Apathy Hits Town On Stadium Issue

It appears that Belleville town organizations have little interest in improving Municipal Stadium facilities, despite the fact that Commissioner William Cullen's recently proposed Stadium expansion plan will cost the town over $100,000. Only eight organizations sent representatives to a special meeting of the Belleville Athletic Council, June 24, called to discuss the town's possible role in future Stadium improvements. Forty invitations were sent to town organizations.

The Department of Parks and Public Property has already begun a $175,000 expansion project at the Stadium. The Department's commissioner, William Cullen, was present at the Council's meeting to discuss his plans for the Stadium.

Dr. Frank Di Ruggiero, president of the Board of Education, was present at the sparsely attended meeting, and expressed disappointment at the town's evident lack of interest.

The Board owns a portion of the 500 square feet of land that Cullen is presently leveling at the Stadium. Dr. Di Ruggiero had directed Board attorney Max Schwartz to examine the Board's deed to the land to ascertain its legal position. Dr. Di Ruggiero said the Board will not give up the land until it "learns whether the land will be used for educational purposes."

At a special meeting of the Board, Monday night, Dr. Di Ruggiero attempted to play a tape of the June 24 Athletic Council meeting for reporters, but several Board members objected because the Athletic Council assemblage had not been told the tape would be heard by reporters.

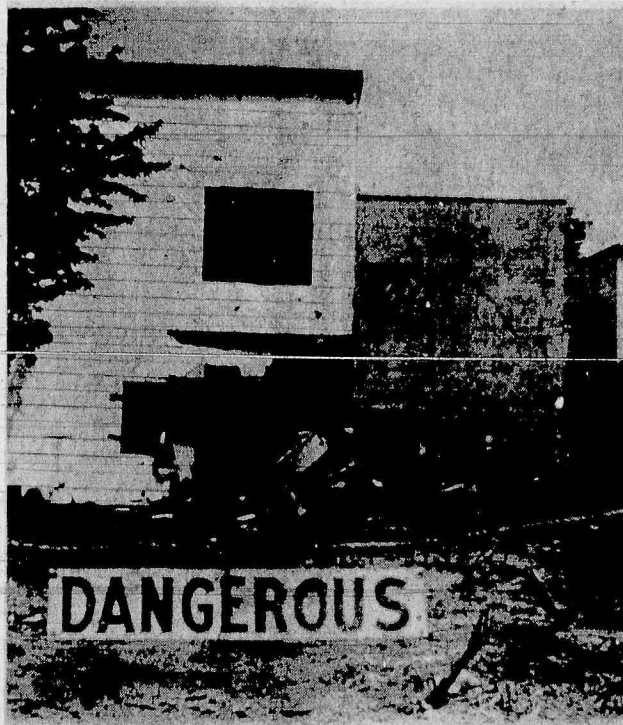

Schwartz, who was also present at the Board meeting, told reporters he had investigated the Board's legal position and was preparing to meet with that body. The attorney emphasized his advisory capacity in the matter, stating that the decision to give up or keep the land would rest entirely with the Board.

Commissioner Cullen informed the Times, three weeks ago, that he has begun his Stadium project "on the assumption it will be okayed because it is something very vital to the town and the Board of Education's recreation program."

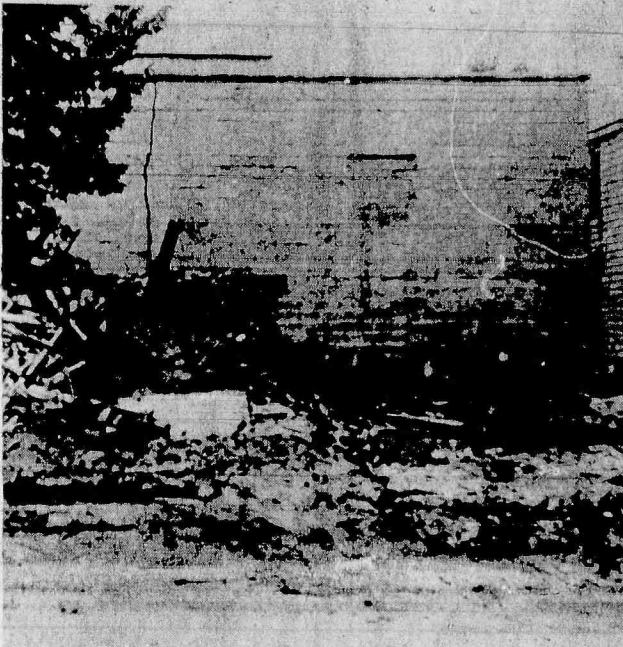

Workers are currently leveling off a 500 square foot area of Stadium land adjacent to the field area that has been developed. Cullen told the Times he plans to remove the baseball field from the football area, and reseed the infield. Included in the project will be facilities for two baseball fields, tennis, handball and basketball courts, a picnic area and possibly a skating rink.

Commissioner Cullen said he expects to get $100,000 from the Commission, the rest to be acquired from the State.

Rat Problem Crushed

BEFORE — This view of the controversial house on Heckel Street was taken before demolition crews came in. The Heckel Street residents were in an uproar, claiming the house had rats and was not exterminated. The house was eventually exterminated.

AFTER — This view of the demolished house shows some of the current problem residents are having. The piles of dirt are supposedly causing great dust problems for the immediate residents. Alas, the house is most unpopular, up or down.

Sewers Exterminated

Rat Problems Are Eliminated

Those elusive Heckel Street rats that caused such a furor in town last week, were exterminated yesterday by the Health Department and the Department of Public Works.

Sewers along Heckel Street were baited by the Health Department with the aid of Public Works sewer trucks.

Heckel Street residents had caused a heated controversy when they claimed that an abandoned home at 85 Heckel Street was the dwelling place for rats. Examinations by Building Inspector Vincent Mustacchio had revealed no evidence of rats, but the premises were exterminated by Sam Cifrodello.

The citizens had been in an uproar because the building was being demolished prior to the extermination. The Health Department was initially blamed for the crisis, but a Times examination revealed that a demolition permit was issued by Mustacchio without notification being given to health officials. Public Affairs Commissioner Vincent Strumolo stated he would have made sure the premises were privately exterminated had he been properly notified.

Mustacchio said he was so overjoyed that the demolition permit was being applied for, that he overlooked calling the Health Department. He said Commissioner Mary Senator "covered" him by notifying the Health Department.

Mustacchio has been working hard to follow up a recent ordinance that calls for the demolition of unsafe houses and garages.

Meanwhile, the premises at 85 Heckel Street have been demolished. Citizens are now complaining about the dust they say emanates from the torn down house.

Board President Lashes At Vandals

Dr. Frank Di Ruggiero, president of the Board of Education, ended this year's last scheduled meeting with a plea to Belleville parents to "be more aware of the cost of school vandalism in Belleville."

