Protest at Train Crossing Sagner's Decision Stands; Byrne May Ask Meeting

by Ken Moore

Eleventh-hour communications between Governor Brendan Byrne's office and Belleville officials failed Tuesday night to avert a planned demonstration at the Erie-Lackawanna Railroad crossing at Franklin and Heckel Streets.

As of late Tuesday night, the protest was still scheduled for yesterday morning at 8 a.m., after the Times went to press. Indications over the past week pointed to a strong possibility that demonstrators would use their bodies to block train traffic along the Erie line to protest the decision by State Commissioner of Transportation Alan Sagner to allow the Erie-Lackawanna Railway to remove crossing watchmen and gates from two sites in Silver Lake.

Led by State Senator Anthony Imperiale, Public Affairs Commissioner Vincent Strumolo, Belleville Mayor Joseph McGreevy and other local officials, concerned residents Thursday night at a School Four meeting endorsed a plan to halt train traffic, through civil disobedience if necessary, on Wednesday, the first day of school. Officials and citizens at the meeting viewed the safety of schoolchildren at the crossings as the heart of the issue.

Two observers from Governor Byrne's office were present at the School Four meeting, and assured the assembly they would take back to Byrne the "new information" which had come out of the meeting. McGreevy asked the two to inform him of Byrne's reaction Friday by 4 p.m.

right with me if we can accomplish something by it." Sagner had been invited by telegram from the Commissioners to address the Thursday meeting, but the Transportation Commissioner sent a letter to Belleville Commissioner Mary Senatore, stating that he would not discuss the matter while it remains a court issue.

Town Clerk's Office Adapting To Voter Registration by Mail

New Jersey's voter registration by mail, which went into effect last week will have little effect on Belleville Town Hall, Town Clerk Eugene Barnett predicted this week.

After announcing that the local office will be open for registration in the evenings just as in past years, Barnett explained the innovations of mail registration would be handled mostly by Essex County authorities.

The Town Clerk's office will be open from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. for the next three Mondays. On Friday, Sept. 27, and from Monday, September 30 to Friday, Oct. 4, the office will be open from 8:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. The last day for registration to vote in the upcoming November 5 general election is Monday, Oct. 7.

Mail registration is a program instituted by the Byrne administration and makes New Jersey one of a handful of states where citizens may register to vote without setting foot in a government office. Separate registration drives can now be conducted by private groups or individuals who request mail forms from the county election office. Barnett says the only problem his office may have with the new system may be duplication of registration, with separate groups registering the same voter more than once. But that problem will fall mainly to the county office and Superintendent of Elections and Commissioner of Registration William Yeomans has already raised that question, asking that registering voters obtain their forms from municipal clerks, concerned organizations or his own office.

The Belleville Town Clerk's office has 100 forms on hand and asks that requests for more than one form go to Yeoman's office.

Another change in registration laws is the residency requirement, which has been cut from 40 days to 30 by the state.

The new mail registration provides that two forms be filled out by the new voter and witnessed by an already registered voter. The forms are then sent to the Commissioner of Registration in Newark.

Acting Secretary of State F. Joseph Carragher has proposed new rules to settle questions posed by Yeomans and other election officers, and a public hearing will be held in Trenton on September 18 to review those new proposals. Town Clerk Barnett last week confirmed he will attend the hearing.

Seeks Relocation Of Park Opening

In a letter to the Essex County Park Commission, Freeholder Joseph L. Iannuzzi this week urged the Park Commission to give careful consideration to a request made by the Essex County Board of Freeholders regarding the cut-through from the Park into Franklin Avenue in Belleville.

In the present signalization of Belmont Avenue and Clara Maass Memorial Hospital — Franklin Avenue intersection. In his letter to James Taylor, Secretary to the Park Commission, Freeholder Iannuzzi said, "In view of the fact that our County Engineer, Commissioners from the town of Belleville, officials of the Clara Maass Memorial Hospital, and other interested citizens have clamored for this change, I believe the Park Commission should take immediate action in order to eliminate this serious traffic hazard. Too many accidents have occurred at this ill-conceived intersection for there to be any further delay."

In a resolution sponsored by Freeholder Iannuzzi and passed by the Board of Freeholders, it was requested that the Essex County Park Commission consider the relocation of the present Branch Brook Park extension entrance to Franklin Avenue opposite the Jergens Lotion Company to a point opposite Belmont Avenue so that the entrance could be included in the present signalization of Belmont Avenue and Clara Maass Memorial Hospital — Franklin Avenue intersection. In his letter to James Taylor, Secretary to the Park Commission, Freeholder Iannuzzi said, "In view of the fact that our County Engineer, Commissioners from the town of Belleville, officials of the Clara Maass Memorial Hospital, and other interested citizens have clamored for this change, I believe the Park Commission should take immediate action in order to eliminate this serious traffic hazard. Too many accidents have occurred at this ill-conceived intersection for there to be any further delay."

meanwhile, may have altered their freight schedules yesterday to avoid a confrontation with the protestors. An Erie spokesman yesterday indicated traffic on the line was not vital, and a possibility remained that there would have been no trains for the demonstrators to block yesterday.

Last Thursday's meeting had raised the possibility that School Four would be closed by the Board of Education unless proper protection was insured at the crossing. Board officials indicated the "stop and flag" procedure sanctioned by Sagner would be unacceptable. That procedure, which Sagner ordered Erie to use after allowing the gates at Franklin Street and Heckel Street to be torn down by the railroad, called for a train to halt before reaching the crossing as a flagman dismounted to stop vehicular and pedestrian traffic before waving the train through.

Board of Education President Matthew Pica said Tuesday he was assured by Commissioner Laterza that crossing guards would be at Franklin Street and Belmont Avenue to guide schoolchildren across the streets. Laterza had assigned guards to the streets last June, when the gates were dismantled by Erie. Pica said School Four would open as scheduled Wednesday, since the crossings would be protected. He added the Board of Education is on record as opposing the Sagner decision and stands ready to support Strumolo in the current controversy.

McGreevy said the idea of meeting with Sagner "is all right with me if we can accomplish something by it."

Local Police Doubled Shift During Rioting in Newark

Belleville Police more than doubled their usual patrols Sunday through Tuesday nights during rioting and tension in neighboring Newark. Police Chief Joseph Smith described the measure as "strictly precautionary."

Smith said the disturbances extended at times to Chester Avenue in Newark, about 10 blocks from the Belleville border. Smith said there was never any real threat to this municipality, and any incidents which did occur in Belleville "were not attributable to the situation in Newark."

The police switchboard carried "quite a rash" of phone calls from anxious and curious citizens, said Smith, who noted most calls came Monday night after the rioting had been heavily publicized on television.

TESTA'S BACK — The winning coach of the early 60's returned to pilot the Belleville High gridders as practice opened this week at Municipal Stadium. An article by the coach outlining his philosophy of the high school game appears on page 12.

FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY — The Bop-Shoo-Bops will summon up the sounds of the 50's September 26 at Belleville High School in an act that a lot of parents may want to catch.

'A Blast from the Past' Will Aid Education Here

The staff of Belleville High's newly-organized Cooperative Education Department (also known as the work-study program) are going into their jobs this week with a lot of enthusiasm, a lot of students, but no equipment. There aren't enough funds in the ever-tight Belleville school budget for the various audiovisual aids and laboratory equipment.

On September 26, at 8 p.m. in the High School auditorium, Belleville will get its first look at the "Bop-Shoo-Bops," a rising rock group that plays real rock n' roll — the kind you loved — or hated — in the 50's. The "Bop-Shoo-Bops" are throwbacks to those days when fellows wore their hair greased back into DA's, black leather jackets, saddle shoes and crooned to an elusive Betty Lou.

where parents may want to join their kids. The Bop-Shoo-Bop Revue, a product of Rider College, was reviewed by John S. Wilson in the New York Times as "a two-hour show that is visual, vocal, atmospheric and as redolent of the high school agonies of the fifties as they can make it. They put the songs in a 1950's setting with costumes, (a greasy, slicked-back effect with rolled-up jeans, T-shirts and sunglasses; a Beach Boy style; and a supper club appearance — bow tie, black suit, ruffled shirt), as well as choreography, an abnoxious M.C. and such devices as 1950's trivia contests with tubes of Brylcreme and fifties records as prizes."

So the three coordinators, Mrs. Muriel Cerami, Ralph La Conte and Nick Grande, decided to go the tried-and-true route of other instructors and stage a benefit fund-raiser, put this time with a new twist — or rather, an old twist.

Tickets can be obtained at $3 apiece from any of the three coordinators of the cooperative education department, and they emphasize the show will be opened to non-students of the school — this is one concert

Their Fifth Season

Public Broadcasting Sets Back-to-School Programs

New Jersey Public Broadcasting's fifth season of instructional television programming begins September 23 on Channel 50. Program series for in-school use will be televised Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. In addition, adult education series will be broadcast four nights weekly from 6:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m.

According to Mrs. Mary Jane Phillips, Director of Instructional Services, more than 60 percent of this year's instructional schedule features new programs.

"We will offer programs for primary, intermediate and secondary school students, in-service programs for teachers, high school equivalency programs, adult education series and a special series featuring English as a second language," Mrs. Phillips says. "The 1974-75 instructional television season offers a greater variety of programs than ever before."

