

Gas Hoses Slashed

Who Was Out to Get The Vee Bee Exxon?

The average consumer by now knows full well what the "energy crunch" means in the way of inconvenience and aggravation — long waiting lines, fuel limits, high prices for gasoline when they get it, if they get it.

But for the retail gasoline dealer, there's a whole different meaning to that "energy crunch" — the vise he's caught in between the supplying oil companies and the demanding consumers. The pressure's mounting on many of those dealers and John Bruno, owner of Vee Bee Exxon, found out just how tight it can get Saturday morning.

That was the day he and his employees found all the station's display windows smashed and six of the eight gas pump hoses slashed.

There were no clues to the identity of the vandal, nothing left behind to even explain his actions, but the assumption that Bruno is making is that it was an irate customer. But Bruno would like to know why he was singled out to suffer for the ill effects of a world-wide energy crisis.

"The situation is this — the independent dealers are given gas by the companies. They tell us how much we're going to get and when we're going to get it. We just sell it to the people and we're caught in the middle. It's all chaos out there."

The public is angry at the gasoline shortage, for reason that are familiar by now — high profits by oil companies, lack of vision by the government — and, of course, the lines, which haven't abated much in this first week of the odd-even rationing system. But even those reasons don't go far in explaining John Bruno's severed pump lines.

The current situation has done much to change Bruno's lifestyle, not necessarily for the better. "I've got a lot more friends and a lot more enemies," he says. "But I want to see who's going to stay with us and who's going to leave after this is over. I'd like to be able to pump to the regular customers who've been putting the bread on my table, who came to me because I'm a good mechanic and they liked my service."

Before the energy pinch, about 200 "regular" customers had been coming into Vee Bee Exxon, which is located at the corner of Joralemon Street and Franklin Avenue. The station was owned by Bruno's father for nearly 30 years and he turned it over to young John two years ago. Lately, it's hard to tell who's been "regular" and who hasn't, because nearly everyone would claim they were, given the chance. "Some people say they've been coming here for seven years," says John's cousin Robert Bruno, who's worked at Vee Bee for five,

Zoners Examine Goodyear Dispute

The Zoning Board of Adjustment heard another night of testimony Tuesday night in the Goodyear case, as attorneys for the appellant rested their case and lawyers for the objectors opened theirs.

The meeting ended on a cryptic note as Vice Chairman John Stetz made mention of an "accusatory letter" alleging improprieties surrounding the Goodyear case, which had been mailed to members of the Zoning Board, several persons connected to the Goodyear case and reportedly to Essex County Prosecutor Joseph Lordi.

Stetz, sitting in for Chairman Arthur DeFuria, assured the concerned parties, "that this case, like all the cases we consider, will be decided by us solely on the basis of its own merits."

Another session has been scheduled for the Goodyear case. The case, which was passed by the Zoners once before in a split 3-2 decision and by the Commissioners in a similar vote, is back before the Board of Adjustment after a Superior Court judge remanded the case because insufficient testimony had been taken during the initial set of hearings. The case was taken to court by an ad hoc group of Belleville service station owners who oppose the erection of the six-bay tire outlet at the corner of Washington Avenue and William Street.

The new hearings are being conducted as a model zoning case, with lawyers bringing in teams of expert witnesses who are subjected to scrupulous cross-examination. Besides the usual blueprints and

Cavalry Is Called Out To Haul Gas to Town

Town Purchasing Agent Tom McLaughlin's job is to obtain the materials that make the Town government run. And when supplies get scarce, McLaughlin works twice as hard.

Last Thursday, when the gasoline tanks that fuel police and fire vehicles fell to the 900-gallon level, McLaughlin knew it was time to "call out the cavalry."

With deliveries from the Town's supplier, Atlantic-Richfield, halted by a picket line at their Newark depository, McLaughlin was told there was fuel to be had if he could get it out. The purchasing agent turned around and contacted a local trucking firm and a tanker was on its way to Newark. For the 6,000 gallon delivery, the Town of Belleville paid only $76.

"It was the closest we've ever come to running out," said McLaughlin later. He added the fuel situation has provided him with the toughest supply problem in his 20 years on the job. "We had a little trouble with our delivery in December, when Gulf Oil was our supplier, but our allocation came through and the delivery got here in time. But the Fire Department was a little worried for a while."

Attracting bidders for the Town's 1974 gasoline and heating fuel contracts was as impossible for McLaughlin as it was for purchasing agents in virtually every municipality in northern New Jersey.

This year, no companies submitted for either contract.

But Belleville and other towns were bailed out by a Federal Energy Commission ruling which ordered that each town be fueled by its 1972 supplier (Atlantic-Richfield for Belleville) at the posted tank wagon price, which, of course, fluctuates with the chaotic fuel situation. So, although Belleville will be paying more for fuel, the Town is assured by Federal mandate that it will be available.

The emergency delivery of fuel was divided between the Town's emergency services, with the Public Works garage getting one-third of the 6,000 gallons and the Police and Fire Departments taking the rest.

The Town's present gasoline allocation is about 9,700 gallons per month, down from 11,000 at this time last year.

McLaughlin has also placed an order for heating oil with National Fuel Oil Company of Newark, who will supply number two oil to the Town at prevailing rates, which have more than doubled in the past year. Like Atlantic-Richfield, National is not under contract with the Town, but is bound by Federal order to supply Belleville.

Tom McLaughlin did his part by bringing the gasoline into town. But he says making the gas last will be "a matter of tightening up our belts. We're just going to have to conserve as much as we can."

"Clear the Air"

Marotti Proposes Feud Settlement

Commissioner Michael V. Marotti Thursday took the role of mediator in the Commission feud over Zoning Board appointments that has made the Board of Adjustment a battlefield over which Commissioners have fought for appointments.

Marotti proposed that the two chief antagonists, Mayor Joseph McGreevy and Commissioner Mary V. Senatore both halt their conflicting efforts to have their chosen appointees renamed to the Zoning Board. Marotti suggested each submit a new name, and he pledged he would back the choice of each of his fellow Commissioners.

Neither McGreevy nor Mrs. Senatore would comment on Marotti's idea, but the mayor said he intended to speak to Marotti on the matter before the Board meets again on February 26.

To go along with the proposal, Mrs. Senatore would have to abandon her efforts to reappoint Anthony Agresta, who was voted down, 3-2, by the Commission when Mrs. Senatore introduced his name last September. At the same meeting, a motion to reappoint Board of Adjustment Chairman Arthur DeFuria, McGreevy's choice, did not receive a seconding motion. Marotti that night voted against Agresta and announced he would not support DeFuria either.

Last Thursday night, he emphasized he was not against either man personally, but expressed a desire to see entirely new appointments to the Board.

"I don't think a change would hurt the Board," he said later. "I think it would clear the air."

Marotti said he hopes the matter will be resolved at the next Commission and "if they don't come in with new names, the other three Commissioners should move. The majority of the other Commissioners should come in with new names."

Regarding the dispute, which is largely a fight between McGreevy and Mrs. Senatore, he said, "I think if we can get the two of them together, and come up with new names, we can really go do a job."

Mrs. Senatore had filed suit against her fellow Commissioners in Superior Court, claiming her right to an appointment had been denied. Since her reappointment was rejected, Agresta has refused to attend a meeting of the Board, although he is entitled to serve until a replacement is named.

Town Settles With Workers On Pay Hike

Town Employees Monday afternoon voted unanimously to accept an offer by the Board of Commissioners for a $725 across-the-board increase for 1974.

With the salary raise settled, the major obstacle in negotiations has been removed and a full settlement is expected to be ratified soon. Other areas, such as fringe benefits are not expected to provide any major stumbling blocks.

Budget planning in the various municipal departments, stymied by the slow negotiations will probably pick up also and the municipal budget could be introduced sometime this week.

The Commissioners had originally offered a raise of $500 for each of the 143 employees represented by Essex Council Number One of the N.J. Civil Service Association. The employees came down from a demand for a 7.6 percent increase for all workers.

Rent Panel Split on Question: To Control or Not to Control?

The Belleville Rent Advisory Committee, appointed by the Board of Commissioners last July, will next week attempt to resolve an internal split over whether they will recommend to the Town Fathers that Belleville adopt a rent control ordinance.

The five-member panel reportedly is split evenly on the issue, with at least one member undecided. Chairman Edward Mahler told the Times this week the board will meet to discuss the matter.

The committee has not met since a January caucus with the Board of Commissioners. In November they submitted a report to the Town Fathers recommending that Belleville create a housing authority as a means of obtaining Federal rent subsidies for residents living on fixed incomes and facing rising rent costs.

That effort was blunted when the panel learned one of the prerequisites for the subsidy plan is that a town must have in effect a working master plan—a document never adopted in Belleville.

One member of the panel actively pressing for a rent control ordinance is Steven Rogers, who this week revealed he has sent a letter to each of the five Commissioners complaining that the powers of the rent committee have been "extremely limited," and asking that the board be granted the power to subpoena landlords to testify at hearings of the committee.

The letter also asked the Commissioners to respond to questions regarding the extent of their own property ownership in Belleville.

"I believe Mayor McGreevy, Commissioners Marotti, Strumolo and Senatore do in fact have a genuine interest in this issue, however they have to begin to take positive measures to alleviate this (rent) problem," the Rogers letter stated.

Rogers said he had sent out the letter "on my own behalf" and had not consulted with other members of the board beforehand.

Rogers began pushing for rent control in August of 1973. A year later he was appointed to the panel by Commissioner Mary Senatore.

Other members of the panel include Chairman Edward Mahler, appointed by Mayor Joseph McGreevy; Secretary Marion Malcolm, appointed by Commissioner Vincent Strumolo; Daniel Del Tufo, named to the board by Commissioner Michael Marotti; and Vincent Vecchione, selected by Commissioner

Robert Laterza.

In late November, the panel submitted a report to the Town Fathers stating their preliminary findings indicated the rent problem in Belleville was most severe among senior citizens and other residents living on fixed incomes. As an alternative to rent control, the panel recommended the creation of a housing authority here, but they later discovered the master plan requirement.

Mahler told the Times this week that idea has not yet been discarded, although, "we've been met with all types of obstacles and technicalities. We're still exploring the possibilities to see if Belleville can apply."

Mahler said the panel "is going to have to do something," and said he expected the committee to resolve itself over the rent control issue soon.

During their investigation, the committee invited tenants in Belleville to meet with the board and discuss their grievances. Guaranteeing anonymity to the complainants, the panel took 38 telephone calls and letters in the first month of operation. Their initial report said 85 percent of those complaining had come from senior citizens living on fixed incomes and unable to afford rent increases.

Rogers maintained the investigation got "only one side of the story," and said "the Commissioners should give us the power to bring landlords in for questioning. This way they're leaving us in limbo."

The meeting of the rent panel has been tentatively scheduled for Wednesday.

Sudden Snowstorm Uses Town Rocksalt Reserves

Fighting the heaviest snowfall of the season Friday night, the Public Works Department labored from 4 p.m. to 4 a.m. and exhausted the Town's supply of rocksalt.

More of the valuable safety material is on order, but has been delayed in transit. Commissioner of Public Works Mary V. Senatore said this week she has "no idea when it will come in," and added the department will have to fight any upcoming storms with sand instead.

The only problem with sand is that there will be nothing to spread it with. After the department's two 11-year-old salt spreaders broke down for good last week, Mrs. Senatore appealed to her fellow commissioners for an emergency $5,000 appropriation to buy a new one. The resolution was passed, and the new spreader was scheduled to arrive yesterday, but the model cannot be converted to spread sand.

So if another storm does blow over, Belleville between now and when the rocksalt arrives, the Public Works Department will be sanding the streets the same way they salted them Friday—by hand.

And did those streets need it. Police reported 28 accidents on Friday, 14 of them causing damage over $200, with seven resulting in injuries. Two pedestrians were struck by skidding motorists. Police Captain Robert Russomanno, said the accident rate was so high and the storm so furious, police were eventually able to respond only to serious accidents resulting in injury.

The Public Works Department instituted a new plowing system which saw two plows working in each of five different districts in town. Conserving on rock salt, the workers salted only intersections and hills throughout town, but were able to help out Essex County crews who were unable to salt Union and Belleville Avenues, due to a lack of salt. Altogether, about 38 tons were strewn over Belleville streets.

The Public Works Department had been working on both salters for the past week, even using parts from one to get the other in working condition.

Odd-Even Plan Looks Good In Its Opening Week Here

The odd-even rationing plan instituted throughout New Jersey brought some welcome relief to Belleville motorists and service station owners as the long lines at the local watering holes seemed to dwindle a bit.

Belleville Mayor Joseph McGreevy took steps of his own last Wednesday as he met with about 35 service station owners at Town Hall to work out some local remedies to the energy crisis, which had rapidly been creating a traffic crisis here.

McGreevy said the owners "were very cooperative on their part" in agreeing to establish uniform hours for pumping gas. Furthermore, they all pledged support of the odd-even plan and said they would pump gas for contract vehicles and emergency vehicles.

Gas pumps at Belleville stations will close from 8-9 a.m., 11:30 a.m.-1 p.m. and 3-4 p.m. One of the main reasons for the uniform shutdown hours is reportedly to protect children walking to and from schools.

The Pitfalls of Pumping Gas

"but I've never seen them before."

Exxon has cut Vee Bee's allocation about 30 percent from last year, but Bruno, an independent dealer, is baffled by the system they use to make the cuts. "They'll tell me, 'John, last year you pumped 40,000 gallons in May, so we're cutting you to 38,000 this month.' They make their own standards for the month they're going to allocate. The company-run stations seem to have all the gas they want."

I think the companies would like to more or less push us out.

