Commission hears zoning arguments

By JOSEPH RYAN

Town Commissioners took no action Tuesday night after hearing nearly an hour long plea by Belleville resident Henry Chazewski against construction of an apartment and office building across from his home on Joralemon Street.

Chazewski, 730 Joralemon Street, spoke against a change in the "A" residential zone approved by the Board of Adjustment for construction of a six-unit business building. The Board of Commissioners must okay the Zoners' ruling before the application moves on to the Planning Board.

William Govell filed the application for construction on the 727 Joralemon Street site and local attorney Robert Gaccione represented him at the Commission's public hearing. The application originally went before the Board of Adjustment because an "A" residence zone prohibits commercial buildings. Public Works Commissioner Mary Senatore questioned why the application was brought before the Board before consideration by the Planning Board. Gaccione argued it is the Board of Adjustment's job to grant a variance and the Planners can only make recommendations on changes in the site plan.

Chazewski said the Zoners approved the variance with the understanding Joralemon is a County street, the area is overgrown and littered, and is not frequented by pedestrians, while in fact it is a town street, a clean lot, and used by walkers from the Bridgebrook Garden apartments.

Gaccione disputed ever calling Joralemon a County street and told the Commissioners the facts on the area submitted to the Zoners were compiled by experts. The lawyer noted the Board of Adjustment, the town's own experts, approved the variance, 5-0.

The Commissioners did pass a resolution against the suggested contingency of switching the town's water supply from Newark to the Passaic Valley system if there is a shortage this summer. Commissioner Senatore said James Connolly, of the Newark Water Department, raised the possibility in a phone call this week. Belleville has had a contract for water from Newark since the early 1900's.

One summons issued on right turn law

By MIKE COREY

After two months of the state ruling allowing motorists to turn right on a red traffic light, the Belleville police department reports the issuance of only one summons and no vehicular or pedestrian accidents because of the new regulation.

The biggest problem seems to be within the enforcement community itself because of the seeming ambiguity of the letter of the law.

The regulation states a driver "shall" make a right hand turn on red which in some municipalities is being interpreted as "must."

"In some towns the police are handing out summonses for not making the right hand turn on red and in other communities police are issuing tickets to drivers for honking their horns because the driver in front of them is not making the turn on the red light," said Captain Robert Russomano, chief of the traffic division of the Belleville police.

Belleville police are leaving it up to the discretion of the driver and will not penalize a motorist for not turning right when the signal is red.

"Everyone is different," stated Captain Russomano. "What is safe for one person to turn may not be safe for another. An older driver may have a little slower reaction and may not wish to make the turn until the light turns green."

Russomano also pointed out the psychological side of the issue explaining stopping at a red light is a learned behavior which becomes ingrained after so many years and going through it, even to make a right turn is something many people are still unsure about. "It will take time for some people to adjust to the change," stated the police captain. "We have been taught all our lives red means danger and now we are being asked to ignore that."

Allan H. Crisp, 65 was town historian

Services were held Wednesday morning at Wesley Methodist Church, Belleville, for Allan H. Crisp, founder and past president of the Belleville Historical Society, who died after a long illness in the Raritan Extended Care and Health Center, Saturday, at the age of 65.

A resident here until 1973 when he moved to Glen Ridge, Mr. Crisp relocated in East Hanover a year ago.

Mr. Crisp founded the Belleville Historical Society in 1963 and was recognized as the official town historian by the Belleville Commissioners in 1968.

An assistant treasurer for Thomas A. Edison Inc. of West Orange for 17 years, he worked for Texton Industries in New York from 1953 to 1968 and served as executive secretary of the Jewish Community Council in Newark from 1968 to 1973. He periodically wrote a column for the Belleville Times concerning Belleville history in the 1950s and 60s.

An active leader in civic affairs, Mr. Crisp was a former trustee of the Belleville Community Council, a member of the Belleville Foundation Scholarship Organization, former chairman of the Citizens School Building Advisory Committee and served as campaign chairman for Belleville's first United Fund campaign in 1958.

Please see "Crisp" on page 3.

Sports spectacular

Candidate views

There are only 49 days left until the School Board election and the four candidates express their views for the future of Belleville education and their past records on page 5.

Budget hearings

Public hearing on the proposed town budget is scheduled for March 31. Cost conscious citizens can get busy assessing the spending by perusing the budget legal prepared by Times News staffer Linda Kayser on page 8.

Court - ordered revaluation inspections have started

Revaluation inspections, designed to bring all Belleville real estate assessments to current market values, have started.

The court ordered program is being conducted by assessors of the Realty Appraisal Company, West New York, New Jersey, and is expected to take 10 months to complete. Realty Appraisal inspectors have been provided with a letter of identification containing the signature of the Commissioner of Revenue and Finance, Joseph McGreevy, and a photograph of the inspector. All residents should ask to see this identification and not permit anyone without proper credentials to enter the premises.

A complete assessment of the properties in Belleville requires an inspection of the inside and outside of all properties. The first reflection of the new property values will appear in the 1978 tax bills in town.

Realty Appraisal will maintain a local field office in Belleville Town Hall for the duration of the survey so residents who plan to be away for an extended period of time may contact the inspectors to arrange for an assessment date. A phone number to reach the inspectors, should be available within a week.

At the completion of the program, every taxpayer will be informed by mail of the appraised value of the property and will be given the opportunity to meet with representatives of the firm on an appointment basis to discuss the appraisal.

The Belleville Board of Commissioners approved a $149,000 appropriation to start revaluation on December 28 last year, after the Commissioners had been under a court order to do so since August 1976.

Senior notes

By GEORGE CHENOWETH

The members of the Belleville Retired Mens Club will hold their 21st annual birthday luncheon on Wednesday April 13 at the Fewsmith Church Hall. Ladies are invited again this year. The Old Guard of Nutley Orchestra will furnish the music for the listening and dancing pleasure of the members and guests.

It is with a sad note that we mourn the passing of our friends and fellow members, Charles Zimmer, James Gilmartin and Howard Minion. Our sincerest sympathies to their families.

The Belleville Senior Citizens Club, as was hoped for, have again been fortunate in obtaining instructors, from the Essex County Senior Services. The physical exercise class will resume on Wednesdays at 12:30 p.m. The choral group will reconvene at the usual time on Mondays. The Italian Culture class is winding down and the program chairlady, Helen Reynolds will try to replace it with some other popular, instructive pastime.

The St. Patrick's Day Luncheon has been over-subscribed, no more tickets available, the entertainment committee informs us. Most of the members understand why the number of tickets is limited, we try to accommodate as many members as possible comfortably and safely. On March 15th Sheriff Cryan's office will send speakers and a movie on safety tips and crime prevention for the elderly.

The Essex County Office on Aging has informed us that many senior citizens have neglected to take their second deduction on the New Jersey State Income Tax. Remember that senior citizens are entitled to both the standard deduction and the "65 and over" deduction. Not signed but awaiting the governor's signature is the exemption of any tax for seniors pensions of above $10,000 for a couple or $7,500 for single. These amounts are on a yearly basis and of course Social Security income is not taxable.

More getting supplements

About 80,284 needy aged, blind, and disabled people in New Jersey received $11,921,000 in supplemental security income payments in 1976, according to William A. Fogarty, social security manager in Newark.

Of that amount $40,218,000 was paid to aged recipients, $1,573,000 to the blind, and $70,130,000 to the disabled, Fogarty said.

Of the total payments in New Jersey, the Federal share in 1976 was $90,710,000 and Federally-administered State supplementary payments added $21,211,000.

Nationwide, the number of persons receiving SSI was 4.3 million and payments totalled $5.9 billion in 1976.

Supplemental security income is a Federally-administered program that pays monthly checks to people in financial need who are 65 or older and to people in need at any age who are blind or disabled.

THE AIM of SSI is to provide monthly checks so that needy people 65 or older, or blind or disabled, can have a basic cash income—$167.80 a month for one person, and $251.80 for a married couple.

"Not every person gets that much in his supplemental security income check every month," Fogarty said. "Some people may get less because they have other income. Some get more because they live in a State that adds money to the Federal payment."

Supplemental security income is not the same as social security, even though the program is run by the Social Security Administration. The money for SSI checks comes from general funds of the U.S. Treasury.

St. Peter's School sets registration

Saint Peter's School has openings in kindergarten and first, third, fourth, fifth, and seventh grades for the fall semester of 1977 and registration dates have been announced for March 15 and 17. Kindergarten students must be 5-years old by December 31 and first graders should be six by the same date. Birth and baptism records are required and no child will be accepted without three DPT and booster shots along with the oral polio immunization and rubella and measles vaccines.

The cost is $150 per student, $350 for three or more children for those supporting St. Peter's Parish and $300 for those not supporting St. Peter's Parish.

Registration in the school office will take place at 1 p.m. March 15 and 1 and 7 p.m. March 17.

PTA events scheduled and changed

Due to the energy crisis there has been a change in the date and place of the Belleville Junior High School Card Party. The new date is Wednesday, April 13 and the new location is the Belleville Senior High School.

Another PTA sponsored event is the Board of Education Election Day Cake Sale to be held on Tuesday, March 29, from 2 to 9 p.m. PTA members will be asked to donate 'a cake or a dollar' for the sale. Chairman for both events is Mrs. Jeanette Frano.

Aging office issues IDs and directory

Bernard J. Gallagher, Director Essex County Office on Aging, has announced a two-pronged thrust aimed at expediting the facility with which senior citizens in Essex County can obtain the services they require.

