Oil Reclaimers Hit Roadblock On Way Here

An oil recycling firm on the verge of locating in Belleville's Valley section found itself suddenly stymied when Director of Public Works Mary V. Senatore ordered Building Inspector Vincent Mustacchio to hold up issuance of a building permit May 16.

While the Active Oil Company, seeking to relocate from Carlstadt to a six and a half acre plot of land at 374 Main Street, is not dissuaded by any local variances from moving into Belleville, Mrs. Senatore said last week, "I'm going to do everything in my power to see that Active does not come in here." She said the reason the building permit is being held up is because Active Oil has not submitted to Belleville authorities a set of plans for special drainage. She said the land in question is in a flood area and special plans are required. Mrs. Senatore said the request was first made in February and again in a May 16 letter. No response has come from Active, she said.

Gas Stations Are Pumping Straight Gas

Belleville gas stations are pumping the real thing, with no water added, a check by state inspectors proved last week.

Consumer Protection Officer Joseph Donnelly said local stations checked out satisfactorily during statewide tests conducted last week by New Jersey inspectors.

Solid Waste Recycling Plant Asked for Suburban Towns

Belleville and other suburban towns were promised a meeting in the "near future" at a Thursday night discussion in Verona on solid waste recycling in Essex County. Local officials put forth a request that adequate facilities be planned for Belleville, Bloomfield and Nutley.

While the Verona hearing, staged by the Essex County Planning Board, concentrated on plans for a sewer facility for Joint Council One, which includes towns in West Essex, Belleville Commissioner of Public Affairs asked that another council be formed for suburban towns closer to Newark. She was told a meeting would be called to study that proposal soon and that a site on McCarter Highway and Verona Avenue in Newark is now under appraisal by county officials for a solid waste transfer station and recycling plant.

The actual construction of the plant would not come about for several years, and there was some debate at the Verona hearing over the location of a pilot plant for the project.

Primary Election Set for Tuesday

A light voter turnout is expected for Tuesday's primary elections, with candidates for top positions running unopposed.

On the local level, only three spots are contested in the Belleville delegation for the County Democratic Committee, while there are no battles on the Republican side. Joseph Iannuzzi is running unopposed for renomination as a Democratic Freeholder, while three other local men are running as candidates for a delegation to the national mid-term Democratic convention in Kansas City.

U.S. Representative Joseph Minish of West-Orange, just ending his sixth term in office, has no opposition in seeking renomination as a Democratic candidate. On the Republican slate, William B. Grant also will have no trouble in the 11th District primary race Grant also will have no trouble in the 11th District primary race, Grant, 46, is from Montclair.

Balloting will also be conducted for nominees for the coming election of a Registrar of County Deeds and Mortgages. The regular Democrats have nominated Larrie W. Stalks, while the Republican candidate is William Stubbs. Both are unopposed.

There will be no suspense in the Freeholder race, either. Democratic nominees are Joseph Iannuzzi, Rita Greenstone and Harry J. Callaghan, and the Republicans are Gerardo Del Tufo, James Pindar and Paul W. Nordt. Voters will select three form either party, and there is no opposition to either slate.

The polls in Belleville will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. There are three challenges to the Democratic Party. Organizations slate of nominees for the County Committee. In Ward One, District Three, Organization candidates John and Theresa Kieferdorf are being challenged by Stephen P. Newsome; in Ward Two, District Three Thomas and Jean Nisiovicia, both of the Democratic Party Organization are being challenged by Henry McEnery and Dorothy F. Stepich.

The Republican Organization has four vacant openings that could go to any write-in candidate who has gathered (Continued On Page 2)

Service Is Free At Medical Clinic

A free medical clinic will open at the Town Health Department at 383 Washington Avenue on Wednesday, June 5. The clinic will be open every Wednesday from noon to 3 p.m., announced Public Affairs Commissioner Vincent Strumolo.

The clinic, open to all Belleville residents of any age, will give free physical examinations, blood pressure checks, sugar diabetes tests, cardiarmat readings and tests for venereal disease.

Supervised by Dr. Leslie Miller, the staff will include nurses from the Town's Health Department. Strumolo said the expenses of the clinic have already been budgeted and some state aid will also fund the operation, at no cost to local taxpayers.

"People in Belleville are paying taxes and rents as a first class town, and when there are no doctors around on Wednesday, they should be able to get first class services."

Sunday Tour Will Dedicate Historic Churches

The four churches selected by the Belleville Historical Society to be designated historical sites at a ceremony on Sunday stand as constant symbols of Belleville's ties with its own past.

The Sunday afternoon tour, beginning at 1:30 p.m. at St. Peter's Church on William Street, will see the placement of special markers at St. Peter's, the Christ Church Cemetery, the Old Wesley Church and the Belleville Reformed Church on Rutgers and Main Street.

The major project by the Historical Society is the beginning of a campaign to designate historical sites here for the national Bicentennial celebration in 1976. The first of those sites are the four churches to be dedicated Sunday, with a tour from St. Peter's to the Christ Church Cemetery to the old Wesley Church to the Belleville Reformed Church, where a ceremony will take place and refreshments will be served.

While the congregations of the churches were incorporated as early as 1697 (for the Belleville Reformed Church) the actual buildings to be dedicated Sunday were erected later, most in the mid-1800's. The oldest is the Wesley Church building at Main Street and Belleville Avenue, which will be commemorated at a 3:30 p.m. ceremony when Ralph Casale of the Society introduces Town Historian Allan Crisp to present the marker to Wesley Pastor Gerald Rounds.

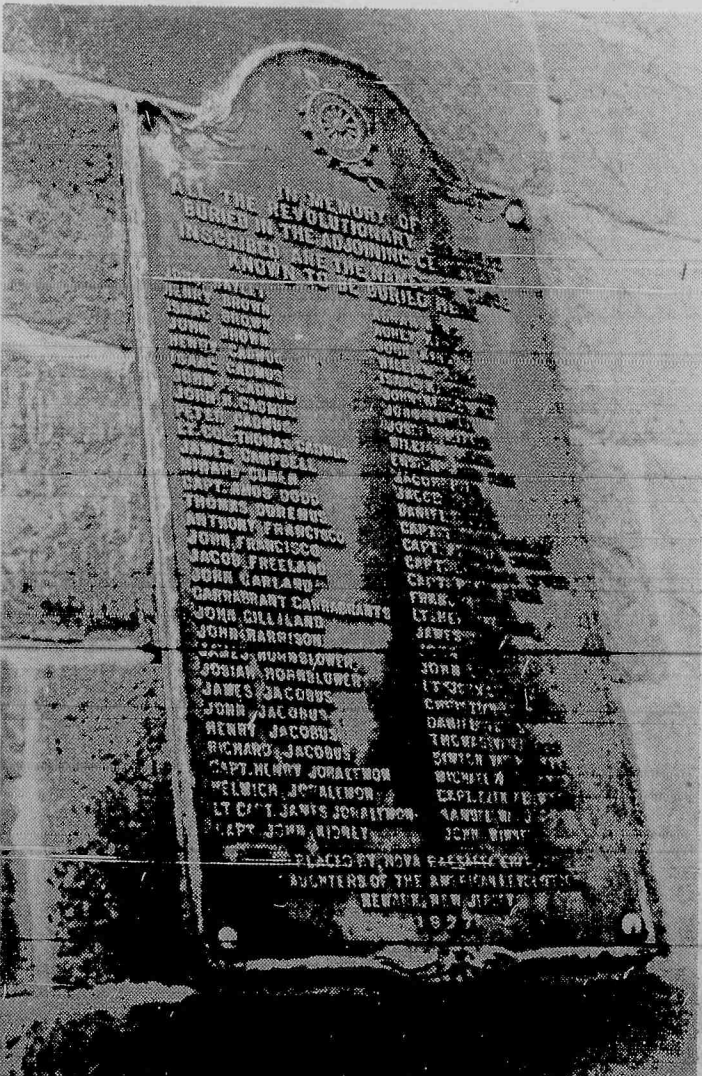

The church building itself, built in 1843, is still in use by two Belleville firms, and the plain brick structure, built for $5000, bears little resemblance to the church building it once was. Seating 400, the building was erected to replace the original brownstone church on the same site. That church was constructed at a price of $2,470 in 1804.

Wesley Church, though, was actually organized in 1791, seven years after the Methodist Church was organized in the United States in Baltimore. Previously in 1774, Francis Asbury, "The Apostle of the Long Road," had preached at the Dutch Reformed Church. After a Methodist minister from the John Street Methodist Church in New York came to deliver a sermon at the Belleville home of a Mrs. Tyson, the congregation was formed, attracting such prominent families as the Dows and the Van Rypers. Belleville became part of the old Elizabethtown circuit which extended from New Brunswick to Staten Island and north to the New York state line, with ministers travelling by horseback through the area. The first "settled preacher" came to Belleville in 1830. William Granville received a "quarterage," (rent allowance) of $205 plus "table expenses" of $100 yearly.

