

Political Strife Marked Old Year

by Ken Moore

While the rest of the country labored through the year 1973, the Town of Belleville sought to deal with developing trends, some of which have been with the community over the past decade, and others which have only recently developed.

New on the horizon and shared with the entire nation was the now familiar energy crisis, born during the Arab-Israeli conflict last September, leaving gas stations dry over the past weekend and bound to stretch indefinitely into 1974.

On the local level, Bellevilleites watched continuing trends in Town government and school affairs. Controversies over zoning cases wound their way to the Commission level, where the entire system of Board of Adjustment appointments broke open into a feud between the two most powerful politicians in town — Mayor Joseph McGreevy and Commissioner Mary Senatore.

Mrs. Senatore, Town Democratic Chairman, sought to advance herself in state politics when she ran for the Democratic nomination as State Senator of the newly-created 36th District. She lost to Harrison's Gregory Castano, who in turn was defeated by Independent Anthony Imperiale in November.

McGreevy earned the Republican party's nomination as Assemblyman, but he, too, fell in November's Democratic landslide.

In the February Board of Education election incumbent Caesar Romano was given a hefty vote of confidence by local residents, while Board President Richard Mahmahrian staved off a surprisingly strong threat by 21-year-old Steven Rogers. At the subsequent reorganization of the board, Lawrence Schwartz was elected president and Romano vice president.

Perhaps the single most important issue in Belleville — the education of our youth — figured prominently in the news as in past years. The latest in a decade-long string of budget rejections by voters brought the Town Commission and the Board of Education together for a single dead-end negotiation session, followed by a deep $450,880 cut in the proposed $7.4 million school budget. The school trustees challenged the Commissioners' slash in two hearings in Trenton last summer, and after a long-awaited answer from the state capital, the battle is yet unresolved — Mayor McGreevy has promised to take the matter to Superior Court. A final end to the fight may not come until well into 1974.

Only slightly related to the budget question was the school board's mid-summer shakeup in the school administration, which compartmentalized the duties of top officials with only a minimum of upheaval on lower levels.

More controversial was an abortive effort within the Board of Education to seek a bond referendum next year for an addition to the high school and a total repair program in all Belleville schools. The outlook now is for the maintenance bond question to appear on a ballot some time next year, while the solution to overcrowding in the upper grades may again be deferred.

Against this background of ongoing developments, single events occurred and new stories cropped up throughout the year. A hometown boy returned to Belleville — Staff Sergeant Martin Frank, former prisoner of war held by the Viet Cong; cable television tried to make its way into Belleville, but was turned back by residents' apathy and Commission doubts. A pep rally in October almost became a disaster scene when a gasoline-soaked bonfire exploded.

It was a big year for senior citizens here as a new club was formed and Commissioners took steps to construct a new center. A mini-bus was purchased to transport seniors through town free of charge.

The Post Office Annex on Main Street became the center of this area's mobile mail carrier force, while residents were promised by Postmaster Joseph Benucci that full service will be retained at the Washington Avenue branch.

In the sporting world of Belleville, local weightlifters enjoyed state-wide prestige in copping the New Jersey A.A.U. championships, and hosting the Region I Junior Olympics. The Belleville High School wrestling squad claimed the Big Ten title, but last fall's football players suffered through a 3-6 season. Their coach, Rocco Cafone, weathered a springtime campaign to unseat him, then bowed out a season's end.

Below is a breakdown of major areas of activity in Belleville, with a brief synopsis of the past year's events.

Town Government

Meeting twice monthly in the newly-refurbished Commission chambers in Town Hall, the five Commissioners this year made significant advances in senior citizen transportation, recreation, and rent control research. In May three Commissioners made primary bids: Mrs. Senatore for the Democratic nomination to the State Senate, Mayor McGreevy, as a GOP assemblyman, and Vincent Strumolo for a freeholder spot. Only McGreevy, running unopposed, survived the June election, then went on to be defeated in November.

McGreevy was pleased to announce in October that the Town of Belleville was debt-free after a battle waged throughout the community's history. He promised a continuation of his "pay-as-we-go" policy to keep Belleville in the black.

Commissioner Michael Marotti of the Department of Parks and Public Property continued a campaign to upgrade Town buildings, negotiated the purchase of the Friendly House in Silver Lake from the Baptist Church there and announced plans to construct a senior citizens' center at Franklin Avenue and Mill Street.

Commissioner Vincent Strumolo saw the approval of his pet project to purchase a 24-seat mini-bus to carry the seniors through town on twice-daily trips.

Public Safety Commissioner Robert Laterza, while enduring a one-man picketing campaign for "stronger fireworks enforcement" by "Fireworks Man" Robert Berkheimer, sponsored a summertime ordinance banning drinking in Town parks and public property. He also saw the arrival of a new multi-purpose ambulance for the Fire Department, an addition long-sought by Laterza.

But news is made by controversy, and the major news in Town government was the Commission dispute with the Board of Education and the Town Fathers' own internal struggles.

After the school board's $7.4 million budget, featuring a 15 percent increase of the 1972-73 budget, was soundly defeated at the polls, the Commissioners met with the schoolers in early

Ten Stories Led The Field

The following is a list of the top ten news stories which occurred in Belleville last year. They were selected by the Times editorial staff on the basis of news value and continuing impact on the community.

- The February rejection of the school budget by voters; its subsequent paring by Commissioners, followed by the Board of Ed's appeal to Trenton.

- The return of ex-POW Martin Frank.

- The defeat of Mary Senatore in the June primary, the loss by Joseph McGreevy in the November election and Belleville's overwhelming approval of Anthony Imperiale as State Senator.

- Mrs. Senatore's battle with fellow Commissioners over control of appointments to the Zoning Board.

- Advances made by local senior citizens: the formation of a new club, the purchase of a minibus and the proposal of a senior citizens' center.

- The movement against head grid coach Rocco Cafone and his capitulation at the end of the season.

- Competition among four cable television outfits to win a franchise here and their rejection by Town Commissioners.

- The final payoff on Belleville's Town debt.

- The struggle by service station owners to prevent the establishment of a Goodyear Tire outlet on Washington Avenue.

- The establishment of a five-member panel to research the rent situation in Belleville.

Ralph Risoli Declares Bid for School Board

Town Registrar Ralph Risoli, a frequent critic of Board of Education policies, this week became the first resident to declare his candidacy for February's school board election.

With tomorrow the deadline for filing of petitions to run, only Risoli has announced his bid in a race which will see three seats contested. Incumbent President Lawrence Schwartz and incumbent member Matthew Pica are expected to run for re-election, while member Mrs. Norma McCool may retire after 12 years on the Board.

Risoli's dissatisfaction with the Board of Ed peaked last November when he opposed a move by some school board members to seek a bond referendum for a 20-classroom addition to the senior high school.

During the November general election, he managed the Belleville campaign of State Senator-elect Anthony Imperiale. Risoli has been a Town employee for 17 years, the past 11 spent as registrar. He had previously served as secretary to the Commissioner of Health and Welfare for four years and was director of Health and Welfare for two years.

He is a graduate of Belleville schools, vocational school, business school and has taken a course in social science. Married to the former Marie Zecca, they have two children and eight grandchildren. The Risoli's reside at 18 Valley Street.

He pointed out in his announcement he was a "prime mover" in the 1950 drive to change the Belleville Board of Education from an appointive body to an elective board. Soon after, Risoli finished second in a race for one open Board of Ed seat. In 1967, he ran unsuccessfully for a position as a Town Commissioner.

As his campaign manager, Risoli named Mrs. Phyllis Papasidera of 41 Columbus

Two Months Late

School Budget Report Filed; State Restores Half of Cut

The Board of Education and Board of Commissioners this week received copies of the State Department of Education's hearing examiner's report on the 1973-74 school budget dispute. The report recommends the restoration of almost half of the $450,880 pared from the budget by Commissioners last March.

The final report, appearing over two months after it was promised, will now be sent to Acting Commissioner of Education Edward Kilpatrick for his approval. Both the opposing parties have 15 days to submit written objections to the decision.

Mayor Joseph McGreevy, who has promised in the past to take the matter to the Superior Court if "one penny of the cut is restored," said this week he has taken the first step by advising Town Attorney John Scott to file an objection to the report. "Right now it's in his hands," said McGreevy, who declined to make further comment on his intentions.

The Board of Education is not expected to object to the report, which recommended the restoration $221,036, leaving untouched Commission cuts amounting to $229,844.

Even at the time the Board voted to appeal the Commissioners' slash, two members of the Board went on record as favoring the restoration of only a portion of the cuts made in the $7.4 million budget, while other members have privately admitted the schools could afford cuts between $250,000 and $300,000.

