

'AS CHRISTIANS WE HAVE NO CHOICE'

Church will welcome Vietnamese refugees

By PAUL STERN

The immigration of South Vietnamese refugees to the United States has been a controversial subject since the fall of Saigon two months ago. There are those who believe the South Vietnamese people belong in their homeland, and that the addition of 10,000 Vietnamese to this nation's depressed economy would bring additional hardship to Americans who are unemployed.

To the congregation of Bethany Lutheran Church of Belleville, however, the evacuation of the Vietnamese to America is not a political or economic problem, but a Christian one. They have agreed to sponsor a family of Vietnamese refugees in town. Mai Xuan Son—a former South Vietnamese Air Force officer—his wife, Tri Thi Vien, their two children and Son's sister Mai Thi Bach Dao have been living at Camp Chaffee, Arkansas, since the fall of Saigon. They are scheduled to arrive in Belleville some time this week.

Rev. Albert Alspach, pastor of Bethany Lutheran, and his congregation are aware of the politically controversial nature of the Saigon government's fall and the mixed feelings some Americans have about immigrating refugees. "We know there are pros and cons," said Rev. Alspach last week, "but somehow we (the Americans) blundered into this. We have no choice as a Christian community. I know they will be welcome in our church. I hope they will be welcome in Belleville."

Temporarily the Son family will live in the Bethany Lutheran parsonage on New Street with Rev. Alspach. Once the congregation has determined the family's needs, said the pastor, it will begin its hunt for adequate housing.

Despite the great responsibility undertaken by the congregation, said Alspach, nearly everyone in his congregation voted to sponsor the Sons when Alspach presented them with the request from the Lutheran Immigration and Refugee Service. Within only days the congregation had found Son and his wife jobs.

Son, whose English, said Alspach, is fairly good, will work in a local foundry. His wife, a trained beautician, has been offered a job by a local hairdresser—herself an immigrant.

Alspach has an answer for those who say refugees take jobs away from Americans. "These people," he said, "are willing to take jobs Americans don't want. If someone comes to me willing to take anything I'll find him a job, too."

Though the Sons were originally scheduled to arrive in Belleville on Saturday, a security delay resulted late last week when the church agreed to also sponsor Son's sister. The congregation has planned a reception for the family at Bethany Lutheran, and will probably ask the town to provide some sort of official welcome.

In making its humanitarian offer, Bethany Lutheran becomes one of the first Lutheran congregations in the state to extend its Christian hospitality.

Alspach, however, is more concerned about taking care of the Son family's needs. "We have a responsibility that they will not be a burden on society," he said. Along with jobs and housing, the Sons must have clothing, probably some sort of medical attention, and ultimately five year-old daughter Mai Ngoc Quynh will have to enter school.

As for food, "I'll probably adapt my diet to theirs," said the minister with a half smile and glancing at his kitchen in the parsonage. "They eat a very bland diet," he said, "mostly fruits, vegetables, rice—very little meat. Our diet would probably upset their system."

"We're anxious to meet them."

Diggin' In

Jimmy Zaccone (right) of Belleville's Parks Department puts foot to shovel as he prepares the new Town senior citizen center's yard for sodding later this month. The building, in background, is nearly complete, reports Mayor Michael Marotti, and should be ready for occupancy by the end of July. Built almost entirely by local volunteer help, the center was scheduled for completion by July 15, but several minor delays have postponed the grand opening. Once open, the center (on the corner of Mill Street and Franklin Avenue) will be serviced by two Town senior citizen buses.

Sorry, guys

Belleville's State Senator Anthony Imperiale (below) discusses with fellow senators the state income tax issue during one of the hectic sessions in Trenton last week. Imperiale was one of many representatives who helped defeat the Governor's tax reform package. "The people of Belleville and Newark are very strongly against an income tax," said the independent. "They should have put casinos in Atlantic City," he added, "then we wouldn't be in this mess."

Talks at turning point

Public Safety Department employees and the Town may reach a final settlement or a major impasse today when they meet to resume salary negotiations that have been continuing all week.

Tough none of the officials involved were prepared to cite figures, "money is the main thing" currently being debated, said Mayor Michael Morotti on Monday.

According to Marotti, neither the Board of Commissioners nor the PBA and FMBA negotiators involved have been able to come to terms on a salary increase. The police and firemen rejected the Town's first counterproposal made two weeks ago, and will consider a new one now being prepared by Public Safety Commissioner Rocco Saletta for approval by the other Commissioners.

"We haven't reached an impasse yet," said Saletta Monday when asked about the negotiating progress, adding "I don't want to try our case in public." Negotiations, noted Marotti, are still in a sensitive stage.

Monday's talks, which lasted more than an hour, were calm, said the Mayor, but apparently firm. Today, he said, depending on what the Commissioners decide, discussions may be held on a mutual take it or leave it basis. "We've settled most of the other issues," said the Mayor, "but it's still back and forth on the money." Both sides have apparently been concerned over funding since there is no money in Belleville's current budget for the increases. Also under discussion is Public Safety Department overtime, which according to Marotti has been extensive in the past.

No matter how large an increase, if any, is ultimately granted to the police and firemen, an emergency appropriation will be necessary by the Board to fund it, said the Mayor, and he expects some objection from the public at the required public hearing.

Belleville's police and firemen, agreed the Mayor, "are the lowest paid in the county. We're trying to take care of the men without hurting the public too much."

Maybe by Wednesday (today)," added the Mayor, "it'll all be over."

Fun-filled Fourth

This time tomorrow, you'll either be cursing yourself for being stuck in traffic or marvelling at the wisdom you exhibited by staying here in Belleville and avoiding the annual Fourth of July crus to the beaches.

If you stick around and wait until Friday, you may decide that staying in town was the smartest thing you have ever done.

This Fourth of July, the Belleville Recreation Department has planned a full day of fun and action for citizens of all ages to enjoy. Starting early Friday morning, 9:30 a.m. to be exact, festivities will get underway at Belleville Municipal Stadium. Beginning at that time, the Rec Department's field day will commence.

Children are invited to participate in a wide variety of contests testing their athletic ability and their general will to persevere. Warren Ceres, the man in charge of planning the event, says kids can participate in such varied events as a sack race, an obstacle course run and speed competition, such as the 100 yard dash and the 50 yard dash.

What's more, Ceres points out that nobody who attends can possibly be a loser, since each and every child there will receive a slice of watermelon to quench their thirsts. In addition to that, winners in the sporting events will also receive individual trophies proclaiming for all the world their athletic prowess.

After the field day is over, there is still more fun to come as the Rec Department presents a circus for young and old to en-

One resident wages war with federal officialdom

By CHUCK JACKSON

Governmental bureaucracy is probably one of the worst mazes in existence. Each time a person tries to get something through it, it seems as though they come out looking like a mummy, wrapped and twisted from head to foot in red tape. For that reason, most people avoid head on conflicts with the government and try to get along with it. Sometimes, however, a situation comes along where you have to jump in there and fight, and that is exactly what Ralph Risoli is doing.

Risoli, Belleville's town registrar, is currently engaged in a battle with officials involved in the Supplementary Security Income (SSI) program. The battle initially started out as a personal skirmish, with Risoli going to the SSI people because of conflicting letters sent to his mother. It has now, however, taken on greater proportions, with Risoli conducting a one man letter and phone call blitz on behalf of all senior citizens.

According to Risoli, SSI, a program that went into effect in January of 1974, is designed to provide extra money to seniors, above and beyond their social security income. Government standards set $182 per month as the absolute minimum income for a person to receive. If a person's social security income does not equal this amount, he may qualify for SSI support.

According to a government brochure describing the program, "Helping the aged, blind and disabled in New Jersey," applicants for SSI are asked two basic questions, "What assets—things he owns—does the person have, and what is his income." Risoli says, however, that it is not as simple as that nor is it as pleasant as it might be.

