CHARLES ZANE of 50 Floyd Street steps over fallen tree while protecting himself from the rain with his umbrella. Zane's car didn't have similar protection and consequently felt the brunt of the tree's descent.

Unidentified neighbor helped him to remove the tree from his auto. Similar problems occurred throughout town as Belleville was severely hit by Sunday's storm. (More pictures on page 2)

Widespread Woes

Storm Didn't Spare Anyone In Belleville

By Cris Farley

Belleville was one of the hardest hit towns in Essex County during the violent storm Sunday which climaxed a week of rain in the area.

The storm caused serious problems for many people throughout the town from homeowners to Public Works employees.

The most intensive damage to the town came from a combination of lightning and high winds which blew down and seriously damaged hundreds of trees and caused extensive property damage. Many streets were completely closed down because of fallen trees and debris.

Also, dangerous conditions resulted from live wires which were knocked down by trees or which sagged under the weight of the fallen branches. Live wires led to at least one fire - at the corner of Belleville Avenue and Laverne Street. An electrical line carrying an estimated 13,000 volts snapped under the weight of a fallen tree and landed

Laterza Attacks Traffic

Public Safety Director Robert Laterza is taking steps to ease traffic congestion by The Rutgers Street Bridge.

By the end of this month Commissioner Laterza expects to install a traffic light at the Cortlandt and Rutgers Street intersection. In addition, the Public Safety Director says an ordinance prohibiting parking or standing on Cortlandt Street by the light will go into effect immediately.

Laterza also is considering applying for a left-hand signal at the Rutgers Street and Washington Avenue intersection, "but first I want to see how the new light works out."

The Public Safety Director is still waiting for word from the County on his application for a left-hand signal at the Belleville and Franklin Avenue intersection.

RICKY CARUSO, a part-time summer employee for the Public Works Department, finds his job is anything but dull. Here the former Bellboy gridiron star hangs on to a rope as he is lifted to roof of a home on Stevens Road where a fallen tree has caused severe damage. In the lift is full-time employee Anthony Fusaro, while Angelo Zoppi, a district wrestling champ for BHS this year, uses his muscles to best advantage.

Town Negotiates To Buy Building For Health Dept.

The Town of Belleville is negotiating with a private corporation for purchase of a large office building at the corner of Washington Avenue and Joramelon Street. The facility would be used as a new Public Health Building.

A $140,000 offer was made by the Town Friday for the 10,000 square foot which is owned by the Fischer-Stevens Corporation of Clifton, according to Mayor Joseph McGreevy.

The offer, McGreevy says, is the assessed value of the property and does not bind Belleville in any way.

Permission for the Mayor to negotiate was granted by Town Fathers at last week's regularly scheduled Public Meeting. Commissioner Mary Senatore however was reluctant to pass the measure until she was assured Town Fathers would not be bound in any way by the balloting.

"I'm only asking for the power to negotiate for price," McGreevy said at that time.

Mrs. Senatore suggested that a citizens committee be formed to "come in with us and review the situation so that they can feel a part of it."

The other four Commissioners did not feel any delay was needed before negotiation, and told Mrs. Senatore such a committee could be formed after a price had been negotiated.

"I don't see why we can't sit and discuss purchase price immediately," Commissioner Robert Laterza said. "We've got nothing to lose. If the price is too high we can still get a citizens committee to look into it." There was also some discussion at the meeting about renting space in the office building to the Board of Education which is hoping to relocate its

'He's Needed'

Vinnie Says Storm Proves His Point About Rail Guard

Commissioner Vincent T. Strumolo says Sunday's severe storm "proved my point" about the need for a railroad crossing guard at Franklin Street.

Heavy winds from that storm ripped off two of the four wooden rails at the crossing and forced the guard to regulate traffic with a hand signal.

Erie-Lackawanna Railroad wants to replace the guard with an automatic warning light, a move which Commissioner Strumolo says he will strongly oppose.

The railroad's petition for discontinuance of the guard is before the state Public Utilities Commission (PUC) which has scheduled a public hearing Thursday, September 2 at 10 a.m. in its Newark Office.

"This storm proves my point that if they put automatic gates at the crossing and there is a storm like this there will not be adequate safety for the children," Strumolo told the Times-News Monday at the crossing site.

About 15 feet from the Commissioner were large wooden pieces of the broken guard rail. The

Could Take Weeks To Remove Debris

By Nat Gottlieb

Emergency funds may be needed before Belleville completely clears its streets and sidewalks of debris from Sunday's devastating storm, according to Commissioner Mary Senatore.

Mrs. Senatore fears her equipment will not last through the cleanup period, which could be three or four weeks. She also suspects her department will need more money to pay overtime wages.

The money, she says, would have to be appropriated at a special meeting called by Mayor Joseph McGreevy. Mrs. Senatore says she has spoken to the Mayor about this and that they both are taking a "wait and see" attitude.

The town meanwhile, continues to feel the effects of one of the worst electrical storms to hit here in the past 20 years. At the height of the storm Sunday afternoon, whole trees, limbs and live telephone wires fell with alarming speed throughout Belleville.

As the thunder and lightning subsided and skies cleared, residents left their homes and stared in amazement at the widespread damage caused by the violent storm: cars bent under the weight of fallen trees; live telephone wires and power lines sparking in the streets; whole roadways blocked to traffic by graveyards of dead limbs and branches.

Some homeowners didn't have to leave their houses to inspect the damage, for in several instances tree trunks knocked in the roofs or the sides of their homes.

Public Works employees, firemen, policemen, and civil defense volunteers were quickly called from their homes to aid the crippled town.

Emergency situations received immediate attention. By midnight every road in Belleville was open to traffic because of the non-stop effort by town employees.

This week the town has been adjusting to the effects of the storm.

For one thing, cops aren't giving out tickets to cars abusing alternate side of the street parking regulations.

"They can't," Mrs. Senatore says. "I told Commissioner Laterza (Robert), we wouldn't be

PUC Upholds Town's Fight To Keep Bus

The state Public Utilities Commission (PUC) has denied a Public Service Coordinated Transport request for discontinuance of all bus service on its Belleville-Silver Lake bus route No. 37.

In a report dated July 27, the PUC found there is a substantial need for a weekday route travelling east to west from Belleville to Bloomfield, and that this need outweighed Public Service's contention that continuation of the route is financially unfeasible.

In its recommendation PUC outlined several points in its findings:

1. There is substantial weekly patronage on this route;

2. There is limited and extremely light patronage on Saturday;

3. Though there are alternate services available in this area, they do not completely meet the needs of the present passengers on the No. 37 route;

4. There appears to be sufficient public need and demand for the weekday service.

The committee recommended that weekday bus service on the No. 37 route be maintained as before, although Saturday service be eliminated so as to partially ease the financial deficit of Public Service.

DeCamp Seeking Increase

Residents with complaints about De Camp bus service were asked this week to forward them to Commissioner Vincent T. Strumolo.

