The Old Can Help the Young In Volunteer Work at Shelter

A rising tide of public opinion throughout the country indicates there exists a feeling among senior citizens that they've been shut out of the mainstream of day-to-day community life. Here in Belleville, they're being asked back in.

That request to make the use of the talents of golden agers is being evidenced currently at the Essex County Children's Emergency Shelter, where a plan is underway to have the old help the young.

The group behind the drive to enlist volunteer help among senior citizens is the Retired Senior Citizens Program of Essex County (RSVP), an organization jointly sponsored by the National Council of Jewish Women and the Young Women's Christian Association. RSVP, partially funded by the Federal government, has 30 stations throughout Essex County and already has found volunteers among the elderly for work at Clara Maass Hospital, the Essex County Geriatrics Center and the Essex County Office on Aging. Nearly 80 senior citizens come into Belleville weekly to do volunteer work. About six Belleville seniors are enrolled in the program.

RSVP, along with the administration of the Children's Shelter, is making a strong bid to bring in the Belleville elderly.

Mrs. Ruth Goldstein, RSVP director, said she's been very impressed with the senior citizen groups here and says the Belleville organizations are among the largest in the county. She recently visited the Children's Shelter, which cares for temporarily homeless children, and toured the facilities with a group of Belleville seniors.

"What we try to do at RSVP," she told the Times, "is match up people with places. We attempt to provide the senior volunteers with transportation or reimburse them for the costs. We also insure the volunteers."

She emphasized the function of RSVP as one which uses the talents of retired persons who have the time and desire to continue working. She recounted a story of one elderly woman who had been considering seeing a psychiatrist before she entered the RSVP program and became involved in volunteer hospital work. Mrs. Goldstein said, "she found that what she was doing in the hospital restored her mind and now she's comfortable again."

One Belleville woman, Mrs. Olive Wille, a retired nutritionist, seems already to have found her niche at the Children's Shelter — she'll be giving cooking lessons. Mrs. Wille had been along for the original tour of the Shelter last week. Since then, a representative from the Shelter has spoken at a meeting of the Belleville senior citizens.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hood, who also were along for

Field Day, Circus Set

Independence Day Fete Scheduled for Stadium

Fourth of July celebrations this year will again be centered in Municipal Stadium, with scheduled events to be a field day with games for youngsters, a circus, a candlelight ceremony in the evening sponsored by the Craig Fabian Fund and, of course, the traditional fireworks display.

The field day begins at 10 a.m. at the stadium. Contests are expected to be running events, obstacle courses, sack races and three-legged races.

The circus, scheduled for 7 p.m. at the stadium, has been organized by Howard Oliver, who has promoted all but one of Belleville's July 4th circuses for the past 23 years. Oliver will also act as master of ceremonies for the affair.

"At darkness, a candlelight ceremony will honor the Belleville Board of Commissioners last Tuesday night to the Warren Brothers Company in Prospect Park.

Warren Brothers is the same company which received the go-ahead last year for similar work, which was never begun, due to an onslaught of handicapped of Belleville.

The evening will then be capped by a fireworks display in the stadium.

The July fourth festivities are sponsored by the Belleville Recreation Department under the direction of Commissioner Michael V. Marotti.

Among the circus acts lined up are a magician, marionettes, an aerial act, dogs and elephants.

Tibor Alexander and His Wonder-Dog Revue is the largest in the world, using 30 canines and has appeared in 26 countries throughout the world, as well as on the television program, "Walt Disney's Wonderful World of Color."

The Three Luvas will be featured in a high perch act with difficult and dangerous acrobatic stunts.

The magician will be the Amazing Scalzo, a practitioner of the art of levitation. His forte is sawing his beautiful assistant in half. Scalzo has appeared at the 500 Club, with Joey Bishop, Mike Douglas and many others.

Coming here by way of Disneyland, the Barnum and Bailey and Clyde Beatty circuses will be the Hanneford elephants.

Under the title "Strings That Swing," Mirko De York will show why he claims the title "King of Marionettes." De York has performed with Charles Aznavour, Maurice Chevalier, Eddy Constantine and Edith Piaf. His talents have earned him bookings in some of the world's greatest cabarets such as the Crazy Horse Saloon, the Moulin Rouge, Tabaris and Villa Rosa.

Mark Streets For Repaving

A street resurfacing contract of $18,626 was awarded by the Belleville Board of Commissioners last Tuesday night to the Warren Brothers Company in Prospect Park.

Warren Brothers is the same company which received the go-ahead last year for similar work, which was never begun, due to an onslaught of cold weather which made street resurfacing impossible.

Those streets missed last year will be resurfaced this time around, and seven new streets have been added to the list.

The new streets include: Cross Place, Campbell Street, Jefferson Street from Jorammon Street to Liberty Avenue, Hornblower Avenue from Academy Street to Jorammon Street, New Street from Jorammon Street to Division Avenue, Honiss Street from Belmont Avenue to Heckel Street and Stephens Street from Rutgers Street to William Street.

Commissioner of Public Works Mary V. Senatore said the resurfacing with half-inch paving will represent "a lot of work," and added the next target for street improvement will probably be in the vicinity of Cortlandt and Essex Streets.

Hobby Show In the Works At Library

The Children's Room of the Belleville Public Library will host a children's hobby show on Wednesday, July 11, at 10 a.m.

Belleville children are invited to exhibit examples of their special collection or hobby and there will be a prize for the "most unusual collection," as well as for other categories.

It is suggested that participants arrive by 10 a.m. sharp in order to set up in time for official judging. The public, young and old, is invited to view the hobbies of Belleville's children.

The movie "Rin Tin Tin" will conclude the morning's activities.

Candles for Craig Selling Tomorrow

One part of tomorrow's July fourth ceremonies will be the lighting and display of thousands of birthday candles at dusk at Municipal Stadium.

Throughout the day, members of the Craig Fund will be selling the candles to gain proceeds for the Craig Fund, which aids the handicapped of Belleville. The lighting of the candles is a birthday tribute to Craig Fabian, a handicapped youth who was born on the Fourth. Tomorrow he will be 19.

Candles are now being sold throughout town and can be obtained from officers of the fund and fund trustee Mrs. Viola Spray.

Other officers of the fund are President Michael Rosamilia, First Vice President Caesar Romano, Second Vice President Mrs. Mary Senatore, Treasurer Edward Albreten, Secretary Rev. Alfred Stone and Recording Secretary Mrs. Viola Narucki.

The Craig Fund, a non-profit agency assists three other handicapped men of Belleville besides Craig: Dewey Imhoff, Billy Greco and Joe Restaino.

Officers of the fund report work has been started to build an extension on the home of Dewey Imhoff. The extension will consist of a bedroom and bathroom facilities which will greatly aid in his rehabilitation.

Last year the sale of the candles realized several thousands of dollars and the year before that the proceeds topped $5,000.

Iannuzzi, Doyle Honored

Present Two Jaycees Club's First Awards

Joseph Primavera, president of the Belleville Jaycees, has awarded the club's first achievement honors to John Iannuzzi and John B. Doyle. Primavera presented Iannuzzi with the "Presidential Award of Honor," and Doyle with a certificate naming him the club's first "Jaycee of the Month."

Iannuzzi earned his award as chairman of the Jaycee's charter night banquet in late April. He was recognized for his effective planning, organization and follow-through.

The owner of Flowerama on Washington Avenue, Iannuzzi has participated in Jaycee activity for several years. When the present chapter formed last fall, he was one of the first to join.

Iannuzzi and his wife, Addie, live on Birchwood Terrace. Their three daughters, Gina, Karen and Joanne, were among the future Cherry Blossom queens who rode the Jaycees' float in the annual parade.

Doyle earned his Jaycee of the Month award for his successful efforts as membership committee chairman. During his term the chapter conducted a breakfast for new and prospective members and laid groundwork for membership recruiting.

As a result of the campaign headed by Doyle, the Jaycees grew by several new members.

Doyle, a former U.S. Army officer employed by Burroughs Corporation in Paramus, is not married. He is a charter member of the Belleville Jaycees.

"These two men are typical of the caliber of members in the Jaycees," Primavera noted. "Through their dedicated leadership they accomplished far more than was expected of a new chapter."

New members are welcome to join the Jaycees by attending a membership meeting the first Thursday of any month.

Postpone Contest Of Golden Gloves

Last week's storm proved so severe even the rainout date for the benefit match between the Golden Gloves champs of New York and New Jersey was itself rained out.