Risoli describes the questioning by SSI employees as "interrogation" and he

Local Italo-Americans enjoy spring festival

The Belleville Italian American Civic Association was well represented at the recent Italian American Festival held at the Garden State Arts Center.

Club president Chris Albanese and Mrs. Lee Carlo, president of the women's auxiliary, were among more than 5,000 Italian-Americans gathered to pay tribute to their heritage.

Under the midday sun, musicians strolled around red clothed tables, reminiscent of the piazzas of Italy. Wine bottles and candles decorated the tables laden with zeppole, egg plant and other Italian delicacies.

The festival also featured organ grinders, Italian folk dances, paintings and sculpture and bocci games.

A mass offered in three languages by nine priests was also part of the event, preceding a three-hour performance on the Arts Center's main stage.

Albanese and Mrs. Carlo presented a bouquet of roses to Belleville hostesses "Le Belle Signorine" Enrica Del Campo and Donna Lydia Longo during intermission on the stage.

Also in attendance were George Sbarra, club vice president; Adolph Vecchione, secretary; Vennie Vecchione, Vincent Carlo, Sal Calabro, Fiori Masters, Nick Grancagnolo and members of the BIACA Ladies Auxiliary.

Flashlights will aid four disabled men

The Craig Fund will celebrate the 21st birthday of its namesake, Craig Fabian this coming Friday during Belleville's July Fourth celebration at the Municipal Stadium.

Organized five years ago to help pay Fabian's rehabilitation expenses after a swimming accident left him partially paralyzed, the Craig Fund also aids William Greco, paralyzed in a baseball accident; Joe Restaino and Dewey Imhoff, both of whom have suffered massive disabilities.

Fabian will celebrate his 21st birthday on July Fourth, and it has become traditional that Belleville's fireworks display begins with "Happy Birthday, Craig," as local citizens join in singing "Happy Birthday."

This year citizens will flick on special Craig Fund flashlights to complete the ceremony.

Posters have been distributed throughout town carrying the slogan "Help Belleville-Lites Help Their Own." The posters note that the flashlights will be sold July Fourth for $1 to help raise funds. Booths will be set up at the stadium where the flashlights will be on sale.

At the Craig Fund's last meeting, Michael Chieffo was elected president; The Rev. Alfred Stone, vice president; Robert Gaccione, secretary; Geraldine Macaluso, corresponding secretary and Edward Albretson, treasurer.

Michael Welsh and Mrs. Jo Ann McGough were appointed trustees of the organization.

Title I meeting July 8

Belleville ESEA Title I Program director Arthur M. Pico this week urged parents from School Eight with children in grades one, two or three to attend a special meeting scheduled for July 8.

The meeting will be to discuss School Eight's possible inclusion into the Title I remedial reading program. At the present time, said Pico, it appears that Schools One, Four and Nine will be designated participants in the 1975/76 school year. School Eight may replace School Two.

The remedial reading program is funded by the federal government and is offered in conjunction with that offered by the Belleville Board of Education.

The special meeting will be held at 2 p.m. in the library of School Two on Mill Street.

An earlier application meeting was held June 17, Pico said.

New format begins in the next issue

Next week's inside pages of the Times/News will look a little different than they have in the past.

Beginning with the July 10 issue, the Times/News will adopt a modern six-column editorial format, designed to make reading easier and the newspaper more attractive. Advertising will be arranged on a nine-column per page basis, publisher Frank A. Orechio has announced.

For the most part, the format change will give the inside pages a look similar to the Times/News front page, which is now built on a five column format. The wider columns reduce eye movement while reading, researchers say, and accordingly make reading more enjoyable. The more streamlined appearance (currently in use by several major American newspapers) also reduces page clutter, drawing additional reader attention to advertisements and photos.

The Times/News will not change the size of its page, as some papers have done in making the conversion. The Times/News classified section will switch to a nine-column format.

The Nutley Sun, affiliated with the Times/News, will also undergo the format alteration next week, so that advertisers can continue to take advantage of special discounts when ordering advertisements for both papers.

Philip White, Executive Editor of both The Nutley Sun and the Belleville Times/News, has asked readers and advertisers to be patient as the papers undergo the change. Though for the most part things should go smoothly, typographical changes such as these sometimes cause temporary errors and confusion.

A member of Theta Chi Rho Social Sorority, the student was a recording secretary for that group while a sophomore at college, and served as alumni secretary for the same group when she was a junior.

Herb Stern is feared, hated

(The following is the result of an interview conducted by School Page writer Michael Perrone. In later issues, the Times/News will present other interviews by young writers on other interesting people.)

By MICHAEL PERRONE

Shortly after being appointed to the Federal bench, Judge Frederick B. Lacey sent a short note to Herbert Stern, his 32-year-old successor in the United States Attorney's Office.

"oderint dum metuant" (Let them hate, provided that they fear-Cicero.)

"Them" referred to the multitude of conspirators, bribers, and extortionists that had plagued New Jersey for decades and who continued to thrive throughout the state. And during the period Herbert Stern served as the United States Attorney for New Jersey, he was surely one of the nation's most hated and feared men.

During his less than four years in office, Stern indicted a total of 79 federal, state, and local officials. In addition to a United States Congressman, the list includes two successive Secretaries of State, two successive State Treasurers, a former Speaker of the State Assembly, a State Senator, two Commissioners of the Port Authority of New York, the Director of the Garden State Parkway, plus the mayors and a significant part of the administrations of Newark, Jersey City, and Atlantic City, five additional small town mayors, several judges, the state's most powerful Democratic "boss", and its most influential Republican Party leader.

Unlike most prosecutors, Stern had no political ties. When Stern found corruption he prosecuted. He proved bipartisan in picking his targets, indicting both Democrats and Republicans. "The fact remains," he said, "that there is no one, absolutely no one, who violates the law in New Jersey who is protected by my office."

Herbert Jay Stern was born in Manhattan on November 8, 1936, the only child of Samuel and Sophie Stern.

Stern, like many young boys, originally had plans to become a fireman. However as he got older he began to develop a deeper interest in law. His father was an attorney and the young Stern would often go through his father's papers studying the cases.

After graduating from Stuyvesant High School, Stern left for Hobart College in up-state Geneva, where he would be "away from home, yet near enough so I could get back on weekends and holidays."

In 1957 Stern entered law school. Though he had been accepted at Harvard, Stern was off to the University of Chicago where he had been offered a scholarship which covered full tuition for three years.

Stern got his first taste of the prosecutory life between his junior and senior years of law school working as a summer intern in the U.S. Attorney's Office in New York.

After graduation in 1961, Stern returned to New York where he took the bar exam that July. Later that year he joined the National Guard where after reviewing his credentials, studying his outstanding scholastic achievement, and noting his law degree, the army made him a truck driver.

After his discharge Stern began his career as a prosecutor. In February of 1972, he was sworn in as an assistant district attorney for New York County. Four years later Stern joined the United States Department of Justice where he worked in the Organized Crime and Racketeering section.

On September 3, 1969 Stern became chief assistant U.S. Attorney and finally in October of 1971 President Nixon appointed Herbert Stern United States Attorney for the District of New Jersey.

Though Stern spent most of his time cracking down on political corruption in New Jersey, he also had time for other investigations. To the consternation of the State Department, Stern indicted the director of the French secret service on charges of conspiring to smuggle $12 million worth of heroin into the United States. Stern also was responsible for preventing 19 shore municipalities from discharging sludge into the Atlantic.

No case was too big for Stern's office and likewise no case was too small. Stern successfully intervened on behalf of an Elizabeth, New Jersey housewife whose rent had been raised $16 a month above the limits of the federal wage and price freeze.

