All American

Dina Medeiros, small as she is, set a record by being the first Belleville baby born on July 4 at Clara Maass Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Edwino Medeiros beam like all proud parents as Mrs. Shirlee Sherman of the Center of Commerce presented them with just one of the gift certificates presented to the new babe and her parents. Mrs. Sherman was in charge of the Bicentennial Baby program sponsored by the Belleville chamber. Dina was born at 8:07 a.m. on the nation's 200th birthday.

New tax package will cost you more

By PHILIP WHITE

Belleville property owners, on the average, "definitely will be paying more next year because of the new state income tax," Town Treasurer Francis McCoy reported yesterday.

Although the income tax plan has been heralded as offering state aid back to local municipalities, in Belleville's case Trenton will be sending $228,963 which McCoy notes "doesn't even begin to replace the $310,255 Trenton took away from us this past year."

Belleville lost all of its participating shares in the sales tax, business personality tax, bus receipts tax, state aid for roads and state health aid in 1975.

McCoy, who is also secretary of the New Jersey Municipal Finance Association, spent all day Monday meeting with Senator Carmen Orechio of Nutley, in preparation for a presentation McCoy will make to New Jersey's municipalities at a special meeting tomorrow in Toms River.

McCoy figured the income tax effect upon Belleville first and yesterday he reported his findings to the Times/News.

Property owners here will see tax bills dropped an automatic $56 under a complicated formula based on each town's equalized assessments and tax rate.

"That $56 savings will be in addition to any other deductions a homeowner may be entitled to such as the $150 Homestead provision," McCoy continued.

The additional $150 Homestead reduction applies to persons who own the homes they reside in. The reduction cannot be applied to more than one property and can be taken only for the home which the owner actually uses as his place of residence.

Court cuts cop contract

A portion of the contract won by police through arbitration has been struck down by a Superior Court Judge.

Judge Arthur Kimmelman last week upheld the Belleville's contention that arbitrator Julius Malkin had "overstepped his authority" in awarding a two year contract to the members of PBA Local 28. The town had been seeking a one year agreement.

William Escott, president of the local, said the decision was neither a clear cut defeat nor victory for the union, adding, "We are trying to look at this optimistically. We still have binding arbitration, and negotiations for the next contract begin in September. Who knows, maybe we will come out better."

Public Safety Director Rocco Saletta

said he was happy with the decision, and commented, "I am very happy to see that finally the courts came up with a decision that is justified. It was my contention from the beginning that he (the arbitrator) had overstepped his authority. I am very happy not just from my viewpoint, but also from that of the taxpayer."

Saletta said the court decision could eliminate the necessity of further layoffs in the police department, but he indicated the eight men scheduled to go July 30 would still be eliminated. He added, however, "If things brighten up, we may be able to call them back. I would be the first guy to recommend they come back."

The court decision was a Pyrrhic victory for the police officers since it upheld at least a portion of the agreement. Escott said that while the men were pleased their position was upheld, they may still have lost some money.

"We might have realized a better cash settlement this year," said Escott, "if we had been awarded just a one year contract. The arbitrator might have been more generous towards us."

The court decision came after the PBA sought a "show cause" order, requiring the town to justify its failure to put the contract into effect. The town Commission is required to vote on the agreement by resolution.

Last week, Escott said he hoped the needed resolution would be brought up at this week's Commission meeting, but the item was not on Tuesday's agenda.

The approved contract will cost taxpayers approximately $92,000, with the officers receiving an immediate raise of approximately $750, retroactive to April 1 and an additional raise of $700 on September 1.

Arbitrator Malkin, hired by the town, was presented on April 1, and news of potential layoffs was released shortly thereafter. Potentially, the jobs of 10 police officers could be saved by the court decision. Negotiations for next year's contract, however, would bear on the situation.

Neither the PBA nor the town has indicated it would oppose the decision handed down last Thursday.

Town Attorney John Scott, who was unavailable for comment, handled Belleville's presentation.

Free lunches served here

Two Belleville churches have become sites for a Summer Food Service Program funded by the U.S. Department of Agriculture for students in low income areas.

The Dutch Reformed Church, 171 Main Street, and Little Zion Union African Church, 154 Stephens Street have been distributing the lunches since July 1. The meals consist of cold sandwiches, milk, juices, and fruit.

The service is administered by Special Programs for Americans (SPA), a non-profit organization in Elizabeth that prepares 7,000 lunches five days a week for

Manpower changes create controversy

Manpower shifts resulting from upcoming police layoffs have sparked a minor controversy in Belleville.

Commissioner Rocco Saletta last week ordered the removal of police officers from street corners on Washington Avenue, and abolished the "special detail," which patrolled from 4 p.m. to midnight. The Commissioner also transferred three detectives back to uniform service.

According to Saletta, "When you layoff eight people, you can't pay the overtime, so you have to reassign people. What we are trying to do is get some economy and efficiency out of the police department."

PBA president William Escott, one of the three detectives transferred, termed the changes "a cutback on services to the people of Belleville. We are absolutely opposed to them."

According to the Saletta plan, the officers removed from the street corners will be placed back in patrol cars. The men assigned to the special detail will also be put back on normal shift hours.

Escott and Joseph Simonetti, two of the moved detectives, conducted most of the town's narcotics investigations while in plain clothes. That work will now, according to Saletta, be taken up by the other members of the force.

"Most of our narcotics arrests," said Saletta, "were made by patrolmen. Most of our police officers have gone to narcotics school, and this will be an opportunity for them to use that knowledge."

Escott angrily disputed the Commissioner's drug arrest figure, commenting, "If you check the records, you'll find that assistance as have been in effect in Belleville — will save another $50 on local property taxes.

And finally, tenants in apartments will be granted a $65 deduction off the bottom line of their individual income tax payments at the end of the year.

McCoy notes the new $50 tax reduction for senior citizens comes in addition to the $160 already given to those over 65 years of age who make less than $5,000 a year. Those same age and earnings parameters must be met, however, to qualify for the new $50 savings.

Additional details on how property owners will actually receive the savings are still being worked out in Trenton. In some instances, discounts will be made on municipal tax bills. In others, Trenton will send checks to property owners. And in the case of apartment tenants, the $65 discount will be taken before income tax payments are mailed to Trenton.

Sid Glaser, director of the N. J. Division of Taxation, said his Trenton office is presently preparing forms for municipal tax assessors. One of the forms, Glaser notes, will apply to senior citizens wishing to take advantage of the new $50 deduction.

The Belleville Board of Education's allotment in state aid will be increased $673,000, a sum which had already been budgeted by McCoy who anticipated some type of statewide tax would be adopted by the Legislature.

The $673,000 in school aid, therefore, will not serve to further decrease the Belleville tax rate. McCoy notes that the Belleville school allotment isn't all that bad however; neighboring Nutley actually will receive less money under the new state funding plan than under the "old" allotment formula-based student population.

To figure the overall effect on the new income tax in Belleville, a wage earner includes 2 percent tax on gross earnings up to $20,000 and 2.5 percent above $20,000. Deductions permitted are $1,000 for each dependent. Those who are senior citizens or blind deduct $2,000 more.

A median homeowner's saving in Belleville will be $206 on property taxes ($56 on the local formula plus $150 for the homestead provision.) Belleville property owners will save nothing on school or municipal operations. As mentioned earlier, the income tax rebates to Town Hall won't even replace those cuts in state aid forced by Trenton during the past year.

Thus, on an average, McCoy says Belleville residents will be paying more in taxes during the year ahead than ever before.

Town Hall suffered losses in state aid totaling about $310,255 during the past year. This came about when Trenton cut Belleville's share of business tax receipts ($145,801), sales tax revenues ($131,530), state health aid ($6,204), state road aid ($16,221) and bus receipts taxes ($9,499).

The new income tax program will provide Town Hall with only $2-28,963.50 this year although in 1977, when the income tax is collected for a full 12 months, that aid to Belleville will double.

The full 12-month projected state aid program to Belleville, based on the income tax legislative package, eventually will include revenue sharing based on $6.75 per capita according to the 1974 town population as estimated by the N. J. Department of Labor and Industry. Belleville's 1974 population estimate was 38,690 which means Town Hall will receive $261,157.50. Trenton has also agreed to pay 100 percent of the veterans and senior citizens tax exemptions which until the present were shared on a 50-50 basis with municipalities.

McCoy says Belleville has 2,049 veterans receiving exemptions which means $102,450 in additional aid from Trenton. Senior citizens number 1,054 which is worth $84,320 in new aid to Belleville on the full 12-month basis.

"Remember this year Belleville will get only half those totals because the income tax won't be in effect for a full year," McCoy stressed.

Until now, the $100 tax exemption for veterans and the $100 for senior citizens was financed jointly between the town and Trenton. The income tax revenues enable Trenton to pick up the town's half of the program, $50 for each veteran and $80 for senior citizens, or a total of $196,770 which won't have to be raised through local taxes next year.

Census survey is being conducted

Local representatives of the Bureau of the Census will conduct a survey of employment in the Belleville area during the work week of July 19-24.

The survey is conducted for the U.S. Department of Labor in a scientifically designed sample of approximately 70,000 households throughout the United States. Employment and unemployment statistics based on results of this survey are used to provide a continuing measure of economic health of the Nation.

For example, in May the survey indicated that of the 94.6 million men and women in the civilian labor force, 87.7 million were employed. The Nation's unemployment rate was 7.3 percent, down from 7.5 percent in April and substantially below the recession peak of 8.9 percent reached in the second quarter of 1975.

Information supplied by individuals participating in the survey is kept strictly confidential by law and the results are used only to compile statistical totals.

Mike Carlson on USS Dewey

Navy Seaman Apprentice Michael E. Carlson, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carlson, 191 Cortlandt Street, has reported for duty aboard the guided missile destroyer USS Dewey, homeported at Charlestown, South Carolina.

A 1974 graduate of Belleville High School, Carlson joined the Navy in December 1975.

