An encounter

The week
Supporters of IUE Local 410 sign petitions urging Westinghouse to stay in Belleville as "Westinghouse Week" moves on.

One man
John Stahl, an employee at Westinghouse Electric, is just one man. His worries, however, may be those of many.

Westinghouse week continues full tilt

Members of the International Electric, Radio and Machine Workers Union Local 410 may be approaching a showdown with Westinghouse Electric Corporation officials when they meet in company headquarters in Pittsburgh on December 20.

With the support of the Belleville Town Commission and other local bodies, union members began Monday gathering ammunition for the meeting during "Keep Westinghouse in Belleville Week," proclaimed by Mayor Joseph McGreevy. Workers, their relatives and friends are collecting resident's signatures at sidewalk tables, and will continue doing so for the rest of the week, said Local 410 spokesmen.

The petitions will be presented to Thomas Landrum, Westinghouse vice president, when the union and management groups meet to negotiate the company's possible move out of town.

Local 410 supporters are also distributing posters and bumper stickers in both Belleville and Bloomfield where another Westinghouse plant is located. The bumper stickers were paid for by

Steven Rogers, who last week established a Belleville Business and Industry Commission composed of several private citizens. (See related story, this page.)

The union also obtained the support of the Bloomfield Town Council, which Monday night urged Westinghouse to remain in Belleville. Acting in its own behalf, the Bloomfield governing body also resolved to ask the company to refrain from further cuts in the larger Bloomfield plant staff.

Last week, one spokesman for Westinghouse indicated that no statement from the company would be made publicly until Westinghouse officials had a chance to finish their talks with the union.

The union, meanwhile, has obtained additional backing from Congressmen Peter Rodino and Joseph Minish, both urging the company to reconsider. IUE District 3 assistant to the vice president Archer Cole reported that Joseph Hoffman, head of the Economic Development Commission, has sent a representative to meet with Philip Dietz, general manager of both area plants, in Bloomfield.

If present tactics do not persuade Westinghouse to stay, noted Cole, "then we might have to do more demonstrative things later, if necessary."

Gears turning

Two new committees interested in future industrial and commercial growth in Belleville came into being last week — one created by the Town Commission, the other by a number of private individuals.

In a unanimous vote, the Board of Commissioners last Tuesday approved the creation of a Belleville Commercial and Industrial Development Committee, composed of the five Commissioners, the Town Tax Assessor, and five citizens from the business community.

On the same evening, Steven Rogers, Reft Levelling Board chairman Daniel DeTulo, and about 25 other people held the first meeting of the Belleville Business and Industry Commission at the Recreation Department building on Joramemong Street.

The Commissioner's committee came as the result of a two similar but independent resolutions offered by Mayor Joseph McGreevy and Commissioner of Parks and Public Property Michael Marotti. The resolution finally adopted was the product of a pre-meeting caucus.

The Commercial Development Committee will meet twice a month for a period of three months, then once a (Please see "Two" on page 3.)

Town joins PVSC in treatment gripe

The Town of Belleville has joined other municipalities served by the Passaic Valley Sewerage Commission in resisting a state order to begin year-round chlorination of effluent discharged into Upper New York Bay.

Town Attorney John Scott was scheduled yesterday to join representatives of the Commission's 30 member towns at a Division of Water Resources hearing in Trenton. The Commission asked affiliates to lodge protests against the state order, charging that the present effluent treatment system is adequate and year-round chlorination ecologically undesirable. Cost of the project to the Sewerage Commission would be $2,100,000 — $53,000 of which would be Belleville's expense, meaning a boost of about two tax points.

Active decision is tomorrow

Recently appointed deputy building inspector Simon Lieberman said Monday he will make a decision on the controversial Active Oil Service building permit by tomorrow.

In compliance with a Superior Court order handed down 20 days ago, Lieberman said he will inform the oil reclamation company of his decision in a letter, and added that at that time he will also make public his reasons for approval or denial.

Following the massive heart attack of regular building inspector Vincent Mustacchio in late October, Lieberman was given 21 days study the Active application originally made almost ten months ago. The company, which residents of the Valley section of town strongly oppose, wants to build an oil reclamation depot on Main Street.

PSVC engineers oppose the plan, originated by the State Environmental Protection Agency, as ineffective, dangerous, adverse to the environment and economically unwise. According to a report made by PVSC chief engineer S.A. Lubetkin, year-round treatment of the system's wastewater would require approximately 45 tons of chlorine per day (at $161 per ton), additional personnel, and other expenses. Chlorine, he also noted, has increased in price from $70 to the present figure in one year. In municipalities like Newark and Paterson, he pointed out, the expenditures could adversely effect other areas of social need such as housing. Furthermore, he said, the effectiveness of chlorine as a disinfectant is questionable.

One man's life at Westinghouse

By CHUCK JACKSON

His day begins around ten in the morning. A couple cups of coffee is enough for breakfast — have to keep the weight down. Then, just kind of take it easy, do a little work around the house, maybe take the wife shopping. Relax, watch some TV (the game shows are great) and fool around with the kids when they come for their lunch.

His wife will have his lunch ready around 2 or 2:30 p.m. and then around 3:15 it's time to head for the plant. If he gets there any later than 3:30, the driveway will be so jammed it'll be tough to park. Punch in at 3:45 and put in a good solid eight hours. After the day's over, relax and unwind for a couple of hours in front of the TV and then hit the sack.

At 34, John Stahl has been with Westinghouse Electric Corporation for 12 years. He started with the company in 1961 as a custodian, put a year in on that job, and moved up to glass base machine operator. After a seven and a half year stint in that spot, he shifted over to the position of tool setter.

Stahl says he enjoys the job because it's a challenge. There's always enough to keep him busy, and it's not just a matter of tightening a bolt or changing a gear. There are always chargers to be fixed and various other small machines that need some kind of repair or adjustment. He says what he likes most about the job is that it isn't all mechanical. You have to think the problem out and find the real source of trouble. Stahl says that even though a gear may look worn, replacing it may not be the real solution. When you find the problem and fix the machine, you have a real sense of accomplishment. You did your job well and you know it.

Things have been good for Stahl, he says. He has a nice home on Cortlandt Street, and is not having any trouble making the mortgage payments. He is even taking some of his leisure time to do a little fixing up to really make it nice. His four children are doing well in school and seem to enjoy their school work, despite some mumbling about the work load. All in all, he and wife, Caroline, 30, would be happy to keep things the way they are for the rest of their lives.

That future, however, is now in doubt. If Westinghouse decides to fold up its Belleville plant as it says it might, the Stahls and about 250 of the other Westinghouse employees could run into some tough financial straits.

"If I have to look for another job, I believe I might find it difficult to find one, and if I did, I might have to settle for lower pay. But I have enough pride in myself to keep on working. I've been working ever since I was 17, and in all that time, I've only collected unemployment for one week."

There's no anger or bitterness in Stahl's voice when he speaks about the possibility of Westinghouse's Belleville plant closing down. He realizes, he says, that the present economic conditions are making things tough on big business as well as on the workers like himself. He talks about how government campaigns to save electricity have hit the lighting industry hard and are a big part of Westinghouse's problems. Still, he thinks the company would be making a mistake if it decided to close down here.

"I believe the productivity of the workers is better than any other plant in the area. The place is like a family. It used to be known as a 'family company' to the workers, and even with newer people it's still the same way. There are people here with 45 years of service, and those people are dedicated."

Except for a year and a half tour of duty with the Army as an interpreter in Germany, and a few years in other towns in this area, Stahl has lived in Belleville most of his life. His family came to the United States from Germany when he was 12. Both he and his wife are graduates of the Belleville school system and they say they think it's terrific. Their four children, Amy, seven; the twins, John and Judy, eight; and Nancy, 11, all attend School One. The Stahls say they are very happy with their children's performance, and Nancy recently won an essay contest on fire prevention. Mrs. Stahl is very active in the PTA, and says she tries to lend a hand whenever it's possible. They talk about how the teachers are interested in the students and how the faculty knows not only the children they have in class, but the whole family.

They would never think of leaving Belleville because, as Stahl says, "Belleville's a good town. We live here because the people are nice."

The way Stahl sees it, if Westinghouse closes down, he and the other employees that live in town will face a double loss. Not only might they have to settle for jobs that pay less, but they may also have to bear the burden of a tax increase to compensate for the loss of tax income from Westinghouse.

"I would like to see some higher officials involved in this. I'm sure some steps could be taken to make staying more attractive to the company. Maybe some kind of tax break could be arranged."

Whatever the outcome, Stahl will stay loyal to Westinghouse to the bitter end, if it comes to that, he says.

"I give them a fair day's work for a fair day's wage, and if they come and tell me that I'm out of a job on a certain date, I'll keep on working for them just as hard as I am now. As far as wages and benefits go, Westinghouse has always been good to me. I'm just sorry that we all might lose our jobs."

Senior citizen leader blasts Ford administration cutbacks

In a statement released prior to his testimony today before Ann Klein's Commission on Institutions, Bernard J. Gallagher, of Nutley, Director of the Essex County Office on Aging in Belleville, blasted the Ford administration for proposing to cut back on services and benefits for the aged.

Gallagher stated that while announcing the cutbacks in services for senior citizens, the administration has signed an agreement to ship $22.5 million in grain to Syria. He called the terms of the agreement a "sweetheart contract" that will make the shipment "a virtual gift."

"How the years seemed to have changed our national priorities," he said. "I propose a return to the human priorities of our founding fathers. Reverence for life, once the basic tenet of our democracy, seems to be presently compromised by government's fiscal policies!"

Gallagher said that though the Older American's Act calls for the independence of senior citizens, government cutbacks "will insure instead a rapidly more dependent senior population."

He said he would like to see increased aid and benefits in the fields of social security, food stamps, the creation of utility stamps, comprehensive non-deductible medical insurance, housing relief, and lower cost transportation.

"Perhaps," said Gallagher, "the greatest tragedy is that senior citizens are losing faith in all levels of government with their ever growing conviction that it is unaware, unconcerned and at least insensitive to their plight."

amateur actors presents "A Man for All Seasons."

The play, a drama by Robert Bolt set in the 16th century period about Sir Thomas More's later life, opens December 20 at the Family Playhouse, 28 Brookline Avenue, Nutley. Performances will be December 20, 21, 22, 27, 28 and 29, each beginning promptly at 8 p.m. Tickets are $3 and may be reserved by calling 667-0026.