At the turn of the century, the Wesley cgregation followed the development of Belleville away from the river and relocated their church at Washington Avenue and Academy Street, where a much larger structure was built. In 1960, a youth activities building next to the church was acquired.

Christ Episcopal Church traces its charter to 1746, when King George III of England granted status to the church as part of Trinity Church in Newark. At the time, Belleville was called Second River and was a small village of about 300 Dutch settlers. Services were held in 1748 in Bennett's flour and grist mill on the banks of the Passaic River, a two-story oaken structure later destroyed by fire in 1840.

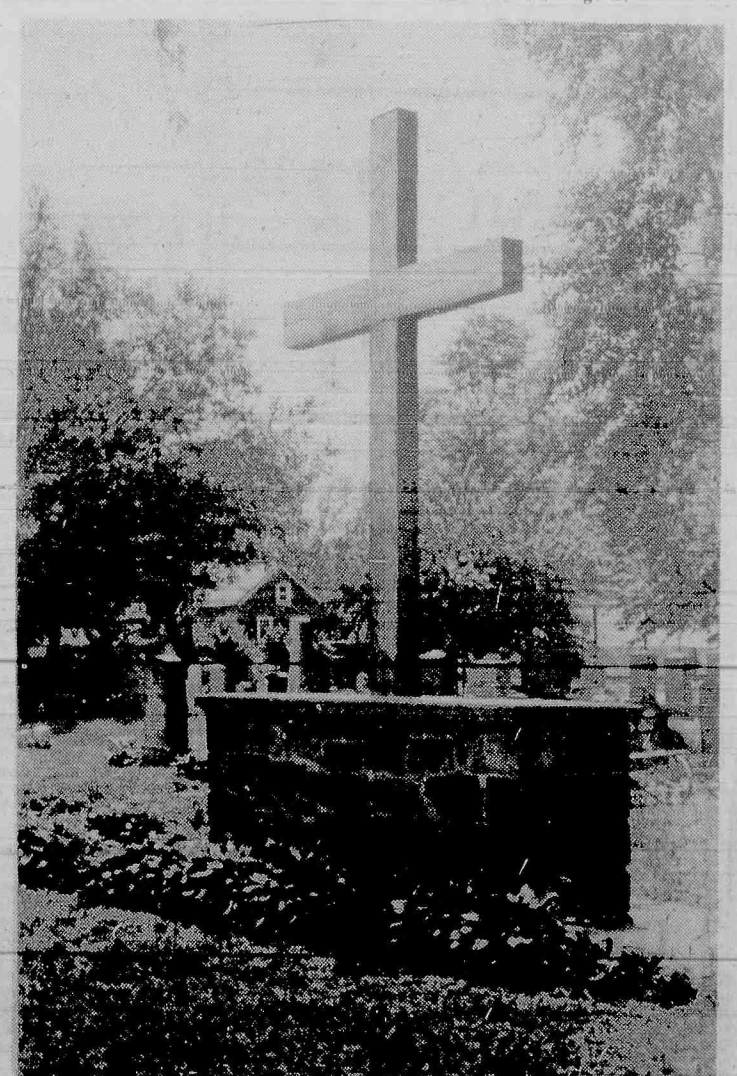

The Episcopal congregation worshipped there until 1774, when it moved to an old house known as the Academy, following an unsuccessful attempt to raise funds for a church building by lottery. The Academy was located at Wiliam and Main Street. In 1835, after Christ Church separated from Trinity Church, an act of the New Jersey legislature granted the church land and $1500. The congregation incorporated that year and plans were immediately undertaken to build a church. In 1836, the cornerstone was laid at Main and William, but less than a year after (Continued On Page 2)

ST. PETER'S CHURCH is the starting point of the tour, as the dedication ceremony there is scheduled to begin at 1:30 p.m. The tour lasts throughout the afternoon.

NJSBA Is Opposing Senate Bill

Representatives to the New Jersey School Boards Association's Annual Delegates Assembly held Saturday at the Holiday Inn in North Brunswick, applauded the association's efforts in opposing the Administration supported Senate Bill 1087 to revise the Public Employment Relations Act.

The more than 400 delegates present received a briefing on the implications of the labor oriented bill and the charge to individually voice their opposition to their legislators. The bill would, if passed, subject many educational matters to the collective bargaining process. Action on 33 resolutions and 9 committee reports was taken, and new officers were elected at the day-long meeting.

William B. Rosenberg, a partner in the law firm of Blumberg, Rosenberg, Mullen and Blackman in Manville, was elected President for the coming year. He has served as vice president for resolutions, and as a member of the Board of Directors. He is also a member of the Commissioner of Education's Advisory Council on Special Education.

The role of Women in Education highlighted the committee reports. The adopted recommendations call for the association to alert local boards of education to the laws concerning sex discrimination and urge them to take steps to correct the situation where it occurs.

Resolutions requesting the NJSBA to seek legislation prohibiting 18-year-old full time students from serving on their own boards of education, and prohibiting alcoholic beverages on school premises unless sanctioned by individual boards, were approved by the delegates.

was erected on the foundations of the old church, located in the center of a landscaped churchyard. The church was consecrated by Bishop G.W. Doane in 1842.

As the congregation grew, new facilities were needed and in 1908, property was purchased on Washington Avenue between Joralemon Street and Essex Street, for the site of a new church.

In spite of the historical changes and relocations of the Christ Church, the congregation has taken care to reclaim, momentoes of its past. The present church bell was recast from the original imported from England and destroyed in the fire of 1837, along with silver altar vessels. Also, in Christ churchyard is an altar constructed from materials reclaimed from the original church.

Church Choir Smorgasbord Is Scheduled

A smorgasbord sponsored by the Belleville Reformed Church senior choir will be held by the church choir will be held Saturday evening, June 1, from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. at the church.

The meal will be prepared by members of the choir and the congregation. Admission is $2 for adults and $1.25 for children. Tickets can be obtained at the door or by calling Gladys Mozeika, president of the choir, at 751-1531 or Will Beaumont, minister of music, at 998-0968.

The Reformed Church was established in 1697, and the first church was built at Rutgers and Main Streets in 1725. One of the early pastors, the Rev. Gerardus Haughhoort, who served from 1735 to his death in 1776, is buried beneath the church.

During the Revolutionary War, the Church was used by the colonials for the strategic value of a tunnel that led from its basement to the other side of the Passaic River, and American soldiers would

Oil Permit

Passaic Valley Sewerage Commission had approved use of their facilities. Rhode said Building Inspector Mustacchio had informed him the building permit was ready to be given, then called back to tell him that Mrs. Senatore had halted the issuance.

Active Oil cleans sludge from industrial heating tanks, reclaims usable oil and dumps the remaining sludge into landfills. When the company first announced plans to expand to Belleville, Rhode said, "We're shooting for one target—zero pollution."

He said it would be a "loss to the taxpayers of Belleville" if Active is barred from using the property on Main Street. "There's nothing happening down there now," he said. "There's not a ratable in sight."

enough votes. The open spots are in Ward One, District Six; Ward Two, District Three; and two spots in Ward Two, District Four. Republican Town Committee Chairman Gerard Ferrara said if the positions are not claimed by write-in candidates, they will be filled by appointment and approval by the Town Committee.

A total of nine Democrats are running for three open spots on the 11th Congressional District delegation to the December mid-term Democratic convention in Kansas City this December. Three local men, Michael J. Welsh, Stephen Newsome and James McCann are running on a ticket titled "Continue the Progress." All were active in last year's Brendan Byrne primary and election efforts. Also bracketed together under the "Build for '76" ticket are William L. Brach, Bernard Rabinowitz and John Brown. Brown is secretary-treasurer of the New Jersey AFL-CIO; Rabinowitz a former County freeholder and president of Atlantic Chemical Industries in Nutley; and Brach is Montclair Democratic Town Chairman.

cross over to Kearny through the tunnel to skirmish with British troops. In 1777, a guard house was built near the church and Captain Abram Speer commanded the Second Essex Regiment of the Militia there.

In 1794, the Reverend Peter Stryker became the first pastor to conduct services at the church in a language other than Dutch.

The building was ravaged in 1804 by a violent tornado, and reconstruction was completed in 1807, with the congregation worshipping in the Episcopal Church in the meantime. Christ Church later returned the favor by lending the Episcopalians their church in 1835 when Christ Church was built, and in 1846 the Methodists used the Reformed Church for the same reason.

The present Reformed church building was erected in 1853, and a chapel was added in 1895, with a week-long dedication ceremony.

The building remains the oldest church building still in use in Belleville, and its history was preserved through an extensive rehabilitation program in 1927.

St. Peter's Church on William Street was built in 1914, but the congregation was first incorporated in 1837. Before then, the parish had been a mission of St. John's Church in Newark. When the first church, a white frame structure, was built in 1838, parishioners would row across the Passaic River, Kearny, Arlington and Lyndhurst for Sunday services. The church was enlarged in 1853 by Pastor Rev. John Hogan, and an 850-pound bell which still remains in the church. The first school was begun in the basement at St. Peter's in 1857, and in 1890 at red brick schoolhouse was built on the corner of William and Bridge Street.

