

Tuesday balloting to decide leaders

By PAUL STERN

An intense, heated and unpredictable Town Commission campaign will end next Tuesday when Belleville voters choose their town leaders for the next four years.

All five Commissioners are vying for seats along with eight challengers. Though observers almost unanimously say three of the five incumbents will be returned to office, the other two seats are the subjects of hot and heavy competition.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. next Tuesday in 24 locations around town, and voting information may be obtained from the Town Clerk's office during that time.

Ballot positions are as follows:

• 1A, Rev. Prince Hamilton, minister of Little Zion UAME Church, and the first black man ever to seek office in Belleville.

• 2A, Commissioner Michael Marotti, seeking a second term and considered a heavy favorite.

• 3A, Joseph Domanti, New York attorney, currently battling with several top challengers.

• 4A, Patrick Lee, an instructor and computer expert at Wagner College, Staten Island.

• 5A, Caesar Romano, a Board of Education member and strong challenger.

• 6A, Commissioner Mary Senatore, seeking a third term, and rated in the top three by observers.

• 7A, Commissioner Vincent Strumolo,

another strong incumbent, seeking a third term.

• 8A, Commissioner Robert Laterza, seeking a second consecutive term, strong, but reportedly fighting to retain his seat.

• 9A, Mayor Joseph McGreevy, seeking a third term, and like Laterza battling for political survival.

• 10A, Frank Bambo, a 20-year-old assistant manager of a local supermarket.

• 11A, Rocco Saletta, a senior staff assistant for Public Service Electric and Gas who lost a Commission bid in 1971 by two votes.

• 12A, Kenneth Smith, former mayor and retired businessman. Another strong challenger.

• 13A, Nicholas Raimo, a bank director

AN EDITORIAL

Why bother voting Tuesday?

Lethargy seems to have overtaken the Belleville voter. As the Commission campaign comes to a close, more and more the comment is heard from citizens all over town "Why bother to vote Tuesday?" With the state of our economy — the state of the State — and the state of the Nation — the average voter is possessed with a rejection syndrome.

Why bother to vote? More often than not, the observation comes from the newly enfranchised voters — the teenagers — the 18-year-olds, the 19-year-olds. As we go up and on into the higher age brackets, the higher we go, the more cynical is voter reaction. Down through the decades, voters have thrown out one crooked bunch of politicians only to see them replaced with a worse crowd. And so it is little wonder that the voter today asks "Why vote?"

Fortunately for Belleville, we have enjoyed elected public officials and School Board governments performing in office without corruption and scandal that have plagued cities like Newark, Jersey City, Atlantic City.

The record of all five incumbent Commissioners is an honest one. The question arises — should honesty in office motivate a voter to visit the polls and re-elect an honest public official? Is honesty the only virtue which a voter should seek in an elected public official? We guess it's old-fashioned to assume a candidate for public office enters a political race with presumption of honesty.

Belleville Commissions have not been particularly known for their innovative approaches to the administration of government. Much of the time Commissioners have been preoccupied with the political effects of an official decision. Often, Commissioners were

Historic event

Belleville began its Bicentennial celebration in grand style last Friday when people from all segments of the community gathered to commemorate three historic sites in town. At right, School One principal Pat Forte (right) and Belleville Historical Society member Edward O'Neil watch as one historic marker is unveiled in front of Belleville's oldest school building— School One. Signs were also dedicated at the Rutgers Bridge and at Belleville's first firehouse. Six teacher jobs will go in school cutbacks

Six non-tenured Belleville teachers will most likely lose their jobs next year as part of a Board of Education plan to reduce its budget $150,000.

The Board is expected to vote May 27 on the multi-faceted economy plan which would eliminate one part-time and five full time teaching positions.

Though Board of Education president Richard Mahmorian said the staff reduction is being made "with regret," it is necessary, he said, to meet the agreement reached earlier this year between the Board and the Town Commission. The cutback will save the Board $56,000.

"We don't like to do this at a time when there are so many people on the unemployment rolls," said Mahmorian, "but we felt we had an obligation to the taxpayers." Belleville's overwhelming defeat of the 1975-76 school budget, said the Board president, was interpreted by the Board as "a mandate by the people" to reduce the budget.

One part-time elementary music teacher will be laid off, along with two junior high and two senior high school teachers.

In conjunction with the staff cutback, the Board will eliminate behind-the-wheel driver education "in its entirety," said Mahmorian. He noted that driver education theory will still be taught at the high school. An estimated savings of $18,900 will be made there.

One new program that will remain intact, apparently, is the new intra-district transportation program. Though the Board has not announced its official decision on the new hazard-based busing system, it did not eliminate the required $14,000 from the budget.

As another part of the economy measure, said Mahmorian, the Board will abandon its department head system in favor of "coordinators of education." The new concept, which will apply to the junior and senior high schools, will increase teaching assignments for ex-department heads and help cut costs. Mahmorian said school officials have been working on implementation of the idea for over a year.

The Board has also shifted an additional $25,000 from its surplus account into the anticipated revenue section of the 1975-76 budget, leaving the unappropriated balance at about $77,000.

A $30,350 expenditure was also eliminated by reducing the number of elementary schools offering lunch. Originally, said Mahmorian, the Board had planned to equip all Belleville elementary schools with lunch-serving

Zoning Board nixes Burger King's bid

A variance application for the construction of a Burger King Restaurant on the corner of Washington Avenue and William Street was denied, 3-2, last Tuesday by the Belleville Board of Adjustment.

Despite arguments by witnesses that the fast food establishment would upgrade a "run down" business area, Zoners Aldo DiChiara, Kenneth Nash, and Rocco Constantino voted against granting the special exemption required for the restaurant's construction. Board chairman John Stetz and alternate Al Schmitt favored the application, made by property owner Thomas Fahmie, 78-102 Washington Avenue.

Though the Board did not announce its formal reasons for denial at its Tuesday night meeting, questioning during two lengthy sessions centered around the adequacy of proposed parking, the quantity of traffic the restaurant would create, and on hours and the exact nature of the business.

Arguing in favor of the grant were four expert witnesses and franchise owner Robert Morrow, who testified the Burger King would help foster business, provide local part-time jobs and improve the appearance of the "run-down" section of Belleville's commercial and retail area. As proposed, the fast food establishment would have replaced a row of "cold-water flats" and vacant stores — currently a potential fire and safety hazard, said the witnesses.

Though no one from the surrounding businesses or residences objected to the application, the Zoners themselves questioned parking facilities and the impact the restaurant would have on traffic and safety in the neighborhood.

According to traffic expert Jack Artale, Burger King would draw an estimated 112 cars between noon and 1 p.m. each day. He also testified that he believed the 52 proposed parking spaces would be adequate, since each customer would stay in the restaurant an average of 20 minutes. When questioned by DiChiara, however, Artale admitted he had not done a study of the number of school children who would pass through the area each day.

Morrow told the Board he would permit no loitering by teenagers on the premises, and also said he would give preference to Belleville residents when hiring staff.

Shooting victim out of danger

A Belleville man hospitalized after being shot three weeks ago appears to be out of danger of death, the Times/News learned this week.

Nicholas Palmeri, 49, of 75 Moore Place remains in Columbus Hospital in Newark, but late Tuesday a hospital spokesman said he is expected to be moved out of the intensive care unit in the next few days.

Newark detectives conducting the investigation say Palmeri has not identified his assailant, though police say they believe he was shot by a friend during an argument.

Reports that Palmeri and another man drew guns during an argument in Vuono's Tavern 190 Passaic Avenue the week before the shooting were unfounded; the proprietor of the bar flatly denies that any such incident occurred. Newark detectives said they had not looked into the report since they have determined the shooting did not occur in Belleville.

Palmeri was left at Columbus Hospital, Newark on April 17 by a man who failed to give his name, officials said. Police report Palmeri was shot once in the right side at extremely close range with a .32 or .38 caliber pistol.

Stahl joins library staff

The Belleville Public Library has added Barry Stahl to its staff as a part-time reference and young adult librarian.

Stahl previously worked as a reference librarian at the Paterson Free Public Library, as a library-publisher liaison representative, and as a map reference librarian at the American Geographical Society in New York City.

He received his B.A. degree in 1974, Brooklyn College, and graduated from Pratt Institute, Graduate School of Library and Information Science in February, 1975. He has taken additional courses in map resources and map librarianship at the Columbia University School of Library Service.

An avid needlepointer, Stahl is contemplating offering a course in that hobby at the library if people are interested.

False fire alarm signal causes injury to four

Four people were injured and a Belleville fire engine damaged two weeks ago when a carload of teenagers collided with the fire truck responding to a false alarm.

According to police and fire authorities, four teenagers in the car were injured and taken to Clara Maass Hospital for treatment after their car hit the fire engine broadside at 9:46 p.m. April 23 at the intersection of Washington and Malone Avenues.

The driver of the car, Jose J. Millan of Lyndhurst, was issued a summons for failure to yield right of way to an emergency vehicle. The false alarm was received from a fire box at Adelaide Street and Malone Avenue.

According to Fire Captain Edward Dunleavy, two Fire Department vehicles had already made the turn onto Malone when the collision occurred. The aerial ladder truck was in the middle of its turn, said the captain, when the Millan's car hit it broadside.

Millan's car was nearly destroyed as a result of the impact, said Dunleavy, though the fire engine sustained only slight damage to several side compartment doors. According to Dunleavy, the teenager's vehicle skid 50 feet before it collided with the engine.

Though no firemen were injured in the collision, Dunleavy noted the danger firefighters and the public are exposed to by those who trigger false alarms.

Dunleavy said a recent crackdown on false alarm violators has reduced the number of phony calls to "a scattered few." The firebox at Malone and Adelaide Street, he said, is a common false alarm box, even though the area around it is well-lighted at night.

A— The reason for the hair to come out frizzy is because by rolling the perm you pull the hair tight. By doing so the hair loses its elasticity. Fine hair should be permed with a mild perm lotion, and watched accurately. With questions like these, please include a sample of the hair.

Anti-vandal alarm is purchased

Vandalism in Belleville schools may under go a drastic reduction in the coming years following the purchase recently of an intrusion alarm system by the Board of Education.

At its April 28 meeting, the Board authorized the purchase of the $3,560 system to be installed at School Seven. Should the system prove effective, said Board president Richard Mahmorian, others for other Belleville schools may be purchased.

"I hope it works," said Mahmorian about the alarm, nothing that it is designed to help police catch vandals in the act

The system is being installed at School Seven because that building has been the subject of most of the vandalism on school building in town.

According to business administrator Mrs. Mary Shader, the Belleville Board of Education expends about $10,000 annually just to replace broken glass in its buildings.

School Nine petitions to retain Rosamilia

Michael Rosamilia's status as principal of Belleville School Nine received the support of a number parents recently when they presented a petition requesting the veteran administrator remain at that school.

Addressing the Board of Education at its April 28 meeting, Mrs. Sandra Metts presented the petition as "proof of our confidence" in Rosamilia. "We've had half a dozen principals over the last 10 years," said Mrs. Metts, who also wanted to know each Board member's feelings on what she said was a rumored transfer.

Earlier this school year the Board granted a request by Rosamilia that he be relieved of his duties as assistant superintendent of schools. Prior to that request he had been serving a dual role.

Though Board president Richard Mahmorian would not permit "a poll of the Board," he did tell Mrs. Metts and several other School Nine parents that the Board would take their request "under advisement." A final decision on the matter will most likely be made late in May when the Board considers all reappointments of personnel.

None of the other Board members wished to comment.

Rosamilia, who was also at the meeting, said he was "obviously flattered" by the parents' petition, but "I didn't initiate this action or in any way encourage it."

Drama parent puts her money ($600) where her mouth is

There are not too many people these days who put their money where their mouth is. Drama enthusiasts at Belleville High School are a lot better off today, however, because of one local family that did.

Two weeks ago, Mrs. Josephine Izzo donated $600 to the Board of Education in support of the performing arts. The money, said Belleville High Principal Raymond O. Smith, is for the creation of a Dramatic Parents Club. "We have a rebirth of drama at Belleville High" Smith told the Board. Needless to say, he expressed considerable gratitude toward Mrs. Izzo's donation.

Mrs. Izzo's in her turn, praised the efforts of the high school teacher Robert Lefebvre, director of the senior class. Lefebvre, said Mrs. Izzo, is one teacher helping "to bring culture to Belleville."

According to Mrs. Izzo, the idea for the donation began through her daughter Mary Jane's involvement with the recent high school production of "Mame." The student actors and actresses needed a special "counterbalance fly system" for backdrops to properly stage the show.