"A Man for All Seasons" was first performed professionally in London's Globe Theater on July 1, 1960. It was brought to the ANTA Theater in New York on November 22, 1961.

In the local version, directed by Ray Napolitano, Mike Chelik, a seasoned performer, carries the lead role as Sir Thomas himself.

month thereafter, The committee, reads the resolution, will be empowered to submit plans and reports to the Commissioners for consideration.

Mayor McGreevy is expected to name his selections for the five citizen spots on the body by the next Commission meeting, December 10. At the "unofficial" Business and Industry Commission meeting, Rogers named Del Tufo and Belleville residents Mrs. Pat Diana and Kenneth O'Keefe as a "temporary executive board."

Also at the meeting were several members of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce, including Chamber president Stanley Slavin. After the meeting, however, the Chamber president indicated he did not consider himself part of the unofficial body, saying he had come to the meeting "only because I was invited." The Chamber, he said, will act through already established channels.

While some of those at the meeting cited "lack of parking" and "an ugly business center" as prime causes of local economic distress, Del Tufo charged the Chamber with not doing anything to protect the local business man. "The Chamber of Commerce has never been active in the town of Belleville," said the Rent Levelling Chairman, and challenged the organization to oppose what he called "unconstitutional laws" restricting business in town.

Del Tufo, in his address to the 25 residents assembled at the meeting, proposed a long list of things he said he felt should be acted on by the Commissioners. The Rent Levelling Board chairman called for 1) the adoption of a master plan, 2) an effort to obtain Federal funds for business center upgrading, 3) rescinding of all ordinances restricting business in Belleville, 4) rescinding of all ordinances creating non-conforming uses in town, 5) a halt on all apartment construction for one year, 6) rezoning of the Valley section of town to all industrial use, 7) sale or development of all publicly owned land 8) a three-year tax exemption for industrial expansion, 9) a similar tax exemption for land converted into off-street parking, 10) the formation of a committee to bring industry to town, and 11) the sale of yearly parking stickers to residents, eliminating the need for putting money in curbside meters.

"What we have to do is take pride in our town," said Del Tufo, and enumerated a number of local assets, such as the "good school system" and the "full paid fire department and ambulance service."

What the relationship between the "unofficial" and

"official" bodies will be in the immediate and far future is at this point an open question. Rogers indicated that he, Del Tufo and some others will possibly engage in their own investigations, then submit reports to the "official" group for consideration.

Borrowers are usually optimists.

Keep Westinghouse

"Keep Westinghouse in Belleville Week" is now in progress. It is perhaps the last local effort of large scale that IUE Local 410 will be able to undertake in its drive to persuade the Westinghouse Electric Corporation from moving its Belleville lamp plant out of town.

While there are other less visible means of gathering backing in progress, "Westinghouse Week" — which officially began last Monday — is an effort to alert Belleville residents to something that could result in the loss of two million dollars worth of tax rates and over 100 local jobs.

Though what effect a large public outcry will have on the corporation's thinking is at this time unknown, the Times/News urges all residents to sign the union petitions when they are approached to do so by union men or fellow townspeople. Some people, we know, are hesitant to sign things or to "get involved." We urge those people to think back to their last tax bill before shaking their heads and walking away.

The problem Belleville faces is not a local one, and probably cannot be solved on a local level. Though Belleville's Commissioners can urge the company's decision makers to have compassion for the men and women who have toiled at hot furnaces and typewriters and broom handles for many, many years, it is the national and state government that can reassess its position with respect to industry, and act accordingly. We hope the Belleville Commission has done everything it can to stir both our Congressmen and State officials into quick and decisive action.

Accordingly, we hope our Congressmen do something to calm what the Westinghouse Corporation officials justly term the Federal Energy Administration's "disproportionate emphasis" on saving electricity by shutting off lights.

Besides the fact that the amount of electricity consumed by lighting is minimal compared to that used for running air conditioners and commercial machinery, for example, lighting is a very basic and essential part of living. Perhaps the FEA would be spending its time better by coming down hard on the use of hot lather shave cream makers, electric air fresheners and less important items.

Rocky for vice president

Four months ago Gerald Ford succeeded Richard Nixon as President of the United States. One of his first acts soon after taking the oath of office was to nominate former New York Governor Nelson Rockefeller for the Vice Presidency which Ford made vacant by reason of his ascension to the Presidency.

In the circumstances both Houses of Congress must vote upon a nomination. Republicans had been accusing Democrats of stalling action on the nomination until after the November elections. Democrats were denying the charge claiming an in depth study was necessary before any action could be taken on the Republican nomination.

Four months is a long time to investigate anybody, especially with the resources available to the House of Representatives and the United States Senate.

America is fortunate that President Ford had the good judgment to nominate as distinguished an American as Nelson Rockefeller for the Vice Presidency. Rockefeller has unique qualifications — perhaps superior to anyone else in the nation. Our system of government is calculated to make wealth one of the goals to which Americans aspire. In the opposition to the Rockefeller nomination, we see some critics making it a crime to have wealth — or at the very least making a second-class citizen of a wealthy citizen.

The United States Senate appears on the brink of approving the Rockefeller nomination. In the days ahead the Judiciary Committee of the House of Representatives will continue its hearings into Rockefeller's qualifications for the office. Rockefeller critics already are seeking his scalp — and they don't care how they achieve their goal, stopping at nothing and stooping to anything to smear Mr. Rockefeller.

We trust Congressman Peter Rodino, Chairman of the Judiciary Committee, will accelerate the Rockefeller hearings, keep the radical mouthings to a minimum, and get on with the job approving the Rockefeller nomination so that America once again may have a Vice President, provide Ford with a partner unusually qualified to help America resolve the economic dilemma which faces it.

FRANK A. ORECHIO

Of boxers and booters

Commissioner of Parks and Public Property Michael Marotti might like to give some thought (if he already hasn't) to establishing two new Recreation Department programs in town.

The Times/News this week received two letters from local sport fans seeking a junior soccer league and boxing in Belleville. (See letters column, this page.)

The first letter, from Joseph A. Lyman — a Belleville resident and assistant director of the Nutley Junior Soccer program — notes that a junior soccer league in Belleville would provide the newly established high school team with a constant flow of talent. He is obviously right, and would probably be able to drum up plenty of willing volunteers to get such a program started if space and funds could be provided.

The other suggestion comes from Belleville High sophomore Ross Sherman, who may be a little off the beam in hoping for an interscholastic boxing program. Ross is not wrong, however, when he says there are plenty of local young men who would gladly participate in a boxing program if one was available.

At the present, Belleville is fortunate to have in town the Veteran Boxer's Association, which promotes yearly amateur bouts for various charitable purposes. There are also several men in the area who freely put in their time to train individual boxers.

Again, Commissioner Marotti knows better than this newspaper what his budget will allow, but we urge him to examine carefully these two suggestions.

Letters

He wants high school boxing

To the Editor:

I am a sophomore at Belleville High School. I enjoy school activities but it seems that my favorite sport is not allowed currently in the New Jersey school systems. That sport is boxing.

I honestly feel that after a few years of going down hill, boxing has recently begun a re-birth, especially after Muhammad Ali's stunning victory over George Foreman.

Therefore I feel that the school system should include boxing in our sports program. Do you realize that if we had boxing in our school, we'd have a larger turnout of kids interested than any other sport with the possible exception of football and perhaps wrestling? There is, however, somewhat of a problem concerning the schedule clashing with the winter sports such as basketball and wrestling and also the problem of getting a boxing ring for our use. I feel that I have come up with a reasonable solution to the problem.

Instead of having the season from November to March, we can have the season from March to June. The first month from say March 15 to April 15 could be used extensively for training, then once the season begins we could have perhaps a ten match schedule against other schools.

Also the problem of getting the ring and where to put it is relatively simple. We can use the same ring which is used for the Golden Gloves every year at Belleville Municipal Stadium. Because of the warmer weather, the matches could be held outdoors which could also draw larger audiences.

The question is why, therefore, is boxing outlawed in New Jersey? If the reason is safety, I feel that under certain regulations, boxing can be a safe sport. At present there is safety equipment such as headgear and the rules of boxing can be adapted to a high school level.

I hope that something can be done to give us students boxing now. Perhaps a person with some influence can help.

In two years I will be leaving Belleville High School, and I would like to see boxing put in before I am gone.

Junior soccer ?

To the Editor:

My hat goes off to coach Tony Cahill and his soccer team for the excellent job they did this season.

For some people 4-7 may sound terrible, but what did they have to work with? Boys new to the game, with hardly any experience. Their first year in competition was not like other coaches that have farm teams teaching the boys football and baseball. He has no help.

The point is simple: why doesn't Belleville start a junior soccer team starting with the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades? Nutley is going into its fourth year with over 200 boys each year. This to a coach is a dream come true, because like little league baseball, the boys know what position they like to play and it makes it easier for the coach.

Lets make it easier for Mr. Cahill by the Town introducing a junior soccer league next year. Soccer is here and now is the time to get it started for the next season.

THE EDITOR'S JOURNAL

It looks so peaceful, but it's really...

By PAUL STERN

The Belleville business center looks very peaceful these days as you drive down Washington Avenue under the Christmas lights. You hardly notice the vacant buildings and run-down store fronts, and as long as you keep driving, you don't have any worries about finding a place to park.

Yes, it all looks very peaceful...but actually all hell is breaking loose.

While far off corporate officials mourn their losses and hash out plans for moving out of town, local organizations — at least three of them — are suddenly getting the collective lead out of their collective pants. The economy is falling!" they shout. "Our customers are going to Willowbrook Mall!" They gaze angrily at their receipts and parking tickets, their heads reeling from prolonged and increasing death by taxation.

"Business," as one local merchant wisely put it, "is the lifeline of the community." And you can't have business when you have "a lack of parking and an ugly area."

The recent shake-up caused by Jergens and Westinghouse has evoked the spirit of another wise saying: "Money speaks louder than words." It works conversely, too: when you have no money, you hear a lot of words. So now Belleville's commissioners, once happy sparring with one another, are hearing a lot of words and taking a lot of action to move things right along.

Though what appears, superficially at least, to be a perfectly worthy master plan lies rotting upstairs in Town Hall, the Commission may have set up a committee that can resurrect it. And they may find ways to fix the parking problem, and money to fix up those store fronts before they all fall down. It's even possible that the "Blue Whale" former supermarket could vanish into the backwaters of history.

The alarmed community, apparently, means business. And the commissioners, sensing this, know it's time to get moving or they'll be out of it.