The match has been tentatively rescheduled for Friday evening, July 13 at 8:30 p.m. The quantity of rain which fell Thursday and Friday completely soaked the site of the match at Municipal Stadium so that front row spectators would have been dangling their feet in five inches of water, even if the match had been held on the Saturday rain date.

Senior Citizens' Bus Ride Will Tour the Shore Again

Last year's trip by Belleville senior citizens to the shore was considered so successful, the ride has been reinstituted for this summer. Commissioner Michael V. Marotti has announced.

The second annual trip for the senior citizens will take place on July 26. The buses will leave Town Hall at 10 a.m. and take the scenic route along the shore line. The day will be highlighted by dinner at 4 p.m. at the Homestead Restaurant in Ocean Grove.

Last year's trip saw seven full buses of senior citizens take the excursion to the shore.

The application form for the trip is below; the Recreation Department asks that you fill in only one name on the application, writing each slip identically. The Recreation Department will write in the ticket number. You need only sign your name, address and telephone number, and send both slips to: Commissioner Michael Marotti, Municipal Building, Belleville.

One of these slips will be returned to you as your admission to the bus. The Department emphasizes you will need a slip to board the bus.

All applications must be returned to the Recreation Department by July 18.

Applications may be picked up at Town Hall or at all churches in Belleville.

For an early reservation, fill in this application and send it to the Recreation Department now.

Town Was Disrupted By Revolutionary War

The Times today returns to 1776 as Town Historian Allan Crisp describes the reactions of Bellevilleites to the oncoming of the Revolution.

Two-thirds of the Revolutionary War was fought in New Jersey. Belleville, like many peaceful settlements, found its quiet existence disrupted by the tread of marching men, the shouts and curses of foragers and the blazing of skirmishers' guns. The British occupied New York City from 1776 until 1783, and foragers were in this area sometimes as often as three times a day.

During one skirmish, with the British on the other side of the Passaic and the Bellevilleites gathered around Squire VanRiper's blacksmith shop, the patriots ran out of shells but had plenty of powder for their cannon. When they started to fire horseshoes and other metal around the blacksmith shop across the river, one British soldier was heard to shout, "For God's sake, let's get out of here before they fire the anvil at us!"

Although a major battle almost developed when Cornwallis chased Washington and his troops out of New York and almost captured him at the Acquackanonk (Passaic) Bridge, he leaped a trap and pulled back, giving Washington a chance to rest his weary forces in camp at the present site of Elwood and Summer Avenues. Because of the many foraging expeditions from New York, it is a fact that more skirmishes were fought on the banks of the Passaic than any place else in the colonies.

Belleville's residents, predominantly of Dutch stock, in the majority openly embraced the causes of the Revolution. To the grievances that all other American colonials had against the English crown were added the specific wrongs that these Dutch Americans had endured. The privileges extended them when New Netherlands passed into the hands of the British were soon revoked. The promise of unhampered free trade with their native Holland and of duty-free imports were forgotten almost as soon as made. Even their churches did not always enjoy that measure of self-government that had

Academy Here Earns Tax Exemption Ruling

The Internal Revenue Service has issued a ruling recognizing the tax-exempt status of a New Jersey private school that has announced a racially nondiscriminatory policy in admission of students to all activities of the school, Elmer H. Klinsman, District Director for New Jersey said today. The Bell-Mont Academy is located in Belleville.

The ruling has been issued under the statement of position announced by the IRS on July 10, 1970, concerning the tax exempt status of private schools. In that statement the IRS concluded that it could no longer legally justify recognizing exempt status to private schools that practice racial discrimination. Nor can it allow gifts to such schools to be treated as charitable deductions for income tax purposes. The IRS position is applicable to all private schools throughout the United States.

The Bell-Mont Academy has publicized its racially nondiscriminatory policies in a local newspaper.

Where a school has publicly announced a racially nondiscriminatory policy, Klinsman explained that for purposes of issuing a ruling the IRS will assume that such a policy has been adopted and will be maintained in good faith. This is in accord with normal IRS procedures in processing requests for rulings based on future activities.

Klinsman stressed that the IRS maintains a vigorous program of auditing tax exempt organizations. Examinations of private schools will take into account any complaints from the public or information from other sources that would indicate noncompliance with assurance made by the schools to the IRS. If an examination indicates that a school has not administered its nondiscriminatory policy in good faith, the tax exempt status of the school will be challenged.

The final act of business for the year was to donate $320 for campships to the North Essex Child Guidance Clinic in Belleville.

This meeting concluded another year of service to Belleville by the Lions Club.

Jailed Six Months For Bouncing Checks

A Belleville 21-year-old was sentenced to three concurrent six month terms at the Essex County Correction Center last Thursday following his conviction in Municipal Court for issuing several false checks.

Charles Layton, of 27 Rocco Street, was sentenced by Judge Edward J. Abromson and ordered placed on a drug rehabilitation program at the county penitentiary. Three complaints were lodged against the defendant, all three claiming he had issued checks in various amounts, signing them "Robert Kelly."

Layton was arrested June 21 by detective Barton Rossi, and held in lieu of bail until his trial. Layton will receive credit for his time spent in jail.

Layton issued a total of $164 worth of false checks to several people in Belleville.

Assault Case Ends in Fine

Kenneth Villano, 18, of 136 White Oak Terrace was fined $50 June 27 in Municipal Court though pleading innocent to an assault charge lodged by William Hoehe Jr. of 194 New Street.

Judge Edward J. Abromson imposed the fine after finding Villano guilty of kneeling Hoehe in the groin June 2.

Father Of The Navy

(The following is a guest editorial by Col R.R. Tourtellott, Americanism Chairman Emeritus, Fort Monmouth Chapter, National Sojourners-Ed.)

John Paul Jones was born in Scotland, July 6, 1747. His name at birth was John Paul. He went to sea when he was 12 years old. In 1769, at 22, he was given command of the merchant ship John. On a trip to the West Indies, a sailor who had been flogged on his ship died, and Paul was charged with murder. He was later cleared and in 1773 became Captain of the Betsy. His crew mutinied and one man was killed. Paul was again charged with murder, and he fled to America. There he added Jones to his name, possibly to conceal his identity.

At the out-break of the American Revolution, Jones returned to sea. It has been said that he was a born fighter. He was commissioned a Lieutenant in the Continental Navy, on December 7, 1775. He became the First Lieutenant of the Alfred, the first navy ship bought by the Continental Congress. In June 1777 he was given command of the Ranger, with orders to sail for France. He was probably the first to fly the new American flag on his ship. The Ranger was probably the first American man-of-war to receive a foreign salute. This occurred in 1778 in Quiberon Bay, France.

In 1779, Jones took command of the Bonhomme Richard, which he named in honor of Benjamin Franklin. On September 23rd, his squadron met a large British convoy in the North Sea. The Bonhomme Richard attacked the leading ship of the force, the Seraps. The Seraps was larger and better armed than Jones' ship, so Jones took his ship alongside the Seraps. The ships were so close their rigging became entangled and the muzzles of their guns touched each other. After three hours of hand-to-hand fighting, the mast of the Seraps fell, and the British surrendered. The Bonhomme Richard was so badly damaged that it sank two days later. Jones went on in the Seraps.

After the end of the war, Jones took command of the America. A move to promote him to Rear Admiral was defeated but he was given a gold medal for his revolutionary service. The America was given to France and the American Navy was abolished. Jones studied naval tactics aboard French vessels for a time and wrote on Navy tactics. In 1787, Empress Catherine of Russia persuaded Jones to serve as a Rear Admiral in the Black Sea Fleet. He was then fighting the Turks. Russian officers made Jones' position difficult, and his experience there was disappointing. He soon decided to leave Russia and in 1789 went to Paris.

Jones was appointed United States Commissioner to Algiers in 1792, but died before the appointment reached him in Paris. In 1905 his body was brought back to the United States where it was buried with honors in the Chapel at the United States Naval Academy, Annapolis, Maryland. In 1925 he was elected to the Hall of Fame.

John Paul Jones has been called, 'The Father of the American Navy.' His heroism in fighting against a larger and better equipped enemy established a tradition which has never been forgotten. His reply to the British demand that he surrender, "I have not yet begun to fight," has been a famous Navy slogan.

Sports Attendance

Sports attendance figures for 1972 were recently published. As expected, horse racing, with 74,000,000 admissions, led all other sports.