Through the urgings of her daughter — a Belleville High senior — Mrs. Izzo and her husband Anthony paid for the sophisticated equipment, and even helped put it up nights before the production hit the stage.

Though Mrs. Izzo, in presenting her donation to the Board of Education, modestly concealed the exact sum, Board president Richard Mahmorian publicly announced the "generous" amount, drawing considerable applause from the audience at the meeting

"I'm heartwinded," said the president, "to see people take such an active role in their schools."

To that added trustee Mrs. Viola Spray: "This is not a new interest of hers (Mrs. Izzo's). She's given of her time for all kinds of committees. She's always been one of our best parents in Belleville."

Mrs. Josephine Izzo pauses while addressing the Board of Education. She and her husband donated $600 for the creation of a parent's drama club.

"About two hundred years ago, 1773, to be exact, a group of patriots gathered for what has become known in history as the Boston Tea Party. What brought it about was the issue of taxation without representation and general dissatisfaction with the methods employed by the authorities. Our nation is almost 200 years old. There have been many tea parties in Belleville, and hopefully, on May 13th, the patriots of our Belleville will vote their hearts and minds and cast a vote for me. I am running as an independent. I am independent of the professional politicians, but very much dependent on the wishes of the people. I am against higher taxes and revaluation. I am in favor of Economy in government, Business improvements, Recreational facilities for the young and the aged, Housing for our senior citizens and a more progressive town in general. Back in 1773, John Adams's wife Abigail wrote, "The flame is kindled and like lightning it catches from Soul to Soul." I hope I have been able to kindle a flame, and perhaps with the support of the people of Belleville I will be elected. If elected I pledge myself to the people of our town. more concerned with obtaining jobs for political hacks rather than exert the great effort to keep down municipal expenditures.

We could sound a statesman-like note and suggest Tuesday, Belleville voters will have the opportunity to remake the face of Belleville and shape its future for generations to come. This type of observation, however, would be pure, unadulterated baloney. Based on the record of incumbent Commissioners, the experience and backgrounds of the main challengers, it is unlikely the next Town Commission will change the course of Belleville's future.

It appears to us Belleville residents can look forward to four more years of the same type of government they have experienced during the past four. And if that is the best we could look forward to in the way of municipal government, it is far better than to live day today wondering whether a new scandal will break out in City Hall.

The five incumbent Commissioners are honest public officials. Each in her or his own way leaves something to be desired in serving the public interest. Each in her or his own way has manifested a dedication to serve some of the people some of the time. Maybe this is all we could or should expect of elected public officials in Belleville.

There are thirteen candidates seeking five Commission berths. Of the thirteen, we should like to address ourselves first to the five incumbents.

Mayor Joseph McGreevy is a decent individual. He has served two terms and is seeking a third. Joe has one weakness — he takes criticism on a personal basis, and as a result, he loses sight of the bigger scene. McGreevy believes in a debt-free Town Hall. It's good philosophy, but it collides head-on with the need for progress if substantial capital improvements are required. Normally the quiet fellow, Joe McGreevy is known to lose his Irish temper when he is unfairly criticized. As for example, when his critics accuse him of misrepresentation when he claims the Town is debt free. The truth is there is no municipal debt. However, the School Board owes money for outstanding bonds to construct the new high school — a debt which is not the responsibility of Town government. And so — in this instance — Joe McGreevy's claim to a debt free Town is absolutely correct. McGreevy has been accused of pushing a real estate re-assessment program — a requirement of the Essex County Tax Board. McGreevy explains the reason why he attempted to obtain four votes — a requirement for such an expenditure — to underwrite the real estate re-appraisal project. There are those among us who disagree with this position — but then we live in an America where we still believe a person has the right to dissent or have a difference of opinion.

Public Works Commissioner Mary Senatore is probably the hardest working Commissioner Belleville has had since former Mayor William Williams ruled the roost during the great depression years of the 30's. Mary Senatore is Belleville Democratic Chairman. She is a descendant of an old, pioneer Belleville family. A truly dedicated woman, Mary Senatore has a total commitment to helping people. Her aggressive interest to aid those less fortunate than she has made her unpopular in some quarters. Say what one will about Mary Senatore, one must admit that she is an honest public official.

Parks and Public Property Commissioner Michael Marotti, on leave from the Belleville Police Department, has just completed his first four-year term in office and is asking voters to elect him one more time. Marotti is a household name in local Little League circles. He has dedicated a lifetime to the youth of our community. Work seems to be Mike Marotti's middle name — and if it is work and honesty that one seeks in a public official, these qualities are easy to discover in Marotti.

Public Safety Director Robert Laterza was born in the Big Tree section of Belleville. A pharmacist by profession, Laterza has served under the Council-Manager form of government — and in that connection, he was elected Mayor by his colleagues. Bob is an easy-going, friendly, trusting public official. His personal integrity is legendary. His dedication to the Town and its people is a matter of public record.

Public Affairs Director Vincent Strumolo is a humble young man, retired from business at an early age, and enjoys serving the public. Strumolo also served as a Councilman during the Council-Manager government years. He has the smarts of a successful businessman and the devotion of a compassionate, public servant. He tries to avoid controversy — and usually he is successful.

Of the challengers, former School Board President, Rocco Saletta; a former Mayor, Kenneth Smith; School Board Member, Caesar Romano; and Nicholas Raimo, a major influence in Veteran affairs, are the "front runners."

We have a sentimental attachment to former Mayor Ken Smith. During his forty years of public service, we thought he served well and manifested a deep and abiding feeling for the welfare of his people. Ken Smith is a good guy and also a dedicated and concerned Belleville citizen.

Rocco Saletta ran for commissioner four years ago and lost by two votes. His business and public records make him well qualified to serve as a member of the Town Commission. Listed in "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges," Saletta accumulated an outstanding record as a member of the Belleville Board of Education.

School Board member Caesar Romano, a former Vice President of that body, is getting his feet wet in Commission Politics. Over the years, Romano has demonstrated an ongoing interest in the quality of life in Belleville. He has been active with the Boy Scouts and the Belleville Jaycees.

The remaining candidates include Rev. Prince Hamilton, a local Pastor, who is a two-year Belleville resident. Joseph Domanti, an attorney, lives in Belleville for three years. Patrick Lee, a Systems Analyst Administrator at Wagner College, Staten Island, and a graduate of Fordham University, has lived in Belleville for fourteen years, devoting most of his time to American Legion Post activities.

Frank Bambo, at age 20, is the youngest of the candidates. He is an Assistant "Front-End Manager" for Supermarket General Corporation in Belleville. Bambo, a 1974 Belleville High School graduate, is single. He no doubt is trying to find out what politics is all about at the Commission level — and in the process, who knows, but luck might strike and make him a winner — improbable, but when one's name is on a ballot, the potential to win is always present.

So — to sum up — we believe the five incumbent Commissioners have done a fair job — they could have performed better. However, during the past four years, taking into consideration the kind of politics we have in Belleville, we have had a relatively harmonious Commission. We have had honest public officials running Town Government. These are two strong points in favor of the incumbents.

As for the challengers, Belleville citizens could not go wrong by voting for Rocco Saletta, Kenneth Smith, Caesar Romano, or Nicholas Raimo. If there are some Belleville voters who seek a change in the Commission membership, Saletta would be an excellent choice — and so would Ken Smith. Caesar Romano and Nicholas Raimo would also be able to serve at no less efficiency than those who have served us in the past.

"Why vote on Tuesday?" Well — you really do not have to — but if you don't, you can rest assured the greedy, selfish, special-interest-motivated voter will vote in your place and stand — and you can be sure the level of government performance will be worse because you failed to visit the polls and cast your ballot.

It's all up to you — you live in an America that was once known as the land of the free and the home of the brave. Belleville could be a piece of that land if you have the courage to visit the polls Tuesday and vote your conscience.

Golden Comments

By James R. Golden

Here they come thundering down the homestretch in the makeup commission race in which 13 candidates are vying to win one of the first five winning positions that will determine the officials who will administer the town's affairs for the next four years.

As they passed the three-quarter post Marotti rode the rail position with Senatore and Strumolo running fast for the finish line in what could prove a photo-finish determination of who comes out first by a nose.

There is a wild scramble for the fourth and fifth winning slots with incumbents Laterza and McGreevy being pressed hard by fast-running Ken Smith who got off to a fast start and has been quickening his pace as the race progresses.

Likewise, Nick Raimo and the impressive new-comer Joe Domanti are running fast on the stretch while the rapid pace for the wire shows signs of flagging by the two present incumbents.

If traditional custom is followed, no doubt, the publisher of this paper will editorially endorse those candidates whom he regards best suited to run the Town of Belleville's governmental affairs for the ensuing four years. This is a privilege enjoyed by most all newspapers and usually reflects sound, careful judgement designed to foster betterment of the community and improvement of the business and cultural aspects of its life.

This scribe is completely without knowledge of any of Mr. Orecchio's sentiments on this subject. I do defer to his right of endorsements of political candidates, should he elect to, however, this does not suggest that his views would, in all cases, concur with my sentiments. Therefore, with the indulgence of my readers and without prejudice to any of the candidates, all of whom I respect as honest, honorable and competent men and women whom I commend for offering their services in the thankless task of serving as public officials, I should like to present to the readers of any column my studied views of some of the candidates and my reasons for supporting their campaign efforts or disagreement with their policies.

To start off, without trying to determine the order of their finishing, it is generally agreed that Marotti, Senatore and Strumolo are winners. Marotti in his first term has proved he is a "do'er". He has done the job and is popular. Mrs. Senatore with two terms to her credit offers "continuous service" in a job she has handled well I think, as Public Works Director. She is a powerful Democratic Town Chairman and has legions of followers who follow her loyally.

Vinnie Strumolo, except for a brief term, has held public office in Belleville since 1962. He keeps rolling along like "old man river" and runs a department that offers many good services appreciated by the public.

Criminal lawyer Joseph Domanti, a new-comer in local politics has been a refreshing breath of fresh air in local politics. He is "sharp" make a fine appearance and has strong support from the Pete Nappi family and the large Jackie Rega family.

It's 'Be Kind to Animals Week'

To The Editor:

National Be Kind to Animals Week, which is May 4-10 this year, is a reminder to appreciate our earth and responsibility to fellow creatures.

Be Kind to Animal Week is sponsored by the American Humane Association, headquartered in Denver, Col., and approximately 1,200 local animal welfare organizations throughout the country. Pet owners have a responsibility to provide proper care for their animals, to have them spayed or neutered to prevent unwanted litters. Many times neglect of our pets in unintentional. We can gain much in these troubled times by opening our hearts to newly adopted pets and being mindful of the welfare of all stray and/or neglected animals.

Shirley almost 'caused a fit'

To The Editor:

In response to Shirley MacLaine, with malice toward none:

I know of a statement you made that almost had me in a fit. You said all people 65 and older should be done away with.

Did you think of your own mother and father, and many others like your sister and brothers? You said it will save the country a lot of money. Really now, are you trying to be funny? The senior citizens paid into Social Security. It is not a gift. They receive the money back to give them a lift.

Life to us is never peaches and cream or one sweet song. It has been that way since we were born. So you see my dear, some day you will grow old, if you live that long, and have the ability to live in peace, quiet and tranquility.

Storm is disturbed by calm

By PAUL STERN
Special to the Times/News

BELLEVILLE, N.J.— Controversy and violence erupted in this small, serene suburban community today when a little-known election candidate committed what may have been a fatal political error.

Hubert "Buddy" Howritechare, one of 14 candidates in an upcoming Town Commission election here, was reportedly in "satisfactory" condition at Clarabel Morass Hospital after undergoing emergency surgery for removal of a tea cup from his thoracic region.

According to available reports, Howritechare was attacked by one of his own political advisors when the candidate referred to one of his adversaries as "an all right person." Said one slightly intoxicated but otherwise reliable witness to the attack: "It was horrendus. I... L. He... and then he... Oh, it was just horrible." Police reports corroborated that account, adding that the atrocity occurred at a secret tea thrown for Howritechare by the International Society of Retired Bookmakers and Affiliates, Inc.

Doctors labored throughout the early morning hours to save the popular office-seeker, "teetering on the brink of heavenly incumbency," as one supporter put it.

"He's a remarkable man," said head surgeon Dr. Frederick Von Humen-tauschen. "Most political candidates just fold right up when we start cutting in. Mr. Howritechare didn't blink an eye, even during the pulmonary lapendectomy and delicate upper-dorsal, lower-lumbar synchronization. We suspect his high tolerance to phenylmetholmayonnaise contributed significantly to his high coagulant count. Unfortunately, he'll still be in the recovery room when the indictment comes down."

