Governor signs bill in Belleville

By JOSEPH RYAN

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ameo started their vacation Monday by hosting Governor Brendan Byrne and more than 200 others in their backyard for the signing of the Homestead Rebate Bill.

The legislation is part of the New Jersey tax package and will provide rebates on property taxes to homeowners twice a year. The Ameos are eligible for a $204 return on their taxes this year.

When the governor signed the bill, he reminded the crowd homeowners must apply for the rebate through the local tax accessor before November 1 to qualify for the returned funds.

Governor Byrne said the Ameos are an example of homeowners who have been hit with increasingly high real estate taxes and deserve tax reform especially with their children attending college.

Belleville leaders turned out to greet the governor at the Ameos. Mayor Michael Marotti, and Commissioners Mary Senatore, Rocco Saletta, and Joseph McGreevy were present as well as School Board members Dr. John Greed, Cesar Romano, Lawrence Schwartz and Sy Grossman.

Belleville Chief of Police Joseph Smith also attended the signing ceremony along with State Assemblymen Mike Adabato and Jack Call.

The event was not exactly what Mrs. Terry Ameo first expected it to be when the family was asked to provide their home for the signing. Mrs. Ameo said

Schoolers buy new insurance

The Belleville Board of Education awarded a bid Monday for the purchase of fire insurance for the school system.

The Trustees have agreed, at least temporarily, to pay $63,000 an actual cash value policy. The coverage is being purchased through the Frings Insurance Agency of Union.

The cash value policy was not the first choice of the Board, however. According to Trustee president Matthew Pica, the group would prefer to have a policy which covers the system for the replacement value of any destroyed buildings. That type of policy, however, would cost the town almost three times as much as the actual cash value protection.

The Board is still considering such a policy, Pica said, and the Frings agency has agreed to cover the schools under the actual cash value policy for at least the next week. The agency is seeking an extension of the system's present policy with the Insurance Company of North America.

"This is a temporary measure," said Pica, "but I doubt INA will give us another extension. We would like time to see more proposals."

Only two companies chose to submit bids, Pica said, "even though requests for

Town considers maintenance code

A proposed property maintenance code submitted by the Belleville Planning Board to the Town Commissioners will set minimum standards for every parcel of land and every building in town.

If the recommended code becomes an ordinance, it will be Belleville's first all encompassing property maintenance law. The closest ordinance to a maintenance code now on the books states if a home is more than 50 percent deteriorated, the town can condemn the building.

The Planning Board's code provides standards for exterior maintenance, appearance of exterior of premises, structural soundness, general sanitation and safety, and duties and responsibilities of occupants and owners.

Ralph Risoli, the town's representative on the Planning Board, said the code took four or five months to construct. Joseph Grande, Chairman of the Planning Board, spearheaded the creation of the maintenance rules, Risoli said.

"I don't think people will object to an ordinance of this sort," Risoli said. "In general most of the families keep their homes in repair but a few landlords who don't live in Belleville let it (their proper-

Celebration

Residents in the Silver Lake section of Belleville gathered last weekend to celebrate the annual Feast of St. Bartolomeo with the traditional procession and also a carnival. There are more pictures of the event on pages 11 and 12.

Governor visits

Governor Brendan Byrne helicoptered to Belleville Monday morning to sign legislation providing for a tax rebate to homeowners in New Jersey. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ameo, 290 Fairway Avenue, hosted the signing of the bill and sat next to the governor during the ceremony. More than 200 people attended the historic Belleville event.

Suspect charges police beat him up

An 18-year-old Belleville man, charged with assault and battery against three Belleville Police Officers, has filed counter charges of atrocious assault against the policemen.

The cases of the 18-year-old and the police were referred to the Essex County Grand Jury during proceedings in Belleville Municipal Court August 26.

The Belleville arrested August 14 is charged with two breaking and entries, attempted larceny, theft, resisting arrest, and assaulting three policemen.

The police, in turn, are charged by the 18-year-old with atrocious assault by kicking and punching him while he was handcuffed, causing him to be hospitalized.

Belleville Chief of Police Joseph Smith said the police department has investigated the charges against the officers and will continue the investigation. The three lawmen named in the complaint will remain on duty, Smith added.

There have been some complaints against the police in the past but none have ever resulted in indictments, Chief Smith said. He added two of the officers involved in arresting the 18-year-old were hospitalized and one of the policemen is still being treated. The Belleville arrested was also treated at the hospital.

Judge Salvatore Intintola referred the cases to the Grand Jury and took no action on three John Doe charges filed by the 18-year-old. An Essex County Grand Jury will hear all charges from all the complainants involved.

Mt. Carmel Guild aids blind seniors

Old age and blindness did not stop a group of senior citizens enrolled in the Mount Carmel Guild's elderly day care program from visiting the American Freedom Train last week. The Freedom Train, a traveling museum of American history and culture, rolled into Port Newark for a three-day stop on its nationwide tour.

The seniors, accompanied by Guild staff members, were greeted by Freedom Train tour guides who explained the various exhibits to them.

Participating in community activities and interacting as normally as possible despite visual loss are two of the goals of the Guild's elderly day care program for the visually handicapped.

The program, offered free of charge, is seeking more participants. To be eligible you must be an Essex County resident, legally blind, age 45 and older. For further information about the program, contact Michael Petrucci at 624-2405.

Prizes of books, ribbons or certificates will be awarded to winners in each of the categories.

Rain date for the event is Saturday, September 19.

The James Cozzarelli Association presents its first picnic, Sunday, September 26, at Lyndhurst, Riverside County Park, North area, picnic area A, 10 a.m. to dusk.

There will be entertainment, food, games, prizes, and fun for all. Beer, soda, clams, chicken, hamburgers, hot dogs and salads will be on the menu.

William J. Shaw earns doctorate

William J. Shaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. W.I. Shaw, 64 Fairway Avenue, was among 451 students who participated in August Commencement Exercises at Baylor University, Waco, Texas.

Shaw was the recipient of a doctorate in psychology.

Local fined $300 for church B&E

An 18-year old Belleville man, charged with breaking and entry at Wesley Methodist Church, was fined $300 and given a six month suspended jail term during proceedings in Belleville Municipal Court August 18.

Edward Joseph O'Connor, 203 Franklin Street, pleaded guilty to breaking into Wesley Methodist Church, 205 Washington Avenue on August 13 with the intent to commit larceny.

Judge Edward Abromson imposed the fine and suspended term and placed O'Connor on two year probation.

William Escott of the Belleville Police Department was the complainant in the case.

Lu Ditti of Belleville is guided into the American Freedom Train exhibit in Newark by Bob Tintle of the Mount Carmel guild. The guild took 11 blind senior citizens on the tour in Newark.