Auto racing was next, football (college and professional) third, baseball fourth and basketball fifth.

Horse racing is usually also a form of gambling, therefore questionable as a legitimate sport in such tabulations. While auto racing doesn't feature betting, it is in a somewhat different category also.

That leaves football as the number one spectator sport for team endeavor. The interesting part of the 1972 figures, however, is that baseball attendance was down over 1971.

That's an indication baseball's image is suffering and also a reflection of 1972's baseball strike; players, owners and official baseball should delay no longer in efforts to restore the game's image.

Strange Prices

As millions of Americans protest excessively high meat prices, it's appropriate to comment on U.S. drug prices.

Anyone who's ever lived abroad, and bought drugs or medicines at modest prices, is struck by the fact that U.S. drug and medicine prices are often four or five times that in other countries — for an identical product.

Some of the difference might be in higher labor and production costs; but the truth is that some drugs and medicines are priced on the basis of exclusiveness and what the public will bear — in its ignorance.

While that's permissible in our free enterprise system, a way should eventually be found to make medicines available to all at a reasonable cost.

Commissioners Here Kill Library Addition Plans

By Peter M. Clark

One Year Ago

An ordinance to regulate the opening and closing hours of certain retail stores was to come up before public hearing at the next meeting of the Town Commission. The bill was particularly aimed at Pathmark Food Store, which has a policy of being open 24 hours a day, seven days a week. The police had complained that the extra traffic would cause considerable problems, particularly with the protection of the store from criminal elements.

Belleville's first long-term glass reclamation drive was to begin when the Department of Public Works employees were scheduled to pick up daily glass in various sections of Belleville. The program was being sponsored by the Shade Tree Committee, which urged residents to save unwanted glass and to place them at the curbside to facilitate pickup, and to also sort the bottles by color, and to place them in some form of appropriate receptacle.

The Belleville Recreation opened its annual Playground Program with a bang on June 26. The program offered to children a wide variety of games and activities to stimulate the creativity of the participants such as checkers and softball, touch and flag football and various quiet games not requiring physical prowess.

Five Years Ago

Anthony Imperiale told 400 cheering Nutleyites that he would not be a bit surprised if Nutley were the next target of "rioting radicals." Imperiale also had several choice comments about Nutley's Mayor, Harry Chenoweth, the most pleasant of which was the referring to him as "a bum." He also stated that Nutley's Director of Public Safety, again Mayor Chenoweth, had made Nutley more vulnerable to riot, for the simple reason that "he hasn't any guts."

Mary Senatore reflected back upon her first year as a public servant, a member of Belleville's Board of Commissioners. She wished to thank the members of her Public Works Department, which, she stated, under her guidance and increased the number and quality of services to Belleville residents.

The Board of Commissioners killed the plans for the library addition, by the bumping off a $45,000 appropriation for that purpose. The cause of the veto was that the library had acted prematurely in placing $1000 in down payment for a $5000 option to buy the land on which the addition would hopefully reside. Town Attorney stated that the library should have asked the Town Commission before it had done so.

Ten Years Ago

Frank Spotts, principal of the James G. Shawer School of Belleville, was entered in the WABC "Principal of the Year" contest, by members of his family, friends, and by his students. A measure of the love that they had for him could be found in the fact that they sent in more than one million votes for his campaign. A spokesman for the organizer of the movement stated that they wanted to do it because of "Mr. Spotts' unswerving dedication and love to his students, his school, and his country."

As of 1963, it was discovered by a poll taken of all of the Towns in Essex County, Belleville was the only town in Essex County which lacked a planning board, or some other organization which filled the same purpose.

The Belleville police sizzled more than the rest of the Town, while they attempted to control the avalanche of reports from residents, complaining of youths who opened fire hydrants, in order to beat the 100 degree plus heat. The hydrant caps which had been illegally removed along Newark Avenue, had dumped more than 200,000 gallons of water into the streets. The police had received so many calls, that rather than trying to enter each one individually, they instead made one mass entry into the record.

Fifteen Years Ago

Mayor Isadore J. Padulo told reporters from the Times and from other papers that he would continue to fight with the Essex County Parks Department, about placing a park along the Third River, South of Joralemon Street, in back of Franklin Avenue. Mayor Padulo stated that the park was needed to provide a safe place for children to play, and that the land was available, and that such an opportunity might not present itself for a long time to come.

The Steering Committee of the Belleville Board of Trustees for the Community Chest, met at School No. 3, with agencies representing the various Health and Welfare services in the area. They had met to discuss the proposed United Fund Drive for 1958.

The Belleville Council of Churches announced plans for another session of Vacation Bible School. The School would feature non-denominational teaching of the Bible, with special interest being placed on the Old Testament.

Twenty Years Ago

About 311 adults and 150 children attended the outing of the James J. Tully Association in Millburn. Besides the usual eating and good fellowship offered by the organization's outings, there was a program for the children and a rolling pin throwing contest. Also featured was a potato in a spoon race for the women and a baseball game for the married men and those who wished they weren't.

Five classrooms that were supposed to be remodeled in School No. 3 in Belleville were delayed for at least a year, while the Board of Education tightened its purse strings. It had been hoped that the classes might be scraped and re-varnished, and that new and larger cabinets and other storage areas might be placed in them.

Twenty-Five Years Ago

The Political Education Committee of the League of Essex County Voters proposed to hold a seminar dealing with the high cost of living and how to fight, both politically and economically. They hoped to hold the meetings in both Belleville and other surrounding communities for a four month period, to which housewives were invited. They also stated that a small donation would be collected at the door, to offset the cost of the program.

When she was asked by the roving reporter what she would rather do then what she had planned to on the Fourth of July, a young Belleville girl stated that she would prefer to go to Montreal.

Summer hours for the baby Keep Well in Belleville were announced, and went into effect as of July first. Hours were to be from 11 to 12, and was to be held in School No. Two, Tuesday; School 4 on Thursday; and in School Three and in the Town Hall on Wednesday.

Speak Up!

He Answers Her Charge Of 'Bossism'

To The Editor:

This letter is an open letter to all voters residing in the Town of Belleville and the 30th Legislative District.

It is now very apparent that the voters of our district have made their choices for party standard bearers for the November elections. We who supported the winning "D" Line candidates: Brendan Byrne, Gregory Castano, Michael Aduabato and John Cali wish nothing more than a unified effort with the "A" Line winners: Sheriff John Cryan and Freeholders Thomas Cooke, Martin Scaturro and Peter Stewart. We seek the election of all these fine men.

Of course, there are some who are not satisfied with the voter's choices. They are crying foul, rending their garments gnashing their teeth and weeping over the fact that the voters did not see fit to follow their game plans. Doing so, seems to make them only more foolish in the eyes of our fine citizens. Though I can only speak for myself, I know for a fact that there are many others who feel these same sentiments.

As to a certain letter that appeared in the Times of June 21, I would state that a "machine" run by "Boss Politics" is the usual way the loser describes the other side's organization. Anyone who went to the polls in Belleville on June 5th can testify that the Senatore "Organization" was hard at work.

I would further state that what was most impressive about the turnout in Belleville was that 1,000 plus voters resisted overwhelming pressures to vote for a home-town favorite and chose for quality over patronage. This means 1 of 4 voters in the Democratic Primary said, "Mary Senatore, you are not qualified to be our senator." Neglected in all tallies are another 700 voters who, perhaps swayed by erroneous and irrelevant arguments did not vote for the better qualified person and yet could not bring themselves to vote for Senatore.

I would also point out that Hudson County has recently proven that such dynamic and unbiased candidates such as Mayor Paul Jordan of Jersey City are eagerly sought by voters. Yet the losing candidate in the senate race, who attempted to pass herself off as "unbossed" was able to gain 850 votes in this "hot-bed" of reform. In Belleville, the town that knows Mary best, over 1,000 voters saw fit to vote for the qualified person, Gregory Castano.

I have been labeled a liar by this same loser. This is because of a letter I sent out prior to the election. I know that once the fine people of Belleville know the facts, they will realize that the loser is raising another false issue to cover her own failures.

Simply put, my letter outlining the facts had been mailed, when I became aware of her anticipated resignation. It thus had, through fate, rather than deliberation, an error in it. Had I been aware of the impending retirement of Senatore, I would have altered this letter to reflect this, but I would not have altered the basic idea of this letter.

