skit on Casey at the Bat for the talent portion of the competition.

Marilyn Casale, 18, of 210 Brighton Avenue, a freshman at West Chester State College, Pa. majoring in music. Miss Casale is interested in tennis and enjoys watching football, although most of her time is taken up with her music studies. ## Boathouse Presentation Planned By Association

The Belleville-Nutley Rowing Association will officially present its $42,000 boathouse to the Boards of Education of Nutley Belleville and Kearny at a 12:30 ceremony this Saturday at the facilities site on the Passaic River in Kearny.

The ceremony will be conducted by Mayor Joseph Healy of Kearny. On the list of events will be a presentation by president Dr. Sidney Rogoff of keys to the three presidents of the Boards of Education.

Following the presentation of the keys, Seymour Grossman will accept a plaque from Mrs. William Chapman in memory of her husband, a past president of the association.

Ernest Arvidson will give a brief history of the association, recalling the men who have served the project since its inception.

Built at a cost of approximately $63,000, the boathouse is large enough to accommodate 300 oarsmen.

Hearing Scheduled For New Ordinance On Unfit Structures

Rundown homes and buildings in Belleville will either have to be repaired or torn down if a proposed ordinance introduced by Commissioner Mary Senatore is passed after a public hearing at Monday's commission meeting.

The law would provide for the removal or demolition of dwellings within town limits that are ruled "unfit for human habitation." Commercial structures are also specified in the ordinance. The town would be empowered to order the demolition of buildings found to be "dangerous to health or life," or hazardous as fire traps.

Building Inspector Vincent Mustacchio will be the man who will enforce the ordinance if it is passed.

Whenever a petition would be filed with Mustacchio by a public authority or at least five residents charging that any dwelling is unfit for habitation, he would conduct an investigation.

If, after the investigation, Mustacchio found that there was some basis for the charges, he would issue a complaint and ask for a hearing of all parties within 30 days.

Camp Ro-Li Open House

Camp Ro-Li will hold an Open House on Saturday, April 12th, at School 3, Belleville, from 2:00 - 5:00 P.M.

All children are cordially invited.

Ro-Li is summer camp for children sponsored by the Belleville Foundation and operated by the Belleville Rotary and Lions Clubs on a non-profit basis.

After the hearing, if he still decided that any structure was unfit, Mustacchio would state in writing his findings and would then serve on the owners an order demanding either the repair or demolition of the building in question.

If the owner failed to comply with the order to repair or demolish the structure, the building inspector would be able to cause the work to be done and the cost of such repairs or demolition would be in the form of a municipal lien against the real property upon which such cost was incurred.

Police, Civilians Save Young Girl

Heroism was displayed by three Belleville policemen and two civilians early Saturday morning when they rescued a 13 year-old girl from a burning home at 7 Van Rensselaer Avenue.

Six members of the Downey family were forced to flee from the home when a general alarm fire gutted the three-story frame house.

Linda Downey, 13, was trapped in the attic of the house after the other members of the family had escaped.

Belleville patrolmen Irving Holly, Robert Estell and Anthony Fantanone were aided by James Roberts of 63 Washington Avenue, Belleville, and James Reidy of 34 Broadway, Newark, in their attempt to save the girl.

Deputy Chief Robert Shaughnessy reports that the five men put a ladder up against an overhand above the first floor and placed a second ladder on the overhand to reach Linda who was in the attic window in the middle of the house.

Apparently someone in the neighborhood called in the alarm because Shaughnessy reports that Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Downey and their children, Douglas, 11, Neil, 9, and Joseph, 5, were asleep at the time of the blaze.

The fire started, the deputy chief says, in a second floor bedroom closet and worked its way up into the attic. Within half an hour, the fire was under control.

Most of the fire damage was confined to the front of the house, but the rest of the building received smoke and water damage. Over thirty men and four pieces of equipment were used to put out the fire.

Four hundred are pre-school children who are too young to understand or know the dangers. Accidental poisoning is preventable. Develop habits of safe living. It really makes sense for several reasons. When you open a savings account at DeWitt your nest eggs earn bigger dividends than you can get anywhere in Belleville for regular savings accounts. And your account is insured up to $15,000 by a U. S. Government Agency. Plus, regular passbook savings are compounded quarterly. Remember too, funds deposited by the 10th earn dividends from the first of the month. Another thing, should you ever need a home loan, it's quicker and easier to get when you save at DeWitt. ## INFANTS NEED A MOTHER'S TENDER CARE

Propping a baby's bottle to permit baby's self-feeding, may be the severest form of unintentional maternal neglect, says Dr. Doris A. Howell, a Philadelphia Pediatrician. An infant needs physical warmth, plus encircling and firm support while being fed.

The Rutgers University Mess

Down the pike now comes Ralph A. Dungan, New Jersey Chancellor of Higher Education to join hands with Dr. Mason Gross, president of Rutgers University.

The distinguished Mr. Dungan subscribes to the notion that students should be admitted to Rutgers University without an examination. Dungan makes the shocking admission that "a substantial number of graduates from urban schools are not capable of meeting the Admissions of Rutgers."

Now that Chancellor Dungan's report is in, the New Jersey Legislature has no alternative but to conduct a full scale investigation of this new Admissions policy which will permit high school graduates to enter Rutgers University without the requirement of meeting basic Admissions standards.

Mr. Dungan and Dr. Gross are both masters at the use of the English language. We do not believe there are enough words in the English language to double talk anybody into believing the waiving of Admissions standards to a university is good or necessary.

Thousands of New Jersey high school graduates have been unable to gain admission into Rutgers University because of their inability to meet the academic standards that have made our State Higher School of Learning one of the best in the nation.

For many years now we have heard complaints from many parents of qualified students that there was no space in Rutgers for additional students. Why then overnight Dr. Mason Gross can find all the room required to accommodate high school graduates who are unable to meet an Admissions standard test?

For the good of New Jersey and to maintain a State University of which we can all be proud this new administrative policy should be reversed.

There should be no discrimination in the Admission policies at Rutgers University or for that matter any school of learning. Disadvantaged students should be given every opportunity to continue their education - but not at the expense of a college reputation and children of middle class American families.

No where in his report does Chancellor Dungan recommend any form of discipline for the students who took the law into their own hands occupying campus buildings and otherwise conducting themselves in a manner to disrupt college campus life. We believe infractions of college and university rules should have been dealt with sternly.

Without discipline on the college campus there is no hope for a first class State University.

The urgency of the problem at Rutgers requires an immediate non-partisan investigation by the Legislature.

Jurors Underpaid

A citizen selected to serve on a County Jury in New Jersey receives $5 per day.

The same citizen selected to serve on a Federal Jury would receive $20 per day. Strange as it may seem, the $5 per day compensation paid to jurors leads a number of citizens in New Jersey to boycott the polls in Election Day.

It is a fact of life that few people can live on $5 per day. It seems to us that our legislators should move to correct this inequity and update compensation paid to jurors. At the very least, a citizen serving on a State Jury should receive as much compensation as that paid for service on a Federal Jury.

Frank A. Orechio

Memories Of Ike

After the immediate shock and grief over the death of Dwight David Eisenhower it's appropriate to take stock, look back over the Eisenhower years - to understand why Ike captured the hearts of so many Americans.

One of the primary reasons was that Ike was unmistakable American. He personified the traditional ideals of this country to a remarkable degree, as what might be characterized as a civilian-soldier, with the sense of duty and honor of the West Point man and yet always believing civilians should retain final authority.

His love of sports and the outdoors was an American trait. He played football, baseball and golf, which became his greatest love. And his ability is appreciated when it is remembered that only five years ago, at 74, he played a round with Arnold Palmer and shot par golf.

Most American of all, he always wanted to be "one of the boys" and was, and he was humble, not pompous. All those who fought in Europe and Africa in World War II remember how he fitted in with any group, whatever the rank, wherever he went.

Being human, he lost his heart some years ago to a pretty girl; his position at the time probably kept him from seeking a divorce and the episode ended and now is only history, human history.

Ike's detractors faulted him most because of his caution. But that caution kept us out of a war in Vietnam for eight years. It maintained Eisenhower's image as a wise and careful man in making decisions which affected millions - and the people prefer this to dramatics and showmanship, and playing politics.

Some intellectuals criticized Eisenhower because he was, as he admitted, more of a man of heart than of intellectual specialization. But the people liked this also.

Ads And The Truth

Recent public opinion polls show the average American feels advertising is mostly lies. In one poll of college students, a Boston University Economics major expressed the opinion of many Americans in saying that when the whole country accepts the false statements in advertising it's a serious matter.

Critics of the degree to which commercialism has taken over life in the United States have long argued in vain for strict policing of advertising, for punishment of those making false claims and statements to the public, which often has no way of knowing whether extreme claims are truthful.

Too many of us have adopted the attitude of letting the buyer beware but in this day of technical advances, in which so many different products are needed for so many different purposes, it's the rare individual who can invariably separate truth from fiction in advertising from personal knowledge.

Bellboy Baseball Isn't Down Yet

By Nathan Gottlieb

QUESTION: After the Bellboy baseball team's first two games, what do you think are the prospects for the season?

WHERE ASKED: At the Belleville - Irvington baseball game on Monday afternoon.

CHRIS TREMEL of 449 Greylock Parkway, Belleville, a batboy for the Belleville team: I think Belleville is going to be good this year if they just don't let up. We have a couple of great players in Frank Fury, Bob Ciallella, and Rich Hartunian. Our pitching staff is strong with Rich Schultz and Bobby Giordano, but we could use another back up pitcher to strengthen the relief. We'll do all right in the end.

Chris Tremel

DAN NISIVOCIA of 134 Passaic Avenue, Belleville, a scoreboard keeper for the Bellboys: The team got off to a bad start this year. They are still rusty from the long winter, but now that the nice weather is here, I expect that they will really start playing well. Once we get a few wins under our belts, all of the players will have more confidence and play much better. There are some stand-out ball players on the team, and as soon as they get loose, we'll win.

JOE CANCELLIERE of 17 Federal Street, Belleville, a batboy for the varsity squad: We should have better than a 500 season. We got off to a bad start but now that the warm weather is here, we will do better. Our infield is strong and all of the fellows in it are sophomores. We could use one more pitcher, but the ones we have are good. Our hitting has been weak so far this year, but we haven't played away yet, so you just can't tell how the season is going to go after only two games.

Joe Cancelliere

MIKE FREDA of 78 Wilbur Street, Belleville, manager of the Belleville team: So far, our practices have looked great. Our defense is good, but we haven't been able to put together any hits so far. Two games, however, don't mean anything. We aren't loose yet and the season is far from over. Our team is young, and the more experience they get, the better they will be as the season goes on.

Belleville Mayor Raps Freeholders

To The Editor:

I would like to call your attention to two measures pushed through by the Essex County Board of Freeholders at their meeting of March 27th, 1969.

A resolution was passed by a 5 to 3 margin appointing Mrs. Nanette O. Adams of Newark to a five year term on the welfare board - this move is a real classic. Mrs. Adams, a recipient of welfare receives $639. per month from Essex County Welfare. Obviously, this appointment results in conflict of interest since one cannot receive welfare and still be objective insofar as rendering decisions favoring the county.

Mr. Palmieri's main function as Chairman of the Essex County Welfare Board is investigating relief. All he has accomplished so far is saddling the taxpayer with untold amount of additional taxes - a $20,000. investigator, an assistant purchasing agent, 40 field workers, etc. Additional personnel will ultimately require a building program and again the taxpayers will absorb the cost.

A second resolution was passed establishing a narcotics study commission, comprising of eight members, with subpoena powers. This new setup, headed by Chairman Frank Palmieri, is moving into all areas of police powers that are directly under the jurisdiction of the prosecutor and the county sheriff who happen to be very competent in the field of law enforcement. It is also in direct conflict with city and town police departments.

I feel the relief program, in particular, is rapidly getting out of hand and becoming too costly for the taxpayers of Essex County. The members of the Board of Chosen Freeholders should be reminded that the November election will roll around quickly and I, for one, object strenuously to this legislation.

Our citizens should be made aware of the additional costs of these dual jobs through the medium of your local newspapers.

Kind personal regards.

Defeated School Budget Should Stay That Way

To The Editor:

After reviewing the results of the school budget twice strongly defeated by the people, I question the right of the Board of Education to appeal to the State Board of Education to reverse that mandate by the people. The appeal in this case should be denied.

If allowed it would start a trend in cases of this kind where the people have the power to act to the commissioners, who did so in the best interest of the town and the taxpayers.

Under the law I feel it would be illegal and morally wrong for the State to act since the school budget has been acted upon by the commissioners in good faith.

HAPPY TEAM — That is what the Bellboy nine was after they defeated Nutley on Tuesday afternoon. Here they gather around Joe Rittacco who belted a triple in the seventh inning to drive in the sole winning run.

Cindermen Drop Meet To Fast Passaic Team

Tuesday it was Vic Squitieri who scored 11 team points as he took a first place in the low hurdles at 180 yards, a first place in the discus, and a third place in the hundred dash against Passaic.

Ralph Salerno scored 8 team points as he took first place in the shot put and a second place in the discus.

Doug Brown, entered three events — the high hurdles, the 220 and the high jump. He came in third in each event and tallied three team points.

The first event run was the 120 yard hurdles. Jerry Chambers of Passaic was first with a 19.1. Parker Brown of Passaic was second and Doug Brown of Belleville was third.

The hundred yard dash was next and Lemant Stallings of Passaic came in first with a 10.6. Jim Giles of Passaic was second and Vic Squitieri was third.

The one mile event was next. Seve Allen of Passaic finished first with a 5:10. Mike Ventura of Belleville was second with a 5:14. Ted Oboski finished third with 5:30.

This was followed by the quarter mile race. Mark Bradley of Belleville came in first with a time of 59 seconds. He was followed by Maurice Woodard and Eddie Casciano, both of Passaic.

In the low hurdles Vic Squitieri took first with a time of 23.6 seconds. He was followed by Jerry Chambers of Passaic and Don Kowalski of Belleville.

Bob Forest came in first in the two mile run with an 11:34. Allen Lesceau and Ira Friedberg were second and third for Passaic.

In the 880 Jim Oliver of Passaic was first with a time of 2:17 and Tom Griffin was second with a 2:21. Ed Dalcero was third with a 2:25.

Lemant Stallings came in first in the 220 yard dash followed by Maurice Woodard, also of Passaic. Doug Brown of Belleville followed them third.

