Sidewalks extended

Belleville School Trustees agreed to extend new sidewalks further around School 3 than originally planned "to make this a first-class job." Trustees' decision is carried out by Ceramin Contractors in above scene taken last Friday.

Revaluation field work now 90 per cent finished in town

Peter A. Torre, Belleville tax assessor, reports field inspections by the Realy Appraisal Company, the firm conducting the revaluation of Belleville, are 90% complete. Approximately 7,300 properties have been inspected of a total of 8,000, Torre says.

"The completion of the field work, which involves the gathering of inspection details, measurement of properties, recording their age and condition, signals the beginning of perhaps the most important part of the program: the valuation of land and the final review," Torre notes. The appraisal firm maintains a local field office at Town Hall and residents who plan to be away for an extended period of time may telephone to arrange for an inspection later in the summer.

In connection with the appraisal of investment properties, the firm is mailing questionnaires to owners requesting income and expense information. The cooperation from property owners has been satisfactory, Torre says, although the appraisal firm urges those owners who have not returned the questionnaire to do so as soon as possible. The firm pointed out that when income information is withheld, the appraiser must rely upon estimated rentals which may result in a higher valuation.

At the completion of the program, every property owner will be notified by mail of the appraised value of all land and will be given the opportunity to meet with representatives of the firm on an appointment basis to discuss the appraisal.

Police-fire pay going up 16.1%

By MIKE COREY

Belleville Public Safety Commissioner Rocco Saletta made his first Town Hall appearance Monday since suffering a heart attack six weeks ago to sign negotiated salary contracts granting 12 to 16.1 per cent pay increases to police and firemen over a two-year period.

The PBA contract provides for a 12 percent pay increase for beginning patrolmen and a 16.1 percent increase for those with four or more years service. The contract runs through to Dec. 31, 1978.

Town Commissioners two weeks ago gave tentative approval to the contracts pending Saletta's final okay and signature.

According to Belleville FMBA President Harry Scott, firemen here voted last Friday to ratify the contract.

"We're still behind other towns in certain areas," stated Scott. "But this year's contract calls for better Blue Cross coverage and better life insurance benefits beside providing pay increases."

The pact marks the first time Belleville fire fighters have ever been under contract to the town, Scott added.

"It will save a lot of arguing," said the FMBA chief. "It's better to have a contract. Once it's down on paper they can't take it away from you."

THE POLICE CONTRACT calls for a $350 clothing allowance per year but PBA President Bill Escott refused to comment on the specifics of the contract stating only, "It's not that we have anything to hide it's just we don't want to become embroiled in the same type of controversy we had last year."

The contract is comparable to neighboring police forces," admitted Escott. "And the PBA is satisfied."

Unlike the FMBA which held a vote of its membership to decide whether to accept or reject the contract the PBA leaves the final decision in the hands of the negotiating committee which it appoints.

According to Scott the FMBA will open negotiations concerning increased benefits for next year in October.

DeWitt merge wins approval

The proposed merger between DeWitt Savings and Loan, Belleville, and First State Savings and Loan, Bloomfield and Hopatcong, has been approved by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, Washington, D.C., and the Department of Banking of the State of New Jersey, effective August 1.

The Boards of both associations had approved the merger earlier and had filed applications for State and Federal approval in February.

John P. Dailey, chairman and chief executive officer of DeWitt, and Henrik Tvedt, president of First State, said that, upon completion of final merger details, the name of the merged institutions will become "First DeWitt Savings and Loan Association."

Dailey will serve as chairman of the board of First DeWitt and Tvedt as president and chief executive officer. Tvedt also will sit on the board of First DeWitt.

The merged association will be headquartered at 463 Washington Ave., Belleville. Four offices will be located in Bloomfield: 667 Bloomfield Ave.; 20 Watessing Ave.; 66 Belleville Ave., and the corner of Broad and Watchung. A sixth office will be situated at River Styx Road and Lakeside Blvd., Hopatcong.

The new development will afford many changes to depositors, mortgage holders and employees, according to Tvedt.

"The pooling of assets and reserves will make First DeWitt Savings one of the larger Essex County-based Savings Associations. Com-

Shoppers: no change

Belleville's Board of Commissioners Tuesday night agreed to table once again an ordinance which would allow town businesses employing three or more people to open on Sundays.

The Board voted to postpone further action on the ordinance until all five Commissioners are present.

Public Safety Commissioner Rocco Saletta, recovering from a heart attack, and Public Affairs Director Vincent Strumolo, vacationing, were both absent from the abbreviated session at Town Hall Tuesday night.

The next meeting of the Belleville Board of Commissioners is set for 8 p.m. Tuesday, August 9 — and Mayor Michael Marotti says he expects a full board at that time.

School 3 targeted for Sept. 1 opening

By MARY FREEMAN

Belleville's brand new School No. 3 is being rushed to completion for a September 1 opening, but despite the tight timetable, Board of Education members appear willing to spend a few extra dollars to ensure the community a "first class" building.

All construction costs for the new school are being paid from the $980,000 received as the insurance settlement for the fire which destroyed the school in January, 1976.