The new church was planned and designed by the Very Reverend Patrick Moran of St. John's Church in Newark, who was also the architect of St. John's and St. Patrick's Cathedral. The cornerstone was Blessed in 1914, but much of the embellishment and decoration of the church was accomplished under Pastor Rev. Edwin Field in the 1920's. Father Field also erected a monument in 1929 to America's soldiers. He died in late 1931.

Sunday's tour will cover many more points of historical interest at these four churches and the pastors of all four will be on hand to accept the markers from the Historical Society.

The four churches are the first sites in Belleville to be honored by the ceremonies, which will be repeated at various locations in town between now and the time of the Bicentennial.

Belleville Teacher Explores America in Summer Months

From September to June, Wendell Parr is a music teacher in the elementary schools in of Belleville. But in July and August he packs up his Winnebago motor home and takes off to explore the far corners of the United States. Thus far the wanderlust has taken him to all forty-eight contiguous States, most of Canada's provinces and Mexico.

Though the Parrs have no children of their own, over the years they have been accustomed to taking nieces and nephews and young friends of the family along on their treks. "Half the fun is in watching the youngsters as they discover exciting new things at every turn," according to Parr. But the family kids are mostly grown up now.

So this summer Parr has decided to make use of his experience with children and his experience in travel, and offer a service he calls "Travel for Kids." For a share of the expenses he is prepared to take pre-teen-age boys along with him this summer for a 6-week cross-country tour. "Most parents," he says, "get only a couple of weeks' vacation in the summer. If they travel it's a very hectic, fleeting visit, with all kinds of sights and activities packed into that short time. But kids need time to absorb new scenes and sort them out. Although kids of 11 or 12 are most receptive to travel experience, they need the more leisurely pace that the whole summer gives them."

"So since I'm free when the kids are free, it seemed logical to combine my liking for kids and my liking for travel." This summer Parr aims to show the children a "live" glacier (Jasper National Park in Canada), the geysers of Yellowstone, the Grand Canyon and Carlsbad Caverns, among other things. Bon Voyage.

Police Chief Warns of 2 Noisemakers

Belleville Police Chief Joseph Smith reports that Belleville Police anticipate an increase of complaints of loud vehicle exhausts and fireworks in the coming months.

"The state motor vehicle law requires that an internal combustion engine on a vehicle be equipped with a muffler that effectively reduces the noise of exhausts," the chief reminded residents. "It further prohibits altering such devices in any manner."

Chief Smith also cited state laws against the possession, transportation or discharge of fireworks without a permit. "This is the most difficult law to enforce as it is in the main broken by young people whose actions in many cases are condoned by their elders," he said. "The police receive numerous complaints on fireworks but it is a rare call which provides usable information regarding the illegal source of the fireworks. I request any citizen who learns the source of such illegal fireworks to notify the Chief of Police."

In Nixon's Defense

Jesus Had One — Nixon 12

We read the "White House Transcripts." We meditated over the message the transcripts conveyed. Loud and clear the message came through — Jesus had one Judas — Nixon had a baker's dozen. The President's trust was betrayed by those around him who enjoyed his confidence. It is unfortunate that those among us who are working journalists, TV and radio commentators have not served an apprenticeship in active politics. A working journalist with a background of a political activist would have a better understanding of President Nixon's behavior and motivation which inspired his desire to come to the aid of those who deceived him.

Before we read the "White House Transcripts" we were slowly becoming convinced President Nixon had committed acts that were impeachable offenses. Now — after having read the transcripts — we are compelled to review our past thinking. Hindsight is always a great educator. If the President had to do it over again there is no doubt in our mind there would be no "Watergate."

The entire thrust of the "White House Transcripts" appears to be a desire on the part of President Nixon to give aid and comfort to those around him who betrayed his trust. The revelation amazes us — particularly since Nixon was assumed to be a man without compassion.

Maybe the tapes, documents and records which the House Judiciary Committee is seeking may place an entirely different emphasis on the "White House Transcripts" — but in rendering a judgment at this point in time it is our belief

President Nixon has been cruelly treated by the communications media.

The domestic affairs of our country are in such a bad mess, adversely affecting every citizen of this great republic that one wonders if the time and money spent on probing Watergate-affiliated activities is worth it all.

Small businesses are going bankrupt. Families across the nation are obliged to cut back their household budgets. Parents invested in the stock market to provide funds for their children's college education. Our domestic economic problems have wiped out many such plans.

America is in the middle of a domestic mess primarily because official Washington has been preoccupied with Watergate for two years.

At this point it looks like we are going to have Watergate and an unresolved Presidency for at least a year. We do not believe America and the free world could afford another 12 months like the past 12.

In the international arena Richard Nixon has proven to be a great President and a great leader. During the four years of his first term President Nixon preformed reasonably well at the domestic level. Without Watergate we believe our domestic affairs would have seen better times under President Nixon.

We wonder how the average American would have handled people who betrayed their trust? Jesus had almost more than he could handle in one Judas — in reading the "White House Transcripts" President Nixon obviously had more than he can handle with a dozen.

A State Income Tax?

The New Jersey Legislature will reconvene in Trenton on June 13 to consider a proposal to provide communities with state aid to education by means of a state personal income tax.

For every New Jersey resident this proposal has great significance. It appears every time public officials have a problem most of them believe the answer can be found in raising taxes and spending more money. At least this is the thrust of the proposed "Education Reform — Property Tax Relief Program." It is suggested more money be given to school districts to spend on pupil education and overnight we will observe better educated children.

Of the 21 municipalities in Essex County, Belleville spends least per pupil — $1212. Next to the lowest is Nutley with $1240 per pupil. The City of Orange spends $1733 and Newark spends $1700. East Orange spends $1637. Essex Fells comes in at $1733.

We do not believe the proposed "Education Reform — Property Tax Relief Program" answers the question of providing a "thorough and efficient" education for New Jersey school children.

When the sales tax was adopted during the term of Governor Richard Hughes, New Jersey residents were assured the sales tax would provide relief for the overburdened real estate taxpayer.

We got the tax but didn't get the tax relief.

At the time the sales tax was proposed we were further assured there would be no need for the levy of a personal state income tax. Now we are told a personal state income tax is essential to provide New Jersey children with a "thorough and efficient" education.

Opponents of an income tax staged a meeting in Nutley on Wednesday, May 29. We believe the public interest requires a public forum for those who advocate a state income tax. Both legislators and plain citizens need an input from the general public — judgments — based upon an informed public. One of the better ways for the public to become informed is by attendance of a public forum on the subject of a state income tax and the needs it is alleged to serve.

By Frank A. Orechio

The ninth installment of Jack R. Nageley's "The Dissolution of Society" appears below. Concluding that the theories of Karl Marx, while on the right track to revealing the dissolution of society, did not take into account the population growth factor, and Man's need to believe in God, Nageley goes on to examine Women's Liberation.

Citing the advances of women made during the Industrial Revolution and the Technological Revolution, the author balances these strides against the prophesized Utopia of the Marxian dream, and again decides that prophesy misses the mark of reality.

If Marx had been able to recognize that an excessive population leads to a diminution of the value of life, he would not have dreamed of a Utopia. If he had appreciated the profundity of the effect that the tendency to anarchy will have upon mankind, he could not have believed in human perfectibility. Instead, he would have realized that man moves only to escape the pain of deprivation. He would have known that mankind cannot live without God.

In the perennial battle-of-the-sexes, the Marxian theory requires the belief that the social distinction between the sexes is determined by economic causes — originally by the need for a division of labor. The father foraged for food and protected the family against the enemy. The mother attended to the needs of the children and assumed the duties of the household. In this circumstance, the male was free to engage in the regulation of the affairs of the society. Thereby, the male came to assume the dominant role in the community and the female the subservient role.

Between the time of the Industrial Revolution and the Second World War, women were protected to the point of worship because their ability to bear children made possible the continuing struggle to survive. As a result, she became a privileged suitor in legal jurisprudence. She could marshal the forces of society against an errant husband; she could deprive him of his liberty and destroy his fortune.

In the same interim of history, the technological changes produced consequent changes on the female-side of the social order. The female was given the right to sue for divorce. She was given the right to vote. And she was given the universal right to compete with the male in the economic market. These developments, coupled with the greater longevity of the female and her right of inheritance, ultimately led to the elimination of the role of the antagonist. In

World War Two Nostalgia

A number of writers have noted recently that the nation seems to be experiencing a strange nostalgia for the World War II era. Great interest in that period is being exhibited by young and old, in every corner of the nation. Why this intense interest, or affection, for a war era, with all its violence?

