Revised School Enrollment Stats Show Slight Drop This Year

The latest enrollment figures for Belleville schools, issued last Monday, show a slight decline of 74 students from this time last year. It is the second year in a row that enrollment has fallen.

While Superintendent of Schools Anthony Greco was prepared to find an increase of students in the system, thus defying a national trend to declining school populations, he said the drop of 74 students, represented a little over one percent of the total school population, while national indicators are predicting a fall of about 10 percent "over the next few

While this may be true on the state or national level," said Greco, "it's not happening in Belleville."

Greco said prevailing theories of school enrollment drops "cause some people to think we're going to get a sharp decline in the school population and a reduction in the cost of education along with less need for more room in the schools."

"This isn't happening in Belleville for two reasons," he said. "One is because Belleville is ideally suited for an influx of residents from Newark. When people move out there, they often come right to Belleville. The other reason is because we have a supply of students from parochial schools who enter the public school system."

Last year, school enrollment in Belleville fell by about 31 students from the year before — a total of about one-half percent. That took into account a drop of about 59 in the kindergarten from 1972 to 1973. This year, however, Greco pointed out kindergarten enrollment is back up to 427 — the 1972 level.

Half-time kindergarten teachers have been added at School Three and another will have to be hired this year at School Five, said the superintendent.

Enrollment at the high school showed a slight increase of 16 students from 1441 last year to 1457 this year. At the junior high school, meanwhile, enrollment declined by 43, from 1410 to 1367.

School Eight experienced the greatest decline from last year, losing 22 students from 526 to 504. School Four lost 19, from 361 to 342. School Three added 11 (437 to 448), while School Nine added eight (158 to 166).

After Week-Long Protest

Sagner, Mayor Agree To Discuss RR Gates

After angry residents blockaded an Erie Lackawanna Railway crossing on Belmont Avenue for seven days and nights, Department of Transportation Commissioner Alan Sagner was scheduled to meet with Belleville Mayor Joseph McGreevy yesterday morning to discuss Sagner's April decision to remove crossing gates and watchmen from the grading.

The Times went to press Tuesday night, before the meeting, and will report details next week. The meeting was scheduled late Tuesday afternoon, after the Erie-Lackawanna Railway had unsuccessfully attempted to move a train through a line of demonstrators four times.

As of Tuesday night, there were still a complement of protesters at the railroad crossing.

The demonstrators had kept a freight train loaded with raw material bound for a General Motors plant in Bloomfield penned up in a Silver Lake switching yard for seven days. The train was first halted by the picketers Wednesday morning, September 4, and did not attempt to emerge from the yard until Tuesday, the day after Erie officials had obtained a restraining order against the picket line from Superior Court Judge Irwin Kaufman.

Still, it was unclear as of Tuesday night when Essex County Sheriff John Cryan, charged with enforcement of the restraining order, would move to clear the tracks. The order forbids picketers from interfering with the railroad's right-of-way, but does not prohibit demonstrations.

It was also unclear what effect the Sagner-McGreevy meeting would have on the impasse. It was Sagner's order which superceded the Public Utilities Commission in April, allowing the railroad to remove the crossing gates, which the railroad considers a financial hardship unwarranted by the amount of train traffic on the line.

Sagner had ruled that the "stop-and-flag" system, which meant that a train flagman would halt traffic at each grading before the train crossed, was sufficient protection for the area.

The decision by Sagner was dated April 18 and Town Attorney John Scott said the decision reached Belleville April 23. Before the Town could move to appeal the decision, Erie-Lackawanna had dismantled the gates and removed the watchmen on May 6.

Scott said he needed the approval of all five Commissioners before seeking an appeal, and added he felt Erie would have waited until the 45-day limit to appeal the decision had lapsed before tearing down the gates. The railroad, he admitted, had taken the Town by surprise.

At a School Four meeting of officials and citizens on August 31, a plan to block the tracks the following Wednesday was acclaimed by the group.

Last Friday, Scott said, attempts were made to seek a meeting with Sagner, and officials attempted to contact Governor Brendan Byrne Saturday morning. On Friday, a representative of the Department of Transportation came to the crossing site, along with a Public Utilities investigator. Tentative plans were made for a Monday meeting at the site with Transportation officials, not including Sagner.

Those plans broke down, Scott said, when "the railroad took the position they wouldn't discuss anything until the people were removed from the tracks and the trains were running."

Instead, the railroad sought the restraining order on Monday in the Appellate Division of Superior Court. The case was transferred to the

They brought their folding chairs and planted them in a line across the tracks and sat there.

They slapped together protest signs and handed them out to the kids who cut school to join the crowd.

They called their friends and family and told them to come down to Belmont Avenue, and when cars passed by the railroad crossing and the drivers would ask what was happening, the mothers and fathers and kids with the signs would yell back, "We're blocking these tracks until the railroad puts the gates back up. We're not moving until they do!"

And they didn't move. They came Wednesday morning and settled in for a long stay. They watched a train roll down the tracks toward them and stood their ground while an Erie Lackawanna official dickered with the Town Fathers who came from within the ranks of the protesters themselves. Then the train backed away and the first round went to Silver Lake.

That's where they come from, these protesters — Silver Lake, where the folks don't like to be pushed around, and they're not used to running when a fight starts.

The fight here is with the railroad and the state, and the signs the marchers carry don't spare either. Neither do the mothers and fathers sitting in their chairs lined across the tracks.

"Mr. Sagner is a bum," says one man. "He should

Van Dyk: Play It Again, Sam—Postpone Vote for Third Time

A final resolution of the Valley zoning controversy concerning the proposed expansion of the Van Dyk Corp. warehouse of its existing site at 123 Main Street was put off by the Commission for the third time Tuesday night.

The reason this time was the unexplained absence of Commissioner Mary Senatore—her fellow Commissioners declined to take a vote with a four-member panel since they had postponed the decision at the last meeting when Commissioner Robert Laterza was absent. Previously, a public hearing and vote had been postponed because some of the many objectors to the warehouse expansion were on vacation.

Mayor Joseph McGreevy addressed attorneys Frank Pomaco (for Van Dyk) and Paul Alongi (for the objectors) and promised that the next meeting on September 24 would see a vote "whether we have three people, four people or five people." Only a quorum of three Commissioners is necessary for a vote to be taken. Pomaco responded he would maintain the same position he has for the past two meetings—he wants a full board to vote on the question.

Although the last meeting did not see a decision, a public hearing was held, with many of the objectors from the Valley reciting a litany of grievances against Van Dyk in particular and industry in the Valley in general. A leading complaint is that the warehouse will store materials used in the manufacture of chemicals, and the residents, despite testimony by Van Dyk chemists and Belleville Fire Chief George Sbarra, remain concerned the chemicals may prove hazardous.

Pomaco argued, as he did in winning a 4-1 recommendation to grant the variance by the Board of Adjustment, that the piece of property in question at 133 Main Street was unsuited for residential use. A two-family had been on the site before it was purchased by Van Dyk in 1973, and objectors charge the company allowed the house to deteriorate until it could be demolished without objection.

