Wrestlers conquer first challengers

By JOSEPH RYAN

The Bellboy matmen have started a winning habit by taking the first two dual meets of the year, 26-16 against Morris Hills and 38-8 over Becton Regional.

Yesterday the Blue-Gold grapplers traveled to Essex Catholic for a dramatic confrontation with the school where first year BHS coach Gene D'Allessandro started the wrestling program. The results of the third contest of the year were in too late for this edition of the Times/News.

Tomorrow the Bellboys will host cross-town rivals Nutley in a 3:30 afternoon match. Next Wednesday the Bellevilleites will travel to Bloomfield to challenge the Bengals.

The Hillers brought nine returning lettermen to confront the Bellboys in the season's opener. The Bellboys overcame the experience advantage held by the visitors and pinned the Morris Hills team to a loss before the large opening night crowd. "The kids wrestled beyond their capabilities," coach D'Allessandro said of the mighty matmen. "They went in as the underdogs but they wanted the first victory and they got it."

The contest started with the advantage to Morris Hills when 101 pounder Frank DiLorenzo lost to his opponent 7-6. In the early minutes, DiLorenzo trailed Combs but rallied in the last period to almost save the match. "Another minute longer, he would have won," D'Allessandro said.

Ed Lijo started Belleville on the winning track by scoring a superior victory over Matterson of Morris Hills. The 10-0 win came on a first period take down and an escape, another take down, and near fall scored to the Bellboy's column to give him a 7-0 edge after two periods. Points for riding time and a near fall completed Lijo's decisive win.

Morris Hills rebounded from the loss by scoring points on a pin by Cane over 115 wrestler Bob Freda at 5:19. The Bellboy grappler led the match 6-1 at the end of the first period but Cane closed the gap going into the third round with Freda leading, 7-6. Freda was caught in a cradle and pinned for the second Hillers' win of the meet.

Bellboy Mark D'Amico triumphed in a close, 4-2 decision in the 122 class over Pryor. D'Amico fought with a 2-0 advantage going into the last period but was on the verge of a loss when Pryor scored on an escape. The Bellboy evaded his opponent's grip with an escape to a 3-1 tangle for the Blue-Gold.

Mark DiGiacomo decisioned Davalos of Morris Hills to extend the Belleville lead. The 129 pound grappler scored with near falls in the second period and a penalty point in the third to beat his opponent, 3-2.

Girls take two

The Bellgirl cagers have romped in their third and fourth games of the season to even their court record at 2-2. The triumphs came in contests against Irvington, 49-10, and a victory Monday night over Kearny, 41-23.

The East Orange Panthers hosted the Blue-Gold team today but the results were in too late for this edition of the Times/News. The hoopsters will begin the Christmas tournament December 28 against Mt. St. Dominic's.

Following the two successive wins Bellgirl court coach Karen Fuccello said, "we have two wins but I still don't feel we're executing the way we could. I feel we're far superior and don't show it."

The Blue-Gold basketball coach said she hopes the Bellgirl offense will begin to move more effectively and the cagers begin to hit consistently from the free throw line. Lost one-and-one opportunities in the Kardinal confrontation cost the Blue-Gold about 20 points.

The Kearny game started with the Belleville offense in low gear. Center Michele Giordano was called on three quick fouls and the cagers played cautiously to lead by 8-5 at the end of the quarter.

Coach Fuccello noted the officiating "wasn't what it should have been." The Bellgirls haven't been in the habit of drawing fouls this year but they came frequently versus the Kardinals. The quick whistles effectively shut the Blue-Gold girls out from under the basket.

The hoopsters took a two point lead into the second half of the contest and added a full court press to their strategy against Kearny. Karen Portuese and Giordano revved-up the offensive game with steals and points for the BHS cause. Giordano fouled out but the Bellgirls led 32-20 going into the last quarter.

The second win of the season came with the Blue-Gold girls team downing the Kards, 41-23. Portuese was high

Hoopsters still seek first court victory

Belleville center Tom Smith scored 16 points last Friday night in his return to the BHS lineup but his efforts could not stop Irvington from downing the Bellboy cagers, 57-43.

The Blue-Gold hardcourtters will face the Kearny cagers Thursday night at home, then they will spend the Christmas holidays preparing strategy to be used against Clifford Scott in another home contest, December 28.

The East Orange Panthers traveled to Belleville Tuesday for a game with the Bellboys but the results were in too late for this edition of the Times/News.

The basketball Bellevilleites jumped to an early lead against Irvington, winning 8-4 after four minutes. Baskets by Paul Donahue, Ron Krych, Rich Baker and Rick Thomas gave the hardcourt men their early margin.

The Campers rallied however, when 6-4 frosh Ken Satterfield hit for eight of his 16 game points in the opening stanza. The freshman starter sparked an Irvington streak of 12 points to give the Campers a 16-8 lead at the close of the opening quarter.

The Bellboy offense continued to be sluggish in the second period when the Blue-Gold cagers managed to score only three points in the quarter. Smith hit two free throws and Baker one. Without a single Belleville field goal in the period, the Campers held a 26-11 advantage at halftime.

The Belleville offense came to life in the second half with the cagers scoring three times as many points as in the first two quarters. Donahue and Thomas started the resurgence with free throws. The Bellboys then proceeded to dominate the court, outscoring the Campers 18-4 in seven minutes and cutting their deficit to ten points with 6:18 remaining in the match.

During the rally, Smith found the range on his jump shot and the Blue-Gold junior tickled the twine for 14 second half points.

The Campers contained the Bellboy rally however with baskets by Ray Moore and Ken Webb to build the Irvington lead to 51-37 with less than four minutes left in game. The visitors also penetrated the Bellboy defense, which had prompted many Irvington mistakes during the Blue-Gold rally.

Smith, returning from a bout with a virus, topped all BHS scoring with 16 points and Thomas added nine. Satterfield and Webb led the Campers, with 16 and 11 points respectively.

The Bellboys demonstrated some of their best basketball skills in the second half of their third loss of the season.

O'Neill paces keglers in Belleville triumphs

The Belleville keglers bowled over their first two opponents to begin the lane season with a 5-1 record. The first victims of the Blue-Gold tenpinners included Irvington, who fell 2-1, and Bloomfield Tech, toppled by the Bellboys, 3-0.

Mountain is the next opponent for the Blue-Gold bowlers, Monday January 3 at Bell Clair Lanes, Montclair where all games are rolled. The BHS lane men met Essex Catholic keglers Monday but the results were in too late for this edition of the Times/News.

Senior Bellboy Jeff O'Neill rolled for high series in both matches, accumulating 553 points against Irvington and 539 versus the Bloomfield bowlers.

O'Neill, a co-captain of the squad, also bowled the high game of the two contests, a 207 against Bloomfield Tech.

Co-captain Corbo compiled a 534 score in the 2-1 win over the Irvington keglers. Games of 141, 181, and 191 gave Knowles a 520 mark on the lanes versus the Campers. Buonanno bowled a 421 series and Barbara scored a total of 415 pins in the Irvington win.

The single Camper victory came in the first game series, 793 to 758. The Blue-Gold bowlers triumphed in the next two matches, 868 to 711, and 817 to 691.

Team scores of 911, 762, and 864 paced the BHS keglers to a 3-0 shutout over Bloomfield Tech last Thursday. O'Neill paced the lane men with 171, 161, and 207 points for a 539 total. Sophomore Knowles added to the lead over Bloomfield with 181, 161, and 170 games.