Perhaps the main reason is that the nation was then solidly united. Classes, races, religions and ethnic groups submerged their antagonisms in behalf of the common goal of a united people — victory over those who had suddenly attacked the U.S. Navy, and also Army, installations at Pearl Harbor. (We didn't then have a separate Air Force.)

Another reason is that this was the moment in history when the United States emerged as the unquestioned leader of the free world, the dominant power throughout the world, financially and militarily. It was a high point in American influence and power.

The violence? It was, of course, terrible, but the death toll of American military men was no more than three or four year sof normal U.S. highway fatalities. So it wasn't to massive blood bath for America it was for Russia or Germany, countries which lost millions of their citizens. The U.S. loss was several hundred thousand, though many more were wounded.

The civilian population in America suffered from less gasoline, fewer tires, rationing in general, and a lack of such things as sugar and certain other edibles. But there were jobs aplenty, good pay, a spirit of togetherness and a feeling of accomplishment, shared by all.

They were memorable years, then, for those reasons, 1941-45. One cannot yet say that they marked the peak of American influence and power. But they marked a peak in unity, patriotic spirit and love of country. No wonder Americans look back and miss those sentiments.

Publish Ninth Installment Of 'Dissolution of Society' fact, the roles are now reversed.

The relation of the sexes could never have changed to its present status if womankind had remained subject to the accident of pregnancy. However, as every thinking capitalist knows, she found emancipation out of the economic cause colloquially known as the birth control pill.

In present society, the synthesis of causes has produced a female who is financially independent of the male. She believes she controls the sex-expression and realizes that male approval of her chastity is no longer necessary to survival. She realizes the wisdom of Marx's observation that money is not a fixed, definite thing but a social relation — that she competes with other females for money as well as a mate. Therefore, knowing the financial worth of her favors, she sells them with a Marxian disregard for the Supernatural.

Public Safety Men Praised

To the Editor:

In a time when criticism seems to be the popular "thing," particularly about the Police Department, we of Belleville Council #835, Knights of Columbus, have not only the highest of praise for them, but, also our Fire Department.

At our May 6 meeting, one of our members was taken ill and from appearances it seemed to be a heart attack. One of the brothers in attendance was Fireman Thomas Nisivoccia, once a member of the Belleville Fire Dpeartment Ambulance Squad, now, a fire inspector. Tom reacted with an instinct that only came from years of dedicated work and experience. He appraised the situation, made a decision, and immediately applied closed heart massage. While this was being accomplished, the Police and Fire Departments were contacted for emergency assistance. Within a matter of two minutes, both Departments were in our council home lending both physical and moral assistance to our stricken brother. The officers who responded from the Police Department are: Sgt. McNish, and Patrolmen Pat McCabe & Joe Soosey; Firemen Lamin & D'Antonio were the drivers of the Fire Department Ambulance.

Without the assistance of these dedicated, professional Men, Belleville Council could have lost a member. (Incidentally, our brother, T. Wm. Sloan, is well on the road to recovery.) Therefore, we of Belleville Council #835, Knights of Columbus, extend our deep heartfelt gratitude to these men for the services they gave unselfishly and for the care given to our brother.

Police and Fire Departments — THANK YOU.

The Emmys

For a brief moment recently it seemed likely nominees for Emmy awards would boycott the show. They were unhappy because it had been rightly decided to limit the number of Emmys awarded. Unfortunately, the Television Academy gave in and the show wasn't cancelled.

The ridiculous feature of U.S. television's Emmy awards is that so many are given; the industry is sadly and notoriously lacking in the production of programs of genuine merit. Instead, a Broadway show-biz atmosphere permeates television; a phony, noisy, brassy product is the result not typically American, seldom offering any true humor. (Most hack gags are devoid of humor and canned or taped in laughter is used to fool gullible audiences, or to trigger automatic-response laughter.)

One wishes all Emmy awards could be suspended until television comes of age; barring that the best one can hope for is a power blackout on Emmy award nights.

Light In Italy

Defeat of a Catholic Church-backed referendum in Italy to repeal that country's divorce law and return to the near Dark Ages, with no legal divorce and the church enjoying a near-monopoly over annulments, is gratifying.

Had reactionary forces succeeded in again turning over the state's power to legally dissolve marriages, Italy would have stepped backward half a century into the past — along among the major western nations. The wonder is not that voters upheld the present divorce law (in effect only three years) but that in 1974 church leaders thought they might turn back the clock and made such an effort.

Church leaders are not elected, as is the government, which passes laws concerning divorce. With millions not belonging to the church, the proposal, that the government should again turn over the question of marriage dissolutions to a private church rules by authoritarian methods from the top, is difficult to support.

But the Vatican and thousands of priests (but not all) made that impractical effort; the unfortunate result is a further eroding of support and respect for the Vatican in Italy — where already the communists boast the largest party membership of any communist party in the West.

Anne Mary Lawler

Although it seems hard to believe, the arrival of June brings us almost to the half-way point of 1974. By the end of the month, a fiscal year will have been completed, and 1974 will be in its second half.

June brings with it summer, commencements, weddings, school vacations and beautiful weather, and is thus, perhaps, the most welcome of all the months. In this month the days are longer than during any other month of the year; there is more daylight and less darkness.

The Allies landed in France on June 6th, 1944, in World War II, which proved to be the beginning of the end of the war.

Father's Day also falls in June (th 16th) as does the birthday of the first and only President of the Confederacy, Jefferson Davis, on the 3rd.

UNSEEN FACTORS

When you consider buying a home in a new locality, you'll want to know as much about the town and neighborhood as possible. Much of this information you can get from "eyeballing" the area, but there are important factors which the eye cannot see.

For example, local property taxes, public services, public transportation, hospitals, churches, community facilities. What are the zoning restrictions? Are there any unusual deed restrictions common to the area on how you might use, alter, or expand your property? What are the future prospects for the neighborhood?

A good, local Realtor can be a quarry of such information. He should have a feeling born of the familiarity for the specific neighborhoods in his territory. Level with him at the outset about what you want and he'll do his darndest to help you find it. That's what he's there for.

Clara Maass Installs Radio Mobile Unit

A special radio communication program has been set up between the Clara Maass Memorial Hospital Emergency room and all ambulance squads serving the hospital that have radio equipment.

The Hospital Emergency Administrative Radio, known as HEAR, is designed to function primarily on a normal, day-to-day basis. It provides the hospital and the rescue vehicles with effective radio-equipped ambulance with a cardiac arrest case on board to alert the hospital to a stand-by condition.

During an emergency disaster, Clara Maass Memorial Hospital has to communicate with other hospitals. This is where dependable communications are a must. HEAR fulfills this obligation. At the present, there are 63 hospitals in 17 counties in the state of New Jersey with a radio communication program.

HEAR isn't just a one-hospital system. It can and does link other key hospitals with Maass.

Directors of Chr-III Service, Inc. At its 26th annual dinner meeting the evening of June 5 at the Friar Tuck Inn, Cedar Grove. Schmitt is Executive Director of the Greater Newark Hospital Development Fund.

Highlight of the event will be the presentation of a Certificate of accreditation to Chr-III by the National Council for Homemaker-Home Health Aide Service which this past year has conducted an "exhaustive review" of the agency's organizational pattern and effectiveness as measured against national standards.

Accreditation is now one of the factors considered by government and other funding sources. Home health services are included in the minimum benefits package mandated by the "Health Maintenance Organization Act" signed by the President last December.

Along with pride in accreditation, the expansion of its services in 1973 to "a new high in every category" has been noted by Chr-III's executive director, Leo Nover of Verona. To expand its staff to meet the pressing needs of those who are ill, elderly in need of assistance with bathing, the provision of meals, and general homemaker help because of crisis situations, Chr-III constantly seeks employees. After initial training, aides are assured steady part-time work.

Chr-III is located at 60 So. Fullerton Ave., Montclair and the phone is 744-8103. Those seeking its services may call direct as well as be referred through other agencies.

Dear Customer, Did you know that really fresh eggs when hard boiled are harder to peel than eggs which are a week or more old? Here are some tips for shelling. Always crack the shell by tapping gently all over, then roll the egg between your hand and the counter top. Peel, starting at the large end. Holding the egg under running cold water also helps to ease off the shell.

Also, to preserve the fresh taste of eggs, do not store near apples or strong vegetables. You can store eggs in your refrigerator for at least two weeks without losing nutrition or taste.

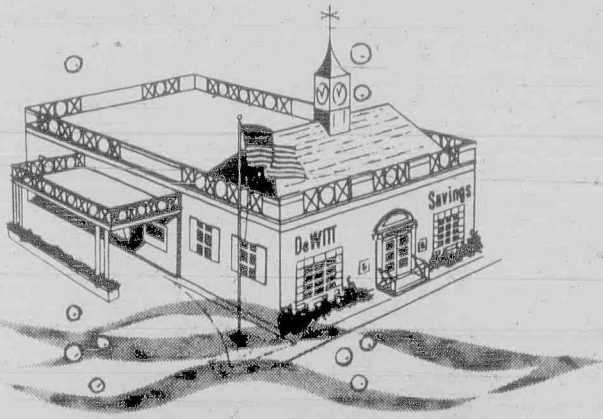

Sincerely, George and Betty

Lion's Club Told
Of Nuclear Hope

Nuclear energy will probably be a primary source of power for American homes and industry in the next century, Eddie B. Prestridge, of Esso Research and Engineering Company, told the Belleville Lion's Club yesterday at the Fountain Restaurant in Belleville.

