

Xmas Lights Won't Twinkle On the Avenue

The Chamber of Commerce, in order to do its part to ease the energy crisis, has decided to leave the Christmas lights on Washington Avenue unlit during the holiday season.

The Chamber had originally decided to light the 14 artificial trees mounted on streetlamps on Washington Avenue from December 10 to December 26. That in itself was a cutback from last year, which saw 22 trees lit from Thanksgiving until after New Year. But after President Nixon gave his address on the energy crisis three weeks ago, the Chamber met and decided to dim all the lights.

Likewise, at Town Hall,

Commissioner Michael Marotti said decorations have been hung, but no lights will burn there either. The lights are already attached to the decorations, which include 13 wreaths.

French said there wouldn't be a lot of electricity saved by the lighting cutback, "but we called all the other chambers in the area and they're all doing the same thing. Like us, many had put the decorations up and then decided to keep the lights turned off."

French said the total cost of the Chamber's holiday celebrations, including the traditional Santa Claus parade, was about $3,000.

Schoolers Agree On Bond Plans

The Board of Education unanimously agreed Monday night to formulate plans for a bond referendum next year on maintenance and repairs to all schools in the system, it was announced by Board President Lawrence Schwartz.

Schwartz added any decision to seek a bond for an addition to the high school building will be deferred until Town voters can be surveyed on the question. Tentative plans for an addition recently came under fire from some Board members and a segment of the public, causing the Board as a whole to unite behind the more limited objective of overhauling the system's physical plant.

A citizens' committee is expected to be appointed within two weeks to interview three architects under consideration by the Board. The committee will recommend one of the three to the Board, though their decision will not be binding on the trustees.

Schwartz said the committee will review the architects only for qualifications to draw maintenance plans for the system, "but we'd like them to keep in mind the architects' overall qualifications."

The president said the committee will meet as soon as possible, and the architect will hopefully be selected by the beginning of 1974. The town-wide survey, he said, would be conducted in mid-January and the referendum may be ready for late summer or early fall.

The maintenance and repair involved in the prospective bonding includes extensive electrical work all elementary schools and the Junior High School, along with installation of quality lighting to nearly every school. "Speaking for myself and for the unanimous Board," said Schwartz, "we must have a referendum for maintenance and repairs in this town. I think it's absolutely and obviously necessary. Anyone who has been in the elementary schools and the Junior High School knows the problems we have in physical plant in these schools."

He added that after exact plans have been formulated and cost information obtained, he would like the School Board to meet with the Commissioners to discuss the bond referendum.

Golden Comments

By James R. Golden

Well, at long last, they have finally marshalled the town's street cleaning forces in a bold frontal attack upon the mountains of leaves that have filled our streets during the Fall season. The delay fortunately did not result in any serious disasters, but it would appear that a more planned approach to combat this invasion would have been in order. Let's hope next season, we will not be plagued by this evidence of indifference to the problem of getting rid of the leaves. Many, many concerned residents called town hall in an effort to get the town to take responsible action to clean up the mess.

Proposes Housing Authority

Rent Board Avoids Controls; Explores Subsidies for Elderly

The Rent Advisory Committee appointed by Belleville Commissioners to study the need for rent control here has largely avoided the question of a rent leveling ordinance. Instead they are checking the possibility of having the Federal government subsidize the rents of senior citizens living on fixed incomes in Belleville apartments.

In a report submitted to the Board of Commissioners in late November, the five-member panel estimated 85 percent of the complaints from local renters were from senior citizens on fixed incomes who are unable to absorb sizable rent increases.

Committee chairman Edward Mahler said this week the panel is still studying aspects of the rent situation, but have not devoted a major portion of their efforts to devising a rent-leveling law for Belleville. The sense of the committee is that such an ordinance is unenforceable and may not be necessary here.

"The tenants who have complained to us are not complaining that the rents are unfair. They're saying they can't pay them. The big preponderance of these tenants are senior citizens on fixed incomes," said Mahler.

Mahler said members of the panel feel if the situation of these elderly renters can be eased, "that will knock out a big portion of the problem."

Committee member Daniel Del Tufo came up with the idea to seek a subsidy program from the Federal government, which would allow a tenant to pay a set figure on a given apartment, and any sum above that figure would be paid by the Federal government.

Before such a program can be initiated, however, Belleville must establish a housing authority, and the committee report recommended the Board of Commissioners explore the mechanics of creating that authority.

Meanwhile, the committee secretary Marion Malcolm is gathering information from municipalities such as Fort Lee and Long Branch, which are said to have implemented similar programs.

As for the idea of setting rent guidelines in Belleville, the panel is much cooler. Expressing a personal opinion, Mahler said, "How can we control rents charged by landlords when we can't control other factors, such as the cost of their heating oil, the cost of their gas and the cost of their taxes?"

He added the panel has checked with other municipalities to see how some examples of rent control are working, "but these other towns are feeling their way, too. Some have laws on the books but have exempted one, two and three-family houses. This way they're only penalizing the landlords of multi-family dwellings."

Besides complaints from senior citizens, stated Mahler, "every now and then we get complaints from tenants of two-family houses. What happens in these houses is that people buy them and in order to pay off the mortgage, they have to charge higher rents. They're passing some of the increase off to the tenants. That's one of the hard facts of life."

Senior's Letter Tells the Story

(The following is an excerpt from a letter received by the Rent Advisory Committee. Written by a senior citizen tenant, the letter illustrates the pressure felt by those who are caught between a fixed income and a rising rent bill. At the request of the Rent Committee, the Times has taken steps to insure the anonymity of the author. — Ed. Note)

Mr. Mahler also mentioned there might be a subsidy for senior citizens who rent - in the next few months. This would be good, but is indeed beside the point when it comes to the rent we are paying - for less service. I have been in this apartment for seven years this month, and we have had more vacant apartments within the past four months or so, than we ever had before, so perhaps as Mr. Mahler mentioned, supply and demand will help some in adjusting the rents here. I know for a fact that the four room apartments are now renting for $220.00 a month - my lease is for $230.00 a month, and doesn't run out until next May. But I also know that prospective tenants when looking at the four room apartment feel that $220.00 is too much for the small rooms we have. The rumor is that the three room apartments are renting for $190.00 - the rooms also too small for asking such rent.

The neighboring new apartments are getting more rent - but one must remember some of them get wall to wall carpet, air-condition, all new appliances, one even has a swimming pool, also garage - so we shouldn't be expected to pay that rent for an older

Storing Gas for Future? Don't Do It, Say Firemen

The explosive power of one gallon of gasoline is equivalent to 14 sticks of dynamite. Improperly used or stored it can become a potential liquid bomb.

Those were the hard facts cited by Deputy Fire Chief William Fabian this week as he issued a stern warning to all residents who may be considering illegal storage of gasoline.

"With gasoline rationing in the offing, you may feel tempted to put aside or store a supply in your cellar, garage, car or shed or on your property. Think of the consequences to your life, family and home or place of business. A spark, a leak, an accident or just plain mischief by a young child of the neighborhood can set off a real holocaust in your home, car or shop.

"Is your life or the lives of your family or neighbors worth the gamble of a few extra miles in the family car or an extra business trip for your truck?"

Deputy Chief Fabian said Town ordinances allow the storage of only one gallon of gasoline in a home, kept in a spring-closing cap with a spout cover; no more than five gallons in a garage and no more than 10 gallons in a backyard without a permit and installation of an underground tank.

The Fire Department has issued a request to all service stations in Belleville to dispense no gasoline into storage cans other than station-owned cans and for emergency purposes only.

Fire Captain Edward Dunleavy also noted many Bellevilleites may attempt to use fireplace heating this winter, and he urged a careful inspection of a fireplace by a competent carpenter or mason before any fires are built. Also, he said, proper equipment should be at hand, especially a spark-resistant screen, and only slow-burning logs should be used as fuel.

Many fireplaces in Belleville homes, said Dunleavy, have been constructed with floor timbers left close to the hearth.

To Zoning Board

Goodyear Fight May Come Back

by Ken Moore

Lawyers for opposing parties in the Goodyear variance controversy this week reached a tentative agreement to send the matter back to the Belleville Board of Adjustment.

If the agreement meets with the approval of Superior Court Judge Nicholas Scalera, the zoners will reconsider the appeal by Thomas Fahmie of Bloomfield to erect a Goodyear Tire outlet at 9 Washington Avenue, on the Corner of Washington and William Street. After the Zoning Board and the Town Commission passed the variance, both in split votes, a group of service station owners and managers, along with other businessmen, filed suit against the variance grant in Superior Court last October.

Judge Scalera did not rule on any of the issues brought up by the opposing attorneys, and is expected only to sign a consent order approving an agreement by the lawyers to take the question back to the Zoning Board for rehearing.

Named as defendants in the station owners' suit were the Board of Adjustment, the Board of Commissioners, Zoning Board Chairman Arthur DeFuria and Fahmie. The owners' attorney, Hank Catenacci of the firm of Podvey, Sachs and Kaltenbacher in Newark argued that insufficient evidence was presented to justify the granting of the variance.

When the case is returned to the Zoning Board, two principal members will not sit to hear it. Chairman DeFuria has been accused of a conflict of interest in the case because he is a first cousin of Fahmie's lawyer, Robert Gaccione. DeFuria reportedly will not sit for any more cases presented by Gaccione's firm.

While DeFuria had voted in favor of the variance, Zoning Board member Anthony Agresta opposed it. Agresta, whose reappointment was turned down in a 3-2 vote by the Commission last October, has announced he will not continue to sit on zoning cases although he is permitted to do so until another member is appointed in his place.

Richard Florentine, chief organizer of the service station owners' group which opposes the variance said this week the group was heartened by the prospect of a rehearing. While the group has contended Goodyear employs unfair business tactics, Florentine said, "we're definitely going to fight it to the end. We have no choice. We hope the Commissioners will understand that it's mighty rough to stay in this business under normal conditions, let alone with Goodyear in here. Under the circumstances, feel the Town Commissioners will be putting us right on the spot if they let the other fellow in and force us out."

Kidde Co. Workers Return

Six hundred workers ended an eight-week strike at Walter Kidde and Co. Monday when they voted to accept a three-year contract arranged by a Federal mediator.

