Frank Durkee Settles With NEA And NJEA

Frank Durkee's long fight against the National Education Association and the New Jersey Education Association has ended in a settlement.

Durkee, who resigned in November of 1967 as Superintendent of Schools during a stormy controversy with a four member majority bloc of the School Board, announced the decision from his home in Camp Hill, Pa., where is a member of the Pennsylvania State Department of Education.

"I doubt that either the NEA or the NJEA will ever again be a party to the kind of thing that was involved in Belleville and issue any more libelous and scurrilous reports," commented the former superintendent.

Durkee had resigned from his position after 22 charges were filed against him by the Board, including interference, impropriety, misconduct in office and harassment. During hearings with the State Commissioner of Education, it became apparent that the main charge against Durkee was that he had allowed members of an anti-Board movement to use a Xerox duplicating machine to make petitions against the Board. After the hearings before the State Commissioner, Durkee accepted payment of $26,600 and resigned from his post. He agreed to waive any future libel lawsuits against the Board.

On January 15, 1967, Durkee filed an action for slander and libel in Essex County Superior Court against the NEA and NJEA and their representatives. The two associations had made a study of the school system and issued a report which was heavily critical of Durkee. Many people felt, including Durkee, that the investigation into the school system was just a sham to get at the superintendent.

Reached at home in Pennsylvania, Mrs. Durkee said she was glad that the case, which took more than two years, was over. She declined to reveal the amount of money her husband had settled for.

After the settlement which Durkee hopes will vindicate his name, he had these words to say: "Some day I may write a book and give each of the Belleville characters his proper place in it. Meanwhile, I am enjoying my work in educational research."

Molinaro Wins Golf Tournament

Charles Molinaro was crowned 1969 Golf Champion of Belleville at the Annual Tournament last week at Florham Park Country Club. It was evident that Charles meant business when he ate up the first nine in 37. However, winning this year's title was no easy matter because young Pat Dunleavy was also out there doing a job.

Pat shot an even 40 on the first nine, then, as Molinaro faded to a 41 second nine, Pat came through with a beautiful 38 to tie up the Tournament. This necessitated a sudden-death playoff.

In the playoff, Dunleavy was on the green in two while Molinaro's second shot was off to the right of the green. Dunleavy, from a distance of about 40 feet, three-putted. Molinaro chipped and two-putted. So off they went for a second hole. This time Molinaro was on in two and Dunleavy was off to the right of the green on his second.

Molinaro two-putted to a par. Dunleavy chipped his third shot within four feet of the pin, then putted straight on target, only to see the ball bounce up from the back of the cup and out. And that was the Championship, Charles Molinaro with a 78 and a two hole sudden-death playoff victory is the 1969 Belleville Golf Champion and Pat Dunleavy is the runner-up.

In the Tournament, guest Michael Rose won the low gross trophy with an 88 and Louis Ruggiero won the low net with a 75.

In the flights Mike Gilroy netted a beautiful 70 to win the "A" Flight, and the Commissioner Strumolo Trophy. "A" Flight runner-up was Gary Joseph Trainor with a 73. The Commissioner Senator Trophy for "B" Flight was won by Anthony Giardina with a 75 and the runner-up award was won by Frank Trainor with 76 to bring a father-son touch to the tournament. ### Local Boy Named For West Point Sal J. Federico, of 28 Jannarone Street, Belleville, has been appointed to the United States Military Academy at West Point.

College, the University of Nebraska, the University of West Virginia and William and Mary College all extended scholarship offers.

Upon moving to Belleville, he played football and baseball for the Little League, and was a member of the Baseball All-Star team. He attended Essex Catholic in Newark, where he was an honor student during his four years. He was captain of the wrestling team and was undefeated in competition this season. Sal was also a member of the French National Honor Society and the track team.

Sal will report to the Academy on July 1 to start his cadet training. A party in his honor will be given Sunday.

Board Of Education Questions Cullen's Stadium Expansion Plan

CENTER OF ATTENTION— commissioner of Parks and Public Property William Cullen has become the center of attention due to his recently released plans to expand Municipal Stadium facilities. He has been invited to speak with the Belleville Athletic Council and representatives of all town organizations to clarify his plans for the Stadium.

Belleville Is Without A Mayor

Belleville is without the services of its mayor. Off on a vacation for four weeks Mayor Kenneth Smith and his wife have taken their trailer and gone to explore the country.

The Mayor and his wife left early last Sunday and made their first stop in Pittsburgh for the annual Mayor's Convention. Right now they are on their way to Seattle for the Shrine Convention, June 30. "Where we're going after Seattle will depend on how we feel," said Mrs. Smith over the phone. "Possibly we might head north to Alaska."

While the Mayor is absent, Commissioner of Finance and Revenue Joseph McGreevy, will head the Commission, as stipulated by municipal law.

Woman Is Found Dead In Apartment

Police discovered Margaret Brower, 64, of 298 Union Avenue dead in her apartment June 13, after receiving a phone call by another tenant informing them the woman had not been seen for a long time.

Michael Marotti New Amvet Chief

Michael V. Marotti of 168 Holmes Street has been elected State commander of the New Jersey Amvets. The announcement was made at the 25th Annual Convention of the Amvets at the Shelburne Hotel in Atlantic City, June 8.

Michael V. Marotti
New Amvet Leader

Marotti, who is a detective on the Belleville Police force, has served numerous State posts with the Amvets, in addition to being the Belleville Post 26 commander for eight years. He has been third and first vice-commander, trustee, and in 1948 was selected Amvet of the Year.

For his service to the local post, Marotti has been made a lifetime member.

The new State commander has lived in Belleville all his life. Married, with four children, he has been on the police force for 16 years, being a detective for the last 12.

Marotti has been a dominant force in the Belleville Little League for many years. The Little League field, one of the finest in the country, was named for him. This year Belleville has been chosen the site of the State Little League finals.