Speaking on "Energy for Tomorrow," he said that nuclear sources will provide an increasing percentage of the nation's total power supplies. He also speculated that fusion power, the energy produced by the hydrogen bomb, may some day be harnessed to provide nearly boundless power for mankind.

He described the other, more common sources of energy, including coal, gas and petroleum, and explained how energy forms — mechanical, electrical, heat, light, chemical and nuclear energy — are changed from one form to another.

The Esso scientist also discussed some of the unique methods of producing power that are being used on a limited scale today. He discussed oil from shale, the harnessing of underground steam and the control of the tides to provide power.

She is survived by her husband, C. Fred Kilby, and a brother, James Cavanagh of Tocomo, Wa.

The Rev. Foye of the Old First Church of Newark officiated the services held at the Johnesee Nutley Home for Funerals.

If you make a lot of 10¢ and 15¢
New Jersey calls...we have a way to save you money.

It's called Selective Calling*, and here's how it works. For a small additional monthly charge, you can add any New Jersey Bell exchange which has a 10 or 15 cent toll charge to your local calling area. Then you can dial it direct, and talk as often and as long as you want, without paying toll charges.

For individual line residence customers, the monthly rate for the first exchange selected ranges from $1.74 to $3.39. Additional exchanges cost from 51¢ to $2.16 each. (For business customers, Selective Calling is available on a slightly different plan.)

And here's a money saving idea for 21¢ calls.

All individual line residence customers can now arrange up to one hour of talking time a month (on a cumulative basis) to all 21¢ points dialed directly (i.e., without the services of an operator) for $4.11 per month. This service does not apply from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday...except on major holidays.

For more information on Selective Calling or optional toll service, call your local Telephone Business Office or Business Service Center.

Test C. Power, Urges Director

J. Morgan Van Hise, Acting State Director of Civil Defense Disaster Control is urging CD-DC officials to test auxiliary power generators this month.

"Summer's hot weather, Van Hise said, "puts additional demands on electrical services which increase the possibility of power outages. We take this opportunity to request you have emergency services check and test auxiliary power generators."

He also recommended that an adequate supply of fuel be maintained at generator sites.

Auxiliary power generators are maintained at most CD-DC emergency operating centers, police stations, hospitals and at many radio stations. Many private businesses and industries also maintain auxiliary power units at key locations.

Van Hise recommended CD-DC officials inventory local sources of generators and list essential facilities that may require emergency power.

NEWLY ELECTED officers of the Community Mental Health Services Auxiliary include Mrs. Stephen P. DeMallie, corresponding secretary, Mrs. Roy K. Imhoff, vice president, Mrs. Richard A. Quigley, president and Mrs. Thomas F. Peckenham, recording secretary. Absent is Mrs. Louis A. Moritz, treasurer.

Health Services Auxiliary Elects New Officers

At a recent tea held by the Auxiliary of the Community Mental Health Services of Belleville, Bloomfield, and Nutley (formerly the North Essex Child Guidance Clinic) a check for $500, representing the proceeds of a benefit card party, was presented to Mrs. Ruth O. Cowell, Executive Director of the clinic. The hostess for the tea was Mrs. Wallace H. Cox at her home at 103 Chestnut Street, Nutley.

At this meeting the following officers were elected to serve for the coming year: president, Mrs. Richard Quigley; vice president, Mrs. Roy Imhoff; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Stephen DeMallie; recording secretary, Mrs. Thomas Peckenham; treasurer, Mrs. Louis Moritz. The tea marked the second anniversary of the Auxiliary, which was organized to promote the interests of the clinic, to publicize its activities, and to raise money to supplement the funds it receives from other sources.

Mrs. Cowell brought the members of the Auxiliary up to date on the recent changes in the aims and objectives and methods used in carrying out the work of the service organization. Under the direction of Dr. George R. Reding, Medical Director, and Mrs. Cowell, Executive Director, the clinic has enlarged its scope of activities, now offering a program for helping adults as well as children. The service to adults requires the most possible rather than long-term assistance. This emphasis on immediacy is necessitated by the fact that adults need to be counseled as soon as possible for pressing mental or emotional problems whereas much of the therapy for children involves long periods of time.

Two new staff members have been added to assist in the expanded area of activities.

Dr. Reding thinks that the main concern of the Community Mental Health Services of Belleville, Bloomfield, and Nutley should be prevention. It should attempt to educate the people of the area it serves to recognize signs of mental or emotional stress and to encourage them to seek treatment at once before a more serious situation develops.

Mrs. Cowell mentioned the Therapeutic Day Camp which is run by the organization. This is located on the grounds of the former Geriatrics Hospital in Belleville. As part of its program the clinic is establishing a talent bank, which is a listing of local people who can contribute some of their talent to enriching the lives of the children.

RECEIVING A CHECK from Mrs. John F. Goodson, right, is Mrs. Ruth O. Cowell, executive director of the Community Mental Health Services. The $500 check represented proceeds from a recent card party held to benefit the facility.

Trackmen Falter In Sectional Meet

by Bob Cohen

The meet consisted of teams representing over 60 schools and including over two thousand participants. Yet it was Montclair who showed the best in state competition as they took the title competing in North Jersey Section 2 Group 4, of which Belleville is a member.

As for Belleville results, no one ventured past the semifinals in any event, although some outstanding times were recorded by the local cindermen.

For Montclair, Brian Payne was the story, as this Mounty senior took four gold medals in this eight hour meet. Payne took the long jump first at 21-1/2, won the 100 yard dash in 10.0 copped the 220 in 21.9 and then ran with Craig Allen, Bob Coburn and Al Colter on a record 3:20.6 mile relay team.

Allen came close to a double win himself as he captured the intermediate hurdles in 39.5 and ran a close second to Randy Johnson of Morristown in the high Hurdles. Colter won the 440 in 50.2 with Coburn third. Chris Kelly and Bill Mumford also from Montclair went 1-2 in the javelin.

Belleville's three sprinters were represented in the 100, although only Greg Bunch advanced to the semis. Bob Cohen was eliminated with a time of 10.7. Jerry Hykey ran a 11.3 in his heat, and Bunch ran at 10.6, to qualify for further competition. Later he turned in the identical time but was eliminated by better times.

Ken Drake qualified for the semifinals with a time of 15.9 in the 120 high hurdles. He too ended further competition after racing in the semis. Bob Sanders turned in a time of 16.4.

In the weights, Tom Sanders tossed the discus 135 feet although he did not place. Paul Haverick had a shot toss of 43 feet.