Earnings are up for Public Service

Public Service Electric and Gas Company reports earnings for the twelve months ending May 31 were $2.46 a share compared with $2.06 for the same period ended in 1975.

The improvement in earnings reflects gains in electric sales over the last several months and the higher rates that were effective in June and November of last year. Partially offsetting the rise in revenues were higher operating costs including labor, depreciation and taxes, particularly Federal income taxes.

Milder weather this past winter depressed residential gas heating sales. Gas sales to commercial and industrial customers were also lower in the twelve-month period, reflecting not only the milder winter, but also the sluggish industrial demands and the moratorium on new gas customers.

MAY 1976

Almost 90 percent of the nation's 29.5 million living veterans served in the armed forces during periods of armed conflict, the Veterans Administration reported.

New Jersey has instituted an innovative "Dial-To-Vote" program to make it more convenient for people to register to vote.

Secretary of State J. Edward Crabel said anyone calling the toll free number 800-792-8844 will be sent a mail registration form.

"There is no more appropriate way to celebrate our Nation's bicentennial than by having all our citizens participate in the election of our next president," said Crabel.

"And," he said, "registering to vote is the first step in that process."

Any U.S. citizen who will be 18 years of age by the next election and a resident of the county and state for 30 days by the next election is eligible to vote. The Secretary of State said his office was able to utilize the telephone concept as a direct result of Governor Brendan Byrne's and the Legislature's enactment of mail registration.

Crabel said the way "Dial-To-Vote" works is for a person to call the toll free number where his name and address is taken by a clerk in the Secretary of State's Office. The clerk then forwards the person's name to the county boards of election. There, a county election board worker mails out the postcard registration form to the person seeking to be registered.

During regular business hours, a clerk operates the phone and when the office is closed, a recording device takes over the function.

Crabel said that the "Dial-To-Vote" system will be in effect until April 30th, which is 10 days before the close of registration. He said the reason for this is to have ample time for the people to get registered before the close of registration.

The Secretary of State also pointed out that any citizen can write or call their county board of election and they would mail a voter registration form to their home.

Cable television hearings are set

Town Clerk, Eugene G. Barnett has announced a public hearing has been set for Tuesday, August 10 at 8 p.m. in Town Hall on the operation of a cable television system in Belleville.

Suburban Cablevision, 134 Evergreen Place, East Orange submitted an application April 19 to construct, operate and maintain a cable system in Belleville.

Additional applications will be accepted up until 4 p.m. on July 26.

Interested parties may examine the application at the Town Hall, between 8:30 a.m. and 4 p.m., Monday through Friday except holidays.

Condominium owners would gain protection

Representative Joseph G. Minish (11th District N.J.) called today for federal legislation to protect purchasers of new and converted condominium units.

Minish, chairman of the House Banking Oversight Subcommittee, made his recommendations as the subcommittee completed an intensive investigation of condominium development and sales practices.

DeWitt establishes record increases

Robert M. Williams, President of DeWitt Savings has announced that the Association has reached and passed $75 million in assets and has established record increases in members' savings, general growth, and dividends paid to depositors as of June 30, 1976.

In commenting on the achievements, Mr. Williams noted that DeWitt, established in 1942, has in the past nine years, tripled its assets.

"At the end of the first 25 years of the Association's history," Mr. Williams said, "DeWitt had barely passed the $25 million asset category. The following five year period witnessed a doubling of that figure to $50 million in 1972," Mr. Williams continued, "and in less than four years since that date DeWitt has added another $25 million."

A year ago Mr. Williams, in a financial forecast, had predicted that by the middle of the Bicentennial year DeWitt would reach $75 million in assets. The actual figure reached as of June 30, 1976 was $76,293,439.

106 locations in New Jersey.

Shalom Goldburd, of SPA, said the Bureau of Child Nutrition Programs under the Department of Education in Trenton, informs the SPA what areas are eligible for the summer lunch service. The SPA organization is then reimbursed by the federal government for the meals it distributes to areas approved by Trenton.

School One and the Garden School qualify for the lunch program in Belleville. Goldburd said he was not sure what the requirements were in Trenton for an area to qualify as a low income section.

Cora Boice, a Valley resident, said the service was brought into the School One neighborhood because the Department of Education in Trenton approved it since 30 percent of the residents had income under $10,000 a year.

Site approval hinges on adequate volunteer staffing and facilities, Goldburd said. He added, there were other requirements, such as the lunch cannot be carried home, and is only available to those under 18 years old.

It has been estimated 700 children in the area are eligible for the free meals but attendance has only been about 130 a day at both churches.

The Reverend Paul Ruter, minister of Dutch Reformed Church, said the Board of Trustees of the Church approved the plan after he was contacted by the SPA and asked to sponsor the federally funded program.

"Right now, we're trying to get the staff to come down here and tell us how to operate it in a better way," the Reverend Ruter said. He added, the SPA has not "provided us with the proper means of finding out who is qualified."

The Second Baptist Church, 32 Academy Street, was a location for the summer meal program but it was discontinued due to staff vacations though the children will still be fed at the Dutch Reformed Church and Little Zion Church.

The Belleville churches were contacted, according to Goldburd, as a way of soliciting volunteers from the community. Local PTA groups were also involved in staffing the Second Baptist Church until the service was ended.

Lunches are served each weekday at noon and the program is scheduled to run until September 1.

Commission tables revaluation again

According to Scott, "Though I have not yet received the written opinion, the judge said the licenses should be issued after the fees have been paid. Those fees have been paid, and I am sure the attorney for the taverns will go back to court and he will drag me with him."

Scott said Patrick Fitzpatrick, attorney for the Town Cottage, one of the taverns involved, is supposed to forward a copy of Judge Blake's written opinion to the town, but it had not been received.

Scott appeared in Superior Court July 9 in response to a show cause order issued by the judge July 2, requiring the town to show why it should not grant the licenses. It was at that hearing, according to Scott, Blake ordered the town to issue the licenses.

The Town Attorney said, should a final appeal by Belleville prove successful, the licenses could be revoked immediately. Such a decision is not expected for some time, however. Scott also said a decision on the stay requested by Zinna was not expected for "a couple of weeks."

Judge Blake also directed the local police department to stop issuing summonses to the bars in which the machines were operating. There are a number of cases pending before Municipal Court for operation of the games without the required licenses.

The Commissioners also put off action on revaluation, another matter before the Board on which Judge Blake has ruled.

The town has been given until August 15 to appropriate $149,000 to pay for revaluation, under threat of being held for contempt of court.

Motorists warned can't take CB radios to Canada, Mexico

Vacationing motorists planning to operate Citizens' Band radios in Canada or Mexico may have the units confiscated or sealed if they fail to obtain the necessary permit beforehand, the president of the New Jersey Auto Club (AAA) has warned.

Matthew J. Derham cautioned applications that permits must be made in advance of border crossings. Due to a backlog in requests, he urged CB operators to allow plenty of time for application processing before a planned motor trip.

Derham stated that Mexico-bound motorists should write to the Secretaria de Comunicaciones, Mexico City, D.F., for information on obtaining a permit. Otherwise, he said, the units may be confiscated.

Travelers not planning to use their CB units in Mexico can request border authorities to place a seal on the unit. Sealing does not damage the equipment, but merely renders it inoperative. Removal of the seal is permitted only by border authorities upon returning to the U.S. If the seal is broken prior to re-entry, stiff penalties are imposed, the New Jersey Auto Club officials noted.

To operate a CB unit in Canada, a permit must be obtained from a Regional Office of the Canadian Department of Communications.

Mr. Derham warned that Canadian law provides for confiscation of CB equipment operated without permission. As in Mexico, border authorities will seal units whose owner does not hold a valid permit.

Applicants also must possess a valid Class D license issued by the Federal Communications Commission. A copy of the Class D license should be attached to the application. Canadian permits expire the same day as the applicant's Class D license.

Cozzarelli group elects officers

The James Cozzarelli Association held its second monthly meeting on Wednesday, June 23, at Parrillo's Restaurant, Belleville. The following officers were elected:

Richard Vallario, President; Joan Lukowiak, Executive Vice President; Skip Jordano, Financial Vice President; Tom Mullen, Vice President of Development; Sal La Monte, Vice President of Community Affairs and Public Relations; Peter Vaccarelli, Vice President of Programming; Art Pellechio, Treasurer; Jeanette Dwyer, Recording Secretary; and Terry Eldardo, Corresponding Secretary.

Richard Larios was appointed a Director of the Association, leaving one directorship vacant at this time.

The following chairpersons were also appointed at the June meeting to chair the association's committees:

Frank Custode, Public Relations Committee; Annette Severini, Special Activities; William Cunningham, Financial; Art Pellechio, Jr., Fund Raising; John Allum, Internal House Committee; Ann DiRuggiero, By-Laws; Jeanette Dwyer, History; Elizabeth Pisano, Membership; and Phil Massarsky, Program/Internal.

Ralph DiRuggiero, Executive Director of the Association, reported the Association presently has 250 members, and added each present member attending the next monthly meeting should strive to bring an interested friend to join the Association and aid the handicapped.

The next meeting of the Association will be held August 17, 7:30 p.m. at Parrillo's Restaurant.

Following the election of officers at the June meeting, Richard Vallario, newly-elected President of the Association, took the podium to thank the general membership for his appointment and acquaint them with his future goals for the Association. Vallario, an attorney in Belleville, stated he was certain his job as president would be made a good deal easier by the presence of highly qualified and enthusiastic individuals in key positions as his fellow officers. He stated he looked forward to a year of great progress and development under their joint dedication to this very noble and worthy cause.

Joan Lukowiak, as Executive Vice President, stated she is a special education teacher in the Belleville School system, and through her past experiences in the field, she will further be able to assist the Association in meeting the needs of the mentally handicapped.

James Cozzarelli spoke to the Association, at the conclusion of the election of officers and committee workshop session, and announced the formation of various goals and ideas. He stated the A&P five percent refund contribution to non-profit organizations on a pre-arranged day would be utilized by the Association to raise money, and that a resource library is planned to benefit citizens in distress so they will be able to locate the various aid and organizations to assist them in their special needs.

