

Bellboys String Up Fifth Defeat; Face Rival Nutley Squad Today

By Marc Feldman

Taking charge with a 32-6 tear, bridging the first and second quarters, the Bloomfield Bengals built up a 25-point lead and coasted to a 73-47 victory last Tuesday, in the Bellboys' home opener.

Bloomfield's attack was led by guard Phil Melillo, who scored 22 points on 11 field goals, to take game scoring honors. Melillo showed his versatility by hitting from all over the court and leading the Bengal fast break.

Vin Costantino was high man for Belleville with his season best of 19 points, on nine baskets and a free throw.

The opening minutes of play were seesaw, as the lead changed hands four times. Then Phil Melillo scored on a layup with 4:15 left in the period to give Bloomfield a 7-6 lead, which expanded to 24-10 by the end of the quarter. The Bengals' assault continued in the second quarter as their lead mounted to 44-21 at halftime.

The second half was almost fought to a standstill, as the Big Ten co-leaders only managed to outscore the Bellboys 29-26. The furthest Belleville could whittle down the Bloomfield advantage was 19 points, midway through the third period. This was achieved on a seven point run by Belleville, as Rich Caravetta and Rich Motacki scored field goals, and Al Casaletto converted a three-point play. However, Bloomfield soon regained the momentum and coasted from there on.

The victory was Bloomfield's third of the young season, after an opening game loss to Seton Hall.

One positive aspect of the loss was Belleville's defense against Bengal center Pat Sibilia. Sibilia, a 6'4" soph, had been averaging close to 30 points per game, but was held to 10 by the Bellboys. However, his team mates took up the slack in scoring, with above average performances. Sibilia was still able to control the offensive and defensive boards for the Bengals, who held an awesome advantage in rebounds.

Sports Corner

By John McCarthy

The New York Knickerbockers have got to be the greatest basketball team of a decade that will end in two days. There has never been a team in the '60's that has thrilled fans more. Probably only the Mets have put on such a show.

Take for example the game against Cincinnati when Bob Cousy came off the bench. The ex-Boston star's two foul shots had put the Royals five points ahead with only 15 seconds to go. The Knicks took the ball downcourt and Willis Reed was fouled. Reed sunk both of his shots and the Royals got the ball only to have it stolen in the backcourt by Dave DeBusschere. DeBusschere went in and scored the layup with only five seconds left, and put the Knicks only one point behind.

Another showing of the Knick's great defense gave them the game. Willis Reed tapped another Cincinnati pass to Walt Frazier. Frazier moved forward to take a layup and was fouled. As usual, Walt sank both free-throws and the Knicks won their 18th in a row, setting a new league record.

For the Knick's sometimes its their defensive alertness that gets the ball and the score as in Cincinnati; sometimes its their offensive moving and shooting that gives them the game; but most of the time the Knicks combine the offensive and defensive talents of every player to win.

Two games where the Knicks last minute accuracy in offense and defense made a difference were against the Atlanta Hawks two weeks ago and Christmas Night against the Detroit Pistons.

Both games were cliffhangers and only one play made the difference in the won-loss column. Against the Pistons, Bill Bradley sunk a short jumper to give the Knicks the edge, 110-109 with 16 seconds left. The piston's Walt Belamy scored on a layup when his team got the ball, and with one second left, the Knicks called a timeout to get the ball at mid-court. The 90 seconds in that time out seemed like an eternity, as you'll agree if you saw or heard the game.

In the Hawk game, Frazier had thrown in to Reed, but the pass was too far under the rim to allow Reed to take a regular layup, so he took another step and missed the shot on the reverse attempt, letting the Hawks win 125-124. Reed got the ball again against the Pistons, but this time right in the perfect spot for a layup as the buzzer sounded. The final score, the Knicks 112, the Pistons 111.

Campers Romp Away With Big Victory Margin

By Marc Feldman

Barry Pasko scored 26 points and handed out seven assists to lead the Irvington Campers to an 87-57 victory over Belleville at the loser's gym, last Friday night. Irvington, now 2-3, is a much better team than their record indicates. Their three losses are to teams with a combined record of 13-2. Belleville dropped to 0-5, including a 0-4 mark in Big Ten play.