At the same time that Trustee Matthew Pica said everything in the school is coming along nicely, he recommended that the Board approve the installation of a stainless steel sink cabinet by Bender Brothers, the present contractor.

The sink cabinet would be permanently installed into a science lab with sophisticated equipment, designed for use by a special group of students.

Bender Brothers quoted a price of $1506 to install the sink and the Trustees approved this figure, voting to keep the area of responsibility to the one contractor. Two of the six board members present opposed the installation by Bender Brothers after Ed Brecka, supervisor of plant operations, said that there is a possibility that the job could be done a couple of hundred dollars cheaper.

Bender Brothers' figure includes all materials, labor and equipment necessary for the sink's installation.

Another lab is being put into the school, but that structure will be portable.

Another finishing touch was suggested by Board President Caesar Romano. He proposed that the entire front of the school have the sidewalk replaced in order that people might see a modern, completely furnished building.

"Taxpayers are paying first-class taxes so we should do a first class job on the new school," Richard Mahmarian, Board member, said in approval of Romano's suggestion.

Romano said the low price to replace the sidewalk involved two contractors. Sammara and Sons, for $175 per day, would break down the old cracked cement and put it out to the curb. This phase of the job would take a maximum of three days.

The town would then pick up the debris from the curb area at no cost. See "School 3" on page 2.

to the Board. Cerami, the present contractor, would supply the labor and materials to complete the work for $4,000, bringing the total expense up to $54,525.

Cerami is already replacing the sidewalk in the area immediately in front of the entrance to the new school.

The Trustees voted to have the job done by the two contractors, with one board member opposed.

Larry Schwartz, who voted against replacing that portion of the sidewalk at this time, said that one side of the school, on Joralemon St., still will not look good.

He agreed with Trustee Ralph Risoli, who compared the new school's appearance to that of a factory. Risoli wanted the board to have the sidewalk on Joralemon St. replaced, too.

When the issue of providing new storm drainage piping for the school surfaced, Schwartz questioned the availability of funding remaining for School No. 3.

"Unallocated funds are slowly dwindling and there's furniture yet to be bought," he said.

Schwartz was assured that, of the $30,000 that remained in the funds available for School No. 3, furniture for the new building would amount to no more than $10,000 by Dr. John Greed, superintendent of schools.

All of the construction costs are being paid out of the $980,000 received as the insurance settlement for the burned school.

The facilities planned for the new school will structurally remain the same as before the fire, a building consisting of 20 classrooms.

Trustees then appropriated $2,683 to provide underground drainage and splash blocks for surface run-off suggested by architects Bouman, Blanche and Faridy, Trenton.

The first vote was four in favor and two opposed to the drainage allocation. Trustee Pica said there was no way to tell about the drainage problem before now.

"Damage to the drains was caused by the fire, by demolition work and by construction work," Mrs. Shader said. "Without the proper drainage system, erosion would occur because of the steep grade on the sides of the school."

The Trustees also decided that the library at School No. 3 be dedicated to Max Schwartz, former president of the Board of Education.

A donation of $1,500 has already been made to the library by the School PTA, Dr. Greed said. It will be used to buy some shelves, catalogue cards and desks.

Remedial reading program federally funded in Belleville

A federally-funded remedial reading program sponsored by the Belleville Board of Education ended its teaching activities for the 1976-77 school year June 17.

The program, officially named Title I, involved seven schools this year, including schools 1, 2, 4, 8 and 9 and St. Anthony's and St. Peter's Schools.

Children in grades 1 through 4 are serviced by the program. Each is seen for one-half-hour a day.

All children use materials and books geared to their special needs. Teachers requisition these materials through the community Board of Education, which has money set aside for such expenses.

"This remedial reading program has been in effect here for about 10 years," Seymour Grossman, assistant superintendent of schools, said. "It is based on the percentage of youngsters in a school who belong to a lower socio-economic group."

Figures are obtained from the Census Bureau and the Welfare Department.

The program's goal is to improve children's reading in all areas of school work and to develop a growth in reading for enjoyment.

The program of study for first-graders includes alphabet study, beginning and ending consonant sounds and initial blends.

For second-graders, emphasis is placed on the study of vowel sounds and blends, word families and diagraph sounds.

Third and fourth-graders concentrate on gaining comprehension skills and decoding more difficult words. This year, increased skill in written expression was stressed.

Youths cheat government

Belleville taxpayers have been fortunate this summer to enjoy the benefit of 112 young people, many from Newark, who were assigned to work with the Public Works Department under a federally-funded program, known best by its initials, CETA and SPEDY.

Unfortunately, during the past two weeks, Essex County authorities learned that an undetermined number of the youths assigned to Belleville actually failed to meet the strict maximum income guidelines set for their families by the Federal government in order to qualify.

An investigation was launched and its mere announcement in the Star-Ledger last week quickly frightened away about 20 of the teenagers who haven't since shown up for work in Belleville. Another 20 are being assigned to take their place by the Essex County CETA office.

Those Belleville residents who only glanced at newspaper headlines this past week may have been led to believe Town Hall itself was somehow at fault. Fortunately in this case, the error rests with Essex County which certified the teenagers from Newark who were assigned to Belleville had met all the program's requirements.

