Board still stalling on revaluation vote

By CHUCK JACKSON

The town's five Commissioners once again dodged the issue of revaluation when the Board voted 3-2 to keep the resolution on the table.

Commission members Mary Senatore, Rocco Saletta and Mayor Michael Marotti voted to keep the motion off the floor, possibly placing themselves in violation of a court order. Finance Director Joseph McGreevy and Public Affairs head Vincent Strumolo voted in favor of acting on the appropriation resolution.

Marotti, who cast the deciding vote on the motion, said after the meeting, "I am studying the problem and hope to find a cheaper way of completing revaluation. I fought in favor of revaluation, but I would like to find a cheaper way to do it."

The resolution now on the table would allocate $149,000 to pay for the re-assessment work.

Citizens' Union spokesman Sal Calabro told the Commission during the public speaking portion of the meeting his engineering firm would take on the task for cost, adding, "I am sure we could do it for less."

After the meeting, at least one observer said it was doubtful Calabro's firm was technically qualified to perform the complex task of re-assessing all the property in town.

Town Attorney John Scott said after the meeting that while the Commissioners had technically violated the order issued by Superior Court Judge Arthur Blake, he doubted the group would be held in contempt "without some kind of hearing."

Please see "Revaluation" on page 19.

Schwarz to head NJSBA

Board of Education member Lawrence Schwarz has been elected president of the New Jersey School Boards Association, it was announced Monday.

A six year member of the local Board, Schwarz is the first Bellevilleite to head the NJSBA, which represents approximately 650 boards of education and 5,000 members.

"I am very proud and gratified the school boards of the state have placed their trust in me," Schwarz said after the announcement, "and I am awed by the responsibilities and problems facing us."

The election took place last Saturday at the Delegates' Assembly, held at North Brunswick High School. Schwarz, who defeated Otto Hottondorf of Hoboken in the voting, will serve a one year term at the helm.

The local Schooler described his new job as "chief executive officer of the organization and chief spokesman for the association, which represents all the boards in the state." He said the role would require him to deal with high state officials, including the governor and the state Commissioner of Education.

"This is something I wanted," said Schwarz. "It is the culmination of any Board member's career and I am very fortunate."

The announcement of Schwarz's election came at Monday's business meeting of the Belleville Board of Education.

Planners to meet

The possibility of re-zoning the Eastwood Nealley property, located in the Valley section of town, will be discussed tonight at the regular meeting of the Planning Board.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. in Town Hall, and Joseph Doyle, a member of the Board, said the group is interested in hearing the views of interested citizens.

The proposal before the Planners asks that the Eastwood Nealley property, located on Joralemon Street, be changed to a business zone. According to earlier reports, several developers have expressed interest in the area, but only if the zoning change is made. The land is in an "A" residential zone, and the facilities there now represent a non-conforming use. If the buildings now on the site are razed, the land would automatically revert back to the "A" zone status.

The Board has received plans for a "planned community" of two family dwellings on the site, but the Planners are reportedly more inclined towards rezoning the area to a restricted business district.

The Eastwood Nealley property is near the old Active Oil property where developer John Rawson said he plans to erect a shopping center. A recommendation received by the planners on forming a restricted business district in the Valley included the planned shopping center, thereby avoiding spot zoning, a member of the Board said.

Planning Board president Joseph Grande earlier called the discussion on the future status of the Eastwood Nealley

Belleville teacher busted for drugs

A Belleville High School teacher has been suspended from his job pending the outcome of drug charges brought against him by local police, the Times/News has learned.

Though Matthew Pica, president of the Belleville Board of Education would not comment on the case, reliable sources said the 31-year-old teacher was ordered off the job until legal proceedings are completed.

According to police, the man, a Belleville resident, was rushed to Clara Maass Hospital 3:20 a.m. April 30 for treatment of a drug overdose. Subsequent investigation by members of the Belleville Police Department, said Police Chief Joseph Smith, led to the teacher's arrest and those of two other men — one a Belleville resident and the other a Nutleyite.

Smith said the teacher, scheduled to appear in Municipal Court May 19, is charged with being under the influence of a controlled dangerous substance and possession of less than 25 grams of marijuana, both disorderly person offenses. He is currently free on $350 bail.

The other Belleville man, a 21-year-old, arrested as a result of the investigation, was charged with possession of less than 25 grams of marijuana and freed on $100 bail.

The Nutley man charged in the case, a 24-year-old, was charged with two disorderly person offenses, possession of hypodermic needles and being under the influence of heroin and three indictable offenses, possession of heroin, distribution of heroin and aiding in the unlawful use of heroin.

Senior notes

By GEORGE CHENOWETH

This is the time of year when the home owner may be approached by salesmen selling fast home improvements, driveway blacktopping and roof sealing.

This also the time of year to be wary of these fly-by-night fast home improvement agents. They can be spotted when their approach seems to be shrouded with what appears to be honesty and good intentions and a glib tongue.

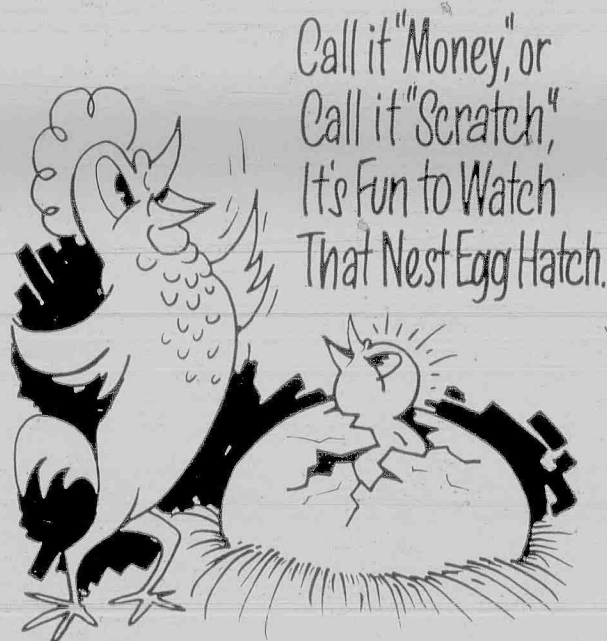

A customer may be taken off guard. "The man was so charming," the lady of the house remarked, and the first thing you know, she had signed a contract.

Deal only with merchants and salesmen who are known in the community and are known to be reputable business people. Call up a friend or the Better Business Bureau if you are not sure.

Don't sign any contracts and don't order any goods until you are absolutely sure you are dealing with honest people.

Most of the bunko artists will prey on senior citizens, believing they make poor witnesses in court or will not testify against them out of fear of reprisals. So be careful in your dealings. There are honest merchants in town, patronize them.

Another recourse you have if you do sign a contract after being approached in your home is to be sure you receive a three day cancellation card, which is required by law. This requirement allows the consumer to cancel an order within three days of placing it.

Supplies sought for quake victims

Mayor Michael Marotti and Belleville Veteran's Chairman Joseph Fornarotto have announced the start of a campaign to assist the survivors of the earthquake which ravaged a portion of northeastern Italy last week.

Contributions of clothing or canned food are being sought for the estimated 40,000 people left homeless as a result of the rock slides which accompanied the initial shocks.

Reports indicate, said Marotti and Fornarotto, the death toll will be approximately 1,000 or more as the result of injuries and subsequent diseases.

The sponsors of the drive will concentrate their efforts on easing the impact on the lives of the survivors, they said. Contributions are being requested from organizations and individual citizens and may be delivered to the Department of Parks and Public Property garage, 46 Williams Street between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. on any weekday.

Russell selected for special training

The citizens of Belleville and neighboring towns are being asked, Marotti and Fornarotto said, to "these unfortunates who are experiencing a most desperate need."

The drive will continue for four weeks, and reports of its progress are scheduled to be reported in succeeding weeks.

"Ask your neighbors if they will assist in helping our neighbors across the sea," added the sponsors.

Only a temporary immunity follows the attack of the common cold (more's the pity!) That explains why it is possible to get repeated colds during the year. And as we all know, there is no artificial immunity that is effective against a cold. Cold shots, prepared from bacteria, have not been successful. It turns out, however, that even antihistamines have little effect when it comes to preventing or curing colds. The antihistamine can sometimes relieve discomfort, as can aspirin and bed rest, but that is about all.

Birth of a group

On May 17 the James Cozzarelli Association is organizing to aid the handicapped student.

There is need in our community for an organized effort to aid those among us that require special education. It is encouraging to see a young man step forward and provide the impetus for an organization to serve so noble a cause.

The James Cozzarelli Association lists as its purpose:

"To promote the welfare of the community in general, and, more particularly, to foster the development of special education and socialization of exceptional students."

This is an objective that should invite the attention and aid of all among us who are endowed with the gift of compassion for our fellow man.

So — if there is within your heart a flame of civic pride and interest, you may want to make plans to attend the May 17 meeting of the Association. There are few causes so worthy as that which aids the student requiring special education.

Preserve our past

Historic Preservation Week is being observed this year May 9 through 15, and hundreds of communities across the nation will feature special programs to recognize the accomplishments of workers in this grassroots movement.

Since the landmark National Historic Preservation Act of 1966, however, the effort has become a grassroots movement, encouraged by the U.S. Congress and the executive branch, and led and nurtured by the National Trust for Historic Preservation.

Today preservationists are restoring entire neighborhoods and districts. They have turned old railroad stations, factories and mills into apartments, offices and restaurants. They have rescued old mansions, courthouses, opera houses, and even early skyscrapers from the wrecking ball.

Preservationists are working for us all, and they have earned the gratitude of us all. We wish them increasing success as they strive to save the best of America's first two centuries for Century Three.

Herman Wische

There are few things more precious to a society than its youth. Young people make up the society of tomorrow and it is essential that the strong character that makes the true man or woman be formed early.