Vin Costantino turned in his best performance of the season for the Bellboys as he poured in 22 points and grabbed 13 rebounds.

Irvington broke up the game in the opening three and one-half minutes of the second quarter, with a 13-3 streak. Pasko, Marion Alston, and Greg Gemgnani led the way for the Campers in this stretch, as they took a 33-23 lead. The closest Belleville came thereafter was 7 points, with 1:30 left in the half on Al Casaletto's field goal. Irvington locked up the game in the third quarter when they outscored the Bellboys 26-14, as Pasko and Gemgnani each scored 10 points in the quarter.

The only bright spot of the game for Belleville was the first quarter, which was fought to a 20-20 standoff. Belleville played, by far, their best ball of the season in this period. Vin Costantino scored 11 of his 22 points in the quarter and Rich Motacki added five of his total of 13.

Marion Alston was the sparkplug for Irvington with five points, as Barry Pasko was held to only two in the period. The Campers managed the biggest lead of the quarter at six points, 20-14, but Belleville tied it with three field goals in the final minute, one by Rich Caravetta, and two by Costantino, one a tap-in, and the other, a 30-foot bomb.

Kiwanis Tops Lions For Title

After last week's games in the Recreation Football Leagues everything else will be anti-climatic.

The Lightweight Elks defeated the Varsity Club in a defensive battle. With five minutes left in the game and a 0-0 score the Elks line broke Roger Luzzi loose for 95 touchdown run. The next break came when the Elks blocked a Varsity punt and took over on the Varsity 15-yard-line and then, in three plays, put the ball over. The Elks made both extra points to win the game 14-0.

In the other Lightweight game the Kiwanis sewed up the championship as they defeated the Lions. In the first round of play the Lions had tied the Kiwanis and they could have pulled themselves into a share of the League leadership by beating the Kiwanis in this second round. But the Kiwanis had other ideas and, in a tough defensive battle, they were able to squeeze out a 6-0 win which clinches the championship for them.

It was a big day for the Jollys as they scored their first win in this years' Heavyweight League with a close one over the Devon, 6-0.

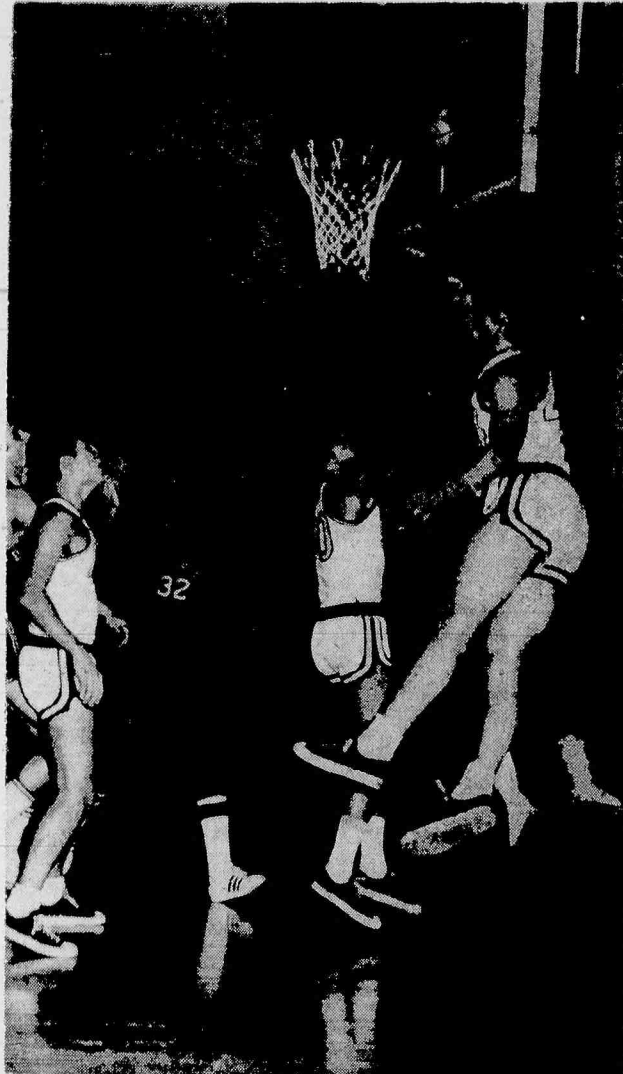

As the American Legion faced the Biancardis for the second time they knew they had to win to secure an undisputed championship. They were also sporting a four game undefeated record and they knew that they had a tough adversary.