The first step is the introduction of a uniform identification system whereby all seniors will be issued ID cards to give country-wide identity to their status as older residents of the area. Secondly, an updated Senior Services Directory, details the essential and recreational services provided for seniors in the county with the locations and telephone number of each facility included.

The standardized identification card will enable the senior to obtain vital services and merchant's discounts provided in many Essex Communities, not only the town in which he or she resides. An updated services Directory is a complement to the ID program as all essential services in the areas of housing, nutrition, health, transportation and finances are listed as well as the major recreation facilities which are offered.

Seniors aged 60 and over who wish to obtain county identification cards should call the Essex County Office on Aging, 751-6050. The convenient registration sites to which they will be directed will furnish them with the Identification Card and a copy of the Directory of Senior Services. Their names will also be placed on the mailing list for the The Full Life, the newsletter of pertinent information for seniors published monthly by the Office on Aging.

The traffic chief also points out a little known danger in the regulation. "Sometimes a driver will daydream when he is sitting waiting for the light to change to green. When he sees the car ahead of him move, even if it is turning, he doesn't bother to check the signal he just automatically moves too."

The Belleville traffic division currently prohibits any right turns when the light is red at intersections where school crossing guards are present. "Eventually this may change," stated Russomano. "As time goes on we may allow turns at certain intersections during specific hours but as of now we have no plans to do so."

Generally Belleville police report local drivers have adjusted to the new law without any difficulty although they do remind motorists to come to a complete stop before making the right turn on red.

"We're currently passing along any recommendations we have to the New Jersey Transportation Department," said Captain Russomano. "But it will take at least a year to compile the data and study it before any conclusions can be reached about the effectiveness of the program."

United Way effort raises record amount

The Belleville United Way drive, ended January 31 with a record final total of $8,474, Belleville Town Chairman James J. Cozzarelli, Jr. announced recently.

"This was a hard year to raise money," said Cozzarelli. "In spite of this, we made 22 percent more than last year. With the groundwork done by this year's committee, I am confident that Belleville's support of United Way will be better every year. This is the first year we have made a real impact on the business community. Frank Custode of Fashion EyeWear was business chairman and he was helped by a Loaned Executive from Public Service, Mr. Robert Knudsen. In the residential campaign, five telephone chairmen, Ann Boxer, Tom Spillane, Sue DiRuggiero, Olympia Cozzarelli and Bill Cunningham, did a splendid job of organizing telephone nights. Comm. Rocco Saletta served as chairman of the municipal campaign. The 22% increase in our total was the direct result of the hard work done by these people."

Cozzarelli went on to explain that the funds raised in this campaign will be allocated to more than one hundred human services, many of which serve the people of Belleville.

"Working with United Way this closely has shown me the great advantage of the United Way-system of fund raising," said Cozzarelli. "A agency-budgets are studies carefully to make sure the money is allocated to the most important services. Much of this work is done by volunteers who serve on allocation committees."

The show must go on!

State officials are presently studying a wide variety of proposals to control gambling casinos in Atlantic City. Among the debated items are the maximum number of hours a casino can be opened each day, credit limitations, dress codes and policies concerning alcohol.

Also being debated is the business of providing entertainment such as that offered by the hotels of Las Vegas.

The reaction by nearby states to New Jersey's authorizing gambling casinos in Atlantic City is obvious: sooner or later, casinos will open up in or around New York City and in Pennsylvania's Poconos.

Atlantic City has the head start, of course. But if the great hotels of the Poconos or Catskills not only offer casino gambling but also top entertainment by the biggest names in show business, what will then become of Atlantic City?

New Jersey now has an obvious advantage over our neighbors with casino gambling: time. But there were many of us who were not enthusiastic with the business of gambling in the first place.

Now that casinos are coming, however, we urge New Jersey to permit entertainment, along lines similar to those in Las Vegas. High-class night-club acts, concerts and shows in Atlantic City not only will give New Jersey a continuing edge over future competition, but will make the famed Boardwalk attractive not only to casino players, but to persons desiring a weekend of top-flight entertainment.

Permitting the world's top entertainers to perform in Atlantic City would help insure that any recovery in the shore economy would not be short-lived.

Senator Case reports on energy conservation

By SEN. CLIFFORD CASE

Along with a group of 20 other members of the Senate and the House, I have introduced a package of seven bills designed to promote the development and use of energy conservation, solar energy and other nonconventional energy technologies.

This is an important effort. The actions proposed in the bills will not, in the absence of many other actions in regard to energy policy, prevent future energy crises. But they will help to keep more homes warm and more factories in operation in the event of another prolonged cold spell in the future.

A recent report by the Congressional Office of Technology Assessment, after a study focused specifically on New Jersey, found that our energy problems will be solved only by putting together many relatively small conservation and supply programs. The seven bills my colleagues and I introduced will begin that effort.

The one of the seven bills of which I was the chief sponsor will establish a program designed to broaden markets for American technology by encouraging use of small, decentralized energy systems to meet the needs of developing countries. The technologies involved in this program include solar, wind, energy conservation and others that do not require a central power plant.

The program will help developing countries reduce their dependence on high priced imported oil and centralized nuclear energy projects that can be distorted into nuclear weapons projects. It will be of help to this country because establishment of a broader market will permit greater use of automated production lines which result in reduced costs.

One of our other six bills provides grants for up to 20 to 25 percent of the cost of solar energy conservation and other renewable energy source equipment for those whose incomes are less than $30,000 a year. Low interest loans will be available for all homeowners, regardless of income level, to cover 75 percent of the cost of energy conservation equipment, up to a maximum of $4,000, and solar or other renewable energy source equipment up to a maximum of $10,000. Small businesses, non-profit groups and neighborhood, partnership and community service projects also will be eligible for these loans.

Another of our bills provides a tax credit to those who invest in energy conservation and renewable energy systems. These include insulation, storm windows and doors, solar energy, geothermal energy and wind energy systems. For energy conservation in the home, the maximum tax credit will be 30 percent of the amount spent up to a maximum of $750. For renewable energy devices, the maximum credit will be 40 percent of the first $1,500 and 25 percent of any additional expenditure, with a maximum credit of $2,500 per taxpayer. Those maximums are for those in the lower income brackets. The maximum decreases as the amount of income increases.

In an effort to have the Federal government set an example and to broaden the market for devices that conserve energy or rely on inexhaustible energy sources, one of our bills encourages conversion of the energy systems in existing Federal buildings and inclusion of these devices in new Federal buildings.

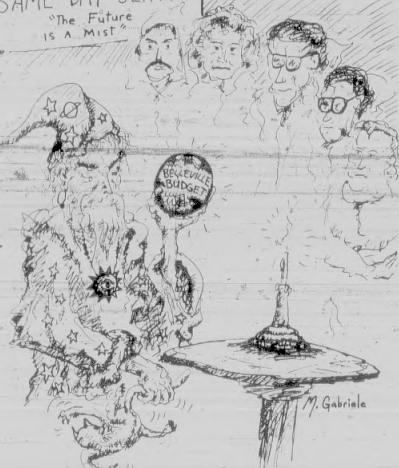

To enable small businesses to do more research, development and demonstration of promising energy related inventions, another one of our bills authorizes the Small Business Administration to establish a fund of $75 million for direct, guaranteed or immediate participation loans to small firms.

Our other two bills seek to encourage the use of solar and wind energy in agriculture in this country.

Taken together, our bills comprise a sound and necessary response to a most important problem.

Golden Comments

By James R. Golden

An objective observation and analysis of recent news events projects a foreboding picture of coming events that run a wide range of matters that should be of significant concern to us all, matters that should provoke thought and action to try a little harder to acquaint ourselves with the problems and become personally involved in trying to correct or at least improve them.

Seemingly headlines such as: Nutley reevaluation hikes homeowners taxes; Courts, Legislature faulted at seminar; foes unable to stop Congress pay hike; Defiant Imperiale files for gubernatorial-Senate campaigns; state delegation winces while swallowing loss and court's federal Judge H. Curtis Meador rules congressional immunity must be respected "even if it means only congressman may go free."

There are sad, sad, implications inherent in every one of these news events that forcibly shows the rip-off that John Q. Citizen, we the little people are getting and will continue to get unless we band together and shake off the casual indifference we have too long accorded important matters affecting our lives and that of our families.

Let's briefly analyze the significance of the aforementioned news captions. In Nutley, homeowners this year will be paying higher taxes, an average 12 percent over last year, while industrial property and apartments will be paying less than before, all because of reevaluation in that town. Belleville will get reevaluation this year. Knowing what you can expect, do you like that?

Congressmen who could have blocked a $13,000 a year pay raise by voting it down, merely adjourned without a vote, we could know who the greedy ones were. So not they all get $57,500 a year along with the scheduled cost-of-living increase in October of between $2,800 and $3,700 which becomes automatic, unless they vote to bar it.

The hypocrites preach curb inflation, tell us to tighten our belts, then they cowardly back into the windfall we have to pay for by their taking a "powder" so they couldn't single the culprits out. What did they do?

Our popular State Senator Tony Imperiale, fuming over a political move to bar him from running for both Governor and reelection as Senator at the same time, did just that by filing for both positions "to make sure we'll have Lords" (the Senate) and Joe (Sen. Majority Leader Joseph Merlino) they are not going to dictate to me."

One thing is certain. The party political powers are fearful of Senator Imperiale because he reflects the views and sentiments of the people, rather than those of the politicians. It's good we have a guy like him around.