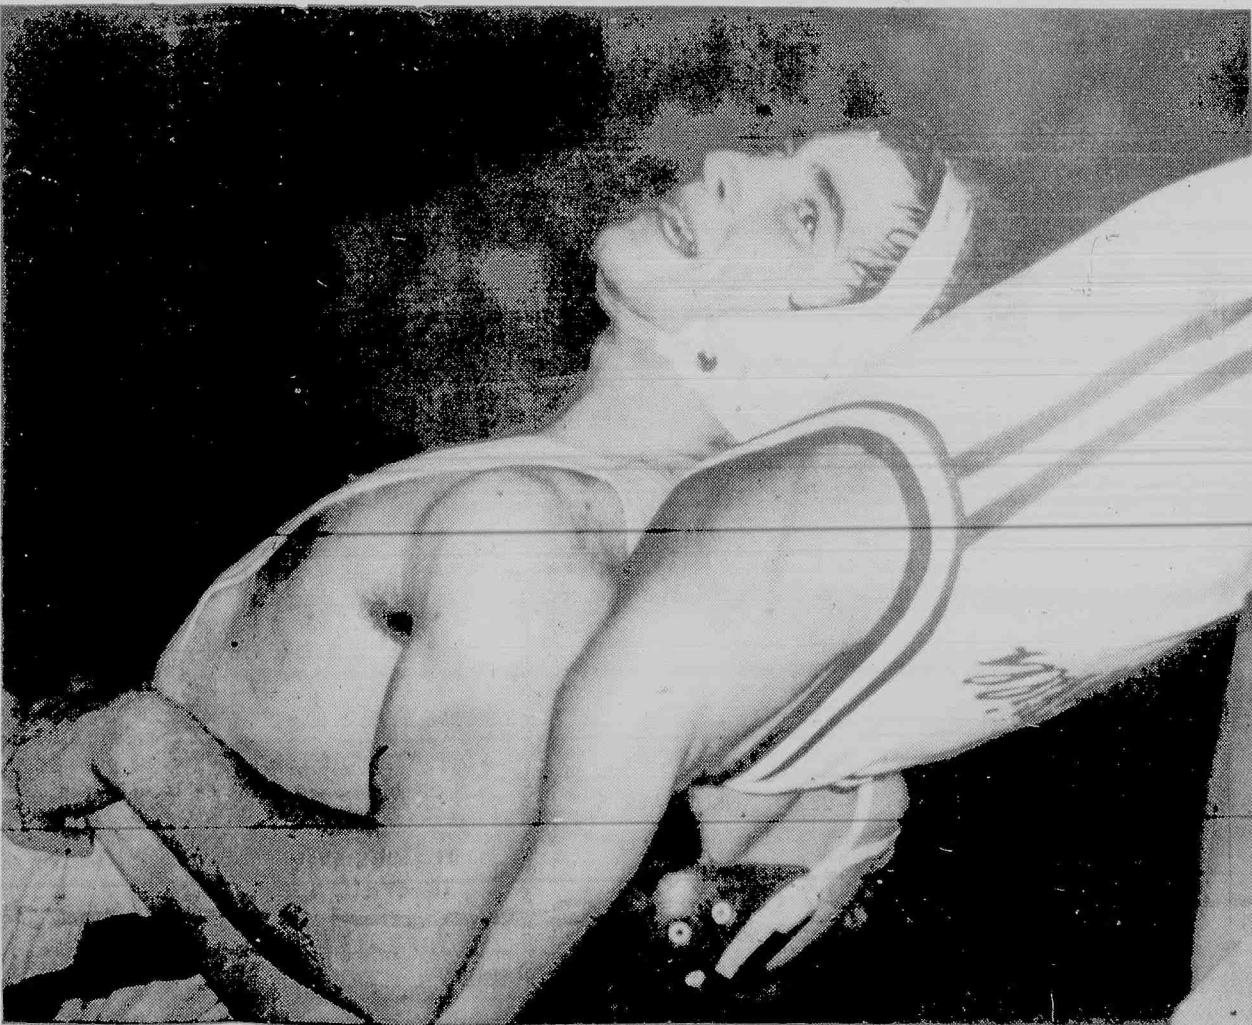

Co-captain Corbo aided the Bellboys with games of 181, 149, and 166. Sophomore keglers Buonanno helped clinch the BHS match with a 514 series with 190, 145, and 179 contests. Barbara's bowling boosted the Bellboys by Bloomfield with a 476 total on 188, 146, and 142.

Mighty matmen

Three Buccaneers —This trio of Seton Hall University starters on this past season's football squad might have looked a bit familiar to Belleville residents. The three Pirates are all Belleville residents. Left to right they are: Joe Cancelliere, linebacker; Vin Casale, center; and Barry Dunleavy, tight end.

The BHS tenpin team is a member of the North Jersey Interscholastic Bowling League. This year's schedule includes Columbia, Seton Hall, Nutley, Montclair, East Orange, Kearny, and Glen Ridge. The Bellboys finished fourth in the 13 team league last year but coach Salzarulo said it's still too early in this season to tell how the Bellevilleites will finish this season.

Rec twirler show is tomorrow night

The Belleville Recreation Twirlers will present their annual Christmas show at School Seven tomorrow night at 6:30.

The baton girls have been practicing since September for various parades and shows they participate in during the year.

The twirlers will be judged by individual routines they make up themselves and all winners will be awarded trophies.

Twirling instructors are Annette Bucci and Susan Antolini.

More Belleville points came on Ed Camuso's 6-2 decision over Hiller Lennington. The closely heated contest started with a scoreless first round but Camuso's take down and near fall points against his opponent decided the match for Belleville.

Co-captain Ron Grolimond triumphed in a 9-5 decision over Lewis in the 148 category. Coach D'Allessandro said the match wasn't as close as the points indicated. The Bellboy tried for team points in the final round after scoring heavily. Grolimond let Lewis up on his feet in order to score a take down but was floored himself instead.

The 158 class was so closely contested Bellboy Joe Savastano tied his opponent 3-3 after trailing early, 3-0.

The result was repeated in the 170 category when Mark Savastano grappled with Fox of Morris Hills to a 0-0 finish.

Belleville won the first meet of the year when Bernie DalCortivo scored a 7-0 decision over Yaniek, 6-0. The Bellboy picked up his winning points on an escape, take down, and penalty points.

The weight of the match was off the shoulders of heavyweight George D'Allessandro and he made the most of it taking a 8-1 decision over Sim.

Becton Regional was the second victim of the BHS talent when the Bellboy grapplers took their opponents, 38-8.

DiLorenzo started his season victory column by winning an 11-7 decision over Ritollo. D'Allessandro noted the 101 BHS grappler made a fantastic comeback after trailing 7-2 in the middle of the second period.

Ed Lijo won his second match of the year by showing Al Marra the lights at 2:50. The Bellboy had already compiled a 7-2 lead before the pin.

Freda, despite a back injury, gained his first win with a 7-1 decision against Becton grappler Sal Grasso. Freda led 5-0 after the first two minutes with a take down and near fall.

The second straight win for D'Amico came with a close 6-5 triumph over Frank Sardon.

Becton wrestler Joe Marra decided Camuso in the 129 class with points for an escape, take down, and near fall during the second period. Coach D'Allessandro said if the two went to the mats again, Camuso would win.

A reverse with 12 seconds left in the match meant the win for DiGiacomo and Belleville in the 135 match. Mark Inzo scored a fast escape, take down and near fall to go into the third period with a 6-5 edge. Racioppi continued Belleville's march to victory with an 11-6 win over Tom Rano. Grolimond, 148, took Gastelu with a take down in the first, a reversal in the second period, and a near fall in the last round. Joe Savastano wrestled one of the tougher Becton men Dennis Oudrof, and lost 8-2. Mark Savastano, 170, tied for the second time this year against Marcinkaoski. A barrel roll by DalCortivo showed Mark Della Pietro the lights at 1:48 for the BHS grapplers second win. Heavyweight D'Allessandro decided Tom Haines at 1:52 for his second win.

scorer in the win with 22 points. Giordano contributed 10, Karin Sciacca hit for four points, Ellen Schulz hit two baskets, and Joyce Iacullo also scored.

Portuge paced the Bellgirls past the Campers last Friday with 16 points in the 49-10 win over Irvington. The jayvee players saw some game time in the first win of the season during the second half when Irvington managed only two points.

Coach Fuccello said the Bellgirls were very happy with their first triumph of the season and added, "I was happy but I wasn't satisfied."

The BHS coach noted the cagers were much better than the Campers but only managed a 10-6 lead at the end of the first quarter. The girls team also looked a little sluggish on the court, according to Fuccello and she attributed the slow down to taking the Irvington five too lightly or perhaps the wear of the previous night's practice session.

Whatever the problem, it wasn't enough of one to deny a BHS win. The 39-point margin could have been improved however if the cagers had capitalized on Giordano's talents and worked better offensively to give her the ball. Despite an injured hand, Giordano still managed to take 14 rebounds and score four points.

Toni Sperduto, a sophomore cager, managed to pull down 10 rebounds despite the fact she patrols the court as a point guard. The Bellgirl also threw in 11 points on three field goals and five free throws.

Karin Sciacca contributed to the win with a basket and free throw. Lydia D'Amato contributed four points, Ellen Schulz, three; Denise Juliano, three; Joyce Iacullo, two; and Robin Giordano, two.

Also in on the first Blue-Gold basketball victory this year were Kathy Stone, Donna Mundy, and Denise Zarra.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of the late Dolores Ostering extend their heartfelt and sincere gratitude to the many people who, during a very difficult time, helped make the load a bit lighter.

To the Nutley Volunteer Emergency and Rescue Squad, Nutley Police Department, visiting nurses, Father DiSanti and Mr. & Mrs. Richard Kastner & family a special thanks... you were there when needed and we shall not forget the true meaning of faith, compassion and brotherly love.

Sincerely,
Albert Ostering and Family

Cousin Bruce...

Two Guys from Texas
Hit Secret for Singles

By Bruce Morrow
WNBC Radio Personality

England Dan And John
Ford Coley are two guys
from Texas who have painstakingly discovered the secret...The secret is how to produce hit singles and albums. Two gold singles and a gold album all within a six month period.
Their music is simple,
melodic rock with a touch of country. Dan and John do not rely on any glitter or any of the other current music nonsense. They are musicians and they play music. They believe that they have landed squarely upon their formula and they shall stick to it. The two country gentlemen
recently played to a SRO audience at NYC Bottom Line.

There has been a rush of White House records during the past couple of weeks, two from Nashville, one from the West Coast and, yes indeed, a
Disco White House
record. I am sure that these "works of art" were ready for the unsuspecting public even before the final

Presidential election result was in.

My comment in a previous C.B. article concerning the current Rod Stewart
single, "Tonight's The Night" being banned by a radio chain has brought several irate letters from Mommies to Yours Truly.
The only thing I personally condemn is the uneducated censor 'condemning' music that the person (or persons) obviously do not like in the first place. I did not condemn the individual Mommy, Daddy, or child
from personal censorship.
As a matter of fact and record...That is my major point and argument...Censorship should be left up to the individual...no organization, and certainly no one person, should be allowed to play King Of The Mountain by making a judgement as to what I shall hear or see. (I guess I'll receive some more letters...C'mon, I'm ready for you.)
Have a very happy holiday. Happy Chanukkah
and Merry Christmas...
don't cry or put...He's a-comin' to town...
Love!

A little simple arithmetic
about a Math major.

The cost of a higher education is getting higher. In fact, you could end up spending close to $20,000 to put your child through college.

So maybe you should consider U.S.
Savings Bonds. They're one of the most dependable ways to build funds for an education.

All you have to do is join the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. Then an amount you specify is set aside from your paycheck and used to buy Bonds.

Say your child is 3 years old now. If you buy a $75 Bond a month through Payroll
Savings, by the time he's 18 you'll have $16,048 tucked away. A solid sum to get him started. See? A little simple arithmetic can add up to a lot.