The report was to have been submitted within 60 days after the hearings ended in mid-August, but the Department of Education's Bureau of Controversies and Disputes reportedly had run into a heavy backlog of cases. Some Board members have expressed concern that the release of the report at this late date may negatively influence budget. Voters have rejected 11 out of the past 12 proposed budgets, and turned down the 1973-74 plan by a margin of 3-2 last February. The hearing examiner allowed all but $1,000 of the school board's proposed $102,000 in the capital outlay account to stand, but went on to sanction $228,844 in cuts from the proposed $1,142,413 current expenses accounts.

In most cases, the recommendations of the hearing examiner is approved by the Commissioner of Education. The final decision is expected to come within 15 days.

One example of the report's attempt to strike a compromise between the two Belleville boards was in the area of new teachers' salaries, where the Board of Education had budgeted $99,000 to hire 10 new teachers (five to handle increased enrollment in the high school and four

McCoy Vows to Fight For His Salary Raise

Employees in the Town's Department of Revenue and Finance may not receive their paychecks this week as a result of a dispute between Mayor Joseph McGreevy and Town Treasurer Francis McCoy.

McCoy has followed through on a threat he made last June not to pay McCoy's salary increase passed 3-1 by the Board of Commissioners over McGreevy's objection. Last Friday, McCoy ordered McCoy not to give himself the increment when it was scheduled to take effect on Tuesday, Jan. 1.

McCoy immediately sought help from the Civil Service Commission to win the raise, which would hike his yearly salary from $21,000 to $26,653. He told the Times this week he would seek a court injunction to withhold pay from the entire department until his own raise went through, explaining that the rest of the department would have to be inconvenienced because "there's no other way it can be done."

As the Times went to press, no such injunction had been filed.

McCoy's pay raise was passed last June by Commissioners Robert Laterza, Vincent Strumolo and Michael Marotti, with Commissioner Mary Senatore absent at the meeting. McGreevy, the director of the Department of Revenue and Finance, said the raise had been introduced by Laterza over his objections and against his authority as director. The mayor said at the time McCoy is the "highest paid treasurer in Essex County" and said he felt another raise was unwarranted.

He further said the granting of the raise ran counter to the Walsh Act, which defines the powers of each Commissioner.

But Town Attorney John

Scott, asked for an opinion, said any Commissioner could move a salary raise for McCoy since the Town Treasurer performs services for every department. In doing so, he reversed an earlier opinion of his that it would "cause havoc in the commission form of government" if each commissioner could move raises for personnel outside his department.

Immediately after the raise was granted by the other Town Fathers, McGreevy announced he would hold back the increase this January conceding his action would result in "some form of court action."

Golden Comments

By James R. Golden

With the holiday season over the hill and the wallet badly bent, we may now get along with speculations and conjecture of what are to be the up-coming events of the new year. In line with this thinking we pose the following questions concerning local situations that may be expected to materialize... and which could have a very personal effect upon both your pocketbook and your regard for those responsible for the decisions bringing about the circumstances.

The February School Board election will soon be upon us and you may expect some shocking surprises there. Keep your eye on Town Register, Rimpie Risoli, alikely winner for a berth on the school board with strong support from the lemon ice king Jackie Rega, who incidentally is back on the same old stand at Union and Belleville Avenues... seems the buying public likes Jackie's products... and gift-of-gab better than the fellow who was no match for Jackie's loving personality. It draws people to him like a magnet... even if they think they don't like him. Whatta guy.

Maass School of Nursing Celebrates Its 80th Year

Clara Maass Memorial Hospital School of Nursing celebrated its 80th anniversary with appropriate ceremonies last week.

Dedicated in 1893 as the Christina Trefz Training School in Newark, its first class of students was comprised of seven girls. Today the school is capable of providing nursing education facilities for 103 students and is located on the hospital grounds in Belleville. Approximately 35 students graduate from the 36-month certificate course each year many of whom remain with the hospital as graduates and eventually R.N.'s.

In its 80th anniversary year the School of Nursing carries on the tradition of dedication to the nursing profession and boasts of having its entire 1973 graduating class pass the State Board Examination without a failure and achieving an enviable record. Miss Anne Knox, Director of the School, gave credit to the faculty members who guided the students during their course of study.

To commemorate the school's anniversary, the Nutley Garden Club presented a symbolic Norway Spruce which was planted in the circle directly in front of the school building.

During luncheon ceremonies, Master of Ceremonies, Miss Veronica Rempusheski, R.N., a faculty member and President of the Alumnae Association, presided over the program. Speakers for the occasion were student nurse, Linda Boyce who gave a brief history of the school; Archie C. Barbata, Board Chairman; and Miss Mildred Neusse, Administrative Assistance.

Phillip Pierce, President of the Nutley Garden Club, and a delegation of the club's members formally presented the Norway Spruce to the school which was accepted by Miss Anne Knox.

During the closing remarks, made by Albin H. Oberg, Executive director, the symbolism of the tree to life was made. Oberg commented that as the tree grows to maturity so do the students of the school and as they look at the tree they can reflect upon themselves our growth and administrative comfort and shelter to those in needs such as a tree gives shelter and comfort to birds and animals.

CHIROPRACTIC FOR

LIFE HEALTH

BURSITIS

The searing pain of bursitis appears to flow through the entire body. There seems to be no time, no position, no situation where the body can enjoy a second of real comfort.

But, the chiropractor, skillfully and using scientific methods, traces the pain to its source — a microscopic section of the body's vast nerve system. A tiny pressure, or impingement, is affecting the proper function of an important part of the body's nervous system. The area served by the impinged nerve is not functioning normally and properly.

Through gentle, scientific adjustments, the chiropractor's skilled hands adjust spinal alignment and free the nerve from its restricting pressure. Vital nerve energy begins to flow through the released nerve to the affected area, enabling it to resume its normal function.

Released from the pressure imposed by the obstructed nerve, nature goes to work from within to restore health.

Schools Made News Through '73

March. After a single unproductive session which McGreevy said was marred by an obstinate and frivolous attitude on the part of the schoolers, the Commissioners took a heavy blade to the trustees' economic blueprint.

The Board of Education got the results of the $450,880 cut at the same time the rest of Belleville did — at a March 20 public hearing on the municipal budget, when McGreevy also announced the new tax rate would be held at below $600 per $100 of assessed value. The low tax hike was made possible at the expense of the 1973-74 proposed school budget.

That budget was thrown into limbo when the school board took their case to the Commissioner of Education for the second time in five years. The preliminary report to the Commissioner was completed only last week, and contained a compromise cut of $229,844. But McGreevy, who, according to Board sources, has rebuffed all compromise overtures from the beginning, still seems determined to appeal the Commissioner's decision to the courts.

Inside the Commission itself, McGreevy feuded for the latter part of 1973 with Mrs. Senatore, who claims McGreevy and other Commissioners have denied her the right to reappoint Anthony Agresta to the Zoning Board of Adjustment.

While Laterza sided with Mrs. Senatore on the issue, Commissioners Strumolo and Marotti announced they not only would support Mrs. Senatore, but they would further refuse to back McGreevy's men for reappointment.

As it stands now, Agresta has been denied reappointment, while Zoning Board Chairman Arthur DeFuria and alternate Kenneth Nash continue to serve as unappointed "holdovers".

Mrs. Senatore has filed a civil suit to bring all Zoning Board appointments under her control.

On the Zoning Board itself, Agresta's refusal to serve, like DeFuria and Nash, as a "holdover" caused a year-old case involving proposed apartments on Laverne Street to be thrown out. Other zoning matters that passed on split votes were sent to the Commission, where they were also narrowly approved, including a proposed Goodyear Tire outlet on Washington Avenue. A subsequent appeal to the Superior Court by combined service station owners in Belleville resulted in the return of the Goodyear case to the Commission.

In another case, the court also struck down another disputed variance for an expansion of apartments on Brighton Avenue.

School Affairs

Like the Commissioners, the Board of Education conducted their business from improved quarters when they moved from their cramped offices in School Eight to the upper floor of a Town-owned building on Washington Avenue.

In what many Board members had predicted would be one of the most critical years in the school system's history, Lawrence Schwartz assumed the presidency in February, backed by Caesar Romano in the vice presidency. The schoolers pinpointed physical renovations as the major immediate need in the system and had included $337,971 in the proposed 73-74 budget for "immediate and necessary repairs." After the resounding defeat of the budget at the polls, the school board held firm when asked by Commissioners where cuts could be made. The trustees offered only to give up $50,000 budgeted to repair folding gym doors which were later repaired by volunteers for a few dollars. Despite an 11th-hour attempt by Romano to reestablish negotiations between the two bodies, the Commissioners went through with their near half-million cut and the budget question was on its way to the state Commissioner.