After voting 531-67, members of Local 147 of the United Auto Workers returned to the job with a ten percent across-the-board wage increase and a new retirement plan providing pensions for 30-year workers who can now retire at 56.

Also included was a language change in the grievance procedure which will provide for mutual selection of arbitrators by labor and management.

Union officials had hoped for a more favorable settlement, but said pressures from the current energy crisis and the Christmas season had undercut the union's bargaining power.

Though some workers were back at work Tuesday, the plant is not expected to be at full strength for two weeks.

School Cuts 'Hair' As Next Senior Play

The Belleville High School senior class will not produce "Hair" as its mid-January production, as was recently announced.

Belleville High Principal Raymond O. Smith and senior class advisor Brian Rafferty mutually decided to replace the rock musical with an original satirical review after it was found the controversial Broadway show could not be tailored to suit the presumed moral mood of Belleville.

Another factor, said Smith, was the expense involved, which could have amounted to a cost of nearly $1,500 in royalties for the show and musical arrangements.

The students themselves are reportedly happier with the choice of the satire, "School Days," which was written by Rafferty in collaboration with members of the senior class. "I think they're happier with 'School Days' because it's their own," said Rafferty. "It's an original play and they had a hand in its writing."

The new play is a satirical variety show which recounts the incidents which occur in a fictitious high school.

Since no royalties need be paid for the production, and because the students participate in its creation, Smith said it's hoped an original variety show will become a tradition at Belleville High School.

Proceeds from the play are used to finance senior activities.

Human nature encourages individuals to find an excuse for what they happen to desire.

They met in a rather round-about way. Some of the young men were taking music lessons from Louis Pastore of Lyndhurst, who was known for his association with the Big Bands of the 40's and 50's. Mr. Pastore is now deceased, but the "Imperials 5" credit his training with their success.

As part of their entertainment, the "Imperials 5" also imitate such well knowns as Santana, Chicago, 3 Dog Night and Carol King, as well as a rollicking rendition of "Boogie Woogie Bugle Boy of Company B". Locally, they have appeared at The Fountain, Parillo's and the B.P.O. Elks 1123.

Vincent Turturiello (tenor sax, clarinet and flute) is the son of George and Hilda. Vin has a brother George, who manages a weight lifting school. Vin attended School Three, BJHS and graduated from BHS in June 1973. He is attending Jersey City State College, majoring in music. He hopes to become a professional performer or a music teacher. His other interests include basketball and karate.

Gary Carnevale (singer and trumpet) is the son of Gerard and Rosemary. His sister Maria is a 5th grade student at School Seven. His brother Frank, attends college. Gary likes to collect old records, and now a senior at BHS, he plans to try out for the All State Musicians, and attend Jersey City State as a music-major. Gary says his dad is the best shoe repairman on the east coast.

John Garoflo, (alto sax, clarinet and organ) comes from a musical family. He is the son of Jean and John. He has three sisters, Linda, Beverly and Mary. Brother Ronnie plays the trumpet and "Little" Bob, 8, plays the drums. John is a sophomore at Lyndhurst High and plans to attend electrician school. Presently he helps his dad remodel homes. John has been playing music since the third grade and enjoys working on cars.

Jim Haraka, a senior in Clifton High School, is interested in aviation. He plays the drums with the group and is Sergeant of the Drum Band with the School Marching Band. He is the son of James and Rita and has three brothers - Ronald, John and Robert and a sister, Linda.

Bill Colatskie plays the accordion. The son of Mike and Ann, Bill plans to become a dentist; his father is a dental technician. A senior at Passaic Collegiate School, Bill enjoys flying and had his first solo this past summer. He has a brother, Ronald who plays the clarinet.

Musicians and staff will join Henry Lewis, music director, and guest artist Alexis Weissenberg, in an informal gathering hosted by the Montclair Chapter of the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra League.

Alexis Weissenberg, a pianist critically acclaimed as a classical superstar of the age, will play the Rachmaninoff "Piano Concerto No. 2" with the orchestra. Also included on the program are the Sibelius "Symphony No. 7" and Liszt's Mephisto Waltz.

Football Savagery

Those who want to find out what the life of a professional football player is like, and what the game is really like, are offered a shocking indictment currently in the form of a novel by Peter Gent, a former footballer, "North Dallas Forty." American life has become so full of violence in recent decades that violence and brutality of football are too often taken for granted. Yet hundreds and thousands of permanent injuries occur on football fields every year-and, tragically, many involve high school and college students.

Pro football is the worst. Drugs, pain killers, brutality, vindictiveness, violence on a scale surpassing the slightest resemblance of true sport, is usually present. Fans come to watch the violence as they did once in Rome and coaches talk of their "troups" and "manpower" and "reserves" and the size of players, their toughness, roughness, etc.

Of course, the game is exciting, and the teamwork and team play interesting and imaginative. But some of the glamour is rightly removed from this shiny image by Gent's book.

Tobacco Addicts

The American Journal of Public Health has published the result of a recently-completed poll of public health nurses concerning cigarette sucking. The poll showed an overwhelming majority of nurses questioned thought they should refrain from smoking in public — as a good example for patients.

Other polls have found a surprisingly large percentage of those asked objecting to having to breath dirty, exhaled air of cigarette addicts. This is forced on non-smokers in many public gathering places, buses, trains, aircraft, etc.

Further polls have shown most men prefer women who do not smoke. (How can one reconcile a hacking cigarette cough, brown teeth and brown fingers with beauty or feminine charm?) Even more damning is the accumulating mountain of medical evidence in the last ten years which has proven cigarette sucking often kills its victims, and among pregnant mothers damages the health of babies!

Aside from being dirty, harmful to clothes, annoying to many, expensive, and thus thoroughly stupid, cigarette sucking is dangerous to one's health.

Writer Urges Non-Partisan School Hiring

To the Editor:

The recent announcement by the president of the Belleville Board of Education that voter approval will be sought for a multi-million dollar bond issue to cover major construction and renovations should, hopefully, bring about some serious discussion in our community.

There is no question in my mind that the educational system in Belleville, for some time, has left a lot to be desired. I do not think that any reasonable person will dispute the fact that facilities which are in poor condition or overcrowded, which is certainly the case in the Junior High School, can be conducive to quality education. However, in view of recent surveys by groups concerned with education which indicated a decline in enrollment in coming years, serious thought should be given to any expansion of facilities. Scare talk that expansion of facilities would lead to forced bussing serves no useful purpose and should not be allowed to interfere with discussion of the main issue, namely, how do we get a quality education system in Belleville? As far as I am concerned the problem of having a quality educational system in Belleville is not related mainly to the physical condition of the facilities. Rather, it is because of political influences and pressures which are exerted in many areas of the educational administration. When personnel, both administrative and teaching are hired not because of their qualifications or ability but because of how much political influence they have, then the goal of quality education can never be achieved! The same thing applies when personnel within the system are promoted for the same reasons.

I personally am aware of many fine professional people in the Belleville system who, if allowed to operate without political pressures, could be very instrumental in bringing quality education to Belleville. It is time for these people of Belleville to insist that their Superintendent of Schools, principals and teachers, be freed of such political influence and be allowed to perform in a manner which will have as its goal a quality education for every Belleville student. By the same token, the professional people should insist on this right their noble profession demands nothing less.

In a few months we will have an opportunity to elect some new people to the Board of Education. It is my hope that the people of Belleville will search out those who are qualified to serve and really work to get them elected. Otherwise, those who are merely pawns of the political power brokers in this town will again be elected and the goal of true quality education will suffer another setback.

Comet'

Sky watchers are being offered a rare sight in the night skies the end of this year and in January. By the third week of the month the comet Kohoutek will be visible in the November sky and will increase in brilliance until Christmas.

By then, it will be visible as bright as a moon at dawn, with a long tail, thus offering a specially decorated sky for the major ecclesiastical event of the year.

The comet is now headed toward the sun, will be only 13 million miles away at Christmas time (coming from hundreds of millions of miles out in the solar system); it will then pass within 75 million miles of the earth on January 5th, when it will again be visible to the naked eye.

Antibiotics

Two articles in the American Medical Association Journal recently, written by doctors, warn that too many physicians prescribe antibiotics to patients as an easy way to kill infections.

Antibiotics, however, are themselves often harmful. They should never be taken regularly. They are, moreover, often ineffective because the wrong antibiotic is prescribed, or the wrong dose.

Experts estimate the average American has need for an antibiotic only once in every five years; in other cases, other medication and treatment is preferable. Those who seek or take antibiotics too often or regularly, risk a toxic reaction or the loss of the antibiotic's curative power.

Imhoff Thanks Craig Funders For Addition

To the Editor:

Recently, I, Dewey Imhoff, a recipient of the Craig Fund, was presented with a key to a new addition to my home by the Board of Directors of the fund. As a disabled person, I greatly appreciate what this additional room stands for, as it gives me reasonable self-sufficiency in my daily way of living and benefits the environment of my family. The construction of this addition was brought about by the efforts of the Board of Directors, the fund workers and the generosity of the people of Belleville.

Other recipients of the fund are Craig Fabian, Joe Restaino, and Bill Greco. On behalf of myself and the other recipients, I wish the fund great success in their current holiday drive, and a happy holiday season to all.

Sincerely
G. Dewey Imhoff

Editor Emeritus of the Newark News Alumni Ass'n. has announced the 2nd Annual Holiday Reunion of the Newark News Alumni Ass'n. will be held at the Carriage Trade located at 88 Evergreen Place, East Orange, N.J. on Fri. Dec. 7. This group consists of many old time reporters of the now defunct Newark News, that so long covered this area with authentic news coverage of this section and the world.

Mr. McMenimen states over 305 participants are members of this elite group coming from 18 states, England, France, The District of Columbia, Guam and Peru.

Mr. McMenimen is a former State Editor of the now out-of-business publication. He has been joined by hundreds of former newsmen, reporters, copywriters, pressmen, circulation and management officials and editorial executives have joined.

A periodic newsletter is published and mailed to members to help keep them informed of the new jobs and achievements of their former colleagues. Also, the association has scheduled this gala reunion dinner dance and are looking for "lost" Alumni.