I did not then, nor do I now consider Senatore a person qualified enough to sit in the New Jersey Senate! Apparently 8,790 voters agreed with me. The numbers tell their own tale.

I hope this letter will clarify certain issues raised by the defeated candidate in the senate race and bring to the fore, that those of us with the winners wish to put the past in the past and seek to deal with the future, not history.

Sincerely,
Stephen Philip Newsome

Says Article Misled Public About Center

To The Editor:

I am writing to clarify what may have been a misinterpretation on the part of your paper of an effort we are making to serve the educational needs of residents of the North Essex area. A front page article in your June 14th issue emphasized the word "white" so often as to leave the impression in the minds of many readers that our program and office is some sort of racially exclusive "club" which does not admit Blacks or Puerto Ricans or other non-whites. Nothing could be further from the truth. There is no question that the North Essex Educational Service Center was opened in the Belleville-Nutley area by Essex County College so that our institution might better serve and reach the largely white middle-income residents of this area who we feel are not taking full advantage of what our College has to offer. We are also interested, through the college's Ethnic Program Office, in developing a positive cultural identity among residents of various ethnic backgrounds so as to promote greater harmony and respect among all racial and nationality groups.

But although our focus is on the dominant ethnic group population of the North Essex area, our Center is open to ALL local residents, of whatever background, age, or color, and we want to extend an invitation to EVERYONE to visit and talk with us at any time, make use of our assistance in the area of educational, social and cultural services.

Hopefully, your future coverage of our activities and program will be much more carefully and positively reported to the public.

Sincerely,
Robert J. Russo

Getting Comment About All Those 'The Domsday On Earth' Prophets

By David F. Moore
N.J. Conservation Foundation

THERE ARE PROFITS and then again there are prophets. I was reminded of this a while back by a quarter-page advertisement on the "op-ed" page of the New York Times. It was put there at considerable expense by the Mobil Oil Company and was wittily headlined, "The profits of doom."

The text alluded to profits made in recent years by environmental writers who have published a succession of books predicting doomsday. Then it quoted from a new book entitled "The Domsday Syndrome," for which I bet the advertising writers had been yearning.

HAPPILY NOTING that the author, John Maddox, is a physicist who edits England's "redoubtable scientific journal, 'Nature'", the ad quoted him as writing that "the doomsday cause would be more telling if it were more securely grounded in fact, as well as better informed by a sense of history and an awareness of economics." He picks "imprecision" as the major defect of the argument that "calamity is just around the corner," according to Mobil.

I guess it was a good ad, because it has stuck in my mind. I think it was enlightening to all of us nasties who have been giving corporate giants a hard time by blowing the whistle on practices which endanger survival in an overcrowded world. I can't recall anybody having a reason to take a special shot at Mobil, but even corporate giants have feelings of a sort.

THERE ARE MORE quotes in the ad, arguing that "few meteorologists" can "unambiguously" endorse the fear that the Earth's climate will suffer from continued burning of fuel by industry at the present rate, and that use of pesticides will "irrevocably damage the human race" is just an overdramatized call for careful applications to crops.

Dr. Maddox is quoted as writing that doomsday prophecies are "exaggerations," and "many of them are frighteningly irresponsible."

LET ME BE the first to agree that he is absolutely correct. Environmentalists have been guilty of plenty of exaggerations and some are surely irresponsible.

Which brings us to one of the basic techniques of the Madison Avenue word-benders hired to produce environmental backlash advertisements for interests whose status has lost some of it's quo because of growing public environmental sophistication.

NOBODY CAN honestly charge these hired guns with employing the "big lie" approach. But they are getting a lot of mileage out of the "big half-truth." If you want to destroy an argument which is liable to cost you money, the first thing you do is exaggerate it into some ridiculous dimension. Then you can make fun of it.

Like I said, I've heard some over-reactions from the environmental fringe. But for every one of them, I've heard a matching idiocy from the opposite camp.

THE POINT WHICH gets conveniently lost by the ad writers is that modern technology makes it easier to prove that some of the things being said by those nutty prophets can and probably will happen without sensible countermeasures and priority changes.

The ad quotes Dr. Maddox as saying poor people are among those who benefit indignities from the exhaust end of that technology.

I'LL HAVE TO read Dr. Maddox' book and see if it's overall tone has been accurately implied in the context of the Mobil ad. Sometimes people pick out the sections they like best and ignore the bulk of a book.

Essex Children's Shelter Seeking Senior Volunteers

the tour, believe the idea can be well-received among the Belleville elders. Mr. Hood, a retired DuPont worker said, "As a property owner, I have plenty of things I can do to keep busy, but there's also a lot I could do at the Shelter. I worked in an office at DuPont, and I could find the time to do the same at the Shelter."

Mr. Hood said the combined meetings of the Belleville senior citizens groups averages about 105 to 145 every week, and added, "there's a lot of talent in that group if the approach is proper."

Both Mr. and Mrs. Hood feel transportation is a critical factor in developing a senior volunteer program at the Shelter, and said many senior citizens would be interested in working there if they had adequate transportation means.

Mrs. Hood also said there has been a problem alerting the seniors about the Shelter. "I myself was aware of the Shelter," she said, "but I wasn't aware of what exactly needed to be done there."

Mrs. Hood, a modern senior citizen, feels the time is right for retired persons to become involved in more than recreational activities. "I don't think senior citizens in Belleville are interested only in dancing and putting on plays. I think they'd like to be shown different types of activities."

She mentioned art classes being given to Belleville seniors as one way activity that could be put to use. "Those taking the classes are now in their fourteenth lesson. I think they could probably teach art to the children."

If all goes well, Belleville's oldsters may soon be giving the youngsters a hand — and broadening their own horizons at the same time.

'Caroline' Big Winner In 'Y' Play Contest

"Good Night, Caroline," its director and two of its stars conducted a sweep of the Suburban unit, YMWCA play contest last Thursday night.

Judging the plays were Mrs. Grace Purdue, past president of the Belleville High School Home and School Association; Mrs. Carol Yudin, an artist and former actress; Jim Cozzarelli, owner of the Irvine-Cozzarelli Memorial Home and a former entertainer; Jim Dasaro, owner of Belleville Travel and a recording artist with Andy Robinson, a member of the Kiwanis Club and an entertainer for the past ten years; and Ken Moore, news editor of the Belleville

Times. The teenagers were directed by R.W. Leffelhine, Mrs. Carolina Furno and Miss Cynthia DeBonis.

Pharmacy Footnotes

In 1854 a serious epidemic of cholera occurred in London. A record of the cases was made on a map of the city which finally revealed a concentration of cases in the vicinity of the Broad Street well. This study was probably the first of its kind in an effort to control community health. At the outbreak of the Civil War, smallpox was the only disease where protection was possible by vaccination. By the end of the war, Louis Pasteur was at work; and soon after that, vaccination became a common way to fight epidemics. A common way to help fight many illnesses is with prescription drugs. Call on us at ROSSMORE PHARMACY, 338 Washington Ave., 759-1968, 759-1956 for all your prescription needs. Free delivery service. Gift department, candies, cosmetics and toiletries stocked and we have a full line of convalescent aids including walkers, wheelchairs and crutches for sale or rentals. Golden Comments

By James R. Golden

Fall day last October; One can't help but wonder just what effect the startling disclosures of the Senate Investigating Committee's revelations might have had on the outcome of that election had all the facts been brought out prior to the voting. Surely many voters might have cast their ballot differently.

Received a welcome letter from Eddie "Ozzie" O'Neil, the old B.H.S. first sacker who saved me many errors with his sparkling fielding gems during our youthful days cavorting on the diamond when Belleville was a real baseball town.

Ed is now very active in the activities of the Belleville Historical Society headed by town historian Allen Crisp which is conducting a tour of the Old Dutch Reformed Church on Rutgers and Main Streets by the bridge on Sunday, July 8th between 2:00 and 4:00 P.M.

Final Extended Benefit Period Ends For Unemployment Ins. Collectors

The extended benefits period, during which jobless workers could receive up to 13 additional weeks of unemployment insurance benefits, ended on June 30, as provided by the federal law which established the program.

In announcing the termination, Peter W. Allen, assistant Commissioner for Income Security, N.J. Department of Labor & Industry, advised those who have on-going EB claims to continue reporting until notified to discontinue by the local claims office. Assistant Commissioner Allen said that benefits can be paid on any compensable week which starts on or before the June 30 cut-off. This means that claimants scheduled to report during the first and second weeks of July on compensable weeks ending July 6 or earlier may be paid. No new claims will be taken after June 30.