In the field events, Jim Giles was first in the high jump with a leap of 5'2". Pat DeMarco, also of Passaic, was second with 4'10". Doug Brown of Belleville was third with 4'10". He was given

A solidly hit triple has put Belleville's baseball team in the winning column this season and the victory is extra sweet because it came against arch-rival Nutley on Tuesday afternoon.

Joe Rittacco, who plays centerfield for the Bellboys, was the man who delivered the crucial hit in the bottom half of the seventh inning. He drove home Vin Cappetta who was a pinch runner for Carl Corino who walked earlier in the inning.

The first inning of the game third because it took him more jumps than DeMarco to clear the bar at that height.

George Reipe of Belleville took a first place in the pole vault with 11 feet. Jerry Chambers was second with a 9'6" jump. Charles Eccles was third.

Belleville swept the shot put as Ralph Salerno threw the shot 40'4 1/2". Jim Willey was second with a 36'6" and Mike Albertine was third.

In the last event, the broad jump, Maurice Woodard of Passaic captured first with a 19'3" jump. Pat DeMarco, also of Passaic, was second with 18'3" and Sonny Giordano of Belleville was third with a jump of 17'3".

The team will face Irvington this Friday in the Belleville High School Stadium in their first home meet.

was a bit wild. Nutely was able to load the bases, but Belleville calmed down and quelled their rally. The Bellboys came right back with a rally of their own, getting men as far as second and third base, but they weren't able to score.

The game became a pitchers duel from that point on. Rich Schultz for Belleville pitched a three hit shutout. Nutley's Jeff Bouten only gave up three hits, but one of them was the triple which scored the single run of the game.

The win came one day after a ten-inning tie with Irvington. Bob Giordano allowed only one run in that game, and that run was unearned. He only gave up three hits the entire game, he had two strike outs and contributed one of Belleville's five hits.

For the first five innings of play, the game was a real pitching duel between Giordano and Irvington's Paul Alliegro.

In the sixth inning Joe Papsidero singled to right field for the Bellboys and he was caught off second base in an attempted steal.

Then Rich Hartunian singled to center field, stole second and third and scored on a throwing error by the catcher, John Mahon.

In the top of the seventh inning Henry Loubet reached first on an error by Belleville Third Baseman Rich Caravetta. He was moved to second base by a singled by Mike Nalgieri. Both runners moved up on a sacrifice bunt by Bill Crisco and the runner from third scored on an infield out.

The game then went into extra innings. In the bottom of the ninth inning Belleville threatened when they loaded the bases with no outs, but they weren't able to bring a man home.

However, Bob Ciallella struck out and a suicide squeeze attempt failed. Then Joe Rittacco singled, but Rich Caravetta grounded to short to end the threat.

Last Thursday, the Wayne Valley Indians, behind the one-hit pitching of John Rafferty, defeated Belleville 4-0 at the Belleville Stadium.

Despite hitting two Belleville batters, Rafferty walked only one and struck out nine. Belleville's lone hit came with one out in the seventh and final inning when Frank Barry doubled to right-center.

The only run Wayne Valley needed was scored in the third inning on a pop-fly double by Rafferty into short right field plus an error by third-baseman Rich Caravetta. The Indians, winners of twenty-two straight last season, tallied again in the fifth without the benefit of a base hit.

Belleville-Nutley Boathouse Presentation Is Scheduled For Saturday Ceremony

There are two parts to the house, one being for the shells and the other a three room set-up with 100 lockers per room and ample modern shower facilities for the crews. The house also contains a private coaches room.

Originally Kearny had no crew team but because of the sport's activity in its town, interest rapidly grew until now the town is a joint owner with its own varsity team. The Association asked Kearny to join because of its valuable assistance in keeping crew a reality in Nutley-Belleville.

Rogoff reported that the three teams will maintain the facilities at their own cost. The city of Kearny owns the property as part of its park system but the schools have a 30 year lease with the option to renew.

It has been a long and painstaking struggle for the Rowing Association which was formed in response to the need for a new boathouse. Under the persevering coordination of Everett Zabriskie, the uphill climb has finally achieved fruition.

It was about four years ago that the state highway department put in route 21 which resulted in the demolition of the boathouse used for many years by Belleville and Nutley High School crews on the Passaic River.

The boards of education of both towns searched for sites in one of either town but were unsuccessful. Finally, a riverside plot was found in Kearny (opposite the Belleville Bridge). That plot, however, could not be developed by either the Nutley or Belleville boards because a state law forbids a local board from spending money for construction on property in another municipality.

What happened was that the Belleville-Nutley Rowing Association was formed. A group of private citizens, interested in saving crew as a local sport put together a lot of time, energy and ingenuity to raise money to develop the site.

The state laws forbid the spending of money to build a facility in another town, but it allows the transfer of this structure by a private group to the local boards. The laws also permit the boards to spend money to maintain the building.

At the Association's meeting, the group agreed to disband on April 30. Special thanks was awarded to Zabriskie for his overwhelming efforts on behalf of the project. Characteristically, Zabriskie wanted to thank the "sea scouts of Kearny who have been most helpful to us by allowing us to use their building facilities adjacent to the present site."

The following are trustees of the Rowing Association who have aided in the erection of the facility: Ernest Arvidson, vice president, Herman Wische, treasurer, Alfred Anderten, Gerald Bonavita, Edmund Carne, Ralph Casale, William Dougherty, Seymour Grossman, Romeo Mattia, Richard Shafter, Dr. Sidney Rogoff, president, Carl Hagert, Nicholas Carracino, Frank Forrester, Carl Ohlson, John Peddieson, Bernard Rabinowitz, Ivor Watts, Louis Zwirek and John Sleaser. Also active for the organization was James Bailey, boathouse architect, Everett Zabriskie, business manager of the Nutley Board of Education, and Mayor Joseph Healy of Kearny and Ralph Borgess, business manager of the Kearny Board of Education who helped secure the site for the facility.

An honest man, after reviewing his own life, will be inclined to let youth chart its own course.

BECK'S COLUMN

By MAX BECK

One manufacturer of TV sets who claims that "handcrafting" is the best way to make TV sets, is now beginning to change over from the model-T stage to modern production methods. They are beginning to use, in one part of their sets, an IC (integrated circuit), which is the next stage of the radical changes constantly taking place in electronics. Obviously, this company is going to skip the stage of transistors which, in a way is obsolete already before it was given widespread use in color TV manufacturing. We will see increasingly more ICs, probably in the form of plug-in units to facilitate quick and easy repair.

It is obvious that some method has to be found to repair TV sets quickly and inexpensively. There are not nearly enough skilled mechanics to keep all the sets in repair. This great demand inevitably leads to abuses by unethical so-called mechanics who take advantage of the situation and gouge the public.

Belleville War Veteran To Attend Summit Meet

Nicholas Raimo, of Belleville, Past National Commander of the Italian American War Veterans, will attend the April Summit meeting of all the major veterans organizations at Valley Forge, Pa., April 17-19.

The meeting, sponsored by the Freedoms Foundation, will mark the first time U.S. Veterans leaders have been marshaled for a cooperative national volunteer program. The call for a veterans summit won enthusiastic endorsement from members of Congress and members high in the new Nixon Administration.

The proposal to rally the veterans groups into a common effort coincides with President Nixon's aim to bring the nation's civic and volunteer organizations into closer cooperation with federal social, educational, welfare and law enforcement programs. The Valley Forge meeting will be led by Dr. Kenneth Wells, director of the Freedoms Foundation.

The president has assigned Housing and Urban Development Secretary George Romney to spearhead the federal cooperation effort.

Raimo, who was appointed by National Commander Robert D. Dardano, of Rochester, New York who said, "In selecting Raimo I have done so for he has proven his ability for the past 23 years for his untiring service for the veterans of our country."

The agenda for the Summit meeting will include the following: How to stop erosion of our constitution. How to reinstate law and justice for all equally. To establish and reinforce the moral tone and leadership that built our republic. How to rebuild the defenses of the United States. How to make the institutions that the people of the United States built responsive to the will of the majority. How to stamp out sedition, anarchy, and exhibitionism which is often financed by tax revenues. How to take care of national problems, from those of the poor to those of the rich, with equity and dignity. How to rebuild national pride in our flag, our national anthem and our heritage. How to regain respect for the United States abroad.

In July of 1967 Raimo, then national Commander, left for a fifteen day trip to Vietnam where he toured the four combat zones and Saigon, Honolulu, and Tokyo hospitals. At the present time he is preparing a printed book on his trip to Vietnam.

Raimo served in World War II with the Infantry where he received the Purple heart, combat badge, and other citations.

Belleville Attorney Represents Officers

John R. Scott, Belleville attorney, has been appointed Counsel for the State Correction Officers, Local # 105. Scott will represent the 1,000 member group as General Counsel and also at special hearings.

Frank Ginesi of Rahway, State P.B.A. Delegate, made the announcement. Ginesi said Scott was appointed as a result of his work in last summer's job action, instituted by the Guards. At that time a Court Injunction was issued against the Guards and they faced the prospect of contempt of court citations. Scott represented the Guards in the court proceedings and also at negotiations with Senator Maraziti of Morris County.

He later appeared at a special committee hearing before the New Jersey Senate to offer testimony regarding the demands of the Correction Officers. Ginesi said Scott's help proved to be a tremendous boost to the cause of the Correction Officers.

Scott said the membership is made up of New Jersey Prison Guards from State Penal Institutions, the largest of which are Rahway State Prison and Trenton State Prison. Scott said he hoped among other things to continue the fight for better working conditions for the New Jersey Prison Guards.

Internal Revenue Service Answers Questions

Q: Where do I obtain tax forms?

A: Use the tax form mailed to you whenever possible. If you have to use another form because of a mistake, use the gummed address label from the form mailed to you. It is easily removed. If you hire an accountant to prepare your tax return, give him the forms mailed to you and ask him to use the label from it on the tax return he prepares. Forms can be obtained from your nearest IRS office or from most banks and post offices.

Q: Where should I file my return?

A: All residents of New Jersey should mail their completed returns to Internal Revenue Service Center, 11601 Roosevelt Boulevard, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, 19155. An addressed envelope was enclosed in the instruction booklet mailed to you. Use this envelope if possible.

Q: When will I get my refund?

A: If your return is properly prepared, your social security number is correctly reported and you mail your return before April 1st, you should get your refund within 5 - 6 weeks after you mail your return. It will probably take 8 - 10 weeks if you mail your return after April 1st.

Q: Is a full - time student a dependent even if he is over 18?

A: Your child can qualify as a dependent regardless of age and regardless of the amount of his income as long as he is a full-time student and you provide more than half his support.

A full - time student is one who is enrolled for the number of courses considered full - time attendance at his school or college for at least five calendar months of the year. A child is not a student if he is employed full-time during the day and attends school at night.

If the student earned more than $600 during the year, he must file his own tax return on which he can claim his own exemption even if his parents claim him as a dependent.

If the student earned less than $600 and had income tax deducted from his earnings, he must file a tax return to secure a refund. Tax refunds are never automatic.

Q: How may I obtain a Form W-2 from my employer?

A: Your employer is required to furnish you a Form W-2 not later than January 31, following the close of the calendar year. If you leave an employer during the calendar year, and are not expected to return to work during the calendar year, he must furnish your Form W-2 not later than 30 days after he makes the last payment to you. If you have moved since your employment ended, you should notify your employer of your latest address for forwarding your Form W-2.

If you are unable to secure a Form W-2 from your employer, you should attach a statement to your return explaining the reason, and indicating the employer's name, address, amount of wages received and the amount of income tax withheld from your wages.

If you receive an erroneous Form W-2, you should ask your employer to issue a new W-2 to you, clearly marked "Corrected Copy." You should then file Copy B of the corrected Form W-2 with your completed tax return, along with Copy B of any other Forms W-2 you may have received.

Q: What are the rules for determining whether or not a person can be claimed as a dependent?

A: A dependent is a person for whom you can claim a $600 exemption. In order to qualify as a dependent, a person must meet each of the following tests:

A: Support Test - You must have contributed over 50% of the dependent's support.

B. Gross Income Test - Generally, a dependent must have received less than $600 gross in the tax year. This test does not apply to your children under 19 years of age or your children who are full-time students, regardless of age.

C. Member of Household or Relationship Test - If a person is a member of your household, he need not be related in order to be considered a dependent. However, he must have lived in your household the entire year and must meet the other four tests. If a person is related to you, he need not be a member of your household or live with you in order to be considered a dependent.

D. Citizenship Test - Person must be a citizen or resident of this country, or a resident of Canada, Mexico, the Canal Zone or the Republic of Panama for the year the taxpayer claims the exemption.

E. Joint Return Test - Person must not have filed a joint return with his or her spouse. A spouse is never a dependent.

Q: Explain the deduction for medical insurance premiums.

A: One-half of the premiums paid for medical insurance, up to a maximum deduction of $150, may be deducted if you itemize. The balance of your premiums may be added to your other medical expenses to determine whether or not they exceed 3% of your total income.

Q: What medical expenses are deductible?

A: Only those medical expenses which exceed 3 percent of your total income can be deducted. Subject to this restriction you may deduct medical and dental expenses which you actually paid for yourself, your spouse and dependents (and for which you were not reimbursed) if you itemize your deductions on Form 1040.

You may deduct medical and dental expenses only in the year in which they are paid.

Deductible medical expenses include those incurred primarily for the prevention or alleviation of a physical or mental defect or illness. This includes amounts paid to physicians, surgeons, dentists, optometrists and other categories of practitioners.

Medical expenses include the cost of artificial teeth and limbs, eye glasses, hearing aids, crutches and other similar costs.

Transportation costs incurred in connection with medical treatment may be claimed as medical expenses. This does not include depreciation or insurance on your car, but does include amounts you pay for gasoline, oil, parking and for taxi, bus, train or plane fare. You may deduct 5 cents per mile for medical-related automobile costs, instead of detailing the various expenses.

You should attach an itemized list of the medical expenses you are deducting to your tax return.

Q: Who can use the short tax form?

A: Form 1040A, the small card tax form, may be used by persons whose income is less than $10,000, not more than $200 of which is earned from sources not reported on W-2 forms.

Q: Must I include all Form W-2's with my return?

A: If you worked for more than one employer during 1968, you should wait until you received a Form W-2 from each before you file your return. Do not file a new return for each W-2 you receive.

Q: What are the filing requirements for a person age 65 or older?