Biancardis drew first blood with a perfectly executed 20 yard pass from Dondarski to Mozieka. They failed on the point after. The Biancardi defense then took over and prevailed until the Legions Bruce Messina broke around left end and picking up excellent blocking, scampered 75 yards to pay dirt.

Cancelleri, on an end-around put the Legion in front 7-6. The third quarter was a scoreless defensive duel. In the fourth quarter the Legion again shook Messina loose to run the Legion up to 13-6.

In the last stages of the fourth quarter the Biancardis caught fire. Taking to the air they moved the ball to the Legions 25-yard-line only to have the merciless clock run out. The American Legion has taken possession of the 1969 Recreation Heavyweight Football Championship.

Never pay any attention to the person who knows what he says is right.

UP IT GOES—Joe D'Alconzo lays up two points as Vinnie Costantino (50) and Rich Motacki look on. The Bellboys lost to the Bloomfield Bengals, 73-47.

Secretaries Are In Demand

Since the mail-order brides of frontier days, probably no other group of women has been in such demand and subjected to such sophisticated persuasive techniques as the American Executive secretary.

For example, each of the 250 executive secretaries graduated by the Katherine Gibbs School in Montclair each year has more than 15 jobs to choose from, and the ratio is broadening all the time.

Secretarial salaries have never been higher and in part are a result of employers bidding against each other for scarce well-trained secretaries.

According to Mrs. Helen M. Cole, director of the Gibbs school, "Many women who have been away from secretarial work for a number of years have recently come to the realization that they just can't afford to not work, considering the money they can earn with their skills."

Each year Gibbs offers a free two-week refresher course to its alumna, and says Mrs. Cole, "more and more of our alumna are not coming back just to keep their skills from getting rusty but to prepare themselves to return to work."

Just why these women are returning to work is another matter, "but for most," explains Mrs. Cole, "it is a question of economics. The cost of living is in an upward spiral, the stock market is low, and many women find they just cannot afford to stay at home."

This trend, not restricted to Gibbs graduates, shows many women who have never worked before seeking training to prepare themselves for a good job. To satisfy this need, Gibbs will launch a new 16-week program this fall to train women in secretarial skills.

"It's called Adult Career Training, and we're very excited about it," says Mrs. Cole. The program will start on September 29 and run through mid-January. It's designed to equip a woman with secretarial skills such as typing, shorthand, business English, and secretarial techniques.

"This course is for women who are planning to work for the first time, women who are returning to secretarial work after a number of years, or for those who have been working at nonchallenging jobs and want something more," says Mrs. Cole. She adds, "This may well be the answer to the secretarial

Each New Year Is Accompanied By Resolutions

With each New Year comes a list of good intentions. We label them "resolutions".

But, as the days go by, all the good intentions seem to go away, too. Our habits seem to take over and we fall back in the same old patterns. What happened to the change we thought we could bring about?

Really, nothing happened. We are creatures of habit and change does not come easily to us. Almost everyone has a pattern he lives by.

Youth, even those who seem to be revolting, are conformists. They tell us they are escaping from society. They run away to become hippies. This change they seek does not bring true freedom. They merely move from tradition to conformation with another group.

Most good intentions have broader implications than the individual himself. Most of what we do or what we are in relationship to others. So our good intentions may be influenced to a great extent by others.

A family is a most significant sounding board for individual change. As a child grows older he expresses new ideas. The same is true of parents.

If the family is rigid in dealing with family, issues, crises are bound to evolve. The clash may even be so serious as to break up the family.

However, the flexible family can look at the needs of each member.

Maybe we need family resolutions. Take time to think through what you want from and for, your family this year.