Belleville taxpayers of course are pleased to learn these CETA workers are being paid by federal funds. But the inability of Federal and State programs to keep a tight grip on programs such as CETA and SPEDY only serve to illustrate the point how teenagers who haven't since spent and monitored if kept on a local level to begin with.

Senior notes

By GEORGE CHENOWETH

In a recent disclosure brought about by an investigation of homes for the mentally retarded, facts were discovered that proved that some of the homes for the retarded were unlicensed and unfit for human habitation. I wrote an article a while back about nursing homes for the elderly. The same laws governing homes for the retarded also govern nursing homes.

The importance of careful study before a home is licensed, and even after licensing, cannot be stressed too strongly. It must meet the proper standards of those who would commit the elderly to such homes. We have in mind conditions that would be for the well being of the patient. Safety is one of the more important factors, as we grow older our faculties slow down, our eyesight may become dimmer, our hearing may be impaired, we may need help in eating and getting around. The home should be properly staffed with competent people, nurses trained in geriatrics, doctors in attendance or nearby, and nurses aides to see to the patients comfort and to utter a kind word now and then, for loneliness is one of the greatest ailments of old age.

Most hospitals have a social services officer who will, with the approval of a relative, see to the placement of the patient in a nursing home when he or she still needs care but can no longer be hospitalized. We have visited several of these nursing facilities and have found some good ones. But there are many, nice looking from the outside, but once inside, the change takes place. Lack of care is evident in many institutions even though licensed. One cannot control the behavioral pattern of the help nor of the owners. Proof of this is the Bergman-Case.

There are greedy owners who will get as much as they can from the patients and/or their families. Medicare pays a large percentage of charges for some patients. This is surely abused. This was brought out recently when some patients were being fed for 40 cents per day!

Some nursing homes have excellent reputations and this also has been brought to the public's attention. The state would do well to have an "unannounced inspection" law. The relatives of the patient could have a lot to do with the selection of a nursing home. This task usually falls to the sons and daughters.

Select carefully. Your parents have been doing things for you all of your lives. This may be the last chance that you will have to do something for them.

Dozen Years Commuting Are Marked

WHERE DOES one go to escape a New Jersey heat wave that made the thermometer hover 100 degrees for a few consecutive days? Vermont? New York State?

Absolutely not! You haul yourself down to the Eastern Air Lines Departure Counter at Newark Airport — have sharp, attractive, EAL Customer Agent, Maxine Krill, ticket you for Flight 745 to Fort Lauderdale, Florida — and beat the heat and sleep with a blanket! Yep — I did this last week — and what a relief — for a moment I felt like Jimmy Carter — born again!

Captain Tom Tucker piloted the two-engine DC9 jet. My in-flight needs were ably handled by three lovely, D.C.-based Sr. Stewardess Barbara Lewis Otero, with superb take-charge skills, and Stews Doris Heyser and Mary Lynn Gardner, an eight-month rookie who reported to the airport expecting to fly to Bermuda and ended up in Fort Lauderdale. But that's the way it is with stewardesses on stand-by — subject to call anytime to fly anywhere. Judging from her work performance, even a seasoned commuter would not suspect Mary Lynn's short-term experience.

To mark the occasion of my twelve years commuting between Newark and Fort Lauderdale, I thought it appropriate to share an evening with some of the folks who have made my idling hours at Fort Lauderdale Airport pleasant memories. So — I invited a few Eastern Air Lines' employees and their spouses to my Maya Marca apartment for an evening of fun, frolic and food. Answering the dinner call at Penthouse Three Sunday night from EAL were the Al Dunbars, the Burdell (Evelyn) Fasts, the Peter (Dewey) McGivneys, the Tony Barlettas, the James (June) O'Malleys, the William (Pettie) Moses, Manager-Passenger Services LeRoy Stokes, Don Campbell, Karl Biggs and Carmen Curro.

Adding to the festivities of the evening were Fort Lauderdale Commissioner Dick Mills and his life-long inspiration, Hilda Mills, who never looked lovelier; Hilda's classmate, Betty Sears; Phil Cuoco, deeply involved currently producing two Jackie Gleason TV spectacles to be aired this winter; the Frank Edwards of Miami; Passaic's Murray and Lillian Laiks, accompanied by son Richard, a University of Miami student; our very own Nutley neighbors and friends — Tom and Estelle Infusino; a humorous, long-time pal who for the moment chooses to remain anonymous; and last but not least a Chicago beauty, with brains to match, who too shall remain nameless.

The cocktail-buffet party details were capably coordinated by Edith and catered by "Isabel," a Fort Lauderdale catering institution, managed by Isabel's daughter-in-law, a real beauty, Kahla Pfau, competence supreme! At the piano was a good looker with an excellent soprano voice, professional artist Connie Gauci, who led the sing-alongs.

The weather was perfect, food excellent, service great — and the company — none better.

Come September — my gratitude for the fine service I enjoy at Eastern Air Lines Newark Terminal will be similarly expressed at my Nutley home.