The Board president said vandalism had cost the town $5,536.98 this year. Glass damage alone totaled $1,198.06.

The school vandalism figure is almost as high as the town-wide vandalism cost of $6,000 that Commissioner Cullen quoted to the Times three weeks ago.

In other school business, Board Superintendent Anthony J. Greco was reappointed at an annual salary of $21,500. Also reappointed was Board Attorney Max Schwartz at a fee of $3,500, and Medical Inspector Dr. Donald S. Brown at a rate of $4,400 to $4,900.

Town Treasurer Francis McCoy was chosen as school custodian of moneys at a salary of $1,000.

The Board accepted the resignations of John Balfour, a junior high teacher, and Peter Rubolotta.

Stellatela Arrested In Belleville On Theft Charges

Two Belleville Detectives Responsible For Breaking Open Local Theft Ring

By Nathan Gottlieb

Sam Stellatela, in the news two years ago for implicating State Senator Robert Sarcone in an alleged bribery scandal, is back on the front page again.

This time Stellatela, owner of Sonny's Lounge on Williams Street, has been charged with receiving and possessing stolen goods and concealing a deadly weapon, in connection with several breaking and entry and larceny crimes in the Belleville-Nutley area.

The June 30 arrest was the result of nearly six months of intensive investigation by Belleville Detectives Cornelius Berrigan and Barton Rossi.

The tavern owner is out on $2,000 bail pending a preliminary hearing today.

Stellatela was in the news two years ago when he turned over to the Essex County prosecutor's office tapes which allegedly implicated Senator Sarcone of Newark, then one of the County's more powerful Republicans, in an attempt to obtain $600 from Stellatela in return for killing an ABC violation against the tavern owner.

The ABC violation was dismissed by the town for lack of evidence, while Sarcone was indicted on Stellatela's testimony. Sarcone never came to trial because the case was dismissed because of a constitutional violation. As a result of the whole affair, Sarcone's political career was wrecked.

Working with confidential tips and the Nutley Fire Department, the two detectives began a lengthy operation, including many overtime hours, which resulted in Stellatela's arrest. The detectives felt that numerous goods stolen from houses and cars in the Nutley-Belleville area were being stored on Stellatela's premises.

Detectives Berrigan and Rossi were directed in their investigation by Detective Sgt. Joseph Tortorello and Town Attorney Nicholas R. Amato.

In an exclusive interview with the Times, the detectives reported that other suspects in the crimes will be shortly apprehended.

The breaking of the local crime ring is the second time in recent weeks that the Belleville Detective Bureau has been in the news.

Detectives Thomas Ricci and Harold O'Reilly recently broke up a state-wide million dollar silver theft ring.

BELLEVILLE FAVORITE — Bobby Rollins and his Fair Lady, will perform a widely acclaimed comedy act at the Belleville Fourth of July circus. Rollins has appeared on the Dean Martin, Arthur Godfrey, Captain Kangaroo and Milton Berle shows.

Belleville Ready For July Fourth

Commissioner William Cullen has planned a full day's activities for Belleville's traditional Fourth of July celebration at Municipal Stadium.

In the morning there will be a field day for youngsters, starting at 10 a.m., including obstacle races, sack races, three-legged races, tug-o-war, track events, and many trophies to be won.

Impressario Howard Oliver has arranged a circus for the evening, followed by a fireworks display. There is no charge for admission.

This year's circus features many nationally and world famous performers. The show will start with acrobatic control dancer Mary Jane Scanlon, who has appeared at Steel Pier in Atlantic City and on the Joey Bishop show.

The second circus act will be Ken Sherburne of the Clyde Beatty Circus who juggles indian clubs, flaming torches and steel rings while riding a unicycle.

A fantasy in magic follows as the team of Blanchard and Helene present fast-moving illusions, making doves and poodles disappear as they have done on the Johnny Carson show.

A former Radio City Music Hall attraction, the Great Waltons, will then perform on the trampoline. The Great Waltons are a father and two daughters team.

One of Belleville's own talents, Bobby Rollins and his Fair Lady, will perform a widely acclaimed comedy act. In his role as Mr. Belleville, he gets great audience participation and especially delights the children. Rollins has appeared WORKING QUEEN — Miss Belleville, Marilyn Casale, has found a summer job with the Public Affairs Department. The West Chester State College coed will be appearing in Cherry Hill July 9, 10 and 11 for the Miss New Jersey contest.

Miss Belleville Set For Beauty Pageant

With the Miss New Jersey pageant scheduled for July 9, a sendoff is planned for Marilyn Casale, Miss Belleville, Tuesday at the Fountain Restaurant.

The 8 p.m. cake and coffee affair, which will be attended by the Board of Commissioners and the Board of Education, is being sponsored by the Belleville Jaycees. Cost for the evening will be $2.

The Jaycees is chiefly responsible for sending Miss Belleville to the three day pageant in Cherry Hill. Belleville is one of only four towns to send an entry to the State beauty contest. All other queens come from counties and colleges.

Marilyn, a sophomore at West Chester State College in Pennsylvania, won the Miss Belleville title on April 26.

Belleville Boys On Dean's List

Two Belleville residents were named to the dean's list at Rutgers College, New Brunswick for the fall term. Joseph B. Grosch Jr. and Jeffrey A. Lane were the two Belleville residents listed.

Grosch, who resides at 5 Nolton Street, is a junior at the college. Lane, whose address is 37 Crescent Terrace, is also a junior.

He was graduated from the Belleville High School this spring. Leslie has tentatively declared an interest in a liberal arts program of study.

ACTING MAYOR — Finance Commissioner Joseph McGreevy is acting as Mayor for Belleville while Kenneth Smith is vacationing out west. The acting Mayor held his first Commission meeting June 23. Town law specifies that the Finance Commissioner must act as mayor when the mayor is absent.

KICKOFF — Kicker Jimmy Cali puts the old muscle into the ball as the Belleville summer recreation season begins for local youngsters. Holding the ball is Steven Dempsey while an unidentified boy looks eagerly on.

Vincent Connerelli, Reg. Ph.

Have you ever stopped to consider that our children might be safer living in the jungle than in cities. Originally the city was built to provide security, but today children are menaced by criminals and machines, especially auto traffic. In today's cities, we cannot teach our children early in life how to climb trees, swim, something an Australian aborigine still can do. High-rise apartments limit a growing child's freedom. Rather, sometimes has to drive far away to work, leaving child rearing almost entirely to mother. Wouldn't it be nice if we had cities of under 50,000 residents, with all traffic and utilities underground, and most facilities reachable by a ten-minute walk?

