Treasurer predicts gigantic tax hike

By CHUCK JACKSON

The new year is still more than four months off, and already predictions of still more staggering tax hikes are coming from Town Hall.

Town Treasurer Francis McCoy said this week Bellevilleites may look forward to a tax jump of at least 23 tax points. To the owner of a $25,000 home, that would mean a boost of $57 in his yearly tax bill.

McCoy said the town has lost $550,000 in surplus funds, and that money will have to be made up in next year's budget. That figure could increase significantly if the town appropriates funds to pay Belleville's police officers' raises.

The town is in the midst of a deep financial crisis right now, according to McCoy, and the Treasurer sees no light at the end of the tunnel.

"Right now," said McCoy, "we owe insurance bills amounting to $13,000 and have just been notified of a rate hike by Blue Cross/Blue Shield. I don't even know where we will get the money to pay these expenses."

McCoy attributes the town's current fiscal woes to radical budget cuts made by the Commission to appease angry taxpayers earlier this year. "The Commissioners cut the budget lower than the amount projected just for salaries," said the Treasurer. "I don't even know if we will have enough to meet the payrolls."

During public hearings on the budget earlier this year, McCoy stormed out of one meeting when the Commissioners proposed lopping $200,000 from the proposed budget. At the time, he called the action "financial hari-kiri."

"They never checked with me," McCoy said. "I'm the town Treasurer, and I should know where the money is."

The official's dismal prediction of a 23-point tax jump is, he says, a bare-bones figure. McCoy also noted insurance increases amounting to $7,800 per month for the coming year, adding another $93,600 to next year's budget.

In addition to those expenses, McCoy said the town would have to raise another $250,000 to meet the Police Department's payroll demands.

"The town will be required to appropriate $90,000 to implement the raises this year," McCoy said. "Next year, the full amount of the raises will come to $160,000. If they pass an emergency appropriation for the money this year, it all would total a $250,000 increase in next year's budget. That would amount to 11 tax points."

Even more money may be spent on the police, it was noted, since the town and the officers will begin negotiations on September 14 for a contract covering 1977. Once again, there is a possibility an arbitrator may be called in to mediate the negotiations. This year, that mediation resulted in a raise for the officers which

Town may get federal funds

By JOSEPH RYAN

When Congress overrode President Ford's veto of the Public Works Employment Act of 1976 last month, it might have saved the jobs of some Belleville policemen.

The new legislation may also provide the town with a new fire house, water lines and a library. John Bruno, of Bruno Associates, told Belleville commissioners at an open meeting last Thursday night, the town is in an exceptionally good position to take advantage of the Public Works funding. Mayor Michael Marotti and Commissioners Joseph McGreevy, Rocco Saletta, and Mary Senatore then decided on the firehouse, water lines, library, and police employment as the priorities to seek under the bill's requirements.

Bruno explained to the Commissioners the legislation was designed to relieve the slumping construction industry and unemployment especially on the municipal level. Belleville's 14.7 percent unemployment rate, more than five points above the national level, enhances the town's chances to obtain money under the Public Works program, according to Bruno.

"I think you're in an exceptionally good position, just as good as I think Newark is," Bruno told the Commissioners.

Belleville should file for funds for construction or employment within 90 days to get the process started Bruno said. If Belleville doesn't get the money, "someone else is," Bruno said.

The Mayor and Commissioners agreed to try to file a letter of intent with the Economic Development Commission by August 23. The projects initially approved at the meeting for fund seeking were a new firehouse on property leased from the County on Franklin Avenue, construction of improved water line

Three goes down

School Three is on its way down following a bid grant for the demolition of the burnt out structure at a Monday night meeting.

The Interstate Wrecking Company of Springfield was scheduled to begin taking down the old portion of the school yesterday. The announcement was made at a special meeting called by the Board.

According to the Trustees, Interstate was given the contract after filing a low bid of $21,000. Approval of the firm and the contract has been granted by the State Board of Education, and destruction of the structure, gutted by fire in January, 1976, was scheduled to begin yesterday. The work should be completed by the beginning of school classes.

The contract with the wrecking company calls for the complete leveling of the structure by September 3, but Herman Bauman of the architectural firm of Bauman, Bianche, Faridy, said it was likely the demolition would continue until September 7. Classes will begin, officials said, September 8.

Bauman told the Board the building would be razed to the grade level, leaving a hole approximately 40 inches deep. He said a barrier would be constructed around the site to prevent children from entering and possibly injuring themselves. The new structure will be erected on the old foundation walls.

Construction of the new building will begin while classes are in session, and is expected to take at least 16 months, according to Bauman. In response to a question from Trustee vice president Michael Chieffo, the architect said while it might be possible to construct the new school in one year, it was not likely. He said weather conditions would be a factor, but even with the best conditions there could still be delays.

Promised police raise still being held back

Belleville's police officers are still clamoring for their promised raise, but where that money will come from still remains a question mark.

The town's five Commissioners met last Thursday in an effort to find some source of money for the contractual increase, but reportedly, no answer could be found. Though the money could be raised through an emergency appropriation, Public Safety Director Rocco Saletta has said he would not take such a step.

According to Town Treasurer Francis McCoy, there is not money in any of the other department budgets to cover the raises, since all budgets were "slashed to the bone."

The town is currently under a court order, issued August 5, to implement the contract, reached through binding arbitration. The agreement was reached in April of this year, but the Commissioners have yet to pass the ordinance which would put the terms of the contract into effect.

Town Treasurer McCoy has maintained the town will not be able to meet the pay raises specified in the contract without emergency funding. In fact, McCoy said recently, "I don't know if we will have enough money to meet the payrolls at the end of this year."

The Treasurer also said the police force's budgetary allotment for overtime would expire by November 30, if the current rate is maintained, and he said he would refuse to pay any overtime beyond that point. The department is currently paying out approximately $700 each week in overtime.

Though Superior Court Judge Irwin Kimmelman has directed the town to implement the raise,

Inside

Lifter lauded

Belleville's pride and joy, weightlifter Phil Grippaldi recently returned from the Olympics, and the youth of our community wasted no time in giving him some of the recognition he has worked so hard to earn. See the story on page 9.

Stewart studied

After a brief absence, Times/News music critic Anthony Buccino returns to the pages of the paper, this time with a review of a new disc by rock singer Rod Stewart. See the review on page 4.

School Three, as its students and neighbors remember it, will soon be just a memory. The Board of Education has granted a contract to tear down the old portion of the structure, and demolition work was scheduled to begin yesterday. The work should be completed before school begins.

Curbside numbers

Commissioner Mary Senatore looks on as the house number of 36 Joralemon Street is painted on the curb as part of the summer program to identify all Belleville residences with a house number on the curb. Working for the Public Works Department under the Speedy Program, run by Essex County, are young people who will be doing the work. Shown with Commissioner Senatore left to right are Dave Wilks, Joe Mattern, and Billy DeNino.

Ron Janowski of Belleville was in Pinehurst, North Carolina recently to participate in a three-day business and educational conference with officers and other leading sales representatives of Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. Janowski, associated with the company's Essex office, qualified for the conference by providing more than $1 million of life insurance protection for his clients. He placed in the top 10 percent of Metropolitan's 21,000 sales representatives in the United States and Canada. Pictured with him is his wife, Beverly.

Belleville's adult school to offer 11 college courses

The courses offered will include College Composition I, Business Organization and Management, Principles of Real Estate Salesmen, Introduction to Hotel/Motel Management, College Biology I and II, Elementary Typewriting and Basic Systems and Procedures.

Three of the course offerings will be available in afternoon sessions given from 2:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. Included in this group are College Composition I, College Biology I and General Psychology I.

Students may register at Belleville High School September 13, 14 and 15 between 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. Forms for mail registration may be obtained by calling the Essex County College Extension Center office at 877-3400 or the ECC NEED Center, 549 Washington Avenue, Belleville, 751-6750.

Anthony Buccino publishes poetry

Local writer Anthony Buccino, a contributor to the Times News, announced recently the publication of "Days You Knew Me," a collection of poetry.

Buccino, who is a member of The New Jersey Poetry Society, called the collection, "a tribute to a good friend and good times." The booklet is available at bookstores in the community.

Outdoor art show coming next month

The second annual Outdoor Art Show will be sponsored by the Belleville Public Library, 221 Washington Avenue, Saturday, September 11, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Artists interested in participating in the show should call the library for entry information at 759-9200.

Elementary, junior and senior high school level entrants will be eligible for first, second, and honorable mention awards. The adult level category will present first, second, and honorable mention prizes in the categories of abstracts, landscapes, portraits, seascapes, and still life.

First prize winners will receive book awards. The other winners will receive ribbons and certificates from the library.

Greg E. Imhoff graduates Dayton

Greg Edward Imhoff, 163 Academy Street, Belleville, received a bachelors of science degree from the University of Dayton at August 1, summer diploma exercises.

Dayton awarded 476 associate, bachelors, and masters degrees at the ceremonies to bring the total graduates from the class of 1976 to 1,843 men and women in the 126 graduation year in the history of the school.

Senior notes

By GEORGE CHENOWETH

Last Thursday, we went with a group to Trenton, as mentioned in last week's column. One paper reported that there were 300 senior citizens in the gallery of the Assembly chambers. This was true, but it failed to report that there were twice as many who couldn't get into the Assembly room.

The intention of the seniors, under the sponsorship of the North Jersey Federation of Seniors, was to call to the attention of the lawmakers of the state government the importance of lower utilities rates for those on fixed incomes, such as senior citizens.

This was surely accomplished because there were about 20 buses from the North Jersey-area, with at least 800 people. There were two busloads from the Belleville Senior Citizens Club, and we are duly proud of that. So, if numbers mean anything, the trip was a successful one.

Testimony was given at the hearing by the producers of energy, the Public Service Electric and Gas Company and the New Jersey Light and Power Company and also by representatives of various seniors groups. The so-called "Lifeline" was well represented. Thomas F. Carney, executive vice president, gave testimony and also answered questions from the moderator.

The moderator, from the outset, remarked that he was in favor of lower rates for seniors, but as the hearings continued, it seemed to this writer that he was leaning in the opposite direction by asking for obvious solutions to the problem.

I'm sure it was the intent of the "Lifeline" people to present the problem and then ask our legislators for solutions or help in resolving our problem. That is what our assemblyman and senators are elected for, is it not?

Fitzgerald is promoted

Robert J. Fitzgerald has been appointed manager, Marketing Services at the Belleville plant of the Wallace & Tiernan Division of Penwalt Corporation.

Society commends Orechio

Congressman Carl A. Orechio was recently commended by the Associated Humane Societies for his numerous pieces of legislation concerning animal welfare.

At the meeting, the society representatives brought a wire haired fox terrier stray that had been found in his district. It was suggested Assemblyman Orechio might want the dog. However, he already had a dog.

Michael Piccininno

A funeral mass was offered Monday in St. Lucy's Church, Newark, for Michael Piccininno, 74, who died at St. Michael's Medical Center, Newark.

Mr. Piccininno was a bus driver for 36 years for Public Service Coordinated Transport, Maplewood, before retiring nine years ago. He was a member of the Amalgamated Transit Local 819, Irvington and the St. Gerard and Santa Andreano Societies, both of Newark.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Angela Tucci and Mrs. Josephine Palumbo; a brother, Jerry; a sister, Mrs. Grace De Paola and two grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements were handled by the Megaro Memorial Home, Newark.

Public Service wins research facility contract

Public Service Electric and Gas Company has signed a contract with Energy Research and Development Administration and the Electric Power Research Institute to build and operate a national Battery Energy Storage Test facility. Selection of PSE&G to carry out the project was announced in March.

PSE&G plans to build the facility on a 32-acre site adjacent to its Sunnymeade Road Substation in Hillsborough Township, Somerset County. Design is in progress and construction will begin in mid-1977.

The facility is expected to have a vital national role in developing new types of electric batteries for use in storing energy.

The body is dependent upon iron and copper for the oxygen transporting function of the blood. Hemoglobin in the red cells serves as the vehicle for carrying oxygen. Iron is a basic constituent of hemoglobin. Hemoglobin combines with oxygen in the lungs and transports it to the cells, where it is needed to help digest the fuel provided by the carbohydrates, fats and proteins. It also carries carbon dioxide back to the lungs. Iron is therefore essential to the life process.

Brendan Byrne Makes Sense

Governor Brendan T. Byrne this week announced that he will delay signing the proposed $225 million bond issue scheduled for the November ballot until it is determined whether or not the federal government will provide funds for some of the projects covered by the proposed bond issue.

As is customary these days, the Byrne carping critics will pick on any gubernatorial action in an attempt to downgrade the Governor's performance.

Now it just makes common sense that if we could pick up $100 million in federal funds to pay for projects beneficial to the State of New Jersey that the Governor pursue that effort in order to save New Jersey taxpayers from another $100 million burden.

To us Governor Byrne's decision makes sense.

Rocco Saletta is right

Public Safety Director Rocco Saletta recently observed that revaluations of Belleville real estate always cause a fuss among taxpayers, therefore, if public officials are going to be the subject of abuse, why not utilize our local Tax Assessor's Office to do the job a professional firm would perform for $149,000.00.

Well, why not? Tax Assessor Pete Torre is an extremely qualified assessor. In addition to being a professional tax assessor, Torre is a former school teacher and an attorney. Torre would bring to the job more expertise than anybody the Town Commission would hire.