Tuesday morning Edith drives me to the Fort Lauderdale Airport — in a hurry as is my speed, enter the EAL ticketing agent and greeted by the friendly faces of Eastern, June O'Malley and Evelyn Fast. Upstairs at the departure counter, doing his normally efficient thing was jovial, smiling Don Campbell. I no sooner gave Don my ticket when I suddenly realized I had left my wallet behind! Don immediately offered to lend me some money from his own pocket (how's that for Eastern service) when I suggested there was enough time for me to phone Chris Franklin at Maya Marca and have Chris intercept Edith as she returned and give her the bad news. Chris followed thru — Edith returned with my wallet, and I boarded EAL Flight No. 742 just in time — and to be greeted by one of my favorites regulars, Stewardess Pegi Strohmetz, who performed her duties with her usual solicitous interest in passenger comfort.

Working along with Pegi were Sr. Stewardess Gloria Donahue, with whom I have had the pleasure on a few flights, and Stewardess Beverly La Pointe, a new somebody in my EAL travels — all first rate.

SAM ULANO one of America's foremost drummers, has his own combo — "Sam Ulano's Speakeasy 4," holding forth at New York's jumpiest room — The Speakeasy lounge at The Gas Lite Club. Sam and The Gas Lite Girls, led by Hostess Ann, provide top-drawer entertainment.

LE DOME, a Fort Lauderdale landmark, is one of the area's outstanding restaurants. Captain Nunzio and bar-maid-hostess-waitress-Linda, serve up the food and drink like you wouldn't believe — fantastic! Le Dome is currently featuring its own special — "Le Dome Celebration." Here's how they tell it: "Celebrate with a champagne toast. Revel in your own world as the courses present themselves. White wine with artfully prepared gourmet morsels. Smoked salmon. Caviar. Crabmeat. Melon and prosciutto. Followed by thick, creamy vichyssoise as the imported French burgundy breaths to savor with your entire of chateaubriand, carved tableside. You'll want for nothing more than togetherness after the crepes suzettes and a quiet moment over Grand Marnier. You'll know you celebrated. And you'll remember. Celebrate your yesterdays — your tomorrows. At Le Dome. Any night except Monday. Three hours and fifty dollars for the two of you, tax and gratuity additional." My recommendation? If you're in Lauderdale — Le Dome is a must.

Golden Comments

By James R. Golden

As if by circumstantial quirk of fate, local papers in both Belleville and Nutley two weeks ago ran stories concerning the local magistrates of their respective towns. In Nutley, a lead front page story, bordered in black, mourned the death of Judge Joerg who had served Nutley for 45 years. In Belleville, inexpressibly tucked away in another town paper covering the town meeting, appeared the following short paragraph: "Judge Edward J. Abramson (spelled wrong, should be Abramson), a lifelong resident of Belleville, was reappointed municipal judge for an additional 3 years, effective December 3, 1977, until Dec. 3, 1980."

Little did the voluminous space coverage of eulogy of Nutley's venerable jurist compared to the scant mention of Belleville Judge Abramson's reappointment reflect the striking comparison of their judicial prowess and the mutual respect they both have earned among those of the legal profession, both as trial lawyers and dispensers of justice from their august positions on the Bench.

Judge Edwin J.C. Joerg, serving as Nutley Municipal Judge since 1944, was the dean of the Essex County Municipal Judges Association by virtue of seniority. Presumably, with his passing, the mantle of that role will be passed to our local Judge Abramson who was first appointed Dec. 4, 1951, when former Mayor Jim Tully flew back to town, on a marine Corps leave, to cast the deciding vote that elevated Judge Abramson to the Bench. An office he has consistently held ever since.

The similarity of their first names seldom left latitude for many, other than a few intimate associates, to call either Ed or Eddie... the dignity and austerity of their carriage so depicted the aloofness of solemnity they brought to their office that it seemed an impropriety to even consider referring to them as anything other than Judge or Your Honor.

Both Judge Joerg and Judge Abramson have demonstrated a keen sense of regard for respect of the law and the efficient enforcement of it. Their judicial decisions have consistently shown their community pride and their stern firmness toward undesirables which served as a warning to them to watch their P's and Q's in town or stay out. Likewise, when warranted, they have tempered justice with mercy.

To have had the honor and privilege of knowing both these fine men and the efficient nature of their accomplishments in their law work and a jurist meeting out justice is, in itself, rewarding. It inspires the confidence and fervor toward them that is good and wholesome that has made our country great will be preserved under the guidance and leadership of such fine gentlemen whose inspirational installation of respect for the laws governing our way of life will be highly regarded and preserved.

With the demise of Judge Joerg, Nutley has sustained a grievous loss. In Belleville are more fortunate. We pray that the Powers that control destiny shall spare Judge Abramson many years to continue his sage and just administration of our local court.

More funds will be available for mortgages and home loans, permitting the association to extend its long range dedication to community service and social responsibility, he added. Also, new efficiencies, conveniences and economies will be realized through the merger of the institutions.

Fire alarm bids upheld by court

Essex County Judge James Owens ruled Friday that the firm hired to tie up the fire detection systems in Belleville's schools with the town fire department had substantially complied with all parts of the bidding law.

