Elected

Matthew Pica (left) and Michael Chieffo were elected the new officers of the School Board Tuesday night. Pica was elected without opposition after Board member Caesar Romano dropped out in protest over what he called a "pre-arranged" selection of the two men. The charge caused some temporary excitement, but it all died down quickly.

Fired up

Sal Calabro jabbed his finger at the crowd Monday, making a point to those who had come to the Citizens Union meeting at the junior high. Calabro got a loud ovation when he suggested the possibility of instituting a recall if the Commissioners failed to cut the town's proposed budget. More than 150 people were at the rally.

Romano charges 'pre-arrangement'

By CHUCK JACKSON

Verbal pyrotechnics highlighted Tuesday's re-organizational meeting of the Belleville Board of Education as one of the nominees for president withdrew his name in protest.

Caesar Romano requested that his name be withdrawn from nomination, saying the election had been "pre-arranged." Romano's move left Matthew Pica unopposed for the spot, and he was elected, 4-0, with two abstentions and Romano refusing to take part in the process.

Board member Michael Chieffo was elected to the vice-presidency on the Board, also without opposition and also by a 4-0 vote. Romano once again refused to take part.

The election of the officers was the first item on the Board agenda, and proved to be the hottest. Pica's nomination was entered by Mrs. Viola Spray, with Chieffo seconding. Romano was nominated by member Lawrence Schwarz and seconded by James Risoli.

Immediately after his name was placed in nomination, Romano declined, saying, "I decline the nomination because the presidency and the vice presidency have been pre-arranged. Therefore, I respectfully request that my name be withdrawn."

Following the two votes, Pica attempted to heal any wounds that might have been open when he addressed the audience, saying, "I believe this will be the last issue this Board will be divided on."

Pica's attempt to end the matter there failed, however, as one of the spectators present asked him whether or not he had spoken to any of the other Board members prior to the vote.

Pica responded that he had, which drew some comment from Romano. The new Board vice president Chieffo also spoke, saying to Romano, "I'm surprised at this. You know the vote would have gone the same any other way. Cut it out. Caesar, the election is over."

Romano responded to Chieffo and the exchange became somewhat heated as Chieffo asked, "Did you or did you not call me at my home Friday? Did you or did you not ask to speak to me?"

"Yes, I called your home," said Romano, "but I didn't speak to you."

"You're damn right you didn't," Chieffo shot back.

Pica attempted to end the burgeoning argument, saying, "I would like to remind the Board members that they have been elected to represent the people, so you should start acting like adults."

Mahmorian also entered the fray, saying to Romano, "You seem to be implying that something illegal has gone on. If you believe that, I would refer you to the Please see "Pica" on page 14.

Taxes will jump at least 50 points

Belleville's Commissioners have released the formal copy of the town's 1976 proposed budget, indicating local citizens can expect a jump of at least 50 points in local taxes.

While the official tax point increase in the budget now stands at 72, reliable sources say the Commissioners will pare $521,231 from the proposed School Board budget, cutting away 22 tax points in the process.

In dollars and cents, the 50 point tax increase means the owner of a $30,000 home in Belleville can expect his tax bill to go up by $150.

Broken down, the 1976 proposed budget shows $3,585,700 must be raised for municipal operations; $5,358,170 for county taxes; $1,138,950 for uncollected tax reserve and at present $7,353,182 for local school use.

Added together, the figures present an increase of $1,809,388 in money that must be raised by taxes.

Municipal operations led the way in raising the taxes, forcing a 28 point jump. Without being cut, the school budget follows (22), and then county taxes with a 20 point hop.

Of Belleville's five individual municipal departments, two decreased spending — Public Works and Revenue and Finance — while the other three increased.

The Public Safety department was at the top of the list, increasing its budget by $246,069. The Parks and Public Property budget increased $214,011, and Public

Union hints at recall

The Belleville Citizens Union may have thrown the gauntlet at the feet of the town Commissioners this week, when a spokesman for the group brought up the subject of recall.

More than 150 people attended the meeting Monday night at the junior high school, called to build support for the fledgling organization. Several town officials were also present, including Commissioner Mary Senatore and several members of the Board of Education.

The assembled citizens gave Sal Calabro, an advisor to the union, a roaring ovation when he said, "I recommend very strongly that we look at all our Commissioners, and if their departments are inefficient, we should remove them."

Calabro went on to say the citizens had a right to recall their officials because "we are their employers. If they aren't doing the job properly, we have a right to fire them."

The people present seemed to support the Bellevilleite's ideas, and cheered when he said, "With the number of people we have right here in this room, we could get enough signatures for a recall in only one or two weeks, and 120 days later, the Commissioners won't be sitting where they are."

While he seemed to be threatening the Commission with their removal from office, Calabro said he did not wish to go that far. He said he hoped they would reduce spending voluntarily. He also expressed pleasure at Commissioner Senatore's presence, saying, "Mrs. Senatore has proved she cares by coming here tonight."

The Citizens Union was also addressed by Ralph Fucetola, an attorney in North Arlington and director of the Federation of New Jersey Taxpayers, an organization comprised of several groups similar to the local union.

Fucetola spoke for about a half hour, directing most of his remarks towards resistance to state taxes. He urged the people to exert pressure on their state representatives, and extended an invitation to join the federation to the Citizens Union.

While most of the meeting went smoothly, there was an obvious split among those present regarding the best course of action for the group.

An announcement

The newsstand price of the Belleville Times/News, will rise to 25 cents next Thursday, and regular subscription rates will increase to $8.00 per year. Subscription prices for senior citizens will not change at this time.

The increases are necessitated by production costs, most notably higher rates for postage and record prices for newsprint.

At one point, when the floor was thrown open for questions, a man began shouting, asking why any politicians were invited to the meeting. He was quickly shouted down by several others including Joseph Grande, chairman of Belleville's Planning Board.

The group also appointed a committee to read over the proposed budget in an effort to find any "fat" which could be cut out. Union president Jerry Nofrio called for volunteers, but several people had to be "appointed" before the full compliment of five was made.

The committee members are George Mitchell, the first volunteer, Chris Albanese, John Caprio, Louise Michele, and Vincent Vecchione.

Elks honor Fink

Walter Fink, Past Exalted Ruler of Belleville Lodge 1123, B.P.O. Elks, will be honored as "Elk of the Year" at a dinner-dance which will be held at the lodge home, 254 Washington Avenue, tomorrow, March 26.

Fink, who celebrated his 70th birthday recently, was acclaimed one of the most conscientious and active members of the lodge for the past 28 years, according to Elks Exalted Ruler, Raymond MacDonald.

Declaring that he will be an active member for many more years to come, Fink has served the lodge as both exalted ruler and trustee, and at present is chairman of the Crippled Children's Committee and a member of the convention committee for 1976 for the local group. In addition, he is chairman of the New Jersey State Credential Committee.

The lodge has also announced it has unanimously endorsed August

Mitschke for the office of vice president of the North Central Elks District.

Exalted Ruler MacDonald sent an official announcement of the endorsement to all district lodges.

Mitschke, a member of the Elks since 1967, has served in various offices including Exalted Ruler of the Belleville lodge. He has been a trustee since 1970 and became chairman of the lodge in 1971, a post he now holds.

In another announcement, MacDonald said the New Jersey State committee meeting is set for Sunday, April 25, at Woodbridge Lodge 2116.

Cavalcade booths are still available

Belleville High School will be the site of the Chamber of Commerce's fifth Cavalcade of Progress, April 21-22.

The event will provide Belleville businesses and industries with the opportunity to display their products and give local residents a look at the behind the scenes operations.

There will be at least 35 booths set up in the high school gymnasium, each stall manned by a different business.

According to a Chamber spokesman, "The Cavalcade of Progress will again develop more pride in our community."

The last such event was held in 1971, and according to Chamber executive director Harry French, it was a tremendous success.

There are still some booths available, said French, and local businesses interested in participating can call the Chamber office at 759-4840.

Scouts plan trip to Howe Caverns

Elk Troop 364, Boy Scouts of America, have recently viewed the film "Grizzly Adams," and attended both the "Magic Show" and "Ice Capades," in New York City. They were accompanied on their trips by Scout Master Lawrence Dempsey and Assistant Scout Master Steve Rizzo.

Future plans call for a trip to Howe Caverns.

Active members of Troop 364 include Anthony Lee, John Morella, Robert, James and Malcolm Graham, Thomas Valenti, Thomas Durrand Chris Marinelli.

The group meets every Thursday at 7 p.m. at the Belleville Elks Lodge, 254 Washington Avenue.

Kiwanis committee chosen

President Neil Fitzpatrick of the Branch Brook-Belleville Kiwanis Club, with Thomas Jameson acting as chairman, appointed new members for the officers nominating committee. They are Jack Weidlich, Frank Pitt, Sigmund Swiderski, Steve H. Frank, and Jameson.

Harvey Gardner, chairman of the Pancake Breakfast committee, has announced that the breakfast will be held Sunday, April 25 at Parrillo's Restaurant. Tickets are priced at $2 per adult, and $1 per child. In recent past event, Neil Fitzpatrick, Thomas Jameson, Sigmund Swiderski and Steve H. Frank were in attendance at a luncheon meeting at the East Orange Club.

Upcoming events include the Official Governor visit, which will take place Thursday, March 25 at a luncheon-meeting at the Maplewood Country Club; the International Convention, which is set for June 20 to 23 in San Diego, Calif., and the New Jersey State Convention which is scheduled to be held at Great Gorge from September 10 to 12.

Dinner for Wische planned

Upon hearing of Herman "Jitty" Wische's intention to retire, many of his friends have organized a committee to hold a testimonial dinner in his honor on Thursday, May 6, at the Chandelier Restaurant.

Joseph Grosch, principal of School Nine, has been working with other citizens to put together the program for the dinner. According to Grosch, Monsignor Thomas Fahy and Jerry Malloy will be guest speakers at the affair.

Committee assignments have been given to Tom Apicella, Jerry Bonavita, Tom Testa, Herman Knuppel, Rocco Cafone, Hugh Kittle, Vic Pasquariello, Bob Kennedy, Grosch, Ralph Casale, Jim Donohue, Sy Grossman, Mario DiMaggio and Nick Petti.

Jean Tremel and Ann DiRuggerio are taking care of the secretarial duties for the committee, Grosch said.

Information on reservations for this affair may be obtained by contacting Sy Grossman at the Board of Education office, 751-7242.

Charity auction coming soon

Bellevilleites Nancy and Frank Petite, 53 Nolton Street are working to sell tickets for the April 25 Chinese Auction set at St. Barnabas Hospital. Proceeds for the event will go to the National Foundation for Ileitis and Colitis.

Tickets for the event, which will be held at 2 p.m. in the hospital auditorium, Old Short Hills Road, Livingston, are $2.50 and the money is tax deductible.

Anyone wishing to purchase tickets or further information should call the Petites at 759-4175 or Mildred Catalano at 759-5595.

Congregation sets dinner-dance

Congregation Ahavath Achim will hold its 53rd annual dinner-dance Sunday, May 16, Irving Berkowitz, president of the Congregation has announced.

