Revaluation battle to peak next week

By CHUCK JACKSON

Belleville's revaluation battle may come to a head next week, when a court mandates a report of property values.

Superior Court Judge Arthur Black has ordered the town to appraise $149,000 in tax for revaluation by that date, and the town must act or its members will be found in contempt of court. The matter is likely to come up at Tuesday's regularly scheduled town meeting. Should the town fail to vote the funds at that time, the town will either have to call a special meeting or, Thursday, face contempt proceedings.

Commissioner Mary Sengone and William Walters of the town will meet with Judge Black's counsel, Michael McCarty, to discuss the town's position. The town will also meet with the state's attorney, Joseph McGowan, to discuss the town's position.

The town's position is that the town is not responsible for the revaluation.

Commissioner Walters said that the town is not responsible for the revaluation. He said that the town is not responsible for the revaluation.

Cable hearing is Tuesday

By JOSEPH RYAN

Town Commissioners will hear presentations next Tuesday night from two cable television companies competing to win a franchise to bring a 15-channel system to Belleville.

Suburban Cablevision and U.A. Columbia's application of New Jersey will be to bring in similar programs at comparable costs to Belleville customers. Both companies offer all the channels available in the metropolitan area plus sports events from Madison Square Garden, educational stations, information channels, local access ability, and first-run movies.

Both companies charge $1.50 a month for the cable. Columbia charges a $20 installation fee, which is $5 higher than Suburban's hookup charge. However, Columbia and Suburban waive installation costs if subscribers request the cable within the first 30 days the service is available in the town.

Home Box Office, the feature film program, is available under both companies for an additional $2 a month. Columbia charges $1.50 a month for each additional set and $1.50 for the hook up for more than one TV. Suburban charges subscribers $1.50 a month for each additional set and $1.50 for the hook up for more than one TV.

Belleville's Commissioners started their search for cable TV service about three years ago. At that time, the industry was in a state of flux, and the town was not sure if it was worth the cost.

Both firms competing for the franchise are well established in the North Jersey area. Suburban now has 11,000 subscribers and holds franchises in 17 communities including Bloomfield, Irvington, Maplewood, Livingston, and Verona. U.A. Columbia is also serving the area with franchises in Cedar Grove, Little Ferry, West Paterson, Teaneck, and Wayne. Columbia also has applications for franchises in Bergen, Glendale, Hawthorth, Livingston, Ridgewood, Unionwood, Park Ridge, and Park.

Belleville will receive two percent of the revenue from whatever cable company brings the franchise, extra services such as Home Box Office will not be part of the shared profits.

U.A. Columbia offers an extra station, channel 49, WJTV in Bridgeton, Camden. Both cable companies offer the

Schoolers award bids on School 3

The Belleville Board of Education awarded more than $14,000 in high school construction work to three firms.

The trustees called a special meeting to announce the bid awards. The work will include the building of the new school.

work started Tuesday afternoon.

The committee announced at the meeting that the construction work on the new school is the school. According to Board President Mary Shadler, the committee has already begun construction work and work will begin in the immediate future. The trustees hope to have the building ready for school in September.

The board also announced that work requests were being sent out for bids on the demolition of the former portion of the school. The bids are due back August 11.

The bids received that week were for two separate portions of construction, general construction work, structural steel, and site work, including drainage work, paving and grading work, and electrical work. All the bids were awarded to firms outside of Belleville.

The School Board will pay for the repairs with a $100,000 advance made by the Insurance Company of North America here. The work the Trustees received the rest of the settlement.

Tie in

The Board of Education is thinking of tying into the Asbury Park Computer Service, and Jack Detalvo, one of the service's specialists, was at Monday's Board meeting to demonstrate the system. The computer can assist teachers, students and guidance counselors in their work, and an in-depth story on the system and its costs will appear in next week's edition of the Times/News.

Welcoming party

Dr. John Greed (center), Belleville's new superintendent of schools, was officially welcomed onboard last night by the members of the committee which helped select him for the job. Left to right are: Frank Pallante, George Brown, Board president Matthew Pica, Greed, Marie Clarizio, Board member Viola Spray, and Pat Kiernan. Dr. Greed replaces Anthony Greco, who retired from the superintendent post recently.

New school super takes over post

Dr. John Greed attended his first Board of Education meeting Monday, officially taking over the post of superintendent of schools. Dr. Greed replaced Anthony Greco, who retired from the post.

Members of the Supervisors' Committee, which aided the Board in its search for a new superintendent, were present with Greed.

George Brown, chairman of the group, spoke on behalf of the committee, saying, "We welcome you to Belleville and are delighted you have decided to join us. But we are even more delighted you have come to help make Belleville and you have the best wishes of every citizen in the community, and all the members of the Board."

Dr. Greed, from Roseland, N.J., added, "I am glad to be a part of this great community. We are very pleased and decided to move a little south and then join this community."

Greed acknowledged Brown's committee, saying, "I am honored to have been appointed or announced in Belleville. I know the members of the Board and the committee have an investment in judgment in me and I will work hard to see they are not embarrassed."

His first priorities, and "very important," he continued, "is in favor of the boys and girls of this town. My money will be in their best interest."

"We can't ask more than that you look after the better interests of the children of this town," said Board president Matthew Pica, and he added jokingly, "Other than that, I am sure we will agree like hell."

Dr. Greed was hired by the Board at an annual salary of $16,000. He has been superintendent of schools in Roseland for the past five years.

The new superintendent agreed, when hired, to move to Belleville by June of 1977, and he announced Monday he and his family would complete the move by

Senior notes

By GEORGE CHENOWETH

The Belleville Senior Citizens Club had a Bicentennial Celebration at the Fountain last Wednesday and about 370 members and guests attended. The committee and others who aided deserve a vote of thanks for attending to the many details which made the party an enjoyable one.

Town officials who could attend were there, others sent their regrets that other commitments kept them from attending. The tables were appropriately decorated with red, white and blue to carry out the Bicentennial theme. The consensus of opinion was that the party was a great success.