We believe the proposal for the town to perform its own reassessment makes sense and seriously should be considered. It makes no sense to wait for state courts or the legislature to make a decision concerning the need for reassessment.

Neighboring Newark received a six month period of grace, but in the end Newark must reassess also. For taxpayers a significant thing in a reassessment is the effective date. If Belleville immediately undertook a program to reassess, the effective date can not be earlier than October 1 of next year, and more likely October 1 of 1976.

In the final analysis, assessments are required by law to be established by the local tax assessor — so even if we hired an outside firm to do the job, in the end Torre's word is final.

We suggest the Commission go ahead on its own, give Pete Torre the help he needs, and let's get the job done.

Juvenile Crime

Judge Alexander P. Maturri, the presiding Juvenile Court Judge in Essex County, this week ordered proceedings in a case before his court to be made public — a bold decision that establishes a precedent.

Judge Maturri was angry and upset over a case before him involving five teenage girls who mugged and robbed a 21-year-old female employee of the Bell Telephone Company as she was enjoying a lunch hour walk at the corner of Branford St. and University Place in Newark. The five juveniles are charged with armed robbery, assault and battery. The victim was struck in the back with a stick and then told by one of her attackers, "give us your pocketbook or we'll blow your head off."

The defendants range in age from 15 to 17. Despite the age, some persons between those age brackets are more mature and more knowledgeable in the ways of the world than some people in their 50's.

The time has come in American life for the mask of concealment to be ripped away to unmask the young criminal and the young vandal. Judge Maturri is showing us the way. Judge Maturri's decision is a giant step forward in the solution of juvenile crime.

Prayer For Today

O GOD of peace, we turn aside from an unquiet world seeking rest for our spirits, and light for our thoughts. We bring our work to be sanctified, our wounds to be healed, our sins to be forgiven, our hopes to be renewed, our better selves to be quickened. O THOU, in whom there is harmony, draw us to THYSELF, and silence the discords of our wasteful lives. THOU in whom all are one, take us out of the loneliness of self, and fill us with the fullness of THY truth and love. THOU whose greatness is beyond our praise, lift us above our littleness and our daily imperfections; send us visions of the love that is in THEE and of the good that may be in us.

Student sings out teacher's praises

To the Editor:

I would like to use this space to praise a teacher formerly of the Belleville School System. Mrs. Neil Weintrob, Susan Weintrob, my former Journalism teacher at Belleville High School, has, along with her husband, moved to Oklahoma, where her husband will become a university music professor and she will attain her master's degree in English.

Mrs. Weintrob is of the breed of teachers whose genuine concern for the welfare of her students is not only realized but appreciated by them.

So I am thanking Mrs. Weintrob for introducing me to the field of journalism and for an interesting year of study. I feel that the public should know about the fruits that a dedicated teacher, like a fertile tree, can produce.

Cops and firemen get some credit

To the Editor:

I would like to show my appreciation to the Belleville Police Department and Fire Department, namely Fireman Alvino and Siciliano and Officers Alex Freda and Robert McDonald.

These four men helped me when I needed them the most especially Alex Freda. I was in a car accident in Belleville on July 16 and in a matter of minutes, I had the help of these fine men.

Alex Freda, who is and always will be special to me for staying with me throughout this whole horrible ordeal until someone from my family came. I've known Alex for a while but never realized what an asset to this town he is. I just want to thank him very sincerely and thank the three other men for their help too.

Stewart is still swinging singer

By ANTHONY BUCCINO

Familiar throughout the world as both a pop star and a prominent white blues singer, Rod Stewart has once again proved his worth with the release of "Night On The Town" (Warner Brothers). Stewart's rasping vocals, and earthy interpretations highlight the lp.

The album is broken into "Fast Side" and "Slow Side". The "Slow Side" is much easier to appreciate while the "Fast Side" is harder to grasp. The "Fast Side", with the exception of "Trade Winds", takes some time to get used to.

Stewart's vocals come growling through in "The Balltrap", he is upset as a cuckold and as a gigolo. His bewilderment is amusing. "The Balltrap" is musically impressive and lyrically suggestive.

The delivery of "Big Bayou" is emphatic, smart, but the song itself is less than believable coming from Stewart. I really couldn't see him "picking cotton".

"Pretty Flamingo" is done with class, it could really get out of hand, fall into the category of "trite". One must admire Stewart for beating the challenge.

Stewart's interpretation of Cat Stevens' "The First Cut Is The Deepest" is persuasive. Dealing with unrequited love, "Fool For You" is sometimes bitter, sometimes reticent. The singer is willing to try again, though there's little more than hope. Stewart's emotional intensity is captured in the wistful line, "I came on the dust, I'll leave on the wind," a line very similar to one of Dylan's in "Song For Woody". Stewart surely could fit into the "Cisco, Sonny, and Leadbelly" of Dylan's classic, and nonchalantly, he does.

"Tonight's The Night" expresses the same sentiment as Dylan's "Tonight I'll Be Staying Here With You." Rod Stewart sings "kick off your shoes"; Dylan sang "kick your shoes off." Suffice it to say that Stewart like thousands of other musicians has been influenced by Bob Dylan. But on "Tonight's The Night" Stewart is more explicit, picturesque — so pure that there's no doubt as to his sincerity.

Graphic, realistic, grim, yet easy to respond to, "The Killing of Georgie (Part I And II)" attacks the strange turn of events that robs a friend from life. The song is haunting in both melody and lyrics. The most attractive cut on the lp, it offers this bit of philosophy, "Never wait, or hesitate, get in, kid, before it's too late." You'll feel the same about "Night On The Town".

The Beach Boys have played their music together for fifteen years and their new album has fifteen songs on it. The title Assemblyman Orechio is gaining a lot of friends throughout New Jersey from the vast ranks of retired Senior Citizens who are receiving company pensions from their former employers. His attempt to amend the new State Income Tax law, which he voted against, to exclude from taxation any portion of such company pensions up to $4,500 is winning strong support from this formidable, politically minded segment of our society.

He is so right when he charges, "many were deceived into believing pensions were excluded from taxation under the terms of the state income tax bill, only to learn upon its passage it contains the same provisions as the Federal Internal Revenue Act, subjecting pensioners in this state to 'double jeopardy' duplication of taxation."

When this unpopular bill was "railroaded" to passe, many of the legislators who voted for it didn't even know what was in it nor see a copy of the bill. When the printed bill came out, we learned the harsh facts, even the newspapers were misled and deceived.

Yes, the sad truth is the meager company pensions of retired Senior Citizens are taxable under the exorable tax law, in the same manner it is under the Federal Income tax provisions. No doubt they would have even taxed Social Security payments were it not excluded from taxation by Federal law.

Assemblyman Orechio is making a strong argument in behalf of the aged, low income Senior Citizens of the entire state when he says, "The very least we can do to alleviate the tax burden of our aged, retired citizens forced in many instances to merely subsist on meager Social Security handouts and small company pensions, is to amend this vicious tax-gouging, state income tax law to the extent of excluding from taxation the first $4,500 of any pension received by our retired senior citizens." I'm all for that. There is a big difference when that weekly pay check isn't coming in anymore.

Politically, Belleville is indeed a "wacky" town. The County Court Assignment Judge orders revaluation, yet, our commissioners by majority vote defy his order under threat of imprisonment for contempt. A district court judge, on temporary assignment to the County Court, proclaims a portion of a town ordinance banning coin operated game machines discriminatory, the town appeals the decision, yet, they approve such licenses by resolution. How can such zany, inconsistent maneuvers be explained or vindicated? Where were all the men of cloth in town when these gaming devices were "licensed" on a conditional basis, although, no such contingent licenses are provided for under the town's licensing laws?

Before the election, a year ago, the commissioners and candidates said, no raises. After election, with four years to go, they forget their promise. They opened discussions on police raises, then realizing they were on the "hot seat" they tried to weasel out of it by agreeing to binding arbitration. They lost that one, but, eased out of a bigger bite when the judge granted the arbitrator's award for only one year. Now they want to renege on that crying "poor mouth" claiming no money and laying off cops as their only recourse.

Well, I'm no big spender and hate like hell to see taxes go up needlessly, but, cops are needed, in fact, we need more. They won their award fairly and according to your own rules. GIVE THEM THEIR RAISE.

of their latest release is, logically, "Fifteen Big Ones" (Warner Brothers).

What could have been a brilliant album from the staples of rock and roll has turned out to be the most disappointing album of the year.

"Everybody's In Love With You" is dragged out, it sounds foolish, "Talk To Me" is strained and distorted. "That Same Song" contains self-righteous lyrics; it has promise but fails to deliver on that promise.

The "TM Song" opens with a 'Cheech and Chong' style argument, a bunch of voices — all unclear. The "TM Song" is goofy and trite. "Palisades Park" is the most normal cut up to side two, it's not very good but it's the best so far.

The Beach Boys take a gamble with "Blueberry Hill", but they lose. Someone must have been smoking rope in the control booth. "Back Home" is a good cut compared to the rest of this plastic, but it tends to grow banal.

"Susie Cincinnati" is most like the Beach Boys at their best, it isn't their best but it's the closest you'll find here. "Susie Cincinnati" cannot be appreciated through the cacophony called music. My suggestion for "Fifteen Big Ones" is 'return for regrooving'.

THE STATE WE'RE IN

River bill is step in the right direction

By DAVID F. MOORE

A wild and scenic rivers system for New Jersey may sound a bit over-optimistic for this crowded little state, but the idea has great environmental merit, and New Jersey has a number of rivers, or sections thereof, which deserve such protection.

A bill introduced in May (A-1992) by Assemblyman H. Donald Stewart of Salem-Gloucester counties would establish such a system. It is now being weighed by the Assembly Committee on Agriculture and the Environment.

It would establish four classifications for rivers which might be included. "Wild" status would require a stream to be unpolluted, unpolluted, primitive and undeveloped along its shores, and inaccessible except by trail.

A "scenic" label could go to a generally similar river which is accessible by road; "recreational" listing denotes streams which are readily accessible, with some shoreline development and impoundment or diversion. Finally, "developed recreational" status is saved for streams which are suitable for a variety of recreational uses, despite substantial development.

The Department of Environmental Protection would have to take three steps to declare a river suitable for inclusion in the system. First would be completion of its flood hazard areas delineation. This would be followed by a study documenting land use and ownership, environmental and economic impact on local communities, costs to the state, and recommending the appropriate classification. Finally, a public hearing would be held.

According to the League for Conservation Legislation, one weakness of the bill is that it would encompass only land areas delineated under the flood plain act, or those to which the state has acquired ownership or a scenic easement. This could leave some bad gaps in protected areas, especially in rugged terrain.

LCL feels that the nastiest potential loophole in the bill is the right of the Commissioner of the Department of Environmental Protection to reclassify the designation of any streams in the system. That could leave the door wide open for some future commissioner to succumb to development interests and undo it all.

The ill-empowered involved municipalities to name a commission which would administer the area in accord with guidelines set by the Department. Municipal environmental commissioners I've talked to feel they could do that job better, without creating another special purpose group at the local level.

LCL listed another threat embodied in the bill, which allows the Commissioner to grant easements or develop facilities along a designated stream. Again, this opens the door to unwise development which would destroy the natural factors the bill sets out to protect.

The bill is seen by many environmentalists to be step in the right direction, however; one which could be made more effective with some careful amending. In fact, LCL has already proposed several amendments to the bill. It suggests that the measure include specific guidelines for administration of the lands in the system, place them under the state Natural Areas System and give them priority in flood plain delineation.

The legislation has one excellent section, in which it would authorize the governor to apply for inclusion of designated rivers in the National Wild and Scenic Rivers System. It also directs the department to complete all requirements necessary to win designation of the Mullica River as the system's first component - though most conservationists seem to agree with LCL that no more than 90 days, instead of the year proposed in the bill, should be needed to study that river before it can be included. It's been studied quite a bit already.

Garden raider riles resident

To the Editor:

I am disgusted by my neighbors in this town. After my father (who is unemployed) has worked for months in his tomato garden with little to show for his time, a young man was seen last night about 9 p.m. loading OUR tomatoes into his bushel.

My dad has been wondering why there weren't many tomatoes coming from the fair sized garden, now we all know why. Who knows how many times he's conducted his evening raids?

Has your son brought home a few bushels of tomatoes? Is he about six feet tall? Are you missing a plastic green bushel with six flowers on it? Where have YOU been getting your tomatoes?

He got away last night, my father couldn't catch him. But if he comes back and I catch him, he's got A LOT of tomatoes to pay for with his hide.

Brown's talent brings bucks

When George Brown negotiated settlement for School Three with the Insurance Company of North America, he was bargaining for his hometown and the school he attended.

Whether or not his close involvement with the burned-out building provided the extra incentive to succeed, Brown's talent for negotiation won the town a $980,286.23 check from INA for the destroyed School Three.

"The settlement was fair, equitable and just, not only to the school, community, teachers, and School Board, but also to the company," Brown said.

Born in Irvington in 1910, Brown has lived in Belleville since 1927. He attended School Three, Belleville High School, and graduated from the University of Virginia with a B.S. in Political Science. Brown received a Bachelor of Laws degree from Columbia in February, 1933.