Mr. and Mrs. David Schreier will be honored at the affair. Mrs. Schreier is a past president of the Sisterhood of Congregation Ahavath Achim.

Berkowitz said an ad journal will be published in conjunction with the dinner-dance and issued to the guests.

Mrs. Irving Berkowitz is chairman of the event, Mrs. William Taffet is arrangements chairman, Mrs. Seymour Fersko and Mrs. Joseph Berhowitz are in charge of reservations.

Mrs. David Schreier is chairman of the ad journal and Mrs. Henry Creditor is in charge of special pages and publicity.

For more information, call Mrs. Creditor at 759-4384.

Class of '51 sought

A re-union for the 1951 class of Central High School, Newark is being planned for June 19, and Mrs. Ellen Chapman (nee Saiauskis) is trying to get in touch with the former students.

Since some of the grads may now live in Belleville, the Central High people are canvassing this area in order to let everyone have an opportunity to come.

For further information, please contact Mrs. Chapman, 676 Thoreau Terrace, Union, telephone 687-0427 or Cillistrino Novellino, 101 Walton Avenue, Union, telephone 687-3129.

New Snow Queen is Holy Family girl

Terry Genardi, a Nutley High School sophomore who represented the Holy Family CYO in Nutley, was crowned last weekend as the Essex County CYO's 1976 Snow Queen.

Miss Genardi, a member of her CYO Advisory Board and sophomore class president at Nutley High, was crowned at the annual Snowball Cotillion, which was held at the Friar Tuck Inn in Cedar Grove.

The Nutley lass outpointed four other teenage Queen contestants in judging that was based upon an essay they submitted, interviews, letters of recommendation from parish moderators, tickets sold and questions asked of the candidates at the Cotillion.

Archbishop Joseph A. Costello, Archdiocesan CYO Director, Rev. Edward Hajduk and County Director Rev. Peter Cutillo were on hand to crown the new queen, along with the 1976 queen, Pam D'Amico of St. James in Newark.

Terry, who enjoys playing the guitar, chess, writing poetry, building models and all outdoor sports, competed against Mary Neill of Notre Dame, North Caldwell; Susan San Giacomo of St. James, Newark; Denise Luongo of St. Peter's, Belleville and Robin D'Agostino of Our Lady of Lourdes, West Orange.

State MV stations closed April 16-17

Director John A. Waddington has announced all State Motor Vehicle Inspection Stations will be closed Friday and Saturday, April 16 and 17, 1976, due to the Easter holiday. Motor Vehicle Agencies, which are not open on Saturdays, will be closed on Good Friday.

Chamber plans after-hours sale

Members of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce have announced plans for a late night sale, March 25.

Shoppers who would like to search out big bargains in the evening hours will have an opportunity to visit several stores on Washington Avenue from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m.

The participating stores, eight in all, will close their doors at 5 p.m. so they can make mark-downs and set up featured sale items before reopening two hours later.

John Tanko, owner of Belleville Shoes, is in charge of the sales promotion committee set up by the chamber, and has readied everything for the event.

The following merchants will take part in the Late Hour Sale: Belleville Shoes, Louaires Men's Store, the Shoe Castle, Karl's Sales and Service Company, Joseph's Men's Store, the Terry Shpps, National Shoes, Mae Moon and the County Discount Store.

Tri-Town ladies group plays history games

Members of the Tri-Town Business and Professional Women's Club of Belleville, Bloomfield and Nutley, N.J. Incorporated have been celebrating the Nation's Bicentennial with their own Tri-Minute program at the regular monthly meetings.

Under the guidance of Alice Fleming of Rutherford, clues are presented at each meeting for Tri-Town members to identify from their knowledge of our colonial history. There have been limericks, riddles, tableaux, and multiple choices. For the most part, the clues have referred to women, although colonial events have also been used.

At their September meeting, Eleanor Storer of Nutley made a very authentic Betsy Ross. Miss Storer was joined by Bloomfield members - Gwen Strubel, Mildred Spatz, Hazel White along with Eleanor Bischof of Nutley, Barbara Commerford of Glen Ridge and Fay

Williamson of Belleville in a stirring November-Thanksgiving tableau.

They depicted such colonial women as Priscilla Alden, the first Mrs. Miles Standish, and Anne Hutchinson, gathered around the first Thanksgiving table.

Prizes in the form of Bicentennial Commemorative Stamps and Bicentennial quarters have been awarded to those members who were most successful in identifying the clues. To date, ten quarters and eighty-seven stamps have been awarded.

Tri-Town Business and Professional Women's Club of Belleville, Bloomfield and Nutley, N.J. Incorporated meets every fourth Thursday in the Park Methodist Church in Bloomfield. The club is open to all women actively engaged in business or the professions. For more information contact the Membership Chairman, Miss Mary P. Desmond, 524 Union Ave., Belleville.

Paolino honored by Prudential

Michael Paolino

Michael J. Paolino, formerly of Belleville, a sales representative with Prudential Insurance Company's Miller, Sundstrom Associates agency in Springfield, sold more than $1 million of insurance during 1975.

Paolino, who now lives in Nutley with his wife Audrey and three children, joined Prudential in 1969 and has earned a number of awards for excellence. An Army veteran, he attended New York Technical Institute.

Paolino is past president of the Nutley Jaycees, is vice chairman of the Jaycees Scholarship Foundation, and serves as a volunteer with many local charitable groups, including the United Way.

In 1966, he was presented with the Nutley Jaycees District Service Award; was made a lifetime member of the organization in 1971, and was awarded the Junior Chamber International Senatorship in 1975.

DeWitt gives vests

DeWitt Savings and Loan, Washington Avenue, has donated 30 new safety patrol vests to Belleville School Number Three to replace those destroyed in the January fire there.

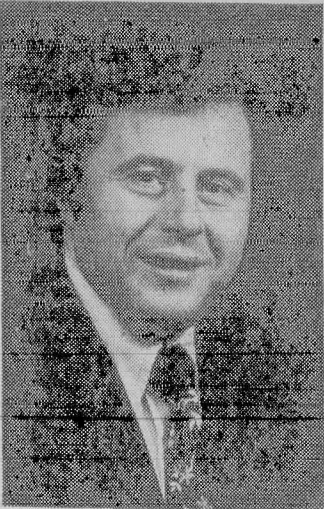

Robert M. Williams, president of DeWitt, said the Board of Directors of the association approved the gift in the interest of continued safety and protection for the children now and in the future.

The new safety patrol vests can be seen at great distances because of their high reflectivity and visibility, alerting motorists well in advance of situations involving children at busy crossings.

The vests, according to Williams, feature "smartly styled fluorescent orange slipover with elasticized sides.

Since the children of School Three are now attending School Seven on split sessions, the vests will be helpful during times when driver visibility is at its worst.

Weddy Tramutola

Tramutola is promoted

Weddy Tramutola, DeWitt Avenue, Belleville, has been appointed General Sales Manager of Pasquin Ford Motor Sales Incorporated, 55 Route 17, Rutherford.

Tramutola, who joined the company in 1968, as a salesman, was a used car manager at Pasquin prior to his appointment. He has been a member of prestigious "500 Club" every year since 1960.

Pasquin Ford has a new, used car and truck sales staff of over 20, which is under the guidance of Tramutola, and the company is recognized as one of the largest automotive centers in the east.

Located at the intersection of Routes 17 and 3 in the heart of the expanding Meadowlands Sports Complex, Pasquin Ford has grown for three generations and is now recognized as one of the leading auto dealerships in the world, a spokesman for the company said.

Jackson attends seminar with son

Arthur Jackson, owner of Jolly Cleaners, 300 Washington Avenue, and his son, Bruce, Manager and Vice President of the twenty-year old firm, recently returned from a two-day seminar in Cleveland, Ohio, where they became licensed to sell a new drapery cleaning process, Mastercare.

Mastercare is an innovative process whereby cleaning of drapes where they hang may be done on the premises of any establishment. At the same time, the drapes may be flameproofed, which is an essential element in any public meeting place. The chemical propensity of Mastercare has met the most stringent state fire laws, California Code 76.

Jolly Cleaners started as a garment cleaning firm in 1955. Both Jackson and his son have received technical training at the International Fabricare Institute of which they are members. In 1970, Jolly added a new drapery cleaning service, Adjust-A-Drape, a 12-1/2' high machine which guarantees exact length, even hemline and offers perfect alignment in the decorator fold of drapes.

Jackson said: "In my forty years as a dry-cleaning technician, never has so innovative a service been offered as Mastercare." The Mastercare process of cleaning drapes where they hang offers a time-saving propensity for public establishments, as well as homeowners.

Arthur Jackson was Charter President of The Belleville Chamber of Commerce and still finds time to serve as a member of the North Caldwell Boy Scout Committee where he served as Scoutmaster for ten years.

Sunshine Shenanigans

The Sunshine Law has been in effect for nearly eight weeks and an upcoming Times/News report soon will examine the statute's application by Belleville governmental units.

The editorial staff of the Times/News this month spent an evening with the author of the Sunshine Law, Assemblyman Byron M. Baer, and Deputy Attorney General Robert Raymar. Both were interested in how the Sunshine Law was working at the grass-roots level. Major areas of concern were Board of Education "executive sessions," the overall area of "personnel" as being a legitimate one to be discussed behind closed doors and the effects of Sunshine upon Zoning Board of Adjustment and Planning Board proceedings.

At some point soon, the N. J. Assemblyman envisions, with the aid of the local press, some "test cases" to cease flagrant violations of the Open Public Meetings Act.

Although specific mention was made of various Belleville boards, Assemblyman Baer and Deputy Attorney General Raymar urged the Times/News to continue its protective role over the Sunshine Law, but not to participate in any legal steps designed to censure municipal government units.

"We believe the law is a good one, is working well and needs more time in practice before we start suggesting any specific revisions, or before we initiate any specific legal action to correct obvious violations," the author of the Sunshine Bill told our staff.

The cancellation of a Belleville Board of Education meeting clarified as one part of the teacher pay negotiations, is a good case in point. The Times/News learned of the meeting by accident. The School Board did in fact call a meeting without advance notification as required, but did so because the area of contract negotiations is one which is permitted to be discussed in private. Yet, without notification to the public and in this case, to the press the citizens would be deprived of even the basic knowledge that contract negotiations were taking place.

The Belleville Board acted properly in cancelling the meeting. Although some trustees may believe a technicality was stretched, the bothersome effort of rescheduling another session will be avoided in the future simply because School Board officials learned a little more about Sunshine last week, and the way the Open Meetings Act was designed to function. The day will come soon, we hope, when both municipal boards and the New Jersey press will come to understand the concept of the Sunshine Law more automatically.

In the meantime, we at the Times/News shall continue to cautiously watch the application (and the lack of application) of Sunshine by local government agencies. It is not our intention to disrupt municipal proceedings by bringing apparent violations of the Open Meetings Act to the attention of local officials. Our goal is to help promote understanding and assist in having some of the still hazy provisions better defined.

Hopefully, in the not too distant future, the presence of Sunshine will not detract from the efficiency of government, as is presently the case, but will heighten public interest and understanding as was the intention of Assemblyman Baer when he authored the Open Meetings Act.

