Parking, tardiness Belleville actress gets 'big break' are big problems

By DOREEN D'ANDREA

"Parking and tardiness are two problems facing BHS administrators this year," states George Nucera, assistant to the principal.

Students must park their cars in the assigned parking lot near the tennis courts of the school. Because there are only a limited number of spaces, students tend to park in teachers' spots and in other places where they are not permitted to be.

At the moment, the only disciplinary action being given students is a verbal warning. In the future, however, further action may be taken.

Mr. Nucera explained how, by law, he could call the police when students park illegally. Since students have their parents' cars, this would cause problems for the parents. Also, if a student owns his own car, this may cause an increase in his insurance.

Mr. Nucera comments, "There is an increase in the defacing of walls and fixtures in the school. I only wish students would have more pride in their school and their community."

When a student is late more than three times, a letter is sent home to the parents. If students are still late, then the student is suspended until the parent comes in for a conference. Finally, home suspension may be given. Here, a student is at home for three to five days and has work provided for him. According to Mr. Nucera, "When a student comes in late, this immediately goes on his record and affects his grade. So, in the future, when he goes for a job, this record will be used as a basis for employment evaluation."

Necessary steps are being done to remedy both the parking and tardiness problems, and Mr. Nucera said he feels if the students would only cooperate a little bit more, these problems could be solved in the high school.

Italy ski trip planned again

By THERESA MCHUGH

Sam Guiffreda, history teacher, is again organizing a vacation trip to Italy. The group of approximately 22 people will be leaving Wednesday, February 18 and returning Sunday, February 27.

The vacationers, while at the Eurotel Hotel in Cervino, Italy, will enjoy such activities as skiing, indoor swimming, skating, and snowmobile riding. They will also enjoy a sightseeing trip in Milan and all the facilities of the restaurants, discotheques, pizza shops and theatres nearby. A special attraction will be a visit to La Scala Opera house!

Mr. Guiffreda said, "It was a fantastic trip last year, and I hope it will be the same this year."

If anyone is interested in joining the group, he should contact Mr. Guiffreda at 751-3736 for more information.

By STEVEN MISSAGIA

By now, everyone in Belleville High School has heard of Janice Lynn Nazziola and, hopefully, it won't be too long before her name will be well-known on Broadway because she has received her first "big break."

Recently, Janice was performing in the Nutley Family Playhouse production of "Scapino." Luckily, Bob Bartolo of Bartolo Productions, New York, was in the audience at the play's last performance. He like Janice's acting and contacted her immediately. She was instructed to send a resume with pictures, and now she is preparing to audition for a play.

Janice is currently involved with the BHS Drama Club production of "The Good Doctor" and is performing two roles in the play. She is an active member of the BHS Drama Club and has appeared in various plays and talent reviews in the past three years. She has also performed in the sophomore play, "Mainly Madness," as Ursula and was a member of the chorus in the 1976 senior play "Hello Dolly." She is also the treasurer of the senior class and a varsity cheerleader.

Janice would like to attend Montclair State College to major in mathematics and minor in theatre and dance. She says, "When I graduate from college, I'd like to teach secondary mathematics, hopefully in Belleville. I will continue participating in dance and play productions. If and when the time comes when I'm offered a theatrical position, I will indeed pursue! Until then, I will dedicate my life to teaching and keeping up with all aspects of the theatre. Although the theatre is my first ambition, I realize that the theatre is an uncertain career."

Janice has been attending the Studio Workshop in Lyndhurst under the direction of Dick Shell. She has also trained at the Judi-Terri Dance Studio in Kearny and the Jersey City Dance Studio. She has received acting instructions from Mr. Robert Leffebine, BHS English teacher, through the BHS Drama Club and dramatic classes. She has also received acting training at Talent Town of Belleville for two years.

Belleville has an extremely talented young citizen, and perhaps Janice will put Belleville on the map!

McCoy 'negligent,' Trustee charges

By CHUCK JACKSON

School Board member James Risoli this week called Francis McCoy, Town Treasurer and Custodian of School Funds "negligent" and asked that he be fired.

The charge came after a review of an auditor's report, which indicated a full audit was impossible due to lack of information on the payroll account. McCoy would supply that information.

The Town Treasurer was unavailable for comment before the Times/News went to press.

The blast against McCoy was initiated by Board member Richard Mahmarian, who singled out the passage allegedly critical of the Custodian of School Funds.

"Mr. McCoy has not reconciled the payroll account to the Board or the auditor, and I would like to know why Mr. McCoy has not fulfilled his obligation."

Risoli immediately followed Mahmarian's comments, calling McCoy "negligent," and later adding, "I believe we received this report late due to our Custodian, and I recommend the Board fire McCoy."

Santa arrives here Friday

The merry man from the North Pole, Santa Claus, will make his grand entrance into Belleville this Friday with the annual parade down Washington Avenue.

The Belleville High School Band, twirlers and the Sabre Cadets will make up Santa's honor guard as the jolly parade moves from Greylock Parkway to William Street along Washington Avenue.

Following the parade, Santa will double back to Town Hall to greet the local boys and girls from the steps.

The parade, sponsored by the Belleville Chamber of Commerce, will begin at 1:30 p.m.

Next month, Santa will be in his trailer next to Town Hall, ready to hear gift requests and to chat with the kids.

Local poet published

North Jersey is known for such poets as William Carlos Williams, Allen Ginsburg, and LeRoi Jones. Now Belleville has a candidate of its own for future literary fame, Wanda Tucker, who has published her first book of poetry, "Love (as I see it)."

The book, published last month and available at area bookstores, contains 20 poems about the different types of love that touch everyone's life. Mrs. Tucker, 25, selected the poems for the book from the more than 200 she has composed since her interest in poetry started in high school.

When Mrs. Tucker was a member of a singing group at West Side High School in Newark, she began to write song lyrics for the group to sing. Her interest in writing grew and her first success with poetry came fast. In 1967, Afro-American asked for permission to publish her poem, "Newark's Riot." "The Ghetto" followed the success of the first poem and was printed in a political

According to Board president Matthew Pica, the annual audit report should have been received by the Trustees the first week in September. He added, the Trustees would "go on the record" this week, in asking McCoy why he did not produce the required information.

The report submitted to the Board by the auditing firm did not name McCoy specifically, but indicated the report was incomplete due to delays by "internal personnel."

State proposal could be burden

As many as 2,000 patients presently confined to mental health hospitals could be released under a state proposal next year and returned to the communities where they previously resided for out-patient care.

The concept is called "de-institutionalizing" the state mental health hospitals which, as presently operated, are so overcrowded that proper treatment cannot be given and accreditation has been lost.