His attendance at the University of Virginia increased Brown's interest in the law, the profession of the school's founder, Thomas Jefferson. The founding father is a hero of Brown, who admires Jefferson for his range of talents and interest in the common man.

"He was so proficient in many professions," Brown says of Jefferson. "He was the architect of what we have today." The local lawyer noted the famous Virginian also had to engage in compromises with Adams and the North in the formative years of this country must as a lawyer today must learn to accept compromises in negotiations.

Lawyers today have recently suffered some embarrassment by the legal professionals who became entangled in the wrong side of the Watergate affair but Brown believes the range of ethics in the profession hasn't changed much in recent years. "I don't think things have changed measurably," Brown said. "People were just as avaricious, people were just as good, dedicated, and loyal in the good old days but the press and media have focused attention on it, which is healthy."

Once again Brown referred to the philosophy of Jefferson in relation to modern events, in this case the media. "I think that Jefferson would be the first to advance the cause of the sunshine laws because they are certainly in the public interest," Brown said.

Taxation and insurance have been the focus of Brown's law career. Before he joined Sheppard Cooper Dickson Merklebach and Camp in Upper Montclair as attorney of counsel, Brown was assistant general counsel for the American Insurance Association, formerly the National Board of Fire Underwriters. As a tax and insurance expert, Brown frequently represented insurance companies in settlement negotiations, an experience that was valuable to his negotiation for the Belleville School Board with INA.

Working on both sides of the table also gives the lawyer a good perspective of both sides of the issue in insurance settlements. "Insurance companies are regulated institutions. They have to protect the assets not only of the other policy holders but also their stockholders," Brown said.

The give and take of negotiations is what insurance settlements are all about. Brown, as a lawyer would not divulge the steps taken to reach agreement in the INA-School Three case but said, "naturally the language is interesting and in earnest."

The 39-year resident of Belleville said he thinks the town has a bright future. "We're all near where the action is," Brown said. He pointed to the presence of big industry as an optimistic sign of the future. Belleville "attracted in earlier years, aggressive industries, that augers well for the future," Brown said. "They have some pretty large corporate grants."

Brown lives at 28 Reservoir Place with his wife, Grace, and while he enjoys reading historical novels and histories, his favorite pastime is enjoying the company of his seven grandchildren.

Grateful mother thanks 'Samaritans'

To the Editor:

We hear so much about the wrong things teenagers do, but unfortunately, good deeds do not make headlines.

Although this is far from being a headline and I do not know if they will even read this, I would like to publicly thank three teenagers who were "Good Samaritans."

When my nine-year-old son fell down one of the cliff-like hills in Branch Brook Park, they helped him up and brought him and his older brother home in their car. They didn't just drop them off, either. They rang the bell and explained what happened and then they took my older son back to the park to get his brother's friend and the three bicycles they had been riding.

My husband had gone to the door when they rang the bell because it was inconvenient for me at the time, so I did not get to meet them, but again I want to say, "thank you very much" to three very nice, good young people and to let them know my son was taken to Emergency and nothing was broken, just sprained, thank God.

Distant admirer lauds David Moore

To the Editor:

I want to take this opportunity to commend David Moore on his weekly column entitled "The State We're In."

His informative articles on land-use planning in New Jersey provides the reader with a general understanding of the imperative need to adequately control growth and prevent further destruction of the environment. Needless to say, New Jerseyans must begin to deal with these problems immediately.

I hope your series will provide an impetus for the reader to write to his representative in support of effective land-use mechanisms to assure orderly growth before it is too late.

Recently, Long Island shores were closed for two weeks. Is that the beginning of things to come? I hope not.

Belleville to welcome new citizens

One year ago

Public Safety Department employees and the Town were due to reach a final settlement or a major impasse when they were to meet to resume salary negotiations.

According to Mayor Michael Morotti, neither the Board of Commissioners nor the PBA and FMBA negotiators involved had been able to come to terms on a salary increase.

The police and firemen rejected the Town's first counterproposal made two weeks before, and were to consider a new one being prepared by Public Safety Commissioner Rocco Saletta for approval by the other Commissioners.

No matter how large an increase, if any, would be granted to the police and firemen, an emergency appropriation would be necessary by the Board to fund it, according to the Mayor who expected some objection from the public at the required public hearing.

The congregation of Bethany Lutheran Church of Belleville agreed to sponsor a family of Vietnamese refugees in town.

Mai Xuan Son, a former South Vietnamese Air Force officer, his wife, Tri Thi Vien, their two children and Son's sister, Mai Thi Bach Dao had been living at Camp Chaffee, Arkansas, since the fall of Saigon.

They were scheduled to arrive in Belleville later on that week.

Three years ago

A street resurfacing contract of $18,626 was awarded by the Belleville Board of Commissioners to the Warren Brothers Company in Prospect Park.

Warren Brothers was the same company which received the go ahead the year before for similar work which was never begun, due to an onslaught of cold weather which made street resurfacing impossible. Those streets missed the year before were to be resurfaced, along with seven new streets.

Seven years ago

It appeared to local Belleville organizations were apathetic to plans to spend over $100,000 to improve the Belleville Municipal Stadium. Only eight local organizations sent representatives to the special meeting of the Belleville Athletic Council, which had been called to discuss the town's role in future stadium improvements. More than 40 invitations were sent to local organizations.

Twelve years ago

Mayor Nuncio Pico and Town Councilman James Golden helped turn out the first spadeful at the ground breaking ceremony for Clara Maass Hospital.

Seventeen years ago

The Town of Belleville was paid a fee that must have really broken the pocket books of the National Advertising Companies for the use of the perimeter of the Police Pistol Range. The organization had paid the Town the exorbitant sum of $1.00.

Harry Sullivan, the Commissioner of Public Safety and his staff were closely examining the question of whether or not to make Belmont Avenue, by Clara Maass Hospital a two way street. The move was favored by residents, who thought that it would speed up travel time to and from work, but was opposed by the hospital, which feared that it would interfere with emergency vehicles.

Twenty-two years ago

Holy Family Church was proud to announce that it had been able to increase its enrollment to such a great extent that it was able to add an eighth grade to the school for the first time. This, in turn, allowed the school to graduate its first complete class.

Thirty-two years ago

Belleville gained two more spiritual leaders, as Rev. Francis Ignocuinis joined the clergy at St. Peter's parish and Rev. John F. Migliano was assigned to a position at St. Anthony's parish in town.

Forty-seven years ago

The greatest number of high school students, ever, graduated from Belleville High. There were 80 in all.

The Town Commission held a stormy session as it turned down Commissioner Pat Waters attempted repeal of a controversial bill which would close local hardware stores on Sunday. Local Store owners complained that the ordinance was hurting business, as most people did the putting around their houses on a Sunday rather than during the week.

Assessment reduction applications jumped to over 500, even though Chairman Isaac Scoenthal of the County Board of Assessors announced that Belleville had been under assessed by more than two million dollars.

Off we go into the wild blue yonder

Helen's thing

by Helen Maguire

I LOVE AIRPORTS, even if I'm not going anywhere myself. There is something so exciting about them, the hustle and bustle and hellos and goodbys. I usually have very little success getting to or from them, however, without getting lost en route. Hate to tell you how many times I've come from JFK, taken the wrong turn and landed smack in the middle of Brooklyn. Nothing against Brooklyn, mind you, but I don't feature wandering through its streets when I thought I was headed straight for Jersey's glorious shores.

For a while there, we had a devil of a time finding our way to Newark Airport and were saved one evening only by Gavin's alertness. The kid spotted a United Airlines food service truck as we wandered forlornly down some highway after missing the proper turn and concluded, in all his six year old wisdom, that if we followed the truck, we had to come to the airport. He was right!

WITH THIS TRACK record, you can understand why, when Rod was making plans to go out to New Mexico weekend before last, one of the first things on his list was a trial run to the big field yonder where the planes take off. Using S3 and the New Jersey Turnpike, we made it in record time and with no hassles whatsoever, much to the man's relief. He was planning to go straight from New York but mama and the kids would be coming from Nutley to see him off and would have to travel the same route to pick him up Sunday night.

The problem Thursday night was not the getting to the airport, it was the getting off the ground. The Irishman checked in at 9:30 p.m. for a 10 p.m. flight and finally left Newark three hours late, victim it seems of some kind of labor dispute which affected the air traffic controllers. For some other reason, possibly weather, the plane was forced to circle Dallas for an hour which meant that he was four hours late getting there and had missed his connecting flight to El Paso. The next one would not leave until 9:30 a.m. and a very tired and somewhat disgruntled mate was bundled off to the nearest motel for a catnap and breakfast. In total, he arrived in El Paso eight hours behind schedule, lugging the Taylor Ham Dennis had requested and two cameras and longing only for a shower and a change of raiment.

IT WAS A STRANGE three days with no daddy in the house although the quartet and I managed to survive everything, including a barbecue in pouring rain (picture Gavin broiling steaks just inside the open garage door.) We watched the closing ceremonies of the Olympics Sunday night and then took off to reclaim the man of the house. He emerged (on time), with presents for all including a genuine Mexican sombrero purchased that morning in Juarez, delighted to be home, bearing pictures of Dennis and our new daughter-in-law, whom, it seems, has thoroughly captivated "pops." To my credit, I didn't mention the stopped up bathroom sink til we were out of the parking lot!

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Bradley—nee Kathleen Sheridan

Miss Kathleen Sheridan is bride of Mark Bradley

Wedding vows were exchanged May 16 in St. Thomas the Apostle Church, Bloomfield, by Miss Kathleen Sheridan, daughter of Mrs. Eleanor Sheridan of 150, Holmes Street and the late Mr. Arthur Sheridan and Mark Bradley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Bradley of 42 Mt. Prospect Avenue.

The Rev. James Heavey of St. Peter's Church, Belleville, performed the ceremony which was followed by a reception at Wayne Manor, Wayne.

Escorted by her brother, Ralph Estelle, the bride wore a long sleeved white polished silk organza gown appliqued with cotton flowers and fashioned with a boat neckline and full train. A matching headpiece held her lace trimmed veil and she carried a colonial styled bouquet of gladiolus, stephanotis and babies breath.

Mrs. Doris Rogers of Belleville was her sister's matron of honor. Bridesmaids included Mrs. Dawn Catalano of Nutley, sister of the groom, Miss Sheri Villone of Belleville, cousin of the groom, Miss Gayle Shreiber of Snyder, New York, niece of the bride and Mrs. Mary Estelle of Belleville, sister-in-law of the bride. Junior bridesmaids were Miss Lori Ann Shreiber of Snyder, New York and Miss Maureen Estelle of Belleville, nieces of the bride. Flower girl was another niece, GERALYN ROGERS of Belleville.

Their gowns were of deep blue Qiana applique with flowers and fashioned with cape sleeves. Headpieces were wide brimmed hats. The junior attendants were similarly attired in light blue.

Anthony Bradley of Belleville was his brother's best man. Ushers were Domenico Catalano of Nutley, brother-in-law of the groom, Todd Villone of Belleville, cousin of the groom, Richard Sheridan of Belleville and Arthur Sheridan of Clifton, brothers of the bride. Ringbearer was the bride's nephew, Ronald Sheridan.

Mrs. Sheridan chose a gown of peach Qiana accented with rhinestone beading while the groom's mother was in a yellow gown with beaded bodice. Corsages were white orchids.

Mrs. Bradley, an alumna of Belleville High School, is in the physical therapy department at Columbus Hospital, Newark.

Mr. Bradley, also, a graduate of Belleville High School, is with Coordinate Design Inc., Fairfield.

The couple honeymooned at Disney World, Orlando, Florida and cruised to the Bahamas. They are living in East Rutherford.

Mrs. Frank Coolick — nee Cheryl Chiappinelli

Cheryl Ann Chiappinelli married to Frank Coolick

Wedding vows were exchanged July 11 in St. Anthony's Church, Belleville, by Miss Cheryl Ann Chiappinelli, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Chiappinelli of 115 Brighton Avenue and Frank Coolick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Coolick of Bloomfield.

A reception followed at The Fiesta, Woodridge.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a Qiana gown with empire waistline and wedding band neckline accented with beading. A matching headpiece held her fingertip veil and she carried roses and stephanotis.

Mrs. Lorraine Vigarina of Elizabeth was matron of honor. Bridesmaids included Miss Virginia McCarthy, Miss Jo-Ann Chiappinelli of Belleville, Miss Kathy Duffy of Bloomfield and Miss Denise Mora of Dover. Flower girl was Jeanne Marie McCarthy of Belleville.

Their gowns of apricot Qiana were topped with chiffon capes and they carried white daisies with apricot carnations and babies breath.

Edward Danski of Belleville was best man. Ushers were Albert Chiappinelli, Michael Ginatella, both of Belleville, William Duffy of Bloomfield and Stephen Zales of Verona.

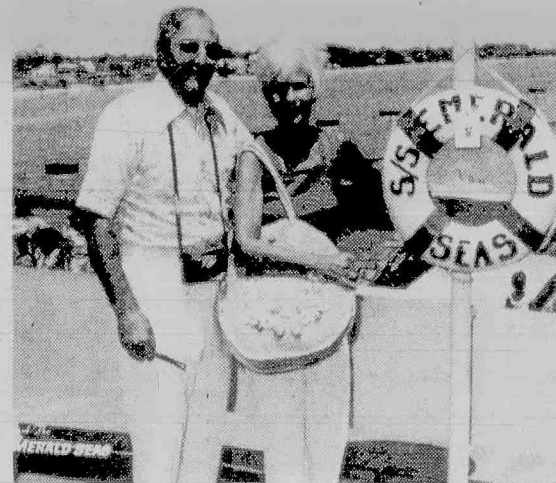

Mrs. Chiappinelli chose a pale blue gown while the groom's mother was in pale green. Corsages were white orchids.