Make the chances of your child's college education more secure. Join the Payroll Savings Plan now.

Now U.S. Bonds pay 6% interest, when held to maturity of 12 years, 4% the first year. Bonds are replaced if lost, stolen or destroyed. When needed, they can be cashed at your bank. Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Take
stock

Board will decide revaluation issue

By CHUCK JACKSON

Belleville's year-long fight against revaluation should come to an end at next week's meeting of the Town Commission.

The local governing Board is scheduled to meet tonight to discuss, among other items, the special emergency appropriation needed to pay for revaluation. Sources have indicated the Commissioners will make a decision on the matter then in private caucus.

According to Town Attorney John Scott, the department heads may meet in closed session since the matter is now the subject of litigation, an exemption under the Open Meetings Act. Belleville has filed an appeal of a court order to revalue.

Though neither Commissioner Mary Senatore nor Rocco Saletta have indicated how they will vote, political observers have said at least one of the two may vote in favor of the appropriation.

Saletta and Mrs. Senatore have, since the matter first came up last January, Please see "Commission" on page 2.

Prosecutor completes Senatore investigation

An eight-month investigation by the Essex County Prosecutor into charges by Town Treasurer Francis McCoy and Commissioner Mary Senatore against each other has ended with no action taken.

The Prosecutor's office last week said, in letters to both parties there was no basis for criminal charges against either party.

McCoy initiated the investigation last March, charging a signature on a Public Works payroll purported to be Mrs. Senatore's was a fraud, that the Commissioner had not gone out for bids on contracts requiring that procedure and also that Mrs. Senatore had charged against the 1975 budget monies spent in 1974.

Commissioner Senatore, in turn, asked the prosecutor to look into the legality of McCoy holding three positions in town. In addition to acting as Town Treasurer, McCoy is also Custodian of School Funds and a health consultant clerk to the Department of Public Affairs.

Earlier this year, the prosecutor announced there was no basis for the signature charge, saying it had been determined Mrs. Senatore had in fact signed the payroll.

The bid allegations laid out by the Treasurer accused the Public Works Department head with approving the purchase of supplies on two occasions without following proper bidding procedure. According to McCoy, the expenditures in question, which took place in 1975, were for $2,953 worth of pipe and $3,368 for fire hydrants. State law requires that any purchase in excess of $2,500 be done through competitive bidding.

Assistant Prosecutor Peter J. Francese, after reviewing the documents involved and transcripts of a June 20, 1975 meeting, said Mrs. Senatore's actions on the expenditures "did not in any sense constitute a willful and knowing violation" of the law.

He said his office's investigation indicated "actions taken by various town personnel were caused by an inherent confusion in the purchase order system."

The prosecutor also ruled that McCoy's holding of three town posts was not a violation of criminal law as Mrs. Senatore had alleged. Under state statute, the prosecutor said, the Treasurer may also be Custodian of School Funds, "unless otherwise provided for by the Board of Education."

Francese said that McCoy's position of health consultant clerk is an appointive post, and "no question of impropriety" was raised when the Treasurer was first named.

While clearing both officials of the charges and counter-charges, the prosecutor did not mention a claim by McCoy that former town planning engineer Howard Schoor was appointed to his post in violation of Civil Service regulations.

McCoy declined comment on the prosecutor's report, but indicated he was not entirely pleased with the results.

Judge postpones Imperiale case

Probable cause

State Senator Anthony Imperiale's probable cause hearing was delayed last week when his lawyer requested extra time to hear the case which stems from a November 27 incident in Belleville. The hearing will take place Monday morning in Millburn.

State Senator Anthony Imperiale will appear in Millburn Municipal Court Monday at 9 a.m. for a probable cause hearing on charges filed in Belleville as a result of a November 27 incident.

Millburn Municipal Judge James Haggerty postponed the hearing during December 16 proceedings in Belleville Municipal Court when Sam Raffaello, Imperiale's attorney, requested a delay because he was not prepared to present the senator's case.

Belleville Municipal Court Judge Edward Abramson removed himself from the case because one of the complainants, James Post, was a distant relative of an assistant court clerk.

Monday's postponed hearing will be on assault charges filed by Imperiale and two Newark men. The senator is accused with hitting David Maisto, 19, on the head during a scuffle November 27 at Global Arms Inc., 78 Washington Avenue, Belleville.

James Post, 18, charged Imperiale with threatening his life.

Imperiale accused Maisto of assault and threatening his life and charged Post with malicious damage and trespassing.

Judge Haggerty will decide at Monday morning's hearing if there is sufficient evidence to present the case to the Essex County Grand Jury.

Harry Dudkin, representing the Essex County Prosecutor's office, argued against a delay during the Belleville hearing last week. He also reminded the court indictable offenses must be acted on within 30 days and while no indictments had been made, "no useful purpose would be served by a continuation" of the probable cause hearing.

Judge Haggerty set Monday's proceedings in Millburn to fall within the 30 day limit.

Church services listed

Candlelight services will highlight Belleville churches' observance of Christmas this year. Friday night ceremonies predominate with some Christmas day services also included.

The Reverend Benedetto Pascale has announced his son, the Reverend Elmo Pascale, will preside at 8 p.m. candlelight services Christmas Eve at Silver Lake Baptist Church. The observance will include Holy Communion and Christmas hymns featuring Rose Geraci, as a soloist. Other soloist at the Friday night services will be Alba Brunetto and Marie Delisio.

The Silver Lake Church will also observe New Year's Eve with a midnight watch and prayer service. This year will mark the 62nd Christmas Reverend Pascale has been pastor of the church. Silver Lake Baptist is on 166 Franklin Street, Belleville.

The Reverend Fredrick Long has announced Christ Episcopal Church, 395 Washington Avenue, will conduct a family service Christmas Eve at 7:30 p.m. and a Festal Christmas Service at 11:30 the same night. There will be a 10 a.m. ceremonies at Christ Episcopal on Christmas Day. All three observances will include Holy Communion and Christmas music. Reverend Long will preach at each service.

A Christmas Eve candlelight service will be held at Bethany Lutheran Church, 260 Joralemon Street. The Reverend Dominic Scibilia, pastor of Bethany will preside at the Friday night ceremonies and an 11 a.m. observance Christmas Day. Both ceremonies will include Holy Communion, carols, and a sermon.

The Reformed Church of Belleville, 171 Main Street, will observe Christmas Eve with a traditional candlelight service. The ceremonies will start at 7:30 p.m. and will include carol singing and a sermon by the pastor, Reverend Paul Ruter.

Commission meets tonight in private caucus

consistently refused to approve the money. Since four votes are needed to pass the appropriation, the pair has successfully blocked all attempts to push the measure through.

All five Commissioners are expected to make their final decisions tonight, and the appropriation will either pass or be finally defeated Tuesday.

Should the Board fail to get the measure through, it would have to be re-introduced in 1977 as an ordinance, and further complications could also arise.

There is some question as to whether the accepted bid of $149,000 would still be good. The ordinance authorizing the resolution is good for the entire year of 1976, beyond that point is questionable.

The cost of revaluation has been the primary reason for the delay, according to several of the Commissioners. Mrs. Senatore has said while she does not wholeheartedly approve of revaluation, she is mainly in opposition to the $149,900 cost.

Several committees have studied the possibility of performing the complex task for less, but those efforts have proved fruitless.

Earlier this year, Sal Calabro, spokesman for the Belleville Citizens' Union, said his firm would do the work for cost, but a study of the complexities involved resulted in withdrawal of that offer. All other efforts, such as completion of the task by using a simple formula, also suggested by Calabro, have similarly failed or proved unworkable.

The Citizens' Union has steadfastly opposed revaluation, contending that the higher assessments necessarily arising will cost the taxpayers more money annually.

Director of Finance Joseph McGreevy and Town Treasurer Francis McCoy are on the opposite side of the fence, contending the town is losing money for every day it goes without revaluing property. The financial arm of the local government claims while assessed values will rise, the increase in actual tax dollars paid by individual residents will not be as great as citizens fear. McCoy and McGreevy argue that the higher values placed on industrial firms in town will keep keep down the increase, and say it is possible tax payments could dip slightly.

Despite the arguments by both sides, the town eventually will have no choice other than to revalue. Currently, the Commissioners are under a court order issued in August directing them to take all steps necessary to complete the reassessment. Though the Board has, in effect, ignored that directive, no action has been taken.

Town Clerk Eugene Barnett has been sending monthly reports to the court detailing all action, or lack of action, taken by the Board on the subject. This was required in the court order.

The town's current appeal regarding that order has been termed useless by Town Attorney Scott. He filed the appeal at the direction of the Commissioners and over his own objections.

If the Board passes the appropriation Tuesday, it would take approximately one year to complete the revaluation process, making the raised assessments effective in the 1978 tax year.

Garden School throws great party

About 70 parents attended the December 15 Christmas Party given by the Essex Child Development Center's Garden School Home and School Association.

The buffet supper was, according to Mrs. Ann Salimbene, co-president of the HSA, one of the most successful parties ever given by the group.

The merry-makers enjoyed the music of "The Red Coats," led by August Wester. The group donated its time.

Wester has driven children to the school from the South Orange area for over 16 years. The Home and School Association presented him with a gift in appreciation of his "warmth and understanding of children with emotional problems."

Mrs. Salimbene, of Nutley, was assisted by Mrs. Peggy Feder of Belleville and Mrs. Rosemarie Ricciardi of Irvington. Parents from many other Essex communities also attended the affair.

Generosity helps famous park grow

DAVID F. MOORE

Thanks to the assistance of two of New Jersey's biggest industries and the willingness of a landowner to sell her property at less than the market price, the New Jersey Conservation Foundation has been able to enlarge Morristown National Historical Park by 133 prime acres.