Among the new programs slated for this year's primary level (grades kindergarten through 3) is a series entitled, "Two for Tomorrow." The programs, center on Maser and Laser, space people who land on earth and decide to investigate the ecology.

"Becoming Me," focuses on the importance of a healthy self-image. Also included in the primary grade schedule is "Hola!", a series offering basic instruction in Spanish and the culture of Spanish speaking people.

For the intermediate level (grades 4-6), Jerseyvision will televise "The World of B.J. Vibes," a series of programs exploring music through the eyes and ears of a disc jockey. Programs focus on noise and silence, rhythm and melody, pitch and tone and harmony and musical expression. "Young Africans," follows the daily lives and reponsibilities of young Africans in developing nations of the Third World. Programs examine the question of how African students can bridge the gap between tribal traditions and a keen desire to enjoy the advantages of a modern technology.

"Watcha Gonna Do?" looks at those things which affect career decisions including values, imagination, experience and environment. "Bread and Butterflies," attempts to serve as a bridge between the child's world and the adult's world by helping youngsters demonstrate some control over their own career development. This series examines a variety of career attitudes and deals with the individual's perception of himself within the economic system. Programs feature youngsters of varied backgrounds, personalities and abilities who encounter situations in which one or more of them must tackle a problem, make a judgement or assume responsibility for an action. The dramatizations are open-ended to encourage viewers to participate in the problem-solving process.

For the secondary school level, Jerseyvision will provide "Bill of Rights in Action," programs utilizing realistic case studies to present the principles set forth in the Bill of Rights.

"National Munch" concerns the nutritional quality of the food we choose to eat. Programs interpret the relationships between good food and good health.

"Short Story Showcase," presents dramatizations of seven famous short stories including such classics as "The Lottery" and "My Old Man."

A new in-service program for teachers focuses on teaching children with special needs. The series includes introductory information on the observation, identification and management of pupils with mild and moderate learning problems.

Alistair Cook's Emmy award winning series "America" will be televised during school hours. The programs are Cook's personal interpretation of this country's history from Indian times to the present.

To film "America" the historian-journalist and his crew traveled more than 100,000 miles, criss-crossing the country several times during a three year period.

Of special note this year is a higher education series entitled "Making It Count." Produced by Boeing Computer Service Inc., Seattle, the series is a beginner's course in computer technology. Starting in October, New Jersey Public Broadcasting will present two programs weekly for ten weeks. A preview of the series will be televised during the week of September 30. The Teaneck campus of Fairleigh Dickinson University will offer certification to individuals in business, industry or the community who choose to take the TV course.

"Our program schedule this year deals with every discipline, from the humanities to the maths and sciences, from the arts to career education. We look forward to working with the parents, educators and students to facilitate the best possible usage of instructional television," says Mrs. Phillips.

Search for Cause Of Muddied Water

One Year Ago

Free auto pollution tests would be administered at a mobile van stationed in the A&P parking lot on Franklin Avenue. Vincent T. Strumolo, director of Public Affairs arranged to have the testing brought to Belleville, courtesy of the State Environmental Protection Agency. The free tests would be administered by technicians from the Bureau of Air Pollution Control to familiarize the motorist with the test which had become part of the routine automobile inspection. The van was equipped with the same type of emission-measuring instruments used in the state's motor vehicle inspection stations. Owners of inspected vehicles would be given information concerning chapter 15 of the state air pollution code, the results of the tests if emissions were measured as being too high. Government regulations called for the installation of pollution control equipment on all newly-made automobiles, and state-law provides for the installation of this same equipment in order to pass inspection. The pollution tests had been made on inspected vehicles for more than a year, but cars were required to pass the emissions test in July of 73.

Five Years

Belleville and Newark public officials searched for a cause to town's outbreak of "dirty" water. The officials reached conflicting answers, and it was expected that only further investigation would bring a definite answer and solution to the problem. Mary Senatore stated that the probably cause was repairs being done on a 48 inch water main on Orange Avenue in Newark. Dan Berardinelli, head engineer for the Newark Municipal Utilities Authority, blamed the dirty water on increased usage by Belleville residents, which stirred up sediments in the pipes.

After more than a year's negotiations with Public Service and the DeCamp Bus Line, the Belleville Department of Public Affairs succeeded in rerouting the Number 37 bus line. The bus, rather than traveling through Branchbrook Park, where there were few passengers, was rerouted to go down Franklin Street and travel down Belleville Avenue to Washington Avenue.

Remember the Pencil: An Overlooked Tool

The common wooden pencil — often a throwaway item when the point breaks — may be man's least appreciated tool. Some quarters rank it with the wheel as man's most important invention.

From airplanes to art "almost everything man creates begins with a pencil," says the Pencil Maker Assn., which considers its product "the foundation of progress."

The Association calls the pencil "the universal instrument for learning and communicating."

Billions of American school children might agree, says the New Jersey Education Assn. Along with its partner, a sheet of paper, the pencil is the most commonly used tool in the modern classroom and a big improvement over its predecessor — the chalk slate.

The modern pencil is seven inches long and usually has six sides. Whether round or hexagonal, it can write a line 50 miles long, but seldom does. The typical pencil is sharpened 17 times, and thrown away when worn just below the halfway mark.

Although it is often called a "lead" pencil, the amount of lead in the product is negligible, NJEA reports. There is none in the writing core — that's graphite. The only lead is in the lacquer coating on the wood. The amount is so small, says the association, that a hungry consumer could safely eat a pencil a day without worrying about lead poisoning. The pencil is even safer for those who merely nibble.

The wood-cased pencil is made of 40 different materials that come from 28 countries. The finished product emerges from 125 manufacturing steps.

The pencil's black core is not poured into a hollowed piece of wood. Pencils are made by halves, like a sandwich. Grooves are cut into a sheet of wood that is as thick as half a pencil. After the grooves are filled with graphite, two pieces are glued together into a slab that is exactly as thick as a pencil. Later, each slab is sliced into individual pencils. Subsequent steps shape and smooth the wood, add a metal band, and force in an eraser.

The wood-encased pencil has thrived despite the advent of the fountain pen, the mechanical pencil, and toe ball-point pen, NJEA reports.

Scot Entertainers Flying To Arts Center Festival

Some of Scotland's outstanding entertainers will make special flights from the homeland to perform in the second annual Scottish Heritage Festival at the Garden State Arts Center on Sunday afternoon, September 15.

James D. Aitken, general chairman, today announced that Moira Anderson, Scotland's Queen of Song, and Calum Kennedy, known as the Golden Voice of the Highlands, will be among the featured stars. They will be joined by comedian Jack Milroy and his lovely wife, songstress Mary Lee.

Born in Kirkintilloch, Scotland, sporano Moira Anderson toured Britain as a youngster in the famous Kirkintilloch Junior Choir. After studying at the Royal Scottish Academy of Music, she became a leading attraction in the British Isles. She has been chosen to appear before the Queen in a Royal Variety Performance and has starred at London's famous Palladium.

Calum Kennedy, a native of the Hebrides Islands, has won international acclaim as a balladeer and fame as a singer in his native Gaelic. He has been a consistent television award winner in Scotland for his family program "Calum's Ceilidh."

Bringing a wry Scottish humor to his role as master of ceremonies for the Scottish Festival is comedian Jack Milroy, known for his great wit throughout the British Empire. Jack's wife, Mary Lee, is noted both for her singing style and for her own ability to fit into Jack's comic routine.

Another group of five entertainers from outside the U.S. will perform on the Arts Center stage this day when Stan Hamilton leads his famous Canadian band, the Flying Scotsmen, through the tunes that touch the hearts and memories of every Scot. Stan and his fellow musicians, Bobby Frew, Bobby Brown, Fred Collins and Don Wood are veterans of the White Heather circuit and favorites of the Scottish throughout North America.

The Festival also will feature the New Scotland Dancers of New York, under the direction of Charles Robertson who turns the art of country dancing into a colorful display. The prize-winning Mary Stewart Dancers will return with their specialty, the Highland Fling.

The entertainment on the Arts Center stage will begin at 1:30 P.M. This will follow a morning program starting at 10:00 A.M., which will feature such noted Scottish activities as a mini-tattoo on the Arts Center Mall by selected Scottish Pipers and Drummers, Scottish games such as tossing the caber, sheath and stone, highland and country dancing and exhibits of Scottish art and crafts. Scottish food will be available. There are ample picnic and parking facilities on the grounds.

Last year, the first Scottish Festival attracted an audience of 5,720. The Festival Committee is hoping to do even better this year.

Montclair State Sets Fall Cultural Events

Montclair State College will inaugurate a new subscription series of cultural events this fall. Described as a cultural potpourri, the varied series will include eight offerings, ranging from the Jeff Kincaid Jazz Orchestra on Sept. 28 to the Peabody Contemporary Chamber Ensemble April 19. In between are films, dance, poetry, drama and more music.

The series has been arranged by the Office of Cultural Programming in the School of Fine and Performing Arts. Season subscriptions are $15 each, and checks should be made payable to Montclair State College - Cultural Series and mailed to Gallery One at the college.