This writer is most grateful to John J. Bunevich, managing editor of the Nutley Sun, who reviews all of my copy, for his generous cooperation in assisting in "digging-up" old copy to forward to my old acquaintances of the Newark News of my tender regard for their job well done. Thanks John, it is appreciated.

Gov.-elect Brendan T. Byrne, in the eyes of N.J.'s leading paper, The Star Ledger, is charged with "highly disturbing indecisiveness" or withholding his backing for sports authority bonds. Editorially, it ties the new Governor to sein with Monmouth Park racing interests, among them David T. Wilentz, a Middlesex political power who backed Byrne's candidacy and whose law firm represented Monmouth Park in its fight against the constitutionality of the sports authority bonds.

The Star-Ledger says Mr. Byrne should support the sports complex - and not bow to the self-interested pressures. Calling it a crucial decision that could have far-reaching adverse impact on his incumbency, even before the takes the oath of office.

A study finds a housewife puts in many hours and that woman's work is never done...Despite the many time saving devices available to today's wife, a recent study shows she works as many hours as her grandmother at housekeeping chores.

Full-time homemaking still takes 53 hours a week based upon findings that apply to women who do not work outside the home. For the modern working wife the average time spent in household tasks is about half that of the unemployed wife.

Women, today, the survey shows are doing a better job in keeping better houses with more clothes washed, more often, and her shopping time and traveling consumes more time than ever before. Today's lady of the house spends more time driving the car to go shopping or taking children to school or recreation than ever before. Do don't you bad male chauvinists think the little lady of the house isn't doing her share to the cause. She definitely is. Just how well do you think you could do without her? Be honest. Answer truthfully, even if it hurts.

Lois Gingerelli Thanks Voters

To The Editor and Voters of the Twenty-Seventh District:

The results are in. New Jersey voters have selected. The elected Assemblymen begin their jobs. I must take this time at the present to thank all of the constituents who evidenced confidence and support in my behalf. Even though I have not been chosen to represent, please rest assured that my introduction to politics, mainly this past campaign, has strengthened my conviction to serve; and it has educated me politically. I intend to remain involved and continue working in the coming two years, so that in the next election you will once more have me before you to consider and to hopefully-select.

Yours most sincerely,

Environmentalists Were Warning Energy Crisis Since The '60's

David F. Moore

N.J. Conservation Foundation

THIS ENERGY "crisis" we're having really is the premature birth of something which a lot of environmentalists have been publicizing in every way we could since the mid '60's. Regardless of whether or not the birth of the so-called crisis was hastened by the lack of attention of the oil and other energy industries, it's here and we are going to have to live with it.

So, forgetting that we've been preaching that the world's supply of fossil fuels is going to run out someday and shouldn't continue to be used with that carefree American "there's no tomorrow" attitude, let's face up to the current crisis.

LET'S TAKE the oil company statistics as unbiased, even though we know it's to their advantage to cut off environmentally based restrictions on their activities. Let's even forget that the Alaskan pipeline will make it easier to sell our Alaskan oil to Japan, whereas a Canadian pipeline routing would deliver the northern crude to the eastern United States without necessitating any deepwater oil ports hereabouts.

Now let's address ourselves to saving energy. In doing so, we must remember that the word "energy" likely as not means electricity, and that over 90 per cent of our electricity comes from fossil fuels.

INITIALLY, let's scan the energy-saving suggestions which are being formalized, or soon will be. They include lowered speed limits (good), lowered thermostat settings (good), rationing (acceptable) and a gigantic tax on gasoline (lousy). The first three are perfectly valid and will result in a slight saving of fuel, even though it verges on mere tokenism when taken in the overall context. The last one, a big tax on gasoline, would penalize the poor and help the well to do.

It also seems immoral for the government to profit by a shortage, unless such a tax were dedicated to control energy consumption in some way.

IF WE WANT to use taxes to save energy, how about taxing horsepower in automobiles? Like a $1,000 tax on a big, gas-gulping hulk of Detroit iron, but only $10 on a small, economy car? Then there's electricity. We've been coached so long to live better electrically that few realize what inequities exist in that sector. There should be a restructuring of electricity costs. As it is now, the big wasteful user pays only a fraction as much per kilowatt hour as the poor soul with a five-room house. I'm thinking of places like New York's World Trade Center, which is said to use as much electricity as Syracuse, New York, and can't turn off its lights at night.

THERE SHOULD be requirements that new construction of any kind have adequate insulation to cut winter heating, and windows which open in order to make summertime air conditioning less necessary, along with the maximization of solar energy for light and heat. Our whole process of land subdivision and construction has been terrifically wasteful from both an energy and land use standpoint.

AND SPEAKING of building construction, let's ponder aluminum for a minute. It's popular for building, but being a metal it transmits heat a lot faster than wood, or most other

Energy Pinch Getting Worse, Say Public Service Officials

Public Service Electric and Gas Company warned today that the energy situation has worsened and it urged a more intensive effort to conserve electricity and gas.

"The situation is especially serious on the East Coast because of the oil boycott by the Arab countries," said Edward R. Eberle, chairman of the board of PSE&G. "Recent discussions with federal officials indicate that those who have adequate supplies, or the promise of supplies, will have to share what they get with those who do not have enough. This government policy of the 'haves' helping the 'have-nots' means our company may have to share oil that we were counting on to fuel our electric generating stations throughout the winter."

The oil shortage was also impairing PSE&G's ability to manufacture gas to make up for curtailments by pipeline companies in natural gas supplies, Eberle said. In addition, Eberle indicated, government "red tape" threatened the loss of a large contract to import liquefied natural gas from Algeria beginning in the winter of 1975-76.

PSE&G signed a contract with Sonatrach, the national gas and oil agency of Algeria, in May, 1972, in conjunction with Algonquin Gas Transmission Company of Boston, Mass., to import 4.2-trillion cubic feet of gas over a 22-year period. Plans call for 65 per cent of this gas to come into New Jersey. PSE&G will receive 45 per cent and the remaining 20 per cent will be passed along to the three other gas utilities in the state — Elizabethtown Gas Company, New Jersey Natural Gas Company, and South Jersey Gas Company.

"We filed for a permit to import this gas in August of 1972 and hearings were not scheduled by the Federal Power Commission until September of 1973," said Eberle. "Recent indications are, however, that the FPC will not act on this application until early next year. If approval is not received by the end of this year, the contract can be cancelled by Algeria. This is a distinct possibility."

Lack of permits is also holding up other gas and oil supplies for this winter, Eberle indicated. While underscoring the seriousness of the energy situation, Eberle announced that PSE&G is stepping up its campaign to conserve energy.

He urged customers to use Christmas lighting sparingly, if at all. "Lighting generally should be used only when absolutely necessary," said Eberle. "Any curtailment in the use of electricity or gas, no matter how small, should be made. The situation on the East Coast is that serious."

Eberle said that in response to a request by William Ozard, president of the New Jersey Board of Public Utility Commissioners, approximately 1,000 of PSE&G's largest customers will be visited by utility personnel to discuss energy conservation plans and urge cooperation.

In addition, Eberle said, industrial and commercial customers will be mailed conservation suggestions and help will be offered if additional information is required. Energy conservation centers to provide information for residential customers will be established in all PSE&G commercial offices, he said.

He urged support of year-round daylight saving time and cooperation with all government and private agencies which are promoting energy conservation.

Eberle also suggested that customers who own gas lights turn them off unless they are being used for safety or security.

Rep. Minish Hails House Action On His Daylight Savings Measure

Congressman Joseph G. Minish, 11th District - New Jersey, has hailed House passage of year round daylight saving time legislation.

Minish is a longtime advocate and sponsor of the daylight saving time bill, which cleared the House November 27 by a vote of 311 to 88.

During debate on the measure, Minish argued that year round daylight saving time "will save precious energy, it will reduce crime, and it will promote traffic safety."

"Most importantly,"

Minish said, "in view of our present energy emergency, year round daylight saving time represents an important step in the national effort to alleviate the energy shortage."

Holiday Toll Lung Stats Are Grim

The "12 days of Christmas" are normally a joyous time of year. But not for the millions of Americans who suffer from lung disease.

Frank C. Pesveye of Satterthwaite Avenue, Nutley, who is a board member of the Essex Northwest TB-Respiratory Disease League, revealed some sobering statistics covering the traditional 12 days of Christmas, which are the theme of this year's Christmas Seal.

Pesveye said startling figures were reported at last week's League Board meeting. By scaling down the figures from yearly estimates, the Board predicted there will be 19,300 new cases of chronic bronchitis and emphysema in this country from December 25 to Epiphany, January 6, which commemorates the arrival of the Magi into Jerusalem. These diseases will cause 900 deaths during the same holiday season.

Despite a steady decline over the years, there will be 1,080 new cases of tuberculosis and about 1,500 deaths during the 12-day period.

All Prices Effective thru Sat., Dec. 8 only.

Imperiale Asks Senate 'Courtesy'

State Senator-elect Anthony Imperiale (Ind. - 30th District) rephrased his fellow legislators today and urged them to "carefully assess the purpose for which you have been elected" when deciding on the question of senatorial courtesy.

Imperiale's remarks came in response to senate discussion on Monday on revision of the "courtesy" practice which allows individual legislators approval or rejection of gubernatorial appointments in their counties.

A new problem was created this year since legislative districts were altered and county lines were crossed for the first time, establishing representatives who are now responsible for parts of more than one state county.

Imperiale, the only independent in the upper house, represents voters in parts of both Essex and Hudson and wants "to provide the fairest, most equitable stand for the people in my district and the entire state."

Although some ideas have been expressed to restructure the courtesy procedure either on county or district lines, Imperiale has indicated no preference for either suggestion.

"It's about time that all government officials, elected along partisan principles, abandon the short-sided practice of party loyalty priority and re-establish the needs of the citizenry as the number one consideration," stated Imperiale.

"I do not view my office as one which should yield to the dictates of party pressures or selfish interest, nor do I base my legislative opinions on the affect it will have on partisan control," continued Imperiale. "I act on the belief that an issue is either beneficial to my constituents, or it is not. I was elected to serve the people, not the party."