Image problem

The Belleville Board of Education elected officers this week, and unfortunately for the Board's image, what should have been a routine procedure turned into a distasteful show put on before the public.

The School Board is supposedly a non-partisan body, the sole purpose of which is to serve the community and especially the children. The members made it painfully obvious Tuesday that what should be is not always what is.

The Board of Education is charged with seeing that the children of this community get a proper education, and therefore it is interesting to note that virtually, the first act of the new Board president was to remind his comrades of that responsibility and ask them to "act like adults."

Outbursts such as occurred at the reorganizational meeting serve no constructive purpose. The fighting parties succeed in doing nothing more than making themselves and their fellow Board members look petty, and childish.

It should not be necessary for the president of the Board to remind the members of their duty. We think they should realize there are more important things than empty titles.

Letters

Saletta cheered, paper booed

To the Editor:

This letter is written by three laid-off Newark Police Officers who are currently employed by the town of Belleville.

We find it necessary to send this letter since the Belleville Times/News continues to neglect the accomplishments of the Belleville police department, especially those of Rocco Saletta, Commissioner of Public Safety.

Certainly, the Commissioner is aware of our appreciation for his courage to employ laid-off officers, while we know of only a few municipalities to do the same. The people of Belleville should be made aware that Mr. Saletta's decision has not only provided the town with the added police protection it needs (at a time when it is impossible to obtain additional experienced men due to the lag in testing on the Civil Service Commission's part), but has done so at an estimated $10,000 savings. This figure represents the cost of training the police officers and paying their salaries during the training period.

But even when the facts have been presented, the Belleville Times/News has taken an irresponsible attitude toward police work in Belleville, and considers such items as the theft of "little Johnny's" bicycle as newsworthy.

In our opinion, the newspaper is obligated to inform the public of the criminal element which exists in Belleville and which has only been kept in check thanks to an aggressive patrol division and an effective detective bureau.

Only after living and working in a city such as Newark can you realize the vast difference in police service. In Newark, a radio car may arrive at the scene of a crime after 20 minutes. In Belleville, all calls are answered in a minute or two. Credit should be given when credit is deserved.

Golden Comments

By James R. Golden

Gee! How disillusioning it was to learn from the guys who put together this "rag" that I ain't too popular with the people at Town Hall. Now isn't that just a shame.

Can you imagine how few of you good people who read this column would take the time to browse over my feeble efforts to apprise you of what I feel about the goings-on at town hall in what is supposed to be Beautiful Village, if I didn't let you in on the behind the scenes happenings at that musty old manse? Damn few, I guess.

Despite all that bunk about "Sunshine" laws and what not, the in-crowd at the citadel of our town's government just don't like any exposure to their politically surreptitious secrets — that's for sure, as any popularity poll will show, but there are more of you than of them and I prefer the crowd.

By his own admission, cagey "Jack-the-Ripper" took credit for Mr. Risoli's defeat in the School Board Election. Obviously, getting other candidates of the same ethnic strains to run split the Italian vote and cost both the town and Mr. Risoli the opportunity to best serve our people. Truly, politics is a rotten game.

While the "stand-up" guy may, with conviction, stoutly proclaim flattery will get you nowhere, it just don't seem to work out in our town's politics. A lot of townfolks felt they had a good spokesman and potential leader to bring the crown at town hall, to task for their costly running of our town, only to now suspect that flattery brought the guy into the politicians' club. Maybe a big build-up was only a ploy to get him off their backs.

The town's stand-up leaders that are immune to the soft-soap treatment that may have eliminated this potential helmsman from consideration for this vital role.

Budget time is around again and are we going to get wacked hard. Even worse than before. So what else is new? Don't we always take it on the chin from our popular town politicians who make so many happy by big salary increases for those of their supporters on the town pad and their grateful relatives, who find it so convenient and profitable to work at cushy, soft town jobs? Some of these jobs need to be questioned.

When the budget is published in the local paper, look for those deferred charges caused by Commissioner Saletta's re-opening the salary raises for his charges after election. It was an unwise and futile effort to win favor of a few at the expense of so many taxpayers.

Watch also for the stupid provision in the police and fire employee contract that would permit unlimited, full pay for sick time that could ruin the town. We can hardly continue to suffer from such insane, costly and stupid leadership at town hall which will burden us with expenses no other town has to put up with.

Another point to consider is that within five days after the publication of the budget, notification must be forwarded to the Town Clerk that anyone desiring to examine the departmental worksheets requests that privilege. Otherwise, this important detail may be denied our citizens.

Those on our Board of Commissioners might better look into who is doing the hiring of professional service people for the town. It's their job, not anyone else's. By the same token, maybe they should also check up on whether or not there is any abuse of town employees — such as being exploited to do unauthorized clerical work beyond their call of duty as a town worker.

The town pays them to serve only one master — the people — no one else. Perhaps they should talk it over with the Town Attorney, he should know the answers.

THE STATE WE'RE IN

Factories replace farmland

By DAVID F. MOORE

Farmland is such a familiar sight to most of us that we tend to take it for granted here in this state we're in. But if any of us stops to think, he or she will realize that it's been disappearing right before our eyes.

Where there used to be a pasture or grain field, now there's a research center, factory or, more likely, a burgeoning crop of split-levels. One thing they aren't making any more of in New Jersey is land, be it for farming or any other purpose.

It happens that farmland in this crowded state is valuable to us all for a lot more than farming, although that's vital to our welfare. Farmland is open space. It's also the land which stores our drinking and industrial water supplies. And by its very presence, farmland dictates that air pollution is less heavy than it would be otherwise.

Most folks agree that farmland should be saved, but it's not that easy to do. Land is already so precious in New Jersey that a farmer, no matter how much he wants to keep on farming, knows that he can sell it all to speculators at a high enough price to retire to Florida any time he pleases. Who can blame him? The capital value of the land is such that crops yield a low return on investment.

The trick is to do something which will make it worth while to the farmer to keep on farming. A lot of people are thinking about this, and Assemblyman George H. Barbour may have at least part of the answer in his bill, A-1334, which would appropriate $5-million from the Green Acres program money to fund a pilot program of state purchase of development easements on agricultural lands.

Entering a statement for the New Jersey Conservation Foundation at a recent hearing on that bill before the Assembly Committee on Agriculture and Environment, I said the Foundation supports the idea of preserving farmland through easement purchases, and also using Green Acres money for that on an experimental basis.

Over and above that, I urged that the state take advantage of the private, land-saving groups such as the Foundation, The Nature Conservancy or Trust for Public Land, all of which are experts in land acquisition and open space preservation techniques which benefit the public. The basic idea of the bill, of course, is to keep the land in agricultural use, with the farmer getting money for that proviso.

I urged also that a project plan be made public so that landowners could receive tax advantages to which they are entitled, and that land-use controls be instituted in the project area municipalities. This would assure fair market values for lands on which building should be restricted for reasons of public health, safety and welfare. Such controls should be instituted in any case.

Finally, it's my belief that farmland is needed so much in New Jersey, and is getting into such short supply, that the legislators might well consider more drastic steps.

What comes to mind in that connection is the example set by England and Switzerland, wherein strict land-use controls make it certain that agriculture be retained in certain areas in the interest of the general health and welfare.

There's not much time left. Or land either.

PLAYHOUSE REVIEW

'Fantasticks' performances are fantastic

By Jane Wittman

An excellent production of "The Fantasticks" premiered over the weekend at the Family Playhouse on Brookline Avenue. Although the play has never been a particular favorite of this writer's, the show is thoroughly enjoyable from start to finish.

Highlighting "The Fantasticks" is Playhouse veteran Dan Drew who played Jesus in the theater's recent production of "Godspell" which was held over for several weeks by popular demand. Drew, in the roles of the Narrator and El Gallo, has a beautiful voice that's well trained. Of all the actors in the show, he has the most poise and every move is well-planned and executed.

His performance Sunday afternoon before a sparse audience was flawless and equal to many professionals. It's difficult to pinpoint the strongest number in the show. Since "Try to Remember" is by far the most memorable piece in "The Fantasticks," it's safe to cite that as the best.

The rest of the cast deserves rave reviews also. Even with Drew's shining performance, the other eight are outstanding. The show is extremely consistent with nary a sour note. There are a few dry spots but that's the fault of the show. Debi Nanni is adorable as the Girl. She has a pleasing voice that's surprisingly strong and a cute face with interesting expressions.

Ernie Simento in the role of the Boy, gives a strong performance and again, his singing voice is excellent. The strongest parts of the boy's role are during the second act and Simento handles them well.

THE REST OF the cast, Steve Eltringham, Bob Molloy, Sal Piro and Bill Yates, do an admirable job and never miss a step in the fast-moving numbers. Aside from Drew, the most charming performance is turned in by Sharon Zander as the mute. A school teacher from East Orange, Miss Zander shows her acting expertise in a difficult role. As a mute, obviously she never utters a word, but her movements and facial expressions are beautiful.

Miss Zander is always in the right place at the right time and though it's difficult to explain, she makes an unobtrusive role come alive. Every movement is like a dance step and her pantomime shows her to be in complete control throughout the production.

Although I question the choice of "The Fantasticks" for the Family Playhouse simply because it is so frequently produced, director Mike Chelik has a lot of previous "Fantastick" productions under his belt as an actor. His staging is well done and his instructions to the cast have been well taken. The choreography moves at a steady pace and the show rarely slackens.

The costumes are a bit tacky but the show isn't supposed to be flashy. The set is the barest imaginable with a large box, a few benches and chairs and a ladder as the sole adornments on the stage.

The lighting is excellent and compliments the changing moods of the play. The timing is perfect and the special effects on the ladder and the moonlight are flattering. There's nothing harsh or annoying about the lighting and that's half the battle as far as a technical point of view is concerned.

Carol Gahart on keyboards is very good though the music occasionally drowns out the actors. The use of the celesta, which she also plays, adds a pleasant touch and enhances the music considerably.

As a play, "The Fantasticks" is not a particularly good one. It's certainly popular and has been running off-Broadway for quite some time but there's something vital missing. With the exception of "Try to Remember" most of the numbers are forgettable even as they're being sung.

The dialogue is generally insipid and the storyline isn't very good either. There are funny moments and it's to the actors' credit they are able to cash in on the better scenes. Lesser actors would have made a shambles of the show.

I'd recommend going to "The Fantasticks" tomorrow or over the weekend just for the talented performances turned in. It's a pleasant, simple show that kids would probably enjoy as much as adults. Children may not understand the whole thing but "The Fantasticks" is not designed to puzzle philosophers or confuse theater-goers. It's just nice to watch.

Pagano and Rich Ariza. I tried to reach the fellows by phone over the weekend, without success.

The letter alleges that I am among those responsible for education cuts — Nothing could be further from the truth. I am surprised that college students who are supposed to know what is going on — especially when they are affected — could be so misinformed.

For their information, it was Governor Byrne and the Administration who made the cuts — not the Legislature.

I hope their thinking is not indicative of the lack of knowledge among Rutgers College students.

Actor's complaint officially rebutted

To the Editor:

In a letter to the editor recently (February 19), Donna Iacobelli took issue with Mayor Michael Marotti regarding a place for a drama workshop. The article fell somewhat short of presenting a true picture of events.