Edward P. Reed, of the firm of E.P. Reed, Inc., Lyndhurst, charged the Board of Education that the firm hired to tie up the schools with the fire department, Clover Manufacturing, Hopatcong, had not complied with all parts of the bidding law.

Reed said that Clover Manufacturing had not filed disclosure under Chapter 33 of the law, which states that a firm must submit a list of its stockholders at time of the bidding.

Frank Pomaco, attorney for the Board of Education, said that Clover Manufacturing had substantially complied with the law, but had not exercised strict compliance.

"At the time the bids were received, June 20, Clover Manufacturing did not submit a list of stockholders," Pomaco said. "Within 24 hours, however, the Board of Education received a letter containing a statement with the names of stockholders in Clover Manufacturing."

Clover Manufacturing's bid was the lowest the Board received at $17,200, while E.P. Reed's bid of $22,339 was the highest. One other company, J.W. Signal, bid $20,719.

"The original nonconformity was cured in time and it in no way affected the competitiveness or fairness of the bids submitted," Pomaco said.

Pomaco said that Reed objected to what he called a violation of the bidding law at a public meeting of the Board of Education and then took the Board to court.

"We were successful because I had advised the Board that Clover Manufacturing's substantial compliance with the bidding law was not a violation and the Board acted on that advice," he said.

mitted us greater latitude in meeting the needs of our local mortgage market," John P. Dailey, DeWitt Chairman, notes. "First mortgage loans at DeWitt now total $71,949,594, and indications are that this market is picking up to a marked degree and we look forward to continued improvement in this area."

"Our savings accounts and certificates of deposit continue to bear the highest interest rates permitted by law and we anticipate maintaining these rates for the foreseeable future," Dailey added.

Sanity saved by trio

IS THERE ANY lament that grates more on a mother's ear than "I haven't got anything to do" or "There's nobody to play with"? Sunday was St. Paul's annual church picnic in Boys' Park. There was a goodly crowd there including at least 50 children of assorted sizes and ages and games aplenty for them to play including badminton, horseshoes, soccer, softball, croquet etc. Also in evidence was an inviting sandpile just right for digging in, jump-ropes for skipping over, wide open spaces for running in and special circle games which should have appealed to the kids.

Everything appealed to everybody except the Maguire twins who felt that the only sensible place to be was square on their mother's lap regaling her with tales of woe centering around the absence of playmates and interesting things to do. Their mother was not amused nor entertained nor particularly friendly nor desirous of all this attention. What their mother really wanted to do was absolutely nothing except sit and talk and eat food cooked by other hands than hers and enjoy a cup of coffee or the like.

ONLY THREE THINGS saved the mother's day. At the picnic was a friend who substitutes at Spring Garden School much to the delight of the duo who early discovered that she is not always able to tell them apart. This ability to fool people as to their identity is the only compensation they feel they have for being forced to be twins. Both of them would willingly chuck the whole twin business. The friend volunteered to take them for a long walk and praise be, they went!

Also in attendance was a brave soul with pierced ears who wisely let Nora and Erin remove her earrings time after time and replace them time after time to the complete delight of both girls who are still dying for holes in their lobes. Such courage is rare. I fully anticipated the martyr going home with an additional set of punctures but I guess the girls' eyesight is better than I thought or the saints were with their victim.

FINALLY ONE OF THE members of my Guild group produced a darling little boy a few months ago and brought him to the picnic complete with stroller. The girls were enchanted with the opportunity to take the baby for a walk, accompanied of course by an older child. Matthew had enough wheeling to last him a week. Even mama consented to take a turn around the perimeter of the park with baby and daughters. The twins beamed when two ladies thought he was their little brother and did nothing to correct the mistake.

None of the sanity savers has submitted a bill yet but I'll pay it. Peace was wonderful. The amusing thing about the whole afternoon was that when mama had enough of food and talking and sitting and was ready to head home, nobody was ready to join her and it took a good half hour to round up the Irishman and his flock.

Driver ed cars survive tight squeeze

The Belleville Board of Education quibbled over whether or not to authorize payment for the use of driver education cars at its meeting Monday night.

Bilingual teachers appointed

Board of Education Trustees voted to appoint two bilingual teachers and to transfer two other teachers at their meeting Monday night.

They also decided that Mrs. Rosemary Ciccone and Mrs. Angela Immediato should be transferred to positions as teachers of the academically talented for the 1977-78 school year.

The Board voted on this resolution upon the recommendation of Dr. John Greed, superintendent of schools. Neither teacher will receive any change in salary.

Mrs. Ciccone and Mrs. Immediato will work out of Schools No. 3 and No. 7 in programs for gifted and talented children. Seymour Grossman, assistant superintendent of schools, said.

"Right now, the teachers will concentrate in science and mathematics," Grossman said. "We do hope to expand the program for the academically gifted to include other areas, too."

Two resignations were accepted by Board members Monday. The resignation of Mrs. Alice M. Drexler, Junior High School cafeteria employee, is effective immediately and the board authorized the payment of $150 terminal pay, based on accrued sick leave.