Let's start the day right by wishing Happy Birthday to Hank Steele. December 6th is the date, and Hank is with TNJ and an officer at American Legion Post 105, hope this year will be tremendous, Hank.

Mrs. Patrick John Lee, president, Essex County American Legion Auxiliary, reminds all units in Essex County that the Department President, Mrs. William Huggard, will be the honored guest at the regular business meeting December 13th at Nutley Post 70, 45 Franklin Ave. Nutley. You are also reminded that this year, before the regular business meeting, a covered dish supper will be held at 6:30. Members are requested to bring a $2 gift for Santa's grab bag.

The Retired Men's Club of Belleville had a Christmas dinner on December 5 at the Rev. Mr. Memorial Presbyterian Church. This is their 18th annual party and again, the women of the Church did the cooking. Andrew Dougal is president of the club and entertainment was provided by Jim Desmond of Wadsworth, which was accordianist Charles Dauber of Philadelphia. Jim has been playing Santa to the Retired Men's Club since 1967, following in the footsteps of Doug Wadsworth.

Unit 105 American Legion Auxiliary will hold their Christmas party at the Post Home, Washington Avenue this evening. President of the group, Joan Laib, says some big doings are planned for the Unit in 1974, so watch your local paper.

DOT'S A LOTTA BULL

...maybe a misleading title, but Scholastic International is arranging a trip to Spain and Bill Hollis, Spanish teacher at Belleville Junior High, is looking for interested students to join the party. The party will be held during the Easter vacation, leaving April 12th, flying to Madrid. Yes, a trip to a bull fight is planned, as are visits to religious and cultural centers. The students must be in grade eight or above and will be well-chaperoned. Sounds like fun...if interested, contact Mr. Hollis at BJHS.

Muscara Music - Piano and Organ Department is now owned by Ed Godfrey and his wife, June. The couple plan to expand the organ and piano department which features such brand names as Lowrey and Gulbrandsen organs, and Kawai, Story & Clark pianos.

When they took over the business in September they had 42 students and now have 180. There are eight teaching studios and each student is given individual instructions.

Ed has been in the music business the past 15 years and not only plays the piano and organ, but can instruct as well. Another interesting change is now featuring a large sheet music department, which includes player piano rolls and sheet music supplied to many schools. Their motto says Ed: "If we haven't got it, we'll order it!" The store located at 314 Washington Avenue, across from the new home of Muscara Music also has organ accessories, such as rhythm units, bench pads, etc. As of December 1, the store hours will Monday to Friday 10 - 9, and Saturday, 10 - 6. If you wish to phone Ed Godfrey, 759-1666 or 759-1366. The Godfreys have three daughters, Kim, 12 - who sometimes helps out in the store; Karen, 15 and Kathy 19. Son, Bill, is the serviceman. One of Belleville's most interesting girls is an employee there - Lucille Gasiewicz and her daughter Donna helps out, too.

Kiwanis Hear Oil Expert

Drilling for oil and natural gas in the Atlantic Ocean can provide a major answer to the nation's energy problems, Stephen Schoeller, New Jersey Petroleum Council told the Belleville Kiwanis Club.

He noted that proved domestic reserves are declining and foreign oil is becoming more expensive. He said, "Delaying access to the Atlantic seabed mineral resources would be foolhardy. Conservative estimates indicate our seabeds could yield as much oil and gas as has been produced in the 114-year history of the U. S. petroleum industry. Furthermore, he said, the job can be done with minimal effect on the environment and in harmony with fishing interests.

"Americans can have both a clean environment and adequate energy supplies," he declared, "and the petroleum industry is committed to both goals. Despite highly publicized oil spills, the record of undersea drilling is impressive. Because of modern petroleum industry technology we are able to construct fewer drilling platforms. From approximately 350 structures we have been able to drill more than 16,000 underwater wells. This is counter to the common fear that a forest of derricks would line New Jersey's shore.

He added, "Only four spills of large amounts of oil into the ocean have occurred over a 35 year period. In no instance has there been any evidence of permanent damage to the environment."

Guard Kids Against Toxic Holiday Plants

Who would ever think that Christmas season could have any flaws?

This Christmas can be unhappy for the children whose parents neglect to recognize three toxic holiday plants. Classified as toxic plants are mistletoe, poinsettia, and holly, according to Michael D. Ellis, associate director of the Poison Control Center in Galveston, Tex.

Mistletoe is found in all parts of the United States. All pieces of this plant are toxic, but more frequently the small white berries are involved in poisonings. Symptoms of mistletoe poisonings are acute gastroenteritis along with nausea, vomiting, abdominal cramps and diarrhea. It can also result in hallucinations, convulsions and cardiovascular collapse.

The second popular toxic plant is the poinsettia. This plant comes in many varieties but mostly with red or white leaves. The principal for the toxicity has not yet been identified. The sap in contact with the eyes can produce temporary blindness. If the leaves are swallowed, gastroenteritis may result along with nausea, vomiting, abdominal pain and diarrhea.

The last of the three is the holly. Diarrhea and vomiting may occur rapidly after the ingestion of any part of this plant. Gastroenteric irritation will produce with ingestion of the red berries. The fatal dose in children is within 20 to 30 berries. Attention should be given immediately if a child should show symptoms of any of these. Children are attracted to brightly colored objects and it is advisable to keep careful watch over your child in stores where these holiday plants may be present. If shopping for plants, sometimes imitations are just as beautiful.

Xmas Toy Drive For Ireland Now Underway

A toy drive, to benefit children in Northern Ireland at Christmastime, is being conducted by the Four Provinces, Inc., a non-profit organization in Kearny offering relief to victims of the current civil unrest in Ulster.

According to Frank O'Leary, chairman of the drive, $600 worth of toys were collected last year and shipped to children's homes in the North of Ireland, where they were given as gifts on Christmas Day.

No toy guns or replicas of military apparatus will be accepted and, because of the restrictions of packing and shipping, small toys are preferred contributions to the drive, which ends Dec. 14.

Cash donations will also be accepted, O'Leary said, noting that receipts will be given for all donations, which are tax deductible.

Toys or cash donations will be accepted at the Four Provinces Tavern, 53 Johnston Ave. in Kearny, which last year contributed 25 per cent of the toys shipped to Ireland, and at the Lyons Den, 246 Long Ave. in Hillside.

New Senior Play Is School Satire

by Liz Primamore

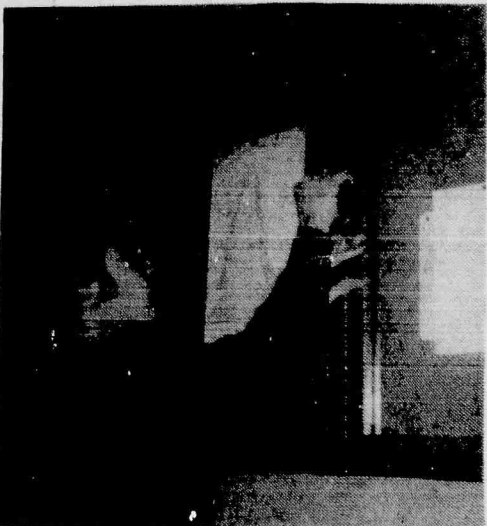

The production of Belleville High School Senior Play has been changed from "Hair," the famous pop musical, to "School Days," a play created by a group of Senior students. "Hair" was a controversial play and the material was unable to be adapted as a high school production. Mr. Rafferty, Senior class advisor, and director of the play states, "It is unfortunate that some people couldn't realize that the students are capable of a mature production such as 'Hair.'"

"Schools Days" consists of a series of black-outs dealing with a fictitious high school. All names and characters in the play are fabricated. The main characters in each skit are teachers. Their mannerisms and actions are interpreted in a satirical manner. A song is sung to each teacher by the class, which matches his or her personality. Mr. Rafferty continues to explain that the students gained their own ideas and used their imagination and creativity.

The turn-out of the try-outs have been tremendous. There are eight male leads, eight female leads, and thirty-three other parts. Other groups involved in the production are the stage crew, an art committee, and a make-up committee. The play will be shown January 18, 19, and 20 and the tickets are $3.00 a person.

The purpose of this production is to help finance the Senior Class overnight trip in the spring. Mr. Rafferty would like to thank all those students for their support in writing and trying out for the play.

POSTING RESULTS — George Mango places cast list for the senior play in a showcase.

Survey Reveals Career Interests

by Barbara Weaver

Try to imagine Joanne Connelly as a forest ranger, or Biff Townsend a social worker. Dave Marra may be our next president and Cheryl King a mechanical engineer. Your family doctor may be Richard Filipek and Cindy Avena your interior decorator. According to their scores on the Kuder General Interest Survey, given to all juniors, these are some of the occupations these students are most interested in pursuing.

This survey measured the student's interest on a wide range of areas, outdoors, mechanical, computational, scientific, persuasive, artistic, literary, musical, social service, and clerical. The pupils were given a choice of three activities. They punched a hole in the paper for the activity they liked the most and a hole for the one they liked least. Each answer contributes to the end result.

After completing the inventory the holes were counted and the scores were plotted on a profile chart showing high and low percentages of interests. The overall result gave a complete picture of each student's preferences.

A high degree of preference was not necessarily better than a low degree. What was important to each student was knowing the order of interests and using that knowledge with other information towards forming their future plans. Most students were found to score high in persuasiveness and low in scientific interests.

Future Teachers See Newark State Special Education

On Nov. 19, the Future Teachers Club of Belleville High School spent a day of observation at the Campus School East, a branch of Newark State College, Union.

This is a school of special education which admits children from approximately five years to thirteen years of age.

The results are very useful for a junior as a first guide to their career paper, although Mrs. Applegate said "to a certain extent most students probably will not go into these occupations." It also helps a college bound student outline their general objectives. Most students felt it was worthwhile, and as one stated, "It was really a lot of fun punching all those holes!"

DeWitt Savings has added something new to its system. It's efficient, time-saving, sturdy, speedy, and doesn't need any coffee breaks. What is this amazing new addition? It's called an on-line accounting system, manufactured by national cash register. On-line simply means that it works on a telephone line.