For nearly 40 years, Belleville has been fortunate enough to have a personality capable of inspiring in our youth those qualities which make up the good citizen. Now, sadly, we must say good-bye to that man.

Herman "Jitty" Wische is retiring as Athletic Director of Belleville High School after a long and distinguished career. More than 200 people gathered together last week to honor Wische — and that in itself is a great tribute to any man.

The positive effect Wische had on hundreds and perhaps thousands of youths is impossible to calculate and any thanks would be meager.

The Times/News joins all of Jitty's friends in wishing him the best in his retirement. We are certain that even though he may be miles away, his spirit and enthusiasm will always be here.

Best of luck, Jitty, even though we hate to see you go.

Say ah — Dr. Palmer Burde, D.D.S. of the Belleville Health Clinic was looking for cancer instead of cavities last week. Paula Hannuman, 105 Baldwin Place, was examined by Dr. Burde as part of the clinic's observance of oral cancer week. Dr. Burde said in most cases of oral cancer there is no pain or soreness. The clinic is under the sponsorship of the Department of Public Affairs.

Golden Comments

By James R. Golden

To most readers of the Times/News, the name Phil White is of little significance. However, he is the factotum who plays the major role in putting together the Nutley Sun, which might be referred to as the parent publication of the Orecchio owned Sunbank Newspapers.

Phil is not only a capable reporter, but an astute philosopher as well. In fact, weekly in the Sun, he writes a column captioned PHILosophizing, which mainly alludes to Nutley matters.

A few weeks back, under the headline "Hey Nutley! Where are we going?" his article sounded a strong note that, while much better written than any effort of mine, reflected my thinking most vividly in regards to the burdensome problem of local taxation being heaped upon us by the plaguing cost of education and the interfering role of State government in imposing mandatory regulations upon local school boards which strip them of any semblance of autonomy or home rule.

Phil's noteworthy commentary bears mentioning and could apply not only to Belleville but any municipality.

Taking excerpts from his knowledgeable column, the gist of which concerns itself over the fact that local school boards are faced with severe budget cuts as well as a citizenry alarmed by skyrocketing tax rates, they are attempting to hold the line and keeping teachers' salary increases to a bare minimum.

He notes several area districts have already granted increases in the eight to nine percent range. Nutley's Board held out for a more modest increase, then came up to a 4.5 percent figure. The teachers adamantly demanded a figure matching the average of other nearby districts in the County. The stalemate persisted so both sides asked Trenton to assign a fact-finder to help resolve the salary question.

Phil White, to his credit, boldly called the move unfortunate and stated Nutley is moving in the wrong direction. He cited the fact that there was once a time when the town took pride in its spirit and strong independence and how Nutley Teachers' Association once enjoyed its "lack of ties" status from other unions. He pointed to a time when teachers were most concerned with upgrading the community's outstanding educational system. And a time, too, when the local Board of Education was more concerned with running a good school system and retaining the best teachers possible, and paying its staff an equitable salary. There was a time, he said, when the local Board and the Teachers' Association paid little attention to the squabbles of nearby towns which contributed significantly to a facile settlement of salary contracts.

Mr. White accurately points out that much of the blame stems from outside pressures. Teachers throughout the state represent what many believe is the most powerful, and costly to the local taxpayer, a lobby that exerts pressure on our state legislators to enact laws that have all but ruined the orderly function of local school boards.

State aid is cut. The court's stupid interpretation of what thorough and efficient education means will, likewise, lessen the income from state and federal sources while occasioning the creation of new programs and reporting procedures that will result in new jobs, and, of course, the coming of ever increasing local taxes. All this is brought about by the racket the teacher's union, NJEA, has made by its subtle ploy of playing up the kids' interest when their chief concern is more jobs for educators at higher salaries while they abandon their prime responsibility to teach the students the basics of reading, writing and arithmetic.

To add to the mess, Mr. White points out the state has now come out with a ruling that public employee unions have a right to negotiate "managerial and educational decisions." This means that teachers may now negotiate with the Board of Education in such areas as preparing the annual school budget and how much money is earmarked for salaries.

Gay cop editorial is rebutted

To the Editor:

Speak for yourself, Mr. Orecchio, and not for this citizen, when you use faulty logic and gross misconception to dissuade Nutley and Belleville from hiring any gay cops.

"Restrictions on gays," your Thursday, April 22 editorial, made your own heterosexual preferences very clear. As an argument against gay cops, however, it was terribly unconvincing.

In citing the death of "known homosexual" Michael Green to back your case, you raise hearsay to new levels of importance. The interior designer's murder may indeed have resulted from a lover's quarrel. Mr. Green might also have been killed by a woman, or even by a "straight" cop. The point is, nothing was proved. The police investigating the case issued no conclusive statement. As a newspaperman, you should know better than to rely on speculation.

It is unfortunate that your image of gay people is so distorted. In the past, gays have been characterized as sneaky, propositioning and even dangerous. You carry these notions a step further and insinuate that, given the chance, a gay will automatically harm a "straight" person. This malevolence you attribute to them seems unjustified. I don't recall seeing any statistics indicating a higher crime rate exists among gays.

I maintain that police officers should be selected for their qualifications and not on the basis of arbitrary sexual standards established by a newspaper publisher.

People are quick to criticize others

To the Editor:

How often do we see, in today's society, people criticizing politicians, friends, and even members of their own family without first thinking of the reason for this criticism? I wonder, if all of us just took an honest look at ourselves, how many times we have criticized an individual for reasons such as jealousy, envy of a person's position in life, their social standing, or just for the sake of criticizing.

I'm sure the answer is a yes in a large number of cases.

I admit, I am no different and my count is just as high if not higher. Criticism seems to be so popular and so bountiful in politics that I think a few questions should be asked.

THE STATE WE'RE IN

Watch for easement passage

By DAVID F. MOORE

Assuming the New Jersey Legislature solves its tax problems (if that's a safe assumption), we can watch for passage of legislation for the transfer of development rights concept, and the farmland easement program.

Under the farmland easement program, the state would buy all rights to non-agricultural use of land but the owner would still own it, only being able to sell it for further agricultural use. Transfer of development rights would require an owner of developable non agricultural land to buy rights from an owner of agricultural land, which would have to remain in that use forever.

Both systems would keep farmland being farmed, but would reward the owner with the extra money he or she would have earned if the land were sold out to a developer. Strange as it might seem to some folks, the programs are not universally accepted.

Farmers seem to want enough money set aside to let every farmer sell development rights to the state at the same time, rather than as proposed to start with an experimental program in Lumberton, Medford, Pemberton and Southampton townships, Burlington County.

But it's sadly unrealistic to seek that much money and costly bureaucracy all at once.

Others just can't see why we should preserve farmland at all, while still others are outraged at public regulation for uses of land in part-time rivers and other hazard areas. They think the owner should be paid for not developing his undevelopable land, or else "let the buyer beware" when househunting.

Many court cases have made it clear since the days of the Magna Carta that payments for the diminished value resulting from regulation of land to protect people from each other, or to protect resources needed by all the public, are not in order; but that compensation is due when the public physically occupies land for a use like a school, firehouse, park or highway.

Protecting people from each other and, when possible, from the wrath of nature, as with floods; is clearly within constitutional bounds, and I'm sure is considered by most everyone to be a legitimate function of government.

The farmland preservation program, combined with existing law, seeks to find ways first to regulate places that need regulation, and then to compensate owners of land needed for public purposes.

The transfer of development rights system would trade rights of development on land needed for open space purposes, such as agriculture, for higher-density use on land suited both physically and socially for those greater impacts.

New Jersey, because it's so crowded and growing more so, needs to take some such bold steps quickly.

FLIGHT 897

Florida: down and back with same familiar faces

By FRANK A. ORECHIO

A DC 9 AIRCRAFT is the smallest of the jet aircrafts used domestically by scheduled commercial airlines. Pleasant, safe, and comfortable though it is — both crew and seasoned air travelers prefer the larger, three-engine 727-stretch.

Last weekend, my turn-around, round trip, between Newark and Fort Lauderdale, was aboard Eastern Airlines DC 9s. The DC 9s behaved like a 727-stretch, smooth, silent, super-comfortable.

The dinner flight to Fort Lauderdale was a typical EAL dinner flight '49. Senior Stewardess Donna Feldman marched down the aisle taking beverage and food orders. With pad and pencil in hand I was approached with a warm smile, and "I'm Donna, would you care for any beverage?" After spending a few successive days and nights in the Carmen Orechio re-election headquarters I was prepared for a beverage more relaxing than a TAB. "Bloody Mary, please," was my response.

"What would you like for dinner?" asked Donna, continuing. "We have beef minestrone or veal parmigan." "I'll take filet, rare," answered a guy who knows better. With a grin on her pretty face, the brown-eyed, 110 lb. beauty remarked "Good luck," I guess even Donna was surprised when I sliced my steak — and lo and behold, it was right on target — rare, broiled just to my order. Aiding Donna in the first-class cabin was an old friend, Newark-based Stewardess Olga Torrealba, the "E" girl on the flight. For the uninitiated, "E" girl is the designation given to the extra stewardess who is not a member of the regularly scheduled passenger cabin crew. Pitching in with the aggressive but pleasing industriousness of the youth that he is, was Steward (Richard) Jose Rodriguez. As I deplaned at Fort Lauderdale I soliloquized, "Gee, this Eastern crowd is great. Smooth ride, most courteous and attentive service — and the food — simply great."

SUNDAY MORNING'S flight brought a pleasant surprise. My BW (Earl Wilson, pardon the piracy) Edith, our brood — the two female Schnaussers, Judy and Toni, were met at the terminal entrance by one of Eastern's most efficient, patient, executives, Al Dunbar, whose concern over passenger comfort is a legend at Ft. Lauderdale Airport. For ten years I have seen Al Dunbar operate under the most stressful conditions — but always managing to remain cool and gracious. How lucky Eastern is to have a loyal, competent employee of the the likes of Al Dunbar.