Special detail abolished

50 percent of the narcotics arrests made last year were made by the Narcotics Squad. The Commissioner's statement was inaccurate and he shouldn't make such a foolish statement without first checking the facts.

In addition to some internal dissension over the moves, several Washington Avenue merchants expressed displeasure at the removal of officers from street corners there.

"Crossing the street without an officer is somewhat of an adventure," commented Milton Goldfarb, owner of Milt's Camera store, located on Washington Avenue and Rutgers Street. "The way people barrel through this light, it will be a miracle if nobody is killed."

"Personally," said Stanley Slavin, owner of the Terry Shops, "it takes away a tremendous sense of security. It was comforting to know there were police officers available if there was any trouble."

The merchants interviewed, however, expressed most concern for the safety of pedestrian shoppers. "If I didn't run to one woman's rescue today," said Mrs. Sol Sherman, a local merchant, "she would have been killed. With all the children and senior citizens around here, I don't feel they should remove the officers."

Police Chief Joseph Smith called the transfers "an attempt to compensate for the impending layoffs," but he added, "It will cut down to a certain extent some of the services, particularly in traffic direction and in the detective bureau." Smith said he did not anticipate any further manpower changes.

There has been some mention of one-man patrol cars during daylight hours, and Commissioner Saletta has apparently not ruled out the possibility.

According to PBA head Escott, the changes in the department have had an adverse effect on the mental attitude of the police officers, adding, "the morale in the department is totaled."

Escott said elimination of the special detail was "worse than doing away with the narcotics squad."

"The special detail," he said, "handles corner crossings from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m., bank crossings on Monday night and church crossings on Sundays. If they intend to handle these crossings, a man will have to be taken out of the cars, reducing the manpower there."

Escott also said the special detail was valuable since it "backed up" other units when assistance was needed.

Public Safety Director Saletta indicated the changes would, "give the people as much security and coverage as they received before, and it's only a matter of reassigning the men."

The Commissioner defended his moves, saying, "It's very difficult to make people understand what is going on. We just can't pay a lot of overtime. I reduced the overtime in the fire department and made it more efficient and I'm trying to do the same here. Now that they have a guy who wants to make changes for the department, there are a lot of noses out of joint."

"It's not my job," he continued, "to let them run their merry way. It's my job to get efficiency out of the department."

Saletta denied any of the transfers from the detective division — Escott, Simonetti and Harry Lanno — were made for anything other than "management" reasons. "I didn't just pull noses out of the air. There is nothing personal about any of this."

Auxiliary cop fires shot

(The following letter, received recently by the Times/News is run in its entirety because of its interest to the general public. We will be happy to provide equal space to either Commissioner Rocco Saletta or one of his representatives for a response.)

To the Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to address the citizens of Belleville and the readers of this paper. My comment, I believe, is of the utmost importance.

I have been a citizen of Belleville for 21 years. I have attended Belleville schools and have grown proud of Belleville's fine police department. On occasion, I have found it necessary to contact the police department for information and services, and have found it to be made up of the most efficient and courteous people I've known.

My occupation is that of Correction Officer. I am employed by the State of New Jersey and I am a member of the Patrolman's Benevolent Association, Local 105. As a professional law enforcement officer, I am fully aware of the compounding difficulties facing law enforcement personnel today. Unfortunately, the general public is not educated in what it takes to be a cop. The stereotyped red-necked cop of a generation ago still remains burned in the minds of just about everybody. People do not realize just what makes a cop today.

A law enforcement officer today is young and concerned. He or she is educated. Most officers have completed or are attending college. Some agencies require college background before applications are even accepted. And most of all, with continuing rises in crime of all types, today's officer faces a most, if not the most, dangerous job around.

There is a strenuous academic and physical test involved before becoming a cop. A 16-week period of training at a police academy is also mandatory. Only after this is a cop ready to take command of his responsibility — and that responsibility is overwhelming.

While the critics of police organizations are busy searching for facts to defame and ridicule the police, the officers who are being ridiculed are out protecting those who speak against them. If the critics consider police work so easy and simple, I would like to see just one critic put on a uniform and walk the street at night. I would like to see just one critic direct traffic in a blinding snowstorm, or work under the pressures of swing shifts and working weekends and holidays.

The critics fail to realize that while they are home on Christmas morning with their children, the police department is just as active as it was the day before.

People who condemn so soon forget the time they called the police for aid. They soon forget that without the police and their enormous dedication, Belleville would not be the safe town it is. I would like to see some of the fault-finding individuals of this town walk the streets of Newark after dark!

You who criticize believe today's cop is a god. He is supposed to be incapable of fault and is supposed to be there when you, the taxpayer, demands it.

To me, a cop is a god. There are very few men or women who have the guts to even respect police work. Everybody complains when they receive a parking ticket, but they fail to realize that if they were not illegally parked, they would not have gotten the ticket to begin with.

A cop today is a god, but he is also a human being with human emotions. He is subject to becoming angry. He has an opinion, and he also has a family.

He has a wife and children, just like you do. He has a mortgage and pays taxes as does everyone who condemns him.

The rise in crime is ever present, and with the rise in crime comes the need for more policemen. But the town of Belleville, the town in which I was raised, has found it necessary to layoff officers. This, I believe, is absurd. We all feel today's pressure with inflation and we do have the need for more town funds, but remember, a police officer, with his family, mortgage, taxes and expenses is also included in today's tight money bracket.

When I heard the town and the Commissioner of Public Safety planned to layoff cops at a time when we need to hire more, I became disgusted. I found that I was no longer proud to be a citizen of Belleville. You, the obstinate reader, may now suggest that I move if I don't like it. Running away is no answer. If the colonists whose 200th birthday we just celebrated, ran away instead of fighting, you, the critic, would not be sitting in your easy chair today, drinking your can of beer, watching the ball game and defaming those who are out on the street safeguarding your body and your home.

For three and a half years, I have been a member of the Belleville Auxiliary Police, a volunteer organization of Belleville citizens who donate time and effort to lend aid to the Belleville Police Department. I have served them well and have done more for that organization than any 10 members put together. When the Belleville police protested the layoff of eight officers by picketing a dinner sponsored by the Commissioner of Public Safety and the civic organization of which he is a part, I chose to march with my brother officers and support them as best I could.

As a result of my effort and concern, as a result of my dedication to law and order, as a result of my opinion (to which I am most truly entitled), I received a letter from the Chief of the Auxiliary Police instructing me to turn in my uniform. I was discharged from the organization.

There was no formal hearing planned. There was no suspension from duty pending a hearing. I was not even given the courtesy of being told in person. I merely received a form letter telling me I was through. I was expelled over an incident of pride which had no concern with the auxiliary organization.

Two other officers who chose to express their opinion, a right which our Constitution grants, were also discharged. When our Town Fathers, our town leaders, fail to support the democratic ideals and Constitutional rights that put them in office, it is a dark, dark day in the Town of Belleville. I hope you, the critic, read this letter well. As I do not wish to imply that town politicians are tools and property, I must declare that I will continue to support the police department of which I am so proud. I am not for sale! I will not be bought. I will, however, continue to do all I can for the police department of this town.

Remember, when the police are laid off, and you need help; when a drug addict tries to break into your home; when you are injured in a traffic accident and need immediate help; when you wish to file a complaint in the course of the law, don't call a cop — call a politician.

Those who condemn may call a cop a pig. You may interpret the word pig to mean anything you wish, but to me, it means and will always mean Pride, Integrity and Guts.

Those are qualities I am sure very few of you possess.

Psalm 4 — a prayer for a peaceful rest

When I call, answer me, O my just God,
You Who relieve me when I am in distress;
Have pity on me, and hear my prayer!
Men of rank, how long will you be dull of heart?
Why do you love what is vain and seek after falsehood?
Know that the Lord does wonders for His faithful one;
the Lord will hear me when I call upon him.
Tremble, and sin not;
reflect, upon your beds, in silence.
Offer just sacrifices,
and trust in the Lord.
Many say, "Oh, that we might see better times!"
O Lord, let the light of Your countenance shine upon us!
You put gladness into my heart,
more than when grain and wine abound.
As soon as I lie down, I fall peacefully asleep,
for You alone, O Lord,
bring security to my dwelling.

Saletta is assailed again

To the Editor:

I'd like to express my feelings toward the recent statement Commissioner Rocco Saletta made referring to the Belleville Police Department.

How could he layoff police officers when right now we are short of these guys? Mr. Saletta lives in a nice section of town. Why does he need policemen patrolling his area? There are no stores, no burglaries, no muggings, no break-and-enterings in his area.

He doesn't need policemen. We do, though. The people who live in the Valley, in Silver Lake, Soho, and close to Washington Avenue need policemen. People from Newark aren't far from us, and I can tell you we need these fine men.

I worked for the town for a little over two years and I know what is going on. I worked in the court for two months in Belleville, and these guys take a lot of abuse. It takes guts for these men to patrol this area. They care.

Where is Commissioner Saletta going to find men like these when he really needs them? He wouldn't be able to.

For over a year, I worked for the police department as a typist, typing the records up for the detective bureau. I know what is going on there. I got laid off and now I hear a rumor that somebody is going to fill my position. Why doesn't Commissioner Saletta start there and not hire anybody?

There are people in that Town Hall who don't do a damn thing. Let them go. They walk around all day doing nothing.

These police officers have families. How are they going to support them on $96 a week. That's the most unemployment pays, and under the new law, they can only collect for 36 weeks. That is disgusting. They are not going to find a decent job in 36 weeks.

We the people have to do something about this, because, without us, the Commissioner won't budge. I'm sure he can find the money to pay these guys. This town isn't hurting for money, and if he wanted to, he could pay these men.

One thing I'll say now, and I will stick to it — If he lets these men go, I'll be damned if I vote for him next time around!

Come on, people, do something to help these men. They care about us, why not show them how much we care about them?