Strumolo says he will take the complaints personally to the state Public Utilities Commission (PUC) when it holds a

Town Wins Bus No. 37 Battle

They further recommended that Public Service make a study of the area as to the feasibility of rerouting portions of existing routes to see if further operating economies may be made.

Public hearings on the issue began in March when Thomas J. McCluskey and Edward Borroni, attorneys for Public Service, petitioned for discontinuance of the line because of financial problems. They blamed the company's problems with bus 37 on an alleged decline of passengers. In their report to PUC, McCluskey and Borroni submitted financial statements claiming Public Service suffered financial losses in excess of $3 million for its overall operations in 1970, and that for the first two months of 1971, losses were in excess of $1.4 million. They also projected higher losses for the rest of the year.

Witnesses for Public Service also testified that the company operates many other bus routes through the Belleville-Bloomfield area and that by the use of transfers there is reasonable alternative service to patrons of bus No. 37. They also contended that discontinuance would bring minimal disruption to the commuting patterns of riders.

Nicholas R. Amato, the Town Attorney, and Max Schwartz, attorney for the Board of Education, presented 19 witnesses from town who testified to their transportation needs during second hearings. Amato presented commissioners and other municipal officials who testified that the No. 37 route supplies a "necessary and vital transportation service to the town; and that it is the only route which operates in an east-west direction, bringing people from their homes to the business district on Washington Avenue."

Town residents also testified that discontinuance of the route would require them to travel to nearby towns to shop instead of in Belleville.

Amato and Schwartz had repeatedly claimed that the line was necessary for effective transportation of local students to six area schools. They also mentioned that a limited school transportation budget precluded town transportation for all students.

Negotiate For Health Building

administrative offices and to find space for its Special Education Department.

Public Affairs Director Vincent Strumolo has told the Board of Commissioners he would like to either erect a new health building or find suitable space in town this year. The present health building is located in a 100-year old former one-family house. Conditions there have been labeled inadequate by both state and local officials.

Witnesses stated that the No. 37 line "is the only route that serves the various schools located in the northwest section of town and that discontinuation would be a hardship upon many school children who depend upon this necessary service for their transportation needs." No alternate buses could adequately compensate for loss of the line which winds its way through the area like a "meandering snake," Amato contended.

Town attorneys further stated that Public Service possessed a legal monopoly on public autobus transportation throughout the town and that whatever the financial burden operation of the line incurred, it would be a "breach of trust" for the company to discontinue.

During the course of the investigation, Amato, who is currently running for Essex County Surrogate, questioned Public Services arbitrary choice of weeks for a survey of bus usage, a survey which the utility used to claim financial loss. He said records of every week should have been produced "in order to arrive at a proper basis for claim to financial deficits." Public Service said this would be impossible due to the involved nature of such an investigation.

Introducing the jet with the big difference!

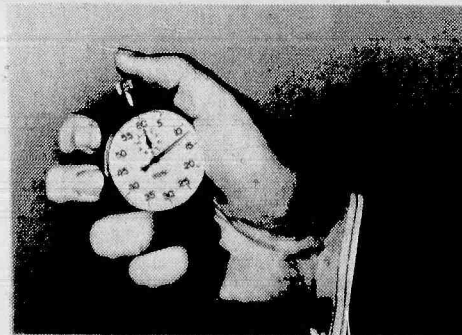

Technicians check model of jet turbine used to produce electricity during peak periods.

Public Service's jets are essentially the same as those used in airliners, but are virtually pollution-free.

A Better Environment Is Our Business Too

Our jets produce electric power in minutes, hours faster than conventional steam generators.

Our jet engines produce electric energy for you with virtually no air pollution. We've got more than a hundred jet engines that are essentially the same as those which power today's modern airliners. But ours run on cleaner burning natural gas or low sulfur oil. These mighty engines can produce extra power for you when you need it most... and fast. They start to produce at full capacity in a matter of minutes, hours faster than conventional generators. That's why they're a big help during peak demand periods like muggy summer days. And they're virtually pollution free. At Public Service, a better environment is our business too.

Strumolo fears it may be several days or even weeks before the railroad fixes the guard rails, a sentiment shared by crossing guard Rocco Bilancia who spent a busy day controlling traffic with a wooden stop sign as trains passed.

"Sometimes these mechanical failures take three days or more to fix," Bilancia said. "I've been doing this type of work for 30 years and I don't think putting in an automatic signal will be safe for the kids."

Strumolo feels the guard is important because "in this area there are a lot of children crossing the tracks on their way to the James Shawger School and to St. Anthony's School."

The Commissioner says he has witnessed mechanical gate failures several times from his home and business establishment which border the railroad crossing.

"I'm going to mention this incident at the hearing and so will our Town Attorney," Strumolo said.

"I feel that with a man out there he can at least get out and warn the people if there is a breakdown."

Anthony Coviello, a crossing guard in Jersey City with 25 years experience was called to the scene to help out. He also said a guard is needed at the intersection.

"You need a man there," he said. "You shouldn't have electric gates with all these kids passing by."

Coviello also said the Belmont Avenue-Franklin Street traffic light, which is only 20 yards away, presents special problems which make a guard's appearance necessary.

"Sometimes during traffic hours cars are backed up across the tracks from the Belmont Avenue light," he said.

DeCamp After Hike in Fare

The rate increase is five cents for one way and multi-ticket fares, and although Strumolo wouldn't come right out and say he's opposed to the increase, he indicated he'd be at the hearing to see if "the fare is fair."

"It is not that I don't approve of the hike," Strumolo said, "it is just that we will be paying more and I don't know if we are getting better service."

"I will represent Belleville at the hearing," the Commissioner continued, "and I hope residents with complaints on the bus would address them to the PUC or to me."

The Public Affairs Director is becoming something of a "familiar face" at PUC offices in Newark. Beginning with Public Service Coordinated Transports' proposal to discontinue the No. 37 bus last March, Strumolo has attended a half dozen public hearings of the PUC.

"It's getting so that they recognize me down at the PUC offices," the Commissioner joked. "At least, they know that whatever happens, Belleville will be there and interested. Most other towns don't even bother to go to these hearings."

A Statewide Tragedy

Since the latter part of May the Newark News has not been publishing because of a labor dispute between the News Guild and the newspaper management.

For years the Newark News has been a New Jersey institution and to stand by helplessly while it disappears from the American scene is one of the greatest tragedies of our time.

Members of the News Guild believe their cause is just and right. The Guild leadership asserts that it is seeking "job security and the right to a living wage."

Management states that in order to survive economically it must reduce its work force. The Guild opposes any reduction and insists upon substantial wage increases.

The failure of the News to publish, adversely affects News employees, advertisers who have relied on the newspaper as a means to reach major New Jersey markets and readers that find a vacuum when they seek to read the evening news.

More than 1,000 workers have been made idle because of the strike.