According to Harry Rosenzweig, director of cultural programming, "the line-up offers a diversity, vitality and intimacy that would be difficult to match for twice the price or effort." He points out the advantages to residents in communities near the college of having the cultural resources of the metropolitan area right at their doorstep. "It saves the trip," he said, "and conserves that precious resource — energy, personal as well as natural." Mr. Rosenzweig adds that parking at Montclair State is "a breeze" on Saturday nights, when all of the programs are scheduled.

All programs are held in Calcia Auditorium at 8 P.M. In addition to those named the schedule includes: Film Forum, the latest in experimental and avant garde films, Oct. 19; Rosalie Pratt, harpist, and Oscar Ravina, violinist, Nov. 23; Montclair Modern Dance troupe, Dec. 21; "Painters' Painting," a film by Emile de Antonio, Jan. 25; Joel Oppenheimer, poet and baseball buff, Feb. 22; and the Whole Theater Company, March 22.

Two Students Listed in 'Who's Who'

Two Belleville residents are among students being featured in the current edition of "Who's Who Among American High School Students."

The eighth edition of the publication, the largest student award publication in the country, will include listings of Alec Rusonietto of 19 Fairway Avenue and Gina DeLuca of 40 Sanford Avenue. They are among less than three percent of students from 20,000 public, private and parochial high schools throughout the country to be so honored.

Gina DeLuca, daughter of Mrs. Ervia DeLuca, is a senior at East Orange High School, and is active in the school's Pep Club, Political Science Club, Performing Arts Club and is a volunteer at the Children's Shelter of Essex County. She has been a member of the National Honor Society for three years.

Gina plans to attend Kean College and major in social work.

Alec Rusonietto, son of Peter and Ann Rusonietto, is active in varsity football, varsity track and the Key Club. A senior, he has been named to the honor roll seven times, the high honor roll four times, and has been awarded two varsity letters in football.

He plans to attend Rutgers University as a pre-med major.

Besides having their biographies published in "Who's Who," the two will compete with others for one of ten scholarships of $500 to $1,000 funded by the publishers of the book, and will be invited to participate in the firm's annual "Survey of High Achievers."

New Lineup of Courses Unveiled by Adult School

Several new courses will be offered this fall in the Belleville Adult School.

The fall session of the Adult School will begin Tuesday, October 8, and Thursday, October 10.

Local residents and adjacent communities will have the opportunity to select courses from a variety of forty courses that will be offered this term.

Essex Demos Select Giblin To Manage Fall Campaigns

Thomas P. Giblin of West Caldwell, who has an extensive background in the field of labor and civic involvement, was named today as campaign manager for the Essex County Democratic slate in the November 5 General Election.

Giblin, Treasurer and Office Manager for Local 68 Operating Engineers, AFL-CIO and who holds a political science degree from Seton Hall University will manage the campaigns of Mrs. Larrie Stalks, Democratic candidate for County Register and Freeholder candidates Joseph L. Iannuzzi of Newark, Mrs. Reita Greenstone of Livingston and Harry J. Callaghan of Orange.

Both Iannuzzi and Callaghan are incumbent freeholders seeking new three year terms, while Mrs. Stalks and Mrs. Greenstone have been active in civic and charitable causes throughout Essex County.

The selection of Giblin as the County Campaign Manager for the Democrats was announced by Essex County Chairman Harry Lerner who called Giblin "an outstanding and proven effective young Democratic leader with the will to win".

Giblin who at the age of 27 is the youngest campaign manager in Essex' political history pledged a most active campaign by the four county candidates.

"The Democratic record in Essex County is one of which every citizen can be proud and it is their campaign aim in 1974 to pledge to the electorate that despite runaway inflation on the national level, Essex County taxpayers will benefit through a fourth successive tax cut in the year 1975," Giblin said.

"For three successive years under Democratic leadership Essex has extended its services and has been able to achieve a tax cut each year through the attraction of new ratables and the full utilization of each grant possible in order to ease the impact of inflation which has adversely hit governments and individuals alike.

"This is a mark of the forward look in government under Democratic administration and its achievement that we intend to tell the public about along with our pledge to continue this type of good government," Giblin said.

The new Democratic campaign manager, despite his young years, has had long experience in activities of the Democratic Party having served as Legislative Aide to the Essex County Democratic Senate Delegation. He is also a former aide to the Essex County Youth and Economic Rehabilitation Commission and a member of the Essex County Overall Economic Development Commission.

Panama Canal Reflections

(The following guest editorial was written by Col. R. R. Tourtillott, americanism - Chairman Emeritus, Fort Monmouth Chapter, National Sojourners.)

While searching through my Panama Canal file recently, I came on an oration written in 1913, before World War I, by a high school orator. His subject was "Universal Peace." It was a popular topic, especially among the immature and unsophisticated. He traced the efforts of the First Peace Conference at The Hague in 1899. Top flight Peace advocates were sure that the opening of the Panama Canal in 1914 would be a determining factor in the promotion of Universal Peace. Financial experts, in the peace movement, were stressing that because the nations of the World were so deeply indebted to each other, the "Ever Threatening Great War of Europe" would never come.

Our orator stressed how easy it would be for National leaders to become friendly, interested in peace and prosperity of the World and to settle their differences in friendly conference. He showed how many schools, colleges, hospitals, roads and scientific projects could be built with the money spent on military and Naval equipment, the cost of war and its aftermath.

In his closing paragraphs he said, "And now, with the completion of the Panama Canal near at hand, the greatest engineering feat ever accomplished by the human race, we have revolutionized the World's industries. As more commerce is developed between nations, as more travel goes back and forth from country to country, as our representatives become better acquainted with those of other countries, as we become more dependant one upon another, so we lessen the danger of war and eliminate the grievances which lead to war. The canal will so change the commerce of the World, that it will in itself forever stand as a mighty and tangible factor in the expulsion of this great arch-enemy — War!

"As we have led the World in building this great highway and have established ourselves as the great Champions of Commerce, let us now use our best efforts in bringing about that other attainment which will mean a greater progress in Civilization and an enlightenment of the entire World! Let us begin now, and as patriotic citizens of the grandest Country on earth, place Old Glory at the top of this far reaching movement, as the ever faithful and pre-eminent Champion of Universal Peace!"

What a challenge! How wonderful Universal Peace would be! — After 60 years that young man has learned about the frailties of the human race and to be practical. He's learned of the selfishness and seen the devastation wrought by Kaiser Wilhelm, Hitler, Mussolini and Lenin. He knows about that cowardly excuse, "Peace in Our Time", and the remark by that sick man who said, "Old Joe's a nice guy." He remembers Poland, Berlin, Hungary and other examples of dishonor. He knows from personal experience that Communism will never negotiate anything in good faith.

As we observe this anniversary of the Panama Canal, August 15th, let's understand that it is vital to the defense of our Nation! We know the Communist oriented government in Panama is trying to make us give it to them. There must not be a repeat of the Suez Canal disaster. To keep it, we must let our Congressmen know that they must never even consider giving it up! In the mean time, to defend it, our Armed Forces must be the strongest on Earth!

Exporting Food

Though U.S. crops are expected to be good this year — the drought affected the corn crop more than the wheat crop — there continue to be dangers on the price front because of the world wide food shortage.

Even though the 1974 harvest in this country will be above average, orders for food crops have spurted recently, and threaten to force the average American to pay much more for his groceries, as shortages develop.

At a time when inflation is the major domestic problem in this country, foreign orders for U.S. foodstuffs cannot be allowed to fuel inflationary pressures even further. And that means some federal restrictions on food exports — in the nation's interest.

Such a step is unwelcome, of course, and should be temporary. But since American food prices have already risen sharply in the past year, limits on exports of selected crops are justified as a critical part of the fight on inflation, and also because food is essential to the average citizen's well being. It makes no sense to grow more than the nation needs and ship so much out of the country when the average American isn't adequately provided for.

Mower Fatal

Electric lawn mowers become dangerous when used in wet grass, that's the lesson to be remembered in the recent tragedy at Charlotte, North Carolina — when a teenager died after being electrocuted while cutting the grass.

Cords can become worn, and when grass is wet the individual using the mower risks electrocution as the conductor of current into the ground that can happen because of a worn cord or if the cord is accidentally cut.

Shoes, of course, should be worn while using any mower. Gasoline-powered mowers can be dangerous too if carelessly used; and the rules to remember for cutting the lawn are: dry grass, covered feet, careful handling of equipment which is checked regularly for wear.

Golden Comments

By James R. Golden

The machinery is slowly being set into motion for implementation of worker's pension safeguards which this column has persistently and strongly advocated. Never again will the heartbreaking, dolesome tragedy which beset Ballantine Brewery workers in Newark, who lost all their anticipated pension rights with the sale of the company and its closing, strike another such a devastating blow to the families of American workers.

Our Congressional representatives, newly alerted to their responsibilities to serve the American people by the devious machinations, misdeeds and effects of Watergate and the resignation of President Nixon, acted with commendable dispatch in rushing through both Houses the sorely needed pension protection measure.