A: A person who is 65 or older on December 31 must file a return if his gross income was $1200 or more. If he had less than $1200 gross income he must file a return if he had self-employment income of $400 or more. He must file a return to secure any refund due him.

Q: Must I file a return if my gross income is less than $600?

A: Generally, no. However, you must file a return if you had $400 or more self-employment income, uncollected social security tax on tips, or had wages from which income tax was withheld.

Q: Who should file a joint return?

A: A joint return may be filed by a husband and wife who are both either U.S. Citizens or resident aliens at all times during the tax year. It is generally advantageous for a married couple to file a joint return. If they do, they figure their tax under a special tax schedule which in effect "splits" the income as though each had earned half of it, and the tax is computed at a rate applicable to each one-half of the income. This usually results in a tax saving.

However, if both a husband and wife have income, you should figure the tax both ways to make sure you are using the method that will result in a lesser tax.

Q: How do I compute my tax?

A: You may use either the tax tables or the tax rate schedules. Complete instructions are in the booklet sent with your tax return. Be sure you use the table or schedule for your particular filing status.

After you have determined your regular tax you must figure your tax surcharge. If your regular tax is less than $734, the amount of your surcharge is listed on the surcharge table included with your instruction booklet. If your regular tax is $734 or more, your surcharge is 7 1/2% of your regular tax. Your total tax liability is the sum of the regular tax and the surcharge.

Q: How do I qualify for Head of Household?

A: You must be unmarried or legally separated on the last day of your tax year and furnish over half the cost of maintaining a household for the entire year for at least one relative. Whether the relative must also qualify as your dependent and whether he or she must actually live in your household depends upon the relationship.

Q: How do I qualify as a surviving spouse?

A: To qualify as a surviving spouse and use the related lower tax rates, you must meet the following five requirements:

(1) Your husband or wife must have died within your two preceding tax years.

(2) You must have been entitled to file a joint return with your spouse for the year of death (whether you actually filed jointly is immaterial).

(3) You have not remarried.

(4) You have a child or stepchild who qualifies as your dependent, and

(5) You furnish over half the maintenance of your home, which is the principal abode of your dependent child or stepchild except for temporary absences.

Q: Are New Jersey gasoline and sales taxes deductible?

A: Yes. You can use either the exact amount spent for these taxes or use the tables in your instruction booklet. In New Jersey gasoline tax was 6 cents a gallon until June 30th and 7 cents a gallon since then.

Q: Are automobile license and driver's licenses deductible?

A: No, not in New Jersey.

Q: Is the New Jersey sales tax on automobiles deductible?

A: Yes. If you purchased a new car during 1968, you may add the sales tax paid to the sales tax figure from the tables.

Q: How do I claim my medical deduction?

A: You must file Form 1040 and itemize your deductions.

Q: Are utility taxes deductible?

A: Fees and charges such as water bills, sewerage and other service charges are not taxes and, therefore, not deductible.

Q: Are carrying charges deductible?

A: You may deduct that portion of carrying charges which are actually interest.

Q: When can I deduct 10 cents a mile for the use of my car?

A: If you use your car for business you may deduct 10 cents a mile for the first 15,000 miles of business use and 7 cents for each additional mile of business use. You must maintain adequate records to establish actual business mileage. Estimates are not acceptable.

Q: Are contributions deductible?

A: If you itemize your deductions you may deduct contributions made to qualifying organizations.

Q: Can I deduct alimony payments?

A: If you are divorced or legally separated from your wife and are making periodic payments of alimony or separate maintenance under a court decree, you can deduct these amounts. Such payments must be included in her income.

You cannot deduct any voluntary payments not made under a court order or a written separation agreement or lump-sum settlements.

Q: Are child support payments considered income?

A: Payments which have been specifically designated by the terms of a decree of divorce or separate maintenance, a written separation agreement, or a decree for support as support for minor children are neither income to the wife, nor deductible to the husband. This is true even if payments are made through a probation officer.

Q: Are New Jersey taxes on cigarettes and liquor deductible?

A: No.

Q: Is commuting expense to and from work deductible?

A: No.

Q: Must interest be reported as income?

A: Interest income received by you or which is credited to your account is taxable unless it is specifically exempt from tax.

Q: Are social security benefits taxable?

A: No.

Q: Is sick pay taxable?

A: You may exclude a limited amount of sick pay from your gross income if you are absent from work because of sickness or injury, you were paid for the time you were absent and you were absent longer than your waiting period. Complete instructions are in Publication 522, which is free from your local IRS office.

Q: Is the $3.00 I pay each month for supplementing Medicare deductible?

A: Yes it is deductible as medical insurance. Read the instructions carefully.

Q: Can I file a joint return even if my spouse had no income?

A: Yes. If you are the only wage earner, your tax will be lower if you file a joint return.

Q: Must a child's earnings be reported?

A: A minor is subject to tax on his own earnings even though the parent may, under local law have the right to it and might actually have received the money. His income is never included in his parent's return. However, a minor must file a return if he has gross income of $600 or more during the year. He must also file a return to secure any refund due.

Stadium Opener Next Tuesday

Yankees Come Home!

A GREAT FAN — Even a coach has fans, Elston Howard (right) is finding out at an evening get-together of ballplayers. Mrs. Lillian Schwartz, secretary and assistant treasurer of the N.J. Turnpike Authority, discusses baseball (possibly "road trips") with Elston and pitcher Al Downing. Mrs. Schwartz, incidentally was the guest of honor this past Tuesday night at the Brunswick Inn where she was cited for her 20 years' service with the Turnpike Authority.

YOGI BERRA — No longer a Yankee but still a New Yorker as coach of the Mets, Yogi still is one of the most popular men in baseball. Yogi, who resides in neighboring Montclair, is frequently called to the sidelines by youngsters' seeking autographs as seen here when the Mets visited the Yankee spring training site in Fort Lauderdale.

Inside The Dugout

The talk is enthusiastic and nearly always ends up with the old pros telling the young, speedy New York team that "we've got a crack at the pennant in '69."

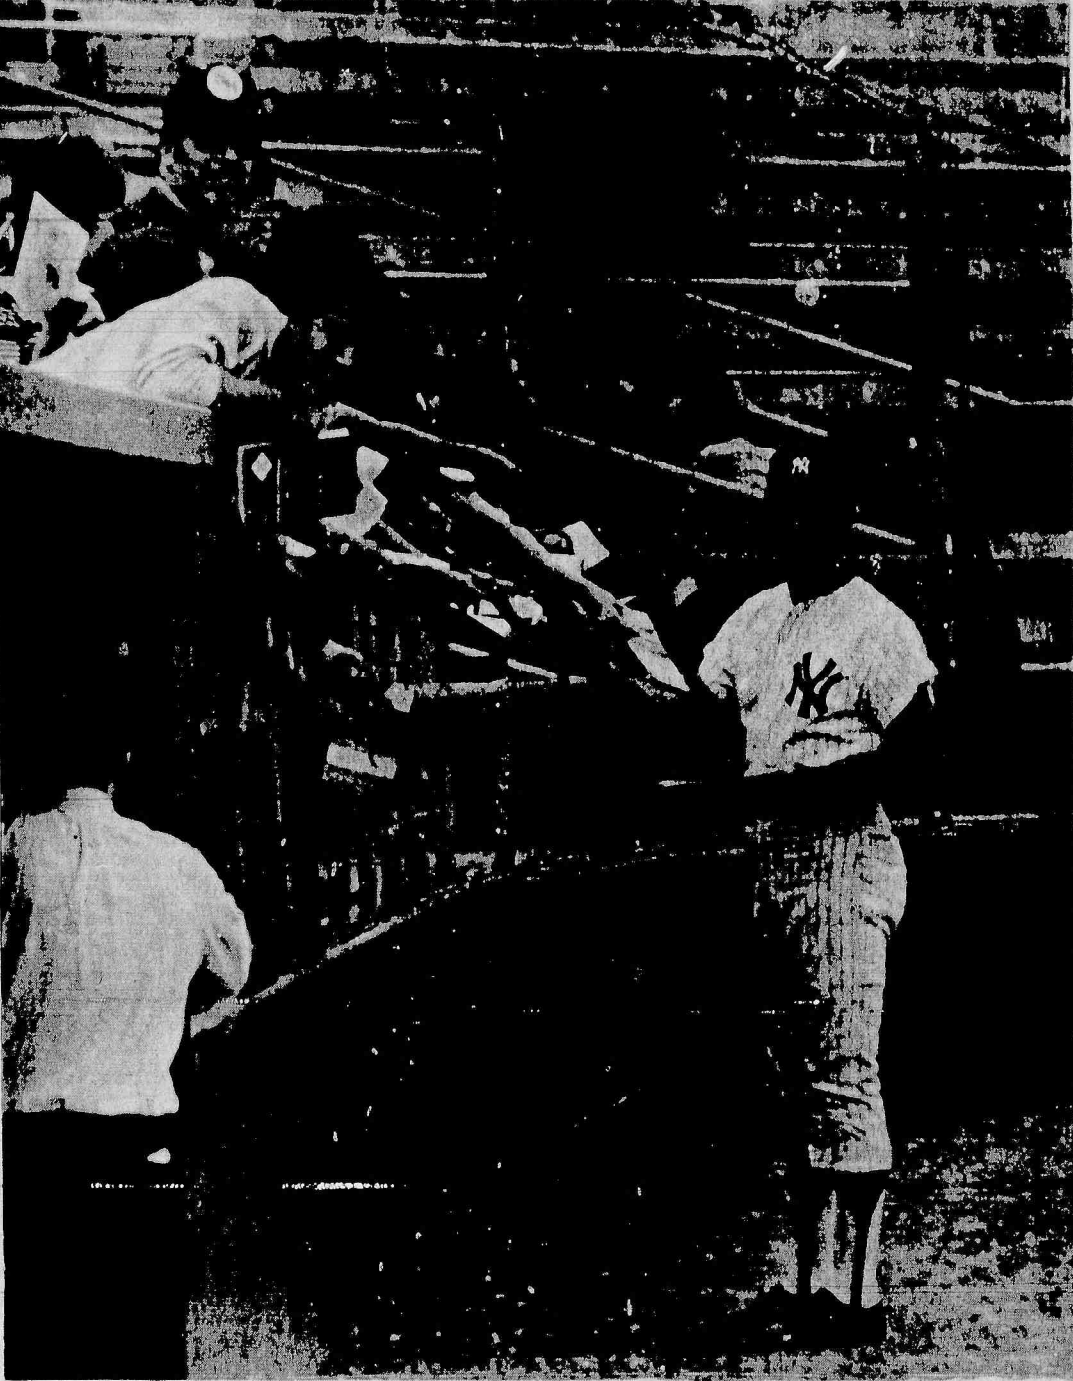

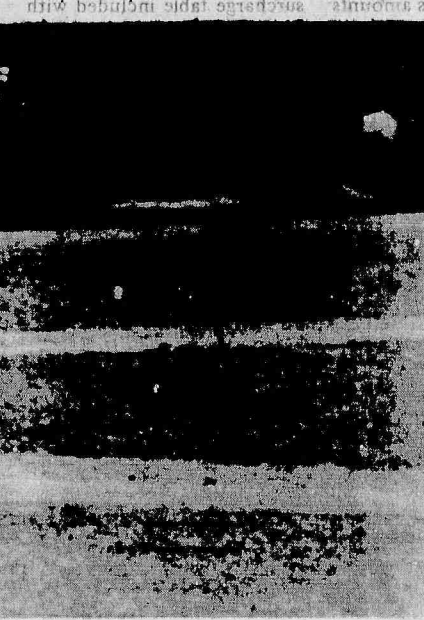

The Yankees completed a great spring schedule in Florida and got off to a good start in Washington, D.C. Monday where Mel Stottlemyre pitched his teammates to an opening day victory over the Senators. Mel, who found that living in Nutley last year brought in a little luck - enough to produce 21 wins for the 1968 season went all the way for the opening win against Washington.

Figuring in a big way behind the scenes this season is Elston Howard who returns "home" as first base coach. Elston, who three years ago became involved in a new business - a travel in Nutley - is still a little hesitant to compare his latest challenge of coaching to being one of men in the starting lineup.

"We've got a lot of young fellows on this ball team," Ellie said just before his trip north last week. "We're going to be a fast club and a strong one in our division. But being a coach with a young team is far from being easy - it's been a real challenge."

Another one of the older pros - outfielder Tom Tresh, kidded newcomer Don Nottebart who played with Hawaii last season. Tresh was acting overconfident while waiting for a Florida shower to stop (it never did) and said quite firmly that "Notty" would pitch the Yanks to a World Championship. Nottebart missed the rib: he was too serious for that - and it was that kind of serious approach that sparked the Yanks to its wide win-loss spread this spring.

The Yanks come home open the season at the Stadium next Tuesday when the Senators repay the visit made by New York last week. After three games with the Senators, the Yanks host the Tigers for a weekend stint - and then its on to what that "remolded young ball club" hope will be an American League penant and a World Championship.

HEY, JOE — Back at first base for the Yanks this year is Joseph Anthony Pepitone. Joe knows the position well as he held down the initial sack in 1963 through 1966. When Mickey Mantle came in from the outfield in 1967, Pepitone exchanged spots. Probably the most popular Yankee player today, Joe's fans in Fort Lauderdale press him for autographs.

Yesterday's Players Today...

ELSTON HOWARD — The Yanks' new coach keeps in shape during batting practice - and occasionally catches in the pre-game warm ups. Elston, a resident of Teaneck, operates the Elston Howard Travel Service in Nutley.

TRIBUTE — Bobby Richardson (left), a great Yankee infielder from New York's championship years, returned to Fort Lauderdale to deliver a memorial pre-game tribute to the late Dwight D. Eisenhower. Richardson is a lay minister and when while an active player, he frequently conducted Sunday morning services for his teammates who missed church because of the early practice schedules for the weekend games. Bobby poses here with Len Boehmer, rookie first baseman who played at Syracuse last season.

Montclair State Rolling After Florida Trip

BELLEVILLE BOY — Rich San Fillipo, of Belleville is pictured here with Montclair State baseball Coach Bill Dioguardi in Florida where the team was preparing for the season which is still an undefeated one for them.

MONTCLAIR BASEBALL — It is progressing well. After a pre-season warm-up in Florida, Coach Bill Dioguardi and his boys have won their first game of the season. Here with the coach are John Grzymko, Ken Inglis of Nutley, Fred Keimel, and Pete Jeraulds, at their Florida training grounds at Miami Dade Junior College.