In response to the request for help by the group interested in the workshop, the mayor went personally with them to the stadium and to the Recreation House to see if either of these facilities could satisfy their needs. They rejected the stadium and present uses of the Recreation House rendered it nearly impossible for use. They were told they could hold registration at the Friendly House and that they could meet there temporarily, but that this facility was basically a gymnasium and would soon be fully scheduled as such.

I spoke with the group at considerable length when they were at the Friendly House. I told them that in my opinion, the town owned no facility suitable for their needs, pointing out the need to set up props, lights, settings, etc., and being able to leave them in place.

I told them that I would pursue other possibilities for them, such as churches or a veterans' hall.

In this vein, the mayor spoke to the pastor of one of our churches. The pastor indicated his willingness to help. I set up a meeting between the pastor and one of the group members. When the lady was unable to make the meeting, I arranged that she should call the pastor directly to set a mutually convenient time.

She did not make the call, hence, the project was left hanging in limbo — not by me or the mayor, but by a member of the group that is complaining.

Both the mayor and I would like very much to see a theatrical program in Belleville, possibly under the Recreation Department, but there are very specific needs for the program which, if unfulfilled, would spell the doom of the program at the start.

The fact that an enthusiastic group has petitioned for facilities is not mandatory upon the taxpayers of the community. We could get petitions for all sorts of outlandish things. Rather, since this is a most worthy project, it will serve all purposes better if we patiently explore all possibilities together.

Musician counters 'Roller' fans' letter

To The Editor:

Since several weeks ago when Bruce Morrow had an opinion of his published in your paper, there has been a great deal of backlash from Bay City Roller fans.

As a member of the Belleville band, chorus and orchestra, I feel these fans have acted without thinking. In reply to the recent letter sent in by Bay City Roller fans, I have to say:

1. You have no reason to tell Mr. Morrow to go someplace with his article, because he is only doing his job.

2. He is paid to make commentaries that are good and/or bad on groups.

3. How do you know they are "so nice" or that Mr. Morrow is so mean. You have probably never met either him or the Bay City Rollers.

4. Little girls like you compare your opinions on music to Bruce Morrow's? Ha! How can you argue about something on which you have no facts?

Mr. Morrow is a professional disc jockey, originally from "teenybopper" WABC and is now with WNBC.

5. Because there are two million tools in the world doesn't tell me the Bay City Rollers are good, and it doesn't tell Mr. Morrow that either.

If you want to like them and waste your money on them, go ahead. It is your right to do so. But don't try and tell off a professional like Bruce Morrow, because he is a pro and you are not.

Listen to the Bay City Rollers if you want to. I don't care, whatever turns you on, do it.

He's centennial coordinator

For many, planning just a few days in advance seems an impossible task. Imagine then the Herculean assignment of setting up activities for an entire year. Although the schedule of the St. Mary's Centennial Celebration is not the work of a single individual, local realtor George MacMunn, as committee chairman, is responsible for most of the arrangements.

Finding time for hobbies, other organizations, family, vacations and full time work is even more difficult given a glimpse of MacMunn's busy life. The largest parish social event of the Centennial, an April 24th dinner dance, is next on MacMunn's agenda and working out details is a job he obviously relishes.

"I wouldn't get involved if I didn't think I could handle the extra work," says the chairman. Getting involved is an understatement as MacMunn has set the Centennial Celebration wheels in motion since his election to the position in September. There are 40 others on the committee but the job of coordinating the efforts of such a crowd lies solidly on MacMunn's shoulders.

Born in Tarrytown, N. Y., MacMunn grew up in Newark and is a graduate of Seton Hall University. After receiving a BS in business administration, MacMunn moved to Nutley 18 years ago and took over an insurance and real estate office on Centre Street.

Taking MacMunn's active life right in stride is his wife of 25 years, Maria. Not content to sit at home and catch an occasional glimpse of her busy husband, Mrs. MacMunn pitches in and joins her husband, working in the office and serving as president of the Lions Auxiliary. The couple has a 23-year-old daughter, Maria, a master's candidate at the University of Virginia.

MacMunn recently finished serving as chairman of the Family Service Bureau charity ball and sailed directly into the St. Mary's chairmanship. "Sure my life is busy," explains the Nutley realtor, "but I couldn't stand staying quiet and inactive."

Along with serving in the usher's group at St. Mary's for the past eight years, MacMunn is active in the Nutley Elks Lodge and is a past president of the Board of Realtors for Belleville, Nutley, Bloomfield and Glen Ridge. He's also involved in the Alumni Association at Seton Hall and is on the Board of Directors of the Nutley Lions.

As if his schedule isn't overflowing already, MacMunn says he is planning to reorganize the St. Mary's Theater Guild after the Centennial Celebration is over. The group produces musicals and MacMunn acted in several, including "South Pacific" and "The Pajama Game." He also bowls weekly with the St. Mary's Holy Name Society league and plays volleyball each Wednesday night at Radcliffe School.

Sporting a deep tan from a recent trip to St. Maarten, MacMunn notes the trip was "a nice break for a while." If faced with the prospect of so many activities and details to be worked out, it seems most people would shrug their shoulders and cancel their return trip home and wait in the Caribbean for the new year to roll around.

Chieffo takes tops in balloting

By JODI MASSONE

One year ago

School Board elections were over and in what was considered a race too close to call, Michael D. Chieffo and James Risoli were elected.

The heavier than expected voter turnout gave Chieffo the top position when the balloting was over, and resulted in Chieffo collecting 2,280 votes. Risoli acquired 2061 votes.

Rocco Constantino, considered the only other serious contender, took 1,903 votes of the total 4,416, while the 18 year old school boy, Angelo Guarino posted 940 votes which came as a surprise to many.

The voters voted "no" to both portions of the proposed 1975-76 budget.

It was getting smokey around Belleville High School.

Administrators at the school revealed that students would be allowed to smoke on school grounds beginning the following week.

Under the new plan, students who returned to school a parental consent form would be allowed to smoke in a designated area outside the building. The students would be issued stickers for their I.D. Cards, allowing them to enter the area on their lunch hour, according to Raymond O. Smith, principal of the school.

An added attraction was that students who were eighteen years old, did not need their parents consent, and could sign the form themselves and everything was still legal and binding.

Five years ago

Belleville police were cracking down on kids operating mini-bikes in town.

Chief of Police Joseph Smith said that patrol cars had been instructed to confiscate any mini-bikes found in operation and to issue summonses for motor vehicle operations.

The severe crackdown came after several incidents in which children had been injured on the gas driven vehicles.

Chief Smith did point out that mini-bikes were legal if operated on one's own private property.

A brief thirty minute Town Council meeting cost taxpayers about $1,000 per minute.

Belleville Police and Fire Departments were to reap the benefit of $15,000 annually due to the passage of an ordinance which allowed monetary payment for time beyond their normal work week. The approximate cost of $15,000 was arrived at by computing hours owed to police and fire department members which had totaled about 4,000 hours.

Twenty years ago

Herman "Jitty" Wische, head basketball coach at Belleville High School for 17 years turned in his resignation to the Board of Education.

There had been rumors for several months that the coach wished to retire.

In making his intention official, Wische asked the Board to relieve him of his cage duties only. He wanted to continue on at the school with his teaching.

His resignation was accepted, but with much regret.

A motion to appoint the man as faculty manager of athletics was being recommended by the Board's Athletic Council.

A Belleville youth, who had received training at School Seven and then at Belleville High was honored for the second consecutive year by the Art Students' League of New York City.

Robert Valentino, son of Mrs. Clementina Valentino of 41 Hill Street, was elected to the Board of Control of the League along with other contemporary artists.

Valentino was due to exhibit his works at the Scholastic Art Exhibit sponsored by L. Bamberger and Company at their large store in Newark.

Students consider death

By KEITH ALLUM

Death has always perplexed man since the beginning of recorded history. Dancers performed mysterious rituals to help departed souls enter heaven. Hugh memorials were built to honor the dead. Many religions center on the idea of rebirth or life after death. Man has always been searching for eternal life and the Egyptians thought they might have found it. Today, using artificial means, doctors can keep patients alive long after they usually would have died. In some cases patients have been brought back to life after "dying" on the operating table. Recently, a big issue has been made over euthanasia, or mercy killing. An issue that goes back much farther is the morality of capital punishment.

Death still puzzles man today, however, his attitudes toward euthanasia and his own death have changed considerably within the past two decades. As with many other subjects, death is discussed much more openly. Colleges offer courses on it. It is only recently that anyone would even consider allowing a patient to die painlessly when there is a chance to keep him alive artificially. Today such things as the Quinlan case and living wills are changing that. Certainly, with so much publicity in this area, many people are beginning to ask questions and seriously think about death. This survey was designed to reveal the attitudes people have toward these subjects.

The questions used are listed below along with the results. A wide variety of people answered the questionnaire ranging in ages from 13 to 74. Most of the people are Catholic, many Protestants, and one Jew. After analyzing the results, it was found that religion has very little, if any, bearing on an individual's answers to the questions. Religion will be discussed further later on. Finally the results were divided into categories by sex.

Some of the responses to a few of the questions were predictable; such as with the question dealing with the choice to die. A high percentage was expected. A low percentage could have been predicted for "wanting to know when you will die", and a low percentage was the result. Most of the responses were surprising; all of them were interesting.

Question three asked "Are you afraid of dying"? It would be hard for someone to say how many people would answer yes to this, one prediction was a little over 50%. That was correct for the female group, but only 32% of the males said they were afraid to die. That's nearly a 20% difference. This could mean one of two things. Either girls are more afraid of dying than men, or the men do not want to admit to themselves that they really are afraid.

One assumption is that people are afraid to die is because of the pain involved. The next question asked is "Are you afraid to die violently?" Indeed the percentages increased considerably. Male results rose 14% and female results rose up to 92%, a 42% jump. This was understandable alone, but when compared to the question about enjoying violence and murder, some numbers seemed to match.

When 92% of the girls said they were afraid to die violently, only 21% of them said they enjoyed violence and murder in the movies. The males had 46% who were afraid to die violently and a corresponding 53% of them enjoyed violence and murder. That adds up to 99%. It would seem the ones who watch violence and murder in the movies enjoy it and are not afraid of dying that way. It cannot be assumed that one could accept a violent death by watching enough of them, but there might be a connection of some kind.

The questionnaire asked for the person's personal reason why or why not he fears death. The people who were not afraid to die used the statement, "Everyone has to die sooner or later," as their reasoning, yet a lot of these statements were followed by, "But I hope it's later." People who feared death said they did not want to leave loved ones behind, they were afraid there is no life after death, or they were too young to die. The fear held by most people afraid to die is that of the unknown. People are afraid of things they do not understand. The mind cannot understand infinity, nor can it comprehend anything other than life. However, a surprisingly small number fear death.

If people do not fear death because of a strong faith in their religion, it would fit since 75% of the people questioned believe in a life after death of some kind. When asked to explain their beliefs, a sample answer would be, "I believe in a life after death because my religion teaches there is." No one could or no one would say what happens after they die. Many people are putting all their hopes in their religion, yet nobody even guessed as to what life after death exactly is. Some of the "very religious" people answered, "The body dies, but the soul lives on." That seemed to be the major belief. Yet the question still remains: "What is a soul?"