Marotti is also active with the Elks, Unico and the American Legion. He is currently serving as president of the Belleville P.B.A.

His term as State commander will begin July 1. The Amvets are responsible for much of the work of the veteran's hospital, and in securing veterans better benefits.

Attorney Asked To Investigate

Commissioner William Cullen's $175,000 projected expansion of Municipal Stadium facilities, already underway, has prompted the Board of Education to begin an investigation of its legal position with respect to land it owns in the Stadium area.

Attorney Max Schwartz has been directed by the Board to examine the deed they hold to a triangular tract of land adjacent to Division Street, which they acquired from the old commission when they bought the property for the new High School.

According to Board President Dr. Frank Di Ruggiero, Cullen has not contacted the Board nor revealed any details for his project other than what appeared in the Times two weeks ago.

"We want to know," Dr. Di Ruggiero said, "what he has in mind. We would like to see a master plan. We don't intend on giving up the land. In fact, I don't think we legally can give it up."

The entire project will come under close scrutiny next Tuesday, when the Belleville Athletic Council convenes, a special meeting with representatives of all town organizations to discuss conditions at the Stadium.

The timeliness of the special Council meeting is not a direct response to Cullen's announced plans, according to Herman Wische, High School athletic director and a member of the Council. The athletic group had announced its intentions at a regular monthly meeting, April 30.

The Council's interest in the Stadium actually began three years ago. A group representing the council-manager form of government met with the Council, which is a representative of the Board, to discuss the possible improvement of stadium facilities. After numerous meetings, the two group submitted plans to the old government.

That was two years ago. To date nothing has been done to improve the Stadium, other than Commissioner Cullen's present project.

The meeting is being called with the aim of submitting plans to the new commission form of government.

"We want to see what we as citizens can do to improve the Stadium," Wische said over the phone.

Commissioner Cullen has received an invitation to attend the meeting. Wische hopes that Cullen will elaborate on his plans for the Stadium.

The Council hopes to influence Cullen and to have a part in directing the improvements to be made. Letters have been sent to all organizations, and a large gathering is expected for the 8 p.m. meeting at the high school.

To date, improvement at the Stadium has been on a limited basis. Wische would like to see a vast change in the condition of the baseball field. He also hopes to see an all-weather track and basketball and tennis courts

Mother Neglects Daughter

A Belleville mother was brought to court for neglecting to send her children to school. It was the second time the defendant had appeared before Judge Edward Abramson on the charge. In her last hearing, the defendant was placed on probation with a warning that her children would be taken away from her if the neglect continued.

Mrs. Loraine Vassos of 15 Washington Avenue was officially charged with violation of probation. Mrs. Vassos pleaded guilty to the charge with an explanation.

Probation Officer Richard Talty told the court that Mrs. Vassos was not sending her children to school and the situation was not getting any better. Talty recommended to the court that the probation period be extended and the case should be referred to the Board of Guardians.

Mrs. Vassos explained that her children had been taken away from her by her husband and she had just recently gotten them back.

Judge Abramson extended Mrs. Vassos' probation period six months and referred the matter to the Board of Guardians.

Rev. Titian Menegus To Be Honored With Dinner On June 22 Retirement

Rev. Titian Menegus, pastor of St. Anthony's Church for 29 years, will officially retire at a dinner in his honor, June 22, at the Fountain restaurant.

Program Chairman Ralph Risoli expects a capacity turnout of 400 people to honor the popular priest who is retiring for health reasons.

Many of Father Menegus' friends expect to be present at the testimonial, including Rt. Rev. Monsignor Thomas Reardon, Rt. Rev. Anthony De Luca and Rt. Rev. Monsignor Joseph Dooling. Also expected are Rev. Francis Blake, Rev. Rocco Constantino, Rev. Annunzio Crescenti, Very Rev. Samuel Bove, Rev. Benedetto Pascale and Rev. Mr. John Savage.

The principal address will be given by Rev. Joseph Laudati. Toastmaster for the ceremonies will be General Chairman, Rev. Anthony J. Monochio.

Numerous presentations are expected to be made including, gifts from the Guard of Honor, the Holy Name Society, the Rosarians, the Mother of Sorrow, Christian Mothers, St. Anthony's P.T.G., Friday and Saturday Bingo Workers, and an official Commission resolution to be presented by Public Affairs Commissioner Vincent Strumolo.

Dinner music will be supplied by Louis Gintella, courtesy of Zarro Funeral Home. Decorations will be by Vivian's Florist.

Including on the planning committees were Celeste Bagnole, assistant chairlady; Arthur Zarillo, tickets and seating; Vinnie Esthermoro, reception, and Ralph Risoli, program chairman.

Dinner will start at 8 p.m. after cocktails.

"It was 29 years of hard work with good people," the Father said. "I got wonderful cooperation from everyone. I have some wonderful friends here that I hate to leave behind. It's just like leaving your family. It's a question of health. When your health stops you it's time someone else takes over."

Father Menegus was born in Passaic and attended Clifton Grammar School and Seton Hall Prep and University. He graduated from Immaculate Conception Seminary in Darlington.

His first assignment was to Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Church in Newark, where he remained five years. The next three years were spent in Our Lady of Sorrows Church in Jersey City.

