No pride — John Ciallella of Lloyd Place used to be proud of his neighborhood, "but now I'm ashamed to have guests over to the house anymore." He is referring to the broken bottles and other refuse lining the Clearman Field fence near his home. "I've complained about it but it doesn't do much good," Ciallella attributes the mess "not to the kids — it's adults," and is disgusted, he says, that it isn't cleaned up more often. The mess shown here is two weeks old.

Fund's fun — The Belleville Kiwanis Club kicked off its fund raising drive Monday at DeWitt Savings and Loan when it put up for sale the giant coloring books shown here in the hands of (l-r) Sy Grossman. Kiwanis president Larry Gonnello and Bob Meier, coordinator of the project. The sale will continue throughout town until Christmas.

Sagner decides: 'no Lake gates'

By PAUL STERN

State Department of Transportation Commissioner Alan Sagner has again ruled "stop and flag" warning procedures adequate to safely guard the Erie Lackawanna Railway crossings at Franklin Street and Belmont Avenue, the Times/News learned this week.

Sagner's decision and order, his second issued regarding the controversial crossings, arrived last week at Town Hall and was made public Tuesday night. It is expected to meet widespread disfavor among residents of the Silver Lake section of town, who staged a massive demonstration on the Erie tracks following removal of the crossing gates there last year.

Meanwhile, Mayor Michael Marotti said Tuesday he is investigating some other means of providing the gate system sought by the Silver Lake residents. "We're not sure yet," explained the Mayor, "but we're trying to contact the County to go in with us on the gates." Commissioner Joseph McGreevy is attempting to secure an agreement with County officials to split the $70,000 bill for the automatic system. "Sagner's share would be to provide the engineering," added Marotti, "he hasn't got any money." The railroad "is broke," continued the Mayor. "They can't even afford to drive a spike in."

Marotti cautioned, however, that the Town is unlikely to expend the entire $70,000 on its own. "That's a lot of money."

Marotti is apparently reacting to another part of Sagner's five-page decision, which suggests Belleville use its power to erect its own warning and safety devices. Those devices must be in compliance with State and County laws, however; and in the case of Franklin Street, Belleville would have to work in conjunction with the County which has jurisdiction over the road.

Restaurant appeals Z-Board's denial

The owner of the long-vacant lot at Washington Avenue and William Street has appealed a Belleville Zoning Board decision last month denying permission for construction of a Burger King restaurant on that site.

Property owner Thomas Fahmie, in a suit filed late last week in Superior Court, has charged that the Board 3-2 denial of a special exemption permitting the restaurant was unreasonable. Fahmie's lawyer, Arnold Smith of Paterson, said Tuesday no court date has yet been arranged.

Despite the long and detailed statement of denial issued July 12 by the Board, Smith said he will attack the Board's interpretation of testimony taken from several experts during three lengthy sessions. Part of the Zoning Board's denial charges the restaurant would be "susceptible to youthful rowdiness" — an allegation Smith said there is no evidence to support.

Another major consideration in the case is parking and traffic volume. "I'll have to attack that, too," said Smith. The Zoning Board denial was apparently heavily influenced by the proposed restaurant's traffic volume "which will substantially endanger the safety of the many children crossing the subject area." The restaurant's peak traffic hours coincide with lunch time at nearby St. Peter's School.

Though the Zoning Board did not mention it in its denial, Smith may also deal with testimony offered by Fahmie's witnesses that the fast food restaurant would enhance a currently deteriorated part of town, replace a row of cold water flats, attract business to the lower end of Washington Avenue, and provide jobs for local residents.

Also complicating the case slightly is the pending selection of a new Zoning Board attorney to replace former Board lawyer Frank Zinna, now Assistant Town Attorney. The new counselor, once selected, will have to handle the appeal on the Board's behalf.

Lakers charge police with improper conduct

By CHUCK JACKSON

A large number of Silver Lake residents, angry over what they call "police harassment" attended Tuesday's Commission meeting and presented Public Safety Director Rocco Saletta with a petition protesting police actions.

Vincent Scoca of 77 Lake Street gave Saletta the document, signed by 107 people which charged that police officers had badgered juveniles, used foul and abusive language when talking to them, and taken youths into police headquarters for little or no reason.

Saletta seemed surprised to receive the complaint, and promised to meet with both the citizens and the police officers involved. He told Scoca and the other Lake residents present, "I appreciate your coming here and telling me this. I like to hear both the good and the bad done by our police officers."

According to William Rossi, 81 Lake Street, the petition was circulated after a recent incident in which four girls were picked up for loitering on the Number Four School playground. Rossi said that though the alleged harassment has been going on for some time, this incident triggered the petition.

According to police, the people involved, several juveniles and an adult, were in an area of the school yard fenced off and locked. Officials said the area is off-limits and that was the reason the people were taken to headquarters. They added that the adult involved was charged with public consumption of alcohol.

Residents also complained about the language used by police officers in dealing with the youths. In addressing Saletta and the other Commissioners, Scoca said he heard a policeman use what he called "foul language" while talking to his younger sister, and he added, "No matter what anyone says, I can't respect a man who acts the way some of these policemen do and uses the kind of language I've heard them use."

Rossi echoed the same sentiment after the Commission meeting, saying, "It's not right for a police officer to use profane language when talking to young kids. These men ought to approach kids the right way."

Many of the people seemed embittered about the treatment people in the Lake receive at the hands of the police. Rossi complained that while police chase juveniles off street corners and away from the Number Four School playground, "there are no recreation areas whatsoever in Silver Lake. What are they supposed to do?" He went on to say, "It seems like Silver Lake is treated like garbage. We don't have anything over there. We're the 'other side of the tracks,' the wrong side of town."

Several other residents present voiced their concern over what they believe are unfair ticketing practices by Belleville police. They claimed that while cars parked in the Silver Lake area are ticketed frequently, those in other parts of town are not.

Board passes two biggies

The Belleville Board of Commissioners passed without incident two ordinances of major significance Tuesday night.

In unanimous votes, the Board officially approved $1,000 pay increases for Belleville's police and firemen, and also appropriated $327,000 for the purchase of the Hoffman Rigging Company property on Cortlandt Street.

The Public Safety salary ordinance passed without public comment or remark by the Commissioners, who had already settled the salary question with PBA and FMBA representatives last month.

Only two residents spoke concerning the Hoffman property, which is to be used as new headquarters for the Public Works department.

John Charles of 22 Cortlandt Street protested that the complex "is not worth it," but was assured by Mayor Michael Marotti and the building is "a good buy."

to join in the event.

Merchants, 15 of them in all, agreed that the sale, which is now in its fifth year, was a tremendous success last August.

The Big Deal Factory Outlet on Heckel Street, a newcomer to the sale, will participate in addition to the old-timers which will include Belleville Shoes, Mae Moon, John's Bargain Store, Camton Shoes, Terry Shops, Claire's Children Shop, Joseph's Men's Shop, National Shoes, Mary Dell Fashions, Michael's Men's Shop, Sherman's Children Wear, Mary Lou Fashions, Louaires Men's Shop and County Discount Stores.