Golden Comments

By James R. Golden

Power play tactics

Aside from the mounting world crises stage with its ominous prospects of mid-east war that could produce for the first time nuclear weapons conflict, which might spread to another world conflagration and the growing indications of a worldwide depression that might parallel the awesome days of gloom that followed the stock market crash of 1929, there still prevails discouraging signs of unmerited arrogant, cavalier attitudes among many of our society in prestigious stations of life...attitudes that flout the acceptance of reality and the emergent new developments which occasion the need for retrenchment and economy in the operation of government.

The strike of faculty members of New Jersey's eight state colleges is a glaring, unpardonable illustration of the brazen attempted power play tactics of an educational group to force the state government to meet their egregious, ever insisting upon more demands, at a time when a $700 million deficit, which must be met by new taxes and economies is in the offing.

The strike adversely affected the education of 75,000 full and part time students. It was illegal since New Jersey law proclaims strikes by public employees unlawful. It violated a "No strike" pledge in the union's present contract which does not expire until next July first, containing a provision which does not call for settlement of wage and benefit issues until Feb. 1, 1975.

The obvious issue is the selfish intent of the educators to "feather-their-nest" now, before the financial distress of the state's problems become apparent to the general public, who will soon be hit hard by increased state taxation to cope with a court imposed mandate to provide "thorough and efficient" education on a statewide basis. This was seen by many educational groups a windfall "boom" they could "latch on to" in a move to get more money and additional benefits.

The staggering expected budget deficits coming, call for spartan-like economies at virtually all levels of government. Many hit by growing unemployment would be damn glad to make what these educators get for a mere 180 working days under the most ideal working conditions. We respect education, but we don't set up as GODS those who teach it. They are mortal like the rest of us.

In view of much of the foregoing concern over the unconscionable, endless demands made upon public officials by organized public employee groups, in all levels of government, it is the strong hope of this column, that "with budget time approaching for next year's planned appropriations, that our commissioners will bear in mind the faltering national economy, rising cost of living, increasing unemployment, the reality of soon to be imposed new and additional state taxation and the grim loss of many of our community's leading industries, that they will reject, without reservation, any new demands for increases in salaries and wages and the employment of additional workers; other than provide in existing salary range increments. The growing plight of our local businessmen and property owners make such stabilizing economies urgently necessary.

Any continuation of the past frivolous generosity to town workers to gain re-election support might have "worked" in "good-times," however, now, with a new "belt-tightening" trend it is more likely that a concerned electorate might get rid of the big-spending politicians who are so generous making a name for themselves unloading our money, raised from taxation we have to put up...Remember town election comes up in about five months...Higher local taxes will have to stop sometime. WHY NOT NOW?

The impetus, though, must still come from the rank and file — contrary to some contrary people's desires to the contrary. (No, this doesn't mean you.) The Commissioners, as wise and as noble as they are, cannot carry the burden alone — nor can they carry the blame...alone, that is. "People," quoth another merchant, "have to start looking at themselves in the mirror," and have to start changing what they see.

And that's what many locals have apparently started to do. The next hurdle beyond self-recognition, it seems, will be the development of wide-spread town pride. With it, hopefully, will come harmony and open-mindedness — enough, at least, to keep the friction and internal head-bucking to a manageable level. Or perhaps it will work the other way around. Necessity may become the mother of cooperation, or obstinance the orphan of a hard and frightful fall.

Bond referendum drive falters; Mrs. Spray says she'll retire

By PETER CLARK

One year ago

The Belleville Board of Education took a step back from a proposed building and maintenance land referendum outlined in recent weeks by Board President Lawrence Schwartz.

According to Schwartz, the Board was divided on the bond issue and the president stated that a bond referendum in 1974 was now only a possibility, but that the board would study the matter further and would conduct a town-wide survey to explore public opinion to the tentative plans.

Mrs. Viola Spray, principal of School Seven, announced to the Board of Education that she would retire from her position by December 31. Mrs. Spray, whose career in the Belleville school system spanned 46 years, (during which time, she served as head of four different schools,) was named as a likely candidate for the Board of Education February election.

Attorney Lawrence Schwartz filed suit in Trenton against the Belleville Board of Commissioners who voted against Commissioner Mary V. Senatore's proposal to reappoint Anthony Agresta to the Zoning Board of Adjustment.

Mrs. Senatore claimed that Mayor McGreevy and Commissioners Michael Marotti and Vincent Strumolo attempted to deprive her of her right to appoint a member to the Zoning Board, while the Mayor contended that the appointment to the Zoning Board was his domain, and given to other commissioners only as a "courtesy."

After four years of heading the Belleville High School football squad, Rocco Cafone resigned his position.

The decision came on the heels of a 14-6 upset of Lyndhurst on Thanksgiving Day, although the coach's resignation had been expected for some time. The coach, who enjoyed a high degree of personal popularity, survived a petition in the spring which sought to remove him after a group of his former players rallied to his defense.

As a result of numerous telephone calls and letters, mostly by Senior Citizens, the Rent Advisory Commission proposed the establishment of a Belleville Housing Authority as a means of gaining Federal aid to help senior citizens.

Five years ago

The Belleville Board of Education budget, which had bounced around all that year like a hot potato was about to be tossed into the air again. The Town Commission filed an appeal with the State Department of Education to contest that body's decision to restore $128,000 to the local school board's budget.

The Commissioners took major steps into the sparing ring when they filed their appeal and in the same breath hired special council to assist Town Attorney Nicholas R. Amato in presenting their case.

Board Attorney Max Schwartz indicated that he would oppose the appeal "all the way down the line." He advised the Board of its legal rights and told the Times that the school body would fight to sustain the state's decision to restore the budget.

The Belleville Council 835, Knights of Columbus, came out against state proposals to change abortion laws. The group sent letters to the Governor, all Essex County senators and assemblymen, protesting what they termed "tampering" with the state abortion laws.

In their letters, the group said "we feel that the laws on the books at the present time are adequate to take care of the situation that exists. There has been no evidence introduced that requires any change in the abortion laws."

The Knights also earmarked a letter to the President of the United States, asking him to remove two members of the American Civil Liberties Union from his commission on Obscenity and Pornography. They felt that the Commission would be hampered by two members of an organization which they felt supported pornography.

Ten years ago

The Belleville Town Council, by a 4-1 vote, adopted an ordinance relating to the issuance of licenses and fees for the businesses, occupations and activities of the Town. The ordinance was amended at the meeting in a hurried manner, in order that it might go into effect by the New Year. Councilman James Golden cast the negative vote on the amended ordinance, in the belief that the revision made at the meeting was unfair to certain citizens of the town who were not at the meeting and hence not able to object.

Town merchants, on the other hand, were up in arms over the ordinance, which would increase the licensing fees hundreds of percents over the existing fees. Spearheaded by the Chamber of Commerce, local merchants planned a series of appeals to the courts for the rescinding of the ordinance.

Fifteen years ago

The merits of private versus public garbage collection became the concern of Belleville Commissioner Nuncio R. Pico, Director of Public Affairs. According to Pico's study, each system had its advantages and disadvantages. "With capable management, qualified personnel, adequate equipment and freedom from politics, the municipal collection system could be economical and practical." He further stipulated that "under favorable conditions contract collection could also render satisfactory service." The important point was the preparation of the specifications and efficient follow-up to enforce all of the regulations.

A Washington Avenue Merchants Association was formed at a meeting at the Town Hall, at which some 35 persons representing some 26 businesses along the avenue attended. Frank Megaro of 55 Cleveland Street, former owner of the Empire Lumber Yard, was made president of the organization. Megaro commented that there was an abundance of facilities for a shopping center in Belleville, but not enough get-togetherness. He remarked that "Washington Avenue is dead, and we've got to bury its ghosts."

Twenty years ago

Indicted Belleville officials were required to stand trial on conspiring to violate the public bidding law, and for misfeasance. The trial was to oswafter the New Year.

Prosecutor Charles Webb described the decision as a follow-up of the appellate division of the Superior Court ruling to deny defense attorney's permission to appeal a refusal to dismiss indictments.

Tom Mack takes a lot of pride in kids

Thomas Mack, 39, president of the Belleville Varsity Club, is looking forward to tomorrow night's annual football banquet. It's one of those things he thinks should be done and is happy to be a part of it. He takes a lot of pride in what he and the other members of the club do.

"We honor all the kids who have contributed or participated in varsity athletics. If they have done something for sports, we want to see that they get the recognition they deserve."

"Let's face it, winning is the name of the game — that's why they keep score — but there are always losses and setbacks. Sure, we like to see the teams win; but win, lose, or draw, we want to see these kids get the attention they deserve."

Mack has been active in the Varsity Club since 1962 and has served as an officer of the organization for the past four years. He was secretary from 1970-72 and has been president since 1972.

"After I got out of the service and got my family settled, I looked around to see what I could do for the town. I went to a meeting of the Varsity Club with a friend, and decided to join."

In addition to being President of the Varsity Club, Mack is also a member of the Belleville Athletic Council. But sports isn't his only interest. From 1964-68 he was chairman of a door-to-door drive to raise funds for the retarded children at the Essex County Center. He is also active in the Boy Scouts, serving as district chairman from 1972-74 and he is presently district vice chairman.

Mack was raised in Belleville and played basketball and baseball for Belleville High. After graduation, he attended Bloomfield College and played basketball there. He is industrial engineering manager and personnel director for Jergens Co. in Belleville.

"My whole family is interested in sports. We go to all the games — football, basketball, baseball — and cheer like mad."

The three Mack boys, Jeffrey, 15; Thomas, 14 and Craig, nine, are all interested in sports, both as fans and as participants. Even his wife, Marilyn, is an enthusiastic sports rooter. She was a cheerleader when she attended Belleville high school.

As if there aren't enough events for the family to go to, Mack says he would like to see a hockey team and a tennis team formed. He admits there might be some problems with setting up a hockey team because of the lack of good skating facilities, but he adds that there are a number of people working on finding a solution including himself.

It's not easy to get Mack to talk about himself and the part he plays in the various organizations he belongs to. He prefers to downplay his role in the activities and stresses the importance others play in whatever he is involved in. In fact, he emphasizes the importance of everyone in Belleville.

"We'd like to see all the townspeople come and support the kids. If we don't have them, we don't have anything."

Two Belleville girls in Junior Miss finals

Two seniors at Belleville High School will be among 20 finalists competing in the Essex County Junior Miss Pageant this Sunday afternoon.