Mrs. Coolick, an alumna of Belleville High School, is with Town of Belleville Municipal Court.

Mr. Coolick, a graduate of Newark College of Engineering, is with the State of New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection.

The couple are living in Belleville after honeymooning in St. Maarten.

SAILING on the Emerald Seas of Eastern Steamship Lines from Miami, Florida to Nassau are Mr. and Mrs. A. Battaglia of 73 Perry Street.

Mrs. Robert J. May re-elected head of Legion ladies

Mrs. Robert J. May of Belleville has been re-elected president of American Legion Auxiliary Unit 70. Also elected were Mrs. Joseph Filaci of Bloomfield, 1st vice president; Mrs. Earl Crawford of Nutley, 2nd vice president; Mrs. Howard Shuster of Nutley, treasurer; Mrs. Herbert Schulz of Bloomfield, historian; Mrs. John Ostroski of Nutley, chaplain; Mrs. James Conroy of Bloomfield, sergeant at arms; and Mrs. Dorothy Robertella of Bloomfield, assistant secretary at arms. Mrs. Anthony Turturiello was ratified as recording secretary and Mrs. Elwood Braun was ratified as corresponding secretary. Both are of Nutley.

This is Mrs. May's third term as president of the Auxiliary. She has held many other positions on the local and county levels. A member of Unit 70 for 11 years, she has three children, Mrs. Thomas Ryan of Den-ville, Mrs. John Krug of Caldwell and Robert May Jr. of Belleville and six grandchildren.

St. Mary's planning Sept. 19 parish picnic

St. Mary's will hold a Parish Picnic to continue the celebration of its Centennial Year. The picnic will be held on Church grounds and will begin at 2:00 p.m. and continue until dusk.

On the menu will be hot dogs, hamburgers, baked beans, corn on cob, watermelon, soda and beer. A Dixieland band will play throughout the day. There will be games for the young and the not so young.

Tickets are available now, either at the Rectory or from one of the ushers at $3 for adults and $1 for children under 16.

All parishioners are urged to come and join in the fun.

Citizens face 34 point leap

they called fair and the town fathers staggering.
The reasons for the current financial crisis are difficult to trace. Belleville last year, through various legislative moves, lost a sizeable chunk of state aid, which had a great impact on the town's surplus funds.

At the end of 1975, Belleville had a total of $1,200,000 in surplus funds — $600,000 less than the previous year. This meant, said McCoy, the town could apply much less of this money towards this year's budget.

As a result, a tax hike was called for, but a large number of citizens came to the fore to oppose such a move. Most prominent were the members of the Belleville Citizens'

Union. Members of that group attended the public hearing on the budget and put pressure on the Commissioners to strive for a "zero tax increase."

As a result of that pressure, the Commission members chopped their budgets further, and performed some budgetary sleight of hand to reduce the financial plan another $200,000.

By increasing the amount of anticipated revenue, the Town Fathers were able, without actually cutting their budgets more, to reduce the bottom line figure by $200,000.

While the move may have appeased some of the citizens, McCoy said that move alone may have cost the town $550,000 in surplus.

If the Treasurer's figures are correct, Belleville's surplus at the end of this year will be reduced to half of last year's level. The town will begin 1977 with just $650,000 in surplus funds. All this means the citizens will have to make up the lost money through increased taxes.

Should McCoy's predictions come to be, Belleville homeowners have a minimum tax increase of 34 points to look forward to.

Local man fined $250

A 31-year old Belleville man, arrested June 10 for possession of marijuana and a controlled dangerous substance, was fined $250 and received a suspended jail term of 120 days during proceedings in Belleville Municipal Court August 12.

Belleville Avenue, pleaded guilty to all charges including a third count of possessing a CDS in an improper container.

Municipal Court Judge Edward Abromson fined Narciso and also imposed a year probation along with the suspended prison sentence.

Building, jobs are priorities

system in the Valley, a new library, and assistance from the works bill to return laid off Belleville police officers to work. All the proposed projects came within the bill's construction and employment provisions.

The letter of intent must contain a probable cost estimate along with the number of unemployed in Belleville. When the final application is filed it must contain cost specifications and formal architectural plans for construction projects.

Plans were previously drawn up for a new or a renovated Belleville Public Library, so the Town must hire an architect for the firehouse design and obtain specifications from the Town Engineer, Fred Bush, for a water line improvement in the Valley to make application.

A new library might be constructed at the site of the Ree House on Jorammon and Garden Streets. The proposed firehouse would go on a lot leased by Essex County to Belleville for 50 years on Franklin Avenue opposite the golf course. Belleville must begin some sort of construction on the ground within two years in order to keep the lease.

If the government approves the funding of whatever projects Belleville proposes, then under the Public Works Act, construction must begin within 90 days if the Town is to retain the grant.

Bruno Associates is a Newark public relations firm. Belleville pays $10,000 a year to seek out federal funds for local use. The Public Works Employment Act was passed at the end of July and last weeks meeting was to inform the Commissioners how Belleville might profit from the new legislation.

Overtime may run out this fall

plement the contract, McCoy said it would be useless to pass the ordinance until money to pay the raises is found. "Right now," said McCoy, "it would not matter if the Commissioners passed the ordinance, because we still would not have the money to pay the men."

"According to state law," he continued, "I could not pay the raises until they appropriate the money. Any commitment made by the municipality where the money is not available, is null and void."

Should the town decide to vote for emergency funding to pay the police, McCoy said, the town would pay heavily next year. (See above story) since that money would have to be made up in next year's budget. It would take a $90,000 appropriation to meet the salary hikes.

PBA Local 28 president William Escott has been pressing Commissioner Saletta for passage of the contract ordinance, but said early this week he had not yet met with the Director. Escott has also said he believes it will be necessary for the town to vote for an emergency appropriation in order to meet the raise requirements.

Even if the Commissioners pass the needed ordinance, at least one political observer has noted the town might still be able to "stall" on paying the raises. Citing the town's delay in appropriating funds for revaluation, the observer said a similar tactic might also be employed by the town in holding off the raises.

Should the Commissioners continue to delay implementing the contract, there is a possibility, some local residents believe, of some type of police job action. PBA officials, however, deny considering any such move, pointing out the illegality of job actions by police officers.

Catholic Service vans to help senior citizens

Catholic Community Services, the social services arm of the Archdiocese of Newark, is in receipt of six new vans from the New Jersey Department of Transportation, to be used for transporting senior citizens and the handicapped. The vans were received under terms of two separate grants to CCS's two major components, Associated Catholic Charities and the Mount Carmel Guild.

Associated Catholic Charities, will receive four of the 15 passenger vehicles to be utilized in expanding a transportation service for elderly persons which it had originated two years ago in Union County. The new vans will allow ACC to establish transportation programs for the elderly in Essex and Hudson counties immediately.

Bicentennial license plates are going fast

The supply of New Jersey's special Bicentennial license plates is nearing its end. A limited edition has been produced and sold through Bicentennial commissions and non-profit organizations throughout the state. The project is the only state-authorized plan for local groups to raise funds for Bicentennial activities.

Many Belleville organizations have been selling the license plates throughout this year.

The plates are red, white and blue and bear the New Jersey Bicentennial insignia and the words, "Crossroads of the Revolution." These are the only license plates authorized for display over the regular front license plate through next year.

"While thousands of New Jersey

Passaic paddle trip offered by park

Have you ever wanted to paddle up the Passaic? If the river has drawn you beyond its banks, here's a chance to see it close-up.

Interpretive canoe trips throughout the remainder of August have been scheduled by the Essex County Park Commission's Center for Environmental Studies for the general public. These expeditions are staffed by naturalists from the Environmental Center staff and begin at 9:30 a.m. Saturdays and 1 p.m. Sundays.

Staff naturalists will point out and discuss the wildlife and other natural phenomena to be seen as the canoes go their course down the river.

The cost of canoe rental is $5 and includes participation of one adult. The fee is $1.25 for each additional adult, and 75 cents for each child. Three are permitted in each canoe.

Pre-registration is necessary as each trip is limited to 30. Reservations can be made by contacting the Center for Environmental Studies, 621 Eagle Rock Avenue, Roseland, 228-2210.

Old steam locomotive pulling train

A traditional steam locomotive, a reminder of glory of American railroading, is one of the major attractions of the American Freedom Train which will arrive for its visit in Port Newark on August 21-23.

Most of the 4.5 million people who have viewed the Freedom Train during its travels across America have shown great interest in the 400-ton former Reading Railroad T-1 type steam locomotive.

"The sight of a steam locomotive pulling the 26-car red, white and blue American Freedom Train excites the imagination of young and old," said Petr Spurney, President of the non-profit American Freedom Train Foundation, Inc. "Crowds of people line the tracks along our route, almost as excited as those who visit the Train."

Actually, two steam locomotives have been used for the 21-month journey. The Reading T-1 is used for the eastern portions of the Freedom Train's journey and a Southern Pacific GS-4 type Daylight locomotive for the western portion of the journey.

"We found the Reading T-1 locomotive in a Baltimore scrap yard," Spurney said. "A hundred or so railroad buffs, from various professions volunteered their time and labor to put the locomotive into running condition. They often worked 17 hours a day."

The T-1 has been renumbered number 1 for its 24,000-mile trip with the American Freedom Train. During its days on the Reading Railroad, it was used to haul both passenger and freight trains. The engine is completely rebuilt in 1946, and retired to occasional excursion runs in 1956.

The Southern Pacific locomotive was loaned by the City of Portland, Oregon where it was on display in a city park. Built in 1941, it was used on the premier passenger run from San Francisco to Los Angeles. Again, a team of volunteers helped refurbish the engine and tender.

"The steam locomotives are used as much as possible in moving from city to city," Spurney explained, "but where tight schedules, weather or extreme grades occur, diesel or electric engines might be used for additional power."

The American Freedom Train will be stopping in more than 135 cities over the 21 months.

motor vehicles display the plates, they now take on additional significance as a valuable memento of this special Bicentennial year," stated Walter T. Peters, executive director of the New Jersey Bicentennial Commission.

Peters stated that requests for plates are being received from collectors and antique buffs throughout the country who realize the apparent future value of the plates.

If you have not yet purchased your license plate, watch for them in Belleville. They are still being sold by municipal and county Bicentennial commissions and various other organizations. They are also available from the Bicentennial License Plates Headquarters at 379 West State Street, Trenton. The plates sell for $3 each. They may be purchased by mail for an additional cost of 50 cents to cover postage and handling. For mail orders, please use zip code 08618.

Plates were originally manufactured by New Jersey State Use in prisons throughout the state. The demand was so great, however, they were supplemented in production through two handicapped workshops in South Jersey.

Peters stated that Bicentennial commissions and organizations will continue selling plates for the rest of the year, although the available supply is not expected to last that long. He urged New Jersey residents to order plates now while they are still available.

More than $750,000 has been raised by non-profit groups through the sale of Bicentennial license plates.

Philatelists flock to Maass festivities

By JOSEPH RYAN

Clara Maass Hospital was center stage last week for the United States Postal Service, nurses throughout the country, and philatelists around the world, when the 13-cent commemorative Clara Maass stamp was issued here.

National dignitaries attending the Belleville ceremonies at the Clara Maass Memorial Hospital School of Nursing included the Assistant Postmaster General, Robert McCutcheon; Brigadier General Madelyn N. Parks, Chief of the Army Nurse Corps; Rear Admiral Maxine Conder, Chief of the Navy Nurse Corps; and Faye Abdella, Chief Nurse of the United States Public Health Service.

The morning ceremonies started with the presentation of the colors by members of the U.S. Army Color Guard from Ft. Hamilton and an invocation by the Reverend Paul A. Laurell, Chairman of the Committee on Chaplaincy Services, at the hospital. Newark Postmaster Joseph J. Benucci was hospitalized and unable to attend the event, so master of ceremonies in the Nursing School's auditorium was F. Robert Siebert, Manager, Northern New Jersey, U.S. Postal Service.

The first speaker, Albin Oberg, president of Clara Maass Memorial Hospital called the occasion "a glorious day." He noted the issuance of the stamp was on the nineteenth anniversary of the hospital's opening on August 18, 1957. Oberg also said the Clara Maass stamp was a sign of the fulfilled dreams of the late Rev. Dr. Arthur Herbert, who started the original campaign 30 years ago for the stamp, and of the late Dr. Fernando Lopez-Fernandez, who spearheaded the issuance of a two-cent Cuban stamp honoring the New Jersey Nurse and was national chairman of the hospital's stamp committee until his death last year.

The hospital president also cited the many friends of the hospital including the Helene Fuld Health Trust that provided teaching equipment for the school and videotaped the ceremonies to be shown in schools around the world. Oberg also remembered "Mr. Nutley" the late Archie C. Barbata, past president of the Board of Trustees.

The Congressional Record comments of Congressman Joseph Minish were read by Oberg. The congressman called Miss Maass "a tribute to the courage and selfless dedication of American women as well as to our nation's youthful zeal."