The bill passed the Senate 85 to 0 following a debate that consisted mainly of congratulatory speeches for Sens. Harrison A. Williams, New Jersey's own and a Democrat, and Jacob Javits, a New York Republican. Both having worked for years with diligence to bring the complicated legislation to enactment. These men richly deserve the appreciation and support of the working men and women of America. Their victory for Labor was timely won, as Labor Day approached.

Chairman Pete Rodino's House Judiciary Committee's final impeachment report stated unanimously the view that Richard M. Nixon should have been removed from office for obstructing justice had he not resigned.

This report being an official document of the House of Representatives of the United States of America may well serve to explain to the future and historians why Nixon was the first president forced to resign.

Regardless of what, if any, punitive action may be instituted against the former president, the stigma attached to the circumstances which brought about his relinquishment of the highest office in the land can never be eradicated from his thoughts and the shame of knowing that down through the road of history his name will live in ignominy will torture this once proud man.

The concluding paragraph of this column appearing in the August 22th issue of this publication read: "Our land, yours and mine, will become a better place when all persons who represent the people are brought to the realization that they are where WE put them because we DEMAND that they do our bidding and best serve OUR interests above all others. Especially, any selfish personal interests that might benefit them.

Imagine my startled surprise as I, by the dawn's early light at 6:10 A.M., the following morning, as I am so wont to do, read the lead editorial of The Star Ledger this one captioned "Open-Handed" which went on to say, in substance, that the latest flagrant example of largesse to the political legislators of the City of Newark—at the taxpayers expense, as usual, with one exception, showed once securely entrenched in office for another four years they once again dipped into the pockets of the city's beleaguered taxpayer.

The Councilmen had created a new post of administrative secretary for each councilman carrying a salary range of $9,567 to $11,628 a year. Only Councilman Sharpe James opposed the measure.

"Five thousand dollar raises, new secretaries, new card and two new aides at $7,500 and $7,900. What's next? The Star Ledger editorial asks. The councilmen, it continued, voted themselves a 50 percent hike in their first pay check after their election, and now have another apportionment for their convenience.

Toting up the mushrooming cost of the city's government: Starting with the pay increase that puts their salaries at $15,000, there is a $5,000 expense account, and two aides who get a total of more than $15,000, and now they have added an administrative secretary, starting at $9,567, not forgetting a new car. Taken as a whole, it hovers around $80,000 for each councilman, an elective post in which they are permitted to engage in outside work.

Their editorial says it is obvious that the governing body has come a long way financially since the new form of government for Newark went into effect in 1954, when councilmen were drawing $4,000 per annum, with no expense account and no aides. ARE NEWSMEN AND EDITORIAL WRITERS THE ONLY ONES TO SENSE AND POINT OUT THESE ATROCIOUS ABUSES OF POLITICAL POWER? JAMES R. GOLDEN

WELCOME TO BELLEVILLE — The car is State Senator Anthony Imperiale's, and so is the parking ticket on the windshield. An alert Belleville policeman issued the summons when the Senator double-parked in front of School Four Thursday night to attend a meeting in protest of the Sagner decision on railroad crossing gates. Imperiale, who apparently doesn't get many such tickets, turned the summons over to Mayor Joseph McGreevy for disposal.

THE STATE WE'RE IN

In the Face of Tremendous Odds, Detroit Propaganda Keeps Coming

By David F. Moore

BESET by foreign competition, disappearing gasoline, pollution manadates and similar irritation, Detroit manfully struggles on. The gutsy automotive public relations types are still bouncing back off the ropes.

I'm reminded of this as I listen to a morning helicopter radio report about traffic congestion as workbound commuters head onto and off of Manhattan, and just after I glanced at a publication called "Automotive Information."

This newsletter, according to its publishers, The Motor Vehicle Manufacturers Association of the United States, Inc., of Detroit (naturally), is printed to "present factual information, views and comments on motor-vehicle related issues of current interest."

THE BACK PAGE of the July issue features a headline: "Urban Travel Needs Best Met by Private Cars, Trucks." Needless to say, I found this amazing, so I read further.

It seems that the Federal Bureau of the Census has released statistics which, according to the Detroit crowd, "help explain why the automobile is the most widely used method of commuting."

I'll go along with the statistics. They merely show that, among the 125 biggest American metropolitan areas, only 18 percent live in suburbs and work in cities, and only 7 percent live in the city but work in the suburbs, while 34 percent live and work in suburbs and 36 percent live and work in central cities.

THOSE STATISTICS are mildly interesting, but I find the descriptive radioed helicopter reports of traffic jams more exciting with my eggs in the morning. Also, I find the unceasing effort to build highways through New Jersey residential and open space very interesting, too.

Ditto the gloomy outlook for international oil depletion, and the fact that as reserves dwindle, the world is probably going to wish it had the oil for fertilizer to help feed its starving millions more than just to move a ton of iron down a highway.

The most interesting thing about the statistics, to me, is wondering how the census study's ratios might change if so many people didn't have to depend on costly and troublesome cars, instead of being able to use mass transit of some kind. Also, I suspect cars wouldn't be preferred if mass transit was conveniently available.

SAYING THAT cars are preferred because so many people use them is like saying American's prefer to die of cancer or heart attacks simply because of the mortality statistics.

Nixon's Trial Is Necessary Under Law

To the editor:

In reading your editorial entitled "Citizen Nixon's Future" appearing on August 22, 1974, I was rather perplexed. How can one, who in the past has been an ardent supporter of seeing our legal processes carried through to the fullest advocate a proposal that not only would provide clemency to the former President but also to all others involved in the Watergate conspiracy. By propounding the argument that we are "punishing ourselves by... footing the bill for endless prosecutions that can serve no useful purpose" is absurd. Many have committed lesser crimes than have been committed by those involved in the Watergate scandal and they have been prosecuted costing taxpayers millions of dollars, many receiving stiffer sentences than have been handed down to those that have been tried, found guilty, and sentenced in the Watergate trials. If one were to be foolish enough to accept your argument, many who now occupy our prisons should be released for a similar reason: to alleviate the tax burden of the public.

Now that Mr. Nixon is a private citizen as you and I, Watergate should not interfere with the administrative aspects of our governmental process; therefore, the argument that the country should stop "wallowing in Watergate" and get on with the more important business of the nation is also hollow.

You submit to the fact that serious crimes were committed, however, state that the Constitution prohibits cruel and unusual punishment therefore clemency should be granted by President Ford to those involved with Watergate. Being subject to a possible jail term and fine is hardly "cruel" for the crimes committed against the American people by these individuals, and being an advocate of the death sentence for certain crimes, how you could possibly support such a position is beyond my concept of logical reasoning.

Finally, at the same time you advocate executive clemency for the President, full amnesty for our draft resisters during the Vietnam conflict, whose legality can be seriously questioned, is opposed. This only represents one more inconsistency presented in your editorial in supporting executive clemency for the former President and his troops which remains inexplicable.

Clearly no individual should be beyond the laws of the Constitution as our forefathers had intended and to present arguments as they appeared in your editorial to amend these concepts are an infringement on the rights of the private citizen and I for one am deeply opposed to such a change.

It's ironic that the man who was almost fanatical about law and order has been found in a position of covering up and taking part in illegal tactics and is currently seeking relief from prosecution from crimes committed during his administration.

Death In Fall

Each year in fall, as bad weather sets in, a rash of air disasters occurs. The official explanation is that they are caused by pilot error, mechanical failure, etc.

Landing an aircraft at 150 miles an hour, or more, in dense fog, when visibility is poor, is a delicate task, even though most major airports now have radar approach devices, glide paths, lighting systems, etc.

In good weather errors in instruments, pilot error or control tower error can be quickly recognized with the eye. In bad weather the pilot is flying comparatively blind. Errors are often not discovered. One should pay attention to forecasts and conditions, therefore, when flying.

BHS Senior Got Introduction To College Life This Summer

Rachel Romero, a rising senior at Belleville senior high school got a taste of college life this past summer.

She participated in the Senior Summer Studies Program at Averett College in Danville, Va.

Averett, a private liberal arts college enrolling about 1,000 men and women annually, invites highly qualified high school seniors to attend a summer session. They live in a dormitory, and take regular college courses.

Miss Romero studied American literature and French. She will be able to apply the courses to her college credits if she attends Averett later.

Her classes were "challenging," she says. "They keep me alert." Because her teachers have doctoral and master's degrees, she says, she feels they "teach on a more academic level than my high school teachers."

She says the faculty and students at Averett are very friendly. She likes the informal atmosphere of the campus — 10 acres located in a quiet residential neighborhood and this medium-sized south central Virginia city. She describes meals in the college dining room as "incredible."

One weekend Rachel and some other students went camping in the nearby Blue Ridge Mountains. On-campus activities available include tennis, swimming, and pool.

NJEA Predicts Employee Unrest

New Jersey may be facing a season of unprecedented unrest in public-sector negotiations.

Two forces now at work could produce new bitterness between such public employees as teachers, firemen, and policemen on the one side and their employing boards on the other, reports the New Jersey Education Assn., bargaining representative for over 80,000 public-school employees.

One of these factors is prolonged, record inflation that has significantly cut the purchasing power of salaries earned by public employees no less than by private employees, says Jack J. Bertolino, director of field services for the NJEA. The other factor is the failure of the State Assembly to approve badly needed reforms in the N.J. Public Employment Relations Act.