Easy to comprehend, the computer is the most efficient and most rapid process for obtaining any information needed on any given account. A teller indexed certain information into the computer and the computer transcribes the information from mechanical info to telephone information. The information then transfers over the telephone line to the computer center in Princeton, New Jersey, where it is put into a computer, then sent back the same way into the terminal, and back to the customer. Also handy in this system is the Branch Computer, a device that puts the accounts in line for the computer, in order to make better organization for the machine.

"The pitfalls of the machine at this time," says President Robert Williams, "is that the computer must be kept at a certain temperature, DANCING by Geraldine Palmissano highlights this scene in "Amahl and the Night Visitors," to be presented tomorrow and Saturday nights at 8 p.m. at the Belleville High School auditorium.

'Amahl and the Night Visitors' Opens Tomorrow Night at HS

by Kathi Dunn

Since the last article on "Amahl and the Night Visitors" we have received numerous requests for more information concerning the professionals, faculty, and students who have leading roles in the opera. In answer to this request, the following is a list of the main performers and some background information on each one. The opera will be staged tomorrow and Saturday night at 8 p.m. at the high school auditorium.

Playing the role of Amahl is Robert Di Stasi, a seventh grader at Belleville Junior High School. Robert, who is a graduate of Number Eight School, has studied the accordion for three years and is presently studying piano with Mr. Thomas Finetti.

His beautiful voice was discovered at Number Eight when he was recommended to Elementary vocal teachers, Miss Carol Cobianchi and Mr. Wendall Parr. As a result, Robert became the lead in last year's Elementary Vocal Festival as Joseph in "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat."

Robert is a member of the Boy Scouts, and was on the American Little League Championship Team for 1973. Presently a straight "A" student, Robert loves animals and is currently pursuing a hobby in models.

Next is Miss Donna Schutz, who plays Amahl's mother. Miss Schutz has her B.A. in Music from Montclair State College, and is presently studying voice with John Kling in N.Y.C.

Miss Schutz has taught five years in Union Township and West Essex Public Schools as an Elementary and Junior High School Vocal Music instructor.

She has appeared two seasons in summer stock in Michigan, and has had several principal roles with the Montclair Operetta Club, such as Mrs. Malloy in "Hello Dolly," the princesses in both "The Student Prince," and "Unsinkable Molly Brown," and recently, as Marion in this season's production of "Music Man." Last year, Miss Schutz played Musetta with the Bloomfield Opera Theatre's production of Puccini's "La Boheme." She was also the First Spirit in Mozart's "The Magic Flute," with the same theatre group. Perhaps her most impressive achievement was her time spent as soloist with the Manchester Symphony in Connecticut.

Miss Schutz has won in the Eastern Region and New York area for the National Association of Teachers of Singing Annual Artist Awards. This year, Miss Schutz won the Federation of Music Clubs' state competition for young artists. She has also done extensive church and oratorio work in the Metropolitan area.

Appearing in the role of King Bathazar is John H. Reimer, bass. Born in Harvey, North Dakota, Mr. Reimer was raised in the Garden State and currently resides in Roselle.

He graduated from Dartmouth College and served as an officer in the United States Marine Corps. Mr. Reimer is a pupil of Raoul Quere of New York City, son of Angelo Quere, who taught Ruffo, Muzio, and De Luca, among others. Mr. Reimer has served as Choir Director at The Alliance Church in Cranford, and is currently Bass Soloist at the Munn Ave. Presbyterian Church, East Orange.

He has appeared as opera and concert soloist in various churches and schools throughout the New York and Metropolitan area and New England. Mr. Reimer has also performed in leading roles in Verdi's "Aida," "Il Trovatore," and Donizetti's "La Fanciulla del Teatro." This summer at Lincoln Center's "Opera-in-the-Park" series.

In the role of King Melchione is Mr. Wendall Parr. Mr. Parr has taught in Belleville since 1958 as a Vocal Music Instructor on both the Elementary and Junior High School levels.

He has his B.S.M. from Baldwin-Wallace College, Ohio, and his M.S. from Columbia Teacher's College, N.Y.C. Mr. Parr has done doctoral work at Columbia Teacher's College, Seton Hall University, and Syracuse University.

Among his many other achievements, Mr. Parr is currently Bass Soloist at Forest Hill Presbyterian Church in Newark.

The Last of the Three Kings, King Kasper, will be played by Mr. Curtis Watkins. Mr. Watkins has been teaching Elementary Vocal Music in Newark since 1970. He is presently a church organist in Newark, and has performed for the Belleville Kiwanis Club and for the Benefit in Memory of Dr. Ruggiero.

Mr. Watkins has his B.M. from the Manhattan School of Music, N.Y.C., and has studied voice with Conrad Thibault.

and with the heat problem we now have, it proves to be somewhat of a difficulty."

The computer searches as many as 15,000 accounts and will give any information about an account, whether it be the interest, balance, or separate transactions, as long as it's programmed to give the information. The computer can figure interest, put automatic holds on checks, and do just about anything a teller might be expected to do. This, however, cuts down on the work that an individual may have otherwise.

Says Robert Williams, "A seventeen year old will learn faster than an adult, because a younger person will have no questions concerning why something is being done, where as, and adult will.

"The customers have been trained about a computer," says Robert Williams, "and when they hear the name, 'computer,' see only delays and problems."

All accounts are kept in the Master File. To cut down on this, there is a micro-fish, where 15,000 accounts are put on a piece of film. This can be for a whole month, or daily, weekly, quarterly, or yearly trials. There would be extremely crowded lines without the computer, and micro-fish, and more space would be needed to compensate the needs of all customers as well as employees. Also, new additions onto the bank would be most necessary.

Installed at DeWitt in the early part of 1972, the computer and everything involved amounts to approximately $1000,000.

However, when a computer such as the N.C.R. is this helpful to so many people, less people are needed to work, and therefore, it cuts down on the amount of salaries needed normally.

Since Truman, Election Poll Never Missed

by Michael Perrone

Since 1947, the students of Belleville High School have correctly predicted the outcomes of all major political elections.

During the past twenty-six years, the school has held dozens of elections. Students have voted for seven Presidents, seven governors, and a number of senators, congressmen, and commissioners. In each case, the students' choice proved to be the peoples' choice.

In the Presidential election of 1948, Republican Thomas Dewey ran against Democrat Harry Truman. Most polls showed Dewey ahead by a large margin. Some newspapermen were so confident of a Republican victory that their post election headlines read, "Dewey Wins By Landslide." But the students at Belleville High School felt differently; they had predicted victory for Harry Truman. On the morning after the election, many people awoke with disbelief to find Harry Truman President-elect, and Belleville High School had begun a tradition which it has kept to this day.

In the most recent school election for governor and state legislature, the students, elected Democrat Brendan Byrne (1059) over Republican Charles Sandman (253). For state senator, Independent Anthony Imperiale (922), defeated Democrat Greg Castano (161) and Republican C. Richard Fiore (153). For members of the General Assembly, Democrats Michael Audubato (598) and John Cali (595) defeated Republicans Joseph McGreevy (521), Rowland Johnston (189) and Independents Thomas Caslander (78) and Raymond Parker (80). For sheriff, Democrat John Cryan (1012) defeated Republican Robert Miller (164).

On November 6, all of these men were victorious, keeping with the tradition that Belleville High School has never been wrong in predicting the outcome of an election.

Week Honors Key Clubbers

by John Horutz

The Belleville High School Key Club, under the direction of Mr. Herman Knuppel, was honored last week (November 26 to November 30) as National Key Club Week.

This year as in past years, the Key Club honored their organization and their sponsors, the Belleville Kiwanis Club, through a special luncheon, which was held at Belleville High School on Tuesday. The Kiwanis Club also held a special dinner on November 29, at the Fountain, for the Key Club, honoring their splendid work throughout the 1973 school year.

During National Key Club Week, the Key Club has dedicated itself to the community through a number of services which included: Guiding parents to classrooms during conference day on November 28, and helping in any way possible for the card party sponsored by the Home and School Association on November 30.

National Key Club Week, however, does not limit the Key Club's community services, because the organization works very hard throughout the year on many projects to make their community a better place in which to live.

New Madrigals Debut With Friday Concert

by Kathi Dunn

One of the highlights of the Belleville Senior High School Music Department this year is the newly-formed "Madrigal Ensemble," who will debut in a concert tomorrow night.

Generally speaking, a madrigal is a musical setting of a secular poem. Although they are preferred to have five, the madrigals may be three, four, five, or six parts. Their style is generally an imitative one, with one voice imitating another. The texts of these songs deal mainly with love, springtime, dancing, worldly, and pastoral subjects.

The madrigal found its origin in Italy during the 14th century, and lasted through the 16th century in England. It is said that the madrigal reached its height in England during the Elizabethan era with such composers as: Thomas Morley, Michael East, John Farmer, Thomas Weelkes, Orlando Gibbons and others.

A common entertainment among middle and aristocratic families of the era was to gather around the table after dinner and spend the entire evening singing madrigals. Occasionally, madrigals were accompanied by recorders. The recorder was the popular wind instrument of the period and was predecessor to the flute.

The BHS "Madrigal Ensemble" was formed last year by their director Mr.

Thomas Finetti. Because they are such a select group, the criteria is very high. In order to become a member, each student had to be auditioned. The qualifications are that each member must read music well and possess excellent vocal qualities. Most of them have studied at least one instrument. The group numbers 24 and the members are as follows: Bonnie Berkowitz, Gary Carnevale, Tom Coughlin, Cindy and Sandy Cronauer, Ruth Day, Caren DeJonge, Doreen DeVoigt, Elaine Drake, Cindy Fabian, Ronald Fraga, Eileen Hagen, Nance Idenden, Patty Kimmel, Connie Myer, Susan Narucki, Andrew Rilschel, Tom Sanders, Janet Smith, Jeff Stone, Donna Tsouhnikas, Ellen Ventura, Karl Wehmeyer, and Ken Westpy.

This is the first year that the ensemble will appear in full renaissance costume. These costumes were designed by Mrs. Tsouhnikas, a parent of one of the members. Some of the students made their own, while others had their costumes made for them.

Appearing along with the "Madrigal Ensemble" is a recorder trio. The trio consists of soprano recorder, played by Elaine Drake, alto, played by Cindy Fabian, and tenor, played by Tom Sanders.