Holy Family school opens

Holy Family School, on Brookline Avenue in Nutley, begins its 27th year Thursday, September 9, for grades 1 through 8. The kindergarten will commence sessions the following Monday, September 13.

The school, whose principal is Sister Ascenza Tizzano, M.P.F., will have the same faculty as last year, when the faculty was rated as "excellent" and the academic program as "outstanding" by the office of the Superintendent of Schools. The one addition will be Miss Mary Ann Castellano, who graduated from Holy Family and from Belleville High School, and is an English major with a Bachelor of Arts degree from Bloomfield College. Sister Angelina Toscano, M.P.F., will be librarian this year.

As stable as is the faculty, so also is the enrollment of 590 students, the same as last year. The school, which numbers pupils from Belleville as well as Nutley, is almost at capacity and for some grades a waiting list is maintained. Tuition continues at $75 per family per year, plus an additional $10 per year per child for consumable books and working materials. The school owns and maintains two school buses, which pick up and bring home youngsters from outlying districts of the area of both towns.

The science program will continue as dynamic as in the past, with two science labs in the school; a basic laboratory equipped for intermediate grades and a more sophisticated lab for the upper grades. Each classroom is equipped with basic science equipment.

The social studies this presidential election year will be of more than usual importance. The program is designed to give an understanding of the values of democracy in order to stress meaningful allegiance to our government and to teach that democracy is not without its problems.

Religion is integrated in all phases of the school day to stress in the minds of the children that religion is not only a subject to be studied, but also a way of life. In addition to the 9 religious sisters on the full time faculty, the 4 parish priests, of whom 3 have master's degrees and 1 is preparing to receive his M.A., teach part time.

Extra curricular activities include instrumental music, complete boy and girl scout programs, cheerleading, a student council, girls' and boys' basketball, a crafts club, classes in Italian, dramatics, and dancing.

Saletta officers installed

A list of the officers sworn in at the first dinner-dance of the Rocco H. Saletta Civic and Welfare Association was released recently, and included the following citizens:

President of the group is Thomas Candura; first vice president is Ralph LaConte Jr.; second vice president is Joseph Perrotta; honorary vice president and standard bearer is Rocco H. Saletta; treasurer is Salvatore Tramontana; secretary is Barbara Tramontana; corresponding secretary is Sandra Metts and sergeant-at-arms is James Risoli Jr.

The installation was directed by Viola Narucki, who presented her candlelight installation. Music was under the direction of Arthur Rosania, an active member of the association.

The group will resume its regular monthly meetings Wednesday, September 8, at 8 p.m. at Parillo's Restaurant on Harrison Street in Belleville.

All active members are urged to attend, and there will be a guest speaker and a complete calendar of affairs will be presented. Refreshments will be served.

The group was formed, members said, with one goal, to assist any Belleville citizen or member who is in need of assistance.

Any citizen wishing to become an active member is invited to attend the September 8 meeting and ask any questions concerning the aims and goals of the organization.

New CYO head active

The newly appointed assistant program director for the Essex County CYO, Stephen Tague, has immersed himself completely in youth programming since assuming the post July 1.

Tague came to the Essex office after spending the past year as a teacher at Bayley-Elard Regional High School in Morristown, so working with and for young people is nothing new for the 23-year-old Lyndhurst resident.

Born in Kearny, Tague graduated from Seton Hall University in 1975 with a major in sociology and religious studies. His wife, the former Donna Cerullo, was also a resident of Kearny.

Program director Kevin Crane's new assistant will be charged with the county's youth ministry program. He will also play a viable role as the sounding board for teens throughout Essex County.

The CYO Encounter program, which is aimed at the spiritual uplifting of county teens, will also be under Tague's aegis.

Union coin club holds open house

The Union County Coin Club will hold open house at its meeting night on September 18 from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m. and the public is invited to participate. There is no admission and parking is free.

There will be an auction open to everyone and it will include coins, artifacts and antiques. Most of the items are donated by members to meet the rising cost of rent and operating expenses.

Clubs may view Bell baseball film

A new documentary film, "The Sport of the Century," which honors the birth of baseball's National League 100 years ago, is now available for public showing from New Jersey Bell Telephone Company.

The 23-minute film, narrated by William Conrad of television's "Cannon" series, takes a nostalgic look at the sport which has become an American tradition and national pastime. Great moments in the history of the sport are dramatized by blending baseball's heroes of yesteryear with today's stars.

Sponsored by the Bell System, the film also highlights a few great moments in communications.

Prayer for today

(Isa. 58, 6-9)

Thus, says the Lord,
Release those bound unjustly,
untie the thongs of the yoke;
Set free the oppressed, break every yoke;
Share your bread with the hungry,
Shelter the oppressed and the homeless;
Clothe the naked when you see them,
do not turn your back on your own.
Then your light shall break forth like the dawn,
and your wound shall be quickly healed;
Your vindication shall go before you,
and the glory of the Lord shall be your rear guard.
Then you shall call, and the Lord will answer, you shall cry for help, and He will say: Here I am
If you bestow your bread on the hungry and satisfy the afflicted;
Then light shall rise for you in the darkness and the gloom shall become for you like midday.

Preserve our coast

By DAVID F. MOORE

New Jersey's coastal area is a priceless heritage, in terms of both environmental and financial values.

That's why a collective sigh of relief was heard in 1973 when the legislature adopted the Coastal Area Facility Review Act. It would, in parallel with federal legislation, save the coastal area from piecemeal destruction by uncoordinated development.

But now, as the act moves toward implementation, there are growing fears that it's not going to turn out as intended. This is because it looks like it won't be standing on a firm foundation.

Three steps are necessary to make CAFRA operational. Step one is completion of an inventory of coastal area environmental resources. Step two is identification of alternative strategies, based on the inventory, for management of the coastal area. Step three is adoption of a final management plan which will result from the first two steps.

So far this procedure has cost the taxpayers a million dollars, and another million will have been expended by the end of this fiscal year. Unfortunately, it doesn't look like we're getting what we're paying for.

The inventory, step one, was completed and submitted to the legislature on schedule in September, 1975. The alternative management strategies are due this September, and the final management plan in September, 1977.

The problem centers on the inventory of last September. In my opinion it fails to meet the requirements. It was just a bibliography of selected items rather than a geographic listing of the environmental features of the coastal area.

Inasmuch as step two is to be based on that inventory, and the final management plan will be selected from among the alternatives in step two, I'm afraid the whole structure is unsound. Thus, CAFRA will not have established an adequate program for protection of the coastal area.

Federal coastal zone legislation establishes a public participation program to assist the states in developing coastal zone plans. What New Jersey has done, however, is mainly to inform the public of its actions rather than solicit public inputs.