Refinishing Unpainted Furniture? Avoid Pitfalls of Eager Beginner

So you're going to refinish unpainted furniture? Well, if you're after considerable savings, an image booster and a real feeling of accomplishment, you've come to the right place. That is, if you do the job right and avoid pitfalls of the too-eager beginner. Happily, with a few basic guidelines, that becomes quite simple.

Let's consider first things first. When you're shopping for your pre-built, unfinished furniture, bear in mind that there's furniture and there's furniture. There's more to selecting unfinished furniture than merely finding the size and style you like!

Take the time to make a close inspection of the piece. If you're after the manicured look, hunt for a piece that's knot free. One very important ground rule: avoid like a plague any grayish-blue areas in the wood. This is a fungus that will not sand off, will be impossible to apply stain over, and will end up turning dark or even black.

Your best insurance for finding furniture of solid construction is to deal with a quality manufacturer. If the piece has been slapped together, you won't want to see it in your living room! Most furniture you buy today, finished or unfinished, has been glued in various places. If the glue has oozed out of the joints and solidified on exposed surfaces, don't be deluded into thinking it will sand off. It penetrates. And, what's more, it will not take wood stain. A tell-tale shine will warn you to keep looking.

By the way, if you're carting the piece home yourself from a local store, be sure it's either well packed or bring along plenty of blankets to wrap it in. One well placed scratch or dent will just about end your aspirations of ever producing a fine finishing job. Incidentally, if you should discover a dent, a handy trick that may work is to steam-iron it out. Simply place a damp cloth over the dent and then run a medium-hot iron over the cloth. If you're lucky, the wood fibers should straighten out by themselves.

To help curb your zeal in getting started (haphazardly), keep in mind that raw furniture is not ready for finishing, just as it comes from the store. Preparing the surface by sanding generally involves a double treatment, the first using a medium grade paper, the second with ultra-fine paper or with a pad of very fine steel wool. The second sanding, done with the grain, will remove the last vestiges of imperfection and produce a satin-smooth surface.

Now you're ready for finishing your piece. By this time, you must realize that there is considerably more to the job than buying some raw furniture and slapping on a coat of finish. What we want to achieve is the fine, "quality" look of that "hand rubbed" appearance. Although this was difficult to achieve many years ago, our modern penetrating stain-waxes, particularly the well-known Minwax finishes, can duplicate this quite easily, and without our developing any special skills. The finishes are available in a host of colors, ranging from Ipswich Pine through to Driftwood, Fruitwood, Ebony and even Natural.

It's important to realize at the outset that this is a two-coat process, and enough finish should be applied (by brush or folded cloth) to allow some excess to be wiped off. Should you need to touch up any missed spots, Minwax can simply be reapplied without fear of lap marks or streaks... a heartwarming bit of information for any amateur!

After allowing the second coat to dry for a least twenty-four hours, you may want to give it a rich lustre. This can be done with a liquid or paste finishing wax specially formulated to mate with the penetrating stain-wax you've used. If you prefer that low-lustre, hand-rubbed look, or if it's necessary to protect the surface from heat, moisture, grease or other liquids, as on a coffee table, bar top or the like, there's a new product called Antique Oil Finish that may be applied in place of wax. This is available either as an aerosol spray or as a liquid that may be brushed on. It should be applied liberally and then buffed after about half an hour. For a higher gloss, simply apply additional coats of Antiqu Oil Finish.

Operation Bridge Sponsors Second Annual X-Mas Fete

Newark and West Essex children again were hosted at the second annual Christmas party sponsored by Operation Bridge.

The party, held Saturday, in the Caldwell College auditorium was another Operation Bridge effort to bridge the gap between urbia and suburbia.

DENTAL X-RAYS FIND TROUBLE QUICKLY

At most every regular dental examination, your dentist may first want to take a series of X-rays. These X-rays can pinpoint trouble spots before they get to the stage where extensive work is needed or where a painful toothache results.

Even when work is required, the new anesthetics and high speed equipment make it fast and with hardly any discomfort. Many dentists will prescribe a tranquilizer for a patient before their appointment and a pain reliever for use when the anesthetic has worn off. We fill many dental prescriptions and keep the medications they need on hand.