"The Assembly's inaction came at the worst possible time," Bertolino believes. "Relations are so unbalanced in the public sector that even management spokesmen admit the status quo gives the employer a club to beat employees with."

"Serious problems are likely to arise if governmental employers try to club down their work forces in the face of today's explosive inflationary pressures."

The original PERC act guaranteed public employees, for the first time in history, the right to negotiate on the terms and conditions of employment with their employing board. It created the Public Employment Relations Commission to regulate the act on lines similar to the well-respected National Labor Relations Board, the federal agency which referees relations between management and labor in private employment throughout the nation.

However, problems became evident after the law went into effect in September of 1968. Most of the problems, NJEA says, arose after the State Supreme Court ruled that New Jersey's PERC lacked the specific regulatory powers which Congress had granted to the NLRB.

Correction for PERC's problems came in Senate Bill 1087, developed by the Byrne Administration and sponsored primarily by Sen. John Horn (D. Camden). The Horn bill, significantly strengthening PERC's functions and powers, passed the State Senate but had not come up for vote in the State Assembly by the end of the summer session.

The most serious problem with the existing PERC act, NJEA reports, is that PERC has no power to force a reluctant employer to obey the law.

Therapeutic Day Camp Rewarding Experience

Public-spirited members of the community cooperated in bringing pleasure and instruction to the young people at the Therapeutic Summer Day Camp of the Community Mental Health Services for Belleville, Bloomfield and Nutley, which was held for about eight weeks on the grounds of the Essex County Geriatrics Center in Belleville. Twenty-five boys and girls aged 5 to 12 who have problems in adjusting to school and home life were provided with a recreational and therapeutic summer experience at the Camp.

The popular concluding feature of the Camp was a special benefit picnic given by Mayor Orechio of Nutley and handled by Nick Neri of the Police Juvenile Division. The Mayor also provided a bus to transport the youngsters to the Orange YWCA for a weekly swim.

Other highlights were the demonstration of lapidary skills by Irwin Folk of Belleville, of judo by Vic Troyana of Hoffmann-LaRoche, of music and dance by Fred Van Keuren, a Newark musician, joined by Karen Coenen, an instructor of integral yoga. Dorothy Quigley, President of the Auxiliary, cooperated in supplying materials for use at the Camp.

Some of the Camp activities included a circus day with clown skits arranged by the young people, a car wash, a barbecue, and an Olympic Day with relay races and other contests. Interspersed with these were field trips to local zoos, parks and environmental centers. Arts, crafts and sports rounded out the program.

Five counselors with training and experience in social work, John Higgins, Susan Ward, Beth Shapiro, Dave Olsen and James Van Hoven, helped with the young people under the direction of Richard Grumbach, Camp Director.

You And Your Pet

Mating

If you're planning on mating your dog or cat, make sure the expectant mother is in top physical shape. Prior to breeding, your dog should be vaccinated against distemper, hepatitis, leptospirosis (a disease of the liver and kidney) and rabies. Cats should have immunity against distemper, pneumonitis and rabies.

Temporary resistance to these diseases, in the form of maternal antibodies, is passed on in the milk to the puppies or kittens. Maternal immunity is extremely important to protect the litter against exposure until they reach proper vaccination age.

The gestation period is generally the same for cats and dogs — approximately nine weeks or 63 days. However, you should be ready for the litter to arrive at any time between the 60th through the 65th day. Just as other births occur early and late, the same thing applies in small animals.

Once pregnant, your animal should be exercised on a scaled-down basis until the time of delivery. As she begins to lose her girlish figure and puts on a little more weight, you will find that she is less anxious to romp and play, and her exercise periods should be shortened. Don't permit her to stop all activities. Without exercise she may become too fat and her muscle tone may deteriorate, presenting problems at delivery time. From about the fifth to the sixth week on, it's not wise to allow her to race up and down stairs or to jump on and off furniture and other high objects.

Take extreme care that your pet never becomes chilled when wet. If she shows signs of running nose, eyes, or a sudden loss of appetite, check with your veterinarian.

During the last week of pregnancy, the expectant mother may appear restless. She is probably searching around the house for a safe and quiet place to have her litter. This is when she should be introduced to her maternity box. It should be placed in a quiet location, out of drafts and the family's usual traffic pattern. Most breeders have a maternity box which is used while the litter is born and during the time they are nursing. It should be large enough so the expectant mother can stretch out at full length on her side and have spare room at head and tail.

To help the expectant mother get accustomed to the maternity box, place her regular mattress or blanket in it. This will help her feel at home when it is time for the litter to arrive. Remove her mattress or blanket just before delivery time and put in several layers of newspapers laid flat. Make sure the box is warm. You should keep the room temperature at least 70° for the newborn puppies or kittens. It is very important to prevent the newborn from becoming chilled and to keep them out of drafts.

Unemployment Benefits Rise To $90 Starting In 1975

The maximum weekly benefit amount for unemployment insurance and State Plan temporary disability insurance has been set at $90 for 1975, it was announced today by Joseph A. Hoffman, Commissioner of the New Jersey Department of Labor and Industry.

"The new maximum, a $5 increase over this year's maximum, will be applied to all new unemployment insurance benefit years and all periods of disability which start on or after January 1, 1975," the Commissioner said.

Commissioner Hoffman also announced that the new maximum weekly benefit rate for workmen's compensation temporary disability, permanent total disability, and death benefits for injuries incurred for 1975 is $119. This new maximum, a $7 increase over this year's maximum, will be effective relating to injuries occurring on or after January 1, 1975.

The maximum weekly benefit for unemployment insurance and State Plan temporary disability insurance is set by law at 50% of the average weekly wage figure for 1973. The 1973 average is $178.19. Fifty percent of this is $89.10, which rounds to $90.00. The law stipulates that for the purpose of these benefits the round should be upwards to the next whole dollar.

The weekly benefit rate for workmen's compensation payments is set by law at 70% of the average weekly wages during 1973. In this case 70% of $178.19 is $124.73, which rounds to $125.

These rate figures are released each year before September 1 in accordance with state law.

Commissioner Hoffman said, "Because we are tying these benefits directly to the average weekly wage, we are giving our program a measure of flexibility. It is obvious that if wages go up, the benefits go up. And if wages come down, the benefits will come down.

"Under our new unemployment insurance law changes, we now have greater flexibility in contributions by the employer to the Unemployment Insurance Trust Fund

What the benefits program now demonstrates is, of course, a closer relationship to economic reality. These changes permit us to reflect inflationary trends now in both contributions and in benefits."

Charges He Votes With 'Big Spenders'

Candidate Grant Raps Minish On Inflation

Congressional candidate Bill Grant today accused Rep. Joseph Minish of talking against, but voting for inflation.

The Republican candidate said, "The incumbent voted against an amendment which proposed a nine billion dollar reduction in the mass transportation authorization. In effect, the incumbent voted against helping the President to hold down spending."

Grant charged, "This was an excellent opportunity to back the President's anti-inflation efforts, but Minish voted with the big-spenders. Fortunately, a majority of the House was sensitive to the way Americans in all walks of life are being hurt by double digit inflation and the reduction was approved by the House over the objection of Minish and the other big-spenders.

Grant said, "Congress must start bending expenditures back into line with income because Federal deficits must be covered by the Federal Government, in effect, rolling the printing presses to create new money and that spells inflation. While inflation hits all Americans, it is particularly hard on the poor.

Minish Wary Of Earl Butz On Controls

Congressman Joseph G. Minish, 11th District - New Jersey, today criticized Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz for "an unreasonable and dangerous opposition to export controls on precious American grains."

Minish, who has been a long-time supporter of stiff export controls in order to hold down the domestic price of food, said that Butz "cares more for our international trade relations than he does for the American consumer."

In a press conference on Monday, Secretary Butz said, "I not only see no need for export controls, I will vigorously resist any attempt to impose them."

"Butz," Minish said, "has taken this position so often in recent years that he has 'locked' himself in - he is either unwilling or unable to see that drastic and dramatic steps are indeed necessary to end the present runaway inflation, particularly with regard to food."

Minish pointed out that the Secretary of Agriculture possesses the authority to act to curtail exports under the Export Control Act of 1969.

Minish said Agriculture Department predictions of higher food prices later this year and next year "are probably correct if they persist in their do-nothing attitude."

The Belleville Times

News

WALKING onto the field during pre-game announcements is Eagle wide receiver Ben Hawkins, a Nutley grid product. Bennie was injured though, and saw no action in Jaycee classic.