Just before the school system had tightened its belt and went on an interim budget, the summer of '73 brought a major reshuffling of administrators. Junior High Principal Seymour Grossman was made an assistant superintendent and charged with overseeing curriculum in grades four through 12; Assistant Superintendent Michael Rosamilia took four through 12; along with the principalship of School Nine; Nicholas Petti, principal of Nine was transferred to School Eight to replace the retired Thomas Gryzeka; School Two Principal Arthur Pico took on additional duties as Special Education Director; and High School Guidance Director, George Nucera was made administrative assistant to the principal.

Now Its A ab Blackmail

When the Arabs attacked Israel on the most significant Jewish religious day of the year, Yom Kippur, we thought the event was the greatest day of infamy in the life and times of the Arab nations.

The Arab's treacherous act of the Yom Kippur war has now been topped by an Arab effort to blackmail the entire world through the use of its oil. The Arabs want all industrial nations which rely upon oil for their economy to withdraw their support of Israel and join the Arab community in its effort to destroy the State of Israel.

The above incidents clearly indicate Arab leaders have little regard for human and moral values. It is time world leaders, with a respect for human dignity, agree to suffer a shortage of Arab oil and tell the Arabs what to do with their oil and blackmail.

Nothing short of the elimination of Israel as a state will satisfy the Arab interests.

We believe simple decency requires America to stand four-square in support of Israel. Our Jewish friends need not worry that an Arab oil boycott will sour Americans on Israel and lead to an anti-semitic stance.

On Yom Kippur it was the Arabs who attacked the Jews. Despite this historical fact Arabs are still trying to convince the world they are innocent and the sufferers, and Israel is the belligerent. Nothing could be further from the truth.

If America is to survive as a world leader and enjoy the respect of free countries, and peoples of the world she must continue to make it clear that Israel will not be sacrificed for oil.

New Jersey's New Governor

Governor-elect Brendan Byrne is moving very deliberately in his selection of his cabinet members. He has made excellent choices to fill the posts of Secretary of State and Attorney General.

The cabinet spot of Commissioner of Labor and Industry is expected to go to Essex County's Senator Ralph DeRose who turned down a certain re-election to the New Jersey Senate to make a run for the Democrat gubernatorial nomination which went to Byrne.

Brendan Byrne scored his biggest majority — 92,000 votes — in Essex County. Since Governor-elect Byrne is a hometown Essex boy, his personal reputation was responsible for a great part of his Essex County victory. Byrne willingly admits he was aided in his Essex victory by a strong Democrat County Organization.

If Byrne finally selects Senator DeRose to join his cabinet, the decision would be no surprise. DeRose is an independent, articulate, dedicated public official who is neither an extreme liberal nor an extreme conservative. His voting record indicates a middle-of-the-road political philosophy which is just the right ingredient for one to head the important Labor and Industry department.

Wild-eyed members of the liberal Democrat Party are strenuously moving to persuade Governor-elect Brendan Byrne to dump DeRose. Were this effort to succeed the Democrat Party will have failed in its initial opportunity to bring all factions of the party under one roof. The Governor-elect has every reason to listen to the opinions expressed by the various Democrat leaders representing the total spectrum of political philosophy — but listening is one thing and being pressured into doing the wrong thing is quite something different.

Alexander Hamilton

One of the great minds behind the American Revolution was Alexander Hamilton, born on January 11, 1757, in the West Indies. Hamilton at 17 attracted widespread attention by a speech he made at City hall in New York supporting the proposal to call a congress of the colonies. Shortly afterward it became known that he—and not two older men—had written two pamphlets defending the action of the colonies and his reputation was made.

He volunteered for military duty and served in the Revolution, at its end having become Washington's aide and personal secretary. He was a member of the Continental Congress in 1782 and 1783. He was named by Washington as first

Secretary of the Treasury.

In 1800, in the election contest between John Adams and Aaron Burr, Hamilton used his influence to give the victory to Adams when a stalemate developed in the House of Representatives. Four years later Burr, still bitter, challenged Hamilton to a duel.

Hamilton, whose mother had been a French Huguenot, accepted—in the somewhat misguided latin tradition. At the duel he fired intentionally into the air. The revenge-minded Burr aimed straight and Hamilton died of the wound the next day, one of the few prominent Americans to have lost his life in a duel.

1973 Was A Good Year To Watch Political Bouts

The move was expected to promote efficiency in the school system, especially in the area of curriculum. There were only minor repercussions afterwards, from School Nine parents who felt that Rosamilia would be a "part-time" principal, but the parents apparently became satisfied with the new arrangement.

In November, a majority of the school board began to steer the system towards a 1974 bond referendum which would have asked voters to approve a 20-classroom addition to the Senior High School, and a sweeping maintenance program in every one of Belleville's deteriorating elementary schools, and especially the Junior High School. After an immediate show of opposition by Town Registrar Ralph Risolt (now a candidate for the Board) and the dissent by Board members Matthew Pica and G. Fred Burlazzi, the rest of the schoolers backed away from the addition plans and decided to focus on the maintenance program.

Other Top Stories

In late January, Bellevilleites shared in the relief at the settlement of the Vietnam War and were later given a bonus when the name of Staff Sergeant Martin S. Frank was included on the list of returning POW's. Frank was honored in a day of celebrations in late March. The 31-year-old infantryman, who was held by the Viet Cong for five and a half years, re-enlisted in the Army later in 1973.

Some Belleville football fans, dissatisfied with the performance of head coach Rocco Cafone, made their feelings known in a "Dump Cafone" petition in spring. They were immediately answered by a petition signed by former members of Cafone's teams, and both petitions were sent to the Board of Education, who interviewed Cafone and other parties.

Within a week, the anti-Cafone petition was withdrawn and the coach was rehired for his fourth year.

Last fall was a "hard luck" season, though, and the Bellboys wound up defeating only West Essex, Orange and, in a brilliant finale, the undefeated Lyndhurst Golden Bears. But Cafone realized the 3-6 season record didn't enthrall Belleville's demanding fans, and he tendered his resignation. The affable ex-coach remains at Belleville High as a guidance counselor.

The Belleville Weightlifting Club, riding the crest of success, claimed a tri-state title this year, also taking the New Jersey A.A.U. title.

A night in July saw the return of boxing to Belleville, when the Veteran Boxers Social Club of New Jersey, based in town, sponsored a series of bouts between Golden Glove contenders. Hundreds of dollars were raised for charity.

One high school student was seriously injured and several others hurt when a bonfire apparently ignited prematurely at a pep rally held near Belleville Stadium in anticipation of the football game against Bloomfield. Officials in the schools and Fire Departments promised if another bonfire was ever held, gasoline would not likely be used to fuel the blaze again.

Defeated Board of Education candidate Steve Rogers hinted darkly that he had been offered "deals" by two school board members during his campaign, and vowed to take the matter to the Essex County Prosecutor's Office. He reportedly did so, but without any witnesses to back him up, got nowhere with his charge. He was later publicly berated by members of the Board of Ed, principally Mrs. Norma McCool.

Walter Kidde Company, a leading union-shop company in Belleville, was shut down by a strike for eight weeks in the latter part of the year. The strike was brought to a close through mediation in early December.

Rent control was an ongoing story throughout 1973, and Belleville followed the lead of other towns by appointing a five-member panel to study the question. The committee has been taking complaints from tenants and its initial recommendation was for the establishment of a Federal Housing Authority here to tap the way rent subsidies to hard-pressed senior citizens.

Into 1974

The rent situation is only one of many stories that will continue from 1973 to 1974. Other trends, both positive and negative will continue to develop.

Early in the year budgets will again be proposed both by the Board of Education and the Town Commission. The school budget questions will likely be confused by the forthcoming restoration of funds from last year's budget and the expected appeal by the mayor to the courts.

Growing sentiment on the Board of Education to effect a major repair program in all schools may be transferred to voters in a bond referendum which could appear on a ballot this year. Whether or not an addition to the high school will also be listed is still questionable.

Mrs. Senatore's suit against fellow Commissioners to bring appointments to the Zoning Board under her control will be settled in 1974, and the outcome will shape the makeup of the Board of Adjustment and future zoning practices here.

Senior citizens, who have recently formed a club separate from the Essex Park Commission group, will be meeting in a new building by summer or fall, and with the added mobility of the town's mini-bus, are expected to flourish as a group.