YOU OR YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a delivery. We will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people rely on us for their health needs. We welcome requests for delivery service and charge accounts.

Best Wishes for the New Year

Family Service Bureau Offers Help To People In Troubled Situations

Frank Baxter had decided to drop out of school by the time he was 15. His only interests were cars and girls. According to him, his mother should have no control over his actions, and Frank let her know this in more than one fight.

Mrs. Baxter turned to the Family Service Bureau for help. The Bureau, a member agency of the United Community Fund of Essex and West Hudson, offers services to people who need and want help. Mrs. Baxter was more than ready.

Although she was not a strong person, Mrs. Baxter had obtained a job to support herself and her son after her husband's death. Now, Frank's mockery and threats upset her so greatly that both her job and her health were at stake.

When Mrs. Baxter went to the Family Service Bureau, she learned that the caseworker would try to help her adjust to her problems. The Bureau, according to Executive Director Edward V. Kilduff, has no magic formula for the perfect family — a success story happens when individuals learn to live with each other. What the Bureau does possess is the understanding that "each person has the right to seek the solution to his own problems" and the staff qualified to guide the search.

Individuals in troubled situations need guidance. Low income groups once thought that a family agency was meant for the middle class. Realizing this, the Bureau became the forerunner of local social agencies in its total involvement with the anti-poverty program. It participates in Project ENABLE (Education Neighborhood Action for Better Living Environment) and T.E.A.M. (Total Employment and Manpower), in addition to several other programs. "This involvement," stated Mr. Kilduff, "has exposed us to a different type of client who would never have thought of coming to us."

Other individuals who did not think of coming to the Bureau lived in the West Hudson communities. A West Hudson office of the Family Service Bureau was recently opened in an area which was thought to be relatively stable. The office, Mr. Kilduff commented, got enough calls to last them for a year.

Misfortunes are basically the same. Bureau caseworkers discuss matters concerning parent-child relationships, marriage, older people, unmarried mothers, single parents, families with mental illness, and personal adjustment.

Mrs. Baxter, for instance, found that Frank was defiant because she had nagged instead of being firm and consistent in her discipline. Frank blamed her for everything that had happened since his father's death — the move from a house to an apartment, the change in schools, and the loss of old friends. With the help of the Bureau caseworker, Mrs. Baxter discovered she was not to blame. Once she gained self-respect, she was able to give Frank the discipline and the responsibility he needed to get back on the right path. The Baxter's problem was extreme, but most arguments between parents and children do concern discipline. Mr. Kilduff maintained that there has to be reasonable discipline with understanding — without it, a child doesn't know which way to turn.

The principle that both parents and children should admit mistakes to each other when they are wrong also holds true for married couples. Marital problems usually stem from mutual nagging and spite, said Mr. Kilduff. "People become too important over unimportant things. They don't realize they married an individual, not a jellyfish." A marriage based on the practical consideration that two people can get along with each other stands a good chance of success.

Paychecks are a major problem for the elderly person who comes to the Bureau usually because he is "financially insecure and hurt." Old people are often insecure, but they "don't like to be shoved aside and told to retire — and they don't want to be placed in Leisure Village." Individuals sometimes come in feeling that they are too old to do anything that "nobody wants them except for babysitting."

State Police Given Grant For In-Car Speed Meters

New Jersey's Highway Safety Program received further impetus this month with approval of a $215,694 federal grant to the Division of State Police for the purchase of 236 in-car computerized speed meters.

Upon receiving official notification of grant approval from the National Highway Safety Bureau, Colonel D.B. Kelly appointed Lt. John T. Fognano, Division Traffic Bureau, as project director to coordinate purchase of the equipment and training of 463 troopers as certified operators.

The new equipment consists of electronic units utilizing integrated circuits and digital computers, more accurate than speedometer clocking and more versatile than radar, which provides a read-out of the calculated speed instantly after the speed has been determined.

The units operate on the principle that speed equals distance divided by time.

Troopers will be able to clock speeding vehicles whether they are coming or going, behind or ahead of the patrol car, or even moving on a cross street. The device works whether the patrol car is parked or moving and is accurate to within 1/10 of a mile per hour.