Let's do it and do it now.

Still more flak on cop layoffs

To the Editor:

I would like to direct this letter to Public Safety Commissioner Rocco Saletta.

Mr. Saletta, don't lay off eight Continued on page 5.

Golden Comments

By James R. Golden

Not since the late 40's when Commissioner Lou Noll was Belleville Public Safety Director has there been the stern command now exercised over the men in the department until present boss of the boys in blue, Commissioner Rocco Saletta, came into the picture.

Saletta, with forceful, gruff Joe Granese as his deputy police commissioner, is throwing his weight around, laying down the law as to who is boss and ordering many shake-ups designed to improve efficiency and paramilitary discipline in the department.

Many old familiar faces will be observed in different roles. The popular, always friendly "old guard" of the police department, officers Bernie Tinsdale, O.B. "Moon" O'Brien and "Red" Sutton, have fallen victims of the downtown business doldrums. There are no longer a sufficient number of shoppers to merit keeping these faithful minions of the law on those formerly busy corners they patrolled so competently for many years.

The detective bureau will see a few changes also. Daytime one-man patrol car operation looms as well as prospects of some innovations of drastic nature in the fire department.

Overall, Commissioner Saletta is asserting himself. He won an election, and he has a job to do. He is resolutely determined to see that it is done right — his way. The days of the tail wagging the dog seem to be over. Fairness with firmness appears to be his thought of how his department should serve the people. There can be found little fault with such a policy.

Revaluation — Bah! Up in Nutley, the revaluation firm is using a guide of arbitrarily increasing present assessments 86 percent.

Example: a $20,000 home goes to $37,200; a $30,000 home goes to $55,800; a $40,000 home goes to $74,400 and a $50,000 home goes to $93,000. How do you like them berries? Stinks, don't it?

Essex County's Independent State Senator, Anthony Imperiale, said the best in describing the burdensome new state income tax when he asserted, "This is a Christmas present caved in to the courts and Byrne by passing the income tax under the threat of school closure."

"All these bills are bull," Imperiale added.

The teachers' lobby and the plitudinous politicians have done it again, as they generally always do. They used the kids. They held them in the manner of a Damocles sword, with the help of the only apostate Republican, Wayne Dumont, serving in the role of the hair which held it. They did this to steamroller and railroad this vicious tax down the throats of people who yearn for more economy in government with retrenchment and elimination of excessive $40,000 pensions for former judges and governors.

The roll call vote of all the legislators who voted for this tax, along with Governor Byrne's hawk-eyed picture should be kept under the pen that you sign your paycheck with, after observing this new additional deduction from your pay so that you can remember who not to vote for the next time they run for anything.

Senator Alfred Beadleston (R-Monmouth), one of the state senate's most capable members and a probable candidate for governor when it comes time to dispose of bad, bad Byrne, called the "self-destruct" provision of the tax bill a hoax.

He rightly said, "You can't possibly raise $700 million and self-destruct this again. In my opinion, elements of the package designed to lower property taxes were 'window dressing.'"

What can we anticipate? That's easy. When the teachers' lobby, NJEA, gets its way with higher salaries for the educators and we need even more money for education, all they will have to do is increase the income tax from 2.5 percent to five percent.

It's so simple.

HELEN'S THING

Breakdowns, journey, my youth

By HELEN MAGUIRE

Odds and ends.

I sit in limbo waiting for the third appliance housed in this domain to throw in the towel. If you read this column with any regularity, you know how superstitious I am, especially my belief that happenings, good or bad, occur in threes. Every so often, something happens to bolster this belief, i.e. three out of four of my darlings stricken with tonsillitis within a few days of each other, this month.

THE OTHER morning, I heard what can only be described as a horrendous sound emerging from the basement and further investigation revealed that one part of the washer (which in truth, owes me nothing), had decided to detach itself from the rest of the machine. Rod came down in answer to my wails and pushed the wandering part back into its proper spot, and the machine condescended to wash another load with no further outbursts. It is still washing after a fashion, but in order for it to spin, one must maintain a firm grip on the metal piece surrounding the tub and the sensation which results is something akin, I am sure, to one Produced by one of those reducing machines destined to remold the flabby female shape.

This morning, Rod vowed he would take the little darling apart when he got home from work and try to effect permanent repairs and promptly on hearing this good news, the belt on the dryer snapped and immobilized that machine. Replacing the belt is no big deal. The biggest deal will be for me to find the Sears' parts distribution center which is located somewhere in Fairfield. The fact that I have been there once before matters naught. My sense of direction is abominable. Desperation, I am sure, will guide my way.

AS SUMMER approached this year, Layne and I determined that we would take the six kids on some day trips related to America's history, especially appropriate during this Bicentennial year. The six were all for it although a couple of their suggestions would have entailed cross country excursions. What with Vacation Church School and other commitments (including the fact that both mothers work) getting in the way, Tuesday was the first free day we had.

Not wishing to bite off more than we could chew, we started out modestly with a trip to Morristown, packing a picnic lunch to take along and assigning seats in the bus by lottery. We had a good day, visiting the Ford mansion where George Washington lived during the winter of 1779-80, the adjacent museum, the Visitors' Center (don't miss the movie), the Wicke farm and the soldiers huts and hospital in Jockey Hollow. Total cost: $1 in Parkway tolls, $1 for the two adults to get into the Museum and a small quantity of gas.

ON THE WAY home, we turned into my old alma mater, Drew University in Madison and had a quick tour of part of the campus. Beautiful as ever. Brought back memories of my long gone youth. The kids say our next stop is Philadelphia. We'll see.

THE STATE WE'RE IN

Moore's law: indecision is proportional

As a longtime bureaucracy-watcher, I've formulated Moore's Law, which goes like this: The indecision making capacity of a bureaucracy grows in direct proportion to the number of bureaucrats it contains.

I must sadly report that Moore's Law applies just as much to what we like to think of as good bureaucracies (the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency; in this case) as to bad ones (you name 'em). Moore's Law frequently manifests itself through decisions which seem to ignore the wishes and best interests of the general public.

For example, EPA recently decided there was no need to prepare an environmental impact statement for the proposed Rockaway Valley interceptor sewer and initial treatment plant. That means, of course, that no bureaucrats will have to create or assess the statement.

The public's desire for environmental impact statements was expressed by Congress when it enacted the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969, usually called NEPA. That law says an environmental impact statement is required for any major Federal action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment, which includes the Rockaway Valley.

Although if everything required a full blown environmental impact statement, everything would stop in its tracks, at least temporarily (a gleeful prediction by some developers and other special interest types who resent environmental concerns standing between themselves and a fast buck). It's hard for many people to understand why an environmental impact statement is not in order for the Rockaway Valley project though.

The Rockaway Valley Regional Sewerage Authority petitioned EPA for funds to construct 13.7 miles of interceptor sewer from Roxbury Township to Boonton and an initial treatment plant. That's part one of a multi-phased, total wastewater management plan for the Rockaway Valley.

Note that the interceptor line is planned to carry 21 million gallons per day, but the initial treatment plant would only treat 12 million gallons per day. The extra nine million gallons per day is the interceptor line's reserve capacity.

In graphic terms, this means that when the plant inevitably gets upgraded for another nine million gallons, 90,000 more people could be served by the system. Anything which can encourage 90,000 more people in the area over the next 10 or 20 years (that's double the present population, incidentally) appears to me to have a significant environmental impact, and probably not a good one! One of the good steps taken by EPA — credit where credit is due — is the fact that at least they stopped at 90,000, based on a rough estimate of resource capacity.

EPA allows that it will call for an environmental impact statement when the pressure comes for raising the capacity of the treatment plant. That would require analysis of environmental impacts of the increased population, and a decision whether or not to enlarge the plant. Such a decision forecloses one of the major functions of an impact statement, the assessment of alternatives. Lots of alternatives will be foreclosed by EPA's move, such as a series of small treatment plants upstream. Unfortunately, the enlargement study would be too late. The interceptor, with its reserve capacity, would have been long installed. Such an interceptor is the backbone of any wastewater treatment system. Once it's there, branch lines and boosted treatment facilities are foregone conclusions; self fulfilling prophecies. The time will have run out for alternatives which could be far more environmentally desirable.

It seems beyond doubt that, insofar as the present 90,000 occupants of the area are concerned, the foregoing planned action constitutes a major federal action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment.

Unless it can prove that the Rockaway Valley is not part of the human environment, EPA should require a detailed environmental impact statement for the total wastewater management plan right now, before the die is cast.

police officers when you know as well as I do, we need them.

For instance, do we really need meter maids? You mean to tell me that you're willing to sacrifice the income of eight men, most of whom with families to support, but you will continue to pay these maids for handing out tickets to people who may be a few minutes late from an appointment? Is that job more important than the safety of Belleville? Do these women really have any training in public safety?

Next time a problem arises, I'll call a meter maid, or maybe I'll call you.

Why can't Belleville utilize its force by doing some of the jobs now held by others, such as crossing school children in the mornings and afternoons. Make due with your force like other towns do.

As a taxpayer in this town and as a concerned citizen, I feel these layoffs are unnecessary and a cop out on the part of our politicians. Where is all the money going? Better still, what is Belleville coming to when we can't even afford to pay our policemen?

Or can we?

Chenoweth knocked for his negativism

To the Editor:

I am replying to Mr. George Chenoweth's "Senior notes" of July 1. I would like to correct him for saying, in other words, we can't win. I, as a senior citizen, know that this is not true. During the month of May, on the news media, Governor Brown of California indicated "Lifeline," called FAJR Share in that state, was in progress and doing well.

So, I knew I was going to visit California for the month of June, and all the people I had talked to out there, my friends and relatives, are very pleased. They also expressed how industry has awakened to the fact they were wasting electricity.

My friends and relatives and more people I contacted through introductions have not been hurt by paying higher prices on needed, manufactured products. In fact, its nearly 10 months in progress, I believe, I priced a good many things while there, and it is no different than here. In fact, some of their food products are lower than ours.