The doctor's remarks left political observers wondering what effect Howritechare's mayonnaise addiction could have on his chances of election. Though most refused to make public comment, privately one expressed concern that the doctor was actually an anti-Howritechare stooge, making a veiled reference to the candidate's rumored link with an international mayonnaise cartel based in Switzerland.

"If word leaked that Howritechare plans to put Belleville on a mayonnaisebased economy standard, it could seriously hamper his chances of election— assuming, of course, that the disclosure didn't trigger even more massive political donations in coming weeks."

Earlier this year the clandestine candidate said he would urge a large research firm to locate in town. Subsequent investigation by a concerned citizens' committee revealed that firm to be the Mayonnaise Institute, involved in a CIA-funded program to harness mayonnaise as the prime source of energy by the year 1998. Scientists as of last January were said to be close to splitting the vinegar atom. In return for campaign funds, said the committee, Howritechare had agreed to "fix" the variance required for construction of a mayonnaise accelerator in town.

Efforts by reporters to obtain comment from the candidate personally were blocked by crowds of the candidate's well-wishers, most of them bearing sidearms or other dangerous weaponry. Howritechare is expected back on the campaign trail by tomorrow morning.

"There's not much time left," said a Howritechare spokesman, "to get even."

SATURDAY NIGHT the Essex County Bar Association held its 77th Annual Dinner at the New York Hilton. The Guest of Honor was the Honorable Lawrence A. Whipple, Chief Judge, United States District Court, District of New Jersey. Judge Whipple is a rare human being — humble, compassionate, gracious. Judge Whipple possesses one of the finest judicial minds in America. Starting out as a Special Assistant to the United States Attorney in 1951, Judge Whipple rose through the ranks to his present high office in September, 1974.

Dinner Chairman Bill McGlynn, the perennial unanimous choice of the lawyers, performed in his typical, imitable style. A great guy, Bill McGlynn is a lot of fun, not only as a toastmaster, but even on a one-to-one basis.

I also had the privilege to converse with an old friend, former Governor of New Jersey and present Chief Justice, Richard J. Hughes. He looked great.

As is its custom, the Bar Association presented a musical show. The outstanding performers were Barrister Richard D. Catenacci, who also doubled as Director; Linda A. Palazzolo, a gal with a beautiful voice; Salvatore Simeone, a guy who could get a character part in Hollywood anytime.

BELEATEDLY, BUT ALWAYS appropriate — I am glad former Texas Governor John B. Connally was acquitted of the allegation that he took campaign contributions and failed to report them. The Government's case was lousy. The key witness against Connally was a shady character who faced bank fraud charges.

Despite all the heavy artillery the government could bring to bear against Connally, a Washington, D.C. jury decided the Government had no case and sent Connally back to Texas a free man. The decision was truly a great victory for justice.

Former Nutleyite, attorney Burrell Ives Humphreys, has been nominated by Governor Brendan T. Byrne to be the new Passaic County Prosecutor. His nomination is running into trouble. A recent editorial in the Herald News pretty much sums up my own opinion:

"PROSECUTORS are often accused of partisanship; there have been shocking instances where a prosecutor ignored serious misconduct by an important member of his own party while pursuing wrongdoers in the other party with great severity. Public confidence is shaken.

The indictment on a kickback charge of Camden County's Democratic chairman, James Joyce, by a state grand jury is a refreshing exception. The Byrne administration clearly wants to avoid the charge of cronyism.

Gov. Byrne's announced intention to appoint Burrell Ives Humphreys, a Wayne lawyer of impressive credentials, as Passaic County prosecutor falls into the same pattern as the Camden case. There is every reason to hope that Mr. Humphreys will enforce the law regardless of party affiliations. That's as it should be.

The Herald-News hopes the governor will make the appointment promptly. If the Senate cannot be persuaded to confirm, Mr. Byrne ought to choose the alternative route, making Mr. Humphreys a deputy attorney general and designating him acting prosecutor. Passaic County badly needs a law enforcement head of Mr. Humphreys' character and integrity."

It would be nice if the stingy Nutley Town Commissioners were to appropriate some capital funds to install an elevator at Town Hall to permit tired journalists and senior citizens to reach the third floor Commission Chambers without the feeling of climbing Mt. Everest. How about it boys? Do you want us to pass the hat around?

TOWN HISTORIAN REPORTS

Of Sandfords, Pop & hoses

The following is the text of an address made last Friday by Town Historian Allan Crisp commemorating the history of Belleville School One, The Rutgers Bridge and the town's first fire house.

On School One:

At a special township election held on September 11, 1852, 180 out of 191 votes were cast in favor of the erection of a public school.

Two acres of land on Stephen Street were purchased from Hugh Holmes for $700, and Theodore Sandford, one of the trustees, made a special trip to Connecticut to obtain suitable plans for the building. A year later, the new school was ready for occupancy.

It was a two-story brick building with brownstone trimmings, measured 60 by 32 feet on the ground, and flaunting a glass-enclosed cupola on its roof. Its construction had cost about $2,000 more than the original $5,000 appropriation, and proud Belleville gave the little four-room structure the title of "The Academy." The street flanking it was soon named "Academy Street."

Some among the teaching staff bore names closely interwoven with the history of Belleville, such as Helen Sandford, Mary Van Rennselaer and Julia DeWitt.

Boards of trustees included such prominent figures as: Theodore Sandford, Dr. Samuel Ward, for many years the town's leading physician, and Charles Clearman, whose son, David A. Clearman, served on the Board of Education for almost two decades.

On Rutgers Bridge

A charter for a bridge across the Passaic River at Belleville was obtained in 1790.

Anthony Rutgers bought the franchise when the bridge was built and he charged a toll. The bridge was destroyed on February 4, 1841 by a great flood.

A new bridge was built and in 1851 it was sold to the three counties, Essex, Hudson and Bergen.

In 1879, an iron draw bridge was built. Old Pop Mulligan, the bridge tender, was quite a character. He was short, squat and somewhat bow-legged. He walked with short, quick steps and had a temper which matched his gait.

When a boat blew for the bridge to open, all the kids in the neighborhood would run to help pop open the draw. Pop would select two or three and after the pole was installed in the crank handle, the "lucky" boys would tramp round and round like a treadmill until the draw was open.

This bridge lasted until 1910, where the bridge that stands today was built.

The first firehouse

In 1882, Belleville decided to create a fire district. It began at Main Street and at first covered only the more thickly settled section of town. Two hose companies were organized, the Valley Hose Company and the Eastwood Hose Company.

The Valley Hose Company moved into the fire house we are honoring today. It was built at a cost of $600 and a locomotive wheel was suspended over the house for the purpose of giving alarm signals.

May I, as Town Historian, say how happy I am to see this latest expression of interest and pride in Belleville's rich history, which is a fitting tribute to our Bicentennial celebration.

Town historian Allan Crisp as he delivers one of many addresses at last Friday's historical dedication ceremony on the School One grounds.

Stefanelli: new VFW leader

Neil Stefanelli has the kind of whirlwind personality that amazes and almost exhausts a person the first time one meets him. His talk comes rapid fire and never dull. As a matter of fact, most of the time it is informative.

Stefanelli, 52, was installed last Saturday as the new commander of Younginger-Alden Jr. Post 275 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. His wife, Marie, was also installed as Madame President of the Women's Auxiliary, making it the first time in the history of the post that a husband and wife team have served in the two top spots.

Stefanelli was born in Newark and is a graduate of Barringer High School. He has been a resident of Belleville since 1955 and a member of VFW Post 275 for the past five years.

Stefanelli served in the Army in World War II, and saw action in both the European and Pacific theaters of war. He was wounded twice, once while fighting in Europe and again during mop-up operations on the island of Okinawa.

Stefanelli is an avid reader and enjoys the mental exercise of doing what might be called informal scholarship in the field of history.

"I enjoy all sorts of reading," said Stefanelli, "but I would say mainly I'm a history buff. I like to follow through on anything questionable in history and solve it to my own satisfaction."

Stefanelli's keen interest in history brought him one surprise, and answered a question that he had been wondering about for 20 years.

"I landed with the Fourth Infantry in the first wave at Normandy, and I could never figure out why we weren't fired on. I didn't learn until 20 years later when I saw the movie 'D-Day' that my outfit was three to four miles off course. As it turned out, we just walked onto the beaches."

Stefanelli is politically active in town, and is currently working for one of Belleville's Commission candidates. He seems to be on fairly good terms with Congressman Peter Rodino, and sports a folder full of letters from the representative. None of the letters are the usual form letters sent by busy politicians, but are headed "Dear Neil," and signed simply "Peter." Stefanelli is proud of the letters, but still seems a little surprised that Rodino takes such personal interest in "a guy like me."

Stefanelli really cares about people on a very personal level. Five years ago when one of his daughter's friends died when her car plunged into the Passaic River from route 21, Stefanelli led other townspeople in blocking off the highway to protest poor safety conditions. As a result, guard rails were raised, reflectors were put up, and officials went one better, installing lights at dangerous locations. As a result, Stefanelli says there are no longer any fatal accidents in which cars go into the river.

As an active member of the Younginger-Alden Jr. Post, Stefanelli takes pride in the group — the things they have done, and the things they plan to do. One of their future projects is a scheduled clean-up of the town's cemeteries, with the post members and the Boy Scouts working together.

While he trumpets the accomplishments of his Post, his family, and his friends, Stefanelli doesn't say much about his personal contributions to town, saying only, "Whatever I do, I try to do it quietly. I'm not looking for praise, I just like to see good work done and I try and do my part towards that end."

Stefanelli works for the Belleville Board of Education in the maintenance department. He lives at 132 Union Avenue with his wife and his daughter Lynn, 20. The Stefanellis have another daughter, Marianne, 23, who is working in Berlin, Germany as a nightclub entertainer.

Where are those @ * ! buses?

By JODI MASSONE

One year ago

Senior citizens continued to walk, while postponements became a commonplace occurrence regarding delivery of a bus for senior citizens.

The latest delay was only one of a series since early last year by the Wayne Bus Company of New York.

This time non-delivery was blamed on a strike in Detroit, but the bus company claimed that bus parts were finally in the hands of the assemblers.

Commissioner of Public Affairs Vincent T. Strumolo, much disturbed, changed the new delivery date of May 1 to the new delivery date of May 15.

No films were being shown at the Capitol Theater, but people were going into the theater, never-the-less. They were the exterminators, who were to hold their own "final performance" at the town's only cinema before it would become a target for the wrecking ball.

It was up to the Board of Commissioners to decide whether a 23 unit apartment building would replace the structure.

Zoning Board member Rocco Constantino and Anthony Laterza voted against recommending the variance, but were overruled by Kenneth Nash, Aldo Di Chiara and John Stetz.

Five years ago

Kids spoke and adults listened. That was the scene five years ago when five student representatives from a government class at Belleville High School sat in together with the town commissioners, at the last commission meeting.

Kids will be kids, and as usual, they asked for things. One was a swimming pool in Plaseon Playground, and also a boys club where fellows could "hang out."

MacDonald's stand was swell for eating hamburgers and french fries, but not any lingering afterwards, as any policeman in town could tell you. When you ate your last fry, you'd better say "good-bye." The girls knew that too, and asked for a "recreation center," for all, not just for boys.

When all was over, Mayor Ken Smith was skeptical that a new recreational center could be built in town unless a substantial portion of funds could be obtained from the state.

I guess adults finally wanted to get into the act, because Mayor Ken Smith, himself, introduced a resolution at the same meeting proposing that a new Town Hall be built on Franklin Avenue and Mill Street, on land adjacent to Clara Maass Hospital.

Dr. Frank Di Ruggiero, a veteran member of the Belleville School Board, was appointed to the Executive Committee of the Essex County Associated Boards of Education. He became the second local man, in recent years, to be named to that post, a position he was to hold for the next three years.

The doctor, who was first elected to the Board of Education in 1956, has served five successive terms and was the longest serving member on the Board. He was president three times and vice president once.

Ten years ago

Little Belleville boys were happy, some girls too! Were Saturday night baths a thing of the past? Kids wished Newark Mayor Hugh Addonizio's water restrictions would last forever.

There was a drought emergency, and due to a quirk in Belleville's water layout, Silver Lake area residents who are users of the water system, were therefore under the Newark Mayor's restrictions.

Belleville residents, not adhering to the rule, were under the direct control of the Newark Police Department, but residents, before complying with the order were given an extra weeks grace period to wash their cars, water their lawns and turn on their air conditioners.