Of New Jersey's representatives in Congress, only three were reported for their $13,000 pay hike. The others criticized the Democratic leadership for not bringing the issue to a vote and called it inappropriate for Congress to give itself such a raise while they are serving their own term. Congresswoman Fenwick pointed out New Jersey doesn't allow pay raises to take effect in the same session.

At a recent seminar discussion, a dim view was taken of the future conditions of the courts and legislature. Senator Wallwork saw injection of political influence in the state's school system. Former Judge Irwin I. Krimmman stated the "courts have become more powerful by default, because the other branches of government have been unable to cope with complex issues." He charged the courts can act with "impunity" because they are responsible to no one.

Our Senator Tony Imperiale speaking frankly, as he always does, placed the blame for the "cancerous" condition of the state on the individual, saying, "You are equally guilty if you don't use the facts as the politicians who bend the law." Imperiale explained, "If you remain complacent, then how can you expect your representative to remain anything but complacent?"

The message is clear, more of us must become more active in molding the decisions of our courts and government to fit the needs and wants of the people. We must participate more.

Letters

Government change urged

To the Editor:

Do you own property? Do you own a home? Do you pay taxes? Do you pay rent? Do you believe you are being ripped off by the School Board with its ten million dollar school budget which you are still paying illegally under a decision handed down by the state's highest court?

Do you disagree with the politicians in Washington who have the power without your consent to vote themselves a raise of $13,000 as an extra bonus paid by the people in the form of many new tax programs which has created more serious problems for all of us?

Do you disagree with some politicians in town and state that jumped the fence and took back the crumbs they gave us by approving a new state income tax?

If your answer to these questions is yes, then we must get together and fight back now to protect ourselves and homes and families, and change both our forms of government.

The Commission form of government has outlived its usefulness and should be put in moth balls. In my opinion the Board of Education does not represent all sections in town. Under an appointed Board there will be one Board member for each ward and one at large for a total of five.

The Constitution of the United States is the law of the land. It should be recognized by all branches of government all over the nation including the cities, not just Watergate. Yet it is being violated by the state and others in power.

It cannot be superceded by any state laws or charters and should be upheld by all judges that serve on the bench in the name of justice.

That is the greatest legal document written by our forefathers 200 years ago to protect all the people against harmful acts by some politicians. It can only be changed by an act of Congress, but that will never happen. Here in Belleville, as in other cities the people have the power to change their form of government, if it does not serve the people as it should.

The School Board does not have the guts to demand the state pick up the $10 million School Board budget and remove it from the tax bill. If the government can use the schools students as guinea pigs to have his unpopular income state tax approved, the Board of Education could have done the same to get the funds from the state. It would have been interesting to watch the results.

With a man like Risoli on the Board, he has the courage to speak up on matters of this nature. Let's give him a chance.

Elks lodge thanked for troop support

To the Editor:

The mothers of Boy Scouts of America, Elk Troop 364, sincerely thank the Belleville Lodge 1123, B.P.O. Elks, for sponsoring this troop of handicapped boys.

Specifically for their many contributions that enabled the boys to attend sporting and social events, supplying camping equipment, jackets, use of the facilities at the lodge and the many other ways the members of this Belleville Lodge have contributed their time, money and effort in helping to keep the boys of Elk Troop 364 active and happy.

Belleville looks to the stars

By JOSEPH RYAN

When the Belleville Commissioners approved the proposed 1977 budget two weeks ago, it was on a day labeled by astrologers as the worst for the next 25 years. Evidently the planets were so misaligned, any enterprise initiated that day was doomed to a dubious future.

It's hard to believe the position of Pluto relative to Jupiter could have any effect on Belleville's budget but the Board of Commissioners could avoid any future snubbing of the solar system by hiring a Town Astrologer. This local star-gazer would sit in on all town meetings and offer the disposition of the Milky Way on Belleville business. The astrologer could consult obscure charts and cite vague universal rules to guide the government in a capacity similar to the Town Attorney's.

If there is trouble with Civil Service on the classification of the oracle's post, the job could be filled on a consultant basis. Belleville already pays for a public relations firm, why not planetary relations? This way the town could at least avoid confrontations with the house of Saturn. Trenton provides enough difficulty.

As a public service the Times/News has already asked local astrologer Constance Del Fuego for a preview of things to come if Belleville remains incommunicado with the stars. She reports:

"April could be a cruel month due to the blossoming of the Branch Brook Park Cherry Blossoms in the house of Aries, necessitating the unforeseen arrival of 5,000 Japanese tourists, who will roam Washington Avenue searching for motel space.

"A shark sighted in Lake Louise this June will cause a hectic week for Moon Children and the Parks Department.

Swimming at the spot will be banned and the Public Safety Commissioner will seek emergency appropriations for scuba gear.

"In September the conjunction of Neptune and the air signs will produce potholes and overtime for the Public Works crews. A week later Venus will move into the house of Mars and create a sensation in Public Affairs.

"Acting under the influence of the goat, the Board of Commissioners will move in December to petition Trenton for an extension of 1977, calling the past 12 months a poor excuse for a year. Trenton, a Taurus town, will deny Belleville but grant Newark six extra weeks."

Ms. Del Fuego also said the stars do not compel, they merely impel but added if she is not hired, she won't be responsible for "the frogs of November 16th."

Risoli: schools prepare for 21st century life

I believe that an effective school system is one that helps the children of the community to meet their present needs and to develop a readiness for the demands of tomorrow. Bearing in mind that students currently enrolled in our schools will spend most of their adult lives in the Twenty-First Century, we seek to create a learning environment that will prepare them for that unknowable future.

If education is to be relevant to a society and world that are changing at a meteoric pace, schools cannot be rigidly structured with a rigid curriculum, the policies and programs of the system must be subject to continual review, re-evaluation and change. In this respect, there must be ongoing cooperation and communication among parents, educators, students and the community.

Each student needs to develop a concept of self-worth, dignity and respect for his fellowman. To this end, a school should be a humane society in which each individual learns to recognize and cope with the evils of prejudice in himself and in others, in all forms; such as religious, ethnic, racial, social, sex and intellectual.

Each student should be provided with tools of learning that will enable him to enjoy effective communication, according to his ability, through reading, writing and speaking. He should be helped to develop the skills, abilities and appreciations needed to achieve vocational, avocational and recreational fulfillment. He should be guided to develop a sense of purpose along with a sense of responsibility in personal, civic and social conduct.

Learning is a life-long process. Schools must keep alive the natural curiosity of a child and provide a climate that encourages him to formulate ideas, state opinions, ask meaningful questions, draw conclusions, gather and evaluate evidence, separate fact from opinions, predict consequences, and become aware of differing value systems.

These goals can be achieved within the present structure without any additional expense.

Schwartz considers issues objectively

The people of Belleville have come to realize that the education of their children and the policy which controls education is one of the most important responsibilities of any community and that this election has many more issues to be determined than just the personalities involved. That responsibility will greatly increase because of the new concept of "T & E". Schwartz, who has been instrumental in developing the state attitude toward "T & E", defends it as being one of the most important management tools, which will prove to be an innovation to the education process in the State of New Jersey.

During his six and one-half years as a Board member, Schwartz has concentrated his efforts on bringing necessary economies to the Belleville education system. He has proven his ability to remain objective, and as an individual Board member, and past president of the Belleville Board of Education, Schwartz's main goal was to bring the very best possible education to the students of Belleville without placing unreasonable demands upon the taxpayers.

If there was ever a time for experienced, qualified people to serve on the Belleville Board of Education, it is now. Schwartz is a local attorney with the firm of Schwartz & Fiolo. He was a former Essex County Assistant Prosecutor, a guest lecturer at Seton Hall Law School and is a graduate of Lafayette College and Rutgers Law School. He is currently serving as President of New Jersey School Board Association in which he represents all school boards throughout the State of New Jersey. Schwartz resides in Belleville with his wife Susan and two children, Stefanie and Scott. Both children are enrolled in the Belleville Public School system. His legal background has particular expertise to Belleville Board of Education and his law firm is located on Washington Avenue in Belleville.

The community of Belleville, well served by Schwartz as a member of the Belleville Board of Education during this recent crisis with the Number Three School fire. His expertise and experience were invaluable and his efforts in negotiating with the insurance company were crucial to the settlement.

Schwartz has proven his ability to consider all issues objectively.

Trail markers

Four candidates vying for three School Board seats are continuing their campaigns with statements and releases in the Times News this week.

The candidates personal statements or articles will be run in Campaign trail throughout the month of electioneering before the March 29 Trustee election.

During the campaign the material in this section will be edited due to space requirements.

Spray won't overlook educational resources

Political pundits and local taxpayers have crossed the bridge into a brave new world of understanding in the 1970s. Both now realize that the costs and complexities of modern government are too great to entrust any political office to just anyone even your best friend, or the nicest person in town. First-hand experience has taught the voter to be as cold and practical in selecting a candidate in an election as in choosing cocoa over coffee, chicken instead of veal, and the economy product (whatever it happens to be) over its high-priced, nicely packaged competitor. To be a good choice for Board of Education means to know what educating is about and to know how government must function to support it. That's what makes a woman like Viola Spray such a lucky find for a town like Belleville.

For example, take New Jersey's brand new, bright and shiny Thorough and Efficient Education Act of 1975. Born out of a parent's suit against the State (Robinson v. Cahill), the law was designed to ensure equal educational opportunities for all public school pupils, regardless of where they live. It was a victory toward expanding the role of parents and students in the decision-making processes concerning education.