The ensemble will be making their first public performance tomorrow and Saturday at 8 p.m. in the BHS auditorium. They will appear in a 20 minute concert prior to the opera, "Amahl and the Night Visitors," in which they will later appear as shepherds.

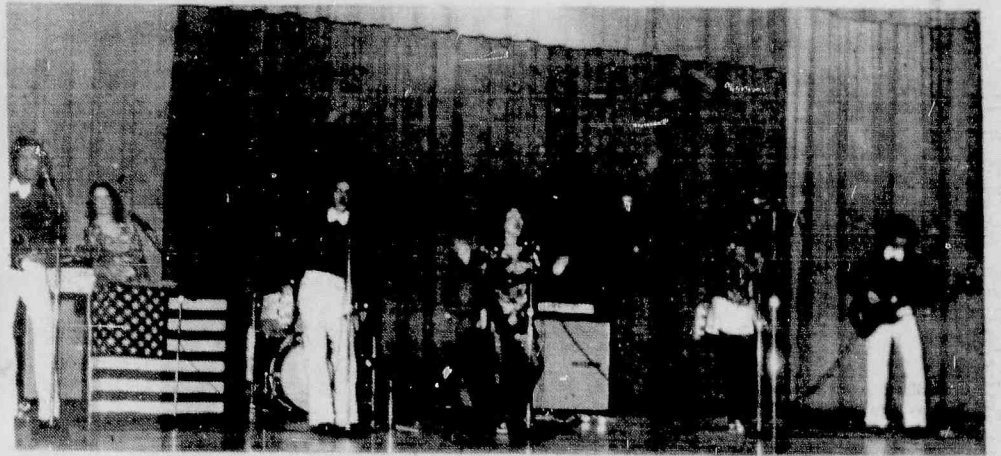

IN REHEARSAL — A few of the madrigal singers are shown in costume as they rehearse with director Thomas Finetti for this year's debut tomorrow evening at 8 p.m.

Bellboys Opened, Closed Winning, But Couldn't Make Ends Meet Lacked Size, Experience; Good Luck Was Elusive

by Ken Moore

The story of the 1973 Bellboys' gridiron season is one of a 3-6 record, of inexperienced linemen developing into hardened veterans and determined ballplayers taking the field despite hampering injuries.

It was a season that opened with a deceptively easy shutout over West Essex and closed with a victory over previously undefeated Lyndhurst. The model game played against the Golden Bears went so well many fans, players and coaches saw it as a vindication of the '73 gridders. To them, this fall was "the season that got away."

While team morale rose and fell with victory and defeat, the factors which determined the fortunes of the Bellboys, at the outset, were size and inexperience. The inability to maintain a passing threat crippled the offensive attack proved to be a major disability. Finally, "hard luck" and injuries, two unknown quantities, were in abundance this year, especially the hard luck.

Coach Rocco Cafone, completing his fourth year as grid mentor, found the Lyndhurst game an uplifting note to the season, but chose to tender his resignation as head coach after compiling a 17-18-1 win-loss record here.

Operating with a nucleus of only nine lettermen, Cafone placed an entirely new interior line in both offensive and defensive teams. To add to the problem of inexperience was another of size — the offensive front line averaged less than 180 pounds per man, while the defensive front ranks weighed in at an average of 185.

"We knew we, had quite a bit of inexperienced players this year," Cafone told the Times this week, "and we had hoped they'd come along sooner. After the opener at West Essex, when we won 14-0, we felt we'd do pretty good, but then we reviewed the starters for West Essex and found they were even more inexperienced than us. It turned out to be a false barometer."

A more accurate test was to come the following Saturday against powerhouse Bloomfield, who, said Cafone, "we knew had nothing but experience. We felt we had to do well in either the Bloomfield or Nutley game if our experience was going to come along."

As it happened, the Bellboys gave the Bengals a fight for the length of the game, nearly taking the lead at halftime, except for an unsuccessful two-point conversion. The final outcome saw Bloomfield take it, 21-6.

A similar score of 21-8 was registered when Nutley won the following week, and that game saw one of the most morale-breaking plays of the year when a Nutley player ran back a punt 70 yards for a touchdown. Because Blue-Gold players on the field had thought the ball was downed and the whistle wasn't blown to end the play, the lead taken by the Raiders seemed even more immense than it actually was, as a frustrated Bellboy squad went to the locker room at halftime.

Even though the green Belleville lineman had stood up well under the pounding of bigger foes during both the Bloomfield and Nutley contests, Cafone said the disappointment felt after that single punt return "carried over into the next two games."

While Nutley and Bloomfield were expected to be tough opponents and proved it, the two successive foes, Passaic and Irvington, were supposedly weaker. So the losses to these two squads delivered the severest blows to the Bellboys' morale. These games, along with the later unsuccessful match with Kearny, were picked out by Cafone as the real "hard luck" games, for all three were well within the Bellboys' reach.

Against all three teams, the Bellboys lost yardage at critical points, often on the verge of posting scores. But another important factor was the passing game, which accounted for only four yards against Passaic in seven passes, with two interceptions by the Indians. Following the pattern of the season, Cafone relied mostly on senior Bill Telesco, with junior Jim DiModica seeing action as backup. However, the coach was reluctant to blame the passing breakdown on either or both quarterbacks.

"Many times the mistakes were due to inexperience and lack of size on the line. The quarterbacks were sometimes not getting the protection they needed; they were being tackled or forced to throw fast. And sometimes the ball was just missed by receivers. It was the entire passing game that was off — a combination of everything."

After Passaic slipped by Belleville with a 7-0 victory, Irvington had their turn with a 15-8 win. The Campers were able to steal three passes and connected for six of their own nine aerials.

The following Saturday, the Bellboys were able to reverse the trend with a 14-6 win over Orange. By this time, experience was no longer the key problem, and the Belleville line was able to hold their own against the larger Orange blockers. The prime runner of the season was clearly Steve Senatore, who ran for 94 yards and a touchdown against the Tornadoes.

One of the roughest games of the year came the following week when the Bellboys invaded Seton Hall. Although no major injuries were sustained in the battle, the effects were enough to reduce the capacity of all key backfield men and many linemen. Belleville runners hit a stone wall as they were limited to 72 yards on the ground, the lowest sum of the season. Meanwhile, the passing game was again stifled, held to 23 yards. Seton Hall scored their first touchdown on a pass and added another to blank the Blue-Gold, 14-0.

It was a kick off return that won the next game for Kearny, along with a two-point conversion that shaded the Bellboys, 8-6. Game statistics showed Belleville to have topped the Cardinals in yardage, ground yardage, and first downs, but no touchdowns were added to Joe Cancelliere's, though the Bellboys had mounted scoring threats.

A determined team took the field against Lyndhurst, and totally outplayed the Golden Bears, an undefeated team which had held powerful Elmwood Park scoreless. With Telesco hitting on crucial psses, and Steve Senatore running for two touchdowns. At the same time, the defense held up, as the Bears scored their only touchdown on a kick off return. All units clicked for the game, which capped a mediocre season with a stunning victory.

Several top players saw their last season with the Bellboys, including co-captains Joe Cancelliere, a defensive specialist and utility man who stepped in to give superior running performances for the offense late in the season, and Joe Napolitano, the dependable power runner who spent much of the season playing with various troublesome injuries.

Quarterback Bill Telesco, who also suffered an injury to his throwing arm prior to the opening of the season, will also graduate, as will backfield men Steve O'Neill and Nick DeFilippis, who also turned in an excellent performance as punter this season and will have to be replaced in that area.

That would leave, in the offensive backfield, a strong lineup including Steve

On Dec. 14 Cage Five Firms Up As Alumni Day Nears

by Bob Cohen

With the start of the 1973-74 basketball season less than two weeks away, the cagers, led by new head coach Dan Grasso, have entered into the final phase of preparation for the upcoming opener. In that opener the Bellboy varsity will be greeted by the cagers of yesteryear as the alumni will be the opening opponent. The contest, which will involve a lot of pride for the winning team, will be held December 14 at the high school gym. Tipoff is scheduled for 8 p.m.

The 12 players who survived the final cut by the Belleville coaching staff have worked very hard in the preparation for what is going to be a very tough schedule. Yet if scrimmages are to be considered any indication as to the outcome of the season, then the future certainly looks bright. In recent contests, which included opponents from St. Joseph's (W.N.Y.) and Hunterdon Central, the Belleville denial defense has proved to be most effective. The purpose of the defense, when executed properly, forces the other team into turnovers or at least a jump ball. So far it has proven very successful.

This years Big Ten battle will again certainly be one of the best in the state. Belleville's opponents will include Orange, East Orange and Bloomfield, three perennial power-houses, on the court. Also expecting to have their say in the contest are Montclair and Irvington.

Yet Belleville's chances this year look better than they ever have in recent years. Seven veterans will be anchoring the squad this year as a very mature and more importantly, a very tall team will represent the Bellboys. Eight of the twelve cagers this year are over six feet tall. They include among others 6 feet 6-inch Abdel Anderson and 6-foot 5-inch Tom Della Torre. Also among the giants are 6-feet 3-inch Gary Tufo, and Bob Sanders.

The squad this year breaks down to seven seniors, 4 juniors and one sophomore. The seniors are guards Harry Baumgartner and Lauman Goon, forwards Gary Tufo, Anthony Cotugno, and Bob DiQuattro, and centers Bob Sanders and Tom Della Torre. The juniors include guards Brian Wood and Dave Marrai, forward Pat Hogan, and center Abdel Anderson. The sole sophomore on the squad is forward Joe Dunn.

Next Friday's alumni game will bring back many of the stars of the past who dazzled Bellboys fans for years. Since the game does count as a win, the varsity will certainly be out there fighting for the victory. The alumni however would not want to be embarrassed by a younger, comparatively less experienced team. The results should be very interesting. Some of the returning stars are Rich Caravetta, Gary Soldo, Anthony Nucera, and Ed Pimental. Also included will be Mike Petronici, Frank Petite, and Frank Russomano. Rounding out the field will be John Puccello and Mark Corino. The coach of this crew will be Jon Semcer, the varsity assistant.