Unless New Jersey can get its mental health hospitals at Marlboro, Trenton and Greystone accredited, the state will lose millions in federal health care funds.

Bay Rabinowitz, a Nutley resident who is the president of Atlantic Chemical Corp, a former Essex Freeholder and a leader in public health programs for decades, is presently the chairman of the Essex County Mental Health Board. The agency is a small one, appointed by the Board of Freeholders and operating with only two persons on the payroll — but an agency nonetheless which coordinates more than $1 million in funds for mental health services throughout Essex County.

Rabinowitz addressed last month's Community Services Council luncheon in Nutley to explain the possible effects of those changes now taking place in Trenton and Washington.

Belleville, for example, would be forced to provide out-patient mental

The Board indicated it would seek more information from both McCoy and the accounting company, and consider further action next week. Mahmarian suggested the auditor and the Board Attorney, Frank Pomaco, discuss the situation and determine if any legal action should be taken.

Mahmarian protested the fact that "85 percent" of the school budget was health care for those deinstitutionalized persons from the state hospitals, according to Rabinowitz. "We're talking now about people who no longer have any family or other ties with these local communities other than geographical — and geographical only because they happened to once live here," Rabinowitz says.

Nutley has set its hopes on strengthening the North Essex Mental Health Clinic and Chenoweth and other Commissioners, most notably

Thanksgiving service set by churches

Churches in Belleville will mark Thanksgiving tonight and tomorrow with special services in the community.

The Belleville Ministerium will hold a Thanksgiving eve service at 8 p.m. this evening at Bethany Lutheran Church, Joralemon Street. Six churches will take part in the worship, including Bethany, Belleville Reformed, Belleville Assembly of God, Montgomery Presbyterian, Fewsmith Memorial Presbyterian and Grace Baptist Church. The main addresses of the evening will be delivered by the Reverend Dominic Scibilia of Bethany and the Reverend Paul Ruter of Belleville Reformed Church. A combined choir, made up of groups from all the participating churches, will take part in the service.

The Reverend Alfred Stone said the evenings offering will be designated for School Board Trustee Caesar Romano proposes a toast to Max Schwartz (right) retiring Board Attorney. More than 100 people attended the dinner honoring Schwartz on his retirement, including all the Trustees and Commissioners Mary Senatore and Joseph McGreevy. The entire evening was a very emotional experience, many of those who attended said.

Distinguished guest

Mrs. Anthony R. Zanetich (second from left), president of the New Jersey State Federation of Women's Clubs, visited the Belleville Women's Club last week. The next edition of the Times/News will include a full account of the day's festivities at the clubhouse on Rossmore Place.

Love is the subject of the first book because "love has been a big thing in my life," Mrs. Tucker said. She recommends parents tell their children they love them. "It's really a nice feeling. It's something we stress in our house a lot."

Belleville would shoulder costs

Carmen Orechio, say they're confident that once Belleville and Bloomfield understand the overall problem, those neighboring towns will jump on the bandwagon to support and increase the programs presently offered at the North Essex unit.

Belleville recently precipitated tri-town discussions on the future support for the Community Mental Health Services when it voted to discontinue funding of the unit. Mayor Michael Marotti subsequently pledged the town would contribute to the 1977 budget and appoint representatives to a Belleville, Bloomfield and Nutley task force to study the merits of future participation.

During discussions at the last tri-town meeting, Belleville Public Affairs Commissioner Vincent Strumolo and Bloomfield Mayor John Kinder were especially concerned the Mental Health facility had gone beyond its original charge of child guidance. Commissioner Strumolo noted some of the clinic's programs were duplicated by the county and Mayor Kinder favored limiting the center's responsibilities to children's mental health.

However, should the three towns decide to end funding after 1977, the area would have no formal unit to handle out-patient care if the state hospitals are de-institutionalized.

Mrs. Ruth Cowell, Director of the Community Mental Health Services, said there is no way of knowing how many patients would come under Belleville's care, if de-institutionalization was accomplished. "We have been told in general the state wants patients treated as close to home as possible," Mrs. Cowell said. However the Community Mental Health Services has not yet been told "anything specific in this regard." So far the state has not indicated what each town's responsibility to the out-patients would be.

But the deinstitutionalization of the hospitals is only part of the problem. Another critical area results from the court-mandated "bill of rights" for state hospital patients. "It's now difficult to find doctors willing to sign commitment papers because no doctor wants to go through the ordeal of proving beyond the shadow of a doubt that his best professional judgment dictates that the patient should be hospitalized," Rabinowitz told the Nutley Community Services luncheon.

The result is that patients who in the past would have been committed are now left to make the best of it in their home communities, again increasing the need for greater out-patient mental health care services.

New Jersey will eventually release $2.7 million in aid to local communities. The funds are called "community care dollars" and are designed to enable towns to cope with the coming problem of providing out-patient care for those persons being released by the hospitals.

Needless to say, the state and federal government have an endless list of guidelines which an out-patient mental health clinic must meet to qualify for those community aid dollars. The North Essex Mental Health Clinic does qualify, but if that unit were to close as Belleville and some Bloomfield officials have suggested, the subsequent cost for each of the three towns to establish their own individual out-patient clinics for mental health care would prove astronomical.

"This is the key area which leads me to believe that Belleville and Bloomfield have little choice other than to continue a long-term commitment to the Community Mental Health Services," Commissioner Carmen Orechio says. He expects the clinic's programs may be altered slightly and that some priorities could be changed as a result of the task force report due early next year. "But otherwise, I don't think we have a real alternative. The North Essex Clinic has done a good job and is highly regarded in the state," Orechio, who is also a state senator, adds.

Rabinowitz, meanwhile, has another problem complicating the local scene. A new federal program mandating New Jersey upgrade its mental health services has resulted in the state's being zoned into "health service areas," and while Hudson County comprises a single unit, Essex for some reason has been zoned with Sussex, Warren, Union and Morris Counties. "That type of madness as emerges from Trenton is enough to turn off even the most enthusiastic health proponent," Rabinowitz says.

Rabinowitz is hoping Trenton will change its mind and make Essex a single unit as well. Under the Essex-Morris-Sussex-Warren-Union County plan, Rabinowitz says the local area would be severely penalized "because a block of money will be allocated from Washington for a region. If Essex had to share its monies with a rural area, it's obvious the bulk of the funds would go to those places without a hospital to begin with. Here in Essex, we already have hospitals, equipment and an active out-patient service plan in operation."

But although Rabinowitz is hopeful Trenton will reverse its position and change those Health Service Area zones, he's not at all optimistic.