NUTLEY BOY — Ken Inglis, former Nutley High School star, is picture here with his Montclair State Coach, Bill Dioguardi, at Miami Dade Junior College in Florida where the team had a pre-season workout.

Pachysandra May Need Spray To Control Euonymus Scale

Many homeowners grow pachysandra as a ground cover around foundation plantings. Frequently, pachysandra becomes infested with euonymus scale says Mr. John J. Kupcho, County Agricultural Agent of Essex County. The scales encrust the stems and lower leaf surface and cause leaves to turn yellow and drop. Heavy infestations make the plants die back.

Female scales are dark brown and about one-sixteenth of an inch long. The males are smaller and pure white. Stems and leaves may be entirely covered with white males with only a few brown females present.

The best time to control euonymus scale is during mid to late April with a dormant oil spray. Thorough spray coverage of the stems and lower leaf surfaces with a dormant oil spray is necessary for adequate control. During late May and early June and again in late August apply malathion or Cygon or Meta-Systox-R for additional control.

Public Debt Limit Raised To Make Fiscal Soundness

Whether it serves as a summons for fiscal soundness in government, or is merely "an exercise in futility," Congress again has gone through the process of raising the national debt limit.

In 1917 the Liberty Bond Act set the first basic debt ceiling at $7 1/2 billion. Through numerous enactments since then, the "permanent" debt ceiling had risen to $358 billion, plus a temporary $7 billion extension prior to the latest action. The new legislation places the "permanent" ceiling at $365 billion with a "Temporary" additional allowance of $12 billion, raising the overall debt limitation to $377 billion through the fiscal year ending June, 1970.

Camping Buff Presents Practical Demonstration

Eric Hulme, of 122 Bell Street, Belleville, gave a program of colored slides of a camping trip to Cape Hatteras at the Bloomfield Public Library yesterday.

Hulme, an expert camper, also gave a practical demonstration of camping using a trailer camper, a truck camper, a camp wagon and a tent trailer, all of which were open for inspection outside the library.

The Hulmes are members of the Friends of the Library. As head carpenter, he spent many months in construction of the new Bloomfield library adult building. Hulme has traveled extensively. Many will remember his excellent slide program of trips to Switzerland, Germany and Italy. He purchased at the 1965 World's Fair a Chrysler camper which had been seen and inspected by ten million viewers.

At the library program a typical camping scene consisting of a simulated wood fire, sleeping bag, gasoline lantern, folding cot, and all the things necessary for creature comforts on a camping trip were on display.

Chinnock Family Welcomes Member of New Generation

Chester Chinnock, of 173 Cedar Hill Avenue, Belleville, one of the town's oldest residents, is proud to announce the birth of a member of the fourth generation bearing his name. Chinnock has resided in Belleville 76 years. The newest member is Tomas Chinnock, born to Lt. Edward Chinnock, U.S. Air Force, and his wife.

Chester Chinnock can remember the days when Belleville was a little village. St. Peter's church was a small wooden structure and Main Street was the shopping center with its little frame post office and all the stores used oil for light.

The late Mrs. Chinnock was a resident of Belleville for 62 years. The couple celebrated their 50th anniversary in 1958. Their son Lawrence of Crescent Terrace has also resided in the town for 61 years. Their other son, Gilbert, a retired Air Force colonel, is living in Fairborn, Ohio.

WELCOME ADDITION — Thomas Chinnock, newest member of the Chinnock clan, is held by his grandfather, retired colonel Gilbert Chinnock, as the baby's father, Air Force Lt. R. Edward Chinnock, and his great-grandfather, Chester Chinnock, stand by. The elder Chinnock has been a Belleville resident for 76 years.

Creativity In Children, Adults Can Be Expanded, Developed

Creativity in children and adults can be developed. It is not something that we are "born with" and, thereby, have in limited amounts.

You become more creative by being aware of your environment. By teaching children this awareness early in life, benefits will be gained throughout the lifetime.

To help a child be more aware of his environment, the parent or teacher must learn to be more sensitive to his own environment. A good thing to remember is to let the child see things as they apply to his world, not as they apply to the adult world. Our adult experiences limit our thinking. A child, having fewer experiences, is unlimited.

A simple test for a pre-schooler is to have him identify his breakfast juice without looking. Another one is to give him practice with taste and texture would be to give him a raw vegetable and then the same vegetable again cooked. Don't ask just, "What is it?" Ask how the taste differs, how texture differs? These things will make your child aware of changes within his living pattern.

Another good game for pre-school children is one where a common object is placed in a bag and the child must identify it by placing his hand inside the bag, but not looking. Be sure to gear the objects in the bag to the child's age level.

Going on a slow walk around the neighborhood will be a good exercise for you and your child in seeing and hearing familiar sights and sounds. Don't do this when you must be in a hurry. You will have to "stop and listen" many times to make the venture worthwhile.

These simple things are very important ways to help children develop their awareness. Children and adults who use their senses to the fullest are able to get much more out of living.

For information on Home Economics Extension Service activities please write Mrs. Janet Spong, County Home Economist, Essex County Extension Service, 25 Thirteenth Avenue, Newark 07103 or call 642-7800, Extension 421.

Baker-Stelker Nuptials Are Held In Cedar Grove

Miss Elizabeth I. Stelker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Stelker of 98 Tappan Avenue and Arthur G. Baker, son of Mrs. Ella Groves of Adams, Massachusetts, exchanged wedding vows March 16 in Community Church, Cedar Grove.

The ceremony, performed by the Rev. Dr. Loesch, was followed by a reception at Nestor's, Singac.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of silk organza with a front panel of tiny tucks from neckline to hem trimmed with embroidered flowers. The gown was fashioned with a semi-empire waist, long sleeves and detachable train.

A Barby headpiece of lace, seed pearls and crystal drops, held her illusion veil and she carried a cascade of white orchids, stephanotis and springerli fern.

Miss Dorcas Baker of West Caldwell was maid of honor. Bridesmaids included Mrs. Marylou Dronke of Belleville and Mrs. Eleanor Stelker of Westfield.

The attendants were in gowns of turquoise linen with long sleeves and semi-empire waists. Headpieces of turquoise flowers held short veils.

The honor attendant carried a crescent shaped bouquet of white carnations tipped turquoise, yellow rosebuds and fern while the other had bouquets of yellow carnations and fern.

Joseph H. Stelker of Westfield served as best man. Ushering were William Johnson and Robert Sawyer of Cedar Grove.

Mrs. Stelker chose a shell pink linen dress with matching accessories for her daughter's wedding. Her corsage was of white orchids.

Mrs. Baker, a graduate of Barringer High School, Newark and Burrough's Business School, Newark, is with Mutual Life Insurance of New York.

Mr. Baker, an alumnus of

Mrs. Arthur Baker-nee Elizabeth Stelker

Northeastern University, Massachusetts, served two years in the Army and is with Mutual Fire Insurance Association, Peabody, Massachusetts.

Mow, Rake Before Grass Has Grown

Looking for a way to help turn your lawn green sooner this spring? If so, you can put your lawn mower and rake to good use now.

Many lawns are covered with a brown mat of dead leaf tissue from last year's growth, particularly if the lawn was dense and cut high. The drab brown appearance of lawns this winter has been more pronounced than usual as a result of the absence of snow cover and periods of cold weather.

Removal of this brown mat now before the grass makes any appreciable growth will be helpful in providing a green lawn quicker this spring, advises John J. Kupcho, County Agricultural Agent of Essex County.

An easy way to remove the dead mat is to mow your lawn with the lawn mower set close — from three-quarters of an inch to an inch. It is safe to mow at this height as long as the grass has not grown much and you return the height of cut on the mower to cut no closer than 1 1/4 inches when the mower season starts. After mowing, rake up or sweep with a mechanical sweeper to remove the clippings and discard.

Even though your neighbor may think you are suffering from some emotional condition by mowing your lawn at this time of the year, you both will be surprised to note how much sooner it will develop into a green lawn than one which has not received this treatment, Mr. Kupcho says.

Aid To Ecumenism

Mary Is Subject Of Social Lecture

Mrs. Joseph Domas of Hasbrouck Heights will be the speaker at the Spring Social of St. Mary's Rosary Society to be held Monday, April 14 in St. Mary's School Auditorium.

Mrs. Domas believes that bringing Mary into sharper focus in American Life advances interfaith understanding. Her talk will be entitled "Mary's Aid to Ecumenism."

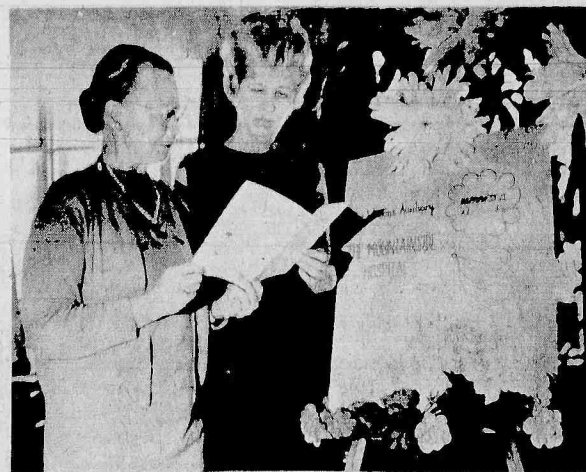

It is Mrs. Domas view that a deeper appreciation of the universality of honor given to Mary would smooth ecumenical relations. She gives about 30 lectures a year. Her audiences have included not only Catholic Groups but Protestant Organizations, inmates at a Federal penitentiary and a group of U.S. Marines.

The 61 year old grandmother has completed 5 years of work on a picture documentary, "Mary U. S. A.," showing through 400 pictures, maps, drawings and documents the devotion to Mary as seen against a background of nearly five centuries of American History. All 50 States are covered in her study of Mary in the nations past.

It is significant that much of the Marian material she has collected in her research is not Catholic in origin.

Mrs. Domas talents as a researcher were developed when she was secretary-librarian at Yale University before her marriage. It was during that period that she began to pursue her interest in religious art seriously. Mrs. Domas will bring to the Social her 17 piece exhibit of painting reproductions (in color) of "The Life of Mary in Art."

Mrs. E. Donald Harrison is chairman of the Social. Her co-chairman are: Mrs. Paul Harrison, Mrs. William Reeves, Mrs. Peter Delahunt and Mrs. William Lynch.

WCBS Set To Sponsor Annual Childrens Awards

For the second year, WCBS-TV will conduct its highly successful Children's Art Awards, for which children from the tri-state area can submit paintings or drawings of their impressions of the world around them. Last year, more than 5,000 colorful entries were received, and a number of them exhibited during Channel 2 station breaks, as will be done this year.

The Flagship Now Featuring Tony Martin

The Flagship supper club, route 22, Union, announced the engagement of the legendary Tony Martin for a Friday and Saturday show, April 11-12. The Big T, as Tony is known to his show business friends, plays Larry Dixon's showplace for the first time but one can wager it will not be the last. To list Tony's show business credits is almost an effort. What height in show business has he failed to attain? Tony has been a headliner for over 25 years and has been a success in every field.

As a motion picture star, he appeared in over 20 pictures including, "Casbah," "Show Boat," "Til the Clouds Roll by," "Here Come the Girls," "Easy to Love" and "Hit The Deck." As a recording artist, Tony has one of the biggest collections of gold records in the business. Some of his million sellers are "I Get Ideas," "To Each His Own," "There's No Tomorrow" and "Begin The Beguine." But it is as a night club performer that Martin has gained his international reputation. Holder of attendance records at night clubs all over the United States and Europe, Tony has proved that he is a great showman.

Comedian Morty Storm, who takes a room by his last name, will provide the laughs and provide he does. One of the funniest comics in show business, Tony Martin roared at his comedy and, signed Morty as his traveling "running mate". The two make for one of the most entertaining evenings in the world of show business.

ment, Alan P. Sloan, Vice President, General Manager of WCBS-TV, said: "The tremendous response, first by children and art teachers, and then by the Channel 2 audience, indicated to us that the 1968 Children's Art Awards enjoyed a most gratifying acceptance and involvement by the community. Last year, we were delighted to receive many entries from public, private and parochial schools and are sure that this year will be even bigger."

"We are grateful to all of them and to the New York City Board of Education for again enlisting the help of public schools in the City. This year, we are pleased to have also the cooperation of such civic organizations as the Police Athletic League. We are hopeful that again we will have entries from schools within the entire WCBS-TV viewing area in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut."

All children from kindergarten age to the sixth grade are eligible to enter through their art teachers who will forward the best of their classes to the station by April 15 for final judging by a panel whose members will be announced later. The decision of the judges will be final and all entries will become the property of WCBS-TV.

Many of last year's selected entries were exhibited throughout the City, including at MUSE, the Bedford-Lincoln Neighborhood Museum in Brooklyn.

The 1969 WCBS-TV Children's Art Awards will again be conducted under the supervision of George Dessart, the station's Director of Community Services.

Cherry Parade Pleased

Many People Lined Avenue

The annual Cherry Blossom Parade moved down Washington Avenue Sunday afternoon while hundreds of anxious youngsters and parents watched from behind police barricades.

The parade was a prelude to the Miss Belleville pageant which is scheduled for April 26. The ten finalists in the pageant rode in individual cars during the parade.

Also on hand for the parade were the Imperial Guardsmen of Livingston who won last years parade trophy, in addition to numerous floats, clowns and a special added attraction, a chinese dragon.

The parade began at 3 p.m. at Greylock Parkway and Washington Avenue and proceeded down Washington Avenue to William Street. The reviewing stand as usual was in front of the town hall with a host of dignitaries on hand.

The parade, broken up into ten divisions, was as follows: First division: Belleville Fire Department, the Gold Hatters of Nutley American Legion Post 70, Belleville Board of Education, Belleville High School Band & Twirlers, Jaycee contingent with New Jersey State Jaycee president Dennis O'Shea and Belleville Jaycee president Robert Murray, the Jaycee float with Miss Carol Jean Cornish, Miss Belleville 1968, and her court of honor, antique car, and finalist Miss Marguerite Kennedy.

Unfit Structure Demolition Provided Under New Law

Under a new town ordinance adopted after a public hearing at which no one spoke for or against the measure on Monday night, all buildings which are deemed "unfit for human habitation" will be either repaired or demolished.

Previously a similar ruling on demolitions was contained in the health code, but the new ordinance now places the responsibility for enforcement of the law on Building Inspector, Vincent Mustacchio.