Citizen organizations are somewhat at fault here too, in that there have been chances to complain. The small pieces that didn't seem significant at the time are now fitting together in a puzzle that doesn't present the kind of picture we expected when the CAFRA law was enacted.

This summer has brought plenty of substantiation for the urgency of coastal protection, with beaches being closed up and down the shoreline due to pollution. Let's hope a strong coastal zone plan will evolve despite the beginning.

Persistent plant—Joseph Straface, 248 Fairway Avenue, sits by a plant that sprouted this summer right through his asphalt driveway. Without care or water it has thrived. The trouble is, Mr. Straface has about six much smaller ones in his garden that haven't done as well as this untended cement shrub.

Fire department is highly praised

To the Editor:

On Friday August 20, I had the unfortunate experience of coming home to my kitchen which had been damaged by fire just a few hours earlier that night.

After hearing the circumstances leading to the cause of the fire from my wife and the neighbors, it certainly made me proud to know that the Belleville Fire Department was on the scene in a matter of a few minutes.

Their quick response to the alarm and cooperation in staying afterward to help in the clean-up was and is a total surprise. We have been in Belleville only five months after moving from New York and it is quite reassuring to know that we are in good hands.

My special thanks go to Mr. Richard Melham and Mr. William Morrison of Oak and Joralemon Streets who both responded so well and quickly with a portable extinguisher and discarding a potential bomb in an open can of turpentine which was in the midst of the fire.

Again, just a few words of thanks and my personal gratitude to both of these men and our Belleville Fire Department.

I and my family thank you.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Paoli

Golden Comments

By James R. Golden

A few weeks back, in view of the furor aroused and the claims and counter claims, growing from the demands of the local police to have the court ordered raise granted them implemented; our news editor, Chuck Jackson, with his customary nose for news, diligently set about to ferret out the facts.

The Town Commissioners despite their having agreed to binding arbitration, whether wise or not, now find themselves required to pay these raises. They claim there is no money, they can't afford to meet the demands. They should have thought about that before they entered into their agreement with the police.

This column, submitted in advance of publication, appearing in the August 19 issue of this paper, as published, ended "give them (cops) their raise." What was not included in the column, perhaps because of space limitations, was "Pass an emergency appropriation resolution. Put it in next year's budget. It's worth a few bucks more to keep the police around. They do a good job."

Published or not, Jackson, apparently observing a new angle to this controversy, patently sensed the need to inquire about the possibilities of resolving the impasse by the emergency appropriation resolution approach. This remedy I had pointed out to Town Clerk Cappy Barnett in a chance meeting by the Peoples Bank, where I showed him a carbon copy of my submitted column copy which I had just dropped off at the Times-News office.

As a newsman, where else would Jackson be expected to go to find out the details of this new development approach, than to the fount of the town's fiscal responsibility, the Town Treasurer. The treasurer, Francis McCoy, is a statutory officer expected when interviewed, to supply accredited members of the press factual public information which is the responsibility of the reporter to pass along to his readers.

That the outgrowth of such an interview produced a disturbing prediction of a gigantic local tax hike, produced no surprise. This column has been pressing such a plight for some time. How could it miss in view of the performance of our elected officials? If they lack the foresight and vision to live within the austerity budget they approved, which they might have, had they heeded the recommendations of the Belleville Citizens' Union, the present financial problems of the town could have been averted.

In the field of news dissemination some stories elate, please and make happy, while others terrify, frighten and annoy. Perhaps the most irascible group is to be found among the politicians, but since their credibility rating in public opinion polls is so low, very little consideration need be given their petulant tantrums, other than to expose the petty levels they often stoop to in efforts to muzzle information the public is rightfully entitled to.

A top case illustration can be found close at hand, right here in town in fact. One week after the disclosure of a predicted local tax hike, Commissioner Joe McGreevy threatens to gag McCoy, the Town Treasurer, calling the information imparted in the Times-News "his opinion only."

Various publications have on occasion seen fit to extol the financial talents and attributes of Mr. McCoy as a fiscal administrator, teacher and licensed Registered Municipal Accountant, therefore, it would appear unlikely Commissioner McGreevy's suggestion any statement given by McCoy was "his opinion only." McCoy's past track record would tend to strongly refute such a wild presumption.

Perhaps, most readers may have missed it by the subtle way the Times-News editor covered the story, but how many taxpaying citizens can condone Commissioner McGreevy's apparently first learning of the predicted tax hike when it was brought up at the town meeting, notwithstanding, the fact it had been spread across the front page of the local paper the week before? Don't our Commissioners even read the town paper? Is that anyway to run a town? It damn sure isn't.

FLIGHT 897

The CAB appears to be the villain

By FRANK A. ORECHIO

I did something rather different this weekend. I decided paying $308 for a round trip, quicky visit to Fort Lauderdale for a meeting represented a C.A.B. rip-off, so for probably the second time in 11 years I decided to fly day coach for $206. I was willing to pay as much as $275 but when the C.A.B. not too long ago issued an edict that all domestic airlines are obliged to raise their first class rates to reflect a 60 percent differential between coach and first class, I took personal offense and decided I for one didn't need a first class reservation to enjoy my round trip between Newark and Ft. Lauderdale.

At the going day coach rate, a round trip first class flight to Ft. Lauderdale will eventually cost $500. Most of us could go to Europe for less than the present first class, round trip cost Ft. Lauderdale.

The coach dinner was broiled chicken. Alcoholic drinks were $1.50. I took Fresca instead. The first class section was almost empty the stewardesses on the trip down were rather impersonal, going through their chores in a somewhat mechanical way.

The return trip via Eastern flight no. 758 was an E.A.L. loser, a pay load of about 70 percent coach passengers and no first class passengers. If the C.A.B. policy prevails, a first class passenger will be a rare bird with the result that coach fares will have to be increased to compensate for the loss of first class revenue. The cabin crew on the return trip was more personal and more interested in passenger comfort and accommodation. Senior Vicki Sloan and her assistant, Stewardess Carol Harwell, did an outstanding job looking after the needs of passengers. Both girls are Miami based, although Vicki lives in Houston, Texas.

OUR OWN CONGRESSMAN, Joe Minish, is asking to strip the C.A.B. of its rate-making authority on the premise that competition should determine rates. I agree with Joe Minish 100 percent. So, if you fly Eastern, first class, and you feel it is a rip-off, don't blame EAL President Frank Borman.

His outfit is only complying with CAB rules.

I hadn't been to Ft. Lauderdale in a while and I found my mailbox loaded with mail. There was an "Electiongram" from President Gerald Ford.