And when police on the Palisade Expressway began flapping down every car on the road for an on the spot check to protest for overtime pay, Stern got traffic moving again by threatening to indict the police for obstructing interstate commerce.

Today Herbert Stern is the youngest judge on the federal bench. Though he doesn't have as much pressure on him now as he did when he was U.S. Attorney Judge Stern feels he works "just as hard as I ever did." Calling his new job "very active, interesting and exciting" Judge Stern has no plans to move on.

Being a judge means an end to the 14 hour, six day a week he worked as U.S. Attorney. For the first time in several years Stern has been able to have a social life.

When he's not working Judge Stern likes to spend his time reading good books, playing tennis or swimming. Most of his time away from the courtroom is spent in his Bloomingdale home with his wife Sandra where he helps in raising of their twin two-year-old sons Jason and Jordan, a task the judge refers to as a "full-time job."

Judge Herbert Stern does not believe that people are "ordinary," but yet does not feel that he is unusual in anyway. He just did the job he was given to do, and he did it as best he could. One of his former adversaries summed up Judge Stern well in one phrase as "the best thing that ever happened to New Jersey."

Byrne's heartbreaker

For more than a year, Governor Brendan Byrne has attempted to lead his party's Legislators to enact a State personal income tax to raise funds to meet a budget deficit and provide $300 million in funds for additional State aid to education.

A majority of Democrat State Senators supported Governor Byrne, but he needed the votes of four more Senators to see his program enacted. Only one Republican State Senator, Wayne Dumont, voted for the Byrne tax package.

History suggests no broad-based tax can be enacted in New Jersey without bipartisan support, regardless of the size of a legislative majority enjoyed by any party.

No one can accuse Governor Byrne of failing to lead — he has been involved in such an endeavor for more than one year. No one can accuse Governor Byrne of not being sincere. He really believes a personal income tax would best serve the interests of our people and our State.

In government, in politics—as in life—we win some and we lose some. And so it is with Governor Byrne. He has won some, and he has lost only one—his broad-based tax effort.

The least that one can say about Governor Byrne is that he has tried—and he tried with all the power at his command. A rejection of the personal income tax by the New Jersey State Senate should not be considered a personal rebuff to the Governor. Senators thoroughly dedicated to opposing a personal income tax—as Byrne was dedicated to the enactment of one—never considered their opposition to the measure as opposition to Brendan Byrne.

For the good of New Jersey, it is well to note that Senators in opposition to Governor Byrne's plan disagreed without being disagreeable—they disagreed without making the question a personal issue between them and Governor Byrne.

Now the task remains for both houses of the Legislature and Governor Byrne to launch a bipartisan effort to resolve the fiscal crisis which faces our State.

Fabian's birthday

By JODI MASSONE

Sixteen years ago

One year ago

A circus and fireworks highlighted features at the 4th of July celebration at Belleville's Municipal Stadium.

When it became dark candles were lit by the audience to salute Craig Fabian, a handicapped youth, whose birthday is traditionally celebrated at the annual stadium ceremonies. Craig was 20.

The senior citizen bus was so successful that plans were now being negotiated with Town officials to acquire a new $8,600 bus which would commence operating that coming September.

Twenty-five "Helping Hand" street signs sprung up around town. They signified that homes, also bearing the signs, were open to children on each block in case of an emergency. The Valley and Silver Lake areas of town were protected for seven years before by the "Helping Hand," which was new to the other sections of Belleville.

Six years ago

The party was a "flop!" More than 40 invitations were sent out and only eight attended! The "party" was a meeting of the Belleville Athletic Association, which had been called to discuss the town's role in improvements for the Belleville Municipal Stadium.

More than 40 invitations were sent out to town organizations, but when the meeting was finally held, only eight representatives of eight local groups showed up.

It appeared there was one town in Essex County that could not do anything with their Planning Board.

Residents knew why! The reason was Belleville was the one and only town in Essex County WITHOUT a Planning Board! Water was everywhere! 200,000 gallons were wasted every day in Belleville.

It seems that the pool-less population (children, I'm sure) in order to escape a sticky 100 degree heat wave, removed caps from various hydrants along Newark Avenue. Policemen, answering calls, were "boiling," but the "cap-openers" were unconcerned, and I might add, really COOL!

Don't have a bang up Fourth

Golden Comments

By James R. Golden

It is becoming increasingly apparent that our new Public Safety Director, Rocky Salletta, is dedicated to innovating many changes in the operations of the police and fire divisions under his jurisdiction. This was made obvious by his recent appointment of Joseph Landolfi and Joseph Granese as Deputy Public Safety Commissioners.

While it may be implied that political overtones motivated these appointments, it is presumed that Commissioner Salletta is determined to maintain close administrative control over the overall personnel of his department. Mr. Landolfi was Salletta's campaign manager and Mr. Granese, best known as J.G. shifted his support and that of his political organization in the past town election from defeated Commissioner Laterza to Salletta. The Joseph Granese organization had backed Laterza when he won four years ago; however, J.G. allegedly became disaffected because of Laterza's casual indifference over the operation of his department.

Mr. Granese is regarded as a stickler for rigid discipline who will carry out Salletta's policies with a watchful Inyx-type eye — all designed to perk up the efficiency of the department.

Likewise in the way of change under Salletta is the move to improve traffic flow in Belleville. One of the first changes that should be put into effect is to make Greenwich Street one way northbound instead of southbound so that the Fidelity Bank "Drive-In" lane could use this approach instead of typing up traffic on Washington Avenue in what becomes a nightmare mess. Only a right turn exit should be allowed and the present improper and objectionable abuse practiced by the Fidelity Bank should be banned.

Commissioner Salletta can inquire of any of his cops who handle traffic at the location of this bank and he will be advised of the traffic congestion caused by this improper misuse of the town's "main drag."

A similar condition had existed at Franklin Avenue and Joralemon Street with the People's Bank and the management of that institution obligingly corrected the situation by changing the "drive-in" lane approach. The Fidelity, a richer and bigger bank indeed, should be ordered to the same. It is within the power of the governing body to order such a change or force discontinuance of the "drive-in" window there.

With all the hullabaloo and controversy over the need for a state income tax to finance a thorough and efficient educational program, it becomes significant to review the comments of State Education Commissioner Fred G. Burke on the completion of his first year in office.

The Commissioner insisted that while the primary reason for the school reform effort was a "more equitable" distribution of school funds, the reform plan was "likely" to result in higher expenditures on education.

In the way explanation he pointed out "education is a very labor-intensive industry and, through their organizations, teachers have won rather significant increases in salaries and benefits." Commenting further, he said, "I think it's just a fact of life they are going to continue to increase substantially."

The Commissioner admitted there were no "hard data" to show that either increased professional salaries or increased per-pupil expenditures improve education, and noted some studies have shown they have little or no effect. When queried about the New Jersey Education Association (NJEA), which acts primarily as an economic welfare organization for most of the state's 80,000 teachers, Commissioner Burke commented that while he expressed concern that organization's like the NJEA were more interested in "economic benefits" than in educational reform, it was a fact of life that the organization would grow in influence in public education. He added, "I don't know whether it will ever come to dominate education completely, but for good or bad its influence is likely to increase."

In his presentation to the State Board of Education, Dr. Gordon Ascher said the results of the latest round of test scores amount to a "failure" of the public schools to teach the basic skills tested on the examination. In view of the above, doesn't it look like we taxpayers are being "taken" while educators get rich and the children are getting a poor teaching?

This writer chides Salletta

To the Editor:

Mr. (Rocco) Salletta was elected by the people to represent them and not the police and firemen. This is also true of all departments.

You cannot be too generous with other peoples' money in these hard times when the well is almost dry.

We are now paying federal taxes, county taxes, state taxes, local taxes, school taxes and many other taxes, and cannot afford any more higher taxes.