Memorable Dates

January is packed with memorable dates. One of the most memorable, and one often overlooked, is January 8th—the day in 1815 when General Andrew Jackson defeated 7,000 British troops storming his positions before New Orleans.

In the same year that Napoleon fought his last battle (Waterloo); "Old Hickory" was saving New Orleans and winning the last battle of the War of 1812. Ironically after the peace treaty had been signed (Ghent, December 24, 1814). The United States had learned earlier that year of Napoleon's abdication, which freed large British forces.

Though Napoleon was to escape from St. Helena in March of 1815, to fight the Allies once again (Waterloo), American officials did not know this when they concluded peace in December, 1814, and, in any event, Napoleon was defeated again in 1815.

Jackson first attacked the British December 23, 1814, but was repulsed, and fell back upon earthworks, which he forttified. The British finally attacked January 8th with 7,000 men, and 2,000, including their commanding officer, were killed in thirty minutes.

Another memorable January date is the 9th. On that day in 1861, the merchant steamer, Star of the West, attempted to land reinforcements Fort Sumter and shore batteries opened fire and turned back the ship. The fort's commander had opposed this dangerous move, knowing that the South felt it had received clear assurance that no reinforcement would be attempted while negotiations were in progress.

Nevertheless, firing on the flag was a great victory of strategy for the North and a blunder for the South, which stirred intense passions. The first balloon ascension in the United States occurred January 9th, in Philadelphia, in 1793. A Frenchman, Francois Blanchard, lost money on the occasion, even though President Washington attended—and gave him a written message to carry into the air!

Advices GOP To Speak Out On President

To the Editor:

I am a concerned American who is confused. Where are the responsible Republican leaders in America today? I have talked to Republican leaders who will admit in private that they are against what President Nixon has done to our Country and our way of life since 1968. But these same Republican leaders who were tossed aside by Nixon and his Committee to Re-Elect the President in the 1972 Presidential Election have failed to get the message.

The time has come for the grass roots Republicans to be heard. Since the eruption of Watergate they have backed into a corner afraid to speak. Afraid to defend President Nixon and afraid to attack him.

If the true Republicans of America do not meet the challenge of the next six months, I am afraid that we will be a one party country and as an Independent Democrat I feel that the Republican Party owes it to America that this must not happen. We must maintain a balanced Two-Party System if we are to survive in spite of the riddle of Richard Nixon. I urge the Republicans to speak out.

Trenton Sends Budget Report

special education and five more to effect a work-study program). The hearing examiner found the high school and special education teachers necessary, but added, "in the light of the budget defeat, the hearing examiner recommends that the proposed work-study program, desirable as it may be, should await further implementation." The resulting recommendation left $49,500 restored to the budget and an equal amount left out.

In the area of contracted services, where $8,500 had been prepared by Commissioners from the $9,500 account. The hearing examiner accepted the pleas from the Board of Ed that Belleville schools have fallen into disrepair and restored the entire $8,500, citing "the potential hazard to life and property" in the electrical system's disrepair and advised the Board of Education to "get formal detailed drawings and submit it to the general public on referendum" to solve the problem.

However, in another contracted services account, where the Board of Ed had proposed appropriations of $175,255 for general maintenance and the Commissioners had demanded a cut of $141,255, the hearing examiner recommended the restoration of only $57,610, leaving $83,645. However, $50,000 of that amount was for a folding gym door that the school board had wanted to replace, but was later repaired for only a few dollars. The schoolers withdrew their request. The hearing examiner proposed the further reduction of $33,645 from the account "in recognition of the expressed will of the electorate calling for economies in school operations."

The report agreed with the Board of Commissioners that $26,000 should be cut from the athletic account. A $32,372 increase had been proposed by the school board for a new soccer program, a crew boat, for girls' softball and basketball, and for new equipment.

A cut of $17,000 from contracted transportation services was restored in order to prepare the Board for "present inflationary costs of vehicle operation," but the hearing examiner agreed the school board did not need $6,340 to replace a school-owned station wagon.

The Board of Commissioners had cut back an account for replacement of equipment from the proposed $60,000 to the 1972-73 level of $10,000. The schoolers had budgeted the increase because of a state-mandated redefinition of accounts, but the hearing examiner concluded much of the equipment.

Golden Comments

seat on the Nutley school board in upcoming February election in that town. While I don't know Mr. Testa personally, I have a great respect for his integrity and independence of character. The guy has not only great credentials, but what is more, "GUTS" which he so admirably displayed as football coach of the Belleville High School team back in the days when I served on the local governing body.

Mr. Testa stood up to school board trustees of this town who failing tried to dictate to the coach how and who should play on his coached team. They were his bosses, but he never "knuckled under" to them. He was his own man. I "loved" his firm public stand when he "told them off" by saying you don't tell me how I run my classroom or who I pass or fail, so don't try to tell me how I run my football team. THAT'S A MAN. Good luck Tom Testa, a guy like you is a wonderful inspiration to kids growing up in a badly troubled world. Would that the world had more such honorable instructors to teach our kids. I think you'd make a great School Board Trustee.

It is refreshing to learn that U.S. Attorney Herbert J. Stern's elevation to the federal bench is not a likely sign of an end of a law enforcement era in our state, since his chief assistant, Jonathan L. Goldstein, is his likely successor.

Senator Clifford P. Case is strongly "pushing" his official appointment. The N.J. Senator is particularly proud of the records compiled by his previous choices of Lacey and Stern and is determined that the position not fall into the hands of a political hack. The senior U.S. Senator from New Jersey prides himself on his past recommendations and seeks to ensure that the outstanding law enforcement efforts begun by Lacey should continue. We indeed hope it does.

THE STATE WE'RE IN

Even The Unbelievers Believe In The Reality Of Energy Crisis

By David F. Moore

N.J. Conservation Foundation

NOW THAT WE ARE into what even the unbelievers call an energy crisis, it's interesting to make a few observations. Here at the NJCF, we have been looking through the December 1971 issue of the Foundation's magazine, "Footprints," and realizing that our assessment of the American energy situation back then was the same as it is today. I think we spelled out the issues rather well.

It looks from here that this crunch is going to stay with us, in one form or another, and that things are never going to be quite the same. This crisis may fade, but bigger ones are edging in from the wings. You could say that we are in future shock right now; that is, we can't adjust to the rapidly increasing rate of natural resource use.

DISTURBING THINGS are happening. It's becoming quite apparent that some facets of our culture need over-hauling, like moderation of our government by lobbying, which terms of long run planning relates very little indeed to the public interest.

Many congressmen in Washington are calling for an end to the energy trust, but find it nearly impossible to get enough honest facts to make appropriate decisions.

The exaggerated blame environmentalists are getting for the energy crisis seems especially out of proportion when one realizes the environmentalists are the ones who have been desperately calling attention all along about the danger of an energy crisis. None of the energy purveyors were on that band wagon when it would have been counted.

I am always skeptical when people who make money by selling energy to us tell us not to buy their product. The energy people's messages now seem really intent on scaring us into things like the Alaskan pipeline, off-shore drilling, deep-water ports, an end to "troublesome" anti-pollution measures and other inhibitions to the short run profits of the energy people.

AS HAS BEEN pointed out, none of these things is related to the problem we have now. In fact, the call to end anti-pollution efforts in cars is ridiculous. Proper inspection and maintenance results in better fuel economy.

I am waiting for one of those companies to come up with some honest figures on just how much is left in the world-wide fossil fuel reservoir, and a frank discussion of what humanity will do when it's gone. It's time now to seriously limit oil use for plastics, fabrics, drugs, mass transit and providing the energy required to make the new kinds of energy "manufacturing" equipment, like solar energy systems.

THE SUN SENDS earth enough energy in forty minutes to supply energy needs for a year. Existing technology permits far greater use of this energy than is happening, while renewable resources are being gobbled up all the faster. Basic building designs are energy wasteful, for example, but architects, builders, and engineers are in no hurry to correct that situation, it would seem, even though technology is here, at nearly competitive rates, to use solar heat and light easily.

And then there's the unkindest cut of all: men who used to avidly support the environmentalists cause are now reacting in exactly the way the Madison Avenue types would have them. People are reacting like urban poor toward natural resource concerns; "Don't bother me with the future, or how much sooner I'm going to die, when I don't have a job or food on the table."

NOW THE SUBURBANITE is saying, "Don't bother me with all that stuff about twenty years from now when I need gas for my weekend ski trip, and oil for my furnace."

Well, somebody had better be worried about tomorrow. Neither major corporations or public administrators would seem so inclined. But without some worry now, and some action on tomorrow's problems, there won't be any tomorrow.