Under the original state and federal laws which established the permanent extended Benefits program, an EB period triggers on when the unemployment rate averages four percent or more for a 13-week period and is 20 percent higher than during the corresponding period in the two preceding years. Under amendments enacted last November, the 20 percent requirement was waived for weeks prior to July 1, 1973. More than $150 million has been paid to Extended Benefits claimants since the inception of the program on January 1, 1971.

Survey Will Query Homeowners About Home Improvements $$$

A sample of homeowners in this area will be among the approximate 9,000 nationwide included in a home improvement survey to be conducted the first two weeks of July by the Bureau of the Census, according to John C. Cullinane, Director of the Bureau's Data Collection Center in New York.

Questions will have to do with expenditures for alterations, additions, and repairs to the home made during the preceding three months.

The survey has been taken quarterly since 1960 and provides up-to-date information about the housing situation needed by business and government.

How To Beat The July 4 Gas Shortage

Faced by the threat of a gasoline shortage and heavy traffic on national highways during the one-day Fourth of July holiday, the New Jersey Department of Labor and Industry is urging motorists to better their driving habits to conserve both gasoline — and lives.

"With the price of gasoline at a new high and the prospect of upcoming state-wide shortages, the average motorist should learn to drive in a way that preserves both self and pocketbook," said Herman C. Simons, Director of the state's Division of Economic Development.

By taking shorter trips during the one-day Independence Day holiday, and driving carefully, gas consumption can be reduced and personal safety increased, he said.

"It makes sense for motorists to take short regional trips in New Jersey, rather than visit out-of-state areas," said Simons. He cautioned that long distance travel during the one-day holiday can be dangerous because it means driving faster to cover more ground in less time and driving at night, pushing to get home. "We also want New Jerseyans to stay in the state and Discover the NEW Jersey," he said.

By following a few simple suggestions, the Fourth of July motorist can end up spending less on gasoline than last year despite recent price hikes.

"Fortunately there is a close tie-in between the rules for safe driving and suggestions for getting more miles per gallon of gas," Simons added, offering the following suggestions:

Drive at moderate speeds. Gas mileage is directly related to speed.

Essex Co. Food Stamp Program On The Increase

Persons living on low incomes in Essex County, have increased their food purchasing by about $28 million as a result of the Federal Food Stamp Program, which will mark its fourth year of operation in the county on July 1.

According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Northeast Regional Food and Nutrition Service office here, these persons have paid about $46 million for food stamps valued at $74 million.

Currently there are 745 food retailers in the county authorized by the USDA to accept coupons from the 83,200 persons presently taking part in the program each month.

The state public assistance agency through its various local offices certifies qualified food stamp applicants for participation. Eligibility to take part in the program is basically determined by monthly income in relation to family size and liquid assets. The program is not limited to those receiving welfare.

Persons wishing to obtain more information as to whether they qualify are advised to make an appointment to visit the food stamp certification officer in Newark. The telephone number is 733-2300.

Oystershell Scale
Rough On Many
Trees and Shrubs

One of the most common scale insects on trees and shrubs is oystershell scale.

Its small size and coloring make it blend with the bark, so that an infestation often passes unnoticed until branch and twig growth slows down, with early yellowing of foliage and sometimes the death of such growth.

Oystershell scale often attacks ash, beech, willow, elm, birch, maple, and dogwood trees, and lilac bushes.

William F. Munk, senior county agricultural agent of Essex County, advises a spray of a combination of carbaryl (Sevin) and malathion, used according to label directions.

Many Reasons
Why Peonies
Will Not Bloom

Peonies are one of the hardiest, most easily grown, and showiest of the perennial flowering plants. This may be hard for you to believe if you have some "rebels" that refuse to bloom.

If you have young plants, or have divided or transplanted your peonies within the last two years, don't worry as it takes this long for the plants to get established, advises William F. Munk, senior county agricultural agent of Essex County.

Other reasons for non-blooming, according to Munk, may be improper planting, competition for food from roots or trees and shrubs, overfertilization, disease, and insects.

Extension Leaflet 336, "Peonies in the Garden," has the answer to this problem and many others that puzzle peony lovers. It also includes a list of recommended varieties.

Mental Health Effort Is National Concern

Drinking Drivers

About half of the estimated 56,000 people who will be killed in traffic accidents this year either will have been drinking themselves or will be the victims of an intoxicated driver.

What is more important is the fact that about two of every three alcohol-related deaths on the roads will be caused by a small fraction of drivers.

This is the seven percent (an estimated figure) who habitually drive while drunk.

These are the heavy-escape drinkers and alcoholic persons. They don't respond to the "If you drive, don't drink" appeals. Penalties don't seem to have an effect, either. The U.S. Department of Transportation estimates that 80 percent of the drivers whose licenses have been suspended or revoked for repeated drunk-driving offenses continue to drive anyway.

That's why the Department, in a joint effort with the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism, a component of HEW's National Institute of Mental Health, has under way a seven-year program to try new approaches.

More than $80,000,000 will be used to support local community programs emphasizing a coordinated approach.

Such an approach involves first identifying the problem drinker-driver and then steering him into rehabilitation programs, meanwhile keeping him off the highway, at least until he solves his alcohol problem.

The community efforts are called Alcohol Safety Action Projects and the Department of Transportation has approved some 35 of them throughout the country, with the largest being a three-and-one-half-year program in Los Angeles County, California.

PAYMENT ON PLEDGE — Mrs. Peter Amirata, president of Clara Maass Memorial Hospital Guild, presents a check for $5000 to William Harris, president of the Hospital Trustees, as part of the Guilds pledge to the Hospital. Her husband, Dr. Peter Amirata looks on. The presentation took place during the Guilds Installation dinner when new officers were installed. They include: Mrs. Peter Amirata, president; Mrs. Robert Lorello, 1st vice president; Mrs. Charles Ashe of Belleville, 2nd vice president; Mrs. Laurence Scheininger, 3rd vice president; Mrs. Francesco Crocenzi, treasurer; Mrs. William Reiser Jr., recording secretary; Mrs. Tina Nittoli, financial secretary and Mrs. James Agresti, corresponding secretary.

Move from Steel Pier For State Fair Pageant

The Miss New Jersey State Fair Pageant will be held at the State Fair Grounds this year following a two-year period in which the event was presented on television from Atlantic City's Steel Pier, Joseph S. Ancker, Fair Manager announced today. The pageant is scheduled Friday, Sept. 7.

Nurse Refresher Course This Fall At Mountainside

A nurse refresher course, for inactive registered nurses who wish to go back to work, will be offered at Mountainside Hospital, Montclair, from October 1 through November 30.

The course comprises 210 hours of study: half theory and half supervised clinical practice.

"It has been developed by the hospital's in-service department to renew skills, build confidence and familiarize the nurse with advanced procedures and techniques," said Christine O'Connor, nursing inservice coordinator.

The class is limited to 15 nurses; reservations should be made as soon as possible, Miss O'Connor said. The class will meet each Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Requirements for the course are: at least three years of professional inactivity; a complete physical examination including chest x-ray; uniform, white shoes and stockings, pen and scissors; and a current New Jersey license or a letter of permit from the Board of Nursing.

Dog's Eyes

Ordinarily your dog's eyes are as healthy as your own. And, just as your eyes can become irritated and sore, so can your dog's. In the event an eye ailment does occur, you should be able to recognize the symptoms and seek appropriate medical treatment.

An initial sign that something is wrong with your dog's eyes is a discharge in excess of the normal washing. Along with this discharge, there may be inflammation. Your dog may paw at his eyes and shake his head.

If any of these symptoms appear, it is best not to attempt any home remedies. Gently wipe the discharge away from the corner of the eye with sterile cotton, touch the eye itself. It is best to consult your veterinarian as soon as possible.

Certain breeds of dogs are more prone to eye injuries than others. Pop-eyed breeds, such as the Pekingese, Boston Bull, the Pug, and some spaniels, are more subject to injuries than other breeds because they have a larger eye surface exposed.

The country dog, particularly the bulged-eyed breeds, may have their eyes scratched by branches and tall grass while roaming free. The city dog, while less likely to suffer from direct eye injuries, is exposed to chemical fumes and dust.