Taking in six truckloads of fuel in deliveries staggered throughout the month, Vee Bee's pumping hours been cut to two a day, during which they dispense about 700 gallons to lines of 60 cars at a time, sometimes stretching from the corner into Nutley.

On any given day, Bruno and his four employees at Vee Bee can expect four or five patrons to really lose their temper. It happens when a customer insists they know a relative of a pump attendant, when they refuse to recognize the "End of the Line" sign placed on the last car to be gassed, or when they just plain don't believe the station has run out of gas.

"I'm not a mean person," he says. "People think we're hoarding the gas underneath, but we're not. They believe we don't want to sell them gas, but it's not true."

It's hard to convince some people. Henry Grohs, who's been pumping gas at the station for two years, said one dissatisfied customer threatened to blow the station up, while another nearly hit him as he drove off. "Missed me by about half a foot," he says. "Today a woman came in, she was about 60 years old, and she wanted her tank filled up. She had a half a tank, and the new rules say we shouldn't serve anyone with a half tank or more. So I told her that, but she started bawling, really crying, so I gave her the gas just to make her stop. But I told her I couldn't do it the next time."

The situation has gotten so bad, says Bruno, that he's even reluctant to ask his employees to check patrons' gas gauges. "The only way to do that is by sticking his head inside to look, and with these electric windows, who knows what might happen?"

Goodyear Zoning Hearings Will Go to Another Round

designs, photographic displays have been admitted as evidence and attorney Robert Podvey, representing the gas station owners, has already subpoenaed three witnesses (none of whom testified unwillingly.)

Attorney Frank Pomaco, representing appellant Thomas Eabmie, owner of the corner lot, Tuesday night presented an architect engaged by Goodyear to testify to the structure of the proposed one-story building. The

Service Offers Corporations' Yearly Reports

A new service making available copies of all annual reports to shareholders of publicly-held corporations filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission will be offered at Dana Library on the Rutgers Newark Campus starting March 1. The reports may be used by the general public.

The reports, to be on file in the business reference section of the library, will be available for use by other libraries as well as by students and the public. The material is filed on microfiche, 4 by 6 inch lengths of film on which up to 60 pages of printed copy can be photographically reduced.

"Microfiche are read by using a desk-top reader that projects an enlarged image on a screen the size of a standard page," said Mrs. Bernice R. Jones, Dana business librarian.

Annual reports to shareholders contain a large amount of information that is of interest to prospective investors as well as to students and faculty who may want to assess detailed financial statements, descriptions of company activities and future program forecasts for classroom assignments or research projects.

Dana Library, located on the central campus plaza, between High Street and University Avenue, is open from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. weekdays, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturdays and from 12 to 6 p.m. Sundays.

architect, William Rush, explained the drainage system and showed photographs of existing Goodyear establishments similar in design to the proposed building.

After a motion made by Podvey to dismiss the case was denied by the Zoners, the attorney for the objectors opened his case, presenting first Mrs. Irene Gamba, a school crossing guard of 11 years who has been stationed at the corner of William Street and Washington Avenue since September. She testified that at Podvey's request, she had counted the number of school children who crossed the intersection in one day. The total for three main periods was 179 children.

Belleville Police Captain Robert Russomanno, who like Mrs. Gamba, was subpoenaed by the objecting attorney, testified to the accident record of the intersection, which over the past five years has seen 20 reportable accidents (those involving injuries or damage over $200). He said three pedestrians had been struck by cars there, two of them he recalled to have been schoolchildren.

Compared to nine other intersections on Washington Avenue, Russomanno said William and Washington was seventh lowest in accidents.

Asked to predict the effect of a Goodyear outlet on the accident rate there, the policeman backed off. "No one knows why accidents happen at a particular intersection. I can't predict what change there would be. It might be safer if a store were built there or it might not."

Podvey also introduced photographs testified to have been taken at other Goodyear outlets in New Jersey showing old tires stored outside behind the buildings.

State Education Association Pushes Passage of 26 Bills

A package of 26 bills to improve public education and the status of teachers makes up the New Jersey Education Assn.'s 1974 legislative program.

The proposals — on topics ranging from increased State school aid to provide every student with a quality education to academic freedom to guarantee the student full freedom to learn — are described in the current issue of the NJEA REVIEW, the association's monthly journal for its 78,000 members.

NJEA's top legislative goals are:

- Modifying the State school aid formula to meet constitutional requirements set by State courts.

- Giving the N.J. Public Employment Relations Commission the power to carry out the responsibilities assigned to it by the Legislature in 1968.

- PERC has lacked jurisdiction over unfair labor practices since the State Supreme Court in 1970 ruled that this power was only implied in the 1968 legislation, not specifically stated, the NJEA REVIEW reports. Because of this court ruling, public employees now must take unfair-labor charges to the courts, rather than to PERC. A court case, NJEA says, is much more costly and time-consuming than an action brought before a State agency.

NJEA's proposal would give PERC the power to rule on such unfair labor practices as failure to negotiate in good faith, refusing to put agreements into writing, reneging on signed agreements, and harassing or firing teachers who serve on negotiating teams.

Seeking a comprehensive overhaul of the PERC law, NJEA wants other changes which would:

- Give the courts discretion in deciding whether or not to issue injunctions against a work stoppage by public employees. At present, the courts must enjoin all such work stoppages.

- Require every local school district to agree to binding arbitration in misunderstandings with employees over the meaning or interpretation of negotiated contracts. Less than half of New Jersey's school districts have agreed to let such policy disputes be judged impartially.

- Clarify which "terms and conditions of employment" are subject to negotiations between the parties and which are exclusively the prerogative of management. The only guidelines that now exist come from the few court decisions that have been made in this area.

- Accelerate the bargaining process in education so that master contracts are completed before the date when school districts are required to finalize the budget that will fund contracted benefits. At present, many school districts stall negotiations until after the budget is set.

- Provide fact-finding at no cost to the parties. At present, the State charges up to $150 per day for this impasse-solving procedure.

Other highlights of the NJEA's legislative program include proposals to:

- Appropriate money to establish the N.J. School for the Performing and Visual Arts, authorized by a law enacted in 1969 but never funded.

- Designate Jan. 15 as a day of special observance in honor of Dr. Martin Luther King.

Manager Named At Westinghouse

Harold J. Rourke has been named works manager of the Westinghouse lamp parts plant in Belleville. The announcement was made by William P. Malarkey, lamp parts operations manager of the Incandescent Lamp Division.

Rourke replaces Eugene E. Greenley who has been transferred to the lamp divisions headquarters in Bloomfield as equipment planning coordinator. He will also report to Malarkey.

In his new post Rourke will be responsible for all of the operations at the Belleville plant which produces many millions of parts each year for the lamp and electronics industries.

Born in Brooklyn, N.Y., Rourke attended school in White Plains, N.Y. He received a degree in mechanical engineering from Villanova University and a masters degree in industrial engineering from Stevens Institute. He joined Westinghouse in 1957 in the graduate student program. He was assigned to the lamp divisions that year as a manufacturing engineer. In 1967 he was promoted to engineering and quality control supervisor of the lamp coils and leads department.

Rourke served in the U.S. Army as a specialist. He is active in the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, Knights of Columbus, Little League and the YMCA sports activities.

Schwartz Will Chair School Board Group

Lawrence Schwartz, President of the Belleville Board of Education, has been named Chairman of New Jersey School Boards Association's recently formed Committee to Study the NJSBA's Dues Assessment Method.

The committee was formed as a result of a resolution by the Shrewsbury, Borough Board of Education to establish "a more equitable dues scale for its (NJSBA) member boards." Charged with appraisal of the present structure, the committee will make its recommendations to the NJSBA delegate assembly upon completion of the study.

A member of the Belleville Board of Education for three and a half years, Schwartz also serves on NJSBA's nominating committee and is an alternate member of the Board of Directors.

George Washington

In modern times when old virtues such as duty, patriotism and service to one's country meet with a certain cynicism, it's good to remember the birthday of George Washington — "first in war, first in peace and first in the hearts of his countrymen."

Washington was born February 22nd, 1732, in Westmoreland County, Virginia — one of five children of a family which had for three generations lived in America. Because his father, a well-to-do planter, died when he was twelve he was not sent to England like his older brothers for an education.

He became a surveyor and took his place in the militia when his brother became ill. As a major he was sent on two expeditions against the French, and on the second he was defeated. On the third, led by General Braddock, the British and American forces in the successful, long, hard-fought revolution against Britain. He then became the new nation's first President.

Thus, for fifteen years, seven in war and eight as President, Washington founded and guided a new nation to manhood and, as the father of our country, bequeathed a precious heritage to all of us.

New Dental Knowledge

Millions of Americans are brushing their teeth after every meal, using hard-bristle tooth brushes, stroking their teeth with up and down motions. Only recently, however, newer and better ways to save teeth have been discovered.

In fact the American Dental Association has recently revised all its brochures on dental care — to reflect the new knowledge. Most of the advice is concerned with plaque, which is now known to be the cause of serious tooth and gum troubles.

Dentists now usually recommend soft-bristle brushes, one brushing a day for adults (evening, after all food, is best), the use of dental floss and kits — to determine where the plaque is. These kits can be bought at many pharmacies.

Plaque can be removed by dentists and sometimes by proper brushing and cleaning at home. Bleeding gums are often a sign of it. Bad breath is another. The best method to fight plaque is to see a dentist. But one can do some things at home.

With a kit to locate plaque, use a brush and dental floss to rid your teeth and gums as much as possible. A soft brush, horizontally inserted, should also rub the edge of the gums, with short strokes angled downward at forty-five degrees — about eight per tooth.

Dental floss should be used with back and forth motion around all teeth, to slightly below gum line, which is normal. This method, once a day, is enough for most adults when teeth are healthy.

Smoke Warning

The Federal Trade Commission has asked Congress to strengthen the printed warning on cigarette packages and add warnings on small cigar packages.

The FTC would change the cigarette warning from, "Warning: The Surgeon General has determined that cigarette smoking is dangerous to your health," to, "Warning: Cigarette smoking is dangerous to health and may cause death from cancer, coronary heart disease, chronic bronchitis, pulmonary emphysema and other diseases."

Although millions have been induced to kick tobacco addiction in recent years, because of population growth and the number of young people successfully addicted by films and advertising each year, tobacco consumption continues to increase.

The need for sterner warnings on cigarette packages is thus obvious and Congress should enact legislation to afford the gullible, ignorant and young better protection, which will save many lives in the years to come.

Pango Pango

The latest tragic crash of a big airliner occurred in Pago Pago when a Pan Am 707 crashed attempting a landing in a violent thunderstorm, with heavy loss of life. The cause is yet to be officially established but a general observation is in order.

Pilots and passengers of large aircraft too often become convinced weather can be handled by man's strongly-built, modern airliners. Often this isn't true.

Mother nature still packs the tougher punch — and thunderstorms can contain up and down drafts, almost side by side, moving up to 400 m.p.h.

Nothing flying can withstand the shock of such diverse velocity; the lesson which must be learned, therefore, is that bad weather flying is to be avoided. Usually the worst doesn't happen, and some thus conclude flying through rough weather is routine, often a fatal miscalculation.

A World Awash With Oil

The current oil and gasoline shortage is the biggest swindle yet foisted on the American people. It is a ripoff that makes the recent Soviet wheat deal look like a Sunday School playlet. It is a plot, devised by major oil companies, with the connivance of government, to wring as much as they can out of the defenseless consumer. The fact the oil giants have been making record profits through the panic they have created, has not allayed their greed. They want more and they are getting it. They will get back, and then some, the five million dollars they contributed to the 1972 Nixon fund.

Experts are legion who report there is no oil shortage. Christopher Rand, a noted Middle East specialist, reports in the New York Times that the consumer had had no figures on oil production or costs or supply, except those conjured up and given him by the big oil companies. He has been deluded by those companies into thinking he is caught up in a real oil crisis when, all the while, as Rand says, "the world has been awash with crude oil this year."

Out of hapless Washington comes dire news that gas and oil prices will increase eight or ten to eleven cents a gallon before the end of February. Oil companies are allowed by the Federal Energy Office to pass along increases, one after another — increases based on those same statistics and estimates compiled exclusively by the oil trust. We would be fools to believe them, even as we would have been fools to believe the statistics given the Federal Railroad Administration last month by the Penn Central Railroad as the latter sought to prove the necessity to close its money making Walkkill Valley Branch.

So far the Congress has twiddled its thumbs and rushed home for the holidays to find out what constituents are thinking about Watergate and impeachment. How many have been shouting for an end to the oil giants' manipulated windfall?

Let's put Watergate and impeachment in eclipse for a time. Special Federal Prosecutor Leon Jaworski, and federal grand juries, will take care of them. Let's shake our Congressmen awake and turn them loose on the oil scandal. Let the Congress get tough, talk tough, act tough; let it probe the Midas syndrome of the oil makers, let it expose the whole, devilish crisis, before it destroys the nation's economy.

Let the Congress rip into the stories of fleets of oil laden tankers, drowsing in off-coast anchorages because our storage tanks are already filled to capacity. Let it probe the story of the tankers being loaded with gasoline at New York and Philadelphia for shipment to Los Angeles, apparently a ruse to get the oil out of circulation long enough so that it will not be available until the price has gone up eight or ten or more cents a gallon. Let Congress expose the companies that have been withholding gasoline and oil until the price is right for them. Let the energy czar, William Simon, move swiftly against price gouging instead of just talking about it. Let Simon and or the Congress search for and expose every monopolistic and collusive atrocity that may have been perpetrated.

Best Friends Together gain

To the Editor:

I thought you might be interested in printing a brief article on the following coincidence.