"Let me tell you what they (Trenton) did last week," Rabinowitz informed the Nutley luncheon. "They created a new program to treat alcoholics. A new agency whose purpose duplicates other mental health legislation. An entire new agency with its directors and secretaries will be created, and it's an absolute outrage because not one dollar is going to the people who actually need the help."

Ruth Cowell shows grave rubbings

Early American gravestone rubbings by Mrs. Ruth O. Cowell, executive director of the Community Mental Health Services for Belleville, Bloomfield and Nutley, are presently on display in the Little Gallery of the Montclair Art Museum as a feature of the Bicentennial Year.

The exhibit will close at 3 p.m. this Sunday with a demonstration and slide talk by Mrs. Cowell in which she will show the techniques of rubbing and present "The History of Symbolic Meaning of American Gravestone Art."

The rubbings are of the carved designs on the early gravestones. Christian symbols used signified such ideas as the fleeting nature of time, the certainty of death, the promise of life after death and the joys of eternal life. Another group of stones showed, among other images, the station or the occupation in life of the deceased person.

Since the rich imagery ceased to be used by stone carvers after 1800, this wealth of early American gravestone art will become in time a part of our lost heritage.

Persons interested in seeing the early American gravestone rubbings is invited to visit the museum. Admission is free for the demonstration and slide show on Sunday afternoon.

Mental health clinic

Since 1958 Nutley, Belleville and Bloomfield established the Tri-Town Community Health Clinic. The clinic is subsidized by state contributions. Annually each town budgets a nominal sum to cover its participation. This year both Belleville and Bloomfield were having reservations about their on-going participation in the program.

Were Belleville and Bloomfield to abandon its support of the clinic, that withdrawal would end the project — one that has proven its value and its need.

Fortunately for the unfortunate people who are served by the program, Belleville and Bloomfield officials have reconsidered their position and decided to continue in the future as in the past.

The clinic provides a full range of services including psychotherapy, consultation education, a therapeutic nursery, a child abuse counseling service, and a therapeutic day camp.

We applaud the decision of the Belleville and Bloomfield officials, but the public should note that without the prodding of Nutley officials, the project would have been abandoned.

Binding arbitration

Some public officials are opposing legislation that requires binding arbitration covering police and firemen labor negotiations.

We believe the best interests of taxpayers and all public employees are served when strike conditions are eliminated from labor negotiations.

Without binding arbitration labor negotiations with public employees is a one-sided deal — after a bit of negotiations public officials can tell public employees — and sometimes they do — take it or leave it. This is unfair and the condition must be remedied.

Labor negotiations presuppose equality of parties. In the case of public employees and public officials there is no such equality.

We believe binding arbitration should extend to every public employee. Most public employees are prohibited by law — or can be prohibited by a court order — from using the strike weapon as an economic measure. Certainly, if a public employee cannot resort to a strike to press a point, those employees should have a right to a final determination and resolution of a difference. That result only can be achieved by binding arbitration.

Budget making time

The town and School Board are in the process of putting together their budgets for next year. If the past is any indication of the future, the School Board budget will be defeated, regardless how little or how much the increase. The municipal budget probably will be a bare-boned budget.

We believe school system salaries are on the generous side, but there are some Town Hall salaries that need to be adjusted. As tough as the money pinch is, public officials should not permit salary inequities to continue.

Today's prayer

1 Cor. 10:6-13

Brethren: These things came to pass as examples to us, that we should not lust after evil things even as they lusted. And do not become idolaters, even as some of them were, as it is written, "The people sat down to eat and drink, and rose up to play." Neither let us commit fornication, even as some of them committed fornication, and there fell in one day twenty-three thousand. Neither let us tempt Christ, as some of them tempted, and perished by the serpents. Neither murmur, as some of them murmured, and perish at the hands of the destroyer. Now all these things happened to them as a type; and they were written for our correction, upon whom the final age of the world has come.

Therefore let him who thinks he stands take heed lest he fall. May no temptation take hold of you but such as man is equal to. God is faithful and will not permit you to be tempted beyond your strength, but with the temptation will also give you a way out that you may be able to bear it.

Farewell — Board of Education president Matthew Pica (left) was just one of the many dignitaries who turned out to sing the praises of Max Schwartz, retired Board of Education Attorney. Schwartz, who served the Trustees for more than 25 years was honored at a testimonial dinner last week at the Chandelier Restaurant.

Golden Comments

By James R. Golden

A few weeks back, this columnist was expressing concern over the local School Board's plans of how they proposed to fund the substantial increases in the salaries and wages given the employees of the system. Mention was made that the school officials told the residents they still have a $600,000 appeal of the 1976-77 budget, which was reduced by that amount by the Board of Commissioners. The Commissioners told the Trustees to use "full funding" State school aid.

Since that time, the State Legislature, by special legislation designed to distribute the proceeds of the income tax, has opened the flood gates to the school districts around the state to find ways to spend around $107 million in new found school funds before the school year's end. All of the money coming to the local school districts, the state Department of Education, and of course, the leaders of the teachers' lobby, NJEA, will tell them how much they'll get. Any of this money not spent would go to property tax relief next year.

Many local School Board Trustees, mindful of the plight of the taxpayers, say they will convert any increases in state aid directly to property tax relief. It is the opinion of this columnist that is the path the Belleville Board members properly should take. Likewise, we remind them that the election of a few of them comes up early next year and the anxious homeowners, who greatly outnumber the teachers, will be watching to see whose interests they will protect. Perhaps if they ignore the needs of the homeowners, it will sufficiently arouse them to get out a heavy, concerted taxpayer's School Board vote and "drive the rascals out."

At the recent teachers' convention, NJEA president Judith M. Owens, in a speech made the point, "The tyranny of the press has become an increasing threat in these times. We've all read the attacks on public schools and public school teachers. It has become fashionable to demean you and downgrade your work. The newspapers are quick to blame the teachers for every school problem imaginable and most of society's ills."

No, Mrs. Owens, it is not the tyranny of the press you need fear. It is the refreshing new freedom of intelligent, fact-finding, objective, fair-minded bodies of young reporters, such as Robert J. Braun, Star-Ledger Education Editor, who are shattering the fallacious myth of ethereal, sacrosanct deification of education, especially in the realm of public school categories.

They have exploded the theory of pedagogues and preceptors pretention of chief concern for their students and unveiled their selfish, avaricious striving for more money with less work and fancy, unnecessary trimmings. They have uncovered a potent labor lobby gaining unmerited concessions through the obsequious docility of too many members of our legislature, in quest of support for giving them all they ask for. They have exposed the vacillating, wishy-washy craven policy stand of the State Commissioner Education, hesitant to do anything that would anger the NJEA, which wants, seemingly, to run the whole education "show."