The Belleville Club has received a commendation for its fine work on behalf of senior citizens from Governor Brendan Byrne. In the letter addressed to the club, the governor states, among other things, "I am proud of the efforts of organizations such as the Belleville Senior Citizens Club in providing a common front in the search for workable solutions. I ask you to continue to work with me in attending to the needs of our senior citizens, and in facing up to our problems in the state of New Jersey."

In a separate letter, in answer to a request for a third party to be appointed to the Board of the Public Utilities Commission, Governor Byrne stated that the thoughts conveyed to him would receive every consideration.

We have been informed that the half fare for intra-state travel will go into effect on the state's railroads. This service for seniors has been a long time coming and will start on August 19.

Berkeley honors students

Christene Fantin, Margaret Feder and Carmelina Cianciulli, were among outstanding business students in high schools throughout the state who received plaques awarded by the Berkeley Schools of East Orange and Ridgewood in recognition of their achievements.

The plaques, bearing the names of the students, were presented at an awards program held by the Berkeley Schools at Kean College.

Speaker for the occasion was Rollard Smith, co-anchorman of CBS news' "Eleven O'Clock Report." Addressing a capacity audience, including parents, high school business education department chairmen and faculty members, Smith remarked that typewriting and shorthand are two skills which he uses daily in the course of his television work.

The speaker urged young people to read widely and listen to and view programs with diverse points of view.

Miss Feder, 86 Wilbur Street and Miss Cianciulli, 10 Naples Avenue, both attended Belleville High School. Miss Fantin, 57 Bridge Street, attended Queen of Peace Girls' High School in North Arlington.

Tague heads CYO group

Stephen Tague, a former Belleville resident, who has just been named Assistant Program Director for the Essex County CYO office, has listed the formation of a countywide Teen Council of CYO representatives as his first project.

Tague, a Seton Hall graduate who now resides in Lyndhurst, was named to the post by Program Director Kevin Crane to help revitalize teen programming.

According to Tague, complete programming "could not be complete without significant input from the youth of the parishes being served."

The Teen Council will be comprised of elected or appointed youths from each CYO unit in Essex County. They would aid the CYO staff in setting policies and procedures for all projects and programs throughout the year.

Moderators from each county parish have been requested to forward names of delegates and alternates to the CYO office in Montclair.

Tague feels the Teen Council

"will be a valuable asset to our general programming."

He will release further information about an organization meeting later this summer.

Monagas to study in Leeds, England

Michael A. Monagas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert A. Monagas, 15 Riverdale Avenue, will study in England this fall as a foreign exchange student.

Monagas, a junior Business Administration student at Glassboro State College, was selected by the New Jersey State Council for International Education to participate in the foreign student exchange program.

He will travel to Leeds, England, and will attend Leeds Polytechnic. There he will once again study business administration. Monagas is one of eight students from New Jersey selected.

Monagas has also recently been named to the Dean's List for the 1976 spring semester at Glassboro State College. He earned a 4.0 grade point average for the semester.

next week. He will live on Fairway Avenue, he said.

Prior to his employment in Boonton, Dr. Greed was director of curriculum and superintendent of schools in Florham Park from 1966 to 1971. He was principal of the Kinnelon middle school from 1961 to 1966 and was an elementary and secondary school teacher and principal in Linwood, Pennsylvania prior to that.

Dr. Greed has also held several positions with community groups including the Morris County Board of Mental Health and the Florham Park Library Board. He was also president of the council of superintendents of Morris County.

Greed was selected by the Board from a field of 150 candidates who, according to Board members, represented several states. His appointment to the post was announced February 2 by the Board.

Greco is law graduate

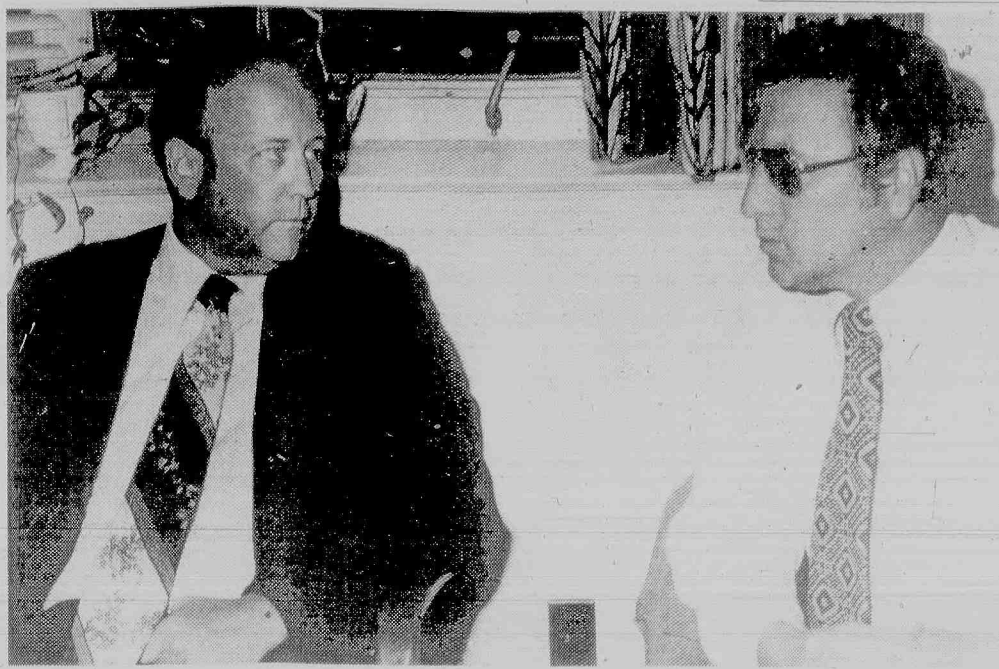

Guy B. Greco

Guy B. Greco, 14 Gregory Terrace, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin F. Greco, has received a juris doctor degree at Rutgers University School of Law. His father owns Greco Brothers Incorporated, a construction company based in Nutley.

Greco is a graduate of St. Benedict's Prep, Newark, and received an undergraduate degree at Rutgers. Greco was graduated with high honors and was a member of the 1975 National Moot Court Team, a recipient of the American Jurisprudence Awards in Criminal Law and Civil Procedures, and was on the dean's list three years.