Richard A. Hutch and William F. Keigher, formerly of 59 Emily Avenue and 32 Mapes Avenue respectively, graduated from Nutley High School in 1963. Up to that time, they attended Spring Garden School and Nutley Junior High School together and were, to their own aweal, "best friends." In fact, that relationship began when they were but five years old and beginning to attend kindergarten.

However, as they entered high school together, their relationship ebbed, primarily because of differing academic interests. Well, Hutch took an interest in religious studies. He went on to Gettysburg College to study philosophy and English. Keigher, on the other hand, inclined toward mathematical studies, and struck out to become a high school teacher at Montclair State College. Little did they realize then that this parting of the ways was the start of a unique reunion.

Both of these boyhood chums graduated from college and went on to graduate studies in their respective fields of interest. Hutch studied at the Yale niversity Divinity School (B.D., 1970) and went on to the University of Chicago (Ph. D., 1974). Keigher went to the University of Illinois (Ph. D., 1973). Not only did each pursue the Ph. D. degree without any awareness of the other, they also began looking for academic positions at the same time.

Each secured a teaching post at a time when such jobs were (and still are) quite difficult to find, the academic year 1973-74. The surprise came when it was discovered that each had taken his job at Southern Illinois University in Carbondale, Illinois! Keigher began teaching algebra, with a research interest in category theory. Hutch began in the religious studies department teaching the history and psychology of religion, with a research interest in psychohistory. You should realize the unique character of such a coincidence: as these men entered Spring Garden School together at the age of five years one would have been somewhat amazed to say the least if he were told that when they reached the age of twenty-eight years they would be embarking on professional careers in the academic world at the same university, virtually hundreds of miles away from their hometown!

Southern Illinois University is a very large school (18,000). Hutch and Keigher would never have known about the other's presence at the university had not each of their mothers happened to bump into one another coming from Newark on the bus! Having not seen each other since the days when their sons were cub scouts together meant that they talked a lot in the time of the ride home, and, of course, they found out about their sons.

Yes, we both are sons of mothers. However, if you should happen to print a story about the coincidental meeting we have experienced and continue to enjoy here, then you will seal our own sense of also being among Nutley's native sons.

Thank You.

Sincerely,
Richard A. Hutch

Get Sen. Williams At This Address

To the Editor:

In recent months, there has been a substantial increase in the amount of mail being received in Senator Williams' office.

However, in a significant number of instances, the letters are not addressed properly which results in re-routing and a delay in responding. This becomes most significant when the writer faces a deadline of some sort or when the person faces a problem such as not receiving Social Security checks.

I am sure this is a problem occurring in a number of Senate and House offices.

If you do not do so already, it would be a genuine public service to print the correct addresses of Senators and Congressmen in your publication.

For those considering this service, and for publications which already provide it, the current addresses for Senator Williams are:

U.S. Senator Harrison A. Williams, Jr.
Room 352 Russell Senate Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20510
(202) 225-4744

U.S. Senator Harrison A. Williams, Jr.
Room 939A Federal Building
970 Broad Street
Newark, New Jersey 07102

I hope that this information will be of value to you and your readers.

With warm regards,
Sincerely,
Walter D. Ramsay

Labor, Environment Movements Can Get Better Communications

By David F. Moore
N.J. Conservation Foundation

SOME OVERDUE LINES of communication have recently been opened between two important segments of today's America; two movements which help make up the symphony of our culture. The movements are labor and environment.

This is especially timely for New Jersey, where one segment of labor leadership which has voiced insensitivity to the concerns of the environmental movement was in the forefront of the election campaign of Governor Brendan T. Byrne. I should quickly add here that other arms of New Jersey organized labor, also behind Governor Byrne, have been longtime supporters of legislative goals of the environmentalists. The connection should be obvious — the environment saving business is for people, for their health and safety.

THE POINT IS that, in New Jersey as elsewhere, there has been a lot of polarization separating the two movements, often based on a fundamental concern about job security for those working in industries targeted for pollution cleanups, and about loss of future job opportunities due to possible abandonment of construction through environmental safeguards.

These are emotional issues and emotion tends to get in the way of logic. In these cases, logic shows that the advent of environmentalism in legal mandates for pollution controls and development restraints actually spells a whole new family of industries which will have to hire workers. There is already ample evidence of this. Also, simply economic logic dictates that any plant which has to shut down because it couldn't afford pollution controls is a plant which was so marginal in the first place that its days were surely numbered because of the normal competition in our American Economy.

Despite a few loud protests, from management as well as unions, there is growing awareness among labor, management and environmental forces that those points are reasonable and valid. There is a common ground of agreement.

FOR EXAMPLE, in January Frank Stamato Jr., president of the Utility Contractors Association of New Jersey, called attention to the fact that freezing of federal funds for sewage treatment facilities has set water pollution control back three years in New Jersey and brought unprecedented unemployment.

Mr. Stamato said, "In the past three years less than 50% of the funds authorized by Congress for construction of needed sewerage treatment facilities in New Jersey have been released by the federal government. Our state has been denied more than $650 million in federal aid over that span of time, and as a result, the water pollution control effort has been severely hampered, unemployment in this field of construction has reached alarming proportions, and every day of delay sees the cost of needed sewerage facilities escalating by leaps and bounds."

NOTING THAT this has been done "in the name of curbing inflation by reducing government spending," Mr. Stamato noted that impounding the funds has had no effect in slowing inflation, according to a study by the University of Florida. "The situation has reached the point where even sewerage treatment facility projects already underway may not be able to be completed as designed," he concluded.

So here we have a leader of the construction industry pinpointing the need for pollution controls and their related construction activities, not only because of their environmental worth but also their economic value, and the economic losses stemming from their curtailment.

THERE'S PLENTY of common ground here for the environmentalists who first wanted the pollution controls, the building industry and the labor interests representing the men who should be employed in their construction.

Belleville Girl Enrolls In Mid-Term Class

Diane Arena, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred E. Arena of Belleville, is one of 15 students enrolled in the Learning Resources Eckerd winter term. The course is taught by Professor Nancy Carter. Ms. Arena is a junior at Eckerd.

Eckerd College is offering 36 courses on campus this year during its winter term.

The winter term concept, one month of concentrated study on a single course, was originated by Eckerd and has been widely duplicated throughout the country. Many students now exchange colleges during January in order to pursue some course of particular interest.

A number of students travel away from St. Petersburg to pursue such studies. There are Eckerd students

A number of students travel away from St. Petersburg to pursue each studies. There are Eckerd students in Jamaica, Russia, England, Holland and Ireland this term as well as scattered in other schools in the United States.

Several Locals On Deans' Lists

Several Belleville students were among those named to deans' lists at colleges and universities across the country recently.

At the College of Saint Elizabeth in Convent Station, New Jersey, Miss Camelia Buccari of Franklin Street in Belleville was named to the Dean's List for the fall semester of 1973-74.

Louise Licameli of Belleville, majoring in elementary education at Felician College in Eodi, was also named to the Deans' List.

At Bloomfield College, two Belleville residents were among the 146 students placed on the Deans' List. Patricia Cheatham achieved high honors for a cumulative average of 3.6 or better out of a possible 4.0. Mario Vitiello earned honors in an average between 3.2 and 3.59.

Robert Alan Dorival, a freshman at Hamline University in St. Paul, Minn. and son of Mr. and Mrs. William Dorival of 275 Greylock Parkway was named to the Dean's List for maintaining an average above 3.25.

He Completes High School In County College Program

In 1971, Vincent Scoca of 77 Lake Street, Belleville, was a high school drop out; now, three years later, he is graduating from Essex County College with plans of continuing his education at a senior university.

After leaving high school in his sophomore year, disillusioned by the educational process, Vincent Scoca held odd jobs until 1973 when he inquired about the possibility of enrolling in Essex County College as a Project DEEP (Degree Equivalent student. Project DEEP, designed to aid those who for various reasons have had their education obstructed, allowed Vincent to attend college full-time, while accumulating the credits necessary to earn a high school equivalency diploma.

Discussing the Project DEEP students,

Program Director Jacqueline Newby stated that "students such as Vincent, who enter the college without a high school diploma, have their progress constantly reviewed and receive particular attention in the areas of guidance and counseling."

Vincent Scoca has a 3.6 Accumulative index and will graduate from ECC in June, 1974 with a major in English and a minor in history. Throughout his stay at the college he has been active in student government and is credited with initiating the Cultural Club. His academic excellence earned him the position of math tutor in Project DEEP.

When asked about his achievements as an ECC student, Vincent stated that "had it not been for the flexibility of policy and program.

'Who's Who' Names Include Bellevilleite

Thirty-six Newark College of Engineering undergraduates have been selected for inclusion in the current year's edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges," a directory of campus leaders from the nation's leading institutions of higher education. Among them is Anthony Nocerita of 44 Greylock Parkway, Belleville.

The announcement of selections from among NCE students was made by Sumner J. House, dean of student services.

Those nominated for the Who's Who listing were selected by their college on the basis of academic achievement, service to the college and the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and general leadership potential.

Nocerita has been treasurer and financial chairman of Tau Delta Phi, a social fraternity on campus; and a member of Tu Beta Pi, the scholastic leadership honor society; and Omega Chi Epsilon, the chemical engineering honor society.

He has also been a member of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers; staff writer for "The Vector", the weekly student newspaper; group leader for the Goon Squad, a freshman orientation program; tour guide for Open House Day; section representative for the Student Council.

He is currently pledging Omicron Delta Kappa, the student leadership honor society. In addition he has participated on the Interfraternity Council and Intramural basketball teams.

Local Co-Ed Earns Listing With Notables

A Belleville coed is among 21 Upsala College students whose biographies will appear in the publication, "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

Nancy Marie Ippolito, daughter of Louise and Daniel Ippolito of 35 Overhill Road, Belleville, has been cited for her academic and extracurricular contributions at Upsala. A senior, Miss Ippolito is majoring in chemistry and aspires to become a medical technologist. She is a graduate of Belleville High School.

Montclair Co-Ed Bound for France

Twelve French majors at Montclair State College will spend the Spring Semester studying in France. Half will be at the University of Dijon and half at the University of Montpellier.

Among those participating is Anna Spagnuolo of 187 Garden Avenue in Belleville.

Local Student Sees England With Choir

Forty singers from the presenting concerts and working with English choirs. Among them was Robert Alan Dorival of Belleville.

The choir members are studying choral music by contemporary American and English composers. A concert of American works was prepared by the choir during the fall semester. English composers were studied by listening to and rehearsing with English choirs during the interim course.

The interim term at many liberal arts colleges provides a month of concentrated study of one topic, or independent study, between two four-month semesters.

Included in the choir's schedule was a week in residence with the choir of the Hinde Street Methodist Church, one of England's larger Methodist churches. A joint concert is planned.

The choir is under the direction of Dr. Philip Steen, chairman of the Music Department at Hamline. He was accompanied on the tour by his wife, Arvida, and their three daughters.

Mrs. P. DePiro Dies; Funeral Mass Held

Funeral mass was held February 5 at Holy Family Church for Mrs. Marie DePiro, 725 Joralemon Street, Belleville, who died February 2 at Clara Maass Memorial Hospital after an extended illness. A Belleville resident five years, she was 53.

Born in Italy, Mrs. DePiro came to Belleville from Bloomfield. She was employed as a packer at the Peerless Tubing Company, Bloomfield.

Mrs. DePiro is survived by her husband Pasquale DePiro; two daughters, Mrs. Yvonne David of Union and Mrs. Joann Gaffey of Nutley; a son, Steven, of Belleville; a sister, Mrs. Lucy LaGrasso of Newark, and four grandchildren.

Services were arranged by the Biondi Funeral Home, and interment was in Glendale Cemetery, Bloomfield.

Mrs. W. Mulligan, 82;

Requiem high mass was held February 13 in St. Mary's Church for Mrs. Mary J. Mulligan, 108 Union Avenue, who died February 10 in Clara Maass Memorial Hospital after a brief illness. She was 82.

Mrs. Mulligan (nee McGuire) came to Nutley from Newark 35 years ago. She was born in White Haven, Pa.

She is survived by her husband William J. Mulligan; two daughters, Mrs. Mary Booth of Nutley, and Mrs. Joan Daugherty of Ocean; a son, William J. of Budd Lake, and four grandchildren.

Services were directed by Stanton Funeral Home, and interment was in Immaculate Conception Cemetery, Montclair.

St. Peter's Guild Holds Open House

A meeting of the Parent-Teachers Guild of St. Peter's School was held on February 13 in the school hall. A short business meeting was followed by open house. Parents were informed of the forthcoming parish bazaar to be held May 1 to 4 inclusive. Proceeds of the bazaar will benefit the school funds in urgently needed equipment.

Father Joseph Masiello also spoke on the afternoon bingo beginning on February 21, from 1 p.m. to 2:45 p.m. The revenue realized from the afternoon bingo will benefit the school funds.

Paul Rietemeyer, on the staff at St. Peter's School, Grade 8A, gave an informative report on his successful Campbell Soup labels project. He commended the students and people for their outstanding cooperation and thanked our many benefactors who sent us the labels.

WEDDINGS AND ENGAGEMENTS IN SOCIAL SPOTLIGHT

Miss Alifano, Donald O'Shea Pledge Vows At Nuptial Mass

Miss Louise Alifano, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Alifano, Sr. of West Caldwell, formerly of Nutley became the bride of Donald O'Shea, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel O'Shea of War-minster, Pa. on February 2. St. Aloysius Church, Caldwell, was the setting for the nuptial mass at which the Rev. John C. Bouton was the celebrant. The reception which followed the ceremony, was held at Nestor's Restaurant, Singac.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a gown of Sata peau fabric styled with an empire waist. The bodice and long sleeves were of alencon lace and the empire waist had a satin ribbon trim and a satin bow at the back. The floor length mantilla featured Alencon lace around the entire edge of the veil and was held by a crown of matching lace. She carried a bouquet of white roses and white carnations.