The Pageant, which selects the county's ideal high school senior girl, will get under way at Belleville High School Auditorium at 2:30 p.m. Charles Green, radio personality with WNJR, will be master of ceremonies.

The winner will receive a scholarship and other prizes and represent Essex County in the state pageant to be held in February at Cherry Hill.

"Contestants are judged on intelligence, poise, talent, personality, and scholastic achievement," George Malizia, Pageant chairman, pointed out.

The winner will be crowned by Donna Alexander of East Orange, the reigning Essex County Junior Miss. Miss Alexander went on to be chosen New Jersey's Junior Miss and was fifth runner-up in the nationally televised America's Junior Miss Pageant last May.

Sunday's Pageant will be the fourteenth year the event has been held in Essex County. Tickets will be available at the door.

The two are Bonnie Low, daughter of Mrs. Sol Low of Belmont Street, and Kathy Warnasch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Warnasch of Liberty Avenue.

Bonnie is co-captain of the flag-twirling squad and a member of the ski club, chorus and the yearbook staff. An honor roll student, she is head statistician for the varsity basketball and track teams.

Besides professional modeling, Bonnie enjoys tennis, swimming, traveling and reading. Her interests also include singing and creative writing. She plans a career in government.

Kathy is a member of the color guard, track team, school newspaper, orchestra and the Madrigals, a specialized singing group. Active on her church's newspaper, she enjoys water skiing, horseback riding, singing and drawing. She plans a career related to zoology.

Santa sets visiting schedule

Santa Claus will be setting up temporary headquarters in Belleville starting next week, and he has announced that he will be happy to talk with any good children that want to stop by.

While Rudolph and the rest of the herd are off in pasture, resting up for the big night, Santa will be staying in his trailer on the parking lot next to Town Hall. Despite his usual hectic schedule, Santa has arranged for plenty of time for everyone to come and see him: Friday, Dec. 13, 10 a.m. to 12 noon, 1 p.m. to 5 p.m., 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.; Saturday, Dec. 14, 10 a.m. to 12 noon, and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.; December 16-18, 10 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.; December 19-21, 10 a.m. to 12 noon, 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. and 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.; Monday Dec. 23, 10 a.m. to 12 noon, 1 p.m. to 5 p.m., and 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.; and Tuesday, Dec. 24, 10 a.m. to 12 noon.

Santa said he and his wife would like to thank the Womans Club of Belleville E.M.D. and the Belleville Chamber of Commerce for their help in sponsoring his visit. He also sent out a big thank you to the Department of Parks and Public Property and the Department of Public Safety for their assistance.

Polaroid color snapshots of the children with Santa can be purchased for $2. All proceeds will go to the Womans Club Charity Fund.

Barbarula speaks to Lions, Rotary

Paul Barbarula, president of the Franklin Men's Shop, was guest speaker at a recent joint meeting of the Belleville Rotary and Belleville Lion's Clubs held at the Fountain Restaurant.

Barbarula, a Nutley business man, said, "Women do 65% of the clothing buying for men". Commenting further, he said, "this is to be expected, because mothers and female relatives start buying for males before they are born". His talk concluded with an overview of the types of customers and their behaviors patterns he most frequently meets.

The joint meeting, which is an annual affair, was hosted by the Belleville Rotary Club. A similar meeting, hosted by the Belleville Lion's Club will be held just prior to Christmas.

Creditor to perform at Carnegie Hall

Bruce M. Creditor, of Belleville, will be performing as clarinetist with the New England Conservatory Ragtime Ensemble in a gala evening of ragtime and rag-influenced music at New York City's Carnegie Hall on December 8, at 8:00 p.m.

This marks the second appearance of the ensemble in New York, and follows successful performances in Holland (Amsterdam, Haarlem, Rotterdam, and Gronigen), at a White House State Dinner for President Ford, and on the NBC Today Show. Early last summer, prior to the Holland concerts, the group made a tour of the United States, playing at mafor music festivals to overflow audiences. Their two albums: The Red Back Book (Angel) and More Scott Joplin Rags (Crest) are best sellers throughout the States and Europe, and a recently released single of two Jelly Roll Morton selections is heading for top spot on the ratings.

Creditor is a senior at The New England Conservatory of Music in Boston, and is principal clarinetist of the NEC Symphony Orchestra, which also toured Europe during the summer, performing at the prestigious Lucerne Festival (along with the Berlin, Vienna, and Los Angeles Philharmonies), and at other festivals in Switzerland and France, ending with a concert in Paris. He also performs with the NEC Wind Ensemble, in the chamber music program, and is affiliated with the Mass. Youth Wind Ensemble. Presently he is preparing a senior recital to be given on February 14, 1975 at the Conservatory which will include works by Bernstein, Cahuzac, Bruns, Pinkham, Foss, and others.

Wesley hosts an afternoon of music

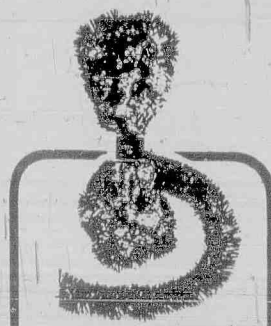

A musical afternoon of organ, piano, and song will be presented on Sunday, December 8 at 4 p.m. at Wesley United Methodist Church, Washington Avenue at Academy Street in Belleville.

Gerald L. Aulenbach, Organist of the Wesley Church, will present a selection of traditional organ selections, including works by Bach, Handel, and Purcell.

His sister, Miss Jane Aulenbach, mezzo-soprano, teacher of vocal music in the Nutley public schools, will sing selections by Rogers and Hammerstein, Lerner and Lowe, Stephen Schwartz, and her brother, Mr. Aulenbach.

The last portion of the program will include "theater-organ" type selection by Aulenbach, including those by Scott Joplin from "The Sting," the recent movie, "That's Entertainment," and a few other surprises.

Orpheus Club concert set for this Saturday

The Orpheus Club of Newark announces that the 87th Season, First Concert, will be held Saturday, December 7, at the West Orange High School auditorium, 120 Northfield Ave., West Orange, at 8:30 p.m.

Orpheus Club of Newark is one of the oldest all-male vocal groups in the metropolitan area, having presented concerts twice yearly for 87 years.

The First Concert will include selections from folk, sacred and classical music. Guest soloist will be Norma French, lyric soprano and opera star who made her operatic debut in April 1972 at the New York City Opera at Lincoln Center singing the role of Gilda in "Rigoletto" to glowing reviews from the "New York Times". She has had remarkable success as Violetta in "La Traviata" and many other roles.

Opera News states "Her voice is clear and lovely, and she is well endowed with ability to execute both lyricism and the drama of a prismatic role like Mlle. Valery."

The club will be under the able direction of John Bunnell, director of music at the Madison High School. Frances Joerg Blum will be at the piano. Tickets will be $2.50 and are available at the door.

Local members are: Dr. Domenico Lupo of Belleville, and Joseph Dowling, Misak K. Mordichian and Henry M. Ohlundi, all of Nutley.

Miss Joanne Caltagirone bride of Alfonse Imperiale

Miss Joanne Mary Caltagirone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Caltagirone of 193 Franklin Avenue and Alfonse Imperiale, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Imperiale of Newark, were married December 1 in St. Peter's Church, Belleville.

The Rev. James Heavey performed the ceremony and a reception followed at Westmount Country Club, West Paterson.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a white organza gown with high illusion neckline, bishop sleeves and bouffant skirt covered with pink and green applied flowers.

A Camelot headpiece held her floor length veil and she carried pink roses and babies breath.

Miss Linda Caltagirone of Belleville was her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids included other sisters, Miss Carolyn and Miss Andrea Caltagirone of Belleville and Mrs. Barbara Rolandelli of Newark, the groom's sister, Miss Joan Imperiale and Miss Eileen Donohue and Mrs. Regina Brennan, all of Newark.

The honor attendant wore a mint green halter gown with deep green velvet bolero jacket, a matching Juliet cap and carried green carnations and babies breath.

The others had soft pink halter gowns with burgundy jackets and carried pink carnations and babies breath.

Steve Imperiale of Newark served his brother as best man. Ushering were Anthony D'Urso of Bloomfield, John Rolandelli, Richard Couzzi and Mark Brennan of Newark and Benny Scialavino and John Pentangelo of Fairfield.

Mrs. Caltagirone chose a brown silk worsted gown with brown and gold sequin jacket. Her corsage was of white eymbidiums. The groom's mother was in a pink and blue iridescent gown and had a white orchid corsage.

Mrs. Imperiale, a graduate of Caldwell College, is a remedial reading and math teacher with the Elizabeth Board of Education.

Mr. Imperiale, an alumnus of Barringer High School and a member of the N.J. National Guard, is with Cosmar Air Freight Co., Newark.

Mrs. Alfonse Imperiale — nee Joanne Caltagirone

REPORT ON A "HAPPY LOSER"

"I'm only 1/2 the man I used to be ... and I'm very glad"

NORMAN WILE

I LOST 220 LBS.

I weighed 410 pounds and "enjoyed" the stares and pitying laughter of passerby when I waddled (I naturally couldn't walk) along the streets.

I felt buses tilt in my direction whenever I got on. I needed seat belt extensions whenever I flew on a plane. But why bore you — after my doctor laid it on the line "diet — or die!" I knew what I had to do.

And I tried ... I watched my weight go down and up, and had just about decided it was impossible for me to lose — when I found Diet Control Centers. Well, I'll make it short. I've lost 220 pounds. I weigh 190 pounds. Yes, I've lost more than I weigh. Instead of watching my weight — I control my diet. I know what the Diet Control program can do.

I don't have to tell you how happy a loser I am. It has made a new man of me, even though, you might say, I'm only 1/2 the man I was.

Praying for a miracle won't help. Diet Control Centers has been successful when others have failed. Let us show you how to break the Fat Habit.

NEW PRICE POLICY SAVES YOU $9.00

UNION, N.J. — Diet Control Centers now saves new members $9.00 when they join for their 10-week program. A Coupon Book is offered for Diet Controllers. Those presently attending meetings are also eligible to purchase the coupon book.

Registration for new members is only $7.00, $3.00 weekly thereafter. With the purchase of the Coupon Book new members attend for 10 weeks, including registration, for only $25.

Turkeys that will not roast

by Helen Maguire

Barbara Ryans and I came to the conclusion Thanksgiving Day that we have been spoiled all these years the families have eaten together. We long ago worked out a system which has stood us in good stead. The visiting group provides all liquid refreshment and all dessert with the exception of one pie and the host family antes up the rest. With our combined efforts, dinner has been cooked with a minimum of bother and much success until this year. This was our Waterloo.