He is scheduled to take the New Jersey bar examination this month. Married to the former Marietta D'Oro of Ridgewood, the couple now resides in Woodbury.

Briefing—Board president Matthew Pica (right) and Dr. John Greed, the new superintendent of schools, had time for a brief talk prior to Monday's Board meeting. It was the first such session Greed attended as the new superintendent.

Saletta won't vote for ordered funds

has apparently slid into inactivity, though next week's deadline may renew the cry against the move.

Commissioner Saletta has indicated he will oppose appropriation of the necessary funds even if it means being cited for contempt of court.

"My feelings have not changed," said Saletta. "Judge Blake himself said my arguments were highly moral, but legally, I am in contempt of his order. I have to make the assumption that if I am correct morally, I should not change my vote—whether I am ordered to or not."

Saletta said the Attorney General's office has indicated it would have agreed to an extension on the deadline, but the judge rejected the suggestion, since the town's actions were in violation of his order and not a directive from the Attorney General.

Saletta was also critical of Scott's failure to join the Attorney General's office in supporting the delay. "The judge said it was his order and that was that," Saletta commented. "John Scott didn't stand up and agree with the Attorney General's representative and he did not defend the majority of the Board, which voted against revaluation."

Four of Belleville's five Commissioners must vote in favor of the appropriation if it is to pass. If the vote fails, it is likely the dissenting Commissioners will be cited for contempt, while those that vote for the measure will not.

The August 15 deadline is an extension of one set in April by Judge Blake. At that time, the Commissioners were ordered to vote for the money, but the resolution was tabled. Since then, the town leaders have met with the judge to present their side of the argument. At that meeting, held June 25, Blake rejected the town's request and set the new date.

Commissioner Senatore has said that while she agrees the town must revalue, she is in favor of seeking a cheaper method of performing the job. She has, in the past, pointed to Newark's failure to revalue as a parallel to Belleville's situation. Judge Blake has rejected the comparison, saying Newark was "in a different league," according to sources at the June meeting.

Sal Calabro, a spokesman for the Citizens' Union met in June with Mayor Marotti and tax assessor Peter Torre in an effort to find an alternative to the $149,000 expenditure, but the effort was apparently fruitless. Calabro has also offered to have his engineering firm perform the task, but that suggestion was also rejected since property valuation is not the company's specialty.

Both cable companies provide 100 sporting events from Madison Square Garden including normally blacked-out Knicks and Rangers games. Columbia service also features broadcasts of Islander and Nets matches.

Public access channels offered by both firms would provide outlets for local programming. Columbia offers an input system allowing transmission of events at the high school or Town Hall to be seen exclusively in Belleville.

The local educational opportunities are of prime interest to the Communications Committee of Citizens for Better Education. George Riepe is chairman of the committee under the citizens group headed by Jerry Fazzini. The committee has already met with a representative of UA Columbia and plans a meeting with Suburban. Riepe called the committee an ad hoc organization ready to make recommendations if the Town Commissioners express interest in its findings.

The State We're In

Forces join to save barrens

By David F. Moore

The New Jersey Conservation Foundation, which I serve as executive director, and The Nature Conservancy, a national organization, have joined forces to acquire important segments of the New Jersey Pine Barrens in order to protect them from unwise development.

In all, the Pine Barrens covers about a million acres. Our initial target is to acquire between 20,000 and 30,000 acres for public purpose in various parts of Ocean, Burlington and Atlantic counties.

Tracts of varied size have already been identified by state and federal sources as being critical to overall preservation of the fabled Pinelands.

The two organizations are attempting to raise a minimum of $750,000 through donations. This money will provide the base for loans and other land purchase expenses with which more land can be bought. It's a big undertaking, but it's got to be accomplished quickly if the Pine Barrens is to withstand the threats of encroaching development of all kinds.

Why should the Pine Barrens be saved? Many want to save the region because it's the biggest wildland on the eastern seaboard north of the Florida everglades. Others because it supports a major hunk of America's cranberry and blueberry production. Still others recognize the Barrens as the domain of various forms of plant and animal life which exist nowhere else.

But everybody should agree upon two overriding reasons to save the Pine Barrens: One is that the sandy soil covers an immense underground reservoir, or aquifer, which crowded New Jersey must keep clean and otherwise intact. The other is that in America's most densely populated state, the recreational and wilderness potential of the Barrens must not be destroyed.

When I talk about saving the Pinelands, with its fascinating accumulation of American folklore along with the features I've already mentioned, I'm not implying some single, overriding threat which has suddenly loomed. No indeed. Environmental destruction happens in bits and pieces, here and there, so that one finds it hard to notice from day to day. But the cumulative effect is total.

That's how New Jersey Conservation Foundation and The Nature Conservancy are undertaking the defense: in bits and pieces.

Each targeted tract has something special about it. Perhaps it's the home of a rare life form. Maybe it's where a unique pygmy forest grows, it's pine and oak population ancient but never over four feet high! It might harbor a segment of truly wild river in teeming New Jersey. Together such isolated areas add up to the overall identity of the Pine Barrens.

New Jersey has the right laws to protect the underground water supply I referred to, but it will take time to gear up the bureaucracy to exert enough coherent effort to bring meaningful protection. The real world is moving in too fast, in too many ways!

My organization has published a handsome, full-color poster illustrating and describing the essence of the Pine Barrens. One of them goes to anybody giving $10 or more. Incidentally, membership in the New Jersey Conservation Foundation also goes to all donors of $10 or more. The Foundation's address is 300 Mendham Road, Morristown, N.J. 07960.

Golden Comments

By James R. Golden

The Belleville Political Social Club sponsored a classic junket up to Monticello Raceway last Friday evening with all the trimmings. There were plenty of refreshments aboard the luxury DeCamp cruiser. The bus got off to a delayed start, waiting for stragglers to arrive at Jackie's busy corner.

The drive up the Parkway and the New York Thruway was beautiful, with the evening sky as the shades of night began to fall. Despite heavy weekend traffic, which backed up at the toll barriers, our bus pilot got us there just in time for some to rush up to the betting windows to make the daily double play.