So, Mr. Chenoweth, don't let Mr. Joel Jacobson or anyone from the PUC brainwash you. Get your seniors together and meet with the PUC and push toward Lifeline and show you have the brains you were born with.

Credit is due to Class of '26

To the Editor:

At the time of the Awards Night at Belleville High School, two unusual gifts were presented.

In the name of the class of 1926, Wilfred Yudin presented two money gifts to graduates, both of whom were going on to college.

The 50-year graduates agreed the monies left from their reunion should go back to the school in some manner, and the awards were decided upon.

The only publicity the alumni wanted was for Belleville residents to know that a group of 50 former graduates, many of them living great distances away, want to remember the high school where their four student years were spent so many years ago.

He's always at bat for cops

William Escott has been going to bat for the Belleville PBA both on and off the field in recent weeks.

As catcher for the patrolmen softball team, Bill Escott has provided many of the key hits in their win streak.

It's William Escott's role as president of the Belleville PBA Local #28 that has him going to bat against lay-off plans proposed by the Department of Public Safety.

Escott, 31, said his leadership post is "the toughest spot I've ever been in, especially now when there's a lot of controversy. Anybody can run the show when it's going good though."

The show in the police department has been in a commotion however, since the police negotiated a raise and the scheduled layoffs were announced. Escott was one of several detectives who were assigned back to patrolman duties.

"I have to look philosophically," Escott said. "I'm a cop. I have to do a good job whether I'm a detective or a policeman." The PBA leader acknowledged however, detective work is completely different from patrolling. Escott said detective is a more prestigious job, "probably because of the media." He said people react more impressed with a detective than with a uniformed cop.

Escott echoed the old saying "everybody loves a fireman, nobody loves a cop, until they need one." He said the public's impression of a policeman is "The guy who gives you a ticket." This image of the police is not consistent with their job, according to Escott. "Ninety percent of your time is spent helping people," he said.

The helpful aspect of the sometimes thankless profession is what attracts Escott to police work. "I love it. I don't ever see myself doing anything else for a living. I love being a cop, it's the most satisfying job in the world. To be a cop, you have to want to help people."

"You'll find that cops have more compassion than most people, contrary to popular belief," Escott added. If popular views have been reinforced by TV cop shows, the Belleville policeman said "Police Story" is the most accurate account of a policeman's world. "They show you the way you really are," Escott said. "You're a person first, then you're a policeman."

The personal life of the PBA president is another factor that has made the negotiations of recent weeks interesting. Escott is the son-in-law of Mayor Michael Marotti. He married Cecilia Marotti in 1969, and now has had the experience of picketing his wife's father.

"He's my father-in-law, and I love him as a father-in-law," Escott said. "But both of us have the ability to separate personal feelings from professional problems. We can separate that. If the men didn't know that, I wouldn't be president of the PBA."

Born in East Orange, Escott graduated from high school there and served for four years in the Navy. His tour of duty included nine months in Vietnam on a small destroyer in the Mekong Delta. It was in the Navy, when he was a security guard at a Rhode Island base, Escott said he began to think of policeman as a career.

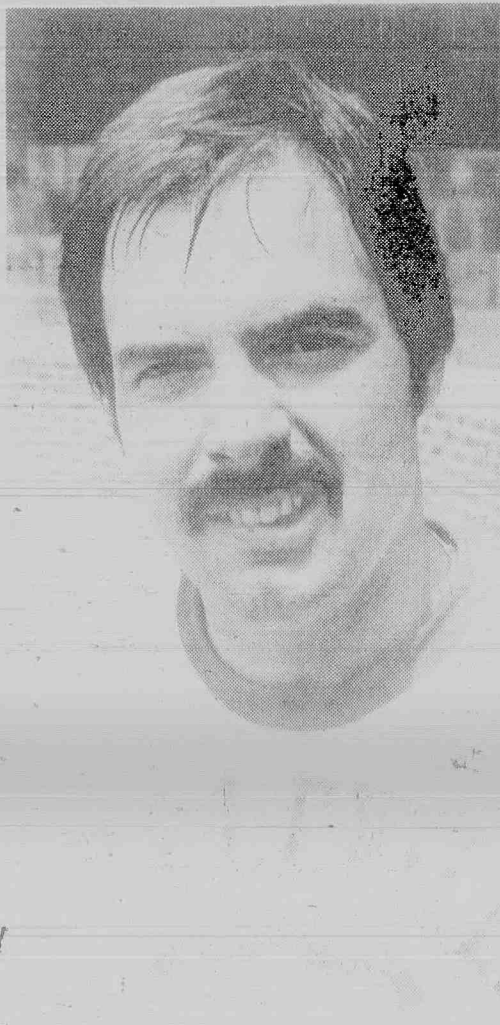

Escott worked for Ma Bell for two years after the Navy, then the Belleville signal division of the Fire Department and in 1971 the Police Department.

Escott's recent detective duty included narcotics investigation and he said the town has no major drug problem. He added however, T.H.C. a derivative of marijuana is becoming "popular." Escott added most of what is being called T.H.C. in town is actually an animal tranquilizer sold to kids who don't know any better.

Belleville has one of the finest police departments around, according to Escott. "You call for a policeman in Belleville, you never have to wait for more than five minutes," he said. While in Newark, "it's nothing to wait half an hour for a police car for a minor problem." Escott added, "we have a young department, we're proud to be cops."

Escott has lived in Belleville for seven years. "I think it's a hell of a town. The people are super. For the most part, they support the police."

The Belleville lawman and his wife Cecelia have two sons: Billy, age five; and Michael, who was three this week.

Twenty-two years ago

Fred Idenman of Winnipeg purchased the property at 37 Van Rensselaer from the Boyd estate.

Edward Norton was given a welcome home party at the home of his sister, Mrs. Michael Gorman.

Among those present were Robert Anderson, Nelson Marsden, John Flynn, Frank McGraff, James Travers, Edward Lister, Frank Burke, John Sullivan, Joe Procolli, Mr. and Mrs. Louis McGregor, Mrs. A. Dunn and daughters, Mrs. Redding, and Mr. and Mrs. Weston.

The event was to commemorate Mr. Norton's return from his journeys, and was expected to be the high point of the Belleville town events.

Frank Neary, who recently served his country in France, finally returned home, and was sent to Camp Steward, Vermont.

The boys in blue set for title battle

By JOSEPH RYAN

The police playoffs were swept by the Belleville PBA softball team last weekend, when the diamond lawmen downed Montclair, 22-14, on Saturday and defeated East Orange, 14-9, Sunday.

The local lawmen will begin their defense of last year's title when they confront the winner of this week's Maplewood-West Orange contest for a three game series, starting Saturday morning at 10 on Clearman Field.

The Belleville men in blue are the defending Essex County Police Softball League champions and they compiled an 11-2 record on their way to this year's final series.

The outlook is bright for the local men in blue to repeat their championship with back-to-back triumphs. The Local 28 cops clobbered West Orange this year, 16-8, and confined Maplewood to nine runs, in a 12-9 victory.

Player-coach George Sheridan said the PBAers were psyched for the Montclair and East Orange playoff matches. "The whole team was hitting better and playing better defensive ball," Sheridan said. The coach also cited the play of catcher Bill Escott in the patrolmen playoffs. "He was coming through with the timely base hits needed to spur the team on," the cop coach said.

The first post-season contest saw the Local 28 men stop Montclair and write-up 22 runs on the Belleville scorecard against 14 violations of the plate by Montclair.

Belleville's finest scored twice in the first. George Sheridan tripled home Joe Simonetti, who was on with a walk. Sheridan crossed the plate on a sacrifice fly RBI by Tony LaVista, who patrols

Bruins take slight slide

A long weekend road trip proved troublesome to the Bruins as they lost three out of four games but they remain in first place of the Essex County League.

The Bellevilleites dropped contests to the South Orange Dolphins, 10-4; the Union Rockets, 7-4; and the Livingston Giants, 4-2. The fortune of the bear ball-players turned on Sunday however and their road trip took the winning path at East Orange, where they beat the Panthers, 6-5.

The Bruins, now 18-5 and four and a half games in front of Verona, will travel to play West Orange tonight and face the Maplewood Maples away on Saturday. Sunday the Bruins will return home to challenge the West Orange Red Sox and will stay home for a Monday game with Verona, then a Wednesday contest against the Maples.

Dennis Sasso, coach of the Bruins, explained the recent woes of the defending champion team by saying, "I think we got a little complacent."

The Bellevilleites have also encountered some problems with their mound staff. "We've been getting a railroading from a couple of our pitchers," Sasso said. "We haven't been able to use them because they're pitching somewhere else."

Sasso remains confident in the team's overall ability however. "We have a good solid line-up. We'll bounce back."

The three game downslide for the Bruins started at South Orange with a 10-4 loss to the Dolphins. The Bellevilleites started their scoring late in the game, the sixth inning. Singles by Frank Petite and Bob DeJianne were followed by a Danny Dunn base hit which knocked in Petite.

The local diamonders ended their scoring with three runs in the seventh. Rocky Guarino singled and Kevin Goy drew a walk. Leftfielder Tony Marinello then singled home Guarino and Dunn drove home Marinello and Goy with a

Blue streak

The Belleville PBA softball team streaked its way through the Essex County Police Softball League playoffs by defeating Montclair, 22-14, Saturday, and taking the East Orange lawmen, 14-9, Sunday morning. Above, Al Spencer prepares to pound the ball for a triple. The local lawman also had a double and drove in three runs in the East Orange game. Tony LaVista, at right, sends another pitch past the opposition. Lawman LaVista connected for two doubles and a triple in Sunday's game. ## Rec program rolling ahead

With summer here, Belleville's 13 playgrounds are full of activity with parties and sports highlighting the agenda at every location.

The Summer of '76 was opened at School Nine with a watermelon jam-boree, followed by a softball game which included both boys and girls.