The remaining resignation was that of William H. Bell Jr., pupil transportation driver. His resignation was effective June 10, 1977.

Mary Shader, board secretary and business administrator, said that Bell was returning to work at Transport of New Jersey at three times the salary he was presently receiving.

the month of July. The cars were needed to complete the driver education of approximately 62 June graduates.

Two Trustees voted against payment for the use of the cars on the grounds that they originally opposed offering driver education to students who already had been graduated from the Belleville school system.

Trustee Larry Schwartz shared Trustee Matthew Pica's feeling that, "I voted against the program previously in executive session, and I'm not changing my opinion on it now."

Board member Michael Chieffo would take no part in the vote because of personal considerations.

"Because the person involved here is a personal friend and a client, I wish to take no part in the vote," Chieffo said.

Board president Caesar Romano praised Chieffo's role in obtaining the driver education cars as an instrumental one, and thanked the trustee for his help. Chieffo acknowledged Romano's words, still declining to enter into the voting.

When it appeared that the resolution might not pass, Chieffo asked Attorney Bob Gaccione, whose firm represents the Belleville board, if it would be proper for him to enter into the voting for the resolution.

"Considering what you have said about your personal reasons for not voting, I would advise you to maintain the position you have already chosen," Gaccione said.

It was determined that with Chieffo completely removed from the voting procedure, the resolution would pass by a margin of 3-2.

The three board members who voted in favor of paying for the use of the cars were Richard Mahmarian, Ralph Risoli and Romano. Board vice president Jim Risoli was not present at the meeting.

"It seems that we have a moral as well as a legal obligation to pay the rental fee for cars that we have actually used," Mahmarian said to the Trustees.

Romano and Risoli concurred, although Risoli emphasized that he stood opposed to the summer driver education program for students who had been graduated.

Bruins slip deeper into second place

By MIKE COREY

Belleville's Bruins slipped three and a half games behind pace-setting Verona-Cedar Grove as the local Essex County League club dropped two of its last three decisions to sink deeper into second place.

The Bellboy squad was shutout 5-0 by Livingston Wednesday on the road, beat South Orange, 5-2, Thursday in an away contest and dropped a 8-2 decision to Verona-CG at home Sunday.

The Belleville batsmen were slated to face Livingston at the Belleville High School Field Tuesday but results were not available as the Times/News went to press.

The Bruins were scheduled to meet front running Verona-CG yesterday in a makeup game and travel to Caldwell for a 7:30 p.m. contest under the lights tonight.

This Sunday Union invades the Belleville diamond for a 5 p.m. battle of the bats before taking on Verona-CG once again in another makeup exhibition Monday at 6 p.m. at home.

Tuesday the Bruins host South Orange in a 6 p.m. confrontation.

Last Sunday's loss to Verona-CG marked the fourth time out of four contests played so far this season that the first place club has defeated the Belleville squad.

"We just have not been playing good ball," stated Belleville coach Dennis Sasso. "Our hitting has been hot and cold and we've played very inconsistently. We made three double plays Sunday but then in the sixth inning we must have made about six errors."

The Belleville coach hopes to have strengthened his pitching staff with the addition of 20-year-old lefthander Frank Less, Verona, which as the season progresses looks more and more like the team to beat, is packed with southpaw swingers and it is hoped the six-foot-two-inch 215-pound newly acquired hurler will bolster the previously all right-handed Belleville mound corp.

Verona scored one run off Less in his debut pitching Sunday. He worked four innings.

"He's not overpowering," stated the Belleville coach. "But I really haven't had the opportunity to see him work enough to comment on his ability. He did turn in four good innings Sunday."

Legion coach reviews season

By John Jurich

During the high school baseball season, the Belleville and Nutley squads tangled in two games. In the first, the Nutley boys went in as underdogs, but scratched, slid and threw their way to a 3-2 win. In the second contest, Nutley, riding high at that point, bombed the Bel-boys with three home runs and won 5-1.

With this season of keen contention behind them, many might have wondered how boys from the rival clubs would weld themselves into one Legion team. This experiment was probably one of the biggest successes of the season that ended in frustration last Monday.

"Even though the boys were from Belleville and Nutley and competed against each other in the school year, they rooted for each other during the Legion season, gave their all, and never downgraded each other," their coach, Al Gargiulo said.

"This was one of the best teams to come out of the American Legion," he continued. "We not only had a successful season, we also had a lot of fun. We got to know and care about each other."

"It's a shame we didn't make the playoffs," the coach said, "but these were class kids even in defeat."

The defeat, of course, refers charitably to last week's replayed game with Vailsburg, taken up from the fifth inning of an earlier Nutley win after Coach Mike Sheppard won a labyrinthine series of protests. Vailsburg prevailed 3-2 and knocked Nutley out of the playoffs.

After the game, despite all the bitterness, the Post 70 squad walked over to the Vailsburg bench and shook hands with their opponents. "They handled themselves like gentlemen," Gargiulo said.

Many of those on this year's squad will be 19 when next year's Legion season rolls around and therefore not eligible to play. Gargiulo praised these boys and all his players.