Chairman J.R. Ciallrella did an excellent job on arrangements, setting up plush accommodations and a delectable full course dinner. Jackie Rega, popular lemon ice king, was one of the lucky ones who came back with track winnings, although most of the others sadly learned that the surest way to beat the ponies is to follow them with a shovel. Two who learned the hard way were the two pretty young ladies who work at Jackie's establishment, Nancy Alicknorre and Maggie Powers.

Others in the party were Ed Cogway, Leo Marin and a host of relatives and friends of the Ciallrella family of Belleville.

The tired but gay crowd pulled up at Jackie's corner at 2:15 a.m. as the bus drove away into the darkness with a happy bus driver who had received a generous tip to make up for some of his betting losses at the track.

Joe Monohan (that's his monicker) is trying to do a job in cleaning up some vexing problems down in the Valley section of town. The tough old Marine "top kick" isn't too pleased with the way things have changed down below the Avenue. He's mapping a strategy to wipe out a few "nests" he feels are bogging down his operations. He's an old combat soldier who has seen plenty of battle action.

The Democratic party's candidate for President is indeed different from most of its previous standard bearers. Three days after he won the nomination and accepted at New York City's Madison Square Garden, Jimmy Carter went before his regular adult Sunday School class in his hometown of Plains, Georgia, telling his group about the Bible's "God-is-Love." He appeared equally at home there as he was in addressing the huge convention gathering, although he did take note that attendance at his Sunday School class had swollen since his nomination.

Jimmy Carter, observing many of the new faces in attendance were from the media, quoted the New Testament, I John 4: "They are of the world; therefore speak they of the world, and the world heareth them."

Carter made it known that he didn't want his Sunday School class turned into a sideshow. "Our only purpose is to study about Christ," he emphasized, telling the crowd as he got into his car. "Next Sunday, y'all go to your own church, hear!"

Sure was a pleasure to observe His Honor, the Mayor, preside over the last meeting of the Town Commission. Mike Marotti exudes, as moderator of the meeting, that stern firmness, yet benevolent fairness seldom found in most politicians who project an arrogant, patronizing attitude toward the public. Not our Mayor. Mike hasn't changed in all the many years I've known him. I don't think he ever will, no matter how far up the ladder of success he goes.

Citizen strikes out at Scott

To the Editor:

I cannot agree with lawyer Scott's statement there is no grounds to appeal revaluation. The City of Newark used these grounds for the past 19 years and they still did not reevaluate, regardless of a court order.

If the County tax board cannot operate within their budget from the tax dollars received from the cities, all of them should be dismissed and replaced. No one is indispensable.

Sixty-seven percent of all real estate in Newark is tax exempt and brings in no revenue which amounts to a loss to the city of 39 million dollars at their present tax rate.

All other cities in the County are asked to reevaluate to bail them out of their predicament, regardless of their own problems and help pay for their relief and Welfare Programs and help keep their friends on the payroll.

Many cities in the County are in the same boat and cannot afford to pay higher taxes.

Inflation is the root of the evil brought on by some politicians in the Democratic Party who don't give a damn for the people. Governor Byrne had no grounds for an income tax, he created them using the schools and the students as a political whip.

The tax payers must still pay the school tax on their tax bill.

After failing seven times to win approval with the help of former Gov. Hughes, who also failed when he was governor of the state, it was sneaked in through the back door.

Mr. Scott, we also have millions in tax exempt properties here, they bring in no revenue, they are included in all revaluation programs as an extra expense to the taxpayers. That point should be wiped out. They also receive the services paid for by the taxpayers, police protection, fire protection, garbage removal. As the town attorney, it is your duty to fight for the people that pay your salary.

Mrs. Senatore is really something out of a storybook, the queen of hearts, and Rocco Saletta has guts. We love them both, like the Orechio brothers in Nutley, Carl and Carmen, they are the friends of the people and fight for the underdog. The people will stand behind you and raise their voices in protest since they are the guinea pigs in this matter.

EDITOR'S JOURNAL

Hold my calls: be back later

By CHUCK JACKSON

I'm doing now what I normally don't find time to do — writing a column. I'm new at this editor's game, and generally, it's all I can do to get all my work done and grab a few hours sleep a week, but this time, for some reason, I have a chance to write.

I will do this as the mood strikes me, so this column should appear from time to time with no degree of regularity.

For example, there won't be a column next week. I'm going on vacation — a vacation I badly need. It's not that I don't like my job, it's just that the signs of journalistic battle fatigue are beginning to show and it's best I take time off now of my own free will rather than later on doctor's orders.

My fellow workers here at the Times/News and other friends are largely responsible for my decision to take a vacation at this time. They have started noticing quirks in my personality which are beginning to take on the symptoms of intellectual decay.

First and foremost among those symptoms is my rapidly increasing discomfort with the telephone. That ringing beast is, as I bellowed at a friend one day, one of the most important tools a newsman has. Still, it is getting harder, and harder to touch it.

Every time it rings, I cringe. I'm sure it is one of my readers complaining about something or other. Last week, things got so bad, my wife called me at work. I answered the phone, and when she asked to speak to me, I denied I was here and had her transferred to classified advertising. They tried to give the call back to me, but I still claimed I was out. I still have that phone message on my desk.

My increasing distaste for dealing with the monster created by Bell is indicative of yet another symptom. Normally, I really enjoy dealing with people. All types of people are OK with me, I get along well with everyone, I like to think. Recently, however, that is not the case.

I have come to feel everyone is crowding me. Last week reporter Franklin Bodoni stepped over to my desk to ask a question. I became enraged. I charged him with violating the air space around my desk. I ordered him back to his own territory and told him to call me if he wanted to speak with me. He took the three paces back to his desk, and dialed. I answered the phone, and denied I was there. I still have that message sitting on my desk, too.

So, I am off. I have my bags packed already, and will take one of Newark Airport's giant silver birds off to distant parts. After a week of rest and relaxation — and hopefully no phone calls — I will come back a new man.

Still, I am finding it difficult to tear myself away. I know the paper and the town will make it without me, but I don't know if I can make it without them. No worry, though, I have found the solution. I intend to spend my vacation in the midwest, and it just so happens I will be spending part of that time visiting friends and relatives in Southern Illinois. If I really start to get down about being away, I plan to take a short ride to an old stomping ground for that needed boost.