The Commissioners are the servants of the people and must abide by their wishes if we are to lick inflation and keep in line with the economy. We must all work together for the best interest of the town to protect what we have left.

We cannot afford to create a mess here like the ones created in New York and the City of Newark where thousands are to be laid off to balance their budgets.

It will create a more serious problem here. The people will be up in arms and strongly raise their voices in protest. It could bring about a change in our form of government.

We are tired of our elected officials taking orders from outside politicians harmful to the taxpayers—especially revaluation, a political gimmick ordered by the county at the expense of the home owners.

If the county cannot meet its payroll which they have increased by a few million dollars, they should cut down on their expenses, eliminate the fat and balance the budget.

Now Salletta says he will save the town money by purchasing those cars for the Police Department from an out of town dealer. He would save the town money if he bought new motors not rebuilt from Detroit at about six hundred dollars each and replace the old ones.

While I'm at it, Mr. Salletta, why not let the people decide any wage increases for all town employees, and not just one special department, on a referendum? If it fails it cannot be appealed like a defeated school budget that put the voters behind the eight ball.

Under the law it will take two years for another try. It must also be remembered town employees receive other benefits not granted in private industry: sick time, insurance, work clothes, and some do not pay FICA taxes like the factory workers who also have families to support.

Private industry has a product to sell and operates for a profit. When that fails they lay off the help, close their doors or move away.

Belleville is also big business. It does not have a product to sell, but a service paid for by the taxpayers who are seeking relief from their elected officials in all branches of government if they care to listen to their complaints.

No one should be penalized for improving their homes. They provide work for others, only if new additions are made such as new rooms or garages that would increase its value.

Many homes are assessed way out of line, which cannot be cured by a revaluation program, with 13 million unemployed and a depression around the corner. Why add more fuel to the fire?

All assessments should be reduced by 50 per cent to keep in line with the conditions that exist. The future is uncertain. Mr. (Peter) Torre, as the town assessor you have that power to act. Your word is final.

Foxworthy files saucer scoop

By CHUCK JACKSON

Ladies and gentlemen, we interrupt our regularly scheduled column to bring you this special report.

Come in Trent Foxworthy...

This is Trent D. Foxworthy reporting from Belleville's jail. According to my extensive sources throughout the galaxy and New York City, the UFO sighted over Belleville on May 21 was nothing more than a flying advertisement for WCBS FM radio.

I have learned that the object seen in the northern sky by frightened Bellevilleites was an airplane decked out with a bizarre array of lights advertising an area radio station.

After much difficulty, I was able to contact Gary Friedman, president of Electronic Aero-Ads, Inc. of New York City, and learned that a plane matching the description of the UFO was flying over this area on the night in question.

Though Friedman said he could not pinpoint the location of the craft at any specific time, he did admit that the vehicle belonged to his company.

A twisted series of events had led to my being held in protective custody by Belleville police. I am here because my life is in danger, but my duty as a responsible journalist forces me to reveal the entire story behind the "flying saucer," despite what may happen to me.

The truth, ladies and gentlemen, is that, while doggedly pursuing this story, I did come in contact with what I firmly believe was a being not of this world.

I began my investigation into the UFO affair by disregarding reports that the craft was an airplane. This report, which came from a man in Nutley, seemed ridiculous to me, since everybody should know what an airplane looks like. For that reason, I set up a watch on the night sky, intent on receiving confirmation of the saucer's visit from a first hand source—the pilot.

I had three chums with me, who, for security reasons, I can only identify as J. Daniels, J. Beam, and "Old Grandad." With these three trusty pals, I knew I would not give up my search.

On the fourth night of the watch, about 4 a.m., my efforts were rewarded. I saw the creature.

Daniels, Beam and "Old Grandad" were all gone, but I felt their mighty presence inside of me. The creature approached me, but it was difficult to see. Its form was all fuzzy and hazy, a fact I ascribed to the probable presence of a forcefield.

It was wearing a blue, military-type uniform and carried some sort of weapon about its waist. I suspected that this was

What a probation officer!

Rose DeFranza

For some reason, whenever a probation officer is portrayed in a movie, the individual seems to be a cynical oldtimer, tough on the parolees and quick to throw them back in a cell. Fortunately, art does not always imitate reality, and Rose DeFranza is living proof you can't always believe what you see on the screen.

Mrs. DeFranza has just been appointed to the United States Probation Department and she is only the second woman named to the staff in the District of New Jersey. As an appointee to the federal agency, she will be responsible for writing pre-sentence reports, supervising people placed on probation by judges in this district, and the supervision of parolees from federal institutions and military disciplinary installations.

A graduate of Jersey City State Teachers College, the 28-year-old Bellevilleite received her bachelors degree in Education. She taught junior high school for a while, but she says, she was not completely happy with what she was doing.

"While I was in college," she said, "I started working with poor children in the low income neighborhoods. After graduation, I got a job teaching in a middle class school and I felt I could do more for the poorer children."

Mrs. DeFranza left her plush teaching job in Kennilworth and joined the Essex County Welfare Board. She then moved to the State Division of Youth and Family Services where she worked as a child abuse investigator. Though she found her work there challenging, she says it began to get to her after a while, because she couldn't leave her job at the office.

"When you are dealing with children who are being beaten and abused, you tend to worry all the time. You always wonder whether the child is all right or not, and after a while, it really starts to wear you down. You are working 24 hours a day and it wears you down emotionally and physically."

Though she has moved up to the federal government, Mrs. DeFranza says she probably will still be dealing with inner city "clients." She says that many federal parolees and probationers are "white collar" criminals, but she feels that since she has done much of her work with poorer families, she will be well suited for her new assignment.

One of the things that will make life interesting for her is the fact that she will be dealing with a wide range of people. "You could get anyone, from a person convicted of trafficking drugs to a kidnapper," she said. "After doing what I did for the state, I don't feel nervous at all."

What is probably most important to her, however, is the feeling of helping someone and succeeding in reaching a person. "It's exciting to psyche them up, to show them that you care. I like going to a man's house, a man who has never had anything, and saying, 'Hey! Listen! I've got a really great job for you!' When you reach someone and help them get things back together, you really feel satisfied. It's probably one of the most satisfying jobs in the world."

Mrs. DeFranza lives at 72 Emmet Street with her husband, Robert, a Hoffmann-LaRoche employee. Originally from Lyndhurst, her father and mother, Joseph and Margaret Allegratta still live there.

Senior notes

By GEORGE CHENOWETH

We have not been in a market for about two weeks, but on Saturday last we had to do some shopping for food and the change in prices, upward of course, was appalling.

We as individuals can do very little about it. Collectively we could accomplish quite a good deal.

We seniors on fixed incomes are affected more than most other groups by the high cost of living. We have to rely on an act of Congress to get enough money to subsist on. So what to do about this situation? Lower prices would be an answer to our dilemma.