Registrar to Run For Board of Ed

Avenue, who was expected to file for Risoli's candidacy yesterday.

Risoli has served as an Essex County deputy sheriff, and was president of the Civilian Welfare Council of the U.S. Air Force, N.T.C.D. He is also an honorary life member of the Italian-American War Veterans, a member of the Holy Name Society, and a frequent participant in charity drives.

An organizer and first president of the James Shawyer School (School Four) PTA, Risoli has also served on the lay Education Advisory Council. His declaration of candidacy emphasized his latest dispute with the Board of Education, as he said he is running "to continue the fight against the Board of Education to prevent any new additions or new buildings in our school system."

He went on to charge the Board of Ed with "wasteful spending" and promised his campaign would "bring out the facts that have always been concealed by the Board of Education so the public would not realize the waste of tax dollars spent on the Board."

After declaring the school board is "obviously politically controlled," under questioning Risoli specifically said, "they're not all controlled, but a majority bloc is controlled by one political personality. Let them challenge me and I'll furnish documented proof."

Risoli refused to publicly name the "political personality" he alluded to, and declined to provide a Times reporter with any proof.

"With my 12 years experience in budgeting, I believe I'll be an asset to the Board of Education and I intend to use my experience wisely once elected. There's much to be done in many areas which I intend to explore once I'm on the Board."

Risoli is the first candidate to announce his bid in a year which will see three seats up for grabs. Expected to announce by the January 4 deadline are incumbents Matthew Pica and Board President Lawrence Schwartz. Another incumbent, Mrs. Norma McCool, a veteran member for the past 12 years, has not taken out a petition to file and is reported to be considering retirement from the Board.

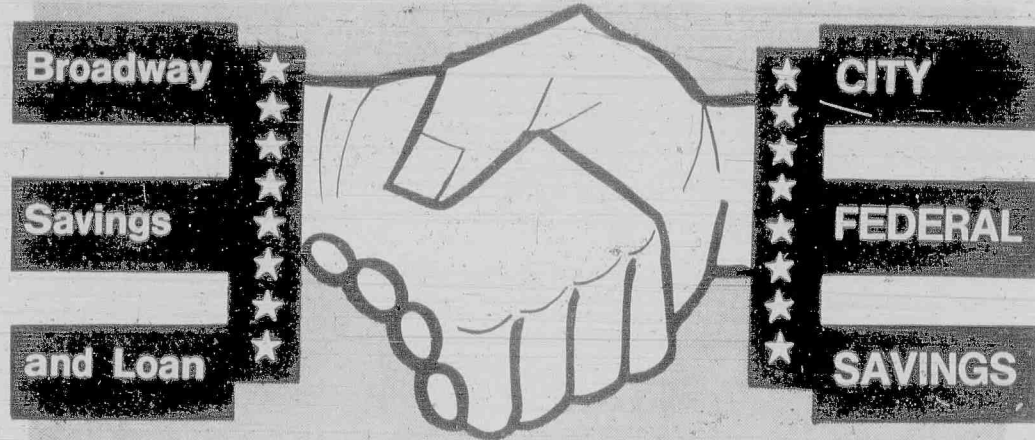

Several other petitions to file have been taken out from the Board of Ed offices, but no official announcements, besides Risoli's, have been made. The lack of declared candidates at this late date is considered by local political experts to be unusual in a year when three seats are open.

However, another strong candidacy is expected to be that of Mrs. Viola Spray, former principal of School Seven, who will probably declare her own bid soon.

The election this year will take place on Wednesday, Feb. 13, instead of the preceding Tuesday, which is Lincoln's birthday.

Risoli's brother James was elected to a seat on the Board of Education two years ago, but the two brothers are known to hold widely differing views on educational policy.

Leftover Tree Can Serve Many Purposes

When the holidays are over, put your Christmas tree to work in your garden.

William F. Munk, senior county agricultural agent of Essex County, points out that evergreen boughs make a good mulch for perennials and bulbs.

January is the ideal time to apply a mulch because the ground is usually frozen by then and the mulch will discourage thawing and freezing. You can also spread straw, hay, or oak leaves be useful as a windbreak for your living evergreens. It's not the best method of protection, but it will help because wind and sun can cause the top of your evergreen plants to dry out. Anything that helps break the wind and shades the plant will help.

Your tree can also become a bird feeder. Just stand it upright in the lawn or garden and fasten suet and feeders of grain on the tree. The birds will like it because the hardest part of winter is still for them.

MENTAL HEALTH MATTERS

Bertram S. Brown, M.D., Director
National Institute of Mental Health

Fighting the Blues

It is not surprising, considering the turmoil and complexity of our times that depression is a widespread condition.

Especially at certain times of the year does this seem so, for mild forms may appear to be epidemic around some holiday seasons.

These we may recognize, with Christmas coming on, as the "holiday blues." The post-New Year's Eve blues are perhaps even more familiar.

Can we do anything to help fight the blues?

Some pointers have been suggested from the Depression Section of HEW's National Institute of Mental Health. Although concerned with research in the field of serious and severe depression, which is a major mental illness problem the Section offers these thoughtful everyday suggestions to apply when you're feeling blue:

- Find someone to confide in — someone who will listen to you.

- Keep yourself occupied. Fight the temptation to stay in bed and do nothing. If you can't fall asleep, engage in an activity until you become tired.

- Attend to your personal appearance. Pre-occupation with the blues can lead to self-neglect which in turn can lead to more blues.

There is no immunization against the blues. There are, however, some ways to make their occurrence less likely:

- Anticipate possible disappointments during the holiday season. Preparing oneself often softens the blow.

- When you think of the past, keep your perspective. The holidays are a part of most of us. Don't allow yourself to focus on negative memories to the exclusion of the positive.

- Think through your actions: parties, alcohol, and relationships. You can avoid the blues by steering clear of those likely to be precipitants of blues.

Lung Disease Sufferers Can Protect Themselves

Ten ways lung disease sufferers can protect themselves from rising air pollution levels that may result from relaxed air quality standards were offered today by the Essex County Respiratory Disease League, which serves Essex County Robert S. Deasey, the League's President, pointed out the widening use of high-sulphur fuels in major cities and industrial areas to meet the energy shortage. He said it could increase the chances of an air pollution crisis.

your Respiratory Disease League fight lung disease.

Nearly $195,000 has been received by December 25, but $55,000 more is urgently needed by the League to carry on the fight against crippling respiratory diseases. Mr. Deasey said reminder notices to those who have not yet contributed are now in the mail. "Our Campaign does not end at Christmas," he said, "and we are counting on a generous response from many more people."

"Those suffering from emphysema, asthma, chronic bronchitis and other breathing difficulties, as well as heart conditions, could be seriously affected," Mr. Deasey cautioned. He urged residents to listen to the air quality reports and, when dangerous levels of pollutants build up in the atmosphere, to take the following precautions:

1. Stay indoors as much as possible
2. Keep windows closed
3. Avoid exposure to cold
4. Avoid stress and unnecessary exertion
5. Keep the room air moist with a humidifier or pans of water. These should be cleaned regularly to prevent growth of molds or bacteria
6. Don't smoke and keep away from those who do
7. Avoid household chores that stir up dust
8. Be sure to take your prescribed medication
9. At the first sign of illness or worsening symptoms, don't hesitate to call your doctor
10. If you haven't answered your Christmas Seal letter, do so now, so that you can help

Illustrated Talk On New Comet At Museum

An illustrated talk on Comet Kohoutek, the "Comet of the Century," will be given by Planetarium Director Gary Swagin at the Newark Museum, 49 Washington Street, on Sunday, January 6, at 2:30 p.m.

Kohoutek should be the brightest object in the evening sky during January, only 6.3 times fainter than the full moon.

Belleville Class Enjoys A Tenth Year Reunion

Belleville High School Class of 1963 held its tenth year reunion November 23 at the Chanticleer, Millburn. In attendance were approximately 150 people who enjoyed a cocktail hour and a prime ribs dinner with all the trimmings. Music was supplied by Lefty and His Dominoes who entertained all night by playing the oldies.

Prizes were awarded to several people, the one who replied first, the one who replied last, those who traveled the farthest to come, the girl who had a baby closest to the reunion and to those who had the oddest professions. To wink the center pieces questions were asked about school days and the one who replied first won.

On the committee were Angela Zarro, Chairwoman, Angela Horvat, Carol Lavanco, Sylvia Priolo, Lucille Priolo, Janet Zarro and Maria Zinna who worked especially hard to get everyone together.

