Yet More Cable Competition: Fourth Company Applies Here

The field of contestants for Belleville's cable television franchise award widened to four last week when International Cable Company of Newark filed an application for the award with Town Hall officials.

International is a subsidiary of a corporation based in Buffalo New York and lists its office address as 11 Commerce Street. The company joins UA-Columbia of Oakland, Suburban Cablevision of East Orange and West Essex Cable TV of Newark in vying for the franchise here. Each firm is attempting to establish a cable television network in Essex County and have filed applications in nearly every town except Newark and the Oranges, which already have a cable system.

All four firms will present details of their respective intentions for Belleville and other Essex towns at a public hearing scheduled for Monday, Sept. 17 at Town Hall.

Three of the companies this week disclosed to the Times their installation charges and monthly subscriber fees for their cable services, while a representative for International Cable was not available for comment.

UA-Columbia Cablevision, which already has an operating system in the Passaic County area, charges $15 for installation, with a monthly subscriber rate of $6.75.

UA-Columbia spokesman pointed out the firm offers free broadcasts of New York Rangers and Knicks games, along with all other Madison Square Garden athletic events, and provides 10 hours each day of local programming including a half-hour of local news each night.

UA-Columbia would establish a studio in Essex County, and provide a full-time educational advisor to work with Essex towns and schools in developing programs.

UA-Columbia spokesman Kay Koplovitz explained the company often waives the $15 installation charge if a subscriber signs for the service within the first 60 days it is available.

The company's greatest asset, they say, is that the microwave network is already set up, and they would have to erect no new towers before operating in Essex.

Bill Snow of Suburban Cablevision said the company charges $15 for the first residential cable installation in a home, $7.50 for the second, and they usually don't give free installations. Their monthly subscriber rates are $6.50 for the first residential unit and $2.50 for any others

Landolfi To Lead UW Push

Nicholas A. Landolfi of Belleville will serve as town chairman for the United Way campaign which begins September 17 with a Kick-off meeting at the Robert Treat Hotel in Newark.

The goal for this year's drive is $4,500,000 for the benefit of more than 100 health, family and youth services in the Essex-West Hudson area.

Landolfi is the president of the Landolfi Home for Funerals in Belleville. He is a graduate of Belleville High School and the American Academy of Funeral Service.

He is a member of the Belleville Knights of Columbus 835, the Varsity Club of Belleville and the Belleville Kiwanis Club.

Some Programs Scrapped

Local Schools Reopen With Interim Budget

by Ken Moore

Belleville schoolchildren returned yesterday to a system financed by a budget which adheres to the blueprint suggested by the Board of Commissioners last March when they slashed $450,880 from the budget proposed by the Board of Education.

A decision on the school board's appeal of the cuts is expected from the state Commissioner of Education within six weeks, but in the meantime, school officials are operating within the Commission guidelines.

Superintendent of Schools Anthony Greco said Tuesday those guidelines have forced the cancellation of work-study programs in the high school, some special education programs, various "mini-courses" and may yet cause problems for the system's driver's education classes and transportation programs.

On the other hand, said Greco, elementary schools this year will advance their Scott-Foresman reading program into third grade, and will move the progressive plan into fourth and fifth grade next year, barring another defeat of the budget by the voters.

Greco announced the formation of a administrator-teacher curriculum committee for this school year, which will be composed of seven or eight members from each group who will meet at least once every month and recommend changes or additions in programs to the Board of Education. The committee was proposed and passed by the Board of Education early last June.

Speaking to the Times on Tuesday, Greco had no figures on the new enrollment in Belleville schools, but he estimated elementary school enrollment will experience a "slight decrease." He added however, "in the senior high school, we're expecting another increase of perhaps 150."

Greco explained some of the ten teaching positions cut by the commissioners from the defeated $7.4 million budget were earmarked for work-study and special education programs.

"We've had three work-study programs lined up for the past four years," said the superintendent. The programs were designed to provide educational credits for students working with various employers in industry and commerce.

"We have 15 to 18 children

Service Station Group May Fight Goodyear

With the backing of a Belleville commissioner, a group of local service station owners met with Mrs. Senatore and decided to continue their fight against the Goodyear outlet. The station owners have complained Goodyear represents "unfair competition," will further congest traffic and parking in the area and will attract an "undesirable element" through reduced rates.

The station owners, led by Richard Florentine of Florentine's Sunoco station at 91 Washington Avenue and Vic Fassari of Vic's Cigo station at 485 Washington Avenue, have consulted Newark attorney Henry Catenacci, who is studying the chances for a successful appeal of the variance to the New Jersey Superior Court. The lawyer will report back to the group and a decision will be made before the 45-day limit for appeals expires. Commissioner Senatore voted against the Goodyear outlet, stating the site of the proposed tire center is near the Public Works Garage, and the new business would make a congested area even worse for her employees and other motorists. Mrs. Senatore also voiced many of the concerns of the service station owners. "Last year I introduced an ordinance which said that certain businesses could not come into town unless they were voted on by the Commissioners. How can that ordinance work unless the Town Fathers don't vote with the best interests of the people in mind?"

"That place is going to have six bays. I want to know where they're going to put the cars for their 16 employees,"

Mobile Van Will Check Auto Pollution Levels

Free auto pollution tests will be administered Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at a mobile van stationed in the A&P parking lot on Franklin Avenue.

Vincent T. Strumolo, director of Public Affairs, arranged to have the testing van brought to Belleville, courtesy of the state Environmental Protection Agency.

The free tests will be administered by technicians from the Bureau of Air Pollution Control to familiarize motorists with the test which became a part of routine automobile inspection last July.

The van is equipped with the same type of emission-measuring instruments used in the state's motor vehicle inspection stations.

Owners of inspected vehicles will be given information covering chapter 15 of the state air pollution code; the results of the reducing auto emissions if too high. Strumolo urges all Belleville car owners to take advantage of the free tests.

Government regulations provide for the installation of pollution control equipment on all newly-made automobiles, and state law requires the addition of such equipment on all cars in order to pass inspection.

The pollution tests have become on inspected vehicles for a year previous to last July, although failing cars were not denied inspection stickers. Emission control equipment was made mandatory beginning last July.