The dispute has touched off an old issue in the Valley neighborhood about the future of that section as a residential area in Belleville.

A group of citizens has mobilized around the controversy, making it clear to Commissioners they'll remember how each of the Town Fathers votes when the next election comes up in May.

Also at Tuesday night's meeting, bids were taken for two police vehicles. One bid was received, but a certified check was not enclosed as required. The Town will readvertise for bids.

A bid of $22,992 was awarded to Gonnello Brothers of Belleville for the construction of three or more tennis courts.

A resolution was also passed by the Commissioners congratulating the Scarlet Cadets, a drill team of 20 girls affiliated with American Legion Carbat Post 299. Directed by Mrs. Violet Tortorello, the Scarlet Cadets have won the American Legion State and National Championships, the Metropolitan Championships and the Eastern Judges Association Championship.

County Planners Delay Start Of Senior Citizens' Center

The Essex County Planning Board is reviewing a new set of plans submitted by the Belleville Department of Parks and Public Property for the proposed Senior Citizens Center at Franklin and Mill Street. The county planners had rejected the first set submitted in early July as unsatisfactory.

Commissioner of Parks and Public Property Michael Marotti said this week he feels the new plans will be passed soon, and after that, "it's just a matter of time" before the building is erected.

The ceremonial groundbreaking for the building took place in early July, and at the time, Marotti predicted his volunteer labor force would "have the four walls and roof up by the end of the month."

But the County planning board requested a new set of more detailed plans for the site, and raised the possibility they may ask the Town to dedicate a 17-foot setback along Franklin Avenue to the county for a future widening of the avenue. Such an action will have to first be approved by the entire Commission.

New plans for the building were turned over to the planning board on August 26, and final action is expected soon.

Marotti said, "a lot of senior citizens are concerned" about the delay in construction on the building, which is now expected to be 40x60 feet, larger than originally planned and capable of seating about 600 people.

Silver Lakers Rally Forces To Win Back RR Gates come up here from Trenton and take a look at these tracks himself," says a woman, who asked not to be identified. ("They'd try to put an injunction on me!")

No one wants to give their name. "We're just Concerned Parents here. Just say we're concerned parents," they tell newsmen.

A snack truck stands parked by the scene, selling provisions to the company of protesters. On the warm evenings, runners went out for pizza and sodas, and on some days the mothers would set out a table with food.

People put in long hours on the picket line. "When children are involved, you don't think of rest," said one lady.

"We need more mothers here," said another. They had 300 at the tracks Monday morning, and they were looking for more, so when the injunction came down from the courts, and there wasn't much chance that it wouldn't, there would be far too many to arrest. The tracks would not be cleared, they said. They would not move. On Monday, they were already talking about organizing the bail fund.

It was serious business for some. The Commissioners saw that at least one of them was on the scene at all times, sleeping on the wooden folding chairs through the night, getting up at dawn when another came to relieve them. The chief government officials of the town, had helped organize a civil disobedience action, and they were using all their political muscle to resolve the break with the state before the crunch came when the injunction would be enforced. They were promised meetings with the Department of Transportation officials and then the meetings were put off. They brought down Public Utilities inspectors and a man from the Department of Transportation and showed them the area, pointing out the traffic flow on Belmont and Franklin. They showed them all the rotting ties and deteriorated railbeds they had been showing for weeks.

For the kids, the event was less serious. The railroad was shut down, and the area became a playground. The little ones jumped and ran along the rails, and the older kids took up the signs and marched on the lines. "Two, four, six, eight, where the hell's the railroad gates?"

It was Silver Lake in action. Tony Imperiale, who had played up the idea of having people lay across the tracks, came down now and then to see how it was going, and his troops brought along a coffin they had used in the Kawaida Towers protests. The Silver Lakers like Imperiale, but they gave back his coffin. "This is Belleville," someone explained. "We do things different here."

I am Ted Freeman, a Staff
Sergeant in today's army.

The Army needs more young people in its technical skills areas—and is offering them cash bonuses as an incentive to learn these skills, reports local Army representative Ted Freeman.

"Young men and women looking for interesting, well-paying jobs in areas such as electronics, mechanics and communications can pick up $1,500 to $2,500 in cash when they enlist under this new bonus option."

"The amount of the bonus depends upon which of the 25 skills they select. The bonus enlistment is for four years and offers the same educational, medical and housing benefits available to anyone entering the Army." Ted Freeman said that in order to qualify for the bonus enlistees must have a high school diploma or equivalent and be able to pass a series of aptitude examinations. Most of the skills are open to both men and women.

Library Sets Book Fair With Sale on Saturday

A Book Fair will be held at the Belleville Public Library on Saturday, September 14, starting at 10 a.m.

Police Solve Church Theft

Arrests were made in connection with the burglary of Fewsmith Church and four Nutley homes last Wednesday, September 4, when Belleville detectives apprehended a 19-year-old from Nutley and four juveniles, one a 14-year-old girl.

They were charged with the theft of religious articles taken from Fewsmith Church August 29, and Nutley police charged them with breaking and entering and larceny there.

Two of the suspects had been stopped by Belleville Police Officer Charles Oese on Sunday, August 31, but there was insufficient evidence to make an arrest at the time.

Books that have been removed from both the children and adult collections because of age, condition or space limitations will be placed on sale to the public at a very reasonable cost.

Children's books will be priced at five and ten cents, adult books at twenty-five and fifty cents. Children's books will be limited three to a person. The Fair will last until closing at 5 p.m. or until all books are sold whichever comes first. The public is asked to help us make the Library Fair a success by permitting children the opportunity of making purchases.

Ministry Sunday Set At Wesley Methodist

Everyone who has accepted Christ as their Lord and Savior and who is a baptized confirmed member of Christ's Church is a minister. Being called to the ministry of Christ means the teaching, healing, loving ministries of His life; the redemptive ministries of His suffering, love. A Christian is called to participate in the reconciling ministries of Christ's death and Resurrection.

The Pastor-Parish Relations Committee of Wesley United Methodist Church is calling the entire congregation to worship on Ministry Sunday, September 15 to celebrate the ministry of every Christian. The theme is: What is a minister? What is ministry? Members of the Committee will participate in Congress passed its first legislation exerting control over drugs in 1948. This statute, as you might suspect, was concerned only with controlling importation of adulterated drugs into the United States. It turned out, that soon afterward the same adulteration took place within the country, making it necessary for some states and the District of Columbia to pass inhibitory legislation. In 1906 the congress passed the Federal Food and Drug act, which governed the interstate commerce of drugs.

Ordinarily prices are determined nowadays most manufacturers post suggested retail prices, but these don't always bear a rational relationship to the dealers' wholesale cost or the legitimate profit he should make. The Nixon Pardon

Public reaction to President Gerald Ford's unconditional pardon of former President Richard Nixon is being heard loud and long. The latest count indicates a 50-50 division among citizen reaction to President Ford's decision.

A month ago we suggested all Watergate principals receive a Presidential pardon so that the Congress could close its books on a sordid chapter of American political history and attend to the business of running our government and straightening out our economic mess.