In the interests of the citizens of our county and state, the employees of the Newark News and the ability of management to become solvent, it is important that Governor Cahill step in and take whatever steps are necessary to bring the contending parties to the bargaining table.

In the not too distant future readers and advertisers alike will get accustomed to living without the Newark News — and if that day arrives it will be a sad one indeed for the Newark News employees — for they will be without jobs. After investing a lifetime with one employer the Newark News employees should expect a better fate than an unemployment check.

TV Fairness

A book expected to be published in September will show, in carefully researched form, that the networks have distorted the news in recent years. It's titled "The News Twisters" and should cause quite a stir.

It will reportedly demonstrate just what critics have so long charged, that a New York clique of newsmen deciding news policy and content for the three networks hold enormous power to determine what news millions of Americans get, and wield that power with bias.

The question thus becomes more pressing than ever: how can Congress and the FCC see to it that radio and television news is fairly presented? It's their job, it's now admitted even by some network people, because broadcasters use the public's airwaves and channels, unlike newspapers, which are strictly private properties.

CBS President Frank Stanton recently managed to successfully defy Congress, and avoid a contempt of Congress citation. But he presumably used up much of his influence over various Congressmen in the "Selling of the Pentagon" controversy and is not likely to be able to repeat such a defense of biased reporting, defying a congressional committee, again. This is hinted by pointed CBS indications it won't repeat the practices used in making the Pentagon film.

The problem today is complicated by the fact that two congressional committees oversee the FCC, and indirectly, the networks, and too many members on them have financial interests in stations, which are in turn tied to the networks. The FCC and the congressional committees should be completely divorced from possible network pressure or influence. Congressional leadership alone can remedy the situation.

Ike's Birthday

On the 14th in 1890, at Denison, Texas, Ida Eisenhower gave birth to the third of six sons she bore to David J. Eisenhower. Dwight David was to become a wartime hero and the leader of Allied armies in World War II, the American President for eight years and probably the most popular American of the 20th century, if not of the world.

Eisenhower's family fled from Germany in the seventeenth century (to Switzerland) to escape from religious persecution, then the fate of many Protestants. A century later his ancestors moved to America.

There was little military tradition in the family. Eisenhower worked his way through college and after failing to gain entrance at Annapolis because of his age entered the United States Military Academy at West Point, graduating in 1915. He failed to see service in World War I but rose to the top in the next war.

Afterward, he became president of Columbia University. He then accepted the command of NATO powers in Europe, meanwhile declining an almost-certain Democratic nomination for President. In 1952, however, he accepted the G.O.P. nomination, and was elected easily and reelected in 1956.

Board Of Education Meets On Contract Grievances

By Elaine Auerbach

One Year Ago

The Public Works Commissioners of Belleville and Nutley exchanged charges of blame for flooding conditions in Nutley, and all but ruled out the possibility that the matter could be resolved outside of the courts. Commissioner Mary Senatore told The Times that she had sent a letter to Nutley's Commissioner Lucy saying that flooding problems in the town's DeMuro Park area were the result of Nutley's decision to develop the site. She indicated to The Times that it was all a "legal matter."

The Belleville Education Association stated it was dissatisfied with grievance procedures in the 1969 contract and asked the Board of Education to meet sometime before September 1 to discuss the matter. Board President Saletta indicated that the Board was willing to meet within two weeks to discuss the situation.

George Simon Jr. was to be installed as commander of the Belleville American Legion Post 105 during annual installation ceremonies at the Post home on Washington Avenue. Nine other officers to be installed along with Simon were Anthony Mariani, 1st vice-commander; Frank Kiernan, 2nd vice-commander; Ray Wellen, 3rd vice-commander; Patrick Lee, finance officer; Charles Wilson, chaplain; Lloyd Monterosa, historian; John Nolten, ritual officer; and John Woodcock, sergeant-at-arms.

The Belleville Board of Education and its attorney, Saul Alexander, were warned by Assistant State Commissioner of Education, Eric Groezinger, to proceed with its case against Dr. Frank Durkee without further delay, even if it meant continuing with a new board attorney. The New Jersey Education Association, stated Groezinger, felt that the further delay in the case was "objectionable" because of Alexander's extended European vacation. He also cited two illnesses of board attorney Max Schwartz that had caused previous halts in the case.

Despite the presence of opposition candidates in 14 of 24 districts in Belleville's two wards, Mrs. Mary Senatore, Democratic Town Chairman, was expected to win her third term when the votes were counted in the September 13 primary election. Some lively action was anticipated for a number of districts, but Mrs. Senatore was the only one filing in a complete slate of 48 candidates.

There was a lot of excitement and tension brewing at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Galante. Their fourteen-year-old daughter, Maria, had been chosen as a semi-finalist in the Miss Teen Age America Contest sponsored by Palisades Amusement Park. Maria had decided to enter the contest "just for the fun of it." She discovered after the preliminary contest that she had been selected for the semi-finals.

Car thieves seemed to like Belleville five times better than Nutley, according to some crime statistics released to The Times by Attorney General Robert Kennedy. A total of 93 cars had been stolen in Belleville in 1960, compared to only 17 stolen in Nutley. A comparison of Belleville with its neighbors showed that crime prevention was more effective in Nutley. In January, for example, Belleville had 93 thefts under $50, while Nutley only had 49.

A warning that many public eating and drinking places in Belleville, by failing to observe the dishwashing regulations of the Health Department, were helping to spread disease germs, was issued by Health Officer Edward Burdzy. The Health Department had been quietly conducting a survey of public dishwashing methods. In some eating places the bacteria counts had exceeded those permitted by the department.

Rabbi Victor Cohen of Temple Ahavath Achim was to give the invocation at a tree planting ceremony in Nutley on Hiroshima Day, which would mark the 16th anniversary of the dropping of the first atomic bomb. The ceremony was sponsored by the Belleville-Nutley Area Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy. Belleville's advisor, Miss Catherine Pohl, expressed hope that "with thoughtful contemplation of this tragedy we may renew our vigorous efforts to assure that mankind shall never again fall victim to another atomic blast."

The chairman of the mammoth undertaking was Willie Honeman, former American Professional Bike Sprint Champion and owner of the Honeman Cycle Shop on Washington Avenue. The event was to include races for Belleville youngsters, plus the third annual Willie Honeman Sprint Series, which would be open to cyclists all across the country.

Helen's Thing

Can You Spell Or Are You Like My Rod?

By Helen McGuire

THE PLUMBER CAME the other day and as he was repairing the Niagara Falls which had erupted in our bathroom, he casually remarked that he had a leak in his own cellar which he had never gotten around to fixing. At the moment, he had rigged up a piece of cardboard to channel the drip down into a container of some description. And I couldn't help laughing. A plumber with a leak.