In 1965 you could send your son with $1 for a gallon jug of milk and he would come home with twenty cents change. The milk was 76 cents. Four cents was spent on candy, a very essential energy booster for that long walk home.

Seventeen years ago

A female movie star and songstress visited Belleville High School, her old alma mater. She sang at two assemblies, as an astonished audience learned that three years before she was a student at the same Belleville High. She was Connie Francis.

Twenty-seven years ago

Motorists all but cleared the streets when Belleville High School received its first driver education vehicle from a very nervy General Motors.

One of the first towns to institute a driver education program, Belleville was only waiting for somebody with enough spunk and stamina to loan the school a dual-control vehicle, which did not necessarily have to be returned in the same condition as when it was acquired.

A freak death occurred when a patient, taken skates and all, from the Rivera Park Skating Rink, died at St. Mary's Hospital, Passaic. An autopsy was ordered to ascertain the cause of death.

The roller-skate scare death caused concern to all, and with summer coming along swimmers were cautioned to swim in groups as a protection against drownings and also against sharks, who, despite notions to the contrary, often come close to shore.

E tu, classes?

By MARY JANE IZZO

Julius Caesar lives again at Belleville High School through the efforts of Mrs. Denise Kreiger and three sophomore English classes.

Mrs. Kreiger, a student teacher from Montclair State College, under the direction of Mrs. Gloria Fulcoli assigned one of five imaginative Caesar projects to groups in the classes.

The projects consisted of a "contemporary" newspaper about the assassination of Julius Caesar, a murallette of four action illustrations of important moments in the play, four portraits of Caesar, Brutus, Antony and Cassius, a giant collage or mobile, and a skit.

The contemporary newspaper had to contain all the essentials listed by Mrs. Kreiger: an interview with an eyewitness to the murder, an interview with Brutus, a eulogy on Caesar, and an editorial on political corruption. Most of the students, however, added their own little touches to make the assignment come alive.

Cheryl Rose said she put a lot into her newspaper. "It was a hard assignment," she said. "Once when I came to school with my articles, they were blown away in the street."

The giant mobile had to emphasize important questions, themes, concepts or quotes from the play. "The mobile should reflect and give insight to the play on different intellectual levels," Mrs. Kreiger explained. Susan Santiglia and Carol Vecchione both worked on a mobile.

"I thought it was a wonderful project," Susan said. "It was very definitely worthwhile." Carol added that the project took a long time to do but that it was not hard, just different. "I'd never done anything like it before," she said.

The most unique project was the skit that placed Sherlock Holmes as the detective interviewing suspects of the murder of Caesar. Danny Pacicco said he had done projects similar to the skit last year and that it was fun.

"We had a very interesting experience," Phil Linphante said. "When we were doing it, we didn't think the class would respond, but when they did, it made us feel more at ease."

Mrs. Kreiger assigned the projects so the students would have a different avenue to understand the play. "I wanted them to enjoy something creative. It was a different approach."

The students worked in groups of four or five each. They were given some class time but had to do the majority of the work at home. The success of the individual student depended on the success of the group as a whole.

"The classes loved the project," Mrs. Kreiger explained. "I believe they enjoyed this the most. They were fantastic. I was pleased and amazed at the results."

This, my friends, shed the blood of Caesar, and it will shed his revenge!

Band will land in Disney World

By DIANE GIANANTI

Get ready, Mickey Mouse. Here they come, Disney World!

On May 17 the Belleville High School Band will be off by train to Disney World in Florida. Leaving on Saturday morning, they will return to Belleville on May 21. During the week, the members will stay in a hotel on the outskirts of Orlando, Fla.

The band includes the instrumental section, the color guard, twirlers, and flag wavers. The program is under the direction of Mr. Robert Wing and his assistant Mr. Frank Scelba, music teacher at BHS. The Music Parents Association also has played an enormous part in this program.

All members of the band have been working very hard to raise money for their trip. The band went on its annual candy march, which was previously publicized. On March 17, 18, 24 and 25, the band walked the streets playing their instruments while the twirlers, color guard and flags went door to door selling boxes of Fanny Farmer candy.

A fashion show, sponsored by the girls under the direction of Mrs. Linda Grancagnolo was held to raise money at the Branch Brook Manor on April 2. The turnout was tremendous, and the girls made pretty models. Those not participating in the modeling were involved in selling raffle tickets.

Soon to come will be another band activity. On Thursday, May 15, and Friday, May 16, the Band Show will be seen in the BHS auditorium. The theme of the show will be "We're Off to the Magic Kingdom." The band will not only do its regular performances, but will include new skits and a wider variety of entertainment. This annual show provides a full night of fun and excitement.

Besides these big money raisers, the band has participated in many other activities. This past November 22, the band could be seen on the municipal stadium football field supplying the halftime entertainment for the Bronco football team. It also marched in the Cherry Blossom Parade April 13.

The band trip to Florida has been paid for by the students throughout the school year by weekly dues. After money has been deducted from the money raisers, the students will pay the remainder of the cost.

Will predictions again be right?

Students at Belleville High School have currently been preparing for their famous "straw poll" which this year predict the victors of the election for the five town commission seats.

The practice of polling elections at Belleville High began in 1948. Since then, the student body at the school has voted for seven presidents, six governors, and countless U.S. Congressmen, state legislators and local town commissioners.

In the presidential election of 1948, most major pollsters predicted a landslide victory for Thomas Dewey over Harry Truman. Belleville High's first poll, however, predicted the election of Truman.

Some may have thought that the school was off on the wrong foot in its new venture by predicting Dewey's defeat, but as it turned out the student's first poll was a good omen, won and every prediction which has come out of Belleville High since then has proven to be correct.

This year students at Belleville High will select five winners from a field of 13 candidates, most likely with the same accuracy which they have exhibited during the past twenty-seven years.

The poll was scheduled to be held last Monday, May 5.

There'll be some changes made

By JOE ANN CALABRO

It's not getting older, it's trying to get better. This could be used to describe the High School and its future curriculum plans for the coming year. Many changes will take place next year in order to supply the students with a diverse variety of courses and activities.

One program which may be started next year is the club period during the school day. This will provide the students with time for more extra-curricular activities. This club period would be held during fourth period when all students are in school. Clubs would not be held every day or even every week, they would be held every two weeks in place of the fourth period classes. The purpose of this is to get more people involved in extra school activities, since many students can not stay around school and wait for the meetings to begin.

The Girls' Service Organization has been selected by its advisor, Mr. Raymond Smith, to conduct a poll to see in which clubs the students are interested. So far the organization has come up with a big variety from which they can choose. In order to see how this new program would work, one day in May all students will go to a club period during their fourth period class.

Going back to Belleville High school's past, clubs similar to the ones in question now existed. They seemed to be a success then, so here's hoping the pat will repeat itself in respect to the clubs for the coming year.

Marathon relay will aid charity

By BRIAN WOOD

For the early morning joggers who find difficulty in completing the daily mile, think about this idea: a group of eight Belleville Track Team boys and two others will attempt to keep a relay baton moving for 24 hours while running around the Municipal Stadium track.

The attempt will take place near the end of May, after the track season is almost completed.

The idea behind the whole ordeal is for each boy to run a mile an hour while holding the small baton. The baton stands as a symbol showing that the boys will keep moving without it stopping for the full 24 hours. When the boy has completed his mile, he will pass the baton to the next boy, and so on.

Each boy will run approximately 24 times or 24 miles all together, trying to maintain a steady six-minute mile throughout the entire time period. Their goal will be a combined total of about 240 miles. When the other nine members of the team are not running, they will be trying to get as much rest as they can and eat some food, but only a little, as they do not want to cramp up. Each boy will get about 54 minutes rest between each mile he runs. At the end of this "race against time" the members of this team will certainly be a group of very tired boys.

The boys are not only going through this for their own satisfaction, but for the benefit of others. They intend to take contributions from people willing to donate any amount of money they can for each mile the boys run in total. All of the money will then be donated to a local fund raising drive for the handicapped.

The team consists of the following eager young men: Jim Beck, Doug Wamsley, Mike Fortino, Walt Siubis, Keith Allum, Nelson Seda, John Matera, Bill Goodwin (a freshman runner from Villanova University), Joe Vaitinis, and Brian Wood.

As of this writing, the team is not sure as to the exact date they will attempt the relay, but, as already mentioned, it will be near the end of the track season when they are all in the best of shape for the day long run.

Dutchmen founded local schools

By ROBERT SCHRIEK

A long and colorful history belongs to the Belleville School System, whose foundation goes back to when Belleville was still a part of the towns of Bloomfield and Newark.

The first real education system was devised by the Dutch, who were the first settlers in the Belleville area. The education of the children was given to the "voorleser" who in addition to serving as an instructor for the children also led singing in the churches, read sermons in the minister's absence and worked as a clerk for the church. The education at that time was concerned with religion, which the Dutch felt was a most important subject.

The first school sponsored by The Dutch Reformed Church, of which there are records, was erected in 1792 and was located behind the church. The school was originally planned in 1790 when a school association was formed by the church. On February 27, 1792 the Association adopted its first constitution which made all the finances of the school its owners. There were originally seventy-seven members of the association that drew up the document.

About the same time the Dutch Reformed School was founded, another school was donated to the church by a man named John K. Spier. The school was located in North Belleville on Avondale Road and hence, became known as the North Belleville School.

During the 18th and 19th centuries many private academies flourished in Belleville, one of them being the Avery School which was founded in 1762 by Ephraim Avery. The Avery school was located on Main St. in Belleville and was taught by Colonel John Schuler. Unfortunately the school failed and was discontinued in 1774. Later in 1834 a boarding school was established, which was divided into two parts, one for boys and one for girls. The boys school was supervised by the Rev. John P. Lathrop and the girls school was directed by his wife Maria Lathrop. In addition to these schools, there were private schools conducted on the corner of John and William Streets by a Miss Wallace. These private schools consisted of two schools for boys and one for girls.

Subjects taught in these schools during this time were English, Latin, Greek, Algebra, surveying, and in the words of an advertisement for a school at that time "vulgar arithmetic and Mercator's sailing."

Despite the number of the schools which operated in Belleville during the years, many of the wealthy Belleville families sent their children to the private academies in Bloomfield of which Belleville was still a part. One of the academies was "The Bloomfield Academy" which later became a Presbyterian

THE CRITIC'S CORNER

Don't judge album by its cutter

Led Zeppelin — John Paul Jones, Robert Plant, Jimmy Page and John Bonham.

By SUE STANZIONE

"Physical Graffiti," Led Zeppelin (Swan Song Inc. New York, 1975) Price $9.95

Most of the young public of today have been sitting on the edge of their seats awaiting the release of an album long overdue. The group producing this recording is one of the most talented and popular rock groups of today. They go by the name of Led Zeppelin.

Each of the group's previous four albums have sold a million. They have won just about every music poll imaginable and their albums get continuous play on radio.

A reason for Led Zeppelin's solid continuity in music is its ability to grow and change without lessening in power. The individual talents as musicians, arrangers, songwriters, producers, and sound creators assure the group a continuing position in the moving action of modern music.

Led Zeppelin has recently finished its cross country tour. They have appeared at jam packed concert halls and arenas in Europe, Japan, England, and America.

Compared to the other four albums, "Physical Graffiti" leaves a lot to be desired or perhaps some getting used to. Somehow it just doesn't make it. After listening to this double album one can't imagine that it was a result of such well-trained musicians as Led Zeppelin.

The majority who will listen to "Physical Graffiti" will rate it as one of their best albums they have ever heard, but one wonders if they are just looking at the name of the group responsible for it. There is no doubt that "Physical Graffiti" will hit the top of cross country music polls, but this reviewer feels it belongs at the bottom.

It definitely was a disappointment after expecting another great album to be presented by Led Zeppelin and then receiving "Physical Graffiti."

Exercise: a must for bikini wearers

With warm weather, beaches, and bathing suits just around the corner, the worry of getting rid of twinter weight enters many minds.

One begins to see more joggers, tennis players, bike riders, etc. all trying to get back in shape from their winter hibernation. At this time, many young girls begin starving themselves on crash diets to get back into their skimpy bikinis, short shorts, and halter tops, and boys lift weights to bring that muscle tone out.

But why go through this trouble, when it could have been prevented? What many people fail to realize is they should have been exercising to stay in shape all winter long at spas and in the privacy of their own home. Not only would this save a lot of time, it would be much better for your health also.

