The state began a new procedure November 1 designed to save motorists time on inspection lines. Licensed garages, like Ted Ellis's Towne Service Center (above), can re-check cars which have failed inspection and issue a passing sticker. A full report on the effectiveness of this innovative approach will appear in next week's edition of the Times/News.

This is winter?

If cherry trees only bloom in the spring, somebody forgot to tell those planted in Branch Brook Park. Clara Maass Hospital School of Nursing students Carolyn Brenzel (left) and Marcee Ammend took an afternoon stroll in the park early this week and took time out to admire the untimely blossoms.

McCoy & Saletta trade accusations

By PAUL STERN

In an unorthodox and perhaps unprecedented administrative move last week, Town Treasurer Francis McCoy has suggested that Public Safety Director Rocco Saletta be stripped of his department.

The suggestion, made in a letter to Mayor Michael Marotti and Belleville's other Commissioners, comes as the latest in a dispute between McCoy and Saletta over recent Public Safety erupted early last week.

Charging that "Saletta's administration is placing unnecessary burdens upon the Municipal Treasurer and his staff," McCoy asked Marotti to either help quell the mounting friction or move to invoke a State law which permits reassignment of Saletta's department to another Commissioner.

Though there has been no indication Marotti or any other Commissioners will move in that direction, the suggestion alone has provoked both political and legal speculation throughout various sectors of Town.

In the same letter to Marotti, McCoy also detailed what he termed "repeated efforts" by Saletta and Commissioner Mary Senatore to "circumvent" Civil Service regulations, and warned that two of their payrolls are in danger of being disapproved by the Civil Service Department.

McCoy levied his charges after learning Saletta had circulated a letter to the Commissioners last week referring to "past disagreements between myself and Mr. McCoy (namely my not hiring his wife...)." McCoy's wife, Julia, is one of two people listed as eligible for employment in both Saletta's and Mrs. Senatore's departments, "but I'll swear on a stack of bibles I never mentioned anything about it to them," said the Town Treasurer. He requested a retraction from Saletta and a public apology in his letter to Marotti. "My only involvement in this matter," wrote McCoy, "was the hand delivering of my wife's letters to both Commissioner Saletta and Commissioner Senatore's offices."

The allegations concerning McCoy's wife are only a portion of the Treasurer's grievance with the Public Safety Commissioner, however. Saletta's handling of Public Safety monies has caused McCoy's records "to take on the appearance of a Chinese crossword puzzle," said the Treasurer. "It is to a point now," he charged, "that the Public Safety employees are not being paid on time and some are not being paid at all."

Two newly assigned Belleville police officers are currently working without pay after refusing to accept temporary status. Saletta originally appointed the officers to permanent positions, but those appointments were rejected by J.R. Collins, manager of the Civil Service office in Newark. Collins ruled that Saletta appointed officers Peter Fraone and Please see "Officials" on page 16.

Rent law changes will be proposed

By CHUCK JACKSON

Members of the Belleville Rent Leveling Board have scheduled a meeting with the town's Commissioners next Tuesday to present proposed amendments to the present rent ordinance.

Though the complete text of the proposed changes has not yet been released, sources close to the Rent Board said there will only be two major changes suggested. The first will be a request by the Board to extend its authority to cover two family dwellings, and the other would eliminate the 15 per cent ceiling placed on hardship rent raises.

The present law gives the levelers the power to control rent raises on structures for three families and more, but specifically exempts two family homes.

Extending the Board's jurisdiction to cover two family units would be a major victory for the levelers, and would apparently greatly increase the Board's power.

It is believed by some political observers, however, the proposed extension of the Rent Board's power would meet stiff opposition from the Commissioners and the chances of having that amendment passed are rated as slim.

The request to eliminate the 15 per cent ceiling on hardship raise request stands a better chance.

The present law provides for the maximum increase "in the event that a landlord cannot meet his mortgage payments and maintenance." The landlord may appeal to the Board on such a request.

The Board is reportedly asking for the Please see "Boycott" on page 22.

Early deadlines for Thanksgiving

Because of the Thanksgiving holiday, the Belleville Times/News will publish next week's issue a day earlier than normal.

Next week's edition will be datelined Wednesday, November 26, and all deadlines will be advanced one business day.

Display advertising will be accepted until noon this coming Saturday. Classified advertising deadline is 3:30 p.m. Monday, November 24.

The Thanksgiving Day issue will be distributed to local newsstands beginning sometime Tuesday, November 25.

Zoners nix request for bowling alley

The Belleville Zoning Board of Adjustment voted 5-0 rejecting an application for construction of a bowling alley on Belleville Avenue at a special meeting held Monday night.

The application, submitted by the China Clipper Corporation in Belleville had been adjourned at the Board's October 21 meeting when a large number of objectors packed the Commission chambers. Chairman John Stetz set the special meeting, he said, so that both sides would have adequate time to present their views.

About 60 objectors attended Monday's session, which Stetz described as "very orderly." Albert Viviani, 191 Smallwood Avenue acted as spokesman for the objectors, and about five or six other citizens voiced their concern over the plans.

The applicants, represented by attorney David Breitkopf produced two witnesses to bolster their case. Nicholas DeStefano, part owner and builder of the proposed structure and Edward Centanni, architect of the structure testified on

Please see "Zoners" on page 3.

Planners to hold hearing Monday on master plan

Belleville residents and other interested citizens with suggestions or recommendations to make before passage of Belleville's new master plan will have their chance next week.

The Planning Board will hold a public hearing on the remaining two portions of the plan this coming Monday, November 24, 8 p.m. in the School Ten auditorium, chairman Joseph Grande has announced. The Board's community facilities and circulation plans will both be up for public review. Land use will not be discussed, since the portion of the master plan dealing with that subject has already been adopted.

The community facilities and circulation plans deal with parks, school yards, other community facilities and traffic circulation throughout town.

Though the public hearing will be held Monday, a final vote on the plan's adoption will not be taken by the Planning Board that night, said Joseph Doyle, spokesman for the Board. The vote delay will allow the Planners additional time to consider any suggestions or ideas presented at the public hearing, he said. Chairman Grande has repeatedly stressed the Board's desire to make the plan responsive to residents' needs and desires.

Though an earlier public airing of the new proposals drew little public attention, the Planners can expect to have a somewhat larger audience at the coming hearing. School Board president Richard Mahmorian told the Times/News on Tuesday that he would attempt to attend the hearing along with the other Board members. Unfortunately, however, the School Board is also scheduled to meet 8 p.m. on Monday, and Mahmorian's visit to the School Ten hearing may be delayed, he said.

Commissioner opens office to residents once a month

One Monday of every month will be "open house" at the Belleville Public Works Department office beginning the first Monday in December, Commissioner Mary V. Senatore announced this week.

Newly situated in her new departmental headquarters on Cortlandt Street, Commissioner Senatore said she will welcome visits from any residents between 8 and 10 p.m. the first Monday of every month.

Mrs. Senatore said she has set aside this time to meet local residents and discuss town problems with them. She will no longer keep offices in Town Hall, she said.

As of last Thursday and Friday, the Commissioner and her staff took over the new Public Works building and garage on Cortlandt Street, once property of Hoffman International. Though some Public Works equipment is still housed at the William Street garage, that will soon be occupied by the Parks and Public Property Department.

Telephone installation and other minor moving details are still in progress, but should be completed soon, said Mrs. Senatore.

Bellevilleites can also expect to see to renovations at Town Hall as a result of the new acquisition, though exactly how Town Hall be divided has yet been decided.

Grants takes fresh approach

The Grants City store on Franklin Avenue in Belleville will be one of 493 surviving what the W.T. Grant Company has termed a "dramatic restructuring" following its recent bankruptcy, the Times/News has learned.

In a statement issued last week, W.T. Grant board chairman and president Robert H. Anderson said

Alternate parking ceases 'til spring

Alternate side of the street parking regulations in effect throughout most of the year will go into hibernation for the winter starting today.

As it does every year at this time, the Town Commission voted unanimously last week to suspend the alternate side parking rules from November 20 to March 31 of next year.

Mars probe has Kidde controls

Two Viking spacecraft scheduled to land on Mars around July 4, 1976 for America's Bicentennial are bearing controls designed and manufactured in Belleville by the Walter Kidde Company.

The Viking rockets have Kidde reaction controls which will boost the Viking missions to soft landings in what the National Aeronautics and Space Administration calls the most ambitious unmanned space exploration ever attempted. The probes left Cape Kennedy in August for an 11-month trip to Mars.

Hydrogen peroxide thrusters and reaction controls made in Belleville by Kidde are important components in the rockets' control systems.

Chamber Contemplating Cavalcade

The Belleville Chamber of Commerce has tentatively scheduled a Bicentennial Cavalcade of Progress for April 19 to 23, 1976 at the Belleville High School gymnasium, Executive Director Harry French reports.

"It looks like we're going to have it," French said after he had spoken with a number of local business people who were taken with the idea. The high school will be on spring break during the proposed dates.

Though Belleville has already had four earlier Cavalcades over the years, next year's will have a Bicentennial theme, said French, with some emphasis on history and the future. Essentially, the Cavalcade is a "booth type show that tells the people of Belleville what Belleville does, what it sells, and what it offers as a place to live and do business" French said.

Now that's expensive paint!

Victor O'Toole of the Victory Tool Company, 231 Valley Street, is a generous man, even when he doesn't want to be.

Late last month he ordered a gallon of paint from a Nutley paint store, then sent his driver to the store with a check for the merchandise, worth $9.40. Well, Victor didn't realize until he got his cancelled checks back that he had made out the paint check for $940 instead of $9.40. After about half a day of discussion with the store, he obtained his refund.

Christmas hours amended

Beginning December 1, stores on Washington Avenue will be open every night until 9 p.m. for local Christmas shopping, the Chamber of Commerce has announced.

Contrary to what was reported by last week's Times/News, however, stores will not be open Saturday evenings, except December 20. Some stores may also be open Christmas Eve.

Kathryn Bendel in musical

Kathryn Bendel of 14 Montgomery Place will appear beginning this weekend in the Montclair Operetta Club's production of Frank Loesser's musical, 'The Most Happy Fella,' the Montclair club announced this week.

Kathryn will perform with lead actors Norman Atkins, Suellen Estey and Bob Gorman at the Mount Hebron School Auditorium on Bellevue Avenue, Upper Montclair. The show runs November 21, 22, 26, 28 and 29 at 8:30 p.m. Tickets may be obtained by calling 746-0617.

Weapon charges referred to jury

A Belleville man and woman charged with possession of a dangerous weapon waived their rights to preliminary hearings in Belleville Municipal Court November 5, and the cases were sent to the Essex County Grand Jury.

Michael Ciallella Jr., 40 of 69 Cedar Hill Avenue and Louise Salkowski, 30, of 21 King Street are both charged with unlawful possession of a .32 caliber pistol.

Judge Edward Abromson referred the case to the Grand Jury when the two defendants both waived their hearing rights.

Detective Bartol Rossi was the arresting officer in the case.

Ciallella and Salkowski are free on $500 bail each pending the outcome of the case.

Fighting draws $10 fine

Two Belleville men were fined $10 each in Belleville Municipal Court November 5 for unlawful fighting.

Wayne R. Ehler, 18, of 231 Joralemon Street and Mark A. Panaccione, also 18, of 144 Joralemon Street were arrested October 24 during an incident which took place behind Belleville Senior High School.

They were arrested by Belleville police officer Frank Falcone.

Panaccione pleaded guilty to the charge while Ehler pleaded innocent.

Judge Edward Abromson imposed the fines on the two men.

Assailant fined $25

Gladys Buie, 68 Mill Street was fined $25 in Belleville Municipal Court November 5 for assault and battery on a Newark woman.

Linda Baker, 112 Brookdale Avenue filed the charges, saying Mrs. Buie stepped on her feet, slapped her in the face and bit her hand.