These fine reporters have presented the true other side of the coin — the seamy side. They bring to light that, despite enormous increases in the cost of education, the quality of education has grown less and less, now having reached its nadir. Students passed on in the stereotyped gristmill of education have entered college unable to read or write. Indeed, a pious fraud and rip-off of the taxpayers' money is being poured into the cornucopia for higher educator's salaries.

Woman has Hendricks complaint

To the Editor:

I sent this letter to the Essex County Parks Commission. You may be interested in it, also.

I am writing to register a complaint against those in charge of the Hendricks Field property in Belleville. I am a resident of Belleville, and my house is situated next to the back end of the field. Last night I had to call the fire department because of leaf fire on their property in which the flames came dangerously close to my house. The reason the fire was able to start and grow to such a height was because of the huge accumulation of leaves built up in the corner of the property.

It is fortunate indeed that we were home when the fire broke out, and were able to partially contain the blaze through the fence with a garden hose until the fire department arrived to extinguish it. If not there certainly would have been damage to our home.

We have been living in this house only two years, and this is the fourth time that this has happened. I expect to see a change in the policy regarding the property in question or I will have to take legal steps.

Respectfully,
Patricia Strack
59 Garden Ave.

EDITOR'S JOURNAL

No thanks for recent memories

By CHUCK JACKSON

Well, tomorrow is Thanksgiving, an opportunity for us to express our thanks for all the good things that happened to us this year, or in the case of us pessimists, thanks for all the bad things we somehow managed to dodge. This year, I will also be thankful I made it through last weekend.

We had a party to celebrate the Michigan—Ohio State game. My wife is from Michigan, and this is the big day of the year, though I suppose now, after the Wolverine win, I'll have to weather the Rose Bowl.

At any rate, we had a rather large number of people over and purchased a considerable amount of beer and wine to keep our spirits up.

There are times when reality becomes stranger than a lot of fiction, and looking back at last Saturday through the haze, I think that was the case.

At one point, my close friend and dreadful drinker Trent Foxworthy, was prancing around my living room with his pet, a squeeze toy named Billy the Lobster. That would have been bad enough, but the rest of us, some dozen alleged adults, simply looked on as if this were normal. It got worse later when Michigan scored a touchdown and the crowd began to demand that Billy go through his cheering performance. (Billy squeaks when you squeeze the bulb attached to his vitals.)

Looking back, as I said, it all seems rather twisted, but at the time, it really seemed right. So there we were, cheering along with a rubber lobster, and pouring down the beer in between breaths.

The crowd thinned rather slowly, the beer continued, and the next thing I knew, it was almost 3 a.m. and left in my living room were Foxworthy and Franklin Bodoni. This turned out to be the real mistake. These two guys are notorious drinkers, and I am a notorious follower in such pursuits. All of a sudden, I found myself sitting there, half crazed after 12 hours of consumption, swigging wine from a bottle and discussing the future careers of these two fiends. It was terrible.

Little did I know at the time, though my extensive past experience with such occurrences should have rung a warning bell, the real nightmare would come the next day.

I tried to sleep through the resultant, and I might add, well-deserved hangover. It didn't work. It turns out I would have had to remain virtually comatose for about three days to shake the aftershock my system was suffering.

I might have made it with a little more ease if I hadn't had to work, but an early deadline, due to Thanksgiving, forced me to my feet. I experienced a couple of moments of sheer terror when I discovered I was having difficulty feeling my head, my hands and my feet. I was sure this was the end and called my wife to my bedside to be there when I "shuffled off my mortal coil."

I got no sympathy. She identified the symptoms, which I was sure were the tell-tale signs of the Legionnaire's Disease, as a hangover. That was that. When I found out there would be no moving deathbed scene, I forced myself up, after several false starts, and into work.

I just couldn't believe it when I got there, but Bodoni was sitting at his desk, chipper as ever, wondering why I was so late. It really bugged me, because he was the one who thought it would be a good idea to try the wine after a day of beer. I could have wrung his neck, but I was still having difficulty locating my hands.

Foxworthy, however, was still out, and for all I know, may still be sleeping.

As I said, it was terrible, and as I've told myself so many times before, I have learned my lesson. After I say my thanks tomorrow for having lived through this one, I'm going to swear off the evil stuff. I don't want to see a vine product any stronger than grape juice.

Well, maybe I'll hold off on that resolution just a little. After all, I wouldn't want to steal the thunder from New Year's. That's the time for making big decisions like this, and now that I think about it that's the time to really recover.

New Year's eve is always tough on me

Tensfeldt wins award

Thomas Tensfeldt, son of George and Eugenia Tensfeldt of 14 Sycamore Drive, Belleville, was named winner of the annual Bausch & Lomb Science Award last week at Belleville High School. The Science Award — a handsome bronze medal — is presented each year to winners at more than 8,600 participating schools throughout the United States and Canada.

"The Bausch & Lomb Science Award is especially significant," according to Raymond Smith, principal, "because it recognizes the senior student at our school who has attained the highest scholastic standing in science subjects."

As winner of the Award, Thomas is eligible to compete for one of several four-year Bausch & Lomb Science Scholarships at the University of Rochester, Rochester, N.Y. Scholarship winners are selected on merit, and stipends, based on need, could range up to $4,500 per year. Surveys indicate that the Award has encouraged more than 30 percent of the winners to follow scientific careers.

Bausch & Lomb, with headquarters in Rochester, N.Y., is a world-wide manufacturer of ophthalmic products, analytical and scientific instruments and sports optics.

Music parents host speaker

Belleville Music Parents Association announces that Dr. Herbert Gollub, Chairman of the Music Department at Kean College, has accepted an invitation to appear at Belleville High School, Monday, November 29. Dr. Gollub will speak on "Music and Allied Careers."

All those with an interest in music will benefit from this presentation; the opportunities available for combining music with another field, such as electronics for the recording industry, will be discussed.

Appearing with Dr. Gollub will be George Glock, who will give a demonstration and explanation of Classic Guitar. One of Mr. Glock's selections will be a piece by Villo Lobos, a contemporary Spanish composer.

All music students and their families are invited to attend. The program will be held in the cafeteria of Belleville High School, with refreshments to follow. Both the discussion and performance are open to the general public.