The new law provides for the removal or demolition of dwellings within the town limits which are ruled unfit. Commercial structures are also specified in the ordinance.

With the law, the town is empowered to order the demolition of buildings found to be "dangerous to health or life," or "hazardous as fire traps."

Whenever a petition is now filed concerning an alleged violation of the law, Mustacchio will conduct an investigation.

If, after the investigation, Mustacchio finds that there is some basis for the charges, he will issue a complaint and ask for a hearing of all parties within 30 days.

After the hearing, if he still feels that any structure is unfit, he will state in writing his findings and will then serve on the owners an order demanding either the repair or demolition of the building in question.

If the owner fails to comply with the order to repair or demolish the structure, the building inspector will then be able to cause the work to be done and the cost will be assessed against the owner in the form of a lien against the real property upon which such cost was incurred.

An ordinance which prohibits the erection of any coin-operated milk vending machines in the town of Belleville was also passed at the Monday night half-hour meeting.

Another ordinance was introduced which would have an effect on Ralph Risoli's status as Registrar of Vital Statistics.

Risoli has been employed by the town for 11 years and he has progressed as far as he can in regards to his maximum salary.

Strumolo Gets Program To Control Area Rodents

Rodent control is where the Health Department of the town of Belleville is putting its stress these days, thanks to $1,500 in state aid which is part of a $17,500 assistance package.

This year's practical application of rodent control grows out of a survey which the health department conducted last summer on rodents in the town.

Commissioner Vincent Strumolo, with the aid of his two sanitary inspectors, Joseph Morino and Herbert Mercurio, has hired an exterminator, Sam Cifrodillo, to control the rodents which live in the bogs and on the river banks in Belleville.

Cifrodillo is using two means to attain the desired result. One is the employment of a syno gas pump which he places in holes where rodents are suspected to be living. The effect on any rodent living in the hole is immediate and lethal, yet the area is safe immediately after the gas dissipates.

The other means of control

Police Take Local Man

Nutley Detective Al Ciccone should visit his friends more often in Wayne Township. He visited the Passaic County town Monday afternoon, spotted a couple he had once arrested before — and before much time elapsed, Ciccone and two Wayne detectives apprehended a Belleville man and his girlfriend at gunpoint.

Ciccone's visit to Wayne Tuesday started around noon Monday when he first spotted a vehicle operated by a female with a male passenger. Ciccone recognized the male as Samuel A. Harvey, 26, of 6 (Continued on Page 2)

Hospital Ground Breaking Begins 150-Bed Project

Ground was officially broken on April 14, marking the beginning of construction on the Clara Maass Memorial Hospital new 150-bed Extended Care Unit.

The new facility costing better than $4 million has been designed for ambulatory patients who are in convalescence. This is the only hospital in Essex County with extended care facilities on the premises utilizing existing dietary, physical therapy, laboratory and x-ray without duplication.

Each floor will have separate dining, reading and television rooms and individual bedrooms that will be larger than those within the main hospital in order to accommodate home simulated furniture.

Included in the design is attractive floor carpeting throughout.

Financing on the construction project has been made possible by a grant of $927,000 from Hill Burton Grant, contribution from the 500 member Medical Staff, Business and Industry, and a loan of $1,500,000.

New Boathouse Dedicated Saturday

Years of hard work and dedication reached a climax April 12 for the Nutley-Belleville Rowing Association, as it officially presented its new boathouse to the towns of Belleville, Nutley and Kearny at a ceremony on the Passaic River site.

Mayor Joseph Healy of Kearny conducted the ceremony that included a presentation of keys to the three presidents of the boards of education. The keys will gain entrance to a $42,000 boathouse that was built at the Rowing Association's time and expense.

Mayor Healy welcomed a good size crowd to the Kearny dedication, pointing out that since much of the dirt fill used around the boathouse came from (Continued on Page 2)

Belleville and Nutley, "It is almost like it was built on Nutley and Belleville soil."
President of the Association, Dr. Sidney Rogoff, presented keys to the boards of education of the three towns, marking the official change in ownership. Following the presentation of the keys, Seymour Grossman accepted a plaque from Mrs. William Chapman in memory of her husband, a past president of the Association.

Ernest Arvidson gave a brief history of the association, recalling the men who have served the project since its inception. Arvidson said in an interview later that "In my opinion the most outstanding fact demonstrated here is the spirit of cooperation of the people of Belleville, Kearny and Nutley, that has made it possible for boys in the three towns to continue enjoying the sport." Built at a cost of approximately $63,000, the boathouse is large enough to accommodate 300 oarsmen.

There are two parts to the house, one being for the shells and the other a three room set-up with 100 lockers per room and ample modern shower facilities for the crews. The house also contains a private coaches room.

Division Avenue, Belleville. Harvey recently was released from prison, has been arrested in Nutley and is currently wanted by police in Ciccone's town.
A few minutes later, Ciccone saw the car again, but this time without the male occupant. Ciccone telephoned Det. Sgt. Raymond Honeywell, head of the Wayne Detective Bureau. Honeywell and Wayne Detective Donald Pavlak responded to the scene in the neighborhood of Leonard Place.

The car reappeared again. Ciccone stopped the car and kept the girl talking while Youngman and Pavlak quickly checked unoccupied homes in the neighborhood. Youngman was in the rear yard of the home of John Ferraro at 65 Leonard

Terrace when Harvey ran out the rear door. Youngman fired one warning shot and persuaded Harvey to the front of the house where he was apprehended at gunpoint by Pavlak.

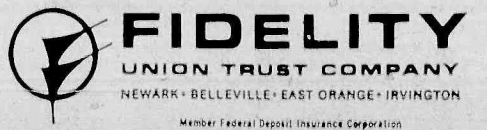

The car, owned by Harvey, was driven by a girlfriend, Marie Roblow, 21.

What Price GOP Peace?

The Essex County Republican family dispute seems to be about over - at least temporarily. The Intile Organization Republicans and the Reform Republicans split up a little pie, passing out a few choice plums to the faithful.

Even that paragon of political virtue, Anthony "Toto" Cuozzo, Newark's North Ward GOP leader got himself appointed to the Mosquito Commission. How about that for snaring one!

We understood the original thrust of the Reform Republican movement was to change the party's political leadership. With that goal we completely agreed.

Nothing thus far disclosed by either side would indicate the accomplishment of this REFORM objective. Then why peace? We have been told the importance of the pending gubernatorial election requires party factions all over the state to bury the hatchet in order to stand a chance to win in November.

There is no doubt capturing the governorship would prove a boon to Jersey Republicans who have not known what it is to have GOP power in the state house since former Governor Alfred E. Driscoll retired in 1953.

We would be among the first in line to urge both factions to sit at the conference table and produce a peace pact. However if "REFORM" compromised its integrity to achieve peace, it gave away its birthright - and the cheap price paid for a spring peace can prove disastrous in the fall election.

Religion's Task Today

By Rabbi Solomon Herbst

A recent Gallup Poll indicated that 53% say churches and synagogues should avoid involvement in political and social issues, while 43% feel they should speak out. Significantly, the poll showed a sharp change since 1957, when public opinion slightly favored the expression of views by religious leaders on public questions. No doubt the civil rights revolution and the Vietnam war have intensified debate over the role of religion respecting moral issues.

Personally, I feel strongly that religious leaders of all faiths should take a stand on questions which concern the moral posture of the nation. I believe that religion is related to life. Simply to bring comfort to people in personal trouble, important as that pastoral role may be, is not enough. Nor is it the sole responsibility of religious institutions to preserve and defend the faith through ceremony and rite. This robe too is important and necessary.

However, for these times, I believe an inescapable role of the religious leaders is to stand four-square behind the prophetic emphasis on justice and peace. Through the pulpit, through teaching, through community involvement and civic leadership, the religious leaders of all faiths have a responsibility to lend their influence in building a better society.

Here, Judaism has an especial relevance. Our tradition of universalism is saturated with ethical imperatives for better race relations, for fair dealings with our neighbors, for justice and compassion, for peace between men and nations. Applying that tradition to modern problems puts religion into action and brings the message of Amos and Isaiah closer to our time.

In his fine Inaugural Address, President Richard Nixon properly assessed the crisis that besets the American people today. He made it unmistakably clear that we are not faced by a political or social crisis of great dimensions, but that the dilemma of today has as its root cause, a crisis that is of spiritual nature. He also stressed the fact that gigantic technological achievements cannot erase the spiritual dilemma that Americans of all faiths and ethnic groups are facing today. For this dilemma has to do with the individual, his emotions, and his spiritual outlook.

In such a critical time when we need the unity of all people, the potential of the combined forces of religion is tremendous. When Catholics, Protestants and Jewish leaders unite in a common cause for a better community, nation and world, brotherhood on an international scale becomes a reality.

Life On Mars

A recent discovery, the first "absolutely conclusive proof" that water exists in the atmosphere of Mars, is of major significance. Some scientists believe it demolishes the theory that no life could exist on the planet.

Astronomers at the McDonald Laboratory (University of Texas) made the positive identification of water vapor. They also confirmed a movement of water vapor from the Martian pole.

This means it might be possible that vegetation exists, even though astronomers believe the amount of water vapor is relatively low. And if vegetation and water are present on Mars, there's a good possibility some form of life has developed also. Thus the coming years - and U.S. space vehicle visits to Mars - might well bring us greater surprises than scientists had anticipated in recent decades.

Post Office Patronage

The announcement from President Nixon that the old system of awarding postmasterships on the advice and recommendations of Congressmen will be ended is constructive. There is no reason why the post office, now one of the biggest businesses in the country, should be run by political appointees.

The Cabinet office of Postmaster General has long been a political plum. In addition, there are a number of high-level jobs in the department which have traditionally been parceled out to political workers as rewards for past services. And Congressmen and Senators from the various states have used their own systems in deciding whom to recommend to the President for appointment on the postmaster level.

Since the Post Office is annually in the red and since its problems are growing and will continue to grow and since both expert administration and professional planning and supervision of the department's activities are in the public interest, Mr. Nixon's reform is gratifying.

Resisting the temptation to continue a system that would enable him to pass out political plums, the President has acted in the interest of the department and the American public and one hopes successors will follow his example.

Ending The Draft

Nine Senators recently introduced a bill to end the draft-and among them was Senator Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz). There has been growing sentiment in recent years in favor of discontinuing the draft and it seems likely that, in some way, this will be done.

President Richard Nixon favors ending the draft when the war in Vietnam ends and other leading figures on the Washington scene believe the draft has served its purpose.

Since only about fifteen per cent of the enlisted men now in service (of a total of 3,500,000 officers and men in uniform) are draftees, one can readily see that ending the draft in peacetime is feasible.

Universal military service, or some form of service to one's country, for boys and girls, would be preferable to proposals to greatly hike military pay to attract volunteers. One proposal to raise the pay of enlisted men by $100, would cost the nation between three and four billions immediately.

Money is not the only attraction to obtain volunteers. If the services bettered living and working conditions, if tax allowances and other privileges and services were extended, and if men and women originally rejected for minor physical defects were utilized, it might be found that the draft would die a completely natural death, and that volunteers would fill the nation's needs.

Cig Sucking Down

One of the most welcomed reports in years was a recent one from the Department of Agriculture showing that cigarette smoking has at last taken a downward turn in the United States. Not only is per capita consumption in 1968 down but total consumption is down, even though the population increased by over 2,000,000.

Even better news is the fact that teenage smoking has now begun a decline. One reason is undoubtedly the current television campaign by the Public Health Service. Another is widespread newspaper publicity given government reports pointing to the health and death hazard in cigarette smoking. Both educational efforts should be continued and enlarged.

Our Neighbors Tell About Cherry Festival

By Nathan Gottlieb

QUESTION: As a veteran observer of Belleville's cherry-blossoms, how spectacular do you predict this month's display will be?

WHERE ASKED: Among the budding cherry trees in Branch Brook Park.

Don Shaughnessy, 150 Carpenter Street, Belleville -

The festival has always been very beautiful. I grew up in this area, and the blossoms have been a sight to see in full bloom. Everyone comes to Belleville when the Cherry Blossom Festival is at its peak. It's a day for picture taking. When the cherry blossoms are out you take the kids and shoot pictures. I've still have some pictures that were taken at the festival when I was a kid. I've lived in Belleville 40 years and I can remember at least 25 or 30 years of blossoming. People come from all over to see these things. They're really beautiful.

Mr. Shaughnessy

Joseph Luciano, 64 Franklin Street, Belleville -

To me it's always big and I feel it will be bigger this year. I've been in Belleville 34 years and have been to the festival since I was a kid. I see a lot of out of state plates at this festival. We take many pictures. The kids like the festival very much. It's nice scenery for pictures. Many brides come here to take their pictures instead of in a studio. There's actually one word to describe the festival, and that is "beautiful."

Angela Montalbano, 226 New Street, Belleville -

I like to go to the festival and just walk around. I take pictures every year and save them. It will be bigger and greater than ever this year. I go with my girl friends and boy friends and we all enjoy it. The cherry blossoms are pink and beautiful and I really dig seeing them. The festival is always good each year. My mother and father come to see it each year. There are always all kinds of artists who come and do their thing. I can only say they're really beautiful to see.

Miss Montalbano

Robert Levereth, 43 Parkside Drive, Belleville -

It's been a great festival each year. We've got less publicity than Washington, but I think ours is better. I've been to the cherry blossom festival in Washington and we compare very well.

Mr. Levereth

Sandman Contemplates Eisenhower Thoughts

On March 28 one of the most respected and beloved men of all time passed from this world, but his deeds of good and his sound thinking will live with the United States of America forever.

He was Dwight David Eisenhower, our soldier-statesman who served as the 34th President of the United States. In his passing our nation lost the services of a senior statesman whose sound counsel could be used in this critical period for not only the United States of America but the world in general.

While not an orator who threw flamboyant phrases and promises to the four winds in an effort to lull people or gain their votes, President Eisenhower spoke sense.

We all should implant deeply in our minds some of the advice he gave us. There are some examples of the common sense thinking that was a deep part of Dwight Eisenhower, and all of it can be applied to the present era:

"Our country and its government have made mistakes - human mistakes. They have been of the head, not of the heart. And it is still true that the great concept of the dignity of all men, alike created in the image of the Almighty, has been the compass by which we have tried and are trying to steer our course." Jan. 10, 1957.