We believe President Ford erred in pardoning former President Nixon without extending the same consideration to others involved in the Watergate catastrophe.

The torment of a jury trial only can be realized in its fullest by a person who has gone through the experience. Much like the delivery of a child only a mother can testify to the burdens or pleasures of childbirth.

The constitution prohibits cruel and unjust punishment. We restate our belief that former President Nixon's two-year Watergate period inflicted more punishment upon one human being than most people could endure in a lifetime of suffering. That the suffering of Nixon was self-inflicted is the greater tragedy but nonetheless suffer he did. Punished he was. Cruelly treated by the media is a recorded fact.

With President Ford we believe the time has come to call a halt to the Watergate shenanigans. The special prosecutors' office should attempt to obtain confessions from Watergate participants, ask for Presidential pardon and go out of business.

The lessons of Watergate are learned. The total thrust of the Watergate effort was to "get Nixon." Nixon resigned his Presidency. They got Nixon. In the process constitutional government was saved. Our constitutional process survived the acid test. Citizen confidence in the process of government has been restored.

Everyone admits that President Ford acted within his authority to grant former President Nixon a full pardon. We believe it was a merciful act. It is now time that President Ford's mercy was spread around to others equally or more deserving than Nixon.

America only can stand for one kind of justice — equal justice for all people. At this point the Presidential pardon of Nixon unbalances the scales of justice. We have no quarrel with the Presidential pardon of Nixon. However we believe President Ford has more work to do.

Confrontation Politics

The events of the past week at the Erie-Lackawanna railway crossing on Belmont Avenue have seen a new kind of political action introduced in Belleville — confrontation politics.

There is no doubt that Department of Transportation officials needed to be sent a strong message about the intentions of Belleville people who were robbed of protective crossing gates at two railroad gradings last May. But when members of the Town Commission endorsed tactics to block the trains as suggested by State Senator Anthony Imperiale, we wonder if they took the time to think about the place of confrontation politics in Belleville.

We believe the Town Commissioners are on the right side of the issue as stated: the safety of children at the train crossings. To accomplish that end, the Commissioners have, to varying degrees, encouraged or supported the idea of residents (themselves excluded) blocking the progress of trains at the crossings, thereby risking arrest.

Along with Senator Imperiale, Commissioner Vincent Strumolo was the most vocal advocate of this tactic, followed closely by Mayor Joseph McGreevy. Commissioners Mary Senatore and Michael Marotti gave tacit consent, while Commissioner Robert Laterza has maintained a low profile through the whole chain of events.

It is a sad commentary on the state government that it has taken such drastic action to gain a full and fair hearing of the Belleville complaint. It is also sad that Town officials did not appeal the Sagner decision to the courts between the time that decision was made and the gates were dismantled — a period of about two weeks. Perhaps it would not have been necessary for mothers of school children to risk jail to protect those children.

There are other groups in Belleville who, like the Silver Lake residents, also have legitimate complaints against government. We will be watching to see how local officials respond to them. Valley residents are much concerned about the encroachment of industrial uses in residential zones. Students in Belleville High School would like an open-campus program. Numerous citizens would like to see traffic signals erected in their neighborhoods.

Will these groups be encouraged to use civil disobedience to gain their objectives? Will the Town Commission be able to say they're wrong if they do use such tactics?

Golden Comments

By James R. Golden

A recent conversation with one of Belleville's largest insurance agencies representing one of the nation's largest companies disclosed some shocking revelations of man's vicious inhumanity to his fellow men which is contributing to the ever increasing rates in automobile insurance.

Claims resulting not from accidents, but splotic, wanton vandalism and willful acts of car destruction committed by sick, sad, mentally deranged individuals who cowardly vent their imagined grievances upon not those they dislike but the inanimate property of those they haven't got the "guts" to confront personally are on an increasing scale which plague our police and detective forces who must investigate these childish, hideous crimes; like wise forcing the insurance companies to increase their rates which affect us all, even the "nutty" cowards who must slink furtively under the stealth of darkness to do their dastardly deeds.

This type of crime is serious and carries severe legal penalties which include imprisonment and heavy fine. Not only may the individual whose property has been destroyed, but the insurance company, as well, may prosecute the foolish felon who perpetrates these perfidious practices.

All who observe such repugnant acts of vandalism should cooperate with the police in bringing about the arrest and conviction of all such "rats" who constitute the lowest scourge of our sick society. By doing so, we help ourselves and segregate these demented demons from our midst. Pukey poltroons and punks they are. The scum of the earth.

The police, the public and society as a whole are showing increasing contempt for the role of many of our judges who are too lenient with known criminals. Imposing either "light" sentences or even releasing them to again prey upon the people. Even the criminals, themselves, sneer at the law in the expectation they will be free before the officer, who risked his life to bring them in, has completed his detailed report of the incident.

It's about time our judges back-up our police by meting out harsher sentences to established criminals, especially, repeaters.

Many vital legal matters affecting individuals are handled in different manner by varying communities, all properly within the purview of the law, yet, sometimes unless prominently pointed out in conspicuous news stores, may inadvertently go by unnoticed to the average person with the ultimate result he might find himself, through ignorance which is no excuse in law, subject to prosecution with a penalty of a substantial fine.

Just such a situation occurred August 22, just past, on that date in Belleville, appeared, in a local paper which carries the town's legal notices, over the town clerk's name a public notice to the landlords and owners of interest of residential properties in the Town of Belleville. This proper and sufficient notice meets all the required notice necessary under the law and specifically spelled out all the provisions of Chapter 50, of the N.J. laws of 1974, signed into law by the Governor on June 25, 1974 as they pertain to owners of residential properties in town. There was no news story mention of this new statute, which directly affected all of the town's owners of rental property, other than owner occupied two and three unit premises, in either of Belleville's newspapers.

In Nutley they did it differently: The front page of the Nutley Sun in conspicuous headline captions read: NUTLEY LANDLORDS URGED TO FILE WITH TOWN HALL. The story related all the minute details of the new legal requirements of the affected owners and described how help to meet the fulfillment of same was available at the town clerk's office.

At that office, for a modest fee, all terms of the act were made available with prepared forms which the owner's could fill out and file with instructions of their need to supply copies to their tenants.

No criticism is intended by the column, however, since so few read legal notices we do express concern that many required to meet the provisions of the new law may have not noticed the requirements contained therein. So we take the liberty of suggesting they familiarize themselves with its details. Call the town clerk's office for information or consult your attorney. There is a $100 fine for failure to file, if required to do so.

God and Man — Partners

(The Times this week presents a Rosh Hashanah message from Rabbi Herbert Horowitz of Congregation Ahavath Achim. — Ed.)

Once, two men became involved in a quarrel over a piece of land. They decided that they could solve their problem by presenting it to the rabbi. One said, "The land is mine!" The other retorted "The land belongs to me!" The Rabbi thought for a moment and then said, "Why don't you come back and ask me the same question one hundred years from now?" The simple truth is that the earth is the Lord's and we are merely spiritual renters.