Cataracts, a major eye ailment, may be inherited or, more rarely, caused by injury. This problem becomes manifest through a partial or complete opacity of the crystalline lens — that part of your dog's eye just behind the pupil. Instead of transparent it appears china-blue in color, because the lens reflects light instead of transmitting it.

This disease usually occurs in older dogs, although not exclusively. It may develop slowly. The condition often means a gradual worsening of sight until the dog is blind. Sometimes surgery provides relief, but there is always the possibility that your dog's sight will not be approved.

Conjunctivitis is characterized by excessive tearing, sensitivity to light and inflammation of the mucous membrane on the inner surface of your dog's eyelid.

This ailment is usually caused by a foreign body (pollen, dust, smoke) or an injury which permits bacteria to develop an infection in the eyelid.

If the condition is caused by a foreign object and you are able to remove it with sterile cotton, wash the eye with warm water or an eye wash after you have done so.

Often an eye ointment containing boric acid is soothing — but it is best to consult your veterinarian before putting anything into your dog's eyes.

Once the object is removed, the inflammation should clear up. However, if the redness persists, do not attempt to probe the eye. Take your dog to your veterinarian immediately.

Legion Slide at Three

by Tony Calabrese

The Belleville American Legion Post 105 baseball team saw their team record drop to 2-4 last week as they lost their second and third consecutive games to Livingston and Millburn respectively.

A week ago last Monday, Livingston Legion administered the third shutout to Belleville, the team has suffered this season as they blanked Belleville 3-0 in Livingston. The next night Belleville traveled to Millburn, and although the team scored a few runs, the result was no different as they again went down in defeat by a score of 6-5, with Millburn getting their last two runs in the bottom of the seventh inning.

The team again has a busy schedule this coming week. A rain out last Friday evening at Cedar Grove should be made up in the near future although as of this writing, no date had been established for a rescheduling. This past Monday evening the team played a home game, against a Legion team representing North Newark. Wednesday brings Independence Day celebrations and also means the annual 4th of July regular season Legion contest between Belleville and their archrival, the Nutley Legion team. The game will be held at Park Oval, in Nutley, Friday evening July 6. Belleville will travel to play at Caldwell, and then early next week, the foes will be Verona on Monday July 9, and at Irvington on Wednesday July 11. All games will start at 6 p.m. with the exception of the Nutley contest which will be played in the afternoon, and will start at 2 p.m.

In this game played a week ago last Monday, Belleville hurler Rich Centanni suffered a dilemma that he went through much of the varsity baseball season, lack of run support by his ballclub. As they have throughout the Legion season Belleville again followed a pattern that seems to be getting monotonous. The team easily managed eight hits and two walks off Livingston hurler Bob Wolff, but due to lack of the clutch hit all ten runners were left on base. It should be pointed out though that Wolff is a fine pitcher, as well as a good hitter as his All-County designation of the last two seasons of varsity baseball indicates, and in spite of the eight hits he gave up with the two walks, he also struckout seven Belleville batters. He also had a hit in the first inning three run uprising to help his own cause.

In that first inning, Tom Bowers started problems when he led off the inning against Centanni with a single. Roger Fox followed by hitting into a force play that registered an out. However, on Wolff's single Fox went to second. A walk to Jerry DiGirolano loaded the bases. One run scored on Joe DeGeorge's force out grounder. And Wolff and DeGeorge soon scored the second and third tallies as teammate Don Kiessler connected for a long two-run double.

After that only one Livingston batter reached base the rest of the night against Centanni and his eventual successor on the mound, Joe Cerza. That was Nick Tocabs, who had a fourth inning single off of Centanni. In all Rich gave up only four hits and two walks but it just wasn't good enough. Three Belleville batters each managed two hits off of Wolff. They were center fielder Joe Ross, shortstop Kevin Goy, and his younger brother right fielder, Ronnie Goy. Joe Arminio and Vin Lipoma also had hits. However, it wasn't enough as the timely hit again eluded the Belleville Legion team.

Millburn

On last Tuesday evening in Millburn, Belleville finally discovered a way to score runs, a fact which can be related to their left on base total which was at its lowest of the season, only six. In fact this was a game which saw Millburn take an early 3-0 lead against Belleville starter Jerry Hoban, see Belleville fight back to not only tie things but regain the lead, and then see Millburn again uprise finally scoring the winning tallies in their last turn at bat.

Hoban who pitched only the first two innings was not effective, as he battled out of a bases loaded jam in the first, but was touched up three times in the second. Tom DeSpirito started things with a left field single. After Greg Reynolds forced him at second, Reynolds came around to score on a double down the left field line by Mark Seruto. Seruto went to third on a wild pitch, and one out later Dusty McQueen walked. After McQueen stole second, Dave Hardin drove in the first two four runs he was to drive in this night with a solid single to centerfield.

Sergio Rodriguez took over the pitching and did a fine job for the rest of the way, allowing only one earned run, and his performance seemed to encourage the Belleville batters to better heights. In the third Belleville scored twice. Alan Frank and Joe Ross received back walks. The each moved up one base on a long fly to center by Kevin Goy, and Frank and Ross scored on a booming triple to left by Joe Cerza. In the fourth Belleville got Millburn starter Neil McLean out of the ballgame as they scored three more times to take the lead. Ronnie Goy got things started with an infield single, and Phil Cuzzi followed him with a bunt single. McLean was able to get two outs, however. Alan Frank singled to left to score Ronnie Goy with the tying run, with Cuzzi going to third, and Alan to second on the throw to the plate. McLean left the mound, and Lee Springmeyer entered the pitching scene, and Ross followed by hitting a full count pitch to shortstop Dick Thierry who first booted the ball, then threw it away for a double infield error that scored both Cuzzi and Frank. However, that was the essence of the Belleville scoring for the night, as the only other threat against Springmeyer occurred in the seventh, yet nothing materialized from it.

National Race Tied Up

Riefolo continues their unbeaten streak to lead the American Little League with a 5-0 record, while the National League has been thrown into a tight three-way tie.

Milt's victory over Jolly Cleaners in Jolly's first defeat enabled Kiwanis and Amvets to gain the tie in the first place spot.

Riefolo, in the American League, needs only one win to assure them of at least a tie in that league.

Over in the National League, the Amvets have been the big surprise of the second half, with good hitting from Anthony Domenick, Bob Rispoli and Bill Murphy. In the pitching department, Joe Leone and Bill Murphy, meanwhile, have buttressed the pitching staff.

Amvets face Kiwanis tonight, and only one of them will remain in the top spot.

Milt's defeated Jolly 3-1 behind the four-hit pitching of Danny Borgo. Milt's left 12 men on base throughout the game, but Mike Pellegrino's hit drove in the winning runs in the fifth inning.

Also in the past week's action:

Rotary beat Landolfi 11-7, led by Jim Cali with three hits. Joe Francischini paced Landolfi with three hits, including a home run.

Amvets scored four runs in the fifth inning to defeat F.M.B.A. 4-1 to put them in a tie for first place. Anthony Domenick and Robert

Zanfini Terms Frosh 'A Coach's Dream'

by Pay Caputo

The Belleville Freshman baseball team recently completed the 1973 campaign with a highly regarded 13-3 record.

Coach George Zanfini praised his squad as a "coach's dream." He went on to say that they were the "most coachable group that I've ever worked with. They were one solid team unit. If one boy wasn't starting, he would cheer and help the one who was replacing him more than anyone else. This is what I mean by a team unit."

Although Coach Zanfini is quick to give all the credit to his players, his four year coaching career for the freshmen is 49-12, for an excellent 8-2 percentage. "Mr. Z." has never had a losing season or even a season where he hasn't won twice as many as he lost.

After five weeks of practice, the first game began on April 7. Belleville defeated Irvington 11-1 in that opener at Irvington. Greg Petite was pitching a perfect game for six innings and allowed the only run to be scored off him all season in the last inning. The run was unearned.

The freshmen Bellboys were set back two days later at the hands of Kearny, 10-0. Belleville quickly returned to winning ways by defeating Lyndhurst 1-0 in a pitcher's duel and also beating East Orange 22-0 and Montclair 8-4.

Irvington upset the Baby Bellboys 1-0, to avenge the opening trouncing that Belleville gave them. That heartbreaker was followed by two shut-outs over archrival Nutley 4-0, and Seton Hall 9-0. However, Bloomfield scored eight runs in a see-saw game to beat the Baby Bellboys 8-6, and leave them with a 6-3 record.