In the past, Parent-Teacher organizations and lay school committees, appointed by some Boards of Education, were the only methods of citizen involvement — and rarely did such groups effect any decision making. Belleville residents have always had such associations at their disposal, and more recently, Belleville's Board of Education has attempted to consider their objections and ideas, together with those of school administrators, in carefully deciding what is best for the student and within the town's fiscal means.

Now "T & E" has come to Belleville. Each school district has its own Thorough and Efficient Education committee. At the elementary school level, parents, teachers and administrators are involved. At the Junior and Senior High School levels, students, teachers and administrators work together, since the student at this point is becoming mature enough to be concerned with and capable of judging his or her own needs and problems. Involvement of this type offers the student vital educational experience. Finally, there is a district-wide T & E committee, composed of parents, students, teachers, administrators, and Viola Spray, who represents the Board of Education.

Government is only as good as the people elected to do the job. That's why the bargain buy for the voter this month is Viola Spray (4A) for Board of Education on March 29.

Pica supports local control of Schoolers

One of the most serious and frustrating problems with which elected officials must deal today is the problem of change, not only because the changes that beset communities are so varied but because they happen so quickly. Twenty years ago, the problem for Boards of Education was a skyrocketing birth rate; how to best serve students in overpopulated classrooms, how to build new schools big enough and fast enough. Now, only two decades later, these same Boards are wondering what to do with the space; how to make better use of their facilities in the face of declining birth rates and, as a result, diminishing student populations. Well, the buildings are one problem, but Board Member Matthew Pica knows the areas for concern run deeper than brick structures, and they effect student, parent, and taxpayer alike.

For one thing, Pica supports local control of the School Boards. Despite the fact that state and federal funding is increasing, Matt Pica feels that it is imperative that members of the Board of Education be selective in their application for and of funding possibilities. Programs should be designed with an eye toward the future, not operated on a scatter-shot basis, ("If you hit an area of need, good"), whether they are curriculum programs or building programs, and the character of the town should be preserved, if improved, in establishing goals and priorities. "The Thorough and Efficient Education Act, administered by an honest and diligent group of officials, should be a tremendous help in establishing a sensible system of priorities for quality education at a price we can afford," Mr. Pica says.

"Second, but just as important, is the need for an in-depth study of the way we are utilizing our personnel," according to Matt Pica. "We have got to make certain that the energy of our educators is not dissipated by trying to cover too broad a spectrum of material, but that the cumulative effect of all our programs, at the very least, is designed to assure us that no student leaves the Belleville School System who is not thoroughly versed in the 3 R's: Reading, Riting and 'Rithmetic'."

No matter whether a young person is going on to college or chooses to be a carpenter or own a grocery store or drive a taxi-cab, that person must be able to read and understand what has been read, must be able to communicate verbally and through writing what he or she means to employers, teachers, friends, lovers, family, and that person must be able to add and subtract more than 2 and 2. There are business finances, family finances, and personal finances that every individual must be able to deal with to survive today and to survive with dignity.

"Without such basic knowledge, no one can even make proper use of common sense today, let alone go on to any more fulfilling aspects of education," notes Pica.

Jelly beans, hot cross buns, rabbits

Helen's thing

by Helen Maguire

LENT IS HERE with Easter fast approaching and much to Rod's delight, jelly beans are back in the supermarket. One of the twins spotted them a few weeks ago as we meandered through the Shop Rite, and demanded I buy them, not for herself but for her daddy who is close to addicted to them. A generous man in most respects, he is miserly when it comes to sharing his beans and the kids keep careful count of how many, if any, he gives to each one. It is much easier on my nerves and his temper if I purchase two bags, one for the father and one for the offspring.

Easter also means new duds in this house and here the battle begins. The girls will gladly get dressed up anytime, for any reason and in almost anything. Gavin is agreeable though not thrilled at the thought of a shirt and tie but Ryan is adamant in his refusal to get "fancied up." Unfortunately, fancied up to him means anything except jeans with patches on the knees, a shirt with his elbows peeking through the disreputable sneakers. He is happiest when he looks as if attired straight out of a missionary's barrel and I have long since given up wondering what his teachers think of his apparel.

ALTHOUGH THE kid is casual about his raiment, he is very organized when it comes to his life. He has his wife picked out, and his children named. We were discussing it the other day, the next generation of Maguires. "You know what about having kids, mom," he opined. "The mother gets all the pain the father gets all the pride." Astute observation, old man. I guess what he was saying didn't register with Nora, though. She asked him later if he was going to get married or was he going to be a nun boy. No way, my dear, no way.

This season also brings a culinary delight, hot cross buns. I purchased some Ash Wednesday, offered them for supper dessert. Gavin wanted to know if I planned to heat them in the oven. "If you don't," piped up another member of the quartet, "they'll be cold cross buns." Hot or cold, they were good and I miss them when they disappear from the shelves.

RYAN'S TEACHER has picked the play her class will perform next month and in keeping with the time of year, it deals with rabbits of assorted sizes and persuasions. My son will portray the White Rabbit from "Alice in Wonderland," and announced, as he handed me the script to read, that he will require a white rabbit suit, vest, jacket and pocket watch. The vest is no problem. With new buttons, the one he wore for the Bicentennial will serve nicely. I can even rustle up an appropriate jacket and the pocket watch I envision as the top of a margarine container.

What has me stumped however is the rabbit suit. I found a pattern for one in a pattern book and the copy accompanying it promises easy construction. Hal Does anyone out there have a rabbit suit to fit a third grader for rent?

Betrothal Has Been Announced Of Barbara Chase, Robert Kulik

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Chase of 110 Beech Street announce the engagement of their daughter, Barbara to Robert Kulik, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Kulik of Clifton.

The troth was made known on Christmas Day and a family dinner was held for the couple at the Robin Hood Inn, Clifton.

Miss Chase, a 1974 graduate of Nutley High School, attends Fairleigh Dickinson University, Rutherford, as does Mr. Kulik, an alumnus of Clifton High School. Both are music education majors. A summer 1978 wedding is planned.

Mountainside Hospital Is Named Emergency Heart Care Station

The Mountainside Hospital has just become the first hospital in New Jersey to be certified by the American Heart Association as an Emergency Heart Care Station.

This designation means the hospital is committed to giving priority emergency treatment to patients with chest pains or other symptoms of cardiac distress; and that the hospital has the facilities, equipment, and trained personnel to provide the best possible care.

Actual certification came from the Essex County Heart Association February 14, following an on-site inspection by its Coronary Committee.

The Emergency Heart Care Station concept was developed by the American Heart Association to save more lives. Delayed treatment — through the hesitancy of people to seek help, and the lack of adequate and available emergency medical services — account for some of the more than 700,000 deaths from heart failure each year in America. About half of these people die one to two hours after the onset of symptoms, without reaching a hospital.

As a heart care station, Mountainside will treat as a cardiac emergency any person arriving with chest pains or other symptoms of myocardial infarction (heart attack). He will have instant access to cardiac monitoring equipment and receive all needed care to stabilize him as soon as possible.

VFW Auxiliary national president honored Saturday

The Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars, State of New Jersey will honor its National president, Mary Souder, at a dinner Saturday at 7:00 p.m. at the Holiday Inn, North Brunswick. Rosemary Mazer acting chairlady.

Reception will be held tomorrow at 9:00 p.m. at Hopelawn Memorial Post.

Attending the dinner on Saturday evening from Stuart E. Edgar Post, 493 Ladies Auxiliary will be their president Imelda Beyer, Frances Sentner, Kathryn Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond-Bauderman, Rose Thompson, all of Nutley and Dorothy Lang.

April J. Winters, Charlotte Leary Walter Kepeck Jr. prospective bride of Thomas Leeds

Mrs. Marion Dean of 37 Linden Avenue announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss April Jean Winters to Walter L. Kepeck Jr. of Newark.

The troth was made known Christmas Eve.

Miss Winters, an alumna of Belleville High School, is with The Motor Club of Hackensack.

Mr. Kepeck, an alumnus of Essex Catholic High School, is with Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company.

The wedding will be held September 10.

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Leary of 46-Overhill Avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Charlotte M. to Thomas B. Leeds, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Leeds of Absecon.

Miss Leary, a graduate of Belleville High School and Montclair State College, is a staff auditor for Midlantic Banks, Inc. West Orange.

Mr. Leeds, an alumnus of Rutgers University, is pursuing his MBA degree, at Rutgers Graduate School of Business.

Mountainside Hospital is named Emergency Care Heart Station

The Mountainside Hospital has just become the first hospital in New Jersey to be certified by the American Heart Association as an Emergency Heart Care Station.

This designation means the hospital is committed to giving priority emergency treatment to patients with chest pains or other symptoms of cardiac distress; and that the hospital has the facilities, equipment, and trained personnel to provide the best possible care.

Actual certification came from the Essex County Heart Association February 14, following an on-site inspection by its Coronary Committee.

The Emergency Heart Care Station concept was developed by the American Heart Association to save more lives. Delayed treatment — through the hesitancy of people to seek help, and the lack of adequate and available emergency medical services — account for some of the more than 700,000 deaths from heart failure each year in America. About half of these people die one to two hours after the onset of symptoms, without reaching a hospital.

As a heart care station, Mountainside will treat as a cardiac emergency any person arriving with chest pains or other symptoms of myocardial infarction (heart attack). He will have instant access to cardiac monitoring equipment and receive all needed care to stabilize him as soon as possible.