Mrs. Charles Blum of Ocean was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Salvatore Alifano of Irvington, sister-in-law of the bride, Miss Mary Jane Bergoll of Bloomfield and Miss Edie Wiss of Kearny.

The matron of honor was in green, while bridesmaids were in orange. All wore halter gowns with matching shawls trimmed in white fringe. Bouquets were of talisreen roses and yellow carnations.

Stephen O'Shea of Warminster, brother of the groom, served as best man. Vincent Alifano, Jr. of Nutley, Salvatore Alifano of Irvington, brothers of the bride and Richard O'Shea of Warminster, brother of the groom, served as ushers.

Mrs. Alifano chose an aquamarine chiffon gown with a beaded bodice while the groom's mother wore a rose gown. Corsages were of white orchids.

Mrs. O'Shea is a graduate of Seton Hall University, South Orange where she received both her undergraduate and graduate degrees. She is a teacher in the Denville Public School system.

Mr. O'Shea is a graduate of Spring Garden College, Philadelphia. He is an electrical engineer at Bell Laboratories in Murray Hill.

The couple are living in West Caldwell following a honeymoon in Florida.

Flea Market Has Expanded In Montclair

The Montclair Flea Market, sponsored by the Montclair Historical Society, and located in the Erie-Lackawanna railroad station, Montclair, has recently announced plans for expansion of its facilities.

The Erie-Lackawanna railroad has permanently closed the 60 year old building, which has been placed on the National Registry of Historic Sites, as of January 18. The Flea Market has taken advantage of the larger space available and moved into the waiting room of the station. Half a dozen antique dealers have joined the Flea Market and have set up their shops in various parts of the station.

The new center will be called The Montclair Antiques Market, and it is hoped that this entire area of Montclair will draw interested customers from neighboring towns, the county and the state.

The new Market opened to the public on Saturday Feb. 2, at 10 a.m. and will be open on a daily basis, being closed only on Sundays and Mondays. Weekday hours will be 10:30 a.m.-3:30 p.m. The special Saturday Shows will continue and the Saturday hours will be 10 a.m.-4 p.m. For further information, call the Market at 746-9447.

Miss Diana M. Richards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd F. Richards of Wethersfield, Connecticut, became the bride February 8 of Dennis G. O'Neill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank O'Neill of 179 Hornblower Avenue.

The Rev. Robert W. Shanley performed the ceremony in Corpus Christi Church, Wethersfield. A reception followed at Hotel Sonesta.

Escorted by her father, the bride had her sister, Mrs. Denise R. York of Wilmington, Massachusetts as matron of honor. Bridesmaids included another sister, Miss Donna C. Richards of Wethersfield, the groom's sister, Miss Maryanne O'Neill of Belleville and Miss Patricia C. Provera of Hartford, Connecticut.

Timothy J. O'Neill of Belleville served his brother as best man. Ushering were another brother, Frank O'Neill of Kearny, Charles McLoughlin of Newark and William Weiss of Belleville.

Mrs. O'Neill is an alumna of South Catholic High School, Hartford and Seton Hall University. Mr. O'Neill is a graduate of Essex Catholic High School, Newark and Seton Hall.

The couple are honeymooning in Key Biscayne, Florida and will live in South Orange.

Mrs. Dennis O'Neill — nee Diana M. Richards

MENTAL HEALTH MATTERS

Bertram S. Brown, M.D., Director
National Institute of Mental Health

Teachers Talk

When teachers talk about the mental and emotional problems of their pupils, what they have to say is of significance not only to all interested in the mental health of children, but also to others. The future stability, health, and happiness of the whole community is involved in our children.

There is also another point. Whether teachers are kind or hostile, helpful or uncaring, they exert a profound influence upon the mental health of the children they teach.

Thus, the attitudes and mental health of our teachers — including their satisfactions, frustrations, needs and problems — are immensely important.

A helpful new publication in this field is one called "Teachers Talk About Their Feelings," published by the National Institute of Mental Health of HEW's Alcohol, Drug Abuse, and Mental Health Administration.

The booklet aims particularly to stimulate inquiry and discussion about classroom situations and the feelings of beginning teachers. It presents a sampling of teachers' comments. For example, one teacher said: "It's not easy to deal with parents when they see you as a corruptor of youth and you see yourself as a teacher trying to widen a kid's horizons. You feel guilty doing something with a student that his parents oppose. You also feel uneasy giving in to stupidity and prejudice."

Another teacher spoke about the special talk of helping children who have emotional problems:

"What really bugs us, it seems to me, is that we don't know how to help the difficult kids — disturbed and aggressive kids, handicapped kids, kids unmotivated to learn. It keeps me up nights."

A group of young first-year teachers from different grade levels met in group discussions to explore these and other aspects of their work. The sessions were taped, then transcribed and edited into a short booklet which is, in essence, a description by new teachers of their experiences.

The booklet is available for $5 a copy from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402. Ask for it by title and publication No. 1724-00291.

Conservation Theme Chosen For N.J. Show

"For the Birds" is the conservation theme of the educational exhibit of the New Jersey State Federation of Women's Clubs, representing 45,000 members throughout the state.

The Women's Clubs are among the many exhibitors at the 1974 New Jersey Flower & Garden Show, largest of its kind in the New York-New Jersey metropolitan area. It will be held at the National Guard Armory in Morristown, Saturday, March 9 through Sunday, March 17. A large number of fully planted gardens and displays will be featured, as well as educational exhibits and programs designed to help the home gardener and all those interested in improving environmental and home surroundings.

The Woman's Federation has long been a champion of the ecological movement and its motif is in keeping with the over-all theme of the Flower and Garden Show — "Enjoy Life with Living Beauty."

Mrs. LeRoy Osborn of Pt. Pleasant, state conservation and garden chairman for the Federation, is coordinator of the exhibit at the Morristown show. She is being assisted by beautification chairman, Mrs. Michael Piza of Neptune.

A naturalistic woodland setting of white pine trees, pyracantha (fire thorn), holly, chubblow and native dogwood (early blooming variety with yellow flowers) and ground cover of various mosses plus a small pond, will provide the habitat to attract birds.

"I am deeply concerned by the fact that our wooded areas are disappearing rapidly," said Mrs. Osborn. "I think it's important to show the public what kind of trees and shrubs they can plant that will provide birds with both cover and food."

The nine-day New Jersey Flower & Garden Show will be open from Saturday, March 9 to Sunday, March 17. Hours will be 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Sundays and 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. on all other days.

Mr. and Mrs. James Stump Honeymooned In The South

St. Dominick's Church, Brick Town, was the setting November 17 for the marriage of Miss Donna Lee Grosso, daughter of Mrs. Leonora Grosso of Point Pleasant, formerly of Belleville and the late Mr. Joseph E. Grosso to James Leslye Stump, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Stump of Brick Town.

The Rev. Frank of St. Martha's Church, Point Pleasant, officiated. A reception was held at American Legion Hall, Seaside Heights.

Escorted by her Godfather, Frank Brinkoski of Jersey City, the bride wore a traditional white lace gown styled with a tiered skirt, scalloped bodice accented with pearls and rhinestones, long lace sleeves and boat neckline.

Her shoulder-length veil fell from a pearl rosebud tiara and she carried a nosegay of white carnations, stephanotis and red roses.

Miss Susan Hager of Point Pleasant was maid of honor in an orchid chiffon gown with inserts of ivory lace and a matching picture hat. She carried white and orchid carnations with matching ribbon. The flower-girl, Karen Preuster of Toms River, cousin of the bride, was similarly attired.

Bridesmaids included Miss Barbara Rose and the bride's cousin, Miss Michele Simone of Toms River and another cousin, Miss Denise Preuster of Belleville. They were gown in rainbow shades of moss green, light blue and apricot and carried bouquets of matching carnations.

Wayne Stump of Toms River was best man for his brother. Ushers were William Gaskill, Peter Manning and William Robinson, all of Brick Town. Darrin Simone of Clifton, cousin of the bride, was ringbearer.

Mrs. Grosso chose a powder blue chiffon gown and wore a corsage of matching carnations. The groom's mother's gown featured a gold metallic bodice and brown crepe skirt.

Mrs. Stump, a graduate of Point Pleasant High School, attended Ocean County College and Monmouth College and is a commercial fisherman with the Snow Canning Company, Point Pleasant.

Mr. Stump, an alumnus of Brick Town High School, attended Ocean County College and Monmouth College and is a commercial fisherman with the Snow Canning Company, Point Pleasant.

The couple honeymooned in Florida and are living in Point Pleasant.

Senior Class Activities Suffer From Lack of Student Interest

Where Are the Picnic Tables Donated by the Class of '73?

by Barbara Weafer

On December 20, 1973, the Senior class of Belleville High School sponsored a dinner dance which took place at The Fountain in Belleville. It was a huge success, although only about one hundred tickets were sold. Everyone had a good time and was sorry to go home.

The next week everyone that went was talking about the great music, delicious food, and the fun. The Executive Council could clearly see that the most profitable thing to do was to have another dinner dance, possibly around Valentine's Day. They were sure that this one would be an even greater success. They were wrong!

The deadline for the ticket sale has been set for February 8th and twenty tickets had been sold as of February 7. It is a bit of a mystery why no one is interested in attending the second activity to help finance their own class trip.

The class trip is the cost of the dinner. At 10 a head, it would be easier to pay now rather than around a big holiday like Christmas. It could be also that the students are just waiting for each other to buy because most of the tickets last time were bought close to the deadline.

The Senior Play which is put on each year by the students to help support the trip has been postponed. Why? If the seniors don't raise enough money to finance the trip, the difference will have to be paid by the students themselves.

The Senior Dinner-Dance was canceled this week. Mr. Rafferty who was in charge of the arrangements is also surprised at the lack of support. "We thought we'd have close to two hundred people this time because of the successfulness of the first dance," he said.

We all hope that this is just an instance where an activity that didn't go over well won't become a habit. It is quite discouraging to see such a lack of enthusiasm and fairness of the student body.

by Lynda O'Connell

It's so nice to be able to eat your lunch outside or just enjoy some clean fresh air on a winter afternoon. With Belleville Senior High's vast campus, a student could easily find a spot to settle down and relax during his free period. Why, then, is the Senior High administration so against such a simple change of open campus?

During the course of the day, students find themselves rushing to classes, taking tests, and studying till their brains are tired and stomachs hungry. When lunch time finally arrives the student has a grand total of twenty minutes to eat in the congested cafeteria. Then off to another series of classes.

In a school such as Nutley High where the campus is far smaller than that of BHS, the students are allowed out at lunch and any other free period of the day. A least last year the seniors in Belleville could go to the senior lounge during their free periods. This year, however, the supposed lounge is now a classroom.

Can't our principals realize how overcrowded the halls, cafeteria, and classrooms are? With open campus, a student could walk out one exit and into another, creating less traffic in the halls. Classes could be taught outside on nice days since the temperature between outdoors and inside doesn't vary so greatly. The cafeteria situation would be much better if more students were outside.

With fresh air and sunshine a student would be filled with new strength to make it through the rest of his day. A better spirit in this every day situation might come to be.

Picnic tables were donated by the class of '73; well, lets use them. So far there has been no sign or mention of the tables. A recent petition was signed by a great majority of the students asking for an open campus. It was of course, turned down but not forgotten about by all those who signed it.

This editorial is written on behalf of all those students favoring open campus. It is written in hopes that our principals might come to realize the necessity of such a change. The present feelings among most students at BHS are rather sluggish. Open campus is what's needed to bring about a better atmosphere in the Senior High.

Student Is Advanced In National Contest

Maryjo A. Lamorte has been named Belleville High School's 1974 Betty Crocker Family Leader of Tomorrow. Miss Lamorte won the honor by scoring high in a written knowledge and attitude examination administered to high school seniors here and throughout the country Dec. 4. She will receive a specially designed award from General Mills, sponsor of the annual Betty Crocker Search for Leadership in Family Living and also remains eligible for state and national honors.

From the ranks of all school winners in the state, a State Family Leader of Tomorrow is selected through judging centered on test performance and receives a $5,500 college scholarship. The second-ranking student in the state will receive a $500 scholarship. Encyclopedia Britannica Educational Corporation will present "The Annals of America", a 20-volume reference work, to the state winner's school.

School Nine PTA Marks 77 Years

The School Nine PTA celebrated its 77th anniversary with a Founders' Day program Tuesday, Feb. 5.

The next meeting of the group will be held March 12 at School Nine at 7:30 p.m., when a drug program will be presented by Essex County Sheriff John Cryan, who will answer questions from the audience.

At the Founders' Day program, honored guests included former School Nine Principal Mrs. Viola Spray and past PTA Presidents Mrs. Julie Wells, Mrs. Lillian Westfield, Mrs. Geraldine Macaluso, Mrs. Marlene Lazzaro, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rovell, Mrs. Lillian DeAngelis and Mrs. Nancy MacArthur. Mrs. Tucker, president of the Essex County Council of the PTA was also present.

A skit was presented by members of Mrs. R. Ford's fifth grade class, directed by Mrs. L. DeAngelis.

Postal Services To Close

The Main Post Office, stations and branches will be closed for Washington's Birthday, Monday, Feb. 18. No regular window or delivery services will be available.

Collections will be made from street boxes on holiday schedules, and will include pick-ups from "Air Mail Only" boxes.

Special delivery service will be provided as usual. Postmaster-Manager Joseph J. Benucci said, and the lobby of the main office will be open as usual for customer's access to locked boxes.

A mechanical self-service postal center, complete with bill and coin changer is available at all times in the lobby for purchase of stamps, postcards, envelopes and the mailing of domestic packages.