The Foundation bought the land from Mrs. Murial Whitehead Jarvis and 10 minutes later sold it to the National Park Service. Located in Harding and Mendham Townships, Morris County, it is probably the last major acquisition possible in the Jockey Hollow section of the park.

The Foundation which I head probably couldn't have engineered the transaction without the help of the Allied Chemical Corp. and the Warner-Lambert Co., both of which guaranteed repayment of loans made to the Foundation at very favorable interest rates.

Credit goes also to Congresswoman Millicent Fenwick and Senators Clifford Case and Harrison Williams, who sponsored bills in both houses of Congress which made it possible for the National Park Service to buy the land from the Foundation, as well as to President Gerald Ford, who signed the legislation into law. Only about four months elapsed between introduction and signing of the legislation!

One of the key purposes of the New Jersey Conservation Foundation is to serve as an intermediary in the often complicated process of converting private land into publicly owned land. We can normally move faster than a governmental agency, buying the land while it's available and then reselling it to some level of government for public use.

The Foundation keeps money in a "revolving fund" for that purpose, but it is confronted by the constant erosion of the fund by interest payments and other costs.

That's one of the reasons we are especially grateful to Allied and Warner-Lambert, for making such a rapid transfer possible. But even though it took only 10 minutes of actual buying and selling nearly a decade of talks and preparation are represented.

I am especially pleased to be able to tell a happy environmental story in this space, because, sadly, so many of these columns are taken up with worries about the present and future state of our state.

In addition to pitching in with their financial guarantees to make the Jarvis purchase possible, Allied Chemical and Warner-Lambert are among the corporate members of the New Jersey Conservation Foundation. They and other far-sighted industries are ready and willing to give tangible support to the ongoing crusade to keep New Jersey as livable as possible for future generations!

The same kind of credit goes to Mrs. Jarvis, who as I said chose to sell her 133 acres for parkland at a much lower price than she could have obtained on the open real estate market.

It's reassuring to know that big business, elected officials and generous landowners are rooting so realistically for the environmental team!

Good chance to support

We have a message for last-minute shoppers: If you haven't already discovered how friendly shopping can be by patronizing local stores, do so today, tomorrow and Friday as you finish up your holiday purchases.

Obviously, by staying in town, you eliminate the aggravation of holiday traffic on the highways and overpopulated malls.

More important, shopping in Belleville is really fun, and you'll find prices here match or beat those advertised at discount chains. Best of all, by supporting local businessmen, you're helping out your community.

Throughout the year, merchants show their community interest by membership in the Chamber of Commerce, in traffic problems, in buying token ads in church bulletins and club programs.

This week provides an excellent opportunity for you to best shop Belleville. Keeping a good town strong should be the concern of us all.

Yuletide blues create crisis

By CHUCK JACKSON

This is terrible. The staff is in an uproar, and all because I can't think of anything to write about Christmas.

I know I've got the Christmas spirit in me, but it just won't come out and make itself visible on the paper I now have in my typewriter.

My two faithful friends have all but deserted me because of this inability to spread cheer. Franklin Bodoni, the very model of Yuletide glee, is looking at me as if I were some kind of strange creature and only because I told him I was having difficulty writing this.

Meanwhile, ace reporter and raconteur Trent Foxworthy is amusing the staff with his wild stories about the "good old days on the City Desk of the Boise News/Standard." As usual, he has a headstart on the office party, beginning his celebration a good three days ahead of time. This is a precautionary measure, he tells us, adding, "I must steel myself against the ravages of demon rum, lest I be smote in the midst of the upcoming gala affair." But even through the thick mist of his "preparations" he seems to perceive there is something not quite right with a man who can't write a simple, straightforward Christmas column.

I thought about using this space to make kind of a collective greeting card, listing the names of everyone I forgot to mail one to, but I'm afraid I'd blow that too, and end up getting a lot of people mad at me. The way things have been going, that's the last thing I need.

Though my co-workers have been generous in their suggestions as to what I should write, the only real assistance I have received in this task came from an acquaintance I'll identify as Jim Wilson.

Crazy Jim, a real man about town, with an absolute talent for seeming to be everywhere all the time, stopped in tonight just as the deadline panic was gripping the staff by its collective throat. Marvelously unruffled by the madness swirling about him, he produced, among other things, an excellent bottle of Cabernet Sauvignon.

Golden Comments

By James R. Golden

It was a bitter cold day last week as we slowly drove past "Jackie's Corner." As usual, a sly glance was given to the goings-on at his prosperous business bailiwick, which serves as much as a sub rosa political pentagon for campaign maneuvering as the Army's Pentagon building serves in mapping plans for the defense of America.

Gray, somber clouds hung low in the late autumn sky as a sub-freezing, stiff wind fanned the intense, white heat flames of Christmas tree twigs burning fiercely with the salamander fire as political strategist "Boss" Rega and Rent Control Board member Vinnie Vecchione hovered over the dancing embers. Their manner was similar to what one might expect to see with witches brewing some hellish broth.

It was a little too early for buying a Christmas tree. Anyhow, there weren't any in sight. There were, however, many grave-blankets in view as the two jabbered away in an otteric conversation. I wondered, in my suspicious mind, as their images faded from view in the rear-view mirror, if "Boss" Rega might just be jumping the gun in lining up candidates for the coming School Board election. Were all those grave-blankets surrounding their cold, cold conference indicative of a subtle plan to "bury" someone politically? This I pondered with the provocative, obfuscating wonderment of just how a guy like Rega can run such a profitable business when, it would appear, the business is an adjunct to his primary interest in politics. Rationalizing, I resigned myself to the stark reality that, perhaps, that's why he earned the title "Boss."

It's the Christmas season, and old friends stop in or send cards from distant places while we speak with tender voices to old friends on the phone. It brings back many memories and thoughts of days gone by.

The past week, former Commissioner Lew Noll stopped in to exchange pleasantries and I showed him a Christmas card from our old friend, former Commissioner George Kiernan and his wife, Nell. The Kiernans are luxuriating in the warm rays of the sun down at Plantation, Florida. The Commissioner made me very happy by telling me he reads my column weekly in the Times/News, which he has mailed to him down in the Sunbelt.

Not to be overlooked was a most friendly conversation with the ever popular former-mayor, Isadore J. Padula, who was the first man of Italian heritage member to have served on the local governing body. He also compiled the highest vote ever garnered in town for the local office, and that record that still stands.

While unlike the children snuggled in bed with visions of sugar-plums dancing in their heads, it got one to thinking if some of us old timers were ever to get together in an absentia meeting, it should develop into quite a session, what with all the changes in town these days.

The Belleville Tax Union is keeping active, attending Town Commission meetings and asking questions. The members notified the Commissioners they are going to go over the payrolls and vouchers of each department and also want an opportunity to go over the line by line preparation of all the budgets prior to publication in the newspaper.

They have raised questions about the handling of the controversial Napp-Greco legal matter, inquired into need for and cost to maintain sought two-way radios for the Health Department, and found merit in Commissioner Saletta's doubts about the wisdom of repairing a town truck and then seeking to buy another one.

The group is sincere, dedicated and offers a legitimate opportunity for citizens to scotch needless town spending and waste. They have expressed concern over the likelihood of outpatient treatment of mental patients in the Soho area and are determined to keep the Silver Lake fire house intact at its present location.

A group such as this serves a most useful purpose and should receive much citizen support. It serves as a check and balance on our town officials and keeps them alert and on their toes.

Little cat, you're still with us!

Helen's thing

by Helen Maguire

THROUGH THE YEARS, the Irishman has preached to me about dealing locally, and I have tried to follow his advice in most instances. The other night, I was abundantly grateful that dealing locally had included the local veterinarian. For close to a decade and a half, we have cared various cats and dogs and even an occasional bird (my aunt's) down to the establishment on Washington Avenue for shots, alterations, repairs after fights, an operation or two, infections, allergies and so forth. Never has the problem been of an emergency nature until last Thursday. But that one was a beauty!

Tish, our tortoise shell feline, came in for supper about 8 o'clock (she's a late diner) in fine shape according to Rod who was eating his own dinner when she appeared. At ten thirty, Dennis, discovered that she was reeling around the kitchen like an inebriated sailor, unable to keep on her feet and crying as if in pain. By the time he had summoned me and I had summoned Rod, the cat was flat out on the floor, trembling in every muscle and moaning.

I've never seen a poisoned cat but I've read about the symptoms and Tish seemed to be exhibiting several of them, much to the dismay and consternation of the trio sharing the floor with her. I called the vet, got the answering service and within a very short period of time, was speaking with Dr. Fielder whom Rod had met when Lum developed an allergic reaction to something in the neighborhood. His first instructions: get two teaspoonsful of hydrogen peroxide down the cat's throat in the hopes that the dose would make her upchuck whatever she had swallowed. With the aid of the turkey baster, and three pairs of hands wearing protective gloves, we managed to "persuade" Tish to swallow the peroxide which did no good at all. Another call to the doctor who wasted no time in suggesting that we meet him post haste at the hospital. Although he lives out of town, he was there in 20 minutes, took one look at the cat and began emergency treatment of shots and intravenous fluid. Tish didn't seem to be responding at all and when Rod and I left at midnight, we never expected to see her alive again. The phone rang shortly after 2 a.m., Dr.

Fielder reporting that she was somewhat improved although her chances of recovering were still zilch.

BY THE NEXT DAY, the seizures had ceased and she was calm but running a subnormal temperature and not out of the woods. Saturday morning, much to the dismay of everybody concerned, she rallied, struggled to her feet and ate some baby food. Diagnosis: organic phosphate poisoning. Source: unknown although it could have come from rat poisoning, insecticides or something thrown out in someone's trash.