An 80-page fall catalogue of Saks Fifth Avenue was there to greet me as well as Saks' mid-summer sales catalogue. There were four mail pieces from Jordan Marsh, Congressman J. Herbert Berke sent four mail pieces, the Arthritis Foundation, Florida chapter, St. Petersburg sent me a you-know-what, and Golf magazine decided I should read its publication. Well, I could probably fill all the space this column provides with a list of all the mail waiting for me.

To M.R.M.R.A.G. you have the courage of a hit-run driver. When you get the kind of courage that Americans appreciate, send me a note with your name because I come from a family that loves a clean fight.

Office on Aging to hold hearings

Bernard J. Gallagher, director of the Essex County Office on Aging, which is located in Belleville, has just announced that a series of five public hearings will be held next month to determine the priority needs of Essex County's more than 150,000 senior citizens. All hearings, to which senior citizens, municipal officers and interested citizens are invited, begin at 10 a.m. according to the following schedule:

- September 13 — Newark, Hall of Records
- September 14 — Bloomfield, Civic Center
- September 15 — Irvington, Town Hall
- September 16 — Verona, Borough Hall
- September 17 — Orange, City Hall

The public hearings are an innovation of the Essex County Office on Aging in meeting its responsibility for creating an annual area plan as a guide to planning and development of senior services in the county. Principally as a result of these sessions, projected budget allocations for 1977 can be established. With the required area plan outlined and an audit of available resources made, the Office on Aging is equipped to make recommendations for the creation or continuation of programs which are primarily funded under various divisions of the Older Americans Act.

"I sincerely hope we will have a large turnout for all of the hearings," stated Gallagher. "It is essential that we get a cross section of ideas from the people we know best. Surely the seniors see their own critical problems firsthand, the agency directors who administer a variety of programs are keenly aware of gaps in service, and the municipal officials can comment with authority on situations which are unique to the older citizen in a given locale."

"There is no question in my mind," he continued, "that the documentation of priority services required by seniors, as afforded by these hearings and the needs surveys conducted periodically, is the most effective means of assuring the most mileage is obtained from tight budgets. A documented critical need can cause monies slated for a less than essential program to be transferred to areas of greater urgency. And, hopefully, a high priority need can be the motivating force in securing additional funds to expand an existing program or to develop an essential new one."

Director Gallagher strongly urged any senior citizen, agency director, municipal officer or interested citizen, wishing to be heard at any of the public hearings, to write or call the Essex County Office on Aging without delay. The address is 520 Belleville Avenue, Belleville and the telephone number is 751-6050.

Senior notes

By GEORGE CHENOWETH

On September 8, the New Jersey Coordinating Council of Older Organized Citizens, Incorporated, will hold a one day convention at Asbury Park. Many seniors from our local groups, as well as others from around the state, will be attending this meeting in the Convention Hall. Business of importance on legislative matters will be discussed and hopefully, guidelines will be established to form plans for senior citizens, legislative action.

The Belleville Retired Men's Club will start its fall meetings on Wednesday, September 8 at 9:30 a.m. at the Fewsmith Church on Union and Overlook Avenues. Members and prospective members, take note.

Thor Dahl, president of the Retired Men's Club had a bad fall and had to have surgery on his kneecap. We are happy to report that he is recovering nicely.

The Belleville Senior Citizens Club sponsored a trip last Friday to Lake Wallenpaupack in Pennsylvania. The day started off rainy, but soon cleared and the weather, for most of the day was ideal. The members enjoyed a luncheon, a boat ride on the lake, entertainment and a champagne dinner at the White Beauty View Resort Hotel. The trip up to the lake and return to Belleville were enjoyed by the two busloads of members.

Mary and Michael Cicale are to be congratulated for their expert handling of all the details that made the excursion a happy event.

Vaccinations

Many pet owners feel rabies vaccinations are only necessary for domestic animals such as the dog and cat. They believe that exotic pets like skunks or tropical cats will spend most of their lives indoors and are safe from exposure to infected animals.

But this is not the case. Rabies is a disease capable of infecting any warm-blooded animal, and almost all warm-blooded pets should be vaccinated to prevent the disease.

The term "exotic pet" is not limited to animals imported from abroad. A number of native American animals, including the skunk, raccoon and fox are included in this category because they have not been domesticated through long association with man and are never really quite at home in captivity.

Most exotic pets are caught in the wild, and their history of possible exposure to rabies is unknown. Even certified capture at a very early age is no safeguard since animals as young as six weeks of age have been known to contract the disease. Baby skunks may be exposed to the disease by contact with the mother. Some owners feel reassured by a short quarantine period, but they do not realize that rabies has a very uncertain and sometimes lengthy incubation period.

Studies have shown that the rabies virus may take from 15 to 285 days before it reaches the brain and causes recognizable symptoms. A bite on a pet's back leg from a rabid animal will bring the virus into the body, but at a great distance from the brain. Therefore, development of rabies from such a bite will take a much longer incubation period than a bite on the jaw or ear.

Because of the health risks involved and the sometimes unpredictable behavior of exotic animals, I personally and professionally would not recommend keeping any type of exotic pet. However, if you are determined to keep an ocelot, skunk or other unusual pet, you should attempt to have it vaccinated against rabies.

Vaccination of exotic pets is done with caution since they do not always respond uniformly to vaccines designed for use on domesticated animals. Only inactivated forms of rabies vaccine should be used, with the dosage adjusted for body weight. Animals may be vaccinated as young as 3 to 4 months, and the vaccination must be repeated annually.

Early symptoms are not the classic foaming of the mouth, but rather a tendency to eat strange "foods," apparently because of hunger and a dimming of the sense of taste. Cats may also develop a type of paralysis of the throat and lose their normal voice, crying in a rather subdued, hoarse tone. Complete character reversals are also common. Pets that are normally quiet and timid, may spring out to bite and scratch family members as well as strangers.

Any animal, including the domestic cat, that has a curious nature and a tendency to stalk and hunt other animals should not be allowed outdoors unless it has a current rabies vaccination. The vaccination will safeguard the pet should it encounter a rabid animal and get bitten in the process.

Should your pet, any warm-blooded pet, become seriously ill for some unexplained reason, you should contact your veterinarian, both for your pet's sake and your own. Rabies may be involved.

DR. STEAR REGRETS THAT HE IS UNABLE TO PERSONALLY ANSWER LETTERS FROM PET OWNERS. HE SUGGESTS THAT READERS CONSULT THEIR OWN VETERINARIANS WHEN THEIR PETS HAVE PROBLEMS.

Flemington Fair expects record entry turnout in needlework, home arts

There were a record 333 entries last year in the Fancy Needlework and Home Arts Show at Flemington Fair.

Mrs. Cornelius Turner, show superintendent, suspects that the record will be broken when the Fair opens for its 120th run August 31.