Following that bitter defeat, the freshmen Bellboys won their last seven in a row. Columbia was ripped 13-3. Then the frosh shut-out five opponents in a row, Lyndhurst, Nutley, Montclair, Kearny, and Bloomfield all lost via the white-wash. The scores were, in order, 12-0, 4-0, 10-0, 7-0, and 16-0. Victories over Kearny and Bloomfield were sweet because they revenged earlier defeats to both clubs. A trouncing of lowly East Orange 19-3 finished the season on a good note to sport a 13-3 mark.

During the season Belleville shut-out Lyndhurst and Nutley twice. They also beat East Orange and Montclair, twice. Columbia and Seton Hall each lost once while Belleville split two games with Bloomfield, Kearny, and Irvington.

Therefore the season ended with a 13-3 mark but even more impressive was the pitching depth of Coach Zanfini's squad. Nine times Belleville hurlers blanked their opponents. Ace of the staff was Greg Petite who allowed only one run all year, and it wasn't earned so his earned run average is an astonishing 0.00. He led the staff with 59 strikeouts in forty innings. Petite was 7-0.

Robert Giordano was the number two man and hard luck pitcher of the staff. He usually pitched well enough to win, but twice his teammates failed to score for him.

Fred Raccoppe and John Guarino both won two games and neither allowed an earned run in twenty-eight innings between them. Bob Tosi and Goscinski each won a game and Joe Baccaro allowed no earned runs in relief to round out the staff.

The infield was led by Anthony "Chipper" Biafore. Besides covering the busy territory around shortstop, Chipper led the team offensively in four departments: runs scored, stolen base, hits, and batting average. He hit for an amazing .500 clip, which is the highest anyone has ever hit for Coach Zanfini.

Allen Cervasio and Wayne Riche split the chores at second base and both did a fine job. Chris Tremel played first base and hit .455. The Cancelliere cousins, Mike and Nickie played third and hit .362 and .455 respectively.

Baccaro and Raccoppe were the second string first baseman when they weren't pitching.

In the outfield, John Guarino played center when he wasn't on the mound and hit .425. The remainder of the outfield was on the platoon system. Mike Cancelliere played some left field and pitcher Petite saw action in right occasionally, and batted .412. Other part time pitcher-outfielders included Tosi, Giordano and Goscinski. Luke Suppa hit .300 and Sal Marino hit .417 also in the outfield. Joe Dunn was often used for offensive reasons.

This year the other half of the battery was handled by Greg Dunleavy and sometimes Greg Huston. The former Greg hit .425 and the later Greg hit .273.

Most notable of the many feats accomplished by this team is their scoring of 142 runs and allowing only 30 to their opponents.

Congratulations to the freshmen baseball squad and to their very successful coach George Zanfini!

Beck's Column

Recently a customer brought a portable TV set to our shop for repair. He said that he tried to repair it himself, but "he could not do anything with it". A friend had told him, his set had "the same thing" and his repairman had told him what he had to do to repair it.

Our customer's trouble was different than his friend's and instead of repairing the set, he damaged it more. The result was a repair job costing $46.00. If he would have left the set alone, it would have cost $18.00.

All you should do when your TV is not working is to check whether it is plugged in and find out if the antenna wire is connected properly. Beyond that the most you should attempt is to find out whether a tube is burned out, and even this you should do only if you are "handy". Nothing can be gained by taking it apart and "looking at it." As a rule you only make it worse for the repairman and increase the cost of the repair. If you have a transistor TV set, don't even take the back off, leave it alone, you can not repair it yourself.

I hope many youngsters turn out today to apply for summer employment positions. The big part is up to all of us adults in town...whatever the job, no matter how big or small, PLEASE hire a teen: Right now, I'm the only adult volunteer and if you have any odd jobs you want done, please call me on Saturday mornings between 10 - 2 to line up a teen for the next week - pretty please?

Speaking of the SEP, I was contacted by a Mrs. Evelyn Pezzola of Lyndhurst last week. Seems the parents there want to start a similar program, and she visited with me to learn the ins and outs of finding jobs for kids. Good luck, Lyndhurst.

Best wishes to Frank and Sarah Gerino of Liberty Avenue. The couple celebrated their 49th wedding anniversary on June 22. They have six daughters - most from town - Mary Mohr, Anne Spera, Jo Nadzan, Janet LaStella and Dorothy and Frances Gerino.

School Two held a three part program on June 14 - Mrs. Maria DeLuisi's sixth grade class excellently performed a play: "The Magic Pencil Tree", the moral of which was one must study and work hard in school in order to be successful. The class sang a school song to the tune of "Those Were the Days", and a farewell song using the tune "It's a Small World". The youngsters worked very hard and performed very well. The second part of the program centered around Mr. Gizzi's instrumental group from the School and many solos were played. "Killing Me Softly" and Frank Danielli - "Sing". A nice way to round out the year.

I was invited to a "Christmas in July Party" on July 3rd...watch next week's issue for pix and story. It seems that Mrs. Rose Brosius was taking ceramic lessons, and she finally finished making a nativity - why NOT have a Christmas party? Sounds like fun.

Surprise, surprise! Another celebrating pair were Mary and Jack Baldwin, who were married twenty-five years on July 3. The "surprise" was that their daughters, Carol Cooper and Linda Baldwin, told mom and dad they were going out to dinner on that day. At the last minute, a phone call came, advising them of winning something...visit the Elks Hall to receive the prize. Upon getting to the Elks, the couple was surprised by more than 84 friends and relatives. In addition to their daughters and son, Jack, 10, Mrs. Baldwin's 13 brothers and sisters with their spouses were there - Catherine and Jack Gruber, Jack and Irene Fitzgerald (she was the maid of honor), Marge and Frank Bucaro, Pat and Bob Krous, Maureen and Paul Ritner, Jean and Carmen Marino, Colleen and Jim Salmon, Carol and James Petrucci, Diane and Ed Yesunas... (those were all the sisters, now for the brothers)...James and Jean Murphy, Tom and Rose Murphy, Charles and Gail Murphy, Greg Murphy...also Mrs. Baldwin's mom, Catherine Murphy...the gang is scattered around town and Toms River. Jack Baldwin's mom, Mrs. Baldwin was there too, as were his brothers and sisters with their spouses - George, Gene, Ritchie, Dot and Lil. What a family celebration, and congratulations Mary and Jack.

The Belleville Historical Society is conducting a tour of the Reformed Church at Rutgers and Main Street, Sunday, July 8th from 2 - 4. If you missed this before, do try to attend it is most interesting and, Ed O'Neil says, the public is invited.

Some Belleville youngsters racked up prizes at the 10th Annual State Junior Bowling Championship held at Brunswick Lanes in Bloomfield. The kids have been bowling for three weekends - three games in the morning and three at night. A banquet was held also. Class "B" ninth place winning girls were: Noreen Butterfield, age 5; Annette Marchese, 10; Lisa Sissabaro, 10 and Anna Marie DiNardo, 12. 14th place winning boys were Frank Zicaro, 7; Derek Lombardi, 7; Fred Barnes, 7; Nick Lembo, 10 and Carol Driscoll 12. Mrs. Diane Lombardi is one of those busy-bee mothers, who spends many Saturday mornings coaching the boys and Saturday afternoons coaching the girls, ages 5 - 10 years old at the Brunswick Lanes in Belleville. Nice going kids.

My sincere sympathy to Loretta DeSantis and Marie Lembo on the loss of their brother, John Spagnoletti, owner of the L & S Drug Stores.

ANOTHER FIRST

Saturday, June 23, was a red letter day for me. I visited Monmouth Race Track with a group from American Legion Post 105. Hank Steele was our friendly bus driver who took the "scenic" route - past the garbage dumps. Seriously, he knows all the ins and outs of little towns and the busride was interesting. Jim Malleck was the star performer on the bus, keeping everyone singing and laughing. Jim was also the "chef supreme" with his many delightful and delicious concoctions. Wow! that race track is big, to say the least. We sat at umbrella-shaded tables, enjoyed our picnic lunches and watched the races...and...lost money. I tried my luck picking horses by a name, color, or jockey name. I guess it just isn't my bag. One race, my husband gave me $2 to bet any way I wanted...so I thought to myself "to place" (which, before visiting the track, I would have said - second place winner)...guess what! The horse came in second. So I said to hubby: "If the horse came in second, and I bet to 'place', does that mean I win?" He smiled and said "yes"...well, here's the money, honey. I didn't place the bet." (if looks could kill)...When I first got to the track I thought what a delightful way to spend each summer day... (hubby was shelling out the dough)...as you can see, when it came to spending my own money, I chickened out, so there go my visions of becoming a racetrack addict.