"I for one refuse to become pessimistic about America's future. Granted that storm signals are up, I believe nevertheless that we as a people have the good sense to place patriotism and human understanding above the arrogance of personal prejudice-and that we can and will solve peacefully the problems that beset us. I believe that we will do so through our traditional reliance upon the philosophy of moderation-or Government by Common Sense." April, 1969.

"Realizing that common sense and common decency alike dictate the futility of appeasement, we shall never try to placate an aggressor by the false and wicked bargain of trading honor for security. Americans, indeed all free men, remember that in the final choice a soldier's pack is not so heavy a burden as a prisoner's chains." January 20, 1953.

"The final battle against intolerance is to be fought - not in the chambers of any legislature - but in the hearts of men." Oct. 19, 1956.

"As long as the Communist empire continues to seek world domination, we shall have to face threats to the peace, of varying character and location. We have lived and will continue to live in a period where emergencies manufactured by the Soviets follow one another like beads on a string." March 16, 1959.

"When you have a just and reasonable cause, protest all you wish, but remember that there can and should be order and decency in democratic protest. Stand up and be counted when troublemakers try to rob you of your right to an education. If it becomes necessary for the forces of law and order to move in and quell such disturbances, give them your support. For freedom, after all, is nothing more than the right of self-discipline, and when self-discipline is absent the law must take a hand. This is the only way in which freedom can survive." April, 1969.

"I picture the road ahead of us as a broad, one-way highway of progress. Its width is great enough to accommodate all reasonable citizens, from the moderate conservative to the moderate liberal. They are the people who get things done. Off on the shoulders of the road, sometimes spilling down into the gutters, are the extremists of the far left and the far right. They are the people who cause most of the trouble in this world." April, 1969.

"Without God, there could be no American form of government, nor an American way of life. Recognition of the Supreme Being is the first--the most basic-expression of Americanism. Thus, the founding fathers of America saw it--and thus, with God's help, it will continue to be." February 27, 1955.

"The best answer for too much government in Washington is better government at home." December 9, 1964.

"No matter how much intellectual luggage we carry around in our heads, it becomes valuable only if we know how to use the information--only if we are able to relate one fact of a problem to the others do we truly understand them." April 4, 1959.

"In a half century of national service, I have yet to meet the American military officer who viewed himself as a budding Napoleon, or even a Rasputin, and I suggest it is worthy of note that in recent world history the three major dictators, Hitler, Mussolini and Stalin, came from civil life." January 23, 1962.

"We cannot ... face the future simply by walking into the past backwards." September 19, 1956.

By John McCarthy

The Belleville High School Varsity Crew Team has made the best start of any of Belleville's Varsity Spring sports teams. Coach Mike Lally's oarsmen picked up a dual win Saturday over Poughkeepsie and Kearny. They also beat the Nutley High School Crew last week in a practice session.

The JV crewmen have started just as well. They also gained wins against Kearny and Poughkeepsie on Saturday, and also beat Nutley in a practice race.

The varsity baseball team has made its record 2-3-1. They started off with a loss to Wayne Valley, 4-0. Then they tied against Irvington, 1-1. Next they came through with back to back wins against Nutley, 1-0, and Passaic, 4-2, and just last Saturday the Bellboys lost a tight one, 1-0, to Kearny.

Joe Ritacco leads the Belleville hitters with a .278 average, he's gone 5 for 18 so far this season.

Bob Giordano and Rich Schulz have been doing most of the pitching for Belleville. Bob's record is 1-1, with his win coming against Passaic. Rich's record is 1-2, with his win the shutout against Nutley.

The track team has lost its first two meets of the season to Passaic and West Side. The teams main problem is a lack of experience, it is comprised of 12 sophomores, six seniors, and four juniors.

Vic Squitieri leads the team in points scored, as he has contributed a total of 17 points to the team his two meets. George Riepe picked up his second first place in the pole vault Friday. Bob Forrest also picked up his second first place, one in the mile, the other in the two mile.

Down at the Junior High, Mr. B.'s frosh baseball team now has two wins to its credit, and Coach Scarpelli's frosh trackmen beat the West Side frosh 46-35 in their first meet.

ON THE WAY — Home, that is. Bob Ciallella stole third base during the Weequahic game and went on to score Belleville's first run of the game.

Belleville Nine Blasts Weequahic In Hittingest Game Of The Year

Belleville High School baseball team's third win of the year was perhaps its sweetest, because all of the Bellboys seemed to be on a hitting streak. In one inning alone, 15 men went to the plate and scored 11 runs on seven hits.

The game started out slowly. The Belleville batters were hitting Weequahic, but they weren't able to capitalize on anything until the bottom of the second inning.

Then Bob Ciallella singled and was driven to second on Gosinski's single. Ciallella stole third and came home on a double steal which entirely confused the Weequahic pitcher who threw to second as Ciallella stroled home.

Then came the eventful fifth inning. Coach Charles Travers sent 15 men to the plate that inning. They connected for seven hits. By combining those seven hits with errors, Belleville was able to add 11 runs to the score.

Both Hartunian and Vitiello hit triples during the inning.

Hartunian's drove in the first run of the inning and Vitiello's got an RBI later in the inning.

Weequahic made an attempt at a comeback, but it was too little, too late. In the top half of the seventh inning they scored five runs, but the Bellboys were able to quench their rally.

SECOND STEAL — Rich Hartunian of Belleville (sliding into second base) stole Belleville's second base against Weequahic on Monday. It followed closely the one pictured above which set up Belleville's first run.

BECK'S COLUMN

By MAX BECK

More and more customers are buying a "portable" color TV as a second set. As we have stated in this column repeatedly, many so called portables really are too heavy to be called this. As a matter of fact, color sets of the same screen size are quite a bit heavier than black and white.

Many color TV sets, whether they are called portable or not, have the so called rabbit ear antenna built in. For most people this is an indication that such an antenna is all that is needed for good reception. Unfortunately, in many locations this is not the case. Any color set that works off of a rabbit ear antenna needs considerable more adjustment than if it would be hooked up to an attic or outside antenna. The staffs of the built in antenna have to be moved for best reception. This changes the signal strength, and as a result the color, which in turn will have to be re-adjusted. In time, this becomes a nuisance. An attic or outside antenna eliminates this need for frequent re-adjustment. For this reason it is much better to disregard the built in antenna and use an outside or attic antenna for any color TV.

We service what we sell.

Kearny Hurler, 'Old Nemesis' Beats Bellboys

By Marc Feldman

The Kearny Cardinals, behind the 4-hit, 14-strikeout performance by Steve Turowski, edged Belleville 1-0, at Kearny, last Saturday afternoon.

Turowski was aided and abetted by his shortstop, Mike Landi, whose name Belleville sports fans have cause to remember. It was he who scored the last second field goal in a basketball game to rob Belleville of victory last winter. It was he who starred in the 26-7 defeat inflicted on Belleville on the gridiron. Now, again, Landi, earned himself the title "Belleville Nemesis" by getting on base four times and scoring the winning run.

Belleville pitcher Rich Schulz again threw an excellent ball game, picking up his third complete game in as many starts, despite a 1-2 record.

JV BOAT — Rowing against an incoming tide, Belleville's JV boat turned a 6:36 mile in their first meet of the season last Saturday against Kearny and Poughkeepsie to win the race. The varsity boat did equally as well in their first official outing.

'Dedication Day' Opening Races Won By Varsity And JV Boats

By Steve Taffet

In launching the 1969 inter-scholastic crew season for the Belleville High School team, one might be inclined to characterize the day by using the words satisfaction and achievement.

I say this only because last Saturday was the culmination of two trying, but successful projects. Five years ago, groups from Belleville and Nutley banded together for the purpose of furthering crew in their respective towns. They formed the Belleville-Nutley Rowing Association. In the interim this organization, with the active help of Kearny, has raised the money necessary to build a facility on the Passaic River devoted solely to crew.

On Saturday, this boathouse was dedicated in memory of William Chapman who, as the first president of the Rowing Association, was the driving force behind the fund-raising campaign.

In addition, Saturday was the opening race day for the Belleville crew teams. Poughkeepsie and Kearny were the opposing teams. In the opening race the Junior Varsity crews from the three schools met and Belleville won by a large margin. Rowing against an incoming tide, Belleville turned in a 6:36 mile, defeating Poughkeepsie by 24 seconds and Kearny by 48 seconds.

The next race, between opposing Varsity crews was somewhat closer. Belleville was again victorious, defeating Poughkeepsie by 7 seconds and Kearny by 33 seconds. The time for this race was 6:37.

CLOSE, BUT — Doug Brown of Belleville (center) finished third in the high hurdles against West Side at a home meet last Friday. The Bellboys came out on the short end of an 87-29 score.

Belleville Track Team Loses Meet To Well-Drilled West Side Squad

By John McCarthy

Belleville High's track team dropped their second meet of the season when they were beaten by West Side 87-29 last Friday. The team wasn't trampled but was beaten in a number of events when West Side took a first and second with Belleville a close third.

This shows up on the scoreboard, 8 to 1, and that accounts for the high score.

Vic Squitieri was the high scorer again for the Bellboys as he picked up a second in the hundred yard dash and another in the discus.

Both events were tight. Vic was second in the hundred by only one tenth of a second, and second in the discus by only one foot.

Doug Brown again scored in two events as he was third in the 220, and the high hurdles.

The meet started with the shot put, and this proved to be a big change for the enthusiastic field men. They had swept the shot against Passaic, but West Side swept one, two, and three, to start off with a nine-nothing lead.

In the hundred yard dash Tyrone Palisero of West Side beat Squitieri by one step. Jim Willey was third.

West Side took one and two in the high hurdles but Doug Brown took third to prevent the sweep.

Bob Forrest took Belleville's first, first place, of the day in a close race as he beat Wayne Daniels by one second in the mile race. His time was 5:01

West Side picked up another 8 to 1 win in the 440 as H. Smith and L. Allen were first and second with 56.1 and 56.3. Mark Bradley picked up Belleville's only point as he came in third with 57.0.

In the discus Vic Squitieri took second and West Side's Joe Sneed was third.

Mayor Proclaims April Cancer Control Month

The month of April has been proclaimed Cancer Control Month in the town of Belleville by Mayor Ken Smith.

In an official proclamation, Smith said that whereas the American Cancer Society is a voluntary health organization fighting cancer through a most effective program of research, education, and service,

And whereas the New Jersey Division of the American Cancer Society is carrying on a year-round effort to alert the public to the necessity of regular health check-ups and at the same time helping those already stricken,

And, whereas over 12,000 people died of cancer in New Jersey alone last year.

Therefore be it resolved that the month of April will be Cancer Control Month in the town of Belleville, and that the residents of Belleville be urged to support the Essex County unit of the American Cancer Society.

The proclamation was issued from the Mayor's office on April 1 and also urged all Belleville citizens to support cancer control programs through voluntary assistance and contributions.

Most parents take credit for the good points of their children and wonder where the perverse symptoms originate.

D. Elton Trueblood, well-known author, lecturer, and professor of religion and philosophy will give a public address at Montclair Friends Meeting House on Thursday, April 24 at 8 p.m.

A life-long Quaker, Elton Trueblood has held many posts of leadership and responsibility in the Religious Society of Friends; and at the same time has been active in ecumenical movements. He is one of the founders of Yokefellow Associates, an organization of Christian laymen, and is currently its president.

Dr. D. Elton Trueblood

From 1954 to 1955 he was Chief of Religious Information in the United States Information Agency and advisor to Voice of America.

Dr. Trueblood has held professorships at Harvard and Stanford Universities and is recently retired as professor of philosophy at Earlham College. He received his doctorate in philosophy from Johns Hopkins and holds nine honorary degrees. Special lectureships in this country and England have brought him to a still wider audience of philosophy students and thoughtful laymen.

A number of Dr. Trueblood's books are used as devotional and inspirational material in many Christian denominations. Some of the best-known are The Company of the Committed, The Life We Prize, Your Other Vocation, The Lord's Prayers, and most recently, The Incendiary Fellowship and A Place to Stand.

The topic Dr. Trueblood has chosen for his lecture in Montclair is "Robert Barclay-Governor of East Jersey and Quaker Thinker". He is eminently qualified to interpret this early Quaker leader to a contemporary audience and to present a timely message.

The Friends Meeting House is located at Park and Gordonhurst in Montclair and everyone in the community is welcome.

BELLEVILLE HIGH CONTINGENT — The Belleville High School Band, Color Guard and Twirlers were all present at Sunday's parade. Here they strut down Washington Avenue, the first band in the line of march.

WHEN'S IT COMING — That is what this youngster seemed to be thinking while waiting for the parade to come by Sunday. Hundreds of people viewed the parade from vantage points along Washington Avenue.

FLAG BEARER — There were many of them during Sunday's festivities, but Belleville High School's was as good as any in the parade. Here she marches past the reviewing stand.

CAROL AND HER COURT — Carol Jean Cornish, (seated in back) Miss Belleville 1968, had a special float to carry her to the reviewing stand where she took a place of honor as the out-going queen.

BEAT OF THE BRASS — It was heard often and loud Sunday afternoon at the Cherry Blossom Parade on Washington Avenue. Here one of the players takes a breather between numbers.

HONORED GUESTS — Belleville Mayor Kenneth Smith and Commissioner Mary Senatore (center of picture) were only two of the many dignitaries who were present at the annual parade heralding the entrance of spring in the town of Belleville.

Summer In Switzerland

Susan Carol Borino of 387 Cortlandt Street has been selected by The Experiment in International Living to live abroad with a family in Switzerland this summer.

Susan, a junior at Paterson State College, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Borino.

The Experiment has been engaged in international educational exchange since its founder, Dr. Donald B. Watt, first introduced a group of American youths to their French and German-speaking counterparts in Switzerland in 1932.

It is now the most well-established program of its type in the world with representatives in more than 60 countries involved in the annual exchange of some 5,000 young men and women between the United States and 100 nations around the globe. The private nonprofit organization maintains its U.S. headquarters in Putney, Vt.

Before Susan arrives in her homestay community abroad, she will join ten other members of her Experiment group for intensive preparation for the adventure ahead. The group, with the assistance of an experienced leader, will discuss the customs and culture of Switzerland and prepare to meet its people on their own terms.

For one month Susan and her fellow Experimenters will live with individual families in Switzerland.