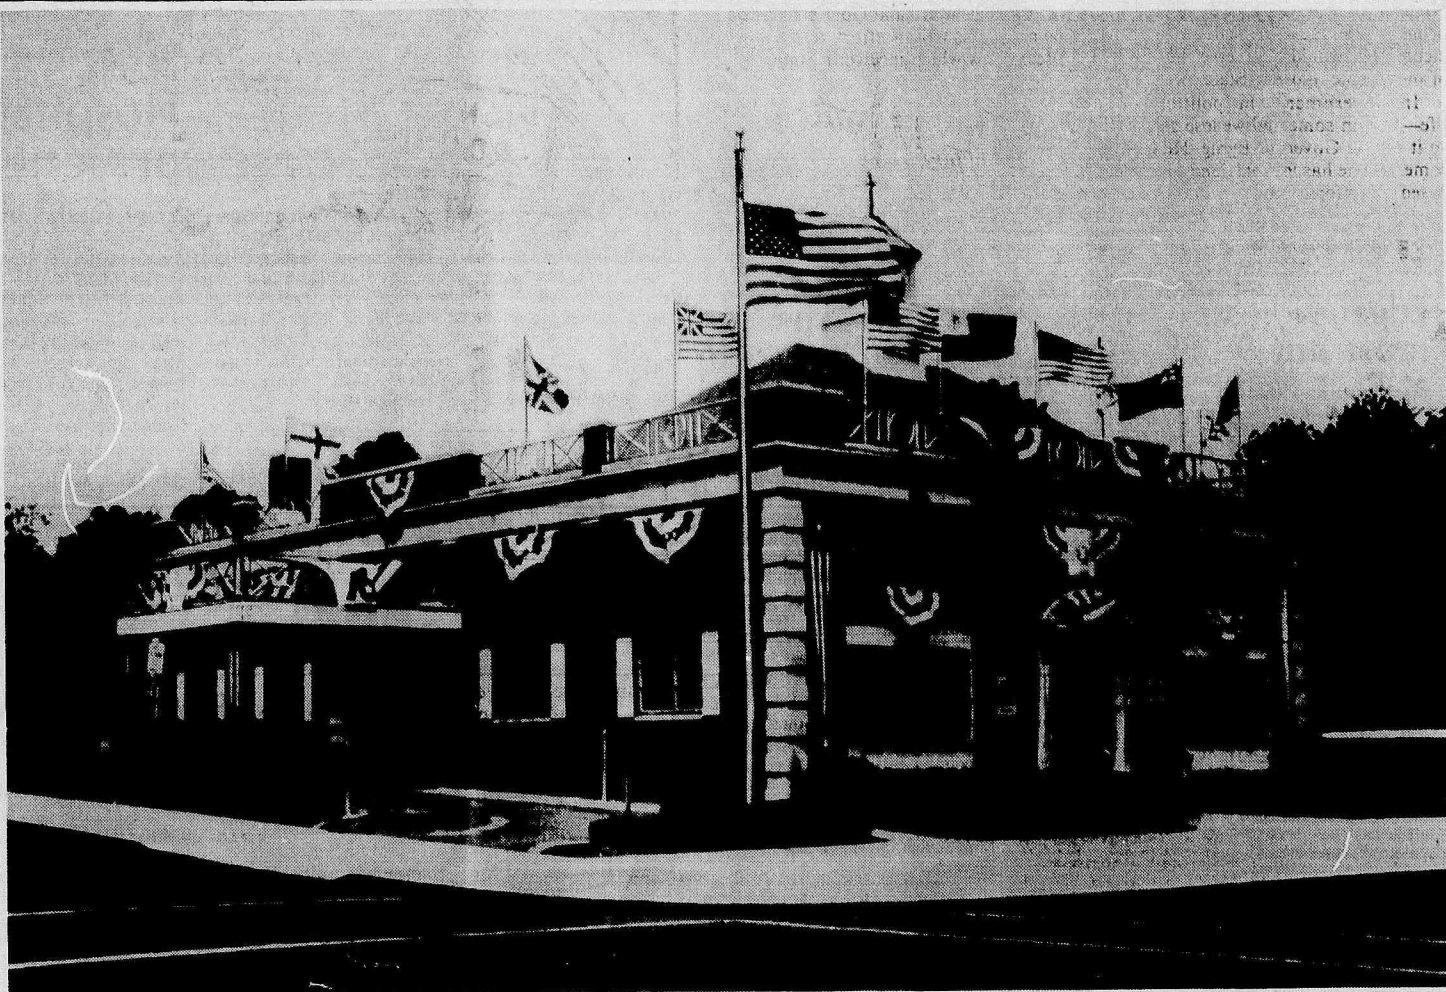

How do we go about it?

A group of people could accomplish more than an individual. There is such a group known as Community Union Project (CUP), in North Jersey that advocates the lowering of prices in the market place. They have already started organizing groups and individuals with this in mind.

Their plans are aimed at the lowering of prices through signed pledges. Pledges not to patronize places that charge inflationary prices. It has worked in other localities. It will work here and everyone will benefit.

Two busloads of seniors of the Belleville Senior Citizens Club returned to town last Friday after a five-day sojourn in Wildwood Crest. The weather was great and the treatment we received was greater. One sad note: Mildred Harlow was taken ill and we had to leave her in Cape May Courthouse Memorial Hospital. We are happy to say that she is improving and should be back soon.

Don't forget to display your flag on the Fourth of July.

Everybody was there including Bob and Elinor Iracane who are related to three of the graduates Cindy Cammarato, Karen Mostillo and Dom Mobilio... Terry and Carl Romao were on hand to wish their niece Cynthia Romao well. I'm really sentimental and enjoy the flag salute and National Anthem immensely. Congrats to the commencement speakers on a fine job. They were: Valedictorian - Sandra Susan Cronauer, Salutatorian - Constance Meyer and representing the Honor Group - Dominick world and its problems. There's an old saying: "give a kid a chance, and he'll live up to your expectations."

Just for fun, wanted to see how many graduates I knew personally or knew their parents... Julie Albertine, Diane Amoscat, Gloria Barbone, Wendy Cioffi, Laura Giansanti, Lynn Hermann, Mary Jane Izzo, Carol Jackson, Kim Lindsay, Bonnie Low, Mary Maroulakos, Susan Narucki, Leslie Norton Sharon Norton, Karen Oberto, Leslie Rosamilia, debra Sorice, Constance Sougelad, Ann Spera, Aida Stefanelli, Nevette Stevanelli, Donna Stone, Angela Visicaro, Allen Amiano, Mark Cosenso, Thomas DeVingo, James DiModica, Anthony Nicosia Jr., Glen Nisivoccia, Thomas Sharra, Steven Senatore, Kenneth Westpy and Brian Wood.O.K., kids — the world is waiting for you... go out and do something with it!

It was fun listening to, and watching, the kids drive around town blowing horns and blowing off steam... I was a little annoyed, however, when 13 cars or more made too much horn-blowing past Clara Maass Hospital. There were plenty of other streets to celebrate on.

Congratulations are in order for Steve Fox, second vice president of the Kiwanis Club of Branch Brook Belleville. Steve is tying the knot on July 19th with Gerri Mazurek of Jersey City. The wedding will be held at St. Joseph's Church and the couple will reside at Whitestone Gardens in Bloomfield. Much happiness is wished you both.

Plans are progressing on the picnic planned by Belleville Lodge No. 1123 of the BPOE. The menu is planned and Ray MacDonald will have Pat McGonigal's St.

Columille Bagpipe Band on hand to perform... date is August.

The Belleville Chamber of Commerce Newsletter has a correction to make on their new member... it is The Sportsman's Emporium, 136 Washington Ave. (not Sportsman's Haven)... another new member welcomed is Mary Lous Resner of "Mary Lou's" 143 Washington Ave. Belleville has officially been designated a Bicentennial Community so the display of the Bicentennial Flag or emblem is now legal.

I may get hung for saying this, but everywhere you go, everything you read or see on TV is emphasizing the Bicentennial... what will we do for encore's in 1976???

My mom, Doris Murphy, came home from the hospital this weekend. Again, my sincere thanks to all of you for your calls, cards and, most of all, prayers.

Got the word - the Kiwanis International turned down female members... wonder if they'd give a charter to an all-female group? What's new with The Kiwanis Club of Branch Brook Belleville/outside of Steve Fox's upcoming wedding)... Larry Dempsey Scoutmaster for Troop #364 presented a recent program... anniversary wishes to Ernie and Agnes Dyson on their 38th!... birthday congrats to Ann Fitzpatrick, Mike Prezioso and anniversary congrats to Curt and Ginny Buttel and Rose and Joe Gonnello... please add to your prayers the daughter of Len and Lillian Condon who is seriously ill.