The whole thing seemed even funnier when I remembered what had happened the last time we took Gavin into the local shoe emporium for sneakers. It was a rather quiet day and the proprietor sat down to chat with us and remarked that he had been embarrassed beyond belief a couple of days earlier when he had gotten a look at the sneakers his own kid was wearing. They were full of holes, ready only for the garbage. A shoeman's son with his feet hanging out of his sneakers.

AND THEN I BEGAN to wonder what was so unusual about all this, for if I may apply the general principle in another way here am I, a columnist (?), social editor of three newspapers, an English major in college and married to a man who can't spell! Yeah, I must confess that the love of my life, the father of this multitude of children, the king of the house, is a fantastic practitioner of the art of spelling everything phonetically with results that are sometimes unbelievable.

LET ME HASTEN to add right here, lest he have me beheaded before the day is over, that he has improved greatly since he went to work for Public Service, but well I remember the early days of his current employment. The phone would ring at two o'clock in the morning and "Sam" would be Rod on the other end of the line. "Sam," he would query, "how do you spell such and such a word?" The first time he pulled this, I got slightly annoyed. "Why don't you look it up in the dictionary?" I wanted to know. "If I could spell it well enough to look it up, do you think I'd be calling you?" was his perfectly logical reply. After that, I gave up and just spelled what he had to have and staggered back to bed.

But he's not a rarity when it comes to spelling. Erin's Godfather is cut from the same cloth. Here is a fellow who graduated with high honors from Drew University (and that's where I unearthed this fact about him when I was coerced by his fiancée into helping her proofread his thesis), received his master's degree from Maxwell School of Business of Syracuse University, served his time in the Army, played baseball for several years with the Boston Red Sox organization and now is a district superintendent for New York Bell Telephone Company and ranks in the same category as my ever loving when it comes to spelling. I guess it either comes naturally to you or it doesn't!

I'M ALMOST OUT of space but I have to tell you about one of the funniest instances of misspelling I ever came across. For years on my way to school, I drove past a large sign which proclaimed, "PIONES FOR SALE" and for the life of me, I couldn't figure out what they were until one day, a display of gorgeous white flowers accompanied the sign and I realized that the man was trying to peddle peonies. Enough. I gave to go.

Play Review

Star Spangled Girl Is Funny

By Patty Voigt

Neil Simon's "The Star Spangled Girl" is a brilliantly funny play, and the current production at the Meadowbrook Theatre Restaurant is comparatively successful in capturing Simon's comedic flair. The pace is hard and fast and the company worked well to keep up the bouncy repartee.

The production was designed in the Theatre-in-the-Round, and the open set representing an apartment was effective and quite workable.

When queried, Eileen Fulton, female lead mentioned "she was a veteran of the 'round' but greatly preferred the traditional proscenium." She added however, "the set was particularly beneficial in alleviating the sight and traffic problems."

It was obvious that Miss Fulton was completely comfortable on the set. Her movements were fluid and full of vitality. The one flaw in her performance was that her energy came on 200 per cent and never fluctuated. She was in a constant frenzy that became tiresome if not boring at times.

The opposite is to be said of James Darren's performance. He didn't come alive until the latter portion of the second act when he stopped relying on his past achievements as a "star." Suddenly a character emerges and Darren takes command in the third act.

To be commended for his consistently strong performance is Jerry Dodge in the part of Norman. He created a totally inane but lovable character, and his energies were well directed. A highlight was his mime, beginning of act two.

As a whole, the company worked well with each other in a close to ensemble-acting style. They played with lines and achieved a bright, glib quality which gave the show its absurd sense of hilarity.

A small factor detracting from the effectiveness of the production was a poor and totally unnecessary sound system. The amplification was distorted and distracting. The injection of swatches of music and sound began as clever, but became tiresome from overuse.

But, "Star Spangled Girl" is an evening of fun and high camp which concludes in an uproarious stanza of "America," a delightful topping to a truly upbeat show.

Unto Others

Life moves so fast and we are faced with so many temptations to join the run-of-the-mill ways that we often fail to keep in mind the Golden Rule-do unto others as you would have them do unto you.

We are often tempted to join in gossip usually speculative or half-true gossip, or to judge others, or to say unkind words or criticize others. How many who read this editorial can say they haven't succumbed to this temptation often?

THE COMIC, JERRY LESTER, who originally introduced the Johnny Carson-type Tonight Show using Wayne Howell as his straight man completed a two-week stint at Paramount Playhouse on the Mall. Jerry started alongside vivacious, curvaceous Ann Corio who made striptease an art. The show had a very successful run — deservedly so and Sunday night after two performances the troupe moved on to Springfield, Mass. for a one-week stay and then on and on across the country and into Canada right into the late winter. In addition to Ann Corio and Jerry Lester the 13 scene play produces stars in every scene. Especially attractive was Bobbye Mack's performance in the "Las Vegas Babydoll." During his successful two weeks at the Playhouse on the Mall, Jerry Lester came to Nutley on three different occasions and he thinks there's no place like it. He was intrigued by the Sun's Video Lounge and the modern computerized method of producing type.

HENRY NAKAMURA RECENTLY INVESTED some of his hard-earned money in the purchase of a Chinese stone Buddha, a female believed to be 2,000 years old. She is 23 inches high and hails from southern China. Henry is looking for some authentication of his buy. It is difficult to tell whether the China doll is made from iron ore or meteorite substance. If any of our readers recognize Miss China Doll, Henry says there's a reward for the person or persons who can shed some light on her authenticity.

Jerry Lester, Ann Corio Seen At The Playhouse On The Mall

WHILE JERSEYITES AND RESIDENTS OF METROPOLITAN NEW YORK were moaning and groaning this weekend cursing the bad weather, visitors to Fort Lauderdale never had it so good. The sun was shining brightly. The temperature hovered in the mid-80's. The beach was sparsely populated and the streets — Ocean Boulevard and the major highways had very little traffic. If there's an option a person has to be out of his mind to choose the inclement weather of New Jersey over the sunshine of Fort Lauderdale.

FLIGHT 897 once again bore a familiar face — stewardess Shirley Rand who this week became Mrs. Shirley Pearl. Shirley has been flying Eastern for six years and whenever she services my flights it's always first rate.

ON THE RETURN FLIGHT 897 I was equally as lucky. This time it was Darlene Mincer another hard worker for Eastern Airlines. The approach to the Newark Airport was rather rugged because of the bad weather Sunday night. We were obliged to circle the skies above the Newark Airport until the rain and storms subsided and permitted a safe landing.

I AM HAPPY TO NOTE that Frank Restaino recently was released from the hospital and is convalescing at his Harrison Street home. I hope his recovery is a fast one.

WPAT NEWS IS SPONSORED by Frank Capalbo of Capalbo's fruit baskets right here in Nutley, New Jersey. Every time I hear it on the air I get a sense of familiarity.

Big Storm Paralyzes Belleville

across the front steps of the home of Joseph Marra of 38 Laverne Street.

The end of the wire fell on Marra's car and shortly afterward began to burn.