The incident occurred October 2.

The defendant pleaded innocent to the charge, but Judge Edward Abromson ruled against her and imposed the fine.

Drunk bites cop

An 18-year old Bellevilleite was fined a total of $150 in Belleville Municipal Court November 5 for being drunk and disorderly and assaulting a police officer.

Kevin Fletcher, 57 Cedar Hill Avenue, was arrested July 30 by officer John Kerber for being drunk on a public street. While being arrested, the defendant bit Kerber on the left forearm and was subsequently charged with assault.

Fletcher pleaded guilty to the charges, and Judge Edward Abromson imposed a $50 fine for the drunk charge and a $100 fine for the assault.

Zoners knock down bowling alley's bid

The Belleville based corporation was asking the Zoners to approve an application which would have allowed them to build a 36-lane bowling alley with a restaurant, cocktail lounge, sauna room and a reception room for about 150 people at the site, located on the Belleville-Bloomfield border. The company was seeking a variance from an ordinance which prohibits building of bowling alleys, restaurants and bars in a business zone.

According to Board chairman Stetz, the objectors presented a petition to the Zoners with about 260 signatures protesting the proposed use of the land. A prime concern of many of the objectors, it was reported, was the lack of parking space around the proposed building. A source close to the Board said parking was also a determining factor in that body's denial of the application. The Zoners went on record as turning down the request because the intended use would cause traffic problems and also "impair the intent and purpose of the zoning plan." The group also cited health, safety and fire regulations as part of the reasoning for their denial.

Stetz said the applicants could re-apply to the Board, but he said he felt that would be "unlikely."

Stetz said the China Clipper people had also applied to the Bloomfield Zoning Board for a variance involving the use of the land, but that case had been adjourned until sometime in December.

The proposed structure would have cost an estimated $3.5 million to construct, it was reported. Stetz said the sale of the land to the applicants was contingent on the approval by the Belleville Zoners and also Bloomfield's okay.

The Zoning Board held its regular meeting November 13 and the members approved three requests brought before them while turning down one and adjourning another until December 11.

The Board unanimously recommended requests for certificates of occupancy for Joseph Manetta and Joseph Luongo.

Manetta is seeking permission to establish a cabinet shop at 152 Ralph Street. The area is zoned for residence and the intended use is prohibited without a use variance granted by the town Commission.

Luongo is seeking a use variance which would permit him to operate a general auto repair business at 24 North 7th Street, an area zoned as residential.

A request for a building permit by Russell and Edith Barraro, 113 Garden Avenue was granted by the Board.

The Barraros sought the permit to build an extension on the front of the building which would extend beyond the established building line on Garden.

The Zoners denied a recommendation to Stella DeLeonardis, 15 Pleasant Avenue, which would allow her to use the structure as a two family dwelling. The area is an "A" zone which permits only one family homes.

The applicant may appeal the decision.

The Board adjourned until

'Godspell' tryouts set for Saturday

December 11 hearing on an application to build a 30 unit dwelling at 55 Harrison Street. The application, submitted by Dolores Klein, seeks a variance to build because of the location of the property is two zones which prohibit the intended use.

Since the land, which lies in both Belleville and Bloomfield, does not contain enough area for parking as required by town ordinance, a variance from Bloomfield will also have to be obtained.

Save the city

In case you don't already know it, New York is in bad shape financially. President Ford has told New York, and anybody else in the world who cares to listen, that he will veto any legislation which has as its goal a bail-out for New York City.

We think President Ford is wrong. We think what happens to New York City affects this community, the state of New Jersey, and the major states of this country.

It is our belief that the Federal Government should not permit New York City to default on its debt. It is immoral for public officials to advocate bankruptcy when the old-style virtues inherited from our forefathers require us to pay our just debts.

New York City should not be given a gift, but neither should it be allowed to go bankrupt.

Burke needs a shrink

Recently, State Education Commissioner Fred G. Burke told members of the New Jersey Council of School Administrators that he believes school teachers should have the right to strike. The Commissioner further observed that School Boards can be on strike too. By penalizing both the School Boards and the teachers, Burke believes a situation would be created, as a result of which both parties would be anxious for a settlement.

Either Burke is the dumbest Commissioner to hold the office, or his thinking should be turned over to a psychiatrist to find out what is wrong with Burke.

The only acceptable and fair solution to public-employee labor negotiations is Final Offer and Binding Arbitration.

It is proper that public employees should be denied the right to strike, but it is also necessary to give those very employees the right to a final decision. It is morally necessary—and legally long overdue.

Zionism finely defined

By FRANK A. ORECHIO

WE ALL KNOW what happened at the U.N. the other day when an Arab-led group made a serious attempt to twist the meaning of the English language and charge the State of Israel with racism. The Arabs — and their friends — equate Zionism with racism. Associated Press religion writer George W. Cornell last week wrote an informative story on Zionism. We learned much from his writing, and we commend it to our readers.

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

That ringing, emotionally charged word, "Zion," throbs like a refrain through the Bible and through the hearts and history of the people through whom the writings were produced, the Jews.

"The Lord has founded Zion, and in her the afflicted of his people find refuge," declares the eloquent prophet in Isaiah 14:32.

That Zionist vision was condemned by the United Nations this week as racism, an action repudiated by leaders both of Christianity and Judaism.

Basically, Zionism is — and long has been — the passion of the Jewish people for the land of their origins. But it also has many prophetic, poetic and religious implications, both for Christians and Jews.

Mystery, hopes and ultimate revelation at the end of time are linked to the idea — to the rise of the "new Jerusalem."

Historically, the concept stems from the ancient divine promise made to Abraham, the father of Israel, in Genesis 17:8: "And I will establish my covenant between me and you . . . to be God to you and to your descendants after you. And I will give to you, and to your descendants after you, the land of your sojournings, all the land of Canaan, for an everlasting possession."

The faith of Judaism, its Scriptures, its prayers, its liturgies, are linked inextricably with the land, with a concrete, geographical place, its people and past. To some thinkers it is a kind of paradox, an identification of specific facts with universal meanings.

"I will give you as a light to the nations," says the prophet Isaiah. "For out of Zion shall go forth the law, and the word of the Lord from Jerusalem."

"To abandon the land would make a mockery of all our longings, prayers and commitments," said the late Jewish philosopher

Abraham Heschel. It "would be to repudiate the Bible."

The word "Zion" is mentioned 152 times in Scripture, taking on both tangible and spiritual meanings. It is the domain of God, the seat of divine action in the world, where God's law first was sounded and heard. It is the name of Jerusalem's eastern hill, the city itself, the center of faith and a people.

"Sons and daughters of Zion," Scripture calls them.

The Lord loves the gates of Zion," declare the Psalms. "For the Lord has chosen Zion . . . God will save Zion, and rebuild the cities of Judah; and his servants will dwell there and possess it."

The objective recurs like a chord through the Old Testament and repeatedly in the New Testament — a commitment to Israel and the holy city. Most frequently, Zion refers to Jerusalem itself, both the geographical magnet and symbolic dream of Judaism.

"For the Lord will build up Zion; he will appear in glory," says Psalms 102:16.

Repeatedly through the centuries, Israel has been overrun and conquered, but never have any of the conquerors built a sovereign nation there. Only the Jews have done that, intermittently emerging from foreign yokes, re-establishing Israel.

"Behold . . . I will lead them back . . . for I am a father to Israel," came the divine reassurances in Jeremiah 31. "They shall come and sing aloud on the height of Zion."

Since the Israelites first established a nation there 3,200 years ago, it has been seized a score of times by outside powers, eventually mandated to the British in 1922. But the foreign overlords always ruled from afar — from Babylon, Damascus, Rome, Cairo, Bagdad, London.

Only the Jews in three millennia of civilization ever organized the Holy Land as a home-ruled nation, in modern times by the establishment of Israel in 1948.

It was not just a political act. For Jews as well as for many Christians who see their own faith unfolding through events surrounding Israel, it was also a religious milestone.

"The Lord roars from Zion, and utters his voice from Jerusalem," declares the prophet Amos.

"I will restore the fortunes of my people Israel and they shall never again be plucked up out of the land which I have given them, says the Lord your God."

Will they open fire?

'The best years of his life'

To the Editor:

In recent weeks, certain items have been brought to the public's attention concerning the Belleville Police Department. Many people have been taken advantage of when there were major transfers of rank around the department.

Now, let us refer to an incident concerning our father, which our whole family is concerned about.

He has devoted the best 25 years of his life to the Belleville Police Department. Starting at the bottom, he worked his way up to the detective bureau, which was 16 years ago. Along the way, he has collected many honors and awards to be proud of.

Recently, our father was informed of his transfer from the distinguished detective bureau, which he worked hard for, to a uniformed patrolman again, with a decrease in pay. Not because his work was under par, because our father was always a step ahead of the crime but because, as Mr. Saletta put it, "so the younger men can get more experience." So what we would like to know is, who would show them how to investigate, if they can't learn from more experienced men? Now we ask you, the public, is this fair?

'Helpful' citizen offers Saletta advice

To the Editor:

I am writing this letter in an effort to help Commissioner Rocco Saletta through what appears to be a rough time.

At the October 28 meeting of the Town Council, Mr. McGreevy questioned a decision that Saletta made in regard to Sergeant Berrigan. Saletta responded "I'm the boss of my department and no one is going to tell me who to put in or how to run it." (Page one, Belleville Times/News, October 30, 1975).

That was totally wrong. First off, under our present form of government, Mr. Saletta is not the boss and it is not his department. The people, ah yes, the people of this town are the boss and it is their department. Saletta is an employee of the people. If citizen of Belleville Joe McGreevy, or any other citizen, asks a question, they are entitled to a legitimate answer.

Mr. Saletta can push people and

'You're selling Belleville short'

(The following is an editorial rebuttal by Michael Chieffo, a member of the Belleville Board of Education.)

At first I was not going to reply to your Editorial of November 6, because I felt it might perpetuate the exact cause I am trying to prevent — that being more sensationalism of news in the Town which I live.

However, that very fact brings me to the first of several points I'd like to make. I live here, you don't. Never have I indicated to you, either privately or publicly, that Belleville is without problems and as a result, free from criticism.

What I do object to is the style and format chosen to report the news.

Paul Stern, the reporter, tells me that it is his job to report the news as he sees it happening. Truthful to say the least. Equally as truthful is the fact that you had better sell newspapers while you're doing it. (Somehow you failed to mention that.)

This brings us to the why in the change of format of the Times/News one year ago. Business (as usual) the Times/News apparently felt that by changing the type and format (which necessitated larger headlines), they could increase their circulation. Simple enough this new format now enabled you some greater liberties in reporting an event.

Try this example on for size: Headline, Times/News, July 17: "Cops, firemen take $750 pay boost."

Prior to that, on April 17, the following headline and cover story could be found in the middle of the front page of the Nutley Sun: Headline: "Municipal Salary Raises Approved without Comment."

There is a vast difference in the choice of words and style. Or how about this one? Nutley Sun, May 29: top caption, "School Board Shocked." Headline: "Courts School Funding Decision Will Cost Town $1 Million in Aid."

How did you report the reduction in Belleville's aid in the August 7 Times/News? Headline: "Board thinks cut."

In addition, the coverage and criticism of Washington Avenue, which we all know needs help, has consistently been leveled at the merchants and Commissioners, as if they didn't want Washington Avenue to prosper. Why don't you take a look at who owns these buildings?

Paul Stern, you're selling the people of Belleville short. They don't need innuendo from you. What we can all use is construc-

Golden Comments

By James R. Golden

Andrew Carnegie, founder of Carnegie Steel Company and a philanthropist known for his pithy apothegms, once commented "a man is worth all he can get." There is much substance to this great cogent utterance and the working people, through unionist activity, have benefited greatly by negotiating contracts that have immeasurably improved working conditions and living standards. Salary and wage schedules have been maintained more closely in line with rising cost of living expenses, and overall the status of the working American continues to get better... and this is good.