We are only as far away as your telephone. When you have prescriptions that need to be filled call 759-1956, ROSSMORE PHARMACY, 338 Washington Ave., "Your Doctor Knows Us Your Doctor Trusts Us", Blue Cross Approved, Whitman's and Schrafft's Candy. Open 9:40 Daily, 9:30 Sundays.

HELPFUL HINT: Use fabric softener in the last rinse when washing your dust mop. It will dry soft and fluffy.

Newark Man Gets Fine And Probation For Illegal Weapon

Illegal possession of a weapon cost a Newark man a stiff fine and two years probation, in Thursday's session of Belleville Municipal Court.

Wilfredo Logardo of 516 South 13th Street pleaded guilty to the charge after consulting with a court appointed lawyer.

Judge Edward Abramson imposed a $400 fine, suspended a six month jail sentence, and handed down a two year probation period for Logardo.

JOB INTERVIEWS — Elizabeth Kaplan of the Neighborhood Youth Corps, is shown here in Commissioner Mary Santone's office interviewing Belleville youths for summer jobs. The Corps will find the kids jobs, and the State will pay them, according to Mary Santone and Betty McLoughlin, who were responsible for setting up the interviews.

Independent Candidate Makes Plea For Upset

The New York City primary election is a fantastic show of what the voters of today are thinking, economy in government and the reduction of riots, as stated by Louis Vander Plate Independent Republican Candidate for Governor.

"It is obvious," said Vander Plate, "that the public is now ousting the powerful political candidates from their offices by the seat of their pants. I am very happy to see that the public is more and more rebelling against the tremendously powerful political bosses and I predict that New Jersey citizens will also react in November against Meyner and Cahill, who are also political king pins for the political bosses in New Jersey."

Independent candidates are winning all around the nation. Mayor Lindsay will also be running as an independent liberal. Vander Plate was the first of the candidates to announce his intention back in the spring of 1968. His greatest support is in the Southern Sector of the state where he has spoken extensively.

Postmaster Benucci Cautions On Leaving Mail During Vacation

"Summer vacationers are cautioned by Postmaster Joseph J. Benucci to protect their mail while they are away from home. 'Contact your local letter carrier and tell him to hold your mail until you return from your holiday,' said Benucci. 'If you cannot see your carrier then write to your postmaster asking him to take care of your mail while vacationing.'

If you plan an extended holiday, the postmaster advises you to rent a box for that period; apply for a temporary change of address or give him the name of a friend or relative who will be responsible for picking up your mail. 'We want you to enjoy your vacation,' said Benucci, 'so please take our advice and make the necessary arrangements to protect your mail while away. Remember, an overstuffed mailbox is an open invitation for vandalism and theft.'

Say He Mislead Times

NJEA Outraged
At Frank Durkee

Statements to the Times by former School Superintendent Frank Durkee in a June 19 article concerning his recent legal settlement with the New Jersey Education Association, have prompted criticism from that organization.

The Times was contacted by Jack Bertolino, director of field service for the N.J.E.A., who felt Durkee's version of the settlement was misleading.

In Bertolino's statement, he said: "We take strong exception to his (Durkee's) comments in the June 19 Belleville Times. The settlement called for a small amount of money, $3,500. The only reason that the insurance company settled it was to avoid the cost of a long trial. There is no doubt in our minds, that had we proceeded with the whole trial, we would have received a dismissal. The small amount of settlement is indicative of the poor case that Durkee's lawyers must have felt he had."

According to Bertolino, Durkee had been asking for $60,000. Durkee had declined to tell the Times the amount of the settlement.

The former superintendent had resigned in 1966 during a stormy controversy with a four member majority block of the School Board. Durkee was suing the N.J.E.A. and the National Education Association for statements they made in an investigation they conducted concerning the former superintendents school activities.

Durkee had resigned from his position after 22 charges were filed against him by the Board, including interference, impropriety, misconduct in office and harassment. During hearings with the State Commissioner of Education, it became apparent that the main charge against Durkee was that he had allowed members of an anti-Board movement to use a school Xerox duplicating machine to make petitions against the Board.

After the State hearings, Durkee accepted payment of $26,000 and resigned from his post.

Food Stamp Program
For All Belleville's Needy

The Essex County food stamp program has now begun. The program, which is not public assistance, is available in most states across the nation.

The program is run by the Department of Agriculture, and its main purpose is to help raise the family standard of living by putting more food on the table. Families or individuals purchasing food stamps are given bonuses. For example, a family which makes a $45 purchase, might receive food stamps valued at $60.

The Essex County food stamp certification office is located at 1006 Broad Street, Newark, Belleville residents interested in the program, should apply directly at the Newark office.

According to Belleville's Welfare Department head, Mrs. Cecilia O'Toole, many Belleville residents, particularly the elderly, are eligible for the program.

Mrs. O'Toole urged interested citizens to bring proof of the county they live in when they apply for the program. They should also bring rent receipts, mortgage and tax receipts. Also required is proof of earnings, such as pay stubs, social security, unemployment or support checks. Applicants should also bring bank books, savings bonds, and any bills they have to pay. All these are used by the program to determine eligibility and the amount of food stamps a family or individual is eligible for.

In order to qualify, a person or family must cook food at home. Savings cannot exceed $1,500, unless, as in the case of the elderly, the savings goes toward living expenses.

The food stamps are only good for edible items at certified stores. Things such as soap or liquor are not purchasable with food stamps.

Nation Awaits July Fourth

July Fourth, the anniversary of the historic Declaration of Independence, will be observed in every American state. There will be speeches, programs and various celebrations as the men and women of today eulogize the great event.

The adoption of a resolution authored by five members of the Continental Congress, July 4, 1776, is one of the great days of democratic civilization and history.

The resolution was authored by Thomas Jefferson, chairman, John Adams, Benjamin Franklin, Roger Sherman and Roger Livingston. Adoption of the resolution, dissolving ties between England and the American colonies, required courage and faith.

Today, however, the historic Fourth has become identified as a day of leisure, marked by deaths, accidents, games and amusement.

We doubt if many readers of this editorial have recently read the words of the Declaration. We recommend that citizens take time out, on the busy day, and carefully consider the truths that Mr. Jefferson so ably expressed.

Learn How To Play

By Rabbi Solomon Herbst

A psychiatrist says: "Many people haven't any real, specific problems - except the general problems of themselves. They'd be all right if they would just stop fuming and fretting about themselves and everything in general."

For some of us, most of our problems would find solution if we would only learn to quiet down. But how do you do that in a mad world? The first requirement is to reduce our pace, or at least the tempo of our race. We literally cut ourselves to shreds with our own hands. We permit ourselves to become over-stimulated, over-excited; we run in many directions at once.

Much of today's "recreation", it has been properly said, must be spelled wreck-reaction. People who live hard and work hard think they have to play hard. The result is self-indulgence requiring vacations from vacations.