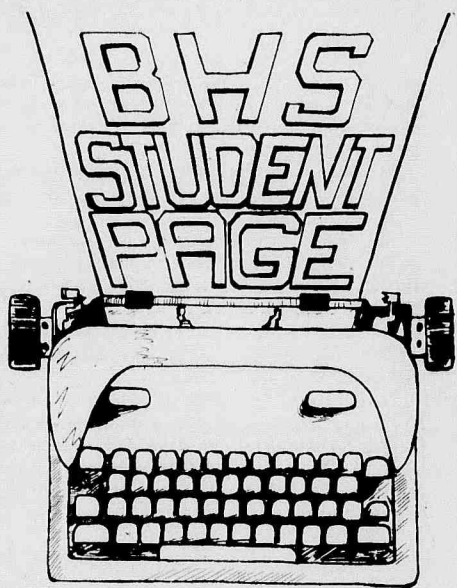

When someone mentions exercise, many people turn them off. They get a picture of night after night of sit-ups, toe touching, and jogging in place. In reality, exercising can be fun and effective when done in the right atmosphere and the right way.

There are many different forms of exercise, such as yoga, esometrics, dancing, and massaging other things. As one can judge from the names, not all of them include vigorous exercise but rather deal more with technique and consistency. Each one has their own techniques which can be mastered only through faithful practice.

Exercise should be a regular part of your daily routine, along with eating and sleeping. Even if it's only a small amount each day, it still is beneficial in the long run.

Exercise is the key to both looking and feeling better. Everyone should be a little more body and health conscious in order to be able to live a fuller, happier, and healthier life.

Election Day is May 13 - remember your privilege to vote for the person of your choice. The loudest complainers after any election are usually those who didn't vote at all.

As we approach the homestretch, would like to make some predictions. Remember, I'm not saying these are my choices, nor those of this paper, merely what rumor predicts will happen. Meanwhile, good luck to all candidates may the best man and woman win. (also remember I'm not a political reporter, this is "just-for-fun-guessing").

Commissioners Mary Senatore and Michael Marotti will be vying for first place or the Mayor's chair...next down the line, we see: Romano, Saletta, Strumolo, Smith, McGreevy, Laterza. This reporter also thinks there may be a "Mr. X" show up somewhere in the Top Five, but leave that to you readers to guess.

There are a lot of last minute invites to meet the candidate, too late to cover to get in the paper in time.

Vote for your candidates, but whoever wins, let's ALL give them our backing. One set of overworked words during the campaign: "Belleville's at a Crossroads" - Let's see some POSITIVE THINKING.

One last word, On April 24 this paper listed all the candidates and their background...at that time I chose "Mr. X"...if you wanna know who I thought might make it...see me after the election.

One, two- where is three?

Helen's thing

by Helen Maguire

I WAIT in limbo for the axe to fall. Two accidents have befallen this family in the past two weeks. Can the third be far behind? "What?" you laugh. "Are you that superstitious?" I certainly am.

Gavin pulled a muscle in his arm throwing a hard ball last week and prevailed upon Ryan to swap beds with him for a couple of nights, contending that the effort needed to negotiate the top bunk was more than he could expend with an arm in a sling. The ever willing Ryan consented with alacrity.

UNFORTUNATELY, Ryan has had very little experience top bunking and when his pillow eluded his grasp in the early morning hours, he reached for it with a bit too much vigor. The guard rail striking the floor woke me out of what I assume was a sound sleep at 4:40 a.m. and before I could make it across the hall, the child followed the rail.

Although badly frightened, he appeared unhurt and a couple of aspirin administered for his headache calmed him enough so that he went back to sleep and didn't stir until 8:30 a.m. By 11, the youngest son was complaining loudly and long about his shoulder and Rod, fortunately on vacation, carted him off to Clara Maass where an x-ray revealed a broken collarbone and Ryan came home sporting a figure 8 bandage and basking in all the sympathy he received from his mother, brother and sisters.

THE REST of that week and the next were uneventful. Monday morning, the phone rang as I was snatching a second cup of tea and catching up on the news. Gavin's head had collided with another child's teeth while they were playing Spud in the playground and the consensus of opinion at Spring Garden was that he needed a stitch to close the wound. I dumped the twins on my own and went to retrieve my son who, with a muslin bandage around his head to keep the gauze square in place, resembled a World War I casualty, right off the front lines.

Since Rod, unfortunately, was on jury duty I carted him off to Clara Maass where three stitches took care of his head, an x-ray revealed that he had suffered no further damage and a tetanus shot, administered as a precaution, bothered the child more than anything else.

He spent the afternoon on the couch, bewailing the fact that he would miss his team's debut at Rheinheimer scheduled for that night and gleeful that he would escape hair washinor at least seven days.

I HAD a visitor that afternoon who quipped, as she came up the walk, "What are you doing for excitement this week?" I let her in the door before I told her. "I was going to invite you and Layne over for lunch," she said, "but I'm almost afraid to do it. Do you remember what happened the last time you were coming?" I certainly do. That was the day I dislocated my shoulder for the second time, landed you know where and left with the orthopedow assurance that if I did it again, it would mean surgery, a week in the hospital and three more in a sling. Marilcan I take a raincheck on the lunch? I don't want to precipitate the third event!

GATHERED at the VIP luncheon held at the home of Mrs. Clark are Mrs. Maurice Welch, assistant treasurer; Miss Edith Richards, music chairman; Mrs. Clark; Mrs. George Schaefer and Mrs. John DeNike, literature chairman.

ENJOYING the luncheon are Mrs. Harvey B. Thompson; Mrs. William Chapman, by-laws, resolutions, historian; Mrs. Clark; Mrs. E.E. Buraus, trustee and Mrs. Ernest S. Arvidson, trustee.

Local women represent DAR in Washington, D.C.

The Annual Meeting of the Yantacaw Chapter DAR took place in Nutley at the home of Mrs. John Rosengren on Monday afternoon, April 28th. Mrs. Rosengren's co-hostesses were Mrs. Armand J. Cicetti of Livingston and Mrs. Auguste W. Brouillard.

The Chapter Regent, Mrs. M.C. Keeney of Belleville and Mrs. Britton R. Halliwell, Vice-Regent and Chaplain, who had represented the Chapter at the 84th NSDAR Continental Congress in Washington, D.C. April 14th to 18th, reviewed some of the highlights of the Congress. They took advantage of the traditional invitation to tour the White House which had been extended, and took place on Monday afternoon. It has been the custom of most Presidents of the United States to address the DAR delegates in Constitution Hall. President Ford's talk on Tuesday morning was televised nationally. The President mentioned that his mother had been active in DAR affairs.

At the opening ceremonies of the Congress on Monday night, a representative of the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration presented a U.S. Bicentennial Flag to NSDAR with thanks for all of the work the Society has already done preparing for the nation's 200th birthday celebration. Particular mention was made of the furnishing of the Governor's Council Chamber and the Assembly Committee Room on the second floor of Independence Hall, Philadelphia, which was opened to the public on July 4, 1972 when more than 26,000 visited that floor. This gift to the nation was the project of the previous administration under Mrs. Donald Spicer. A one-dollar contribution from each DAR member defrayed the cost of $181,995.

RE-ELECT

Joseph McGreevy 9A

For Belleville's Financial Survival

Mayor McGreevy's leadership over the past four years has brought credit to the Town of Belleville.

He has never shirked his duty, stood up for what he thought was right even if it was his political disadvantage. He felt it was his obligation and duty to warn the public as to the liability of chapter 123 of the laws of 1973 where the town of Belleville could lose millions of dollars in ratables in 1976. Smart politics would have been to forget it, but not Joe, he felt the public has the right to know.

It is this quality that gives me the privilege of endorsing the candidacy of Joseph F. McGreevy - 9A. He will continue to give Belleville the type of government that it deserves.

Senior notes

By GEORGE CHENOWETH

Sunday is a special family day of the year ... Mother's Day. The high percentage of women dominating the aging scene, the Senior Citizen Mothers, should receive special attention for their contribution of love, affection, devotion, sacrifice, counsel and service throughout their lifetime.

We hope the future will provide many good times as a reward to all mothers as they share their individual contributions.

So, a special greeting to all mothers on Sunday, May 11. A special hug and kiss to our Senior Citizen qualifiers, who should realize that the senior citizen clubs around town are their "babies." Happy Mother's Day to all!

Mrs. Gonzales reports that the Essex County Group in the Park is celebrating Mother's Day at Beppy's on May 9. Mrs. Rose Richardelli is in Clara Maass Hospital and we wish her a speedy recovery.

The Retired Men's Club of Belleville is welcoming Clifford Kraft back after a vacation in Hawaii. John Crowley has done all the baking for this group for the coffee an' sessions and a good job he has done, too.

A trip by the Senior Club in the Valley to the Newark Museum was enjoyed last week and this week they will have a film at their regular meeting. Betty Lampon from this group is in Clara Maass and we wish her the best.

The Belleville Senior Citizens Club, Inc., was well represented at the Pan Am Circus at the South Mountain Arena on Monday. We all made like kids again and had a real good time.

Optimists cite six as outstanding cops

The Belleville Optimist Club celebrated "Respect for Law Week" last week by publicly showing appreciation to six members of the Belleville Police Department who have distinguished themselves in protecting the community.

Sergeant Martin McNish, Patrolman Fred Puleo, Patrolman Michael Petrillo, Officer Edgar Panier, Ronald Edwards and Sergeant Joseph Oese were special guests of the Optimists at a May 1 dinner. Each officer was presented with a valor award by Optimist president Rocco Saletta.

Sergeant McNish, Patrolmen Puleo and Petrillo were honored for apprehending two men suspected of robbing the Belleville Motor Lodge on November 4 of last year.

Officers Panier, Edwards and Oese successfully disarmed a man who had just shot another man in the vicinity of Washington Avenue and Joralemon Street, also in November.

Chief of Police Joseph Smith, guest speaker at the May 1 dinner, spoke on the police department and its relation to the community. Optimist International's Respect for Law Week was from May 1 to May 7.

Library will exhibit photos from China

The photographs of Chin-San Long, founder and president of the Photographic Society of China, will be on exhibit at the Belleville Public Library, 221 Washington Avenue, now through the end of May.

The exhibit, second in a series of cultural exchanges now touring the United States, was brought to this country through the efforts of Frank Christopher of Arlington, Va.

Born in Chekiang, China, in 1892, Long attended school in Shanghai where he developed an interest in photography and published some of his first photographs in the Eastern Times of Shanghai.

Over the years he has become best known for his composite pictures which are made from two or more negatives placed in juxtaposition so as to produce many special effects.

Although an accomplished artist, Long has chosen to express his feelings with the camera rather than the brush; however, much of his work expresses such a delicate combination of the two arts that his work may be easily referred to as pictorial photographs.

The more than one thousand of his photographs which have been accepted and hung in international salons throughout Europe, Asia and the Americas, is testimony to the innumerable honors and awards which have been conferred by photographic organizations throughout the world.

Long is honorary president of the Federation of Asian Photographic Art and honorary representative to the Photographic Society of America in the Republic of China.

RE-ELECT

Joseph McGreevy 9A

For Belleville's Financial Survival

I have watched politics in Belleville for many years. Eight years ago Mayor McGreevy was a candidate for the Board of Commissioners specifically for the Revenue and Finance Department.

His philosophy was then to free the town of debt while operating the government on a pay-as-you-go basis. He accomplished this by paying the final payment on the $1,300,000 debt in early 1973. During his eight year tenure he has not issued one bond. He has improved the financial picture of the town to where the public can be proud of their town and brag that it is one of the few debt free municipalities in the State, simply because the Mayor had a plan and he followed it to fruition.

I strongly feel he should be returned to office so he can still move the town forward. Please vote Joseph F. McGreevy-9A on May 13, 1975.

Three all-sophomore comedies tomorrow, Sat. at BHS

"Mainly Madness," an all-sophomore production, will be presented tomorrow and Saturday at 8 p.m. at Belleville Senior High School. Tickets for the gala event are $1.50 and can be purchased at the door before each performance.

The performance will consist of three one act comedies and two musical numbers. This is the first time that the school has presented an all-sophomore production and the program promises to be a highly entertaining evening.

Quick — I'm Double Parked," "The Mice Have Been Drinking Again," and "Egad What A Cad," provide a broad range of comedy while the musical numbers promise to prove to be a pleasant surprise for the audience.

"Kiss Me Quick — I'm Double Parked," presents the trials and tribulations of a man on his way to get married. With the fates seemingly against him, the protagonist battles veritable arsenal of obstacles including an elevator strike, angry demonstrators, a masked bandit, and a broken gas main which threatens to level the building. Mix it all together and you get an exercise in frustration punctuated with high comedy.