Among the last employees to become "covered" by the protective shield of union representation and the power it offers in negotiating salary and working schedules for its members have been groups employed by various levels of government. Until PERC became operative, little security outside Civil Service — which left much to be desired — was at the disposal of workers on the public payroll.

Proof positive of the results of the new-found power which is manifesting itself in the labor relations between public employees and governing bodies, both in education and in government, is demonstrated by the recently inked contract between the town and the police. It is expected that a similar contract will be accepted for the firemen.

From the taxpayer's standpoint, he will have to pay more taxes, but then he, too, is probably making a few bucks more than he had been — because of union negotiations with his employer. True, our Commissioners who have to negotiate these contracts, having won reelection for another four years, have abandoned their hard-line stand of pre-election austerity and an all out drive for economy which they had promised. But then, isn't that just what they always do?

Having discussed some facets of the new police contract with two of our town fathers prior to their vote on the measure, I was keenly disappointed that they had accepted the provision which included unlimited full pay for "sick time." This could easily become a "racket" and even "force" needless overtime pay in the department. Granted, there had been isolated hardship cases where full time full pay had been extended, but the action was voluntary and discretionary, not mandatory as the current contract provides. It is a senseless and costly move on the part of our Commissioners to have agreed to this policy. They are to negotiate fairly and with full consideration being given both sides of the submitted proposals. They should realize they also are obliged to represent the interests of the public as well as the workers. On this matter they didn't. They let the public down.

It is understood that the workers in Commissioner Mary Senatore's Public Works Department are about to select the Teamster's Union as their bargaining agent which bodes mounting negotiation problems for our Commissioners, since that union strikes a hard bargain every time around.

Is there a question about the propriety and conformity with Civil Service rules coming up about Commissioner Rocco Saletta's appointment of three new cops? Did he make his appointments after the list had expired? Did he post date the appointment? If he had, it would have been improper. Then, too, could come up the matter of the men's pay for any performance of duty prior to proper Civil Service certification.

Why doesn't Commissioner Saletta get his feet on the ground and ask questions about how to proceed in matters in which he apparently, as yet, has little knowledge? Would this approach not be wiser than "kicking-over-the-traces" in a manner that displays precipitous, poorly thought out policy which could prove embarrassing to him? Does he politically have to "get his brains knocked out" before he adjusts to the reality that he is only one of five Commissioners who run our town?

tive criticism, yourself included.

Lastly, I must deal with two specific comments you made in your editorial.

I am no more a "Good News Freak" than you are a "Bad News Freak."

Positive thinking lends itself to positive results and this is what I expect to see. Positive results in Belleville.

Secondly, you say you "hate to second guess a critic" and "wouldn't be surprised if I object to the publication of articles which directly or indirectly question the school board or some school administrators."

You then proceed to use an example of a school administrator's statement to you and the subsequent denial of that statement.

You have a short memory. It was I who told you what he said. The reason being I thought we were both looking for the same thing, the truth.

The "likes of me," huh? (More innuendo.) Well, maybe you should take a look at the "likes of what you've become." Everyone's opinion is always subject to second guessers, but don't ever question someone's integrity with sly innuendo.

If I do injustice to sensationalism, what do you do to reporting?

CONCERT REVIEW

Simon: a 'delightful' performer

By ANTHONY BUCCINO

There were two gray haired women walking slowly in the back. A young mother with her barely a month old infant in a harness was sitting three quarters of the rows to the back.

Panzer Gym, at Montclair State College, held these four people and hundards of others, ages ranging somewhere in between, who had waited in line up to four hours on a chilly Sunday evening to see Paul Simon and the Jesse Dixon Singers.

The concert started less than an hour late, when Paul Simon strolled on to the stage to open with "Me And Julio Down By The Schoolyard". It is one of his more lighthearted songs. Everyone who hears it smirks because "he" knows what the mama saw." It serves well to break the ice.

Simon sang seven of the ten songs from his new album. The title song, "Still Crazy After All These Years", highlighted the fact that throughout the whole concert there was little or no distortion. The sound of soft, not blaring, music proved how-welcomed a change from ear splitting levels really was.

The ten member back-up band played quietly behind Paul Simon. They did not drown him out as most bands would. Simon respectfully shared the spotlight during a sax solo on "Take Me To The Mardi Gras."

Simon accompanied himself on guitar for "Mrs. Robinson", "America", and "Mother And Child Reunion". Preceding "Mrs. Robinson", Paul Simon asked the guards in the rear of the gym to let in five people who were standing outside in the cold.

The crowd helped Paul Simon when he forgot the opening lines to "America", the ultimate road song. "Counting the cars on the New Jersey Turnpike" received a proud hand from the New Jersey crowd.

The Jesse Dixon Singers sang "Loves Me Like A Rock" with Simon. During the excitement of the song, Paul Simon asked his brother, sitting in the front row and looking more like Paul than Paul, why he wasn't clapping.

A voice from the center of the audience shouted, "This is the most delightful concert I've ever been to." Simon stared as he received the first of five standing ovations.

"What is this, 'CLUB Concerts?'" Simon asked the crowd after he was handed a t-shirt bearing those words.

C.L.U.B. (College Life Union Board) was the organization that brought him to Montclair State College. He looked at the shirt and said, "Size large." Everyone laughed at the irony.

Paul Simon closed the concert with "Bridge Over Troubled Waters," the song that won five Grammys several years ago. A subliminal hint came in his first encore, "Gone At Last." Paul Simon was alone and at his best for the second encore. "American Tune."

Simon regressed 13 years to the first single released by Simon and Garfunkel. "Sound Of Silence." Then, the concert was over, everyone returned their "Big Bright Green Pleasure Machine," there was no more time to "bow and pray to the neo god they made."

they will complain. He can push more and they will complain more. However if he continues to push, the people will at one point say "No." The result will be the end for him.

I write this, as I said to help, because as Mr. Golden mentioned last week, he has heard talk of a recall. I, too, have heard that talk, and from people who are very knowledgeable in Belleville politics. Saletta's prime example was in Washington, D.C., by the name of Richard Nixon.

Dial-a-Ride driver bids 'kids' farewell

To The Editor:

Dear friends and especially senior citizen friends who, in my recent illness, showed their concern by sending cards, flowers and calling upon me day after day, please accept my warmest thanks.

As the driver of the Dial-A-Ride, I consider myself extremely fortunate for having had the opportunity to work with and assist so many of the Belleville senior citizens. My reward was the self-satisfaction of knowing in some small way I made their day a little brighter, and their expressions of gratitude over the past year and a half were truly rewards in themselves.

I now regret, because of my health, I'll no longer be able to drive the van. Due to my back injury I must do less strenuous work. In spite of this I intend to continue to be with and assist you seniors as much as possible— if necessary on a volunteer basis.

Once again allow me to say "Thanks" to all of my well-wishers, and a special thanks to the senior citizens, "my kids," as I refer to them.

Wonderful, wonderful

To The Editor:

I just want you people to know how wonderful the Emergency Squad was on October 24 when my husband had a fall in our home.

They came so fast and took him to Clara Maass Hospital. After he was X-rayed and checked, the emergency squad came and brought him home again.

I want to send my thanks to the two men who took care of it, but I don't know who they were, so please print this in the Belleville Times/News.

The logic escapes

To the Editor:

On page 3 of the October 30 issue of the Belleville Times/News, Commissioner Rocco Saletta was quoted as saying, "We decided to revamp the detective division because of the town's proximity to Newark."

Now that get's me just a little confused. Unless someone's been fooling around with the maps lately, Belleville's proximity to Newark has been the same for a long time. The Belleville police department has always been there to take care of any citizen's problem. Several times they have served our family and have proven beyond a shadow of a doubt that under any circumstance they can do any job.

If anyone doubts this, they can recall the Newark riots. There was trouble Irvington, but none in Belleville. I have to believe there is another reason for Mr. Saletta's actions.

Many of the letters deal with matters of importance to the Belleville community, and it is regrettable they cannot be used.

The Times/News will withhold names of letter writers on request, but it will not publish letters that are submitted without names and addresses.

So if you are afraid to sign your letters, don't waste your time writing them.

Grippaldi: his talent's evident

Olympic weightlifter. You say the words, and chances are, an image flashes into your mind.

You see a hulking oaf with tree-trunk legs and what appears to be a huge beer gut. This giants bear of a human opens his mouth, and you find he has the brains of the metal he is lifting and the sensitivity of a wall.

What else do you expect from a man who spends his time hauling hundreds of pounds of weights over his head?

Weightlifters definitely have an image problem, one promulgated by the press. If only the strong men of the world would get together and select Phil Grippaldi as their public relations representative.

Grippaldi, 29, knocks down all the myths attached to weightlifters the first time he speaks to you. He is quiet, articulate, and the power of his body is exceeded by his intelligence and sensitivity. He seems to be a real credit to his sport and to his town — Belleville.

Grippaldi recently returned from the Pan American Games in Mexico City with a gold medal for lifting in the 198 pound class. He set new records at the meet with his lifts, and distinguished himself by becoming the first lifter to win three consecutive gold medals in Pan American contests.

Grippaldi, a graduate student at Montclair State, has traveled all over the world competing in international weightlifting events. He has been to Russia several times, and is close personal friends with Vasily Alexeev, the strongest man in the world, and in Grippaldi's eyes, probably one of the greatest athletes who ever lived.

Grippaldi got his start in weightlifting back in the late '50's when he started hanging around the weightroom at the old Belleville stadium.

"I used to go to the weightroom and watch the men work out there. Bucky Cairo and Bob Cooke, both terrific lifters, worked out there, and after watching them, I started to copy what they were doing. I did weight training for a few years, and improved really quickly."

According to Grippaldi, Cooke apparently recognized the youngster's potential and told him he should learn the Olympic lifts, a distinct style.

Eventually, the fledgling lifter came under the tutelage of Jim "Butch" Toth.

Butch, who is still Grippaldi's coach, worked him hard, and helped him develop the strength and style needed to enter competition.

Grippaldi recognizes his debt to Toth, and never seems to tire of singing his praises.

"Butch is a terrific person and is really dedicated to weightlifting. He coaches a lot of teenagers and has developed several young champions. He takes the kids everywhere, at his own expense. He is a real credit to the sport."

Grippaldi did a little hopping around to different colleges, looking for the right place to continue his weight work and also to complete his studies. He finally landed at Montclair State.

Though he rates the Montclair facilities high, Grippaldi also puts the Belleville Recreation Department's equipment at the Friendly House on a high plane.

"Largely due to the efforts of Bob Cooke and Mike Marotti," said Grippaldi, "Belleville probably has one of the finest facilities in the country. I could probably count the other town's with equal layouts on one hand. It's so good, it's almost like a set up the Russians would have."

Grippaldi and other weightlifters in town have donated some of the equipment at the Friendly, in addition to trying to see that the place is kept neat and also decorated. Because he has put some of his own time into the facility, it hurts him to see people take advantage of the place.

"What aggravates me," said Grippaldi, "is when kids wreck the place. They go there and smoke pot, and write on the walls. Why should they be this way? When they steal things its really selfish. They take something home, use it for a little while, and then it goes to waste in their basement. The equipment is there for them to use. I would appreciate it if they would respect it a little more. I can appreciate the facilities here because I looked for a place to work out for so long."

Because the Belleville weightlifting apparatus is so good, Grippaldi said he expects to see other Bellevilleites in international competition in the near future. Now, he says the Belleville Barbell Club is well known not just in the United States, but also in other countries because of articles which have appeared in international publications.

Grippaldi would like to see a lot of people enter the

New building inspector arrives; a hassle over Christmas lights

By JODI MASSONE

One year ago

A former Ocean Township director of public works began a four month term as Belleville deputy building inspector this week, but his role in the dispute between Active Oil and Commissioner of Public Works Mary V. Senatore has yet to be defined.