Symptoms of a heart attack can include: pressure, fullness or squeezing pain in the chest, possibly spreading to the shoulders, neck or arms; dizziness, fainting, shortness of breath, sweating, and nausea. Symptoms may subside and then return.

This Emergency Heart Care Station designation was one of the long-range planning goals of the Board of Trustees. David R. Gross, director of ambulatory services, which includes emergency services, is carrying out his commitment to making emergency services at Mountainside the finest in the region.

Emergency services have been reorganized under the direction of Michael D. Berger, M.D., consultant and acting director of the Department of Emergency Medicine. The department is now staffed with only full time physicians committed to emergency medicine as a specialty. And the skills of all personnel have been upgraded.

To attain the heart care station designation, Mountainside followed specific guidelines of the American Heart Association. Emergency nurses and physicians completed intensive weekend courses on advanced cardio-pulmonary resuscitation in accordance with heart association standards.

In addition to the basic skills of emergency cardiac massage and ventilation, all registered nurses in the department can identify key arrhythmias (patterns of irregular heart beats displayed on a monitor), can use various cardiac emergency drugs, can insert intravenous lines, and know the techniques of defibrillation (a method of correcting uncoordinated twitching of the heart).

Mountainside also augmented its emergency department equipment, including the purchase of a portable life pack. This device monitors the patient's heart as he is transferred from emergency services to the coronary care unit. And it has defibrillation capabilities if needed during the transfer.

The area volunteer rescue and ambulance squad members play a role in the heart care station's success.

A Hard Life — Fruits and vegetables have it tough getting from farm to consumer. Investigators at Rutgers University research center studying ways to prevent spoilage estimate produce losses at $150 million in the metropolitan area and ten times that nationwide.

Life of fruit, vegetables fraught with many pitfalls

Like other living things, the life of the average fruit or vegetable is fraught with pitfalls.

Produce is subject to changes in temperature, attack by bacteria and fungi, and cuts and bruises caused by rough handling. All of these factors contribute to a shortened "shelf life."

"Most people don't realize that the fruits and vegetables, purchased in supermarkets, are 'living things,'" says Raymond A. Cappellini, professor of plant pathology at Rutgers' Cook College.

"Great care must be taken to maintain the quality of produce throughout the marketing process," he said.

Dr. Cappellini and his colleague Michael J. Ceponis, a United States Department of Agriculture plant pathologist, are principal investigators in a new unit at Rutgers University which concerns itself with research to prevent spoilage of produce.

The Agricultural Experiment Station and the USDA have been officially operating a "Post Harvest Research Center" for almost a year.

The investigators are principally concerned with factors that cause huge annual produce losses to the public.

Ceponis notes that studies over the past decade on 20 leading produce crops marketed in the New York metropolitan area indicated that half the loss is caused by disease, about 40 per cent by mechanical injury and the rest by such conditions as overripeness and injurious temperature changes.

For example, a "conservative estimate" of tomato losses amounts to about 20 million pounds annually. Dollarwise, total produce losses are estimated to be at least $150 million in the metropolitan area and ten times that nationwide.

The Research Center's efforts involve purchasing produce at various markets, or harvesting them if they are in season, storing them under simulated market or home conditions, and laboratory investigation of the cause of spoilage and methods to prevent it.

For example, several years ago Ceponis was alerted to a market situation in which sweet potatoes from southern states became so hard after cooking they were inedible. In the metropolitan area alone, up to a million pounds of sweet potatoes were discarded annually because of this disorder. He and his colleagues at Rutgers discovered the nature of the disorder and found a way of preventing it by a simple manipulation of the storage temperature.

More recently the investigators discovered a safe chemical treatment for preventing mold on peaches and keeping them in a relatively disease-free state.

Currently the Research Center has turned its attention to blueberries which is one of the State's principal indigenous crops. Investigators have identified a vulnerable site on the berry where most decays begin and have found a chemical which, along with proper refrigeration, will prevent the decays.

The treatment, presently used for citrus fruit, has not yet been approved for use on blueberries pending further study.

Successful application of the process, however, could open up a large European market for New Jersey blueberries, by keeping them fresh for the long trip overseas, Ceponis says.

Educational efforts are also aimed at shippers and retailers through periodic seminars at Cook College on proper handling.

"What has to be remembered," Dr. Cappellini says, "is that fruits and vegetables are just as alive as we are, and if they get injured they are vulnerable to disease or decay."

The plant pathologist also offers some advice to consumers, who often bear the brunt of the economic loss, either directly or indirectly.

Snow Queen Contest tomorrow evening at The Chandelier

Six young ladies will be competing for the title of Essex County Snow Queen when the CYO hosts its annual Snowball Cotillion tomorrow night at The Chandelier in Belleville.

Vying for the tiara that was won last year by Terry Genardi of Holy Family CYO in Nutley, will be Maria Siclari of Holy Family, Cherie Terminello of St. Cassian's, Upper Montclair; Rose Marie Toscano of St. Peter's, Belleville; Joanne Diver of Notre Dame, North Caldwell; Carol Wells of Our Lady of Lourdes, West Orange, and Dianna Barron of Immaculate Heart of Mary, Maplewood.

Music for the Cotillion, which includes a full-course dinner, will be provided by "Apocalypse." The dress will be semi-formal, and the affair will extend from 7 to 11 p.m.

Belleville Jaycees sponsor bike-hike

The Belleville Jaycees will be participating in the 1977 Bike-Hike for retarded citizens on April 27. The concept of the Bike-Hike is to have youths and adults walk or ride their bikes on the route that has been set up, and to be sponsored for each mile he or she walks.

The contributions will help to create additional opportunities for the retarded citizens of New Jersey and will accelerate public awareness and concern for the retarded.

The hike is being sponsored by the New Jersey Jaycees and the New Jersey Association for Retarded Citizens. The Coordinator of the NJARC is Nancy Rubin. The Jaycees and the NJARC are interested in the welfare of the mentally retarded.

Anyone interested in participating in this hike, as a rider, walker or sponsor please call Jim Lupo, Jr. at 759-8782 or Robert Boyer at 759-2988, who are acting as co-chairmen in Belleville.

Lucas will address Rotary on airport

The transformation of one of the nation's major airports into a more modern air terminal capable of handling the sophisticated aircraft of the future will be discussed at a meeting of the Belleville Rotary Club on Wednesday, March 23, 12:15 p.m. at The Chancellor, 338 Franklin Avenue in Belleville.

Newark International Airport, the country's pioneer commercial air terminal, and already the second busiest air cargo center in the world, is being redeveloped by the Port Authority at a cost of over $400,000,000.

Jim Lucas of the Port Authority will be guest speaker. He will supplement his remarks with color slides of what the "new" Newark International Airport looks like now, and when fully redeveloped, will be able to handle increasing passenger volumes and international service.

Lucas joined the staff of the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey in 1958 as a Civil Engineer.

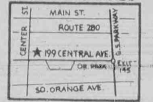

In his present position, Lucas is responsible for all functions of Maintenance at LaGuardia Airport, in which he oversees some 300 personnel.

During his tenure with the Port Authority, Lucas has held positions of increasing responsibility in Construction, Design Division, as a Staff Engineer, and Terminals Services Supervisor.

He is a graduate of Howard University, Washington, D.C., with a Bachelor of Science degree in Civil Engineering.

* See Budget Appropriation Items so marked to the right of column "Expenditure 1976 Reserved."

Explanation of Appropriations for "Other Expenses"
The amounts appropriated under the title of "Other Expenses" are for operating costs other than "Salaries and Wages."
Some of the items included in "Other Expenses" are:
Material supplies and nonbondable equipment.
Repairs and maintenance of buildings, equipment, roads, etc.
Contract services for garbage and trash removal, fire hydrant service, aid to volunteer fire companies, etc.
Printing and advertising, utility service, insurance and many other items essential to the service rendered by municipal government.

The 1977 Municipal Budget presented hereto includes an estimated Local Tax Rate of $1.92 per $100.00 of assessed valuations, compared with the 1976 actual rate of $1.95, or an estimated decrease of 3 points.

Following is a tabulation of the estimated tax rate for Municipal Purposes for 1977, in comparison with 1976.

Tax Amounts	1977	1976	Increase	1977	1976	Increase
	Estimated	Actual	Decrease	Estimated	Actual	Decrease
For Municipal Purposes	$3,304,245.33	$3,223,449.48	$180,795.85	$1.46	$1.39	$0.07
For Reserve for Uncollected Taxes	1,088,762.47	1,133,005.85	44,243.38	.46	.47	-.01
Total Local Tax for Municipal Purposes	4,393,007.80	4,356,455.33	36,552.47	1.92	1.86	.06
For Veterans and Senior Citizens Tax		186,770.00	186,770.00		.09	.09
Credits (Town Share)		$4,533,225.33	$50,217.53		$1.95	$3.03
Total on Which Rate is Computed	$4,393,007.80	$4,533,225.33	$50,217.53
Assessed Valuations	$239,818,200.00	$239,436,300.00

The above comparison deals only with municipal purposes. Water and School tax levies and rates cannot be forecast at this time, the provisions governing the preparation of the Local Municipal Budget. The County Budget and its distributive effect on our town has not been determined as of this date and the amount to be raised by taxation for School Purposes will not be determined until the School Election, to be held on March 29, 1977. When School and County Taxes are finally determined their effect on the 1977 tax rate will be made known to taxpayers. It should be noted that the rate calculated for 1977 does not include provision for Veteran and Senior Citizens Tax Credits, since the State imposed this obligation as part of the so-called State "Income Tax Package".