News from The Belleville Library "Reader"... young adults are urged to join the summer reading program... Gerard R. Hickey, Library Director completed an index to Holmes' "Brief History of Belleville; Reminiscences of 75 years of Belleville, Franklin and Newark" which is available to patrons... summer needlepoint, crafts workshops for young people and adults are available afternoons and evenings... July's exhibit will feature artwork, photographs and sculpture by Mr. Massano of Montclair... also featured in the display will be: a fossil fish from Wyoming, the jaw of a prehistoric horse from Nebraska, trilobites from Utah, the bone of a prehistoric horse from Florida and fossil plants from Bergenfield, N.J.

For goodness' sake... what's new?? call me, will you - I like to eat!

Have a happy and healthy summer.

Many things have surprised me

Helen's thing

by Helen Maguire

I HAVE had many, many surprises in my life, some marvelous, some pleasant, some unwelcome, some that I could have lived without very easily.

One of the best was when the blind date turned out to be tall, good looking and fun to be with (and turned into a husband a year and a half later). I was forced to admit that my school teacher friend had good taste. She, in turn, was surprised and slightly appalled when her maneuvering resulted in matrimony. I think she felt responsible for the success or failure of the match.

Rod and I "matched" up one couple and vowed never to do it again. Although they are still wed almost a dozen years later, the parents of two children and seemingly very happy with each other, we had many anxious moments and regretted more than once that we had stuck our noses in.

I WAS surprised (no, shocked is a better word) when Gavin was a boy. For nine and a half months (late!), I was convinced that I was harboring a female child, had her name all picked out (Kate Sandra) and envisioned a little darling in pinafores and lace trotting after her daddy and joining me in league against an all male household. When the doctor refused to have another look (just in case he had made a mistake), I accepted the fact that a little girl would have to wait.

For some reason, I wasn't surprised that Ryan was a boy and I won't go into my feelings when my third go-round evened up the score.

I was surprised the first time I invited Rod's family en mas to some affair without making an accurate head count and close to 40 people waltzed in. Happily, I am inclined to over prepare, over estimating appetites but never being caught short with food.

AND SPEAKING of relatives, I was surprised the first time my ever loving allowed that my potato salad was as good as his mother's (only took six years)! I am prepared to go into cardiac arrest if he ever eats my spaghetti sauce!

I was royally surprised the morning I went down into the cellar and found the hot water heater had burst and liquid was rising around my ankles as I stood there in disbelief. I was unpleasantly surprised the morning the plumber announced that the furnace had called it quits permanently and had picked the middle of January to do it.

SURPRISE WAS hardly the word the other day when I turned on the vacuum cleaner and discovered that the bag had sprung a leak and the dirt, instead of being contained inside the machine, was spreading itself liberally all over the rug. Rod was surprised that a new bag was so reasonable. Expected the worst and was disappointed!

However, the biggest surprise I've had in a long time was when my editor called at six thirty this evening and told me "Helen's Thing" was due a day early and he would like the column by nine o'clock. I should have read last week's paper.

Members of Woman's Club enjoy annual May Luncheon

The Woman's Club of Belleville held its annual May Luncheon for the membership on May 22 at their Club House on Rossmore Place. The delicious lunch was prepared by the President, Mrs. W. Douglas Clark, and the Second Vice President, Mrs. Gerard J. Ferrara.

Following the luncheon, a recital was given by three very talented students from Belleville High School under the direction of Mr. Thomas Finetti, choral director.

Susan Santiglia, soprano, sang "O del mio amato ben", an aria by Donaudy, "Il bacio" by Arditi, and "Vieni, My City of Dreams", by Siczynski. She was assisted by Mr. Finetti at the piano. Susan, a 16-year-old sophomore, has a very mature and developed voice for her age. Since 1972, Miss Santiglia has earned numerous awards from such organizations as the Music Educators' Association, the Masterwork Music and Art Association, AMITA, Inc. In 1973 and 1974 Susan won the state-wide "Talent Expo" competition for the classical vocal division which enabled her to sing at the famous Garden State Arts Center in Holmdel.

Maryann Dyba and Arthur Masi, both very talented pianists as well as honor students at Belleville High School, performed as both soloists and duo-pianists. As duo-pianists they performed the first movement of a Sonata in D by Mozart, two selections from Petite Suite by Debuss, and "Electric", a ragtime by Padwa. As soloists, Miss Dyba performed Mendelssohn's "Agitato", from Songs Without Words, while Mr. Masi performed Brahms' Rhapsody in G minor, op. 79.

Maryann, a junior, is presently studying piano privately with Miss Calleyse Le Andro of Clifton and also violin with Mr. Kurkewicz of Bloomfield. Maryann is second violinist with the Bloomfield Symphony.

Arthur, a sophomore, is currently in his seventh year of private piano study with Mrs. Elizabeth Hoffer of Nutley. Arthur has placed and earned superior ratings in many state-wide piano competitions of which he is a regular entrant. Recently, Arthur has appeared in a master class sponsored by the Music Educators' Association, and a student recital in Fletcher Hall, in Montclair.

All three students plan to further their musical studies upon graduation from high school and make music their profession.

Mr. Finetti and his students received enthusiastic applause and an invitation from Mrs. Clark to return for a special Woman's Club event next year. The excellent recital was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone.

Traditionally at this time, reports are given by the delegates of The Woman's Club of Belleville to the New Jersey State Federation of Women's Clubs annual convention at Chalfonte-Haddon Hall in Atlantic City in early May. This year the delegates reporting were Mrs. W. Douglas Clark, President, and Miss Ruth J. Hogan, First Vice President, of the General Club; Mrs. Herbert Tucker, Chairman of the Evening Membership Department; and Mrs. William Van Holland, President of The Junior Woman's Club of Belleville.

Two members brought honor to the General Club by receiving Certificates of Merit from the New Jersey State Federation of Women's Club for their winning entries in the Needlecraft and the Music competition. Mrs. Charles G. Maise received First State Award for her picture in predesigned crewel and Miss Edith M. Richards received Third State Award for her original patriotic song, "Our New Jersey."

Guests of the day were Miss Dorothy Baldwin, President of The Woman's Club of Nutley, Inc., and four prospective new members: Mrs. Archie Stinson, mother of Mrs. Van Holland, Miss Helen Farrell, Mrs. H.J. Maguire and Mrs. William Baker.

Mrs. Richard A. Shafter, Chairman of the Fine Arts Department presented Mrs. W. Douglas Clark with a lace tablecloth for the Club House, given by the Art Department in Mrs. Clark's name. Mrs. Clark is the instructor in Oil Painting for the membership.

Representing the Executive Board of The Woman's Club of Belleville, Mrs. Shafter also presented Mrs. Clark with a personal gift of two beautiful silver serving trays, expressing their appreciation of her service and leadership over the past two years.

The Press Book for the year 1974-1975 was presented to Mrs. Clark by Mrs. William Kinloch, Publicity Chairman.

ONE YEAR OLD Carl Corino celebrated his first birthday April 25 surrounded by family and friends. Flanking Carl are his parents, Gary and Linda. Standing from left, grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Damian Corino and great grandmother, Mrs. Jennie Corino of Belleville and grandparents Mr. and Mrs. John Gawdun of Newton. Gary, Linda and Carl, former Belleville residents, live in Ames, Iowa and will be moving soon to Nashville, Tennessee.

Note to brides: Social Security wants you!

June brides should remember to change their names with social security. That reminder comes from William A. Fogarty, social security district manager in Newark.

"No matter which month she's married in, a bride should give us her new name so we can keep her social security card and her earnings record accurate and up to date," Mr. Fogarty said. "Then earnings she had both before and after her marriage can be correctly credited to the same record."