After a difficult decision, according to Senatore, Simon Leberman of Ocean Township, was appointed to the temporary post.

Leberman was a former public works director and building inspector in the South Jersey community, who was to take over the work left by Vincent Mustacchio, who suffered a massive heart attack the month before.

Two Belleville stores, both on Washington Avenue, were robbed the same night. The stores in question were Wilner's Liquors, 199 Washington Avenue, and Domestic Finance Company, 364 Washington Avenue.

The Wilner robbery resulted in several hundred dollars in cash being stolen, along with assorted liquors and cigarettes.

No money was missing from Domestic Finance, but two electric typewriters and several adding machines were taken from the premises.

Two men, both employed by Ever Ready Label Corp. in town, quarreled after returning from a union-sponsored bus ride to Pennsylvania.

The argument culminated when a 37 year old employee shot a 43 year old co-worker.

The victim underwent surgery at Clara Maass Hospital for the removal of three .22 caliber bullets, and the suspect was held in $2,500 bail.

Eight years ago

Airman First Class Alan Raman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elias Roman of Garden Avenue came home from Albrook Air Force Base in the Panama Canal Zone, by way of a Honda 305 Scrambler.

It must have been a nice trip because Roman said he would do it again. He stopped at San Jose, Guatemala, Lardo, (Texas) Baton Rouge, Knoxville and Roanoke, Va.

In a work shift to produce greater efficiency in the town's fire department, five top officers were re-assigned to new duties by Public Safety Director Ken Smith.

Thirteen years ago

More than $6,000 in overtime pay was to be given to firemen for the last three months of the year. The arrangement was worked out by Town Manager William Sommers.

The extra overtime hours was a temporary solution devised by Sommers to effect the 42 hour work week won by the firemen in the previous May election.

Eighteen years ago

Saul Smaller, representing the downtown merchants of Belleville asked the Board of Commissioners to contribute $250 towards the cost of stringing lights across Washington Avenue as a Christmas project.

The assessment against the town was made because of the location of Town Hall among the retail establishment.

The town had always contributed to the fund with the merchants supplying the balance.

The idea sounded fine, but Elmer S. Hyde refused to put in the money unless the Town was permitted to decide what type of decoration to put up.

Twenty-eight years ago

Stuart Schulthess of Montgomery Place was given an award of merit by the local Red Cross chapter.

Stuart, a high school senior, had rescued a drowning girl from the waters of Greenwood Lake.

Two men had to face Recorder Everett B. Smith on charges of gambling.

Chief Spatz raided one the men's houses, confiscating poker chips and a $8.30 kitty.

Forty-three years ago

After much discussion and differences of opinion, Edward J. Abramson, local attorney, was appointed recorder by a resolution passed by the Board of Commissioners.

Fifty-three years ago

Solemn ceremonies marked the unveiling of the memorial monument in front of the Town Hall. The unveiling was preceded by a parade in which about 5,000 persons took part.

After months of effort and preparation on the part of tax officials of Newark and Belleville, engineers and surveyors, and counsel representing both municipalities and working under the direction of a commission of three members, a boundary line between Newark and Belleville was finally established.

Other portions of the inquiry will assess the attitudes of the general public and the GFWC membership on cerrent crime issues.

Newark DAR Chapter rededicates plaque at Reformed Church

Nova Caecarea Chapter of Newark, the oldest DAR (Daughters of the American Revolution) Chapter in New Jersey, in celebration of the nation's Bi-Centennial, rededicated a plaque in the oldest church of Belleville, the third oldest in the state of New Jersey, the Belleville Reformed Church on November 7.

Established in 1697, its original name was the Reformed Dutch Church of Second River and services were held in the Dutch language until 1714.

A violent tornado in 1804 rendered the church unfit for services, and a new church was erected. The present church edifice dates from 1853. Some 35 Chinese families became members in 1882. The 275th anniversary celebration was held in 1972. During August of this year, extensive restoration and renovation was accomplished through the devoted effort of church members. An interesting feature of the chapel building dating from 1895, is there memorial windows given by the Speers family. Each of these tall windows contains over 400 pieces of stained glass.

The above-mentioned plaque was placed by the DAR Chapter on the front entrance in 1927, dedicated to the memory of 61 Revolutionary soldiers buried in the adjoining cemetery. These participating in the edification service were Mrs. Stephen A. Beers, Chapter Regent; Mrs. Robert M. Sutton, New Jersey State Regent; Mrs. Herbert F. Miller, State Historian; and the Reverend Paul Z. Rufer, Pastor of the church. All were given an escorted tour of the church and cemetery, where ancestors of some members had been buried. Later the members reconvened at the New Jersey Historical Society, Newark, for their regular monthly meeting where, after a buffet luncheon, Mrs. Maurice R. Welch talked on "Newark in 1776".

The games kids play can hurt!

by Helen Maguire

BITS AND pieces.
The four children and I were sitting eating breakfast Sunday morning and playing a little game which one of them dubbed "Odd Ball". It goes like this. "You're the odd ball, Nora. You're the only one eating raisin bran. The rest of us have corn flakes." "You're the odd ball, Gavin. You're the only one with glasses." "You're the odd ball, Ryan. You're the only one not wearing a bathrobe." You're the odd ball, Erin. You're the only one with a red cereal bowl. The rest of us have yellow." Neat little game, what?

And then Ryan Gerald Maguire, that chip from the paternal block, delivered the coup (but not de grace). "You're the odd ball, mom. You're the only one over 40!" The game ended right there. No one could top that.

WE WENT shopping for winter coats for the twins Saturday night, heading for Willowbrook with, much to my surprise, no objections from Rod. "Let's start here", I suggested and we wended, six strong, through a large emporium seeking raiment which would satisfy the girls' taste and dad's wallet. And we did find quite a good selection of coats, tried on a few, eliminated some, filed the others away in the back of our minds.

But, contrary to my usual pattern, I was not about to buy the first thing that appealed to me and I coaxed the others out of the first store and into several, several more. We were upstairs and down and in and out and around and about and by the time we emerged from the sixth store, I realized that the troops needed fortifying if open rebellion was to be avoided. We stopped at a stand dispensing ice cream and here a new kind of game began. "What flavor do you want?" I asked. "Green!", shrieked three quarters of the mob. "I'll have chocolate", said Gavin. "Vanilla," moaned the Irishman and I opted for strawberry. Three away from the head of the line, the inevitable switch began. "I don't want green," said one. "I want chocolate." "I don't want green either", agreed another. "I'll have cherry". "I don't want green now," chimed in the third. "I'll have purple."

O.K. One vanilla, one strawberry, two chocolate, one cherry, one black raspberry. One away from the head of the line, those little demons started in again. I fixed them with my "don't push me too far" stare and demanded an immediate and irrevocable decision." Yes?"

said the girl, scoop in hand. "I'll have six cones," I stated. "Three green, whatever they are, one vanilla, one strawberry and one chocolate." "You know," sighed Gavin as the ice cream lady reached into the container of chocolate, "I really wanted chocolate marshmallow." "No problem," she smiled. "I'll put it on top of the first scoop." I couldn't say a word to the kid. It was the first time he'd changed his mind and that's some kind of record.

End of story. We went back to the first store, bought the first coat in duplicate and everybody was happy.

IF ANYBODY out there has a typewriter they're trying to give away, would you leave a message at the Sun-Times for me? The one in the girls' kindergarten bit the dust. It's sorely missed.

Clara Maass Hospital holds training seminar

A seminar, one of the first of its kind in New Jersey, was conducted at Clara Maass Memorial Hospital in Belleville, for the purpose of preparing the hospital's staff to maintain the criteria established by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals (JCAH). Over 150 participants consisting of nurses, administrators and medical staff and medical records personnel from the hospital attended the all-day program.

Preparations for the training program were coordinated by Miss Marie D'Alessandro, Administrative Coordinator.

The JCAH was formed in 1951 by the American College of Physicians, American College of Surgeons, the American Medical Association and the American Hospital Association to establish standards of operation for hospitals. Since that time, the JCAH has branched out to establish operational standards for long-term care facilities, facilities for the mentally retarded and psychiatric facilities. The JCAH awards accreditation to facilities that meet the operational standards established by the JCAH. These standards are recognized to be of a quality higher than that indicated by a government license alone.

One requirement of an accredited hospital is that the professional staff must regularly evaluate their own work against clinical criteria they have set for themselves, the medical audit — the specific seminar topic — is the most recent method established to do this.

The medical audit is an outcome-oriented approach of evaluation. In an audit, first the audit committee (composed of physicians) selects a medical or surgical procedure as a topic. The committee then determines criteria for that procedure. For example, if the topic of study is admitting and treating bronchial pneumonia patients, the committee would determine what tests and examinations should be completed before a person is admitted and diagnosed as a bronchial pneumonia patient. Criteria are also established for appropriate treatment while the patient is in the hospital and for his condition upon discharge.

Once the criteria are established, an assistance committee of medical staff and medical records personnel retrieve the records of the last 50 bronchial pneumonia patients and screen the records to determine if all of the criteria were met. The assistance committee passes on to the audit committee those records that do not meet the criteria.

The audit committee then analyzes the records to determine if the clinical judgement that did not adhere to the criteria were justified. If unjustified, the committee analyzes the deficiencies and plans corrective action.

According to Miss D'Alessandro, the auditing procedure is an integral part of the requirements established by the JCAH. The Joint Commission, she said, constantly improves and revises its standards of patient care. Miss D'Alessandro stated, "Clara Maass Memorial Hospital must continue to keep pace in complying with these standards in order to give its patients the best care available. Sponsoring a seminar of this type illustrates that this hospital is interested in orienting its staff in the newest, most modern techniques which will ultimately benefit the patient."

Other speakers and discussion leaders included the following JCAH personnel: Staff Consultant, Richard Thompson, M.D., director of Patient Care Affairs for the Illinois Hospital Association; Joseph S. Gonnella, M.D., associate dean and director of Academic Programs of Jefferson Medical College in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; Wayne Hayes, R.N., of St. Francis Hospital in Hartford, Connecticut; and Bernice L. Childs, R.R.A., of Yonkers General Hospital in Yonkers, New York.

Annual Thanksgiving clothing collection now on in churches

The annual Thanksgiving clothing collection will be held November 16-22 in all Roman Catholic churches in the Archdiocese of Newark.

Rev. Francis R. Seymour, assistant chancellor of the archdiocese and director of this year's clothing drive, emphasized the continuing need for lightweight clothing, since the vast majority of the endemic poor who benefit from the drive live in warmer climates.

Last year, 37 million articles of apparel, blankets, and other items, weighing 6,375 tons and worth more than $22 million, were collected. Catholic Relief Services (CRS), sponsoring agency of the clothing collection, distributed the items in 48 countries overseas, with particular attention to the refugee population in Southeast Asia.

CRS also maintains a 500 ton disaster reserve at its vast coast processing center. The clothing and blankets are sorted and ready to go on a moment's notice to meet the needs of the victims of a catastrophe.

Fr. Seymour noted that the simple act of cleaning out one's closet can be an easy and highly effective way of aiding the world's poor through this humanitarian effort.

Clothing contributions may be brought to any Catholic church during the dates of the drive.

DISCUSSING the free Cancer Detection Clinic offered this Saturday and Sunday at Mountainside Hospital are Christine O'Connor, coordinator for the Hospital's nursing in-service education and chairwoman of the Essex County Task Force to Conquer Uterine Cancer, and Miriam Schurman.

Free Pap test is being offered this weekend at Mountainside

The Pap smear — a quick, painless test to detect uterine cancer — and pelvic examination will be given at The Mountainside Hospital, Montclair, Saturday and Sunday, November 22 and 23 from 8:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

The free testing also includes a breast examination and instruction on breast self-examination. Both breast and uterine cancers are often curable if detected early.