It was Mother's Day morning, to add to my joy was Al Dunbar's remark that I was returning to Jersey on a flight with the same crew that brought me to Fort Lauderdale, except for the "E" girl. For a commuter, airline traveler, this news was like Elston Howard hitting a grand slam, bottom of the ninth, with the Yankees behind by three runs.

be desired — Uta Risse, Olga Torrealba's replacement, an 11 year EAL veteran with the looks of a 21 year old, was fantastic. She served passengers, moving at what appeared to be the speed of sound. Donna Feldman, bless her, was constantly checking with passengers to make sure they were comfortable, that their coffee cups were always filled, that their wine glasses were not empty — well — to write much more about Donna's compassion for her passengers' comfort might lead the reader to assume Donna's a relative so I'll proceed to Jose. "May I replace your lukewarm coffee with a hot cup?" inquires Jose. "Would you care for anything else — want a pillow?" Jose — No — the crew and you have spoiled me outright already, I was thinking.

NO FLIGHT is a happy one without the capable hands and technical skills of the pilot. Captain Don Johnson, of Colts Neck, New Jersey, was the skipper on Fl. #742, returning to Newark. This guy has an infectious smile that reflects genuine joy and inner peace. When Captain Don says "I'm pleased to meet you," you know he means it. An able pilot, Don Johnson.

Completing the two jet engine crew is a flight engineer, a stand-by co-pilot, a guy who provides a vital service but, more often than not, remains nameless and faceless. Most of these men, by the way are young and handsome. Sunday's Flight 742, EAL First Officer Larry Richards, was no exception — young, attractive, skillful. These folks deserve a special thanks for converting a plane ride to a "living room seat atmosphere" — just beautiful.

At the Newark end — Eastern Air Lines Passenger Rep. — Ron Brennan — reflecting a concerned smile of "Welcome Home" wondered out loud if "everything" was o.k. With Eastern Airlines, after 12 years of commuting between Newark and Fort Lauderdale — for the most part with EAL — Ron — you bet everything was o.k.

MRS. ELIZABETH SIMONS of Lloyd Court, a retired school nurse, came across an item describing a Wisconsin teacher's employment contract executed 1922. The document was entitled: "Good Old Days Were Terrible."

In the event teachers of today think they are underpaid and overworked, they could compare their present employment contract with that of the Wisconsin teacher of 1922.

"Good Old Days Were Terrible"

Miss - agrees:

1) Not to get married. This contract becomes null and void immediately if the teacher marries.

2) Not to have company with men.

3) To be home between the hours of 8 p.m. and 6 a.m. unless in attendance at a school function.

4) Not to loiter downtown in ice cream stores.

5) Not to leave town at any time without the permission of the chairman of the Trustees.

6) Not to smoke cigarettes. This contract becomes null and void immediately if the teacher is found smoking.

7) Not to drink beer, wine or whiskey. This contract becomes null and void immediately if the teacher is found drinking beer, wine or whiskey.

11) To wear at least two petticoats.

12) Not to wear dresses more than 2" above the ankles.

13) To keep the school clean:

a) To sweep the classroom floor at least once daily.

b) To scrub the classroom floor at least once weekly with soap and hot water.

c) To clean the blackboard at least once daily.

d) To start the fire at 7 a.m. so that the room will be warm at 8 a.m. when the children arrive.

14) Not to wear face powder, mascara, or to paint her lips."

Auxiliary head works hard

Rocco Landolfi was working in the shop at Belleville Can Company on a Monday afternoon in late March when he was called to the phone. The message to Landolfi was clear, St. Peter's church was on fire, "get all the help you can."

Belleville businessman Landolfi, 59, had been called by police headquarters to respond to a town emergency in his role at Deputy Chief of the Belleville Auxiliary Police. Landolfi phoned auxiliary captain Bill Hoey and the process of summoning the town's volunteer law enforcement agency was underway.

Last year Belleville's auxiliary force under Landolfi served the town for 6,000 working hours on a volunteer basis. Landolfi and his lawmen are not paid for their efforts. "We are here to help the community," Landolfi said. "What we're doing is giving the town more coverage on a volunteer basis."

A lifetime interest in police work led Landolfi to join the auxiliary police in 1958, according to the deputy chief. Landolfi was a patrolman until the reorganization of the auxiliary in 1968 when he was named a lieutenant. The reorganization brought the auxiliary under the Department of Public Safety and Landolfi worked his way through the ranks until he was named Deputy Chief a few years ago.

Landolfi said the volunteer force works out of police headquarters, where the men on duty report for assignments. The auxiliary has four cars that patrol Belleville and are in constant communication with the police desk.

The 35 members of the auxiliary police report for active duty on an average of 12 to 15 hours a month, according to Landolfi. The police work of the volunteers includes patrolling the schools of the town to prevent vandalism, crowd and traffic control, first aid, and what Landolfi called, "the basics of law enforcement."

Residents of Belleville at least eighteen years of age are eligible to join the auxiliary police. All recruits go through a 16 week course at the Civil Defense School in Livingston in the basics of police work, according to Landolfi. The Deputy Chief also noted about 20 auxiliary members have gone on to regular police jobs.

Two major emergencies in the last year have brought out the low profiled members of the auxiliary police in large numbers. Landolfi said 15 men responded to the call to St. Peter's and 22 were at the scene of the School Three fire. "I am really happy with the group," the Deputy Chief said. "They're a fine bunch of guys, when the chips are down, they're all there."

Landolfi, who was born and raised in Belleville, said "it's a good town. I guess it's not spectacular but I like it and the people."

The Deputy Chief works full time at Belleville Can Company, a 65-year old Belleville business founded by his father. Landolfi lives at 204 Forest Street, with his wife Claudette.

Six appointed members of the Belleville Commercial and Industrial Development Committee met a week before with representatives from the town's civic organizations to discuss the committee's work and future.

While that was going on, Belleville's unofficial business improvement committee, the Belleville Economic Development Council issued what they called an "interim report" dealing with the improvement of the Washington Avenue Shopping district.

The members of the C & ID committee, appointed by the town commissioners, met April 14 at DeWitt Savings and Loan with representatives from the Belleville Mfgs. Association, the Jaycees, Belleville Chamber of Commerce, the Optimists Club and the Women's Club of Belleville.

All but one of Belleville's 13 commission candidates were to appear at the first public candidate's night which was to be held in Belleville High School.

Rocco Saletta, who was hospitalized, would not attend, but the other 12 bidders would be present to air their views and answer questions pertaining to the upcoming election.

The Board of Education passed in its revised budget 4-2 after extensive comments had been made by board members. Richard Mahmarian and Lawrence Schwartz issued statements explaining why they had voted against the budget which had been rejected by voters in February. Adjustments in the budget had been made to accommodate a $47,000 cut by Town Commissioners and a settlement with teachers $68,000 than had originally been budgeted.

Schwartz and Mahmarian commented that they did not approve of the adjustment.

Vandals broke 32 windows in School Two within a two week period. Damages amounted to close to $250.

Chief of Police Joseph Smith added that there had not been a let down of patrol cars in the area.

Dr. Gerson Ram, local health officer, was pressing charges against two pigeon lovers in Belleville. Dr. Ram was charging Robert Thaler and Michael De Pasquale with the improper housing of pigeons. Dr. Ram was surprised to learn that news of his action reached the public. He refused to answer questions about the extent of violations committed by Thaler and De Pasquale.

Nearly 100 per cent of the managerial, editorial, business, advertising, circulation and mechanical staffs of the Nutley Sun and the Belleville Times/News gathered at the Robin Hood Inn to honor a departing co-worker, Ernest Whynall of 15 Evelyn Place, Nutley, who had been advertising manager of the two papers since 1939, and who was to retire that month.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Belleville Elks held installation ceremonies for their newly elected officers. The new officers were: Mrs. Peggy Hoffman, president; Dorothy Crawford, vice, president; Mrs. Alberto Del Grosso, secretary; Mrs. Connie Torsiello, treasurer, and Mrs. Susie Morse, chaplain.

In an abnormally light vote, far below par even for a primary election, Belleville showed more than a 4 to 1 preference for Senator Malcolm Forbes over Senator Wayne Dumont for the Republican nomination as gubernatorial candidate to oppose Governor Robert Meyner in the November election. With only slightly more than 10 per cent of the registered voters taking part, 1,878 out of 16,849 eligible voters, Forbes polled 964 votes to Dumont's 227.

Arthur Kinze, representing the Belleville Taxpayers Assoc. appeared before the Board of Commissioners with a set of questions concerning the position of town forester. The taxpayer's group opposed the retention of the town forester, William Wells, as a town employee. The taxpayer's group wanted to abolish the position.

The Board of Education was appealed to by members of the Belleville Taxpayers Association to employ only graduates of New Jersey normal schools for positions in the grade schools. Charles Kier appeared before the board as a representative of the association.

Kier stated that the taxpayer's group had taken their stand because of the impossibility of placing all New Jersey Normal schools graduates in the teaching positions in the state.

I wonder if people would take what a politician, for example, says just on that basis alone. What would the result be? There should be no consideration of what political party a person is from, or what part of the town, state or even the country he hangs his hat. If we did, I think we might be able to reduce somewhat, the level of criticism that we hear today.

If we heard an opinion, or read a program that a candidate proposes, it might not hurt if we first asked a few questions so we could become fully aware of the matter. If we felt it still to be in error, then we should criticize it. However, we should not stop there. When we do criticize, we have a firm obligation to offer something in return. How often do we carry out this obligation? How often do we accept criticism that offers us something in return?

As we approach the primary elections in this state, I hope all of us listen to the many charges that are leveled, and I ask everyone to sit back and think of these questions:

Are the charges justified, or are they criticizing for the sake of doing so? How does the person accept the charges that are leveled against him? None of us are perfect, you know.