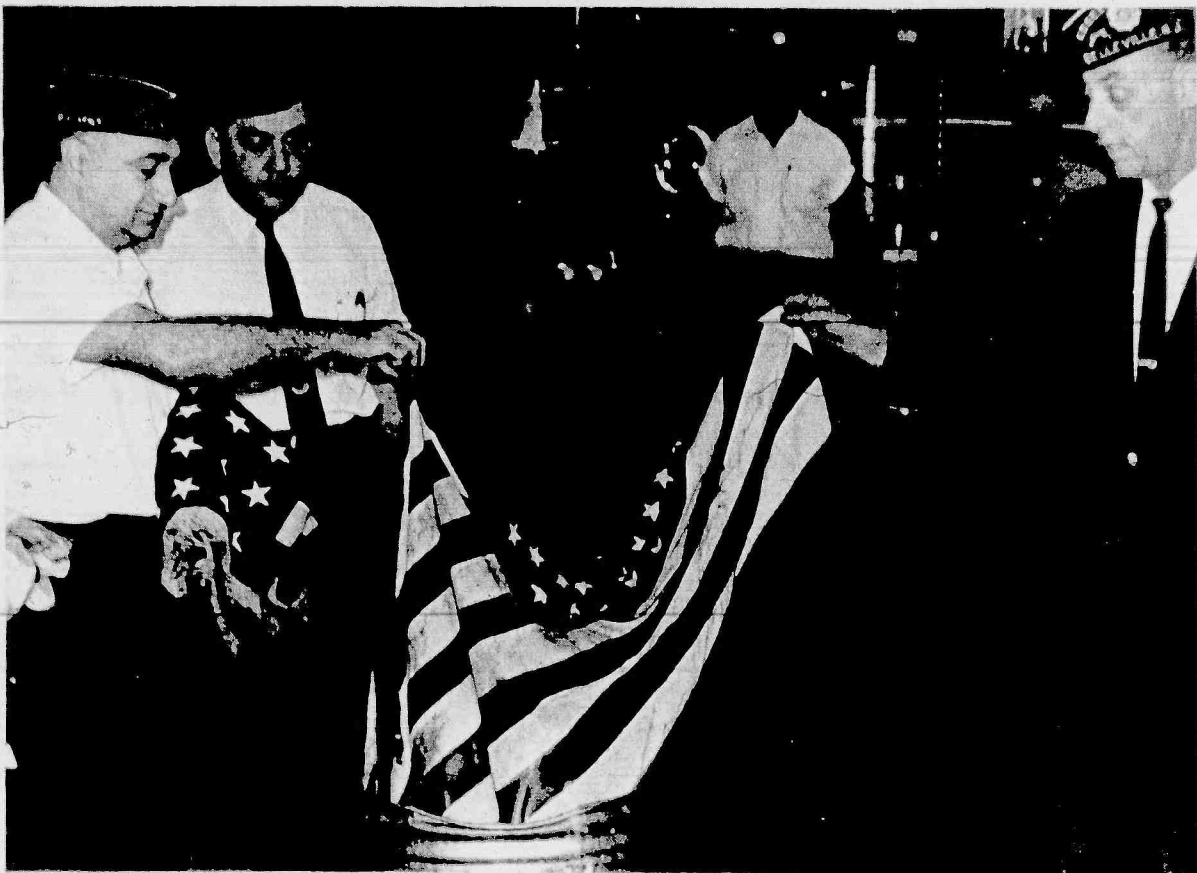

On June 1, 1940 (Father Menegus remembered the exact date), he was sent to St. Anthony's Parish.

The parish looked nothing like it does today when Father Menegus took over. Throwing himself into his work, the Father spent many hard years getting St. Anthony's School, Rectory and Convent built. To build the structures, the Father had to acquire four acres of land.

St. Anthony's will miss this dedicated man.

According to the building inspector, his department has also received numerous phone calls inquiring for swimming pool regulations.

Isn't it funny how petty habits become so important, once they're habits?

Cullen's Project Under Question

Commissioner Cullen informed the Times two weeks ago that he has begun his Stadium project "on the assumption it will be okayed because it is something very vital to the town and the Board of Education's recreation program."

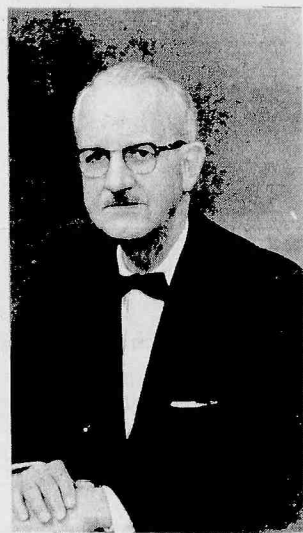

Workers are currently leveling off a 500 square foot area of Stadium land adjacent to the field area that has been developed. Cullen told the Times he plans to remove the baseball field from the football area, and reseed the infield. Included in the project will be facilities for

A.N.J. Disgrace

Crime Unlimited

Last week we were treated to an unusual insight into the workings of the Mafia division of organized crime. The revelations obtained by an FBI bug placed in the office of a Mafia big-wig fall in the Believe It or Not category.

There were Mafia conversations covering murder, labor racketeering, political influence - and just about every illegal activity imaginable.

The disclosures should offend the public conscience; but more than that, they should arouse the public to a point where public officials feel obliged to renew efforts to rid our society of this cancer.

It can be concluded from the conferences purloined by the FBI bug that organized crime can only exist with the connivance of money-hungry politicians, elected and appointed.

The time has arrived to launch a crusade to exterminate the "exterminators".

Imagine a hoodlum casually talking about hitting a man eight times in the head with a crowbar and see the man die before his very eyes from these inflicted blows!

Members of the mob hold conversations about snuffing out lives like it was an innocuous order for an ice cream cone.

When we, in our society, permit gangland murders to take place week after week without a determined effort to apprehend the culprits, one wonders how valid is our complaint against the North Vietnam killers.

Why make the effort in human blood and money in a futile attempt to secure American-type freedom in Vietnam when we here at home are not free from the ravages of the underworld?

We had better clean up our own backyard - and soon - if we want to continue being the showcase of the free world.

The muscle of organized crime is slowly but inexorably being felt in the business community.

Last week the press reported two A & P store managers were murdered by organized crime because the chain refused to buy a detergent from a Mafia-controlled firm.

To remain silent in the face of these outrages is merely to compromise our own future, our country's strength, and in the end we run the risk of brutalizing ourselves.

We do not know where the blame lies for this ugly condition which permits organized crime to get away with murder, but our elected officials in Town Hall, Trenton, and Washington better show some signs of interest in the problem and take meaningful action if they expect the continued support of the voters and this newspaper.