The cancer detection clinic is jointly sponsored by the hospital and the Essex County Unit of the American Cancer Society. Doctors from the 322nd General Hospital Unit of the United States Army Reserves, headed by Col. Christine E. Haycock, M.D., will perform the tests.

More than half of the women in Essex County have not been tested for uterine cancer, according to Christine O'Connor, coordinator for Mountainside's nursing in-service education and chairwoman of the Essex County Task Force to Conquer Uterine Cancer. "Women should be tested every year," says Miss O'Connor.

"Those not tested are taking an unnecessary health risk."

Women 18 years of age and older are eligible for the free test. They are asked to enter the outpatient department of Mountainside through its Highland Avenue entrance. Do not douche for three days prior to the test.

The simple Pap test involved collecting cells from the cervix, the mouth of the uterus, on a cotton swab and latter examining them under a laboratory microscope. Mountainside's laboratories are cooperating in this part of the test. Technicians will look for both existing cancer and cell changes that indicate cancer is developing.

More than 12,000 women will die of uterine cancer this year in America — most would have been saved through early detection and treatment.

The goal of the American Cancer Society is to have every woman over 18 tested for uterine cancer, and to make an annual Pap test and breast self-examination, a lifetime habit for women everywhere.

Thousands cheer on Veterans Dayparade

It was cold and clear Tuesday night, and though it wasn't exactly perfect parade weather, thousands of people lined Washington Avenue to cheer on the marchers in the annual Veterans' Day cavalcade.

There was a little something for everyone: pretty girls, horses, children, and of course, the inevitable politicians.

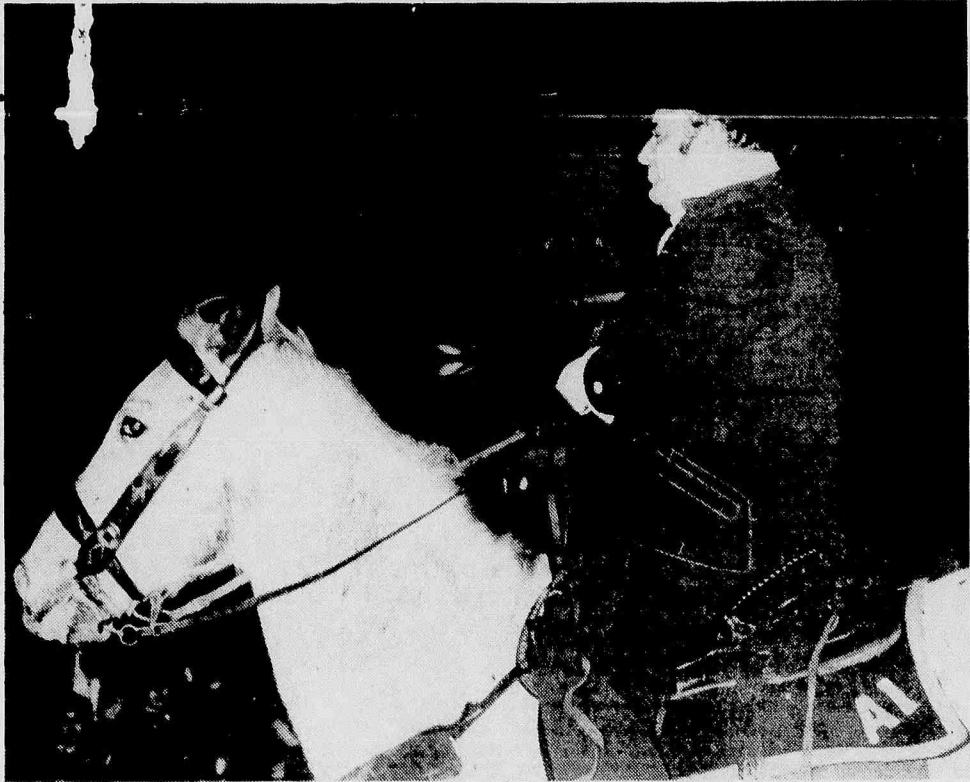

The parade lasted for almost two hours and it seemed as though not a single person left the route from beginning to end. Children, some obviously up past their usual bed time, bounced around or just lay their heads on their parents shoulders and idly watched as the floats, twirlers and scouts rolled by.

State Senator Anthony Imperiale

probably got the biggest hand of the night as he trotted down Washington Avenue in his Dodge City garb atop a nervously prancing horse.

Members of the Belleville Board of Education and the Town Commision stood on the reviewing stand, idly chatting with one another then suddenly stopping mid-sentence to place their hands over their hearts as one of a multitude of American flags was borne by them.

It was a glorious night for the veterans, dressed to the teeth in their finest Veterans' Day clothes. They really seemed to enjoy being out there in front of the crowds, and the crowds seemed to appreciate them as well.

Ride'm cowboy! Not everyone agrees with his politics, but there's no one in Belleville who can say State Senator Anthony Imperiale isn't the best parader around. This time he appeared on horseback. In other parades he's shown up riding chariots or taming lions.

Color guards were a large part of the festivities, each unit guarding a variety of flags. This rifler is from the DAV unit.

No shortage— For those who liked looking at pretty girls or listening to marching music, there was an eyeful during the Vet's Day parade. Below, the Wayne PAL Stardusters are just a sample of the variety of drum and bugle units strutting the Avenue.

Old Glory— Real star of the parade, no doubt, was the American flag and everything it stands for. This color guard unit carried it proudly, as did a dozen others.

At the stand as they always are for Veteran's Day, are Grand Marshall Ralph Palumbo (left) and announcer James Leary (center). At right is guest speaker Captain W.C. Larry of the Third Naval District.

Maass doctors screen 480 eyes in October

Clara Maass Memorial Hospital physicians examined 240 area residents in a free eye screening program in October.

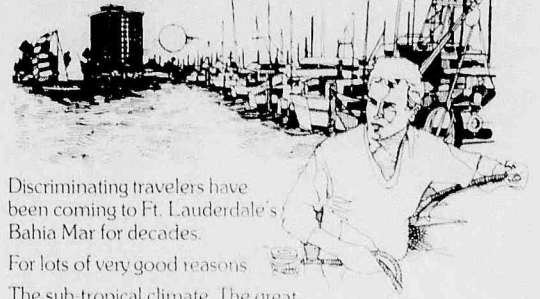

Of the 240 people who were screened, 114 had positive results indicating a need to have their prescriptions changed. Four people showed signs of glaucoma. All of these people were referred to their own eye physicians.

Philip Eichler, M.D., was the physician-in-charge of Clara

Maass's screening program which was held in conjunction with the Medical Society of New Jersey. The screening program at the hospital was coordinated by Lois Werner, R.N., Clinic nurse.

Other Clara Maass physicians participating included James Piza, Eugene Chiapetta, James Parisi, Joseph Landolfi, Anthony D'Amato, Elaine Schulman and Melvin Schulman.

Mrs. Clark will exhibit her artwork at library

The paintings of Mrs. Lorena Clark, Belleville artist, will be on exhibit in the main room of the Belleville Library through November 30.

Mrs. Clark, who is the President of the Art Department of the Woman's Club of Belleville, is a graduate of the Fawcett School of Art, from which she received her diploma in fashion design and illustrating.

Additional study with William Fisher, instructor at the 8th Street Gallery in New York City and Kennebunkport, Maine, helped groom Mrs. Clark for her many years of giving private instruction in painting to children of Belleville and Bloomfield, as well as serving as an instructor at the Belleville adult school.

Included in her exhibits are landscapes, still life and seascapes which she learned to paint while studying with the late William Ehrig, who was one of the ten most outstanding seascape painters in the country.

The exhibit may be viewed Monday through Saturday during library hours.

Byrne appoints Aulisi to board

Joseph Aulisi

Longtime Belleville resident Joseph Aulisi has been appointed by Governor Brendan Byrne to the State Recreation Commission Board of Examiners, it was announced this week.

Aulisi, currently vice principal of Kearny High School, holds a master's degree in education from Seton Hall University, and is a graduate of Barringer High School.

A greatly experienced athlete, camper and recreationalist, he achieved All-State honors in football and baseball while at Barringer, and continued playing football while serving in the U.S. Marine Corps. The Bellevilleite went on to professional football, playing for the Newark Bears and Jersey City Giants.

The educator coached at several schools prior to coming to Kearny High.

In addition to his duties at the high school, the new board member is serving as staff supervisor at the Newark Y.M.C.A., a position he has held for many years.

He and his wife, Mildred, have six children and reside on Tonia Avenue.

Racing for yardage, Bellboy Al Cervasio (43) skillfully avoids one Kearny tackler with the help of teammate Vito Guarino (61). As usual, Cervasio turned in a powerful running performance, taking the running assignment 12 times for a total gain of 84 yards. He was, in fact, the only Bellboy attacker to pick up a substantial number of yards on the ground all day.

Gridders fall 'flat' to Kearny, 7-0

One bad snap from center cost the Belleville Bellboy varsity grid squad last Saturday's game, as the hometowners went down before the Kearny Cardinals, 7-0.

With less than two minutes to go before the half, substitute center John Valvano muffed his snap to punter Mike Limongelli, and the Cardinals took possession on the Belleville five yard line. Two plays later, quarterback Joe Policano crashed through the line to score the only touchdown of the day. The extra point by Jim Rainey split the uprights, giving Kearny the 7-0 lead they would hold for the rest of the game.

Belleville coach Tom Testa was not pleased with the way his team worked Saturday, calling the Bellboy offense "flat." According to Testa, "We weren't blocking, and the only effective ball carrier was Alan Cervasio. It all boils down to that one play, though — that bad snap.

When you get right down to it, the game proved to be a battle of the two defenses. Both teams gave up ground grudgingly, smashing runners to the turf with bone-crunching tackles.

Belleville's offensive woes began immediately when, on the first play from scrimmage, tailback Joe Pizzi took a pitch out on an end run and was dragged down for a one yard loss. Chris Cervasio picked up two yards on the next play, but a Rick Loma pass to Cervasio missed and the Bellboys had to kick the ball away.

Kearny didn't have much luck either, as they got the ball on their own 22 after a Limongelli punt.

Fullback John Giresi slithered forward for a four yard gain, but Policano's passing pocket collapsed on the next play and he was nailed for a 10 yard loss. He attempted another throw, but missed his target, halfback John Gervasi.

The Bellboys took over on the Kearny 42, after a 13 yard run back by Al Cervasio. Cervasio took the running assignment on the first play from scrimmage and picked up two yards. Pizzi followed him with a gain of five, but two incomplete passes by Loma followed, as coach Testa ordered his men to go for the first down, and Belleville surrendered the pigskin to the Cardinals on the Kearny 35.

Coach Ralph Borges must have lit a fire under his men after their first dismal attack, because the Cardinals started to heat up the contest with a drive finally was ended only by a goal line interception.

Fullback Giresi and quarterback Policano picked up most of the yardage in the drive that eventually brought the attackers down to the Belleville eight. Except for one nine yard pass to Kardinal end John McNish, the Kearny move was made up of hand-offs to Giresi and keeps by Policano. The highlight of the Kardinal movement was a 21 yard explosion by Giresi, which brought the ball down to the Belleville 23.

After snatching up 15 more yards on the ground, Policano tried to fire the ball into the endzone, but Bellboy Limongelli was right there, and hauled in the pigskin for an interception.

Joe Pizzi took the ball at the Belleville five, and picked up two yards on the first play from scrimmage. Al Cervasio was next with a four yard gain, and when that worked, he was given the ball again. This time he found a hole in the line big enough to drive a tank through and sprinted through the defenders for 36 yards before he was hauled down at the 47 yardline. That run also gave the Bellboys their first first down of the day.

The Kearny defensive squad knocked the wind out of the Belleville charge on the next two plays, however, as they pegged Joe Pizzi for a one yard loss, and then nipped Loma for another six. As the quarter ended, the Blue-Gold team found itself holding the short end of a fourth

Gloomy soccer year had its bright spots

The season ended for the BHS soccer squad last week, and though the team came away with a gloomy 2-14-1 record, there were a few small dividends.