Santiglia attends seminar

Susan Santiglia, a senior at Belleville High School, who resides at 43 Overhill Road in Belleville, has been chosen to participate in the 1977 Washington Workshops Congressional Seminar in Washington, D.C. The seminars are conducted by the Washington Workshops Foundation, a nonprofit, nonpartisan association, founded in 1967. Now in its tenth annual series, the Congressional Seminar has been attended by thousands of students since its inception.

Throughout the coming year, 10 one-week seminars have been scheduled, all held in cooperation with Marymount College of Virginia, where the students are housed. The seminars provide a unique and intensive study of American Government for selected high school students from across the nation and abroad.

Participants travel daily to Capitol Hill where they confer with government leaders. In dialogue sessions with Members of Congress, Supreme Court Justices, Cabinet Members, and other officials, the students receive commentary on the operation of the government of the United States and in turn submit their questions and comments concerning government activities. The students also spend time observing the workings of the national government firsthand, as they attend sessions of the House and Senate, as well as Committee hearings and meet individually with their own Congressmen and Senators.

Each seminar features the student-run Sense of the Seminar session at which students present resolutions on national priority issues using Congressional research sources as background. In the model Congressional session, debate follows the rules of the U.S. House of Representatives.

Further information on the program is available from the Washington Workshops Foundation, 1111 Munsey Building, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20004; telephone: (202) 638-4357.

Title I busy at School 1

During the month of November, the spotlight falls on the Title I Program at School Number One. Title I is a federally funded remedial reading program which is sponsored by the Belleville Board of Education. This program supplements the regular remedial reading program carried out in the Belleville Elementary schools. Children serviced by the program are in grades 1-4.

The Title I teachers at School One are Mrs. Marie Kimble who is in her second year with the program, and Mrs. Isabelle Giordano who is now in her first year in the program.

The children in Title I are seen everyday in small groups for half-hour sessions, whereby a great deal of individualized teaching takes place. The Title I Program makes available a wide variety of materials and allows the teacher to use the methods and techniques she feels work best to improve the child's reading skills.

All the children in the program are offered phonic workbooks and crossword puzzle books geared to their special needs.

Each Title I School will hold a Parent Council Meeting at 2:00 p.m. on Tuesday, December 14. The District Parent Council Meeting will be held at School Number Two, 670 Mill Street, at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, December 15.

Mountainside plans evening classes for local diabetics

The Mountainside Hospital, Montclair, recognizes National Diabetes Month this November, and announces new evening classes for diabetic community residents and their families.

Beginning in January, these classes, covering all aspects of understanding and coping with diabetes, will be taught by Mountainside nurses and doctors. Specific dates and more information will be announced soon.

According to the American Diabetes Association, more than 10-million Americans are diabetic, five per cent of the population. And the prevalence is increasing — between 1965 and 1973, diabetes increased by more than 50 per cent in the U.S.

Women are 50 per cent more likely to have it than men, and non-whites are 20 per cent more likely than whites. Poor people are three times more likely than middle-income and wealthy to have diabetes.

Diabetes results when the pancreas stops producing enough insulin. Insulin breaks down the sugar in food for body use. Without enough insulin, sugar builds up in the blood, but its energy does not go to the cells.

It can't be cured, but diabetes is usually controlled by a diet that restricts sugars, and with insulin dosages.

Diabetes is called the "sneaky disease" because its symptoms are not always obvious. But frequent urination, extreme thirst, constant hunger and weight loss are signs that should be checked by a physician.

The chance for having diabetes doubles with every 20 per cent of excess weight, and the chance doubles with every decade of life.

Diabetics may hear taped discussions about 10 different topics over the phone. The service is possible through a grant from the New Jersey State Department of Health. Call Mountainside's In-Service Nursing Education Department for more information, 746-6000, ext. 243.

Strategies for Growth will be offered at Montclair YWCA

"Strategies for Growth," a three-session survey course for women who are "on the move," designed and led by Kaye Andres, will be offered for the first time this year on three Tuesday evenings beginning November 30, at the Montclair-North Essex YWCA, 159 Glenridge Avenue, Montclair. Each two-hour session will begin at 7:30 p.m.

This popular course has attracted women from six New Jersey counties during the past two years. "Strategies," along with "Assertiveness Training," also taught by Kaye Andres, are among the most popular and most repeated of the YW Women's Center offerings. Each will be repeated during spring semester.

"Strategies for Growth" is a paper-and-pencil workshop series which provides for much self-exploration within a small group setting. Topic areas for the sessions include women and power, values inventory and decision making.

Seniors and Testa set for BHS swan song

The last football game for senior Belboys and Blue-Gold coach Tom Testa will be played at Belleville Municipal Stadium tomorrow morning when Hillside arrives to battle in the annual Thanksgiving contest at 11.

This will be the third Turkey Day confrontation with the Comets and the Belboys can be thankful for the series that has garnished their holiday festivities with two victories. Tomorrow the BHS gridders hope to spice a sour season by serving the Hillside squad its sixth loss of the year.

"We're looking forward to a victory," coach Testa said. "If the kids want it, it's theirs." The final game will feature many of Belleville's senior gridders, according to the coach. "It's the last game, we'll give the seniors the first opportunity to make it what they want it, Testa said.

The Belboys, 2-6, will face the Comets, who have compiled a comparable season, 2-5-1. Hillside's opponents can be argued to have been less stringent than the BHS rivals however. The Comets have defeated Roselle and Clark, while they tied Rahway and lost to Cranford, Scott, Parsippany Hills, and Berkely Heights.

First year Comet coach, Don Larson, assesses his teams abilities as even in offense and defense but acknowledges Leon Chadwick is an excellent offensive end for the Comets. Larson has been pleased with the competitive spirit of the Hillside gridders this season. He notes most of the games were close ones with the Comets remaining in contention until the final minutes.

The Belboys have been scouted by Hillside and are called "a good strong bunch" by coach Larson. The Comet pilot also said he is impressed with Belleville's quarterback and running backs, who are "big" and "more than adequate."

Orlando Ramao, 5-9, 170, will quarterback for Hillside in the morning match. Coach Testa expects Ramao will be working for an effective passing game especially aiming for Chadwick, the 6-1, 175, senior end.

Nick Giordano, 6, 180, will join Chadwick at offensive end spot for the Comets. The biggest Hillside is Russ Ehrenfeld, 6-2, 235, who will patrol for stray Belboys on offense and defense as tackle. Joe Mast, (6, 230) also does double duty in the tackle position.

Broncos finish unconquered

The Belleville Broncos demonstrated their football prowess by capping their perfect season with a decisive 24-0 victory over the Nutley Junior Raiders, Sunday.