At Number Eight, "tennis ball," played similar to baseball, but with a tennis ball, is a popular sport. In that game, Joe Guarino leads with 36 homeruns in ten games; Louis Riccardi is second with 27, and Mario Columbrito is third.

Not to be outdone by School Nine, School Eight, also indulged in the favorite summer fun of watermelon eating. Those who partook of most of the fruit were Lennie Splendoria, Philip Matto, and Donna and John Cosentino.

Winning has been getting easier for the Belleville Legionnaires as the season progresses. Last Sunday the Post 105ers beat Montclair, 3-2, and Monday the Bellevilleites were victorious over the Millburn team, 5-2.

The Legion nine, now 5-7 for the year, will have a chance for a winning season with their last games starting tomorrow night, home against Irvington at 6. The Legionnaires will close out the season on the road at Maplewood, Saturday night at 6.

Cedar Grove faced the Bellevilleites on Tuesday night, but the results were in too late for this edition of the Times/News.

All of Belleville's runs in their Montclair win came in the fourth inning. First baseman Nicky Cancelliere walked and was advanced on the bases by Rocco Balsamo's base hit. Cancelliere scored the first run for the Legionnaires on a sacrifice fly by second baseman Scott Ochse. John Gatti continued to keep the local diamonders alive with a single and designated hitter, Anthony Dondarski, kept things going by drawing a walk to load the bases.

Bob Giordano looked over enough pitches to draw another walk and force home Balsamo for the second Belleville score. Chipper Biafore then connected for a sacrifice fly that scored Gatti and capped the Legion men's scoring for the win.

Danny Borgo, a member of the frosh team at BHS last spring, went the distance on the mound for Belleville, taking

Summer b-ball a success

The Belleville Recreation Junior League's summer basketball program for boys ages 12-14 got off to a successful start this past week as a competent staff of instructors directed their young charges through drills and scrimmages which will help them in their up and coming games.

Under the leadership of league director Mark Corino, the league enters its third year of operation with approximately 50 youngsters enrolled in the program.

Corino, co-captain of the 1973 Belleville varsity basketball team, always regretted such a program for youngsters was not available when he was growing up in Belleville, so three years ago he started the league for seventh, eighth, and ninth graders with the intention of molding them into better ballplayers by the time they were old enough to play for the BHS varsity.

Corino realized this task was impossible to accomplish alone, so this year he has assembled an outstanding staff of young men to assist him with the league program. Dean Campana, a former player in this program and presently a junior at Belleville High School, is Corino's administrative assistant and has worked at great lengths with Corino for proper league organization.

Helping as coaches on the court are Sam Rosamilia, Rich Nisivoccia, John Butch, Abdel Anderson, Len D'Armiento and Phil Cuzzi. Rosamilia is a former Belleville varsity basketball player. Nisivoccia and Butch are young men who have given many hours of their time to coaching in programs of this type for many years, and are well respected by the young men they have coached.

Abdel Anderson is already a living legend in Belleville with his accomplishments on the court both at Belleville High and presently at Rutgers University. D'Armiento has been the Belleville junior varsity basketball coach for the past three seasons. Cuzzi was an all around sports star in his days at Belleville High and basketball is just one of the many games he plays well.

The Junior League Basketball action will take place through the rest of the summer at Clearman Field basketball courts on Monday and Wednesday evenings. Game times will be at 6:30 and 8. Among the spectators in attendance every week will be Belleville varsity basketball coach Dan Grasso, who un-

Battle heats up in men's play

Competition is increasing in intensity as the Recreation Men's Softball Leagues move into their closing stages of the season.

The Circles have the lead with a 9-2 record and only four games remaining in the Monday League. Closing in on the Circles is the Viola Brothers, a team with a 7-4 record. DeBacco's, 6-5, are in third and Garden State Pet Supply and MacDonalds occupy fourth and fifth spots.

The Tuesday League is tied with Roselli's and Chandelier dueling for the top spot. Mr. Foamy occupies second at 6-6, Fashion Habitat is third with a 5-5-1 season, and Circles and Corrine Model round out the standings at 3-8-1, and 3-9 respectively.

Rosmore Pharmacy, 11-1, continues to hold the lead in the Wednesday League over last year's winner Joe's Alignment, 10-2. Frenchy's 7-5 season has earned them third place. The Shamrocks are in fourth at 4-9. B.B.G., 3-10 and Edson, 2-10, complete the Wednesday records.

The results of early round play-offs for the Mayor's Trophy were in too late for this edition of the Times/News.

Hoop competition is in third year

Grasso explained last Wednesday, July 7, when the program opened, "the basic aim of this program is to teach the boys the fundamentals of basketball and just give them exposure to the game itself." Coach Grasso also stressed how by having the boys playing all year round, his job and that of his assistants would be much easier when the season opens in November, since the boys would already be used to playing and would not have to make many adjustments for early season drills and scrimmages.

Of course most of these young men are a year or two away from the Belleville varsity squad. However, a good many may be seen this year playing for the Belleville freshman squad.

Residents of Belleville are most welcome by the staff, and John Megna, Rich Baker, and Joe Lupo—the three young men who have donated their time to referee these games, and by the basketball players themselves to see the players in action. Come therefore, to Number Eight School's Clearman Field basketball courts and see Belleville's basketball stars of tomorrow.

Bellboys become Indians

Three of Belleville's Big Ten baseball champions have announced their intentions to attend Montclair State College in the fall. The college bound diamonds are Greg Dunleavy, John Guarino, and Greg Petite.

"All are outstanding prospects," said Montclair State's incoming baseball coach Fred Hill. "I'm sure they'll be able to help us right away. They help form a tremendous nucleus for the freshman team."

Dunleavy, an excellent catcher, batted .437 for BHS and had a knack for coming through with timely hits. The Bellboy aided the team's strength up the middle.

Guarino, the Blue-Gold's center-fielder, collected 17 extra base hits and established himself as a slugger. A rangy fielder with a fine arm, he hit .337, had eight doubles, two triples, seven homers and 27 RBI.

Petite was the Bellboy pitching ace. Brother of Montclair State's recently graduated co-captain Frank, Petite is an excellent control pitcher and helped Belleville claim the Big Ten Conference championship and finish with a 24-4 record. Petite's record was 5-2, despite a late season arm injury.

Leopards champs of junior teams

The Leopards have captured the crown of the Girls Junior Softball League with a strong defensive and offensive line-up.

Janice Monahan and Ginger Pitaccio coached the Leopards to their championship. Toward the end of the season, the other three teams started to get stronger and showed their improved skills when they met the Leopards for the last round.

The Jaguars, coached by Susan Gasperini, took second place and the Cheetahs ended the season in third with Sue Paul as their leader. Linda Diana piloted the Cougars to their fourth place slot.

A spokesman for the girls junior league said, "All coaches did a splendid job with their teams. The desire and determination on the part of these teams, along with sportsmanship, is what it's all about and the coaches did achieve this goal with their teams."

Let George do it. Not only is George Sheridan the ace pitcher for the men in blue, he is also their player-coach and one of their leading power hitters. Above, Sheridan is congratulated for hitting a homer over the left field fence in Sunday's victory over East Orange. the outfield for the Bellevilleites.

Montclair managed to perpetrate five runs in the first two innings but Belleville pursued and passed them in the third by scoring four runs.

Shortstop Simonetti led off the third with a single followed by another hit by outfielder Jack Kerber. Pitcher Sheridan then connected at the plate for a towering homer to the score, 5-5. First baseman Salvatore LoCoco hit another round tripper to put the local ballplayers in blue ahead, 6-5.

Sheridan tripled in the fifth and came home on a homer swatted by LaVista. A base hit by Vince Masi, sandwiched between walks drawn by LoCoco and Ralph Sia, loaded the bases for a two run single by Bill Escott. Bellevilleite Simonetti then cleared the basepaths with single scoring Sia and Escott.

Belleville's blue bats boomed with a volley of runs in the sixth inning to put the game out of reach of the Montclair police. The local lawmen crossed the plate ten times in the sixth to total 22 runs in the game.

A double by LaVista and a walk to LoCoco started the sixth for Belleville. Second baseman, Bill Adelhelm then slammed a double driving home LaVista and LoCoco. Another two-baser by Simonetti accounted for two more runs when it drove in Sia and Escott, who both singled to get on base.

Jack Kerber singled and Sheridan followed with a hit to drive home Simonetti and Kerber. After LaVista was on with another hit, LoCoco doubled home Sheridan and LaVista. The final run came on an RBI double by Vince Masi which scored LoCoco. Sheridan took the win on the mound to capture his ninth win of the season.

Belleville's ballplayers in blue had to face East Orange in order to advance to the final three games series. East Orange attempted to escape the wrath of Belleville bats but were cuffed by the Local 28ers, 14-9.

A triple and two doubles opened the Belleville scoring attack in the East Orange showdown. Joe Simonetti tripled in the first and scored on a double by southpaw Tony LaVista. Another left-hander, Salvatore LoCoco hit a double also to drive home Simonetti.

Ralph Sia singled in the second and scored on a triple by Bill Escott. Simonetti capped the runs in the second by hitting an RBI single to score Escott.

LaVista and LoCoco opened the third with a double and single respectively. Second baseman Adelhelm then drove in LaVista and a triple by third baseman Al Spencer scored LoCoco and Adelhelm.

Joe Simonetti slammed a softball over the fence for a two run homer that also drove home Escott. George Sheridan backed-up Simonetti's drive with a homer of his own, the second in two days.

Belleville's second base patrolman, Bill Adelhelm, opened the fifth with a triple and crossed the plate on Spencer's double. Outfielder Sia doubled in Spencer for the eleventh and twelfth Local 28 runs in the game.

The PBAers rounded out their scoring in the sixth, when LaVista tripled home Sheridan. A sacrifice fly by LoCoco scored LaVista and the Belleville total stood at 14 for the rest of the game.

Locals are pong champs

The tournament season is in full swing at all Essex County Parks with some tournaments completed, and many more to be held before August 12.

For the first time ever, an Essex County Ping Pong tournament was held July 6, 7 and 8, at the Branch Brook Ice Center, Newark.