Two of the Bellboy footballers — Hernon Borja and John Pontrella — were named to All Big Ten teams, bringing honors to the school and the rest of the team. Borja was named to the second Big Ten squad while Pontrella made the third team roster. Considering the team's bleak tally, the naming of the two boys was cause for rejoicing.

There were a lot of factors contributing to the Blue-Gold's poor showing, and chief among those handicaps had to be the fact that this was the squad's first year of play at the varsity level.

The Bellboys had never come up against the big guns they ran into this year, and the scores of some of their games showed it. There were no pushovers included in the team's schedule, and competition against schools like Kearny, Bloomfield and Columbia — all known for their traditionally strong soccer squads — is virtually courting defeat.

Primarily, the year could best be described as a learning experience for the Bellboys. Until just this fall, Belleville did not have a recreational soccer program. As a result, many of the boys just did not have the individual skills acquired by their opponents over the years. As a result, the boys were out maneuvered, out shot, and just plain out played by many of the teams they came up against.

Standouts like Borja and Pontrella were, because of their advanced skills, forced to carry much of the load this season, and the lack of backup skills by the other team members showed up time and time again.

"What really hurt us the most," said coach Tony Cahill, "was our inability to generate enough offense early in the game to really keep us in the contest." Indeed, a glaring lack of offensive punch had to be the hallmark of the Bellboy season.

All told, the team was able to get only 136 shots on goal all year, an average of just two shots on goal per quarter. Of those 136, the Blue-Gold men found the net 17 times.

In contrast, Belleville goalies Vito Tamborrino and Tony Cordaro were fired upon a total of 400 times, or roughly 6 times per period. Tamborrino managed to stop 169 shots and Cordaro deflected another 155. Attackers found the mark 76 times.

Bellboy Joe Coscarelli logged the most field time and also had the most shots on goal for the year. Coscarelli played 67 out of 68 quarters, took 36 shots, and picked up one score and one assist.

Borja, with eight points, was the high scorer for the Belleville team. He made his goals on 29 shots and also had two as-

Runners end at 5-7 mark

The Belleville high cross country team wrapped up its season last week, polishing off Newark Eastside in the final meet to give the squad a 5-7 finishing record.

November 11, the team raced East Orange but lost the contest, 21-24. Before that, the boys competed in the All County meet and the New Jersey Sectionals.

The team ran fairly well in the county contest, taking 13th place in the field of 22. The placed the same in the sectional contest, but the field was comprised of only about 17 teams.

As in most of the other races, the highlight for the team was captain Jim Beck.

Though the Bellboys defeated Newark Eastside 17-45, coach Rich Ruffalo said the men's performances were far from par. Bad weather caused all the runners to slow down, and first place finisher Beck logged a time of 16:07, way above

Barbell Club seeking win

The Belleville Barbell Club will be going for an unprecedented fourth victory in the New Jersey Team Championships this Saturday when they host that annual competition.

The New Jersey State Championships will be held in the Belleville High School gymnasium starting at 1 p.m. Lifters from all over the Garden State will be traveling here hoping to take home a bit of glory in the world sweat and strain.

Hometowners will be able to watch the vaunted Bellevilleites as they try to snatch the team title. The Belleville Barbell Club will have a definite psychological lift, since the group is coming off recent victories in the Reading, Pennsylvania Open and the Empire State Open held in New York City.

Some of the young athletes representing Belleville will be Frank Falgares in the 132 pound class, Brian Derwin as a 242 pounder, John Maynard at 165 and Bob Giordano lifting in the 198 pound class.

Bellevilleites may also have an opportunity to meet local hero Phil Grippaldi, Pan Am gold medal winner, who will be on hand to cheer on his fellow townsmen and lend a hand where needed.

Annual turkey shoot Sunday at the range

If you are in the area of Joralemon Street and Hoover Avenue this Sunday between 11 a.m. and 4 p.m., and you hear gunfire, don't bother to hit the dirt, it's only Belleville's version of a turkey hunt.

Any Bellevilleite, man, woman, or child over the age of 12 and accompanied by an adult, is welcomed to compete in the Recreation Department's annual turkey shoot. You don't have to be a crack shot to enter, and the way the contest is set up, just about anybody could win a bird for the holidays.

The purchase price for a target to aim your sights at is one dollar, and guns and ammunition will be supplied free of charge.

Contestants will fire at random targets, consisting of small numbered squares whose point value cannot be seen from the firing line. This gives even the most near-sighted contestant a fair shot at taking home a gobbler.

If a shot goes clean through a square, the score is the number of that square. If the bullet breaks a line between two squares, both numbers are totaled up, and if the projectile hits an intersection of four boxes, the points in each of the four will be added.

You can buy as many targets as you want, but each participant can only win once.

The big rush — Belleville quarterback Rick Loma (facing camera) withstood this Kardinal pass rush long enough to get this pass off. Loma had an off day Saturday, hitting only four times on 19 attempts. Though the Belleville defensive squad looked good, coach Tom Testa called the team's defensive performance "flat."

Broncos set stage for Marotti Bowl

The Belleville Broncos finished their regular season play last week, dropping the final game against the Nutley Junior Raiders, 12-0.

The local gridders will now get ready for the second annual Michael V. Marotti Charity Bowl, scheduled for this Sunday at Belleville Municipal Stadium. Kick off is set for 1:30 p.m. The game will feature the Broncos versus the Saddle Brook Falcons of the Bergen County Junior Football League.

The Broncos' final game had the team coming up against a potent Nutley ground game and an aggressive defense.

Midway through the first quarter, Nutley recovered a Bronco fumble at the Belleville 21 yard line. On the second play from scrimmage, Brian Jernick broke two tackles and blasted his way into the endzone. The extra point try failed.

Nutley's second score came after Jim Viola, Nutley's outstanding back, intercepted a pass at the Bronco 31 to give the Raiders possession. On a fourth and eight situation, quarterback Viola hit Tom Lazar with a pass in the endzone for the touchdown. Once again the extra point attempt missed the mark.

The Broncos were unable to generate much of an offense, and their deepest penetration was to the Nutley 22.

In the losing cause, Michael Nicosia and Dante DeNotaris played some fine football, coming up with some great plays.

The Broncos finished their second season with an even 4-4 record and a fourth place standing in the Essex Junior Football league.

The Broncos' foe this Sunday, the Falcons, wrapped up their season with a 7-2 tally and a second place standing in the Bergen league. Competing with such teams as Fair Lawn, Garfield, Wood-Ridge and North Arlington, the Saddle Brook team plays a tough brand of football.

The Broncos will be trying to make it two in a row after their defeat of Clifton last year, 12-7 in the first Marotti Bowl.

The proceeds of the game will go to a selected charity and the Broncos' Scholarship Fund. Last year, the James Campenalla Fund was the recipient of $500 from the Bronco organization.

A $750 scholarship grant was awarded to BHS student Donna Stone to further her education, and the Belleville high band received a gift of $250 to pay for its trip to Florida.

Tickets for the grid clash are available from merchants throughout town for two dollars.

All Big Ten — Blue-Gold soccer coach Tony Cahill (center) stands with two of the best from the Belleville team. Hernon Borja (left) and John Pontrella (right) were both named to All Big Ten soccer squads by the voting coaches. Borja was named to the second team while Pontrella was picked for the third. The naming of the two boys was also one of the few bright spots for Cahill and his BHS foosballers this season.

Pontrella, Borja honored

sists. He played a total of 65 quarters.

Coscarelli and Borja were followed by Libby Iannitelli with 12 shots and two goals, Frank Custode with two good on eight attempts, and Mike Licameli with eight shots, and one assist.

Looking at the overall picture, the team did well defensively throughout the season. Cahill said he was pleased with the team's aggressive style of defense, and particularly pointed to the outside fullbacks, Jeff Mack and Frank Fredericks as doing good jobs of staying with the attacking wings. In the center, Pontrella and Robert Freda also did well on the defending side of the scale.

Coach Cahill said the team's inconsistency was probably one of its major problems. He cited the example of the last Columbia game as a classic case.

"For the first 14 minutes of the first half, these kids never played better in their lives," Cahill said. "But at the end of the half, Columbia managed to score and we got poorer and poorer. This is something that is more mental attitude than anything else."

There were some games, the coach said, when it appeared the team just didn't want to play. He said part of the reason may have been what other students said to the players about their record or the strength of the opposition. Whatever it was, it surely hurt the team.

Looking ahead to next year, Cahill can solace in the fact he will be welcoming back a solid cadre of seasoned varsity men. Just two starters — Pontrella and Fredericks — will be leaving the team because of graduation. Hopefully, the men coming back have picked up a lot this year.

Cahill said he is encouraging his men to get involved in league soccer if possible in order to work on their skills between now and next September 1. He is also pushing attendance at a soccer camp where the footballers can get some concentrated instruction.

There are three areas, said the coach, where the team will need help next year. First, the team needs someone up front in the center line who will be aggressive. Right now, said Cahill, there are two possibilities. One is Coscarelli, a left wing this year. The other is Jim Cooney. Cooney played left halfback this season, but the coach said he has an extremely hard shot which might suit the team better up front on the attack.

The team's second soft spot, said Cahill, is the goal. "What hurt us more in the goal than anything else," said the coach, "is the fact that neither Tamborrino nor Cordaro had any experience in that spot. That's the toughest position to play since you never score the winning goal, but always give up the winning one."

Cahill said he has recommended several exercises for the two goalkeepers for the off season designed to improve their reaction times.

The third problem for Cahill will be finding some one to fill the vacancies left by Pontrella and Fredericks. The coach said he doesn't have anyone in mind right now, but hopefully somebody will be able to fill the seniors' shoes.

his best.

Belleville did manage to take the top three spots, however, the first and only time they did it all season. Following Beck across the finish line were Doug Wamsley in second and Mike Lamberti in third. Nelson Seda came over next for Belleville in fifth place.

The East Orange meet was very close, and because the Belleville performances were so superior, coach Ruffalo said, "Even though we lost, I can't really complain. Many of the kids ran their best times."

Beck took first place, and with a time of 15:24, narrowly missed matching the Belleville home record of 15:20 set by Bill Goodwin in 1973.

Wamsley ran 16:22, his best time, and finished in sixth place. Keith Allum took eighth, and Lamberti and Seda followed in ninth and tenth places, respectively.

Though the Blue-Gold placed two notches lower than last year's mark in the All County meet, coach Ruffalo was still moderately with his team's 11th place finish.

There were 154 runners in the field, and Bellboy Beck proved he is one of the strongest runners in the county by taking 11th place with his time of 15:35. That's the best Belleville time ever run in the three mile county race.

Harrier Wamsley came in next for BHS in the 59th spot. Allum took 82nd, and Seda placed 93rd.

The team did rather poorly in the State Sectionals held November 8, but once again, Beck finished in a respectable position. He took 24th in the group two, section four field.

Next week, the Times/News will carry a comprehensive wrap up of the season with commentary by coach Ruffalo

Optimists dub Cervasio 'Athlete of the Month'

Belleville High School senior Alan Cervasio has been named the first recipient of the Belleville Optimist Club's Athlete of the Month Award, the local organization announced this week.

Cervasio, standout running back and co-captain for this year's grid squad, is also an honor roll student.

Thus far, notes the Optimists, Cervasio has gained 680 yards on 145 carries to lead the 1975 Bellboy varsity. The statistics also rate him as one of the leading rushers in the area. Cervasio has scored 38 points on six touchdowns and two extra points for the Blue-Gold this season.

This season Cervasio was nominated to the High School Superstars, a nationally prominent organization recognizing outstanding high school athletes. He has also been selected as the most valuable player and outstanding back at the Joe Namath Football Camp.