Rosh Hashanah, the Jewish New Year, reaffirms this ancient truth. This day doesn't mark the founding of a religion, but rather it celebrates the creation of the universe. The New Year, (Rosh Hashanah) is also the beginning of a new month (Rosh Chodesh). Shanah is derived from the Hebrew word meaning old, while Chodesh comes from the Hebrew word meaning new. These two seemingly contradictory terms are really complimentary. As human beings we look upon many things as new, but in reality the words of Ecclesiastes reflect the true picture of life. Ayn Kol Chadash Tachat Hashemesh, there is nothing new under the sun. Man doesn't create, only G-d does. We, the people of the world discover what already exists, we fashion and we shape existing material. The Hebrew word Bara is carefully assigned to G-d, the Creator, while man is an ose, a doer or shaper of things.

Thus, the High Holy Days of Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur emphasize and impart to each and every Jew that God is the source of our creativity, moral energy and spiritual power.

Let us hope and pray that we can harness our moral and spiritual energies so that it may bring about a New Year of Health, Happiness and Peace.

It's nice to know somebody cares about us. No one has done anything in this town for us but Mr. Marotti. So thanks again and God Bless You.

Soft Water

Three British scientists have concluded that soft water adds to the danger of heart attack, high blood pressure and circulatory disease. They conducted a study which compared the incidence of these diseases between people living in New Mexico, where the water is hard, and those living in South Carolina, where the water is soft.

Soft water areas also include the lowlands of the Columbia and Ohio rivers, in addition to much of South Carolina. The study showed that in 1960 the death rate from the above causes in South Carolina were 511 per 100,000 while in New Mexico it was only 290. Yet deaths from other causes in the two areas were about the same.

There has been speculation on this question in the past and the latest research adds weight to earlier evidence. In 1972 a U.S. study showed that Americans living along the banks of the Ohio and Columbia rivers suffered a far higher rate of heart attack than those living along the banks of Colorado and Missouri rivers — with their hard water.

What can be done about it? It's too early for scientists to know all the answers but each individual can follow his own ideas about drinking water in light of the new evidence. And communities which plan to soften their water supply might think twice about it.

Pickets Ordered Off RR Tracks

Chancery Division, where Judge Kimmelman granted the order.

The injunction, which named Senator Imperiale and "John Doe and Jane Doe" was served on Monday afternoon, and Cryan explained the terms to the assembled protestors. Any persons arrested for blocking the track could be jailed for contempt of court.

At a Monday meeting of the Commission, Town Attorney John Scott instructed the Town Fathers "not to take any active part" in the demonstrations, "or to remain on the railroad right of way." While all Commissioners had been present at the School Four meeting and Commissioner Vincent Strumolo, along with Imperiale, had vowed to "lay down on the tracks to stop the trains," they were only occasionally present on Tuesday.

Kimmelman's order order also barred blocking of the tracks at another disputed site on Heckel Street. Railroad attorneys had argued that 13 cars, bound for the General Motors plant and the Hartz Mountain plant, both in Bloomfield, were unable to move. They also brought out affidavit from a General Motors traffic manager who said layoffs of 15 percent of the Bloomfield plant work force were necessary Friday and Tuesday because of the delay.

The Town of Belleville has appealed the Sagner decision but Scott said Tuesday no date has been set for a hearing on the matter. He said there "was nothing we could do or would do" to block the restraining order by Judge Kimmelman.

It was rumored Tuesday that an attempt had been made to gain an arrest order from Judge Kimmelman, but that was unconfirmed.

League Of Conservation Voters Spotlights Each Politicians Record

By David F. Moore

N.J. Conservation Foundation

LABOR DAY is gone, kids are back in school and once more the voice of the politician is heard on the land, what with November's elections rolling around.

WHICH REMINDS ME that every year a group called the League of Conservation Voters, in cooperation with the Environmental Policy Center, of Washington, D.C., does a big job of tabulating and reporting the preceding year's environmental voting record of every member of the House of Representatives.

SCORES, from zero to 100, are awarded to each member of Congress on the basis of his or her record of voting for or against bills of environmental significance, or even purposely abstaining from such votes. Credits are given for yes votes on good bills or no votes on bills the groups list as bad. Debits come from the opposite votes on the same bills, with two points subtracted for absence during such votes, except when caused by illness.

NEW JERSEY'S 15 congressmen ranged in scores during 1973 from 2 (Charles Sandman, 2nd District), to 92 (for James J. Howard, 3rd District). All 15 averaged out at 58 for 1973, which is one point better than the 57 average in 1972. The latter year's average is based on records of 13 congressmen who are still in office today.

FOR NEW JERSEY'S other 13 incumbent congressmen, the environmental voting score is:

JOHN E. HUNT, 1st Dist., 14;
 Frank Thompson, Jr., 4th Dist., 80;

Peter H. B. Frelinghuysen, 5th Dist., 25; Edwin B. Forsythe, 6th Dist., 47; William B. Widnall, 7th Dist., 26; Robert A. Roe, 8th Dist., 78; Henry Helstoski, 9th Dist., 87; Peter W. Rodino, 10th Dist., 81; Joseph G. Minish, 11th Dist., 84; Matthew J. Rinaldo, 12th Dist., 89; Joseph Maraziti, 13th Dist., 36; Dominick V. Daniels, 14th Dist., 61, and Edward J. Patten, 15th Dist., 70.

A TOTAL of 19 votes in 1973 were used to arrive at the individual scores. They were on bills ranging from mass transit to the Alaska Pipeline.

CASTING an eye over the total list of congressmen from all 50 states, two things struck my attention. One is that high environmental scores as often as not come from "urban" representatives, and that women average out higher than men.

IT'S EASY to cite one triple example of both of my discoveries: New York City's three congresswomen scored as follows — Elizabeth Holtzman, 92; Shirley Chisholm, 96, and Bella Abzug, 100.

THERE WEREN'T many zero scores, but as far as I can tell, they were all run up (or down) by men. Their states are Indiana, Illinois, Virginia, Texas, South Carolina, Oklahoma, Michigan, Mississippi, Missouri, Nebraska, California, Louisiana, North Carolina and Ohio.

ALL OF WHICH does nothing to weaken my longtime theory that where the environment is concerned, women have a more instinctive ability to identify the real issues. Am I right, men?

Sally Hood told me what a treat she had the other night when dining at Grant's Bradford House. Seems that once a month a special is held and one senior citizen pays for the meal, and the second gets it free. I think that's nice. In reading this paper I noticed an ad for Bradford House where they have 'family' nights on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Took the kids and Sally was right — the food was good and the service was great. Dinner was $1.59.

Would Mean Less Funds For Local Government

Changes Pondered For Federal Revenue Sharing Program

Even though the Federal General Revenue Sharing program — the State and Local Fiscal Assistance Act of 1972 — is not scheduled to expire until December 1976, legislation has already been introduced in Congress to extend the program but with a number of changes, reports the New Jersey Taxpayers Association.