When a charge is made, is the alternative offered?

In the next few weeks, I'm sure our district leaders will be out to help all of us understand everything that is going on as far as the election goes in June. I would like to propose that we don't let this "positive" thinking die with this election. I do not guarantee it will work, but it is something being offered.

School violence rises

By DENISE FRANZ

The situation of violence in schools somewhat resembles guerilla warfare these days. Teachers and administrators are deeply concerned with this increasing problem.

A recent survey to investigate juvenile delinquency surveyed 757 school districts, enrolling about half of the nation's school children. The survey showed that during the course of one year, 100 students showed that during the course of one year, 100 students had been murdered and between 50,000-60,000 teacher are physically assaulted each year. Unless something is done to curb the violence, school will be unsafe for both students and teacher.

Gang fighting is not a recent problem but now is reaching proportions that astonish schools and communities. Students may fight for dignity and respect or to defend their names. However, many attacks are unprovoked and often quite unfair. A lone, unarmed student does not stand a chance facing a group with weapons.

Delinquents are often thought to come from broken homes or low income families, this however, is not always the case. A child may be wealthy and seemingly happy, but still be a delinquent. Moral codes have dropped, and parents fail to discipline their children. Our society seems to be totally engrossed in violence. In movies, books, newspapers, music television, and radio there is no escaping it. These surroundings play such an important role in molding the child's character, that by the time the teacher gets him the student maybe aggressive and openly hostile.

Keeping quiet about witnessing violence helps one to survive, but it does not stop the violence. Students and teachers are forced to be dishonest for the sake of survival. Each level of authority makes excuses to the other as a means of protection. The community decides that schools do not exercise their authority properly, and that teachers are failing to do their jobs. Parents start telling their kids "You don't have to listen to that teacher." End result: a six year old cursing his teacher; a fifth grader, throwing objects at the teacher; a tenth grader selling drugs in the lavatories; and eleventh graders forming gangs powerful and brutal, that teachers and police must patrol the school buildings.

All this is because individuals at each level are afraid of a lack of support, not because anyone has lost control.

The situation may be alleviated perhaps, if there were a joint effort on the part of both parents and the school system. The schools need the support of the community before they can face the students.

Masi: a true music lover

By JOANNE SANTIGLIA

Not all students participating in musical activities have an enthusiastic zeal and inborn love of music. Arthur Masi, a junior at Belleville High School, however is one of those music lovers who realizes that the benefits music offers are endless and can come from outside of school.

Arthur has taken piano lessons for 8 years with Mrs. Elizabeth Hoffer of Nutley, N.J. His love for the piano was always in him. Ever since he could walk, his legs would take him to the "ole piano bench".

Arthur participated in various competitions. He was a recent winner of the reknown 1976 MEA (music Educators Association) Bicentennial Music Festival competitions, which required him to perform at the Maplewood Woman's Club. He also participated in the national piano playing auditions where he earned superior ratings.

Arthur feels competition broadens his mind to the different types and styles of music as well as expand his knowledge of people. "Competition is beneficial because it teaches you how to deal with success as well as failures, and helps you to realize that you must always persevere until you reach your goal."

Although he also enjoys contemporary music, Arthur's forte is classical music. "Classical music takes one through different periods of history and teaches one of the different customs of particular peoples. It is also an excellent method of self-discipline."

CRITIC'S CORNER

Kid's TV reviewed

By BRIGID FREDERICKS

Ever since the origin of "Sesame Street" educational television has increased in importance and children's educational TV has stepped into the limelight. What actually is educational TV? It is a variety of programs, many aimed at children, with the purpose of introducing them to the basics in education such as the 3 R's, and helping them in everyday problems and situations. This teaching is achieved through a purely entertaining approach. Many of today's children's programs cater to various minority groups especially the blacks or spanish.

Most of television's educational programs which are usually aired on channel 13, are uninterrupted by station identification, and are sponsored by grants from large corporations such as Helena Rubenstein and others.

One of the most renowned children's educational programs on television today is probably "Sesame Street." The age bracket for this show is preschoolers — although it is also enjoyed by many older children and adults as well. It has yielded quite a few memorable characters such as Ernie and Bert, Cookie Monster, Big Bird, Oscar the Grouch, as well as a number of other muppets and human characters who are comprised of different nationalities and generations.

"Sesame Street" employs a "brotherhood" approach in its teaching. It is set of course on Sesame Street which is portrayed as a street in a lower class neighborhood probably in New York. The relationship of all the neighbors is extraordinarily brotherly — like one big happy family. While this is of course perhaps an unrealistic set up, it does set forth golden values for the nation's youth to follow and portrays human relationships as a child would see it — adults getting along and loving with no controversies.

"Sesame Street" caters mostly to kindergarten ages and below, in the teaching sense, because it builds basic reading fundamentals, especially through emphasis on our "friends" the letters of the alphabet; and features bilingual counting from one to ten. Relationships of different geometric shapes are taught along with the comparison of various items; which is enthusiastically taught by singing the famous, "One of these things is not like the other" song.

'Who' album is excellent

By CHARLES KRAMER

The musical rock group, "The Who", have been together for the past thirteen years. Their latest album, "The Who By Numbers", is not one of "The Who's" best, but it is an excellent album nonetheless.

The members of the group have successfully stayed together because they have private careers in addition to their successful group discs.

Peter Townsend, the lead guitarist, writes most of the songs for the group. Roger Daltrey lead singer, adds a dynamic touch to the group, along with an outstanding voice. Keith Moon, an excellent drummer in his own right, is usually noticed by his amazing feat of smashing his drums. John Entwistle, the bass guitar player, is the quiet and serene member of the group.

Among the best songs on the album "Slip Kid" (4:35), "Squeeze Box" (2:39), and "Blue Red and Gray" (2:46). "Slip Kid", has the usual image of "The Who's" rock and roll beat that gets one moving. It also has an excellent example of Peter Townsend guitar playing in it. "Squeeze Box" which was No. 1 in New York for a while is a nice tune about a woman with a squeeze box who plays all the time it has an appealing melody. "Blue Red and Gray" is melody that is played with a ukalale and has nice words. The other songs are also some-what appealing.

After thirteen years "The Who" are still going strong.

A new look taken at old town paper

By LISA HAYES

"The new year has fairly begun and to all appearances it will be prosperous. Everything is in its favor. Resumption has taken place, confidence is being gradually restored, and there is no earthly reason why we should as a nation stand still. The country is rich; the soil is good; the men are smart, and idea that it cannot advance is ridiculous."

These words appeared on Jan. 4, 1879 in "The Gazette", Belleville's newspaper. The new year had begun and Belleville was starting to prosper again. It was now an industrial and farming community and was also a well-known summer resort. Outside this peaceful community the world was bustling by. Rutherford Hayes was president and Alexander Graham Bell had caused a sensation three years before with an invention called the telephone.

In the rest of the opening editorial, the editor tried to speak philosophically to his fellow Bellevillites. He congratulated them for their support in helping to free the slaves. (Belleville was a stop on the Underground Railroad for escaping slaves during the Civil War.) He ended the editorial telling the people that even if the world ends the editorial telling the people that even if the world ends in 1881, it shouldn't keep them from being merry and enjoying life.

"The Gazette" wasn't filed with preachy editorials. A reader of the paper at the time would know all the social news in town.

Mr. Stanfur had taken up the trumpet, Mr. Marchbank played the "Salior's Hornpipe" in one breath, the paper called it an "Example of endurance" and was proud to announce that he was not surpassed in his feat, and Mess. Wharton and Van Riper were out $50 when their carriage was ruined due to the "miserable conditions of the streets."

Among the people visiting Belleville over the holidays were Mr. Mark Ashton and family, Miss P. Jones, and Mr. T. Chubbs. Miss Minnie Hawk recovered from her illness and left for Boston.

Advertisements filled the front and back pages. The ads were for any necessity needed. John Hawley, the town blacksmith, advertised "all kinds of Jobbing done on short notice." John P. Serle owned the "cheapest market in town." If the consumer didn't quite believe his statement, he suggested "call and see for yourself." George Cummings was Belleville's coal dealer. One chest of Lehigh coal cost $5 while Delaware and Hudson coal was $4 a chest. A.H. Osborn owned the general store. It had everything from perfumery to turpentine. And for those who liked fish, W.H. King supplied families with oysters for 25¢ a quart.

Belleville was beginning a new year and soon an industrial revolution would spread over the country, and Belleville would become part of it. The world, did not end in 1881 and Bellevillites enjoyed many further years of happiness.

Allum and Frederick: real big wheelers

JOANNE SANTIGLIA

Even in this day of revived bicycling, bike riding is still looked on by many simply as a means of transportation, and bicycles as insignificant vehicles which are very often abused. But to Keith Allum and Frank Frederick, both honor students biking is a highway to enjoyment as well as a constructive pastime.

Keith can be seen everyday going to school via a red 10 speed Shwinn; Frank's preference is a bright yellow 10 speed Shwinn. Both boys ride practically everyday, sometime even through snow. Frank can recall only three days when arrived at school by some other means than pedaling; and Keith has been riding to school since tenth grade.

The boys who have made bike riding their hobby, along with another pal Doug Whamsley, have been on numerous tours including bike trips to Garret Mountain in Clifton, Bear Mountain and longer trips to Morristown New Jersey to see the bicentennial sights. Now the boys are making plans for their big trip to Pennsylvania. They will cover approximately 500 miles and spend at least 6 days on the road. The boys' first plan to take a ride to Allaire Park in southern Jersey in order to get the feel of the long trip. As far as other biking activities go the boys have participated in bike marathons and Keith alone once raised $1,000.00 for mentally retarded children.