Belleville's Chinatown —

The old engravings above were from a 1876 newspaper circulated nation-wide in the last century. The feature article of the day was Belleville, New Jersey and it's Chinese Colony. Upper left shows the Chinese exploding fireworks in front of a Belleville dormitory. At upper right, the Chinese receive New Year's calls in their private apartments. Lower left is the Chinese orchestra, and lower right, the residents offer food and tea to Joss in the Temple. Sketches were made by Albert Berhaus and the recreated story of the Chinese New Year's Day in Belleville appears inside today's Accent on page 2.

Belleville's Chinese Colony

Laundry Workers Lived In Town

By Allan Crisp
Belleville Town Historian

In 1874, the Casebolt Laundry, located across the Passaic River from Belleville, brought a number of Chinese to this country to work in their laundry. It is my understanding that they pioneered in this field and that Chinese laundries in the east trace their beginning to this colony.

The Chinese were lodged in dormitories in Belleville (exact location unknown) and a charming story appeared in the February 12, 1876 edition of Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper, telling of their entertaining the townspeople on Chinese New Years with a tea party accompanied by the shooting of firecrackers and a Chinese orchestra that played "Yankee Doodle Dandy" and "The Girl I Left Behind Me".

Records of the Belleville Reformed Church bear witness to the fact that in 1882 "some 35 Chinese families became members of our church. Their children attended our Sunday School." Furthermore, some human bones have been disinterred in the basement of the church and it is believed that these are the remains of Chinese members who requested to be buried there.

Following is a copy of the article.

The party of Chinamen who have been settled for several years at Belleville, N.J. had an unusual celebration of their New Year's last week. They have experienced much annoyance at the circulation of reports derogatory to their character, a feeling quite generally shared by the citizens, who have found the deportment of the Chinamen to be most quiet, unassuming and gentlemanly.

They have been quite regular attendants at churches and Sunday schools, and evince great earnestness in pursuit of a knowledge of the English language and of American customs. Having on many occasions been welcomed at the homes of the leading citizens, the boys determined this year to combine in the celebration of their New Year's the principal features of the native and American ceremonies.

Accordingly, they issued pretty little cards of invitation to over two hundred ladies and gentlemen for a reception on Wednesday afternoon, January 26th. The entire week was devoted to the preparations for the grand event of Wednesday.

The Joss House or temple displayed several marvels of native handiwork. A painting of Joss attached to the wall was surrounded with festoons of red cloth and prayer tablets, while immediately in front and upon tables was a profusion of altar ornaments. Dishes of the Chinese lily in full bloom, of oranges, apple, rice, cigarettes and Joss sticks were scattered about the surface; and ranged in a red rack was a number of elegantly gilded and enameled vases and devotional pieces. Upon the foremost table was a neat, tasteful and ingenious altar-cloth about three feet square. The body was heavy red silk, and worked upon it with very narrow gold bullion were four lions, with enormous heads and huge sweeping tails. The edging consisted of a black and a green stripe, both of narrow silk, the first ornamented with glistening buttons, and the latter with leave and tracery. All the articles of food were taken to this room and laid before Joss by the two oldest Chinamen. After remaining on the table for a few moments, the dishes were returned to the respective rooms of the hosts, where a quantity of fruit and cake was placed upon tables, handed to the visitors with the accompaniment of a very small cup of tea.

Outside the building used as the dormitory, and immediately around the fountain-basin, the boys had erected two long poles, to the top of which a double line of fire-crackers was run up by hand. Above the main entrance floated a triangular white flag, bearing their native inscriptions, inclosed by a band of red; while in a gilded ornament, where the face or eagle is usually placed, were three long black feathers.

Close by the fence, partially surrounding the basin, the orchestra was located. The instruments consisted of a gong, suspended from a sapling thrust between the pickets; a cooper kettle-drum; a pair of brass cymbals, bearing holiday inscriptions; and three mouth pieces, resembling in shape an abbreviated flute, and in sound the Scottish bagpipe. At two o'clock the welcome march was opened. This was followed at intervals so brief that few could distinguish the tones. by "Yankee Doodle," "Old Hundred," "That Girl I Left Behind Me," and several easily recognized Chinese masterpieces. A half hour later a bundle of fire-crackers was ignited before Joss, and then carried from the building. This was the signal for a deafening explosion of bombs and monster crackers, and for several hours the racket was kept up, to the intense delight of the boys.

From this scene the holders of invitations passed to a large room where seats had been provided.

New TV Station Stresses Action

The newest weapon in the war on poverty?---Ya Es Tiempo! (It's About Time!), CATI's highly successful, recently completed project that used commercial television to train and organize Spanish-speaking ghetto residents for community action. Fivetaped shows in drama form were produced and aired weekly over UHF channel 47.

A unique feature of the series was its built-in, guaranteed minimum "rating". Two-hundred and seventy trained group leaders from New York and New Jersey Barrios each recruited a minimum of ten neighbors weekly to watch and discuss the programs in their homes.

Developed and produced by the New Jersey Community Action Training Institute, a non-profit, OEO-funded corporation, these Spanish language programs dealt with such problems as: consumer education, housing, education, employment, and leadership formation.

The project director, David W. Parker, of the CATI staff, used 115 non-professional actors from five different neighborhoods in New York City and New Jersey. From "Idea Scripts" written by Mr. Parker, they actually developed the dialogue themselves after discussing the familiar themes.

In addition to the captive audience naturally gained via the 115 neighborhood actors, the station's normal audience was swelled by group-watching techniques. CATI recruited and trained 270 group leaders from New York and New Jersey barrios. Each of these group leaders, who was paid $10.00 for each training night, and for each TV program night, invited a minimum of 10 neighbors to watch and

Simply written, concise Spanish language training booklets summarizing the program were distributed by the group leaders at each session. These booklets, developed and published by CATI, are also available without cost to anyone writing to Channel 47.

According to Barry Passett, director of CATI, the five T.V. programs will be converted to 16mm, films for future use as training instruments throughout the U.S. and Puerto Rico. The Institute, which specializes in training community action workers and in developing materials for CAPS, is preparing a manual in Spanish to explain how the films (or video tapes) and the training booklets can be used.

Know Facts Of Piano Purchasing

Almost a quarter of a million American families buy pianos every year. And, believe it or not, if you are now in the market for a new piano, you will get more value for your money with today's piano than at any time in history.

Buying a piano is a good deal more important to the average family than the purchase of a sofa or a carpet. For most families, it will be the third largest single investment the family makes, following a home and automobile.

With such an important purchase in mind, what should a family do before buying a musical activities in his area. His acceptance by professional musical groups will speak well for him. Remember, your piano will be with you for a long time and you would like to know that the integrity of your dealer was part of the purchase price. Reputable manufacturers are extremely particular about their dealers. So should you be.

Second, it is wiser to purchase a new piano than a second hand one. Keep in mind that a piano is a magnificent assembly of thousands of separate pieces -- more than 7,000 to be exact. Your new piano, the product of the latest advances in musical take their toll.

Third, how do you start looking for your piano? In general terms, you should decide how much you wish to spend, where it is going to be placed in your home and how much space you can devote to this important instrument. Grands will range from the regal 9 foot concert grand to models slightly more than 5 feet. You can also choose between grands of 5-1/2, 6 and 7 feet in length. Uprights, on the other hand, vary in height from 36 inches to 45 inches with a wide selection of cabinet designs. The range in price for a quality upright piano will generally fall between $595 and $1600. The grand can go as high as $7500 for the concert-sized instrument.

Fourth, insist on quality materials inside the instrument. Only selected solid spruce should be used for the sound board. Reject any instrument using other material. The ribs should be of spruce and the sound board of rock maple. The plate, of grey cast iron, will withstand the tremendous continual tension of the strings and provide the necessary extreme rigidity for the tone-producing elements.

Lastly, it is important not to be timid when you look over the selection of pianos offered. While pianos are built as pieces of fine furniture, do not make the fatal mistake of choosing one for its exterior design if it does not meet the rigid specifications of a quality instrument.

Sit down and play the models you most prefer. Remember, no two pianos in the world sound exactly alike. Try each model you favor until you find the one with the tone which pleases you most. The finest, of course, is found in the grands. The taller uprights have a superior tone to the smaller models. The lower height pianos with shorter strings tend to have a more limited tonal value.

piano? Lurien Wulsin, president of Baldwin Piano and Organ Company which has been making fine pianos for more than 105 years, has a few tips for the prospective buyer of a new instrument.

First, be sure of your dealer. He should be well known in the community and should be closely connected with the science and technology, will be close to a half ton of precision parts, fitted together by hand and taking up to a year to produce. Although a good piano is made to last a lifetime, few quality instruments are offered for sale until they have been in families for generations. Time, friction and climate do

Ship Reborn

The New Jersey Back In Service

In late September, a day before she headed into the South China Sea and the Vietnam war, the battleship New Jersey steamed slowly off the Philippine Islands almost in the shadow of a barren coastal mountain range. The huge 16-inch guns, already tested hundreds of times, were undergoing one final practice firing. The next day they were to be brought to war.

It was a bright morning, hot in the Western Pacific. On the ship's bridge the skipper, Capt. J. Edward Snyder Jr., and his weapons officer, Cdr. D. P. Roane, stood side-by-side, binoculars to their eyes as the nine big guns thundered and the 56,000-ton ship trembled and the 2700-pound shells blasted into the gray ridges seven miles away.

"A little more to the left, just a hair," said Roane, studying the distant bursts of smoke and debris on the peaks. The captain said nothing, but his hands tight on the binoculars trained against the horizon.

Another salvo of guns. Then, all was still. Nearly a minute went by.

"Right on the nose that time, Captain," Roane said smiling. Snyder lowered his glasses. He was smiling too. "Looks like we're ready," he said.

And the next day the New Jersey, a 26-year-old mass of steel and guns, was back in action. The battleship Navy was reborn.

It had been a long, uphill struggle for Snyder and his crew. It took them a year and five months and the odds, from the beginning, weren't on their side. The New Jersey was allotted a crew of 1,600 men--only half of what she carried in World War II. To save on work, Snyder begged "serounded," in military terminology) scrubbing machines, maintenance tools, stainless steel bathroom fixtures, anything he could find to cut down on manpower because, in his words, "We just don't have enough men to operate this ship the way it was operated during the Second World War."

"We've done everything we could to cut down on the work," Snyder added. "Of course, the New Jersey today doesn't have to do all the things a battleship in World War II had to do. It doesn't, for example, have to 'slug it out' with another battleship. This accounts for quite a few savings."

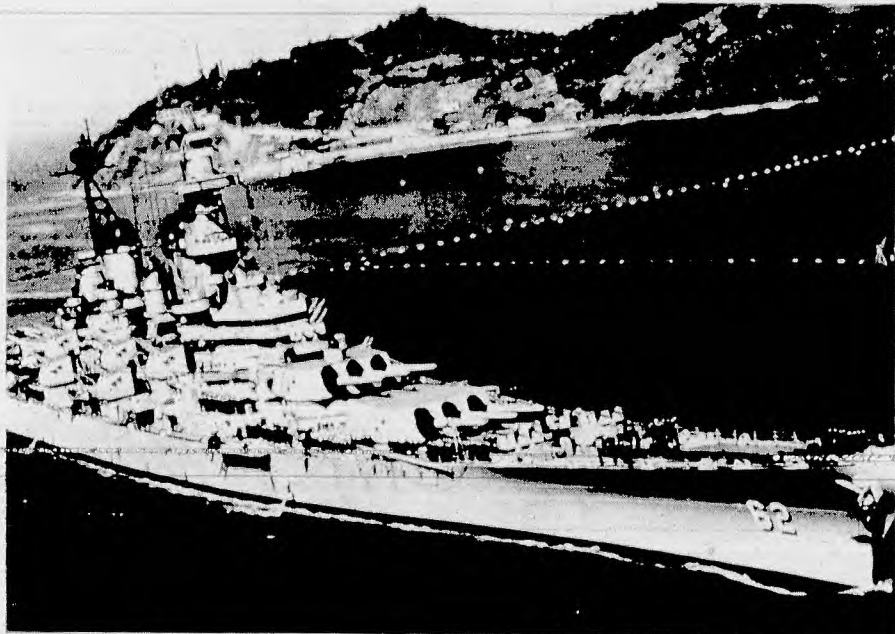

Training the New Jersey's crew was a unique problem since 80 percent of her men were under 25 years of age and few had ever seen a battleship before. There were long months of shakedown cruises, long days of grueling hours, before Snyder was satisfied.

The New Jersey was put back in commission, Snyder said, "For one and only one reason: 'to bring 16-inch 50 caliber rifles to the support of the Army and the Marine Corps in Southeast Asia. That's what we're going to do.'"

The crew knows this, too. To many of them, however, battleship duty is a status symbol. Nearly half of the New Jersey's sailors (from 49 of the 50 states) volunteered for their ship. The Navy had to turn down thousands of others.

One sailor who had been on a battleship before summed it up for the old salts. "It

They are all Foster Parents to the 50,000 destitute children overseas who are currently enrolled in the Foster Parents Plan (PLAN). They contribute $16 a month to support a needy child and his family, and exchange monthly letters with the child (original and translation). The Foster Parent selects a child from one of nine countries - Greece, Korea, Vietnam, Hong Kong, the Philippines, Brazil, Colombia, Ecuador and Peru - and receives a case history and photograph of the child as well as regular reports about the child's progress.

Some Foster Parents are famous - senators (including the late Senator Robert F. Kennedy), actors, radio and TV personalities. Many generously lend their names as well as giving support and writing letters to their Foster Children.

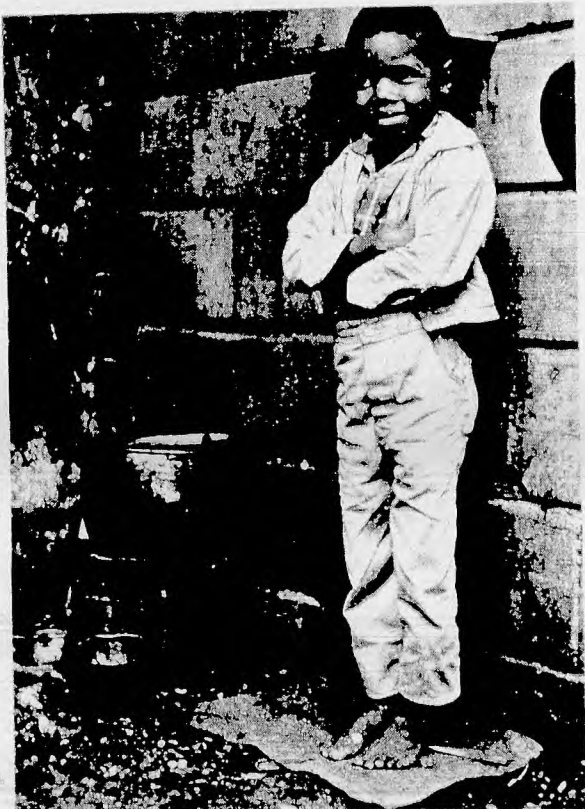

This VIP group is important, but it is only the tip of the "iceberg" which shows above the water. The great majority of Foster Parents are VIP's to their own families, to their schools, churches, offices, communities and above all to their Foster Children overseas. They are the backbone and heart of Foster Parents Plan.