"The Mice Have Been Drinking Again," has a newlywed couple in San Francisco sharing their living quarters with a bizarre cousin who spends most of her time in a closet engaged in Zen meditation. Throw in a fake date with a guru and you come up with hilarious results.

"Egad What A Cad!" is one of those old time melodramas complete with a beautiful heroine, a black-hearted, top hatted villain, and a tried and true all-American hero. As usual, the hero, Manly Rash, arrives in time to save the heroine, Constant Hope, from the clutches of the blackguard plaguing her life. Miss Marilyn Mango is directing the production and is getting help from assistant director Robert Leffebine and Mrs. Marilyn McGrath. Miss Linda Grancagnolo is ably handling the duties of choreographer.

Newest show at Playhouse a 'Miracle'

The story of Helen Keller's difficult but touching childhood will come to life soon on the stage of the Family Playhouse in Nutley.

"The Miracle Worker," based on the true story of Helen Keller's life, will be presented by the local amateur troupe beginning May 30, director Ray Napolitano has announced.

In all, the performers — all from Belleville, Nutley and other surrounding towns — will stage five performances, including a Sunday matinee. Tickets are available in advance by calling 667-4471. Seats are $3, but group, student and senior citizen rates are available.

The show will run May 30, and 31, and June 1, 6 and 7.

Two gunmen stick up local confectionary

Belleville police are searching for two men who held up Giampietro's Confectionary Store, 492 Union Avenue two weeks ago.

According to Belleville Deputy Police Chief Frank Haight, two men entered the store at about 7 p.m. on Wednesday, April 23, and produced a rifle. They forced store owner Anthony Giampietro to hand over approximately $100 from a cash drawer, police said. Haight said the pair then escaped on foot.

Police described the thieves as white males in their 20's. One was approximately six feet tall, weighing about 200 pounds with long red hair and a red beard, the Deputy Chief said. His partner was 5-8 and weighed about 130 pounds, and police reports indicated he may have been wearing a black hat or a red headband.

There was a female customer in the store at the time of the holdup, but according to Haight she was not robbed.

Belleville detectives Cornelius Berrigan and Barton Rossi are investigating the case.

Gymnastics clinic planned at Montclair

The Montclair State College athletic department will sponsor an extensive summer gymnastics school, July 7 through August 5, for male and female gymnasts ages 8-16.

The program will include five weeks of instruction, three training sessions per week, with ability grouping on all Olympic events, providing a unique experience for young gymnasts

Pharmacy Footnotes

There are three kinds of leanness. The first, or simple type, according to authorities, is due to eating too little food, or expending so much energy that what would ordinarily be a good sufficient diet, is not enough to replenish and to rebuild used-up body tissues for the energy expended. The second type of underweight is quite different. There is a lack of stamina — both physical and mental. Sometimes there are digestive disturbances, as well. The third type of underweight is due to illness or glandular difficulties. Examine yourself, if you are underweight, and see what you can do to stabilize your condition.

It's not difficult to get full prescription service when you come to ROSSMORE PHARMACY, 338 Washington Ave., 759-1968, 759-1956. "Your Doctor Knows Us—Your Doctor Trusts Us." cosmetics, Whitman's and Schrafft's candies, greeting cards and gift items are available for Mother's Day. Hours: Daily 9 a.m. - 10 p.m., Sundays, 9 a.m. - 9 p.m.

The jinx is off! Bengals beaten

By CHUCK JACKSON

The Blue-Gold steamroller kept it up last week, grinding down the Columbia baseball team, 3-1 last Friday, and breaking their four year jinx with Bloomfield by defeating the Bengals, 4-2 on Tuesday. The team now totes around a 9-2 record.

The diamonders will really have to keep their steam up though, because tomorrow they're scheduled to take on the Irvington Campers, the number one rated team in the state. The Bellboys will host the battle, beginning at 3:45 p.m. at Municipal Stadium. Even knowing the awesome power wielded by the Campers, coach George Zanfini and his men are confident that they can give them a real run for their money.

The BHS team held the lead all the way in the Bloomfield game, scoring three runs in the second and one in the fifth to take the win. Bloomfield didn't get on the scoreboard until the sixth when they got one man across the plate, and another in the seventh.

John Guarino came as the winning pitcher, going six full innings. He struck out six, walked two, and allowed four hits before he was relieved by Bob Giordano in the seventh. This was Guarino's second win in two starts, and Giordano's first save coming in at relief.

Coach George Zanfini and his men were, to say the least, pleased with the win, and the victory should provide them with a good psychological boost right before the big Irvington game tomorrow.

The Blue-Gold diamonders moved into a tie for second place in the Big Ten Conference last week when they bumped off Columbia last Friday, 3-1 to move right up next to the Cougars in the standings.

The Bellboys generally looked pretty good on the defense against the Columbia team, making only two errors, which, coach Zanfini commented, "isn't bad at the high school level."

The coach attributes the team's overall improvement in their fielding to the fact that they are beginning to get used to their home grounds at the Municipal Stadium. In his words, "Now that we're getting the feel of our home field, we're improving. You can see us getting better all the time."

The y showed the Cougars that they were not slouches at the plate, either, as they cracked seven hits, including a home run by powerful Lou Grasso in the second inning to start off the scoring. Bob Giordano banged out a double in the third inning and scored what proved to be the winning run on an error.

An insurance marker was added in the fourth when hot hitting Chip Biafore, a man who can boast a .645 average, led off with the first of two hits for him. A sacrifice by Steve Gerard, a walk to Grasso and a single to left by John

Legion tryouts set for Sunday

The Belleville American Legion Post 105 will conduct its first tryouts for its baseball team on Sunday May 11 at 1 p.m. The tryouts will be held at the Belleville Municipal Stadium Jayvee Field.

All boys who will not reach the age of 19 before August 1 of this year are eligible to try out.

The second tryout will be held on Sunday, May 18 at 1 p.m. at the same location.

This year's team will have Mike Limongelli returning as head coach and Vin Lipoma and George Zanfini will be his assistants.

All eligible boys are welcome to come out for the team. If there are any questions regarding the team auditions, get in touch with Mike Limongelli, at 751-2395.

Bellboys move up in Big 10 contest

Though they didn't exactly win the Big Ten Championships last Saturday, the Bellboy tracksters didn't lose either. The team finished in six of the 13 contests to end up in a tie with Kearny for seventh place in the overall standings.

Considering their performance last year, in which the team ended up at the absolute bottom of the competition, and placed in only two of the contests, the team did pretty well this time around, and coach Rich Ruffalo was satisfied with most of the team's performance.

"We had a lot of people with good performances, not great ones, but still good," said Ruffalo.

As far as the coach was concerned, the meet was over, and it was time to look ahead and watch for the competition yet to come. Yesterday, the team was scheduled to meet a tough Irvington squad on the Campers' home turf. The Irvington men have gone the season undefeated, and Ruffalo had no illusions about how difficult they would prove to be.

Beyond Irvington, the team is looking ahead to meeting Newark Tech next Monday and East Orange next Thursday. Ruffalo is fairly confident his cindermen can take the Tech team, but he says that the Panther contest is going to be a close one.

"The East Orange meet is going to be one of our typical cliff-hangers," said the coach. "They beat Bloomfield by four, and Bloomfield beat us by two, so it should be close all the way."

Both contests are home meets and will begin at 3:45 p.m. in Municipal Stadium.

Though the team didn't take any first place finishes in the Big Ten Championships on Saturday, they did improve a great deal over last year's dismal finish. Out of thirteen events, the team placed in six events and barely missed taking points in another three. According to

Bengal clubs thump Bellboys

The Belleville High School golf team went down to defeat at the hands of the powerful Bloomfield duffers last week, suffering a lopsided 16½-1½ loss.

The defeat bumped the Bellboys record down to 4-3, but didn't hurt the team's opportunity to play in the District Golf Tournament next Monday.

Yesterday, the team was scheduled to take on Kearny in an away meet at Hendricks Field, but results came too late for this issue of the Times/News.

The Blue-Gold squad just hit a solid brick wall when they tangled with the Bengals, and all but two members of

Rueful regatta

Like they say, there are some days when you just shouldn't get out of bed. Saturday was one of those days for the BHS oarsmen as they foundered in their defense of the Goodwill Cup and ended the day handing the trophy and winner title over to Nutley's Maroon Raiders.

The team did surprisingly bad, finishing the varsity race third behind Nutley and Kearny, second in the jayvee race behind Nutley, and second in the freshman race behind the Cardinals.

Coach Sam Giuffrida didn't mince any words when talking about the defeat, and his analysis of why the Blue-Gold team went down was brief and to the point. "We rowed a terrible mile," he said.

Things started out badly for the team before they even hit the water. In the drawing for lane selection, the Bellboys drew lane number one for each race, the Cardinals drew two, and the Raiders drew three. Consequently, by the luck of the draw, Nutley ended up with the best lane for racing and the Bellboys with the worst. Kearny landed in the middle.

Despite the lane placement, coach Giuffrida insists that his men would have lost the races no matter what lane they were in if they rowed the way they did Saturday.

The coach said the men got off to a bad start the minute the race began, and never recovered. He said they first of all had trouble starting the race, because of strong wind gusts that kept forcing the boats towards the Nutley side of the river. When the gun started for the start of the race, the Bellboys went off balance, and they went deeper on one side of the shell than the other. As a result, said the coach, the Kearny and Nutley boats jumped to early leads. By the time the BHS oarsmen righted themselves, the other two teams had visibly taken the lead.

According to the coach, it wasn't the wind that threw the boat off balance, but it was a lack of concentration on the part of the varsity rowers. They were understandably keyed up for the race, and as Giuffrida put it, "I think with all the tension and nervousness, we may have panicked a little bit."

The coach was upset about the loss, but so, understandably, were the men in the shell themselves. "We've had the trophy four of the six years it's been in existence," said Giuffrida, "and when we lost it, the boys were very disappointed with themselves. Up until now, we've

Bell-girl softball squad on a six-win whirlwind

The Bellegirls softball team made it six wins in a row and raised their record to 8-4 last week as they defeated Columbia on Friday, 4-2, and then swept past Bloomfield high on Tuesday 8-4.

Tomorrow, the girls travel to West Orange to take on that lackluster squad, and Tuesday they welcome Nutley for a home game at 3:45 p.m. Both the girls and their coach, Eve Lautenschlager, seem fairly confident of scoring wins in both contests and rolling their record up to 10-4.

Tuesday's Bloomfield win carried the sweet taste of revenge as the girls made up for their 13-2 humiliation before Bengals earlier in the season.

Donna Stone led the girls in their comeback, pitching five innings, rapping out a triple with bases loaded in the fourth and socking away another double. On her time on the mound, Donna gave up one hit, struck out three, but walked a lot of people. She was relieved in the fifth by Gloria Barbone who stopped Bloomfield in their tracks, holding them to no hits or walks and striking out one.

The girls played an excellent game defensively, making no errors at all. Jerry Freda was praised by the coach for her heads up play at third base and the coach was pleased with everyone's performance both in the field and at the plate.

The girls upped their record to 7-4 last week when they put away the Columbia softball team, 4-2.

The girls put it all together, both at the plate and in the field to defeat the Cougars, with pitcher Donna Stone leading the way, allowing only one hit and striking out seven. The only blemish on her game record is the fact that the two runs scored by the Cougars were walked in—one in the fourth inning and one in the sixth.