Lawmen lose first game of playoffs

The newly erected silver monster of Clearman Field helped the Orange police defeat the Belleville peace officers, 18-16, Sunday in the opening round of the semifinals of the PBA slow-pitch softball league.

Belleville's Finest hit the road to take on the Orange men once again in a 10 a.m. contest Saturday and hope to return once more to Clearman Field Sunday to face them in the rubber game of the best two out of three playoff series.

Last Sunday's seesaw battle saw three balls clubbed by Belleville batters which two weeks ago would have cleared the left field fence and went into the street for home runs.

The Belleville Board of Education mandated last month that an extension be added to the Clearman Field left field fence following complaints by some home owners on Union Ave. of property damage from batted balls.

"There's no doubt the fence hurt us," stated Belleville playing-coach George Sheridan.

The local lawmen jumped off to 2-0 lead in the bottom of the first inning but Orange ricocheted back to take a 6-2 lead with six runs in the top of the third.

The Belleville offense made a come back of its own in the bottom of the frame to take an 8-6 lead at the end of three innings.

The scoring advantage volleyed back and forth several times throughout the game but when the smoke cleared the Belleville patrolmen found themselves down a game, making Saturday's confrontation a must win situation.

Orange advanced to the semi-finals by taking an 18-15 decision from West Orange Saturday. The local police had drawn a bye in the single elimination quarter-final round of the playoffs by posting the best record in the league during the regular season, 12-1.

Kids keep their cool at Rec playgrounds

The record thermometer readings established by last week's heat wave had its affect on the activities on all of Belleville's playgrounds.

Fairway playground cooled things off by having an impromptu pool party Michael and Mark Santoso's pool at their home.

Youngsters at the Pistol Range, however, played a round of kickball despite the heat with John, Lisi, Pat, Lisa and Toni Caravella participating along with Guy and Kristin Kisal, Joey Pieretti and Joey Cahill.

Number One playground enjoyed making African banners. The banners didn't turn out as well as expected but the children enjoyed making the clay pots and plaques. Outstanding pottery was made by Lisa and Lorilei Wells, Simone Edwards and Alan Talmadge.

Only a small number of youngsters turned up at Kelly playground during the heat wave. Card games and joke telling under the one shady tree in the vicinity was the order of the week.

Number Four playground's softball squad notched another win as Ross Muschio scored the tying run and Frank Pizzi the winning run in the club's 14-13 victory over Number Nine.

Number Nine, undaunted by the loss, kept competing as the playground held a foul-shooting contest with Tony De Franco emerging as the champ. Pocy Brittin made off with top honors in a softball throwing contest in the playground's other action during the week.

At the Rec, basketball has been the main source of entertainment. Sal Silvestri put in a valiant effort in a one on one competition against Rutgers round-ball star Abdel Anderson but the former Blue-Gold cager proved too much for him.

The Stadium's softball team won its sixth in a row by defeating the Friendly House, 12-3. In other sports action at the playground, Craig, Leah and Bradley Clinton, Lisa and Tina Albanese, Lorraine Leming and Cheri Tillman all raised a racket during a tennis lesson session.

Water balloon fights helped the children at Number Eight to keep cool although a knock-hockey tourney did begin to heat up things. Results will be posted next week.

Number Two playground youngsters got right to the point by making pencil note holders from popsicle sticks. Participating in the handicraft action were Anthony Pascheria, Scott Higgins and Danielle Vales.

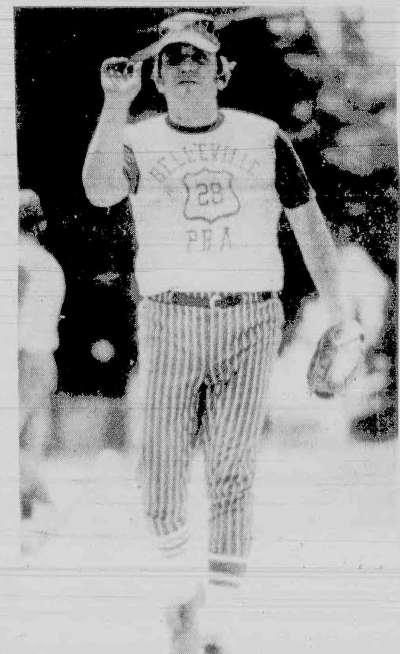

The children of Number Ten playground occupied the dog days of July by making lanyard key chains, bracelets and jewelry boxes from popsicle sticks.

Things were pretty quiet at the Friendly House last week as balloon tosses were a favorite way of passing time as well as running through a water sprinkler provided by John the custodian to beat the heat. Enjoying the sprinkler were Laurie Dondarski, Bobby Charles, Ron Coco, Sal and Mike Marchella, Steven Cataldo and P.J. Olivio.

Catcher Capers

Mound Man

Left Underhander Richie Fatone studies the arc after letting one fly in the fifth frame of Sunday's game against Orange. The visitor's are the only club this year to have defeated the home squad.

Home-A-Slide

Below Vini Masi scores one for the Belleville men in blue Sunday. The local patrolmen travel to Orange to play the second game of the series in a must win situation.