Bellevilleite jailed for assaulting cop

A 22-year-old Belleville man was sentenced to 18 days in jail and fined $300 after pleading guilty in Municipal Court last week to charges of assault and battery on a police officer.

David W. Hughes of 80 Nolton Street pleaded guilty to assaulting police officers when they tried to execute a warrant from West Windsor township. A court official said the warrant was for a motor vehicle violation.

Judge Edward J. Abromson presided over the case last Wednesday.

Belleville police officer Joseph Staats arrested Hughes.

Massaro exhibiting at Public Library

The Belleville Public Library will have on display this month the artwork of Paul A. Massaro, it announced this week.

Massaro, who has lived in Belleville ten years, will exhibit a collection of his work— including oil paintings, photographs, drawings and pastels— created during his 14 years of artistic work.

Many of Massaro's creations are taken from his travels, depicting scenes from as close as Bloomfield and as distant as Portugal and Belgium.

Massaro graduated from Fairleigh Dickinson University in 1967 with a degree in history and government, and also holds a law degree from the New York Law School. In 1971 he was admitted to the New Jersey and District of Columbia Bars, and is presently engaged in public law practice. Massaro also attended the School of Visual Arts and American Art School in New York City, and holds the rank of captain in the U.S. Marine Corps reserves.

A total of 15 of Massaro's works will be on display.

No coop for Puglio

It looks like Anthony Puglio of 59 High Street will have to keep his racing pigeons somewhere other than at home.

Despite Puglio's insistence that construction of a back yard pigeon coop is permitted under the Belleville zoning code, Judge Charles Barrett, Jr., last Friday in Superior Court upheld the Belleville Zoning Board of Adjustment's refusal to grant Puglio permission to build one in October of last year.

Though the pigeon owner has 45 days to appeal Barrett's ruling, according to Assistant Town Attorney Frank Zinna, the case is apparently closed—ending what began as a storm of neighborhood protest over Puglio's plans.

Though Puglio's attorney Joseph Dooley argued that Puglio's pigeons — very expensive and talented pigeons — were similar to household pets and were permitted in Belleville health codes, Judge Barrett found the Zoning Board's denial within its interpretive powers. Residents of the area, who last year petitioned against the coop, said at that time the birds would be a nuisance.

Zinna handled the case for the Board, even though he had officially resigned his position as Zoning Board attorney by the time the case was heard.

Judge Barrett ordered Zinna to finish the case, however, since only a verbal hearing remained and no conflict between Zinna's new legal post and his old one was found.

Commons owner chooses revocation

Convicted last week of speeding 90 miles per hour down Route 21, the owner of the Commons apartment complex on the Belleville-Nutley border says he will appeal the case.

David L. Paul, builder of the Commons and several other large apartment complexes, told Nutley Municipal Judge Edwin J.C. Joerg his conviction was a case of mistaken identity by an "overzealous" State Trooper. Joerg imposed a fine of $150 or six months revocation of Paul's Connecticut driver's license. The builder — who is also a lawyer and professor at City College — chose revocation, saying: "I'll take the revocation — after all, I don't need a license. I have a chauffeur."

Paul was convicted on the basis of testimony by State Trooper Raymond Caramanna, who said he clocked the builder at 80-90 miles per hour headed south on Route 21. The speed limit there is 55.

Paul, however, contends the Trooper mistook his car for someone else's. "I wasn't going any more than 25 to 30 miles per hour," said Paul. Just in the process of leaving the Regency Apartments (which he also owns) Paul said "I had been driving no more than 20 seconds when I saw the trooper's car behind me and stopped."

According to the trooper, that was not the case.

Mayor seeking County help

Scott, who has been handling the protracted and involved litigation, a new appeal of Sagner's decision will be consolidated with an earlier one. "We should be seeing the end of the road in about six months," he said, though noting additional delays will result from the new materials that must be entered into the record. "It will cost the town a fortune," added the Town Attorney.

"I conclude," wrote Sagner, "that the 'stop and flag' procedure is adequate in light of all the surrounding circumstances."

"...The human presence of the flagman in a position to direct the train, vehicular traffic and pedestrian crossings would seem to provide the most effective protection under these circumstances," he continued.

Sagner also points out in his order that "there was no testimony to the effect that the 'stop and flag' procedure, if properly adhered to, was unsafe. Automatic gate or signal operation was not endorsed by any of the witnesses for those intersections."

Later, in his summary, the DOT Commissioner notes that "Both of the Town's 'expert witnesses' indicated a higher degree of safety could be attained at these crossings through the use of manually operated signals and barriers. Both also agree, however, that the 'stop and flag' procedure at these intersections was 'safe'."

Sagner, in his order, instructs the railroad to execute the "stop and flag" system in the following manner:

"Upon approaching the street intersection, the train comes to a complete stop. A crewman descends from the train, carrying a flag, or in the case of inclement weather and night operations, a fusee, and proceeds to the center of the intersection. Upon having stopped both pedestrian and vehicular traffic from entering the intersection and assuring himself that the intersection is clear of vehicles and pedestrians, the crew member signals to the engineer that he may proceed. In any case in which a train, having cleared the intersection, promptly re-enters it by backing into it in a switching or similar operation, the flagman shall remain at, or return to the intersection and initiate the procedure anew."

Though Mrs. Judith Kent of 217 Stephens Street presented a petition objecting to the new parking arrangement, she later seemed placated by an explanation offered by Belleville traffic expert Captain Robert Russomanno.

"There has been a misconception of this ordinance," explained Saletta, in response to Mrs. Kent's charge that "we have inadequate parking as it is."

According to Russomanno, there will be no parking on Stephens Street's east side for eight hours each Monday. On Wednesdays, parking will be restricted for eight hours on the street's west side. "You can park any other time," said the Captain.

"I think the ordinance is to the benefit of the people," added Saletta.

Parking ordinance passed, explained

An ordinance changing parking rules on Stephens Street was unanimously passed by the Belleville Board of Commissioners Tuesday night, but not until Commissioner of Public Safety explained the ordinance wasn't what protesting residents of the area thought it was at all.

Rocco Street tenants lodge protest

A residents' group from an apartment complex at 27 Rocco Street appealed to the Board of Commissioners Tuesday night for help in settling a complaint it had with the Belleville Rent Leveling Board.

Led by Steven Rogers, himself a Rent Leveling Board member, the tenants complained about conditions at their complex and of the treatment they had received at the last Belleville Rent Board meeting August 7.

Rogers said he might even sue the Rent Board for "violation of my First Amendment rights" to speak, and indicated he had made an appointment with the American Civil Liberties Union to discuss that possible action.