And the double daily! (sorry I mean the daily double)...that was interesting, too, but how quickly I lost four races with one bet! My husband doesn't understand this explanation, but if I bet the first and second race, then bet one for each race, if I lost each race, that totals four, doesn't it? Oh, well. The horses went by so quickly I hardly had time to scream, jump up and down and cheer for my horse, but it was fun. Some of the people at the track were Margaret and Bill Hanrahan, Pat and Joe Wynn, Barbara Welter, Mary Nolter, Doris Helwig, and Dom and Grace Turano. It was a fun-filled day, topped off by a stop at "Cozy Joe's" for a smorgasbord dinner. Think they will have another day at the track in August, and I sure plan to attend...meantime, I will study some scratch sheets. (but honey, why study "scratch" if I don't itch?) I'll attend, if my husband can stand my stupid questions.

O.K. summer is here, but let's not forget he interesting things you do...please call me, or drop a line, but everything YOU do is interesting.

Summerfun 2 Slates
Revival Of 'Sherlock'

"Sherlock Holmes" is the second production being presented this season by Summerfun Two, the summer stock company at Montclair State College, Upper Montclair, New Jersey. Scheduled to run from Tuesday evening, July 3 through Saturday evening, July 7 at the College's air-conditioned Memorial Auditorium at 8:30 p.m., "Sherlock Holmes" promises a fun filled evening of entertainment for the entire family in a sparkling period production.

The classic British Mystery, written by William Gillette in the early twentieth century, is based on Arthur Conan Doyle's famous series and offers insight into the popular fare of that given period of history. While Gillette was faithful to Doyle in essence, using similar language and the familiar characters of Holmes, Watson and Moriarty, his plot for the play "Sherlock Holmes" is original. The conflict, as in Doyle's episodes, lies in the battle of wits between Holmes and Moriarty and the excitement lies in watching Holmes outsmart the other characters.

Summerfun Two's production of "Sherlock Holmes" will feature five sets of the period designed by Mike Smanko and costumes by A. Neilson Morse. The production is directed by Sobolik.

Summerfun Two's subsequent offerings this summer are "Never Too Late" from July 10 through July 14; "The Killing of Sister George" from July 17 through July 21; "Cactus Flower" from July 24 through July 28; and "The Miracle Worker" from July 31 through August 4.

All productions are presented at Montclair State College's air-conditioned Memorial Auditorium, Upper Montclair, New Jersey

Threaten Shipping

Coast Guard Expects Long Iceberg Season

The Coast Guard expects a record-long year of tracking Arctic icebergs, as more than 150 of them continue to threaten North Atlantic shipping off Newfoundland's Grand Banks region.

Lieutenant Douglas W. Crowell at Ice Patrol headquarters on Governors Island, N.Y., said, "Based on iceberg sightings by aircraft and ships as well as what we have collected this year on the ocean currents and weather patterns, we expect the ice season to last until mid-August."

The previous longest ice patrol was last year when the Coast Guard began monitoring icebergs and broadcasting their position in late February, through until September 4. This year Ice Patrol operations began in January, when more than 100 bergs were detected nearing shipping routes.

"Although we expect a longer season," Crowell added, "the number of bergs drifting south of the 48th parallel will only be about two-thirds of the record total of 1,587 logged during 1972."

Crowell explained that a change in wind direction is helping to lower the berg count. During the first three months of the year, a northwesterly wind blowing better than twice its seasonal velocity, resulted in many bergs getting caught in southerly flowing ocean currents. Since April, the wind shifted and has been blowing from the southwest off the coast of Newfoundland. This shift of direction is moving the ice eastward into ocean currents carrying the bergs away from shipping paths.

Coast Guard aircraft flying out of the Canadian Forces Base, Summerside, Prince Edward Island is the primary means of gathering data to plot the positions of icebergs. However, in March the service began also tracking by ship, when bergs were spotted well south of Newfoundland on a line drawn some 900 miles east of Boston, Mass.

"The use of a cutter has been effective in keeping a daily plot of the most southern bergs and broadcasting their location during periods of low visibility," said Crowell. "Going on the most recent data available we may be able to discontinue the surface patrol by mid-July."

As icebergs migrate southward through the Grand Banks region they begin to encounter the warmer air and water temperatures from the Gulfstream currents. From then their life-span is diminished to a few weeks or even days.

International Ice Patrol operations began one year after the tragic sinking of the British luxury liner "Titanic" in April of 1912, when it struck an iceberg some 300 miles southwest of Newfoundland with the loss of more than 1,500 lives.

The Coast Guard carries out the yearly surveillance of icebergs. The cost of the operation is shared by 18 other maritime nations, proportionate to the amount of their shipping passing through the ice endangered sea lanes.

STATE AID — Governor William T. Cahill signs a special appropriations bill providing $250,000 for the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra to help the orchestra bring its program of concerts to communities around the state during the coming year. Henry Lewis, Music Director of the Symphony, steadies a violin used as an impromptu desk at the signing ceremony last week at the Governor's office. Participating also are Assemblywoman Josephine Margetts of Morris County, the sponsor of the legislation, and Robert V. Van Fossan, president of Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company who represented the New Jersey Symphony's Board of Overseers. The funds from the state will supplement a broad fund drive being carried out among business organizations through the Board of Overseers to provide the Symphony with an improved financial base for its broad program of student and adult concerts throughout New Jersey.

Meadowbrook Books
Allen and Rossi Duo

The comedy team Bernie Allen and Steve Rossi will appear for a two-night stand at the Meadowbrook Theatre Restaurant in Cedar Grove on July 20 and 21. The two stars will replace Al Martino, formerly scheduled for these dates.

On the program with the star team will be Janice Harper, a vocalist, who has been a headliner with Xavier Cugat and sole star headliner in major night clubs in Puerto Rico and in this country.

The team of Allen and Rossi are expert and seasoned performers with a record of fun and entertainment following them in their engagements in such top clubs as the Rainbow Grill.

Allen's act draws continuous laughter as he uses three languages English, Yiddish and Italian and kibitzes with ringsiders.

Rossi is known for his song impressions of Tony Martin, Billy Eckstein, Robert Goulet, Johnny Mathis and others. His very effective voice is also heard in a routine of ballads, pops and standards.

The engagement of Allen and Rossi will provide top entertainment for a welcome summer interlude.

Extended Benefits Period Over

The Extended Benefits period, during which jobless workers could receive up to 13 additional weeks of unemployment insurance benefits, ended on June 30, as provided by the federal law which established the program.

In announcing the termination today, Peter W. Allen, Assistant Commissioner for Income Security, N.J. Department of Labor & Industry, advised those who have on-going EB claims to continue reporting until notified to discontinue by the local claims office. Assistant Commissioner Allen said that benefits can be paid on any compensable week which starts on or before the June 30 cut-off. This means that claimants scheduled to report during the first and second weeks of July on compensable weeks ending July 6 or earlier may be paid. No new claims are being taken.

Under the original state and federal laws which established the permanent Extended Benefits program, an EB period triggers on when the unemployment rate averages four percent or more for a 13-week period and is 20 percent higher than during the corresponding period in the two preceding years. Under amendments enacted last November, the 20 percent requirement was waived for weeks prior to July 1, 1973.

More than $150 million has been paid to Extended Benefits claimants since the inception of the program on January 1, 1971.

Minish Wants Grain To Remain at Home

Congressman Joseph G. Minish, 11th District - New Jersey, has introduced legislation mandating an embargo on the export of feed grains.

If enacted, the embargo would last for 120 days and would apply to soybeans, soybean meal, corn, and wheat.

Minish said an embargo on grains "is necessary in order to curtail pressures for higher food prices in our country, particularly for meat, poultry, and dairy products."

"When the current price freeze is lifted," Minish said, "food prices will continue to skyrocket unless we take action now to relieve the domestic shortage of feed grains."

"The severe domestic shortage of feed grains," Minish said, "caused by a number of factors including bad weather, Agriculture Department miscalculations, and growing exports, has resulted in a 300 percent increase in the cost of soybeans over the past year. Large increases have also occurred in other feed grain prices."

"American farmers," Minish said, "are unable to afford to feed their stock and, in some cases, they cannot even obtain the grain to feed them at any price."