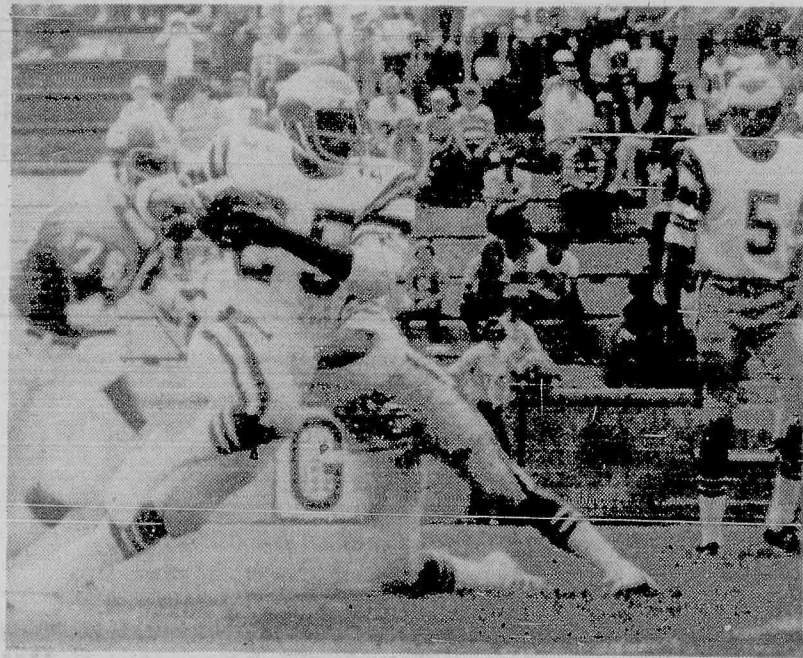

SCAMPERING THROUGH the Eagle defensive line for a large game is Giant rookie (44) Doug Kotar, who impressed the fans and the coaching staff with his running ability. Kotar, rung up 126 yards in rushing. Plus, he caught several key passes and blocked well.

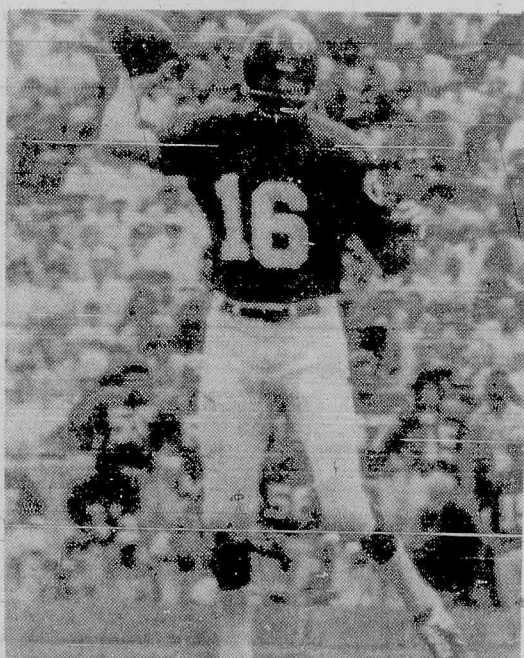

The Giant rookie may have well ran his way into a starting berth this fall. Despite his efforts in Giant-Eagle Jaycee Classic tilt Saturday in Princeton's Palmer Stadium, Maramen lost battle by 24-21 count.

But Nutley's 'Hawk' Rides The Bench

Eagles Score, 24- 21, Win In Jaycee Classic

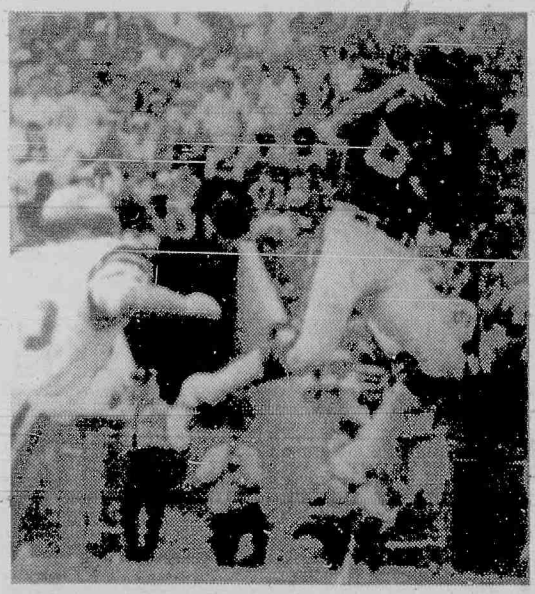

EAGLES RUNNING BACK Tom Sullivan is seen busting for short gain in first period of Saturday Jaycee classic in Princeton. Sullivan was bottled up most of day but turned hero in 4th quarter. With less then two minutes left, he scampered eight yards for winning TD.

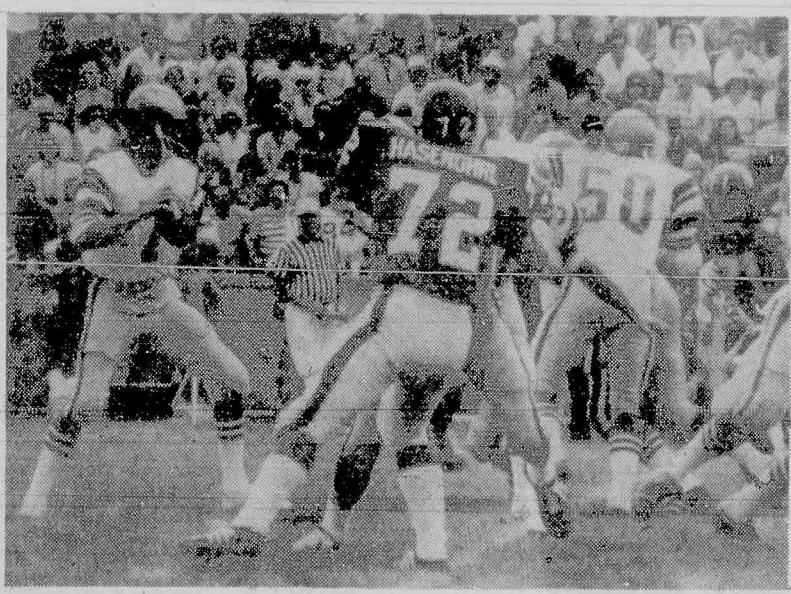

GIANT QUARTERBACK looked good Saturday. He played entire game and directed offense to two touchdowns. But it wasn't enough as Eagles won, 24-21.

PETE GOGOLAK, N.Y. Giants kicking specialist, puts his educated toe to work. Here he is seen adding 21st point to Giant total late in fourth quarter, giving Maramen what appeared to be victory. Defense failed to hold though, and N.Y. lost tilt, 24-21.

LEAPING HIGH in the air to snare this Snead pass with a circus catch is steadiest of N.Y. Giant receivers, Don Herrmann.

EAGLE QUARTERBACK John Reaves (7), seen here getting ready to throw to his tight end Charles Young on crucial third down play in last quarter, was successful in marching his team down field in last minutes to score win over N.Y. Giants.

WATER COOLER visits kept Nutley's Ben Hawkins cool during the hot and humid afternoon Saturday. The "Hawk" didn't get to work up much of a sweat though, as the Eagle star receiver was sidelined for the day.

LOOKING A LITTLE despondent, Nutley's Ben Hawkins watched Saturday's Jaycee Classic contest with Giants from the sidelines. Bennie boosted his team to 24-21 win, though.

BEN HAWKINS, (kneeling, center) former Nutley High Maroon Raider who has been starring with Philadelphia Eagles the past several seasons as wide receiver, watches from sidelines as his team marches down field during last minutes of game to score winning TD. "The Hawk" was sidelined Saturday, still recuperating from broken leg sustained last year.

Montclair Needs A Strong Defense

Head coach Clary Anderson will be counting on his defense this season. The Indians, who allowed 172 points last season en route to recording a 6-4 mark, will throw a solid defensive secondary against their opponents.

"This is our strong point," said Anderson, who is in his sixth season at the helm. "They made some mistakes at the beginning of last year but they jelled at the latter part of the season."

Anderson has lettermen returning at all four positions in the perimeter. He will be banking on Barry Giblin, John Christadore, Daryl Collins and Mark Hansen. Those four, all juniors, combined for 11 interceptions last season and gave up only eight touchdowns through the air. McGiblin of Verona is the cornerback on the left side. "He's fast and he's an excellent ball-handler," Anderson says. "He's an excellent athlete." Giblin has been watched closely by the professional scouts.

A New Jersey State College Athletic Conference selection as a sophomore, Giblin intercepted three passes last season. He returned on theft 50 yards for a touchdown against Jersey City State College.

The safeties will be Collins and Hansen. Collins of Orange has "good range and good speed," Anderson says. "He's a ballhawk and a good open field tackler." He's the free safety.

Hansen of Parsippany is the strong safety. "He's the unheralded player of the group," Anderson says. "He gravitates to the play well." Hansen also handles kick returns.

Anderson also has a young group of defenders coming up. Steve Adams of Newark and Mike Christadore of Kenilworth are just sophomores. "They're coming along," he said. "Adams is a real competitor and has tremendous speed."

Dave McWilliams and John Pendlebury, both of Kearny, and Dave Grossman, a junior from Colonia lend support.

Magnavox Cuts Prices On Color TV

NEW YORK — Magnavox is cutting prices on several color TV sets as the fall sales season is about to get under way.

At the same time, Philco-Ford is granting dealers substantial new extra advertising allowances.

The moves come at a time when other companies in the industry such as Zenith, RCA, Sylvania and Quasar have announced price increases.

In examining the industry's present price moves, trade sources point out that, while RCA and Zenith have raised prices on a substantial number of sets, they have introduced some key models in the portable model area at lower prices than available previously.