Both boys feel that they have benefited greatly from bicycling because it is not only good exercise but also provides a way to see surrounding community and therefore leads to its appreciation. Frank said, "When I am riding it is a great feeling, a way to get to nature by riding through parks for instance. It leads to a realization of the beauty of the world around you."

Although both boys enjoy riding Frank has a special relationship to his bike becoming a means of self expression for him. He put it well when he said, "It is no longer just a bike to me, rather a part of me. I love it and if I take care of it, it will take care of me."

Contrary to the knowledge of most people bicycling is not an easy sport, in fact it involves much on the part of the operator in the area of training, road skills and body conditioning, as well as time and maintenance spent in caring for the bikes. Keith remarked, "Biking is a fine sport, it entails much more than is the belief of most people. When I am on a bike there is no such thing as a dull road."

Perhaps Keith's and Frank's story will serve as an inspiration to some to take up biking as a new and truly exciting sport.

Soroptimist luncheon set Saturday

"Happy Birthday, U.S.A." will be the theme of the luncheon. Preceding the luncheon, a "Colonial Pantry," "Country Fair," boutique and "Yankee Doodle" auction will be featured attractions. Red, white and blue will dominate the afternoon's color schemes.

Miss Terry Stefanelli is among the committee heads working to put finishing details on the annual luncheon of the Soroptimist International Club of Newark, scheduled for Saturday at the Holiday Inn Jetport, opposite Newark International Airport.

High point of the afternoon, say club members, will be the after-lunch fashion show presented by Bamberger's, featuring the summer wardrobe. Ms. Myrna Laitman of Bamberger's will be commentator.

Each year at its annual luncheon, the Newark Soroptimist Club presents its awards for outstanding community involvement to high school students in Newark and surrounding towns. This year, three Newark students have been selected and will be honored.

Groups may still profit from newspaper drives

Demand for old newspapers for recycling is on the upswing. As a result, individuals, organizations and school groups that collect and sell waste new to earn extra money are getting higher prices, according to the president of the Garden State

Paper Company, Incorporated.

"Now is the time for the public to keep the faith with the environment and get paid for it," said Joseph T. McColgan, president of the subsidiary of Media General, Incorporated, which accounts for more than 10 percent of United States newsprint production by using only old newspapers as its raw material.

McColgan said increasing production by container-board and building materials manufacturers is reflected in more demand for used newspapers and other grades of paper. In addition, exports of used paper to foreign countries are also stimulating the used paper market, notably in California, he continued.

Although some recyclers were discouraged by shrunken markets for used newspapers last year during the recent recession, Garden State Paper bought used news far beyond its normal needs in order to sustain the public's interest in recycling.

McColgan has called upon other paper recycling industries to do the same thing to offset severe fluctuations in demand, stressing the paper recycling industry as a whole requires stability in its supply outlook before it can grow to meet coming social and economic demands.

"All indications are that within the next 10 years, the demand for paper and other forest products will outstrip the regrowth of forests in North America," McColgan said. "This means even greater stress will be put on recycling."

"The recycling industry can't must grow, but it can't do so unless the public becomes even more active in recycling. At the same time, the public wants to be assured of a stable market for its recyclables. That market exists today and the outlook is good for the future," concluded McColgan.

YM-YWHA camps expand programs

Athletic, cultural and other recreational programs at the New Jersey YMHA-YWHA Camps in Milford and Lake Como, Pennsylvania, have been expanded and enriched for the 1976 summer season, according to Matthew Elson, Executive Director of the community sponsored camp complex.

He noted that as part of a $60,000 program of renovation and reconstruction, two new tennis courts have been added, the other 12 tennis and all the basketball courts resurfaced, and the lake on which Camp Nah-Jee-Wah is perched, cleansed and a deeper swimming area excavated. This and the other lakes in the various camps have been restocked for fishing and their respective waterfronts resodded and seeded.

He went on to say special attention has been paid to the recruitment of staff personnel to conduct land and water sports and other recreational activities that "a truly impressive roster of skilled and talented people, including a number of international counselors, has been assembled."

Information about reservations and the camps may be obtained at any of the 'Y' camps affiliated YM-YWHA's throughout the state or by applying to camp headquarters at 589 Central Avenue, East Orange.

And how are things with you?

Helen's thing

by Helen Maguire

Odds and ends.

My father is an agreeable man, able to roll with any punches the grandchildren may throw at him and fortunately, hard to insult. Sitting at the dinner table a few weeks ago, one of the quartet brought up the subject of age, one of their favorite topics. Erin took a long, hard look at her grandfather. "Mommy," she questioned, "was grandpa old and bald when you got him?" No, he wasn't, darling, but daddy was grey when I got HIM! And in 13 short years, I've managed to turn him snowy white!

Rod is not averse to kidding me about the advancing years and tries with regularity to make the children believe that he is younger than I. Not so. He arrived 26 months before I did. The kids are on to his game now and no longer bite when daddy makes some remark about mama's maturity. Nora effectively put him in his place the other day. "Don't worry, mama," she comforted after her father had tried again to make them think I had robbed the cradle. "You'll never catch up to him!" Thank you, daughter, for that vote of confidence.

Our church rummage sale is a thing of the past (next one, next May) but it was a lot of fun while it lasted. Church members and friends got rid of a lot of unwanted items, the Guild made a sizable profit and we made quite a few people happy with what we offered for sale. I guess the friendliness and informality of the church and congregation came across at the sale. Witness the two elderly ladies who arrived on line at 9:15 a.m., bought something from the bake table outside for dessert, were among the first to enter the Parish House when the doors opened at 10, spent a considerable amount of time collecting two huge cartons of goods they wanted to purchase and before checking out, sat down in a corner and had their lunch! What looked like a substantial meal emerged from various jars and bags and they finished up with someone's homemade brownies!

Rod and I took our three day safari minus children last week and rode out to the Amish country around Lancaster, Pennsylvania. Thoroughly enjoyed the trip, the solitude, the restaurant meals and a view of a culture so unlike our own. The Amish are cut from a different cloth and I don't think they're very far from wrong. One thing, however, would prevent the Irishman from adopting the Amish way of life. Married men must grow beards and this husband of mine can't even grow sideburns! I'm afraid he'd have to stay single which is not his cup of tea.

The thing that amazed us when we went shopping for presents to bring back to the kids was the wealth of Pennsylvania souvenirs made in foreign countries. We were hard pressed to find something made locally although we did finally amass enough goodies to make everybody happy. "We're back to normal," I said to Rod the other night as we dined on hot dogs. "Last week at this time, we were eating filet mignon."

Injured animals

No matter how carefully you train your dog to heel while off the leash, there may come a time when your pet will be hit by a car or truck. If your are lucky, it will be no more than a glancing blow, and your pet will be bowled over but able to come to his feet unhurt.

If you must administer first aid to your pet — as in the case of being hit by a car — there is one point to remember: animals in pain do not always recognize familiar voices or faces. They will often strike out at anyone who approaches. Your first action in assisting an injured animal should be to take precautions against being bitten or scratched.

Approach the stricken animal slowly, speaking in a quiet voice. Use a blanket or jacket to cover its head or convert a long scarf into a temporary muzzle so you can examine the animal safely.

The most obvious injuries will be broken bones or heavy bleeding. Broken limbs usually stick out at an unnatural angle and must be immobilized with a temporary splint and some toweling. The splint and broken leg should be wrapped firmly together to prevent further movement which may cause additional bleeding or tissue damage.

The easiest method to control heavy bleeding is direct pressure over the wound, using a cling handkerchief or your fingers. Blood that is bright red and spurting out

La Leche League is an organization of mothers whose purpose is to encourage good mothering through breastfeeding. Anyone interested in learning more about breastfeeding is welcome, as are their babies.

For more information about La Leche League, please call Mary Beth Bryant at 338-6977 or Mary Ann Van Esselstine at 743-7197.

rhythmically comes from an artery; darker, slow flowing blood comes from a vein. If you are unable to stop the blood in a few minutes using a pressure bandage, you may have to try a tourniquet. A tourniquet is a narrow strip of material, (a tie, stocking or belt) tied tightly between the heart and the wound until it reduces the bleeding. Tourniquets must be loosened for one minute at 5 to 8 minute intervals so that tissues below the tourniquet are not completely deprived of oxygen and blood.

Heavy bleeding, trauma, pain and severe fright all contribute to development of shock and possible death of the pet, even if major injuries are not present. Mayor symptoms of shock in animals include pale, grayish gums and lips. First aid for shock consists of warmth and comfort. Cover the animal with blankets or coats and speak soothingly to it.

If the animal is fully conscious, stimulants such as warm coffee or strong tea may be given by the spoonful into the corner of the mouth. In small doses, they will stimulate the heart and blood circulation, fighting against shock. If the pet is unconscious or semi-conscious, do not give it anything by mouth. Liquids may strangle an unconscious animal by passing into the lungs instead of the stomach.

While you are administering first aid, have someone else locate a board or stiff cardboard for transporting the animal to the nearest veterinarian. If necessary, tie the pet down so that he does not injure himself further. If you are away from home and have to move an injured animal, use a blanket or even a coat. Slide the animal onto the material and have several people pick it up at the corners.

Even if your pet appears unhurt after an encounter with a car or truck, an examination by a veterinarian is recommended. Internal bleeding and injuries are not readily noticed and will cause your pet pain and suffering if not properly cared for.

Esposito to head company

Michael Esposito has been named president of Action Protection Associates, 4 Essex Street, Belleville, it was announced this week. The local firm markets residential and commercial fire and security systems.

Also appointed were Anthony Papariello, secretary-treasurer and Richard Cucolo, vice president.

Esposito is married to the former Venera Mossucco of Bloomfield and the couple has two children, Michael 4, and Anthony, nine months.

A lifetime Belleville resident, Esposito graduated from Bloomfield Tech and attended St. Petersburg Junior College and Essex County College. Prior to the formation of Action Protection Associates, Esposito worked for Apeco and Bell & Howell, where he lectured on educational electronic programs.