Only one question received a 100% response. That was, "Would you kill in self-defense?" Every single male replied that he would kill in a self-defense situation. No one hesitated, no one left the question blank. Even the people who said they were very religious also said they would kill in self-defense, and nearly half of the males were very religious. The girls total was 85%, a little lower but still a high percentage.

When asked, "Do you approve of capital punishment for murder?", the male result was 67% much lower than the previous 100%. Those participating had already stated that every man would kill in self-defense. That means, if he was threatened himself, he would strike back, maybe first. Yet it is less likely that he would approve the death of a man convicted of murder already.

In other words, killing is acceptable for preventing harm to one's self, but less acceptable for punishing someone who has done harm or worse already. The instinct to kill is much more prevalent when a man is threatened personally. More than likely every man would kill to protect his family also. So when affected directly, the killer instinct can emerge. When judging from a distance, this instinct to kill is suppressed by the laws and morals of the society.

Getting back to one's personal death, a surprisingly high percentage of females think about death, 85% to be exact. The wording of the question would suggest that the person thinks about death quite often. The males think about death less. About 60% of the men give death some serious thought in the form of wishing, worrying, or wondering. Everyone has thought of death at one time and each probably has wondered how or when he will die. Yet only 14% of the males would want to know when they will die. Only half of that for the females. The uncertainty is what allows us to live life the way we do.

In the book of Ecclesiastes it states, "For the living know that they shall die, but the dead know not anything." Death is the only thing of which one is certain. What happens after is one of the greatest mysteries of all time. We know we have to die and we can either deny it or accept it.

Everyone has fears about death to some extent but they are mostly fears of the unknown.

J.M. Barrie once said, "To die will be an awfully big adventure."

Construction begun on student store

By ROSS SHERMAN

A student store run by the Distributive Education class under the guidance of Mr. Ralph LaConte will shortly be under construction. The store will try to supply the needs of the student body by selling such items as pens, pencils, stationery, notebooks, duffle bags, and jackets.

In order that the student body has a choice in the items that will be sold, a survey will be taken of a list of materials which could be sold. The students then may choose which items they would like the store to sell.

After the survey is taken, the results will be turned over to the Board of Education which will decide whether or not the store will be able to function properly and whether the store is selling the right kinds of merchandise.

The student store offers D.E. students experience by working in an actual business. They will learn basic retail operation by having this training. This program is open to juniors and seniors. Colleges, seeing that a student has had this kind of program, will certainly be impressed.

The program provides an outlet for the students as well as complementing the existing D.E. curriculum and providing necessary in-school store training for the student.

The planning of this program began in November of 1974. All of the equipment and supplies were obtained through state funds.

Sports psychology studied

By FATIMA ANDERSON

What kind of mental preparation does the athlete have to make so that he or she is mentally, not just physically ready to perform in a game? How does a goalie on a hockey team react to the intense pressure put on him? A pitcher is important to a baseball team, a guard to a basketball team as a quarterback is to a football team. He is the one whose performance in a game maybe the result of a win or a loss. Each controls the outlook of a game. How does he handle the pressure? What does he do to psyche himself?

Physical conditioning is very important to the athlete. He must acquire stamina, and strength to perform for long periods of time. Concentration and simple reasoning are also qualities that many coaches look for in perspective players.

Take a situation in a close basketball game. The point guard, who is in charge of calling plays and setting the tempo of the game, has only four seconds to score a basket that could win a game. He must be able to logically deduce the situation out thoroughly without becoming rattled and unerved. Will he pass, shoot or try for a layup? It's his decision alone.

After the game, his ability to take defeat with winning become apparent. Good sportsmanship leads to a good reputation with others. Nobody likes a sore loser or a bragging winner. His personality after it is all over is as important if not more important than his feats on the court. If an athlete constantly believes in himself he is more likely to succeed than another who is always putting himself down.

What does he do to emotionally psyche himself? It's very hard to determine what goes on inside someone's head. The athlete does basically what anyone else does who is in an apprehensive mood. A member of a girls basketball team describe how she reacts seconds before a game begins:

"Sometimes I break out in a cold sweat. I know that one wrong thing I do could be the downfall of our team. The pressure is definitely there. It's not just a friendly little game anymore. It's either win or lose and it shows up on your record at the end of the season," she explained.

There is a little clock that seems to tick in the head of an athlete. He is aware even without looking at a clock that time maybe running out. A clock called the mind which tells him it's time to think, to react and to believe most of all.

Petro will assist NJIT fund drive

John Petro of 22 Cottage St., Belleville, a 1951 graduate of New Jersey Institute of Technology, has been named as a key figure in the $1 million fund raising campaign being conducted by the NJIT Alumni Association. It is the first step of a long range growth program.

Announcement of Petro's participation came from Dr. Paul H. Newell, Jr., president of New Jersey Institute of Technology.

Petro has demonstrated substantial personal support and encouragement of the Institute's goals over many years said Newell, adding, "his willingness to serve as a leader in his major endeavor reconfirms our confidence in the high quality of graduates this institution has consistently produced. His work in this drive will aid in improving our stance as a leading professional institution."

Petro is section manager with Westinghouse Electric Corp., 1 Westinghouse Plaza, Bloomfield.

His activities with the NJIT Alumni Association include a member of the Board of Trustees, program review and audit committee, development fund organization, campaign committee, president of the association (1967-68), vice-president (two years).

The fund raising program now underway is planned for capital expansion of the NJIT campus and its facilities.

Scholarship — John H. Curley of Belleville (center) was one of three first-year students in the Seton Hall University School of Law to be awarded a $500 scholarship by the New Jersey Bar Foundation. Joseph A. Kinney Jr. of the Bar Foundation (left) presented the checks to winners Margaret Mullins of Union City, Curley, and Jamie S. Gaster of Jersey City.

Paterson honors listed

Fourteen Bellevilleites were among the 1400 students named to the William Paterson College Dean's List for the 1975 fall semester, it was announced this week.

To be listed, the students had to obtain a 3.45 average (of a possible 4.00) or better during the semester while attending the institution full time.

The following students were cited for their academic achievements:

Maria Avena, 20 Naples Avenue; Kevin Berkheimer, 370 Union Avenue; Pamela Blagg, 7-A Bellevue Court; Debra Corino, 7 Wallace Street; Faith Deroos, 464-1 Cortlandt Street; Gary Haight, 232

Fairway Avenue; Kathleen Jolly, 194 Floyd Street; Diane Leissing, 323 Branch Brook Drive; George Lister, 152 Brighton Avenue; Joseph Oese Jr., 26 Oak Street; James Pontrella, 237 New Street; Rose Rinaldi, 95 Liberty Avenue; James Risoli, 7 Dawson Street and Joseph Simonetti, 63 Passaic Avenue.

Susan R. Winship is honor student

Susan R. Winship, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Winship Jr., 231 Division Avenue, was among 407 students named to the Dean's List for the fall semester of 1975 at Muhlenberg College, Allentown, Pennsylvania. The announcement was made by Harold L. Stenger Jr., dean of the college.

In order to qualify, Miss Winship worked to achieve at least a 3.5 on a 4.0 scale, with no grade lower than a "C" for the semester.

The senior class at the liberal arts college had the most honor roll students, it was announced, with 151. The junior class followed with 118, sophomores 82 and freshman 56.

Spalletta elected to student board

Robert Spalletta of Belleville has recently been elected chairman of the Student Review Board, at Stevens Institute of Technology.

A junior at the engineering and science college, he is a graduate of Belleville High School, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Spalletta, 13 Continental Avenue.

James F. Curley heads committee

James F. Curley, son of Mrs. Rose R. Curley, 53 Essex St., Belleville, a junior at Assumption College in Worcester, Massachusetts, has been named art committee chairman at the College.

Curley recently handled all arrangements for a 4-day photo exhibit which had widespread attraction. Upcoming exhibits include drawings by Mark Fennessey, a graduate of Yale's School of Fine Arts, from March 24 to April 5; artwork done by students at Assumption which will run from April 20-29.

Curley is majoring in political science at Assumption.

Batoff addresses Convention

Mitchell Batoff, associate professor of Science Education at Jersey City State College, is making five separate presentations at the 24th national convention of the National Science Teachers Association, March 19-23, in Philadelphia.

Prof. Batoff, who resides at 28 Clearman Place, Belleville, previously made similar presentations at the fall meeting of the Association of Education of Teachers in Science at Columbia Teachers College, and at the National Science Teachers Association area convention in Indianapolis.

He also served as a visiting professor and consultant in courses at Indiana University.

School 10 plans 'moonlight' bowl

School Ten will sponsor a moonlight bowling party, Saturday April 10 at 10 p.m. at the Olympic Brunswick Bowling Alley.

A limited number of tickets are available on a first come, first serve basis for $10, and the public is invited to attend.

Ticket price includes admission, bowling ball and shoes, food, beverages and prizes.

For further ticket information, contact Mrs. Thelma Parillo, Ways and Means chairlady, at 759-1020.

DeHagara chosen state clarinetist

Donald de Hagara, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas de Hagara, 79 New Street, has been accepted as second clarinetist with the New Jersey All State Symphonic Band.

The Belleville High School Junior auditioned at Hightstown High School January 24, and spent February 13 and 14 in rehearsal at Glassboro State College before playing in Glassboro's annual concert at the college, where the band was under the direction of Walter Moore.

Besides being active in the High School Band, orchestra, stage band and chorus, the student also plays the piano and saxophone.

He studies clarinet under the tutelage of Philip Echo, Jr. of Nutley, and plans to major in music after graduation from high school.

Herman Knuppel feted by BHS Key Club

Friday evening, March 5, the Belleville High School Key Club held a testimonial banquet in honor of Herman Knuppel, who has served as the club's faculty advisor since its inception, 11 years ago, and who relinquished that position just recently.

Knuppel has been involved with the education system for some 35 years as a teacher, administrator, and is now the head guidance counselor at the High school. However, for the Key Club it was his reassuring presence which determined the difference between disaster and success for one of the most active student service organizations in Belleville.

The banquet was held at Parillo's Restaurant, on Harrison Street, Belleville. On hand for the occasion, were distinguished guests, Mr. Fred Briggs, Kiwanian liaison officer to the entire network of Jersey Key Clubs, Scott Capriglione, Division 11 Lieutenant Governor, and the past club president of 1975, Fred Lardaro. Following dinner, Dave Ritacco, president, concluded a brief meeting and then innaugurated the ceremonies.

A few short presentations were made by Briggs, Capriglione, Lardaro, Ritacco, club vice-president Robert Feldman and by George Zanfini, Knuppel's successor. Each expressed sincere gratitude to Knuppel, speaking of his unselfish dedication, his warm-hearted concern for all mankind, and his deep sensitivity. In conclusion, president Ritacco

A puppet show entitled "The Magic Gift," and sponsored by the Burger King Corporation, was recently presented at School One by Tom Pastre of Mark Wilson Productions.

The show, which had a Bicentennial theme posing the problem of "What to Get America for its Birthday," featured puppets which are used on Burger King commercials, plus an additional puppet who was made to depict Benjamin Franklin.