Numerous evaluations have been and are being made by both public and private agencies of the effectiveness of the program. Findings vary but there is general consensus that in many places the additional income has helped to check tax increase, and avoid new taxes or increases in debt. Most recipient units — States, counties, municipalities, are apprehensive over possible loss of revenue should the program be repealed or modified. Although Federal general revenue sharing funds are only a small proportion of total revenue, reduction would necessitate resort to other financing means.

One of the first bills introduced to extend general revenue sharing is H.R. 16330 sponsored by Chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas. Three of the major changes proposed would:

1. Extend the act two additional years beyond its scheduled expiration date (December 1976);

2. Allow eligible local governments to draw 90 percent of the current year's entitlement up to 2 years in advance, in emergency situations;

3. Remove states from the revenue sharing program, effective January 1, 1975, and allocate the funds to the various local government units.

Reasons given for the proposal to cut the states off the Federal pipeline are budget surpluses enjoyed by nearly all states in fiscal 1973 in contrast to deficits by the Federal government and numerous cities and local governments; Federal government take over from the states of a larger share of financing of welfare programs and potential reduction of state health costs if Congress passes pending legislation for national health insurance thereby increasing the Federal role in financing health care for the poor.

State governors and legislators are expected to have objections to the Mill's bill. New Jersey's 1974-75 State budget, for example, anticipates nearly $70 million from Federal revenue sharing, including interest earned on funds.

Judge Guiliano To Be Feted On Retiring

A dinner in appreciation of Judge James R. Guiliano, who has retired as Assignment Judge of Essex County, will be held on Saturday evening, September 28, at the Braidburn Country Club in Florham Park.

Plans for the black tie dinner were announced today by a committee of leading New Jersey lawyers and businessmen who have organized the event. The committee announced also that the chairman of the dinner will be James P. Lordi, the Essex County Prosecutor.

Judge Guiliano retired from the Superior Court in June after a distinguished career of almost fifty years as a lawyer, legislator, and judge. A Newark native, Judge Guiliano was graduated in 1927 from what is now Rutgers University School of Law and admitted to the bar in that same year. He remained in law practice in Newark for the next 30 years.

During his years in private practice he served a pair of one-year terms as a New Jersey Assemblyman in 1935 and 1936. Also, during the 1940's he served for two years as a deputy state attorney general, assigned to the Hudson County prosecutor, and later was first assistant prosecutor of Essex County.

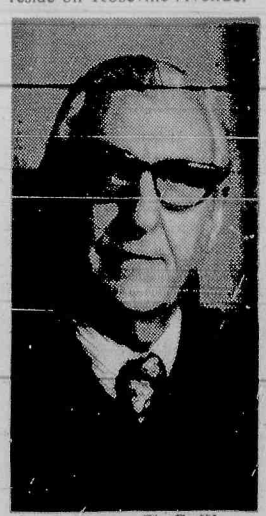

Governor Meyner in 1957 appointed Guiliano as Judge of the Essex County District Court, and three years later he was elevated to the Superior Court by Governor Hughes.

Judge Guiliano became Superior Court Assignment Judge for Middlesex County in his first year on the superior court, being appointed to that post by then Chief Justice Weintraub of the New Jersey Supreme Court. He was appointed to the Essex County assignment judge's post in the superior court in 1966.

Widely active in charitable, hospital and church organizations, Judge Guiliano was married in 1931 to the former Theresa May Cicenia. They had three sons, one of whom died following retirement as a U.S. Army Major.

Another son is an executive with General Tire Company in Ohio, while the third son is a physician in Washington, D.C.

Judge and Mrs. Guiliano have five grandchildren. They reside on Roseville Avenue.

The Vera Program

When a narcotic addict decides to give up the constant hassle of getting enough money for his next "fix" usually requiring criminal acts, and to enter a treatment program to get off heroin and prepare to live on an even keel again, he still often faces a critical hurdle before he has a chance of reestablishing a normal living routine.

The problem: getting, and keeping, a job.

The addict often does not have training or skills which make him employable in a satisfying job paying enough to support himself and a family, nor does he usually possess work habits that help make for job success: dependability, productivity, etc.

If he does get a job, it's often by concealing his background. Then he fears if his past becomes known, he'll be fired. Usually he's right. The likely result is a return to heroin use, and the addiction cycle starts all over again.

Metropolitan Organ Club Sets Special Programs

The Metropolitan Organ Club Of Northern New Jersey, Inc. will present the first in a series of three special programs in commemoration of their 5th Anniversary, in the sanctuary of the First Baptist Church, 1 Washington Street, Bloomfield, N. J., on Saturday, September 28, at 8:00 P.M.

Among the featured highlights will be taped and live presentations of special music from previous musicales and programs, including a number by the Metropolitan Organ Club Chorus from their first program. Colored slides depicting some of the activities of the Club will also be shown. Admission is free, and the public is cordially invited to attend.

This complex of problems interfering with successful rehabilitation of many addicts who undergo treatment is being overcome in an experimental "supported employment" program operated in New York City by the Vera Institute of Justice, with financial backing from the National Institute on Drug Abuse, a part of the Alcohol, Drug Abuse, and Mental Health Administration.

The Vera Institute has as its goal providing creative alternatives to the "revolving door" that traps many offenders, including juvenile delinquents and skid row alcoholics as well as narcotic addicts.

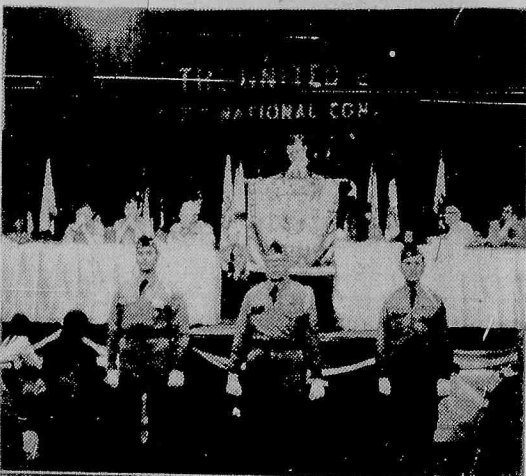

Supported employment offers the environment that many addicts need for a transitional period by providing a highly structured work situation job training, moral support from fellow addicts in the same small group of workers, and the comforting knowledge on the part of the ex-addict that his employer is fully aware of his past.

The Vera program employs ex-addicts primarily in public service tasks for the City of New York.

Junior Women Are Looking For Members

Are you a woman between the ages of 18 and 35? Do you often criticize your community and feel that you have little voice in its operation? If the answer to these questions is yes, the Junior Woman's Club of Belleville is offering you a unique opportunity to become involved in the affairs of your community by becoming a part of its organization.

The Junior Woman's Club of Belleville is one of 125 Junior clubs throughout the state of New Jersey, who are part of the New Jersey State Federation of Women's Clubs. The Federation boasts a membership of over 4,000 young women who care enough about their community and state to give of themselves through civic, philanthropic, and social projects.

For the past three years Belleville's club members have worked with the Essex County Geriatrics Center, the public schools, the New Jersey Commission for the Blind and many other organizations. In addition they have sponsored numerous community activities including window painting contests, aluminum recycling, children's holiday parties, scholarships and dinner-fashion shows.