The Irishman, Ryan and I picked up our resurrected pet at noon. Dr. Imhoff met us at the door. "This cat," he said "has only eight lives left!"

Woman's Club holds a holiday party

The Woman's Club of Belleville, 51 Rossmore Place, held its meeting December 12 with Mrs. W. Douglas Clark presiding.

A final report was made by Mrs. Edward Bahr, chairman of the American Home Department and Miss Margaret Macmillan, chairman of the Social Service Department that in a joint effort, 84 tins were decorated and filled with cookies for distribution to institutionalized persons by Holiday Candy-Cookie Operation and that 100 bed socks will be distributed to patients at Greystone on Christmas day thru the work of Social Services. Club members gave 14 hours of their time to the Swine Flu Immunization program in town. Miss Virginia Lee, chairman of International Affairs spoke of the need to contribute to "Care" and "Cents for Sight." A Christmas Boutique displayed many articles for gift giving.

A short service was held, conducted by Mrs. William Kropp, treasurer and a past president, dedicating the newly decorated reception room to the memory of the late Mrs. David Parry, a past president in 1961-63. A memorial plaque was accepted in her name, given to the club by Mrs. Gerard Ferrara.

The Christmas program was introduced by Mrs. Richard A. Shafter, chairman of the Fine Arts Dept. Christmas music was sung by the club choral group with a guest singer, Rev. Hazel Thomas under the direction of Miss Edith Richards. The president, Mrs. Clark gave a dramatic monologue of "The Juggler of Notre Dame" by Anatol France, a reading was presented by Miss Linnea Andree and everyone sang the final carol.

The club house was decorated for the holiday season by the Junior Woman's Club members.

Kathleen McGory Voice of Democracy contest entrant

The VFW "Voice of Democracy" Contest is in full swing again. Nutley's Stuart E. Edgar Post 493 and Ladies Auxiliary have entered Kathleen McGory of Prospect Street, Nutley as their contestant. She will receive two $25 dollar bonds, one from the Post and one from the Ladies Auxiliary for participating.

The contest is open to students in 10 thru 12 grades. They prepare a three to five minute voice tape. The theme this year is, "What Our Bicentennial Heritage Means to Me."

All state winners receive a five day all expense paid trip to Washington, D.C. Five top winners receive scholarships in the amounts of $10,000, $5,000, $3,500, $2,500 and $1,500 respectively.

District (Essex County) and State judgments will be held in January. State winners tape will be sent to National for the final competition. There are awards for each level.

St. Mary's Band debuts in concert

The St. Mary School Band performed its first concert of the 1976-1977 school year December 15 in the school gym-auditorium under the direction of band director, William Mackay.

Local students involved in the concert included Susan Pfister, Jane Privat, Kasey Coogan, Sharon DeMayo, Juliann Conroy, Mary Sneyers, Tina Amendola, Theresa Massa, Dorothy Albright, Margaret Ann Roth, Tom Pfister, Jeanne Albright, Fred Simmonds, Tom Albright, Anthony Stefanelli, Tom Finnegan, John Sherry, Mike Sherry, Rich Czakowski, Elizabeth Albright, Tom Simmonds, Fred Reiner, Anthony LoPomo, Mike Perley, William Czunowicz and Owen Haveron.

Collection of Toys — Mrs. William Lenehan amuses young Anthony Calabar with an assortment of toys given to the Clara Maass Memorial Hospital Pediatrics Playroom by Belleville Unit 105, American Legion Auxiliary, of which Mrs. Lenehan is president. Looking on is pediatric charge nurse, Beverly Cohen. The toys were purchased with the 1976 Children and Youth Month contribution presented by the Auxiliary to the hospital for use in the Pediatrics department.

Christmas Get Together — Three societies active in Holy Family Church, hosted a Christmas party December 10 with the nuns and priests of the parish as guests. Admiring the cake are from left Nancy Gabriel, president of Mt. Carmel Society; Erma Mastro, president of Rosary Altar Society and Marie Mauriello, president of St. Lucy Filippini Sodality.

C. Stanley Haller receives a very special pacemaker

When C. Stanley Haller entered Clara Maass Memorial Hospital recently to have his second pacemaker installed, he regarded it as a routine procedure. Nothing remarkable, because he'd had it done before.

His mind quickly changed, however, when it was discovered that cardiac surgeon Dr. Franklyn Gerard would be using a very special pacemaker — the 100,000th XYTRON unit manufactured by Medtronic, Inc.

The 70-year-old Belleville resident suddenly found himself the center of attention for Medtronic representatives. He was gifted with a unique desk set featuring an exact duplicate of his own pacemaker; had his story recorded for Medtronic publications and the local press; will visit Medtronic headquarters in Minneapolis as the firm's guest — and, best of all, received his new $1,500 pacemaker without charge.

Mr. Haller, who has been an accountant for almost 50 years, admits to being "scared stiff" when his first pacemaker was installed in 1974. Today he "fully recommends" the unit for anyone with a heart condition. "I've never had any pain, and I'm still working every day," he says. "Having a pacemaker has never interfered with my job." It obviously hasn't interfered with his hobby either; he is an active, enthusiastic deep sea fisherman.

His reaction to star status? "Real good. I'm very happy with everything."

Cedar Crest Graduate Field Representative in Nutley-Belleville

Marilyn Craine of Nutley will again serve as an Admissions Field Representative for Cedar Crest College, Allentown, Pennsylvania.

A graduate of Cedar Crest, Mrs. Craine will act as a resource person for local students who wish to learn more about the 109 year old liberal arts college for women. In announcing the appointment, Director of Admissions Fredric Cort expressed the hope that "by giving high school students the opportunity to speak personally with someone in their hometown area about educational opportunities at Cedar Crest, we will provide valuable assistance to high school guidance programs and to students seeking information about where to attend college."

Miss Lenore A. Vizzone bride of Joseph Peldunas

Miss Lenore Anne Vizzone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Vizzone of 123 Carpenter Street became the bride September 4 of Joseph Peldunas, son of Mrs. Viola Peldunas of 256 Fairway Avenue and the late Mr. Alphonse Peldunas.

The Rev. Francis Ignaciuos of St. Francis Church, Ridgefield Park, performed the ceremony in St. Thomas the Apostle Church, Bloomfield. A reception followed at The Fiesta, Woodbridge.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a gown of white sate peau and cluny lace fashioned with a portrait neckline, long fitted sleeves, empire waist and chapel train. Appliques were of Venice lace.

A modified Juliet cap of matching lace held her chapel length lace edged mantilla and she carried a cascade of white roses with babies breath, white orchids and sonja roses.

Mrs. Kathleen Sheridan of Bloomfield was matron of honor. Bridesmaids included Miss Helene Vizzone and Miss MaryAnn Franklin of Nutley, Miss Martha Peldunas of Belleville and Miss Michele D'Amico of Newark. Junior bridesmaid was Miss Kathleen Burton of Nutley.

They were attired in blue print voile gowns fashioned with narrow straps on the bodice and topped with short cap sleeved bolero jackets. Babies breath was worn in their hair and they carried baskets of white daisy pompoms, babies breath and sonja roses.

Dennis Ricca of Bloomfield was best man. Ushers were Donald Vizzone of Nutley, Michael Peldunas of Belleville, Anthony Peldunas of Kearny and Salvatore Cusomato of Bloomfield.

Mrs. Vizzone chose a peach chiffon gown with bishop sleeves while the groom's mother was in a green flowered print gown. Corsages were of white orchids.

Mrs. Peldunas, an alumna of Belleville High School, Essex College of Business and Poodle Grooming School of America, is self-employed as Lenore's Canine Clippery, Nutley.

Mr. Peldunas, a graduate of Bloomfield Tech, attended Engine City Tech and is with St. Johnsbury Trucking Company, Kearny.

The couple honeymooned in Antigua, West Indies and have made their home in Belleville.

Lisa K. Ritacco

Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Ritacco of Belleville announce the engagement of their daughter, Lisa K. to Steven Joseph Lenehan, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Lenehan, also of Belleville.

The troth was made known November 25 at the home of the bride-elect.

Miss Ritacco, an alumna of Belleville High School, attends Montclair State College.

Mr. Lenehan, also a graduate of Belleville High School, is a student at Seton Hall University.

The wedding will be held next November.

New Jersey Retains High Rank for Per Capita Income

New Jersey's per capita personal income rose $480 in calendar 1975 to $6,722. This enabled the State to maintain its rank of fifth among the 50 states for the second consecutive year, according to information released by the U.S. Department of Commerce. Revised data for 1974 shifted the State's per capita personal income rank to fifth rather than fourth as reported a year earlier. This State's per capita personal income was nearly 14 percent above the national average of $5,902 in 1975.

Provident opens Belleville branch

Provident Savings Bank threw a party last week to celebrate the opening of its new Belleville branch on Washington Avenue.

Attending the festivities were dignitaries from every branch of Belleville activity. At right, School Board member Caesar Romano and Mario DiMaggio, principal of the Junior High School, confer with LeRoy Lenahan, of Provident's executive committee.

Below, Bill Escott, Mary Lou Hood, John Ianuzzi, and Maureen Gilbert pose during the festivities. Provident president Kenneth F. X. Albers talks banking with School Board president Matt Pica and Al Schmitt.

At the bottom, Barry Farber of WOR radio, stands with branch manager Leonard Calandriello.

Senior notes

By GEORGE CHENOWETH

The Belleville Senior Citizens in the Park group had its Christmas party at Thomms in Newark last Thursday. It was well attended by a happy group of seniors.