Appropriations for "Municipal Purposes" exclusive of the "Reserve for Uncollected Taxes" show an increase in 1977 over 1976, in the sum of $440,100.00 as indicated in the following tabulation:

Appropriation	1977	1976	Amount	Percentage
Operating	$4,715,536.06	$4,484,261.19	$231,274.87	5.15
Salaries and Wages	1,719,213.63	1,680,798.23	38,415.40	2.28
Other Expenses	6,434,749.71	6,167,199.52	267,550.19	4.34
Capital Improvements	187,735.00	204,735.00	(17,000.00)	-8.31
Mandatory Appropriations
Municipal Debt Service	5,000.00	5,000.00
Deferred Charges and Statutory
Expenditures	1,263,313.50	1,075,713.63	187,599.87	17.44
Total	$7,892,798.21	$7,425,648.15	$467,150.06	6.29

 Combine all segments of appropriations with 5% CAP and excluding 5% CAP.

After deliberations on the details of departmental requests, operating appropriations have been set at minimum levels to continue to provide needed services. In this connection it is pointed out that a substantial portion of operating expenses is determined by contractual obligations for both Salary and Other Expense elements, over which the Governing Body has little or no control.

Current revenues for 1977, in the sum of $4,393,007.80, are in excess of the 1976 sum of $4,356,455.33, in addition to increases in our regular revenue sources, which were anticipated at available levels. This budget anticipates two new items which were allocated to the Town. These consist of State Revenue Sharing, in the sum of $262,571.14, which will be a distribution out of State income tax funds and Public Works Employment Act of 1976, Anti-Recession - Item II funds, in the sum of $108,000, representing a distribution of Federal funds for this purpose.

The Municipal Budget for the year 1977 has been prepared within the constraints imposed by Chapter 68, Public Law of 1976, commonly referred to as the "5% CAPS" law. This law imposes a limit on municipal expenditures, which, for the Town of Belleville is calculated as follows:

Local Appropriations for 1976	1976

State police will encourage 55mph national speed limit

Colonel Clinton L. Pagano announced the beginning of the State Police Mobile Radar Speed Enforcement Program geared to encourage maximum compliance with the 55 miles per hour national speed limit.

A $280,000 Federal grant for the purchase of 290 mobile radar units has been processed through the State Office of Highway Safety and approved by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration. An initial shipment of 60 instruments arrived in February and troopers have been trained as operator-instructors. As additional shipments are received through March and April, patrol troopers will be trained and the units will be phased into operation. Enforcement experience will be monitored throughout this period and full implementation is expected by mid-April.

Colonel Pagano said, "After extensive testing of the mobile radar units and careful analysis of their use by other enforcement agencies, we are convinced of their value in our specific effort to control the speed factor in our overall Accident Reduction Program.

"We are committed to the conservation of energy and continuation of the present trend toward reduction of highway deaths and injuries due to excessive speed.

"While radar speed enforcement is not new to the State Police, the versatile mobile units are. Previously, radar enforcement entailed the use of troopers in teams at fixed locations.

No one has better telephones than N.J.

Telephone service in New Jersey was the equal of any in the world in 1976 despite difficult economic conditions and an adverse regulatory climate, Robert W. Kleinart, president of New Jersey Bell Telephone Company, said in the company's annual report.

"By every standard and measure available to us, the world's finest telephone service was even finer as the year ended than it was as the year began," he said.

Kleinart pointed out, however, that two primary hopes the company had for 1976 had not been realized: That the sluggish national economy would speed up, and that the Board of Public Utilities Commissioners (PUC) would acknowledge the company's need for moderate increases in telephone rates.

"THE ECONOMY did improve in the early part of 1976, and our revenues with it. Earnings improved as well, due to rigid expense controls," Kleinart said.

But the PUC did not recognize the company's need to earn on a par with other companies competing for investment dollars, he said.

"After months of testimony documenting our needs," he said, "and after recommendations of its own hearing examiners that we ought to be granted revenue increases ranging from $39 million to $56 million annually, the Public Utilities Commission chose to deny our requests in total."

The company's record of service accomplishments, however, was more encouraging.

The annual report catalogues an impressive list of service achievements and progress made by the company during 1976. New Jersey Bell's service indices, which measure the efficiency, speed and accuracy of telephone service, were at or near the highest standards of a demanding industry.

The company's installation force, for example, put telephones in service when promised more than 98 percent of the time. The number of telephones served by the company increased by 198,000 to more than 5.7 million.

In 1976, the company spent $338.2 million on construction to maintain, modernize and expand its telephone plant. Nine new electronic switching system central offices were placed in service, bringing the company's total to 54, and some 345,000 circuit miles of transmission routes were added to the statewide network.

The company also marked two important anniversaries last year. The first, the 100th anniversary of the invention of the telephone, was celebrated with 58,000 visitors who attended open houses at company locations throughout the state.

The second was the 25th anniversary of Direct Distance Dialing (DD-2) which originated in the Englewood central office in November 1951.

NEW JERSEY BELL's ability to finance excellent telephone service in the future, however, was jeopardized by the PUC's total rejection of the company's rate request.

Kleinart said he was dismayed at this decision because the company had met "all of the criteria that the law, and common sense, and good business judgment suggest ought to be met before asking for any increase at all."

On December 8, the company filed notice in Superior Court, Trenton, of its intention to appeal the PUC's decision.

Kleinart also said that regulatory decisions of the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) threaten the company's ability to provide basic telephone service "at the bargain basement prices residence users have enjoyed in the past."

He urged readers to follow the progress in Congress of the Consumer Communications Reform Act, a bill which would offset "the ramifications of the startling new policies" advanced by the FCC.

Driving problems solved on turnpike

A total of 96,761 aids to motorists, ranging from overheating and mechanical problems to running out of gasoline and flat tires at a daily rate of 264, were extended to drivers using the New Jersey Turnpike during 1976.

Reflecting one aid for every 1,134 vehicles using the Turnpike last year, the total was 7.3 percent greater than the 95,481 recorded in 1975. Total traffic exceeded 109.2 million vehicles of all types, 3.4 percent greater than 1975's 105.6 million vehicles.

Francis G. Fitzpatrick, chairman of the Turnpike Authority, said the first step in getting assistance to motorists in distress is performed by members of State Police Troop D, commanded by Captain William Galik.

"After spotting disabled vehicles and determining the nature of the problem," Chairman Fitzpatrick explained, "the troopers radio our traffic operations center in East Brunswick to dispatch an Exxon service truck for routine assistance or a wrecker from an authorized contract garage to handle mechanical problems.

"Over the years this procedure has contributed to the overall safety record of the turnpike, consistently one of the best in the nation, by lessening accidents involving vehicles that have broken down."

Of the aids provided last year, mechanical problems headed the list at 34,330, with "out of gas" following at 9,287. Also there were 7,802 flat tires and 1,291 overheats, as well as 44,051 other vehicle problems, including commercial fleet repairs, battery boosts, broken fan belts and "out of oil."

Resistance to disease and rapidity of recovery from many illnesses depend on a well-balanced diet. Modern dieting is not only on the doctor's orders to suit the diagnosis and needs of the body during illness. All the basic food groups should be included in the daily meals unless the physician orders otherwise. These include milk and milk products, meat, vegetables, fruit, bread, and cereal. Hands should be washed often, and always before and after caring for someone who is ill in your home.

Four Bellevilleites qualify for states

By MIKE COREY

Belleville wrestling coach Gene D'Alessandro was named coach of the year for Region Two and heavyweight Blue-Gold grappler George D'Alessandro (no relation) captured the Regional championship crown in his division as the local matmen made their mark in the Regional tourney at Passaic Valley High Saturday.

Four of the Bellboy wrestlers will be competing in the state finals at Princeton. The preliminary pairings were slated for Wednesday afternoon but results were not available as the Time/News went to press.

Tomorrow night the quarter-finals of the states are scheduled to get underway at 6 p.m. with the semi-finals and finals scheduled for Saturday.

"We're of course very pleased to advance four wrestlers to the state tournament," stated coach D'Alessandro. "That in itself is quite an accomplishment but in the states anything can happen."

The local matmen will be going against the top seeded high school wrestlers in New Jersey and in order to win will have to put together a solid 24 minutes of wrestling.

The Blue-Gold mentor in his first year at the reins of the Bellboy matmen was chosen by a vote of the coaches of Region Two as coach of the year.

"I feel there are a lot of coaches in this Region that could have been picked," stated D'Alessandro. "I don't know how the voting went but it must have been close and I'm very proud to receive such an award."

Before joining the Belleville athletic program, D'Alessandro had coached 13 years at Essex Catholic and two seasons at Raritan High School in Hazlet.

Seven of the Bellboy grapplers competed in the Regional Tournament Friday and Saturday with the Blue-Gold advancing four of its wrestlers into the competition at Princeton including Mark D'Amico (122 pound class), Ed Camuso (129), Ron Grolimond (148) and George D'Alessandro (heavyweight).

Belleville's Frank DiLorenzo, coming off victories in both the Essex County Coaches Tournament and the District Tourney, was eliminated in the opening round of the Regionals, 6-0, by Olivetti of Cliffside Park in the 101 pound bout. "It

Lifters raise records

Eighty-nine lifters from throughout the east coast competed and four new American records were set at the Belleville Kiwanis Weightlifting Championships Saturday at Belleville High School.