If you would like to find out more about being a Belleville Junior, plan to attend the annual Membership Tea on September 23 at 8 p.m. at 51 Rossmore Place, Belleville. For additional information regarding membership in the Junior Woman's Club of Belleville, please contact the Membership Chairman, Mrs. Robert Gaccione, at 751-0207.

Those who did, should have beautiful bushes on which the young berries are turning from green to bright orange.

Those who missed spraying their bushes may discover small, shriveled berries, covered with a black, soot-like material. These bushes have firethorn scab, and the berries can be expected to turn from green to black.

Mr. Munk suggests a reminder to yourself to spray your firethorn with one of the maneb products at the rate of 2 tablespoonsfuls per gallon of water, or one-half tablespoonful of Benlate per gallon of water as soon as the leaves start to come out, and repeat twice at about 10-day intervals.

Ridgewood First

Bellboys Slate 3 Scrimmages

The 1974 Bellboy grid squad's toughest opponent so far this season has been the weather that wiped out their practice field last weekend.

Otherwise, they haven't faced another school in scrimmage. West Orange Mountain High School was slated for a scrimmage Tuesday, but John Frederici, their coach, phoned Bellboy coach Tom Testa Friday to pull out, explaining that Mountain wasn't "ready" yet.

So Testa went ahead and split up the team for an intra-squad scrimmage Tuesday, for the season's first all-out hitting session. This Saturday, the Bellboys travel to meet Ridgewood at 10 a.m., and East Side Newark will come here on Tuesday, followed by Columbia on September 21. The opener is September 28 against West Essex.

Scrimmages this year are controlled, with each team executing 15 to 20 offensive plays before turning over the ball. On alternating years, scholastic football calendars offer enough time to get in four scrimmages before the opener and this was one of those years. "Tuesday would have been the first time we had an opponent to face," said Testa, "and now we'll have to play our boys against each other."

Testa, back in the head coaching position after an absence of eight years, wants to get a good look at his personnel in the pre-season contests. "We'll evaluate them as we see them in battle. In the scrimmages we'll be emphasizing techniques and seeing who can hold up under pressure."

"At this stage, our ground game seems to be a little bit ahead of the aerial game, simply because of the weather. We don't know what dry ground is yet." The weekend rain made the Bellboy practice field totally unnegotiable for practice.

The total number of candidates started out at 109, said Testa, "but it's beginning to dwindle now. The spirit is reviving, they're working hard but not complaining."

So the first opponent the team will face will be Ridgewood this Saturday. A Group Four school, Ridgewood has never played Belleville. "I've talked to their coach, Jack Sweeney," said Testa, "and we don't have any secrets. He told me their going to run a pro offense with a Notre Dame defense and I told him we'd have an information offense and an odd defense. It should be a very good scrimmage."

Tuesday's intra-squad session went a long way to sorting out the personnel early in the season. "We're starting to put the pieces together," said Testa. "We'll be able to drill the line more precisely now."

TONY CAHILL (left) is the man who heads up the BHS soccer team in their first year as an organized athletic squad.

FUNDAMENTALS are stressed by sophomore coach Joe D'Ambola during early season Bellboy practices. Over 100 candidates came out for this year's grid squad, and they've been working hard and enthusiastically.

Ironin Out Problems

Soccer: New Game in Town Working It's Way into Routine

CATCHING ON — Two prospects for Belleville High's new soccer team work out in front of the school, their temporary practice field until they move to Fairway Avenue this week.

Like a new car that needs to be broken in, Belleville High's soccer program, just put into effect this season, has got to get the bugs out before it hits high gear.

The most formidable "bug" so far has been a lack of facilities, including a playing field. Coach Tony Cahill has been drilling his squad of 16 (soon to be joined by four more sophomores) on the lawn in front of the high school building. This week they're scheduled to move into a field on Fairview Avenue, although they still won't have nets or goalposts.

The team, which will compete on the jayvee level for their first season, will have no hometown exposure, since they'll have no field in which to invite their opponents.

But they have a soccer program, at the high school, for the first time in the school's history, and Cahill reports his team is looking forward to their first season.

Much of their practice sessions, which began September 1, is devoted to drilling on the fundamentals of the game. "Some of the boys have played a little before when there was a soccer club here, and they played in unorganized games against other schools."