Police Power — Al Spencer powers one down the left field line during Sunday's PBA slow-pitch playoff action. The Belleville squad posted the best record in the league (12-1) this year but are one down in the best out of three semi-final round with Orange.

professional and was respected by his teammates as a leader," the coach said. "George 'Woody' D'Urso was a great competitor, a fine person and never complained. Michael Dugan was the type of kid who never gave up. He had a sense of fun that kept the team loose."

"John Clarizio was an intense competitor who never wanted to sit," Gargiulo continued. "He also had a lively attitude. Billy McDonald was highly versatile and could play wherever and whenever needed. We'll miss first baseman Steve Michalek very much with his great scoop of the glove and his key RBIs."

"Joe Scarpelli was a fine young man who always did what was asked of him when called upon to do it," the coach went on. "He was our number-one bench jockey."

Turning to his departing pitchers, Gargiulo asked, "Michael Lilio and Anthony Gammara — how can you separate them? They both pitched with a similar style, they were hard-throwing and had control. They were always around the plate. They were just two strong, big-hearted guys who never stopped trying."

Though all these players will be hard to replace, Gargiulo can count on some very strong returnees. His designated hitter, Tony Diamante, will be back. Gargiulo called him a "likeable, dedicated team man." Another team man was Rocco Balsama, whom the coach cited for his leadership role. "He cemented the relationship between the boys from Belleville and the boys from Nutley," Gargiulo said of his catcher.

Second baseman Scott Ochse will be back. "He hit over .400 the second half of the season," Gargiulo noted, "and made a lot of key plays in the field."

"He played three positions equally well and never complained though we didn't use him that much," the coach said of utility man Al Restaino. Gargiulo also praised another utility man, third baseman-outfielder Ed Testa, as a "good hitter."

Next year's pitching looks to be in capable hands. "Mark DenBraven has the talent and the desire to learn and win," Gargiulo said of his young left-hander. "He was always asking questions. Anthony Nardone has an awful lot of raw talent too. He throws very hard."

"The success of the season also belongs to my assistant coaches, Mike Goldrick and Moe Ruffo," Gargiulo continued. "and to our manager, Sig Bogdanowicz. He was my go-between getting the things done that needed to be done off the field."

Gargiulo also gave plenty of credit to Parks and Recreation Commissioner Frank Cocchiola and the starter and loser of Sunday's game with Verona. He was relieved by Less in the sixth inning.

The Bruins jumped off to an early lead with a pair of runs in the home half of the initial frame. Catcher Bruno Giordano began the rally with a single but back to back fielder's choice plays lent a sour tone to the proceedings. Leftfielder Dan Dunn, however, kept the inning alive with a base hit and Mike Speduto doubled home both runners to drive across the plate the only runs Belleville would notch all day.

Verona scored a run in the second, another in the third, one in the fourth and four in the sixth, with the help of some Bruin defensive mis-cues. The visitors added one more run in the top of the seventh to close out their scoring for the game.

Verona left fielder Horn had four hits in five at bats in the Sunday contest to lead his club's offensive assault.

The switch hitting outfielder also made a number of circus catches, racing in to snare line drives off the top of the grass and going back to reach over the fence to rob a Bruin batter of a home run.

Last Thursday Belleville mound ace Gus Hernandez hurled a complete game victory over South Orange to post his fifth win against only one loss this season.

"By far Hernandez has been our most consistent pitcher," pointed out Sasso.

National stars advance to little league finals

Belleville's National Little League All-Star squad advanced to the finals of the District Eight championship single elimination tourney by outslugging Livingston American, 12-6, in Nutley Saturday.

The local Little League's American division club was narrowly ousted from the tournament by Livingston National, 9-8, also on the Nutley field Saturday.

Both the Belleville and Livingston National teams are slated to meet this Saturday at the Nutley National Little League Field, on Park Ave. in Nutley, to decide who will wear the district championship crown and who will advance to regional play.

The finals contest is scheduled to get underway at 4 p.m., preceded by a consolation contest between the Belleville American and Livingston American League clubs set for 2 p.m.

A grand slam homer by Belleville's Bobby Brave plus solo round trippers by teammates Joe Murphy and Robby Candelieri helped to power the local National League stars past their Livingston American counterparts Saturday.

The Times/News will carry a full page of photos next week depicting the National League team's 23-12 triumph over Nutley American in the quarter-final round of post season play.

Players contribute $3,422 to community mental health

A check for $3,422.80 was presented to the Community Mental Health Services of Belleville, Bloomfield, and Nutley by the Roche Chorus Players at Hoffmann-La Roche Inc. The check represents proceeds of benefit performances of "Can-Can" given by the Roche group on May 19, 20, and 21 at the Montclair-Kimberly Academy.

Diane Lollar, chairman of the Roche Players, presented the check to Dr. Robert Fruchtbach of the Community Mental Health Services.

"Can-Can" marked the sixth production by the Roche Chorus Players, all for the benefit of the Community Mental Health Services. The play was directed and choreographed by Colley Ballou, assisted by Gretchen Johnson, and represented 3,000 manhours of preparation over a five month period.