Senator Lorraine Beebe

Lorraine Beebe an obviously courageous person is the only woman State Senator in Michigan. Mrs. Beebe is the mother of two children.

Last week she was engaged in a dramatic but futile attempt to have the Michigan State Senate approve legislation liberalizing Michigan's 100-year-old abortion statute.

The legislators voted 16 in favor of Mrs. Beebe's bill and 17 were opposed. Twenty (20) affirmative votes were required for adoption of the legislation.

In making a plea for passage of the legislation, Mrs. Beebe related her own experiences, which include five miscarriages and a therapeutic abortion, a surgical procedure permitted by law in Michigan. Addressing her fellow Senators, Mrs. Beebe said, "I am a woman who had a therapeutic abortion in a Catholic hospital, and don't think I didn't come face to face with my conscience. But I never, never would have had the opportunity to have children if I didn't have this."

"I am tired of the inference that women are not responsible. They are basically moral and responsible for what happens to their bodies."

The bill which prompted Mrs. Beebe's appeal would permit abortions if the mother's mental or physical health were in danger, a child might be mentally or physically deformed, or in cases of rape or incest. Present Michigan law permits an abortion to be performed only if the mother's life is in danger.

As in most matters of public interest, it is no doubt better to remain silent than to speak and become controversial. But remaining silent is not our cup of tea.

When a mother's mental or physical health are in danger or a child might be mentally or physically deformed, or a pregnancy occurs by reason of rape or incest, we support Senator Beebe's belief that in these instances an abortion should be legally permitted.

New Jersey laws concerning abortions also require updating. Is there a male Lorraine Beebe in the house? (There are no female State Senators in New Jersey.)

Little People Hurt Again

The recent increase in the prime interest rate to 8-1/2% is bad news for all of us little people who have to work for a living and on occasion find it necessary to finance capital improvements in business and the numerous items that ambitious home owners buy to make them feel they are sharing a piece of the technological progress of the Twentieth Century.

Interest on automobile loans must now go higher. Interest on home repair loans will cost more. Interest on loans for the purchase of furniture and various kitchen appliances will make these purchases cost more.

There is nothing anyone buys on time today that wouldn't cost more than it did before the interest hike.

We hear Washington politicians talking about ways and means to keep down inflation. We hear Washington officials talking about maintaining the surtax on the income tax in order to control inflation.

Nothing in the field of economics has happened in recent months more devastating to the pocketbook of the little man than the outrageous increase in the interest rate.

It is time a meaningful investigation of this problem is conducted at our state and national levels. The policy of uncontrolled interest rate rises cannot be endured by people who already are over-burdened and are finding it difficult to make ends meet.

Is there one legislator willing to take on the burden of protecting the little man against the financial lobbies? We hope so.

The County Welfare Board

Under the leadership of Essex County Welfare Board Chairman, Frank A. Palmieri, a Fraud Squad was created to eliminate cheats from the welfare rolls. The State Welfare Board doesn't look kindly upon the Palmieri approach and has asked the Essex County Welfare Board to abandon its approach to the problem of fraud in favor of a State Welfare Board takeover.

The dispute arises because the State and Federal Governments pick up most of the tab for welfare expense incurred by the county.

Because the State and Federal Welfare administrative groups appear to be socially inclined, they have decided to refuse to make any contribution to Essex County for the cost of the Welfare Board's Fraud Squad.

As a matter of fact, this refusal has lead welfare-state minded leaders to ask for the removal of Mr. Palmieri from his post.

Every informed person knows there is fraud being practiced by a number of welfare recipients. Palmieri could do no less than to relentlessly endeavor to eliminate every fraudulent recipient of welfare.

Instead of firing Palmieri, maybe somebody ought to ask for removal of the individuals on the State Welfare Board and the Federal Government entity who are less concerned about fraud than Mr. Palmieri.

Tax Man

Randolph W. Thrower

IRS Commissioner Randolph W. Thrower is planning the development of a strong and well-trained audit branch to concentrate on the examination of income tax returns filed by tax exempt organizations.

Commissioner Thrower promises to establish a branch—a new branch—within the office of the Compliance Activity at the National Office of Internal Revenue. He promises to initiate expanded training activities in order to develop agents who will become specialists in the field. His hope is to develop a select core of specialists who will know how to audit exempt organization information returns. Commissioner Thrower plans to double the manpower now assigned to the examination of exempt organizations.

The greater the number of tax exempt organizations compelled to pay their fair share of income taxes, the lesser the load on the little man who collectively pays 80 percent on the total income taxes paid into the Federal Government.

We view Commissioner Thrower's action as a break for the little man.

Citizens Give Views On Town Structure

Question: Mayor Smith has called Belleville an urban town, while Commissioner Vincent Strumolo thinks the town is suburban. In your opinion, which way do you view Belleville, urban or suburban?

Asked: of Belleville residents.
Jerry Blake - 90 Dow Street

I think it's suburban, anyway I like to think the town is suburban. The town itself is close to the large metropolitan areas, yet it does have a suburban identity. I've lived here for more than eight years and I wouldn't leave here. The main street of Belleville isn't too large, yet there is enough variety to shop. There is plenty of industry nearby by yet almost all of the advantages of a suburban town exist. I myself don't work in Belleville, I work in New York. I was born in Brooklyn and there is a huge difference between the two places. It's a different life altogether. I'd much rather live in Belleville. The only thing I dislike in this town is the parking meters. The meters on Washington Avenue are closely guarded by a meter maids and when some one wants to run in a store for only a minute, they find themselves with a ticket.

Mrs. Ella Revill - 49 Williams Street

I think Belleville is mostly a urban town. The people in Belleville are very nice in a suburban sort of way. I would like to agree with Mayor Smith on his thinking along improving the town by trying to get the high rise apartments idea through to the people. By installing high rise apartments in many of the areas, Belleville would become even a better town. It would be good for business and the people of the town. If high rise apartments could be put up some of the older areas in town would be done away with, which would make for a newer and cleaner town.