The Belleville Senior Citizens Club Carolers have been traveling around bringing cheer to others with their Christmas sing-alongs. The canned goods collection for the needy of the town has been completed and the goods turned over to the Welfare Department. We are happy to report that our seniors were very responsive to this worthwhile project and over seven large cartons were turned over to be distributed at Christmas time to the less fortunate of our town.

In last week's paper, there appeared a picture which was captioned, "Members of the Belleville Senior Citizens Club Christmas Committee," this was in error and we would like to give credit to the Entertainment Committee for this very successful event. They were: Marge Landon, Tom Basso, Marie Cavella, Mr. and Mrs. Lou Meyer and Anthony Bove. The committee was ably assisted by many hostesses and others. The picture in the paper is of seven members of the executive board.

This club is working on a party for New Year's Eve and the sign-up sheet will be available at Tuesday's meeting. There will not be any blood pressure tests until Thursday, January 27.

We were pleasantly surprised when we were visited by Den Number One of Pack 307 of the Cub Scouts. They and their leaders came to the club on Tuesday and sang carols and brought gifts the very young and the not-so-old seem to relate to each other and the holiday season was made merrier by this warm feeling for each and everyone.

A Merry Christmas to all our benefactors, fellow members and friends. Enjoy!

AARP to meet on Janaury 6

Wrestlers conquer first challengers

By JOSEPH RYAN

The Bellboy matmen have started a winning habit by taking the first two dual meets of the year, 26-16 against Morris Hills and 38-8 over Becton Regional.

Yesterday the Blue-Gold grapplers traveled to Essex Catholic for a dramatic confrontation with the school where first year BHS coach Gene D'Allessandro started the wrestling program. The results of the third contest of the year were in too late for this edition of the Times/News.

Tomorrow the Bellboys will host cross-town rivals Nutley in a 3:30 afternoon match. Next Wednesday the Bellevilleites will travel to Bloomfield to challenge the Bengals.

The Hillers brought nine returning lettermen to confront the Bellboys in the season's opener. The Bellboys overcame the experience advantage held by the visitors and pinned the Morris Hills team to a loss before the large opening night crowd. "The kids wrestled beyond their capabilities," coach D'Allessandro said of the mighty matmen. "They went in as the underdogs but they wanted the first victory and they got it."

The contest started with the advantage to Morris Hills when 101 pounder Frank DiLorenzo lost to his opponent 7-6. In the early minutes, DiLorenzo trailed Combs but rallied in the last period to almost save the match. "Another minute longer, he would have won," D'Allessandro said.

Ed Lijo started Belleville on the winning track by scoring a superior victory over Matterson of Morris Hills. The 10-0 win came on a first period take down and an escape, another take down, and near fall scored to the Bellboy's column to win a 7-0 edge after two periods. Points for riding time and a near fall completed Lijo's decisive win.

Morris Hills rebounded from the loss by scoring points on a pin by Cane over 115 wrestler Bob Freda at 5:19. The Bellboy grappler led the match 6-1 at the end of the first period but Cane closed the gap going into the third round with Freda leading, 7-6. Freda was caught in a cradle and pinned for the second Hillers' win of the meet.

Bellboy Mark D'Amico triumphed in a close, 4-2 decision in the 122 class over Pryor. D'Amico fought with a 2-0 advantage going into the last period but was on the verge of a loss when Pryor scored on an escape. The Bellboy evaded his opponent's attack with an escape to take the tangle for the Blue-Gold.

Mark DiGiacomo decisioned Davalos of Morris Hills to extend the Belleville lead. The 129 pound grappler scored with near falls in the second period and a penalty point in the third to beat his opponent, 3-2.

Girls take two

The Bellgirl cagers have romped in their third and fourth games of the season to even their court record at 2-2. The triumphs came in contests against Irvington, 49-10, and a victory Monday night over Kearny, 41-23.

The East Orange Panthers hosted the Blue-Gold team today but the results were in too late for this edition of the Times/News. The hoopsters will begin the Christmas tournament December 28 against Mt. St. Dominic's.

Following the two successive wins Bellgirl court coach Karen Fuccello said, "we have two wins but I still don't feel we're executing the way we could. I feel we're far superior and don't show it."

The Blue-Gold basketball coach said she hopes the Bellgirl offense will begin to move more effectively and the cagers begin to hit consistently from the free throw line. Lost one-and-one opportunities in the Kardinal confrontation cost the Blue-Gold about 20 points.

The Kearny game started with the Belleville offense in low gear. Center Michele Giordano was called on three quick fouls and the cagers played cautiously to lead by 8-5 at the end of the quarter.

Coach Fuccello noted the officiating "wasn't what it should have been." The Bellgirls haven't been in the habit of drawing fouls this year but they came frequently versus the Kardinals. The quick whistles effectively shut the Blue-Gold girls out from under the basket.

The hoopsters took a two point lead into the second half of the contest and added a full court press to their strategy against Kearny. Karen Portuese and Giordano revved-up the offensive game with steals and points for the BHS cause. Giordano fouled out but the Bellgirls led 32-20 going into the last quarter.

The second win of the season came with the Blue-Gold girls team downing the Kards, 41-23. Portuese was high

Hoopsters still seek first court victory

Belleville center Tom Smith scored 16 points last Friday night in his return to the BHS lineup but his efforts could not stop Irvington from downing the Bellboy cagers, 57-43.

The Blue-Gold hardcourtters will face the Kearny cagers Thursday night at home, then they will spend the Christmas holidays preparing strategy to be used against Clifford Scott in another home contest, December 28.

The East Orange Panthers traveled to Belleville Tuesday for a game with the Bellboys but the results were in too late for this edition of the Times/News.

The basketball Bellevilleites jumped to an early lead against Irvington, winning 8-4 after four minutes. Baskets by Paul Donahue, Ron Krych, Rich Baker and Rick Thomas gave the hardcourt men their early margin.

The Campers rallied however, when 6-4 frosh Ken Satterfield hit for eight of his 16 game points in the opening stanza. The freshman starter sparked an Irvington streak of 12 points to give the Campers a 16-8 lead at the close of the opening quarter.

The Bellboy offense continued to be sluggish in the second period when the Blue-Gold cagers managed to score only three points in the quarter. Smith hit two free throws and Baker one. Without a single Belleville field goal in the period, the Campers held a 26-11 advantage at halftime.

The Belleville offense came to life in the second half with the cagers scoring three times as many points as in the first two quarters. Donahue and Thomas started the resurgence with free throws. The Bellboys then proceeded to dominate the court, outscoring the Campers 18-4 in seven minutes and cutting their deficit to ten points with 6:18 remaining in the match.

During the rally, Smith found the range on his jump shot and the Blue-Gold junior tickled the twine for 14 second half points.

The Campers contained the Bellboy rally however with baskets by Ray Moore and Ken Webb to build the Irvington lead to 51-37 with less than four minutes left in game. The visitors also penetrated the Bellboy defense, which had prompted many Irvington mistakes during the Blue-Gold rally.

Smith, returning from a bout with a virus, topped all BHS scoring with 16 points and Thomas added nine. Satterfield and Webb led the Campers, with 16 and 11 points respectively.

The Bellboys demonstrated some of their best basketball skills in the second half of their third loss of the season.

O'Neill paces keglers in Belleville triumphs

The Belleville keglers bowled over their first two opponents to begin the lane season with a 5-1 record. The first victims of the Blue-Gold tenpinners included Irvington, who fell 2-1, and Bloomfield Tech, toppled by the Bellboys, 3-0.

Mountain is the next opponent for the Blue-Gold bowlers, Monday January 3 at Bell Clair Lanes, Montclair where all games are rolled. The BHS lane men met Essex Catholic keglers Monday but the results were in too late for this edition of the Times/News.

Senior Bellboy Jeff O'Neill rolled for high series in both matches, accumulating 553 points against Irvington and 539 versus the Bloomfield bowlers.

O'Neill, a co-captain of the squad, also bowled the high game of the two contests, a 207 against Bloomfield Tech.

Co-captain Corbo compiled a 534 score in the 2-1 win over the Irvington

keglers. Games of 141, 181, and 191 gave Knowles a 520 mark on the lanes versus the Campers. Buonanno bowled a 421 series and Barbara scored a total of 415 pins in the Irvington win.

The single Camper victory came in the first game series, 793 to 758. The Blue-Gold bowlers triumphed in the next two matches, 868 to 711, and 817 to 691.

Team scores of 911, 762, and 864 paced the BHS keglers to a 3-0 shutout over Bloomfield Tech last Thursday. O'Neill paced the lane men with 171, 161, and 207 points for a 539 total. Sophomore Knowles added to the lead over Bloomfield with 181, 161, and 170 games.