The ability for the Bellboy defense to deny the aggressive alumni will be the key to the game. The test on the denial defense will be a true test in deciding whether it will work against other teams with comparable ability. In either case, the game will be just as interesting as the entire season shapes up to be.

Luongo Finishes Crimson Season

Belleville's Robert Luongo closed out a successful season with the Harvard freshman football team with an outstanding performance in Harvard's 20-19 loss to Yale November 21 at New Haven.

The 1973 graduate of Belleville High School has been a starter at offensive guard throughout the season for the Crimson and helped the harvard running attack post a nifty 4.1 average per carry for the season. Harvard's freshmen placed third in the Ivy League with a 4-2 season mark. Luongo is expected to be a strong challenger for the starting varsity slot at guard, vacated by graduation.

Luongo is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Luongo of 175 Beech Street, Belleville.

SELECTING the grand winner of the Belleville Times "What's the Score?" Contest which had residents predict the winning scores of this season's football games are Bellboys Joe Napolitano (left) and Gerry Giordano (center) along with Grant City manager Robert Roblenski.

CLAIMING the grand prize of a portable television set (also shown at left) is Edward Albanese of 75 Frederick Street, as he's congratulated by Roblenski. Grant City donated the prize.

During October, the company changed its method of accounting to record revenues and fuel costs based on service rendered rather than on the basis of service billed. This change had the effect of increasing the earnings available for common stock by $1,800,000 for the 12 months ended October 31, or 4¢ a share.

Montclair Indian Cagers Looking for the 'Big Man'

Ollie Gelston has not had a losing season in six years at the helm of Montclair State College's basketball team. But the last two campaigns have been disappointing ones for the Indians mentor who is hopeful the 1973-74 edition will more closely approach the strong clubs of his first four years.

Ever the realist, Gelston knows that it won't be easy, even with six returning letterman on hand and a flock of promising newcomers on the way up.

The need for a genuine big man who could make Montclair State a sure winner still exists but the overall picture is nevertheless bright than last year when the Indians only consistency was their inconsistency position at center, has graduated. So have Scott Riley, a fine defender but in-and-out shooter, Jim Higgins, a capable spot player, and Brendan Suhr, heady backcourt hurt by lack of size.

On the surface, Holland, a 6-4 junior, would appear to be the best of the holdovers. There is little question of his scoring prowess—he shoots well from inside and out - and last year was the second leading rebounder but continued improvement on defense is needed for him to remain in the starting lineup.

Jim Rake, Rick Brown, Larry Hughes, Jeff Macaulay and Calvin Blue are the other returnees. Rake came on strong at guard in the latter stages of last season after sitting out the previous year as a transfer from Rhode Island. Brown occasionally flashed brilliance but was not consistent. Hughes proved to be a solid relief man at forward or center. Macaulay, used in spots, did not quite live up to his tremendous potential, and Blue, an outstanding leaper though only 6-3, must improve his shooting to crash the starting unit.

Aside from these lettermen, Gelston can choose from a good-looking group of first-year candidates, the best of which seem to be Jeff Auerbacher, Tom Hedderich, Ellsworth Brown and Jim Gaffney. Auerbacher, a sophomore, averaged 16.3 points for the JV a year ago while Hedderich and Brown, also sophs, scored at norms of 12.6 and 8.2 respectively.

Anthony Kirkman, Alec Russoniello, and Angelo Pennetti. Ends Vinnie Lipoma and Barry Dunleavy will also graduate, as will defensive backs Gerry Giordano and Frank Falcone.

Commenting on the season, and the last game in particular, Cafone said, "I'm glad they put it all together for that last game. You've got to give the kids credit. How can you criticize them? They were in every game this season. Nobody stepped over them. I felt they played excellent ball considering the inexperience and the hard luck. The breaks were continually against this team. What it boils down to is that they had to prove a gain against Lyndhurst.

Gaffney, a sizeable guard at 6-3, came out of the Marines late last season to provide backcourt help for the Jayvees.

There is no 6-9 giant among the prospects. Brown a slender 6-7 coming the closest. But MSC does have better-than-fair overall size with Hughes at 6-5, and Holland, Macaulay, Auerbacher and Hedderich at 6-4.

More height could come from two young candidates, Ray Mansuy, a soph, and Pat Hagan, a junior, both of whom stand 6-5.

Gelston believes his team can be a contender for the NJSCAC championship if: (a) Auerbacher, Hedderich or Ellsworth Brown can provide added rebounding and defense; (b) Holland plays as well on defense as on offense; (c) Rake and Rick Brown can score consistently from outside; (d) Hughes continues his rapid development as a full time performer; (e) Macaulay, the strongest defensive forward, makes the adjustment to the MSC offense.

The Indians will be back in Madison Square Garden - for the third straight year. This time they'll meet Grambling College, an NIT entry last winter, on February 2.

Polar Bear Meet To Run Saturday

The Essex County CYO will join forces with Essex Catholic High School to hold the first Polar Bear Track Meet for elementary school boys. The first of what is expected to become an annual event will be held on Saturday afternoon, Dec. 8 at Essex Catholic High School in Newark.

Gerald J. O'Connor, who directed the very successful CYO Cross Country Meet earlier this month, will be in control of the Polar Bear event.

Competition will be held in two age groups — 12 and under and 13 and above.

Events to be included in the meet, which will start at 1 P.M., are the 60-yard dash, 220 yard run, 440 yard run, 880 yard run, mile run and 440 yard relay in which each boy will run 110 yards. Trials and semi-finals will be held before the 60-yard dash finals.

Any boy who runs in the 440, 880 or mile run cannot compete in another event. An athlete can run in two events as long as neither is the 440 or a longer event.

Medals will be awarded to the first three boys in each event, in each age group. A team trophy will be awarded to the CYO unit scoring the most points on a 6-4-3-2-1 basis.

The deadline for entering individuals or a team with the Essex County CYO, 425 Bloomfield Ave., Montclair is Monday, Dec. 3. Entries will be 50 cents per boy per event. A team can enter as many boys as they would like.

Fencing Caps Set By Hall

Greg Boutsikaris of Clifton and Jake Hayward of Newark have been named captains of the Seton Hall University fencing team, Coach Harry Boutsikaris has announced.

The two have been bulwarks as the Pirates have won 20 straight dual meets over a period of two undefeated seasons and a pair of North Atlantic Intercollegiate Team Championships.

Hayward, a graduate of Barringer High, compiled a 22-1 in dual meet competition as he competed in the foils. Boutsikaris, who is a sabre performer, compiled an 18-3 record.

Hilltops Back After Years Of Deactivation

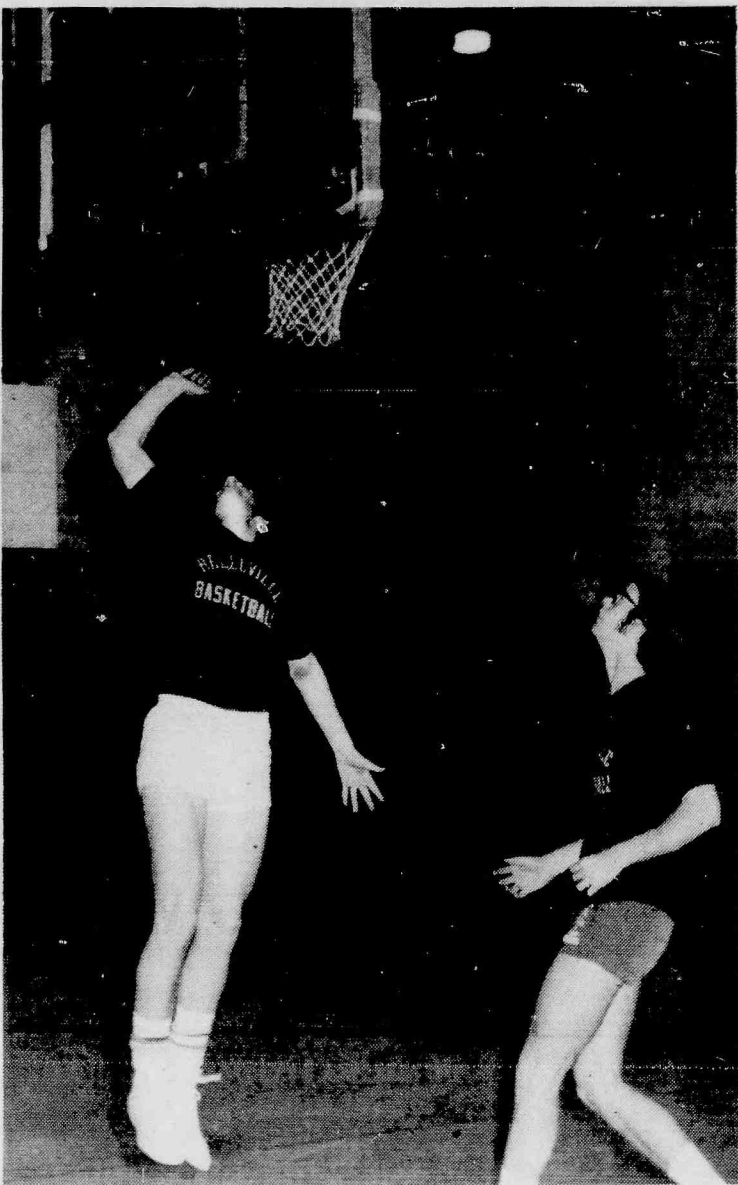

The Hilltops, one of the oldest athletic organizations in the metropolitan area, has been reorganized. The group, originally formed in 1932, remained active until 1956.

Many former members and friends of the Hilltops are from the Nutley, Belleville area as well as other Essex County areas.

Monthly meetings have been held since April at the Rathskeller in Irvington. Two old timers softball games have already been played with great success. Future plans are for a Christmas Party for youngsters and a Family Outing.

Anyone interested in reactivating their membership or friendship may contact Vic Deleo, 9 Crestwood Ave. Belleville 751-6793.

The newspapers these days write a lot about the energy crisis, so we might as well tell you how you may contribute to saving energy regarding the products which we handle.