I'm going to Belleville, Illinois.

Eating's changed around here

by Helen Maguire

A couple of things have altered the eating habits in this house. First, I lost the vegetable peeler. It probably resides in some garbage dump by now because an exhaustive search of the premises has failed to unearth it and I can only conclude that I threw it out with some skins. Not the first time I've done that.

Averse as I am to peeling carrots and potatoes with a knife, I have been more or less forced to simply scrub them and cook them with skins on or, in the case of the carrots, grate or slice them. Much to my surprise, the quartet has developed a taste for potato jackets and doesn't seem to notice any difference with the carrots which is fine with me. It finally dawned on me that I have been tossing a lot of nutrients in the trash these many years but my unwitting disposal of the peeler has stopped that habit, especially since I keep forgetting to buy a new one.

Second, listening to the news on television a few weeks back, I heard a supermarket report on salad vegetables and was quite appalled to learn that the ingredients I have been forcing down reluctant throats have been virtually worthless as far as vitamins go and useful only as roughage. Imagine my shock to discover that lettuce, celery, cucumbers and a few more are not what I always thought them to be, chock full of healthful goodies.

The commentator had some interesting suggestions for substitutions. Out with the lettuce, in with the spinach. Out with the celery, in with the green pepper. Out with the cucumbers, in with the cabbage. The tomatoes, carrots and onions could stay and for crunchiness, how about some raw cauliflower?

I was willing to try anything but a little apprehensive as to how my efforts would be received. Having been in this mother game for some time and learned a few, if not all, the tricks of the trade, I made my same old basic salad but added the new ingredients one at a time, starting with the spinach. When someone commented on the dark green color, I replied casually that it was a new kind of lettuce and only when the bowl was empty did I confess my deceit. Didn't bother them one bit.

Next day, I threw in some green pepper following successively with cabbage, parsley and some raw zucchini. No complaints! My experience has proven a point I have long held: if it's cut up fine enough, you can get away with a lot! I haven't gotten around to the cauliflower yet and that may take some time. The only way I like it myself is smothered in cheese sauce and the same vegetable in its native state somehow doesn't appeal to me.

As of this writing, I have started eliminating some of the "oldies". Lettuce and cucumbers make few appearances nowadays and I don't think the darlings care!

Park commission holds rock course

Budding geologists from Belleville and neighboring towns can learn to identify rocks and stones they see every day by name and type. The course will be free during this short evening course and will be taught by one of the Environmental Center's staff naturalists.

For further information on this program, contact the Center for Environmental Studies, 621 Eagle Rock Avenue, Roseland, or call 228-2210.

Library reveals packed schedule for August

As the summer rolls on, the people at the Belleville Public Library are trying to see that everyone has something to do. In the coming month, the library, located at 221 Washington Avenue, will present a number of programs and exhibits designed to appeal to just about everyone.

The following is a list of coming events. Unless otherwise noted, all activities will be at the main branch on Washington Avenue:

August 1 — There will be a lapidary exhibit by Irving Folk. The collection will be on display until August 31.

Girl scouts travel to Philadelphia

Junior Girl Scout Troop 437 recently traveled to Bicentennial Philadelphia for an educational and enjoyable outing.

The group enjoyed a historical tour which included the Penn Mutual Building, Betsy Ross's House, Christ Church and Burial grounds, Congress Hall, Washington Park, Society Hill, the Liberty Bell, the Antique Toy Museum and Benjamin Franklin's grave site.

The tour was conducted by Mrs. Barbara Corson and Mrs. Carole Haltzman of the Culture Tour Company.

Meteor showers due this month

Bellevilleites astronomically inclined should look to the skies in August to see one of nature's wonders — meteor showers.

According to Arthur Cacella of East Brunswick, president of Amateur Astronomers Incorporated there will be three showers during the coming month.

The Persoid Shower should be visible between August 10 and 14; the Kappa Cygnids Shower between August 10 and 20 and the Zeta Draconids between August 21 and 31.

This year, Cacella reports, the Zeta Draconids meteor shower is expected to be the most spectacular because the night sky will be darker at that time of the month. A full moon may diminish the effect of the earlier meteor showers.

Meteoroids, or shooting stars, Cacella noted, are very small, solid particles moving in orbits around the sun. They become visible through intense heating when they strike the earth's atmosphere.

Meteor showers occur when the earth's orbit passes through a swarm of millions of particles traveling together in an orbit around the sun. As many as 50 meteors an hour can be observed during a shower.

Amateur Astronomers Incorporated operates the Sperry Observatory at Union College jointly with the college.

Bruins take crown with no-hit game

By JOSEPH RYAN

The third championship season in as many years is now within the reach of the Bruins as they have clinched their division and will begin the playoffs this Saturday at home.

A no-hitter fired by Belleville hurler Frank Reilly against the East Orange Panthers on Sunday capped the regular season for the defending champions of the Essex County League. The win was Reilly's second for the Bruins and the team's 26 out of 33 for the year.

Last Wednesday, the baseball bears beat the Union Rockets, 2-1, for victory number 25 of the summer.

Saturday, home at 2 p.m. the Bruins will start the semi-final round for the league title against either South or West Orange. Belleville's first opponent had not been decided in time for this edition of the Times/News.

The Bellevilleites belted out 11 runs behind the no-hit throwing of Reilly last Sunday. The recent recruit to the bear pitching staff struck out three and walked three while facing 30 East Orange Panthers at the plate. Reilly is a hurler for Monmouth College during the school season.

While the Bruin mound man blanked the Panthers, the Belleville batters blasted away at the opponent's pitching for 11 runs. Willie Puentes scored first for the baseball bears in the first round when he singled, stole second and scored on a Bruno Giordano double. Third baseman Tony Roselle singled and drove home Giordano and a double by Bob De-Jianne batted home Roselle for the third run of the first.

Hoop season hits peak

Belleville's Recreation Junior League summer basketball program will be reaching its climax these next few days as the end of the regular season action and the beginning of post season playoffs are scheduled to take place next week.

The Bucks won twice in league action last week to take a commanding two game lead in the standings. The Bucks are in first with a 5-1 record, while the Knicks and Bullets are tied at 3-3 and the Nets are 1-5 after posting an upset over the Bullets.