Although we have always purchased a whole turkey and roasted same, we realized last year that most, nay all of the diners showed great preference for white meat and we were hard put to dispose of the dark. Therefore, we concluded, the sensible and thrifty thing to do was to buy a large turkey breast which should provide plenty of white meat and virtually no "uneatable" leftovers. In these days of rampant inflation, we were more concerned with economy than appearance agreeing, that although nothing can quite match the sight of a beautifully browned bird, a beautifully browned piece of a bird would have to do.

The only mistake we made was in expecting the poultry to cooperate. Defrosted, readied for the pan, put into the oven with ample time to roast, it refused to do its part. It would not, could not, did not cook! Barbara and I couldn't quite believe it. We tested, prodded, turned the oven up, turned the oven down, questioned the veracity of her temperature gauge, did everything save weeping from sheer frustration and came pretty close to that.

Meanwhile, 11 people waited for dinner, some of them very impatiently and who could blame them. At 3:30, an hour and a quarter past the scheduled dinner hour, we reheated the vegetables for the umpteenth time, restirred the sauces, corralled the troops and sat everybody down, hoping that with any luck, we would get enough meat off the outside of this thing to feed the families. We made it, barely.

"This reminds me," said my friend, "of the roast I had a few years ago. We cooked it three days running and it still wasn't done. The third day, I threw the rest of it out!"

"Well" I added, not to be outdone with tales of culinary horror, "I had a Christmas turkey that was still almost raw after five hours in the oven, still running pink when you pierced it with a fork long after it should have been cremated. The bulk of that bird landed in the trash.

When I told Layne about our problem the next day, she laughed. "When Jack was pitching in Spokane one year", she related, "another player's wife and I bought this huge turkey, had it cut in half and roasted one piece for a joint feast. We roasted and roasted and roasted and were no further ahead than when we started." "And did you pitch it out?" I asked. "Like fun we did," she said. "We wrapped it up, pan and all, got the other half and took the whole business back to the butcher who gave us another one post haste!" Which is exactly what we should have done too but bologna sandwiches don't go over too well on Thanksgiving!

Edgar ladies Xmas party next Tuesday

The Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Stuart E. Edgar Post 493 of Nutley will hold its annual Christmas party on Tuesday, December 10, at 8:00 p.m. at the Post Hall, 271 Washington Avenue. A short business meeting will precede the party.

Marie Stankewita and Agnes Blair will arrange the affair. Both are of Nutley.

Refreshments will be furnished by Agnes Blair, our charter and 50 year member. She also donates a prize gift each year.

The ladies will eat by candlelight with Christmas carols in the background. An exchange of Christmas gifts will be one of the specialties of the occasion.

In preparation —Elise Yorton and Terry Purpuro decorate the tree at the Mental Health Service Agency for Sunday's party.

'Givers' will be honored at a gala holiday party

The season for giving will be ushered in dramatically by the Holiday Party for Givers on Sunday, afternoon, December 8, from 2:30 to 5:00 p.m. at the Community Mental Health Services for Belleville, Bloomfield and Nutley, according to Mrs. Richard Quigley, President of the Auxiliary which is hosting the party. The Services Agency is located on the grounds of the Essex County Geriatrics Center, Franklin and Belleville Avenues, Belleville.

The generosity of individuals, clubs and other organizations to the agency, particularly during 1974, is the occasion for the party. Among those givers to be honored are the Essex County Freeholders, the mayors and commissioners of the three towns of Belleville, Bloomfield and Nutley, Hoffmann-La Roche Inc., and innumerable individuals and other groups who have made contributions of money, materials or services to the agency.

Mrs. M.C. Keeney, Belleville, Mrs. J.G. Severs of Bloomfield and Mrs. Wallace H. Cox of Nutley are in charge of arranging festive refreshments for the event.

Mrs. Stephen De Mallie, Bloomfield, is decorations chairman.

A corps of volunteers under the direction of Mrs. John Goodson will act as guides and hostesses. Events of the party will consist of a tour of the facilities, brief program to honor the guests and a social hour.

Mrs. Ruth O. Cowell, Executive Director of the Services agency, has said that she hopes this happy event will become an annual one to demonstrate the gratitude of the Board of Trustees and the staff to the people of the three communities for their generosity.

Christmas Carnival opens this Saturday

Plan on attending the second annual Christmas Carnival sponsored by the Junior Woman's Club of Belleville on Saturday, December 7 between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. at the Fewsmith Church, 444 Union Avenue.

There will be attractions for all members of the family. These will include children's games, a handcrafted boutique table, a cake sale, Santa Claus and Minnie Mouse, a white elephant stand and a snack bar featuring hot dogs, sausage sandwiches, and beverages.

The proceeds from this fun filled event will be donated to various local charities.

December 8 is the date American Legion Post 105 is holding a Christmas Cocktail Party. Commander Ray Kinsley will be on hand with his staff of officers. Come on down - no admission charge, free food - drinks 50¢.

I'm disappointed that some photos I took didn't turn out...first, I traveled to BHS to meet with Principal Raymond O. Smith and Industrial Arts Teacher, Mr. D'Ambola. Proving that necessity is the Mother of Invention, last spring when Smith ordered new rifles for the Color Guard and they kept being delayed, he asked the Industrial Arts Class to make some. The result was six smashing new rifles were made in two weeks. The students used poplar, sanded, repainted, using hardware from the old, cracked rifles, by hand and machine, and worked diligently. Some students involved in the project were: Robert Osborne, Vinnie Mustachio, Gerard Garramore, Mike Swinarski, Arthur Cole, Jerry Dillon and Jim Parillo.

St. Peter's Parent-Teachers Guild held an interesting meeting December 4th. Several school children who have performed professionally, sang, and danced. James Masker, Past President, presented an audiovisual program. Refreshments were by 6th and 8th grade mothers. Get set for a Paper Drive by St. Peters, Saturday, December 7th at the School yard from 10 am to noon.

Some other photos I took that didn't turn out were of Hoffman International employees, who traveled to Port Newark to view their new offices and the derrick barge, CENTURY. Pert Carol Collins, a petite blonde, posed next to a 10' high tire. Others who went along were Sandy Segreto, Barbara LaMotta and Controller, Mike Belej.

Speaking of Hoffman International, Sylvia Lister celebrated a birthday - have a good year, Sylvia.

I'd like to wish good luck to all the contestants in the Miss Essex County Junior Miss Pageant, sponsored by the Nutley Jaycees. The event will be held Sunday, December 8th at 2:30 - BHS I know of two gals from Belleville who will be competing - and I'm sure they will do well - Miss Bonnie Lowe and Miss Kathy Warnasch.

If you ever stop in at the Belleville Times office on Washington Avenue, you'll be greeted by Jodi Scharenguiveo. Next time you stop in with your news, say "hi" to Jodi.

The Sisters and Sister-in-Law Club held their October meeting at the home of Jeanne Marino, and celebrated Halloween. The girls dressed as: Groucho and Harpo Marx, a 1939 Miss Atlantic City Beauty Queen, a devil, baseball player, Captain Hook, farmer and wicked witch. They really had fun. Two prizes were awarded - to Colleen Salmon and Maureen Ritner. gee, big families have fun.

The Kiwanis Club of Branch Brook Belleville will hold their Christmas party December 17th at the San Carlo Restaurant, Lyndhurst. Anniversary congratulations go to Jack and Margot Weidlich.

The Belleville Reformed Church will hold a Christmas

Fair, with Santa's Shopping Mall. The dates are Friday evening, December 6th from 6-9:30 and Saturday, December 7th from 10 to 4:30. All the Church organizations will participate in the Fair. They are: the Ladies Aid, Women's Guild, The Consistory, The Choir, Boysouts of America, Senior Citizens and the Sunday School. Do stop and do some Christmas shopping.

The Belleville Varsity Club will hold their Thirtieth Annual Football Banquet, honoring the players and coaches on December 6th at the Robin Hood Inn. Tickets are $8.50.

WHAT'S NEW?

Steve Rogers chaired a committee meeting the other evening, heralding the arrival of the Belleville-Business/Industrial Commission. Many people were there including Larry Colalillo, Stanley Slavin, Dave Robbins, Sally Hood, Vi Narucki - to name but a few. It was quite interesting - all people banding together with ideas on how to improve our town for the residents as well as the businesses. Many, many ideas flew about the room from rezoning plans to upgrading housing codes, seeking new industry, upgrading Washington area shopping center, etc. The next meeting will be December 4 at the Rec House, 8 p.m. Anyone interested in joining the movement is invited. More details will follow in this paper. Suffice it to say, "Enthusiasm" was the common attitude.

The Retired Men's Club of Belleville will hold their Christmas Luncheon on December 4th at noon, Fewsmith Presbyterian Church.

Victory flag flies 5-4 for Bellboys

Belleville head football coach Tom Testa and his war-weary but victorious Bellboys have something to write home about this year.

For the first time in several seasons, the Belleville grid machine churned out a winning 5-4 season — at the expense of one Hillside team, 14-12 Thanksgiving Day.

Though the Comets ate up a lot more real estate during the battle, it was the Bellboys who emerged the champions of the end zones. Having struck once on a Ricky Loma to Steve Gerard touchdown pass, the Belleville team was yet to strike again. Defensive specialist Mike Ferrara stuffed a Comet punt down the throat of the punter, and landed on it in the end zone for a come-from-behind TD. Belleville's initial invasion in the first period was set up by Domenick Cicalese, who like Ferrara displayed the punt preventing prowess of an interstate highway billboard.

The Hillside club had a few tricks under its pads as well. Several key linemen and the Comet first string quarterback Ray Stukes "all healed up for Belleville," noted Testa. Prior to the Turkey Bowl game, Stukes and a number of others had been part of the Comet injury list.

It was Stukes, in fact, who first plunged over for the Comets shortly after Belleville scored. Later the un-scouted quarterback reeled off a 16-yard pass to Joe Savittiere to put Hillside ahead 12-7.

Fortunately for Belleville, however, Comet head coach Steve Serafino was lacking a place kicker from his lineup, and both conversion attempts (one run, fumbled; and one kick, missed) were unsuccessful. Belleville's kicking specialist Mike Cancelliere, however, was on target on both his attempts, making up the crucial difference for the anxious fans packing Municipal Stadium.