Because of the number of entries, the show will again be housed in two adjoining buildings. Mrs. Turner reports. Winners will be determined on the basis of general appearance, beauty of design and workmanship, suitability and taste.

The 1975 grand prize winner was Mrs. Helen Stewart, of West Amwell Township, for her needlework exhibit. There were more than 1,000 entries.

Candidate Wants CB Radio Band Expanded

Charles A. Poekel Jr., Republican candidate for Congress in New Jersey's 11th District, today called for the further expansion of the citizens band radio to provide more spectrum space for personal two-way communications.

Poekel says with over six million CB two-way radios in use throughout the country and with approximately 15,000 new installations added each month he felt "it was certainly in the public's best interest to have more space for two-way communications."

Montclair Academy of Dance begins its tenth season

The Montclair Academy of Dance, under the Direction of Judith Austin, announces the commencement of its 10th season. Ms. Austin, a former ballet major at the University of Utah, has danced in many Broadway shows, with a featured role in "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum." She also appeared with Zero Mostel in the movie, "The Producers" and has had many appearances on TV. She teaches social dance and yoga for the Rutherford Adult School, and Children's dance and adult gymnastics for Rutherford Recreation, Elmwood Park Recreation, and Teaneck Recreation.

A varied curriculum is offered at the Academy, with classes specifically designed for each student's age and ability. Of special interest for the preschooler is the Kinderdance program. This is a class in creative movement in which children are encouraged to explore space freely and to discover the joys of dance movement through their own bodies. This class is an excellent preparation for formal education, since eye-hand coordination is developed before children are introduced to reading and writing.

A course of special interest for the young ballet student is Pre-Ballet. Since Ballet is the most difficult of all dance forms, it should not be taught until a student is nearly 8 years old, but it is the most rewarding for good posture, discipline, strength, and coordination. In the Pre-Ballet course, the young student is introduced to ballet with basic exercises, yet is allowed to express the beauty of dance with free and easy-flowing movements. Ballet classes are offered for children, teens, and adults.

Of special interest to pre-teens, teenagers, and adults is the Modern Jazz class. This dance form is typically American and is the style seen in musicals on Broadway and TV.

Classes will commence September 20th at the studio located in the Commonwealth Club, 551 Valley Road, Upper Montclair. For information and a brochure, call 746-3522.

Maria Lilore was 92

A Mass of Christian Burial was offered today for Maria Lilore, 92, who died August 30 in Belleville after a long illness.

Mrs. Lilore (nee Sibilia) was born in Italy and lived in Belleville for 70 years before moving here from Newark. She was a member of the Rosary Society of St. Mary's Church.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Mary Castellano, and Mrs. Anne Fury, Belleville; and Mrs.

Marie Maree, Hawaii; three sons, Thomas and Carmen, Belleville; and Ralph, Bloomfield; 21 grandchildren, and 29 great grandchildren.

Mrs. Lilore was predeceased by her husband Ralph; a daughter Mrs. Florence Laino; and three sons Jerry, Joseph, and Rocco.

S.W. Brown and Son Funeral Home handled arrangements and interment was at Immaculate Conception Cemetery, Montclair following the funeral mass.

Dog days — Life isn't all relish and sauerkraut under the umbrella of a hot dog stand. Belleville vendor Emre Dluhos knows that, and wears steel-tipped shoes to protect his feet from wandering traffic. Now he has Town Commissioners to contend with as he peddles his dogs.

Emre Dluhos

moving," he added.

Dluhos, a five year veteran of the hot dog business in Belleville, commends the Board of Health for its strict observances of regulations covering his food stand. He is required to have four burners on the cart to keep the franks hot and the stand clean. The top of the cart is enclosed in plastic panelling to keep debris off the food area as well.

"If I had a way I could sanitize money, I would do it," Dluhos said.

The history of Dluhos and his hot dog cart is practically a romance. When his three children were growing up Dluhos told them hot dog stories instead of the usual nursery tales. He would use narrations involving hot dogs as springboards toward examples of the children's behavior on the particular day he told the story.

The necessity for the stories passed with time but not his or his children's affection for franks. Five years ago his son talked him into buying the hot dog pushcart.

Dluhos said he was "real naive" when he bought the cart for $500 in New York. The hot dog huckster said it took six months for his business on wheels to become fully licensed and approved.

"Actually, I haven't made enough to pay for the wagon," Dluhos said. His season on Washington Avenue this summer has been limited to about eight days, according to the vendor. "They see me in a thousand places, but I'm the only guy with a pushcart in Belleville," he added.

Dluhos' experience on the street has led to his wearing steel tipped shoes to prevent injury when passing cars roll over his feet on occasion. The Belleville hawk said he tries to stay away from local merchants, especially restaurants. He is also concerned about the safety of his curbside customers. "You've got to keep the kids on the sidewalk," Dluhos said.

Washington Avenue will never be overrun with hot dog pushcarts, according to Dluhos, because few people will make the effort of hauling the hot dogs four to five miles every day by themselves. Dluhos intends to be back on the street ten months from now when he returns from sea. His hot dogs are his pleasure.

"I enjoy this here. You act like a schmo, you live like a schmo, but you get away from the high pressure," Dluhos said.

Byrne visits Ameo home

she initially envisioned the historic Belleville occasion taking place in her living room with the governor and about 10 others present.

Instead of a cozy gathering, the Ameos provided the stage for a media event, complete with state and local politicians, television cameras, photographers, and press people.

"It was very nice, I was nervous but it went well," Mrs. Ameo said. She was also pleased with the crowd that gathered in and around her backyard. The onlookers were "very calm, very nice, and gave a warm reception for the governor," Mrs. Ameo added.

The Ameos were selected after the Byrne's office contacted Commissioner Senatore and told her the governor wanted to sign the rebate bill in the home of a Belleville family that would benefit from it. Mrs. Senatore, the local Democratic leader, made some calls and discovered Mr. and Mrs. Ameo fitted into Trenton's category. They were also perfect because both were starting vacations this week. So the stage was set for the governor's helicopter to arrive Monday morning.

The Ameos have lived at 290 Fairway Avenue for 21 years. They have a 20-year old daughter Janice, and a son Frank Jr. who is 18.

Mental health depends on many factors and one of these is the body mechanisms that maintain an appropriate chemical balance. When the body metabolism, which regulates this balance, is upset in some way, a mental disturbance may result. The underlying causes of metabolic changes is not very clearly understood. An excess of certain chemical substances, however, seems to cause mental disturbance, so can excess of certain chemical substances. Today it is possible to treat this condition by administering chemical drugs.

DeWitt takes Bicentennial title

DeWitt Savings and Loan of Belleville was recently honored by the State of New Jersey for its unique Bicentennial advertising program. The association won second place in a statewide contest open to all commercial banks, savings and loans and savings banks. Almost 300 financial institutions entered the contest.