Monday night action last week saw the Knicks top the Nets in the opening contest, 40-34, while the nightcap featured a Buck win against the Bullets, 55-46.

The Knicks received talented performances in their win from Greg Hawkins, who scored 12 points and Barry Dealany who bucketed 10.

Gary Servidio, with 10 tallies and Percy Flowers, who compiled eight points, led the Net scoring effort.

Backcourt ace Jack Brooks totaled 22 points for a game high total for the Bucks. Barry Taylor and Bernie LePore were two other Buck cagers who contributed to the victory with a dozen points each. Jim Grogan put in a strong game for the Bullets with his rebounding and 14 points and the ever improving William Lynch's play led to his scoring 11 Bullet points.

Wednesday evening the Bucks again won this time downing the Knicks, 42-35. The nightcap saw the spirited Nets triumph 37-34 over the Bullets.

The Bucks went ahead to stay, 18-17 at halftime in their game when 10 point scorer Dave Carry put in a two hand set shot from half court as time ran out in the half. Barry Taylor with the best all around game performance of the week, led all Buck scorers with 15 points. Jack Brooks contributed another 13 points to the victory. The Knicks who kept the pressure on the Bucks throughout the second half, and threatened to take away the lead many times, were led in their scoring by Mike Murphy, who tallied 10.

The Net victory was truly a team effort. No one player scored in double figures, yet William Hawkins, Joe Ritacco, and Dave Carry all scored in the Pirates lead series in senior league play

The Pirates have taken a one game lead in their Senior League Championship series with the Mets.

Down by a five to two margin going into the fast inning, the Pirates rallied for five runs to take the lead. Felix Rodriguez was the winning pitcher in relief of Mike Barbuto. Tony Castelli went all the way for the Mets in a game marked by some great defensive plays by both clubs.

The second game in the Recreation Department series began with the Mets scoring five runs of their own off Pirate hurler Eddie Aulisi. The Pirate pitcher then held the Mets to one additional run as his teammates tied the score at six apiece in the final inning. The Mets held tough as the Pirates threatened with the bases loaded in the last inning.

Darkness prevented further play, so the game will be resumed this Sunday morning at 10.

Playgrounds make ornaments

Christmas ornaments were made all over town this week. They were part of the playground activities at the 13 locations manned by the Recreation Department. Yarn covered bottles and roses made from dough were also some of the crafts taught.

Number four playground received the weekly watermelon for the cleanest grounds in town. The senior league softball team there downed Friendly House, 10-4, with Frank Pizzi, Angelo De Joseph, Anthony Ferrara, and Domenick Seoca, all playing tough in the field.

All the members of Number Eight playground wish to extend best wishes to the Murphy family in their new home in South Carolina. Billy, Michael, Kevin, Brian, John and Tom have all been active at #8 and will be missed by all.

Clearman Field held a peanut hunt. John Guarino, Mike Paolletto, Joe and John Borello, and Donald Gugliotta all participated in the fun.

Playground 10 has a dynamite Junior League which boasts a 4-0 record. Mark Palumbo was the playground person of the week, which means he took the good conduct award.

The Junior League team at Number Two is 3-1 for the summer with their only loss to the powerful Number 10 nine. The Number Two team is determined to be victorious in the next confrontation between the two clubs. A lemon ice party at the playground was enjoyed by Gina Troise, Bobby Brave, Jeff Logan, Mary Ann Petito, and Dana Vitiello.

The Rec House hosted a banana split party. Gene Marino, and Karen Marino each received their ice cream free because of their Kalah championships.

Volleyball and kickball are the favorites at the Stadium. Dave Starr, Brian Cook, Jimmy Castelli, and Debbie and Jean Fanelli are active participants. Anthony Santasieri was the nok-hockey champ by outscoring Joe Corbolus, Barbara Gundry and Chicky Giamo.

Kelley Playground has battled back for two wins after losing their first softball game. Robert Pimental has been the pitching ace and Rich Wilks, Joe Mostachio, Bob Drum, Bob Bahr, and Gerard Tucci have also been playing well.

The girls team at Number One playground has been excellent this year. Marlene Talmadge, Monica Edwards, Sharon Robinson, Lorlei Wells, Rhonda Edwards, Lisa Wells, Janie Eritchely, Joyce Flowers, Allie Thomas, Theresa Eritchely, and Kim Edwards all played well with Lisa Wells batting four for four.

Lorraine Sheedy and Joyce Kulvishie were frisbee winners at Number Nine. A ping pong ball bouncing contest was won by Steve Gatti with a score of 164.

A pizza was consumed at a playground Number Three party. Bill and Mark Humani, Jeanette Bowen, Joe Totoriello, and the Panagos family all received slices. Special thanks to Mrs. Humani for supplying the lemonade.

Fairway playground had a McDonald's party attended by Big Mac gobblers Karin D'Amico, John and Janice Kiernare, Mark Santuoso, Carol Chimento, Jodi and Billy Prosperity and others. Fairway's softball team beat Number Four by a score of 5-4. John Tripodi, Adam Pappas, and John Healy were led by coach Sal Freda and directors Janice Ameo and Anne Ingino.

The checkers champ of the Pistol Range is Biffy Karney. Nok-hockey and Kalah tournaments are also under way. The Pistol Range ended its week with an ice cream soda party that was fun for all.

A talent show was staged at the Friendly House. Tina Charles and Camille LaBar twirled. Kim Wallace and Laurie Lee Dondarski sang and Peter Franzi impersonated Jimmy Durante. Paul Giglio and Dometrio De Benedetto emerged as champions of a nok-hockey tourney.