The Rent Leveler's father, Linwood Rogers, called for the replacement of Rent Board chairman Daniel DeTufio, charging that DeTufio had mistreated him and threatened to have him jailed at the last Rent Board meeting.

An argument had apparently erupted at the August 7 meeting when DeTufio would not hear the citizen's complaints about services in the absence of the landlord.

Young Rogers conceded that standard Rent Board complaint procedures had not been initiated, but still objected to DeTufio's conduct at the meeting.

Mayor Michael Marotti agreed to investigate the matter and contact the landlords.

State aid restored

Recent tax legislation signed into law by Governor Brendan Byrne has restored most State aid to Belleville, Town Treasurer Francis McCoy has announced.

"There's still no word on the sales tax," said McCoy, "but everything else as far as we know is being restored."

Though the town had initially anticipated severe cuts following the defeat of the State income tax bill, most of Belleville's state aid has been restored completely, leaving the town only $8,110 short on road aid.

Belleville's share of the sales tax revenue may still be coming, added McCoy, though the town is presently out $131,530 (or 5.5 tax points.) The City of Camden, said the Town Treasurer, is presently battling Governor Byrne in court over the funds, which have already been collected.

Act, but wisely

The Times/News was distressed Tuesday night to hear reports of improper and abusive behavior by Belleville police officers in the Silver Lake section of town.

We were shocked because the Belleville Police Department is generally as professional a law enforcement agency as any in Essex County, but also because seldom do so many residents come forward to complain of incidents and events that have no basis in fact.

Citing incidents in which several police officers swore at and mistreated Silver Lake youngsters for no good reason, the Lakers have asked Commissioner of Public Safety Rocco Saletta to launch an investigation in their behalf. Considering the seriousness of their allegations, we hope a full interdepartmental probe will be forthcoming, in which all parties concerned are given an opportunity to be fully heard.

At this point in the situation, however, it would be hypocritical of the Silver Lakers were they to condemn the individual officers named or the department before all the facts and explanations are out. Too often have we seen hasty assumptions based on distorted neighborhood accounts lead to unnecessary friction between public officials and the people who have appointed them to serve. Too often have the results been greater divisions of feeling than existed before.

We are confident Belleville's police officials will treat seriously and fairly the complaints lodged by the Silver Lake residents; and that they will appropriately discipline any officers found to have acted without the respect due to every citizen of town. To preserve their good reputation they cannot and would not do otherwise.

We are confident Belleville's police officials will treat seriously and fairly the complaints lodged by the Silver Lake residents; and that they will appropriately discipline any officers found to have acted without the respect due to every citizen of town. To preserve their good reputation they cannot and would not do otherwise.

We are certain also that the Lakers, in turn, will be patient while a fair and impartial investigation takes place; and that they will accept the results of that investigation in the same spirit of justice in which it has been sought.

Tax appeal deadline near

Tomorrow, August 15, is the statutory deadline for taxpayers to file their appeals with their respective county boards of taxation if they wish to contest the valuation place on their property for 1975 taxes, warns the New Jersey Taxpayers Association.

Although the law requires annual assessment, most assessors do not find it practicable to review and change values of every property each year. In 71 municipalities which had revaluations or reassessments effective in 1975, property assessments of most taxpayers in all likelihood will have changed. The 9.2 percent rise from 1974 to 1975 in statewide net property valuation, the base on which local property taxes are levied, a dollar increase exceeding $6 billion, is attributable both to new property added to tax rolls and increases in assessed values of existing properties.

Taxpayers should carefully consider the assessed valuation assigned to their property by the local assessor or board of assessors, points out NJTA. If a taxpayer considers his assessment discriminatory — because of either a higher dollar amount, or a higher ratio of assessed-to-true value, than comparable property within the same taxing district — he has the recourse of appeal to the county tax board. He may file the required appeal form with the county board for a nominal filing fee.

A taxpayer may request of the county board of taxation an extension of the appeal deadline to not later than September 14 if he can show under oath that the local taxing district failed to mail or deliver his tax bill before July 15.

Best available source of property valuation information is the copy of the municipality's assessor roll in the office of the county board of taxation. One of the products of a municipal revaluation is a property record card for each parcel of property. A New Jersey Court opinion has held that such cards, although not public records under the definition of the Right to Know Law, must be open to inspection by a taxpayer who has a discrimination appeal pending on his assessment.

Due to a record dollar increase in property tax levies this year, with the statewide figure topping $3 billion, a common taxpayer complaint may be that his property tax bill is "too high" compared with a previous year. This type of argument is insufficient basis for appeal, and such claim will be rejected, notes NJTA.

Appellants will be notified by the secretary of the county tax board of the time and location of the appeal hearing sometime after August 15. The appellant may appear in person or be represented by counsel. The municipal assessor is present at the hearing to defend his valuation figures, and if the appeal stems from a recently completed revaluation, a representative of the revaluation firm may also participate. Law does not require that the taxpayer receive a written opinion from the board explaining the outcome of the hearing, only notification of the new value if the original amount is changed.

Last year progress was made in the appeals process when county tax boards adopted standardized appeals petitions, regulations and procedures in compliance with guidelines promulgated by the Director of the Division of Taxation.

Tax appeals to the 21 county tax boards totaled nearly 23,500 in 1974, a percentage of slightly over 1 percent of the more than 2.2 million property line items in the State's 567 taxing districts. This small proportion of appeals to total parcels of property may be indicative of a reluctance on the part of property owners to challenge local valuations.

Taxpayer-appellants dissatisfied with the outcome of the initial appeal before the county tax board may next file with the State Division of Tax Appeals. Deadline for filing at that level is December 15 of the tax year.

Higher taxes are in store

To the Editor:

By the actions of our newly elected Commissioners the quality of running the town has taken a step backward—which means higher taxes next year for the taxpayers.

It reminds me of some judges holding court. There has been no justice or improved conditions helpful to the home owner's upholding the letter of the law.

It is a pity the voice of the people is useless in such matters unless they join together and fight back.

Spending funds that one does not have in the budget is a serious mistake. It just hurts the people who must pick up the tab that much more.

The State, the County and the churches are all in that category. They have billions in tax exempt properties, yet we must give them a free service and pick up their garbage.

Now the town, with some of the highest and best paid in the State for its size, has also entered into the real estate business. That means more lost ratables, combined with the new taxes approved by the legislature on everything under the sun to get the Governor out of hock—a crisis he himself has created by cutting the State budget. He saved the jobs of thousands of state employees at the expense of the people.

If industry and cities can lay off the help, so can the State to balance its budget, and not use the people as guinea pigs. We are now at the mercy of the politicians who sold us down the river by voting for the new taxes. They are up for reelection and will tell you they voted against the income tax, hoping you will forget the new taxes they approved. It must also be remembered they voted themselves a fat $10,000 raise, plus other expenses.

If we had more men like Mr. Orechio and Imperiale, this would never have happened. Think about that in November when you vote.

I'm a reader of the Belleville Times/News and have been for about 30 years. I always liked Pat Diana's column. You should bring her back.