Relaxation, one of the gods of an over-industrialized personality, is thought to be the result of a "change of pace" from normal, fatiguing routines; it is not yet linked to a reduction of pace. Actually, the tempo of our lives has more to do with our unhappiness than most realize. We are confused because we are bored; bored because we are tired; tired because we are running all the time.

To relax is to allow oneself a healthy indifference to things that really don't matter; to look at this moment, this hour, with the emotional apathy that realizes that there will be other moments, other hours. Not all was made to be achieved at once; not every flower is a perennial, many are annuals. Even God Himself did not finish the work of Creation; He left much for man to achieve with Him and for Him! Relaxation is not the product of inertia, lack of concern, or dullness of spirit. Indeed it is rooted in moods and feelings which are the obverse of these. It weighs and measures significances; it stores up emphatic energies for moments that need them. It helps us not to spend our strength too democratically; not to labor mightily over molehills, when we should be conserving our power to scale mountains.

The race, we have been taught, is not to the swift. But we are victims of the false belief that we've got to run in order to win. One teacher taught "Whatever it is we want, it will be there when we get there. If it isn't there - it was not supposed to be there. If we miss it, perhaps we should have missed it. If we miss it, we will never know whether we would have liked it or not!"

Certainly we need to learn how to play. Dr. Karl A. Menninger, the famous psychiatrist, was surely right when he wrote: "People who don't play are potentially dangerous. There seems to be a general idea that recreation is all right if one does not take it too seriously. My belief is that much of the greater danger lies in not taking it seriously enough."

To stop fuming and fretting so much, we need to seek the spiritual pauses that refresh, to stop wanting so many inappropriate things, that keep us from appreciating what we really already have. Confidence depends upon quiet and grateful hearts.

Students Speak Out On School Subjects

By John Bunevich

Question: Now that the school year is over, what problems or subjects, far out or otherwise, should be changed for the next school term?

Asked: Of Belleville school system students.
Mike Zinni 99 Mt. Prospect Avenue

Belleville High School should have a work-study program. What I mean by that is simple. A subject like auto shop or woodshop should be expanded to give credits outside the school. If you have an outside job pertaining to one of the vocational subjects you should be given a certain amount of credits from the school for having that job. The school should offer more vocational subjects. They have some now but it is not nearly enough. Also many of the vocational subject classrooms are overcrowded. If there were more room in the class, the teachers would be able to spend more time with individual students. The way things are now, there is not enough time in the classroom to learn that much.

Bob Duffy 121 Cedarhill Avenue

On the whole, I like the present subjects I have. The only gripe is that the books are so old and outdated. Right now, I'm taking geometry, biology and Spanish. These are my favorite subjects. I like to figure out problems and solve questions. In biology, it's a lot of fun to dissect the animals to see what makes them tick. As for Spanish, I always wanted to learn a foreign language, and now is my opportunity. I don't believe the current sports program is large enough. There should be a wider variety of sports that the student could involve himself in. Lenny Zinni 99 Mt. Prospect Street.

I don't think subjects like English or History are really needed in the high school. The way things stand now, there is much too much grammar taught in English class. The teachers should concentrate more on composition or literature. These are more interesting and I think would come in more handy later on in life. As for history, who wants to know what has happened in the past. There should be more current history about problems that face the nation today, rather than what happened hundreds of years ago. Dinny Colasurdo 194 Williams Street

I think there should be a wider sports program in Belleville High.

There should be specific subjects giving credits for sports. Maybe there should be a subject called "pocket billiards." I think the dress code in the high school should be changed. The way a person dresses doesn't affect the way he studies. You should be able to dress the way you want. There should be a special subject for the boys that are going into the military service, sort of an orientation program.

Speak Up

Resident Thanks Belleville Police

To the Editor:

I wish to compliment the citizens of Belleville for the kind and considerate police officers who serve on the town's force.

On Sunday, June 8, at 11 p.m., I needed assistance. My wife and I are visiting here from Los Angeles, Calif. The car I was in had a flat tire. There was no gas station open to render assistance. Because of a bad back, I could not attempt to change the tire myself without injury. I called the police. The officer on duty tried to find some station open, but to no avail. The car had to return to Jersey City that night. The desk officer told me to sit tight. He would get me some assistance.

In a little while, a police car drove up. Two officers stepped forward and without fuss very effectively proceeded to change my tire. With a cheery goodnight, they sent the car on its way.

In these days of trouble and confusion throughout our beautiful country where police are berated unfairly with charges of "Police Brutality" and called indecent and humiliating names, I am happy to add my voice to the great body of good people who respect and acclaim the quiet, efficient and honorable men in blue for the fine job they continue to do.

Police And Emergency Squad Are Thanked

Editor
Belleville Times-News
John F. Kennedy Plaza
Nutley, New Jersey

To the Editor:

I would like to express publicly my grateful appreciation to the men of our Town Emergency Squad and the Police Department. Several times in the past few months we have called upon members of these departments and in time of need they have been prompt to respond, concerned and considerate.

The efficiency and kindness of these young men should make the citizens of our town feel very proud. My family and I have a deeper sense of security in the knowledge that whenever the need arises, the necessary help will be at our door in a matter of minutes. Our gratitude goes to the men who have answered our calls and our appreciation also to their colleagues who have answered many other calls.

Sincerely yours,
Mrs. W. Douglas Clark

Group Walks For Hunger

To the Editor:

The Walther League, the youth group of Redeemer Lutheran Church of Newark, is protesting against the hunger in the world by walking a distance of 5 miles to Eagle Rock Reservation in West Orange and 5 miles back to their home church.

We are asking interested, concerned businessmen and townspeople to pledge us a certain amount of money for each mile we walk. You may pledge 10, 25 or 50 cents, one dollar or any amount you desire. You will be contacted for your contribution after the hike, which is scheduled for this Saturday.

Any person who feels about the starving as we do may join us for the hike. We are meeting at our church, Redeemer Lutheran, at the corner of Broadway and Carteret, Newark. We are leaving Saturday at 10 a.m. You may send your pledges to me.

Nixon Okay With Press

Nixon's Conference

Veteran newsmen who have covered the conferences of U.S. Presidents since they were initiated in their present form are in general, if not unanimous, agreement that President Richard Nixon ranks with John F. Kennedy as the best of American Presidents in the press conference.

Nixon has met often with the press, radio and television and has been candid and thorough in answers to questions. In fact, some reporters would prefer shorter answers—that more questions might be answered by the nation's chief executive in these nationally-televised half hours.

Perhaps it is because the leftwing press roasted Nixon for so many years, sometimes unethically, that the President has been so careful to be considerate and respectful of newsmen. Whatever the reason, Nixon is more regular in his meetings with newsmen than any Republican in history and must be rated as effective as the late John F. Kennedy in presenting his answers.