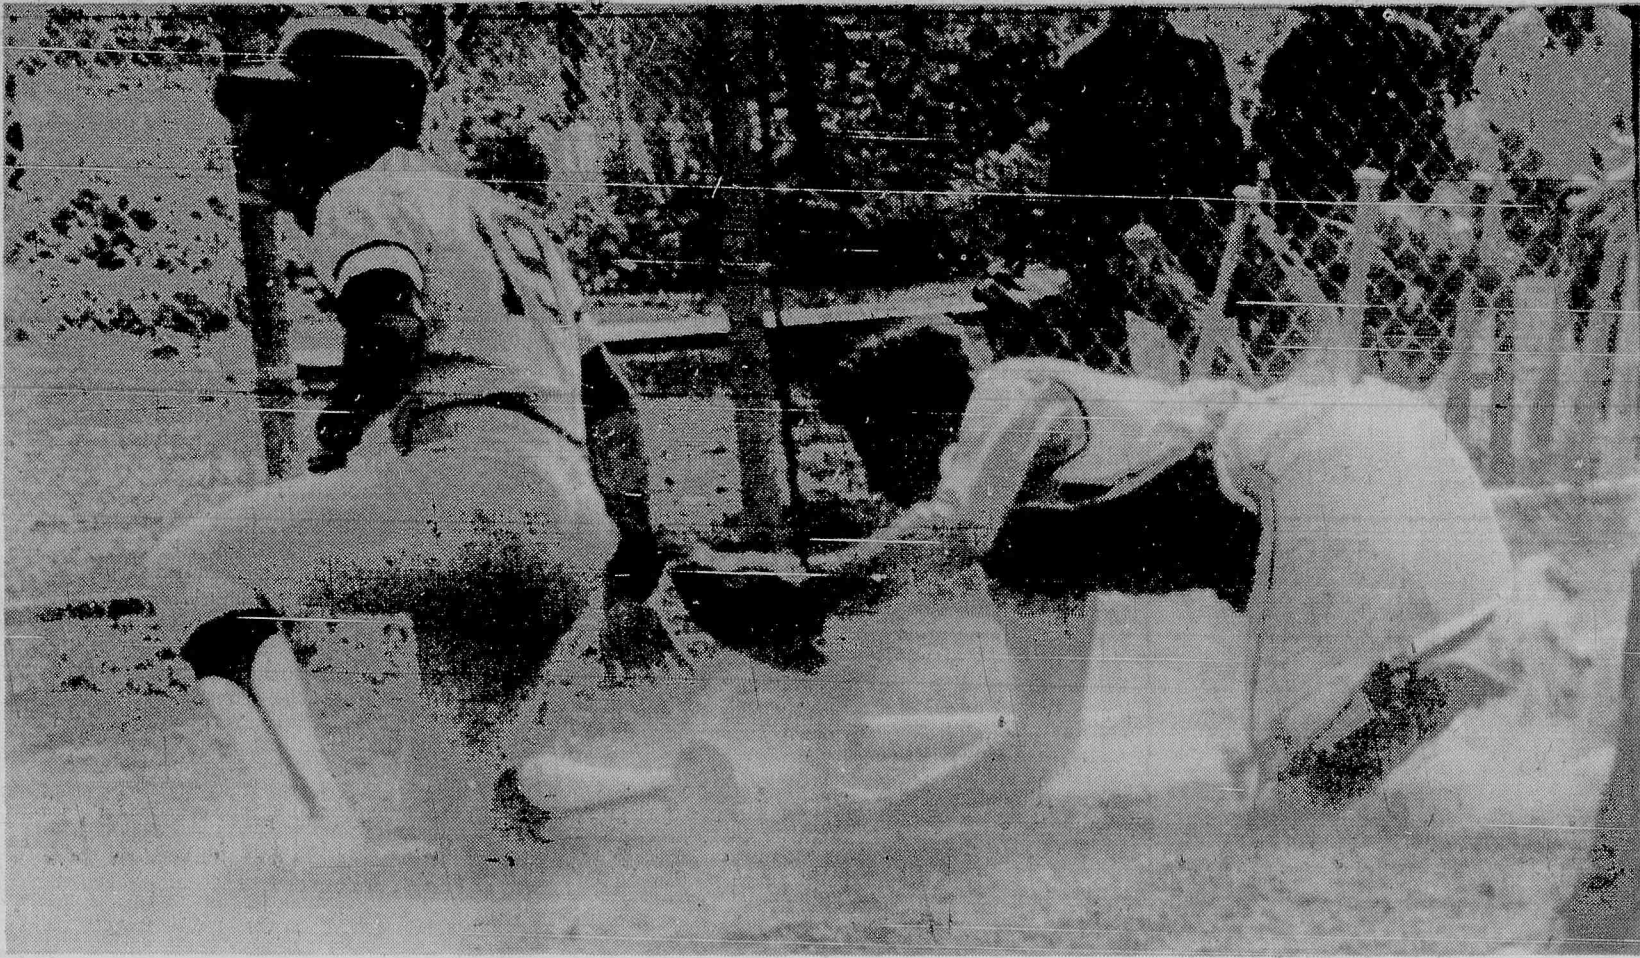

Turning to the distance events, Steve Budrick turned in a time of 2:04 in the 880. In the mile, times of 4:46 and 5:03 were turned in respectively by Nelson Seda and Mike Fortino. In the 440, Belleville was represented by Wayne Kellenbence and Brian Wood and their respective times were 56.0 and 54.2.

Finally in the two mile, senior Bill Goodwin reached his personal goal of racing a sub ten minute mile as his crossed the line with a time of 9:59.9

It was an afternoon of records as one discus record convincingly fell in the meet. Mike Columbus of Scotch Plains tossed it a distance of 194 feet-9 inches to break the old record of Ron Klotzer of Union set in 1973 by more than 25 feet. Doug Richardson of Columbia set a high jump record of 6'6" erasing the old record of 6'4" set last year.

The Belleville Times

DUSTY TRAIL leads to home plate for Joe Cancelliere who gets up after sliding past Orange catcher. Cancelliere came in after a double by Chipper Biafore which also drove in Steve Gerard. Belleville came out on top in the contest, by a 5-1 score.

Bellboys Top .500 Mark; Shake Mid-Season Slump

by Pat Caluto

Belleville moved to over the .500 mark in the Big Ten Conference and 12-9 overall with two victories this week, over Columbia and Orange, 5-4, and 5-1, respectively.

Just four games remain on the schedule for the 1974 campaign. Next Tuesday and Friday competition in the Big Ten continues with games against Irvington and East Orange. The following Monday should conclude the season with a non-conference game slated against Hillside in Union County. A rain make-up game with Kearny may be made up during this week, probably today, or yesterday, but too late for the Times to report. The Irvington and Kearny contests are home.

Showing a complete revival after the almost annual Belleville baseball "mid-season swoon" the Bellboys have won six of their last seven contests. Following the loss to Union terminating a four game win skein, the Local Nine got back on the right track when they came back twice to defeat Columbia, 5-4, in Maplewood. The winning run scored in the seventh inning.

With score tied, at four since the bottom of the fifth, the Bellboys rallied again. With one out, Joe Cerza walked. He was forced at second by Steve Gerard. Steve then stole second. Joe Cancelliere then laced a grounder between the pitcher and the first base line. When a Columbia hurler fielded it, he hastily threw the ball away, allowing Gerard, representing the winning run, score from second on the play.

Jerry Hoban then retired Columbia in order to post his second victory in four decisions. He relieved sophomore Greg Petite at the start of the sixth. Jerry, a senior, allowed just one hit and struck out two in his two innings. Petite allowed two runs in four and two-thirds innings of relief since the first inning. Mike Dondarski started but a couple of errors and hits put him in an early hole.

John Dixon led off with a walk. Bob Fritzen sacrificed him to second. Tony Giordano singled him in and took second on an outfield error by usually reliable Joe Panlone. It was only his first error in the season in centerfield. Chris Tivenan reached on an infield error, also allowing Giordano to score. When Dondarski walked Ron Doyle, coach Charlie Travers brought in Petite to put out the fire.

He got Doyle out on a fielder's choice hit by Frank Howe and ended the threat when he got Doc Covello to pop out to CancZilliere at second.

Belleville scrapped back with one run in the second frame. Joe Cancelliere led off with a double to left. A bunt single by Chipper Biafore moved him to second and when the third-baseman threw the ball away, Cancelliere scored.

However, Columbia struck with two down in the second. John Dixon homered to left-center to increase the lead of the home team to 3-1.

The Bellboys came right back with one more run in the top of the second frame. Bill Telesco led off with a double. Lou Grasso pushed the runner over with an infield ground out. After Joe Cerza walked, Steve Gerard drove in Telesco with a sacrifice fly to left.

The Bellboys took the lead away in the fifth inning when they rallied for two runs. With one down Lou Grasso drew a base on balls. Vin DeNotaris was used as a pinch runner. DeNotaris promptly stole second. When the throw got by the second baseman, Vinny ran to third. He scored as Gerard reached on an error. Nick DeFillipis ran for him. He stole second and scored when Joe Cancelliere doubled him in with his second double of the afternoon.

However, the lead was short-lived. The home side of the fifth saw Columbia come back to tie the game at four. Bob Fritzen led off with a walk. A wild pitch moved him to second. Chris Tivenan drove him home with a triple to left field down the line. Petite then reached back and struck out the side, holding the potential winning run on third.

Petite was removed for a hitter in the sixth, but the Bellboys could not tally until the seventh. Jerry Hoban then took command and the Bellboys had won another one run ballgame.

Dennis Nadzan gave a fine performance, his best of his career, as the local batsmen defeated Orange 5-1, in Belleville.

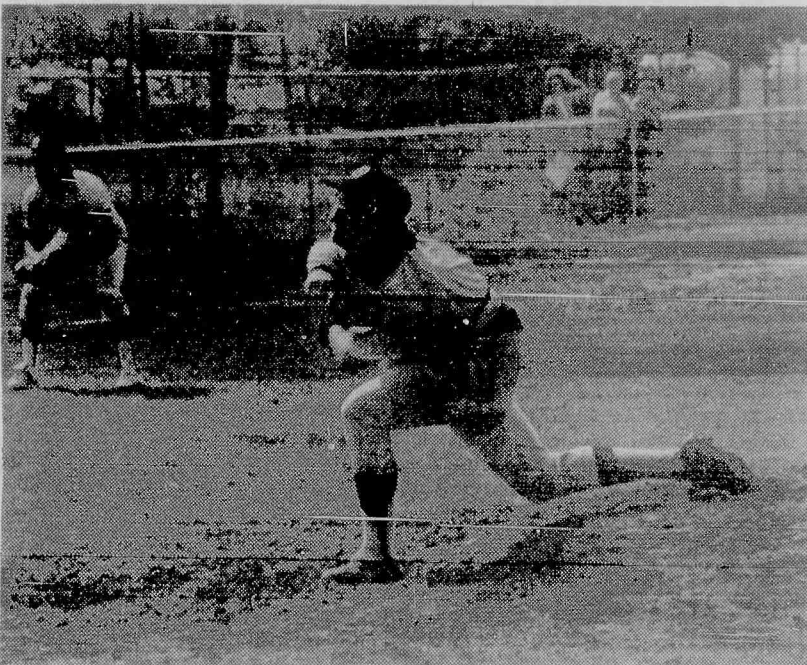

Back-to-back doubles by the Jones' brothers, Gregg and Jack, gave the Tornadoes their only run in the first. Only one more hit would be collected by Orange off Nadzan in the game.