More than 350 fans were on hand for the event which began 11 a.m. Saturday morning and lasted into the early morning hours of Sunday.

"It was literally the greatest weightlifting contest ever held in the state of New Jersey," said Bucky Cairo, president of the Belleville Barbell Club and one of the motivating forces behind the staging of the competition.

Belleville's Phil Grippaldi, competing in the 198 pound class, clean and jerked 450 pounds a few minutes after midnight to break his own national mark of 446. Grippaldi was named the best lifter of the competition based on his performance.

Mark Cameron, a graduate student at the University of Maryland, set the other three records established over the weekend.

A United States national champion in the 242 pound weight division, Cameron reduced to the 220 pound class. He snatched 360 pounds, jerked 450 and totaled 800 points all new marks. His snatch and clean jerk was done as an extra attempt for record purposes only and was not added in his final score.

Both Grippaldi and Cameron lifted after all the other competitors had finished, thrilling the still large crowd in the bleachers who sacrificed sleep to witness their amazing strength.

Also participating in the meet was 1976 Olympic silver medalist Lee James. The Kiwanis Club presented James with a special trophy in recognition of his performance at Montreal last year.

Other class winners include Rich Seibert, 114 pounds; Mark Ciszak, 123; Steve Tazumi, 132; Steve Grabe, 148; Wayne Guarino, 165; Lou Mucardo, 181; Joe Sissler, 242, and Terry Manto, superheavyweight.

The Belleville Barbell Club captured the team trophy for the evening by accumulating the most team points.

Cagers end season with two victories

Obscured by the success of the Bellboy matmen the Blue-Gold 1976-77 basketball season has quietly faded into memories.

The team's final 2-18 mark, however, does not adequately reflect the Belleville squad's efforts on the court this year and the improvement of the club from the starting whistle in December to the final buzzer last month.

"The kids gained confidence in their ability as the season went along," stated

Blue-Gold cager coach Dan Grasso. "And as their confidence increased their play improved."

The Bellboy strategy at the start of the year included an attempt to counterbalance an obvious lack of height and subsequent deficient rebounding strength with speed and quickness.

"Our club just wasn't as quick as we had anticipated it would be," stated coach Grasso.

The Bellboys throughout the year did demonstrate a tenacious man-to-man defense which put pressure on the ball. The battle plan of most contests was to have all five men go to the offensive boards with the hope of

Sperduto scores 22, Bellgirl squad loses

Guard Toni Sperduto poured in 22 points in the opening round of the New Jersey State Interscholastic Athletic Tournament at Columbia last Tuesday but it just wasn't enough to counter the offensive onslaught levied by the Cougars as they eliminated the Blue-Gold hoopsters, 68-35, officially closing out the roundball season at BHS.

"We were up against some prolific scorers," said Belleville girl cager coach Karen Fucello. "They were consistently able to shoot over our zone defense."

From the outset the Cougar five completely dominated the Bellgirls. "Columbia (14-4 on the regular season) started off slow but have gotten better and better as the season progressed," stated the Blue-Gold coach. "And I think they are just beginning to peak."

Belleville started off the first period in a zone defense and attempted to utilize a four cornered stall at each offensive opportunity in order to keep the tempo of the game under control.

"We weren't able to do the things we had planned," said coach Fucello. "The story of the game was under the backboards. Columbia was out rebounding us and consequently able to take two and three shots at the basket each time down the floor."

The Cougars came out roaring in the early going and outscored the Belleville girls 17-3 in the initial quarter.

Belleville, unable to generate an inside game, began to force up outside perimeter shots in the opening period. "We showed our inexperience then," said the coach. "We started to fall into some of our old habits and instead of dribbling into the zone and passing off when it collapses on the ball we were going up with the shot in a crowd."

Bellgirl leading rebounder Michele Giordano, still recovering from an ankle injury, saw limited action in the second period but her appearance, only for a brief time, sparked the Blue-Gold's inside game and greatly helped the club's floundering offensive attack.

Columbia tried to force the issue and put the game on ice, in the second quarter, by slipping into a full court press but the Bellgirls consistently were able to overcome it and pushed the ball up the court easily.

"Their press didn't hurt us at all," stated the coach. "Earlier in the season it would have bothered us but now we know how to handle it and we can beat it effectively."

Track team hits cinders

Belleville's trackmen have taken the field and begun working out in preparation for its outdoor season opener slated at home against Montclair April 1.

This year's club will be going through a rebuilding process having lost 20 lettermen to graduation last June.

"We have a lot of young runners working out and we are hoping to build a team which will be competitive for the next couple of years," stated Bellboy track coach Rich Ruffalo. "Right now winning and losing is not all that important. We're striving to get the kids used to competing and winning will just be gravy."

was an aggressive bit of stand up wrestling," said the Blue-Gold coach.

In the 122 pound matchup Mark D'Amico, recovering from a knee injury suffered in last week's Districts, outpointed Walters of Passaic Valley, 9-8, in the opening round. "It was a very close and exciting match," stated D'Alessandro.

The Bellboy went on to decision his Cliffsides Park opponent in the semi-finals, 6-1, but lost an 8-2 decision to Bob Penotti of Paterson Kennedy in the finals.

The 129 pound division saw Belleville's Ed Camuso score a fall over his Cliffsides Park opponent Friday night at 5:36. He posted an 11-5 decision over his Mountain High adversary before losing to Kearny's Joji Yamaguchi, 9-5, in the final bout. The two wrestlers have split four matches this season.

Blue-Gold grappler Bob Racioppi lost in the initial round of the Regionals to top seeded John Creo of Caldwell, 12-5, in the 141 pound hookup. "Despite the final outcome," stated coach D'Alessandro, "it was a good match for both wrestlers."

Ron Grolimond advanced to the finals by beating Bronder of Lodi, 8-1; defeating District champion, Brown of Paterson Kennedy, 7-3. He lost a nip and tuck final bout to Clifton's Steve Hannigan.

Courtmen close year

offsetting with numbers what the club lacked in size.

"As the season progressed our defense got better and better," said the coach. "The second time we faced Essex Catholic we held them to 19 points in the first half and against Irvington we led 37-27 going in the last quarter."

Both games the Blue-Gold lost but the ballhawking performance of the Bellboy hoopers may be a harbinger of things to come.

It was tight "D" which helped to turn things around against Nutley early in the year and gave the Belleville roundballers its first victory.

The Blue-Gold netmen, down 35-21 at the half, employed a full court press in the third period and harassed their Maroon rivals into countless turnovers eventually leading to the Bellboy, 61-54, win.

"Defensively we did a super job especially in the latter stages of the season," stated the Belleville coach. "What hurt us all year, though, was our lack of depth. We just weren't able to go to our bench and sustain an effort when our starters got tired."

The Belleville schedule is one of the toughest in the state. It pits the Blue-Gold against teams like Orange, East Orange and Essex Catholic which perennially challenge for the top spot in New Jersey.

"The competition we face is excellent," stated the coach. "Many of the teams are able to overpower us with their size and speed."

One of the bright spots for the Bellboy hardboarders was the emergence of Junior forward Tommy Smith into the Belleville squad's leading scorer averaging 18.1 points per game.

"Tommy has developed into an all around player," said Grasso. "He can drive to the basket with authority as well as hit from the outside and is a good rebounder and ballhandler."

Besides Smith, also returning to next season's roundball club will be Paul Donahue, Joe Salters and Joe Norton.

"Next year we'll have experience going for us," stated coach Grasso. "Smith, Donahue and Salters have all been playing on the varsity since they were sophomores."

Also on the Blue-Gold cager horizon are a couple members of this season's jayvee squad who should make it up to the big club. Guards Dean Campana and Keith Isles are expected to bolster the varsity back court while 6-1 forward Mark Kahn should contribute to the Bellboy's rebounding game.

Girls end season with tourney loss

The Cougar girls held a commanding 35-13 lead as the digital game clock showed zeros signaling the end of the first half.

In the third period Columbia looked more awesome than their nickname not to mention the two previous quarters. They rebounded well and shot with pinpoint accuracy and when the smoke cleared and the buzzer buzzed the Cougars had outscored the local hardboard women 22-6.

"We went into a man-to-man defense at the start of the second half," said the Blue-Gold mentor. "And although it was not effective, at that stage of the game and the year it was a good experience for us. I feel the man-to-man style is the best type of defense."

The Bellgirls came battling back in the final period of the contest as the Cougar club substituted players freely. Belleville outpointed Columbia 16-11 in the last quarter of high school roundball for the Blue-Gold girls cagers.

"Despite the loss I am pleased with the competitive spirit shown by the club," said coach Fuccello. "Even some of the members of the Columbia team after the game, complimented our girls for the desire they demonstrated on the court."

Lifters and grapplers spotlight Belleville

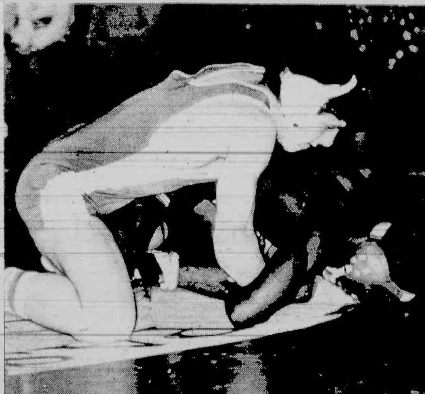

Bar none —Belleville's Phil Grippaldi prepares to raise 450 pounds over his head for a new national record for his weight class at the Belleville Kiwanis Weightlifting Championships at Belleville High School Saturday.