She told you things about what was going on in Belleville.

In today's Belleville Times/News (July 31) there are two pages advertising Nutley's moonlight sale. That should be kept in the Nutley Sun, and more items about Belleville should be in the Belleville Times/News.

AFTER SHOOTING INCIDENT

Sympathy for the policeman

(The following is a letter submitted Tuesday to the Times/News in support of Newark police officer Joseph Forlenza, the Newark police officer who shot and killed 35-year-old Bellevilleite Cosmo Feraco near his home on Washington Avenue July 27. The writers have requested that their names be withheld.)

Some question and answers for concerned citizens about the incident on July 27, 1975 in which a Bellevilleite was killed by a police officer.

The July 31, 1975 edition of the Belleville Times/News asked, "Was Cosmo's death necessary?"

Answer: This is, in our estimation answered simply. Joseph Forlenza is a police officer on duty 24 hours a day, every day, and was upholding the law to the best of his ability.

August 7, 1975: "Was Cosmo's death necessary?"

Answer: Anyone carrying a concealed weapon is usually an incompetent person expecting trouble. There aren't many peace-loving people walking the streets or driving automobiles with a concealed weapon.

Our Question: After being repeatedly told that Forlenza was a police officer, why didn't Feraco surrender his weapon and thereby end this dispute?

August 7, 1975: Question: "Why didn't he just back away?" asked Feraco's brother-in-law. Ballistic reports prove Feraco was shot from close range. Forlenza did back away as far as he could against his car, and did not draw his revolver until Feraco lunged at him.

If Feraco was such a pacified man, why did he threaten and lunge at a police officer with a switchblade knife?

Thursday, August 7, 1975: "Who knows?"

Golden Comments

By James R. Golden

Rare oddities in the news that give it an unusual twist...as many major cities with high crime rates and heavy fire losses continue to lay off or furlough police and fire personnel, Belleville's generous commissioners (with our money) grant a $1,000 pay raise to our cops and firemen, largely stemming from what would appear an effort of newly elected Commissioner Rocco Saletta.

Ironically, we have learned that at private discussions with representatives of the police and fire groups and the commissioners, Mayor Michael Marotti (himself a Belleville police officer on leave of absence since Governor Byrne, when a judge, ruled Marotti could not hold both positions of Commissioner and a police officer simultaneously) stood firm in his capacity of Mayor and representative of ALL the people when he "put his foot down" on unreasonable demands of the cops and vamps. Marotti reportedly told them in words to the effect that while he appreciated their past support, he had to consider the overall interests of all our citizens and that he wouldn't "go for" all the demands of the Public Safety employees, and that he would win without them. This column is inclined to agree.

Indeed, we know the lot of the cop and fireman isn't an easy one and is fraught with constant danger which entitles them to commensurate pay for the risk involved. However, they should take into consideration the burdensome plight of the struggling taxpayer who doesn't make as much as they do and lacks their job security, some of whom are even now trying to get by on unemployment insurance payments with the constant threat of losing their homes.

Mayor Marotti took a rational, fair-minded course of action which should be recognized by the people and the Public Safety employees alike and should be gratefully appreciated by them.

While on the subject of our police and fire personnel, it must be said they performed in exemplary fashion during the dangerous emergency which could have "blown up" a large portion of Washington Avenue a few weeks ago. The emergency alert was handled well and fortunately without serious incident. At times such as these we appreciate the dedication of these intrepid men.

While there is much merit in the town's purchase the Hoffman Rigging property for $327,000 for use of the Public Works Department, wouldn't it have been "lovely" if instead, our commissioners had prevailed upon the Hoffmann-LaRoche pharmaceutical company (which bought the Jergens property on Franklin Avenue and turned over four and a half acres of it to tax-exempt Clara Maass Hospital) to donate that acreage to the Town of Belleville for development of a new, centralized Town municipal complex?

If that had occurred, we would have had room for improved expansion at no cost and what is most important, no loss of tax ratables as now will be the case with the loss of taxes on both properties which will have to be made up by you know who...you.

Our editor, Paul Stern, characterizes revaluation both as "the taxpayer's terror" and "a costly process." Both true, but, let's look at what State Senator Wayne Dumont has to say about Newark's attitude about revaluation—something our commissioners should think about before "dashing widely" into complying with any directions or orders of any state or county agencies—a thing that would cost us more money and much grief.

"Two-thirds of Newark's budget comes out of the state treasury," he pointed out. "You may think your district's a poor one, but you haven't had a revaluation done in 30 years. And I doubt that anyone in Newark would want a revaluation which might show that the city is not as poor as everyone thinks it is."

Newark receives about $80 million in state school aid based upon a formula which favors poor districts over those which are more affluent.

Hell, if they don't comply with the orders of the Courts, why should we be the "suckers" and "carry the burden?"

Let Belleville wait till Newark acts.

SEEMS ONLY YESTERDAY

Once a big pool; now a bit hole

By JODI MASSONE

Were there invaders in Belleville? Or were they just on Ogden Road? Bret Coeyman was nine. It was a hot day. He was swimming in a pool in his backyard.

He got out of the pool, started to get dry, and heard a sucking sound. He and his mother both ran out to the pool.

They saw an empty hole where the pool was. Where there was a pool full of hundreds of gallons of water only moments before, there was now an emptiness and a large hole. It seemed that something sucked both the plastic pool liner and the water into the earth where it disappeared.

The occurrence was likened to pulling the drain plug out of a bath tub full of water.

Mrs. Coeyman called the town to seek assistance.

Commissioner Mary Senatore, director of Public Works, and her assistant, James Soldo, administration clerk, went to the Coeyman place, but no quick answer was given. They were both baffled, and Bret no longer had a pool to cool off in.

A lot of other people were baffled, too.

Registrar Ralph Risoli and Town Treasurer Francis McCoy weren't against marriages, but they WERE against illegal marriages.

They reported that a municipal clerk, in a neighboring town, acting as mayor during the mayors absence, performed four marriages. Risoli said they were illegal. Pointing to a New Jersey statute, Risoli stated that only the Town's Mayor, and not acting or deputy mayor, may solemnize marriages in the state.

A sub-division proposal involving a 40,000 square foot tract of land was tabled by the Town Fathers after a heated discussion in Council Chambers. The proposal asked the Commission to permit the tract to be divided into nine separate building lots near the intersection of Jerome Avenue and Cottage Street.

Several area residents were unhappy with the proposal and it was at their urging that the Commissioners had decided to reserve their decision.

A your Democrats Organization was being chartered in Belleville. The group was being guided by Town Democratic Chairman Mary Senatore, who hoped to involve the young Bellevillites immediately in the November General Election.

Mrs. Senatore's move was in response to the passage of the 26th amendment, which gave 18-year-olds the right to vote.