The winners were greeted by Governor Brendan Byrne. The governor commended the winners for the excellence of their programs and congratulated all the banks and savings organizations that had participated in any way in observing the Bicentennial.

Robert M. Williams, president of DeWitt, represented the association at a meeting in the State Library building in Trenton to receive the award on behalf of DeWitt's officers and board of directors. The special session to grant the awards was called by the New Jersey Department of Banking to announce the winners and to issue the awards in various categories.

DeWitt's Bicentennial program was a comprehensive one which included outdoor and newspaper advertising, drawing themes from the Constitution; special patriotic displays featuring gold and silver medallions from the Franklin Mint honoring the signers of the Declaration of Independence, the Presidents of the United States, Indian tribes of America and famous revolutionary figures; interior and exterior designs featuring colonial costumes and colonial flags and a Bicentennial contest called "1776" open to all residents of Belleville and adjacent areas and carrying cash prizes for the winners. This contest was later imitated by other banks and newspapers across the country.

The object of the contest which DeWitt won was to locate and acknowledge the financial institutions which best captured the theme of the Bicentennial celebration in their marketing, advertising and public relations endeavors.

The contest included eight categories: best promotional campaign; oldest continuous charter; oldest operating office; most historic event; most historic person associated with the institution; best institution history; best architectural design conforming with colonial style and best restored office.

In addition to Governor Byrne, the group was addressed by Clifford Blaze, Deputy Commissioner of Banking for the State of New Jersey and by Steven Richer, Deputy Director of the American Revolutionary Bicentennial Commission.

Education Systems has record sales

Educations Systems and Publications Corporation of Belleville recently announced record sales of $501,000 for the six months ending June 30, as compared to $461,000 for the same period last year.

Net income declined somewhat to $25,000, or three cents per share, from the record $34,000 or four cents per share earned during the first six months of 1975.

Anthony M. Petaccio, president of ESP, commented that the decrease in earnings was largely due to the recent addition of new senior management, and pointed out that the company's gross margins have remained at last year's satisfactory level.

The firm's financial position continues to be sound, with a current ratio of almost six to one, providing excellent liquidity. Programs begun early in the year are beginning to mature, and the company is now making substantial progress in its new marketing programs and independent publishing efforts.

Bellevilleite fined $200 for assault

A Belleville man, arrested August 6 on an assault and battery charge, was fined $200 during proceedings in Belleville Municipal Court August 26.

Gregory Walker Edwards, 70 William Street, was charged in court with striking a minor by hitting him on the back of the neck with his fist. He was also accused of a verbal threat but was found not guilty of this charge.

Judge Edward Abramson imposed the $200 fine and a 60 day suspended jail term with two years probation, when he found the defendant guilty of the assault charge.

Mrs. Augustine Hawkins was the complainant in the case.

Silver Lake celebrates the yearly feast

A breather — Sunday's heat was rough on some of the processioners at Sunday's feast. Here, one of the altar boys taking part takes a short break and a cool drink.

Honoring St. Bartolomeo, the people of Silver Lake held their annual procession last weekend. As the float passed, supplicants offered money as their offerings. The procession lasted four hours and more than 1,000 people observed the spectacle.

Calzone cookers — Thomas Dellanno (left) and Allan Bifalco plied their wares at Saturday's carnival in Silver Lake. The men were frying up a storm, trying to keep up with the demands of the crowd.

Fun time — There was plenty to do Saturday in Silver Lake. This little girl found her excitement on one of the several rides at the celebration.

Observing the excitement going around them with an apparent air of detachment, this pair of youngsters seemed to be having a good time. Here, they are checking out one of the rides at the Feast.

Pleasant — Anthony Mandano seems intent on his work as he carefully prepares zepole. His hard work was appreciated by those who frequented his temporary establishment.

Working — While most of the people at the Feast were having fun, somebody had to do some work. This woman drew the unpleasant duty of peeling onions. Still, even that bit of unpleasantness must have been Hot dogs were enjoyed at the festivities by Lisa and Joseph Graziano. Franks were one of the many snacks available during the celebration.

Rec department will require IDs

Identification cards will be made available to any and all individuals who wish to take an active part in the various activities under the direct sponsorship of the Recreation Department.

Robert E. Cook, Superintendent of Recreation, stated the ID plan will be initiated at the Tennis Courts and the Friendly House. He added the cards will subsequently be put into operation at the many other sections coming under the department's jurisdiction.

The intent and purpose of the identification card is primarily counted on to restrict participation in the varied and extensive recreation activities, particularly where tennis is concerned.

Superintendent Cook believes the ID card plan is one way of preserving our courts for residents of Belleville, along with minimizing wear and tear of equipment in other areas.

Residents may apply for an ID card on Saturday, September 11 between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. and also on Monday, September 13 from 1 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the Recreation Department, 407 Joralemon Street.

Physically fit — Bob Racioppi presents his card to John D'Ambola to certify his fitness for the coming 1976 Bellboy football season. About 150 potential grid men showed up for Saturday's physicals.

Bruins split in tourney games

The Bruins have split their first two contests on the road to a state tournament title.

Saturday, the Bellevilleites lost to Lincroft, 8-5, at home but rebounded from the defeat to down Wayne, 9-1, in a local match Sunday. The state tourney is a double game elimination round, so the Bruins cannot afford another loss if they want to top the New Jersey diamond competition.

There are eleven teams left in the tournament and Belleville officials hope they can play three games this holiday weekend. The time, place, and opponents had not been announced in time for this edition of the Times-News however. One spokesman for the team said the games would probably be staged in Belleville.

The Bruins out hit Lincroft Saturday, 16 to 11 hits, but stranded nine runners on base in the 8-5 loss. Jack Rake pitched seven innings for the baseball bears and was relieved with the score tied, 5-5. Lincroft crossed the plate three times in the eight to win the contest.

Belleville started their scoring in the second inning when Willie Puentes was advanced to third and scored on a sacrifice by Kevin Goy.

Bruin power exploded in the fifth inning with two home runs. Frank Petite and Bob DiJianne contributed the round trippers to the Belleville tally.

The Bruin problem of stranding men on the bases was exemplified in the fifth when following the homers, the Bruins loaded the bases with one out but failed to cross the plate.

Petite provided another rbi in the sixth inning when he doubled and drove in Jim Rake, who was on with a walk.

The base paths were jammed again in the seventh inning by the Bruins. When Puentes and Scull sigled and Bill Otskey drew a base on balls. The Bellevilleites struggled for a run with no outs. Kevin Goy struck out and Jim Rake popped out to the second baseman. Tony Roselle forced in the last Belleville run of the day when he walked with the bases loaded.