Raiders Dump Bellboy Five In 'Thriller'

by Bob Cohen

It was like many other cage contests the Bellboys were involved in. The game was another thriller even with each team holding a large lead at one time in the game. Yet the cagers could not contain 31 guard Mike Calicchio and center Barry Findley troubled Abdel Anderson the entire game and so the Nutley Maroon ran past Belleville 71-57 at Nutley.

Belleville dropped to 2-3 overall and 1-2 in Big Ten Competition while Nutley is now 4-1 and 3-1 in the Big Ten.

The schedule does not get any lighter in the upcoming weeks as Orange, currently ranked third in the state, was set to Belleville yesterday Jan. 4 the Bellboys will meet Montclair in a game at Belleville with game time at 8. Then on Jan. 8 the Bellboys will play East Orange at E.O. with game time set at 3:45 P.M.

Belleville controlled the opening tap and immediately took to the offense. Gary Tufo, on his way to his highest point tally, hit from inside. Anthony Cotugno responded with a jumper as the Nutley zone press could not contain the Bellboys. Mike Calicchio shot and missed his first attempt from the field. After that, Calicchio hit eight in a row to lead Nutley. The Bellboy attack was still strong as Joe Dunn, Tufo and Cotugno were on target as everything hitting for Belleville. Rich Clark put Nutley on the scoreboard as he and Findley were early Maroon scorers. Nutley fought back as Calicchio went to the hoop and was 3 for 3 or the rest of the quarter. Findley hit from inside and Belleville six point lead was slowly diminishing. Still Cotugno's fine outside shooting kept Belleville maintained a slim two point advantage, 14-12.

As the second quarter got underway, Clark scored to knot the game at 14. Still Gary Tufo was scoring and he popped in two. Harry Baumgartner picked up his second personal and was quickly lifted in favor of Bob DiQuattro. DiQuattro had the responsibility of holding down Calicchio who was again hitting with consistency. Yet the hustling Bellboys were in the game with Anderson hitting for six and Cotugno was good for four points. Then the Belleville center picked up his second personal and he left the game. Calicchio and company then went to work and they ran off nine points to put the Raiders in the lead to stay. Clark responded with six points to set the table for Calicchio's 13 point quarter. Corey and Findley added two a piece. For Belleville the scoring shopped up with Cotugno scoring four, Anderson 6 and Tufo four points as Nutley outscored Belleville in the decisive quarter, 25-14. Petreaans Battle St. Bridget's For Independent League Lead

The Grammar Independent Basketball League continued action this week as St. Rose of Lima from Newark had to hang on against a surprising St. Valentine's of Bloomfield squad by the score of 58-54 at the Bloomfield school's gym.

The fans at White Horn Junior High School in Verona saw a spectacular defensive battle as St. Thomas of Bloomfield squeaked by Our Lady of the Lake by a score of 25-19.

In the battle for first place, St. Bridget's of Newark hosted St. Peter's of Belleville. The Petreaans got off to an

Trophies Waiting For GIL Winner

Bob Conway and Bob Mallack, commissioners of the newly-formed Grammar Independent Basketball League announced this week the G.I.L. will award several trophies this year.

The first will go to the school which wins the league championship; another will be awarded to the player showing the "most maturity" during the season; another will go to the top cheerleading team in the league. Coaches will vote in the last two categories, but are barred from voting for members of their own units.

Conway commented, "Cheerleaders are often taken for granted. Mr. Mallack, myself, and all the coaches feel that they should be rewarded for their efforts. Here at St. Peter's we are very fortunate to have a fine coach in Miss Maureen Madara to lead our squad. She has two very capable people in co-captain Cindy Corris and captain

Seton Hall Cleans Up

Bloomfield Invitational: Grapplers Are No. 3

A monstrosity-powerful Seton Hall squad completely dominated Saturday night's Bloomfield Invitational Tournament, while the Bellboy grapplers had to settle for third place after being edged for second by Irvington.

While Bellboy coach Jim Silvestri said his team could have done better, he noted an "overall improvement" since the opening loss to Wayne Valley, and judged the Bellboys ready to take on West Essex tonight. The jayvee match begins at 7:30 p.m. and will be followed by the varsity.

Final points in the Bloomfield Invitational were as follows: Seton Hall — 119; Irvington — 54; Belleville — 52 and a half; West Essex — 32; Bloomfield — 21; Glen Ridge — 17; West Orange — 16; Kearny — 10.

Two tournament winners came from the Bellboy ranks. Sophomore Vinnie Mustacchio (101 pounds) defeated Irvington's Mansfield, 12-4 in the last of three bouts. Co-captain Ralph Fabiano (148) defeated Fitzgerald of Irvington, 15-0 in the preliminaries, then won in the semi-finals, 7-2 and the finals, 5-1 to claim the tourney crown.

Bob Smith (108) lost in the preliminary bout in a referee's decision in overtime. "He made a couple of mistakes," said Silvestri, "but he showed definite signs of improvement."

Bob Cozzarelli (115) likewise fell in an overtime preliminary bout. Silvestri saw a couple mistakes here, also, and credited them to "nervousness."

Anthony Villano (122) fell in the semi-finals when, after leading 6-0, he was pinned by Fulco of Glen Ridge. Silvestri described it as almost a fluke, saying Villano was caught with a reverse cradle, "a garbage move."

Don Liloia (129) fell, 2-0, in the preliminaries, while Chuck Rilli (135) was defeated 6-5 in the semi-finals.

The coach pointed out that nine of the Bellboys made it to the semi-finals. One of them was Bill Mazza (141), who came in third after he was pinned by Seton Hall's Gardiner.

Joe Vazquez (157), after pinning in the preliminary, lost in the semi-finals to Seton Hall's Milea. Craig Davis (170) took fourth place.

Jim La Conti suffered through an error when he walked away from a match after he thought he heard a referee's whistle during a semi-final match. His opponent took him down and La Conti had to settle for third place.

Heavyweight John McManus won a pin in the preliminary, then lost in the semi-finals.

"Mostly we did well," said Silvestri, "although there were three or four matches we could have taken. There were plenty of mental lapses."

Next Wednesday, the Bellboys will travel to face Essex Catholic, described by Silvestri as "always tough." Reportedly, Belleville will be Essex Catholic's opening match of the season.

West Essex Here Tonight

Bellboy grapplers will meet West Essex tonight at the Belleville High auditorium. The Times last week incorrectly reported the date of the match.

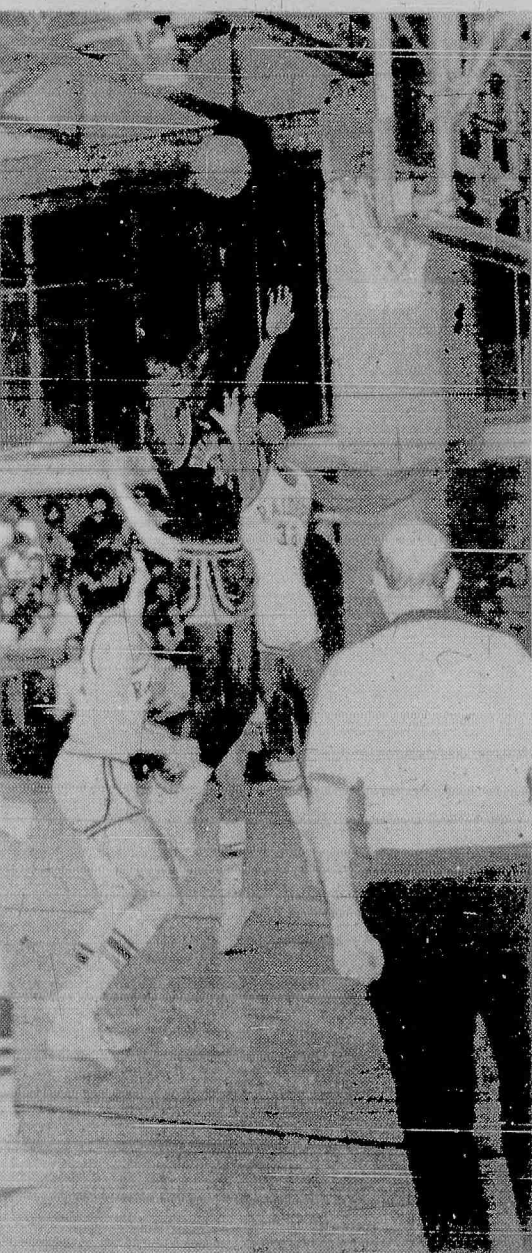

The jayvee match will begin at 6:30 p.m. and will be followed by varsity competition.