Defensively, said Testa, he made a few changes in the second half which "tightened up the ship a little." The Bellboys had been taking heavy damage from crackerjack running back Jayme Winters, who personally racked up more yardage on the ground than the entire Belleville team. The Belleville defense, however, "deserve a lot of credit for the second half," said Testa, and Anthony Nicosia was awarded the game for his repeated interception of Hillside passes.

The Bellboy offensive, added the coach, was somewhat out of commission in the first place, which perhaps explained the difficulties the Bellboys had on the ground.

The final win

The Bellboys did it. The Blue-Gold football machine edged the Hillside Comets' 14-12 Thanksgiving day to make its season a winner. The alert Belleville defense blocked two punts by the Hillside squad, setting up two touchdowns. A hard fought game, the extra point kicks of Mike Cancelliere put the Bellboys over the top in a see-saw battle, even though the Comets dominated the field most of the game. It happened like this:

First quarter

Bellboy James Russel returned Hillside's opening kickoff eight yards to his own 43. The Blue-Gold advanced four yards on a run, and a pass to Alan Cervasio, but could gain no further yardage, and punted from the Belleville 47. Steve Gerard punted to Hillside's Leon Chadwick who returned the ball to his own 24.

A clipping penalty against the Comets on the first down hindered the Hillside effort, and in spite of a five yard run by Joe Savittiere and a 17 yard slice by halfback Jayme Winters, the Comets couldn't make up the long yardage of the penalty. Savittiere was set to punt from his own 33, but the Belleville line swarmed over the harried kicker, and Bellboy Domenick Cicalese blocked the Hillside punt, enabling Belleville to take over on the Hillside 13.

Steve Senatore ran for one yard, and Anthony Nicosia gained another two to leave the Belleville team third and seven on the Hillside 10. Quarterback Ricky Loma sailed a pass straight down the middle to Gerard in the end zone, and Belleville was on the scoreboard with its first six points. Mike Cancelliere put the extra point through the uprights, and the Bellboys went ahead 7-0.

Cancelliere's 50-yard kickoff was caught by Hillside's Leon Chadwick, who returned the pigskin to his own 24 before being stopped. Winters and Jim Bracher grabbed eight yards on the first two downs, but the Comets saw no yardage on the third and were left with a crucial fourth and two. Quarterback Raymond Stukes handed off to Winters, who smashed downfield for 17 yards, giving the Comets a first down at their own 49.

Bracher gained eight yards on the next play and after a second down setback of three yards, Winters responded with 15-yard run which gave Hillside a first down on the Belleville 31. Bracher picked up another first down, and Winters added one more with a 16-yard run to the Belleville three yard line. Two more plays brought the Comets to within inches of the Belleville goal line, and Stukes down. Hillside attempted a conversion, but ball carrier Winters fumbled, and the Bellboys recovered the ball to foil the Comet attempt.

Joe Pizzi returned Jim Weinberg's kickoff to his own 39, but a 15 yard decision against the Belleville team pushed the Bellboys back to their own 14. Vincent DeNotaris picked up three yards before the quarter ended with the score Belleville 7, Hillside 6.

Cervasio gained six additional yards, but the Comets held the Bellboys, and Belleville punted from its own 49. Savittiere called a fair catch at his own 40, and the Comets began the attack. Winters ran 11 yards for a quick first down, but a holding penalty against the Hillside team on the first down left them first and 25 at their own 37.

Stukes tried three passes. The first two were incomplete but Winters grabbed the third for a 14 yard gain to leave his team with a fourth and nine at the Belleville 49. The Belleville defense held tight, and the Bellboys took possession at their own 49.

But Belleville's offense couldn't make good on the defense's work, and Gerard punted after Belleville gained no yards in three downs.

After receiving Belleville's punt, Stukes hit Winters for a 32 yard pass which brought the Comets into Belleville territory at the 34 yard line. Hillside came down to the Belleville 19 on a pass from Stukes to Chadwick which gave Hillside a first down.

Hillside fumbled on the first down losing five yards. Winters then gained nine yards on two downs, leaving the Comets fourth and seven at the Belleville 16. Savittiere grabbed a 16 yard pass from Stukes to score a touchdown and put the Comets ahead 12-7. Winters tried again for the conversion, but a flag against Hillside forced it back 15 yards to try again. In a peculiar change of tactics,

The beginning

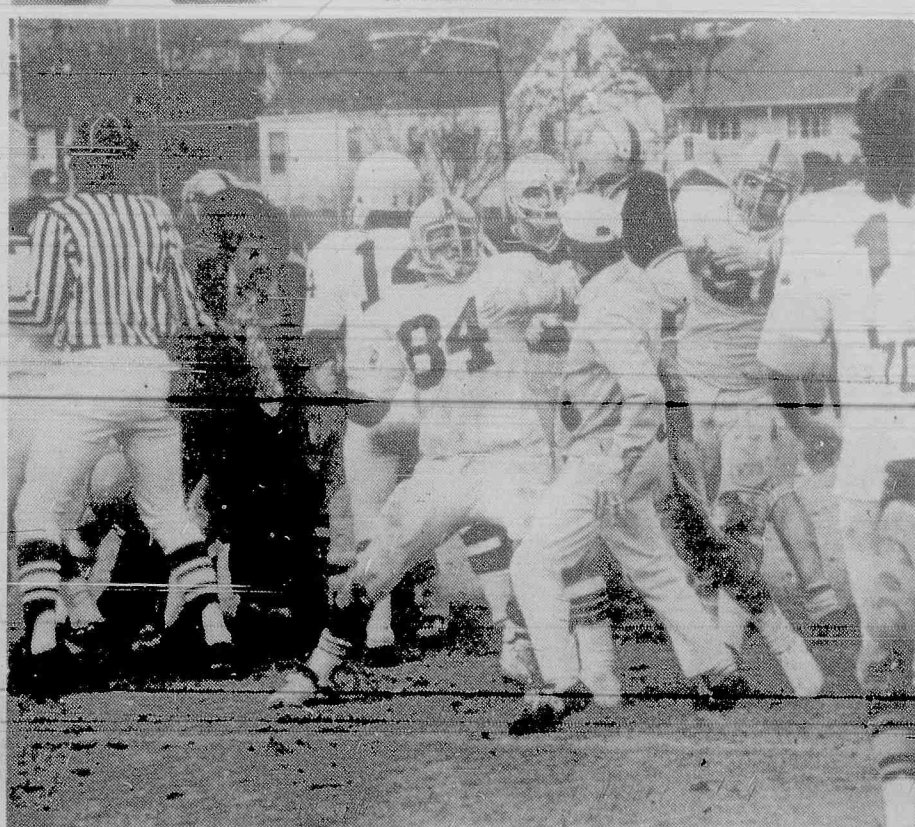

The Bellboys got off to a quick but shortlived lead Thanksgiving Day against Hillside, but the running game was not moving well in the first half. Tony Nicosia (32), above, was one of several Belleville players consistently plagued by Comet tacklers. Nicosia made some key interceptions later in the day, and was given the game ball as a souvenir.

The middle

Thanksgiving Day games are always noted for their high emotion, both during the game and at half time when the departing seniors cry their eyes out as a matter of standard procedure. Here is a collection of various female members of the class of '75, all decked out in the traditional corsages.

The end

Though not everyone was certain at the time, the game had ended by the time this scuffle broke out on the playing field. A few Comets and Bellboys had to work off their frustrations, noted coach Tom Testa, but they later left the grid iron shaking hands. What's a football season without one? And anyway, it's pretty hard to hurt a guy when he's got his helmet on.

Football dinner set in traditional style

Everything is set for the Belleville Varsity Club's 30th annual football banquet, tomorrow, 7 p.m. at the Robin Hood Inn, honoring the departing seniors of Belleville High School for their support and participation in the sport.

Bob Cassin will serve as master of ceremonies for the event and the guest speaker will be Al Rotella, head football coach at Verona High School. Other club members have helped out, making certain that the event will come off smoothly and be a pleasant evening for all.

Bill "Doc" Ellis and Wayne Worley have been busy distributing tickets and John Shelesky has made arrangements to have flowers there for the athletes' mothers. Dick Covey and Charley Grasso will supervise the table and seating arrangements, and Jerry Bonavito and Tony Cervasio are handling the trophies and awards. The Rev. Howard Day of Montgomery Presbyterian Church will deliver the invocation.

Though this is the 30th annual banquet, the history of the club goes back further. The Varsity Club of Belleville was formed by an undergraduate group of lettermen in Belleville High School in 1932, under the guidance of their coaches, Carl Ericson, William Chapman and Frank Spotts. Circumstances such as the depression and World War II hampered the activities and most of the men drifted apart.

In 1945, a group of former Belleville High athletes met in the Recreation House and organized the Belleville Varsity Club, which was then incorporated. Objects and purposes are to bring together, socially and fraternally, sports minded men who are interested in B.H.S. sports; provide an incentive for participation in athletic events; pay tribute to the boys and girls of Belleville High for their endeavors in the field of sports and associated activities and, to foster cooperation among citizens, officials and organizations of the Town of Belleville for these purposes.

Since football was the most prominent sport of the time, the Club held their first dinner in the high school cafeteria in honor of the 1945 football team and Coach Bill Chapman. The dinner grew in popularity and had to be moved to larger facilities.

During the early years of the Football

Same Craig Fund game, but different competition

The Craig Fund All-Star Basketball team will match its skills on the court with a team of ballplayers who will try to hit the hoops instead of homers on Saturday, Jan. 18 at 7:30 p.m. at the Belleville High School gym.

For the past three years, the Craig Funders have met gridders who turned in their spikes for sneakers in an attempt to defeat the Fund men on their own court. Last year the turf terrors, Hank Bjorklund and Ed Bell of the Jets, Bob Davis of the Saints, Ed Marinaro of the Vikings, Phil Vittapiano of the Raiders and Charlie Evans of the Giants went down to defeat in a tight game that saw a lot of flash but no real fire on the part of the pros. The Craig All-Stars managed to slip by with a 73-71 win.

In the three years since the match started, the pros have gone down to defeat two times. Their only win came in 1973 when they hit the bucket for a total of 108 points while the All-stars could only hit for 98.

This year, the All-Stars will try to pocket another victory, only this time they'll be tangling with dudes from the diamond. A pro team made up of Yankees Ron Bloomberg, Roy White, Elston Howard, Rudy May, Gene Michael and Walt "No Neck" Williams, will try and even things up for the pros. Jon Matlack and John Milner of the Mets are also possible starters.