"There was a wire laying on my car for about 20 minutes; then it started sparking and we called the cops," Marra said. "While the cops were on their way it burst into flames; the wires jumped off my car and fell on the driveway. They ate through the driveway and even turned part of the driveway into glass where there had been sand and gravel."

Lt. Robert Russomano of the Belleville police force lives across the street, and was off duty at the time of the fire. Russomano saw the wire and tried to assist Marra.

"I ran over to Marra's car with a wooden ladder and I was going to try to remove it but Public Service told me not to because it was 13,000 volts and that I shouldn't fool with it," Russomano said.

Marra said that he got everyone out of the house through the back door soon as he realized what had happened. Because of the fallen wires, telephones throughout the area were disconnected. This coupled with trees that blocked the roads virtually isolated the residents. Mrs. Robert Russomano described the situation.

"The firemen put a rope over the wire and pulled it away to save the house. We were just stuck, there were no telephones working."

The wire burned out the rear of Marra's car and radiated considerable voltage through the ground. Lt. Russomano said that "when Patrolman James Pindar went around the back of the house, he could feel shocks from the wire passing up through the ground to his knees."

Nicholas Verardo of 140 Carpenter Street narrowly averted a similar accident when branches that fell from a tree in front of his house hung on electrical and telephone wires.

"I've been after the Shade Tree Department to take away this tree because it isn't sturdy," Verardo said. "There are ants in the tree and some of them have been getting into my basement. It's a good thing that this tree didn't fall on the main lines nearby because that would have damaged everything."

Verardo heard the tree come down and telephoned police but it was after midnight before public works could come and cut the limbs away.

Verardo was not the only

Belleville resident who had problems, though. The Public Works department worked through the night in order to clear the streets. Foreman Al Pico, who was observing the removal of a tree which had fallen through the roof of a house on Stevens Road said that over 20 streets were completely inoperable due to fallen trees, most of them in the Smallwood Avenue section of the town.

"I don't know why it was worse here than anywhere else. I had 21 men working last night, usually there are only two on standby."

Pico, who had surveyed the damaged areas of the town said, "I've been working 14 years with the Public Works Department and I've never seen anything like this. Most of our regular crew is out on vacation and we've been relying mostly on kids who are summer help. We've had to call in others just for this emergency. The damage is so extensive that we haven't started on many of the trees. I couldn't even begin to make an estimate," Pico said.

He also had praise for all the town public service departments as well as the residents: "Everybody, Public Service, police and firemen have pitched in to work together. The people have been very helpful too."

On Hornblower Avenue, Public Works workers were clearing away debris that had fallen the night before. Ralph Chimento, a Public Works employee who was operating a tractor on the street described the amount of work that Public Service has been doing since the storm:

"We've been out since two o'clock yesterday (August 1). It's noon now and I don't know when we will stop. It could take weeks to clean all this up," Chimento said. "This is worse than the ice storm of last winter. In the ice storm there had been only small limbs. This is like a hurricane. Today we've just been pushing trees to the side to let the traffic through. Later we'll handle all the debris in the back yards."

On many streets cars were hit or trapped by trees. Chimento said there had been three cars hit on Hornblower Avenue alone. He also noted that the people living in the area had been very helpful. Jack Egan who was working a chain saw on the street said that this would be very important because "the whole cleaning operation will take weeks and possibly months."

Cindy Seeks Title

State Golf Champion Cindy Ferro will leave tomorrow night for the state of Georgia, where she will play in the National Girls Golf Tournament.

The highly talented Belleville golfer will enter the qualifying rounds of the tournament Monday morning, after finishing in the top ten of the Metropolitan Shore Tournament, this past weekend.

Cindy tied for sixth place in the Shore contest after golfing at her "average" rate of the low-eighties and then slipping off on the third day for the tie. This positioning came with her gross score, while last year's third place was in the low net category, which counts as a handicap.

BECK'S COLUMN

MAX BECK

Continuing our lessons on electronics, we come to radio today. Previously we wrote about electronic components which needed wires to carry the signal. Now we come to the wireless propagation of electronic signals.

The fact that the radio and TV signals are coming through the air stuns most people. They could understand electric lights which requires wires, but something coming through the air that one can not see or feel or otherwise prove through our senses, that was too much.

However, there is sound for instance. If it would not be that the sound waves are carried from the source to the ears by air, one would not hear anything. It is a fact that you won't hear anything in a vacuum. The same as our voice, radio waves can be carried through the air, which takes the place of wire. It is as simple as that. It takes the atmosphere to make conversation possible, to carry the sound waves along. The air can be the carrier of lots of other waves. Once you understand this, there is no mystery any more. And with this we want to conclude our little electronics course.

More College Plans

Three more Belleville High School athletes have completed their plans for attending college this fall with hopes of participating in major sports while attaining a degree.

Jersey City State College has attracted its fifth Belleville sports figure out of the 24 planning on sports in college. Rutgers University has its first candidate, this one for the Rutgers College in Newark although an eventual change in plans may transfer him to the main campus in New Brunswick. The final athlete is the seventh planning to go out of state to school.

Jerry DePaul To Jersey City

Jerry DePaul, a 6'1" 180 pound end, becomes the second BHS grad planning on Jersey City football while studying for an art major.

The nite school student will transfer to full time in his second year of commercial art studies to join the football team that Tommy Vitiello plans on trying for this season as he goes for a similar major. Both students played on Belleville's varsity gridiron for the past two winning seasons.

The varsity coxswain of this year's Goodwill Regatta Champion crew shell has found that he will have to abandon his best sport because at 135 pounds he's "too heavy".

Zarra To Try Wrestling

Bob Zarra will be going Rutgers University in Newark to study chemistry and hopes to go out for wrestling in the winter somewhere between 130-140 pounds.

It was Bob's first year as varsity coxswain (as well as varsity wrestler), but on the river it proved successful.

Bob piloted the BHS oarsmen to a 12-4 record as well as the Goodwill Regatta victory over Nutley and Kearny and an eighth place finish in the Schoolboy Nationals. This all started things off right for Sam Guirrida, who was also in his first year - as varsity coach.

Ziegler Turned Down Scholarship

Charles Ziegler turned down a full scholarship to Upsala College, where Jim Miele took the same type of offer, in order to get a chance to study aerospace engineering.

"Syracuse is a bigger school, and it had what I wanted," commented Ziegler, a varsity grid back and outfielder. "I just want to study aerospace engineering, get to fly and possibly into the space program."

The diamond co-captain this year with Joe Papasidero, Ziegler will try out for baseball definitely, but football is out. The problem isn't like Zarra's crew struggles, Ziegler feels that at 5'10" and 165 pounds he's too small to match the other players and also the fact that the season starts two days after registration would make it kind of tough.

Registration at the upstate New York university brings a "big decision" according to Charley. He's thinking of joining the Air Force ROTC program, but noted; "My interest's in flying, I'm not so sure about the military."