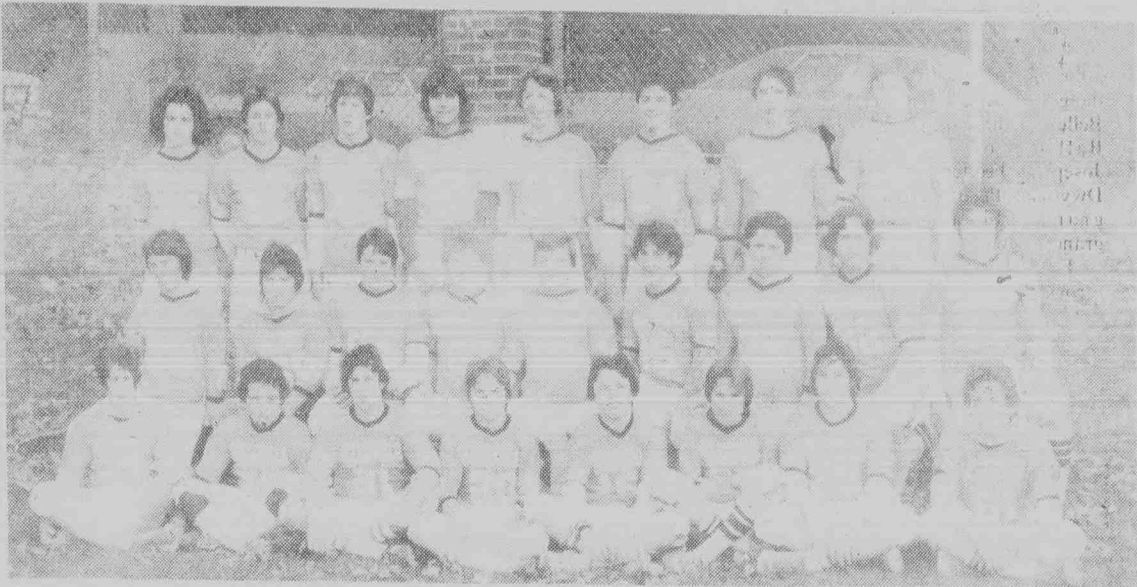

The Bronco defensive unit has been the prime reason the squad has compiled a 10-0 record for the season and its performance against the Nutleyites marked the fifth shutout by the Broncos in a row, and the eighth of the year.

The first Belleville score came on a four-play, 43 yard drive. Sam DeCapua tore the turf for a 20 yard gain and Bronco Paul Scheuplein followed with his eighth touchdown of the year, an 18 yard run to the end zone. The Broncos trooped to the locker room with a 6-0 lead for the first half.

The Junior Raiders were forced to punt at their own forty in the third quarter. Bronco DeCapua received the kick and returned it eleven yards but fumbled it when hit by a Nutley tackler. The Bellevilleites turned the mishap to an advantage however, when Angelo Centanni picked up the loose football at mid-field and scampered untouched into the end zone to give the Broncos a 12-0 margin.

Bob Scucci set up another six points in the third quarter when he galloped 36 yards to the Nutley 17. A seven yard run by DeCapua, three plays later, crossed the goal for the third TD of the day.

The final score of the Broncos for the year came in the last quarter after Timmy Hoban recovered a Nutley fumble at the Junior Raider's seven yard line. The Bellevilleites pushed to the one yard marker and John Bucciarelli blasted into the end zone behind the blocking of tackle Lou Greco. Bucciarelli's TD brought the final tally to 24-0, for the Broncos' tenth win in ten contests.

The champions — The Belleville Broncos have taken the Essex County Football League title by remaining undefeated throughout their 10 game season and shutting out eight opponents. Belleville's last chance to root for the 1976 champions will be Saturday afternoon, 1:30 when the Broncos meet the Dumont Huskies in the third annual Marotti Bowl at Belleville Municipal Stadium.

Belleville cagers begin pre-season sessions

About 50 potential cagers have turned out to compete for varsity and jayvee spots on this year's Bellboy basketball squad. Belleville coach Dan Grasso said he was pleased with the large number vying for starting jobs and called the interest, "much better than last year."

The Bellboy team must rebound from a dismal season but coach Grasso is encouraged by the attitude of the b-ball men at try-outs. "The kids have really been enthused," Grasso said. "They're excited, they have a very good attitude, and they're working hard." After only a week of practice however, Grasso refuses to speculate on the cagers' potential on the court. "It's premature to estimate," the coach said.

The first indications of any Belleville improvements will come Friday when the basketball Bellboys scrimmage against St. Anthony's from Jersey City. The cagers at St. Anthony's took the Parochial league's B title for the state last year. Coach Grasso is scheduling tough pre-season opponents to ready the Blue-Gold for the punishing Big Ten circuit. "Our conference usually has about five teams in the top ten," Grasso said. Hudson Catholic, last season's champion parochial A division champs, will also meet the Bellboys.

New competition in regular season play this year will include Essex Catholic, because of the Eagles admission into the Big Ten, and Clifford Scott from East Orange. The 23 game schedule for the Belleville court men will not include any tournaments this year due to the cancellation of the Fort Lee High School tourney.

Three juniors and seven sophomores are returning to the Blue-Gold b-ball team. Coach Grasso said he has decided not to use any freshmen players allowed this year, in order to keep a good ninth grade team together at the Junior High. "It's going to be a real, solid, club down there."

"We don't have any height at all. We're very small," Grasso said. Tommy Smith, 6-1, a junior is as towering as the Bellboys get this year. The coach said the diminutive nature of the cagers will lead to a specialization in defense on the BHS squad. "We'll play a basic, man-to-man pressure defense," Grasso said. "We've got some quickness and hope to put a lot of pressure on the opposition. We've got to box-out well."

Bellgirl hoopsters hope for .500 mark

Basketball coach Karen Fuccello is looking for the natural abilities of her Bellgirl cagers to provide the boost to this year's squad that is needed to overcome its lack of experience.

The court coach expects the Blue-Gold's record under the hoops to improve on last year's 5-16 season but just how much is still questionable. "If we were setting a goal, I would say a .500 season is reasonable," Fuccello said. "It's just a question of how quickly the young players are going to gel."

The varsity and jayvee teams will have their youngest basis on which to build since freshmen are eligible for varsity sports this year. The ninth graders will also have their first official season this year coached by Camille Casaletto.

Coach Fuccello is encouraged by the competitive attitude of the Bellgirls who are vying for spots on the team. Seventeen of them attended basketball camps to improve their hoopster skills. Interest in girls basketball at BHS "seems to be renewed," Fuccello said. This year the Bellgirls are very enthusiastic and have been "willing to sacrifice, to put time and money on the line to work hard to achieve a varsity spot," the coach added.