The game will, of course, feature the annual half time autograph session so that young fans can have an opportunity to build up their collection or get a good head start in establishing one.

The Craig Fund Benefit Game is held each year to raise money which goes to the aid of handicapped people in Belleville to help defray the cost of medical expenses and services needed by the Bellevillites.

Tickets for the game will go on sale in two chairman Robert Gaccione will be on hand to help with play by play announcing and co-chairmen Michael Chieffo and Matthew Pica will be standing by to assist.

Beck's Column

After looking at different models of refrigerators, a customer the other day remarked: they all seem to be alike. Well, this certainly is not the case.

Just to enumerate a few features found in Whirlpool products. First the inside walls of many refrigerators are made from plastic. This tends to retain odors. Whirlpool uses porcelain, not plastic walls. The same goes for the vegetable compartments generally known as "crispers". While many other makes use plastic, Whirlpool crispers are porcelain on steel. One other important difference is in the doors. Whirlpool uses "million magnet" doors, which mean they close much better all around, others use spot magnets, which do not keep the door nearly as tight. Another feature not found in many other manufacturers products is the "activated charcoal air purification system" which solves odor transfer problems from food to food. All but the lowest price Whirlpool refrigerators have built in wheels for easy moving around and cleaning.

These are just a few of the features of Whirlpool refrigerators. They may look alike, but there are considerable differences.

Necessity is the mother of new rifles

It was proved that necessity is the mother of invention at the Belleville High School recently.

When principal Raymond O. Smith ordered new rifles for the Color Guard last spring, his order kept being delayed. Smith asked the Industrial Arts class if they would make the rifles. The result? Six rifles were made in two weeks.

The students, under the direction of teacher Joseph D'Ambola, used poplar, sanded, repainted and, by hand and machine, created a rifle using the hardware from the old, cracked rifles.

Some of the students involved in the project were: Robert Osborne, Vinnie Mustachio, Gerard Garramore, Mike Swinarski, Arthur Cole, Jerry Dillon and Jim Partillo.

Dinner, only one award was given out. Presently each senior letterman receives an award and there are several Varsity Club Special Awards. Also, co-sponsored with the Nutley Third-Half Club is a trophy that is passed back and forth between the Belleville-Nutley game winners. In 1970, a similar trophy was initiated for the Crew also sponsored by the Kearny Cardinal Club.

As the years passed, separate dinners were initiated for the baseball and basketball teams and an All-Sports Dinner to honor winter and spring associated activities. The first All-Sports Dinner was held in 1958.

A few years back, when it seemed apparent the Crew team was going to be abandoned due to lack of facilities, the Varsity Club joined other supporters to raise funds. The Fund Drive was successful and the Crew team now uses facilities built with this money along with Nutley and Kearny. During the school year, a "Coaches - Nite" is held.

To raise funds to support their activities, the Varsity Club works very hard soliciting Program Ads for the Official Varsity Club Football Program, booster money and from supporters in general. Tom Mack, president, says, "Without the continued support of the people in our town, we could not continue to honor the boys and girls of Belleville in the manner that we do."

The Belleville Varsity Club has approximately 30 active members who meet the second Thursday of the month, September through June, at the Little League Field House. Each year, a President's Citation is presented to a member who has a minimum of ten years active service with the club. If interested in supporting the goals of the Belleville Varsity Club, or membership, contact them at P.O. Box 121, Belleville.

Comets give Bellboys' tough time, but not tough enough

Savittiere tried for an extra point which failed to sail through the uprights.

DeNotaris returned the Hillside kickoff 23 yards to his own 36. A 23 yard pass from Loma to Nicosia gave the Bellboys a first down, but they could advance no further. On a fourth and 16 situation, the Bellboys fumbled, and Hillside took over on the 50 yard line.

A pass intended for Mark DelGuercio was intercepted by Joe Panlone, but Belleville didn't gain a first down before the first half ended with the score Hillside 12, Belleville 7.

Third quarter
Hillside had the Belleville kickoff to its own 34, and Winters ran for a quick first down to his own 47. On the second down, Nicosia intercepted a pass intended for Bracher, and the scales tipped toward Belleville.

The Bellboy good fortune was short lived. They tumbled on the first down, and the Comets took over on the Belleville 47. A holding penalty on the first down pushed the Comets back to their own 38, and a pass scheduled to make up the yardage was intercepted by the ever-present Nicosia, and the Blue-Gold took over again in a dizzying exchange of the pigskin. Belleville did not capitalize on their good fortune, and they punted from the Hillside 47.

Hillside gained six yards, but it was stopped, and punted from its own 22. Savittiere's punt was blocked by the Belleville defense, and a quick Mike Ferrara scooped up the bouncing ball and bounded into the end zone for a Bellboy touchdown. Cancelliere's extra point was good, and the Blue-Gold pulled ahead 14-12.

Comet Winters returned the kickoff to his own 35, and the Hillside halfback picked up a fast first down on two runs. Bracher ran for 17 yards to give the Comets another first, but the Belleville team tightened up, and the Hillside team was halted at the Belleville 35.

Area bank declares increased dividend

Samuel F. Riskin, Chairman of the Board and President of the Bank of Passaic & Clifton, N.A., announced that the Board of Directors of the bank have declared an increased quarterly dividend of $.30 per share and also an extra year-end dividend of $.10 per share.

The cash dividend will be payable on January 2, 1975, to shareholders of record December 6, 1974. This represents an increase from the $.25 quarterly dividend of last year and extra dividend of $.08 per share.

Riskin stated that the increase in dividends reflects favorable earnings for the year in addition to continued growth in deposits.

In addition to having approval for two new branches in Nutley and Bloomfield, Riskin further said that "the extensive renovation of our Park office will soon be completed and we welcome everyone to visit and use this modernized facility."

Pharmacy Footnotes

Vincent Cozzarelli Reg. Ph.

Twenty-eight to thirty thousand people die and over four million are injured each year from home accidents. There are relatively few accidental deaths on campuses, schools, etc., but such institutions have impressive records of painful injuries. Accidents occurring on the farm account for over 13,000 fatalities, over one million injured annually. The prevention of these accidents and death is primarily a matter of eliminating environmental dangers, and of educating careless or ignorant individuals.

The prevention and cure of many diseases is done with medication. All prescription brought to us at ROSSMORE PHARMACY, 338 Washington Ave., 759-1968, 759-1956 are given prompt attention. We handle the sale and rental of convalescent aids including walkers, wheel chairs and crutches and for your Christmas needs have cosmetics, toiletries, baby needs and greeting cards. Hours: 9 am-10 pm daily, 9 am-9 pm Sundays.

Household Hints: Keep a basket at the foot of the stairs for things that go up, then take them all in one trip!

Belleville took over on its own 35 and drove upfield for three yards before the quarter ended with the score Belleville 14, Hillside 12.

Fourth quarter

Belleville was forced to punt by the Comet defense, but the over-anxious Hillside defenders roughed kicker Gerard, and the Blue-Gold got their first down. On three different plays, Cervasio ran for another first down, but a holding penalty on the next series of downs pushed Belleville back to the Hillside 40 with a third and 26. Comet

Savittiere then intercepted a pass intended for Gerard, and returned the pigskin to the Belleville 19 before being stopped. The Hillside team didn't do much with this opportunity, and the Belleville defense, coupled with a clipping decision, against the Comets, forced the team into a third and 17 situation at the Belleville 31. A pass from Stukes was snatched by Bellboy Nicosia, who returned the ball five yards to his own 34.

Nicosia gained a first down for Belleville, but the Blue-Gold could go no further, and Gerard punted on a fourth and 13 situation.

The ball rolled dead at the Hillside 25, and Stukes passed to Winters for a quick first down. A bomb intended for Savittiere was intercepted by Bellboy Biafore, killing Hillside's hopes for a lucky score.

In spite of a delay of game penalty called against the Bellboys, the clock ran out, leaving Belleville the victors of the game at 14-12, and the victory giving the Blue-Gold a winning season at 5-4.

Woodwind quintet plays; parents hear travel plans

By BEVERLY TOWNSEND

On Monday, November 25, the Tower Woodwind Quintet of Jersey City State College performed at Belleville High School for the Belleville Music Parents Association.

The program began at 8 p.m. and the Quintet performed their first selection the "Passacaille." They followed with four more selections for the evening.

Members of the group were Mr. Frank Scelba of Belleville High, on flute, Mr. Alvin Fossner on oboe, Mr. David Dworkin on clarinet, Mr. Richard Scott on bassoon, and Mr. Edward Black on the french horn.

Following the performance of the quintet, Mr. Robert Wing, director of the Belleville High School Band, spoke to the parents and students about the plans of the trip to Florida this year. Mr. Wing said the Band, Twirlers, Color Guard, and Flag Twirlers would leave Saturday morning May 19, 1975 at 10:30 a.m. and would arrive in Orlando Florida 8:20 a.m. Sunday morning. The groups will be staying at the Hyatt House in Orlando and each room will be shared by four students. At the hotel there will be a swimming pool, shops, restaurants, and free buses from the Hotel to Disneyworld continually until closing.

When the students arrive in Orlando, they have Sunday and Monday to do what they like and on Tuesday, the Band, Twirlers, Color Guard, and Flag Twirlers will appear in the parade in Disneyworld. At 6:00 they will return to the hotel and leave Florida and will arrive home a 7:51 p.m. Wed. night back in Belleville.

Mr. Wing said without the help of the Music Parents Association this trip would not have been made possible. However, there is still a lot of money-raising benefits yet to be done so, if anyone from the Band, Twirlers, Color Guard, or Flag Twirlers come to your door, don't turn them away because it is not only for these groups to go to Florida but also to make everyone in Disneyworld see what a terrific town they come from.

Class poll results

By CHRIS MANNING

Has your curiosity been sparked by what the senior poll really is? It is simply the process by which the seniors vote for those people of the "Class of '75" whom they feel fit various categories best.

This activity has been a tradition in Belleville for a number of years. However, in the past years the students have been hesitant to vote because they feel that it is too much of a popularity contest and many of the just winners are not even nominated. These students believe that only a select few from each class, year after year, always come up the victors but, this is not always the case.

It's certainly true that there are students who are more well known than others, however, this situation is present in all primary and secondary schools, therefore just about anybody has a chance to win in one of the categories.