The mobile testing van which will be parked at the A&P lot Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. is part of a state program designed to familiarize auto owners with the new requirements, so they may prepare for that phase of tests conducted in their next car inspection.

Any car may be tested on Saturday, and the technicians conducting the examination may be able to provide tips to aid motorists whose cars fail to make the grade.

DiMaggio Named Jr. High Principal

The Belleville Board of Education Tuesday night voted unanimously to appoint Mario DiMaggio principal of the Junior High School.

DiMaggio, 46, has been an employee of the Belleville school system since 1953, and was vice principal of the Junior High since 1964. He was appointed to the principalship after Seymour Grossman was moved from that position to become assistant superintendent of schools in July.

Also Tuesday night, the Board of Education awarded a series of busing contracts that Board President Lawrence Schwartz said will total above the $83,000 written into the interim budget by the Board of Commissioners. Schwartz said the only alternative to awarding contracts over the sum would have been to cut bus service from the local limit of 1.7 miles to the state requirement of 2.5 miles. He said the school system will have to "absorb" any costs over the $83,000 figure. The proposed budget had set $100,000 as the figure for transportation.

Also appointed to a new position was Daniel Grasso, who will become head basketball coach at the Senior High School, succeeding Robert Palma, who resigned after last season. Grasso was already a teacher in the high school and had formerly been a coach at a private school.

DiMaggio, who resides in Nutley with his wife Angela and a nine-year-old son, is a native of Pennsylvania and a graduate of Montclair State College, where he received his bachelor's and master's degrees in mathematics. He came to the Belleville system in 1953 after teaching in Roselle Park, and headed the mathematics department at the high school from 1957-64, when he took over as vice principal at the junior high.

He is a past president of the Belleville Education Association, past president of Belleville UNICO and is presently a vice president in the Belleville-Nutley Tuberculosis League. He is a member of the Board of Education of Holy Family and is a trustee of that church.

Street Nomenclature: History in the Highways

Old Family Names On Streetsigns Here

by Allan Crisp, Town Historian

An examination of the names of some of Belleville's older streets reveals facets of history long forgotten over the years. For example Hornblower Avenue, Joralemon Street, DeWitt Avenue, Holmes Street and more recently Division Avenue.

Hornblower Avenue was named after Belleville's most distinguished Revolutionary citizen, Josiah Hornblower. Born in Staffordshire in 1729, he died in Belleville in 1809. He brought the first steam engine to America to pump water from the Schyler Copper Mine, across the Passaic River. In 1794 he supervised the building of the first steam engine in America, which really started the Industrial Revolution. In 1794 he bought a tract of land in Belleville and built his home.

Hornblower Avenue first represented the western boundary of this property in the Academy Street area. He was a firm supporter of the War of Independence and the British made a number of efforts to capture him. He served as a member of the first Continental Congress after the War and later served as a speaker of the House in the New Jersey Legislature. A number of citizens, under his leadership, met in a private home in 1797 and changed the name of Second River to Belleville.

Joralemon Street was named after the Joralemon family. Five members are among the 62 Revolutionary War veterans buried in the Belleville Reformed Church cemetery. Later, Cornelius Joralemon's shipyard had a reputation for building the fastest sloops in the New York area. Many Morris Canal boats were also built in this yard.

After John F. Kennedy's assassination, there was a strong move afoot to change the name of Joralemon Street to Kennedy Boulevard. The Writer is proud of the fact that he spoke out against it, and the Joralemon name was preserved.

DeWitt Avenue was named after the DeWitt Family, who owned the DeWitt Wire Works at Mill and Main Street. Here the first drawing of fine brass and copper wire in the United States was done. Wire for Samuel Morse's first experimental telegraph line from Baltimore to Washington also came from the DeWitt Wire Works.

Holmes Street was named after Hugh Holmes, Belleville's first mayor, from 1874 to 1876. Mr. Holmes wrote an interesting paperback book, largely about his early days in Belleville. It also included an account of a steamboat which a number of citizens bought (although Holmes put up most of the money) and which carried Bellevilleites back and forth to Newark, forcing the transit company to extend horsecar service to the town.

Division Avenue was the southerly boundary of a tract of land purchased by a real estate development company known as Greylock Heights, upon which many older homes in the Greylock section were built in the early 1900's.

Golden Comments

By James R. Golden

The Herald-News writer Jim Smith, who covers Belleville, recently described our community as being like a crab playing Giant Steps, her motion is lateral, the goal unattainable, he writes.

He contends there is a conflict here. That while Belleville officialdom maintain a certainty that a surging Newark can be stopped at Mill Street and the community remain a suburban town, a second game is interfering with that goal. The game is politics, he writes.

I concur with Mayor McGreevy's position in regards to his stand taken concerning the Commission's reduction of the school budget. Like he says the voters had spoken. The Commissioner heeded the will of the people who pay the taxes that run the school system. Likewise, he is on firm ground when he says the entire matter should be thrown into the Courts, on an appeal, should the Educational Commissioner rule to restore the delted amount taken out by the commissioners, as is

Probation Violation Brings Sentence

Barry Brainford, 765 Broadway, Newark, was sentenced to 45 days in the Essex County Correction Center last Thursday for violating probation.

Acting Judge Aaron Narol gave the defendant the sentence on a complaint by probation officer James Lonergan.

Eileen B. O'Donnell Wins Reading M.A.

Mrs. Eileen Budd O'Donnell, daughter of Leo Budd of 29 Clinton Street, has received her master's degree in reading from Seton Hall University in South Orange.

She was awarded her bachelor's degree from William Paterson College and is a graduate of Belleville High School, where she was vice president of her class and chairman of the Tenth Annual Reunion, held in November 1972. She is married to Edward Budd, a certified public accountant, and taught English at Belleville High before the birth of their two children, Brendan 4 and Danielle 2. They finally reside in Nutley.

Beck's Column.

Last week we reported the story of a TV repair. This is a continuation of the report.