Magnavox has just informed its dealers of retail price reductions on several 25-inch and 17-inch models with an advertising break-date of Wednesday. The promotion will run through Oct. 14. The cost reductions are in addition to Autumn Values announced by the company in early August.

In the 25-inch category, Magnavox is reducing No. 4735 by $50 to $649, No. 4737 down $50 to $649, a regular price cut. No. 4730 down $100 to $549, No. 4731 down $70 to $629 and No. 4734 from $619 to $599.

THE MOVIES BY RCA and Zenith in introducing some new portable-table model sizes at lower prices has drawn some industry concern about the price-firming trend supposed to be taking place in the industry.

The Philosophy of Grid Coach Tom Testa

THE MANY FACES OF TOM TESTA — During a break in the first day's practice, new BHS grid coach Tom Testa lays down a few ground rules to his troops. A coach and teacher here since 1956, Testa is back into the job he left in 1966, after having coordinated Clary Anderson's Indian defenses for Montclair State College. Below appears the coach's philosophy of the game of football.

After an eight-year absence, Tom Testa this week steps back into the job of head football coach at Belleville High School, one of the most visible — and often misunderstood — positions a man can hold in Belleville. To help reacquaint fans with Testa, the Belleville Times this week asked the coach to set down his principles of coaching the game. — Editor

Football appeals to boys who like hard hitting, rugged sports. It's a game in which individual effort goes hand in hand with team effort; in which peak physical fitness is important, and the competitive spirit — the will to win — is paramount.

A football player must do his utmost at all times to show that he is the better man on the better team. This becomes a personal challenge in which he has to exercise that "burning" desire to succeed and conquer. Only through personal perseverance and the willingness to work hard can he achieve the optimum.

Football is a game of life. Its preparation, experiences, and results compare favorably with the life process as we go about our duties in the home, office and community.

Football teaches the democratic principles of equality and unity to the spectators as well as to the players. Football is a game which contributes to the TOTAL personality of the participant. It helps develop character, leadership, good health habits, physical and mental development, alertness and team play. It teaches a boy how to win modestly and lose grudgingly but gracefully.

Before a boy can achieve the merits of victory on a Saturday, he must, through personal sacrifices and hard-nosed football playing, pay the price, during the week when glory is not present. If a boy loves this game of football, regardless how tough and competitive the sport may become, he will always manage to convince himself that he's really having fun while getting bruised. The boy with this mental attitude will not fail to achieve the optimum benefits from this great game of football.

Before one becomes a great coach, I firmly believe one must be a great teacher. Coaching is teaching. It's not what a coach knows that matters but what a coach can pass on to his ballplayers in the form of knowledge, skills and techniques. Likewise, before a boy becomes a good athlete, he must first become a good student.

Our youth must come to realize the importance of a good education. Football alone is not an education. It is a very important part of education. Our youths' achievements in school will indicate whether they will be successful in life or a failure in life. If one is not serious toward schoolwork, I sincerely believe that there's no place for him on the football team. He will be the first boy to let the team down when the going gets tough. The good student, on the other hand, will get going when the going gets tough. His mental attitude, cooperation, willingness to work hard, and the "burning" desire to succeed in the classroom will automatically be mirrored on the football field.

To engage in school sports, a youngster should feel that it's a privilege to be a member of the Belleville High School football team. He should possess pride in belonging and not belong for the sake of belonging. This mental attitude is a must for success. One must earn the privilege of wearing a football uniform through hard-nosed football practice during the week. The competitive spirit and the keen desire to succeed and excel during the week will continue through Saturday. It is during the week that ball games are won or lost. "You play the way you practice." There is no easy way out of this game of football. What you put into it, you will get out!

I want you all to know that I am very proud to be the head football coach of Belleville High School. I have assumed certain obligations and responsibilities to the boys, parents, Belleville High School, and to the community. The welfare and safety of the football players will always be uppermost in my mind along with the objective of instilling the highest desirable ideas and character traits in boys.

We, the coaching staff, humbly plea for the cooperation of all students, parents, and citizens to help instill in our athletes to always be mentally awake, physically fit and morally straight. We need your help. Cooperation is the key to success!

Over 100 Football Candidates Out

Tom Testa returned as head coach to the Belleville High gridiron last Monday, picking up where he left off in 1966. The 1974 Bellboy squad spent its first day of practice in full pads, going right to work.

"I want to find out what's what in a hurry," said Testa, appointed to the head coach position by the Board of Education last April to succeed Rocco Cafone, who resigned after his team posted a 3-6 record in his fourth season as top coach.

Testa has a total of 157 candidates in the program now, 55 of them freshmen, 102 from the sophomore, junior and senior classes. The varsity roster will probably hold 45 players and Testa says the lineup will be open right up until opening day, Saturday, September 28, when the Bellboys meet West Essex.

"The theme this year is that the field is going to be the Belleville Proving Ground. Each boy is going to get a chance to prove himself on the field." Four scrimmages may help Testa find out "what's what" — the first is at Mountain High School in West Orange, on Tuesday. There are three others: Ridgewood (away), September 14; Newark East Side (home), September 17; and Columbia (home), on September 21.

Twenty seniors are out for the team this year, six of them with no experience, and another eight who are what Testa calls "bona fide lettermen."

But, he adds, "not one of these kids knows he's going to be starting September 28. If I find sophomores and juniors who are better ballplayers than seniors, they're going to be wearing those 45 uniforms."

The new coach will also have new staff members to help him along, three of them from last year's coaching staff. John Senesky, varsity backfield coach has been retained, as has line coach Anthony Sorrentino and sophomore line coach Joe D'Ambola.

New to the varsity unit is former Montclair State player and coach William Trimmer, who will coach the Bellboy line. Trimmer played four years for Montclair State and then became an assistant coach for the Indian's defensive line.

Mike Cieri will join D'Ambola to coach the sophomore squad, while Carl Corino and Joe Vitiello will be freshmen mentors.

Four of the coaching staff — Senesky, Sorrentino, D'Ambola and Trimmer — played under Testa either at Belleville High School in the early sixties or at Montclair State, where he was defensive coordinator for Indian units since 1968.

Testa coached for five years here in the early 60's, amassing a total record of 31-12-2, with his most successful season coming in 1962, when the Bellboys posted an 8-1 record, the best in 33 years.

A physics teacher and former president of the Belleville Education Association, Testa is a Nutley resident and former candidate for the Board of Education in that town.

Born in Montclair, he played end for Clary Anderson's champion Montclair High team of 1946-47, then played offensive and defensive end for Montclair State College. He entered the Belleville school system in 1956.

Returning to the top coaching position he left in 1966, Testa says he feels "almost like President Ford. I'm here to do a job, to revive the competitive spirit here, to promote school spirit and the parent-coach relationship. We have to foster pride — school pride and the pride in wearing the Bellboy uniform."

Testa's prospects will be aided by the return of several experienced ballplayers who entered last season as rookies but came out as hardened veterans. Lost to graduation are defensive specialist and utility man Joe Cancelliere and power runner Joe Napalitano, along with backfield men Steve O'Neill and Nick De Filippis, also a punter. Several senior linemen also graduated, including Jim La Conti, Joe Cerza, Paul Ianna, Gary Goglia, George Mango, Joe La Valle, Anthony Naturale, Anthony Kirkman, Alec Russoniello, and Angelo

Pennetti. Ends Barry Dunleavy and Vinny Lipoma also graduated, along with defensive backs Jerry Giordano and Frank Falcone. Starting quarterback Bill Telesco is another graduate.

Testa intends to use the scrimmages to fill out a two-plateau squad. "Those scrimmages will be the proving ground," he says, promising hard competition for every position.

Park Ice Skating Rinks Expect Biggest Season

Is bigger better? Officials of the Essex County Park Commission believe so and the philosophy will be reflected during the fall-winter skating-hockey season which gets underway Friday, September 6 at the South Mountain Arena in West Orange and the Branch Brook Ice Center in Newark.

"Without a doubt this will be our biggest season ever," said Jack Sheik, manager at Branch Brook. "And we expect that it will be the best ever, too. We don't know of another program anywhere that will offer as much."

During the fall-winter session, which will run until next April, both Branch Brook and South Mountain will provide a diversified program, offering everything from skating instructions for tots to semi-pro hockey.

During the 1973-74 season, almost 700,000 skating and hockey fans, both competitors and spectators, filed through the turnstiles at the two facilities and this season, with almost all of the programs expanded, the crowd flow is expected to increase.

Among the highlights of the coming season is the continuation of the girls hockey program which received overwhelming acclaim in the metropolitan area this past summer. Begun as an experimental program, the girls instructional school has now become a mainstay at South Mountain where it will again be conducted on the auxiliary rink built specifically for the young ladies last year.

Another highlight will be the ever-expanding North Jersey Scholastic Hockey League, which has grown to 18 teams with the addition of three new teams — Marist of Bayonne, ST. Peter's of Jersey City and Christian Brothers Academy of Lincroft. The league has now added six teams in two years and as a result the post-season playoffs will be acknowledged as the state hockey champion by the NUSIAA!