Belleville struck for four runs in the second. Steve Gerard doubled to lead off the inning. Joe Cancelliere singled him to third, and Joe took third as Gerard forced a throw home with a good bluff. Chipper Biafore doubled in both runners with his hit to left field, down the line. CHIP reached third on a wild pitch, and scored as Panlone beat out an infield grounder. Speedy Joe stole second and third, and scored as Bill Telesco reached on an error.

The final Bellboy tally came in the third. Steve Gerard was hit by a pitch, took second on an infield ground-out, and scored as a result of another double by Chipper Biafore.

The rest of the game was all Nadzan. The senior righthander hurled his third complete game, striking out eight, while walking five. He allowed just three hits. He evened his record at 3-3 and raised Belleville's record to 12-9.

WINNING PITCHER in the Belleville-Orange game was Dennis Nadzan, who held the Tornadoes to three hits in the entire game.

Won Last Five Jayvees Haul Down Two Foes To Put Season Mark at 14-2

by Dennis Buckley

The junior batsmen of Belleville, under the coaching of Ralph La Conte, defeated Columbia and Orange to extend their winning streak to five straight games. The record, at this point, stands at 14 wins and 2 losses.

At South Orange, the Belleville squad came out on top in an eight inning tangle with Columbia. Bobby Giordano was the winning hurler, his second victory of the season against no losses. Giordano pitched the last two innings, striking out one and walking two, and giving up one hit.

Belleville scored first in this game which ended in a score of 7-5. Vin De Notaris led off the first inning with a single, stole second, and scored on a single by Gregg Dunleavy.

Columbia put three runs on the scoreboard in the fifth. Two singles, a double, and a triple added up to produce a threat toward the Bellboys.

La Conte's men bounced back in the top half of the sixth when John Guarino drew a walk to lead off the inning. Guarino advanced one base when Nicky Cancelliere singled, and then he scored on a Mike Cancelliere single. The Cancellieres successfully executed a balk steal and Nicky scored as Mike went to second. Chris Tremel followed with a run-scoring single and he himself scored on a single by Ricky Loma.

Columbia again came back, this time with two runs, to tie it up at 5-5. A hit batsman, two singles, and a double yielded the tying runs.

At this point, Belleville starter John Guarino was lifted in preference to Bobby Giordano who finished the game. Giordano was assisted in halting Columbia by a double play in the seventh when Mike Cancelliere stepped on third to force a runner and threw across to Chris Tremel at first to get the batter.

Belleville won it in the eighth when Tremel and Anthony Marino hit back-to-back singles. Marino's connection knocking in Tremel who had stolen second. Marino also stole second and scored on a single by Tony Cortese.

On Friday, May 24 at home, the Belleville diamonders shut out Orange 9-0 behind the strong pitching of four hurlers and a two-run homer by pitcher Fred Racioppi.

John Guarino pitched two innings and Joe Bacarro threw for one, retiring the first nine batters. Racioppi pitched the next three, striking out two and walking three. Bobby Giordano tossed for the last inning and gave up the only hit Orange had in the entire game. Guarino was credited with the win; his record now stands at 6 wins and one loss. Giordano picked up his third save of the season.

The Bellboys splurged for five runs in the first as Vin De Notaris led off with a single and moved on to second on an error by the Orange shortstop. Anthony Marino walked and went to second on a single by Nicky Cancelliere which

New Football Team Forming

A new football team, the Belleville Broncos, will be formed next season for boys aged 11 to 14 whose weight does not exceed 135 pounds. The team will compete with other squads in Essex County.

A team organization was established with Rich Euzzi as director; Len Luongo, assistant director; Fred Puleo, business manager; Michael Limongelli, publicity director; and Mike Chieffo, general manager.

The team will play in the Essex Junior Football League playing a nine-game schedule against Nutley, Montclair, East Orange, North Arlington, Caldwell, Bayonne, Secaucus, St. Paul's of Jersey City and Our Lady Star of the Sea of Jersey City.

Richard Luzzi, a former Belleville High School All-Stater and Clemson University player will be head coach. Assistant coaches will be Len Luongo, a former Belleville High All-Stater and Virginia Tech player and Michael Limongelli, a former West Side, Newark player whose American Legion teams in the heavyweight recreation competition have compiled a record of 20 wins and four losses in four years.

LETTERMAN — Charlie Macaluso Jr., a freshman at Kean College in Union, was awarded a varsity letter in lacrosse for the 1974 season.

Jersey Knights Coach Teaches Summer Ice Hockey Classes

Harry Howell is getting ready to pack his bags again, but there's one last stop he has to make before he and the former Jersey Knights of the World Hockey Association move on to San Diego.

Howell, coach of the knights, will be the head instructor this summer at the 11th annual Summer Hockey School being sponsored by the Essex County Park Commission at the South Mountain Arena, West Orange and the Branch Brook Ice Center, Newark.

Howell will be joined in the nationally-acclaimed program by Knights' assistant General Manager Camille Henry and players Norm Ferguson and Wayne Rivers, two of the WHA's premier performers.

This past season was Howell's 18th as a player and at 41 he's one of hockey's "iron men" but he figures he's still got some good hockey in him.

This past season was Howell's 21st as a player but, after spending 17 with the National Hockey League's New York Rangers, Howell has been a widely travelled man. He's played with the Oakland Seals, the L.A. Kings and now with the Knights in the last five years. But he figures he's settled now and, at 41 he's pretty confident that there's still some good hockey left in him.

"I don't see many young players leaving me in the dust," he says. But he doesn't take his exceptional skill for granted; a talent which made him one of the most respected defensemen in the NHL. "I work at it," he added.

But Harry Howell never worked as hard as he has this season. He had to. Because the new owners of the club, after moving from New York to Cherry Hill early in the season, named Howell the new head coach, replacing Camille Henry, who was moved up to assistant GM. And Howell became one of the phenomena of sports, — the player-coach.

It's a strenuous job, one that is emotionally and physically taxing.

"There are two main problems," said Howell. "One, I have to decide how much I should play myself. An ordinary coach can just stand behind the bench and concentrate on what the others are doing but when you have to play on the ice, too, you don't have the chance to observe. Another problem I had to deal with was what I would be off the ice — a player or a coach. Should I be aloof from the players to maintain the normal player-coach relation or should I be just one of the boys? I decided to be a player off the ice. I think it brings the team together. If I were just the coach it would be a different thing.

"You have to remember that you have to play with these guys on the ice so you want them to be your teammates."

"Naturally there were apprehensions when he was thrust into the job, his first as a coach. But Howell has weathered a turbulent first year and looks forward to the coming season in San Diego. The Knights despite mounting adversity, settled down under Howell's constant encouragement and almost landed a playoff spot. Next year, it won't be 'almost' they say.

But before he moves on, Harry Howell has that one last stop to make and he is looking forward to it. For once, at least, he's just be a coach.

"The hockey school is an excellent program," he said, "the reaction of the kids is tremendous. It was at South Mountain eight years ago and that was when it was still new and the kids were really enthusiastic. It's a well run, well organized school."

Will you teach them any of those old NHL tricks, Harry? "The kids are more sophisticated now," he said. Then he laughed. "They'll probably teach me a few things.

"Seriously, though, the most important thing is skating. I try and get them away from that banging the puck against the wall stuff and get them concentrating on skating — forwards, backwards, puck handling, and defense. A defenseman should play the man not the puck.

"One of the most important things, though is that they should have fun."

Toborg Speaks At MSC Dinner

Jeff Toborg, who was released by the St. Louis Cardinals at the end of March, was the guest speaker at Montclair State College's spring athletic awards banquet at the Student Center on campus on Thursday, May 23. He addressed 130 athletes.

Toborg, who played for 10 seasons in the major leagues, began his illustrious professional career by signing a contract calling for $100,000 with the Los Angeles Dodgers. Toborg signed following a brilliant senior season, hitting .537 at Rutgers University, where he achieved All-America honors.

Toborg was with the Dodgers for eight seasons before going to the California Angels. He played two seasons with the Angels and was traded to the Cardinals.

A catcher, Toborg was on the receiving end of three no-hitters including the perfect game that Sandy Koufax hurled in 1965. The other no-hit games were pitched by the Dodger's Bill Singer in 1970 and by the Angels' Nolan Ryan in 1973.