Here's how it works in action: A trooper spots a possible violator. He chooses any convenient marker on the stretch of highway being traveled and starts his timer. He then flips his time switch off when the subject vehicle passes a second marker. The Trooper travels the same distance in his patrol car, flipping the distance switch on at the first marker and off at the second. Now he has distance and time locked into the machine which at this point instantly indicates the computed speed.

With the patrol car parked off the highway, distance between the two points has already been measured and speeding vehicles need only be timed for an automatic computation of miles per hour.

Colonel Kelly said, "After extensive testing of in-car computerized speed meters and careful analysis of their use by other law enforcement agencies in the country, we were convinced that the units would be a valuable adjunct to our highway safety program. Our Police Traffic Services Liaison Bureau wrote specifications for the project grant in May, 1969. The application was forwarded to Assistant Transportation Commissioner Russell H. Mullen, who is chairman of the State Interdepartmental Highway Safety Program Committee, for presentation to the National Highway Safety Bureau. Official notification of approval was received July 10."

Because of the complexity, and scope of the project, in order that it will not interfere with normal operations, implementation will be conducted in phases. These phases will begin with the purchase of the equipment and will continue through installation, personnel training and final evaluation of the project. Training, for instance, will consist of a rigorous 60 hours of class and field work for each man before he is certified.

Colonel Kelly advised that "Total time of the project development to final evaluation is scheduled for 390 days. However, we will begin having enforcement experience on completion of the first 60-day phase which will increase with each phase until completion."

Wallwork Wants Bipartisan Study To Improve N.J. Prison System

State Senator James H. Wallwork (R. Essex) said today that he will introduce legislation to create a twelve-member bipartisan commission to develop a "comprehensive prison reform and prisoner rehabilitation program for

"Our prisons and reformatories are failing to rehabilitate prisoners and equip them for a productive return to life in society. The Justice Department reports that nearly two thirds of all men released from U. S. prisons in 1963 were back behind bars in 1968. The price of this failure is tremendous, viewed in terms of crime, fear, and police and prison cost. In terms of human loss, the cost is incalculable," Wallwork said.

Wallwork said that the bi-partisan panel he proposes, will consist of two members of the Senate, two from the Assembly and eight public members. "What I envision is a complete study of New Jersey's penal system, with detailed recommendations for improved and relevant educational and job-training programs to break the cycle of the prisoner's sense of alienation from society. It will also include an inventory of needed facilities, personnel and practices to make our prisons the type of enlightened and successful rehabilitation facilities they should be."

Wallwork indicated that he had discussed his plan with Republican gubernatorial candidate William Cahill, who expressed his keen interest and support. Cahill said, "I would welcome a complete review of our penal system with special attention to recommendations for prisoner rehabilitation. This can be an important step in reducing crime in our society and providing more meaningful lives for all our citizens."

Civil Defense Gives Hurricane Details

History has taught that New Jersey has been faced with many types of natural disasters over the years. The type most common, however, is the hurricane. Records show that many hurricanes of varying intensity have hit the Garden State.

Hurricanes are more prevalent during August, September and October with September being the time when the largest number have struck in New Jersey.

Public awareness of the dangers of a hurricane is the greatest safeguard against this type of natural disaster. By taking common sense precautionary measures, the loss of life and property damage caused by hurricanes can be greatly reduced. A few of the primary steps to be taken during the hurricane season are listed below.

1. Right now, before the hurricane season arrives, you should:

a. Have handy a flashlight, candles and matches. Also, a battery powered radio should be available. Power lines are usually among the first victims of a hurricane.

b. Check your home for loose shingles and shutters, shaky chimneys; your yard for dead or dying tree limbs.

c. Residents of exposed areas should store a supply of boards to nail over windows. A source of canned heat and an emergency food supply should be stored in the home.

2. If your area is ordered evacuated, you should:

a. Turn off gas and electric

Two Church Missionaries Preach Their Message

Elder Alvin Crown, and Elder Coy Gillespie missionaries of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, working in the Nutley area, will forgo Christmas with their families this year so they can bring their message to local families.