Earnings women have in jobs covered by social security will determine the amount of their cash benefits — "not just when they retire," according to Mr. Fogarty. "During their working years, women also build disability, survivors, and Medicare protection for themselves and their families," he said.

To get her name changed on her record, a new bride can call or write any social security office. "Or," Mr. Fogarty said, "she can use a form available at any post office and at many employer personnel Offices."

says the officials use "Gestapo-like tactics." He says that people who go to apply for the additional aid are badgered and asked questions that are improper and do not pertain to the application. He charges that three persons sitting there and firing questions at the senior are designed to confuse the person and force them into making statements that will cause them to get less money.

While Risoli finds the conduct of SSI personnel unpleasant, others who have had dealings with the program say the people are fair in dealing with senior citizens. One knowledgeable senior citizen leader said people he has referred to the agency have been dealt with properly and have received the additional money they were entitled to. He said that it is necessary for the people with SSI to ask a series of questions in order to determine what a senior's income and assets are.

In addition to his attack on their interview methods, Risoli also claims that an SSI form informing a person of a change in the amount of money they receive and their appeal rights is printed so lightly as to be nearly unreadable by elderly persons. Risoli points to this as another example of how the government agency is trying to withhold funds due to the people.

As a result of this form, Risoli started a lone man letter campaign, writing to senators Clifford Case and Harrison Williams, congressman Joseph Minish, the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, Casper Weinberger, and even the president. Risoli enclosed a Xeroxed copy of the form, and pointed out how difficult it was to read. Risoli says that the form sent out by SSI and their "interrogation" methods should be looked into, and he wrote to President Ford, saying, "I am requesting an investigation into this matter, along with those responsible for its existence. It is a disgrace that a government agency would allow the distribution of this form."

Late last week, Risoli received an answer from the White House. The letter, signed by Pamela G. Needham, assistant director of the Domestic Council, acknowledged receipt of Risoli's letter, and said, in part, "Your request that information given on the form entitled 'Supplemental Security Income Notice of Planned Action' be clarified is much appreciated. You will be interested to know that this form is currently being revised to improve the readability and will be reprinted." Though he is pleased with the results of his personal letter campaign, Risoli says he will still press for an investigation of SSI and its methods. He says that, if necessary, he will initiate court action to see that seniors get what he feels is fair treatment. According to Risoli, "I've been battling with SSI for a long time. These senior citizens really need the money. They deserve the money, and these people are trying to take it away. I'm not just fighting for my mother's rights, I'm fighting for all seniors."

Arch rival teams clash July Fourth

Belleville's American Legion Post 105 baseball team took it on the chin twice this past week, going down before Verona last Wednesday, 4-1, and then staggering back to get again, this time from North Newark, to the tune of 3-1.

The two losses set the team's record at 5-3, still a good season. The team had ample opportunity to make up for the losses this week, though, as they met Montclair on Monday and Cedar Grove on Tuesday. Unfortunately, results came in too late for this week's edition of the Times/News.

Friday, the team will host Nutley for a Fourth of July game at Municipal Stadium. The game will get underway at 2 p.m., and it will be a short stroll for the fans taking part in activities going on at the stadium that day.

The Legionnaires hosted Verona last Wednesday, and their guests said their thanks by handing the Belleville boys their second loss of the season by the score of 4-1. The Belleville team went on the blink offensively, not scoring their lone run until hits during the entire game. Those two were a couple of singles in the first inning, one by Ron Goy and the other by John Guarino.

The Belleville squad scored its only run in the first inning, and from there on, couldn't get a hit to save their lives. Ron Goy banged out a single, and while on base, North Newark pitcher Manny Abrew tried to pick him off. Abrew's throw went wild, rolling off the fence and out into right field. By the time his teammates had retrieved the ball, Goy was safe at third. Goy crossed the plate when Mike Cancelliere layed down a perfect suicide bunt to get his man in.

That was all she wrote for the Belleville Legionnaires, and after the seventh they left the field to lick their wounds and get ready for this week's onslaught of games.

The most emotionally exciting game this week will take place Friday. The Fourth of July game against Nutley will feature the traditional high pitched rivalry between the two clubs and in fact between the two towns. Each time teams from the two neighboring towns meet, competition is fierce and action is at its best. Each team will be looking to do the other one in, and you can bet no quarter will be given the bottom of the seventh, their last turn at the bat.

Coach Mike Limongelli, looking back at the two defeats his team took this

Bruins now 8-4

It was an all round bad week for the Belleville Bruins, as the semi-pros dropped a game last Thursday to Livingston, 6-3, and then got rained out Saturday during a contest against Caldwell.

The loss last week set the Bruins' record at 8-4 for the season, still a respectable tally. Monday, the team was scheduled to play Union, but an early Times/News deadline fell before results were in. Saturday, the team plays Maplewood away, and Sunday, they travel again, this time to South Orange to meet the Soverels, leader in the Western division.

Livingston started off hot at the plate last Thursday, and stayed hot enough there and tough enough on defense to hold back the Bruins and take the victory.

The Livingston men started off the scoring immediately, pounding out two runs in the first inning to take the early lead. They followed up in the third, socking in one more, and once again in the fourth, this time driving three men across the plate to take a 6-0 lead.

After three cold innings, the Bruins started to catch fire, pounding in two runs. Joe Papisidero led off the charge, slapping the ball for a single. Scull and Rich SanFillipo followed suit, both banging out one baggers. In the process, DeJianne caught at the plate. The runners moved up to second and third on a wild pitch, then Billy Otskey boomed a single, driving in his two teammates.

The Bruins scored again in the seventh, as Papisidero singled, Petite followed him by flying out, and Leopoldi forced Papisidero out at second. DeJianne then singled to right, and a wild throw to third allowed Leopoldi to streak home.

for the score. It was a case of too little too late, however, and the Bruins just couldn't muster the force necessary to close the run gap. Livingston left the winner, 6-3.

The rainout against Caldwell Saturday came in the fourth inning. Though it was a disappointment to have the game called, it may have been a blessing in disguise, since Caldwell was in the lead.

Mike Zayac was the only pitcher of record this week, suffering the loss in the

Dazzlers win title

It's been a long uphill battle for the team, but after two years of trying, the Dazzlers finally took the championship in the Recreation Ladies Softball League.

The 1975 champions really got it together this year, losing only one game all season. Three times, the Dazzlers were able to beat back challenges from the Belles, title holders for the past two years.

Under the leadership of Dolly Wagner and the coaching of Joe DeFabbri and Joe Guarino, the Dazzlers really worked for the title they earned. The women hit the diamond nearly every to practice and keep themselves in top condition. As a reward for their hard work and great sportsmanship, the champs were awarded individual trophies which were presented on behalf of Mayor Michael Marotti by Bob Cook, Superintendent of Recreation.

Atdrey Roll, captain of the Belles, offered the congratulations of her team to the gals that finally unseated them.

Although the Belles finished in second place as the league play ended, they were virtually tied by the Sluggers who finished a scant half a game behind them.

Members of the championship Dazzlers team were Eleanor Tuccino, Ellen Lis, Lynn Ann Peterson, Carol Giuffrida, Linda Todd, Pat O'Brien, Clare Zipper, Maureen Fantacone, Claire-Liotti, Victoria DeFabbri and Polly Liberti. This crew of sluggers will be waiting anxiously to defend their title when next year's play rolls around, trying to duplicate the feat of their rivals, the Belles.

Golfers set for tourney

Belleville's duffers are cleaning their clubs and making last minute adjustments to try and correct their slices and hooks in preparation for next Thursday's annual Recreation Department golf tourney.

Any man who lives or works in Belleville is welcome to tee off in the contest and match his skill against his fellow Bellevilleites. Trophies will be awarded.