Society Elects President

Mrs. Elaine Magnatta, Father Saltarelli, Mrs. Brosius, Mrs. Julia Sabadies, Mrs. Emma Maestro and Mrs. Fannie Bell.

BROWSING BELLEVILLE

With Pat Diana

(Write me at 104 Overlook Ave. or call 751-6861)

Happy birthday wishes are in order for young John Berry - February 12 and Eric Westpy - February 21.

The Essex County Vocational and Technical High School, 300 North 13th St. Newark, will be having their annual Alumnae Dinner at The Fountain Restaurant on May 1. Any graduate from the school, interested in attending the affair is asked to send their name (and, in the case of females, their maiden name), date of graduation, address and phone number to Mrs. Mary Eder, president of the Alumnae. Mary lives at 40 Meacham Street or may be reached by phone at 751-3820.

The Auxiliary of the North Essex Child Guidance Clinic will hold a card party, March 1 at the Nutley Savings and Loan, Franklin Avenue, Nutley... public is invited; refreshments will be served... watch future issues for details.

Get well wishes are in order for John DelVecchio who is in room 502 at Clara Maass... John is known as a "ladies man" in both Senior Citizen groups in town and is really missed by the gals... understand some nice ladies visited him and presented John with Valentine P.J.'s.

CONGRATULATIONS to Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Bocchetti of Little Street on their 25th wedding anniversary... the date is February 19th.

School Three will hold their annual Card Party April 5th at the School, sponsored by the HSA. Fashions will be by Sherman's Children's Wear.

Troop 304 BSA, of Wesley United Methodist Church celebrated their 56th anniversary last week - congrats.

Still a little time left - so if you are interested in acting, tryouts for the Family Playhouse Theatre in Nutley will be held this evening. Casting director is Ray Napolitano at 997-5626. The first production of the season will be Lionel Bart's "Oliver". Tryouts will be held in the resident theatre on Msgr. Diluca Plaza (formerly Holy Family Church).

The acting treasurer of the Belleville Senior Citizens and her husband were watching the Cerebral Palsy Telethon last week. They decided to donate $5 each of their Social Security checks which had just arrived... and then they asked any senior citizen who wished to donate $1 to join them... It was too late to announce on the TV; but at the Belleville Sr. Citizen meeting the request was made, and $52 was collected in addition to the $10 - nice going. Any contributions may be made to "Palsy" P.O. Box 555, Trenton, N.J. 08604.

On February 2nd a surprise birthday party was held for Catherine Gruber by her brothers and sisters. Also at the party were Catherine's mother, Mrs. C. Murphy of Toms River and her aunts, Mrs. A. Carragher and Miss Ann Hood of Belleville. The brothers and their wives from Belleville were: Mr. and Mrs. J. Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. T. Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. C. Murphy; the sisters and their husbands from town: Mr. and Mrs. J. Baldwin, Mr. and Mrs. F. Baccaro, Mr. and Mrs. C. Marino, Mr. and Mrs. J. Salmon and Mrs. P. Ritzer... more sisters from Toms River and their husbands were: Mr. and Mrs. J. Fitzgerald, Mr. and Mrs. J. Petrucci, Mr. and Mrs. P. Kraus and Mr. and Mrs. E. Yesunas and Brother Gregory Murphy was there, too. The party was catered by Doly Caterers of Bloomfield, and was a "real surprise"... the whole family enjoyed the get together and celebrating their oldest sister's birthday.

NEWS from School Eight - Mr. Petti held his first workshop which was well attended, the school play by the fourth grade classes will be March 1... and plans are under way for the Chinese Auction.

which will be held March 29th.

Randy Rossilli of The Kiwanis Club of Branch Brook Belleville appeared on TV's "Bowling for Dollars"... not only did he win some dough, but he got a plug in for the Club. Parillo's owner, Tony Fierro, brought a television set into his restaurant so the Kiwanians could watch Randy.

The first club meeting was held of a newly formed club, consisting of sisters and sisters-in-law. Some of the gals live in Toms River, and some in Belleville, and meetings will alternate between those two points, one a month. The first meeting was held at the home of Marge Baccaro and officers were elected. With Marge as president, Carol Petrucci, Vice president, Diane Yesunas - secretary and Colleen Salmon - treasurer. The sisters from town are: Catherine Gruber, Mary Baldwin, Marge Baccaro, Jeanne Marino, Colleen Salmon, and Maureen Riner... from Toms River - Irene Fitzgerald, Diane Yesunas, Carol Petrucci and Patricia Kraus. The sisters-in-law from Belleville are Rose Murphy, Gail Murphy and Jeanne Murphy... Sounds like a lot of fun for the girls... and, by the way my maiden name was Murphy... can I join?

DOING BY THE "GROUP"

As mentioned a few weeks back, the "Group" at Belleville Jr. High will again present a production which will feature teachers, staff members and friends. "Plaza Suite" will be produced on March 7, 8 and 9, with Robert Jefferson director and Carmine Quinta, Co-director... Mario DiMaggio, principal at BJHS, appeared in many of the Group productions, but had to beg off this year due to many other commitments. He says that this type of show is great for community relations - the teachers enjoy it, the kids love it and the entertainment for the residents is well received. Let's take a peek at who's who...

Francene Kirsch is a Spanish teacher at BJHS, received her B.A. from Muhlenberg College in Pennsylvania and lists her interest as travel, needlecrafts and collecting slides from places she has visited, such as Spain, London, Rome, Israel, and Puerto Rico. She plays Karen Nash in "Plaza Suite" and says "since a teacher performs daily in front of a class, I thought it would be interesting to expand this experience to the stage".

Bill Hollis, also a Spanish teacher at the school, received his B.A. in Spanish and English at Montclair State College. He was a disc jockey for WWSM Radio, enjoys all kinds of music, swimming and bicycling. Bill visited Spain last summer and will complete his Masters degree in guidance and counseling in the fall of 1975. Bill is Sam Nash in the production and has appeared in "Don't Drink the Water", "George Washington slept here" and "Pygmalion". He also plays the clarinet and piano.

The character of Jesse Kiplinger will be portrayed by Tony Salese - English Teacher. He has traveled to Italy, Austria, Switzerland and France and is studying for his M.A. in English. Tony enjoys skiing and appeared in "George Washington Slept Here".

Abdel Is King Of Homecourt Point Records

by Bob Cohen

There was joy at Belleville High School last Tuesday in the game against the Columbia Cougars. Of primary importance was the fact that Belleville coasted to a 76-60 victory. It was Belleville's fourth win of the season and it upped them to 4-1. Columbia fell 3-11.

Yet the highlight of the game was what happened with 14 seconds remaining in the game. A record was established at the Belleville home court and it will remain there til this individual sets a new standard. Bill Sherman once scored 37 points in a game against Irvington during the mid-sixties. Abdel Anderson scored 38 points in a game, thereby taking sole possession of the Belleville home court scoring record.

To go with Abdel's high point contest, he also collected 26 rebounds, best in a single game. To complete the tally of things done in the game, he blocked five shots and intimidated countless others. Abdel Anderson is one of the most complete ballplayers to play in Belleville in quite awhile.

This was a game of many firsts. Harry Baumgartner scored his highest single game total while playing on the varsity. He made four field goals to go with nine for 11 foul shooting for a total of seventeen points.

Columbia had three players in double figures. Pat Giordano led the Cougars with 18 points. Rodger Wolf and Darrell Hargett had 14 and 12 points respectively.

Belleville never trailed in this mistake ridden, slow paced contest. Columbia tried to go into a stall in the first quarter but this only enabled Belleville to take the ball away more easily. Neither team was by far error free but the difference was that Belleville scored more points than they made errors. Columbia did not.

Bloomfield Hires Diamond Coach

Peter Cross, for 10 years assistant baseball coach at Columbia High School in Maplewood, has been named head baseball coach at Bloomfield College, athletic director Robert Nichols has announced.

The selection of the 37-year-old Cross ends a lengthy search for a successor to Al Restaino, long-time basketball and baseball pilot.

"A head coaching job is something I've always wanted," said Cross. "It will be a challenge, I'm sure. But I love coaching; it has been my life."

Cross, in addition to his assistant basketball duties, served as football aide and was head basketball coach for three years.

A 1954 graduate of Columbia High, Cross was a third-team All-State Group IV third baseman his senior year. After attending the University of South Carolina for one semester, he entered the armed forces. Following his discharge, he enrolled at Panzer College and, after that institution merged with Montclair State College, Cross graduated from the latter in 1961.

Cross and his wife Jean reside in Maplewood with their children. His decision to take the Bloomfield post was a family affair and he has very definite ideas of how he will work come March 1.

"We will concentrate on physical conditioning the first few weeks," he said. "I'll have the players work on agility, strength and dexterity."

"I have some tentative scrimmages lined up with Rutgers and Seton Hall, but, since those schools go to Florida in the second half of March, the scrimmages must come early."

"But, my aim is to get as many scrimmages as possible, hoping all the while that the weather is good so we can get outside and practice as much as possible."

Among the players Cross will be coaching are All-Central Athletic College Conference selections, Barry Levine (third base), Chris Carter (shortstop) and Joe Intendola (catcher).

"I just hope all the players are running to stay in shape," said Cross. "I'm anxious to get going."

Rockets, Brewers Ready for Clash

The South Mountain Rockets and the Bergen Brewers, both beginning preparations for the Northeastern U.S. Hockey League playoffs, have one more obstacle before post-season play begins — each other. The Rockets host the Brewers Sunday at 8:00 p.m. at the South Mountain Arena and regular-season finale for both teams.

The two intra-state rivals will be meeting for the third time this season with The Brewers winning both games in overtime (5-4 and 6-5). It tells you something about the way these two teams play it — full tilt all the way, neither giving the other any edge.

The Brewers have bounced back from a dismal 1972-73 campaign in which they lost over 20 games and so far this season have registered a 15-4-2 log. It has earned the Bergen squad first place in the league and an invitation to another post-season hockey tournament in Canada.

Part of the reason for the Brewers' success is the play of Bob Crothers, former MVP in the North Jersey Scholastic Hockey League and the team's leading scorer with 21 goals and 13 assists for 33 points, and spectacular goalie Terry Jordan who has proven a haunting nemesis of the Rockets. In the first overtime victory, Jordan stopped 47 of the Rockets' 51 shots on goal.

Giving the Brewers added speed is center's Jon Vlachos, a former Rocket star, and Jim Egan, one of the original Brewers when the club began three years ago in Newark.

As for the Rockets, coach John Warchol feels he has them right where he wants them — playing their best hockey. The Rockets are coming off an 8-3 victory over the undermanned Cheshire Blues and Warchol, who is also the team's leading defensive player and scorer, is more than satisfied with the developments in recent weeks.

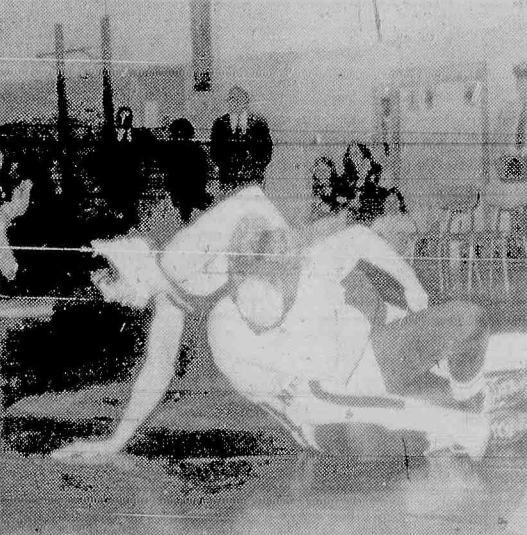

"The guys are starting to score more goals," said Warchol, "and we're playing exceptionally well; we're playing smooth. I made a few line changes and it has given us more scoring depth; now we have three solid lines."

It should prove to be a key factor against Bergen. Leading the way for the Rockets will be Dave Sloan, who scored two points last week despite playing with a broken nose, Ron Moreau with 24 points, Frank Grace, who is beginning to find his way in his first season with the club and George Pagnotta and Rich Wolffe, who have picked up the slack on the third line.

The Brewers will rely on youth and speed; the Rockets experience and poise. It should be another down-to-the-wire contest.

SLIPPING AWAY — Bellboy Chuck Rilli (top) eludes the grasp of Nutley's Dan Clark in the 135-lb. competition.

Wear Away Lead Raiders Overpower Belleville Grapplers

The Nutley Maroon Raiders put Belleville out of contention for the Big Ten crown the Blue-Gold won last year, but only after a grueling match that saw Nutley eat up a 14-point lead.

Praising the efforts of his wrestlers, coach Jim Silvestri said the squad will set their sights on the Essex County Coaches Tournament set for February 28, where they'll get another shot at the powerful Nutley team.

Tomorrow night the matmen will travel to compete with a weak Columbia club, and then will return here for their final home match against West Orange, Tuesday, 2 p.m.

After the regular competition, said Silvestri, remains district and regional competition.

If the Maroon Raiders, with their 8-1 record, had any ideas that the 5-13-1 Bellboys were going to hand over an easy win, they were quickly dispelled as the Blue-Gold tore off five wins against one loss in the lower weight classes for an 18-4 lead. It was in the final six bouts that Nutley pulled out to win, as they pinned two Bellboys and lost no matches to make the final score 28-18.

Leading off the afternoon's competition, Belleville got a break when the starting 101-pounder for Nutley, Ron Kozinsky, failed to make weight and Bruce Ciecone was called in for his first varsity match. Considering his competition was sophomore Vinnie Mustacchio, a big winner for Belleville this year, the newcomer did well. He succeeded in evading a pin, as Mustacchio had to settle for an 11-1 superiority decision.