The competitiveness is more apparent this year than its ever been and the Blue-Gold coach attributes the revived spirit to the sophomores on the squad, who lost only one contest last year as freshmen. "We're looking for the sophs to provide youth and looking toward the seniors and juniors for leadership. Michele Giordano, a junior, and the tallest Bellgirl on the court, will be depended on to provide help in the pivot area.

Just how much lack of height on the team is a problem and to what extent experience will be a factor this season can be better judged after a November 29 scrimmage against Verona. Both varsity and jayvee teams will compete in the away match next week. Three other practices will be held.

Shooters win Rec turkeys

More than 500 sharpshooters participated in the Recreation Department's annual turkey shoot at the pistol range Sunday. Seventy-one were lucky enough to score as winners of the gobblers.

The highest point total of the day was shot by Richie Crumb with a 28, just two points short of the maximum. Four marksmen posted scores of 27, including Ron Wohlman, Richard Tyrpak, Vincent Brienna, and Ann Patrizio.

Robert McDonald and Rick Lynch drew beads on the targets and won their feast with the minimum low scores of 23.

One out of every eight participants was a winner. The Thanksgiving winners included: Jerry Patrizio, Anna Patrizio, Sam Malfatto, Richard Reed, Tony

Hillside guards for the gobbler game include seniors Joe Savittere, (5-9, 165) and Jude DeLane, (6, 180). Quarterback Romao will be accompanied in the backfield by Rick Atanasio, (5-9, 170) at halfback and Keith Collins, (6, 160) with Haren Smallwood, a 5-9, 155 junior back. Giordano and Chadwick are both teamed on defense. Defensive specialists include senior end Pete Davis, (5-10, 155) and Jeff Ciselli, (5-9, 150) a junior Comet. Linebackers for Hillside will be led by Mike Hargrove, (6-1, 180) and Jeff Alaimo a six foot, 180 pound senior. Glenn Volturo is the only sophomore linebacker for Hillside and weighs in at 160 pounds, 5-9. Wendell Henry, 5-10, 150 and Mike Sapp, 6-2, 155, will assist the Comet defenders in the secondary. Blue-Gold coach Testa is looking for the Hillside to stick to their multiple offense tactics for the contest. The Belleville leader expects the Comets "to show everything but the kitchen sink" when they go into formations. Accordingly, Belleville work-outs this week have stressed recognition on defense. The Bellboys slated to take the field at the close of the '76 season will be led by senior quarterback Gelpi, who has been one of the teams strengths this year, when he wasn't injured. Mike Limongelli will play offensive center for Belleville, a spot he has adapted to since his injury sidelined his kicking game. Scott Ochse and Bernie DalCortivo will get the nod to start at offensive guard spots and double on D. Coach Testa said he has been very pleased with Ochse's work and the senior will probably be one of the Blue-Gold captains for the game. DalCortivo also recieved praise from the coach. "He's been quite valuable to us and quite versatile," Testa said. Al Nufrio and Frank Constantino are slated to do duty as offensive tackles and Greg Grasso is scheduled for the tight end position. Testa said he expects to divide split end assignments between John Gotto and Ted Zangari. Backfield

Bellboys with Gelpi will include Frank Mozeika, Chris Cervasio, and Pete Liloia alternating with John Clarizio. Ralph Amiano will start at the defensive guard spot with tackles Dal Cortivo and George D'Allessandro. Testa called D'Allessandro "a steady performer" since his return to the line-up from an early season injury. William Giuliano "has been working hard" and merits a starting assignment tomorrow. "I think he deserves it," Testa said. Rocco Balsamo will team with Mozeika as a linebacker. The two were characterized as steady performers by the Blue-Gold coach. The secondary will be loaded with senior starters including Gotto, Cervasio, Gelpi and Nicosia. Junior Bel-lboy Robert Racioppi will alternate in the secondary. Tomorrow is the last stand for the Class of '76 gridders and coach Testa at Belleville.

Rec mat men meet Saturday

Wrestling coach Joseph Zarra will open the 1976-77 Recreation mat season Saturday, November 27, at Belleville High School. The program, conducted in the wrestling room, is open to boys from six years of age to 13. Younger grapplers are given exercises, fundamentals and practice. The nine-year olds get the first introduction to mat competition. The rec wrestlers will compete in meets with nearby towns and also enter the AAU Jr. Olympic tourney which leads to a national championship. Belleville's teams have excelled in past Jr. Olympic competitions, placing grapplers in district, state, and national championships. Bob Racioppi won the 1973 National Jr. Olympics in his class.

Guarino cited by Moravian

Former Bellboy griddier Vito Guarino, a freshman on the Moravian College football team, was selected recently for the weekly honor roll by the Eastern College Athletic Conference for Division III. He received the honor for his performance in Moravian's 40-0 win over Johns Hopkins University. Guarino, a 5-10 195 pound offensive guard, was nominated by the coaching staff for his line play in opening holes to permit Moravian to pound out 520 yards, a one game record for the school. Guarino is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vito Guarino, 22 Mary Street.

Bellgirls invited to coaches' tourney

tice games have been scheduled by the Bellgirls against Caldwell and Barringer, away, and versus Lyndhurst at home. The game condition scrimmages will prepare the women eagers for a schedule that will include Mount St. Dominic's and East Orange Catholic this year.

The Bellgirls have also been invited to the Essex County Coaches Tournament to be held at Our Lady of the Valley in Orange this year. Scheduled to compete for basketball honors with the Bellgirls in the tourney are Columbia, Mount St. Dominic, and West Side.

More than 40 girls tried-out for the team and coach Fuccello doesn't expect any position to be closed before the scrimmages get under way.

"We're optimistic at this stage," Fuccello said. But a coach never relaxes, the optimism is always contingent on the health, spirit, natural abilities, and the coachability of the players.

TWITCH

Grubby

Cousin Brucie...

Christmas music releases are here

I finally got to meet Dinah Shore, Barbra Streisand and Judy Garland... Okay, so I've exaggerated a little bit... actually I met the very talented lady who makes you believe that you've met them. Marilyn Michaels is in town at the Rainbow Grill. The Rainbow Grill is one of the few night spots left in the "Big Green Apple." Marilyn musically does impressions of our heroes with fantastic speech accuracy. She's a New York gal who has been chasing her rainbow. Marilyn's role in TV's "Copy Cats" brought her out of the Cabaret closet and into millions of homes every week. She is zany, witty, full of fun and has so much talent. And not only does she do impressions of everyone from Marlene Dietrich to President Ford, but she also does a heck of a good Marilyn Michaels too. Grab a look some time.