We told the man straight to his face that he would be better off not to have a TV set. They are not expected and built to be used day in and day out, 14 hours or more a day, without getting any care at all and kids fighting about it. Just to mention the picture tube, which is built to last a couple of thousand hours. In the set in question it was used 10,000 hours. And this goes for all the other parts in the set. To repair this set would require replacement of about 10 parts, which leaves about a thousand.

The repair of this set in question including replacement of the picture tube would have cost about $144. The price of a new set, the picture tube of course is the most expensive part of any TV set. After lengthy debate the man realized that he would be better off to buy a new set, which was right, of course. He also mentioned that he would take out a service contract, which he did not have before. In this connection he mentioned that a neighbor had a service contract with us and his set is working perfect all the time.

A color TV set is the most complicated and sophisticated piece of equipment to be found in a home, not to be abused and fought about, as in the present case. It would not take long and a new set would be in the same shape again like the first one. We did not encourage this customer to buy a new set from us and made it quite clear, that we certainly would not issue a service contract for his set, knowing full well what to expect. We repeated our earlier recommendation, that this family would be better off without a TV set to fight over.

Register at Public Library

The Children's Departments of the Belleville Public Library and the Silver Lake Branch are now taking registration for their series of Pre-School Hours.

This pre-school program, which now runs for eleven consecutive weeks, is open to all Belleville four and five-year olds. Group size is limited and advance registration is required. Interested parents should call the main library at 759-9200; the Silver Lake branch at 759-6822; or register their children in person as soon as possible.

Two separate groups will be formed at the Children's Room of the Main Library, Washington Avenue at Academy Street. One session will meet Tuesdays beginning October 2nd and the other starts Thursday, October 4th.

The group at the Silver Lake Branch will meet Wednesdays, beginning October 17.

Each session runs from 10:00 a.m. until 11:00 a.m. in the Children's Room of the respective library. Mothers or fathers are requested to be on hand if needed and are invited to join a series of lecture, film and discussion programs conducted concurrently with the pre-school program.

Essex Improvement Head Says Programs Misstated

Eugene F. Golding, Chairman of the Essex County Improvement Authority, based in Belleville, charged in a letter to State Environmental Commissioner Richard J. Sullivan, that the Authority was confusing County programs with its recent release of solid waste proposals by the state and the Meadowlands Commission.

Golding said that the major reclamation statement issued by Stephen Baruch of the Environmental Quality department, relating to a massive state effort toward developing regional reclamation centers, is contrary to the earlier state dictates and rulings requiring Counties to work within their own boundaries to solve their solid waste problems.

Local Student Researching At Cape Cod

At a time when most people are returning from sun-soaked days in sand and surf, a Belleville student at Upsala College has packed his bags for two serious weeks at the seashore.

Russell James Jerusik of 460 Belleville Avenue, Belleville, is spending the period between September 2 and 15 at Cape Cod's world famous Marine Biological Laboratory at Woods Hole, Mass. The two weeks will be devoted to an intensive course in the principles and methods of marine biology.

Jerusik, a junior majoring in biology, will explore, collect, analyze and research marine life. When he returns to school he will be required to write papers on the basis of his original research and library work.

September, 1973

There was that nameless splendor everywhere,
That wild exhilaration in the air. . .

-Longfellow
September is the month of harvest moon (this year on the 12th) — the moon which appears above the horizon at about sunset for several days, giving enough light for farmers to harvest their fields after the sun is down.

Hitler marched into Poland September 1st, 1939, and touched off World War II. Labor Day falls on the 3rd this year. The first Continental Congress met on the 5th in 1774 in Philadelphia, James Fenimore Cooper, the great novelist, was born on the 7th at Burlington, N.J., in 1789. The famous Galveston hurricane struck that Texas city on the 8th in 1900. The 9th is Admission Day in California — dating from 1850 when California became a state. The British defeated George Washington and his army at Chadd's Ford in Pennsylvania on the 11th, in 1777, and took Philadelphia two weeks later as a result, in their third try. The 12th is Defenders' Day in Maryland, dating from the War of 1812 with the British; John Barry, the father of the U.S. Navy, died on the 13th in 1803. The 15th is the birth anniversary of William Howard Taft, born in Cincinnati, in 1857 — elected President in 1908.

Baron Friedrich Wilhelm Rudolph Gerhard Augustin von Steuben was born in Prussia on the 17th in 1730, years later came to America and trained George Washington's army and helped the Colonies win their independence. On the 18th in 1793 the cornerstone of the capital was laid by George Washington with Masonic ceremonies. And the 23rd is the birthday anniversary of William McGuffey (Claysville, Pennsylvania) in 1800, whose school readers were to be read by millions of American youngsters.

Japan

The best estimates for Japan's growth in the remainder of the decade are eye-opening. Almost twenty per cent of U.S. imports now comes from Japan and the Japan Economic Research Center estimates by 1980 twenty-five per cent of all U.S. imports will be from that country.

Japan's investments abroad are expected to rise from the current several billion a year to five billion or more. This means more U.S. firms, forests, minerals and businesses will become all or partly Japanese owned.

While some had thought the recent staggering rate of Japanese economic growth could not continue, estimates in Japan are that we are seeing only the tip of the wave to come and that all through the seventies Japanese expansion and economic growth will be dazzling. Having already replaced the United States as the number one economic influence all over Asia, this process is now certain to follow in non-Asian countries.

The question which arises in the long-range appraisal of such tremendous economic power is what the Japanese, as a people and a government, will do with this new-found influence. At present neither the people nor the Tokyo regime is inclined to push its weight around and, to a surprising degree, shuns any role that smacks of aggressiveness in political or military fields.

But former U.S. Ambassador to Japan, Edwin Reischauer, recently told a Harvard Club meeting there was a great "uneasiness" today among Japanese leaders, who, he says, are not prepared to accept the responsibilities of their growing role as a world power.

And so the Japanese continue on their path as a super-power; eventually they will rearm, as would any proud people, and the question is whether future governments will continue to follow the same path as today's.

Free Buses

Seattle is to become the nation's first city to offer free bus service in its downtown area. Free service is to begin in September on a one-year trial basis.

The idea, of course, is to reduce traffic and smog in the center of the city. Free buses will also help boost business where it has, in some cities, dropped off alarmingly because of congestion.