In the second match, Belleville's Carl Arit (108) was in a similar position as Ciecone when he face undefeated Wayne Horvath, a likely state champ this year. Arit won a pat on the back from Silvestri as he, too, fought off a pin. "He came off his back twice and went right back to finish," said Silvestri. Horvath won a superiority decision, 19-5, to tie the match at 4-4.

Belleville then began its reign over the next four bouts as Bob Cozzarelli (115) started out by battling Tom Ucci to a 2-1 decision won by the Belleville senior on riding time.

Orange Claims Big 10 Crown In 95-79 Spree with Bellboys

by Bob Cohen

Belleville assisted the Orange Tornadoes to this year's Big Ten crown as the Bellboys fell victim to the Orange full court press. The eagles thus became the eighteenth straight opponent to lose to the Tornadoes this year. The score of last Friday's game played in Orange was 95-79.

The loss despite being one of the better played games this year, left Belleville with a 4-12 mark. They are now 3-11 in the Big Ten.

Tomorrow afternoon the opponent will be East Orange as the Bellboys play their last scheduled weekend game this year. This contest will begin at 3:45, at the Belleville High School gymnasium.

After the East Orange encounter, there remains a Monday night game against Garfield away. The game against winless Garfield is set for 8 p.m.

Orange, knowing the conference title rested on this game, were very much involved in this contest. Yet it was the Bellboys who were giving the problems in the first quarter as the squad never trailed. A Bob Sanders' jumper opened the scoring in the high shooting contest. Abdel Anderson followed with a jumper to make the score read 4-0.

Abdel Anderson, just three days after breaking the home scoring record, pumped in 43 big ones, this time against the number one team in the state. No other player put in that many points against Orange this year in single game. Right now Abdel Anderson rates along side the cherry blossoms as one of Belleville's outstanding features.

Eleven of the eighteen field goals that Anderson had on the afternoon were from outside and half of these jumpers were foul line distance and better. Big Dickie Johnson had failed all afternoon trying to guard Abdel and even some of his flagrant fouls did not put a damper on the Bellboy star's output.

For most of the first quarter, Belleville would grab a lead but would be tied as Orange poured back. The

Fem Cagers Enter Tournament Today

The Bellgirl cagers will face their first competition in the state tournament today when they host the Columbia Cougars at the Belleville High gym at 3:30 p.m.

Admission for the game will be $1 for students and $2 for adults.

The Bellgirls, whose record stands at 10-3, narrowly defeated the Columbia squad earlier this season in a 36-35 game.

Bellgirls Thump Verona In Blazing 51-23 Attack

by Elaine Drake

The Bellgirls met Verona in a convincing 51-23 victory last Wednesday. Belleville dominated the game in passing, scoring, and rebounds.

Verona controlled the opening jump ball, but before they could score Diana Amoscatto intercepted the ball and assisted Donna Stone in the first field goal of the game. Joyce Buckland intercepted a Verona pass and drove down for a score. On the next play, Joyce Buckland intercepted another Verona pass and assisted Gloria Barbone in a field goal.

The Bellgirls out-scored Verona sixteen points to five points. Six of the Belleville points were scored at the foul line while ten points were scored from the field. Donna Stone went to the foul line for four shots in two one and one situations. Joyce Buckland went to the foul line for two as she was fouled in a one and one situation by Debenedetti. The score at the end of the half was 35-11.

The third quarter moved slowly with Verona scoring four points and Belleville scoring seven points. Six of Belleville's seven points were scored from the field by Carol Jackson, Gloria Barbone, and Joyce Buckland. Diane Amoscatto scored one of her two foul shots to widen the Belleville lead to 42-15.

The Bellgirls continued their domineering game throughout the fourth quarter. Donna Stone scored six of her fifteen points in this quarter. Gloria Barbone intercepted a Verona pass and drove down for a field goal. The final score was 51-23.

On Thursday, the Bellgirls will meet Columbia at the Belleville High School for their first game in the state tournaments.

BELLGIRL Susan Paul shoots over the heads of two Verona defenders as the fem cagers blasted their way to another big win.

Weightlifters Take Second Place in Philly Open

At the Philadelphia Open Weightlifting Championships held last month, the Belleville Barbell Club brought home the second place team trophy as well as two individual trophies. The Belleville team placed a strong second to the perennial national champion York Barbell Club of York, Pennsylvania. Rounding out the top three teams was the Willimantic YMCA of Willimantic, Connecticut.

Winning individual trophies were 114-lb. class winner Frank Falgares and second place superheavyweight Terry Manton. Falgares, only 14 years old and already one of the country's best flyweight lifters, hoisted 150 lbs. in the snatch and 200 in the clean and jerk. Manton, weighing in at 315, snatched 250 and clean and jerked 350.

Other members of the Belleville Barbell Club who also lifted but did not place along the top three were lightweightweights Bob Giordano (265 snatch and 325 clean and jerk), and Alvin Morgenstern (230 and 325), and heavyweightweights George Leggett (260 and 325) and Bruce Klemens (255 and 325).

Many of the Belleville Barbell Club will be competing in the National Collegiate Championships to be held March 9 and 10 at Montclair State College. This is the most important meet held in this area in years and anyone interested in weightlifting should not miss this chance to see some of the strongest men in the nation in head-to-head competition for national titles.

per contest. At Orange Anderson had 19 rebounds.

In the third quarter, the Bellboys star had 14 of the 18 points scored. Anthony Cotugno and Harry Baumgartner accounted for the other four points, with both baskets coming on jumpers. Still the unbelievably quick Tornados twisted to a 26-18 advantage in the second quarter. Dickey Johnson awakened to the fact the he was being seriously outplayed and scored eight points. He was joined by a similar amount from Ed Butler. Wells had six tallies. Holmes and Butler had two each. Because of Anderson's shooting, Orange could not run off any spirit in the third quarter. Yet the Orange defense prevented anything other than two back to back buckets at all during the period.

Things were different in the fourth and final period. Different for Orange that is. The Tornados ripped apart Belleville for 13 unanswered points to give them a 30 point, 86-56 advantage. Again the scoring was balanced.

Orange probably has the best collection of shooters on any team and seems deserving of its number one ranking. With five players who are a threat to score anytime they have the ball, it makes a very hard assignment.

The Donald Wells jumper was a turning point in the contest for Belleville. For the first time all afternoon, Belleville put it to Orange outscoring them 23-9 after his jumper. In fact with three minutes left and Bill Phelps scoring points 94 and 95, the fans were screaming for 100. Instead the Bellboys shut Orange out for the remaining time.

MSC's Manning Overcomes Height

What freshman John Manning of Montclair State College lacks in height he more than makes up for it with his desire and determination.

Manning of Newark is just 6-feet-4 but that hasn't hampered the former Seton Hall Prep standout from performing his job with great success. Last week he displayed the brand of basketball that he's capable of playing and his performances for three games earned him the college division Player-of-the-Week as selected by the New Jersey Basketball Writers Association.

"I feel very happy," was the way Manning expressed his gratitude. "It's a great honor."

Manning had three superb games against Monmouth, Pace (N.Y.), and Grambling (La.) Colleges. He scored 41 points and hauled down 38 rebounds. He was 15-of-20 from the floor and 11-of-13 from the foul line. His high game was 17 points against Monmouth. Montclair State won all three games during that time.

But Manning feels he's not contributing enough to Montclair State's basketball fortunes. "I feel I should score a little more," he said. "I sometimes pass up the percentage shot and we often wind up turning the ball over. It's more or less like errors of omission."

Manning's certain that with him scoring more it would help the team in a long run.

Raiders Defeat Matmen

whose arm he had broken last year. Anthony Villano (122) escaped a near-pin by Nutley's Tom Maher and came out with a 19-5 superiority decision.

Another grueling battle occurred in the 129-lb. competition as Don Liloia twisted and pulled a 5-0 decision from Jerry Turco.

Chuck Rilli (135) came through for Belleville when he reeled in yet another superiority decision, 12-2, over Raider Dan Clark. It was the last victory of the day for Belleville.

Although the lighter members of the squad had done more than their part by establishing an 18-4 edge for the Bellboys, the heavier six classes hold the greatest portion of the Maroon talent and they trotted it out Friday afternoon. Frank Molinaro led off for Nutley as he came out on top of a hot battle with Belleville's Bill Mazza. The score was 4-2.

"HERE, YOU TRY IT" — The Bellgirl press persuades a Verona player to pass off the ball. The girls host Columbia today in their first game of the state tournament.

Undefeated Trio Pace Union Owls

Three of the chief reasons Union College's wrestling team captured seven of its first eight meets are Captain Steve Migliaccio, Bob Meli and Steve Horvath. The trio is undefeated so far and has accounted for 90 of the Owls' points.

Migliaccio, a freshman from Chester, has a 7-0 record, scoring four of his triumph through pins. He has totaled 36 points for the Owls, who will meet the jayvee teams from Wilkes College tomorrow, Feb. 8, and Bucknell University and Lycoming College, both on Saturday, Feb. 9.

After the three jayvee away meets, Migliaccio and his mates return to the Garden State Athletic Conference action to face Ocean County College at home on Monday, Feb. 11 and Gloucester County College on Wednesday, Feb. 13 at Sewell.

Keeping pace with Migliaccio, Meli has a pristine 6-0 record. The Hackensack freshman also has won four of his matches by pinning his opponent. Horvath won his first four matches without a defeat, pinning two foes, while the Owls were carving out a seven-meet victory skein after an opening loss to Nassau (N.Y.) County College.

Union captured four straight meets by blanking its opponents: Essex County College, 39-0; York (CUNY) College, 57-0; John Jay (CUNY) College, 57-0, and Cumberland County College, 52-0. County College of Morris was the Owls' seventh victim, 36-15.

Coach Jerry Pardue has high hopes of keeping the winning streak alive off the performances of Migliaccio, Meli and Horvath.

"Migliaccio is strong and aggressive," Pardue said. "He prepares himself well for meets, both physically and mentally." Migliaccio prepared for Union College at West Morris Central High School under the guidance of Coach Frank Sallo.

Coach Joseph DeFalco of Hackensack High School saw Meli run up a 15-3 record in scholastic competition and so far Coach Pardue has yet to see him lose.

"He's a tough, hard-nosed wrestler," Pardue said. "Bob knows the moves and is a strict fundamentalist on the mat, nothing fancy."

Beck's column

The Annual Magnavox Sale, eagerly awaited by many customers, starts this year, on Feb. 14th. This is about one month later than usual. People expect sales to begin right after Christmas and this may be the reason why the factory decided to comply with the custom.

It is well known that the Christmas business this year was exceptionally good. There were lots of savings and people surely spent it for Christmas. Consequently there is not really much of "sale" merchandise in dealer's stocks. One manufacturer of TV sets who in previous years started a sale on February first, won't have a sale at all. This factory did not gauge the trend of the business early enough and was caught short. Many of this factory's dealers did not have portable merchandise for Christmas.

Although there certainly is not an abundance of Magnavox sale merchandise, there is some at the usual mark downs of up to $52.00 for the higher priced sets. The bargains will be sold out soon. If you have waited for this sale to save some money, the only time during the year when this is possible with Magnavox, we suggest that you come in without delay.

517 CENTRAL AVE. NEWARK—CALL 481-14

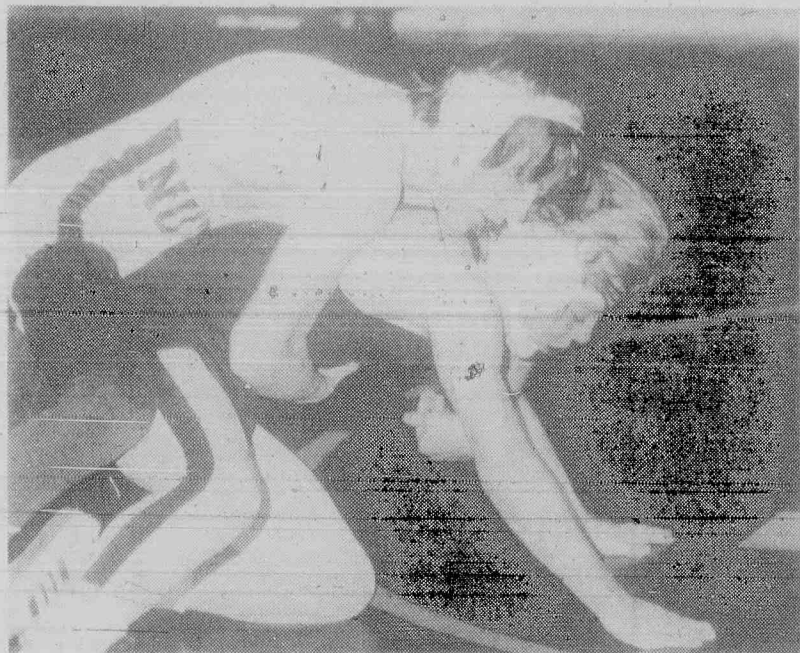

BRIEF TALK — During a break in his match with Frank Molinaro, 141-pounder Bill Mazza gets some advice from Bellboy mentor Jim Silvestri. Mazza was shaded, 4-2.