The Metric System

Congress is currently considering adoption of the metric system of weights and measures for the United States. A bill has been passed authorizing a study of the impact of such a change.

Only four countries in the world use anything other than the metric system—more than a hundred countries. England, from which we inherited our yards, feet and inches system, has turned to the metric scale. The countries other than the United States not utilizing it—Canada, Australia and

New Zealand—are reportedly moving in that direction.

Eventually, the United States may wish to do likewise, for advantages seem apparent; however, at present the cost argues strongly for delay. Opponents of the change may or may not be correct in estimating it at ten to fifteen billions. Even if much less, the nation cannot now afford such a step.

After Vietnam and the easing of domestic crises, at least to a degree, the cost of such a change, which might be recovered, would not be prohibitive.

July Named For Caesar

July is named for Julius Caesar, a change from its former name of Quintilis, changed on the order of Mark Anthony, and was the month in which Caesar was born.

In Anglo-Saxon history the month was called Litha or Oesterra, which meant wild. The origin of this word is rooted in the fact that the meadows were in bloom and the hills green in this month.

July is the month of full-bloom summer, or mid-summer. After July, it is apparent even in hot August that summer is running out. It is the month of vacations, holidays, swimming and outdoor pleasures, and then memories of summer and beautiful days and nights are memories for winter.

July is the first month of the fiscal year and has more than ordinary importance in the business world.

For Americans July is an especially historic month. Our independence is celebrated on the Fourth, and the Battle of Gettysburg was fought the first three days of July in 1863.

Montclair State College Senior Wins Trip To Italy For Summer Months

John Burke, of 82 Laurel Court, Belleville, a senior at Montclair State College, will be spending summer in Italy thanks to a scholarship awarded him by the college.

The scholarship is part of a program entitled "Experiment in International Living." John will go to live with a family in Italy to learn the customs of the Italian people.

The cost of the trip, $1,160, will be met by the scholarship. John is scheduled to leave Sunday and will return on September 12 in time for the fall semester.

After being selected for the trip, John sent a letter to the "Experiment" group, explaining his interests and why he wanted to go to Italy. The letter was forwarded to a family in Italy, chosen by the group.

Since John doesn't speak

Italian, he, along with other students who will be living in Europe this summer, spent two weeks in Vermont learning the language. He will spend four days in Milan getting additional instruction. John is a dean's list student. He is the vice president of the Inter-Fraternity Council and of his fraternity, Phi Alpha Psi. He is student government representative and was named to the national student register.

Youth Hurt In Accident With Truck

A car driven by a Jersey City youth skidded out of control on Route 21 Monday, and rammed into the back of a tractor trailer parked on the shoulder of the highway.

The youth, Walter J. Earls, 18, of 566 Liberty Avenue, Jersey City, was pinned into his auto. Belleville Officer Marty McNish and Lt. Robert Russamano used tools from the trunk of Earls' car to pry him loose. Several passing motorists stopped to be of assistance.

Earls was treated for severe lacerations of the top of the head and detained in Clara Maass Memorial Hospital.

According to Lt. Russamano, Earls had just finished passing a truck on a curve when his car spun out of the middle lane and skidded into the trailer. The driver of the truck Earls passed, Clarence Owens of Newark, told police that Earls' automobile jumped back 11 feet or so upon striking the left rear of the parked trailer.

Earls is a steel fabricator and had some of his tools in the trunk of the car, which police used in aiding him.

Newark Man Found Guilty For Violation

Not having a narcotics card in possession cost a Newark man one year probation and a $50 fine. He also has a pending larceny charge before the grand jury.

Michael Viscel of 169 Third Street, Newark pleaded guilty to the charge, in last week's Belleville Municipal Court. He was represented by a public defender.

Viscel, pleading for the mercy of the court, said, "I've been going straight since I got out (of jail)." Viscel had been convicted of a previous narcotics charge and served time in the Essex County Penitentiary.

Viscel's lawyer requested that the court suspend sentence and put the offender on probation so "he could get the supervision he needs." The public defender cited that Viscel's violation was not deliberate and Viscel had left his wallet in his other pants, where he keeps his narcotics card.

Judge Edward Abramson warned Viscel of the dangers of drug addiction, telling him to "get off the stuff." The judge then handed down a sentence of three months suspended jail sentence, one year probation and a $50 fine.

Man Exposes Self And Gets Penalty

An Irvington man was convicted of indecent exposure, costing him a stiff fine and two years probation. Judge Edward Abramson, in last week's Belleville Municipal Court, said the man has been doing this sort of thing since 1936, and was mentally unbalanced.

Alfonse LaRosa of 18 Lennox Avenue, Irvington, pleaded guilty to the charge and was represented by council.

In a letter to the court, a psychiatrist said that LaRosa was considered harmless and would not benefit from a jail term.

Judge Abramson handed down a two year probation period, a $300 fine, and six months suspended sentence. The judge also stated that LaRosa must continue psychiatric treatment.

BECK'S COLUMN

By MAX BECK

Quite often our customers ask us whether it is advisable to take a service contract on a color TV set or whether it would be better to "pay as you go".

Our records give a clear cut answer to this question. The difference in expense is very little after a number of years. However, the set under contract is kept in much better condition.

If a set under contract comes to the shop, it comes in for one specific trouble. If a "pay as you go" set comes in the shop, there are invariably a number of troubles to be corrected. The reason for this is simple. If there is the slightest thing wrong with a set under contract, the customer calls right away. He may call any number of times during the contract year, there is no difference in the charges.

If a set is not under contract, and if there is something wrong, it is likely the first trouble is with the station selector due to tarnished contacts. Instead of calling for repair, people push a match book under the knob. If that does not work any more, they take 2. One set came in recently where the customer jammed a screwdriver under the knob. The result? A ruined tuner. Of course there is a service charge if a set is not under contract. Calling a serviceman is pushed off as long as possible. Only if all the fiddling with controls and jamming of screw drivers does not bring a picture, a serviceman is called. Instead of finding one trouble, he finds half a dozen. The result is a large bill, which could have been prevented, at least in part, if defects would have been fixed right away. There is no doubt about it, a set under contract is a better working set.

We service what we sell.