Cost of the free downtown service is estimated at $64,000 for a year-less than might have been expected and a relatively minor item in the city budget.

The Seattle experiment is undoubtedly being watched by hundreds of American communities, especially metropolitan areas with serious smog, pollution and traffic congestion problems. It appears a sensible and logical approach to a growing national problem.

Browsing Belleville

with Pat Diana

(write me at 104 Overlook Ave. or call 751-6861)

I had a dream last night — that it snowed...at least with cold weather you can get warmer, but this heat...has GOT to go! On Labor Day, remember that electrical storm? I had just hung my laundry up, and all of a sudden I saw my sheets go flying through the air...one landed on a telephone wire!

MET SOME interesting people this week from Cleveland, Ohio...Elsie and Philip Frohlich were visiting Dave and Dot Martin. Seems Phil and Davie were Navy buddies a few years back, so the Frohlichs came to Belleville for awhile, then the Martins took them down the shore...welcome aboard.

I received a very nice letter from a young miss — Diane Campbell who recently held a carnival for Muscular Dystrophy. She thanked me for telling you all about it and said many people came out.

Happy Birthday to Miss Lucy Cocco — she was sweet sixteen and is now a Junior at BHS.

On September 22, the members of the Metropolitan Organ Club of Northern New Jersey will hold their first meeting at the Evangel Church in Elizabeth. A color motion picture — "So Long Joey" is planned...it's the story of gospel singer Dave Boyer...there are also openings to join the MOC chorus — write to: PO Box 286, Montclair, 07042. A welcome to Kenneth L. Walsh new member...and birthday congrats to: Susan Brisk — 30th, James Corby — 22nd, Shirley Smith 27th, Kenneth Walsh 4th and...we forgot Ernest Marton — August 6.

I WAS FEELING badly the other day — a new bride called me to say in her wedding story I told what other women were wearing, but not her! (who's more important than the bride?)

The problem, as I explained it, was that I was not invited to the wedding or reception, but only happened to be in the neighborhood when the reception took place and saw two of the women I knew...so mentioned their dresses...please remember, if you want coverage of ANY social event, it would be nice to invite me and then there would be no hurt feelings.

Welcome back to John and Florence Luisi of High Street who took a tour of Florida, visiting Mr. and Mrs. Tom Smith in Hollendale (former Bellevillites) and Mr. and Mrs. Nick Forte in Fort Lauderdale — also former residents. The Luisi's had a wonderful tour of the sunshine state including Miami, Hollywood, Orlando, Disney World and...the race tracks. Mr. Luisi works for Mike Marotti.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY to Miss Susan Senatore, who was 13 last week. A party was held and one and all came to help Sue enjoy her day...Nick DePasquale, Betty Shindle, Steve Moraski, Connie Bogert, Louie DePasquale, Debbie Senatore (Sue's sister), Larry Shaul, Debby Reiman, Tommy Bargamia, Greg DeVingo, Robert Shields, John Shields, Tom Wallace, Lisa Fiorito, Nancy Tronio, Susan Diana... "Mom" Senatore made sure all had a good time.

The gang around Overlook held a surprise go-away party for Larry Shaul of Langhorne, Pa...he was visiting relatives here this summer. Those that were sorry to see Larry go included Connie Bogert, Sue and Debbie Senatore, Nicky DePasquale, Lisa Fiorito, Betty Shindle, Steve Moraski, Tom Wallace, Debbie Senatore and Sue Diana. Just about everyone that was at Sue Senatore's birthday.

He Complains Police Seizure Violated Rights

To the Editor:

Many times I read in the Times of the fine and noble acts performed by many of our policemen. Now I would like to show the other side of the picture.

On August 2 the State Police, with a search warrant, came to my home and rushed in like a bunch of wild animals, before telling me they had a search warrant to search my home.

The object of the search was cigarettes which I had purchased legally from North Carolina, Federal and state tax paid in that state, so I was brought into police headquarters in Belleville for questioning.

Possession of the cigarettes is not a violation of the law. The cigarettes were not for sale to anyone.

They were purchased by me for my own use and for the Veterans' Hospital in Newark, to be given away free at their next party. They were delivered to my door by the Post Office.

The search by the police and seizure of my property under the Constitution is illegal.

The Constitution of the United States is the law of the land; it was written by men of outstanding qualifications. Its aim was to protect the people from illegal acts by those in power, which is now being done in New York and New Jersey. It cannot be superseded by any state Constitution or new state laws.

Under the Constitution of the United States, the people have the right to purchase anything from any other state without fear of paying new duties or taxes on the imports without the consent of Congress.

It is good business to purchase goods from anywhere when you get a better price. Big business has been doing it for years, all over the world.

Why pick on the little guy, buying mail order cigarettes to keep his expenses down? I had to pay a $200 fine and also lose the cigarettes — 197 cartons, so the Veterans' Hospital is out of luck.

Article one, Section nine and ten, paragraph five and six; also Article six, Section two will show this to be true under the Constitution of the United States which is the law of the land.

President Nixon, whether or not involved in the Watergate scandal, has at times used the Constitution as a legal weapon and has refused to give up tapes and records for security reasons. As the president, he has the power to do what he feels is right.

All presidents make deals with other nations. He brought the war to an end and the prisoners back home. He bombed Cambodia, which his critics say is wrong when the lives of our soldiers stationed there were in serious danger from the enemy from the North.

The Watergate investigation, which some politicians enjoy, is an ugly thing and could go on for the balance of his term. I don't believe he will be impeached. No evidence has ever been presented against him for any wrongdoing to the courts or a grand jury.

If the Constitution, the law of the land, can protect the president, it should do likewise for all the people against illegal acts by any state in the Union.

There are times in life when even good people hoping to do good deeds for others make mistakes.

Now what happens to the cigarettes which I purchased legally from North Carolina for the vets at the hospital? I offered to pay the New Jersey tax for their return; it was refused.

Legal action is out of the question. It costs too much money to fight, so the little guy always gets it in the end, regardless of the law of the land. By keeping the cigarettes without my consent, I feel the State Police are just as guilty of a crime against society.