And the new albums just keep on coming... the record companies have started their annual Christmas rush. Here are a few of the more notable selections. RCA released "Porgy and Bess" (currently playing at The Uris Theater) featuring Ray Charles and Cleo Laine. Gershwin never sounded so good. The album is a dynamite two-record set displaying those familiar Gershwin tunes, "Summertime," "I've Got Plenty of Nothin'," etc., beautifully recorded and talk about pure soul.

Barry White's new 20th Century Record album is called "Is This Whatcha Won't?" Barry once again packages an instant musical aphrodisiac. His lyrics and music just ooze with "Come On Baby." Barry White has certainly developed and perfected "Music To Make Love By." If you have that someone special on your gift list, the new Barry White album could make everyone happy. Olivia Newton-John new album "Don't Stop Believin'" is a lovely collage of sounds. It took me several minutes to get to the record... the album cover is so pretty... Olivia's beautiful face decorates the jacket... and she can sing too. The title song "Don't Stop Believin'" is Olivia's best. I also liked "Compassionate Man" (being one.) Olivia for Christmas... what a lovely thought.

Elton John and Led Zeppelin also released some goodies to us this week... will discuss them next time.

Richard Gersten... do you know the name? Probably not... not yet anyway. Richard is a breath of fresh air. He's dynamic and very much today. If Jerry Lee Lewis, Bob Dylan, Liberace, Betty Midler, and Jose Iturbi were reborn and rolled into one... the result would probably be Richard Gersten. Sound kind of exaggerated?

Lodge men attend Chamber dinner

Fred and Lee Hagin, Paul and Janet MacDonald, Lawrence and Teddy Dempsey of Belleville Lodge No. 1123, B.P.O. Elks, attended the Belleville Chamber of Commerce Bicentennial dinner-dance at the Branch Brook Manor.

One of the highlights of the evening was the narration of the history of the American flag by Hagin, while the Boy Scouts of Elks Troop No. 364, under the leadership of Scout Master Dempsey and assistants Joseph Paglia and Michael Snyder, marched around displaying the colorful, various American flags from the past to the future. Scouts participating in the display included: Thomas Durr, Thomas Valenti, Chris Marinelli, Steve Dellapenna, John Morella and Joseph Royal.

New Jersey Elks Vice President August Mitschke, Past Exalted Ruler Raymond MacDonald and Steve H. Frank, of the local lodge, attended the District Crippled Children meeting at the Cedar Grove Lodge No. 2237.

Astronomers set coming star party

Amateur Astronomers, Inc., the organization which operates the Sperry Observatory at Union College jointly with the college, will host a Star Party on Saturday, November 27, at the Observatory at 7:30 p.m.

The Observatory's 24-inch reflector and 10-inch refractor telescopes will be augmented by some dozen smaller telescopes set up on the grounds of the Observatory for the party. Each telescope will be focused on a different celestial object, with members of AAI present to explain to guests what they are looking at, according to Arthur Cacella of East Brunswick, AAI president.

"If it can be predetermined," Mr. Cacella said, "one telescope will be focused on a star that is over 350 light years away, coinciding with our first Thanksgiving."

Queen is profiled

The 1976 BHS Homecoming Queen Laura Spina was honored Saturday, November 6 at the Belleville-Seton Hall football game. Besides the game, she presided at a parade that started at the Belleville Town Hall and ended in the BHS stadium.

All girls interested in being selected as Homecoming Queen were instructed to submit their pictures to the BHS Key Club. Laura was one of 23 contestants and did not know that her friends had submitted her picture. She was chosen by Key Club members on the basis of personality, poise, and appearance.

Laura, a modest girl, said she felt too self-conscious to submit her picture. "I was extremely happy and honored; but, most of all, I was surprised when my niece Rina Spina informed me I had won!"

Lorraine Romano, BHS senior, as many others, expressed approval of the Key Clubbers selection and said, "I think Laura really deserves the role of Homecoming Queen. She looked very attractive."

Steve Missaggia, also a senior, said he feels that "Laura is both attractive and friendly and is definitely deserving of the honor of Homecoming Queen."

Students pick Ford for Pres

BHS students held their own "mock" Presidential election on Friday, October 29.

The results of the election are as follows: for President, Gerald Ford (346) defeated Jimmy Carter (229); for Senator, Harrison Williams (359) defeated David Norcross (181); and for the House of Representatives, Joseph Minish (438) defeated Charles Pochel (107).

Principal Raymond O. Smith, now on sick leave and not available for comment, has been known to say in the past that the BHS students have never been wrong in predicting the Presidential winner. But the results of the election prove this year is an exception. The students were partially correct in their predictions, though, because Ford did win New Jersey's 17 electoral votes.

Nicki Ann Strumolo, a student of Ann Schneider's political systems class, was the organizer of the operation. She said, "I feel the voting in school is an opportunity to familiarize the students with the voting process. This election also made the students aware of their responsibilities. This has been a good experience for myself as well as the other students."

Seniors plan dinner-dance

The senior class is currently organizing a Christmas dinner-dance to be held at the Chandelier Restaurant Wednesday December 22 from 7 p.m. until 11 p.m.

Admission will be ten dollars per person, and underclassmen must be accompanied by a senior.

Laura loves the outdoors, tennis, swimming, bike-riding, and camping. She enjoys being with her parents, two sisters, Natalie and Lina and her brother, Peppi.

Laura would like to become a medical secretary (which she portrayed in her sophomore class play "Mainly Madness") and is interested in meeting many people and seeing different places.

Laura Spina

School paper revived

A revival of a school newspaper will soon become a part of Belleville High School's activity program.

Mr. Robert Leffelbine, English teacher and advisor for the newspaper, has selected members of the editorial staff, Patricia Connelly, editor-in-chief; David Pekrol, news editor; Ross Sherman, sports editor; Elizabeth Frank, feature editor; Marc Berlin, James Leone and Valerie Olivio, photographers; Ellen Vecchione, art editor; and Joanne Santaglia, coordinator between the school page and the school newspaper. Included in the production staff are nine writers and five typists.

The members of the staff have received preliminary instructions in the proper methods of journalism, including interviewing, reporting and news writing. The actual production of the paper will rely on the ingenuity of its staff members.

The production of an actual paper has not been a part of the Belleville High School curriculum for nine years. The new school paper, which is as of yet untitled, will be published biannually for its initial year, with hopes for more frequent editions in the future.

Patricia Connelly, the newspaper's editor-in-chief said, "I would like to see many students from all grades take an active part."