This season mark's Cervasio's third as a varsity letter winner for the Bellboys. As a sophomore he played on the offensive squad under the tutelage of coach Rocco Cafone. During his junior year, until an ankle injury placed him on the sidelines, Cervasio was a starting defensive back. This year he has devoted his talents entirely to the tailback slot, though he also serves on the punt and kickoff return special teams.

Academically, Cervasio is an honor roll student and last year served as vice president of the junior class. He was on the Belleville High School executive council, the junior and senior senate, and belongs to the Key Club.

Presently Cervasio is considering attending college at Cornell, Leigh or Rutgers where he may study for a career in child services. Cervasio has worked as a Belleville playground director at School Four during the summer.

Gun charge sent to jury

A 30-year old Belleville man charged with unlawful possession of a gun waived his right to a preliminary hearing in Belleville Municipal Court October 16, and the case was sent to an Essex County Grand Jury.

Michael Guibilio, 1 Sunset Avenue, was arrested October 8 for possession of a loaded .45 caliber pistol.

Judge Edward Abramson referred the case to the Grand Jury after Guibilio waived a probable cause hearing. Bail was set at $1,000 and the defendant is being held in Newark Street jail in lieu of the money.

Bad snap courts defeat

and 14 situation.

Limongelli's punt sailed down to the Kearny 34 when Kardinal Fred Diaz scooped in the ball and bounced forward only two yards before being brought down.

The Cardinals picked up seven yards on two carries and threw one incomplete pass before they had to kick the ball away.

The Bellboys got the ball on their own 19 after Rainey's kick went out of bounds. Cervasio succeeded in picking up six yards on two carries, but Loma's third down pass to split end Anthony Speer was off and Belleville was forced to kick.

Giresi picked up 4 yards on his first run from the line, and Belleville threw another 15 yards Kearny's way on the next play because of a personal foul. The Cardinals failed to capitalize on the error, though, and after quarterback Dan Vucola was nailed for a long loss, the Rainey punted the ball to Belleville.

With the ball on the 15, Loma pitched out to Joe Pizzi, but the tailback never made the turn around the end and was nailed for a one yard loss. His next run picked up only one yard, so Loma was forced to take to the air. His third down pass to end Jim Mallack missed, and Limongelli came in for the boot.

The snap to Limongelli bounced a good five yards in front of him, and the kicker had to scramble for the ball. The foul up took place at one of the field's soggy spots, and Limongelli couldn't get a handle on the slippery sphere in time to get the kick off. The Kardinal linemen pounced, and the Kearny squad took over on the Belleville five.

Two plays later quarterback Policano hit paydirt, and Kearny had the winning points on the board.

Belleville took the kick off, but two plays later, a Loma pass to Joe Pizzi was picked off by Kardinal John Cardini. The Kearny men got off five more plays before the half ended and Belleville fans breathed a sigh of relief.

The second half was an exercise in futility for the Bellboys. Coach Testa even got in the act after the officials decided they didn't like his presence on the field.

Kearny took the kick off, and started to peck away at Belleville as Giresi carried the ball four times in a row for a gain of 14 yards. Kearny gave back five of those on the next play with an illegal procedure call, and eight more yards went down the tubes when the Bellboys sacked Policano.

It was at this point that coach Testa took to the field to find out if the pass was good.

According to the old rules, a thrown ball is not a complete pass if it is hit by another offensive player immediately before being caught. This was obviously the case in this situation, and when the officials didn't come over to the Belleville bench to explain the call, Testa went to them.

"I went out there to determine what the call was," Testa later explained. "I just wanted an interpretation. Usually, a referee will go to the sideline to let you know what is going on. That's the first time in 23 years I've had the flag thrown on me."

The coach said he later checked a current rule book and found out that the referee's call had indeed been correct. Still, he added, "I felt the flag was uncalled for."

As it turned out, the play and the penalty didn't make any difference in the outcome of the game. On the very next play, Giresi fumbled the ball going through the line, and the Bellboys recovered.

Al Cervasio picked up all but the last couple of inches needed for the first down with two carries, but Loma's attempt to sneak up for the last fractions of a yard failed and Belleville had to kick the ball away.

The two teams battled throughout the rest of the game, but neither could score.

Gotcha — Belleville tailback Joe Pizzi (21) seems to be trying to put on the brakes as a swarm of Kearny linesmen move in for the kill. Unfortunately, the Cardinals moved faster than Pizzi did on this particular play and caught the Bellboy for a short loss. It was a problem the Blue-Gold back ran into all day as the Kearny squad kept reading the play every time he got the ball.

Snuffing it — Participating in what has become a weekly tradition, Belleville cheerleaders help in the efforts to put out the twirlers' fire batons. So in addition to whipping up the crowd, the girls also do their bit in fighting air pollution and bolstering fire prevention.

Two Belleville men indicted

Two Belleville men — one a Newark police officer — were indicted last week by an Essex County Grand Jury on charges of conspiracy and obtaining money under false pretenses.

Vincent DeModica, 44, of 92 Continental Avenue and patrolman Vincent Squatrito, 32, of 66 Magnolia Street were charged with bilking two Morris County men out of $23,000 on a false promise of supplying a large quantity of hashish.

Another Newark policeman, Gerald Valerius, 26, of Lyndhurst, was also indicted in the case. The two lawmen were also charged with official misconduct.

According to officials, Squatrito and Valerius allegedly staged a fake arrest in the parking lot of a Newark restaurant as part of the swindle. The incident reportedly took place in February of 1974.

Another man involved in the case, Carl Freda, was named by the Grand Jury as an un-indicted co-conspirator. Freda is currently serving a prison term for receiving stolen goods, and is being held in a federal prison.

Though officials refused to comment, there is speculation that testimony by Freda is the basis for the indictments against the other men.

According to officials Freda and DeModica told Keith Alley and Stu Weinstein they would sell the two men hashish for $23,000. At the arranged meeting place, Gino's Restaurant on Park Avenue in Newark, it alleged Squatrito and Valerius staged a fake arrest, seizing the money and the "drugs".

Alley and Weinstein, now reportedly living in California, were both indicted on charges of conspiracy to violate narcotics laws.

The two police officers were arrested last Wednesday by members of the Newark Police Internal Affairs Department. They have been released in their own recognizance, and as of late last week, neither has been suspended from the force.

In a separate indictment, former Belleville Joseph Covello was charged along with several reputed organized crime figures with conspiracy to obstruct justice by forcing a man to commit perjury.

Covello, now living in Florida, is accused in connection with an alleged plot to force a Newark man to perjure himself in a 1972 shooting case.

According to officials, Michael Angelo Jr. was shot July 29, 1972 by another man, Ciro Caruso. The shooting reportedly was over a bank robbery for which Caruso was convicted in the 1960's.

Covello is charged with meeting with other conspirators, including Joseph Paterno, a reputed "lieutenant" of organized crime, Anthony Accetturo, and Michael Contino and agreeing to prevent prosecution of Caruso for the shooting.

Contino was allegedly instructed to threaten Angelo's life and is accused of delivering that threat.

Angelo was also indicted by the Grand Jury. He is charged with perjury for his testimony in the shooting case.

Officials wage war over jobs, payrolls

Arthur Connolly Jr. from an appointment list that had expired. The officers have refused to accept provisional status pending an appeal.

McCoy now charges that another payroll in Saletta's department, and one in Mrs. Senatore's, may be disapproved unless both Commissioners fill jobs held by temporary appointees with appointees from a current Civil Service list. McCoy's wife is second on a list of eligibles for appointment to an office job in either department.

Though Mrs. Senatore dismissed the charge as "baloney," both he and Saletta have been notified by Civil Service that "if disposition of the certification is not made within 15 days... the salary of the present provisional incumbent will be disapproved by this office." Since there are only two eligibles on the current certification list, Mrs. McCoy would automatically get a job in one department if both Commissioners comply.

The "confusion" recently occurring in the Treasurer's office also stems in part from a request by Saletta last week that intra-department fund transfers necessary to meet a small Public Safety payroll be omitted from a number of similar actions made by the Board of Commissioners.

Though a special Commission meeting November 12 rectified the payroll foul up, paychecks for four Public Safety employees were delayed. In a letter to Morris C. Ianni, Civil Service Department Director, Saletta charged McCoy with failing to notify him in advance that there were insufficient balances. McCoy complained that the omission of the transfers from the original Commission action created additional paperwork for his staff.

McCoy's unorthodox suggestion that the Commissioners consider stripping Saletta of his authority by way of N.J.S.A. 40:72-6 has caused considerable speculation — both political and legal — around Tower Hall.

Legally, the statute cited by McCoy would open a series of complicated questions regarding the Board's exact authority to reorganize itself, and to override the will of the electorate.

The Home and School Association of School Ten held its monthly meeting Tuesday, November 18 at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Guest speaker for the evening was Mrs. Catherine Tilley, children's librarian, of the Belleville Public Library, who gave some guidelines of how to choose a book for your child.

Following the general meeting, parents were invited to browse and purchase books at the annual book fair held in the gym.

In other news pertaining to School Ten, parents are reminded that all items for the Christmas Boutique should be brought to the school on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, November 24, 25, and 26 between 12:30 and 3 p.m. only.

Jr. High students win essay contest

Anne Marie Fredericks and Joseph Cofone, both students of Belleville Junior High School, and winners of the annual Abraham Weeks-stein Essay Contest, were presented with a gift by school principal Mario Di Maggio at a special assembly program November 7.

In addition, the students with their parents, and their teachers, Mrs. Bess Elstathiou, Science coordinator, and Bruce Kemnitz, will visit Atlantic City November 14 where they will be honored guests at the annual New Jersey Science Teachers Association convention at the Shelburne Hotel.

The aim of the contest, sponsored jointly by the New Jersey Science Teachers Association, Inc. and the New Jersey Society for Medical Education and Research, is to stimulate greater understanding and appreciation of the benefits to man resulting from progress to biomedical and scientific research.

Senior notes

By GEORGE CHENOWETH

We read in the paper that Senator Harrison A. Williams (D.- N.J.) is introducing legislature to provide federal aid to senior citizens who pay more than four percent of the income in property taxes.

The Senator also said that the proposed legislation would provide relief for senior citizens who pay more than 25 percent of their income for rent. Under his proposed legislation, the State and local government would be reimbursed for 50 percent of property tax revenue lost because of tax credits, by the federal government.

In his statement Senator Williams said that elderly Americans pay an average of 8.1 percent of their income for property taxes, while Americans under the age of 65 pay an average of 4.1 percent of their income toward property taxes.

It has been brought to our attention very often the dire straights that some property owners are in because of high taxes. Whether something can be done for relief of those owners, and renters, too, for that matter, on a state or federal level remains to be seen.

Whatever can be done to alleviate the pain of high taxes will be welcome by our seniors. The struggle to survive old age with all its aches and pains is enough to bear without having to worry about where the next tax payment is coming from.

weightlifting world. It has opened a lot of doors for him by allowing him to travel around the world and meet athletes from other countries.

"It's been really great going to all these places and meeting all these people. I have really enjoyed it because I have been able to learn more about my sport and more about people."

"I'd like to see lifting grow in the United States. I would like to see this country back up where it used to be. It's just a great sport."

Right now, Grippaldi has his sights set on the upcoming Olympic games. Four years ago in Munich, he missed a bronze medal by one lift. This time, he is determined to bring home the glory.

"It's so important to come back with a medal. When I don't come home with one, I feel ashamed. It won't be easy, but I think I can do it this time."

Competition is, it seems, Grippaldi's "high" in life. His conversation is normally animated, but when he begins to talk about the specifics of lifting in competition, about the way he feels, there's an extra spark in his words and his eyes seem to brighten even more.

"When you are announced to a crowd," Grippaldi said, "and you know people are for you and you hear that applause, it's really inspiring."

"I don't hear them when I'm making a lift, though, even if they are roaring. In my mind, I am concentrating by picturing myself making the perfect lift. When I have a winning lift over my head, or one that's a new record, it's just the greatest feeling in the world."