Before arriving at the School One stage, the puppets had done much traveling, having been made in California, and from there shipped to New Jersey, where they have performed in various locations.

After the show, which was greatly enjoyed by the school children and adult staff members alike, puppeteer Pastre took time out to demonstrate the mechanics of a puppet show to the audience.

School Seven 'Hollywood' party

Parents, teachers and members of the Board of Education were recently featured in a show "Hollywood on Parade," which was part of the annual card party hosted by School Seven at the Branch Brook Manor.

The affair was attended by 450 people, and more than 170 prizes were distributed.

The event was reported a rousing success by many of the people who attended, and School Seven principal Michael Rosamilia was on hand to make sure everything ran smoothly

School One's 'Voices' a musical hit

Recently, School One's Multi-purpose room echoed to the sound of Kate Smith's version of "God Bless America" as crowds of students, teachers, parents and friends seated themselves, anxious to watch the fourth grade's Bicentennial Program.

It was a show packed with songs, motion, poetry, choral reading, marching, and a one act play. Clad in red, white, and blue and various other colorful costumes, the children were a sight to behold. They are a credit to their school and most of all, to their parents as they gave a truly inspiring performance.

The especially talented Lorlei Wells and Kimberli Edwards, both 10-years old, did a song and dance number adapted from the Broadway show, "Shenandoah", which was remarkable.

The show ended in a sing-along with the audience to the accompaniment of Mr. Wendell Parr at the piano.

The show was performed on Tuesday, March 16 at 8 p.m. in the school's Multi-Purpose Room. All interested parties were invited to attend the show as well as the PTA meeting.

Miss Virginia Gonnella and Miss Barbara Ferraro are coordinators of this program.

All 5% interest rates are not created equal.

Although these four savings accounts all give a 5% interest rate, they each earn different amounts of money. Because they each compute the interest differently. Midlantic Bank computes its 5% interest using the "Day-of-Deposit to Day-of-Withdrawal" method. As you can see, this is the one that earns the most money for you.

Another advantage of our 5% savings plan is that it doesn't require a passbook. Instead, you receive a statement in the mail every three months that shows you everything a passbook would.

Come in and we'll be glad to assist you in opening a 5% Day-of-Deposit to Day-of-Withdrawal Savings Account and answer any questions you may have on why our 5% interest rate is just a little more equal than some other banks' 5% interest rate.

School sign-up at Holy Family

Registration for the Kindergarten class of Holy Family School for 1976-77 will take place in the school auditorium today from 8:30 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. and also from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m.

A child must be five years of age by December 31, 1976 to be accepted for classes. When registering, parents are requested to bring their child and his or her birth and baptismal certificates.

New families in the school are expected to make payments at the time of registration. The payments consist of $75 per family, a $10 instructional fee per child, a $2 activity fee per child and $3 PTA dues per family.

Families already having children in the school may make their payments at the time of re-registration.

Child adoption booklet available from Trenton

A new publication explaining how to adopt a child in New Jersey is available from the New Jersey Division of Youth and Family Services.

The 12-page booklet details the steps prospective adoptive parents must take under the State adoption law and regulations to adopt a child from one of the State-approved public and private agencies or directly from the parents of the child with their consent.

Also included is information on how New Jersey residents might seek to adopt a child from another state or from a foreign country.

According to Division Director James G. Kagen, "the booklet was prepared in response to continuous requests from the public and from professional groups and attorneys for such information." He said it covers "the entire spectrum of adoption services now available in New Jersey."

Community Workshop is March 31

The Junior Woman's Club of Belleville and the Board of Education are finalizing plans for the Community Workshop to be held Wednesday March 31 at 7:15 p.m. at Belleville High School.

Mrs. Barbara Doyle of the Club has announced that there will be four workshops which will be held during the two sessions, and has further announced the topics and speakers. They include: "The Gifted Child," with Dr. Michael Labuda of Jersey City State College; "The Teenage

Years," with Dr. David Spelkoman and Herman Knuppel of the Belleville Public Schools, "Exploring Academic Difficulties," with Ronald Schenk from the New Jersey Association for Children with Learning Disabilities and Miss Patricia

O'Donnell of the Belleville Public Schools; and "Early Childhood Development," with Dr. C. Prentiss Ward, a Belleville pediatrician. The workshop, open to all citizens free of charge, will hold registrations from 7:15 to 7:30 with the general session beginning at 7:30 with an introduction by Anthony Greco, superintendent of schools. Workshops will immediately follow, with refreshments being served between each session.

Workshop committee members include Mrs. Doyle and Mrs. Barbara Spillane of the Junior Woman's Club, Michael Chieffo of the Board of Education, and Seymour Grossman, assistant superintendent of schools.

Diamonds are forever

The BHS baseball team has been anticipating spring and looking for suitable practice fields. Above, coach George Zanfini surveys the Bellboy talent during a scrimmage against East Side. Below, John Clarizio displays his style to the East Side batters. Clarizio is a new member of the Bellboys' well-rounded pitching staff. The Belleville ballplayers outscored East Side last Monday, but coach Zanfini won't be taking scores seriously until the opening game on April 2.

Bellboy batsmen
getting primed up

By JOSEPH RYAN

It happens just before every spring, a young man's fancy begins to turn, the swallows return to Capistrano, and the BHS baseball team wanders the town looking for a dry diamond on which it can work out the rustiness of the winter and become a smoothly functioning squad.

This year has been no exception. While the regular Blue-Gold field at Belleville Municipal Stadium is being readied for the season, Coach George Zanfini and his Bellboy batsmen must contend with strange fields and snowy weather to accumulate practice time during the pre-season.

"We've been vagabonds, and the weather is a problem," said Zanfini. The lack of batting practice caused by bad weather is the biggest problem according to Zanfini, but he expects the hitting to improve along with the weather.

The chances for the improvement of the BHS nine over last year's 14-10 record must be rated as good. Ten returning lettermen, including last spring's entire pitching staff, should bolster the team's confidence and add to the victory column.

"I've got my fingers crossed," said

Zanfini. "If we stay healthy and keep our noses clean academically, we'll stay competitive in the Big Ten."

Zanfini expects the hurling staff to be a bright spot on the Blue-Gold baseball roster. The returning pitchers, Ricky Loma, Greg Petite, John Guarino, Bob Giordano, and Freddy Racioppi, threw a combined 2.5 earned run average last year and are expected to do well this season.

Throwers from last year's undefeated J.V. team, John Clarizio, and Anthony Gaurro, should increase the Bellboy's depth on the mound.

Please see page 12.

Grapplers end season

Two Blue-Gold matmen, who grappled their way to the state championships in Princeton, were defeated last week while a third who qualified for the states was unable to compete because of an injury.

Carl Arlt and Robert Villano lost their first round matches and Chris Tremel was sidelined from competition by a torn rib cartilage.

Mike Dougherty of Madison Township defeated Arlt in the 101 pound category. Arlt took the first points of the match by taking Dougherty down but Dougherty scored points on the Bellboy when he reversed Arlt by the end of the first period.

Arlt was unable to gain ground on Dougherty in the second two minutes while Dougherty compiled points with riding time advantage.

Dougherty's strategy for the final period of the match was to stall for time on the bottom thus eliminating Arlt's mathematical chances to win. Because Arlt and his hopes were riding on Dougherty who was wrestling conservatively, Arlt released Dougherty in a desperation move to attempt to score on a takedown. Unfortunately, for the BHS matman, Dougherty and the end of the season came down on Arlt with Dougherty scoring on a take down and winning the match, 6-2.

Belleville's championship chances

Jaycee bowlers are tourney bound

The Belleville Jaycees will send several young keggers to the New Jersey State Junior Bowling Tournament on April 3rd at Maple Shade as a result of their recent tournament at the Brunswick Olympic Lanes.

Jim Knowles copped the high series honors at the local event by compiling a 625 pin total to win the junior boys series. The senior division was won by Jeff O'Neill, who amassed a 561 series score.

In the girls division, senior tenpinner Debbie Fascia triumphed with a girls high series score of 532. Annamarie DiNardo defeated all opposition in the juniors contest by rolling a 480 point total.

The senior division high game honors went to David Boxer for a 216 score and Linda Winship who bowled 190. Louis DePasquale and Angela Scelfo took the high game trophies in the junior category by accumulating pin totals for 215 and 148 respectively.

High series runners-up included John Weisbrod, 522, and Grace Ross, 465, in the senior keggers contingent. Second place juniors honors were won by Mike Marotti, who rolled a 489, and Eileen Morrison, who finished with a 425 point series.

Senior bowlers Ed Cordeiro and Sylvia Bilobran collected second place trophies for scores of 190 and 171. Junior runnersup in the high game contests were Joe Buonanno with a 162 score and Carol Driscoll, who was three pins off the winning total with a 145 game.

The 16 Belleville Jaycee trophy winners emerged from the 64 contestants from grades seven through 12 who competed in the tournament.

Jaycee chairman, Howard Evans conducted the event with the cooperation of the Brunswick Lanes and McDonald's restaurant.

Also assisting Evans at the tournament were Jaycee members Robert Boyer, John Doyle, Mark Kelly, Robert Patterson, Angelo Pennetti, Tom Perezluha, George Riepe, and Hank Schrader.

now rested with 148-pounder Robert Villano, who drew Dave Osmun of Hunterdon Central for the first match in the preliminaries.

Late in the first period of the match, title chances were jolted when Villano slipped and Osmun picked up points taking down Villano.

In the second round Bellboy Villano attempted an escape, and Osmun was awarded two points when Villano's back was exposed to the mat. Osmun kept his advantage in the final two minutes and in the final seconds escaped from Villano to win the match, 6-0.

Chris Tremel, at 158, also qualified for the championships but was unable to wrestle in the tournament because of an injury sustained in practice. Coach Jim Silvestri said Tremel initially injured his ribs during the regional tournament but did not report the injury to the coach.

Tremel aggravated the injury when he tore a rib cartilage in practice the Monday before the state wrestling championships.

Hard work the secret of wrestlers' wins

Coach Jim Silvestri attributed the success of this year's BHS wrestling team to the matmen's "desire for hard work."

The Belleville grapplers finished the season with an excellent 13-1 dual meet record and brought home victories from the Essex County Coaches Tournament and the Bloomfield Christmas Tournament.

In addition to the varsity's overall record, three Bellboy matmen qualified for the State Wrestling Championships. Seniors Carl Arlt, Robert Villano, and Chris Tremel, all survived District and regional competition in their weight classes to make the trip to the states tournament although Arlt and Villano were eliminated in the first rounds and Tremel did not wrestle because of an injury.

Silvestri cited the Bellboy's record and attitude and called the squad, "one of the best teams I've coached."

One of the best teams of Silvestri's career might have been even better if it was not for the last month of the wrestling season that Silvestri characterized as "very bad."

It was a bad month, not in terms of the team's accomplishments but because of injuries and illness that dogged the grapplers during their final days.

The Essex County Coaches Tournament was a costly contest for the Bellboys because of injuries sustained by two of the matmen. Belleville's 170-pounder Keith Waddell suffered a dislocated shoulder in the tournament and heavyweight Bellboy George D'Alessandro sprained his foot during the same meet.