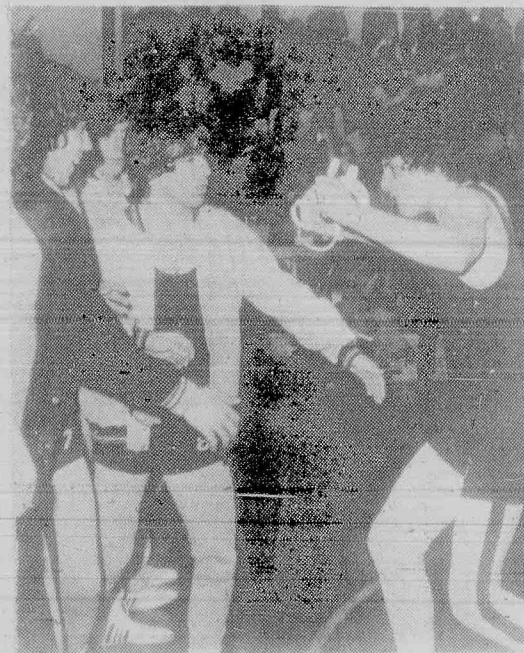

NARROW ESCAPE — Bellboy Jim LaConti managed to work himself out of this painful predicament imposed on him by Nutley's Lou Alessio in the 188-pound bout. Referee Ernest Zuberer didn't call it a pin, and Alessio had to settle for an 8-2 decision. The Maroon's win put the meet out of reach for the Belleville squad. It ended 28-18.

Raiders Pay in Full for Prized Mat Victory

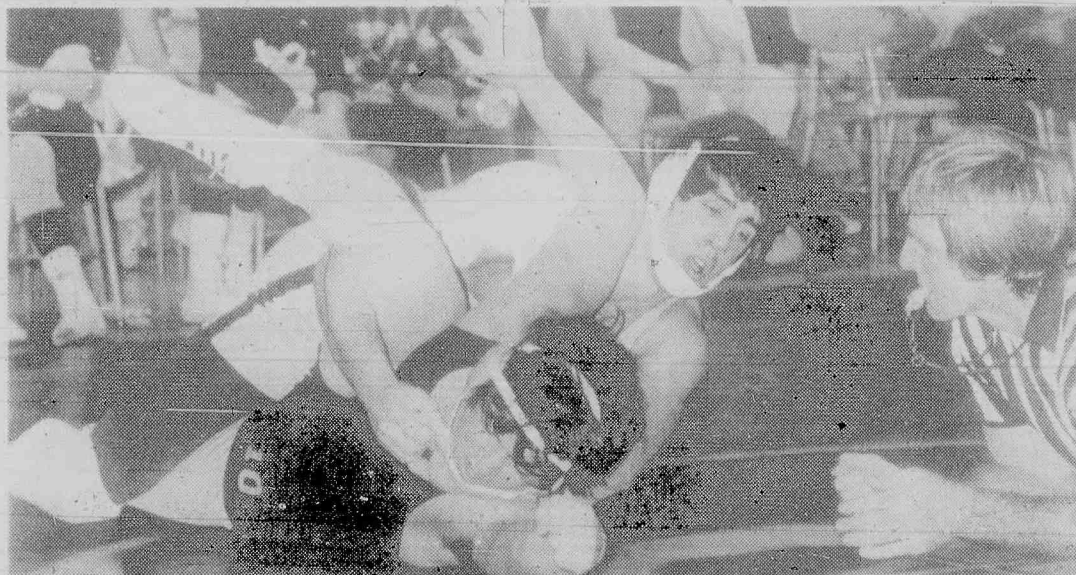

TOUGH CUSTOMER — Undefeated Wayne Horvath of Nutley (top) won his match against Carl Arlt (108 lbs.) by a healthy 14-point margin, but the feisty Bellboy sophomore refused to give away a pin.

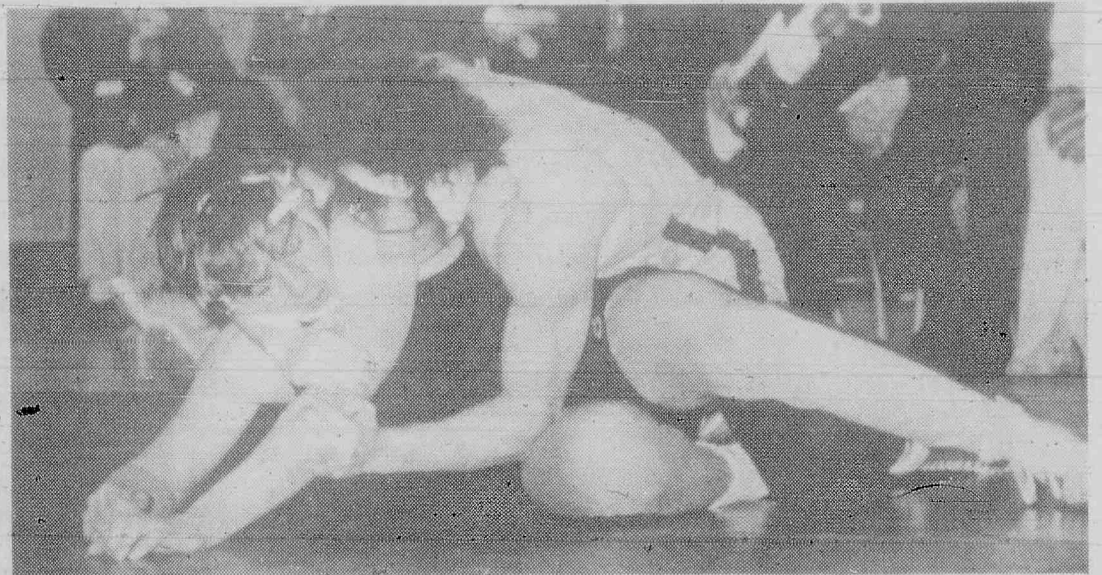

UNDISGUISED glee is apparent in Don Liloia (129 lbs.) as he emerges victorious from the mat.

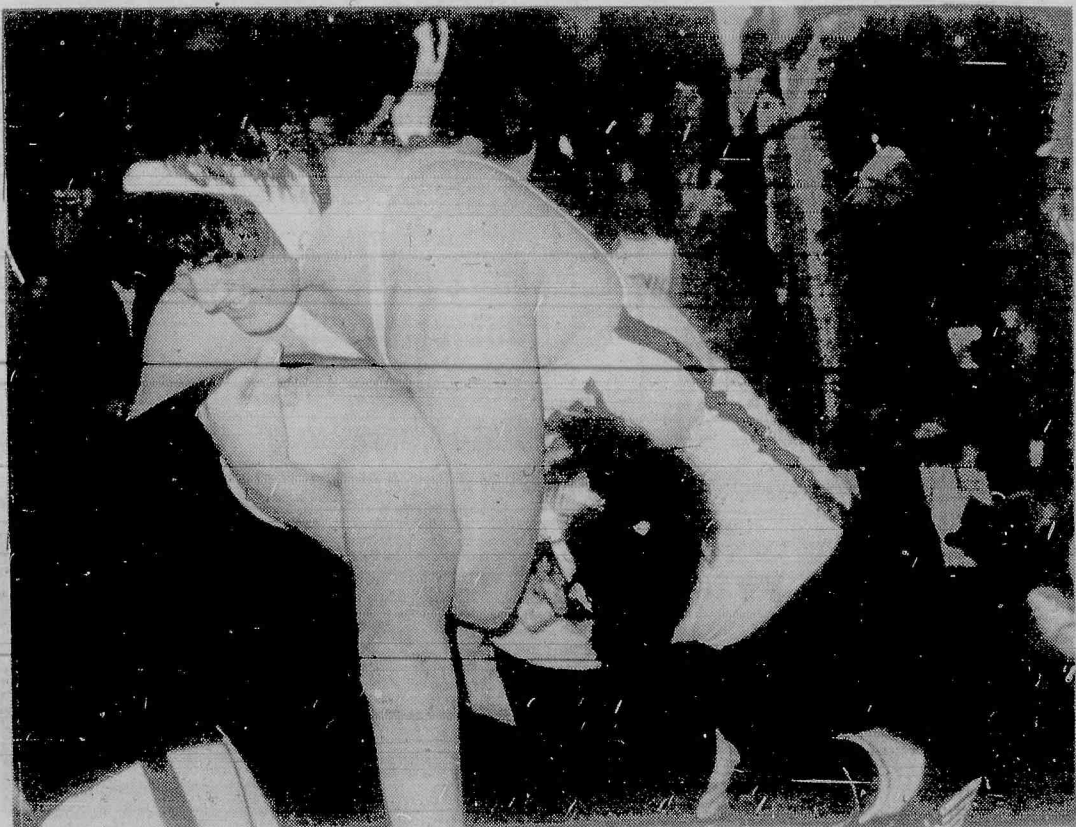

FEATURED BOUT — The crowd roared as Nutley's Steve Stoute and Belleville's Ralph Fabiano took to the mat for the crucial confrontation of the evening. After two scoreless periods, Stoute won it, 7-2.

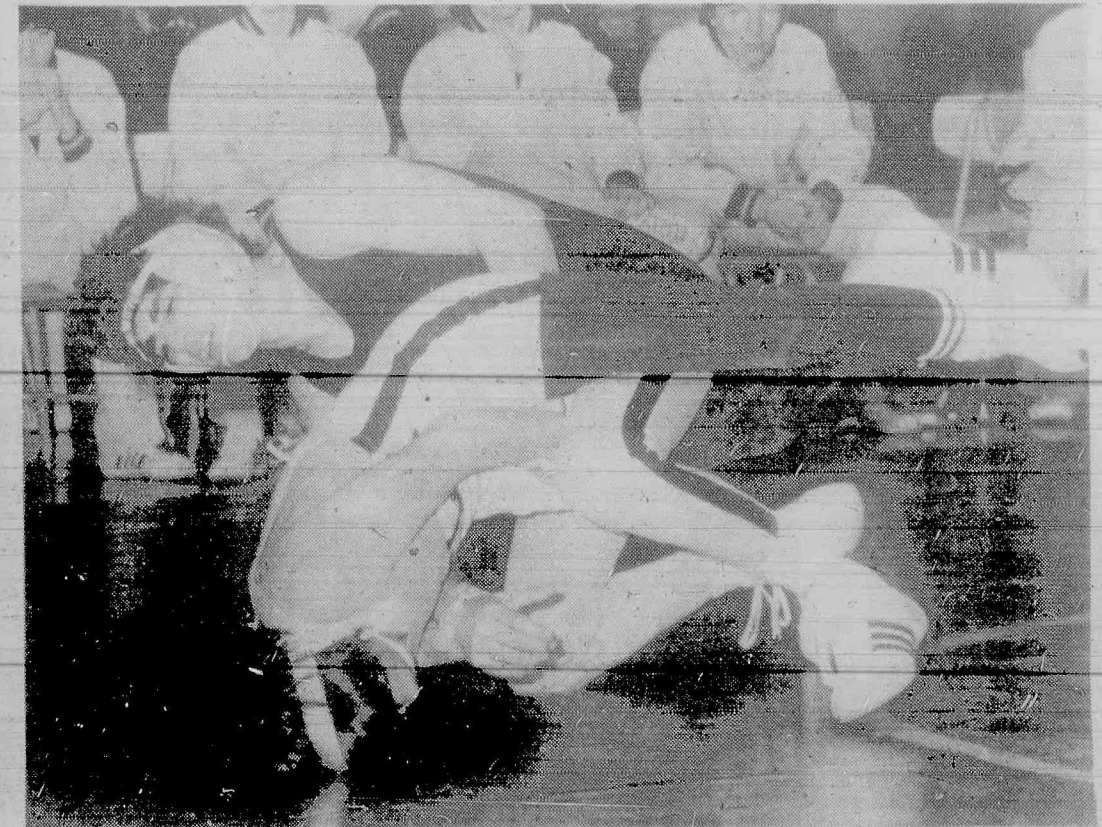

THE FATAL CRADLE is applied here by Nutley's 170-pound co-captain Carmen Alessio to Bellboy Jim Mauncele. Alessio pinned the die-hard opponent at 4:37 to send Nutley to a 19-18 lead. The Maroon cameback from behind to win 28-18, though the Blue and Gold dominated the lighter weights.

VALIANT DEFENSE — Bellboy Jack Vogel (bottom) fought Nutley's Jim Dugan all the way in the 158-lb. match, and was just edged out in a 2-1 decision. A relative newcomer to the varsity lineup, Vogel stood up against the Raider's 6-2 record.

MENACING RAIDER heavyweight Chuck O'Mara (top), used to dispatching opponents with relative ease, had a difficult time with Bellboy Ken Milano, who battled well into the final period before he was pinned.

CONSISTENT WINNER Vinnie Mustacchio (101 lbs.) started the Bellboys off on the right foot as he decided Bruce Ciccone, 11-1 for a superiority win. All of the Blue-Gold points were picked up in the lower weight class bouts.

Gas Complaint Applications Available

Nutley and Belleville gas station owners who feel they may have been cheated or shorted when receiving gasoline allotment from their major distributor, may fill out a form from the Federal Energy Office to have the problem checked out.

Forms may be picked up at two locations of U.S. congressman George Minish's district office at 308 Main Street, Orange, or at the Bloomfield Post Office.

Filled out forms will be forwarded to the Federal energy Office to see that the gas station owner has received his proper February allotment.

Research Garbage As Fuel

Public Service Electric and Gas Company has committed $300,000 to determine the feasibility of using a fuel prepared from municipal refuse mixed with coal or oil in electric power generation.

PSE&G said present studies indicate prepared waste could replace from 10 to 20 per cent of the fuel required for a 145,000 kilowatt unit at its Kearny Generating Station. The studies are part of an overall program to determine the feasibility of utilizing prepared municipal solid waste in electric generation.

Several systems under development reduce the size of raw refuse, separate the heavy non-combustibles and recover metals and other material for recycling. The light portion of the refuse can be used as a fuel. PSE&G is discussing with waste reduction system developers the use of this light part of the waste as a boiler fuel.

The testing program at Kearny will determine what mixes of refuse and oil or coal can be fired. Long-term testing will ascertain if there are any adverse effects on the operation and maintenance of boiler and auxiliary equipment in using refuse as a supplemental fuel.