Sincerely yours,
Albert Guglielmi
75 Lake Street
Belleville

Golden Comments

provided by law, I hail his firm stand.

After much detailed effort and passage of required ordinances by the town commissioners the residents of Belleville had become eligible to qualify for Federal Flood Control Insurance at modest rates since the program is largely subsidized federally.

As is so often the case, few availed themselves of this opportunity. Even in the face of strong urging by representatives of the town governing body that those in known flood areas, such as the Fairway Avenue section by the Third River, take out this modest costing insurance coverage, most did not. Only now, to their chagrin do those unfortunate victims of the heavy summer rains that flooded some sections of town rue their failure to heed the suggestions given them by concerned town officials, who were only thinking of the peoples welfare.

We learn from a story in the Nutley Sun that a Canine Corps dog named Brutus, owned by Nutley police captain Robert DeLitta, played an instrumental role in locating one of the two Newark gunmen captured during the past summer after a shoot out involving the efficient police work of the local police in cooperation with the law enforcement forces of several surrounding towns.

Elizabeth and Irvington police departments operate with Canine Squads. At the time of the apprehension of the Newark gunman the Nutley Department was conducting a pilot program to determine the advisability of using the dogs.

A lift is in store for Senior Citizens which will provide half-fare rides for state residents over 62, starting Sept. 10th, on buses and jitneys operating on regular routes within the state, during off-peak hours.

The Department of Transportation urges persons who do not have medicare cards to register as soon as possible for the new program. Most banks have the application forms.

THE STATE WE'RE IN

Protecting The Delaware River Is A Most Important Project

David F. Moore

N.J. Conservation Foundation

LEADING DIRECTLY into one corner of this teeming state we're in is one of the most precious natural recreational areas in the entire eastern United States. Every New Jersey resident has a stake in helping to preserve this region, which is the 76 miles of Delaware River between Hancock, New York, and Port Jervis, New York, where the stream becomes the western boundary of our state.

Preservation is actually what's possible, in the best sense of the word, because the U.S. Department of the Interior's Bureau of Outdoor Recreation is now climaxing a lengthy study of the 76 miles of river which can lead to its becoming a formal part of the National Wild and Scenic River System.

PUBLIC HEARING were held last week at Matamoras, Pa., and Callicoon, N.Y., by the BOR as a final step in the Study prior to making final recommendations for the Congressional action necessary to lock the upper Delaware into the federal protective system, similar to National Seashores or National Wilderness Areas in the degree of safeguards against adverse development.

It's not too late for interested persons in New Jersey and elsewhere to enter written statements for the hearing records. Anyone can do so until August 24, by mailing statements to Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, Room 9510, Federal Building, 600 Arch Street, Philadelphia Pa., 19106.

The easiest way to look at the area in question is to drive north from Port Jervis along New York Route 97 to Hancock. The highway skirts the east side of the river for most of its distance. A few miles north of Port Jervis is the striking "Hawk's Nest" section of the Delaware. Overlooks there permit the motorist to climb out and peer down into a curving sweep of the river far below which provides a truly spectacular view.

THIS TIME OF YEAR, when the water is running deeper, one can see numerous canoes, kayaks, rubber rafts and even inner tubes carrying aquatic sightseers downstream. There's no doubt but that the Delaware, seen from its surface, is something special. Canoe trips are getting more popular every year, with many spending the better part of a week paddling the whole 76 miles and camping out.

Back in the days when the river ran wilder, without upstream dams to collect surplus waters, the spring would see many giant log rafts being guided southward by hardy men who had spent the winter cutting timber in Pennsylvania woodlands. They floated their logs to the Philadelphia area for sale to lumber suppliers.

A FEW MILES north of the Hawk's Nest section, the motorists can gaze at, and even drive over, the oldest suspension bridge in the western hemisphere. John Roebling built it between Minisink Ford, New York, and Lackawaxen, Pa., more than a century ago to carry the old Delaware and Hudson Canal across the river.

Coal barges hauled the newly popular fuel from Pennsylvania mines to the Hudson River at Kingston, New York, for transshipment into Hudson River sloops which carried it to Manhattan. Roebling incorporated his basic wire rope innovations, tested in the Minisink Bridge, into his later design for the Brooklyn Bridge. At Lackawaxen also is the grave of author Zane Grey, and the house he occupied when he began writing seriously prior to moving west.

FOR THE STATISTICAL minded, it's of note that a quarter of the American population lives within an easy drive of the secluded upper Delaware. This underscores the recreation potential of the river, and also the potential for uglification of its pristine miles if firm protection like Scenic River status isn't forthcoming quickly. With Scenic River safeguards for the upper Delaware, the river would be one great green-strip parkland for well over 100 miles south from Hancock. This is because the proposed Scenic River section would link with Delaware Water Gap National Recreation Area, which is being completed to a point south of the Delaware Water Gap.

Salmonella Bug Resembles Flu

Remember the last time you thought you had the "flu" or your stomach was upset? Well, that's all it might have been. Then again, you might have been suffering from "the bug" known as Salmonella. It causes a disease called salmonellosis which is one of the more common types of food poisoning. How common? Some guesses have gone as high as two million cases per year.

The bacteria that cause it are practically everywhere. Yet, with a little more care by everyone - especially in handling food - the number of "upset stomachs" in this country could be greatly reduced.

Salmonella food poisoning is not new on the scene - nor did it "arrive" with the increased processing of foods. It has probably been around since man first set foot on this earth, though it's often mistaken for something else.

Salmonella bacteria can live and grow in the digestive tract of man, once contaminated food is eaten. When this happens, these symptoms may occur in 12 to 36 hours: Severe headache, vomiting, diarrhea, abdominal cramps, and fever. Because of the similarity of symptoms it may be mistaken for "flu" or other stomach disorders.

House Workers Can Be Eligible In Seven Years

Almost one-third of the Nation's household workers could be eligible for social security retirement benefits in 7 years or less, according to social security officials here.

"Most women household workers are in their 40's, but 29 percent are over 55. These are the workers who could start getting retirement benefits in 7 years or less," a social security spokesman said.