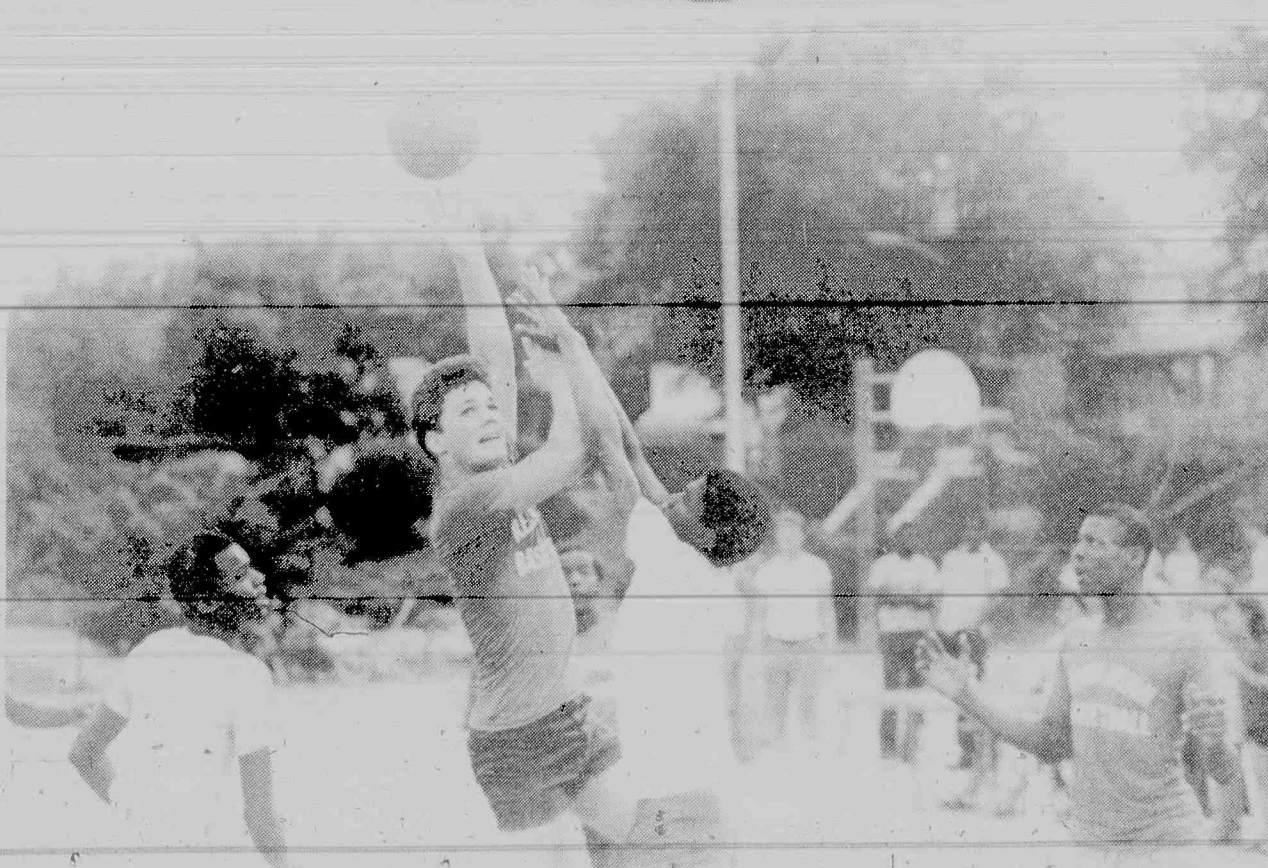

Court action

The basketball courts at Clearman Field have been the scene of some hot action on summer nights. Above, Joe Ritacco, a player for the Nets in the Junior summer league drives for a layup while at bottom, John Eiflander, another Nets cager attempts a hook shot in Monday night's action. More than 50 players have been sharpening their court skills in the Junior League directed by Mark Corino.

Reilly ready

Frank Reilly, a new pitcher on the Bruin staff, was ready for the East Orange competition on Sunday when he fired a no-hitter past the visitors at Belleville Stadium Field. At left, Reilly sizes up another batter for an out. The shutout marked the end of the victorious season for the Bruins as the team clinched their division for the third year in a row.

Bronco team holds tryouts

Tryouts for the 1976 Belleville Broncos Junior Football Team will be held on Monday, August 16.

Bronco tryouts are scheduled for 6:30 p.m. at Clearman Field. Prospective members of the team must be 11 years old by September 1, 1976 but may not become 15 years by December 1. Broncos must weigh between 100 and 145 pounds. Participants are restricted to youths in grades five through eight.

Proper attire for the tryouts will be shorts, sweatshirts and sneakers. If the date conflicts with your summer vacation plans, please notify coach Rich Luzzi, at 759-1533, so that an alternate schedule can be arranged.

Reilly shuts out Panthers

DeJianne returned to the plate in the third and blasted a homer for the fourth Belleville score of the game. Another run for the locals came in the fourth when Giordano doubled and was batted-in on a base hit by Roselle.

Anthony "Chipper" Biafore started the Bruin stick attack in the sixth inning with a double. Puentes advanced the runner with a single and a sacrifice fly by second baseman Giordano scored Biafore.

The Belleville runs kept coming in the sixth, when hits by Roselle and DeJianne scored Puentes and a single by first baseman Danny Dunn brought home Roselle.

Former Bellboy John Guarino led-off the seventh with a single and it was followed by a hit by Tony Marinello and an RBI double by Biafore that scored Guarino. Marinello was caught and thrown out by the Panthers in a run down but a single from Giordano brought home Biafore and another hit by Roselle singled in Puentes who was on by a fielder's choice. The three seventh-inning runs capped the Belleville scoring total at 11.

Reilly's no-hitter for the Bruins was in jeopardy only once in the ninth on a routine fielding play. When a Panther hit a slow roller to the first baseman Dunn, Reilly covered first but dropped the ball when Dunn tossed it to him. The umpires agreed the runner would have been out by enough steps to charge Reilly with an error instead of costing him the no-hitter.

Belleville thrower Greg D'Allesandro pitched a four hitter against the Union Rockets in last Wednesday's 2-1 victory. The game was a pitcher's duel all the way between D'Allesandro and Araneo of Union. Both Bruin runs in the penultimate game of the season came in the fourth inning.

Dunn singled and advanced to second on an infield out. A miscue by the Rocket's first baseman allowed Giordano to get on for Belleville and advance to third on another error which also permitted Dunn to score.

Catcher Bill Otskey provided the winning margin run with a base hit to score Giordano from third.