This Weekend

World Series to Resume

By John McCarthy

Belleville's Little League World Series will continue this weekend with the Amvets leading the Rotary Club one game to none in the two out of three series. The local championships were postponed because the Belleville All-Star teams were in the District Play-offs, but with a 2-1 loss to Livingston Monday night, both All-Star squads are now out of the competition.

It looked like the World Series might have been postponed even longer for a while on Monday night. The Belleville-Livingston game started off with Belleville tying the score at 1-1 in the first inning played that night. The game had started Friday night with Livingston gaining a 1-0 lead, before being halted in the middle of the second inning by rain.

Anthony Gamarro of the Varsity Club singled and then went to second on a passed ball. He was moved to second on a fielders' choice and scored as another low throw went past the catcher. But Anthony accounted for the only run of the night, and the low "pitches by the Livingston pitcher paid off. Belleville got five hits, but not one was a long ball to the outfield.

Three innings after he scored, Gamarro let up the game winning run on the first extra base hit. The sixth hit off Gamarro made him the losing pitcher as it was a 250 foot home run over the far fence. Livingston will now face the winner of the Jersey City-Clark Township game tonight in Nutley for the Sectional Championship after winning the District 8 title. Belleville's American League All-Stars had beaten three teams before this game of the elimination series, Bloomfield North and South and Nutley's National League. Belleville's National League All-Stars had lost to Livingston in the semi-final round of the District 8 tourney.

In their last outing, the Amvets topped the Rotary 6-3 in a home run feast. Catcher Frank Mozieka hit two for the winning Amvets while team mate Anthony Biafore also hit one. Shortstop Biafore could be called on by manager Michael Marotti to pitch this weekend.

For the Rotary Club, first trippers to account for all basemen Bob Neblong three of this team's RBIs. clouted a pair of round

Could Take Weeks To Remove Debris From Huge Storm

Manpower priorities in the Public Works Department have been radically adjusted by Mrs. Senatore. Except for a skeleton crew in the water and sewer departments, all her employees are in the streets clearing the countless fallen trees and limbs.

Complicating the operation, for Mrs. Senatore is the fact that most of her regular employees are on vacation and that the bulk of the work is being done by part-time summer help.

"I've got 26 men on vacation," Mrs. Senatore said. "We've been relying on our summer help and the volunteers who've offered their services without pay."

"This is the greatest community effort I've ever seen," the Public Works Director said. "Everyone, including firemen, police, civil defense workers and volunteers has been just tremendous.

"I especially want to praise the person in my department who have done a fantastic job without complaint. In all my life living in this town I've never seen a storm hit us so bad," Mrs. Senatore said.

"Most importantly, citizens will have to bear with us because we are working with a limited crew. I expect most of my regulars back within a week," she said.

Mrs. Senatore said that because of this crisis, she will initiate a new policy in the Shade Tree Department, one which some residents might not like.

"I'm going to meet with the Shade Tree Department in the near future and tell them to prune all the tall trees in town as a safety precaution. Many people don't want these trees pruned because they are pretty and provide shade, but this kind of damage wouldn't have happened if they were pruned right," she said.

Facilitating emergency operations, according to Mrs. Senatore, were the police radios in her trucks. "This is one time I can say the investment of radios in trucks was really worthwhile because we had personal contact with the Police Department during the whole storm. They were able to call us as they learned of every tree problem."

Flooding did occur in many places throughout town, but quickly subsided. Mrs. Senatore said efforts of her sewer crews in recent months was responsible for the rapid disappearance of the water.

Her crews will not only have to cut up and remove fallen trees and branches this month, but will also have to pull down several trees which were cracked down the middle by lightning but haven't fallen.

Gridster Came Quietly But Created A Storm

Glen Morschauer's arrival on the Montclair State campus back in September, 1969 could hardly be called noisy. A transfer student from Arizona State, the former Paramus High School star was virtually unnoticed.

Three years later and 23 touchdowns scored, Morschauer is one of the most recognized students in the 5,800 enrollment.

A fine all-around athlete at Paramus, Glen excelled in football and track. He was a highly sought after athlete who thought he would like life in the great Far West.

However, after one year at Arizona State, Glen came back East to stay and it was a decision he has never regretted.

Just one of 75 who reported to Coach Clary Anderson in 1969, Glen worked his way from third stringer to start in the pre-season training period. Anderson, who took over the struggling Montclair State gridiron fortunes in 1969, will probably always remember Morschauer's first game as an Indian. Playing powerful East Stroudsburg State, Morschauer scored what proved to be the key touchdown in the Indians' big 21-12 upset win over the Warriors and made Anderson's debut a success.

Severe Storm Lashes Belleville

TREE LIMBS LINE every inch of curb along Rhode Place. The street was filled with the fallen branches the night of the storm and kept traffic from entering. Rhode Place was not alone in suffering tree damage, as almost every road in town was hit hard by Sunday's violent thunder and lightning storm. The damage is believed to be the worst in the last two decades.

ANTHONY FUSARO (left) and James Fusaro combine their talents to remove limbs of a tree which fell on a home on Stevens Road.

In the old days some fruit growers used to whitewash the south side of tree trunks in the fall. This was supposed to reflect the heat of the winter sun so that the tree would stay cool all over, not partly warm on the south side.

It was the same idea as the modern one of putting white shingles on a house to reflect sunlight and keep the house cool in summer.

Whitewashing Not Good Or Bad

Why do some home gardeners whitewash the trunks of trees? It's done quite often to fruit trees, but not by the big-time growers, who can be expected to try everything possible to grow a profitable crop.

William F. Munk, senior county agricultural agent of Essex County, says as far as he knows, whitewash on a tree trunk will neither discourage nor kill any insect that wants to crawl on it or attack it.

SOCIAL AND CLUB NEWS OF COMMUNITY INTEREST

The Interlibrary Loan Network Means Better Service, Economy

The shiny orange van is on the road five days a week now and things are getting busier all the time. The driver, who obviously enjoys his work, says that he's one part driver, one part literary detective and one part public relations man. Technically though, Steve Willis is the driver-clerk of the Northwest Essex Interlibrary Loan Network van.

However long the title, the loan service is impressively simple and effective. By pooling their resources, the 11 public libraries in northwest Essex County have enabled any patron in the area to get the book he needs when he needs it. The Nutley Library doesn't have it, the request goes out to the other 10. On the rare occasion that none of them can help, the request will be sent on to Newark for further searching. Half of the book requests Steve Willis receives are found and delivered within 48 hours and virtually all the rest can be delivered within the week.

The loan service has its administrative base in the Bloomfield Public Library, which serves as Area Library for Northwest Essex. Dr. Andrew Pusztai, Area Coordinator of the program, is eager to point out, however, that all the participating libraries, large and small, contribute to the success of the program by lending and borrowing books on a steady basis. Communities served by the loan network include Belleville, The Caldwell, Cedar Grove, Essex Fells, Fairfield, Glen Ridge, Montclair, Nutley, Roseland, Verona and Bloomfield.