Jon Matlack Heading Here On Saturday

Henrik Tvedt, President of First State Savings and Loan announced that three Bloomfield sports greats of the past will be special guests of the Association at the special sports celebration on Saturday, Jan. 5 at first State's Belleville Avenue office. Joining Jon Matlack, New York Met sensational pitcher, will be Hank Borowy, ormer New York Yankee and Chicago Cub star, Frank Tripucka, former Notre Dame and Denver Bronco quarterback, and Bill Geyer, Jr., former halfback of the World Champion Chicago Bears.

Tvedt said that Bloomfield was fortunate in producing three such outstanding professional athletes as each one has brought fame to the community with their success in sports. Hank Borowy achieved early renown at Bloomfield High School and Fordham University before

Wayne Valley Wins In 'Shooting Spree'

By Bob Cohen

Proving that clutch shooting from the field remains the backbone of many cage contests, the Wayne Valley Indians defeated the Bellboys 81-75 last Wednesday in a highly intense game played at Belleville.

This week the schedule pitted Belleville against highly rated Orange in a game played at Belleville yesterday. Tomorrow, Belleville will play host to the equally tough Mounties of Montclair in a game beginning at 8 p.m. Then on Jan. 8, Belleville will travel to East Orange to play the Panthers with the time of that game listed at 3:45 p.m.

The Belleville-Wayne Valley game was eventually started after a 45-minute delay due to the fact that one of the officials failed to show up at game time. Eventually an alternative was contacted and the game got under way.

The first quarter was an indicator of what was to occur in the game. Fran Killen and John Mylad of Wayne Valley swished from 20 feet out as one of the "best shooting exhibitions seen in Belleville in quite awhile began.

The reason for the Indians success would seem to lie in the fact that no one player handled all of the scoring chores. Each of the starting five averaged in double figures and even in the exciting fourth quarter the Indians continued their clutch shooting.

Harry Baumgartner got Belleville on the scoreboard as he led the Belleville scoring parade. He scored one more time in the quarter to account for four first quarter points. He was joined by Anthony Cotugno who also added four points and Gary Tufo who tossed in two. Abdel Anderson, on his way to a 35-point evening, had eight first period points. Yet the Valley outside shooting continued to be accurate as shots from 25 feet out proved to be on target. Killen led Valley scorers in the quarter with six tallies.

Second quarter action began with the Bellboys coming alive in the highly physical yet low fouling contest. When Belleville wanted to come back, they went to where the points lie, Abdel Anderson. As proven in the past, when the Big A goes to the hoop, he is virtually unstoppable. He tossed in 12 points as he equalled the output of the entire Wayne Valley team. Coming through with clutch jumpers was Gary Tufo who responded twice. As the half ended, Belleville was taken the lead, 34-33.

Still, the amazing thing about the Wayne Valley attack was that it remained balanced throughout the contest. Because of this situation, it made it difficult to overplay just one player.

Then the third quarter began and the Indians went on to take the lead from the Bellboys. At the opener, Anderson went on to exchange baskets with Killen and Mylad to keep the cagers up by one. Then Mylad hit an unanswered bucket and the Indians went on to outshoot Belleville 26-21 in the quarter. Cotugno had six and Tufo had four in the period. The quarter ended 59-55 in favor of Valley.

The fourth quarter looked as if the Indians might widen the gap, but the Bellboys kept battling. With 5:53 gone in the final period, and the score at 65-61, Gary Tufo went to the line for two shots and made both to narrow the lead to two. Killen responded with a key jumper followed by an equally important bucket by Mylad. Joe Dunn, substituting for the injured Bob DiQuattro, connected to make it 69-63. Following his score came two points each from Anderson and Cotugno and it was 69-67 at Belleville High School. With 2:55 remaining Paul Martinson made it 71-67 on a jumper. Belleville brought the ball up court and worked it to Anderson. With everybody standing up now, the ball went up but rolled off the rim. Yet Belleville still had a chance. With 27 seconds remaining, Anderson went to the line to shoot one and one. The score was 77-73. The shot was no good. That was to be the closest they were final seconds.

In the game, a classic example of clutch free throw shooting took place in the fourth period with 35 seconds remaining. Guard Joe Gourley of the Indians went to the line in a one and one situation and the score was 75-73 Valley. In front of a large jeering Belleville crowd, he hit both ends. Eventually these two points proved to be the margin of victory.

Bellgirl Cagers Capture Second Place in Tournament

By Elaine Drake

On Wednesday night, Dec. 26, the Bellgirls traveled to Kearny to participate in the first annual Christmas Tournaments. The four teams that were invited to these tournaments were Belleville, Kearny, Westfield and West Essex. The Bellgirls first opponent, Westfield, was defeated 55-40.

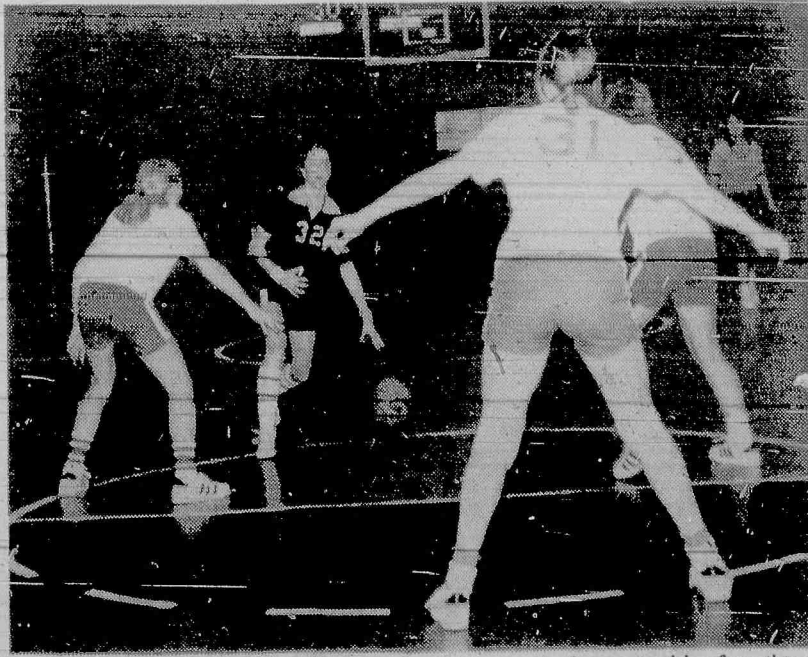

The opening jump ball was controlled by Westfield, but before they could score, senior guard Donna Foley intercepted a pass and drove down for the first goal of the game. Joyce Buckland then hit the boards for two more goals before Westfield had a chance to score. Westfield was only able to sink three baskets and from then on it was the Bellgirls' ball game. Donna Stone intercepted the ball and drove down for a basket. Joyce Buckland scored three additional baskets, while Susan Paul added four points to the score with a field goal and two shots in a one on one situation. At the end of the first quarter, the Bellgirls were ahead 21-6.

The second quarter was also dominated by the Bellgirls. Westfield only score six points, while Belleville hit the boards for seventeen points. Ten of these seventeen points were scored by senior forward, Joyce Buckland.

The third quarter moved very slowly, with both teams scoring only six points. The Bellgirls six points were made by Joyce Buckland and Donna Foley. At the end of the third quarter, the Bellgirls were leading 44-18.

During the fourth quarter the Bellgirls slowed down the pace. Eight Belleville points were made by Donna Foley, and three points were added by Donna Stone. The fourth quarter gave Westfield a chance to close the gap in the score. The final score was 55-40.

Co-Captains Joyce Buckland and Donna Foley were high scorers with 22 and 14 points respectively. Joyce Buckland and MOVING DOWNCOURT is Belleville's Donna Stone, who faces opposition from three West Essex defenders. The Bellgirls took second place in the Kearny Christmas tourney, won by West Essex.

Carol Jackson were the high rebounders for Belleville.

On Friday, Dec. 28, the Bellgirls took on West Essex in the Christmas Tournaments and were defeated 32-51. The opening jump ball was controlled by Belleville and Donna Foley put the ball through the hoop for the first goal of the game. West Essex scored three consecutive baskets before Joyce Buckland hit the boards for a Belleville goal. With the Bellgirls behind 14-4, Joyce Buckland intercepted the ball which triggered off new spirit for the Bellgirls. Joyce Buckland scored two field goals with assists by Donna Stone. At the end of the first quarter, West Essex led 14-12.

The second quarter moved slowly with only three Belleville field goals. The first Belleville goal in the quarter was made by Susan Paul, followed by two field goals by Joyce Buckland. West Essex hit the boards for five field goals to widen their lead to 24-18.