Papariello, a cousin of Esposito, is originally from New Brunswick. He has worked in residential and commercial electricity as a contractor.

The third member of the company, Cucolo, is another Belleville resident who graduated from Belleville High School in 1967 and received his BA in Business Administration at Paterson State College in 1972.

A residential fire breaks out once every 35 seconds in this country, according to the National Safety Council, and according to Esposito, "The majority of fires occur when people are asleep and more people die from inhalation of smoke than the actual flames."

Information on the new company and its services may be obtained by calling 751-7472, 751-6092 or 759-8574.

Kidde joins in exhibit

Vac-U-Max, the Belleville division of the Walter Kidde Company, will be among 700 companies which will participate in a $20 million exhibit devoted solely to reducing the swelling tide of industrial production and factory maintenance costs when the 27th annual National Plant Engineering & Maintenance Show opens at the Civic Center in Philadelphia on May 17.

Some 25,000 engineers and other executives from virtually every major company in the nation and many from other countries are expected to attend the four day event. Many exhibits will be devoted, organizers say, to employee safety and an all-day seminar will also consider the topic.

In addition to the seminar, there will be a four-day conference of 49 sessions addressed by 120 speakers from 26 states, Canada and Germany. Considered at the sessions and demonstrated on the floor of the show will be responses to such problems as energy utilization, pollution, materials handling and a wide range of other topics.

Bellboys clobber Camper clubbers

The Belleville batsmen took their second swings at the only team to beat them this year and pounded out a dozen hits on Tuesday to defeat Irvington, 11-6.

The victory was the fourteenth in a row for the Bellboys, who haven't lost a game since the season's opener at Irvington.

The Blue-Gold team, ranked first in the state, are now playing through a solid schedule of regular season and tournament games in quest of league, Greater Newark, and state titles.

Today the Belleville diamonders play Seton Hall at home in a regular season game at 3:45 p.m. Tomorrow at home in another season contest the Blue-Gold will face cross-town rival Nutley at 3:45 p.m.

There will be a quarter-final Greater Newark Tournament match-up between the Bellboys and Immaculate at 2 p.m. in Belleville on Saturday. Monday in another home game the BHS bats will face Cranford at 4 p.m. in the second round of the state tournament.

The Bellboys downed Wayne Valley last Saturday, 2-0, and blasted three home runs to defeat Vailsburg, 7-3 on Monday before their Irvington victory.

The fourth win of the spring for Ricky Loma, a home run by Chipper Bialore, and three hits by John Guarino highlighted the Belleville win over the Campers on Tuesday.

George Zanfini, coach of the "dream team", said there was "a little bit of revenge" for the Bellboys in the win. The Irvington nine had beaten BHS three times in the last two seasons, all in close games Zanfini called "heartbreakers."

The Bellboy bats went to work in the first inning when Guarino doubled following a walk to Bialore. Bellboy Michael Cancelliere then singled home both runners to give the Blue-Gold a 2-0 lead.

Anthony Speer bunted home Nicky Cancelliere in the second and Frank Mozeika scored on an Irvington error after he doubled.

Two more runs in the third inning were followed by Bialore's home run, his second of the year, that drove in Giordano. The Bellboys iced the cake with three more runs in the sixth inning on three hits.

BHS oarsmen win Mid-Hudson

The Bellboy varsity crew rowed their "Excalibur" shell to victory at the Mid-Hudson Regatta on Saturday to complete their season with a perfect record.

The Blue-Gold varsity oarsmen faced 16 schools of the water this season and beat everyone of them. Crew coach Sam Giuffrida said, "they're the best crew I've ever coached."

The Blue-Gold shell men will now split into a senior and junior four-man shell to compete in the Stotesbury Regatta tomorrow and Saturday on the Schuylkill River in Philadelphia.

Seven schools raced for varsity honors at the Mid-Hudson meet in Poughkeepsie. Belleville started the race in the outside lane with what Giuffrida said the rowers acknowledged, "wasn't one of their best starts."

The Bellboys found themselves in fifth place in a close field at the beginning of the mile course had to come from behind. Giuffrida said the varsity crew went into a "Belleville 20" during the first quarter mile to take the lead by the halfway mark.

The coach explained the "Belleville 20" as a concentration on power for 20 strokes. Giuffrida added the move often forces other boats into mistakes or "psychologically hurts them." The tactic worked at the regatta and by the half mile point the Blue-Gold boat had taken the lead.

The stretch for the finish was a battle between the Bellboys and the Liverpool shell, a school from Syracuse, Giuffrida said. The race was tied with a quarter mile to go but the Belleville rowers out-powered Liverpool to win by 1 1/2 seconds. "We out-powered, out-techniqued, and out-psyched them," Giuffrida said.

No Blue-Gold team has won at the Mid-Hudson Regatta in 12 or 13 years, according to Giuffrida. The river coach said he told the undefeated Bellboy eight, "there wasn't any boat better than us. You're now the best of the best."

Runners hit .500

A 70 point win over Newark Tech on Monday brought the BHS track team record to 5-5 for the season.

The Bellboy track men won 12 events in compiling the 96-26 victory over the Newark school. Saturday the cindermen will compete in the Essex County meet where Coach Rich Ruffalo hopes the Bellboys can pick up some points for placing in events.

There are four more dual meets for the Blue-Gold cindermen this year and coach Ruffalo says he thinks the Bellboys could have a winning season because the upcoming competition is within the class of the BHS talent.

Coach Ruffalo said he was particularly pleased by the results in the win over Newark Tech because many of the Belleville runners' and jumpers improved on their best efforts of the season.

Nick Semaca won the 120 high hurdles with a 15.3 second win. His time improved his previous record by half a second and coach Ruffalo said Semaca's running could provide a first, second or third in the County competition on Saturday. Mark Romanell, who took a third place in the same race, also ran his best time on the Blue-Gold track, according to Ruffalo.

Co-captain Nelson Seda triumphed in the mile event with a 4 minute 48 second run that was his best time on home cinders.

The Bellboy runners swept the field in the 2 mile race when Mike Lamberti, Vinnie Celfo, and Robert Schriek finished first, second and third. Ruffalo noted Celfo's 12 minute 58 second run was his best time, "by far."

Other Belleville winners were John Matera, 440; Nick Semaca, low hurdles; Keith Allum, 880; Fran Morel, discus; Vito Guarino, shot put; Doug Jackson, broad jump and high jump; and Fran Morel, pole vault.

'Jitty' Wische honored

Herman "Jitty" Wische was honored for his 39 years at Belleville High School as coach and athletic director at a testimonial dinner last week on the occasion of his retirement.

More than 200 people filled the Chandelier room to toast "Jitty" and wish him well in retirement. Jerry Bonavita, one of Wische's former players, welcomed the crowd and Seymour Grossman led the opening pledge of allegiance.

Monsignor Thomas G. Fahy, the president of Seton Hall University, delivered the invocation before the dinner. Monsignor Fahy was a friendly rival of Wische's when the Seton Hall Prep and Belleville High basketball teams were involved in the Essex County Basketball Tournament and March of Dimes benefit games that were held in the 1950's.

The introductions after dinner were handled by Joseph B. Grosch, the principal of School Nine. Herman D. Knuppel, head of the guidance department at Belleville High School was the master of ceremonies and Jerry Malloy, "toast-master general of New Jersey," was the speaker for the night. Malloy lightly roasted the guest of honor before presentations were made.

Dr. Hugh Kittel and George Ferro, members of teams Wische coached, presented Jitty with a set of golf clubs for use in Wische's active retirement.

Tom Testa, head football coach at BHS, also spoke to express the good wishes of the entire coaching staff and praised Wische for his services to the school athletic program.

Wische thanked the guests for their honors and said his only wish was that his wife could have shared the honors with him.

Wische began his coaching career in Belleville in 1937 as a teacher in the physical education department. During his career in Belleville he served as basketball coach, assistant coach in football, assistant coach of baseball and coached the golf team. In 1957 Wische was named Director of physical education and athletics.

Wische's basketball teams won the Essex County Tournament in 1948 and 1950. They were runners-up in 1947, 1949, and 1951.

Wische was also instrumental in organizing the Essex County Tournament and served twice as its director. Throughout the years Wische served as an official in football, basketball and baseball for high school and college teams.

Linksmen take Mountie team

The Blue-Gold linksmen defeated Montclair last Friday, 14 1/2 to 3 1/2 for their third win in a row after four losses.

The Bellboy golfers, now 3-4 on the season, will match strokes against cross-town rival Nutley tomorrow, 3:45 p.m. at Forest Hill.

Sophomore Joe Casasse led the Bellboys in the nine hole match with a low score of 42 to pick up three points for the Blue-Gold.

Hugh Mallack, a junior on the Belleville golf team, compiled 2 1/2 points with a 46 total on the nine for the day. Joe Widuch, Mike Flynn, and Dan Dunham rounded out the Blue-Gold scoring with three points each to leave the Mounties in the rough.

Golf coach Mike Salzarulo announced co-captain Joe Casasse qualified for the district competition at Essex County East. The coach said to qualify for the districts, Casasse averaged better than 40 per round.

Track meet

Above, Bellboy cinderman Mike Graham comes round the track in the last lap of the 880 on his way to a third place finish at the East Orange meet last week.

At the bottom, Bellboy jumper Doug Jackson makes one of his attempts at the high jump. Jackson won the event with a 5 foot 8 inch leap but the Blue-Gold lost the meet to East Orange, 64-58.

Retirement fete

More than 200 people honored Herman "Jitty" Wische for his nearly 40 years of service to Belleville at a testimonial dinner at the Chandelier last week. At right, Wische accepts the toast from the crowd that honored him. After coaching many successful basketball squads, Wische was athletic director at BHS for 19 years.