A household worker can get reduced monthly social security retirement checks beginning at 62 — or full benefits beginning at 65 — if she has worked long enough in jobs covered by social security.

There are nearly 1.7 million household workers in the Nation, and 1.5 million are women, the spokesman said.

A household worker's cash wages count for social security if she is paid $50 or more in a 3-month calendar quarter from one employer working as a maid, cook, cleaning woman, laundress, housekeeper, babysitter, etc., in someone else's home.

"This means," the spokesman said, "that a household worker's wages are covered by social security if she is paid as much as $3.85 per week in cash for 13 consecutive weeks in a calendar quarter."

"To get the proper social security credit for her earnings," the spokesman said, "a household worker should be sure to give her correct social security number. The employer is responsible for sending a quarterly report of wages paid and the social security contributions to the Internal Revenue Service."

Single copies of a leaflet, "Social Security and Your Household Employee," are available free on request at any social security office.

Warm Weather Cooking Needs Extra Care

Summertime brings out "the cook" in many of us. The following questions and answers will help make that special fun event the backyard barbecue or the picnic in the park or at the beach more enjoyable.

Q. What can I do to protect the wholesomeness and safety of the meat and poultry I buy?

A. Make meat and poultry one of the last things you buy in the grocery store. Take these and other perishable food items home right away and refrigerate or freeze them promptly.

Q. What should I look for in canned meat or poultry products?

A. Avoid cans that are severely dented, leak or swell. If the product looks, tastes, or smells suspicious, DON'T EAT IT. Return it to your grocer and report the incident to your local health authority.

Q. What are the most important things to remember when preparing, storing, and cooking fresh meat and poultry?

There are two basic things to remember. First, keep meat and poultry clean when preparing and storing. Second, keep these foods hot or cold in between. Don't let cooked foods sit around so that bacteria can form or multiply. If you plan to serve cold fried chicken, store it in the refrigerator after frying, until ready to serve.

Q. What should I keep in mind when storing meat and poultry?

A. Store meat and poultry in the refrigerator only if you are going to use them within a few days. For longer storage, freeze products. The refrigerator section should be kept between 35 and 40. Freezer temperature should be kept at 0 or lower. Wrap meat loosely for refrigerator storage. Poultry may be refrigerated in its special wrap. For freezing, wrap meat and poultry tightly in moisture-resistant material, such as aluminum foil.

Q. What about defrosting?

A. Defrost meat and poultry in the refrigerator when possible. Meat or poultry may also be defrosted at room temperature if left in a tightly closed double paper bag. They may also be placed in cold water to aid thawing if the wrapping is watertight. Cook foods promptly after thawing.

Q. What's the best way to keep foods cold on a picnic?

Firemen's Post Ladies Meet September 11

Firemen's Post No. 1851 Ladies Auxiliary, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will hold a business meeting, Tuesday, September 11 at Post Home, 94 Grafton Avenue, Newark at 8:30 p.m. President Mrs. Alice Redmond, Newark, will preside.

Final plans for a Fall Rummage and Garage Sale will be made, scheduled for the first Monday and Tuesday in October by the units. Proceeds of the benefit affair will assist the Community Activities Fund for continuing programs and anticipated new activities. Community Activities Chairman for Post and Auxiliary, Thomas A. O'Neill, Jr. and Mrs. Wm. S. Conlan, both of Newark, will report on the current greeting card sale and U.S. Flag Sale, to date.

Rehabilitation Chairman, Mrs. Harry Gottschalk, West Orange, will report on progress made in assisting with "The Veteran Returns to the Community" project now underway, in cooperation with Post Service Officer, Frank Thomas, Union.

Firemen's V.F.W. Post will hold a business meeting on Tuesday, September 18th beginning at 8:00 p.m. at V.F.W. Headquarters. Commander Walter MacEachern, Newark, will preside. High on the agenda will be report of Voice Democracy chairman, William B. Kroeckel, Newark, on high schools contacted for the 27th annual National V.O.D. scriptwriting contest for students of 10th, 11th and 12th grades. Cash awards and or U.S. Savings Bond is offered for winning tapes to contestants. If interested in competing for prizes at Post, District, Northern Area and State finals, contact your nearest V.F.W. Post Home for more details. State winner is also treated to a five-day all expense trip to Washington, D.C.

A. Use a good, well-insulated cooler. And fill it with plenty of ice (but not dry ice) to keep foods cold. Do not open the cooler unnecessarily. And leave it in a shady spot to keep the ice from melting too fast.

Q. What precautions should I take when preparing meat and poultry for my barbecue or picnic?

A. You should be as careful with food prepared for out-of-doors as you are when eating inside. Clean your kitchen frequently. Rinse poultry in cold water and drain it well before you cook it. Clean all work surfaces including wooden cutting boards and counter tops before and after using them for raw meat or poultry. Soap and hot water works well. Never place cooked, ready-to-serve meat or poultry on the same surface or in a utensil used for the raw product unless you have completely sanitized that surface or utensil. If possible, use separate cutting boards for raw and cooked products, to avoid "cross-contamination." Wash your hands often during preparation of foods and when cooking outdoors.

MENTAL HEALTH MATTERS

Bertram S. Brown, M.D., Director
National Institute of Mental Health

Electroshock

You may have heard of electroshock — and recall it as being controversial and having something to do with the treatment of mental illness.

But just what is electroshock?

First, it's more appropriately called electroconvulsive therapy (known among professional workers as "ECT") because its objective is not "shock."

In simple terms, ECT is a method for treating mentally ill patients by administering medically controlled convulsive seizures by means of electricity.

The patient is put to sleep with an intravenous anesthetic. This is followed by drug medication which relaxes the muscles of the body.

The therapist then applies an electric current to the scalp, producing seizures and convulsions which consist of twitching of the muscles.

Other kinds of "convulsive therapy" are also used in addition to that produced by electric shocks. These include giving the patient inhalations of an ether-like gas after he is asleep or giving him a chemical convulsant agent, a drug, injected intravenously.

What patients are chosen for ECT? The general answer is those with psychoses or severe neuroses who require intensive treatment, usually in a hospital. Severe depression, the depressive phase of manic-depressive illness, is said to be the main indication for ECT.