In a report to the Town Planning Board, the Passaic Valley Citizens Planning Association gave wholehearted support to the efforts of Belleville and Nutley municipal officials to obtain an extension of the Essex County Park system by acquiring and developing for combined recreational flood control purposes both banks of the Third River from Harrison Street to Joralemon Street. Clara Maass Hospital opened. The $5,000,000 hospital, boasted six floors, and 324 beds. It was ready to serve 250,000 patients.

Two Belleville cyclists, borrowing a specially built tandem bike owned by Clark Alberg, a local cycle enthusiast, were to attempt to lower the New York to Philadelphia bike record on a tandem bike.

Ed Littig, well-known bike star, and Charles Schneider, were planning to set out to beat the existing record of four hours.

Rotarians found out how to make a good cup of coffee.

John Zwacki of Nutley, head of the coffee department of a large chain grocery store organization, told Belleville Rotarians how to make good coffee at the meeting of the Rotary Club held in the Elks Lodge.

The speaker, who had imported coffee for a number of years, gave a vivid description of coffee plantations and methods used in countries where the little brown bean was cultivated.

Clarizio: 'plan your work'

Government is a business, just like any other. It has its corporate executives and stockholders. In the case of municipal government, the Commissioners are the executives and the people are the stockholders.

In addition to the Commissioners, there are various other people who serve the town, among them members of the Board of Adjustment. Peter Clarizio, 42, recently appointed to the Board has a solid background in business and seems likely to serve well in his post as a zoner.

Clarizio works for Kimball Systems, manufacturers of identification and control media. He has worked in sales all his life, presently working as a district manager for the firm. For that reason, when he speaks of Belleville, he tends to use business analogies in speaking of the town, its leaders, and its future.

Clarizio seems to see Belleville as a kind of product. He has a lot of confidence in the product, just as any good salesman would, but he also has an eye for the community's shortcomings and areas where improvements are needed.

His criticisms of Belleville aren't just a putting down of the town by an unhappy citizen, but are for the most part constructive. He likes the town and the people in it.

Clarizio would like to see those people get involved in their town. A thirty year resident, Clarizio looks back at things the way they were and wonders why things have slid downhill on Washington Avenue.

"I can remember a time when Washington Avenue between Mill and Rutgers flourished. Now it looks like a ghost town. People are talking about the master plan. Where has it been all these years? You have got to run a town like a business, with organization and planning."

According to Clarizio, planning is the key word in the running of the town. He says, "There's an old axiom: Plan your work and work your plan." He says that when things go well or poorly, people have to look to their leadership to see what's helping them and what is hurting.

Clarizio readily admits that he is not familiar with what his duties will be as a zoner, but he is looking forward to getting into the post and doing something for Belleville.

Clarizio is a graduate of Belleville High School, and as he puts it, "a product of the entire Belleville school system." He graduated from Fairleigh Dickinson University in 1959 with a degree in Business Management.

He lives at 30 Plenge Drive with his wife, Marie and his daughter, Marie, 13.

To the Editor:

I know that someone in Belleville has suggested a drive on behalf of James Cleffi (Eiythroblastic Leukemia.)

The father James Cleffi Jr. was a former resident of Belleville and a member of the PAL soccer program years ago.

This is a personal plea to all "my boys" of that program. You enjoyed those Sunday games. Think how much James Cleffi will miss his favorite sport.

Knowing what a great effort the late John McNish of the Belleville Police Department made with these boys, one can look at the local Police Department, Fire Department, businessmen and salesmen — all are a credit. The North Arlington Police Department carries two members of that soccer program.

I know these people know themselves, who they are, so give PAL. Provide A Little.

Golden has a fan

To the Editor:

The State Legislators Senator Anthony Imperiale and Assemblymen Michael Aduvato and John Cali should rectify the great damage they have done by repeatedly defeating Governor Brendan Byrne's income tax plan. That is the only thing that will save us now.

Our Town Commissioners were warned that it would come to this dilemma, but they kept right on inflicting big expenditures on the Town budget. They did not heed the warnings and what was happening in N.Y.C. and now is really happening here in New Jersey.

If and when it comes to changing our government to council form, Mr. James Golden would be a good experienced candidate. He is against costly prerequisites going to our politicians and is all for economy and cutting expenses. That is what we need from now on instead of bleeding the taxpayers.

Mr. Golden's columns are very good and the one July 31 was most enjoyable and amusing toward the end about the course in mnemonics for the politicians. Ha! Ha! That is real good.

By the way, Mayor Marotti, as long as the Board of Education is making devastating cuts in the school budget, how about some cuts on the Town budget like eliminating the costly frills going to our politicians like free phones, cars, convention expenses and expense allowances?

It has got to stop. That is why Belleville property taxes are much higher than other surrounding towns. It is downright piracy.

Mets hater, beware

To the Editor:

I have a complaint to lodge. Somebody in Police Communications is fouling up Channel 9.

Now I am all for Law and Order and the pursuit and punishment of Perpetrators and if this interference is absolutely necessary I will (reluctantly) Bite the Bullet.

But if, as I suspect, this is a Dastardly Plot, devised by some Foul Fiend who hates the Mets — let him beware!

I have a friend (2nd. Officer on UFO X 13) who can easily black out this whole Communication System. So??

P.S. I this Low Base Wretch must vent his spite on sports, let him cut in on the "Havana Reds" baseball or the "Moscow Bomb Throwers" soccer games.

P.P.S. On second thought, this can't happen since anyone who hates the Mets has to be a Communist!

Big turnout

The Belleville Broncos football team held tryouts this week and the size of the turnout staggered everybody. With 30 openings on the team, more than 160 boys were vying for spots on the team. Here, youngsters show their stuff in auditions for positions on the line. This is only the second year of the Broncos' existence, and the coaches were overwhelmed and pleased to see the number of potential gridders that flocked to Clearman Field on Monday and Tuesday. With all that talent to choose from, the management will really have its hands full when it comes to making cuts.

Spare time!

Kegler Ed Stoklosa fires one more down the alley as part of the 24-hour bowling marathon held last Thursday at Olympic Lanes. The alley cats were performing in order to raise funds for a nationwide Muscular Dystrophy campaign. Local bowlers succeeded in raising $1,000 for the drive, while also probably stretching the length of their throwing arms in the process. Keglers Ray Harris, John Weir and Kevin McKnight watch Stoklosa with the glazed look of men who've been on their feet too long but since it was for a good cause, nobody really seemed to mind.

times/news sports

Bruins a sure bet for league playoffs

The Belleville Bruins virtually assured themselves of a spot in the playoffs last week as they swept three games straight to raise the squad's season record to a phenomenal 26-7.

This week marks the end of regular season play for the team. Tuesday they were slated to host the South Orange Soverels and yesterday the West Orange Red Sox, but results came in too late for this week's edition of the Times/News. The Bruins have games tonight, tomorrow and Saturday to finish off their schedule and by that time, they should be confirmed for a spot in the post season contests. All the team has to do is win one more game and they will be in sole possession of first place over Verona in second. The way the team has been playing all season, that single win is a virtual certainty.