Insulin May Be Cause Of Diabetics Problems

Not so long ago it was felt that all diabetics required treatment with insulin. But, today, in the words of an expert -- "75 to 80 percent of diabetics do not require increased insulin" and of this group, 3 out of 4 are overweight. Such a diabetic, if given insulin, is being "...forced" to gain weight even while the doctor is preaching diet and weight loss. To laymen (and even some doctors), these statements, by Dr. Russell L. Poucher, may sound like heresy. But to expert diabetologists, Dr. Poucher's medical opinions are about as startling as Columbus' heresy that the earth is round. Dr. Poucher, Long Beach Naval Hospital, Long Beach, Calif., writing in a newly published anthology for physicians -- "The New Management of Stable Adult Diabetes" -- recounts why, injected insulin and abnormal levels of the body's own insulin can be counterproductive and undesirable in the most common type of diabetic, the maturity-onset, stable diabetic who is usually overweight. In his view, the sign of the adult-onset diabetic's disease is his excess weight. And this excess weight aggravates the disease and makes it more difficult to control. One of the chief causes of this obesity is too much circulating insulin. Excess insulin, which is commonly found in the overweight adult diabetic, the doctor points out, stimulates the accumulation of fat in three ways: it inhibits the breakdown of body fat, it clears sugar from the blood but largely into fat rather than muscle cells and, by reducing blood sugar to a point below normal at certain times after having eaten, it may cause the patient to develop an abnormal appetite and overeat. The treatment, he says once we realize the facets of the condition, becomes obvious: reduce excess body weight and improve the utilization of blood sugar, lowering at the same time blood levels of both insulin and sugar. Lowering insulin levels will assist the patient in following his diet. He suggests that diet, exercise, and drug therapy can achieve these goals. Dr. Poucher makes it clear that it is essential to choose a drug that does not increase the patient's level of circulating insulin. The oral antidiabetic drugs called sulfonylureas, stimulate the pancreas to release more insulin. "It becomes apparent," he says, "that these agents... favor maintenance of, or stimulation of, adiposity... which further compounds the problem of therapy." Another category of oral antidiabetic drugs, however, the biguanides (i.e., DBL-TD (phenformin HCl) do aid in treatment of the obese adult-onset diabetic. Dr. Poucher writes, in that: "I) they do not stimulate insulin release and, in fact, actually lower it.

Teachers Are Honored By School One's PTA

School One PTA honored two teachers at a recent meeting for a combined total of 80 years teaching at the school. Miss Frances Williamson and Mrs. Morris Klein were presented plaques of commendation for their outstanding service and devotion to the school, orchid corsages and sketches drawn from photographs by Mrs. Edward Mallon. Members of former classes were invited to participate in the surprise. Miss Williamson is a native of Belleville. She graduated from Belleville High School and Newark Normal School and received her bachelor's and master's degrees from Rutgers. Credits beyond her master's degree were obtained at Seton Hall, Montclair State and Rutgers. Miss Williamson did her practice teaching at Schools Three and Four in Belleville and after teaching a short time at School Nine, came to School One in 1927. Mrs. Klein, born in Newark, graduated from Barringer High School and Newark Normal School and received her bachelor's degree in elementary teaching at School One and, except for a two year leave of absence, has been there since 1929. Disadvantaged Youngsters To See Arts Center Shows As many as 65,000 disadvantaged New Jersey young people will come to the Garden State Arts Center in Holmdel during July and August for the presentation of cultural events in a program jointly sponsored by the New Jersey Department of Conservation and Economic Development and the Garden State Arts Center. Four thousand at a time, youths will be transported by bus to the Center for special performances. Three already scheduled are singer Glen Campbell; a performance of the Broadway musical, "Fiddler on the Roof" and a combined performance by Liberace and a steel band. Major performers will donate their time. Other costs of the performances will be underwritten by the Arts Center and transportation of the youths will be paid for by the Department of Conservation and Economic Development.

CHILDHOOD NOSEBLEEDS ARE COMMON

The three most frequent reasons for a child's nosebleed are a dryness of the mucous membranes, rubbing or picking at the nose during sleep and a small ulcer area in the nose. If repeated often, consult a physician.

Often the problem can be corrected by improving the humidification in the home and the application of white petroleum jelly to the inside of the nostrils to prevent dryness. If needed your doctor can, in a simple procedure, cauterize a small ulcerated area.

YOU OR YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a delivery. We will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people rely on us for their health needs. We welcome requests for delivery service and charge accounts.

Belleville Wins Over Nutley Nine

By John McCarthy

Post 105's American Legion Baseball team downed the rival Nutley team, 3-1, last week at the stadium. The two teams meet again tomorrow in the Nutley Park Oval at two p.m. for the annual July Fourth game.

Ted DelGuercio pitched his first complete game of the season and allowed six hits while also striking out six of the Nutley batters. Don Boyce knocked in all three of Belleville's runs with a triple in the bottom of the fifth inning, after Nutley had led 1-0 since the first inning.

In the top of the sixth after DelGuercio let up two singles putting men on first and second, Don fielded a ground ball near second, stepped on the bag and threw to first for the DP.

Last Friday, the Belleville team lost one of its closest games of the season as they were beaten by Vailsburg, 4-2. The score should have been 2-1 in Belleville's favor, but a long foul fly was called fair in the first inning and Bob Botwinck cleared the bases with a three run homerun. Vailsburg scored its other run on two singles and a sacrifice in the fourth.

Belleville's two runs came in the top of the seventh inning.

Cubs Take Decisive Loop Lead

The Senior Cubs piloted by Bill Lenihan have taken a commanding lead in the Recreation Senior Baseball League. They are still running undefeated with a 9-0 standing and only three games left on their schedule.

Two of these three games are with the second place Braves whom the Cubs have defeated once. Those Braves coached by Harry Woods could tie it up if the Cubs should drop one to the Giants. As of this report the Braves stand 7-3. Al DelRusso's Giants at 4-5 hold the third position in the League followed by Bob Arata's Yankees and Roger Ellsworth's Pirates.

In the Intermediate League John Goscinski's Braves have a slender lead over Ron Orsini's Giants and Bill Perrellis Pirates. The Braves are 6-3-1, the Giants 6-3 and the Pirates are 5-3-1. Still to come for the Braves is another tough game against the Pirates. A game against the Pirates also looms for the Giants.

Joe Restaino's Cubs at 3-6 present a problem to each the Giants and the Braves and, in veiw of the fact that they have twice beaten the front-running Braves, this is a serious problem and the Intermediate League seems destined to be a thriller right down to wire.

Cubs' Attack Too Much For Braves

In final game of the season, the confrontation of the Recreation Senior Leagues front runners, the Cubs and Braves, was played in an atmosphere of high tension. The Cubs going in with 10-1 standing, needing this win to cinch the trophy.

The Braves, 9-2, are fighting to win in order to force a play off. Both managers, Bill Lenihan (Cubs) and Harry Woods (Braves) going with the best the league has to offer.

The Cubs jumped off to a four run first inning, scoring again in the 5th. The Braves fought steadily back, pushing three across in the 4th and one in the 6th, but were unable to cut the Cub lead further, the Cubs going on to win the title 5-4.

Pierce, who mans the number four seat in the eight, and the other freshmen pursued the Thames Challenge Cup at the world's oldest regatta. The freshmen boat is one of three Red and Blue crews making the journey.