National mark —Mark Cameron, a graduate student at the University of Maryland sets a new United States record in the 220 pound class with this lift of 450 pounds during the weightlifting competition in which more than 85 lifters competed.

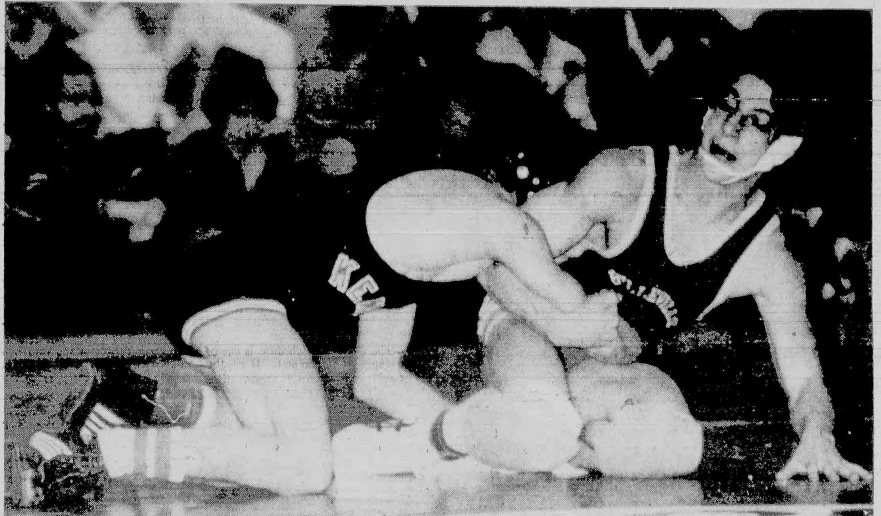

Fall guy —The official prepares to slap his hand to the mat signaling a pin during the final seconds of the heavyweight division of the Regionals.

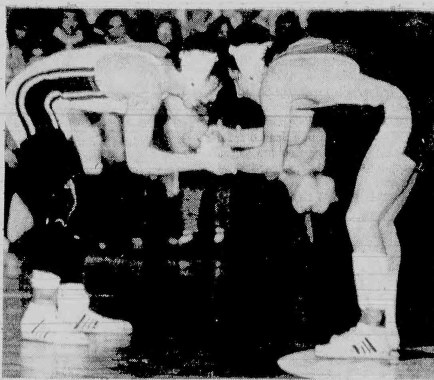

Riding time —Bellboy Ron Grollmond accumulates points against Brown of Patterson Kennedy during a semi-final bout Saturday.

Top Team —Members of the Belleville Barbell Club surround president Bucky Cairo as he hoists the First Place trophy captured by the team at BHS Saturday. The local weightlifting organization has been acknowledged by experts around the country as one of the best barbell clubs in the United States.

Holding pattern —The Blue-Gold's Mark D'Amico (right) battles Bob Penotti of Paterson Kennedy during the final matchup of the 122 pound Regional bout. The Bellboy grappler along with three of his teammates is scheduled to compete in the State Tournament at Princeton University.

Head shot —Local grappler Ed Camuso (right) and Kearny's Joji Yamaguchi square off against each other in the finals. The Cardinal matman took the decision, 8-2.

Private Stanzione completes training

Marine private First Class Stephen J. Stanzione, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Stanzione of 15 Reservoir Place, Belleville, N.J., has completed recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S.C.

During the 11-week training cycle, he learned the basics of battlefield survival. He was introduced to the typical daily routine that he will experience during his enlistment and studied the personal and professional standards traditionally exhibited by Marines.

He participated in an active physical conditioning program and gained proficiency in a variety of military skills, including first aid, rifle marksmanship and close order drill. Teamwork and self-discipline were emphasized throughout the training cycle.

A 1976 graduate of Belleville High School, he joined the Marine Corps in August 1976.

Gominger passes specialist course

Army Private Andrea J. Gominger, daughter of Mrs. Pauline L. Gominger, 110 Branch Brook Dr., Belleville, recently completed a 14-week telecommunications center specialist course at the Army Signal School, Ft. Gordon, Georgia.

Students received training in basic communications principles to include operation and maintenance.

A 1974 graduate of New Milford N.J. High School, the private entered the Army in August 1976.

Her father, Joseph S. Gominger, lives at 15 Sand St., Carbondale, Pa.

Seaman Brosius is aboard Reliance

Coast Guard Seaman Apprentice Joseph G. Brosius, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Brosius, 241 Linden Avenue, Belleville, will be helping enforce the 200 mile fishery conservation zone which went into effect March 1.

He is serving as a crewmember aboard the Coast Guard cutter Reliance, homeported at Yorktown, Va.

The new law, known as the Fishery Conservation and Management Act of 1976, gives the United States exclusive control of all waters within the 200-mile zone. The Coast Guard and the National Marine Fisheries Service have been charged with enforcement of the zone, which includes 10 percent of the world's fishery resources.

Coast Guard cutters and patrol aircraft will make regular patrols of fishery areas to monitor foreign fishing activity. Some controlled foreign fishing is permitted within the 200-mile zone and fishing vessels will be boarded at random to ensure compliance with restrictions and regulations. The new 200-mile zone represents a four-fold increase in fishery patrols for the Coast Guard.

A 1976 graduate of Belleville High School, he joined the Coast Guard in July 1976.

Homeimprovement program introduced

Mortgage Maker '77, a program designed to stimulate home ownership, has been announced by Kenneth F.X. Albers, Provident Savings Bank President. In commenting on the announcement, Albers said, "The Board of Managers adopted this innovative program to accelerate home ownership and assist the local real estate industry in providing the opportunity for qualified borrowers to purchase new or existing one and two family, owner-occupied homes located in cities and towns served by the bank. In addition, home buyers in the program will receive a start to save again $200 cash gift deposited in an existing or new Provident savings account, 60 days after the mortgage is closed. A gift of $100 will be given to home owners granted a home improvement loan of at least $2,000."

The Mortgage Maker '77 program features a 10 year term with a 20 to 25 year payout, no prepayment penalty and open attorney policy. The mortgage rate schedule varies from 7-3/4 percent to 8-3/4 percent, dependent upon the down payment and the area where the mortgage is issued.

For further information on The Mortgage Maker '77 program, applicants can call Provident Mortgage department at 434-0772 or the nearest branch office.

'Becket' next at playhouse

Family Playhouse, 28 Brookline Ave., Nutley, is preparing to present its production of Gean Anouh's "Becket." The drama will be presented March 25, 26, 27, April 2, 3 and 4.

Tickets for the production are now on sale. Becket tells the story of the carousing youth who became Archbishop of Canterbury and of his beloved friend-turned enemy who deeded his death — King Henry II of England.

'Bonaparte and the Revolution' at Essex Film Club Saturday

Continuing its series of screenings of great international motion picture classics, the Essex Film Club at 263 Harrison St., Nutley, will have at its regular film performance this Saturday one of the biggest movie epics ever made in France. The picture is the famous "Bonaparte and the Revolution," directed by France's most celebrated director, Abel Gance.

In 1971 Gance reworked his silent 1925 masterpiece, "Napoleon," adding many newly shot scenes adding narration and dialogue. Adding dialogue to the silent portions was made easier because when Gance made his 1925 silent version, he had the actors speaking the correct words that were later to be added when sound came in.

The gigantic production represented a tremendous cost, even for those days, and the investment probably was never returned. Gance himself speaks the foreword stating how happy he is that now his cinematic masterpiece has been restored to view. In "Bonaparte and the Revolution" Gance creates a remarkable portrait of the great general, from his school days to his Italian campaign in 1796 and his wooing of Josephine.

Giant in scope, there are literally thousands in the cast and the recreation of the uniforms in the battle scenes must have caused one of the heavy expenses. The show begins promptly at 8 p.m.

Benihana. For the fun of it.
Giving people a good time is serious business at Benihana. Which is why our chefs never smile until you're satisfied. From your front row seat at the famed hibachi table, you thrill to drama, suspense, incredible sleight-of-hand as your personal chef turns prime steak, succulent shrimp and tender chicken into theatre. There's comedy as the mushrooms fly. High humor as those beansprouts dance. One bite and you're in heaven. What other restaurant gives you a show you can enjoy almost as much as the meal itself? Visit Benihana soon, for lunch or dinner. And, while the supply lasts, get a free Benihana button to wear just for the fun of it.

The Dishes are Coming!
The Dishes are Coming!

Listen, our customers, and you will hear a ShopRite tale to bring you cheer. We offered you storeware at every store. And millions of pieces went right out the door. Try as we might we just couldn't keep up with requests for a plate or a bowl or a cup. Back in Japan where the storeware is made, Craftsmen are striving to come to our aid. They're working long hours to meet the demand. And lovingly painting each flower by hand. Please trust us, the dishes are coming, our friends. And you'll have all you want before the sale ends.

We're sorry for the inconvenience but there will be a two week delay in starting the second cycle. The new cycle will start March 20th.

THE REVISED SCHEDULE FOR CYCLE TWO IS AS FOLLOWS:

WEEK #1 - Souper	WEEK #2 - cup
WEEK #3 - Cereal Bowl	WEEK #4 - Salad Plate
WEEK #5 - Dinner Plate