Many people are in the habit to leave the TV set turned on, even if they do not look at it, just for the sound. This is really a considerable waste of electricity, not to speak of the unnecessary wear on the expensive picture tube. This tube has only a limited amount of useful hours, whether you look at when it is on or not. If you want to listen only, turn on a radio. If you don't have one, it will pay you to buy it, they are very inexpensive. Considering the saving on the wear of the picture tube, a new radio will soon pay for itself and it uses about one tenth of the electricity of the TV set. So this is one way for you to save energy.

It is hard to be possible to save on the use of a refrigerator. As far as a washing machine and a dryer goes, you may save by using these only if you have a full load (without overloading them, of course).

If you leave your air conditioner in the window, we suggest to put a cover on it to stop air leaks. Also check the caulking around the window. If the caulking compound came off, press it firmly down, and if you need additional compound, it is sold in hardware stores. The name is "mortite".

This Week's Horoscope
(December 8 through December 14)

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Thought you'd never weather it through last week, did you Ari? But now it's gone and you're alive, Alive, ALIVE!! Celebrate a little but, better, talk and laugh with those gentle friends who have always been at your side when you needed them.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): That knocking on your door isn't Opportunity, Taurus. It's Trouble. This is no time for experimentation. At end of week, put some delectable bait in the trap, hide behind a tree and wait for that Moonbaby to pay you some heed — at last.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): A strange week, Gem. Work and play get all mixed up so that you're not sure where and when one ends and the other begins. If you're not careful, someone is going to let you know — in certain terms.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): If you're tired of running around with all those new friends, Moonbaby, don't look for this week to offer a change. Another new one shows up at mid-week and soon proves to be the best of the lot. Have fun!

LEO (July 23-August 22): Time to end that silly feud at home, Leo baby, and give out with that tender loving care. If you want to be loved the way you were before, love the way you did before. Hurt pride gets no one anywhere.

VIRGO (August 23-September 22): Those weird-sounding ideas of old friend aren't so weird after all, Virg. Don't reject them out of hand for there's something of value in them for you, dear heart. Study and you'll find.

LIBRA (September 23-October 22): Feeling a little schizophrenic, Lib? Don't worry, both of you are coming together and by midweek you're one with the cosmos. Last two days perfect for celebrating.

SCORPIO (October 23-November 21): Scorp, you're going to have to stop procrastinating or the day will soon be on you when it will be too late to be late. Get moving TODAY, if you don't want to repent tomorrow.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22-December 21): A week to swim against the tide, Sag, and don't worry for a minute if you seem to be drifting out to sea. The current will change and you will be back where you want to be, the better and stronger for the effort.

Montclair State Slates Photography Exhibition
An exhibition of photography by Montclair State College students, just back from a five-week showing at the Underground Gallery in New York City, is being presented in the college's new Gallery One Nov. 28 through Dec. 21. It is open to the public without charge Mondays through Fridays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.
Entitled "Underground Surfaces at Montclair," the exhibit includes photographs by over 40 students of fine arts instructor Klaus Schnitzer. Schnitzer and two other faculty members, Richard Kyle and Charles Martens, are also represented. The student work was done as part of a class project combining photographic processes of the 19th Century with present-day techniques.

The human race will be greatly improved when individuals attend to the task of improving themselves.

CAPRICORN (December 22-January 19): How now, Cap? That enterprise that looked so promising now appears to be a lemon. But not if you get cracking. Use your imagination and those gray cells and you can turn the whole thing around. This week's word: WORK.

AQUARIUS (January 20-February 18): What a rare week you're in, Aquari, one in which you'll find yourself humming along on the same wavelength with dear friends — especially that shy Libra who proves to have much more depth than you suspected.

PISCES (February 19-March 20): Too many wrinkles in that forehead, fishy. Time to erase them with love and laughter. Stop taking yourself so seriously and stand off and look at your problems from a distance. Smaller than you thought they were, aren't they?

Jersey Congressmen Join Fuel Merchants' Pow-Wow

In what Congressman Frank Thompson, Jr. of New Jersey's 4th Congressional District termed an "unprecedented show of interest and concern", 14 of 15 New Jersey Congressmen personally participated in an emergency meeting which was sought by the Fuel Merchants Association of New Jersey.

The Association which represents 750 independent fuel oil dealers in New Jersey presented the Congressmen with resolutions calling for a full-blown Congressional investigation of the oil shortage - the establishment of oil as an instrument of national policy in reverse - permitting utilities which can, to burn coal - increase of sulphur content in home heating and residual oil - the prohibition of any new installations of electric heat - a cessation to the "discriminatory regulations" by the Cost of Living Council (COLC) against the fuel oil merchants.

Maurice J. Neill, Jr., President of the Association, warned the Congressmen that unless some action is taken quickly, "a lot of people will go cold this winter." To substantiate his claim, Neill stated that the Fuel Merchants Association members supply fuel oil for 90 percent of the heating oil used by homes in New Jersey and 85 percent of the heating oil used by schools and hospitals. The Association President qualified his warning with the statement that "many of our dealer members have received drastic allocation cutbacks from their major suppliers." He feels that "this situation can only be alleviated, if we can free up some available oil."

Fuel Merchants from Hudson County told the Congressmen that "something must be done to remedy the situation now or several dealers will have to close their doors in November." They said "oil is just not available."

Robert H. MacKinney, Jr. speaking as a representative from Middlesex County said that "there's heating oil available but New Jersey's State Government won't allow it to be burned as a fuel because of its sulphur content."

Charles Eggert of Morris County said that "New Jersey has the strictest laws of any state in the nation for burning sulphur." Stated Eggert, "the amount of sulphur which New Jersey allows us to have in our home heating oil and residual oil is even less than that proposed by the Federal Environmental Protection Agency guidelines."

John R. Herbert of Gloucester County stated that "Jersey's 0.3 percent sulphur limit is ridiculous." Asked Herbert, "Why are we cleaning up our air in New Jersey when the prevailing winds are blowing the 1 percent sulphur air from Pennsylvania and New York across our state?" It was noted that the sulphur content of fuel oil was not as strict in Pennsylvania and New York as it is in New Jersey.

All of the Association members are in agreement that immediate relief from the fuel shortage can only come through permission to allow a higher content of sulphur in fuel oil. Association President Neill says that "we're specifically recommending 0.5 percent sulphur content for home heating oil and 1 percent sulphur content for residual oil - which is used to a great extent for schools and colleges." He asked that the Jersey Congressmen instruct the Federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) in the gravity of the fuel supply problem as it applies to such states as New Jersey. He feels that if the EPA is really aware of the situation, it will issue new guidelines promoting the relaxation of sulphur content standards by the states, when such a standard seriously conflicts with the supply of fuel.

Neill also felt that the situation could best be served if the Nations Electric Utilities which burned better than 3.3 billion gallons of home heating oil in 1972 (19 percent of the total residential demand) were permitted to burn coal.

Several members of the Association bitterly complained about the discrimination by the Cost of Living Council (COLC). Neill said that his Association members "should be permitted to qualify for the same business exemption status in the same manner as other sectors of the economy." However, it seems as though the little independent oil retailer has been singled out as the whipping boy." The point was made by the Jersey dealers that none of their overhead costs could be legally passed on to the consumer under Phase IV.

The Congressmen indicated that they were "well aware of the problem." Said Congressman John E. Hunt of Jersey's 1st Congressional District "even with all our other duties, we've been working hard behind the scenes to get a Mandatory Allocation Bill through Congress. "We've also kept the pressure on Dunlop (Dr. John Dunlop - head of COLC) to leave you fellows off the hook - and you must admit that although we haven't succeeded completely, we've at least been able to get you a pass through on product costs."

Congressman Robert A. Roe of Jersey's 8th District said that "we'll do what we can in Washington, but you can't be on just our backs. "Get on the backs of the Governor and the State Legislature too. "Those fellows can do a lot to implement a temporary relaxation in the sulphur content of fuel oil.

Senior Writes On Rent

apartment, when we are constantly being in-convenienced with boiler problems. It is bound to be getting colder now, and if the furnace is not in proper condition we will have more and more breakdowns. We need a superintendent who understands boilers.

We are losing another tenant in this building this month, retired folks who just can't see this rent for what we have, plus the added inconvenience of lack of hot water and heat when needed, and another tenant in the next building, also retired - theirs a three room apartment, also cannot see the rent increases that we get for the small rooms, and constant lack of conveniences that are rightly ours, so they are moving.

Mayor McGreevy seemed to be the only one who was able to get the owners to understand the problem we had in August with the lack of hot water, and I surely hoped that the Rent Control Committee would be able to do something for us on the constant raise in rents. As my letter of Sept. 23rd told you - since new management took over last year my rent has gone from $189 to $230 - an increase of $41.00. Taxes have gone up - maintenance too, but to me this is out of all proportion for such a raise in rent to me.

You probably don't receive as many letters on the subject, as there are many young people - both working; and many older people, who do not write. If I couldn't still do my own typing, I probably would put it off too.

I surely hope that I will hear something from the Committee on this situation soon - if they have done any investigation, and if so their findings.

Thanking you for whatever attention you may be able to give this matter in the near future.

Kiwanis Club Hears Talk On Energy

Nuclear energy will probably be a primary source of power for American homes and industry in the next century, Dr. Victor S. Engleman, of Esso Research and Engineering Company, told the Kiwanis of Belleville - Branch Brook Tuesday at Parrillo's Restaurant.

Speaking on "Energy for Tomorrow," he said that nuclear sources will provide an increasing percentage of the nation's total power supplies. He also speculated that fusion power, the energy produced by the hydrogen bomb, may some day be harnessed to provide nearly boundless power for mankind.

He described the other, more common sources of energy, including coal, gas and petroleum, and explained how energy forms—mechanical, electrical, heat, light, chemical and nuclear energy—are changed from one form to another.

The Esso scientist also discussed some of the unique methods of producing power that are being used on a limited scale today.

Police Arrest B&E Suspect

Belleville police arrested a suspect in an attempted breaking and entering of a store at 145 Newark Avenue last Wednesday at 4 a.m.

The 23-year-old Newark man was caught by Officers George Sheridan and John Kerber after police received a report of an attempted break-in at the clothing store.

The man was charged with attempted breaking and entering and possession of burglary tools.