Mrs. Joseph Kearney - 38 Perry Street

I agree with Mayor Smith's thinking that this town is definitely urban. The outlying areas of Northern New Jersey are suburban but the Belleville area would be classified as urban. I think the majority of the people of Belleville would want to think of themselves as an urban people.

I can't really agree with the high rise master plan because there are enough of people in Belleville already. The high rise would only make things more complicated. I think the town is improving the way things stand. The original people, by that I mean the people that were raised in Belleville, are the mainstays of the town. They aren't moving out of the town.

Mrs. Catherine Blume - 134 Hornblower Avenue

I think the town of Belleville is mainly urban because of the industry. Belleville has many of the qualities of a suburban town but it also has the advantages of an urban town. Belleville is very close to all the large cities yet it has a suburban atmosphere to it. I'm definitely not for the high rise plan though because I think it would detract from the town's atmosphere. I'm from Newark originally and I think if high rise apartments were to be built, many of Belleville's good qualities would be gone. Belleville is a mixture of an urban and a suburban town.

Angry Mother Criticizes Times

To The Editor:

The baseball season is well under way this year and once again the Belleville Times has not seen fit to report on the teams which are playing in the Belleville Recreation League. The Little League teams and their games, standings, batting averages etc, etc, are fully covered each week.

This is, of course, as it should be since we are all interested in all the boys who play. However, there are those of us who have sons and husbands who play or manage a team. We are interested in reading about the Recreation League teams and feel that since this is a town sponsored league, the town newspaper should make an effort to report on the teams.

I have no accurate count on the number of boys involved on all the teams playing on the Farm, Intermediate and Senior leagues but I imagine the total number of boys who are playing several games each week are worthy of your notice! You might even be surprised at the quality of baseball played and the fine coaching these boys receive from men who give their time and efforts to promote good sportsmanship.

Did you know for instance that there was a no hit game pitched last week in the Senior League? Or, a triple play made? Do you have any idea how many parents come out to every game? By the same token, do you have the slightest idea what problems have been encountered on occasion trying to get decent equipment, or fields that are fit to play on, or a little thing like uniforms and caps? I do because from March until August each year (and longer if we have a rainy season), I hear the highlights of the games from my son who has been playing three years in this League and the frustrations suffered trying to improve the League so more boys can play etc, from my husband who works each year coaching and managing a team as well as planning with the other managers the schedules before the season starts. The boys enjoy playing, the managers are devoted to the boys and the game, the parents are loyal, what we need to complete the picture is just some mention that the Recreation League exists!

How about it, do you think you could "share" the space you give each week to the Little League with the other boys in town? I am sure the boys would be most appreciative and the citizens of Belleville should be aware of the fact that the town does sponsor a baseball League.

Thank you for your interest in this request.

Very truly yours,
Mrs. William F. Lenehan
28 Meacham St.
Belleville, N.J.

(Editor's Note- The Little League submits articles and reports each week to the Times. If the Belleville Recreation League will bring in reports, The Times will be happy to publish them.)

Guglicelli Hits Town For Election Voting

To the Editor,

I am very disappointed with the results of the elections by the people in my district.

You just can't win in my area loaded with politicians when the people follow the sheep and don't appreciate a good man.

I received 29 votes fighting two political machines without a partner and lost by 40 votes.

When the people receive their new tax bill which will show a large increase regardless of the lower tax rate, they know where to go to complain to the Commissioners.

They had their chance to fight an injustice, and let it slip away. Belleville is not the town it was under the council-manager form of government, which produced a surplus of almost one million dollars, and was ready to fight the new reevaluation program in the courts, which I have stated many times is illegal.

I have now closed the door on that issue, many thanks to you, your paper and to the people who voted for me. I know who they are.

Town Commissioners Comment On Belleville's Primary Results

The June 3 primary saw a 22 per cent turnout of the registered voters in Belleville. The Times solicited comments from the town Commissioners concerning the turnout and the results. All of the Commissioners expressed concern at the low number of votes cast in what they felt was an important election.

Mayor Kenneth Smith said, "I don't think it was a very good turnout. It was an important primary and many more people should have come out to vote. There are many important issues facing us, especially the state income tax. The taxpayer today is on the brink of a cliff, and any more tax will shove him over."

The Mayor went on to say that "The voter should think very carefully about who he will vote for the election. I hope we will have a better turnout. I think we need a governor who will take the relief program out of the hands of the county and put it into the State where it belongs."

Commissioner Vincent Strumolo declined to comment on a partisan level, preferring to express himself as a non-partisan commissioner. "I think the turnout was poor," Commissioner Strumolo said. "I expected more people to be interested in the gubernatorial race. I think it's a very important job. As a commissioner I would like to see more people select their choice. The people should be more interested in the tax issues because they are hit too hard with taxes as it is. The governor should go in and try to lower them. The taxes I'm referring to are not on property, but on cigarettes, gas and income."

Town Democratic leader Commissioner Mary Senatore spoke as a Democrat, saying "I was a little disappointed more people didn't come out to cast their votes. I feel a lot of work will be needed for the coming election. I'm very confident that we will win. The people chose their candidate for governor and I'm going to back him. I'm going to hold many affairs from now until the election to help Meyner win in November."

Commissioner William Cullen said: "I can only speak as a Democrat. I think the right man won, Robert Meyner. It bore out the belief of the regular democratic organization that he should be the best candidate. The turnout was very poor, but it usually is in the primary. The people should take more advantage of their right to vote."

Commissioner Joseph McGreevy said "The turnout was very small. I think it's because a lot of people didn't want to declare themselves. I think there will be a Republican winner in

Twenty-Seven Get Degrees

Local Students Graduated From Rutgers University

Twenty-seven Belleville students were among a record 4,800 candidates who received degrees from Rutgers, the State University, on June 4 at the football stadium on the New Brunswick campus.