Triple threat — That's what Bellboy Fran Morel has been this year as he has racked up points for the Blue-Gold in field event competitions: The discus, broad jump, and pole vault are Morel's specialties and he has scored in each. Coach Ruffalo says Morel has a chance at throwing the discus 150 feet this year.

Mile medal — Nelson Seda, co-captain of the Blue-Gold track team, took first place in the mile run against East Orange with a 4 minute 50.23 second time. Track coach Rich Ruffalo said Seda could be a possible contender for points in the Essex County meet on Saturday.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF INTENT TO PERFORM FLOOD ELEVATION STUDY

The Federal Insurance Administration of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development announced today that under authority of the National Flood Insurance Act of 1968, as amended, (P.L. 90-448) and the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973, (P.L. 93-234) it will fund a detailed study of the flood hazard areas in the town of Belleville, New Jersey.

The study will be performed for the Federal Insurance Administration and the Department of Environmental Protection, Division of Water Resources, State of New Jersey by Tippetts-Abbett-McCarthy-Stratton, Engineers and Architects of 345 Park Avenue, New York, New York 10022.

The purpose of this study is to examine and evaluate the flood hazard areas in the community which are developed or which are likely to be developed and to determine flood elevations for those areas. Flood elevations will be used by the community to carry out the flood plain management objectives of the National Flood Insurance Program. They will also be used as the basis for determining the appropriate flood insurance premium rates applicable for new buildings and their contents, as well as determining the rates to be used for the second layer of insurance on existing buildings and contents.

This announcement is intended to notify all interested persons of the commencement of this study so that they may have an opportunity at a public meeting, soon to be announced, to bring any relevant facts and technical data concerning local flood hazards to the attention of the Chief Executive Officer of the community for forwarding to the appropriate representatives of the Federal Insurance Administration.

Jayvees keep on winning

The Belleville jayvee baseball team defeated Columbia last week, 17-1, to extend its undefeated streak to 29 games in a row.

The junior Bellboy nine racked up their ninth win of the season with what coach Ralph LaConte called "awesome power and excellent pitching."

The jayvees exploded with four runs in the sixth inning and nine runs in the seventh to clobber Columbia. The batting barrage included a home run in the fifth inning by Ted Seritella and three triples on the day pounded out by Ralph Amiano.

Bellboys competed with the 15 schools from the New York, New Jersey, and Connecticut area that entered the Mid-Hudson Regatta. Giuffrida said he was pleased the varsity was able to down such competition as Liverpool, and traditional powerhouse crew schools such as Atlantic City, and Roosevelt. Giuffrida added a lot of spectators at the Poughkeepsie event complimented the Belleville crew on its talent and racing style.

The jayvee BHS crew took first place in their qualifying heat and finished second in the finals to end their shell season with a 12-6 record. The 2½ second loss to the Roosevelt junior boat was a close one that saw the lead shells far ahead of the rest of the rowers. It also was the first time in four meets the Belleville juniors defeated the Nutley jayvee shell that was also rowing at Poughkeepsie. Giuffrida said the future for his all sophomore jayvee boat "looks extremely good." The coach called the jayvee rowers "a hard working bunch of guys" who dedicated themselves more toward the end of the season even after a tough loss to Nutley in the Goodwill meet. The coach added the junior eight boat was "very psyched-up" and very pleased by the win over Nutley in the finals.

Last year a Belleville senior four man crew took second place in the Stotesbury. All of last year's senior four boat, except for one, will return for tomorrow's competition on the Schuylkill. Giuffrida said the four man shell would have to be considered on a national level at the beginning of the year and tomorrow and Saturday will be the test of his estimation.

Double practice sessions in the morning and afternoon have been conducted by Giuffrida to perfect the Bellboys four man techniques. Giuffrida said the rowers had no intention of looking for a second place finish at the Mid-Hudson meet and the crew is approaching the Philadelphia regatta with the same attitude. "They'll know we're there," Giuffrida said.

Jump sweep — Belleville finished first, second, and third in the broad jump competition against East Orange last week. Doug Jackson, Jim Del Guerchio, and Fran Morel, pictured above, swept the event but the Bellboys lost a close meet to East Orange, 64-58.

Belleville bats with two homers by Greg Dunleavy and a round tripper belted by Nicky Cancelliere. Bob Giordano pitched the win, striking out seven and allowing six hits.

Anthony Gammaro and Greg Petite teamed on the mound for Saturday's shutout over Wayne Valley. Nicky Cancelliere scored the first run for Belleville when he singled in the first and advanced to home on a passed ball and two sacrifices. Dunleavy singled in John Guarino in the fourth to round out the Blue-Gold scoring.

Coach Zanfini said of the upcoming tournament schedule "we've got quite a challenge in front of us but also the ability to meet it."

Rec basketball will tip off soon

Within the next two weeks the Recreation Department will be forming the 1976 Summer Basketball League.

Teams of young men, 15 through 19 years of age, who are interested in playing in the league, must submit a roster to the Recreation Department no later than Monday, May 21.

Individuals not affiliated with a team, may submit their names and they will be placed on a team.

Requirements include that a team must have a minimum of 10 players, and must be sponsored in order to have numbered shirts, colors of shirts approved to prevent duplication, and all players, with one exception, must be residents of Belleville.

Twenty-five Belleville High School seniors are among the more than 5,000 students who have received assistance from the New Jersey State Scholarship Commission, the high school announced this week.

The scholarships, worth $500 a

Villanova medal given to Conway

Robert F. Conway, 85 Van Houten Place, has been selected to receive the alumni medal at Villanova University, it was announced this week.

Conway, a graduate of the class of 1946, will receive the award during the General Alumni Association's annual reunion weekend, May 21, 22 and 23.

The medal is presented to an alumnus for outstanding service to the University through the Alumni Association.

Conway is a supervisor of casualty claims at International Paper Company, New York City. He is married and the father of four children.

year, may be used at any approved university or college in the nation. Awardees were selected on the basis of their financial need and academic achievement.

The awards are renewable throughout the student's undergraduate years, provided he or she continues to show financial need. Award recipients who plan to attend a New Jersey college or university may receive additional aid to cover tuition charges which are in excess of the $500 award. The annual maximum a student may receive is $1,000.

The following students in Belleville High School were awarded the State Scholarship:

Keith Allum, Fatima Anderson, Mary Angelino, Donna Berrigan, Scott Ciccone, Joan Coppla, Diane DeMayo, Maryann Dyba, Frank Frederick, Herminia Gioino, Vito Guarino, Eileen Hagin, Katherine Hammell, Carol Hoehe, Gregory Iacona, Charles Leone, Margaret McManus, Donald Murray, Gregory Petite, Theresa Pettit, Frederick Racioppi, Nancy Skrutskie, Joseph Suella, Joseph Valvano and Douglas Wamsley.

Approximately 10,000 students who did not receive a State Scholarship were offered a tuition aid grant, should they wish to attend an independent college in New Jersey.

Chancellor Ralph A. Dungan, chairman of the State Scholarship Commission, expressed the hope that all students would apply to the federally funded Basic Educational Opportunity Grant Program (BEOG). It is estimated that during the 1976-77 academic year, these grants will range in value from $50 to $1,000. Applications for BEOG assistance are available at Belleville High School and students should contact their high school guidance counselor for information.

It is not unreasonable to be unreasonable at times. — Daniel Haughian

Fairleigh musicale features two Belleville students

Bellevillites Arthur Franz and John Stampone are two students at the Rutherford campus of Fairleigh Dickinson University who will be taking part in "The Merry Month of May," tomorrow in the Coffee House of the Student Union Building.

The festival, presented by the music division of the Fine Arts department of the Rutherford campus, will feature the Renaissance Ensemble of FDU under the direction of Professor Romolo Ferri. Attempting to recreate the bacchanalian spirit of spring in Renaissance time, the festival will include musical instruments of that era which will be krumm horns, a consort of recorders (from the little 5 inch sopranette to the two and a half foot bass recorder, a lute, harpsichord, dumbec drum and various percussion instruments.

The purpose of the fete, which will have players dressed in English peasant costumes of the 14th and 15th centuries, is to buy much needed instruments for the music department.

Tickets for the entire evening's revelry and refreshments are $2.50 per person, with senior citizen and student tickets selling for $1.50 each.

Arbor ceremonies held by children

The children at School One celebrated Arbor Day April 30 by holding a dedication ceremony to commemorate the holiday with the planting of a Red Oak tree on the school's Rutgers Street lawn. Mrs. Mary Hoy directed the event.

Students who took part in the ceremony were Nancy Stahl, Brenda Davis, Ellen Carlson, Ernest Welter, Sharon Finn and John Cappelletta.

Principal Pat Forte concluded the program by saying the tree, which was purchased jointly by the school and the PTA, "Should symbolize the children of School One so that each may grow as tall and strong as a tree."

Miss M. Soprano graduates Paterson

Mary Ellen Soprano, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Soprano, 21 Center Street, will graduate from William Paterson College, Wayne, May 22.

Soprano, who is an early childhood education major, was in Omega Theta Iota sorority and active in intra-mural sports at the college. She is employed part-time by Stop and Shop, Clifton.

Memorial concert planned

Friends of a Caldwell College alumna are determined that her memory will be honored, not mourned. Miss Carol McDermitt, who died last February, will be remembered in a memorial concert, June 20, according to a special announcement made this week.

In making known the plans of the Board of Directors of the Carol McDermitt Memorial Fund, Harrison attorney Gregory Castano explained that proceeds from the fundraising concert will be put in trust.

A choral group composed of alumnae of Caldwell College and Mount Saint Dominic Academy as well as friends of Miss McDermitt are gathering for the concert.

Tickets are available from Board member Castano or by calling Sister Lenore at 226-3660.