Anne Knox, Director of the Clara Maass Memorial Hospital School of Nursing, unveiled a plaque in the auditorium to commemorate the event and serve as a reminder in the future. The inscription was "Site of the issuance of the Nurse Clara Maass Postage Stamp-August 18, 1976."

The second speaker, John T. Cunningham, said he has been in love with Clara Maass for more than 25 years. Cunningham first researched the nurse's life when he was a newspaperman and is the author of "Clara Maass, A Nurse, A Hospital, A Spirit."

Please see "Stamp" on page 9.

McGreevy moves to muffle McCoy

By CHUCK JACKSON

Commissioner of Finance Joseph McGreevy said Tuesday he will start to exercise control over statements made by the Town Treasurer to the press.

McGreevy's decision to muffle, if not gag, Treasurer Francis McCoy came as a result of a story in last week's Times/News in which McCoy predicted huge tax hikes next year. The Finance Director said at the regular town commission meeting, in the future, he would tell the Treasurer to clear all statements to the press through him. The Commissioner also labeled McCoy's statements "his opinion only."

Reached late Tuesday night, McCoy refused to comment on McGreevy's move to silence him, and he defended the facts presented in last week's story, saying, "Based on the revenues we have received to date, and based on the projections I have made, that story is accurate."

According to the Town Treasurer's projections, taxpayers face a tax hike next year of at least 23 points and a good possibility of more. He based the estimate on the amount of revenue lost by

Please see "Director" on page 2.

Seniors dance

The Essex County Belleville Senior Citizens held their fourth annual summer concert and picnic last week. Music for the dancing was coordinated by Pat Fredericks and the days festivities also included a fashion show under the direction of Julia Wells.

Anaraxia bound

Cliff Pesa as Roger Soandso was seized with an uncontrollable desire to dance during the Keith Al-lum and Ronald Fraga production of "Anaraxia Bound" that had its world premier last week at Montgomery Presbyterian Church.

Deborah Lynn

The birth of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hettesheimer's fifth child, Deborah Lynn, coincided with the first day of issue of the Clara Maass stamp. Mrs. Nancy Masiello, Director of Nursing at the hospital, presented Deborah with a birth certificate with the stamp and the special first day cancellation.

Juvenile bureau receives funding

The State Law Enforcement Planning Agency (SLEPA) has awarded Belleville $32,319 for improvements to the Juvenile Bureau of the town's police department.

Belleville will also receive an additional $1,795 from the state to boost the grant to $34,114 for the Juvenile Bureau this year and renewable for the next two years.

The SLEPA funds are the first received by the town through the services of Bruno Associates, a Newark public relations firm retained by Belleville for $10,000 a year to seek out available government grants.

Commissioner of Public Safety Rocco Saletta said work on the grant started last September through his department and Bruno Associates with Sergeant Ronald Thompson heading the project for the Juvenile Bureau.

The money is designed to relocate the police juvenile division from a frame house behind Town Hall to an area away from the police headquarters and provide staff for new services. Commissioner Saletta said the increased services for juveniles under the program include a counselor/social worker and a part time psychologist who staff the bureau and focus their attention on first time offenders before their run-ins with the law become habitual.

Please see "New" on page 2.

Zoning ordinance varies from planners' resolution

Town Commissioners passed a zoning ordinance for the Valley section of Belleville Tuesday night that may not be what the Planning Board recommended.

Inside

Maass madness

Last week was a very big week for Belleville. The town joined a small list of other communities, most of them large cities, which were honored by the issuance of a stamp. The event was marked by much celebration. See pictures of the event on page 9.

Attention students

The beginning of the school year is right around the corner and everyone is gearing up for the big day. The high school and the junior high administrators have issued releases to remind students and parents of things of importance. See the stories on page 2.

Last June the Planning Board sent the Commissioners a resolution supporting the zoning of the Eastwood Neely property in the Valley as a restricted business area or a one and two-family dwelling zone. The resolution passed as a zoning ordinance by the Commissioners two and a half months later, does not carry a reference to the possibility of making the property residential.

Chris Albanese, a member of the Planning Board, told the Times/News the resolution was sent to the Commissioners with the restricted business suggestion or the residential alternative.

The discrepancy between the Planning Board recommendation and the resolution the Commissioners passed was pointed out at the meeting by Stanley Slavin, the owner of the Terry Shop, 155 Washington Avenue. He also questioned whether traffic conditions, as they now exist on Main Street in the Valley, would be able to accommodate the increased flow caused by shops on the Eastwood Neely grounds.

Public Safety Commissioner Rocco Saletta told Slavin a traffic study in conjunction with the state will be conducted in the Route 21 area and promised, "we will have a good traffic plan down there."

New Rent Board members sworn in

Five of seven members of the Rent levelling Board have been sworn into office and will assume duties on the committee on September 2. The board members sworn-in August 5 were Douglas Cantarella, Edith DeFeo, Vincent Vecchione, Daniel J. DelTufo, and Joseph Fornarotto, an alternate member of the board.

Not present at the swearing-in ceremony were Salvatore Tramontano and Isadore G. Padula, who will presumably take their oaths before the group convenes in September.

The election of officers will be the first business of the September meeting. Outgoing President, Daniel Del Tufo said a concern of the Rent Levelling Board in September will be the fact much of the town is unaware all landlords are required to register all apartments in Belleville. Del Tufo pointed out apartments of three families or more must be registered by state regulation.

"It's for their own protection," Del Tufo said of the registration requirement for landlords. "If they go into court with an eviction case, and it's not registered, the judge would have to throw the case out."

The Rent Levelling Board meets the first Thursday of every month in Town Hall.

Kids' carnival nets $300 for charity

Local youngsters who organized a carnival to raise funds to fight Muscular Dystrophy were successful in raising a grand total of $330 for the charity.

The event was held last month at 36 Mertz Avenue. Involved in the charitable project were: Donald Flynn, Michael Capitti, David Flynn, Kathy and Tommy Reid, Leonard Wilson, John Stumpe, Frank Dan-Duone and Mary Jo Capitti.

There were many prizes and donations left over, it was reported and they were turned over to the Recreation Center for its carnival against Cerebral Palsy.

Adult school offers interior decorating

Interior decorating, one of last year's most popular courses at the Belleville Adult School, will be offered again during the coming fall semester.

Samuel Giuffrida, Belleville Adult School director, has announced the course, which is designed for persons wishing personal assistance with decorating, as well as for those who wish to pursue interior design as a profession, will learn proper room measurement, furniture arranging, color schemes, wall coverings, fabrics, window treatments, lamps and accessories. The instructor will assist the students and aid in any design problems.

Classes will begin at Belleville High School on Tuesday, September 21. Registration may be by mail or at Belleville High School on September 13, 14 and 15 between 7 p.m. and 9 p.m.

It's for the birds: go take a hike

Bellevilleites into birds will have an opportunity this fall to check out of feathered friends when the Essex County Park Commission's Turtle Back Zoo begins its fall series of bird walks on Wednesday, August 25, with a trip to North Arlington Meadows.

There will be other walks, and each scheduled bird walk will depart from the Turtle Back Zoo parking lot at 8 a.m.

For more information and a complete list of all trips, call the Turtle Back Zoo at 731-5800, or write "Bird Walks," Turtle Back Zoo, 560 Northfield Avenue, West Orange, New Jersey 07502.

to the town from the withdrawal of some state aid and current expenses being incurred by the municipality.

Chris Albanese, a spokesman for the Belleville Citizens' Union, led the attack on McCoy, protesting statements in the story which indicated the group might be partially responsible for the town's current financial crisis. Members of that group exerted pressure on Belleville's five Commissioners to cut their budgets, resulting in the dumping in of $20,000 of anticipated revenue. At the time, McCoy called the move "financial hari-kari."

Albanese, one of the chief spokesmen for the Union, denied any responsibility for the town's plight, saying, "It isn't our fault and it won't be our fault at the end of the year if the town doesn't have enough money to operate. We were just trying to work with this Board."

Albanese said later it was not his intent to have McCoy silenced, adding, "If what he said is true, we want to hear it. But if it is just his opinion, I will debate him. He should not say things like he did if they are not facts."

McGreevy apparently first learned of McCoy's statements to the Times/News Tuesday when they were brought up by Albanese. Since he said he was unfamiliar with the Treasurer's predictions, he was given a copy of the paper, which he read as the meeting continued.

Though he did not dispute the facts contained in the story, the Commissioner called the statements "opinion," and said, "I won't let anymore statements such as these (those contained in the story) go into the press anymore."

Belleville High School will open September 8

Belleville High School will open on Wednesday, September 8, with a regular session for juniors and Seniors. Period 1 starts at 8 a.m.; period two at 8:44 a.m. and period three at 9:28 a.m.

Sophomores will report to the auditorium at 8:45 a.m. for an orientation program which will be conducted by the administration and guidance departments.

Schedules will be mailed Tuesday, August 31. Students who do not receive their schedules by Friday, September 2, should check with the high school office in person, or by calling 759-4700. Along with the mailing will be bus information, lunch period passes and a school calendar prepared by the Home and School Association.

New students are advised to register in the guidance office prior to the opening day of school. The office hours are from 8:30 a.m. to noon and from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. A parent or guardian must accompany the student and a transfer, a birth certificate and report card should be brought along in order to facilitate scheduling.

Junior high orientation planned for August 30

Mario Di Maggio, Principal at Belleville Junior High School, announced that on Wednesday, September 8, all ninth-grade students will report to their respective homeroom at 8:15 a.m. and seventh and eighth grade students will report to their homerooms by 9 a.m.

On August 30, there will be an orientation meeting for all incoming seventh graders. Seventh grade students from school 1, 2, 3, 4, and 10 will report to the cafeteria at 9 a.m. Students from school 5, 7, 8, and 9 will report to the cafeteria at 10:30 a.m.

Parents are invited to attend.

During the homeroom period of the first day of school, each student will receive his schedule and may purchase combination locks at $4 pair or $2 per lock. Locker assignments will also be given.

The homerooms for the coming school year will be published in next week's paper.

New offices planned

The Commissioner added the department through the social worker could counteract any future problems the juveniles might have.

Belleville will contribute $1,796 for the new juvenile bureau, an amount down from the $2,115 the town originally proposed to contribute to the total.

When application was made to SLEPA in May, the town requested $38,070 for the project. The total of $35,910 awarded by SLEPA, the state, and the town, is a decrease reflected by SLEPA's approving a proposed psychologist for four hours a week, instead of eight hours as the town originally proposed.

The grant came after nearly a year of meetings between the Commissioners, Bruno Associates and state officials. "We worked hard for it, and they (Bruno) worked hard for it," Saletta said.

Commissioner Saletta has said he will monitor the new juvenile system to determine its effectiveness. Follow-up reports to SLEPA, necessary for continued funding in the next two years, will be submitted by juvenile detective sergeant Thompson.

The SLEPA grant to Belleville includes allocations for: a secretary/receptionist at approximately $7,660 for a 40 hour week; a social worker at $13,000 a year; a psychologist for four hours a week, $3,100 per year; $4,550 for office costs; $600 for telephone bills; and $3,480 for furnishings.

Copper coppers cop $200 fine

The cases of a man and woman from Paterson, accused of stealing more than $200 worth of copper wire from the East Wood Neily Company on July 6, were referred to the Essex County Grand Jury during proceedings in Belleville Municipal Court August 18.

Both suspects were arrested July 6 and charged with Breaking and entry and the theft of the wire from the East Wood Neily property on Joralemon Street.

The cases were referred to the Grand Jury by Belleville Municipal Court Judge Edward Abramson.

Complainants in the cases were Ronald Edwards and Anthony LaVista both of the Belleville Police Department.

Margaret Williams, 90

A funeral mass was offered August 18 at St. Peter's Auditorium for Margaret A. Williams, 90, who died August 15 at the Geriatrics Center in Belleville.

Miss Williams was born in New York City and lived in Belleville for 60 years after moving from New York.

Surviving is a sister, Mrs. Ann Bittner, Shreveport, Louisiana and Miss Williams was predeceased by a brother, the Rev. Francis Williams, Order of the Holy Ghost Fathers.

Funeral arrangements were by Kiernan Funeral Home and burial took place at St. Peter's Cemetery, Belleville.

Victor C. Rossi

A funeral mass was offered August 18 at Our Lady of Perpetual Help, Seaside Heights, for Victor C. Rossi, who died August 14 at Marlboro Hospital, Marlboro, New Jersey. He was 71.

Born in Italy, Mr. Rossi was a longtime resident of Belleville. He moved to Lavallete in 1968. An assistant foreman for the Newark Wirecloth Company, he retired from there after 40 years in 1968.

Mr. Rossi is survived by his wife, Louise Costa Rossi; a daughter, Mrs. Jean Morrison of Belleville; two brothers, Joseph of Lavallete and Louis of Bellevidere; three sisters, Mrs. Lena Battaglia of Fishkill, New York, Mrs. Louise Viventi of Lavallete and Mrs. Ann Brown of Deans, New Jersey and one grandchild.

Funeral arrangements were made through the Colonial Funeral Home, Lavallete and interment was in St. Joseph's Cemetery, Toms River.

Martin Flanagan

A Mass of Christian Burial was offered Monday for Martin A. Flanagan of Belleville, who died August 20 at Clara Maass Memorial Hospital.