The degrees were given out at two separate ceremonies. At 10 a.m., Dean Margery S. Foster conferred degrees on about 650 women graduates of Douglas College. Congresswoman Shirley Chisholm was the principal speaker at the 51st anniversary commencement exercises for the women's college.

Dr. Mason W. Gross, Rutgers president, conferred the degrees to students of 16 of the University's colleges in the evening. Dr. Gross also conferred eight honorary degrees in addition to advanced and baccalaureate degrees at the University's 203rd anniversary commencement.

Dr. Gross also conferred eight honorary degrees in addition to advanced and baccalaureate degrees at the University's 203rd anniversary commencement. In addition to the evening service, an ROTC commissioning ceremony and a senior class day program made commencement an all-day affair.

Belleville Woman Tries Raising Funds For Dogs

A Belleville woman is trying to raise funds for the care and feeding of two sick Chihuahuas.

BECK'S COLUMN

By MAX BECK

A customer who had bought an air conditioner, dropped in the store a couple of days later, just to tell us how much he enjoyed it and how much comfort it gave. And then he said: "Why didn't we buy it long before?"

Man is a creature of habit. Nobody would think of building a new house and not have a heating system. Why? Because even our ancestors who lived in caves had the comfort of a fire, when it was cold. We are used to heat in our abodes.

When it comes to get relief from excessive heat, we were stumped. Years ago some motion picture theaters tried to blow air over a large pile of ice to cool the air, but it carried a discomfortable amount of humidity. A fan just moves air and by the effect of evaporating moisture from the skin, creates a feeling of coolness. Electric air conditioning was quite expensive for many years. Now an air conditioner for a small room can be bought for about $125., and it should be emphasized that a unit in this price range will cool just one room, and only a small one at that. Don't think you can install such a small unit just anywhere in an apartment and expect to cool it, it won't work. Just the same as radiators are needed for heat, air conditioners have to be the right size to properly cool a given space. This should be determined by an expert, the same as the size of a radiator has to be calculated. Many people who just went out and bought an air conditioner without proper advice found out to their dismay that it did not perform the way they expected. They just did not buy the right size.

It is necessary to make a survey to determine the correct size of unit. We offer this service free of charge. Just call us. You are under no obligation whatsoever.

We service what we sell.

Mrs. Liselotte L. Schloss of 32 Essex Avenue is trying to get the money needed to care for the two dogs. They are being cared for now by Mrs. Isabelle Shouten of Hanover.

On May 29, Mrs. Kraus, head of the "Cats and Cat Owner's Aid Inc.," phoned Mrs. Schloss and told her to pick up three sick Chihuahuas at Bremond Street in Belleville. The dogs were brought to Dr. Gates who treated them and gave them board.

Unfortunately there were no funds available to board the dogs for too many days. Upon a plea for help, Fanny of the "Humane Societies," picked up the animals from Dr. Gates and brought them for boarding to their shelter on Evergreen Avenue in Newark.

In the meantime, Mrs. Burkart of West Caldwell got very busy looking for someone kind, experienced and dependable enough to take care of the sick dogs. She succeeded - and on June 3 the dogs were taken to Mrs. Shouten.

The dogs were given excellent veterinarians' care. Two of them improved greatly, but the third died.

Mrs. Schloss promised Mrs. Shouten to try and get Belleville residents to help with the cost. The dogs need treatment and special medicine and food for many weeks. Mrs. Schloss is hoping people will send dimes and quarters to help out.

Teenagers Convicted For Alcohol

They teen agers appeared before Judge Edward Abromson in Belleville Municipal Court for illegal possession of alcohol beverages and went home $50 poorer.

Richard Utter of 90 Manchester Place, Newark, Lawrence Baird of 19 Berkley Avenue, and John Bordonaro of 15 Celia Court, both of Belleville, pleaded guilty as charged.

Officer Rocco Sepi of the Essex County Park Police testified against the youths. Officer Sepi said that on the evening of June 5 he was on routine patrol when he discovered noises coming from some bushes in a Belleville park area.

After investigating the sounds, he discovered the defendants on the ground with a six pack of beer between them. Officer Sepi arrested the youths for illegal possession of alcoholic beverages.

Judge Abromson levied a $50 fine to each of the youths.

Rotary-Lions Clubs Set For Pre-Camp Meeting

The annual pre-camp meeting of the Belleville Rotary and Lion's clubs at Camp Ro-Li in Bloomingdale will take place next Wednesday.

Representatives of both clubs will meet for dinner at the camp near Glenwilde Lake, to discuss its progress over the winter. The coed campus has been owned for the last 16 years by the two clubs.

The camp staff will be present to discuss plans for the coming summer season. According to William F. Gausman, president of the Camp Ro-Li administrative committee, the gathering used to function as a clean-up activity, but has recently become a social function.

A good deal of the children who attend the camp go on campership funds provided by Belleville industry and business.

Lynne Kovacs Winner Of Economics Award

Miss Lynn Kovacs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kovacs of 120 Malone Avenue, Belleville, has been chosen as the recipient of the Silver Award from the home economics area of the related arts department at Belleville High School.

The award is given each year to a senior girl who has done outstanding work. It consists of a six-piece place setting in sterling silver. The presentation was made on May 28 at the awards assembly.

Total Unemployment Rises During Months April-May

Total unemployment in New Jersey declined by 9,400 to 125,200 from April to May, and the jobless rate moved downward by 0.4 to 4.2 percent of the work force, according to estimates of the New Jersey Department of Labor and Industry. Both the rate and the volume of unemployment were the lowest for the month since May, 1966. Much of the drop was seasonal, however, and resulted from additional hiring and recalls in construction, service, trade, and farming. Compared with May 1968, unemployment declined by 5300 and the jobless rate decreased by 0.3 to 4.2 percent of the work force.