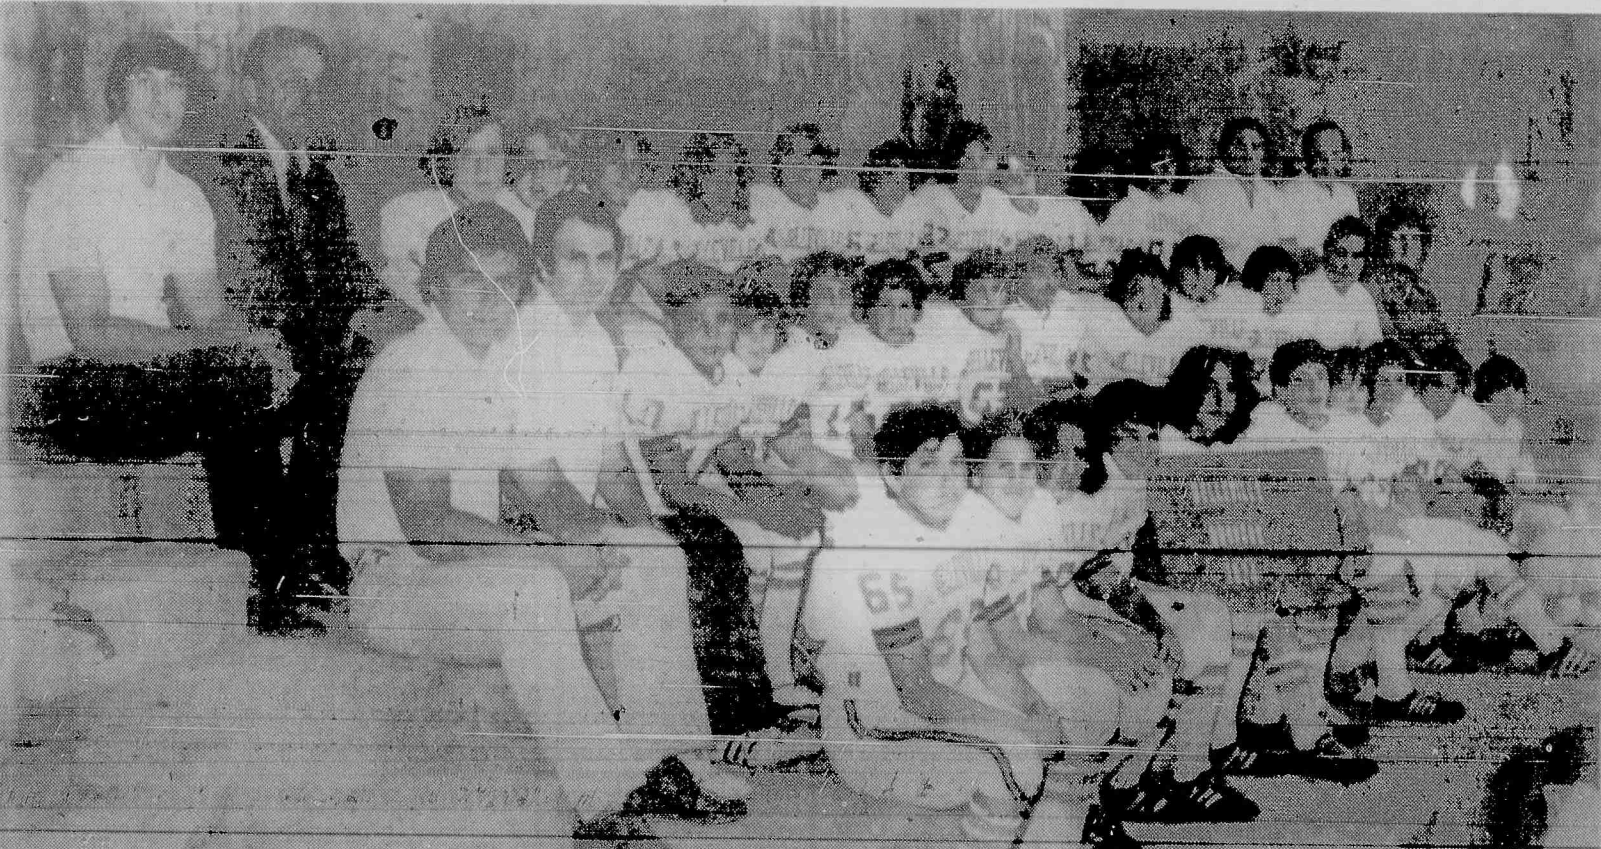

"It's still kind of tough for them to get away from the idea of using their hands. We do have contact, but it's a different kind of contact in soccer."

The first contest on the calendar is with Kearny October 1, and the team will play another with Kearny, two with Bloomfield, two with Columbia, two with Irvington and one with Nutley. Montclair may also be added.

Pre-season competition has also been ruled out since the squad has no funds for transportation to scrimmages, though they may be able to pick up Columbia before the season starts.

Cahill, who himself had only played "sandlot" soccer before the summer, spent a "very full week" in New York at a coaching school working with other coaches on an 8 a.m.-10 p.m. schedule.

"At this time of year we may be more or less in competition with football for publicity," he said. "But if we can get our facilities straightened out, I can see no problem. I was down at the Junior High School and we just made an announcement once or twice and we got a dozen people who will be

Rec Juniors' Net Program is Concluded

By Richard Caravetta

Belleville's First Junior League Basketball Program concluded last week. The program, under the direction of Mark Corino was a success as it gave youngsters between the ages of 12-15 experience in organized baseball.

"The enthusiasm and progress on the part of the boys made the program a success," said Corino. "I would personally like to extend my thanks to the boys for making it a pleasure for me and my staff to have given our time working with them."

The program, held two nights each week started with clinics which stressed the fundamentals of basketball. Belleville Varsity coach Dan Grasso helped out with these clinics.

The final stages of the program were dedicated to league games. Four teams played seven games each during the schedule. Climaxing the summer were two All-Star games against Nutley. The Belleville Stars won the initial contest, 58-5. In the second game, Nutley won 67-63. All Belleville members of the All-Star team received game jerseys and trophies.

sophomores next year and want to play."
"One problem for the future would be the lack of a soccer program on a lower level. We could really use that, as they have for football, basketball and wrestling. Trying to put these boys on a competitive level in a couple of months is a little rough."

The team will be competing on the jaycee level for the first year, in recognition of the fact that many of the Bellboys are new to the game, but the program is off the ground at BHS, and although the team could use some goalposts and nets to shoot at, Cahill feels people will soon "realize that soccer will be here for a long time."

The best way to get your share of the wealth is to work hard for it.

Anderson Checks Receivers For a New Passing Game

Montclair State College's passing game hasn't been effective in recent years, but the Indians intend to upgrade this particular phase of the game this season and have some valuable personnel to do it.

Head coach Clary Anderson has a long list of receivers, but only one of which has varsity experience. Senior Bob Haddad of Cranford returns to tight end, but his job is far from being secure. "He's a good receiver," Anderson says, "but he is being pushed by Cal VanDeGiesen and Ernie Hardy." Haddad made nine catches last season for 135 yards and two touchdowns.

Hardy of Butler was originally scheduled to play the offensive line. He's the second stringer at the center and tackle spots and could very well see some action at tight end. He probably will be in the game on short-yardage situations as the second tight end. Hardy, a junior is 6-foot-4, 240-pounds.

VanDeGiesen, a junior from Fair Lawn, is "Mr. Versatile" according to Anderson. He's 6-5, 200-pounds and has "sprinter's speed." He can play either tight end or split end. "He's also one of our leading candidates for the punting job," Anderson added.

Anderson has four prospects for the slot back or tailback spot in the Indians' I-slot offense. Sophomore Dennis Gunn of Butler appears to have an edge at this juncture, but the battle for the position is far from being over.

"At this point I don't know who to pick," Anderson said. "Gunn has the inside track but we like the speed of Bob Montes. He's only a freshman and since we haven't hit yet, he has to be tested."

Montes was the Hudson County scoring champ last year while playing for Union Hill High School. "He had the best time (4.6 in the 40-yard dash) in camp," Anderson said. "One thing we definitely know is that he'll help us on special teams. He has good hands and good speed. We're expecting good things from him."

Other candidates for that spot are junior Don Mattucci of Sussex and senior Charlie Hall of Paterson.

Sophomore George Strunk of Whippany and freshman Ron Orosz of Okland are vying with VanDeGiesen for the starting berth at split end. Orosz caught 37 passes last season at Indian Hills High School. With his 6-3, 183-pound frame, he has the size to play tight end too. "He has good size and good hands," Anderson said. "He could move up quickly."

Others that are making their presence felt are freshmen Nelson Franqui and Ron Bigos, both of Perth Amboy. Each has good speed and good hands.

If the Indians' quarterbacks can get the ball to the receivers, Montclair State could have a deadly weapon in its passing attack this season.

On Color TV

The most frequently asked question is about repairs, when customers inquire about transistor color TV sets. Some are of the opinion that there won't be any repairs at all with transistor sets, others think there will be less repairs etc.

Although transistors in theory should last "forever", in practice they don't. So here and there a transistor goes bad and it has to be replaced. But there are hundreds, actually close to a thousand parts, in a color TV set and almost everyone of these is subject to failure. The great advantage is that a transistor TV set is broken up into circuit boards, which can be relatively easily exchanged in the home. In other words most repairs can be made right on location, where formerly a set would have to be taken to the shop. This is the greatest advantage a properly constructed transistor TV set has to offer. In this connection one customer asked us whether it would be possible that her set would not have to leave her home during the useful working life. The answer is that this is very well possible. Of course there is no change in the life of the picture tube, which depends on the amount of use it gets. The "normal" life, at "normal" use, for a picture tube seems to be between 4 to 6 years. We have had tubes that were used up already after 2 years as well as some that were still usable after 8 years. As we stated, it depends on the amount of use. Once in a while a tube fails due to a burn out or an internal short circuit. These would be "accidents", not failure due to normal use, when the picture gradually loses its distinction.