Originally from East Orange, Mr. Flanagan lived there most of his life before moving to Belleville six years ago.

He was a manufacturing engineer for Light Craft, Passaic, for seven years before retiring 10 years ago. He was also employed at General Electric, Bloomfield, for 30 years. He was a member of the Holy Name Church, East Orange.

Mr. Flanagan is survived by his wife Margaret.

Interment was at Gate of Heaven Cemetery following a mass at Holy Name Church, East Orange. Funeral arrangements were by John J. Quinn Funeral Home, 323-329 Park Avenue Orange.

Senior Notes

By GEORGE CHENOWETH

The Essex County Council of Senior Citizens Clubs Incorporated, at its last Board of Director's meeting, passed a resolution to the effect that, "The New Jersey Council of Senior Citizens be urged to take the initiative to establish a coordinating committee of all the state's larger senior citizens' organizations for the purpose of promoting legislation in behalf of the senior citizens of New Jersey."

In an earlier discussion, before passing the resolution, it was disclosed that the intent of this council was to have the four larger groups represented. That is, the New Jersey Council of Senior Citizens, the American Association of Retired People, the North Jersey Federation of Senior Citizens and the Coordinating Council of Organized Older Citizens.

The reasoning behind a coordination of this kind is obvious. The larger group would command more attention when it comes to senior legislation than would be attracted by many splinter groups.

The Essex County Seniors in the Park were hosts last Thursday to a "Happening in the Park." There was live music from an orchestra on a portable bandstand, interpretive dancing, a fashion show and many extras. Refreshments were served. This has become an annual event and eagerly look forward to by our seniors.

Many of the members of the Belleville Senior Citizens Club enjoyed a ride and entertainment last Friday at the Garden State Arts Center. The Trenaires Band was one of the attractions. The weather was perfect and needless to say, the seniors really enjoyed the day.

Howard Loihle was 76

Funeral services were held August 21 for Howard Loihle, 76, who died August 19 at Clara Maass Memorial Hospital.

Born in Newark, Mr. Loihle lived in Bloomfield before moving to Belleville four years ago.

He was a guard for Westinghouse, Bloomfield before retiring 15 years ago. Mr. Loihle was an Army veteran of World War I and II.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Edna Tucker, a son, Robert; three brothers, Raymond, Charles, and William; two sisters, Mrs. Edna Sharon and Mrs. Catherine Fish, four grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Arrangements were by Gorny and Gorny's Parkside Memorial, 399 Hoover Avenue, Bloomfield.

Mrs. Sprechini

Funeral services were held August 25 for Francesca Sprechini of Belleville, who died August 22.

Mrs. Sprechini (nee Cocco) was the of the late Nazareno Sprechini and the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Cocco. Surviving are five daughters, Helen Toriello, Bertha Cornero, Julia Auferio, Sara DiEdwardo, and Nancy Apruzzese; two sons, Edward and Gino Sprechini, a brother, Alfonso Cocco; 21 grandchildren; and four great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at Christian Apostolica Church followed by interment at Glendale Cemetery.

Joseph Miceli

A funeral mass was offered yesterday for Joseph Miceli of Belleville, who died August 21.

Mr. Miceli is survived by his wife, Thea; an daughter Mrs. Josephine Zaccaria; and three brothers Domenick, Anthony and Michael; and three grandchildren.

Interment following services was at Holy Cross Cemetery. Funeral arrangements were handled by Charles J. Rotondo & Sons Home for Funerals, 279 Roseville Avenue.

Thomas W. Dillon

A funeral mass was said August 25 at St. Peter's Auditorium for Thomas W. Dillon, who died August 21.

Surviving are his parents, Robert E. and Dorothy Reichle Dillon, Belleville; three sisters, Mrs. Janet Chesko, Kearny, Mrs. Loretta Brown, Newark, Teresa Dillon, Bloomfield; and a brother, Steven Dillon, Kearny.

Funeral arrangements were by Kiernan Funeral Home, 101 Union Avenue, Belleville. Interment was at the Cemetery of the Holy Sepulchre.

Emergency labels available to groups

Labels printed with local emergency phone numbers including police, fire, rescue squads, hospitals and poison centers are being made available through synagogues and Jewish organizations as a public service.

Organization heads may contact Menorah Chapels at Millburn, 2950 Vaux Hall Road, Union, to have the emergency labels printed for their membership and the community they serve.

The request for labels must come on organization stationery indicating amount of labels required, police department telephone number, fire department phone number, and the names and numbers of the hospital, rescue squad and poison control center.

Area blood center sets new record

The North Jersey Blood Center, headquartered in East Orange, collected a record 34,396 donations for the first six months of this year, for a 6.5 percent increase over the same period a year ago.

Out of the whole blood donated, an additional 13,156 units of components, such as fresh-frozen plasma and platelet concentrate were prepared and delivered to 46 northern New Jersey hospitals, for a total of 47,548 units of blood and components.

"In terms of patient care in our service area," noted Dr. Kamill Gal, medical director, "this means that people are generally receiving only the blood component necessary for treatment of their own medical conditions. That makes other components derived from the same donation available to treat one or two more patients. Component therapy is, certainly a good way to stretch our all ready taxed voluntary donor system."

Donors to the North Jersey Blood Center, are individuals who give under a comprehensive Blood Assurance Plan which protects family members in any blood emergency, and members of donor clubs in communities, fraternal organizations, schools, offices and factories.

Some members of the Belleville Elks recently joined the neighboring Nutley Lodge for the Exalted Ruler's Dinner-Dance at the Nutley Lodge No. 1290.

Members of Belleville's Lodge No. 1123 who attended the Nutley festivities included: Exalted Ruler Warren and Thelma Narusch, Past Exalted Ruler Raymond and Marie Mac Donald, District Vice-President August and Judy Mitschke, Fred and Lee Hagin, and Steve and Evelyn Frank.

The Franks also attended a similar event at the Jersey City Lodge No. 221.

The Belleville Elks were recently represented at the North Central District Deputy's Clinic at the South Orange Lodge No. 1154.

Family day slated for September 19

The first Family Day to be held in the nation is slated for the Clifton Stadium on September 19.

According to Robert Marcalus, honorary co-chairman of Family Day, and president of the Marcal Paper Mills Incorporated, "We have chosen to celebrate our country's birthday by inaugurating an annual demonstration of our faith in the family as the basic unit of democracy — for a nation is only as strong as its family life."

The events for the day will include exhibits from leading businesses in the state of New Jersey; a parade of ethnic and fraternal groups, scouts and local bands; a keynote speech by Dave Toma, the Newark detective on whom the TV series "Baretta" is based; and finally an ecumenical service with representatives from all religious groups will be held.

Special guest will be governor Brendan T. Byrne, who will also sign a proclamation declaring September 19, 1976 as a statewide Family Day.

Other guests at Family Day will include Bishop Casey of the Diocese of Paterson, the West Point Glee Club and a special star who will be named Family Person of the Year.

Poliomyelitis is an acute, infectious, occasionally crippling disease caused by a virus organism. It affects those of all ages, but children from one to sixteen are more likely to develop it than adults. Older children and young adults appear to become infected more frequently now than formerly. Early symptoms of the disease are headache, sore throat, fever, fatigue, pains in the muscles. Polio vaccines are essential protection against this disease, and parents must be sure their children are immunized.

Gerald Ford vs. Jimmy Carter

In Kansas City last week the Republicans made it official. It's President Gerald Ford against former Georgia Governor James Carter.

Both men have agreed to a series of public debates to discuss "the serious issues of the campaign."

Much has been said and written about the Vice Presidential candidates, Democrat U.S. Senator Walter Mondale and Republican U.S. Senator Robert Dole. It is our judgment neither Vice Presidential candidate will enter into the voters' final Presidential decision.

Traditionally, Presidential-year voters more often vote against a candidate. Generally, voters' attitudes will turn on the questions of war and peace, prosperity and depression, and morality or corruption in government.

At this point in the campaign,

President Ford has going for him the war-and-peace issue, morality-in-government issue, and although there are more people working in America today than ever before, the economy is relatively sluggish, and that fact may be the major drawback facing the Republican candidate in November.

Carter's successful nomination drive proves he will be a formidable candidate. Today, all the polls indicate Carter to be the winner. So — President Ford, decent and good man that he is, faces an uphill battle to remain in The White House. Will his campaign be successful? It remains to be seen.

Golden Comments

By James R. Golden

Belleville's new Superintendent of Schools, John T. Greed, had hardly gotten adjusted in his new seat when he impetuously dispatched a gratuitous, demeaning letter to the editor of New Jersey's leading newspaper, The Sunday Star-Ledger, in which he wrote, "the implication of Robert Braun's article in the Sunday Star-Ledger concerning the selection of county school superintendents was that only acceptable candidates were appointed. As a member of a committee to recommend seven different candidates to Commissioner Fred Burke for seven counties, that was not what I observed."

Is Mr. Greed an apologist for State Commissioner of Education Fred Burke? Is he a votary of N.J.E.A. that goaded Gov. Byrne's advocacy of the State Income Tax to better the role educators, financially and otherwise, or does he appear to suffer from a myopic observance that tends to distort and misconstrue the factual interpretation of what reporter Robert Braun had written?

In the article written by Mr. Braun which Belleville's new school superintendent rails against, no such implication drawn by Mr. Greed existed. The article accentuated the unprecedented anomaly of a New Jersey Governor holding up some educational appointments until he notified county chairmen they were being made.

The only fair implication which could have been drawn from the article was that Gov. Byrne had flouted time honored tradition by injecting politics into educational matters, a policy which any dedicated educator should have opposed. Ironically however, Belleville's new Superintendent of Schools, instead of manifesting praise for the reporter's bringing this matter of the Governor's deviation from the sacrosanct policy of divorcement of educational matters from the ugly hands of politics, chose to pen his fulminating diatribe of unmerited stricture against one of the finest educational reporters in the entire country.

Let us produce some related, interesting excerpts in the political column of Fred Hillmann, in the same edition of the paper in which Mr. Greed's Readers' Forum letter appeared, in which it was written, "there was the revealing flap over Byrne's holding up some educational appointments until he notified county chairmen they were being made. When asked why the Governor did that, a spokesman said: 'You have to remember he is only Governor, he also is a political animal. He is interested in making sure county chairmen know beforehand about appointments that might affect their counties.'"

"The initial reaction of many county chairmen on reading that, may have been to choke. The lack of such courtesy notice is something they've been angry about a long time."

"But the Governor apparently has weighed the fire of educators, who may piously protest the invasion of their domain by party politics, against the benefits of courting county chairmen on appointments, and has opted for county leaders at this time. Why else, except to run for reelection?" So wrote Star-Ledger columnist Hillman.

In view of the foregoing we feel curious about the sentiments of Belleville's newly acquired, learned Don, on which side is he on? Could he be a patsy for N.J.E.A.? Or then again, might he be playing up to Commissioner Fred Burke who has been somewhat wishy-washy in a possible hope of avoiding the fate of his predecessor? Or what other motive might have influenced Mr. Greed's unjustified assault upon the objectivity of Robert Braun's reporting?

Frankly, in view of all the plaguey problem besetting Belleville's school system at this time, it would seem more desirable that all the new school superintendent's ability, time and talents might be directed to better endeavors than participation in needless matters of no concern to the amelioration of the local school system. Belleville is already replete with its own political ills without the importation of state level educational vs. political controversies.

Prayer for today

Psalm 114

I love the LORD because he has heard my voice in supplication, Because he has inclined his ear to me the day I called. The cords of death encompassed me; the snares of the nether world seized upon me; I fell into distress and sorrow, And I called upon the name of the LORD, "O LORD, save my life!"

Gracious is the LORD and just; yes, our God is merciful. The LORD keeps the little ones; I was brought low, and he saved me.

Return, O my soul, to your tranquillity, for the LORD has been good to you.

For he has freed my soul from death, my eyes from tears, my feet from stumbling.

I shall walk before the LORD in the lands of the living.

Gospel: (Luke 19, 12-26)

At that time Jesus said to His disciples; "A man of noble birth went to a faraway country to receive a kingdom and then return. He called on ten of His slaves and gave them a hundred dollars each and said to them, 'Invest this until I return.' His fellow citizens hated Him and they immediately sent a deputation after Him with instructions to say, 'We do not want to have this Man reign over us.' When He returned, however, crowned as King, He sent for the servants to whom He had given the money, to learn what profit each had made. The first presented himself and said, 'Lord, your hundred dollars has earned one thousand.' 'Well done,' He replied, 'good servant. Because you showed yourself capable in a tiny matter, take over the government of ten cities.' The second came saying, 'Your hundred, Lord, has made five hundred.' And he said to him also, 'You take over five cities.' The third came and said to Him: 'Here, Master, is your hundred which I kept rolled up in a napkin. For I was afraid of You, hard Man that You are; You draw out what You have not deposited, and You reap what You have not sown.' The Master said to him: 'You worthless fellow! I will judge you from your own evidence. You knew that I am a hard Man, drawing out what I did not deposit and reaping what I did not sow. Why then did you not put My money in the bank, so that I on My return could recover it with interest? And He said to the attendants: 'Take the hundred from him and give it to the man who has the thousand.' I will say to you, everyone who has will be given more, but the one who has not will be deprived of what he has."