Is there any danger with ECT? The general answer here is that there is an element of danger. Those who employ the method feel that it is safe or that its calming or other effects outweigh its hazards. Others do not.

Most common side effects of an undesirable kind are confusion and memory loss. Usually these are most obvious immediately after a treatment. Memory changes include forgetting some events and a tendency to forgetfulness in day-to-day matters.

The American Medical Association, American Psychiatric Association, American Psychological Association, and National Association of Mental Health (or your local chapter) can provide further information. A free folder, "Facts About Electroshock Therapy," is available from the National Institute of Mental Health, Rockville, Maryland 20852.

Is There A Time Bomb Right In Your Kitchen?

The cabinet under the kitchen sink is an open invitation to disaster in many homes.

These handy arsenals of tidiness containing household cleaners, polishes, detergents and other fluids and substances often become lethal time bombs waiting to be set off by inquisitive children.

The Department of Safety and Research of the Hearststone Insurance Company of Massachusetts has issued a special warning to mothers, grandmothers and others who have children in their homes to take an inventory of the accessible storage areas to make certain that nothing dangerous is accessible to them.

The National Safety Council, the Council on Family Health and the Public Health Service's National Clearinghouse for Poison Control concur that the kitchen ranks second only to the bathroom as the most dangerous potential boobytrap in the home.

And small children and their elderly grandparents and great-grandparents are the most accident prone. While falls are the greatest cause of death and injury to the very old and very young alike, poisons in the hands of children are the second most frequent cause of household tragedy. The younger the child, the more likely he is to sample the contents of containers clearly marked POISON.

The Health Insurance Institute estimates that about a million children consume poisonous substances every year, with at least 500 known deaths and inestimable anguish, suffering and permanent impairment in countless cases.

Public-health authorities have come to realize that not all poisons are reported. Often a child is treated immediately and successfully by his parents or a doctor and the accident goes unrecorded.

Sometimes deaths from accidental ingestion of poison go unreported too. Members of the families suffer from such a sense of guilt over having put death-dealing substances in the paths of children that they never even tell their physicians what happened. Or the doctor, out of sympathy for the parents, may not pass on word of a tragedy to the poison control center.

As a first step toward ending these catastrophes, Hearststone Insurance's safety experts recommend that housewives take an inventory of what they keep stored in the cabinets under their sinks.

What are they likely to find? Scrubbing powder, ant or roach poison, laundry bleach, soap or detergent, ammonia, water softener, silver and metal polishes, metal scrubbing pads, floor wax, aerosol cans of over cleaner and air deodorants, furniture polish, disinfectants and perhaps cleaning fluid as well. There also may be a receptacle containing garbage.

Every one is poisonous. Some act so quickly upon being swallowed that nothing can be done to save a child who accidentally consumes them, horrible as they may be to the taste. Moreover, the improper use of spray cans can blind or otherwise maim.

The proverbial ounce of prevention is worth a gallon of antidotes, however, and here are a few of the simple measures compiled by Hearststone's Safety and Research Department for the deactivation of poison boobytraps in the home:

1. Never put any poison or harmful substance in jars or bottles originally designed for consumable liquids or foods. Nothing is more enticing to a small child than a familiar-looking jam jar or soda pop bottle even though it contains poison.

2. Do not keep food in the same cupboard or cabinet with products that are not to be eaten.

3. Keep all poisons out of easy reach if children are in the house.

4. Make sure that all potentially dangerous liquids are in tightly closed containers, preferably of the type that are designed so that children cannot open them.

The National Safety Council cautions housewives to leave labels on all containers so they will be clearly mark as to contents. Children should be shooed from the kitchen when potentially dangerous household cleaners are in use. This applies particularly to bleaches, stove-cleaning substances and any spray-on product.

One signal of alarm that danger may be at hand is the telephone. Many a housewife dashes to answer a ring, leaving a bottle of something potentially dangerous untended. It takes only a split second for busy little hands to get to work.

Government statistics indicate that at least two-thirds of poisoning accidents involving children are due to ignorance, negligence or carelessness and therefore could be avoided if every possible precaution is taken.

'Shelf' On Tree Signals Trouble

There is a good chance that your shade trees are trying to tell you something. And what they are saying may save you money later.

When heart rot becomes serious in most large trees there is no outward sign of rotten wood, explains William F. Munk, senior county agricultural agent of Essex County. However, there is a warning that you should observe.

Heart rot is caused by any one of a number of fungi. Mr. Munk continues. And each fungus eventually produces a cone or a shelf on the branch or trunk that is rotten.

If you look carefully you may see white, yellow, red, or brown shelf-like objects on the side of the tree. This could mean that heart rot is disintegrating the inside of the wood.

And with September and early October may come some of the devastating hurricanes that hit us every year or so.

Bellboy Gridders Flashing 'Vacancy' Signs

by Ken Moore

In spite of losses of key personnel through last June's graduation, Bellboy grid coach Rocco Cafone expects to draw on a small crew of experienced players to form the backbone of this fall's blue and gold football squad.

At the same time, said Cafone, he's looking for new talent to fill the open spots and emphasized that no player has a position "sewed up" this early in the season.

Practice began for the 1973 version of the Bellboy machine last Saturday, and double sessions have been conducted throughout this week. A full complement of 130 boys are vying for positions, and another 50 are freshman candidates, making the field as large as any previous year.

Cafone's biggest problem right now is the rebuilding of the squad after the graduation of 18 seniors, many of them starters on the team which posted a .500 record last season. The head coach said he has a lot of talent from which to choose. "In every area, we're going to have boys with experience to rely upon," he said.

The grid schedule for 1973 will be identical to last year's, with the squad traveling to West Essex for the opener on Saturday, Sept. 22.

Captains for this fall's crew are Joe Napolitano, Joe Cancelliere and George Mango (in the position of game captain, a rotating spot to be filled weekly on the basis of merit).

Cafone said he has a lot of open positions and is looking hard for candidates to fill them. "We go on the premise that every position is open," he said, "and we'll play everybody during the scrimmages. We want to give each kid a fair shot and see what he has to offer." The head coach will be watching his hopefuls during scrimmages with Pequannock, Essex Catholic and Barringer High Schools.