Board Studies Sports Program For School Year

The Intramural Sports program for the 1969-70 school year is coming under close scrutiny from the Belleville Board of Education.

At last Monday's regularly scheduled meeting, the board adopted the Interscholastic Sports Program with the recommendation of the Superintendent of Schools and the Director of Athletics, but failed to approve the after school Intramural Program.

Board member Rocco Saletta criticized this past year's Intramural program, noting that children in the program do not think it is working out too well. Saletta said, "I don't think we are doing as well as we should on the Intramural program."

Superintendent of Schools Anthony Greco replied, "I always thought that our Intramural sports program was successful."

The Intramural sports program is to give the school children after school sport recreation. The program runs for about two hours after school.

Saletta said he thinks the program is a failure because "it isn't getting the participation the board had planned."

The board will convene in a special meeting this Monday to discuss the Intramural program. At the planned Monday meeting, the Director of Athletics will give his opinion to the board on the program's success.

Lake Montowac features acres of excellent swimming and recreational facilities, and campers will be able to take advantage of swim instruction, swim meets, baseball, volleyball, hiking, arts and crafts, nature study and fishing.

his second win in 2 starts, retired Maplewood in the top of the first with 2 putouts, a single and a strikeout, then Belleville opened up. After Tony Cervasio was walked, John Gosinski bounced a shot between short and third for a single. Don Boyce lined out to the second baseman, and the Maplewood pitcher walked Bill Otskey to load the bases. The pitcher then walked in a run as he put Joe Vitiello on first, scoring Cervasio.

Joe Papisidero was next in line, and bounced the ball to the shortstop, who threw home for the force, but John Gosinski beat the throw. The catcher then threw to second trying to catch Vitiello but Joe was safe, and Bill Otskey scrambled home with the third run.

In the second inning, after DelGuercio was put out second to first, Tony Cervasio singled. John Gosinski got his second hit, a double deep into left, scoring Cervasio. Don Boyce got a single to center, making it first and second with 1 out. Bill Otskey sent a hit into deep center that looked like it would be in for extra bases, but the center fielder made a lucky catch and the inning ended when Joe Vitiello popped out to the first baseman.

Joe Papisidero opened the third with a triple to left field, and scored as George Mongrella singled. George went to third as Brian Waters reached first on an error. Mongrella then scored the second run as Tony Cervasio hit a sacrifice fly to right field. Belleville picked up their last run as Bill Otskey was walked and Joe Paps got a double to center, his second extra base hit in three at bats.

Ted DelGuercio on way to his second victory in a week, let up only 6 hits and 3 walks. Ted picked up 8 strikeouts in 7 innings and caught 4 of his opponents looking as the third pitch came by.

Montclair College Has Best Season

"It was a very good year". That is the only way that you can describe Montclair State College's 1968-69 varsity basketball season.

Coach Ollie Gelston and his Indians did it all during the past season writing the finest record in MSC's 41 year history of intercollegiate basketball. The Indians were 24-3 for the season and swept to a second straight New Jersey State College Conference championship.

The NJSCC championship was accomplished with a sweep of all ten conference games. Montclair State is the first team in the history of NJSCC, founded in 1957, to go undefeated through the entire season.

The National Guard is a "dual force with a dual mission" serving both State and National. In 1968, nearly 25,000 Army and Air National Guardsmen were ordered to Federal duty to bolster the Army and Air Force in Vietnam, Korea and at home.

IN MEMORIAM
IN LOVING MEMORY OF
WILLIAM J. KOHLER whom
God called to eternal rest Jan. 6, 1966.
Happy birthday with Dad in heaven July 5th.
There is an open gate at the end of the road.
Through which each of us
must go alone.
There is a light we cannot see.
Our Father claims his own.
Beyond the gate our loved one Finds happiness, peace and rest.
And there is comfort in the thought
That a loving God knows best.

Montclair Kids To Benefit From Summer Sports Program

The Montclair Urban Coalition and Montclair State College will jointly operate a summer youth sports program for deprived children in the Montclair area from July 7 until Aug. 15, according to an announcement by the program's honorary chairman, Mayor Matthew G. Carter of Montclair and Dr. Thomas H. Richardson, president of Montclair State College.

The program, which will make use of facilities at the college and in the surrounding area, is made possible as a result of a grant to the coalition and college from the United States Government in conjunction with the National Summer Youth Sports Program, headed by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and directed by "Bud" Wilkerson, chairman of the President's Advisory Committee on Physical Fitness. About 200 children from the Montclair area will be served by the program.

July 4 Hazardous

State Safety Group Says Be Careful

A bad traffic accident experience over the 78 hour Fourth of July weekend can easily wipe out the modest 16% reduction in traffic deaths we have made during the first six months of 1969, advises the New Jersey State Safety Council.

"Whenever the number of highway crash fatalities trail that of the previous year conditions are right for letting down our guard," said C. Edwin Max, executive vice president of the Council.

The number of deaths on New Jersey's highways is down 99 below that of 1968 - a record breaking year.

The Safety Council expressed concern that holiday travellers may become complacent and not observe the rules of the road.

"This certainly should not be permitted to happen if highway fatalities are to be held to an absolute minimum as they were over the Memorial Day weekend," said the Safety Council official.

The Council urged motorists to set a new record of zero fatalities by observing the following safety suggestions:

CHECK YOUR CAR. Your car carries the world's most important people. Have it safety-checked bumper-to-bumper: Brakes, Tires, Steering, All lights, Exhaust, Glass, Windshield wipers and washers. Rear-view mirror. Horn. Are they all safe - now?

BUCKLE UP. Seconds will buckle a seat belt; an instant will release it. Safeguard your family - use seat belts whenever and wherever you drive or ride.

TAKE A BREAK. On long trips take frequent rest breaks. Arrive relaxed. Wherever you go, allow enough time so you won't feel rushed.

BE ADJUSTABLE. Adjust your driving to road, traffic and weather conditions. Remember, posted speed limits are for favorable driving conditions.

ADOPT GOOD DRIVING

HABITS. Merge smoothly into traffic.....keep pace with cars.....keep a safe following distance.....signal well in advance of your turn or change of lanes.

USE COURTESY ABUNDANTLY. Everywhere - at intersections, when turning while passing or being passed, at night when your headlights are on high beam - "Make Courtesy Your Code of the Road." It pays!

Mumps Can Be Deadly Serious

Mumps is a disease more feared, and more misunderstood, than it should be, an article written for physicians explains in a current pharmaceutical publication.

The misunderstandings and fears, shared by MDs and laymen alike, are one, that mumps is merely an annoyance of childhood, and, two, that - in males after puberty - it is extremely painful and may cause sterility and impotence.

The truth is that mumps may be neither - but it now can and should be prevented by vaccination, according to Joseph Stokes, Jr., MD, emeritus professor of pediatrics, School of Medicine, University of Pennsylvania. Dr. Stokes is an authority on virus-caused diseases, especially measles, hepatitis, and mumps.