The loan service began two years ago with two deliveries a week and has grown steadily ever since. The most dramatic increase in participation, however, has developed since 5-day delivery began in October, 1970. This extension of the loan service, made possible by a State Incentive Grant of $13,484, began with the purchase of an official vehicle and the hiring of a full-time driver-clerk to make the daily rounds. This grant has recently been renewed in the amount of $8,350.

Between October, 1970 and March 1971 the number of requests made was 4,143 — a 65% increase over requests made between October and March of the preceding year. Dr. Pusztai attributes this increase in book requests to increased effectiveness of the system, and to the fact that interlibrary loans have now become an everyday part of library activity. The library staff member knows that he can serve a patron more rapidly, and that a book promised will be delivered promptly. Patrons, too, are becoming more aware of the extended potential of their municipal libraries and are taking advantage of it in a variety of ways.

A recent day's work for Steve Willis involved finding and delivering books on crewel embroidery, computer system design, azaleas, hypnosis, Persian cooking, decoupage, and speech therapy. One reader asked for, and got, a Steinbeck novel in large print and a thoughtful hostess took out a selection of recorded children's stories for a blind child visiting her home with his parents.

Still another service is much in demand by students and businessmen. As the Area Library for Northwest Essex, The Bloomfield Public Library provides extensive reference services to the other libraries in the network. Research materials and articles are duplicated and delivered through the Interlibrary Loan service, at no charge to libraries in the network.

Project Pre-School Warning Issued Funded At Guild By Heart Assoc.

"Project Pre-School", a program for early detection and education of hearing impaired children from birth to five years of age, conducted by the Mount Carmel Guild Hearing and Speech Department, has received its third year of funding from the Department of Health, Education & Welfare, Division of Education.

Monsignor Joseph A. Dooling, in announcing the grant, said, "This will permit us to continue in our intensive program for early identification of children with a hearing loss so that they may be placed in our special pre-school program and receive the necessary educational stimulation which can provide for normal growth and development."

The Project, which has been in progress since July of 1969, spent the first year in planning and screening. The first pre-school classes under this program were instituted in September of 1970. During the first year of operation 3500 children, below age five, were screened in Newark, Jersey City and Elizabeth and other surrounding communities. Summer screening during the next few months will concentrate on Elizabeth and Plainfield.

Thirty children, or approximately 1% of those screened, have been found to possess a profound hearing loss. (The nation-wide expectations are 1/10 of 1%.) Mrs. Paquita Roberts, coordinator of the program, said that "two of the most significant elements which have contributed to the success of this first year of operation and the previous year of planning have been the commitment and involvement of parents and interested members of the community."

Parent involvement is a keystone of this program, both in functioning of the Advisory Committee and in the actual conduct of the project. Mrs. Roberts also said, "While we are pleased with the first year of our program operation we will continue mass screening of pre-schoolers throughout the 5-county area (Bergen, Essex, Hudson, Union and Passaic) during the coming year." In addition, she said, "any parent from this area may call the Guild's Multi-Service Center in Newark (624-2405) to arrange for a screening of their child, five years of age or under, in this program."

Birth weight was 7 pounds, 14 ounces. She joins Joseph 2. Mrs. Valvano is the former Constance Krause daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Krause of Wauseon, Ohio. Mr. Valvano son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Valvano Sr. of Belleville is an insurance consultant with Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

To assist in this continued effort, this year's grant includes provisions for a community worker whose responsibility will be to spend full time in the community attempting to make contact with parents of children who may be suspected of having a hearing loss. "Children who have been born prematurely, or through Caesarean Section, or some otherwise abnormal delivery, as well as children of mothers who have contracted German Measles or any other complications during pregnancy, should, said Mrs. Roberts, "be screened for a possible hearing problem. This is not to say," she added, "that there will necessarily be a problem among these children, but it is a sound precaution."

The screening is fast and painless; children who fail the screening receive extensive testing and evaluation. Any child can be screened. During the past year infants as young as 2 months were screened and the youngest child in the program was admitted at age 5 months. When it is determined that the child has a hearing loss, he is placed in a nursery school especially designed to promote language development, social development, and intellectual growth.

Msgr. John P. Hourihan, Executive Director of the Hearing and Speech Department at Mount Carmel Guild, was among principle witnesses who testified before a House Committee hearing on the educational needs of handicapped children which eventually resulted in the Early Education Act of 1968. Project Pre-School is a model program which has been funded under this Act.

The bachelor who can't or won't cook, and the traveling salesman who eats most of his meals on the road may be headed for heart trouble, says the Essex County Heart Association.

A diet emphasizing foods rich in saturated fats and cholesterol — the bacon-and-eggs, hamburger-and-French fries, meat-with-gravy and coffee-with-cream route followed by so many who constantly eat out, can speed the development of hardening of the arteries.

Usually, says the Essex County Heart Association, the items mentioned above are loaded with animal (saturated) fats and/or cholesterol, which influence coronary artery disease, the forerunner of heart attack. Clearly, the bachelor or salesman is on a spot. However, moderate changes in eating habits may get him off it.

The Essex County Heart Association, therefore, offers this heart-helping advice, which applies to anyone who eats out often:

1. Go easy on the roll and biscuit basket. Commercial types usually are made with butter, eggs, whole milk, cream or other saturated fats.

2. Ask your waitress for margarine instead of butter. Margarine and most vegetable oils contain polyunsaturated fats, which can help lower cholesterol blood levels.

3. Ask your waitress to load up the appetizer tray. You'll relish nibbling all you want on celery, carrots, radishes, scallions, pickles and the like.

4. You also can have your fill of salads, providing you use oil and vinegar dressing. It's tasty and your salad will have neither saturated fat nor cholesterol.

5. For the main course, concentrate on lean meats, fish and poultry, baked, broiled or roasted. If a sauce is served on your meat, scrape it off. Remove the skin from the turkey and chicken, to avoid most of the fowl fat.

6. If you like milk, try skim milk, or buttermilk and yogurt made from skim milk. You can have cocoa made with low-fat milk.

7. Naturally, you should avoid or eat sparingly of rich desserts. What's left? A large variety of fresh fruits, or canned fruit without added sugar, gelatin fruit whip, puddings, if made with low-fat milk, ice milk and sherbert in moderation.

Diet alone won't reduce the risk of heart attack, or of stroke, which follows the fat-clogging of an artery to the brain.

Insects Cause Black Sooty Mold But It Will Not Hurt Plants

The black, sooty-like material you see on plants, awnings, garden furniture and patios, is a fungus called sooty mold," says William F. Munck, senior county agricultural agent of Essex county.

The condition can become serious when there are a lot of bugs and little or no rain.

There has been a big build-up of aphids and other insects in many of our shade trees. These insects excrete droppings, or honeydew as a result of their feeding, explains Mr. Munck.