PSE&G is cooperating with governmental units, including the State Department of Environmental Protection, the Hackensack Meadowlands Development Commission and a number of counties and municipalities in its service area, in efforts to solve the current solid waste problem.

The company also is cooperating with equipment suppliers, including Americology, Inc., Combustion Equipment Associates, and Combustion Engineering. PSE&G emphasized that its efforts in solving the problem must not reduce the quality of its existing electric and gas operations or impose financial burdens on the company.

If suitable equipment can be developed, PSE&G expects a more effective solution to waste disposal in power generation can come from conversion of waste into a clean liquid or gaseous fuel that could replace oil and coal and be burned in existing equipment.

Essex Receives Most $$ From Property Taxes

As New Jersey counties approach the deadline for adopting 1974 budgets, a report on county government income for 1972 indicates the property tax provides nearly 70 percent on the $691 million total current income of the twenty-one counties.

The tabulation by the New Jersey Taxpayers Association shows that the local property tax provided $483 million or 69.9 percent of total county income. Nearly $166.5 million, or 24 percent came from "all other" revenues which includes State aid, special taxes, fees, miscellaneous non-anticipated revenues and lapsed balances. Surplus provided $41.6 million or six percent of total income.

Among the counties there is great variation in the percentage of income from the three general categories in the analysis. In Passaic County the property tax provided 78.8 percent of total income while "other revenue" provided only 17.6 percent.

Keep a Cool Shopping Head There is Still Good Shopping at Pantry Pride

Last week's truck strike was the latest in a series of events (wheat shortages, meat shortages, gas shortages) that have disturbed us all and driven food prices to unprecedented levels.

As a food chain built on its reputation for full shelves and lower prices, we are as upset as you by shortages and prices that we know are hard to take. This week meat prices are up again as a result of supply problems. And there may be some meat shortages as well.

Our advice to you is be cool, shop wisely—and we'll see this thing through together. We are doing everything we can to bring things back to normal. In a week or so we are hoping to see meat supplies go up and prices start down again.

In the meantime, use your ingenuity to plan menus using lower priced foods. Here are some suggestions that will help.

Promotions Announced At Wallace and Tiernan

The Wallace & Tiernan Division of Pennwalt Corporation announces the promotion of H. Clayton Guth to Plant Manager of its Belleville, New Jersey facilities. Wallace & Tiernan is a world leader in the manufacture of equipment for metering and controlling gases, liquids and solids; as well as in the manufacture of instrumentation for water and pollution control systems.

Guth joined Wallace & Tiernan upon receiving his Civil Engineering degree from Columbia University in 1950. Starting as an engineer assigned to its Washington, D.C. field sales office, he was transferred to the main plant of Wallace & Tiernan in 1952 where he has held positions as manager of application engineering, manager of technical services, executive assistant to the chief engineer, manager of sales services, and his most recent assignment as executive assistant.

A U.S. Navy veteran, Guth is married to the former Audrey Rame. They and their children live in Bloomfield.

Lyndon M. Keller, president of Wallace & Tiernan, also announces the appointment of Lester E. Demler as staff vice president, and Thomas B. Walker as vice president - sales.

Demler, a civil engineering graduate of Case Institute of Technology, joined Wallace & Tiernan in 1935 and lives in Bloomfield. Walker is an electrical engineer and received his degree from Virginia Military Institute. Associated with Wallace & Tiernan since 1952, he and his family reside in Glen Ridge.

Windfall Insurance Profits From Fuel Pinch Ruled Out

Insurance Commissioner James J. Sheeran pledged today that he will not permit automobile insurance companies doing business in New Jersey to make windfall profits out of the energy crisis at the expense of New Jersey car owners. Such profits could result, he said, if insurance premiums remain unchanged while curtailed vehicle use and lowered speed limits reduce the frequency and severity of accidents.

Sheeran disclosed that he had directed his staff to gather all relevant data on the effects of the motor fuel shortage on auto insurance loss levels to help him determine whether the insurance rates should be revised downward without undue delay to eliminate the possibility that the insurers will profit excessively.

The Commissioner said he was rejecting an insurance industry proposal that the insurers be permitted to continue to collect premiums at the current rates and make refunds to policyholders at some future time if profits are to be excessive.

New Jersey motorists are entitled to a reduction of automobile insurance rates, the Commissioner declared, "they will receive such reduction now, in 1974, and they will not have to wait for refunds of excess profits at some indefinite date in the future."

Sheeran pointed out that he is charged by law with determining the rates are "reasonable and adequate" based on past experience and anticipated experience in the future and allow a reasonable profit for the insurers. Moreover, the Commissioner added, there are substantial technical difficulties encountered in trying to determine how much profit an insurance company has made on a particular line of insurance in any one state in a given year.

His Department's study, Sheeran said, will embrace data available through the regular statistical reporting system as well as information that will be obtained from newly-required monthly reports from the insurance companies.

In addition, the Insurance Department will also make use of police department and Division of Motor Vehicle accident reports, gasoline sales on New Jersey Turnpike, Garden State Parkway, and bridge crossing utilization.

GUEST SOLOIST with the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra on Sunday, Feb. 17 will be Lorin Hollander, an internationally renowned pianist since age 17.

Jersey Symphony Schedules Opera

The New Jersey Symphony Orchestra, directed by Henry Lewis, will continue its 1973-74 Family Concert series with its annual family opera presentation at 3 p.m., Sunday, Feb. 24, at Symphony Hall, 1020 Broad Street, Newark, N.J.

The program, entitled "Opera's Greatest Hits, Volume II," will include selections from Gounod's "Faust"; Donizetti's "L'Elisir d'Amore"; and "Lucia Di Lammermoor"; Charpentier's "Louise"; Massenet's "Herodias"; and "Thais"; and Mozart's "Don Giovanni" with vocal performances featuring members of the Metropolitan Opera Studio.

The Family Concerts, performed throughout the state since Lewis became musical director of the Symphony in 1968, developed from his earlier involvement with the Los Angeles Youth Concert radio series.

"Classical entertainment does not have to be a lecture series," Lewis explained. "In the Family Concert everyone participates. We try to show people that classical music can mean something to those without previous musical studies or preparation."

The Family Concert is an informal performance, he said. He introduces each piece and explains his own feelings about it. Questions from the audience are welcome.

Program Cuts Liquor-Related Fatal Accidents

A new selective police traffic enforcement program operated in 21 municipalities by the New Jersey Office of Highway Safety, reduced alcohol-involved fatal crashes by 46 percent during the last seven months of 1973.

Louis R. DeCarolis, Highway Safety Manager, said that from June to December 1973 the selected 21 high-risk municipalities experienced 19 fatal crashes involving alcohol. During the same seven-month period in 1970, '71, and '72, an average of 35 alcohol-involved fatal crashes took place in the 21 towns. DeCarolis pointed out that the reduction is of great significance considering that almost 40 percent of New Jersey's total highway fatalities involve the use of alcohol.

The Fatal Accident Reduction — Enforcement program, called FARE, provided a total of $283,000 which was used by the towns for overtime police work in order to zero in on both drunken drivers and pedestrians.

"Although there are no federal highway safety funds specially earmarked for this activity, the program's success has convinced me to budget a substantial sum of next year's highway safety money to expand the program," DeCarolis noted.

DeCarolis said he is now strongly encouraging the municipalities that participated in the program to continue on their own until he is able to secure additional federal funds when the new fiscal year starts on July 1.

Towns participating in the FARE Program were: Newark, West Milford, Vineland, Edison, Camden, Piscataway, Lower Merion, Bayonne, Jersey City, Ocean City, Neptune, East Orange, and Ewing Township. These 14 municipalities were later joined during November and December by Cherry Hill, Irvington, Deptford, West Orange, Paramus, Middletown, and East Brunswick.

Montclair Museum Sets Program of Folk Songs
A folk song program for parents and children will be given at the Montclair Art Museum on Thursday, Feb. 21, at 10:30 a.m., by Patience Young of the museum staff. Miss Young will play the guitar and sing 18th century folk songs.

Essex County College Earns Accreditation

The Commission on Higher Education of the State of New Jersey has recently recognized the progress and development of Essex County College by voting to give the institution full and unconditional accreditation.

Elizabeth J. McCormack, Commission Chairman, congratulated the college on having reached this milestone in its history, and stated that this occasion "Signifies that you (Pres. J. Harry Smith) and your colleagues have made progress toward making Essex County College the strong college that you wish it to be."

In receiving this recognition, the college becomes a member of the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

AAA Head Praises Gas Pumpers' Patience

The President of the New Jersey Auto Club (AAA) has praised the "extraordinary dedication" of service station attendants who have been working long hours during the current gasoline shortage.

"We've been maintaining constant contact with our AAA-affiliated stations," said Matthew J. Derham, "and have found that, almost without exception, personnel have been doing an outstanding job under extremely trying and, in some cases, provoking situations."

Derham reported that the New Jersey Auto Club, the AAA organization operating in Essex, Morris and Union Counties, "has had daily reports of exasperated motorists taking out frustrations on hapless attendants." Fortunately, most of these confrontations are verbal and are resolved amicably. However, there also have been enough cases of threatened or actual violence to demonstrate how tense the situation is in New Jersey and why something must be done — and fast.

The AAA official also said that his office has received numerous calls from motorists complaining about rising gasoline prices.

"There seems to be a widespread and erroneous belief among motorists," he said, "that the service station operator is jacking up pump prices himself to take advantage of the situation. Actually, the reverse is true. The price rise is imposed on the retailer by his supplier, and the station operator has no choice but to pass it on."

"One thing the motorist should remember," Derham added, "is that the station operator makes only a limited profit from gasoline sales."

Land Use Talks Slated at MSC

Land use policies and pressures in North Jersey, a subject of increasing controversy, will be the focus of an all day conference at Montclair State College, Saturday, Mar. 2.

Because decisions affecting land use are being made in an atmosphere of pressure and polarization, the conference is an attempt to increase communication among politicians, state agencies, planners, environmentalists, developers and citizen's groups — all land users of North Jersey, according to Mrs. Judith H. Balfe of Upper Montclair, chairperson of the conference.

It will be sponsored jointly by the New Jersey Wellesley Club and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology Club of Northern New Jersey, in cooperation with the School of Social and Behavioral Sciences of Montclair State.

Panel discussions centering on the areas of planning, politics and policies will highlight the morning meetings. The afternoon workshops will focus on routes to effective actions.

Discussing urban-suburban land use and policies will be William L. Bracht, attorney in land use litigation, East Orange; D. Bennett Mazur, associate professor of urban planning, Ramapo College; and Peter Stewart, Essex County freeholder.

Dean Boorman, Richard Galantowicz and Albert Merck will focus on regional planning and home rule. Mr.

Boorman is a planning consultant. Mr. Galantowicz is with the North Jersey Conservation Association, and Mr. Merck is a former assemblyman from Mendham.

The impact of the energy crisis on land use pressures will be discussed by Robert Cronheim of Chatham, a realtor and developer, and Robert W. Lockwood, a general manager for environmental affairs for Public Service Electric and Gas Company.

Three speakers from organizations closely involved with the Passaic River basin will consider the implications of practical politics for the environmentalists. They include Eugene Field, Essex County Park Commissioner; Ella Filippone, chairperson, Passaic River Coalition; and Dorothy Garcia, chairperson, Denville Environmental Commission.

Windfall Insurance Profits From Fuel Pinch Ruled Out

Insurance Commissioner James J. Sheeran pledged today that he will not permit automobile insurance companies doing business in New Jersey to make windfall profits out of the energy crisis at the expense of New Jersey car owners. Such profits could result, he said, if insurance premiums remain unchanged while curtailed vehicle use and lowered speed limits reduce the frequency and severity of accidents.

Sheeran disclosed that he had directed his staff to gather all relevant data on the effects of the motor fuel shortage on auto insurance loss levels to help him determine whether the insurance rates should be revised downward without undue delay to eliminate the possibility that the insurers will profit excessively.

The Commissioner said he was rejecting an insurance industry proposal that the insurers be permitted to continue to collect premiums at the current rates and make refunds to policyholders at some future time if profits prove to be excessive.

"If New Jersey motorists are entitled to a reduction of automobile insurance rates," the Commissioner declared, "they will receive such reduction now, in 1974, and they will not have to wait for refunds of excess profits at some indefinite date in the future."

Sheeran pointed out that he is charged by law with determining the rates are "reasonable and adequate" based on past experience and anticipated experience in the future and allow a reasonable profit for the insurers. Moreover, the Commissioner added, there are substantial technical difficulties encountered in trying to determine how much profit an insurance company has made on a particular line of insurance in any one state in a given year.

His Department's study, Sheeran said, will embrace data available through the regular statistical reporting system as well as information that will be obtained from newly-required monthly reports from the insurance companies. In addition, the Insurance Department will also make use of police department and Division of Motor Vehicle accident reports, gasoline sales at New Jersey Turnpike, Garden State Parkway, and bridge crossing utilization.

"The composite of this information," Sheeran explained, "will be used to determine, probably during March or April of this year, whether the fuel situation justifies a general rate reduction for private passenger cars in New Jersey. It will also be in order to explore to what extent trucks and other motor vehicles used by business should receive consideration."

Commissioner Sheeran previously had announced that virtually all automobile insurance companies doing business in New Jersey have agreed to rate reductions for cars used in drive-to-work car pools.

Stiller & Meara at Paper Mill

Jerry Stiller and Anne Meara will bring their comic talents to the problems of "Mel and Edna Edison" in "The Prisoner of Second Avenue" opening February 20 at the Paper Mill.

The "Edisons" live in a new upper Eastside high-rise, expensive, balconied, air-conditioned apartment in New York where the walls are paper thin, the air conditioning too cold and the toilet runs. It is modern, convenient. There are problems which are living with New York angst. both sad and funny.