Belief in mumps' mildness is "unjustified," he writes. Meningitis as a consequence of mumps is a serious, potentially fatal, disease. Deafness is another by-product of mumps, as is pancreatitis (with possible connection with diabetes). Others are heart failure of the newborn, inflammation of the heart muscle, infection of the middle ear, kidney and thyroid disorders.

The bulk of Dr. Stokes' article is devoted to describing for MDs the methods of mumps control recently made possible by development of live-virus vaccine material. This is an attenuated virus obtained by growing the virulent form in chick-embryo tissue until it is so attenuated that it does not cause the disease, or signs of the disease, in patients undergoing immunization. Results to date, he notes, indicate that one inoculation is likely to be fully protective and protection may be lifelong.

Much of the work he cites was conducted jointly by the University of Pennsylvania and a pharmaceutical research organization which pioneered the vaccine research. Of it, he writes:

"Production of neutralizing antibodies occurred in 98 per cent of susceptible children vaccinated, and over an 8-month period including exposure to an epidemic of mumps, there was 100 per cent...[protection] in those who had responded to the vaccine. To date over 1,500,000 persons in the United States have received the attenuated live-virus vaccine of the Jeryl-Lynn Strain."

Woman Elected President Of Jersey Cancer Society

For the first time in its 24-year history, a woman has been elected president of the New Jersey Division of the American Cancer Society.

Mrs. Winfield Bonyng, Jr., of Whippany was elected as the organization's first woman president at the Division Board of Trustees meeting held at the Princeton Inn, Princeton. Mrs. Bonyng, an active member of the Society for more than 20 years, succeeds Elliott Pachtman of Union. She will take office at the Division's Annual Meeting on September 25.

Can You Score High On July Fourth Quiz

If you're one of 400,000 American teenagers who learned to drive this year with the Aetna Drivotrainer system, you not only knew the answer, you practiced the maneuver in the safety of your classroom simulator car.

But if you haven't tested your safety sagacity lately, maybe you should tune up for holiday driving with these additional questions.

True-False

1. In case of a blowout, take your foot off the accelerator immediately, then pump the brakes.

False. Ease up on the gas gradually, not abruptly. Wait until the car slows naturally before braking gently.

2. If your car, heavily loaded for a trip, seems easier to steer than usual, your tires need more air.

False. You should move some of the heavier items farther forward.

3. It is sometimes better to steer toward an object in the road instead of trying to miss it.

True. If your choice in an emergency is between hitting a moving vehicle or a minor obstruction in the road such as a rock or animal, chose the later. If the object is small enough, straddle it rather than swerving to avoid it.

4. A light rain is often more dangerous to drivers than a heavy rain.

True. A light shower makes highways slicker than a heavy rain because road oil and grease "float" on the surface of the moisture. A downpour washes them away.

5. On turnpikes, rear-end collisions are the most frequent type of accident.

False. Most turnpike accidents involve only one car. The statement is true for two-car accidents, however.

6. When an oncoming car fails to dim its lights, you should slow down and watch the right side of the road.

True. If you look directly into the high beams of an oncoming car at night, your eyes won't recover completely from the glare for one full minute.

7. Most traffic accidents occur at night.

False. About three out of four accidents happen in daylight, on dry roads, in clear weather. Most fatalities occur at night, however.

8. For better control on curves, slow down as you begin the turn and accelerate half way through it.

False. You should slow down well before you begin the curve and gradually accelerate about two thirds of the way through it.

9. When passing, you should not cut back until you can see the car you passed in your mirror.

True. This is a handy way to gauge a safe distance.

10. In terms of traffic fatalities, the 4th of July is the most dangerous of the three warm weather holidays.

True. So far.

Suppose during your 4th of July trip an oncoming car veers into your lane and hurtles toward you. Which two of the following four actions do you take?

1. Blow the horn. 2. Apply the brakes. 3. Steer as far right as you can. 4. Switch to the lane the other car should be in.

Belleville Man Fined For Animal

A Belleville man was fined $100 in Belleville Municipal Court for allowing his dog to bark excessively at all hours of the day and night.

Italo Grassos of 185 Greylock Parkway pleaded not guilty to the charge. Mr. Grassos, who does not speak English, was aided by his son in translation to the court.

Mrs. Maureen Gilbert of 149 Floyd Street, Belleville, testified before the court that Grassos would allow his dog to roam in the yard and bark at all hours, disturbing her sleep. Mrs. Gilbert had been under a doctor's care for a nervous condition. She placed a doctor's note in evidence to verify this.

Judge Edward Abromson, after hearing the testimony, imposed a $100 fine on Grassos.

In all but the rarest circumstances, moves 1 and 3 are best. The horn may wake the other driver up, and a right steer is more likely to prove escape than braking or turning into the oncoming traffic lane.

Candidates For Governor Debate At Annual Dinner

At a dinner for the state Chamber of Commerce, the highlight of the evening was the first face-to-face debate of the major party candidates for governor.

Crisp exchanges on positions concerning crime, education, transportation and steadfastness in running the state government made the debate lively and to the point.

The debate was Thursday, June 19, at the Robert Treat Hotel, where more than 1,000 businessmen had their 57th Annual State Chamber of Commerce dinner.

The question of who would speak first in the debate was settled by a flip of the coin. Former Gov. Robert B. Meyner lost the coin toss.

The two candidates had a 20 minute presentation period to open the debate, then a ten minute each rebuttal period, followed by a five minute summing up of the issues.

Meyner, who spoke first, opened the session by playing heavily on his administrative experience and abilities as governor from 1953 to 1961.

The high point of his presentation was the telling of the unique power of the state's chief executive. "There is more executive power in New Jersey's executive branch than in any other state," he said.

The former governor pointed out that the chief executive appoints the cabinet, the 21 county prosecutors, the judiciary, tax boards and other important state posts. In most other states, these positions are filled by elections.

During his first debate period, Meyner was cautious not to attack his opponent. He, instead, called attention to his previous record as governor.

Rep. William T. Cahill, on the other hand, immediately began an offensive attack on the states present condition. "There are critical and serious problems facing our state," he said, "We shouldn't concern ourselves with what has happened in the 50's or the 60's but what is going to be done in the present and the dream of the future."

The congressman rapped the present troubles of the state, with crime, transportation and education being the major issues.

Meyner again told of Republicans thwarting his attempts to bring the state into new areas in transit systems and education.

What this state needs is a good two bit phone call.

And it's got one. Every night after 7 and all day Saturday and Sunday, you can phone anywhere in New Jersey for a quarter or less, plus tax. That's for 3 minutes. This rate applies to all station-to-station calls, except collect or credit card calls, and calls billed to a third number.