So anywhere you have a tree shading smaller bushes, garden furniture or a patio, you have insect honeydew and this is what the mold is growing in.

In most seasons we have occasional rains to dilute or wash away the insect droppings. With little or no rain, the sooty mold builds up to quite a problem.

What to do? Have a good arborist identify the insects causing the problem, and spray to control them. Or just relax and enjoy the warm weather knowing that sooty mold is not a disease that is hurting your plants.

New Jersey Bell points out a wonderful gadget for reducing phone bills.

Your index finger.

Use it to dial all out-of-state station calls. And no matter what other state you call (except faraway Alaska and Hawaii), it will always cost less than if you had placed the call through an operator. Especially on weeknights and weekends when the savings are especially big.

For example. During weekend bargain-calling times*, a 3-minute coast-to-coast station call costs $1.40 plus tax—if you use the services of an operator.

But the same call is reduced even more—way down to 70¢ plus tax—if you dial it yourself without the services of an operator.

So, remember to dial your own station calls without an operator. And fight inflation with just one finger.

*From 8 a.m. till 11 p.m. Saturday, and from 8 a.m. till 5 p.m. Sunday.

Your Weekly Horoscope

August 7 through August 13, 1971

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Before third day, Ari, you will assume your natural role of gadfly in an important decision. Thanks to you, your daily associates are seldom bored. Later, old chum enters picture and together you take off. Leo and Ari. Wow. Like varoo-o-o-o-o!

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Your search for truth has led you down many a blind alley, Taurus love. Week ahead holds promise of a smattering of truth.

But keep your peepers open or you'll miss it. Time running out as far as impossible situation concerned. End it.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Keep hopes high in week ahead, dear Gem, for you never know what lies beyond the next seemingly insurmountable heap of trash. Do your duty during first part of week and by fifth day secret fantasy becomes reality. Are you prepared to hack it, Gem?

CANCER (June 21-July 22): New phase shaping up, Moonbaby. Old pretensions go out the window as new purpose comes in the door. Celebrate. Strong memories bring delight. That which you feared turns out to be unreal. It is simply a recording, a recording, a recording. Click it off, honey.

LEO (July 23-August 22): Time ideal to relax and let daily annoyances go to blazes. Find yourself a hammock in a shady nook, keep a cool drink within reaching distance and just snooze. Or read. Or daydream. Tell one who nags you to go shinny up a waxed rope. Sweet dreams, baby.

VIRGO (August 23-September 22): After routine beginning, week takes on aspects of a Marx Brothers movie. Don't give up, love. And don't have yourself committed. You, Virg, will be the only one aboard who has a grasp of reality. You steer ship into safe waters.

LIBRA (September 23-October 22): Don't sit too tall in the saddle in week ahead, Lib honey. Relax a mite. You are keeping up with the program, so why the mad, mad rush? Journey on which you have begun will have many a detour. And off there in the future you will encounter much resistance. But, you SHALL overcome.

SCORPIO (October 23-November 21): Old grievances heal in week ahead, Scorp. So keep on keepin' on. Special, hidden message to Olga's Scorpis in words to her Moonbabies. Read not once. Not twice. But thrice.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22-December 21): Key to success in week ahead, Sag, is to behave in circumspect manner. Thus you outmaneuver adversary. Tendency will be to blather with Leo individual. Don't. Always tell the truth, Sag, but for the love of heaven, DON'T ALWAYS BE TELLING IT.

CAPRICORN (December 22-January 19): Situation will arise which will cause you some anguish, Cap. If you cannot sit quietly by and do nothing, then do what you feel must be done. Time not ripe for playing games. Action is called for. From action springs hope. From hope, love. From love, laughter. Last day ideal for pas de deux.

AQUARIUS (January 20-February 18): One who is profound but not pretentious enters scene. Listen. You have much to gain. Energy zooms as week progresses. Don't let pesky details slow you down. Week ends on note of creative joy.

PISCES (February 19-March 20): The many clocks which make you tick may seem to be out of calibration in week ahead, Pisces. But as week draws to close, you'll pull yourself together and be revved up and raring to go. Message clears.

Theodore R. Muller of 147 Beech Street, Nutley, received a certificate after completing a management development program given by the University Extension Division of Rutgers Newark. He was one of the graduates honored at a dinner given by the Newark Regional Office of General Education of Rutgers at the Robert Treat Hotel in Newark.

Christopher A. Frey, of 197 Hillside Avenue, has been named to the dean's list at St. Joseph's College for the spring semester.

St. Joseph's is a coeducational liberal arts college, operated by the Jesuits.

Richard Drake of 111 Passaic Ave., Nutley, has been promoted by Prudential Insurance Company to programming analyst in the Eastern home office's electronic systems at Newark.

Drake joined the company's corporate insurance services department in Newark in 1968, became a programmer that year, and transferred to the Eastern regional office in 1970.

He earned a bachelor's degree from Rutgers University-Newark in 1968, and had attended William Dickinson High School in his native Jersey City.

This week the Nederlander theater has a new hit. The Nutley actor is now of Albert Saurina, 343 Fifth Street, Nutley, in the role of "Two Gentlemen of Verona," the rock opera. Television and newspaper critics were unanimous in their praise, calling the show the "dynamite" of the "Broadway-bound" scene. "Verona" is now

For the past year he has been performing while studying at the Dallas Theater Center in Dallas, Tex. While there he appeared in several productions, highlighting the role of Pecos Bill in the Center's Christmas Spectacular. In 1966 he studied at the Neighborhood Playhouse in New York City and has won

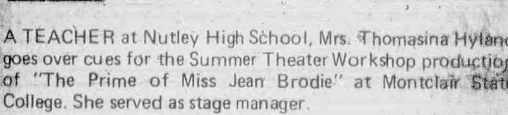

"1776" the musical that made theatrical history when it successfully and miraculously brought to life a great moment in American history, will make its debut at the Garden State Arts Center at Telegraph Hill Park on the Garden State Parkway off Exit 116 on Monday evening, Aug. 21. The engagement is for one week, Monday through Thursday performances will be at 8:30 p.m., Friday and Saturday evenings at 9 p.m. A family matinee performance will be played on Saturday, Aug. 28, at 3 p.m.

Stuart Ostrow, who produced "1776" in New York, is presenting the delightful, revolutionary bell-ringing musical at the Garden State Art Center. The musical is the winner of the Tony Award and the New York Drama Critics' Circle Award, and had the honor of being the first musical ever to be presented in its entirety at the White House.

The smash hit musical "1776" makes this historical document a bright canvas of personalities very much alive. It will parade on the stage of the Governor State Arts Center, Joseph Adams, Benjamin Franklin, John Dickinson, Edward Rutledge, Stephen Hopkins, John Hancock, Thomas Jefferson, and others.

"1776," which, by virtue of standing apart from previous musicals, is independent as the Declaration it celebrates, received a MS (Must See) rating from critics all over the United States.