The categories this year were set up as follows and are listed along with the victors:

- BEST LOOKING - Roger Luzzi and Joan Marie Hess.
- BEST DRESSED - Anthony Villano and Debbie Giglio.
- BEST SMILE - Vinnie Casale and Meinda Pico.
- CLASS COUPLE - John DuPont and Roxanne Renna.
- MOST LIKLY TO SUCCEED - Pat Caputo and Mary Mardulakas.
- MOST VERSATILE - Steve Gerard and Mary Mardulakas.
- CLASS MUSICIAN - Jerry Dillon and Susan Narucki.
- CLASS ARTIST - Fred Lardaro and Kathy Guarino.
- MOST ATHLETIC - Steve Senatore and Gloria Barbone.
- MOST SCHOOL SPIRIT - Chris Manning and Dawn Marchese.

Two new faces in science

By JAMES MURPHY

The science department of Belleville High School has two new teachers in its corner of the ring.

They are Mr. Richard Ruffalo and Mr. Bellott. Mr. Bellott is in his second year of teaching, but, this year is his first in the Belleville school system. He attended Barringer High School, in Newark, and then, went on to fulfill his education at Paterson State College.

The courses which he is teaching are biology and physical science, which are enriched courses in Belleville High.

He is an avid and knowledgeable sports fan, with liking in almost any sport. His future goals are to attain his master's degree, be a steadying influence on student's, and teach to his best ability.

Mr. Ruffalo is also in his second year of teaching, and this too, is his first year at Belleville. Last year he instructed at Myrtle Avenue School in Irvington, ironically, with Mr. Bellott. He was basketball coach there and won the town championship. He attended Montclair State College, where he was on the track team, which he co-captained his senior year.

The courses which he teaches this year are basic electricity, electronics, and biology.

He too, is an avid sports enthusiast which is evidenced by the fact that he was the coach of Belleville's cross country team and wound up with a successful season.

His future aspirations are to work for and receive his master's degree, continually be active in activities outside of school, and, to make a career out of being a teacher.

Teachers are back now from annual convention

By SUE COWAN

Where do teachers go to exchange ideas, hear educational views on certain subjects dictated by authorities, see the latest equipment, educational trends, and innovations? That's right, the annual New Jersey Education Association Convention, which took place in Atlantic City on November 7 and 8 this year.

Many of the teachers here at B.H.S. attended this outing. Mr. A. McGinnis, history teacher, attended the general meeting, went to workshops and viewed the displays. Meanwhile, Mr. Leonard Marciano, English teacher, was present at curriculum meetings, and took a special interest in the latest audio-visual aids, and viewed the booths. Perusing at her own rate too, was Mrs. Susan Weintrob, English teacher, noting exhibits pertinent to journalism and English. She also attended a session given by the famed Dr. Joyce Brothers, and listened to the N.J.E.A. president at the general session.

All these teachers were certainly impressed by the convention, though, this, like everything in life, is not perfect. Mr. Marciano feels an improvement in the organization of the convention would be having an outline kept on each person to see what especially aroused their curiosity. Mrs. Weintrob expressed her dislike in having too many commercial aides and not enough creative materials. She practically contemplated that the educational devices were astronomically expensive. Also, Mrs. Weintrob feels the realistic problems of teaching should be further highlighted at the convention.

It was an almost perfect outing, with beautiful climatic conditions and the chance for all teachers in the state to have an educational experience. In agreement was the aspect that the N.J.E.A. Convention proves beneficial to these teachers in their classrooms by showing them the latest films, books, etc., with which to broaden education.

It's coming!

"Entertainment '74," a new revue produced by Mr. Robert W. Leffellbine, will be presented Wednesday, December 11 at 7:30 p.m. Admission is $1.50 and tickets will go on sale on December 9. They can be purchased from any performer in the show or at the door the night of the show.

In the role of Sandy, the female lead, is Pattie Myer, a sophomore who is making her first appearance in a starring role on the Belleville High stage. Pattie studies dancing with the Studio Workshop of Lyndhurst and has performed with the Halfpenny Playhouse of Upsala College. She will be seen the previous night in a dance number in Mr. Leffellbine's revue, "Entertainment '74".

John Cacella, also a sophomore, has the male lead of Danny. John is very interested in theatre but he intends to pursue it as a sideline only.

Also in principal roles are Donna Iacobelli, Janice Emmer, John Farese, Barbara Del Russo, Valerie Olivo, Paula Minardi, Charlie Kramer, John Burlazzi, and Steve Missaglia. Mariruth Cavanaugh, who has acted in Theatre "Y" productions and various other stage parts, is the student director for "Class Reunion".

The advisors, Mrs. Grancagnolo and Miss Hosley, are both very interested in theatre work. Miss Hosley, an English major, has taken courses in drama and hopes to receive her masters degree in theatre. Mrs. Grancagnolo has her Bachelor of Arts in theatre and will receive her masters degree in theatre with a concentration in choreography. She has directed or choreographed previously such outstanding plays as "Anything Goes", "Mame", "Our Town", and "The Glass Menagerie". For "Class Reunion", Mrs. Grancagnolo divided the club into crews, each one concentrating on a specific area of the production. There are crews for costumes, props, sets, sound, and lighting.

As a future goal, the Drama Club is working on a spring production for Children's Theatre which they would like to offer to the Belleville grammar schools as an assembly program. A major project this year will be a fund raising campaign to enable the club to attend a Broadway musical.

This energetic group looks to provide popular entertainment to the students of Belleville High with their nostalgic show, "Class Reunion". Both Miss Hosley and Mrs. Grancagnolo express the desire that it will be a positive experience for the club members and a pleasant experience for the audience.

College reps speak to students

By JOE ANN CALABRO

What's the college of your choice? Rutgers, Fairleigh Dickinson, Essex County College? Representatives from these and other colleges were at Belleville High School, Wednesday, November 13, for College Orientation Night.

The meeting held in the auditorium was arranged by Mr. Herman Knuppel, Director of the Guidance Department. There was a panel of ten college representatives, who each spoke for eight to ten minutes on the programs, tuitions, and financial aid of their school.

Mr. Knuppel opened the meeting with some statements on the financial aid and the scholarships open to students.

The first representative to speak was Mr. Hamilton from Fairleigh Dickinson University. He spoke about the education attainment of a four year college and its tuition. Mr. Hamilton told the parents that the cost of tuition is very important but there are various time payment plans today. He also discussed the sixteen institutions of private education in New Jersey and the courses they offer.

The representative from Essex County College was Mr. Abaite, the Director of the Educational Assistance Program, located in Belleville on Washington Avenue. The Educational Assistance Program was set up to help students with any educational problems they may have and is open to everyone for help. He explained to the parents how attending Essex County College is a very good way of finding out if college is for you. Like other colleges, Essex County College has a full program of courses with one difference; - a very low tuition fee of $15 per credit.

Attending the meeting also were two representatives from the Mountainside School of Nursing. They were Mrs. Just, an instructor at the school, and one of her students and also alumni of B.H.S., Miss Dobolski. Mrs. Just described the various nursing courses which are available to girls interested in attaining their R.N.

From Rutgers State University was Mr. J. Thomas. He spoke about many different schools associated with Rutgers and their courses, some of which are co-ed.

From the New Jersey Institute of Technology was Mr. J. Conti, the Assistant Consultant. Mr. Conti brought up the recent newspaper article, which said the school was changing their name, and said that this action should take place in the next few weeks. He gave the parents a list of entrance requirements and added a note of encouragement by saying the field of Engineering has an excellent outlook for the next ten years. Not wanting to talk over his time limit, he concluded by saying that everyone is welcome to visit.

The representative from Engine City was Mr. L. Berlin, who stressed the school's Hands on Education Program. He also spoke about the seventy trade schools in our area.

Last was the representative from the Air Force. He informed the audience of the ROTC Program which every service, whether it be Army, Navy or Air Force has. If a student is interested in this type of training, he advises them to contact a college and find out which service they would like to enter. The Sergeant added that the government pays most of the tuition. As a man in the service for twenty years, he concluded by saying that along with the benefits, it also has both good and bad points.

At the conclusion of the formal part of the program, the parents and representatives talked while having coffee and doughnuts provided by the Home and School Association.

The Girl's Service Organization attended the meeting. They helped make the meeting more enjoyable by having a cake sale to raise funds for their club.

Solve-a-crime

By A. C. Gordon

You are the detective

You drive your car at a snail's pace this evening through one of the densest fogs in the city's history, most of the time with your head out of the car's window in order barely to make out the white center line of the street. Finally, after many stops to alight from the car and check house numbers at close range, you arrive at your destination, the lush suburban home of racketeer boss Pete Moss.

Moss's face, when he answers your ring at his door, clearly indicates he is not happy to see you, but he reluctantly admits you and leads the way to his huge, beautifully decorated family room where he seats himself in a leather-upholstered chair, lights a cigar, and then fixes an inquiring gaze on you.

"As you well know," you begin, "we've been working hard for some time in efforts to smother the operations of a counterfeiting ring in this territory — operations we're sure you have a big hand in. We haven't thus far been able to gather enough evidence to indict you — but yesterday we thought we had succeeded. We received a phone call from one of your lieutenants, Vincent Hatton, informing us that he was fed up with the whole deal, that he was going to blow the whistle on you, that he was going to come to our office today and tell everything he knew."

You pause to light your pipe, then resume: "Big trouble is, Vincent didn't show up. He was murdered late this afternoon ... shot through the head in his apartment."

Pete Moss stares at you through half-open lids. "Yeh, I learned about that just about fifteen minutes ago while I was on my way home from a workout at the gym. Saw the headlines as I passed a newspaper rack about a block from here."

"And so now you know why I'm here," you say.

"Sure. You suspect me of making the hit — but you couldn't be farther off the mark! So Vince claimed he had something to tell you. He had nothing on me — and neither have you! And as for closing up his mouth with a bullet, you can't pin that on me!"

"Well," you say, "if you're not involved in Vince Hatton's murder, you'll have no objections to telling me, honestly, how you knew he was dead!"

What has aroused your suspicions of Pete Moss? Solution below

Decriminalization Of Marijuana Use Is Topic of Debate

The question "Should New Jersey Remove Penalties for Possession of Small Quantities of Marijuana for Personal Use?" will be the subject of debate on the monthly "Opposing Opinions" segment of "Assignment: New Jersey," Wed., Dec. 18 at 9 p.m. and Sun., Dec. 22 at 5:30 p.m. on Channel 50.

"Opposing Opinions" steps out of the usual debate format program, and in its place utilizes a courtroom setting with attorneys representing the pro and con witnesses.