Bruin general manager Mike Welsh said Belleville's first challenger had not been decided early this week. If the baseball bears win two out of three against South Orange or West Orange, their opponents for the championship three game series will be the winner of the Union-Verona contests. "We're the co, Donald Dupree, Percy Flowers, Morris Thomas and John Eislander all contributed to the scoring and rebounding that resulted in the first Net win of the season. Keith Isler, who contributed all his 12 points in the second half, was the top Bullet scorer.

Another highlight of the recreation season took place last Tuesday evening at Nutley High School when a select group of Belleville Recreation League All-Stars met their eager counterparts from Nutley in what promised to be a spirited battle. Results were in too late for this edition of the Times/News.

The Belleville All-Stars were selected by League Director Mark Corino and agreed upon by his staff. Each team had players who represented their squad on the All-Star group. The rec All-Stars were: Jack Brooks, Barry Taylor, Bernie LePore and Dave Carry of the Bucks, Jim Grogan, Keith Isler, William Lynch, and Duane Baker of the Bullets, Ralph Estelle, and Barry Dealany were the Knick representatives, and William Hawkins and Percy Flowers were the Net All-Stars.

front runners because we've won in the past two years but Union is the team that scares me the most," Welsh said. He noted the Bruins regular season record against the Union Rockets was 2-2.

The pitching will decide the title series according to Welsh. The Bruin manager said Frank Reilly's no-hit performance along with Greg D'Allesandro's four hitter are encouraging signs for the bears championship chances.

Welsh also pointed the the Bruin's addition of Chipper Biafore and John Guarino to the squad at the end of the Legion season as helpful to the team. He characterized both of their abilities as "impressive."

The Bruins have the best won-lost record in the Essex County League and will have the home field advantage for the play-offs.

Lemanowicz feted

Bellevilleite Jeffrey Lemanowicz was honored for five years' service at an awards luncheon held recently at Stevens Institute of Technology.

Grippaldi guest at fair

Phil Grippaldi, Olympic competitor and Pan Am champ, will be honored by the Belleville Recreation Department at its annual summer carnival. The proceeds will then go to the Cerebral Palsy Center on Sanford Avenue in the weightlifter's honor.

The carnival will be held on August 12, at the Recreation Department field on Joralemon Street. The event will feature rides, food, and games and will last from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Grippaldi will be honored at the carnival by the children of the town.

Cable TV promises gavel-to-gavel coverage of freeholders

The two cable television companies seeking a local franchise are maintaining a high-pitched public relations campaign outside the Town Commission chambers.

UA Columbia, for example, has purchased a full page advertisement in this newspaper today and during the past week has mailed three press releases heralding the firm's plans should Commissioners grant the desired franchise.

UA Columbia, along with Suburban Cablevision, have already made presentations before Nutley Town Commissioners and both firms are scheduled to appear before Belleville officials next Tuesday. Nutley reportedly is leaning toward Columbia which among other things this week promised to televise sessions of the Essex County Board of Freeholders, if the franchise is granted.

When Suburban Cablevision was questioned this week by reporters concerning Essex County sessions, no definite response was given. The firm said plans for providing regular coverage of Freeholder meetings were still indefinite.

Robert Scherrek, program director for UA-Columbia, was more direct in his response. Scherrek said Columbia would be expanding its nightly news program to an hour "to enable us to give more in-depth coverage to our growing number of communities."

Columbia's intention is to build a studio to service Belleville. Nutley and Clifton should the firm win the three adjacent franchises. Clifton also is reported leaning toward a Columbia franchise.

Janis L. Gibson of UA Columbia distributed a press release this week noting the firm "will cover town council and Essex County Board of Chosen Freeholders meetings gavel-to-gavel. We will also cablecast selected board of education meetings, provide live election night coverage and numerous other special events."

Nutley Commissioners are in the process of defining particular requests the town will ask of the firm which wins its cable franchise. Nutley in particular is interested in its own community channel. "We could care less what's going on in Wayne or Oakland," Nutley Commissioner Frank Cocchiola told the competing firms at the recent hearing.

Belleville Commissioners, meanwhile, have not only studied the applications submitted by both UA-Columbia and Suburban Cablevision, but have also consulted informally with neighboring officials.

Both firms offer essentially the same service at the same price. One of the major attractions of both cable companies is the offering of Madison Square Garden sporting events and first-run films through Time-Life's "Home Box Office" pay-TV service.

Subscriber prices in both Belleville and Nutley would be $15.50 per month for the complete cable service including the pay-TV movie-sports channel.

Bicycle Club Lists Names Of Winners

Competitive cycling at Brookdale Park, like the Olympic races in Montreal's Velodrome, drew large crowds Sunday to the fast growing spectator sport.

Sponsored jointly by the Nutley Bicycle Club and the Essex County Park Commission, the racing is designed to train potential riders for more advanced and difficult experiences, leading perhaps to the Olympics themselves.

Sanctioned by the United States Cycling Federation, the races draw competitors who range in age from 8 to over 50. For each the excitement of breaking away and winning a spring is the same - a combination of strength and endurance plus superior strategy.

Men and women, boys and girls are eligible to compete. Races begin at 9 a.m. each Sunday morning at Brookdale Park with registration at 8:30 a.m. USCF membership blanks are available at most bicycle stores or at the races themselves.

Results of competition Sunday, July 25:

Group 1&2: 1. Direk Van Lieu, Somerset Wheelmen; 2. Ken Senior, Watchung Wheelmen; 3. Alan Kowal, Somerset Wheelmen; 4. Frank Quinn, Century Road Club of America; 5. Fred Brandes, Watchung Wheelmen.

Group 3: 1. Mark Logiudice, Somerset Wheelmen; 2. Sherwood Harvey, Nutley Bicycle Club/Fuji; 3. Mark Jaffee, unattached; 4. Gary Westcott, Watchung Wheelmen.

Group 4: 1. Hilton Goodman, Nutley Bicycle Club/Fuji; 2. Gary Jansen, Somerset Wheelmen; 3. Walter Mores, Nutley Bicycle Club/Fuji; 4. Kathy Van Lieu, Somerset Wheelmen; 5. J. Ayer, unattached; 6. A. Rodriguez, North Jersey Bicycle Club and Ilona Lenart, Somerset Wheelmen.