Monday, the hometown diamonders met the West Orange Red Sox at home and put away the visitors, 4-1. The Bruins jumped on the scoreboard first with a dramatic homer in the first inning by Dennis Sasso. The blast over the right field fence was Sasso's third of the season.

The team went scoreless from there until the sixth inning when Bob DeJianne boomed his seventh homer of the year over the left field fence. Sasso then singled, and Dan Dunn smashed yet another homer to drive Sasso in and mark the final score of the game.

The winning pitcher for the Bruins was Steve Wacker, with seven strike outs, three walks, and five hits. The win raised Wacker's record to 5-0.

Sunday, the Bruins edged out their arch rivals, the Verona Twins, 2-1. Verona jumped on the scoreboard first in the initial inning, but Bruin pitcher Paul Mirabella, backed up by a strong defense, held them scoreless through the rest of the game.

Belleville scored in the second when Frank Petite drew a walk and then moved to second on a wild pitch. Slugger Dunn then stepped to the plate and cracked a double to right-center to push Petite around and tie up the game. The winning run came in the fifth, when Dunn once again displayed his awesome power by blasting a home run. Pitcher Mirabella finished the game with 13 strike outs, seven walks, and seven hits, to raise his season tally to 9-2.

Last Tuesday's home stand against the Red Sox was another showcase display of defensive skill. The Sox went scoreless through most of the game before finally tallying two runs in the sixth and one in the seventh—not enough to take the lead, and the Bruins won, 4-3.

Wacker pitched the game, throwing eight strike outs, three walks, and allowing only two hits.

Joe Papisidero started things off in style, opening the game with a home run over the left field fence.

10-4, over & out

The Post 105 diamonders hung up their spikes last week as they wrapped up the season—one of the most successful in memory.

Under the guidance of head coach Mike Limongelli, the legionnaires compiled an impressive 10-4 record. According to Limongelli, this is one of the best season records, if not the best, the team has had in many a year. Last year was Limongelli's first year on the job, and his squad turned in an 8-5-1 tally. Next year, he says, he expects his team to do even better than this year.

The coach gives all the credit for the squad's success to the boys and his supporting coaches. He said that thanks to the help of assistant coaches George Zanfani and Vin Lipoma and with the aid of manager Jack Throckmorton, the boys were able to concentrate on playing ball and consequently perform well.

Looking at the statistics, it is obvious that the team's strength was not at the plate but out in the field on defense. On the whole, the team was weak with the bat, compiling a team batting average of only .265. Limongelli commented on the team's weakness at the plate, saying, "We didn't get our runs too easily. Other than the Montclair game and the Cedar Grove game, in which we collected an awful lot of hits, we really had to scratch for our runs."

Limongelli said the real strength of the team came in the pitching department. "The big thing this year was our pitching. It was very good. You look at the ERAS of the pitchers," said Limongelli, "and you can see how good the boys were."

Limongelli is right the team ERA average was only 2.02, and the individual records were equally impressive. Greg Petite led the hurling staff with a phenomenal 0.76 average, a statistic that many a pitcher would envy. John Guarino ended the year with a 1.85 ERA, Bob Giordano a 2.00, and Ricky Loma a 3.20. Taken as a whole unit or individually, the boys on the mound were very impressive this year.

The team's overall defensive average was also impressive. The squad's average worked out to .947, almost as good as you can get. Looking at the entire picture, it's easy to see why Limongelli holds his diamonders' defensive the key to the winning season.

The coach said it was more than just that, however, commenting, "The dedication on the part of the kids was instrumental in the team's performance. They really put their hearts into it, and they played a heck of a season."

Fortunately for Limongelli and Post 105, most of the team will be returning next year. Limongelli says that despite the boys' difficulties at the plate,

Aquatic brothers qualify for Jr. Olympic finals

Belleville's fearsome aquatic twosome, Angelo and Anthony Domenick of New Street, have qualified to compete in the maximum three individual events in the finals of the NJAAU Long Course Junior Olympics. The brothers made the grade as a result of finishes in the Fifth NJAAU Junior Olympic Qualifying Swim Meet, held July 22 at the Driftwood Swim Club.

Angelo, racing in the 10-and-under age group competition of the 200-meter freestyle, placed fifth, clocking 2:51.3.

He earlier qualified to compete in the 50-meter butterfly at the Junior Olympic finals, slated for August 16 and 17.

Anthony Domenick finished fourth at 1:12.3 in the 13/14 100-meter backstroke race at the Driftwood qualifying meet. In addition to his eligibility to compete in the mid-August finals of this event, he will also race in the 200-meter individual medley and 200-meter backstroke.

The Domenick brothers are members of the Montclair YMCA boys swim team.

Charity bowlers raise $1,000

The bowling alleys at Belleville's Olympic Lanes on Washington Avenue are 449 games older today after a 24-hour marathon bowling event last weekend that raised over $1,000 for a nationwide Muscular Dystrophy campaign.

According to Tom Lewis, Olympic Lane manager, 81 Bellevilleites and businesses either sponsored or participated in the one day affair, making it a crashing, if sleepless, success; while nine out of 13 volunteer bowler/fund-raisers completed the 24-hour test which ended midnight Saturday.

Wayne Miller emerged the "champion" kegler, personally throwing 75 games before giving out. Ray Harris, who bowled 55 consecutive games during the marathon, was leading fund raiser, personally rounding up $160 from various donors all over town.

Next highest game thrower was Rick Fels, with 70 games to his credit (that's slightly less than three games an hour), followed by Joe Wiercinski with 62 games, and Kevin McKnight with 60 games.

Nick and Steven Vittoria, and John Weir also bowled the entire time, while Eddie Stoklosa, Ted Ellis, Tom Kieran and Bill and Nancy Quist put in their share of strikes and spares to comprise the 449 game total.

The idea for the marathon, noted Lewis, originated in Georgia and was promoted by the Brunswick Company on a nationwide scale. The company, said the local manager, expects to raise about half a million dollars for Muscular Dystrophy.

Locally, a large number of businesses came forward to make donations on a per-game basis, or just to give what they could. Those organizations participating included: the Motor Club of America, Belleville Travel Agency, Belleville Brake and Clutch, Sal's Luncheonette, Art's Auto Parts, Fran's Dry Cleaners, DeWitt Savings and Loan, Gianella's Supermarket, Covino's Shell, the Crescent Press and Kondrek Studios.

Also participating were Buddy's Texaco, Towne Service Center, Typewriter and Adding Machine Company, Clare's Children's Wear, Zazzara Wines and Liquors and Straight Automotive.

According to Lewis, the efforts of his employees Lou Long, Bill Merkle and Nick and Ann Vittoria were also instrumental in making the marathon a success.