'Air Pollution And You' Subject Of Address By Extension Specialist

Man can live about five weeks without food, five days without water, but most of us would be dead if we were deprived of air for five minutes.

This message on "Air Pollution and You" was presented by Joseph J. Soporowski, Associate Extension Specialist in Environmental Sciences, Rutgers University, before homemakers of Essex County May 28 at the North Reformed Church, Newark.

The event was sponsored by the Essex County Home Economics Extension Council with Mrs. Thomas Kelly of Orange and Mrs. Robert Randolph of Montclair as co-chairman. Mrs. K. L. Warthman of Millburn, president of the Council welcomed the group.

Mr. Soporowski said that when the presence of waste materials in the atmosphere causes injury to human plant or animal life as unreasonably interferes with the comfortable enjoyment of life and property, we have air pollution.

One of the largest sources of air pollutants is the burning of materials for the making of heat or power or to get rid of waste materials. In eastern United States we are more likely to experience air pollution problems in the fall when there are extended periods of low wind velocities accompanied by air temperature inversions.

In most cases the best way to prevent air pollution is to prevent the development of the pollutants or to catch them before they get out into the air.

As citizens we can improve the quality of air in which we live by:

1. Keeping our automobile motor and home heating units adjusted properly. Poor fuel combustion results in air pollution coming out of the exhaust pipe or chimney along with extra dollars out of your pocket.

2. Do not burn leaves, garbage, or refuse materials. Assist your community in establishing adequate trash collection.

3. Join one of the many citizens groups that are involved in controlling air pollution through efforts ranging from interest in the problems of local air pollution sources to support of research in the field.

4. Be willing to pay the direct and indirect cost of cleaner air through increased prices of products, taxes, and even inconveniences.

5. Learn all you can about the many aspects of air pollution. Sources of information include your local or state air pollution control agency, the U.S. Public Health Service and Your Land Grant College.

Following Mr. Soporowski's discussion thirty nine volunteer leaders of the Essex County Home Economics Extension Service were presented recognition cards by County Home Economists, Mrs. Marguerite Kerr and Mrs. Janet Spong.

These volunteer leaders are a link between the Extension Service and the public. Without their willingness to serve many Essex County residents would not receive information and gain skills which can contribute to personal and family living.

Leaders honored from this area include: Mrs. P. Mease, Nutley and Mrs. Ann Rivello, Belleville

The Extension Service is a branch of Rutgers University designed to conduct a free educational program for Essex County residents. It is also sponsored by the Essex County Board of Chosen Freeholders and the United States Department of Agriculture. Program areas include: Family Stability, Consumer Competence, Family Housing, Family Health and Community Resource Development.

The best show on earth is the human race, and the performance is continuous, and free.

American Legion Nine Loses Its First, Dropping 4-1 Decision To Maplewood

By John McCarthy

The American Legion baseball team lost its first game of the season to Maplewood, evening its record at 1-1. Rich Schultz pitched the entire seven innings, allowing Maplewood only 3 hits, but losing 4-1. John Goscinski opened up the game for Belleville in the first with a solid single to left field. Goscinski then stole second base before Tony Cervasio grounded out third to first, and Joe Vitiello struck out. Don Boyce was hit a hard shot right to the shortstop, who let the ball go by into left field, allowing Goscinski to score from second. With Bill Otskey up,

Boyce stole second but he was stranded there when Otskey struck out. Schulz went out to the mound and put down

Maplewood on two fly outs and a strike out. After a walk, a pickoff, a strike out and a long fly out, Maplewood got up for the bottom of the second, which was their big inning. The Belleville nine goes against Irvington tomorrow, at home at 6 p.m.

ITT Awarded Contract For Vietnam Phones

International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation has been awarded a $2 million contract to supply 16,000 lines of telephone switching equipment, the largest single order ever placed in South Vietnam for public telephone exchanges. The equipment, to be supplied and installed by ITT's Belgian affiliate, Bell Telephone Manufacturing Company of Antwerp, is known as Pentaconta crossbar/automatic telephone switching.

Of the 16,000 lines, 12,000 will be installed in two exchanges in Saigon and the remainder in Da Nang, Qui Nhon, Can Tho and Nha Trang. When operational, it will bring vastly improved and expanded public services for telephone users in these areas.

The contract was signed in Saigon by Chau Kim Nhan, director general of the Central Logistics Agency, and Robert B. Papazian, vice president of ITT Far East and Pacific, Inc., on behalf of Bell

Greater Use of Glass in Automobiles Featured in This Year's Car Design

More glass, and glass which does more --- including a "musical" windshield and a rear window that "de-fogs" itself --- are among key new styling and safety features of 1969 automobiles.

The '69 cars further two automotive design trends: greater use of glass for increased visibility, and use of glass types with new performance capabilities. In the just unveiled '69's, the performance glasses include a windshield which picks up radio signals and a back window conducts electricity for quick defogging.

The "musical" windshield brings the sound of Mendelssohn, Mozart or Mama Cass to "tuned-in" motorists just like a regular radio antenna. The windshield is, in fact, the automobile's only antenna, as the outside antenna rod is eliminated on cars incorporating the new glass.

Libbey-Owens-Ford Company developed the antenna windshield in conjunction with Pontiac Motor Division, General Motors Corporation. The car's sleek, streamlined styling is enhanced by removing the antenna rod. Also eliminated are the chance of the rod being broken by vandals, the need to raise or lower the antenna, and exposure of the antenna to weathering.

Elements of risk in driving without a clear back view, plus the need to wipe clean the inside surface, are minimized automatically when this rear window goes to work. An electric current spreads over the interior glass area, first removing any fog accumulation and then keeping the glass "fog-free."

Both the heated back glass and the antenna windshield are incorporated in certain new models from General Motors. The windshield is standard equipment on the '69 Pontiac Grand Prix and the rear window, also produced by L-O-F, is offered as an option on certain Buick, Oldsmobile, Pontiac and Chevrolet models.