The rest of the team backed their pitcher up all the way, committing no errors during the game, and pulling themselves out of trouble several times. Ginger Pitaccio made the play of the game when she ended a big Columbia

Big Ten

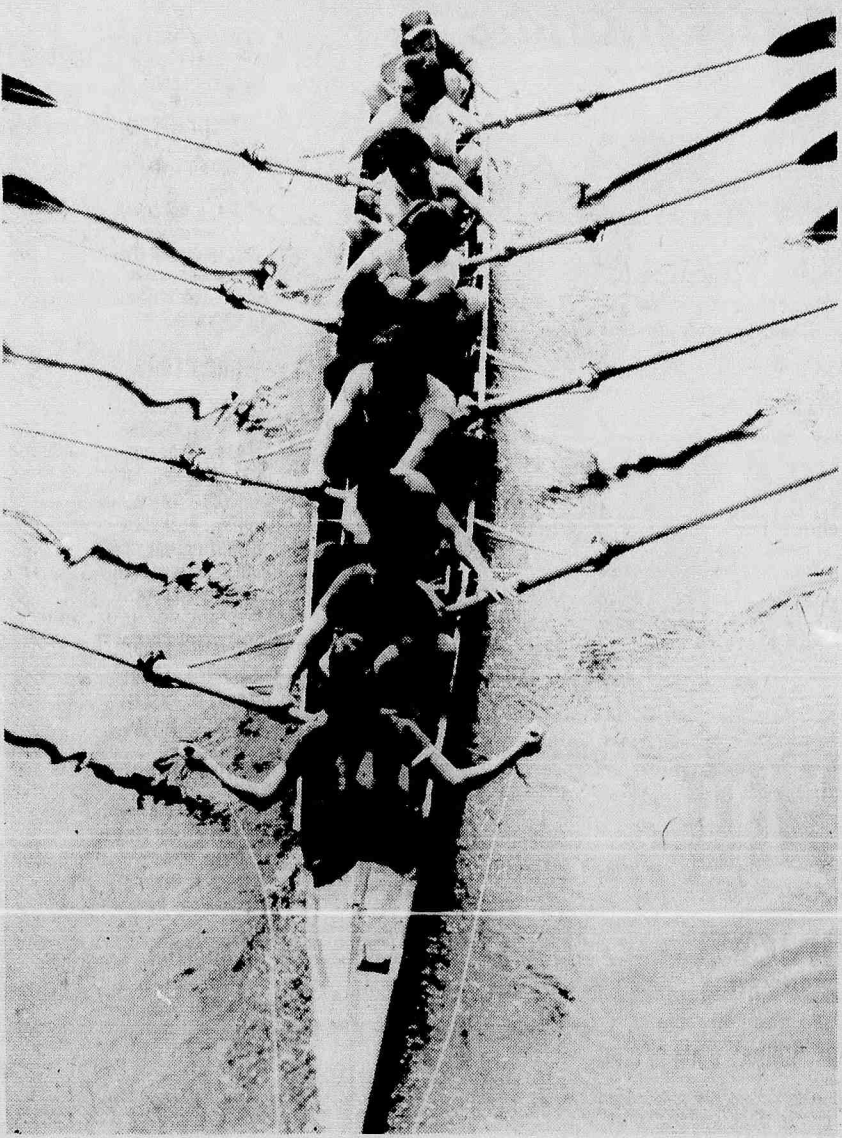

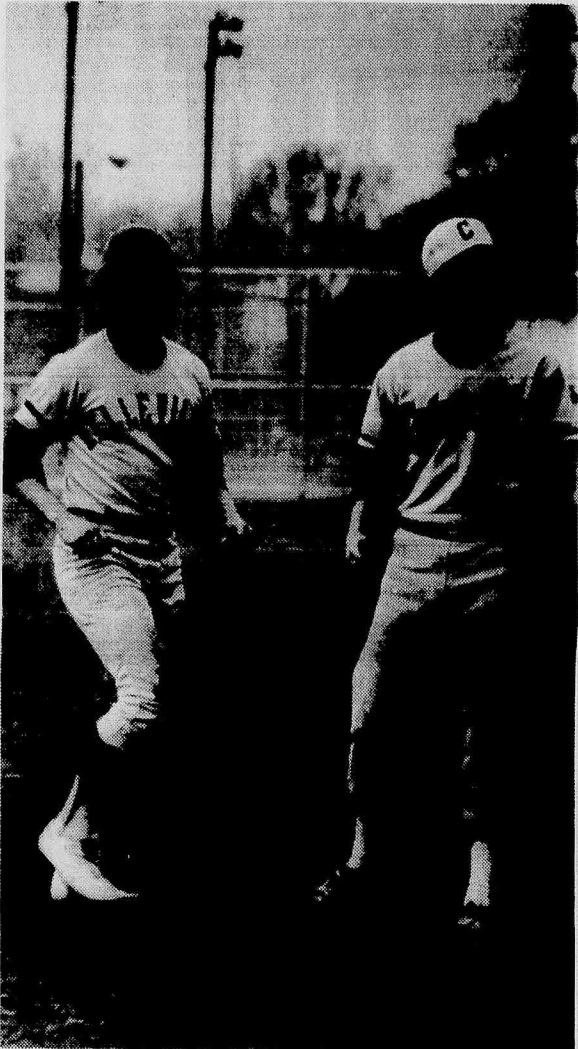

The Blue-Gold tracksters competed in the Big Ten Championships, and while they didn't win, they did improve over last year. Doug Jackson (above) concentrated his efforts on the high jump, but the team was beaten in the event by other leaping powers. The team's finish was an improvement over last year, when they ended up in last place at the contest.

Batsters roll

The Belleville high baseball team kept up its winning ways last week, as they edged out Columbia 3-1 to go into a tie for second place in the conference. Chip Biafore (right) is doing his bit for the team, swinging a mean bat for a .645 average on the season. Biafore was two for three against Columbia and scored an insurance run for the team when he was walked across the plate.

Terrible times

There were terrible times on the Passaic for the BHS crew team, as the men lost in the Goodwill Regatta last Saturday, handing the trophy over to Nutley. The frosh shell (below) came in second behind Kearny. The varsity came in third and the jayvee placed second. Coach Giuffrida wasn't pleased with his team's performance, and neither were the boys who participated.

Ladies' softball signups started

Recreation Ladies' Softball is getting underway, and all women 21-years and older should sign up by May 13 if they want to take to the diamond this summer.

Players returning from last year must register, and they and their rookie counterparts should either drop in at the Recreation Office at 407 Joralemon Street or telephone 759-3142.

For newcomers to the league, there will be an informal tryout session. The time and place of the tryouts will be given to would-be diamonders when they register. The season will last from five to seven weeks and players will be expected to attend all practices and games during that time.

The ladies will also be expected to provide their own sneakers and gloves.

Games will be played at Belleville Park on Monday and Wednesday mornings starting at 9:30 a.m. with rainouts slated for Tuesday and Thursdays.

Basically, it is a slow pitch league. Batting order will be continuous and each player shall play two innings each game if they are in good standing with their team.

Ready those rosters for summer basketball

The Belleville Recreation Department has announced that it is now accepting rosters for the 1975 Summer Senior Basketball League.

Any boy who will be 15 by June 2 and not older than 19 on that same date is eligible to join the hoop program. Games will be played on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 6:20 p.m. at school Number 8.

The team captain should submit a roster with a maximum of 12 players to the Recreation House, 407 Joralemon Street by May 16. The telephone number at the Rec. House is 759-3142.

Belleville High School's head basketball coach Dan Grasso will be the director of the league.

The Recreation Department has released a set of league rules that will govern players and they are as follows: #1. All players should be at the courts 15 minutes before starting time.

#2. The captain should submit his line up to the scorekeeper before the game starts.

#3. Any team that forfeits one game will be eliminated from the schedule.

#4. Any display of poor sportsmanlike conduct will result in that player being expelled from the league.

#5. Teams should make some type of arrangements to have shirts of the same color.

Varsity Club plans for all-sports dinner

The annual All Sports Banquet sponsored by the Belleville Varsity Club has been scheduled for June 6 at the Robin Hood in Clifton and committees for the event have been selected, announced Joe Casale, president of the club.

This annual affair has grown through the years from a dinner for the basketball and baseball teams at the Neried Boat Club in the late 40's to a dinner that now honors senior lettermen involved in fifteen winter and spring athletic activities at Belleville High School.

Wayne Worlen and Bill Ellis, co-chairmen, will once again take on the responsibility of contacting the honored guests, their parents, arranging the program, and the other details that will make for a successful affair.

Mike Casale will be the master of ceremonies. Mike, a longtime resident of Belleville, is the office manager for the Cerami Construction Company.

RE-ELECT

Joseph McGreevy 9A

For Belleville's Financial Survival

The past four years the part of the budget attributable to the Board of Commissioners has shown a five point decrease in the Town of Belleville. True the tax rate over the past four years has had an overall increase of 102 points caused by a 37 1/2 points in the County share and 63 1/2 points in the School share plus a 1 point increase in the reserve for uncollected taxes due to the 101 point increase in the tax rate. This decrease of 5 points reflects the strict management in the Revenue and Finance Department with the cooperation of the other four departments.

I feel that Mayor McGreevy lived up to his pledge of strict financial management and I endorse his candidacy. Vote 9A on May 13, 1975 and we will continue good financial management in Belleville.

Guarino filled the bases with only one out. Vin DeNotaris watched four bad balls go by to take first and forced in Bialore from third.

With the bases loaded, however, Belleville failed to break the game open as a pop-up and a strike out ended the rally.

Columbia blew numerous chances in the early going, as they left 10 men stranded on the bags. Giordano was on the mound for the Bellboys, and he threw his way out of tight places in the first three innings, leaving six Cougars on base.

Columbia's big chance came in the third. Three singles and a walk produced a run with only one out. Mike Doyle of the Columbia squad got robbed as a seemingly two run single was changed into an inning ending double play by shortstop Bialore.

Things got wild again in the top of the seventh as hurler Giordano began to really tucker out. A walk, an error and a hit batsman loaded the bases with two out. At that point, coach Zanfini took Giordano off the field, and Greg Petite came in to retire the highly regarded Tom Battista for the final out of the game.

Coach Zanfini was pleased with his team's performance, and said of Giordano "Giordano put in a gutsy performance. He's not the fastest kid in the world, but his ball has a lot of movement. He also helped himself out defensively with a couple of good plays."

Giordano and the rest of the pitching staff will really have to turn in prime performances from here on out, because their ranks have been thinned by one.

Ace pitcher Ricky Loma looks like he's going to be out for the season, suffering from a fractured finger. Zanfini said Loma got the break at practice when, during a scrimmage, a shot in his direction hit him in the hand, causing the break.

Though the loss of Loma presents some problems for the team, Zanfini is confident that the rest of his men will be able to do the job, adding, "There will be a bigger burden on the pitching staff, but with this team, the difference between my best threat by making a diving catch to retire the side with the bases loaded.

At the plate, the girls racked up all their runs in the fourth inning as girl after girl cracked out singles to drive their teammates around the bases. Diamond leers Terry Freda, Peg Morrison and Lydia Damato each had one single to their credit and Diane Amoscatto, Michele Tramutola and Donna Stone each hit two. The runs in the fourth were scored by Freda, Morrison and Amoscatto.

Coach Eve Lautenschlager had modified praise for the Columbia squad, saying, "They were a great team, and they only made two errors, those two cost them the game. They are supposed to be a hard hitting team, but they only got about one or two hits out of the infield during the entire game. My team was awfully psyched up for the game, so that might have had a lot to do with it."

This was only Columbia's second loss of the season.

player and my 17th is very small. I've got no qualms about digging into my bench. and," he added, "this is really good because complacency won't set in."

Flying— Bellboy cinderman Doug Jackson takes to the air in an effort to garner some points for his team in the Big Ten Championships last Saturday. On the whole, the team posted a big improvement over last year, taking 12 team points and placing seventh.

Jayvees still steam on unbeaten path

By DONNA BERRIGAN

The jayvee diamonders remained undefeated by beating East Orange, April 29, by a score of 6-1. On May 2, they took on their toughest opponents yet, Columbia, but the Bellboys slipped by them with a score of 1-0. The jayvees now have a record of nine straight wins, bringing Coach Ralph La Conte's record up to 33 wins out of his last 36 games.

On Tuesday, with East Orange, Belleville ended the first inning with four runs on three hits. Anthony Speer led off the first inning with a double, stole third base and was driven in by Joe Gelpi. Rocco Balsamo then hit a single, reached second on an error and was driven in by Scott Oehse's single. Oehse reached home on Doug Stone's sacrifice fly. Belleville's John Clarizio pitched the first two innings of the game giving up no hits or runs.

Speer again led off in the second inning hitting a double which was the only hit of the inning. It was the third inning in which East Orange scored their only run. Three consecutive singles were hit and with bases loaded a batter was walked and East Orange scored. This inning brought one hit and one run for Belleville. Al Nufrio hit a single and was driven in by Chris Cervasio's sacrifice bunt. Gelpi and Balsamo hit back to back singles but never reached home. It was in the fifth inning that Belleville scored their last run.

Rowers slip under oars of Raiders

The jayvee team did little better in their race for the cup, finishing about one second behind Nutley, but a full 15 seconds ahead of their Kearny rival. Coach Giuffrida said that he was pleased with the performance of the jayvee shell, adding that he thought they may have raced their best mile of the year.

The freshman race was also a disappointment, as Kearny beat out the frosh by three seconds to take first. Nutley came in third, three seconds behind the Blue-Gold shell.

Here again, Giuffrida said the team wasn't in its usual form, and their sluggishness cost them the race.

Bellboys finish 7th in conference meet

Ruffalo, many of the boys put in times better than any of their previous performances, showing that the team has steadily improved during the season and presenting great promise for returning team members next year.