The Bellgirls' offense fought hard but was unable to penetrate the West Essex defense. Belleville only scored seven points in the third quarter, of which three points were made at the foul line by Joyce Buckland and Linad Diana. Donna Stone intercepted a West Essex pass, and assisted Donna Foley in a goal. At the end of the third quarter, the Bellgirls were behind 25-35.

West Essex again dominated the game in the fourth quarter by out-scoring Belleville sixteen points to seven points. Most of the points for both teams were scored at the foul line. Two Belleville field goals were made by Susan Paul and Joyce Buckland. While Donna Foley made two foul shots in a one on one situation and Carol Lelio sank one of her two shots. The final score was 51-32.

Joyce Buckland and Donna Foley were the high scorers with 16 and 8 points respectively.

sum of $100,000 by the Yankees to the Cubs. His sensational pitching for Chicago produced a National League Pennant for the Wind City team. Hank pitched in the 1945 World Series against the clock ran off in the half, Sophomore Dwight Ramsey connected to give Nutley a 37-28 halftime advantage.

Frank Tripucka, another Bloomfield High School great gained national attention as an All-American Quarterback at Notre Dame. Known as the "slingshot" at the South Bend school because of his powerful throwing arm Frank went on to dazzle Canadian professional football fans for years with his

Raiders Dominate Belleville Cagers

After halftime, the Bellboys came out to battle the Raiders. They did it by combining inside maneuvering by Anderson along with amazing corner shooting by Gary Tufo. But the key to the comeback effort was to hold Calicchio down and he only scored four in the period.

Systematically the Bellboys worked back into the ballgame. Anderson was good for nine points. Harry Baumgartner found himself free and he hit. A big point in the game came when Rich Clark went up, shot and came down hard on his ankle. He was removed from the game as the Bellboy attack continued. Tufo hit for six points and the nine point Nutley lead was suddenly just five, 50-45.

The fourth quarter began and it was apparent that fouls were going to play an important factor in the final outcome of the ballgame. The final statistics indicate that Belleville and Nutley both scored 56 points from the field but the game was eventually decided at the foul line. Belleville converted one of five free throw opportunities while Nutley unbelievably hit 15 of 22 chances. The second big factor in the game was the ability of Weequahic transfer Barry Findley to keep Abdel to 19 points, far below his 29.5 game average. Then the fouls started to deplete the Belleville lineup as Baumgartner excited with five personals. Calicchio responded with nine points as Nutley outscored the Bellboys in the final period 21-12. Belleville was held scoreless in the first two minutes of play before Cotugno broke the ice with a jumper. Tufo continued to show his shooting talents as he pocketed six more tallies. He finished with 20 points, high for Belleville as it was also the personal high for Tufo. Cotugno dropped in two points as the Belleville attack eventually fizzled under the Nutley zone.

Calicchio led all scorers in the game as he poured in 32 points. Findley hit for 13 and Clark, playing only 20 minutes scored 11. Besides the 20 by Tufo and 19 by Anderson, Anthony Cotugno added 14 points. Baumgartner and Dunn added two apiece and Bob DiQuattro, did not score.

BECK'S COLUMN

BY MAX BECK

Periodically somebody comes up with the suggestion to license TV repairmen in order to eliminate crooks.

Although we and every honest TV repair shop has no objection to licensing, the idea that this will eliminate crooks is ridiculous. Doctors and lawyers and accountants and plumbers, just to name a few, are licensed, and you draw your own conclusions whether it stopped crookedness.

"Caveat emptor" (let the buyer beware) that's what the law says. It is your job to watch out that you are not taken. With a little sensible precaution you can avoid this problem. A shop's reputation is well enough known; all you have to do is inquire. The best source of information, as we have written many times, is your local Chamber of Commerce or the Better Business Bureau. A 10 cent phone call to one of these organizations, which exist for the customers protection may save you an awful lot of aggravation.

If you buy your TV set from a dealer who has his own service department, you will rarely experience any problems.

Supplemental Security Program Is Detailed

Under provisions of a Supplemental Security Income (SSI) program which becomes effective nationwide beginning January 1, direct federal monetary payments will be available to aged and disabled persons across the state who have limited financial resources.

Details of the program have been released by Ronald M. Heymann, Commissioner of the New Jersey Department of Labor and Industry.

Commissioner Heymann said the funds will be wholly derived from federal general tax revenues. He noted that the program will be administered by the Social Security Administration (SSA).

Federal benefits, in most cases, will supplement the recipient's income from other sources, including social security. The majority of individuals receiving public assistance on the basis of age (65), blindness, or disability according to State plans in effect for October 1972 and who received such aid for the current month will be transferred to the federal rolls.

All applications for disability benefits will be adjudicated by the Department's Division of Disability Determinations and may be referred to the State Division of Vocational Rehabilitation Services. The latter agency will be fully reimbursed by the federal Rehabilitation Services Administration for assistance provided to qualified disabled and blind SSI payees.

According to Division Director James A. Ware, the federal benefits will be available to those who are currently ineligible under State programs because they have income or resources above specified levels. Ware pointed out that many people who actually meet the state requirements do not apply for public assistance because of existing lien laws. "These persons will be eligible for SSI payments, since such regulations are not applicable," he added.

To help simplify and speed the processing of disability decisions and to insure uniform treatment of all applicants, the medical evaluation criteria developed for the title Social Security Disability Insurance program have been adopted.

1. NO WAITING PERIOD — Under Title XVI (SSI), an individual who is determined to be blind or disabled will be eligible for payment for the first month in which he has filed an application and is disabled. There is no set waiting period which must be served after the onset of disability and during which payment cannot be made. (Under Title II, a 5-month waiting period must be served after the onset of disability.)

2. Presumptive Disability — The law provides that an applicant for disability benefits who is found to be "presumptively disabled" may be paid, under certain conditions, for as many as 3 months while a formal determination of his disability is being made. This provision, along with the absence of a waiting period under SSI, will intensify the need for obtaining medical evidence more rapidly so that disability determinations can be made promptly on claims filed by needy SSI applicants.

3. Childhood Disability — With the implementation of the SSI program, the Social Security Administration will for the first time be responsible for disability evaluation and payment for children who are under the age of 18. A child of a family with limited income and resources will be found disabled if the child has a medically determinable physical or mental impairment which can be expected to result in death or which has lasted or can be expected to last for at least 12 consecutive months and is of comparable severity to that which would prevent an adult from engaging in substantial gainful activity. The question of vocational assessment and concomitant ability to engage in substantial gainful activity is generally not relevant in evaluating disability during childhood because, in most situations, the child will not be of an age where he could reasonably be expected to enter the working population. Thus, in childhood cases, a finding of disability will be made solely on the basis of medical considerations including special medical criteria being developed for these cases within the above framework of consideration.

Postmaster Joseph J. Benucci announced the following new temporary domestic postage rates which will become effective January 5, 1974. First class letter rate is 10 cents and Postal and Postcards 8 cents.

The transient rate for 2nd class mail is 8 cents for the first 2 ounces and 2 cents each additional ounce. Consult your local Post Office for weekly publications and controlled circulation rate increases. Advertising or 3rd class single piece rate is 8 cents for each 2 ounces or fraction with a minimum rate of 10 cents per piece. Consult your Post Office for bulk rate increases. The special bulk rates for qualified non profit organizations remain unchanged, Benucci stated. All 4th class mail rates have been increased with the exception of the Library rate ie: 6 cents for the first pound and 3 cents each additional pound.

Air mail letter rate is thirteen cents per ounce. Air mail postal and postcards is increased to eleven cents. Postmaster Benucci further advise to consult your local Post Office for priority mail rate increases for First Classmail weighing over twelve ounces and air mail weighing over nine ounces. The permanent rate increase is contingent on the decision by the Cost of Living Council, said Benucci.

Montclair Museum
Art Classes Set
Winter Session

Children's and adult art classes at the Montclair Art Museum will begin their winter session the week of January 15, with a few openings still available in some classes.

Adult courses are given morning, afternoon and evenings in painting, drawing and basic design, watercolors, figure painting, portraiture, and weaving.

Classes for young people aged seven to 14 are held on Saturdays. Courses are given in painting in the morning and sculpture in the afternoon.

Creative classes for five and six year olds are held on Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons from 3:30 to 4:30. In these classes, the children paint, print, make collage pictures, stick constructions, mobiles, and whatever they invent.

Information about any of the classes may be had by calling the museum art school, 746-5555.

Statistics reveal many things, but first, they must be intelligently gathered and then fairly studied.

Even if you haven't joined a Legion of Decency, there's nothing to make you attend an indecent show.