Toborg was behind the plate when the Dodger's Don Drysdale was on the mound setting a major league record of 58 and 2-3 scoreless innings in 1968. He was also a member of two Dodger World Series teams.

Toborg also caught the strikeout kings in both leagues. Koufax set the National League and major league single season strikeout mark of 382 in 1965 and Nolan Ryan snapped the American League and the major league records in 1973 when he recorded 383.

Working towards his Master's Degree in Physical Education at Montclair State, Toborg resides in Mountain-side with his wife, Susan, and their three sons.

Camille Henry Will Teach, Too

Camille Henry began playing hockey when he was 12 years old and for the next 28 years he was actively involved in the sport, either as a player or coach. And then they put Henry behind a desk in the front office with a plaque that read: Camille Henry, Assistant General Manager.

One gets the impression he doesn't like it there. "Well, it's all right," he said, "If you like it, I'd rather be in the more active end than what I'm doing. I like to be involved more and I can't be in this job."

Henry will get a chance to be a little more active when he joins the faculty at the 11th annual Essex County Park Commission Summer Hockey School, which will be held during August at both the South Mountain Arena, West Orange and the Branch Brook Ice Center, Newark.

He'll join Harry Howell, who replaced him as coach of the Jersey Knights of the World Hockey Association, at the school, as well as Knights' players Norm Ferguson and Wayne Rivers. Henry, who starred for 19 years in the NHL, 12 with the New York rangers, was booted up to the business end of the Knights' organization when the entire front office was re-arranged following the sale and move of the team from New York to Cherry Hill, New Jersey.

The Knights have announced they'll be moving next season to San Diego where they are promised a larger playing facility than the tiny Cherry Hill rink and Henry doesn't know if he'll be going along since his contract has expired and he hasn't as yet signed a new one.

But he is committed to working with the youngsters who'll attend the summer hockey program. A newspaper headline once noted that: "Camille's World Is Hockey" and that hasn't changed. Last year, after assuming head coaching duties with the then New York Golden Blades, Camille found part of the job involved selling the team as well as the new WHA. But he still found time to spend at the hockey school and he's looking forward to returning.

"This will be my second year in a row," said Camille, who lives in White Meadow Lake in Rockaway, New Jersey, "and I think it's one of the best run programs in North America. I've been to a lot and the Essex County school is definitely one of the most productive.

"I'll stress the fundamentals plus skating, you know, forward, backwards, the essentials.

"I hope to make it fun for the kids, too. There are some leagues, in Canada where the better players play most of the game and the other not-so-good kids get what ever time is left. I don't want to emphasize just winning. The kids should enjoy themselves."

One can detect the enthusiasm in his voice as he talks the coming school. He's looking forward to it eagerly. For that one month, at least, he'll be involved again.

CYO Meet Top Team Is Claver

St. Peter Claver CYO repeated as champion of the Essex County CYO's annual Outdoor Track Meet for grammar school boys and girls last weekend at Montclair State College, but not without receiving a scare from runner-up St. Aloysius of Caldwell.

St. Peter's piled up 50 points to win the boys' trophy, while St. Aloysius lagged in third place with 11 points. Sacred Heart Vailsburg took second with 16.

However, St. Aloysius wrested the girls' title from St. Peter's, outpointing the Montclair girls, 37 to 30. St. Philomena of Livingston was third with 17. The Livingston unit also finished third in total points with 27.

St. Peter's completely dominated the boys' events, placing in every one of the 11 races. Conversely St. Aloysius placed in eight of the 10 girls' events.

Marc Miller, an eighth grade student at St. Cassian's School in Upper Montclair, won the mile run when he was timed just under 5:30. Miller won handily as the event was offered for the first time.

Twelve teams vied for honors in the boys' division and 11 squads competed in the girls' division, according to meet director Gerry O'Connor.

Sacred Heart of Vailsburg finished fourth in the team standings with 16 points, Our Lady of Sorrows of South Orange was fifth with 10 and St. Cassian's took sixth with its nine points.

Beck's Column

Beck's Column.

Beck's Column. The Trade Center Building in downtown Manhattan is pretty near finished. Many people expect a great improvement in TV reception one the transmitting antennas will be transferred to the new building.

They may be in for an unpleasant surprise. There is no assurance that the reception will be improved. Probably some stations will be better, while some will come in worse. In spite of all the calculations one can never be sure whether it comes out the way it appears to be on paper. In the meantime, there won't be any changes while the transmitting antennas are on the Empire State Building. The leases run out sooner or later and the big move downtown will take place. We only can hope that the reception will be better, but probably many people in certain surrounding sections will be greatly disappointed, because it will be worse. That much is quite obvious, most antennas will have to be re-orientated for the new location. We will find out when the time comes for the change over. Perhaps some people would then be happy if a change never would have taken place, while others will be just as happy that it did. We have to wait and see.

'Emanon' Is Published, Marking Tenth Edition

by Anne Spera

"The Emanon", the school literary magazine written by BHS students, was published for the tenth consecutive year by the BHS English Department. Ten students acted as editors including Peggy Catham, Sue Cowan, Emre Dluhes,

Kathleen Fitzgerald, Eileen Hagin, Kathi Hammell, Nancy Idenden, Mary Jane Izzo, and Lynda O'Connell. They were advised by Mrs. Arline McFarland and Mrs. Susan Weintrob in making the selections. The following were some selections included in the magazine:

The Streaker

I was so shy, quiet and meek
Who would believe that I would ever streak.
It started one day as a brand new fad,
Everyone loved it except for my dad.
To see us running would be such a feature,
Those darling young people who call themselves streakers,
Who went to the college to do all our streaking,
And hoped that no one would do any peeking.
We started to streak one bright summer's day,
But quickly found out that we would soon pay,
For as my friend started disrobing her top,
Out of the bushes there ran a cop.
To us, our crazy ideas didn't fail,
But now we do all our streaking in jail.

Vinnie LiPoma

BHS

The sullen faces staring blankly at the front blackboard can be compared to defeated looks on the prisoner's faces, as they send x-rays through the cell wall with their eyes.

The sound of the classroom door squeaking shut is like the clanging of the jail warden's keys. The distribution of books and papers signify a "long term sentence" in prison.

The mob in blue gym suits may just as well be dressed in striped prison uniforms, with names printed on them instead of numbers.

Teachers on hall duty are really prison guards — only their titles are different. They watch for people who try to escape the "hallowed halls of learning," which is another name for "a place where you do time."

The ringing of the passing bells mark off the students' hours till freedom — much the same way as a prisoner checks off the days on a calendar as they go by so slowly.

Report cards are public prison sentences. People that are "not guilty" of failing tests and forgetting homework assignments celebrate madly; proclaiming their exemption from further tests and exams — while the luckless individual who received the "death sentence" in failing marks slinks silently away...

LIGHTNING

Lightning is like anger
Flashing, terrifying, and dark
Striking earth and sea

Wins First Prize for Poem

by Robin Bressman

Barbara Hodgdon took first prize in a poetry contest which took place a few weeks back. The prize was a $25 savings bond and a certificate. The poem will appear in a magazine called "Fragments" and it is produced by the Time Education Program.

Says Miss Hodgdon in answer as to what incentive she had for writing such a beautiful poem, "My nephew had been over my house one evening and I was watching him. He was all over the house, exploring, touching things, running, laughing, and just seeing his simplicity and sheer delight in everyday things I take for granted inspired the poem. I entered the poem in the contest, but I never expected to win, and I was really surprised when I received the call saying that I had won."

To My Nephew, 2 Years Old

I wish I were an artist,
I'd paint the sky for you.
I wouldn't make it grey or dark,
I'd make it powder blue.
I'd color in a rainbow,
of red and pink and green,
I'd paint for you the finest day
The world has ever seen.

I'd paint you flowers and happiness.
I'd paint a gentle sea.
I'd color clown and carnivals
And animals and trees.
I'd fill your world with fairy tales
And never let you see
How cruel and thoughtless and unkind
The world can sometimes be.

'Dining Out' At Lunchtime Is a Success

by Phyllis Rotondo

The school year is coming into its last weeks and minds are beginning to wander. The clear skies and warm weather are bringing on spring fever as well as summer dreaming. There seems to be a spirit of understanding during this time of completion between teacher and student. Some of the pressure of the last school days has been lifted.

The idea of eating lunch outside for senior students on picnic tables has proved successful. It's much cooler for those outside as it is crowded for the juniors and sophomores who must stay inside. Lunch monitors (who are students themselves) make sure the guidelines of lunch period regulations are obeyed.

When asked their opinion of the new lunch format, one student replied, "I feel that the students are being very adult about it and aren't taking advantage. Yet the juniors and sophomores should also be able to take part." Another pupil said, "It isn't much different than before, only the seniors just take their lunch and go out. There's much more room."

I feel that this is a cornerstone for improvement and will have an affect on the student demands of next year. One could say that things are going smoothly for ending the school year of 1973-74 with successful tones.