Fund raiser set by School Two

School Two will hold its annual fund raiser, Saturday, May 22, in the schoolyard at 670 Mill Street.

The event, which will run from 11:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., will feature refreshments, games, and crafts for all children.

Mrs. Tina Porcelli, a spokesman for the school, said the event should be a success and will be a pleasant outing for both parents and children.

QUESTIONS MOST ASKED BY OUR CUSTOMERS:

IF NUCLEAR ENERGY IS CHEAPER, WHY ARE MY BILLS STILL SO HIGH?

It does cost PSE&G less to produce electricity with nuclear energy than with oil or coal, because nuclear fuel is cheaper than oil or coal.

At present, about 15 percent of the electricity our customers use is being produced by nuclear energy. This results in savings of millions of dollars in fuel costs—savings that are automatically passed on to our customers.

However, the price of oil and coal, which still produce most of our electricity, remains extremely high. In addition, our expenses for materials, labor, environmental controls, interest and taxes—all the costs of providing you with service—have gone up, resulting in higher rates.

Unfortunately, cheap energy is a thing of the past. This is true all across the nation. It's expensive to generate electricity with oil or coal. It's expensive to generate it with nuclear energy. But at least nuclear energy is less expensive, and our best estimates indicate it will continue to cost less. Planning for the future with nuclear energy means you'll pay less for electricity in the years to come than you would if we relied strictly on oil or coal.

That's why PSE&G is convinced that its nuclear energy program is the best way to meet New Jersey's near-term energy needs and to carry us to that time in the future when other methods of producing energy—such as fusion or solar power—become practical.

"Every day we're asked serious questions regarding energy and the wise use of energy. This series of informational advertisements answers many of the questions we most frequently receive and is designed to make facts concerning energy available to all our customers."

Bellevilleite to head school board group caught one in a trap. Fred DeMayo, 397 Union Avenue said he notified the Board of Health on Monday and would call the department again.

Board president Matthew Pica said some one would look into the situation and help correct any problems that may exist.

In other Board business, the members voted 5-1 to tentatively end behind the wheel driver training in Belleville after July. Caesar Romano voted against the proposal.

The Board voted to discontinue the program because, said Superintendent of Schools Anthony Greco, they could not be certain about state funding. The Board indicated, however, the program would go back into the system if the money is made available.

The Schoolers also voted to spend $850 for jackets for the Belleville varsity wrestling squad and $620 for a "mini-sweeper" to clear debris from school areas.

The members turned thumbs down on a proposal to spend $355 for a vacuum cleaner to replace one at the high school.

Valley area on agenda

property, "one of the most important things on our agenda." Grande also indicated his fellow Board members would favor the change to a restricted business zone, adding, "We do not want any industry and no apartments. It would have to be strictly business. We do not want any fly-by-night industries coming in there."

The Planning Board does not have the power to change the zoning for the area, but could make such a recommendation to the Town Commission. The Commissioners would then have to pass the ordinance to make the switch.

According to Grande, while the Commission could reject such a suggestion, "they are usually quite receptive to our suggestions."

As the result of recent passage of an ordinance giving the Planners site plan approval, the plans for the proposed shopping center on the Active property and also those for the Eastwood Nealley land would have to be submitted to the group for approval.

Revaluation tabled

Scott said at some point the Attorney General's office would ask for a show cause order, forcing the town to explain why it had not carried out Blake's order.

"There would probably be a hearing," said the Town Attorney, "and the Commissioners would have the chance to be heard on the issue."

But I don't know what they are going to say."

Scott also said he interpreted the court order as requiring the Commission to vote on the resolution at hand, wiping out the defense of looking for a less expensive firm.

"If the Commissioners could present to the court some concrete proposal by a lower bidder," said the attorney, "the court might consider that. However, this firm did submit the lowest price of those qualified companies checked."

In other business, the Commissioners approved 5-0 a request for a variance by the Cerami Construction Company to build a material storage facility at 292-312 Cortlandt Street.

Attorney Robert Gruhin, representing his wife as an objector, arrived late and missed the public hearing on the request, but spoke later and asked the Board to rescind its approval of the variance. The Commissioners did not.

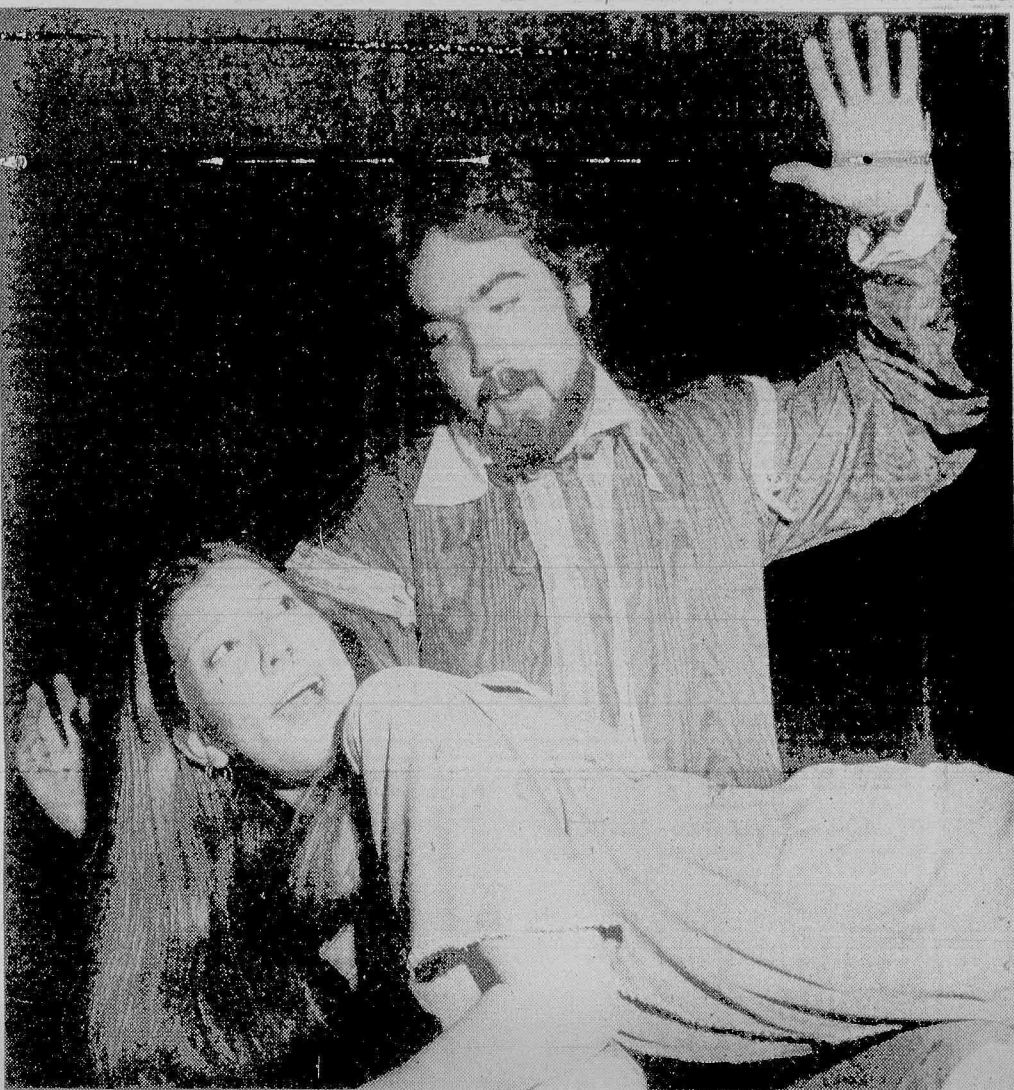

The Board also approved a variance sought by the Forest Equipment & Leasing Company for a building at 567 Franklin Avenue. That vote also was unanimous.

Accountant head promotes field

Mr. Juan Toscano, president of the Essex County Chapter of the National Association of Accountants wants Bellevillites to be aware that his organization works closely with guidance counselors in school systems to provide literature on careers and speakers, and especially information regarding careers in accounting.

In Belleville High School, Director of Student Personnel, Mr. Herman Knuppel, heads up the counseling program. He is able, through forms filled out by the studnets indicating their career and hobby interests, to coordinate guidance programs to help match interest to vocations.

Toscano, who is with the Diamond Shamrock Corporation, Kearny, resides in Belleville with his wife and six children.

Upsala College sophomores Jeff Stone of Belleville and Gina Scherago of Short Hills recently played the leads in the school's production of "Kiss Me Kate." The production, performed by the college's Workshop 90 drama group, is part of Upsala's Bicentennial series honoring American playwrights. Music and lyrics of "Kiss Me Kate" are by Cole Porter and the book by Sam and Bella Spevack.

Roche play group opens tonight

Two Belleville women, Karen Reichelt and Dianne Lollar will be taking part in the fifth annual musical comedy sponsored by Hoffmann-LaRoche.

The play, "The Boy Friend," will be presented tonight, tomorrow and Saturday at 8:30 p.m. at Nutley Senior High School. Tickets are $3 and may be purchased at Peerless Stationery Company, 384 Franklin Avenue, or at the door. Proceeds will benefit the Community Mental Health Services of Belleville, Bloomfield and Nutley.

Currently, vibrant sounds from the past are alive and jumping in the second floor cafeteria of the company after work hours as the cast rehearses songs, dances and caricature comedy under the professional direction of Colley Ballou, Gretchen Johnson and Marion Cohen. This frivolous, fast-moving spoof of musical comedies in the twenties was the Broadway hit of the 50's and introduced Julie Andrews to American audiences.

The Community Mental Health Service is a voluntary organization located on the grounds of the Essex County Geriatrics Center in Belleville. It offers year-round guidance, most often to disturbed children, a therapeutic summer day camp and consultation to parents and school personnel.

The cast for "The Boy Friend" is drawn entirely from Roche employees from various areas.