"We find that during the holiday season, people are especially interested in our message," said Elder Douglas Ford of Lewiston, Idaho, who supervises missionary activities in this area, "because this is a season when most everyone gives special consideration to the birth and mission of Jesus Christ."

Elder Ford said one part of the Latter-day Saint message which creates special interest is the description of the birth, and resurrection of Jesus Christ contained in the Book of Mormon, which Latter-day Saints accept as scripture along with the Bible.

"The Book of Mormon is a history of God's dealings with a nation of people who lived here on the Western Continent before Columbus," continued Elder Ford, "it supports the account of the birth and life of Jesus Christ as given in the Bible which, we feel, gives even more meaning to Christmas because it helps to answer those who may not believe that Jesus Christ is the Son of God."

"Our message is that He lived then and was resurrected and that He lives today," concluded Elder Ford.

Young men and women of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints voluntarily accept calls to serve as missionaries for periods of two years. There is no professional clergy in the Latter-day Saints Church, therefore missionaries serve at their own expense. Education and training for future occupations is set aside until completion of their mission, which is looked upon by them as a privilege, not an obligation.

The growth of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints has been accredited to the vast missionary program of the Church, organized throughout the United States and Canada, and most countries of the free world.

Douglass College, women's unit of Rutgers University, reports that 60 per cent of the 641 members of its class of 1968 are employed.

longtime Nutley resident before moving nine years ago.

A retired purchasing agent from Dumont Electronics Co., he was a member of the Hoboken Lodge 35 F. & A.M.

Survived by a son, Paul J. Shauffelberger of Clearwater, he also leaves a daughter of Graystone Park; a brother, Charles of Clifton, and a sister, Miss Rose Shauffelberger of Graystone Park.

Services were December 22 from the Modd Funeral Home, Clearwater. Burial was at the family plot.

A Peaceful, Happy New Year

A Holiday Prayer

Let us pray that strength and courage abundant be given to all who work for a world of reason and understanding - that the good that lies in every man's heart may day by day be magnified - that we will come to see more clearly not that which divides but that which unites them - that each hour may bring us closer to a final victory, not of nation over nation, but of man over his own evils and weaknesses - that the true spirit of this holiday season - its joy, its beauty, its hope, and above all its abiding faith may live among us - that the blessing of peace be ours - the peace to build and grow, to live in harmony and sympathy with others, and to plan for the future with confidence.

Hoffmann-LaRoche Rescue Squad Team Takes International Contest First Prize

JUST PRACTICING — Hoffmann-La Roche's heavy rescue squad members practice evacuating an accident victim with a horizontal Stokes basket lower.

LINEUP — Hoffmann-La Roche rescue squad captain Pat Lombardi addresses members of the team that won first place prize in the 1969 International Heavy Rescue Contest. They are (1-r) Bill Morgan, Boy Meyer, Ralph Ferrie, Ed Brozostowski, Ray Watson, Dave Lauchaire and Doug Weir.

New Program For Aged Sponsored By Williams

A five-year campaign by U.S. Senator Harrison A. Williams, Jr., (D-NJ) to win adoption of a program of volunteer activities for the nation's elderly retirees paid off recently when President Nixon signed the Older Americans Act Amendments of 1969, extending, until 1972, authorization for federally-assisted programs for the elderly.

A key provision of the Amendments creates a National Older Americans Volunteer Program—a measure which Williams, chairman of the Senate Special Committee on Aging, has backed since he became a member of that committee.

Under the volunteer program, persons over 60 could sign up for volunteer activities in the community, and be reimbursed for travel and out-of-pocket expenses. Such volunteer programs would be administered by state offices of aging.

Three forms of volunteer activities are envisioned under the measure signed today:

(1) Person-to-person services by the elderly for children in foster homes, institutions or other temporary shelters.

(2) Tutorial and other services by the elderly to children in day-care centers, nursery schools, and similar institutions, with special emphasis on children from low-income families.

(3) Services by the elderly for other elderly who are incapacitated by age or infirmity.

Senator Williams pushed for congressional adoption of a senior service program immediately after he was named chairman of the Aging Committee in 1967. Unresolved questions of administrative jurisdiction kept the program from winning final approval, but this year, the House adopted a Senate-passed version of a bill including volunteerism for older Americans—and the Williams proposal was a reality.