Bellevilleites seemed to excel in that sport, with Denise Juliano and Toni Sperduto embarking as doubles champions. Doubles runner-ups were Joyce Iacullo and Paula Angelino, also of Belleville. Athletic Specialists who helped the girls achieve their potential included Debbie Meola and Louis Calderone.

The winners were awarded plaques and trophies.

Tournaments yet to be played include a softball contest on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, July 20, 21 and 22, and a baseball tournament on July 27, 28, and 29. A basketball tournament will be held August 3, 4 and 5, and a final basketball one for one contest will take place on August 10, 11 and 12.

Pigtail ball league ends the season

The Belleville Pigtail Softball League has completed its third season.

The Yankees, coached by Lucille Ziegler and Polly Liberti came in first with six wins and one loss. A three way tie for second place included the Cubs, coached by Pat Scheible and Gerry Paoletto; Dodgers, coached by Marianne Stetz and Ruth Kempainen, and Giants, coached by Marlene De Roxtra.

The White Sox, coached by Ellen White came in third, while the Tigers, coached by Ann Marie Graf-fio finished in fourth place.

At the Friendly House there was a pizza party for guests Tracy Olivio, Laurie Lee Dondarski, Denise Marotti, Dometrius De Benedetto, Tina Charles and Peter Franzi. The party was hosted from P.J.'s on Franklin Street.

Kickball seems to be the sport of the day at Fairway Playground. The champion team there consists of Michael Santuoso, Adam Pappas, Jim Imsalmi, Margaret Wjduck, Ronnie Roselli and Peter Hywell.

At the Stadium, softball and four squares were the main events, except for a lemon-ice party which topped all. Outstanding four square competitors included Billy Cook, Joe Iacona and Dolores Paladino.

The Bruins lost a 4-1 lead over the Union team on Friday, when the Rockets loaded the bases and the bears made a few errors that led to Union's rally. "We just made a couple of bonehead plays," coach Sasso said.

The Bellevilleites scored two in the first on a Petite homer boomed over the centerfield fence, that also scored Willie Puentes. The third inning saw Puentes round the bases himself, when he singled, stole second and third, and crossed the plate on a Union overthrow. Joe Papisidero doubled in the fourth to drive in Danny Dunny and end the bear's batting attack.

Livingston became the third team in three days to overcome the Bruins when they downed them, 4-2, behind the two-hitter hurled by Giant Bob Henwood. All the Belleville runs came in the first on DeJianne's triple, which scored Papisidero. DeJianne crossed the plate on a wild pitch, one of Henwood's few mistakes in the game.

Back to back home runs by Durin and Tom Scull in the first inning got the Bruins back on their winning track and they defeated East Orange, 6-5, on Sunday. Greg D'Allesandro went eight innings and was relieved by Frank Reilly, who held off the Panthers, striking out the last four batters in a row.

Senior notes

By GEORGE CHENOWETH

"The Full Life," a publication of the Essex County Office on Aging, outlines the qualifications for receiving Supplemental Security Income under the Social Security program. Many senior citizens who are on Social Security, but are receiving a very low benefit check may be entitled to additional funds.

If you believe you may be in this category, contact your local Social Security administration office at telephone number 429-8200. Who knows, you may have more coming to you and it doesn't cost anything to inquire.

The Belleville Senior Citizens Club announces the Bicentennial Festival is shaping up and tickets are available to members and may be obtained at the club house any day of the week.

A capable committee is in charge of this party and a good time is assured. The date is Wednesday, July 28 from 12:30 p.m. to 5 p.m. at the Fountain. Get your tickets early.

Whatever happened to the long promised break for tenants if and when the Homestead Act was put into operation, concomitant with an income tax?

The senior homeowner will average $260 per year rebate on his real estate taxes. What will the renter average? Renters will have to feel that they are fourth class citizens when it comes to tax relief. But don't forget, they are first class citizens when it comes to voting at election time.

Last call for tickets for the Belleville Seniors' bus ride to Asbury Park. You can pick them up at Town Hall today and tomorrow.

Senior hotline operational

The magic number at Montclair State College's new toll-free hotline for older citizens is "800."

The number is 800-672-1046, and without the 800, it's not toll-free and it's also not the right number. An Orange resident has been receiving a lot of unwanted calls because of a misunderstanding about this, according to Kathy Manko, coordinator of the college's Resource Center for Practitioners in Aging. "Don't forget to dial 800," she advises.

The hotline has been in service for several months, and calls have been averaging about seven per day, Miss Manko reports. She said she hopes for more as word of the new service gets around. Most of the calls received so far have been concerned with social security, transportation, legal problems or finances, she said.

Miss Manko is seeking more volunteers to help with the hotline, especially among senior citizens. The service is in operation 24-hours a day. During periods when it is not manned, the caller may leave a taped message and will receive an answer within 24 hours.

Hydrants under repair

This month, you may have noticed the fire trucks throughout town cruising along at a much slower rate than usual. Once a year, a complete check of all the fire hydrants is performed by the Fire Department as part of the training program outlined by training officer Ralph Castellano.

Each hydrant is opened and a small amount of water is allowed to flow in order to determine if the hydrant is operable. All the caps are removed and greased. This ensures proper operation of the mechanisms in case of real fire.

A record of the condition of each hydrant is maintained at fire headquarters, and all hydrants which are faulty or require repairs are reported to the water department for proper action. The water department then follows up the firefighters' reports, and according to Captain Castellano, "it has proven to be an efficient and harmonious system."

Castellano issued an appeal to the public, commenting, "A hydrant is an important fire fighting tool and has proven its worth in saving life and property if it is in good working condition. The duty of each one of us is to protect these hydrants from the frequent abuse they receive from thoughtless citizens who unnecessarily and incorrectly use them."

"If there is a hydrant near your home," the captain continued, "you should keep it clear of grass and obstructions during the year and in the winter, clear it of snow so the Fire Department may easily locate it during a fire emergency."

Castellano said the department had been unable to flush the hydrants because of dirty water complaints, and he asked the public to "bear with" the firefighters "in our effort to make our hydrant system a better and safer protection for you."

Bad check charge goes to local court

A 34-year old Nutley man, charged with writing three bad checks totalling $137, was fined $300 and $75 costs during proceedings in Belleville Municipal Court July 7.

John Matthews, 420 Center Street pleaded guilty to writing two checks on insufficient funds in account at Peoples National Bank and Trust on July 12, 1975. The bad checks were for $12 and $25.

The defendant also pleaded guilty to issuing a check in the amount of $100, knowing at the time there were insufficient funds in the account at Peoples National Bank and Trust, Co. on June 27, 1975.

Municipal Court Judge Carl Stier fined the defendant $100 and $75 costs on each bad check charge.

Arthur J. Adams, 227 William Street, was the complainant in the July bounced checks case.

Raymond Gagnon, 59 Union Avenue was the complainant in the June 27, 1975 check case.

Vecchione wins trophy

Bill Vecchione, a student at Belleville High School, was awarded a trophy and certificate of participation for first place in class and most outstanding in the field of Architectural Drawing II.

Last year Vecchione won second place for his plans and model home in the field of Architectural Drawing I.

Students from 500 schools in North Jersey participate each year in the New Jersey Student Craftsman's Fair which is held in Paramus Park during the month of May. This fair is sponsored by the New Jersey Vocational and Art Education Association and New Jersey Industrial Arts Education Association.

Glover is in exercise

Navy mess management specialist third class Allen B. Glover, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dodson, 3 Terrace Place, is participating in "Operation 200," as a crewmember of the frigate USS Paul.

The operation, named in honor of the nation's Bicentennial, consists of a complex series of fleet readiness exercises. Under the overall direction of vice admiral John J. Shanahan, commander of the U.S. second fleet, the seven week exercise involves more than 30 ships from the Atlantic fleet and includes Marine Corps landing forces plus Navy and Marine Corps aviation units.

Glover's ship will be participating in maneuvers which encompass all phases of naval operations, including amphibious assaults, antisubmarine warfare and both naval gunfire and support and missile firing exercises.

The operation commenced in the fleet's Caribbean training area, near Puerto Rico, and the participating ships will move north along the U.S. east coast as the operation progresses.

Most young dogs exposed to contagious hepatitis

Nearly 75 percent of all dogs under one year of age are exposed to a highly contagious virus disease known as infectious hepatitis. The disease is not known to affect humans but dogs of all ages may contract it.

The death rate among puppies is usually high, according to the New Jersey Veterinary Medical Association. Among older dogs, only about 10 percent of those who contract hepatitis will die.

Effective and safe vaccines will provide maximum protection against the disease. Vaccinated dogs rarely, if ever, contract hepatitis. Not all dogs are vaccinated and unfortunately, many die.

The first stage of hepatitis is difficult to recognize because the symptoms closely resemble those of a cold, canine distemper and leptospirosis. The dog may cough, wheeze, have a poor appetite, have a fever, and often diarrhea. A veterinarian should be called at once.

After the disease is well advanced, other may include an intense thirst, bloodshot or jaundiced appearing eyes with a watery discharge, and swelling of the head, neck, and lower part of the abdomen.

Hepatitis usually attacks suddenly and severely. Quite often dogs contracting the disease die within a few hours after symptoms first appear unless veterinary care is undertaken at once.

Pet owners should not wait until hepatitis strikes. Vaccination that provides lasting immunization may be given at any time after 10 weeks of age. Single and combination distemper-hepatitis vaccines are now available and it is wise to have dogs revaccinated yearly for continuous protection.

Home buyers surveyed in New Jersey study

President Margie McDonald of the Bloomfield, Glen Ridge, Nutley and Belleville Board of Realtors has released the results of a survey recently completed by Dr. Karl G. Pearson of the University of Michigan and sponsored by the New Jersey Association of Realtors.

Purpose of the survey was to learn from the purchasers themselves how the Realtors could improve their "professional" image. Buyers surveyed were selected at random from recent purchasers of homes in New Jersey.