Most games Wayne Miller, Rick Fels and Steve Vittoria managed to stay on their feet after the bowling marathon long enough to pose for a group shot. Miller threw the most games in the event, completing 75 before he stopped. Fels was right behind him, bowling 70 games for Muscular Dystrophy and Vittoria had the distinction of being one of the few bowlers to bowl for the entire 24-hour period.

Three Bellevilleites in wrestling clinic

Three Bellevilleites recently participated in the annual Sheridan-Leeman Wrestling Clinic at Lehigh University in Bethlehem, Pennsylvania.

Jim Cali, Anthony Pepitone and Christopher Wilde were among the 221 participants drawn from 11 states who came to take part in the event.

The clinic is directed by Gerry Leeman, who coached Lehigh wrestling teams to 18 winning seasons in 18 years before leaving the post. Leeman became assistant director of athletics at the university in 1970.

Among the staff members who tutored Cali, Pepitone and Wilde is Thad Turner, current coach at Lehigh.

Local black community fetes Abdel Anderson

All-American high school basketball star Abdel Anderson was honored for his achievements both on and off the court last week by a portion of Belleville's black community.

Anderson, the first Belleville High eager to score 1,000 points, was honored by about 60 friends and several organizations at a dinner August 3 at the Little Zion U.A.M.E. Church.

During the ceremonies, Anderson was presented a plaque by Belleville Rod and Gun Club president James Brooks; and was also given an award by the Colored Women's Welfare Council. Mrs. Maude Plunkett presented the basketball standout with a Bible from the Missionary Society of the Second Baptist Church of Belleville, while Rev. Prince Hamilton, of Little Zion, gave Anderson a mug from the basketball Hall of Fame.

Guest speaker for the affair was Rev. Robert Hooper, coordinator Senior Citizens for the Essex County Park Commission. Anderson's coach, Dan Grasso, also spoke at the catered dinner, chaired by Mrs. Julia

Playgrounders keep cool, busy

Food, sports and novel ways of keeping cool filled last week's Recreation Department playground activities, as the program hit full stride. With all the fun the kids are having this summer, it will probably be tough going back to school when September rolls around.

The children at the Rec House had a regular hamburger banquet. The department picked up the tab, and the kids feasted on hamburgers, french fries and milk shakes. Michael Licameli, Rosemary, Chicky and Peggy Liberti, Diane Castellano and Joey Wolf were among the kids who nourished themselves with the native American cuisine. There was also a lot of heavy work going on in the arts and crafts division, with Carlene Frade, Anthony Suppa and Sean Donahue making lanyard bread baskets. Nancy Ritchell, Lori Marino and Lynn McKinstry made smaller versions of the same baskets for gadget holders.

Keeping cool at Kelly playground is apparently no problem since the afternoons always seem to start off with a water balloon fight. Joey Koehler, Philip, Shannon, Sandy and John Cerza, Chris and Pinky Paetello, Richie Wilks, Richie Wilks, Joe Holler and Karen Partuese all join in the action and water each other down in the battles.

Co-ed volleyball is coming popular at the Friendly House. Last week, after a particularly active volleyball bout, all the kids re-charged themselves with a submarine sandwich party. Participating in the event were Kathy Constantino, Christine Bini, Tracy Olivio, John Cataldo, Mark Veneiro, Joann and Michele Cancelliere, Bobby Charles, Michael Esposito, Frank Stanco, Joe Campione, Dometrius DeBenedetto and Debbie LaBar.

Touch football is gaining ground at Fairway with Vinny D'Agostino, Karen D'Amico, Adam and Donna Pappas, Mike and Mark Santuoso, Al Vergaro, MaryJo McBride, John Olivieri, John Healy, Tony Sorce, Jim Gatto and Tony Sorce making up the squads.

Number 10 iced a playoff berth in softball by knocking down Number Nine. The team was led by the hot hitting of Jeff Cotugno, Danny Palumbo, Kevin Tice, Paul Scheupline and Joey Lipoma. In the knock-hockey tournament, Mark Palumbo and Brian Tice battled it out for the championship. It was a close contest, but Palumbo's shooting was on the button, and he took the title.

This week at Number Two, everyone was involved in string art. Donald Bruzzio, Gerald Tossi, Gina Troisi, Anthony Soriano, Karen Stampe, Jeannine Roach, Donna Vitiello, Craig Stampe, Joe Goodman and Jeff Logan created designs with string.

Arts and crafts were also big at Number Four as the kids made designs from white cardboard and stampers of different shapes and colors. Some of the outstanding creations came from Chris Velotti, Annette Scoca and Wayne Edwards.

The kids at Number Three beat the heat with a water balloon war that escalated to an unpredicted ending. Kathy Morrell and her friend Trish filled the balloons for ammunition and the battle took place. Denise Nuzzo and Greg Simone finally went the limit when they took pitchers full of water and dumped them on everyone's heads.

There was a tennis tournament at Number Nine, a new feature. Debbie and Lisa Recona, Carl Saggao, Jimmy Dean, Chris Rovel, Tony DeFranco and Wendy Rovel all took to the courts.

Number Eight playground held a peanut hunt and Lou Riccardi won by collecting a grand total of 136 peanuts. Brian, Keith, John and Tom Murphy, Pal and Antoinette Pascatorre, Christine Cuppo, Steve Kochanski and Sandy Visido all took part in the event.

At Number One there were French and Chinese jump rope contests to test the coordination and rhythm of the kids.

It's all over now the team has a lot of potential and he is looking forward to coaching the boys next year. Only two of the team's players, Lou Grasso and Ron Goy will not be returning, and though those two represent a heavy loss, there are sure to be others to rush into the gap. The fact that the entire pitching staff is returning is a definite and a very big plus.

As a result, Limongelli is looking ahead to next year with a good deal of optimism, predicting perhaps an even more impressive showing.

"The kids are getting stronger and even more competitive all the time," said Limongelli. "We're looking forward to a real fine season next year. All these guys need to improve on their hitting is a little more concentration and to follow the ball a little longer.

Joe's Alignment grabs Rec Dept. softball title

The Recreation Department's Townwide Softball championship has finally been decided with Joe's Alignment carrying off the title. After a long, hard-fought season beginning last April, the battle for the championship boiled down to a best out of three duel between the Tuesday League champions, Roselli's American, and Joe's squad, Wednesday champs. Both teams were powers in their respective leagues all year.

In the first game of the finals, Roselli's had beaten Joe's in a 6-4 come-from-behind effort. However, a protest had been lodged on a technicality, causing the game to be played over from the point at which the protest had been lodged — the fourth inning. Losing their hard-won victory apparently demoralized Roselli's, and they lost the replay by a wide margin.

In the second game Joe's Alignment proved that the first win was no fluke. Playing sharp softball they took the second game and the title. Roselli's will be back next year.

Clippers clipped by Sox for Farm title

The Clipper domination of Farm League Recreation baseball ended this year as the National League's White Sox defeated the champs in the third game of the World Series, 8-5.