Neither glass part's full capabilities are obvious at first glance. Both are made to retain the good visibility and general appearance of a regular windshield or back window.

WINDSHIELD LISTENING — Windshield listening may never replace baseball as the all-American sport, but it could become a popular hobby with this pretty miss around. She's calling attention to the new windshield made by Libbey-Owens-Ford to pick up radio signals, enabling the convention auto antenna rod to be eliminated. Providing the radio reception are very thin antenna wires, between the laminated part's glass panels, which connect the radio through a lead at the windshield molding.

The "musical" windshield's radio reception is attained by microthin antenna wires between the laminated part's two glass panels, according to John A. McClanathan, Libbey-Owens-Ford's director of automotive glass sales.

There are two lengths of wire, each extending from the bottom center of the glass, up the center and halfway across the top of the windshield. Each antenna wire is only 5-thousandths of an inch thick, and is positioned outside the normal vision line of both driver and from-seat passenger. The wires are connected to the radio through a lead at the windshield molding.

On the tempered rear window, de-fogging capabilities are created by a grid-like pattern of very fine lines affixed to the inside glass surface. These lines are less than 1/32 inch in width and are spaced 1-1/8 inches apart, Mr. McClanathan said.

The lines are composed of a ceramic frit with metallic content which conducts electric current. The grid is applied by a silk-screen technique similar to a stenciling process, and then is fire-fused onto the glass surface during the tempering operation.

In addition to these twoglass parts, the 1969 automobiles show an increased emphasis on "full glass" styling, with more side windows having a continuous glass expanse replacing the conventional front vent.

Greater use of the all-glass side treatment is especially prevalent in design of the larger automobile bodies. Elimination of the vent and perpendicular vent frame bar provides a cleaner, more streamlined look as well as more unobstructed vision.

ITT Avionics Division Continues Modernization

ITT Avionics Division is buying $800,000 worth of new manufacturing and test equipment in the latest of the firm's continued modernization efforts at its Nutley plant.

A member of International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation's Defense-Space Group, ITT Avionics is headquartered at 390 Washington Avenue. The Division operates and maintains a complex of buildings from Route 3 Clifton, south to Satterthwaite Avenue, Nutley.

Planned for delivery over a two-year period, 1968-1969, the new equipment is part of an overall capabilities and facilities upgrading program at the Nutley-Clifton complex. Approximately $214,000 worth of new equipment is already installed and in operation with another $150,000 worth of equipment due by early Spring.

The Division had budgeted another $433,000 for the purchase of new equipment with delivery expected by the end of this year.

The overall effort to upgrade manufacturing capabilities and facilities at ITT Avionics is part of a five-year plan, underway since early last year. The plan, directed by John Koffel, director of manufacturing, calls for modernization of the plant facilities through renovation projects and refurbishment in several sections of the 600,000 square foot production area.

"The new equipment," Koffel said, "is a necessary step for ITT Avionics to remain competitive in modern electronics manufacturing."

ITT Avionics is a leading Defense supplier of navigation systems, electronic warfare, and anti-submarine warfare equipments.

Koffel said the five-year plan implementation will gear manufacturing for the influx of work projected by the ITT Avionics Division five-year business forecast. "The refurbishing program will not only increase our competitiveness, but will also make the Clifton plant a modern, more efficient, better overall place to work," he said.

As part of the refurbishment program, the plant is now getting an interior facelift with a new coat of paint.

Coupled with the painting is renovation of a Loran D navigation system production area, and the environmental area and material lab. These initial projects, now complete, included refurbishment of work areas, and new equipment.

New equipment purchased under the plan, Koffel said, reflects the versatility of the planning at ITT Avionics. Each new machine will have use on several production processes. "The planning is a continuous process," the manufacturing director said. "Implementation has started and will continue as new programs are phased into production."

Public Library To Help Kids Read In Summer

"Blast Off To The Moon" will be the theme of this year's summer reading program at the Belleville Public Library.

The program gets under way on June 30 at both the Main Library on Washington Avenue and the Silver Lake Branch Library at 30 Magnolia Street.

Summer readers will be grouped into two categories: children who have completed grades K-3, and those who have completed grades 4-6.

Children in each group will reach the moon by reading and reporting on nine books--18 books for the round trip. Each child's progress will be shown on a sky map at the library as the rocket ship bearing his name moves thru space to the moon and back.

All children completing the round trip will be awarded a certificate of merit at the annual awards party Saturday, September 7. There will be individual prizes for the champion readers too, and, as in past years, the rotating Summer Reading Award will be inscribed and presented to the school whose students perform best as a group. Last year's school winner was School No. 5.

In addition to the summer long reading program, there will be an exciting schedule of weekly activities at both the Main Library and the Silver Lake Branch. These will include Story and activity hours, group sing-a-longs, playacting and performing, and special semi-monthly Movie Times. Complete schedules are available at the libraries.

Set your table with this lovely imported dinnerware.

Then sit back and enjoy the compliments. And don't be surprised if you get more compliments about the dinnerware than about the dinner! Everyone notices really beautiful table settings, and every one of these four Enoch Wedgwood (Tunstall) Ltd. patterns is beautiful. What's more, despite their delicate look, they're so sturdily constructed you can use them as often as you like without worrying about chipping or cracking. And if you select your set now, you'll benefit from extraordinary savings.

Here's all you do:

1. Select—come in today, see the beautiful Enoch Wedgwood (Tunstall) Ltd. Dinnerware on display. Make your selection from four lovely, decorative patterns.
2. Reserve—Register your choice of pattern and set (28-piece starter or 9-piece completer set) on free Reservation Form at store.
3. Collect—13 layaway certificates at 99¢ each with each $3 grocery purchase. And paste into free saver card.
4. Redeem—When your saver card is complete, with 13 certificates, pick up your set right at the store and enjoy it.