Writer expects taxes to drop

To the Editor:

Now that the income tax has been approved through the back door, without public approval, it must be remembered the state's highest court has stated it is unconstitutional for the property owners to pay the school tax.

The governor has stated he needed that income tax to finance the schools or close them down. That is the lowest political gimmick used by any governor.

Like all other new tax programs, which brought no tax relief to the taxpayers, we are at the mercy of the Democratic Party, which has been in power for many years and brought on the mess we have today.

As a taxpayer, I expect to find that part on my tax bill which pays for schools, to be eliminated under the ruling by the court. If that does not happen, it is in violation of the court's order.

We the people all over the state must raise our voices in protest and remove from office in November all the politicians who voted for it and sold us down the river.

I am backing the Republican ticket. They understand the problems of the people and want to help, but they lack the power. Let's give it to them and help ourselves by voting Republican.

We need more people in office like the Orechio boys from Nutley, and also men like Tony Imperiale to represent us. They are the true friends of the people. God bless them.

Letter to Editor is last resort

To the Editor:

I want to write a letter to the governor about his corrupt Motor Vehicle Department, but that is useless for he was nurtured on corruption as a former member of the Board of Public Utilities, which is a misnomer as it represents the utilities and not the public. It should be named the Board of Utilities.

I want to write a letter to my legislators, who are Republican and Democrat about the corrupt Motor Vehicle Department, but that is useless for they cannot interfere in the executive branch of government, and their legislative effort is misdirected. Their hands are tied.

I want to write a letter in form of a law suit against the corrupt Motor Vehicle Department in the courts, but that is useless as they are corrupted by the support of the state in their salaries and protect their pensions.

But I will write a letter to the editor to unite "summer soldiers" in common plight "to throw the rascals out" of Trenton in the fall and restore "the government of the people, by the people and for the people," brought forth ten scores of years ago, dedicated to the proposition that justice brings forth law and order, and peace in the hearts of all.

Convention was productive

By FRANK A. ORECHIO

THE REPUBLICAN CONVENTION was a tremendous success. It was exciting and productive and demonstrated democracy at work. Ronald Reagan and his family were fantastic. The Ford's were great. So were the Dole's. Vice President Nelson Rockefeller, with his ever-ready cheerfulness, was tremendous. "What's-his-name" from Pennsylvania, the fellow who was Ronald Reagan's choice for Vice President, seemed to fade out of the picture before the convention came to a close. Nobody heard about him last Thursday night—and no one has heard from him since. Frankly, I didn't like what he did—he compromised his principles for personal ambition—no greater crime in politics.

Brother Carl reports his Kansas City trip as a Delegate was fabulous—an experience without parallel. If history is to judge the future, Carl was probably participating in one of the great political events of all time.

THE NUTLEY Committee For Prayer in the Bicentennial Year is sponsoring a Prayerfest Sunday, 7:00 P.M., September 12 in Msgr. Owens Park, River Rd. and Park Ave., Nutley. The rain date is September 19. Those who want to join a wonderful group of people to pray for our country, our friends and our leaders, are urged to bring a blanket or lawn chair to relax and sing along, and Praise The Lord. The group is operating with a shoestring budget. I have attempted to raise some money, but we still need a few more bucks. Anyone out there in the vast hinterlands of Nutley interested in helping the group financially can do so by sending contributions to the Nutley Prayer Committee, in care of The Nutley Sun, 777 Bloomfield Avenue, Nutley.

ONE OF OUR COLUMNISTS recently reminded us of the old couplet, "Of all sad words of tongue of men, the saddest are these: It might have been!" The reference is to Governor Reagan's unsuccessful effort to win the Republican nomination. In the lives of each of us, there are times when we don't try hard enough, we don't play hard enough, we don't study hard enough, and so our destiny is determined more by what we fail to do than what we do. However young and old each of us may be, in retrospect each of us could look back and say, "It might have been."

Major league baseball players today are on the verge of looking back and saying to themselves, "If we tried harder, we could have been No. 1." The happiest person is the one who daily does her or his best at whatever the job or the joy.

THE GALLUP ROLL recently informs us that medical doctors are looked upon by the public with more esteem than any other group in the country. Not far behind were journalists. Third from the bottom are our Congressmen. At the bottom of the list appear advertising executives. Lawyers, building contractors, and business executives were in the middle. Public confidence is a commodity that can't be bought with money. The price is performance. And in this regard I am often reminded it isn't necessarily what the truth is but what the jury believes to be the truth.

WOULD YOU BELIEVE New York City has budgeted money to fill 800,000 potholes in the next fiscal year? In the last fiscal year highway crews filled 1,346,000 potholes. New York City annually appropriates $5 to $50 million to rebuild its streets, and deterioration resulting from neglect and heavy use is so rapid that at the end of each fiscal year the City is never able to do an adequate job. Ask any Jersey driver who has the occasion to drive into New York City. It's lucky we come back home with all four tires undamaged.

THE NEW JERSEY DELEGATION at the Kansas City Republican Convention included potential GOP gubernatorial contenders. State Senator Ray Bateman, Secretary of the Treasury Bill Simon, Union County Congressman Matty Rinaldo, Paterson Mayor Pat Kramer, Burlington County State Senator Barry Paker, Union County Assemblyman Frank McDermott, and Assemblyman Minority Speaker Tom Kean—and there are more to be heard from who didn't go to Kansas City. Some people are even talking about U.S. Senator Clifford P. Case. Others are talking about former Governor Bill Cahill, and still others are talking about former Congressman Charles Sandman, the chap who lost to Brendan Byrne three years ago.

THE 1976 EASTERN regional tournament little league baseball playoffs were held in Nutley, New Jersey, at Father Glotzbach Field. With hundreds of quality playing fields to choose from, stretching from Maine to Washington, D.C., league officials chose the former garbage dump as a site for its annual playoffs. It was a great show and brought to Nutley the respect of our peers.

Sixteen year old Michael Reilley was transferred this weekend from Pt. Pleasant Hospital to the famous Kessler Institute where he is to receive therapy for the long road back to recovery from the serious spine injury he suffered when diving into shallow water at Ortley Beach four weeks ago.

A Citizen's Committee headed by Public Safety Director Carmen Orechio is organizing for the purposes of raising funds to aid in meeting the heavy medical bill to cover services required to bring Mike back to enjoy life with his contemporaries.

The Saturday 11 p.m. CBS T.V. evening news ran a news item with pictures of the Little League tournament played at Father Glotzbach park. It was filmed by U.A. Columbia cable T.V.

WHITE HOUSE

EPISTLE Wis. 10, 10-14

The Lord guided the just man in direct ways, Showed him the Kingdom of God and gave him knowledge of holy things;
 He prospered him in his labors and made abundant the fruit of his works, Stood by him against the greed of his defrauders,
 and enriched him;
 He preserved him from foes,
 and secured him against ambush,
 *And He gave him the prize for his stern struggle that he might recognize that devotion to
 God is mightier than all else.
 He did not abandon the just man when he was sold,
 but delivered him from sin.
 He went down with him to the dungeon,
 and did not desert him in his bonds,
 Until he brought him the scepter of royalty and authority over his oppressors.
 The Lord, our God, showed those who had defamed Him false, and gave him eternal glory.

Of camp and food and hills

Bits and pieces.

Gavin spent a week at camp recently and his buddy's mother and I drove up last Saturday to reclaim our darlings (she had two), leaving the fathers at home to cope with the other youngsters (John had one, Rod had three). The camp is located in Johnsonburg, New Jersey, an hour's ride up to Sussex County.

Our first impression on locating the trio: they had all been dragged through dustbins prior to our arrival. When I sorted Gavin's laundry later in the day, I was convinced he had lived in a dustbin for the entire week. The sneakers were absolutely coated with clay. On the way home, we were regaled with tales of the happenings of the previous seven days and after half an hour of "horror" stories, we mothers came to the simultaneous agreement that perhaps day camp would suffice next year.

The most frequent topic of conversation (aside from the few tentmates who had proved pains in the neck) was the food. As far as we could gather, the only thing served all week was lasagna and pizza and I was beginning to feel rather sorry for my son until I came across a mimeographed copy of the week's menu in the pocket of his green jeans. All pity vanished on the instant.

Let me quote herewith a typical day's food. Breakfast: juice, hot cereal, eggs (your choice), bacon, bread, butter, jelly, cereal with milk, cocoa; dinner: roast pork, oven browned potatoes with gravy, corn, applesauce, bread and butter, fresh fruit, fruit drink; supper: soup, chicken salad sandwich, pickled beets, radishes, brownies, milk. You stay home next year, kid, I'm going.

Armed with a courage we didn't know we possessed, Rod and I committed ourselves to an eight hour journey to Pittsburgh early this month to visit his brother, Tom and his family. Eight hours in a van with four kids is a horrendous experience or else I'm pretty much of a coward. The Irishman drove most of the way, admitting he was tired when we were about 50 miles from our destination but what a time he picked. The only rain of the day hit while you know who was piloting the bus, three consecutive cloudbursts complicated by an hour's delay on the Pennsylvania turnpike (never did find out why.)

The Clancys live in Bethel Park, an area known as the South Hills of Pittsburgh and the Volkswagen must have been convinced someone or thing was out to get it. Everyone cheered when we came to a stretch of level ground, few and far between. One hill was so steep that there was a special uphill exit provided for runaway trucks!

But it was worth it. We had a great time, all 11 of us, the four adults and the seven kids ranging from three to 10½. There was a lot going on in that area this Bicentennial summer and I don't think we missed too much.

The twins' main concern was how the animals were faring back home with Grandpa, Grandma and Aunt Mattie as babysitters. Very well, thank you. None of them were particularly thrilled when we returned!

Junior Woman's Club reports donations of $2700 to charity

Mrs. Pamela Van Holland, president of the Junior Woman's Club of Belleville, has announced that members of the Club have donated over $2700 to charity for 1975-76.

Two representatives were personally on hand to accept the donations on behalf of their organizations. These included Mrs. Louise Tompkins, recreation director of United Hospitals Medical Center, who accepted a check for $50 as well as some hand sewn garments including kimonos and pajama bags. Also, Mrs. Mary Ellen Mahon, State Project Chairman from the Junior Membership Department, received a check for the Institute for Medical Research in Camden which specializes in breast cancer research.

In addition to these charities, money was donated to the many other organizations supported by the New Jersey State Federation of Women's Club of Belleville. These included the N.J. Association for Children with Learning Disabilities, Douglass College, Craig Fund, Friendly House, the Cerebral Palsy Center and many others.

Table reservations going Fast

The Third Annual Festival in the Park sponsored by the Home Garden Club of Nutley, is well under way with half of the spaces already reserved to show art, handicrafts, antiques and various collectables.

One of the spaces is reserved by Ruth Keenan, well known Nutley artist, who has participated in the Festival since it's inception. She will do portraits for visitors at an extremely reasonable fee.

Mrs. Keenan worked for many years as an artist for Geo. Lamont & Sons, a one time checkmaking firm in Nutley, where her artistic ability was first developed. After leaving the Lamont firm, her experience in the commercial art field was further intensified when she became a free lance illustrator. The important affiliations in her career were with the periodical, Women's Wear and with the Janet Shops.

The Festival will be held in Memorial Park, from Chestnut Street to Vreeland Avenue on September 12, with the rain date listed as September 19. For information call 235-1524 or 667-7161.

Catholic women elect new two year slate

The Essex-Montclair District of the Newark Diocesan Council of the National Council of Catholic Women has elected a new slate of officers for 1976-1978.

Mrs. Joseph Brosius of Belleville, former president of the Rosary Altar Society of Holy Family Church, Nutley, is the new head of the group. Others elected include Mrs. Thomas J. Loughlin of Bloomfield, president-elect; Mrs. N.J. Maurillo of Nutley, second vice president; Mrs. Frederick Ferrier of West Orange, third vice-president; Mrs. Robert Cronrath of Montclair, treasurer; Mrs. F.L. Aires of Nutley, parliamentarian; Mrs. Joseph Sabadies of Nutley, secretary; Mrs. Irving Dinkin of Montclair, corresponding secretary; Miss Sally Boland of Nutley, member at large.

The Essex-Montclair District includes Catholic women in Belleville, Bloomfield, Caldwell, Cedar Grove, Montclair, Nutley, Roseland and Verona. Moderator is the Rev. Msgr. Thomas W. Cunningham, Ph.D. of Immaculate Conception Church, Montclair.

Mrs. Brosius replaces Miss Margaret VanEten of Montclair who has been elected second vice president on the Archdiocesan Board.

YOU AND YOUR PET

Health Guide

An estimated sixty percent of all American families today own pets. That's roughly 100 million dogs and cats, 22 million birds and 8 million horses. Little wonder that this column is read with special interest by millions of pet owners across the country!

We offer "You and Your Pet" as a basic guide to the health and well-being of family pets everywhere. We try to keep technical details and medical phraseology at a minimum and concentrate on subjects that everyone can understand: keeping a pet well-fed ... problem behavior ... pet ailments and diseases ... good grooming ... breeding guidelines ... and even some observations on the particular value of pet companionship to children and older persons.

We do not intend for readers to use the pet health column for diagnosis and treatment. We aim to help you recognize symptoms and to guide you in knowing when to get your pet to your veterinarian. Allergies, intestinal parasites, eye disorders, inherited defects and so forth — your veterinarian is able to give better treatment when such problems are brought to him during the earliest stages.