Greg Bunch pulled down a handful of points for the squad, running the 100 yard dash in 10.2 seconds. The race was close, with the winning time being a 10 flat. Coach Ruffalo says Bunch turned in his best time so far with that performance, but he expects the dasher to cut his time down to 10 flat by the time the tracksters hang up their spikes at the end of the season.

Kenny Drake took a fourth in the 120 high hurdle competition when he turned in a time of 16 seconds. Drake has been a consistent performer all season, and his placing really came as no surprise.

In the distance events, Mike Fortino took a fourth for the Blue-Gold tracksters in the 880 yard event, laying down a time of 2:02.5.

BHS golfers to tee off in district match Monday

The team ended up the fourteen round match shutout. The Bengals are rated Number One in the Big Ten Conference, and they proved their right to that position as they swept the BHS team easily out of their way.

Points were scored for the team by James Park who nipped one away from Bloomfield and Hugh Mallack who took a half a point. The rest of the team members, Dan Casese, Dan Tribuna, Marshall Park and Lou Tribucco had little luck on the links against their hard driving opponents.

Despite their poor performance against the Bengals, coach Michael Salzarulo is pleased with his team's performance, saying, "They have been doing fairly well all season, except for just two matches. I feel sure we should finish well over the .500 mark."

While guiding his team through this season, Salzarulo is also looking ahead to next year and the power his team will have then. Four of his starters will be returning and three of them are sophomores, so Salzarulo will have a lot to work with. Mal-lack, Tribuna, and Tribucco will be back for another two seasons, and Marshall Park will be returning next year for one last go at the links for the BHS team.

As far as the upcoming tournament goes, Salzarulo says with 40 teams competing and among those such powers as Bloomfield and Nutley, his men do not really expect to place high in the contest. "What we are looking for mostly," said the coach, "is to get these boys used to the pressure of tournament play."

They'll get plenty of that, and the coach may be grooming some real tee powers for the coming years.

It hurt— The annual Goodwill Regatta was a painful event for the BHS oarsmen this year, as they lost the cup to Nutley's Maroon Raiders. The Belleville jayvee shell (above) came in second to Nutley, but Coach Giuffrida said the men had nothing to be ashamed of. He said the jayvee team rowed one of their best races despite the narrow loss.

Beck's Column

Although we have sent several mailings to all of our customers during the last year, some of them still do not know that we sell appliances, refrigerators, washing machines, cooking stoves and all the other apparatus you find in today's modern households.

Most of our customers tell us that they are glad they can buy appliances from us now, because we give the same kind of service for appliances as for TV, which means same day. If you call us before 1 p.m. you get service the same day. One supplier who was present when a customer came to the store asking for service about 12:30 p.m. and was told that our technician would be at the customer's house before 6 p.m., could not believe it. He said such thing is unheard of these days. With us this has always been this way and it did not change. That is what our customers want.

Even the so-called "consumer magazines" which advocated haggling for the lowest prices above else, now changed their attitude and advice completely. Now they write that the first consideration buying a TV set or appliance should be reliable and fast availability of service at reasonable cost. We always have provided this and will continue to do so.

We service what we sell.

Tuesday's choices are tomorrow's leaders

and unsuccessful Commission candidate in 1971.

Dirty tricks?;

Though the campaign so far seems to have been relatively clean, one case of political sabotage surfaced this week.

An endorsement letter circulated to both local newspapers under the names of James Lamotta and George Mitchell is not their work, said the pair Monday. The letter is allegedly the result of a poll taken by the Vets Committee of Belleville— "a paper organization," said Lamotta, "that surfaces at election time." Lamotta said both he and Mitchell disclaim any connection with the message which listed the pair as secretary and treasurer, respectively.

This occurrence, and others less blatant but still politically motivated, caused some observers to wonder what will transpire in the final days of the campaign. As one person put it, "the candidates are starting to feel the strain of the campaign." Citizens, too, apparently, are now taking to task candidates for alleged transgressions they committed over the last four years.

Revaluation

Some of the most heated comments of the campaign have centered on revaluation of all Belleville real estate. Taking the brunt of the criticism over the issue has been McGreevy, who supported revaluation when the other incumbents abandoned ship.

Under heavy pressure from some of the challengers and the public at large, even McGreevy voted against the measure, defeated unanimously by the commission April 8. The required ordinance had initially passed the Commission unanimously on its first reading, McGreevy pointed out.

Now, apparently debate centers over whether the revaluation is "tabled" until after the election, or "dead."

McGreevy, who earlier this year said the town could potentially lose thousands of dollars in ratables without revaluation by 1976, this week said the revaluation ordinance is "dead, not tabled."

"Revaluation," he added, will not be undertaken in Belleville until it is mandated by the courts and then appealed through the Appellate Division of Superior Court. This could possibly take a couple of years."

Challengers Smith, Romano, Raimo, Domanti, Lee and incumbent Mrs. Senatore have all voiced anti-revaluation sentiments.

"The owners of private homes who have spent their hard earned monies to improve their properties should not have to be penalized with an increase in their taxes," charged Raimo in a prepared statement.

McGreevy says, however, that revaluation would not increase taxes. As local assessments rise through revaluation, he said, the tax rate would proportionately decline.

Domanti has pledged to tie revaluation up in the courts if elected; and Raimo advocates allowing homeowners to improve their property without change in assessment value. "Only when the property is sold would these improvements be included," proposed the challenger.

Frist barometer

Belleville High School's traditionally accurate straw poll Monday picked Marotti, Strumolo, Senatore, Romano and Laterza in that order as Commission seat winners. (See chart, this page.)

Though Romano's fourth position surprised some observers, the straw poll reinforced other predictions tht Marotti, Strumolo and Senatore would be sure bets for reelection.

The mock election also adds credence to observers' accounts that Laterza would be reelected. Neither he nor McGreevy (who finished sixth in the straw poll) have been regarded as "shoo-ins."

Confidence in the poll by outsiders varies, but the students whoran it this year say their predictions haven't been wrong since Harry Truman was given the local nod over Thomas Dewey.

The poll this year was compiled by computer at the High School, under the direction of Principal Raymond O. Smith, teacher Richard Graves, and students Pat Caputo, Fred Lardaro, Chris Manning and Michael Perrone.

Meanwhile, the Belleville Jaycees have released an analysis of their straw poll taken at the April 24 candidates night. Results there, however, were influenced by what the club says were clear-cut signs of ballot stuffing. Others who attended the public session admitted to the Times/News they had deliberately cast votes for candidates they did not particularly care for.

At any rate, said club president Joseph Doyle, the top choice received 46 percent of the ballots judged legitimate, and four of the five incumbents won reelection. The losing incumbent (the Jaycees decided to withhold the names) took ninth position in the balloting. Perhaps just to add an extra tease effect, Doyle gave the Times/News the following clue about the other winner: "one challenger who has run before was elected." The fifth place finisher took 26.5 percent of the vote that night. Move forward!

Among the challengers, at least, is a common call for progress. Romano, Saletta, Raimo and Domanti, particularly have been critical of Belleville's failure to plan its development properly. Said Saletta: "the indiscriminate building of apartments must be stopped immediately and replaced with a town-wide planning document which will guide Belleville towards progressive growth in the future."

"There just can't be a scattered approach to running our town," said Romano. Belleville's lack of a master plan, he added, has caused the municipality "to lose federal funds galore." He says he is an advocate of starting immediate work on establishing a master plan, utilizing the Planning Board, Commercial and Industrial Development Committee, other citizens and professionals.

Raimo proposes a "comprehensive capital improvement plan" to deal with all aspects of Belleville's problems. Like Saletta, he favors a curtdown in apartment construction. Raimo was also critical of Belleville's failure to secure Green Acres funds upto the present time. He and Saletta also seem to agree on attracting business and industry to town. Raimo proposes re-zoning, public relations campaigns and tax incentive programs. Saletta said, "It is quite evident that some of our pst and present Commissioners have given up on our community in that they have failed to er. tice new business into town. The time has come for us to think about extending tax incentives to new industries who agree tolocate in Belleville with the understanding that 25 percent of their employees are residents of town."

Issue Clarified

One campaign issue— Belleville's "debt free" status— has apparently become distorted tothe point of inconvenience for Town Treasurer Francis McCoy.

Mayor McGreevy and Smith have been at it tooth and nail regarding the subject. Smith maintains that the town is not debt free because of the School Board's debt. McGreevy has countered by saying the municipality has no control over school finances.

In a statement released this week, McCoy notes that "many false and misleading statements" are being made as to whether Belleville is debt free. According to McCoy, Belleville was officially declared debt free on October 12, 1973, by the Director of the Division of Local Government Services in Trenton. McCoy said he has been getting inquiries from out of town newspapers as a result of the misleading campaign remarks.

"Being free of all debt," said the Town Treasurer, "means there is no bonded indebtedness, no temporary indebtedness, nor is there any indebtedness authorized and not issued as pertains to the Town of Beleville as well as to the water utility that is operated by Belleville."

The Belleville school district, added McCoy, falls in the Type II class, and as such, "all debt of the school district is chargeable to the school district. The governing body of Belleville does not authorize the debt of a Type II school district," said McCoy.

Money for your thoughts.

Look, ma, no cavities. Just braces for $2000.

A vacation is the only thing that will save you from going bananas. But thinking of where to get the money is doing it anyway.

facilities. Now, he said, only those schools which qualify under a State mandate will be equipped.

Several other budget alterations, including the freezing of principal Michael Rosamilia's salary, are also slated for adoption. Rosamilia, who was recently allowed to resign his post as assistant superintendent of schools, will receive no salary increase this year, and will be budgeted as a 10-month rather than 12-month employee. Another $1,000 has been pared from the monies budgeted for text books. "We'll just have to be careful, that's all," said schools superintendent Anthony Greco about that budget reduction.

Overall, said Mahmorian, the school budget is beginning to show signs of strain after being defeated for the past 12 consecutive years. The Board elected not to appeal this year's $150,000 cut by the Commissioners, said the Board president, because the process would have probably tied up this year's funds until next year.

Montclair art exhibit concentrates on media

An exhibition of work by the art instructors of the Montclair Art Museum opens at the museum on Sunday, May 11, to continue on view through June 22. A variety of media will be on display including paintings, drawings, watercolors, portraits, sculpture, stained glass and weavings by the eleven professional artists who staff the museum classes.

Home sweet home could be a little sweeter. With a swimming pool. Another bedroom or anything room. Or a new kitchen to help you play French chef.

That coat you bought "to get you through the winter" is now three winters old. And looks it. You've seen one on sale that will let you generate a little heat of your own. Who deserves it more?

We people certainly do a lot of thinking about the things we want: new cars, furniture, vacations, school clothes. Thoughts that take a lot more pennies than we generally have.

No matter what you're thinking about, we may be able to help you have it. With a loan to fit comfortably into your life. We'll work out payments you can live with without giving up everything else.

Come in to any office of Midlantic National Bank. Money for your thoughts is what we deal in.

We're your size bank.

Telephone call helps speed aid at clinics
Veterans without an appointment at the Veterans Administration Hospital or Outpatient Clinic in Newark whenever possible should telephone before coming for medical care, Reuben Cohen, hospital director, said today. The advance notice will enable the clinic to give better and faster care, Cohen emphasized.

Elks select new leaders

The Belleville Lodge No. 1123, B.P.O. Elks recently elected new officers at their clubroom, 254 Washington Avenue.
Those elected to serve for 1975-76 are: Ray Mae Donald, Exalted Ruler; Warren Natusch, Esteemed Leading Knight; James Salmon, Esteemed Loyal Knight; John Callucci, Esteemed Lecturing Knight; Fred Hagin, Secretary; Thomas Goldrick, Treasurer; Thomas Fesknick, Tiler; and Donald Greweck, August Mischke and Frank Kyrcher, Trustees.
Charles Doherty, District Deputy, of the North Central District, was installing officer at the election, which included the ceremony of the passing of the gavel by past Evald Ruler, James Salmon.

Project Soar this Saturday

Belleville's environs will look a little better as of next Saturday when the Belleville District, Robert Treat Council Boy Scouts launch Project Soar.
From 9 a.m. to noon that day all local scouting units will descend on several areas in town on a clean-up campaign. Targeted for the facelift are the Erie Lackawanna Railroad station on Essex Street, and cemetery on Belleville Avenue.
According to project chairman Ralph Salzano, VFW Post 275 has said it will provide a few additional helpers and refreshments. The Belleville Public Works Department will loan a few trucks and cleaning utensils, and the Michael Marotti Civic Association is chipping in additional refreshments for the project workers.