Seems Only Yesterday!

Trustees Vote Drug Resolution

One Year Ago

After an initiative by trustee Matthew Pica, the Board of Education voted 6-0 to adopt a resolution calling for stiffer penalties for drug dealing in New Jersey. Pica was to then take his case to the Belleville Drug Abuse Control Commission, of which he was a member, and he hoped that that group would urge the Board of Commissioners to pass a similar resolution. His intention was to stir popular support in New Jersey to adopt heavier penalties for drug dealers, similar to the plan espoused by New York Governor Rockefeller, which had passed recently.

Lectures by three top level New Jersey education officials was to highlight a conference' between members of the Belleville Board of Education and administration of the local school system. A seven part program with talks and discussions on various aspects of education was scheduled for the conference, the first of its kind to ever be held in Belleville. The event was called by Board President Lawrence Schwartz and arranged by assistant Superintendent of Schools Michael Rosamilia.

Five Years Ago

On September 28, Belleville Mayor Ken Smith was to embark on a 400-mile plane ride to Belleville, to celebrate the opening of Belleville Week with several other mayors from Belleville. Sound confusing? It really wasn't. Smith had been invited to Belleville, Ontario, along with several other mayors from Belleville throughout the United States, for the promotion of the Canadian city. Mayor Smith received the invitation from Mayor Russell Scott of the Canadian Belleville, to be present for the week's activities, which were to begin September 28.

In his letter to Mayor Smith, Mayor Scott said "our Belleville is undergoing a period of economic expansion, which has seen us average one new industrial plant location every two months for the past year. As a result, the Industrial Commission, in sponsoring this week, has adopted the theme "The Future is Here." All of the expenses for Smith's trip were to be paid by the Ontario city. Smith planned to ask his Commission for a resolution and a plaque commending Belleville's Canadian sister for her progress.

Acting Police Chief Harry Tepe, annoyed at what he termed improper safety devices on Route 21, asked the State Highway Department to improve the conditions on the "treacherous" highway immediately. The action came after a near fatal automobile accident on the ill-fated highway, in which a Paterson women's car struck the abutment on the Rutgers Street exit and burst into flames. Tepe stated that the cause of the accident was poor lighting on the abutment.

Ten Years Ago

Nicholas Raimo was elected new National Quartermaster of Italian-American War Veterans of the United States. The election of the proud Raimo came at the conclusion of the festivities of the 29th annual convention of the organization, held at Wildwood.

The site of the new Belleville High School, by Passaic Avenue, was officially opened for the fall session. Present during the first day were the Mayor and the Board of Education.

Fifteen Years Ago

Miss Diane Hanson of Belleville, competed in the Miss High School America contest, held in the Waldorf Astoria in New York City.

The Citizens Tax Council issued a statement concerning the resignation of Harry P. Nimasian an civil service head.

Representatives of eight of the thirteen agencies forming a part of the 1960 United Fund drive of Belleville met with E. Douglas Wadsworth, who accepted the chairmanship of the Residential phase of the drive.

Dr. Martin Meehan, the Town Physician, was appointed to serve as Public Health Physician.

Twenty Years Ago

Mrs. Helen Buck, storekeeper for the Essex County Hospital for 33 years was honored after the announcement of her retirement. Mrs. Buck was given a testimonial dinner by the Essex County Board of Freeholders.

Peter G. Wendel, who served for 30 years as an instructor of first aid and water safety was appointed Safety Services Chairperson of the Belleville Red Cross.

Rev. Albert J. Lawson, formerly of the First Baptist Church of Benton, Illinois, was named new pastor of the Grace Baptist Church.

Rev. Clifford Hewitt of Wesley Methodist Church was chairperson of the annual retreat for Methodist ministers of the Eastern District of the Newark Conference.

Thirty Years Ago

Captain Louis H. Jannarone died in Walter Reed Memorial Hospital, in Washington D.C. Cause of the brave soldier's death was battle fatigue. Jannarone, a member of the Army Medical Corps, refused to leave the wounded on the battle front, but rather stayed with them there, pushing himself to the brink of death to save the lives of young Allied soldiers.

Ask for Identification, SSI Clients Reminded

People getting supplemental security income payments should ask to see identification when visited by social security representatives, according to Robert E. Daley, social security acting manager in Newark.

The supplemental security income program has established a nationally uniform income floor for people with little or no income and limited resources who are 65 and over or blind or disabled. The law requires that eligibility for supplemental security income and the amount of the monthly payments be redetermined from time to time.

The Social Security Administration gets in touch with people to get information

N.J. Traffic Execs Back Trucking Bills

The New Jersey Industrial Traffic League has asked legislators to approve bills pending in Trenton that would increase truck weights and sizes and permit operation of 65-foot twin-trailer combinations on State highways.

The League, numbering more than 100 specialists who buy transportation for major New Jersey industries, stated that the increases are necessary to modernize archaic limitations and boost the productivity of trucks serving New Jersey's industry and commerce. However, it disapproved a provision to raise commercial vehicle width from 96 inches to 102 inches.

Noting the inflationary impact of rising motor carrier costs on the pricing of products, the League's letter to the legislators added:

"These trucking costs can be kept in line and fuel conserved if trucks are allowed to operate more efficiently by freeing them from size and weight restrictions rendered obsolete by highway improvements during the last 25 years."

Investigations show that the moderate increases proposed are wholly compatible with today's highway safety standards.

As to 65-foot twin-trailer combinations, the League emphasized they are now permitted in more than 30 states and "over the years have compiled a safety record as good or better than conventional tractor trailers."

"The versatility of these 'twins' with greater carrying capacity and flexibility," the League asserted, "represents a very efficient and economical method of transporting freight. By supplying more volume, the 'twins' also reduce the number of power units on the highways, cutting fuel consumption and air pollution."

New Jersey's industries, the League added, must compete with those in other states where higher truck weights and sizes, including the availability of 65-foot "twins," provide a "definite transportation edge."

Enactment of the pending bills "will eliminate this competitive handicap," the League asserted in its letter, which was signed by Raymond C. Schnitzer, president, and John L. Hunt, motor carrier committee chairman. Schnitzer is distribution manager for Biefang Paper Co., Edison. Hunt is traffic coordinator for Chicopee Manufacturing Co., New Brunswick.

Twin-trailer rigs may now be operated on New Jersey highways, but must be limited to an overall length of 55 feet.

"Bonafide social security representatives are glad to identify themselves," he said. "They never ask you to give them money to have something done. It's their duty to help people — in any way they can — to get supplemental security income payments in the right amount."

People can get information about supplemental security income payments by calling, visiting, or writing any social security office. The Newark social security office is at 970 Broad Street, Federal Building. The phone number is 429-8200.

The Social Security Administration is an agency of the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.