Stamp honors nurse who gave her life

In memory of her late husband, Dr. Fernando Lopez Fernandez, who successfully campaigned for a Clara Maass stamp issued in 1951 by Cuba but died last year before the United States issued its stamp, Mrs. Lopez Fernandez accepts a commemorative album. Her son, Dr. Fernando Lopez translated her remarks.

the Belleville times/news

The author told the assembly of Miss Maass's early life, recounting a near poverty childhood, and nursing career leading to her volunteering for service in the Spanish-American War. Cunningham said her sense of duty prevails today. "In nearly a half year of researching Clara Maass and this hospital I was struck most by the sense of duty. That is the spirit that walks these halls here."

Robert H. McCutcheon, Assistant Postmaster General, revealed evidence Miss Maass submitted to be bitten by mosquitoes carrying yellow fever in order to better serve her patients. Testimony by John W. Ross, Medical Director of the U.S. Navy, who in 1901 had been director of Las Animas Hospital where Nurse Maass served, was read by McCutcheon. Ross told a House Committee in 1904 Clara Maass showed devotion to duty equal to any soldier in battle and added, "She thought she would be more useful as a nurse after having had yellow fever, and requested to be bitten by infected mosquitoes in order to contract the disease and become immune."

McCutcheon said even if the stamp does not spur further revelations on the career of the Newark Hospital nurse, "we have learned enough to know that a more worthy person has never been honored on a U.S. Postage stamp."

Benediction at the conclusion of the ceremonies was offered by Monsignor Raymond J. Pollard.

Clara's successors — Albin Oberg, President of Clara Maass Memorial Hospital, discussion the "glorious day" with Anne Knox, Director of the School of Nursing; and Sister Madeline, a cousin of the famous nurse, who is Mother Superior of Sacred Heart Convent in Lyndhurst.

Nutley Mayor Harry W. Chenoweth and Commissioner and Mrs. Frank Cocchiola were among the local officials who were luncheon guests at Mayfair Farms following the issuance ceremonies at the hospital.

First plate — The first sheet of the 13-cent Clara Maass commemorative stamp was issued in Belleville to Mrs. Nancy Masiello, the Director of Nursing at Clara Maass Memorial Hospital. Many collectors were at the

Pirates capture intermediate top spot

It wasn't until the tenth inning of the final game of the three game series that the Pirates emerged as the 1976 Intermediate League Champions. The Cubs supplied the tough competition in a series that provided some memorable individual and team performances by these thirteen year old players.

The Pirates won the first game 4-2 as Joseph Fischer held the Cubs to two hits while striking out eight. His single in the first inning drove home Joseph Guarino with the first Pirate run. The Cubs came back with two runs in the third but then committed three errors in the sixth resulting in three Pirate runs.

Leslie Del Tufo brought the Cubs back in the second game as he struck out seven while allowing seven hits and four runs. The Cubs exploded for nine runs as Allen La Rezza, Anthony Coco, David Dell'osso, Ralph Piccininni, and Leslie Del Tufo each picked up two hits.

The Pirates jumped off to an early 1-0 lead in the third and deciding game as Joe Fischer singled in Thomas Bini in the first inning. Bini crossed the plate again in the fifth inning with the Pirates second run. The Cubs got on the scoreboard in the fifth inning as Dave Dell'osso scored on a Pirate error. Another Pirate error in the sixth allowed Don Bruzzio to cross home plate with the tying run. The contest remained deadlocked as both teams played tight defense behind the outstanding pitching duel of Joe Fischer of the Pirates and Allen La Rezza of the Cubs. With darkness threatening and with two outs in their half of the tenth, Billy Weisbrod, Joe Fischer, and Pompeo Pasquale hit back to back singles before crossing home on doubles by Richie Vitiello and Scott Murray. The Pirates held on to their four run lead as Joe Fischer, in his tenth inning of pitching, struck out two before the last Cub grounded out

Rotary sponsors 'anything' team

The Rotary Club of Belleville is sponsoring a local "olympic team" to compete at the Great Adventure Fun Olympics featuring the "Almost Anything Goes" roadshow.

The competition is based on the ABC TV show and the Great Adventure version is complete with television props. The only thing missing is the television cameras.

Every advance ticket holder between the ages of 18 and 45 in good physical health has a chance to participate. Selection of players will be handled by a drawing to take place September 8. Tickets for the anything goes games are available locally at DeWitt Savings Bank, Peoples National Bank, Fidelity Union Trust Co., Abbots Drug Store, Clara Maass Memorial Hospital (Public Relations Department), Belleville Town Hall, Terry Shops, Belleville Recreation Center, White Oaks Liquor Store, and Nutley Foodarama.

The festivities will begin September 15 in Great Adventure's Great Arena.

to second to first to end the game and the series.

Despite the loss, coach Ron Loma was very proud of his team's steady improvement all season and great showing in the playoffs. His fine roster also included Vinnie Ferralli, Nick Tatakis, Adam Pappas, Tommy Graziano, Glenn Rauco, Gary Schroeck, and John Kennedy.

The Pirates and the Restaino family had a great season. Joe Restaino, Sr. and his Pirates won the Senior League title earlier this year and now his sons Joseph Jr. and Alan Restaino and Joe Cerami are on top with their Pirates. Also included on this championship team are Michael Richadella, Brian Carpenter, Thomas Graham, Ronnie Zigarelli, Frank Segarra, Peter Golub, and Nancy Bottignoli.

Next year, the Senior League and the Belleville High School Freshman Baseball team will be the next stops for these fine thirteen year old ball players.

"ALMOST ANYTHING GOES" IS LOOKING FOR A TEAM FROM BELLEVILLE

IF YOU'RE LOOKING FOR GOOD CLEAN FUN, SIGN UP FOR THE 1976 GREAT ADVENTURE FUN OLYMPICS.

Calling all non-athletes! Here's your chance to have fun, win glory and raise money for our town.

The Almost Anything Goes Road Show will be at Great Adventure starting September 7th. And they'll be bringing the same crazy games we all loved on TV last year. In fact, the only thing missing will be the TV cameras.

And you can be part of the excitement as we take on other towns, from all over the New York, New Jersey and Philadelphia areas.

You enter by buying a specially priced booklet of tickets to Great Adventure. They're offering an $18.80 value for only $8.50! That's the lowest price ever offered for a full day at Great Adventure, and it includes discounts on other goodies too. And, a worthy organization in our town gets a dollar from each booklet sold.

Team members will be selected from ticket purchasers at a random drawing. But even if you don't want to make the team, you'll have a ball cheering them on as they march toward the championship (The winning town gets $6500!).

And of course you'll have all day to enjoy Great Adventure's Entertainment and Safari Parks. It's all part of the largest entertainment complex in the Northeast.

It'll be an experience you'll never forget. So help our town clean up the competition. For full information and tickets, just stop by the headquarters listed below. Let's go get 'em!

Hockey program starts next month

Though it's hard to believe, fall is just around the corner and with the cooler months approaching comes the start of the Essex County Park Commission's annual Fall and Winter Hockey Program. The program is coordinated by John Warchol, a former U.S. National Team Player and the Essex County Park Commission's hockey supervisor for 13 years.

Aimed at young people from ages 5 through 17, the hockey program sets out to satisfy the needs of the beginner with well-rounded clinics or schools and the more experienced individual with league play. The Hockey Clinics, beginning September 9, instruct the beginner in the basics of the sport with emphasis on skating, stick handling, passing and shooting. League play, beginning September 12, develops the youngsters' hockey skills further through instruction, sportsmanship and team play.

In addition to its regular program, the Essex County Park Commission proudly announces the formation of an All Star team which will start in October and continue through March. All Star players will be selected from the league divisions and along with their regular schedule of league play, they will be involved in a minimum of 12 home games, 12 away games and 12 practices. A special "Mighty Mite" program is also planned for those between the ages of 5 to 7. Those interested are asked to call the Branch Brook Ice Center for more information.

All the Hockey League Programs will be held at the Branch Brook Ice Center in Newark. The Hockey Clinics will be held at both the Branch Brook Ice Center in Newark and the South Mountain Arena in West Orange.

A special eight week "High School Hockey Conditioning" course will be offered as a Wednesday session for those between the ages of 15 and 18 and will begin on September 15. This session is only being offered once. A special "Goalie Clinic," for all age levels, will start on Saturday, September 25 as a once-only eight week session.

Further schedule information, including specific times, days and cost will be given to Clinic and League applicants upon registration. Applications are available at both facilities. Write "Fall/Winter Hockey Program," Branch Brook Ice Center, 115 Clifton Avenue, Newark, New Jersey 07104 (483-2088) or South Mountain Arena, 560 Northfield Avenue, West Orange, New Jersey (731-3829).

Rec football teams distributed Monday

The 1976 Recreation Department football season will begin Monday, August 30, with the distribution of teams.

Boys who have filed applications and have been weighed-in are asked to report to Municipal Stadium on Monday at 6:30 for their team assignments.

Those missing the weigh-in and any late applicants must report to the Rec House on Joralemon Street between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. for the weighing or to file applications. This must be done before anyone can be assigned to a team.

There were 130 football candidates at Monday's weigh-in out of about 160 applicants who have already filed.

Bellevilleite pays for punching car

A Belleville man, who pleaded guilty to punching passing cars, was fined $200 and received a 30 day suspended jail sentence during proceedings in Belleville Municipal Court August 18.

Kevin Fletcher, 57 Cedar Hill Avenue, was arrested August 8 and charged with causing a disturbance while under the influence of alcohol by kicking and punching passing cars on Joralemon Street while shouting obscenities.

Judge Edward Abromson imposed the fine and suspended sentence and also put the car kicker on one year probation.

Amvets give charity check

Belleville's police officers recently saw stars when the diamond squad from the Belleville department recently played the CBS All Stars.

The local lawmen took a drubbing, but the loss really didn't matter. The real winner of the contest was the Cerebral Palsy Center.

The game was sponsored by the Belleville AMVETS, and president of that group, Joseph Fornarotto, recently turned over a check from the proceeds of the game to Francis J. Costenbader, president of the center.

Star bound — Matt McGill as the crooked music producer Crook, in the Allum-Fraga production, "Anaraxia Bound" wants to tell Chartreuse, played by Donna Iacobelli, how he's going to make her a star. Chartreuse wants to discuss the lunch menu at her diner.

Patricia Abbott to attend Berkeley

Patricia Abbott, 104 Overlook Avenue, has been accepted in the professional secretarial program of the Berkeley School in East Orange. The professional secretarial program offers options in legal, medical, fashion, advertising and airlines specializations, lays the groundwork for attainment of the Certified Professional Secretary designation and prepares students for the type of position which can serve as a springboard to executive status.

Miss Abbott was graduated from Belleville High School. She was a volunteer at Clara Maass Hospital for two years.

She will begin her Berkeley studies next month.

E. Kwiatkowski will be speaker

Edward L. Kwiatkowski, market planner at the Wallace & Tiernan Division of Penwalt Corporation, Belleville, will join nearly 40 distinguished national authorities appearing as guest speakers at the 7th annual Product Liability Prevention (PLP) conference in New Jersey late this month.

The PLP program will be held August 23-25 at the Sheraton Heights Hotel, Hasbrouck Heights, and attracts a sophisticated audience from business and industry. It is held under the auspices of New Jersey Institute of Technology's division of Continuing Education and in co-sponsorship with a large group of professional and trade organizations.

Kwiatkowski is a graduate of New Jersey Institute of Technology and is presently pursuing advanced work at the school.

He will speak August 25 on the subject of "Installation/Assembly Considerations for Product Safety," keying his remarks to the overall theme of the conference — "Good Manufacturing Practices — Or Else."

Marotti association plans outdoor blast

The Michael V. Marotti Civic Association will hold its annual picnic on Sunday, September 19 at Old Cider Mill Grove, Union, New Jersey. The time will be from 1 p.m. to 7 p.m. inclusive.

Along with the regular menu of appetizing picnic foods there will be soda pop for the youngsters and beer and coffee for adults.

In order to make the program for the day a most festive one there will be a variety of games and events open to all in attendance.

Michael T. Rosamilia, is president of the organization and Al DiChiaro, is chairman of the picnic.

Block offers tax course

H&R Block is the largest income tax preparation school in America. For the past 12 years, it has offered the public an income tax course in more than 2,000 communities nationwide and more than 300,000 students have graduated from the course.

Class for 1976 begin next month. The course offers working knowledge of preparing complex income tax returns, and prepares students whether they want to prepare their own, or do others' for profit. The lessons involved, company spokesmen say, will be valuable.

Exemptions, deductions, state returns, New Jersey and New York and sales of property are covered in the curriculum.

Classes meet two times a week for 13 and a half weeks.

Information is available at 661-

3329 or by visiting the Nutley office at 187 Franklin Avenue.

Classes will be held at the Nutley office on Monday and Thursday or Tuesday and Friday mornings, afternoons or evenings.

Orphans' picnic will be Saturday

The Annual Orphans Picnic sponsored by the Joseph J. Carbar Post 299 will be held August 28, 1976 at the Post Home parking lot.

There will be plenty of food including hot dogs, hamburgers, Italian sausages, clams, beer, and soda. Everyone is invited to attend the affair with Legion members' families and all their friends.

The donation is $10 and the rain date for the picnic is August 29.