The following summary highlights the replies now under study by the Foundation and the New Jersey Realtor Association:

Approximately half of the purchasers of New Jersey homes were already residents of the state and approximately half of the buyers were tenants. Ninety-two percent purchased one family homes.

The three most important features influencing their choice of homes included: location 89 percent; price 56 percent; floor plan 43 percent; grounds and landscaping 39 percent; room sizes 34 percent and kitchen layout 10 percent. Only 8 percent mentioned monthly payments and only six percent listed low down payment.

Thirty nine percent of the purchasers were recommended to the firm who sold them their home while 29 percent chose the firm from a newspaper ad. Fifteen percent were introduced socially and 10 percent were attracted by a sign on the property.

Public Service floats ferryboat for 1976

A 75-year-old ferryboat has become the youngest member of this Burlington's Bicentennial program, and jumping-off point for a walking tour of an impressive historic area.

The boat is Public Service Electric and Gas Company's "Second Sun," a floating energy information center. In operation since 1969 — its decks have been trod by 287,000 visitors — its regular display of energy information has been supplemented in the Bicentennial year by a 24-minute presentation — "New Jersey 200" — which traces the march of history and progress in the state since its early days.

The show is offered in a 140-seat auditorium, and is a fully automated sequence involving five 35mm still projectors, a 16mm film projector and a laser beam.

Democrats are hoping for voter support

Citing a record of service which he said clearly demonstrates being worthy of public trust, Thomas P. Giblin, campaign Manager of the Regular Democratic Organization Line A slate, today called upon the Democratic electorate for an overwhelming vote on Tuesday's primary for the organization team of candidates.

Giblin is campaign manager for the primary election campaigns of Sheriff John F. Cryan, Essex County Surrogate Nicholas R. Amato and the three Regular Democratic Organization candidates Martin G. Scaturro, Rev. Russell Fox and Peter G. Stewart.

"It is noteworthy that Democratic officeholders who have given both national and international luster to the Democratic Party in the American nation are members of the Line A Team and join in support of the entire Line A County and local candidates," Giblin observed.

"Joining our Line A Team are U.S. Senator Harrison Williams, Congressman Peter W. Rodino, Jr. and Joseph G. Minish, all of whom are thoroughly behind the campaigns of Cryan, Amato, Scaturro, Fox and Stewart.

"On the basis of public records and on the basis of the policies which they advocate, it is clear that these are the candidates in whom the entire electorate will place their confidence and choice.

Nutley Travel reducing prices on Italy vacations

Nutley Travel Agency announces a 10 percent price reduction, effective April 1, on the land portion of seven tours to Italy featured in the TWA's Getaway Europe program for 1976.

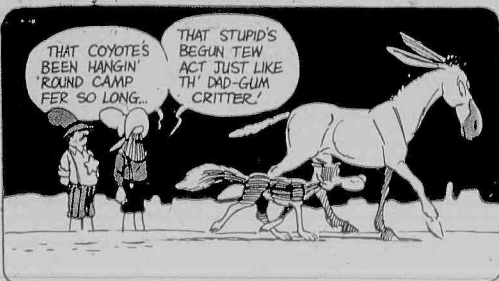

Savings, which are based on per-person double-occupancy rates, range from $19 for a one-week vacation to Rome to $52 for the two-week "Allegro" trip which covers the country from North to South. Motorcoach and independent travel packages are included on the roster of itineraries reflecting the reduction.

"In our continuing commitment to offer vacation values, whenever and wherever possible, we have taken advantage of the softening of the Italian lire in relation to the dollar to pass along these special savings to travelers, Nutley Travel said today in a press release. The agency is located at 386 Franklin Avenue.

ROCK REVIEW

Several records checked out

By ANTHONY BUCCINO

"Close Enough For Rock 'n' Roll" from Nazareth (A&M) is certainly close enough. In fact, it is. The most commercial cut, "Carry Out Feelings" is not too heavy, loud or overpowering, but a good blend of music and lyrics.

The lyrics are overshadowed on "Lift The Lid" by the adept if not expert, musicians. "Loretta" is a familiar cozy sort of rock and roll.

"Telegram" runs the gauntlet in its heavy handed description of a group from the dressing room to the stage. "Telegram" is a terribly intriguing song, it includes a borrowed passage from a McGuinn/Hillman Byrds classic. There is magic in this suite, it could just bring Nazareth the great popularity it has already achieved across the Atlantic Ocean. If only they could avoid a "Vancouver Shakedown."

Their music is not completely different than most we've already heard before but there is something about their music that one just cannot ignore. Perhaps it is in their Scottish background - but I doubt it. There is something unaccountably refreshing in their music. Better served to stop asking questions and just listen.

LESLEY GORE is back and she's beautiful to look at. Her new album "Love Me By Name" is good to hear. The lyrics are sensitive, all written by the very lovely Ellen Weston.

The music is potent, covering a variety of subjects from "Paranoia" to "Other Lady". "Love Me By Name" attacks the anonymity of nameless romances.

Finely done, "Love Me By Name" is a very good side of Lesley Gore. It should surprise a lot of people.

PETER ALLEN has no singer's voice. At least not for the songs he sings on his new release "Taught By Experts" (A&M). His voice would be better suited for "talking blues". "Taught By Experts" does have redeeming qualities if one would look past his attempts at singing. His lyrics are sharp and sensitive for the most part.

Take for instance "Puttin' Out Roots" and "New York, I Don't Know About You". The latter is the confusion of a Sunday morning after Saturday night. The former is the longing to be gone, then going.

Allen hails from Australia and wrote "I Honestly Love You" which was a successful single for Olivia Newton-John.

There is no excuse for "I Go To Rio". It would seem to come out of an Abbott and Costello movie. Allen might even have sung it with a hat full of fruit. He would have been better off leaving a few minutes of blank record instead of "I Go To Rio", an obvious albatross. "Taught By Experts" isn't for everyone.

ESTHER SATTERFIELD has performed with the CHUCK MANGIONE QUARTET and the ROCHESTER PHILHARMONIC ORCHESTRA. They all liked her vocals, she can sing anything from jazz to rock to spirituals, and all brilliantly. Her splendid vocals are captured on "The Need To Be" (A&M), a must for people who enjoy the best vocals giving credence to everything they sing.

One of the most unselfish collections of music from various artists comes to us from the Jamaican world of reggae. The double album is appropriately called "Reggae Spectacular" (A&M). It contains some cuts by the popular JIMMY CLIFF and the not so popular Greyhound, Blue Haze, Bob and Marcia, and the Harry J All Stars.

For a land so stifled economically and its people oppressed and ripped off, reggae music is that first big step towards being recognized as a life form in need of human compassion. It is easy to wonder how such impoverished people can turn out such living music.

Songs that are students, old stand-bys are so much improved with a flair of reggae. "Pied Piper" is refurbished by Bob and Marcia. "Smoke Gets In Your Eyes" is vaguely familiar but Blue Haze makes it a new entity, one that should be studied and marked as a very big improvement.

"Reggae Spectacular" is a glimpse at the revelation coming into the music of this decade. It is centuries old but it's the music of tomorrow. A glimpse is better than not looking at all. If a glimpse is all you can afford, you'll end up finding some more time for it.

HERG ALPERT'S new release "Just You And Me" is mellow, quite subdued and personal. Alpert doesn't sing too often here but when he does it is distant, almost aloof. Given his voice texture, it is just as well. "Just You And Me" (A&M) is strictly for his fans, but don't expect too much.

Sailing off — Mr. and Mrs. Perry Imparo of Belleville are pictured on the deck of the Black Sea Liners luxury liner S.S. Odessa, just before sailing from New York Harbor on a week's cruise to Bermuda.

County opens jazz fest

Betty Carter, with her trio, will be the feature artist on the program for what is hoped to become the First Annual Essex County Jazz Festival. The concert, sponsored by the Essex County Park Commission and the Essex County Bicentennial Commission, will be held in Branch Brook Park on July 18 from 1 to 5 P.M.

The feature artist, Betty Carter, was selected because of her outstanding reputation as a Jazz Artist as well as her ability to draw a crowd of followers to the concert.

There has been a lot of Jazz going on around New York City and the Newport areas, but no large outdoor concerts here in the Newark area. Local Jazz enthusiasts like Reverend J. Van Arsdale of the West

Presbyterian Church, Professor Chris White of Rutgers University, Institute of Jazz Study and Don Carter of the Don Carter Productions are a few of the leaders of the Newark Jazz movement, who have as their dream a continuous Jazz concert program each year right here in our New Jersey area.

Local drug case sent to Newark

The case of a 35-year old Newark man, arrested for possession of a controlled dangerous substance and two hypodermic needles, was referred to the Essex County Grand Jury during proceedings in Belleville Municipal Court July 8.

Municipal Court Judge Harold J. Brown referred the case of the defendant who was arrested in Belleville June 11.

Michael Trupkiewicz of the New Jersey State Police was the complainant in the case.

The defendant was held in lieu of $500 bail.

'Once Upon A Mattress' this month in Lyndhurst

The cast is hard at work, not only at rehearsals but also with set construction, sewing costumes and selling boosters and tickets to help finance the show.

The show will be presented at Lyndhurst High School Auditorium, July 23, 24, 30 and 31 at 8 p.m.

Although fats are composed of the same elements as carbohydrates—carbon, hydrogen, and oxygen—their composition is more complex. Carbohydrates are almost exclusively derived from plants, but fats are the primary storage material of animals, and we get them from animal products. Because fatty acids are synthesized slowly or not at all in the human body, it is often recommended that individuals get some of their fats from plant products which contain these essential substances. Whole wheat, soybeans, peanut oil, and olive oil are among good plant sources of fats.

DeFranza cited for grades

Joseph DeFranza, 68, Emmet Street, has made the honors list at Upsala College for outstanding academic achievement during the spring semester.

A student must achieve at least a slightly better than B average to qualify for honors.

DeFranza, son of Rose and August DeFranza, is a senior major-