The White Sox, coached by Anthony Avino and Keith Ziegler finished the regular season with a 10-1-1 record in addition to a playoff win over the Braves. The Sox breezed through the second half of the season, largely on the strength of the pitching arm of Russel Pagano and a powerful hitting attack.

Clipper pitcher Pat Leonodis led that team's charge in the first game of the series by keeping the Sox's bats silent for four and two-thirds innings. A rally by Sox Tom Barber and Gary Joyce fell short as the Clippers emerged victorious, 9-4.

The Clippers depended on a strong defense and a balanced attack for their impressive 11-1 record this season. The record is all the more remarkable when you consider that six out of the team's nine starting players were only 10-years-old.

That inexperience may have begun to take its toll in the second game of the series, however, as the Sox came alive at the plate, collecting 12 hits off of four Clipper pitchers.

Gary Joyce handled the mound duties for the Sox and pitched a fine game as teammates Russ Pagano, Tom Barber, Vinny Amato, Mike Calabrese, and Paul Ruggiero supplied the power. The Clippers came to bat with the tying run at the plate, but the Sox held on to win, 11-7.

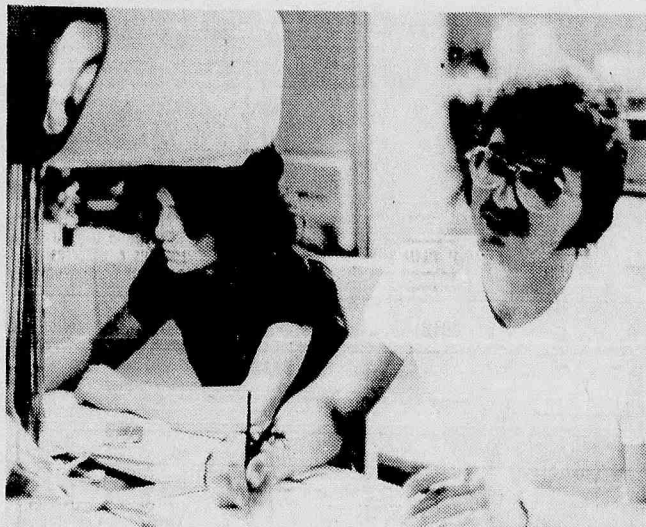

Rival pitching aces Pagano and Leonodis faced each other in the crucial third game. The Clippers jumped off to an early one run lead in the first, but the Sox rebounded for eight runs on 10 hits in the third inning.

Pagano aided his mound effort at the plate with three hits and five RBIs. His Clipper counterpart, Leonodis, was also productive with the bat as he aided the Clipper cause with nine consecutive hits and seven RBIs in the three game series.

Once again, Clipper coaches Morris Renna and Joe DeFabbi sent the tying run to the plate but as before, the White Sox defense held tough and emerged with an 8-5 win and the Farm League Championship.

Beck's Column

In a recent column we mentioned that Magnavox has always been in the forefront of new features for TV sets, particularly with their new "STAR" system which most people call "fantastic" and rightly so. Nobody else has such a set at this time.

Today we would like to point out the position of leadership Magnavox had for many years in sound reproduction. The first all transistor stereo console was built by Magnavox, years ahead of other manufacturers. At a time when others used nothing but cone type speakers, Magnavox used for the higher frequencies a horn type speaker, which brought out the high frequencies far better than a cone type speaker is capable of. The membrane of a horn type speaker is featherlight and small and follows the high vibrations of the higher tones much better than a cone with its greater size and weight. Now this in a way is superseded by a different speaker design, which is called air compression system. We don't want to go into technicalities which most people are not interested in anyway. It is possible to reproduce low tones with a much smaller air compression type speaker. Previously one had to have a large cone type speaker, mostly 15" and it had to be in a heavy, solid large enclosure. This is not necessary any more. The tone quality available from relatively small speakers these days is surprising. We can easily demonstrate the difference in our sound room, where we instantly switch from one system to the other.

We service what we sell.

'Landmark' rent cases postponed by judge

Court proceedings on two landmark complaints filed by the Belleville Rent Leveling Board against two landlords were postponed last week by Municipal Court Judge Edward Abromson.

Anthony Drollas, attorney for Rosa Alessio, informed the court by letter that he would be on vacation and requested that the proceedings against his client be postponed. Judge Abromson granted the postponement and set a new date of September 4 for the hearing.

Vincent Morroco, the other defendant, was not represented by an attorney, but town attorney John Scott pointed out to Abromson that Morroco had planned to contest the validity of portions of the law he was being charged under. Though Morroco pleaded not guilty, the judge postponed the matter until September 18. Abromson also expressed the hope that the matter between Morroco and the Board could be settled at one of the body's regular meetings and therefore make further court action unnecessary.

This was the first time in the two-year history of the Rent Leveling Board that court action had been taken against a landlord. The charges came when regular Rent Board proceedings failed to bring satisfactory solutions to either case.

Members of the Board have been reluctant to discuss either of the cases, but Assistant Town Attorney Frank Zinna said both cases could serve as important tests of the Board's power and the validity of the ordinance itself.

Morroco, owner of an apartment complex at 138 Brighton Avenue is charged for failing to respond to four separate summonses to appear before the Board.

Mrs. Alessio is charged with raising her rental over the maximum five per cent limit, alleged harassment of her tenants, and possible violation of the building code.

Violations of the rent ordinance carry a maximum $500 fine and/or 90 days in jail.

Annette Guardabascio graduates Ramapo

Anette Guardabascio, daughter of Mrs. Rae and the late Frank Guardabascio of DeWitt Avenue, recently received a bachelor's degree in theater and speech from Ramapo College.

Former president of her Belleville High School senior class, Annette is presently working on certification as a theater and speech teacher. Primarily interested in working in motion pictures and television, Annette recently appeared in a movie that will be released nationwide this summer.

While at Belleville High, she was president and founder of the Belleville Youth Council, a member of the National Honor Society, and winner of a local and statewide Elks Youth Leadership Award in 1971. She was also honored in "Who's Who among American High School Students."

Family Playhouse needs 2 managers

Family Playhouse, a local amateur theater group, is seeking qualified and interested persons to assume the volunteer responsibilities of business manager and public relations director. Anyone sincerely interested is asked to contact Ray Napolitano at 997-5626. Napolitano is director of the theater, now in its second year of operation at 27 Brookline Avenue, Nutley.

Dog pun-ishment

Belleville residents interested in the effectiveness of the red and white No Dog Litter signs posted around town might take a lesson from an exchange made regarding them at Tuesday's Town Commission meeting.

Addressing himself to Commissioner of Public Affairs Vincent Strumolo, Commission meeting "regular" John Charles of 22 Cortlandt Street asked: "Mr. Strumolo, are those dog litter signs put up to beautify Belleville? They don't seem to be doing any good."

"That's because dogs," blurted out Commissioner Joseph McGreevy, "can't read."