Silvestri noted D'Alessandro's sprain was still painful during the district competition in which D'Alessandro wrestled with what Silvestri called "pure guts."

Vin Mustacchio, the 115-pound Blue-Gold wrestler, was another victim of the final four weeks. Mustacchio contracted a bad chest cold which lasted through the Essex, district, and regional tournaments despite a doctor's care and continuing medication.

What might have been for the Belleville matmen had they not encountered the troubles of the closing weeks is left for conjecture but the future of the team will be revealed next season.

Although departing seniors leave the varsity only four returning members, Silvestri said the underclass-matmen will form "a good nucleus" for next year's team.

Returning varsity wrestlers include juniors, Bob Freda at 108, 129-pounder Ron Grolimond, and heavyweight D'Alessandro. Silvestri said, D'Alessandro already one of the Belleville's top grapplers, "should be in his prime" next year.

Sophomores Mark DiGiacomo, 122, and Bob Racioppi is the 135 weight class will round out the nucleus of the returning talent. Silvestri also called the J.V. prospects for the next team of Bellboy matmen, "excellent."

This was also the last year on the mat squad for Blue-Gold Coach Silvestri. Silvestri, who retired from the coaches job last year, served this season as a temporary leader.

Smith successful at swinging sword

Brian Smith, a Belleville resident, was recently selected to represent Columbia University's fencing team at the National Collegiate Athletic Association meet at the University of Pennsylvania.

A Columbia spokesman called Smith the team's strongest candidate for an NCAA title.

A graduate of Essex Catholic High School Smith won the Eastern Intercollegiate Fencing Association individual sabre title and posted a 27-6 record in dual meets.

Smith scored a 10-2 record in team competition and a 7-1 mark in individual bouts to win the individual sabre title.

Last year at helm for coach Silvestri

Silvestri said he expects the search for next year's wrestling coach is already underway and called his second final year as coach his "interimship."

His twelve years as a wrestling coach were "a very enjoyable experience," according to Silvestri. He cited the hard work put in by the "kids themselves" as very gratifying, especially the fact that BHS grappler graduates were willing to return from college to help the new talent on the Blue-Gold team.

Silvestri was also pleased that Bellboy wrestlers he coached became coaches themselves. Belleville assistant coach, Joe Zarra, and Lodi head coach, Nick DiDomenico, are among the graduates of the Silvestri school of the mats.

Rec hardwooders compete in finals

Belleville Tool is once again the top ranked team at the start of this year's Recreation Department Senior League Basketball playoffs.

The results of the playoff games were received too late for this edition of the Times/News.

The hoopster Toolers entered the finals last year in first place and returned this season with an undefeated record. Nick Cancelliere, Chipper Biafore, Michael Cancelliere, John Guarino, Alan Cervasio, and James Russell, strung together nine straight victories with close team work and consistent effort to top the league in court wins.

Second place was won by J&M Auto with the aid of an important win over Chandelier. Playmakers, Frank Ameo, and Bobby Giordano help by the rebounding ability of Michael Barbone put together seven wins for the hardcourt Auto show.

Chandelier also finished the season with seven victories. Greg Petite led Chandelier's bright defense and was assisted under the basket by Fran Morel, John Hurke, George Mobilio and Bill Forrest.

Kevin Godfrey fired the Blazers' scoring to a fourth place finish with six wins. Brain Kelley and Jerry Hykey were hot on the court in playmaking and rebounding for the Blazers.

The "V" stood for five victories on the Vee and Cee team that was powered by Robert Bosco and John Mulcahey.

The Silver Lakers finished in sixth place due to the offensive punch provided by Mark Binkewitz and Steve Dondarski.

The DeWitt Savings basketballers won four games to take the seventh slot. Dave Wilks, Scott Ochse, Tony Spear, Al Nufrio, and Danny Arre couldn't bank on the big game for victories.

Zamm Wue Die was eighth in the league led by Frank Piegario and Dom Di Nardo. Plaza Travel will hope for better sights next year since the young team of Caesar Casale, Sal Postiglione, Ted Paty, and Jerry Paladino managed only one victory.

Also returning for mound duty will be Bellboy Chris Cervasio who moonlights on the squad as a second baseman.

Veteran hitters on this season's nine will include, Nick Cancelliere, Anthony Biafore, Greg Dunleavy, Anthony Marino, and Michael Cancelliere. New prospects on the field and at the plate are Rocko Balsamo, Frank Mozeika, Scott Ochse, Joe Gelpi, Doug Stone, and Anthony Spear.

Coach Zanfini is very familiar with the talents of this squad of diamonders because he coached them as freshmen and at the time referred to them as, "a coaches dream."

This spring the dream team is reunited with Zanfini. The hopes of pre-season ballplayers are eternal and the cautious estimates of scrimmage game coaches are understandable.

Zanfini notes the versatility of the team saying, "most of our pitchers are very good outfielders." He looks for the talent to improve with the weather and he awaits the April 2 opener against last year's undefeated Irvington nine.

Then the winter hopes of the Bellboys of spring will be tested for the first time and the score will count.

Eight Bald Eagles found wintering in New Jersey

The bald eagle, our national emblem, is presently wintering in New Jersey in greater numbers than in recent years. Director Russell A. Cookingham of the state Division of Fish, Game, and Shellfisheries reported today.

Style — Bellboy batsmen at Monday's scrimmage against East Side displayed their hitting style and fashion styles. The well dressed pre-season players were decked out in Blue-Gold sweatsuits with winter gloves optional. The baseball player on the right, wearing a football jersey, chose a nonconformist style.

Rec Department plans shooting club

If enough boys and girls show interest, the Recreation Department will restart a Junior Rifle Club program which was discontinued in 1974 due to lack of members.

The Junior Rifle Club, under the National Rifle Association, will offer instruction and competition to boys and girls aged 12 through 18. Overseeing the program will be an official N.R.A. instructor who will supervise and teach the members official N.R.A. ratings.

Boys and girls 12 through 18 who are interested are asked to call the Recreation Office at 759-3142 specifying their choice of evening and whether they would prefer separate clubs for boys and girls, or a co-ed group.

Rifles will be supplied by the Recreation Department, with members paying only for ammunition. Instruction and shooting will take place at the Recreation Range at the Municipal Stadium, with the program scheduled to start Thursday, April 1 if a sufficient number of youngsters join.

Besides having a good time and learning to become an expert rifleman there will be chances to win awards, which will be given out during the year by the Recreation Department, and include awards such as the coveted Distinguished Rifleman Award.

Poison Prevention Week prompting suggestions

The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission today urged all consumers to actively participate in National Poison Prevention Week, March 21-27, by making certain that all toxic household substances are far from the reach of children.

Each year hundreds of thousands of children are accidentally poisoned through ingestion of improperly packaged or stored household substances. The vast majority of poisonings happen to children under five years of age who cannot distinguish between food and paint thinners stored in paper cups; candy and multi-colored pills; and soda and furniture polish.

The Poison Prevention Packaging Act which requires a number of household substances to be sold in child-resistant packaging is administered by the CPSC. Furniture polish, drain cleaner, turpentine, aspirin products and prescription drugs are among those products which must be safety packaged.

For the sake of the elderly and handicapped who often cannot open such a container, the Act provides that a regulated product can be packaged in one non-complying size provided it carries a warning that it is not recommended for use in households with children, and provided that the product is also supplied in complying packages. Prescription drugs are also available in non-child-resistant packaging upon the specific request of the prescribing physician or the patient.

Two departments cut down budgets

Affairs raised its proposed allotment by $47,470.

Commissioner Joseph McGreevy, head of Revenue and Finance, managed to slice the biggest chunk out of his expenses, decreasing his request of last year by $68,729.

All but $50,000 of the increase in the Public Safety budget came as a result of wage increases for policemen and firemen. The same was also true of increases in the Parks and Public Properties budget.

The huge cut out of the school budget seems to be dependent on the amount of state aid received by the system. If Belleville receives the entire allotment of State Aid due it, $2,488,642, the amount requested by the Board could be lopped off with no damage. If, however, the Schoolers receive the $1,814,993 state officials have told them to anticipate, a halfmillion dollar cut would have a serious impact on the school system.

Belleville will plug $1,200,000 in surplus funds into the budget this year in order to keep down the tax rate, and this represents a decrease of $600,000 from last year's surplus. According to officials, the decrease in surplus is the result of the loss in revenue brought about by state cuts.

Town Treasurer Francis McCoy said the total monies lost comes to $862,662. This represents funds taken for the state which in the past have gone to the municipalities.

"This loss is very important to remember when looking at the budget," McCoy said. "We lost revenue when the state diverted the money from the sales tax, the excess business personal property tax, the bus receipts, and the state aid road allotment. All that money was originally anticipated revenue."

McCoy also noted that using surplus funds from the previous year in order to keep down the tax rate was part of standard procedure, adding, "We do it every year and so do all the other municipalities I know of."

Paper to appear late this summer

newspapers a tradition in their respective communities," Orechio said. The possibility of an afternoon daily newspaper was not conceived to compete with the home town weekly newspapers. "Ever since the demise of The Newark News a news vacuum has existed in Essex County. Daily Newspapers to Morris, Passaic, and Union Counties have attempted to fill the void created by the termination of The Newark News.

"These efforts have not reached these goals, consequently our continuing interest in a substitute Newark News, is desired to meet the public demands," Orechio said.

Golden Girl Industries, which prints both The Sun and the Times/News, also distributes several other newspapers and circulars throughout the Eastern United States. The Nutley-Golden Girl Industries plant distribution runs into millions of copies each week, according to its president, T. Bill Miller.

Publisher Orechio said plans to produce the daily are being coordinated by himself, Mr. Miller, and Philip White, executive editor of the Sunbank Publications produced at the Golden Girl plant.

Hawaiian leis — Cadette Scouts Cabrini Inamorato, Marisa Busacca and Lauri Fischer work on a display at the annual Scout-a-rama, held last Saturday at Belleville junior high school. Many of the town's girl scouts turned out for the daylong event.

prosecutor's office."

Though all the Board members involved in the brief fire-fight spoke harshly at times, all indicated later their confidence in their fellow Board members.

"I feel Mr. Romano is an excellent Board member," said Mahmarian later in the meeting, "and I am glad he is on the Board. We have had some heated arguments in the past, but any outburst from me was, well, that's just the way I am." The Board designated Romano its representative at meetings of the New Jersey School Boards Association.

Pharmacy Footnotes

Vincent Cazzarelli
Reg. Ph.

It is easier to put pounds on than it is to take them off. The ideal weight control program begins while one's weight is normal. Eating to satisfy the energy needs of the body and to maintain one's weight sets a pattern which can be maintained with minor changes as one grows older and/or changes his or her activity program. Eating to lose weight rapidly, frequently leaves an individual dissatisfied and sets a pattern which he is not likely to follow when he has returned to normal weight.

Individual attention is given to each prescription handled by us at ROSSMORE PHARMACY, 338 Washington Ave., 759-1956, 759-1968 and we do our best to see that all our customers are completely satisfied. Baby needs, Timex watches, transistor radios and other items handled. Open: Daily 9am-10pm, Sundays 9am-9pm.