The Bellevilleites used less than half as many hits on Sunday to compile more than nearly twice as many runs when they beat Wayne, 9-1. Bruin hurler Greg D'Allesandro faced 29 batters in nine innings, striking out seven and allowing four hits in the Belleville victory.

A bases loaded double by third baseman Roselle knocked in Scull, Puentes, and Otskey for the first three Belleville runs for the day.

Bob DiJianne clouted his second home run in two games to lead off the third inning. Belleville center-fielder Puentes continues his hitting streak with a double in the third that drove home Rake, who had drawn a walk.

Frank Petite matched DiJianne's feat when he homered for the second time in two days in the fourth innings. The swing also drove in Tony Roselle, who was on with a walk.

The Bruins capped their run total in the fifth with two more runs. Scull and Puentes both drew walks and were batted-in on a double by Bill Otskey.

Wayne used three pitchers in an effort to subdue the Bellevilleites and D'Allesandro went the distance on the mound for the Bruins.

Planners set rules

Risoli said the proposed ordinance is designed to "keep Belleville on the high level of suburban community that it is." Most towns now have maintenance codes, according to Risoli and he added it's up to the community to keep the town on a high standard.

A standard used by the Building Inspector and Health Officer is determining, according to the code, "whether premises are being maintained in such condition as to not constitute a blighting effect upon the neighboring properties nor an element leading to a progressive deterioration and downgrading of neighboring properties with an accompanying diminution of property values."

Objects deemed hazards on a property by the code include; refuse, dead trees, accumulations of ice and snow, excavations, unsound walls, defective chimneys, and defective porches, stairs and fire escapes.

The code also contains exterior of premises rules governing the appearance of landscaping, painting, signs, awnings, marquees, and scaffolding.

If the code is adopted it will not replace or modify laws already established. Violations of the proposed law will carry fines of up to $500 and the possibility of imprisonment not to exceed 90 days.

Coverage is costly

bids were sent out to many, many people."

According to the Board president, it would cost Belleville approximately $193,000 for a replacement value policy. The reason for the high cost, he said, "is because, according to the insurance companies, Belleville is an urban area and insurance companies are shying away from actual replacement coverage in such areas."

Though the Board will meet this week to consider purchase of replacement value insurance, Pica said he doubted the system could afford to pay for such coverage. "In my opinion," he said, "and this is just my opinion as one Board member, funds are not available for such coverage without curtailing necessary repairs and possibly some programs."

In order to obtain the coverage, Pica said, the Trustees would have to make $91,000 worth of repairs and then pay $102,000 for the coverage. He said the work involved would include the installation of sprinklers in some locations.

In other Board business, the group accepted the resignation of Board Attorney Max Schwartz.

Schwartz, who has been ill recently, will give up his fulltime duties, but will be retained as special counsel to the Board, with an annual salary of $1,000.

A replacement for Schwartz has not yet been selected, said Pica, but the matter will be discussed this week, he added.

Domenick strikes

Belleville swimmer Anthony Domenick led a Montclair YMCA Marlin relay squad to gold medals and a new record at the New Jersey AAU Junior Olympic long course swim championships held August 17, 18, and 19.

Domenick was first off the starting blocks for the backstroke quarter in the 13-14 400 meter medley relay event when he and his teammates combined to clock 4:30.50. The powerhouse contingent toppled a '75 Dolphin Aquatic Club olympic record of 4:32.7.

Medals kept flowing to Domenick as the Belleville swimmer placed in the state's top six in one event after another.

He was again lead-off sprinter for the silver medalist 400 meter freestyle relay, which team-timed 4:09.4. Domenick earned two more silver medals finishing second in both the 100 meter backstroke (1:08.14) and 200 meter backstroke at 2:27.5.

Bronze medals were pocketed when Domenick touched third in the 200 meter individual medley (2:30.3), fifth in the 100 meter butterfly

(1:10.1), and fifth in the 400 meter individual medley (5:28.5).

Twenty-eight swim teams in the state had groomed top racers for the three day grueling AAU Junior Olympic long course competition.

Cozzarelli group hears lecture

The midsummer meeting of the James Cozzarelli Association was held on August 17 at Parillo's Restaurant in Belleville. Richard Vallario, president of the organization, said he was pleased with attendance at the meeting and stated it was a true indication of the increased concern by the general public for the association's purpose.

Among the highlights of the evening was a guest lecture by Professor Anthony DelTufo, a member of the Department of Special Education at Jersey City College. Professor DelTufo has spent over 20 years in the special education field. He commended the association for the outstanding assistance they are providing in the field of special education and stated, "in New Jersey we do not have to hang our heads in shame. In many ways the association is an example of what can be done to aid special education."

Professor DelTufo, whose topic was "Parents and Children's Rights in Special Education" spoke extensively to the membership concerning new legislation which permits parents to directly participate in their children's education. He praised the group again for its outstanding efforts and opened the floor to questions.

The association was presented with an organization chart and membership cards designed by John Umstead. Graphic Coordinator, Richard Vallario, expressed his deep appreciation to Umstead for his outstanding efforts on behalf of the association.

A survey was conducted by Joan Lukowiak and Susan DiRuggiero on behalf of the Internal House Program Committee. The purpose of this survey was to indicate areas of interest for future programs to be presented by the group.

Several announcements were made concerning future scheduled events to be sponsored by the association. These include an A&P Donation Day to be held on September 13. The participating store is the A&P located on Harrison Street in Nutley.

The organizations first picnic will be held on Sunday, September 26 at Section A, Lyndhurst Park, Lyndhurst. There will be food, games, prizes, entertainment, and fun for all. Tickets can be obtained by contacting Ralph DiRuggiero, 759-8806, Tom Mullen, 759-0156, or James Cozzarelli, 759-1114. Tickets will be $7.50 for adults, $2.50 for children five years to 12, and five years of age and under are free.

The next association meeting will be held September 9, 7:30 p.m. at Parillo's Restaurant, 104 Harrison Street, Belleville.

"The association is open to everyone and welcomes all interested parties," James Cozzarelli, standard-bearer, said. "The more members the association has, the more effective the organization will become in the field of assisting special education. In the past, children have suffered needlessly because parents have not been totally aware of all the resources that are available to them. The association, through its many members and lecture series, hopes to offer enlightenment in these areas."

Two students are honored

Two Belleville residents, Deborah M. Laughney, 31 Crestwood Avenue and Norma Troiano, 24 Dorothea Terrace, were recently accorded honors at Fairfield University, Fairfield, Connecticut.

Miss Laughney and Miss Troiano were among undergraduate students whose academic work during the spring semester

TELLERS

Billion Dollar First National State Bank has immediate openings for experienced tellers. These positions are available throughout our system, as well as our suburban locations.