Who are they? What are they like? They are as varied as the pebbles on a beach, but ADOPTED DAUGHTER - Carmencita B. DeLaCruz was a six-year-old Filipina living in a hovel in the slums of Manila when she was adopted by the Foster Parents Plan which has helped thousands of destitute children overseas.

ADOPTED SON - Jesus Angulo, a seven-year-old Colombian boy from the Bogota slums, was adopted under the Foster Parents Plan which is currently helping 50,000 children overseas.

Overseas Children Aided By Foster Parents Plan

they all share one quality: they care - they give of themselves as well as of their bank account or hard-earned savings by entering into a personal relationship with one or more needy children overseas. They are willing to get involved to the extent of feeling as concerned about their Foster Children as they would about their own.

Many Foster Parents have a special reason for joining PLAN - among them an increasing number of servicemen who have seen at first hand in Korea and Vietnam the horrors that war inflicts on innocent children.

A former GI writes, "I recently returned from Vietnam - and now have a pretty good job. Even though I'm out of the army I still can't forget about the war there and all the terrific suffering...especially for the innocent little children."

A California doctor requests a child from the Philippines for a very personal reason. "When I was a fighter pilot," he writes, "I was shot down by enemy ground fire and bailed out. I was rescued by Philippine nationals living in the hills and sheltered by them until evacuated almost two months later. I'm sure you can understand why (now that I can almost afford it) I am particularly anxious that the child be from the Philippines."

Then there is the Missouri bride of a year who, to celebrate her first "paper" anniversary, decided that she and her husband would "adopt" a child. "The letters will be paper," she writes, "and something we'll cherish forever!"

Medical Society Plans To Hold Safety Seminar

From the scene of an accident to the hospital emergency room, the rescue squad volunteers "form the first line of defense for the victim" according to Dr. Frank M. Gallo, police surgeon, and chairman of the Essex County Medical Society's First Aid Advisory Squad.

"In these days of overcrowded roads with supercharged cars, and the rise in home and industrial accidents," the surgeon said his colleagues recognize, "the tremendous efforts these volunteer and police squads make for the public."

For this reason, the medical society again this year will sponsor an all-day symposium for rescue and volunteer workers at North Junior High School in Bloomfield starting at 8 a.m. on Saturday, April 19, 1969.

All details and registration for this educational conference for police, first aid and rescue squads can be obtained through the Essex County Medical Society in East Orange.

A locomotive engineer based in Chicago has solved the problem of finding the time to write his Foster Child in the Philippines. He writes him letters sitting in his locomotive cab while waiting for his train to be assembled and pull out of the station. He describes the beauty of the great Midwestern Plains in most poetic terms.

In Ecuador there is a little ten-year-old girl, Georgina Flores, who has 2,000 Foster Fathers. They are the inmates of the Colorado State Penitentiary in Canon City, Colorado. They "adopted"

"our girl Georgina", as they call her, in 1966 and she has become the darling of the prison. Her monthly letters to them and information on her progress are printed in the institution's magazine, "The Interpreter". The Colorado inmates are one of approximately 30 Foster Parents prison groups.

Too numerous to mention by name are the more than 6,000 school and university groups, sororities and fraternities, service clubs, and employee groups, many of which have had a succession of children.

Ship Reborn

New Jersey Is Back Fighting

sure feels good to have a wooden deck under your feet again," he said.

Another man on the New Jersey, Master Chief Boatswain's Mate Lyle Chastain, had stood on those same wooden decks before, nearly 26 years ago. Chastain, the ship's cigar-smoking, coffee-drinking master-at-arms

("The sheriff," as Snyder calls him) was a young swab fresh out of the backhills country and fresh into the bloody battles of the World War II Pacific when he first reported on board the New Jersey.

"Things sure have changed," Chastain said. "For one thing, this air conditioning is something else. You can't beat it out here in the Pacific. The only person who had air conditioning here during World War II was Admiral Halsey. Everyone else just made out the best they could."

Chastain, who was the admiral's lookout when Halsey flew his five stars from the New Jersey, remembers what it was like 26 years ago. He often talks of the Japanese kamikazi planes that terrorized the U.S. fleet in the waning days of the Rising Sun. "We never took a hit," he said, "but they sure kept us busy. Sometimes, we'd shoot down a kamikazi so close that you could feel the heat from it as it crashed into the water. It was common for an air battle to last hours."

The kamikazis are gone now, and so are the 64 anti-aircraft guns that once ringed the New Jersey's decks. The days of the great sea encounters are over. The New Jersey is now playing a supporting role as a floating gun platform. Her big 16-inchers and the 20 five-inch guns are the only props.

One day soon after the New Jersey entered the South China

Sea, a young bearded sailor from New York leaned against the rail and scanned the coastline of Vietnam, where earlier that day he had helped fire tons of ammunition, some 15 miles to the west.

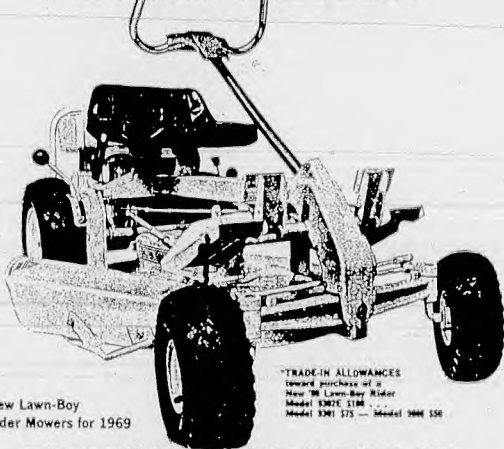

"I'd go back there tomorrow," he said.

He turned to look at the hulk of the battleship. "Don't go much for swimming," he grinned.

Will Credit Cards Replace Money?

Will the credit card ever replace money?

No, not completely, but to the average American, carrying credit cards wins over carrying a pocket full of money any day.

One card can be the key to travel, entertainment and lodging almost anywhere in the world. Another card unlocks the doors to shops and stores that supply family living needs. Still another credit card can supply any need for specialized services and particular products.

The three types of credit cards just described show the diverse use of credit cards today.

The high value placed on credit cards is unquestionable. And like any other valuable item, they must be protected against loss. Annually, thousands of credit cards are misplaced and stolen, causing considerable worry and discomfort to the card owners. Many times the thefts are the work of professional rings. To avoid loss, proper credit card protection is a must.

A. S. Johnson Jr., regional manager of the Allstate Insurance Companies, offers these tips to help credit card holders avoid card losses.

Don't lend your card to anyone. Lending your card may be a costly mistake if loss occurs through the borrower's carelessness.

A record should be kept of each credit card owned. This record should include the company name and address, the card number and the expiration date. This information will facilitate a fast report of any credit card loss.

The wallet is the best and safest place to keep credit cards. Chances of forgetting or misplacing a credit card is almost eliminated if it is returned directly to the wallet after every use.

Women with credit cards in their purse should be careful about putting their purses down for even a short time. Don't leave credit cards in automobiles. Sun visors, glove compartments and dashboards are not safe places to keep credit cards.

Don't carry too many credit cards at one time. Carry only those cards that are needed or used most frequently. This way, in case of wallet loss, the misfortune will not be so complete and severe.

If a loss occurs, notify the issuer immediately after the loss, both by phone and in writing. This will excuse the holder from liability if the card is abused.

More positive protection, would be to have the card insured. Some insurance companies, including Allstate, offer low cost protection against credit card loss in their homeowner policies.

Finally, Johnson advises, treat a credit card like money. . . it is just as valuable.

There is quite a difference between being present and doing the work.

Accent Entertainment

Children have a number of unusual activities coming up. This weekend, the Nutley Fire Department will present its second "open house" in as many weeks as the vamps mark the 75th anniversary of their founding.

The firemen are offering free rides for youngsters on the shiny red trucks during the day-long observations Saturday.

The other unusual item for youngsters also involves rides but not a free and not on a fire truck either, but on a jet airliner.

Thomas J. Quigg of Nutley, sales manager for American Airlines, tells Accent that Saturday afternoons will be unique for family fun beginning this week at Newark Airport.

American Airlines is providing low-cost 727 flightseeing trips from Newark Airport Saturdays.

Quigg notes the airline has offered the $6.95 tours in past years. "They have proven to be quite successful before and have afforded new flyers the opportunity of enjoying the pleasures and comforts of jet travel," Quigg said.

The flights depart from American's gate at Newark beginning at noon and continue hourly through 4 p.m. The flightseeing trips use the Boeing 727 - a three-engined, high-tailed Astrojet seating 92 in comfortable two-two and three-three seating.

An upcoming entertainment highlight is this Sunday's first annual spring concert of the Masterwork Boyschoir at 300

Mendham Rd., Morristown. The program will be conducted by Howard Buchanan of Maplewood and begins at 4 p.m.

The Masterwork Music and Art Foundation also reports that tickets are still available for the Masterwork Chorus' performance of Carl Orff's "Carmina Burana" set for May 2 at Philharmonic Hall in New York City. Detailed ticket information can be obtained by calling The Masterwork Foundation at 538-1869 in Morristown between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. weekdays.

Comedian Dick Gregory, now devoting most of his time to the civil rights cause, speaks tonight at Upsala College at 8 p.m. in Viking Hall. Gregory promises to offer his views on the current status of the black people's struggle for equality. Tickets will be on sale tonight for $1 at the door.

Virginia Harms, contralto, will be the featured soloist in the spring concert of the Oratorio Society at 8:30 p.m. April 26 at Montclair High School. Reserved seats can be obtained by calling 744-8313 or 482-6853.

Mrs. Harms will sing the solo role in Copland's "In the Beginning." A resident of Montclair, she has made several appearances throughout New Jersey and New York.

Entertainment News of Local Interest

Accent on Television

The Best Interview How Now on the Air

The most interesting television interview program to be introduced locally in some time is the "With Mel Belli" show which sparks with good, intelligent adult conversation and comment.

Seen Saturday evenings (9-11 on WNYC-TV) and hosted by Mel Belli, himself a noted attorney, the program delves deeply into such topics as a shop-talk last weekend by attorneys concerning their personal views on recent Supreme Court decisions. The week before brought together several knowledgeable spokesmen on narcotics.

Based on the Saturday evening programs we've seen, it's safe to say that "With Mel Belli" is not geared to be entertaining as much as it is informative. Although the atmosphere is relaxed - much in the manner of the Carson-type shows - the emphasis is on information and intellect interest rather than entertainment.

The conversations are serious and we can't think of any other program now on the air that has a full-two hours of non-rush talk which permits the skilled Mel Belli to elicit personal views and feelings of his guests on topical problems.

The Supreme Court discussion included several noted attorneys and before the evening was over, the conversation covered reasons for recent violence and its relationship to decisions by the U.S. Court, the techniques for selecting juries, famous cases and anecdotes of the drama behind the courtroom scene.

A week earlier, the show was titled "Society's Harrassed Communities" and dealt with subjects generally avoided. Guests were Harold Call of the Matachine Society and Phyllis Lyon of the Daughters of Belitis. Other programs have brought hippies advocating drugs together with such "famous" policemen as San Francisco's Richard R. Bergess ("Sgt. Sunshine") and Oscar and Jeannie Camano of Synanon.

Radios To Be Installed On PATH

A new two-way radio communication system will be installed on all trains of the Post Authority Trans-Hudson (PATH) interstate transit system by early 1971.

A $730,000 project for the installation of the radio system was authorized today by the PATH Board of Directors, according to an announcement by James C. Kellogg, III, Chairman of The Port of New York Authority and its rail transit operating subsidiary, following the monthly Board meeting at 111 Eighth Avenue.

The new PATH radio network will permit direct and continuing communications between the PATH Operations Control Center and crews on trains throughout the bi-state system. It thus will allow more effective supervision of train operations and will facilitate the flow of information required by supervisory staff to maintain the on-time performance of trains.

The new radio communication system also will permit the Operations Control Center to broadcast directly to passengers aboard trains, giving them up-to-the-minute information on train movements and other service conditions. The radio network will permit PATH personnel to analyze the situation and take remedial action faster in the event of train delays or other emergency conditions. It also will facilitate police surveillance and will increase the efficiency of maintenance operations.

At the present time, train crews and maintenance personnel communicate with supervisors by means of a road telephone system. Crews must halt their trains and then initiate calls from telephones at fixed locations along the PATH right-of-way. Supervisors cannot initiate calls to train crews and other personnel.

The new radio system is licensed by the Federal Communication Commission to operate on two assigned channels in the railroad V.H.F. Band. It will utilize train-borne two-way radios, special antenna wires strung through all tunnels, and electronic base stations to collect radio transmissions via the antennas. The transmissions will then be relayed by leased telephone lines to the PATH Operations Control Center being built in Jersey City as part of the new PATH Journal Square Transportation Center. The system also will include portable radios for use by police and maintenance personnel.

Traction Power Design Contract

Chairman Kellogg also announced an agreement, at an estimated cost of $715,000 with the engineering firm of Gibbs & Hill, Inc. of New York City, to design traction power substations, switching stations, and other power system modifications in the open area of the PATH system between Newark and the tunnel portals in Jersey City. This work will result in increased flexibility and reliability of traction power on this segment of PATH, formerly operated as part of a joint service with the Penn-Central Railroad prior to the implementation of the State of New Jersey's Aldene Plan in 1967.

In addition, Gibbs & Hill will design a complete supervisory control system for PATH. The supervisory control system will bring together in one location all of the indicators and controls for the six PATH power substations located in New York, Jersey City and Newark. This will provide a continuous surveillance of the PATH traction power system and enable supervisors to determine the status of power flow throughout the entire system. It will allow quick response for remedial action and repairs in the event of interruption in power flow. The supervisory power control system will be an integral part of the new PATH Operations Control Center.