Besides the high school program, Branch Brook, recently renovated with the addition of a new roof, will host hockey leagues for boys from age 5 to 17. Coordinated by former U.S. hockey team member, John Warchol, the program will be two-fold, offering in-house league play as well as instruction classes on Saturdays, Mondays, and Thursdays.

Topping the list of hockey activities will be the return of the South Mountain Rockets, a semi-pro team, coached by Warchol. Coming off an injury-marred season, which saw them scramble to finish over 500, the Rockets are expected to renew their rivalry with the Bergen Brewers for the No. 1 mantle.

ALL AGES enjoy the twin skating facilities of the Essex County Park Commission, which opens for the fall season Friday.

PLAYGROUND DIRECTORS Donna Aulisi and Debbie Bade (far left and right) are all smiles as they pose with co-workers with the bike they used during the Playground Carnival, held last month to benefit the local Craig Fund, Inc.

Carnival Fun Raises Funds For Charity

On Tuesday August 13, a carnival was held by all of the Belleville playgrounds. It was held at the Recreation House and all of the proceeds went to the Craig Fund, Inc.

All of the playgrounds met at the Rec House early in the morning and set up their stands. It was the usual carnival atmosphere with all the fun and excitement that accompanies such an affair. Some of the carnival stands were: the football toss, basketball foul shooting, knock down the cans, a magic show, raffles for a puppy, a cassette player, a radio, a bowl, and a tennis racket, a water balloon throw, and win-a-goldfish.

There were also refreshments — hotdogs, watermelon, ice tea, and lemonade along with cakes, cookies, and cupcakes. Music was supplied by two bands who danced their time. One was "Resin" and the other was "The Big Apple." One of the highlights was when Playground Supervisor Ray Iannuzzi sang "Does Anybody Really Know What Time It Is?"

Winners were drawn for the raffles at the end of the day with Anthony Massucco the winner of the puppy, Michael Licamili (cassette), Comm. Michael V. Marotti (10-speed bike), Ray Iannuzzi (bowl), Mrs. Harkins (tennis racket), and Rosanne Satriano (radio). Warren Ceres, Assistant Superintendent of Recreation, said "The playground directors did an admirable job and this carnival turned out to be one of the most highly successful in the past several seasons."

The Recreation Department would like to thank all of the merchants and retailers who contributed and co-operated to make this carnival as successful as it was.

Area Theatre Flea Market Set Saturday

When is another late-summer flea market worth a visit by even the most jaded customer of the bazaar—garage sale—flea market circuit? When the flea market offers more than just another good buy, that's when.

The Nutley Little Theatre flea market on Saturday, September 7 will indeed be a bargain spot, a curio and antique trove, and a real delight for those who enjoy ferreting out those practical everyday household items which abound at the best of the flea markets. Members and friends of Nutley Little Theatre have been gathering objects for sale over the past months, and anyone wishing to donate additional items is urged to call 667-8189, or bring items to 47 Erie Place, Nutley, by 10 a.m. on September 7. Dealers wishing to buy table space may call 667-4996 or 338-0254.

But what makes this a very special event is the fact that NLT is offering to those who drop in for a look at their open-air flea market, a day of fun and bargains. NLT is arranging continuous entertainment, provided by its own versatile members and by talented friends of NLT.

September 4th was a double celebration for Sis Wellen — it was her birthday and her 20th wedding anniversary — oh, yes, hubby Ray also celebrated — the couple was feted with a cake, music and fun at American Legion Post 105 this past Sunday.

Wesley United Methodist Church has a Senior Citizens Emergency Food Pantry, thanks to the members of the Church who donate canned goods and boxed dinners. September birthdates and anniversary dates of members include: Kevin Hildreth, Kenneth Murray, Mrs. Cynthia Bedell, the Robert Forsyths, Henry Allen, John Densler, the Henry Allens, Mrs. Bertha Snook, the Walter Murrays, the Charles Hildreths, Ms. Karen Lubertazzi, Irvin Folk, Mrs. Judy Cantarella — more in next issue.

Other news from Wesley, they will have a Worship in the Park September 8th at 11 a.m. Area 2, Kearny Riverbank Park and then an old fashioned picnic until approximately 3 p.m. Sure sounds like fun.

Reminder news from Fewsmith Memorial Presbyterian Church, their 50th anniversary will be celebrated with a 50-50 dinner dance at Lyle's Restaurant September 28th at 7 p.m. Cost is $25/person and a portion of the cost will be a kick-off contribution to the 50th anniversary fund that is being planned for the future life and work of Fewsmith. Dinner dance committee if you care to join the fun are: Thomas Patterson 759-6919, Robert Metcalfe 759-2342 and Elsie Winship 759-3833.

Received word from Ed Littig who missed my column one week — reason, Ed, I took a vacation. Ed took Larry Marchese and his family on two airplane flights. Larry is one of our Auxiliary Police Officers.

On Wednesday, August 28, several children in the neighborhood of Hornblower Ave. and Holmes Street, put on a carnival for the benefit of the Humane Animal Society. The youngsters did all the planning and work and made a profit of $67.26. The thoroughness, ingenuity and cooperation of all the children was a joy to behold, as one adult expressed it. The youngsters were: Georgianna and Rosemary Appenzeller, Jack Baldwin, John and Steven Blume, Brenda Briody, Alan Erckenback, Donald Gugliotta, Sharon Lauer, Linda and Joey Montebano and Chris and Mike Paollola.

PAT'S FUNNIES

He was out playing with the boys (and girls?) when wife happened to stop by. She decided he couldn't have his cake and eat it too, so she gave it to him in the face — not once, but twice — all was chuckles though, no blood was drawn.

We haven't heard much from him lately, but will he or won't he run for a Commissioner's seat?

Belleville Student Joins Others In Constructing Indian Shelter

There is little known about the Lenni Lenape Indians who once populated the Delaware River Valley but six Montclair State College students and their professor have spent their vacation recreating a part of that culture at the New Jersey School of Conservation. One of them, Ted Hahula, lives at 575 Belleville Avenue.

The students have constructed a Lenni Lenape family shelter, a structure that dates back 1000 years, on the grounds of the field camp in Stokes State Forest. The project was a three-credit independent study course offered by Montclair State's department of industrial education and technology.

Harrison Goodall, the instructor of the course, explained that the Lenni Lenapes once numbered 8000. Because of disease and the loss of their lands to incoming settlers, the tribe was virtually extinct when the American Revolution was fought. They left no written records of their existence, he continued.

Goodall worked with Dr. Herbert Kraft, a professor of archeology at Seton Hall University and an authority on the Lenni Lenape Indians, in researching the project. Kraft has organized archeological 'digs' in New Jersey for the past 16 years.

Building the shelter, a dome-like structure made of interlaced sapling and bark, proved to be no easy task. Goodall said that the group spent the first week collecting 200 saplings and the bark of 40 dead trees.

Collecting the large quantity of bark needed, he continued, was one of the most difficult jobs. The Indians used large sheets of bark from the American elm and chestnut trees but because those trees no longer exist in this area, the students were forced to use smaller, less pliable pieces of bark.

The group traveled six miles to Sunrise Mountain to collect the materials that they needed. "We must have thumped every tree in this area," Goodall laughed, referring to the process in which trees are 'thumped' to determine if the bark is dead before removing it from the tree.

In the construction of the 15' by 25' shelter, the saplings were bent into a dome shape with one end being driven approximately one foot into the ground. "Using evidence uncovered in archeological digs, we were able to determine the positioning and depth of the sticks," Goodall explained.

The points at which the saplings crossed were joined by wire instead of by the inner bark of the basswood tree that the Indians would have used. This was done, according to the Montclair instructor, to make the hut stronger. "We won't be here every day, as the Indians were, to make repairs," he pointed out.

Bark was laid over the saplings like shingles and another layer of saplings was placed over that. The result was an amazingly strong structure. Dottie Azzolino, a student from Washington Township, noted that during construction from three to four students at a time were perched on top of the shelter.

In Lenape times, the shelter would have housed a small family.

Its interior is sparsely furnished with one straw bed, a bench and a campfire with holes in the floor for food storage. The bed, Goodall noted, would have been used by the man of the family with the rest of its members sleeping on the floor.

Dr. John Kirk, director of the School of Conservation, explained that the shelter will be used as a teaching site for classes in the Indian of the Delaware. "I've called the course a bit of a 'rural course' but it's not."

Kirk noted that the shelter is the only full size replica of the Lenni Lenape dwelling in existence. "I've wanted this shelter for 11 years," he stated, indicating that his request had received many a skeptical eye. "I've always believed," he continued, "that what is educationally desirable should be administratively and practically feasible."

After their three weeks of work, the group celebrated their accomplishment by having a traditional Indian feast. The food, which included squash, corn, turkey and mushrooms with nuts and blueberries for dessert, was cooked 'Lenape style' on hot rocks using the same flat wooden instruments that the Indians would have used.

They used grape leaves for plates, corn husks for cups (hemlock and sumac tea were the beverages) and their fingers in lieu of utensils.

Following the feast, the group spent the night in the shelter. Ted Hahula, the student from Belleville, commented that "it was interesting to see that a structure like this can actually be used after so many years."

This is not the first time that a group of Montclair State students have brought a piece of history to life at the School of Conservation.