Take a long look ahead. If you're certain that the position you hold now promises ample rewards for capable effort — now and in the future — we advise you to stay right where you are. But if you're doubtful about your chances to move ahead, consider what we have to offer.

First National State begins by paying excellent salaries and providing unequaled benefits for savings and commercial tellers. But that's only the start! What we're looking for is banking talent, people who want a future commensurate with their abilities.
Busy, dynamic First National State with its headquarters in Newark and 30 branch offices is building its future on people of talent. With our rapid growth and our policy of promoting from within there is plenty of room for you to soar. The future may be closer than you think.

Boating Tips...

BRIDGE STRATEGY

Depending on your mode of transportation, a bridge can either be a convenience or an obstacle. The MerCruiser Stern drive boating experts pass along a few tips for operating your boat near bridges. It is natural to steer under the center, where clearance is greatest. Always be wary of a rising tide or wave action that can reduce clearance below windshield level. Also watch for turbulence just below the bridge. Under Western River rules, a boat heading downstream has the right of way under a bridge. The best approach is to slow down, look for oncoming traffic and select the course that allows ample overhead clearance while still leaving room for others.

VENTILATION

Gasoline fumes, being heavier than air, can collect in any confined space. While most outboard craft are open enough for natural air circulation to carry fumes away, ventilation still requires some attention. An electric blower is recommended for ventilating closed areas, particularly after fueling or when the boat has been idle for a considerable length of time. If you have any doubts about adequate ventilation in your boat, the Mercury outboard boating authorities recommend that you consult your local marine dealer.

Beatles' rock: enjoyable history

By ANTHONY BUCCINO

The Beatles first came to this country through the foresight of a man named Ed Sullivan who recognized their European popularity and thought they might go over well in the United States. He was right, and they did.

From the "Beatlemania" of screeching young girls who fainted away in New York City, the Beatles became heir to the pop charts, in effect, the tidal wave of the "British Invasion." "The Beatles Rock 'n' Roll Music" (Capitol) is a collection of their rocking music from 1964 to 1970.

Their early music was basic, as they grew, so did their music. It grew faster than many of their fans. The fans were still looking for a hand to hold, but the Beatles were there and gone, into "Helter Skelter" and "Lucy in the Sky with Diamonds." There was a gap which was closed by McCartney's supposed demise. Though feelings were mixed about the group, every Beatle album has been certified gold, their music is legend.

"Rock 'n' Roll Music" is captivating for the era it spans. From "Twist and Shout" to "Taxman," from "Roll Over Beethoven" to "Hey Bulldog" the Beatles sound as fresh and invigorating as the first day the Beatles Craze struck.

In 1970, when the group split up, many of their devoted fans took the news like the end of the world. It was just the start of a new world, four men setting out on singular careers with a past of paved gold.

The Beatles "Rock 'n' Roll Music" is a long look at that road of gold, that special charisma that changed the lives of millions.

Out to sea Mr. and Mrs. Frank Luzzi, 34 New Street, recently took to the sea for a cruise aboard the Home Lines luxury liner "S.S. Doric," which sailed out of New York, bound for the sunny Bermuda Isles.

Term suspended for check bouncer

A Newark man, arrested July 16 for bouncing checks, was fined $100 and received a 20 day suspended jail term during proceedings in Belleville Municipal Court August 26.

Lonnie Earl, 70 Millington Avenue, Newark, pleaded guilty to writing $149.10 worth of checks on July 2 and 3 to Bradley Tire Service, 523 Washington Avenue, knowing at the time there were insufficient funds in his account at Maplewood Bank and Trust Company.

Judge Edward Abramson imposed the fine and jail term and also imposed a one year probation on the defendant.

William Bradley, 523 Washington Avenue, Belleville, was the complainant in the case.

While at BHS, he was a member of the Key Club, the track and cross country teams and was president of the High School Band. Adult school offers eight new courses

Belleville Adult School director, Samuel Giuffrida, recently announced the addition of eight new courses at the Adult School for the coming fall term.

The new courses being offered are Practical Electricity, Air-Conditioning and Heating, Introduction to Travel, Self-Defense, Indoor Plants and Disco Dancing.

In addition to the new areas of study, a series of five lectures is being offered in the areas of taxes, senior citizen's benefits, estate planning, health careers and home economy.

The new courses and lectures reflect the varied interests within the Belleville community, school officials said. Students may register by mail or at Belleville High School September 13, 14, and 15 between 7 p.m. and 9 p.m.

rather than winning and losing.

The freshman class of 330 registered early this summer, at which time the students also went through an orientation program. The early registration was implemented to avoid last minute rush and to permit more time and more thorough development in the scheduling of courses.

St. Anthony School announced today that low cost milk is available to the children enrolled in that school. Free milk will be provided to children from families whose gross income is at or below those shown on the income scale.

Mills contest coming

Belleville High School students will be eligible for college scholarships of $500 to $5,000 through the General Mills Search for Leadership in Family Living, now in its 23rd year.

Enrollment deadline for the 1977 General Mills Search is November 1.

On Tuesday, December 7, each participating school in the country will administer a 60-minute examination. Prepared and scored by Science Research Associates Incorporated, Chicago, this general knowledge and attitude examination is the first step of the scholarship program.

From the examination results, a General Mills Family Leader of Tomorrow will be chosen from the school. School winners are acknowledged with special awards and their examinations are entered in state competition.

Each State Family Leader of Tomorrow receives a $1,500 college scholarship while every state second-place winner receives a $500 grant. State winners also earn for their school a 20-volume reference work, "The Annals of America" which is produced by the Encyclopedia of Britannica.

State winners will be the guests of General Mills next spring on an expense-paid tour of Williamsburg, Virginia, and Washington, D.C.

Catholic principals feted

A Scholarship and "Honor the Principals" dinner, featuring an address by Rev. Virgil C. Blum, S.J., chairman of the Catholic League for Religious and Civil Rights, will be sponsored by the Newark Archdiocesan Federation of Home-School Associations, it was announced recently.

According to Mrs. Alice Aimette, president of the federation, the dinner will be held at Seton Hall University on the evening of September 18 and will bring together 1,500 parent-leaders of Home-School Associations throughout the archdiocese, the principals of catholic schools and other invited guests.

The main speaker for the dinner, the Rev. Blum is a longtime advocate of parental rights in education. Having taught political science at Marquette University in Milwaukee, Father Blum has worked for years through a variety of organizations to foster action on state and national levels that will extend benefits to Catholic school parents. Most recently, has been instrumental in the founding of the Catholic League for Religious and Civil Rights, an organization whose objectives are to combat discrimination against Catholics on all levels of society.