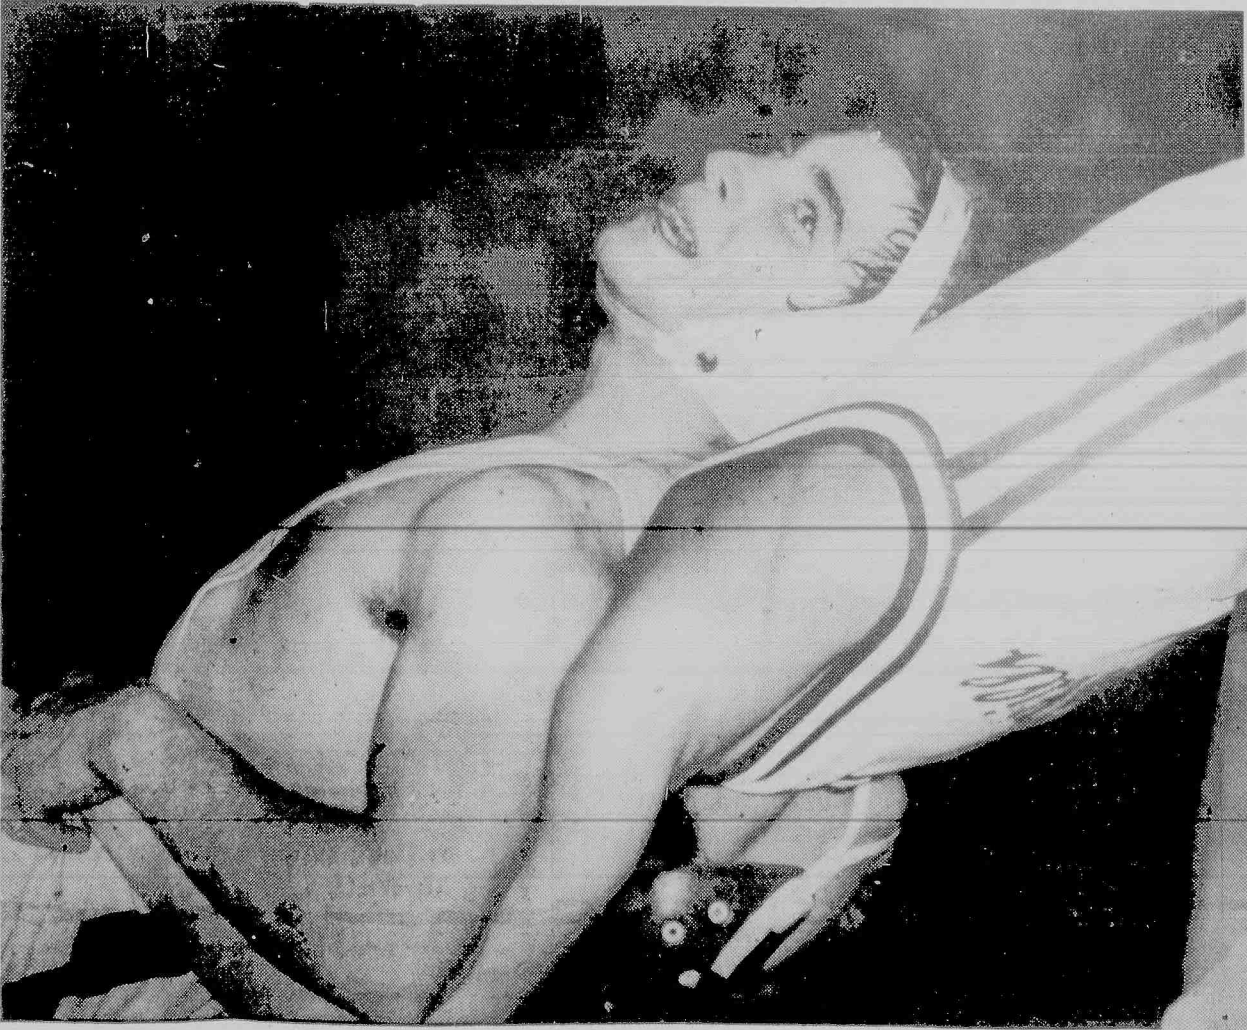

Co-captain Corbo aided the Bellboys with games of 181, 149, and 166. Soph keglers Buonanno helped clinch the BHS match with a 514 series with 190, 145, and 179 contests. Barbara's bowling boosted the Bellboys by Bloomfield with a 476 total on 188, 146, and 142.

Mighty matmen

The Belleville High School varsity wrestling team has started the season with two victories under new coach Gene D'Allessandro. Above, the coach shouts encouragement during the opening match win, 26-16, over Morris Hills. Assistant coach Joe Zarra can be seen behind D'Allessandro watching nervously. At left, Ed Lijo grapples with a Hiller tangler. The Bellboy scored a superior win, 10-0 over Matterson. Below, Bob Freda goes head to head against his opponent in the opening meet last week. The BHS grappler led for most of his match but was caught and pinned in the closing seconds. Freda picked up his first win against Becton wrestler Sal Grasso last Saturday.

Three Buccaneers—This trio of Seton Hall University starters on this past season's football squad might have looked a bit familiar to Belleville residents; the three Pirates are all Belleville residents. Left to right they are: Joe Cancelliere, linebacker; Vin Casale, center; and Barry Dunleavy, tight end.

Bowlers are 5-1

The BHS tenpin team is a member of the North Jersey Interscholastic Bowling League. This year's schedule includes Columbia, Seton Hall, Nutley, Montclair, East Orange, Kearny, and Glen Ridge. The Bellboys finished fourth in the 13 team league last year but coach Salzarulo said it's still too early in this season to tell how the Bellevilleites will finish this season.

Rec twirler show is tomorrow night

The Belleville Recreation Twirlers will present their annual Christmas show at School Seven tomorrow night at 6:30.

The baton girls have been practicing since September for various parades and shows they participate in during the year.

The twirlers will be judged by individual routines they make up themselves and all winners will be awarded trophies.

Twirling instructors are Annette Bucci and Susan Antolini.

Matmen prepare for Raiders and tourney

More Belleville points came on Ed Camuso's 6-2 decision over Hiller Lennington. The closely heated contest started with a scoreless first round but Camuso's take down and near fall points against his opponent decided the match for Belleville.

Co-captain Ron Grolimond triumphed in a 9-5 decision over Lewis in the 148 category. Coach D'Allessandro said the match wasn't as close as the points indicated. The Bellboy tried for team points in the final round after scoring heavily. Grolimond let Lewis up on his feet in order to score a take down but was floored himself instead.

The 158 class was so closely contended Bellboy Joe Savastano tied his opponent 3-3 after trailing early, 3-0.

The result was repeated in the 170 category when Mark Savastano grappled with Fox of Morris Hills to a 0-0 finish.

Belleville won the first meet of the year when Bernie DalCortivo scored a shutout decision over Yanick, 6-0. The Bellboy picked up his winning points on an escape, take down, and penalty points.

The weight of the match was off the shoulders of heavyweight George D'Allessandro and he made the most of it taking a 8-1 decision over Sim.

Becton Regional was the second victim of the BHS talent when the Bellboy grapplers took their opponents, 38-8.

DiLorenzo started his season victory column by winning an 11-7 decision over Ritollo. D'Allessandro noted the 101 BHS grappler made a fantastic comeback after trailing 7-2 in the middle of the second period.

Ed Lijo won his second match of the year by showing Al Marra the lights at 2:50. The Bellboy had already compiled a 7-2 lead before the pin.

Freda, despite a back injury, gained his first win with a 7-1 decision against Becton grappler Sal Grasso. Freda led 5-0 after the first two minutes with a take down and near fall.

The second straight win for D'Amico came with a close 6-5 triumph over Frank Sardon.

Becton wrestler Joe Marra decisioned Camuso in the 129 class with points for an escape, take down, and near fall during the second period. Coach D'Allessandro said if the two went to the mats again, Camuso would win.

A reverse with 12 seconds left in the match meant the win for DiGiacomo and Belleville in the 135 match. Mark Inzo scored a fast escape, take down and near fall to go into the third period with a 6-5 edge. Racioppi continued Belleville's march to victory with an 11-6 win over Tom Rano. Grolimond, 148, took Gastelu with a take down in the first, a reversal in the second period, and a near fall in the last round. Joe Savastano wrestled one of the tougher Becton men Dennis Oudrof, and lost 8-2. Mark Savastano, 170, tied for the second time this year against Marcinkaoski. A barrel roll by DalCortivo showed Mark Della Pietro the lights at 1:48 for the BHS grapplers second win. Heavyweight D'Allessandro decisioned Tom Haines at 1:52 for his second win.

scorer in the win with 22 points. Giordano contributed 10, Karin Sciacca hit for four points, Ellen Schulz hit two baskets, and Joyce Iacullo also scored.

Portuese paced the Bellgirls past the Campers last Friday with 16 points in the 49-10 win over Irvington. The jayvee players saw some game time in the first win of the season during the second half when Irvington managed only two points.

Coach Fuccello said the Bellgirls were very happy with their first triumph of the season and added, "I was happy but I wasn't satisfied."

The BHS coach noted the cagers were much better than the Campers but only managed a 10-6 lead at the end of the first quarter. The girls team also looked a little sluggish on the court, according to Fuccello and she attributed the slow down to taking the Irvington five too lightly or perhaps the wear of the previous night's practice session.

Whatever the problem, it wasn't enough of one to deny a BHS win. The 39-point margin could have been improved however if the cagers had capitalized on Giordano's talents and worked better offensively to give her the ball. Despite an injured hand, Giordano still managed to take 14 rebounds and score four points.

Toni Sperduto, a sophomore cager, managed to pull down 10 rebounds despite the fact she patrols the court as a point guard. The Bellgirl also threw in 11 points on three field goals and five free throws.

Karin Sciacca contributed to the win with a basket and free throw. Lydia D'Amato contributed four points. Ellen Schulz, three; Denise Juliano, three; Joyce Iacullo, two; and Robin Giordano, two.

Also in on the first Blue-Gold basketball victory this year were Kathy Stone, Donna Mundy, and Denise Zarra.

Cousin Brucie...

Two Guys from Texas
Hit Secret for Singles

By Bruce Morrow
WABC Radio Personality

England Dan And John
Ford Coley are two guys
from Texas who have painstakingly discovered the secret...The secret is how to produce hit singles and albums. Two gold singles
and a gold album all
within a six month period.
Their music is simple,
melodic rock with a touch
of country. Dan and John
do not rely on any glitter
or any of the other current music nonsense. They are musicians and they play
music. They believe that they have landed squarely
upon their formula and they shall stick to it. The two country gentlemen
recently played to a SRO
audience at NYC Bottom Line.