Following the day on the fairways and greens there will be a four hour dinner at the Chandelier on Franklin Avenue. Included in that dinner will be a cocktail hour so that the club swingers can wet their parched throats and swap stories.

The cost for the entire day is a reasonable $20 per person. Tickets may be purchased through Tom McLaughlin or Mrs. Patricia Verian at Town Hall. For more information, McLaughlin or Mrs. Verian can be reached at 759-9100 during regular business hours.

Spectators are also welcome.

Rain, rain go away

Action in Belleville's Rec. Department baseball leagues was brought to a virtual standstill last week due to foul weather. As a result, teams in the senior, intermediate and farm leagues have scheduled make-up games to fill out their schedules and determine the champions.

In the American division of the farm league, the Clippers and the Cardinals managed to find a break in the clouds and play their game. It turned out to be bad news for the previously undefeated Cardinals, as the Clippers pulled it out at the last minute and took the win, 4-3. A pinch hit by Robert Bogle tied the game, and the winning hit came off the bat of Pat Thompson. The winning pitcher was Pat Leondis, giving him his fifth win of the season and setting his team's tally at 4-0. The victory also kicked the Clippers up into the number one spot in the standings.

The National division found its progress hampered by foul weather, though a lot of make-up games scheduled can still affect the standings.

The intermediate league is locked in an incredibly tight battle for first place, with coach Otto Wolfe's Yankees neck and neck with the Giants. Both teams sport 3-1 records, and they may soon have some more company. The Cubs are scheduled to play the Pirates, and if the Cubs take the game, they will have a 3-1 tally also, thereby making the race for first a three-way photo finish.

The Yankees have shown steady improvement throughout this year, ending the first round with an unimpressive 1-3 record, the second with an even seven 2-2 balance, and now in the third round, holding a 3-1 record. Coach Wolfe gives credit to the team's "timely hitting and good pitching," for their steady upswing in the statistics.

Summer program underway

The Belleville Recreation Department began its Summer Program Monday at 13 different locations around town, and events and activities for children six year-old and up will be going on every day from 9 a.m. to 12 p.m. and 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.

The Rec department has a lot of plans for the kids, and the youngsters should be kept hopping from now on through the hot months.

In addition to the regular supervised events, the department has scheduled a number of special excursions and happenings, including a trip to the Turtle Back Zoo and a balloon festival. For budding VanGoghs, there will be an extensive arts and crafts program under the supervision of Janice Vietiello.

All those sports friends out there aren't being overlooked either, since the department will be conducting clinics in such physical endeavors as softball, football and soccer.

With all they have on the agenda, director Warren Ceres may be understating it a little when he says, "We want to give the kids as complete a summer program as possible." The program is complete, in fact it seems to be bursting from the seams with things to do.

Nobody in Belleville should have any trouble in reaching any of the locations where the activities will be taking place, since they are scattered about town in enough places to cover just about every locality. There will be daily programs conducted at Schools One, Two, Three, Four, Eight, Nine, and Ten. Kids can also go to the Rec House, Fairway Avenue, Kelley's Park, the Pistol Range, and the Friendly House.

All a boy or girl has to do to get in on the fun is sign up at the playground of his or her choice at 9 a.m. on any day. Things started rolling on Monday, so time's a wastin'. Get out there and take advantage of what the town has to offer.

Head man

Legion coach Mike Limongelli checks out the roster of starters in last Friday's game against North Newark. The Legionnaires put up a tough fight, but the Newark boys came on stronger and handed the Belleville team its third loss of the season, 3-1.

Moundsman

Hurler John Guarino took to the mound last Wednesday when Belleville's American Legion Post 105 diamonders hosted Verona. The Belleville men couldn't keep up with their Verona counterparts and went down to defeat, 4-1.

Swinger

Legion batsman Lou Grasso takes a big cut at the ball during the Verona game. Grasso and his teammates had a long hard day at the plate against Verona, and all the team had to show for it at the end of the game were four hits and one run. That tally was nowhere near enough, and he Bellevilleites suffered the loss.

Livingston game. Zayac walked five, struckout four, and gave up six hits before he was relieved in the fifth by Frank Petite. Petite finished up the game, giving up two hits, walking one man, and sending another down swinging. The loss gives Zayac an overall record for the season of 5-2.

This weekend will be tough on the Bruins, since they meet the teams ranked one and two in the western division — the Soverels and Maplewood. Both teams are tough, and the Bruins can expect to run into stiff opposition.

He prodded me with some sort of staff or stick, uttering some words I could not understand. I was finally able to break down the communications barrier, however, and ask him the crucial question: "Say, buddy, are you the guy that buzzed Belleville in a saucer on May 21?"

He was silent for a moment, then, as he stepped off my knuckles, he answered my question. "No," he said. "What are you, some kind of nut?"

I kept my cool. He seemed to be getting belligerent. I then calmly explained that I was not a variety of flora, but was, in fact, a human being.

I awoke in this cell. The police apparently rescued me and, realizing the danger I would be in if I revealed what I had seen, they placed me in protective custody, under the bogus charge of drunk and disorderly.

Fortunately, they allowed me enough phone calls to determine the real source of the "saucer" — that ad company in New York.

I must go now, the gentlemen are continuing this charade of drunk and disorderly by taking me to court.

long dry spell. In the bottom of the seventh, Mike Cancelliere rapped out a single, he was followed by Rocco Balsamo, who drew a walk. Bob Giordano then took to the plate, and blasted a double, driving in Cancelliere. As it turned out, Cancelliere was the only Belleville man of the day to cross the plate, while four Verona players made it.

John Guarino pitched for the Legion team, taking the loss. The winner was Verona's Jim Quinn, who pitched the four hitter.

Friday, the team did no better when they welcomed their North Newark neighbor. Belleville's batting slump was again apparent, as the hometown diamonders could only muster two by either. The traditional fireworks scheduled for later that night may look like mere pinpoints of light compared to the sparks that will fly during the afternoon Legion baseball game.

Beck's Column.
You will hear in the future quite a bit about a new type of color TV picture tube, called the "in line" system. Some people think that the picture appears to be better than on the old three gun type picture tube. Exact and critical examination does not support such contentions.

The main advantage of the in line picture tube is the ease of the initial set up, which is quite a job with the 3 gun type. This tube has millions of small phosphor dots. The electron beam has to be aligned in such a manner that the red gun hits only the red dots, the blue gun hits only the blue dots and the green one hits the green dots. It is a job to align everything so that it hits just right. If it does not, there is an overlap of the beam from one color gun to dots of a different color. The result is a "smeared picture". The in line tube has thin vertical lines instead of color dots arranged in a triangular pattern. In some cases it can be set up without the use of instruments. This is not possible with the 3 gun type tube. One has to have a special color generator and the mechanic who does the job, has to have a lot of experience to set it up correctly. Sometimes it is impossible because of the misalignment of the color dots to set it up without some overlapping. A skilled mechanic can compromise the setting in such a manner that there is a minimum of "smear". We service what we sell.

Why should you join the Payroll Savings Plan now? Maybe you'll find out later.

The future can be too late for saving. So if you want security, you'd better start today.

The Payroll Savings Plan makes it easy. Because an amount you choose is automatically set aside from each paycheck to buy U.S. Savings Bonds. That way, your savings build, year after year.

So start today. Because tomorrow, today will be yesterday.

Now E Bonds pay 6% interest when held to maturity of 5 years (4% the first year). Bonds are replaced if lost, stolen or destroyed. When needed, they can be cashed at your bank. Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Take stock in America.

Be your own keeper.

It would be great if we could protect you and your family from accidents, but all we can do is remind you to take time to be safe. If you want to be your brother's keeper, start with yourself.

National Safety Council

If you don't like thinking about safety, think where you'd be without it.