Cafone's offensive strategy this season will not vary greatly from his slot-T of last year. "We've found, while attending coaches' clinics over the summer," said Cafone, "that the talk seemed to be going back to sound football. A lot of the fads and fancies that some coaches tried last year didn't bring results, possibly because they weren't geared to high school football."

The Bellboys will be working from the slot-T, but the effectiveness of their aerial attack can't be determined until a quarterback is selected. Candidates for the spot include Bill Telesco, a senior, Jim Di Modica and possibly Joe Cancelliere, who played the position in last year's West Essex game, while Telesco handled the bulk of the chores.

Phil Cuzzi and Joe Troise won't be back in the Bellboys attacking unit this year and among those Cafone is looking at to replace the fullback and wingback are Anthony Nicosia, a junior, Steve Senatore, who will also play at defensive end.

The offensive line, hurt by the loss of Sam Venezia, Charles Cerami, Alan Frank, Bob Luongo and Frank Pasidero, will be bolstered by the return of George Mango, Paul Iannia, Mark Cozenza and Vin Lipoma, the last two possibly at the end positions.

Belleville's vaunted defense, which last season gave up no more than a one-touchdown margin of victory to any opponent will have to withstand the loss of linebacker Bob Luongo, now playing for Harvard University, Michael Marra, John Ciarella and Frank Papsidero. In the secondary, the graduation of Brian Banda, Ron Borgo and Robert De Lorenzo will open holes, as will the loss of defensive end Mike Ritacco.

Expected to move into linebacker spots are Joe Cancelliere and Vinnie Di Notaris, who may also play safety on occasion. In the defensive secondary will be Gerald Giordani, another returning letterman.

Another graduate is kicker Mike Sbarra, whose talents as punter and kickoff man will have to be replaced. Other graduates include Joe Ross, Perry Troina, Neil Simone, George Pedalino and Gerald Frunzi. Senior Alex Russoniello is expected to assume part of the duties on the specialty units. Captain Joe Napolitano most likely will retain his position in the backfield.

Besides Cafone, this season's coaching staff includes: Nick Grande, offensive line coach, Joe D'Ambola, defensive line coach, Tony Sorrentino, defensive secondary coach, Mike

Cafone said he has been unable to replace Jim Steele as sophomore coach, a situation which will hurt other units as men are shuffled around to cover the unit.

Like last year's team, one of the factors working against the 1973 version of the Bellboys will be size, although this squad seems a little bigger than last season's. "Belleville's not noted for huge size," said Cafone, "but we make up for that with an aggressive attitude." He said the advantage which led to last year's defensive prowess was speed, and that unit was ranked second in the county behind Barringer, allowing an average of only four points per game. Otherwise, said Cafone, "when we went against a team our size, we took them apart."

Looking ahead to this season, Cafone stated, "A lot will depend on whether the fellows who performed last year can perform again and if we can fill the vacancies created by those who graduated."

The Bellboy gridgers were out on the field Saturday and practice included "controlled hitting." Early practice sessions stressed conditioning and reaction drills. Though Cafone started off with double sessions, he said "we're going on the premise each kid is not yet in shape, so we don't punish anyone with really tough sessions."

COACH Nick Grande, who will supervise the offensive line unit, checks the fit of a helmet on Larry Macchia.

CYO Summer Camp Finishes

The Essex County CYO's annual eight-week Summer Day Camp came to a close last week at Mueller's Park in Oakland, and Camp Director John Bradshaw announced names of the Campers of the Year, and the Most Valuable Players in each of the 21 groups.

LAST STAGE of the issuing of equipment was the dispensing of mouthguards and the signups for insurance, both important items. Phil Agosta and Anthony Tomaselli handle the work while coach Tony Sorrentino looks on.

CHECKING THE FIT — Vito Guarino and John Valvano try on their football cleats. Their haircuts, obtained with a number of other Bellboy, are compliments of Park Avenue Hairstylists in Nutley.

Ice Champs

AT LAKE PLACID: Pamela Ann, 12 and John Morello Jr., 10, received bronze medals in the special relations event on August 9 and 10. They are both members of the South Mountain Figure Skating Club and the United States Figure Skating Association.

BELLBOY MENTOR Rocco Cafone takes his charges through their paces during the second day of practice. Cafone said early practices will stress conditioning and reaction drills, along with all fundamentals.

"HOW'S IT FEEL?" — Frosh coach John Senesky checks the shoulder pads of varsity candidate Vinnie Casale.

A good joke will turn up in a variety of forms for many years.

We think well of summer weather but we've had enough of it.

Hint to adults; kind words to children pay dividends for many years.

Will your monthly
checking statement
arrive at the same time
when National Newark
& Essex Bank changes its name to Midlantic?

Our
Terri Carrino
says yes.

If you always receive your monthly statement on a particular date each month, you'll still receive it on the same date.
And it will still have your same account number on it.
The October 1st change to the new name
— Midlantic National Bank — is the only change.
And if you make out a check payable to us, but you make it out to National Newark &
Essex instead of to our new name, Midlantic
National Bank, don't worry. It will be honored and appear on your monthly statement, just as it always has.
After all, the only change is the name.
The people are the same. The hours are the same. Your account number is the same.
When we do make innovations, they'll be to improve our service rather than merely change it.

Belleville Professor Aids Canadian Project

Ministry of Education. He also presented several papers at the recent 21st convention of the National Science Teachers Association in Detroit. His three media oriented presentations were on various aspects of elementary school science. He also served as an invited consultant at two sessions of the Council for Elementary School Science International. At another meeting, Prof. Batoff presented a "multi-image happening" at the annual spring meeting of the New Jersey Association of

Teacher Educators in West Long Branch. His topic: "So What's New Charlie Brown?...Two Really New In-Service Teacher Education Practices, Lucy". Several of Prof. Batoff's articles dealing with science, philosophy of science and techniques for elementary school teachers have been published in recent issues of "The Australian Science Teachers Journal," "Educational Perspectives," (University of Hawaii); "The Crucible," (Science and Children).