There has been a rush of White House records during the past couple of weeks...two from Nashville, one from the West Coast and, yes indeed, a
Disco White House
record. I am sure that these "works of art" were ready for the unsuspecting
public even before the final

Presidential election result
was in.

My comment in a previous C.B. article concerning the current Rod Stewart
single, "Tonight's The Night" being banned by a radio chain has brought several irate letters from Mommies to Yours Truly.
The only thing I personally
condemn is the uneducated
censor condemning music
that the person (or persons) obviously do not like in the first place. I did not condemn the individual
Mommy, Daddy, or child
from personal censorship.
As a matter of fact and
record...That is my major
point and argument...Censorship should be left up to the individual...no
organization, and certainly no one person, should be allowed to play King Of
The Mountain by making a judgement as to what I shall hear or see. (I guess I'll receive some more letters...C'mon...I'm ready
for you.)

Have a very happy holiday. Happy Chanukkah
and Merry Christmas...
don't cry or put...He's a-comin' to town...
Love!

A little simple arithmetic
about a Math major.

The cost of a higher education is getting higher. In fact, you could end up spending close to $20,000 to put your child through college.

So maybe you should consider U.S.
Savings Bonds. They're one of the most dependable ways to build funds for an education.

All you have to do is join the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. Then an amount you specify is set aside from your paycheck and used to buy Bonds.

Say your child is 3 years old now. If you buy a $75 Bond a month through Payroll
Savings, by the time he's 18, you'll have $16,048 tucked away. A solid sum to get him started. See? A little simple arithmetic can add up to a lot.

Make the chances of your child's college education more secure. Join the Payroll
Savings Plan now.

New $6 Bonds pay 6% interest when held to maturity of 5 years. And the first year, Bonds are replaced if lost, stolen or destroyed. When needed, they can be cashed at your bank. Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Take
stock
in America.

Season's ceremonies scrutinized by students

The following article was written collectively by these members of the Student Page staff: Grace Vallario, Cathy Quellen, Steven Missaggia, Julie Sista, Doreen D'Andrea, Debbie Scheder, Michael DeFeo and June Pisaurio.

As Christians in the United States celebrate the holiday of Christmas, people in other countries and of different religions mark the season with their own traditions.

In France, Christmas is an extremely religious holy day.

Creches, or holy manglers are brought out a few days before Christmas. The creche, consisting of mountains and hamlets as well as the Christ Child, Mary, Joseph, angels and animals, has paths leading toward the manger, lined with saint-like figures.

Each Christmas Eve, a midnight mass is offered. At one of the churches in Providence, the ceremony of "Offering of the Lamb" is held.

The ceremony starts with each member of the town playing a specific role, such as a shepherd or shepherdess. The shepherds wear long wool cloaks and the shepherdesses wear long white dresses.

A peasant represents an angel who brings good tidings. They then have a procession. A cart is drawn carrying a baby lamb dressed in ribbons. At the Communion rail, all pretend to offer the lamb. Then they have a recessional.

The French have the traditional Christmas, but instead of stockings, the French children place their shoes by the fireplace so Father Christmas can come and fill them with goodies.

In Spain, Christmas is a time for "fiestas" with a definite "Spanish touch."

As in France, every home, no matter how humble, has a creche. However, every Spanish manger scene includes a small stream where women kneel as they tend to the family laundry, so typical of a scene one may find anywhere in Spain.

Once the creche is on the table or mantle, it is time to prepare for the special family dinner to be enjoyed the night before Christmas. This meal is called "cena de Nochebuena." The "cena" consists of lamb, pork or fowl, stuffed with cabbage, fried onions and sweet potatoes.

Following the feast, the family gathers around the Christmas tree to sing Christmas carols. The following morning, they attend church services.

Santa Claus does not visit the little Spanish youngsters, but the Three Wise Men never fail to arrive in Spain during the night of January 6 (the feast of Epiphany), bringing gifts as they did to the Christ Child in Bethlehem. Children place their shoes on the balcony so the Wise Men will know where to leave their gifts. The children awaken in the morning and find their shoes overflowing with toys and fruit.

In Italy, on January 5, the eve of the Epiphany, Befana goes from home to home giving gifts to children. Her work will go on forever on Epiphany, in search of the Christ Child.

According to legend, Befana lived in a cottage by a road where a caravan of men, dressed as kings and riding camels, stopped to ask the way to Bethlehem. They told Befana that they were in search of a new born child who was to be a king. She was asked to go with the caravan, but she refused because her husband and child had just died from the plague and she wanted to remain at home.

The next day, a shepherd told her who the visitors were, and she decided to go to the child and give him clothes that her baby had worn. She could not find her way to Bethlehem, and since then, she has wandered in search of the Three Wise Men.

Each morning during the Christmas season, Italian families pray before the Presepio and light candles. The Presepio (as symbolic as a Christmas tree) is found in every Italian home. It has a bath like framework and is made of wood with three or four shelves. It is usually painted in several colors and decorated with tufts, tassels and greens. The upper shelves are used to hold gifts, candy, fruits and nuts. The infant Jesus is placed on the bottom shelf, surrounded by shepherds, saints and angels.

The Christmas celebration in Greece is somewhat filled with superstitions.

The traditional tree is not their symbol of Christmas. Instead, they have a shallow hanging bowl with small wire looped over the rim. A sprig of basil is wound around a wooden cross and kept soaking in the bowl with a small amount of water. Every day, the housewife sprinkle the entire house with the special water to keep the Killantzaroi away.

The Killantzaroi is believed to be a species of goblin. Once a year, emerges from the center of the earth and begins to pester people. It enters the house through the chimney and puts out the fire. It hops on peoples' backs and forces them to dance and break dishes. Although it does not physically harm anyone, it does a good job of irritating people.

In order to keep the Killantzaroi away, people either burn a pair of shoes on the hearth or three pork bones. They may also hang a tuft of old flax over the door. They believe that by the time it untangles the flax and counts each thread, the cock will crow and it will be daylight.

Another means of driving the Killantzaroi away is by coaxing it away with sweets and honey cakes, but the most commonly used method is the fire. They keep dried fruit-sprinkled logs burning for 12 days and believe the ashes will drive it away.

The chief preparations, though, are centered around the table, because after several weeks of fasting, the people are joyfully impatient to feast.

Also, a very popular custom in Greece is the parading of children on Christmas Eve. The children go from house to house singing carols and the boys either carry a metal triangle or a tiny clay drum.

As the United States celebrates the holiday of Christmas on December 25, the people in Japan think of this day in their country as any other working day.

The very big celebration they have is their New Year's festival, which starts on January 1 and ends January 3.

The entire family celebrates the first meal of the year at breakfast with waka-mizu (fresh well water). There are anywhere from 15 to 30 kinds of food served on New Year's Day. Such foods are mame (black beans), kachiguri (dried chestnuts), ozoni (hot soup), omochi (rice cakes), and hatsuni (fish). The food is traditional and never changes.

Never at any other time of the year will anyone see so many women, young girls and children dressed in colorful kimonos, visiting temples and shrines and visiting family elders and people to whom they have been indebted over the past year.

Small businesses and individuals worry about paying their debts and settling accounts before the new year begins.

For three days, not a shop will be open. The streets will be almost empty of traffic and the skies will be the bluest as pollution-making factories bring production to a halt.

This is Japan's greatest celebration and it is a festival that is celebrated by the entire nation.

The traditions of the Christmas tree (Tannenbaum) and Santa Claus both originated in Germany.

Here, a boy named Nicholas, who was an orphan, learned to make toys and other wooden objects because he lived with a carpenter when he was a young man. He told the children of the village to hang their stockings on their doors on Christmas Eve. He had saved all the toys he made over the years. On Christmas Eve, he put these toys in every child's stocking. From then on, he was called Saint Nicholas, and is known today as Santa Claus, the giver of presents to children.

After decorating the Christmas tree, German people have a Christmas dinner, traditionally consisting of knockwurst, boiled potatoes, Sauerbraten with potato pancakes and springeels (square hard cookies).

Americans aren't the only ones who decorate stores, streets and homes. The Germans love wreaths, garland, lights and Christmas tree ornaments. These decorations can be seen all over Germany.

"Carols by Candlelight," the biggest Christmas carol singing festival in the world, was initiated in Australia many years ago.

On Christmas Eve, an Australian radio announcer, Norman Banks, was coming home from his studio. While passing through a street, he heard a soft voice singing. When Banks looked through a window, he saw an old lady singing carols in time with the radio. This lady was holding a lit candle in her dark room.

This scene left a thought in Banks' mind. He gathered all the people he could on Christmas Eve. He asked each person to hold a lit candle and to join in the singing of the carols.

As some celebrate Christmas, there are others who are celebrating the Jewish Festival of Lights or Dedication, Hanukkah.

Hanukkah is celebrated for eight days beginning the 25th of the Hebrew month, Kislev (November-December).

In 165 B.C., after a three-year struggle, the Jews in Judea defeated the Syrian tyrant, Antiochus. They held festivities in the temple in Jerusalem and rededicated it to God. When Judas Maccabees' men were cleaning the temple, they found a single jar of holy oil, only enough to keep the Holy Lights before the Holy Ark burning for one day. But, miraculously, this one jar burned for eight days and nights. Judas Maccabees, the Jewish leader, then proclaimed a festival to be observed by Jews.

The big event of Hanukkah is the candle lighting ceremony commemorating the light that burned for eight days during the redemption of the temple.

Every night of the festival, the head of the household places candles in a special candelabrum called the menorah. In the presence of the whole family, he lights one candle the first night, two the second and so on until all eight candles are lit on the last night, always using a helper candle called the shammas to carry the flame. Gifts are exchanged and contributions made to the poor.