HELPFUL HINT:

Let badly stained dish towels sit for a few hours in a tub of hot, sudsy water and bleach, and they will be as clean as new.

Senior notes

By GEORGE CHENOWETH

The tax package as presented to the State Assembly last Friday was not acceptable to some and the Essex County Group of Assemblymen voted against it because, as we see it, it was not favorable for the greater number of people. Back to the drawing board and with some changes, it will be presented again.

We, of course, are particularly interested in how the senior citizens of our state will be affected. Money has to be raised for education, and the State Supreme Court has ruled against the use of real estate taxes for this purpose. So, the next best thing would be a modified income tax.

The people with the lowest income would pay the least amount of the tax and this seems fair if we have to have an income tax at all. We seniors, most of whom are on fixed incomes, would be paying a small amount, if anything at all.

Perhaps this would be an inducement to stay in our own homes instead of having to sell out to meet expenses. The most equitable way of solving the tax problem should be one to satisfy all age groups, but we seniors have paid our dues and deserve any breaks our government — national, state or local — can give us.

The Belleville Senior Citizens Club had Mildred Harlow as hostess and Joseph Pisapio as host this past week.

Please take note, (sorry, we can't have this on a meeting date) the blood pressure tests will be on the last Thursday of every month from now on. The hours are from 1:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m.

obituaries

Vincent J. DeRosa, 56

A funeral mass was offered March 9 in Upper Montclair for former Nutley resident Vincent J. DeRosa, 56, who died March 6 in the Neurological Institute of Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center, New York, following a short illness.

Born in Brooklyn, Mr. DeRosa moved to Upper Montclair from Nutley 12 years ago. He was the past president of the Nutley Optimists Club, former chairman of the Father's Club of Marylawn of the Oranges, a trustee of the Teamsters Local 418 Welfare and Pension Fund of Garfield and a member of Bloomfield Council 1178 Knights of Columbus.

Surviving are his wife, Anne

Kosak DeRosa; three daughters, Misses Diane and Ellen, at home and Mrs. Christine Reczek of Cambridge, Massachusetts; two brothers, George of Holmdel and Gabriel of Verona and four sisters, Mrs. Rachel Laterza, Mrs. Viola Peduto and Mrs. Nina Gingerelli of Belleville and Miss Nettie DeRosa of Nutley.

The Rev. Gerard Walsh officiated at the mass at St. Cassian's Church prior to burial in Immaculate Conception Cemetery, Upper Montclair.

Arrangements were handled by the S.W. Brown & Son Funeral Home, Nutley.

Mary T. Cronce

Funeral mass was said March 15 in St. Peter's Church for Mary T. Cronce, 62, who died March 11 in St. Mary's Hospital, Hoboken.

Mrs. Cronce, who lived in Jersey City, is survived by her husband, Theodore E.; four sons, Thomas Godette of Belleville, William and Henry Godette of Jersey City and John Piskura of Jersey City; six daughters, Mrs. Roseanne Glaser of Belleville, Mrs. Josephine Piskura of Jersey City, Mrs. Marion Trost of Euclid, Ohio, Miss Mary Piskura of Hoboken and Diane and Charlotte Cronce of Jersey City; one sister, Mrs. Rose McLaughlin of Jersey City; 17 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

The Kiernan Funeral Home took charge of the funeral arrangements, and interment was in Calvary Cemetery, Long Island.

Mary A. Hickman

Funeral mass was held in St. Peter's Church March 15 for Mary A. Hickman who died March 12 in Clara Maass Hospital.

Mrs. Hickman, 50, was born in Jersey City and resided in Belleville for the past 22 years. She was an active member of the Joseph F. McGreevy Association here.

Survivors include her husband, Thomas W.; a daughter, Mrs. Linda Arndt of Bloomfield; a son, Thomas P. at home, and four brothers, William of Secaucus, Ben of Hoboken, and Edward and Ted Granda of North Arlington.

Burial took place in Holy Cross Cemetery, North Arlington, following the funeral from the Kiernan Funeral Home.

Annie Harker, 87

Funeral mass was said this morning in St. Peter's Church for Mrs. Annie Harker, 87, who died March 8 in Clara Maass Hospital.

Mrs. Harker, who was born in England, lived in Belleville for the past 67 years. She was a member of the Rosary Confraternity of St. Peter's Church and the Court Santa Maria 61 Catholic Daughters of America.

She is survived by three daughters: Mrs. Jacob Holster, Mrs. Robert Osborne, and Eleanor Marie Harker; five grandchildren, and three great-grandchildren.

The funeral took place from the Kiernan Funeral Home.

Burial was in St. Peter's Cemetery.

Louise Caravito

Funeral mass was held March 6 in Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Church, Orange, for Louise Caravito, an Orange resident.

Mrs. Caravito, who was the wife of the late Vito, is survived by two sons, Edward of Belleville, and William of Orange; three daughters, Mrs. Louise Galletta of Washington Crossing, Pa., Mrs. Anna Terzino of North Brunswick and Mrs. Florence Petrillo of East Hanover; 11 grandchildren and 22 great-grandchildren.

The funeral took place from the Paul Ippolito Memorial, Orange, followed by burial in St. John's Cemetery.

He is greater who in his own eyes is not.

'Black Diamond' plays tomorrow

"Black Diamond," a Belleville rock band, will play at Belleville High School tomorrow night.

The high school dance is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. and will last until 10:30 p.m.

The eight-man "Black Diamond" band was featured at the junior high Christmas party and reportedly made quite a hit. The group has also played at political affairs, private parties, and has placed both first and second in battle-of-the-band contests at the high school.

The group consists of Joe Leone, Janice Nazziola, Michael Casciano, Sam LaMonica, Bill Kiriakoulis, Robert "Bo" Napolitano and Larry DeRogatis, all of Belleville.

Campanella tickets are now on sale

A benefit "Bob-Shoo-Bop" concert is scheduled for April 9 and 10 at Belleville High School auditorium and tickets have now gone on sale.

The proceeds from the "golden oldies" performances will go to the Campanella Fund, a group founded to assist James Campanella, a former Bellevilleite who lost both legs in a freak auto accident two years ago.

The fund has announced tickets for the event may be purchased at the following locations:

Hair Company, Franklin Avenue, Nutley; Anthony's Fruit and Vegetables, 478 Roseville Avenue, Newark; Chandeliers Restaurant, Franklin Avenue, Belleville; Joe Raimo's Deli, Franklin Street, Belleville; Salvatore's Pizza, Union Avenue, Belleville.

Park Barbers, 303 Franklin Avenue, Nutley; DeWitt Savings and Loan, Washington Avenue, Belleville; Rossmore Pharmacy, 338 Washington Avenue, Belleville; Carvel Ice Cream, Franklin Avenue, Belleville; Nardone's Sun Service, 550 Franklin Avenue, Belleville and through the Belleville Optimists Club.

Ghoulish — Keyboard artist Robert "Bo" Napolitano of the rock band "Black Diamond," looks frightening in his stage make-up, but produces good music. The group will appear at tomorrow night's BHS dance.

'I Do! I Do!' is 'too! too!'

"I Do! I Do!," a delightfully hilarious musical comedy, was the second production presented by Showcase Theatre in a series of dinner-theatre shows which started off a new era at the Fountain Restaurant this past January.

The musical was in two acts; the entire cast was two persons, and the show was just too! too! meaning it didn't just make one snicker once.

Extraneous and diffusing vibrations during the performance weren't from any hot sauces on the dinners, either! There was noticeable genuine laughter—the good old rollicking sort that spreads quickly through the room like a disease. Except, that in the case of "I Do! I Do!" everyone caught it, and no one wanted to get immunized.

George Beer, a newly-acquired favorite of mine in the dinner theatre circuit, plays an outstanding and unforgettable role as Michael Snow, new groom, young married, middle-aged man, and finally, senior-citizen. His impressive portrayal of Mr. Snow and his bizarre behavior was extraordinary, with his speaking voice surpassed only in performance by his melodious singing.

He's a true showman; dancer, singer, and actor, who would have no difficulty what-so-ever doing a one-man show. His talents in that area proved true when he danced half of his wedding night away, on stage, complete with striped night-gown, top hat and cane.

Lynn Kotrba, who played Agnes Snow, Michael's wife, was an authentic representative of the young, demure bride. She was sweet and appeared so very fragile, that it was difficult to comprehend how such a powerful voice could emerge from such a delicate creature. But emerge it did, much to everyone's enjoyment. Especially entertaining was an impromptu routine by "ever-loving" Agnes, who anticipating finding new male companionship, dons a large feather-laden bonnet, long gloves, gown and fur and does a burlesque-type song and dance number which met with enthusiastic and vociferous audience approval.

As her husband, Mrs. Snow also aged into the senior citizen category. It didn't take long for the two to paint line on faces and change from middle-age to well over the "life begins at forty" bracket—and this right in front of the audience, hidden only by a wooden chest, which served as an important prop throughout the entire performance.

Mrs. Snow's clothes aged as the actors did, with more conservative outfits being reserved for their final "aging" scene.

As far as George Beer was concerned, a good deal of his stage-time was spent in his shorts, but nobody seemed to mind. Shorts played a pertinent part of his wardrobe since the entire musical took place in the bedroom of the Snow mansion.

Music and lyrics for the show were by Tom Jones and Harvey Schmidt, and were presented through arrangement with Music Theatre International, New York City.

The production was under the direction of Walter A. Kotrba, while Belleville resident, Peter Mirabella served as producer of the program, in conjunction with Harlequin Productions.

Other credits go to Judith Reichman, who did a fine job as director of music, and Bill Helke, who as stage manager, did everything possible to set the proper mood for each sequence.

For an evening of fun, excellent food, fantastic entertainment, and a chance to see someone other than your husband in shorts, you can't afford to miss "I Do! I Do!"

I didn't! I didn't. And I'm glad I didn't!

Music association auction planned

The Belleville Music Parents Association will sponsor their third annual Chinese Auction in the Belleville High School gymnasium on Saturday, March 27, at 7 p.m.

In addition to a Treasure Chest, a white elephant table, and a prize for a correct jelly bean count, there will also be a fifty-fifty raffle, and many more chances to win various articles.

Tickets, at $2 per person, will be sold only at the door the evening of the auction, and will include dessert and coffee.

Music Parents of the Ways and Means committee include Mrs. Joyce Frade, Mrs. Margarita Pica, Mrs. Bridget DiStasi, Mrs. Jo Serice and Mrs. Barbara Romano.

Proceeds of this event, and all other fund-raising affairs of the group, will be used for scholarships and financial aid to the Music Department of the school.

'Forum' try-outs Saturday

The Family Playhouse of Nutley and Belleville has announced casting for its next production, "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum," will be held this Saturday, March 20, at the group's theatre, 28 Brookline Avenue, Nutley.

The play will feature what a spokesman called a "fairly large" cast, and there are openings for both male and female roles.

Eight men and at least 10 women will be needed to bring the cast up to full compliment, and anyone in Nutley, Belleville and other surrounding communities may audition.

Rehearsals will be held evenings and weekends, and performances will be on weekends. The play will run May 7-8, 14-15, and 21-23.

The Playhouse encourages amateur actors to come and try out.