One would expect a man as strong as Grippaldi to be as tough on the inside as he is muscular on the surface, but that's not the way it is. He is a sensitive and gentle person, and almost seems to wear his emotions on his sleeve.

"It hurts when I hear that some of the lifters I have worked with and tried to help are saying unkind things about me. I don't feel any animosity towards other lifters, even those I am competing against."

"Even spectators can be very critical and also very cruel. I don't believe anyone other than your coach has a right to criticize you."

When Grippaldi completes his work on his masters, he hopes to get a job as a teacher at a university or college with a weightlifting team. He says he always wants to be around lifters because he loves the sport and all it has done for him.

If Grippaldi had his way, everyone would experience what he has. If every person in the world did, nothing would probably make Grippaldi happier.

l of the ceiling because spiraling maintenance costs have rendered it impractical.

A source familiar with the proposed changes said there are also a number of minor "procedural" amendments intended to allow the Board to function more effectively.

Leveler Steven Rogers, who last week said he would boycott all Board meetings until the Commissioners acted on their recommendations, said this week he would not attend next week's Commission-Rent Board meeting.

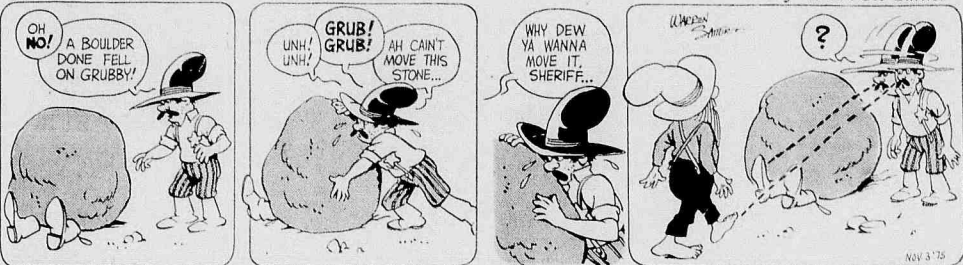

Rogers said he would ask the Commissioners to table any decision on the proposed changes until he had an opportunity to read the suggested amendments and could issue what he called a "minority opinion— mine."

Rogers said he was asking for the postponement of action because he had not been given a copy of the proposed changes. Rogers boycotted the meeting at which the measures had been voted on.

GSO will make trip to Shawnee

By DEBBIE BRADLEY

On November 25 the Girls Service Organization will take a trip to Shawnee High School in Medford.

According to GSO president Donna Berrigan, the trip's purpose is to "observe the procedure of another high school, and hopefully learn something to help us better our school."

Since Shawnee High's school day begins at 7:35 a.m., the GSO girls will have to leave Belleville at 5:30 a.m. They will return about 5 p.m. the same evening.

Once in Medford, each girl will be paired up with a Shawnee High School student, and will stay with that student all day, attending the same classes as her host, and eating lunch with her.

GSO soon to be the 'Keywanettes'

By MADELYN MALANOWSKI

Keywanettes will soon be the new name for the Girls Service Organization in B.H.S.

The G.S.O., presently an independent club working under their advisor Mr. Raymond Smith, principal of B.H.S., will be sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Belleville in the near future. The purpose of the G.S.O. is to aid in school functions performed throughout the year while the purpose of the Keywanettes will be to provide service to the school and also to the community.

The G.S.O. was organized two years ago by sophomore girls, Donna Berrigan and Gardenia Lijo, presently seniors, along with other members of the club, would like to see the club continue throughout the years after they graduate. Donna Berrigan, president of the G.S.O., when asked her opinion of the future outlook of the club said, "I feel that it is to the club's advantage to become the keywanettes and to be sponsored by the Kiwanis Club in order to insure its existence so that high school girls in the future years will have the opportunity to join and to serve their school and community."

A member of the Kiwanis will be selected by the club's president to serve as chairman for the Keywanettes who will assist the club and their advisor in carrying out their duties.

Chaperoning the trip will be Mr. Raymond Smith, Mr. Ralph Correll, Mr. Frank Seelba, Mrs. Susan Weintrob and volunteer women from the Home and School Association.

Diane Giansanti, GSO treasurer, says she looks forward to the trip. "I think the GSO trip is really gives the girls from BHS an opportunity to see how other schools are run and to get different ideas on how to better BHS."

The Girls Service Organization, or GSO as it is known to its members, may be unknown to the citizens of Belleville. This club consists of high school girls who hold a "C" average or better in school. The girls participate in such activities as tutoring students from Belleville grammar schools, serving refreshments at card parties and parent-teacher nights, and sponsoring car washes.

About three years ago, Deni Lijo, a Belleville High senior, wished to join the Key Club, a club similar to the GSO except that its members are all boys. Deni was not allowed to join because of her sex, and so decided to form a club that functioned much the same way as the Key Club, except its members would be female.

Current officers of the GSO are Donna Berrigan, president; Lori Giordano, vice president; Joan Metzger, secretary, and Diane Giansanti, treasurer.

STUDENT REPORTER

Lower drinking age?

By DANA HAHN

QUESTION: Should the drinking age be lowered by law? (Note: The names of the students interviewed have been withheld because of the sensitivity of the subject matter.)

D.R., Junior: No I don't think it should be lowered. There are a lot of accidents due to drunk drivers and we don't need any more.

P.R., Junior: Yes, I think it should be lowered, real low. Everybody at any age should be able to do whatever they want to do as far as drinking is concerned.

M.T., Freshman: Yes, because most people get someone older than themselves to get it for them, so why not just let the kids all get it if they want to?

B.L., Senior: I used to think so, but now I think it can really cause damage after a long period of time. If people start drinking at a later age, then it will take more time to damage whatever it damages.

B.H. (5th grade): Yes, at age 14 or maybe age 10, so I can drink too.

P.L., Sophomore: I think it should be raised, if anything at all. I hate to see girls or women drunk, and I really hate it when a woman who is pregnant drinks because then she is possibly damaging a life that isn't even her own to damage.

L.T., Junior: Yes, I really think so. Everyone says that when you turn 16 you're no longer a kid, so you should be able to drink like an adult too. J.T., Senior: I don't usually get too stoned, because I really hate the hangovers that follow, and half the time I get sick after drinking a lot. I don't think it's worth it, so they can keep the age where it is.

S.G., Sophomore: People make me high, not liquor or drugs. I don't need anything like that to have a good time.

D.A., Sophomore: I'd rather get high on other things, but I drink sometimes, and my older friends get me that stuff and sometimes my older friends get it for me. I'd rather have them do away with alcohol completely...Now that would be great.

Playing the line isn't easy

By FRANK DELLA RIVA

The football team breaks the huddle and comes to the line. The quarterback calls the signals and the ball is snapped. The offensive line backs up and sets up a wall. The battle is on.

The offensive line does anything to keep the defensive from getting at the quarterback, on the other hand the defensive does all it can to get at the quarterback. Seconds have passed, but it seems like hours to the defensive line; finally the quarterback fires one to the end. He turns and runs five yards for the touchdown, the crowd goes wild, the cheerleaders cheer for the end, the team congratulates the quarterback but the offensive line receives no cheers or hand shakes, but they accomplished their goal.

They won the battle in the pit.

The offensive line, one of the toughest positions in sports, is made up of five positions: two guards, two tackles, and a center. Their assignment is to clear holes for the backs, to run through, and also to set up blocking for passing plays.

The Belleville offensive line is coached by, Mr. William Trimmer, a former high school and college lineman, and a graduate of Montclair State. His unsung heroes are Greg Dunleavy at center, Nick Zarra and Bill Kennedy playing at the tackle positions, while Vito Guarino and Mike Cancalleri man the guards.

When asked why he favored playing offensive line to other positions, Greg Dunleavy answered, "Playing on the offensive line you are always in a state of conflict with your opposing players, and mini wars go on between the offensive linemen and the defensive linemen. But being on the offensive line, you know what your assignment is, that's more than what the defensive line knows. But then comes the hard part of carrying the assignment out to precision."

OPINION

Remember meaning of Thanksgiving Day

By LISA CERAMI

In recent years in the United States, holidays have become increasingly commercial.

These holidays are often measured by the value of the gifts that are exchanged rather than the value inside our hearts.

On Thanksgiving Day, how many people really think about the true meaning of this day? Most people think "What will I wear?" or "When will we eat?" or "What time does the football game start?"

As we look back in history, we find that Thanksgiving Day became a national holiday in the United States commemorating the successful harvest reaped by the Plymouth Colony in 1621, after a winter of starvation and great privation. Governor William Bradford in that same year proclaimed a day of thanksgiving and this feast was shared by the colonists as well as the neighboring Indians. After the American Revolution, the first national Thanksgiving Day was on November 26, 1789, which was proclaimed by President George Washington.

In comparing the present celebration to the original one, our reasons don't turn out to be exactly the same. The reason for this day was to give thanks for what the Puritans received after a long winter of hardship and starvation. But what are our reasons?

Recipe for happy holidays: 1.) disconnect the television; 2.) make plenty to eat, so that no one will move from the table; 3.) think of the things we have to be grateful for, including the little and unimportant things.

THE CRITIC'S CORNER

Things are still rotten

By SAL TAIBI

"When Things Were Rotten" is a new television sit. comm., a comedy genius. However, no one is perfect.

Mr. Brooks has to his credit such successes as "Young Frankenstein," "Blazing Saddles," and "Get Smart." One might think he should know better.

"When Things Were Rotten" is a comical account of the adventures of Robin Hood. Robin, played by Dick Gautier, and the rest of the cast are as unbelievable as the plots.

In one episode, for example, a professor sells the evil sheriff a giant gun that is capable of wiping out Sherwood Forest. However the professor is out-witted by Robin Hood and is shot out of his own gun.

If this is hard to take, try still another episode. This time woodcutters are hired to chop down Sherwood Forest. They almost succeed until Robin and his men convince them that the forest is haunted.

Had enough? Unfortunately, all of the plots deal with destroying Sherwood Forest and not the show.

Perhaps the show would be funnier if the actors played their roles straight. Instead, they use such obvious slap-stick techniques as winking into the camera. Nothing could improve this how now, and it will probably not make it past January.

PERSONALITY PLUS

He's a film 'Wiz'

By JOANNE SANTIGLIA

"The Wizard of Oz" is back once again only this time not on Broadway but right in Belleville High School. Michael Falzarano, a Sophomore has produced, directed as well as acted in an amateur remake of the 1939 MGM musical, "The Wizard of Oz."

Michael originally showed the film to his English class, Mrs. Fulcoli's period 7/8 class. Michael explained that most of the filming was done in East Patchogue, Long Island, where he vacations in the summer. The famous "Munchkinland Scene" was filmed in Belleville.

The shooting time took from April to August of 1975. When asked what the cost was, Michael said, "I would estimate it at a hundred and some odd dollars. A considerably low budget, as I didn't pay the actors."

Michael has had a movie camera since the sixth grade and is interested in photography. He likes the idea of getting a job with Eastman Kodak, as he feels that film making is a very difficult field for a career.

Super 8 film was used for the shooting and the sound recorded on a tape cassette played along with the film. The costumes were lined up in advance, then Michael would decide what scene the crew would shoot the next day. Sometimes the cast would have to do the filming cold, because of lack of time to rehearse.

This especially applies to Michael who had his filming and producing duties, plus playing the role of the Cowardly Lion. After dressing and applying makeup, the entire crew would walk over to the location carrying their equipment and begin to shoot.

When asked his reasons for filming "The Wizard," Michael said, "I have always loved the story and I originally started a play versions when I was in the third grade. I tried again in the fourth and fifth grade. None of them came through, so you see it's been a life-long frustration. It finally came to be on the screen in 1975."

Michael feels that this has proved to be a rewarding experience and hopes to someday make another film that suits his needs and tastes as well as this one has.