Community service by the elderly has been tested—and won resounding approval—in a number of ongoing Williams-backed programs.

* "Foster Grandparents," a joint venture of the Administration on Aging and the Office of Economic Opportunity, which pays elderly retirees to give one-to-one attention to disturbed or disadvantaged children.

* "Green Thumb," a Department of Labor project which pays older and retired low-income farmers and rural elderly to maintain roadside greenery, historic sites and recreation areas.

* "Senior Aides," a pilot program launched last year by the Department of Labor to provide federal funds for local programs of voluntary assistance by seniors, generally for other seniors.

* "Project FIND," an Office of Economic Opportunity program, which employed older persons to seek out and survey the needs of the elderly who were too ill or too immobile to move out into the community.

Sen. Williams said today that the signing of the Older Americans Act amendments will build on the foundation laid by these pioneer service programs for the elderly. "The time is finally at hand when federal resources can be put to work helping older people serve their communities, their neighbors, and their own sense of accomplishment and purpose," he said.

More Calls In Snow Says Bell

Don't hang up your telephone if you fail to get dial tone during a snow storm, says New Jersey Bell.

Heavy snow increases calling and occasionally overloads lines, but the situation is generally a brief one. Hang on and you will get dial tone.

Another suggestion from the telephone company: Bring your personal directory up to date now if you want to be ahead of the game when snow falls.

The minute the weather turns bad, many persons call directory assistance for cab telephone numbers, or for the numbers of bus companies to find out about bus schedules.

Update your personal directory now and have it on hand beside your phone, the company advised, and when the white stuff falls—as fall it will—you'll avoid running into a delay reaching directory assistance.

Past experience has shown that telephone calls increase substantially during snowy weather, the company said, and in a heavy downfall, the number increases by millions.

Planning for the future is the only way to improve the future.

With an expert performance that put them far ahead of their competitors, the rescue squad from Hoffmann-La Roche Inc. won first place in the 1969 International Heavy Rescue Contest. Roche's squad piled up a score of 1303, surpassing fourteen teams from 8 states and Canada.

The heavy rescue contest was part of the International Rescue and First Aid Association annual conference held in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Each competing team had to solve three problems. They were then judged for the speed and skill with which they handled them. Realistically staged, the problems took them at night to various areas of Cincinnati where mock disasters were described to them. Without any prior knowledge of these "disasters" the teams had to assess the situation, assemble their equipment and perform the rescue for the contest judges.

Roche's champion squad includes Pat Lombardi (captain), Ed Brzostowski, Ralph Ferrie, Dave Lauchaire, Bob Meyer, Bill Morgan, Ray Watson and Doug Weir. Rudy Appelman was an alternate. Everett Hatton, is the squad's advisor.

The men have put in long hours developing rescue skill. They drill regularly and also have frequent skill practice on technique. As part of their training, they spent several days on duty with the Newark Fire Department's rescue squad in order to gain firsthand experience with actual problems. The Roche squad is currently conducting a training program for the Nutley rescue unit, and in the past has performed the same type of service for squads in Bloomfield and Parsippany-Troy Hills.

Snow Bowl Ski Area Set For January Winter Carnival

Snow Bowl Ski Area, Milton, will hold its annual Winter Carnival January 10 and 11.

Already a busy hub of skiing activity, Snow Bowl will officially salute the 1970 ski season with this colorful event which combines winter sports, a beauty contest and colorful outdoor pageantry.

Each man on the winning squad received a plaque, while Roche received a trophy. Roche's full rescue squad has 18 members.

Besides the Roche team, squads from two other New Jersey locations—Lambertville and Linden—competed.

Annual Alien Address Report Spurs Naturalization Requests

Dominick F. Rinaldi, district director of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, stated that the annual alien address report program usually causes a sharp rise in the number of applications for naturalization.

The law requires all aliens in the United States, with few exceptions, to report their addresses each January. Throughout the United States, almost thirty percent more applications for naturalization are received during the months of January, February and March than are received during other months.
