New HS principal an out-of-towner

By MARY FREEMAN

By a predicted 4-3 vote, Belleville's Board of Education acted upon the recommendation of the superintendent of schools and appointed John DeCesare of Reading, Pa., the principal of the senior high school here, ending a three-month search for a successor to Raymond O. Smith, whose retirement after 13 years as principal becomes effective today.

After more than three-and-a-half hours of discussion Monday night between trustees and teachers, students and parents, DeCesare's name was approved by the slim majority of the board.

Board member Richard Mahmorian gave DeCesare the fourth vote necessary to insure him the principalship, after Trustees Ralph Risoli, Michael Chieffo and Matthew Pica indicated their approval of the candidate.

Trustee Lawrence Schwartz, along with board president Caesar Romano and vice president James Risoli voted against the appointment.

Schwartz called the move "the hardest decision I've had to make" during his six years on the Board of Education.

"I believe Mr. DeCesare is eminently qualified and I will work with him and support him and I hope and trust you will do the same," he told the crowd that gathered in the auditorium of School No. 4. Schwartz cited "overriding reasons" for his negative vote.

James Risoli made no statement based on his position toward the candidate, but Romano spoke at length about the division on the board, among the faculty and within the community caused by the principalship issue.

"Right now, Belleville needs, deserves and demands a man who can move forward in the best interest of the system," Romano said, "and for the time, within the system is the only way to go."

He expressed disagreement with the idea that an outsider can come into Belleville and know the system as well as an individual who has worked here for some 20 years.

"This genius of Pennsylvania is going to die, while several others asked Greed to pinpoint the areas where the Pennsylvania educator surpassed Belleville administrators."

"You are asking me to tell you what I think is wrong with the three Belleville administrators who applied for the high school principal and I won't do that," Greed told the gathering Monday evening.

Calling comparisons "suicidal," the superintendent contended. He addressed the board employees, saying, "Think back to when I hired you and to the faith you had in me then."

Another trustee emphasized the honesty and forthrightness of the past appointees as a basis for trust in this one.

"All things being equal, when two people applied for a job here, we took Belleville residents," Richard Mahmorian said. "The three Belleville administrators are not Belleville residents, but they all have done their jobs and were promoted promoted because of that."

"The children in the town of Belleville and the taxpayers here have the right to

Fred Busch can keep town job

By JOHN JURICH

A federally funded project for Belleville which appeared dead a week ago may now be alive. Town engineer Fred Busch was apparently not in conflict of interest when he turned over $30,000 worth of preliminary work on a Greylock Parkway water line to his own engineering firm.

The federal Economic Development Administration, which has given Belleville a $232,000 grant for water line work, stipulates that contracts for the work may not be awarded to municipal employees.

Town commissioners feared last week that Belleville might lose the federal grant because Busch's firm had done part of the work.

But town attorney John Scott has sent a letter to commissioners saying federal and state officials he has checked with feel there was no conflict on Busch's part because it was Busch's firm, Fred Busch Co. of Pearl River, N.Y., and not Busch himself that was paid for the work.

Mayor Michael Marotti said, however, that the matter was not resolved in commissioners' minds. He said he wanted Scott to get in touch with federal and state officials again. "I think what we're going to ask for is to get the people who gave information over the phone to give us something in writing," Marotti said.

Marotti said he wanted to be sure officials did not raise any objections about the Busch matter later on.

Since Belleville did not have the money to pay Busch out of its own pocket, some commissioners earlier suggested he resign. This move would have meant Busch would no longer be considered a town employee and the town would no longer be in conflict with federal guidelines.

But Marotti feared not even this device would have worked since Busch's

Cemetery vandalized

Five teenagers, suspected of vandalizing a Belleville graveyard over the Thanksgiving Day weekend, were nabbed Monday night by Belleville detectives, authorities report.

According to police the youths knocked over between 120 and 145 tombstones in St. Peter's Cemetery either Friday, Saturday or Sunday causing extensive property damage which church authorities estimate may exceed $25,000.

"Some of the stones were antique and can't be replaced," stated the Rev. James Heavey, assistant pastor of St. Peter's. "Some had crosses and statues on top of them which just disintegrated when they hit the ground."

Investigation by Detective Sgt. Martin McNish of the Juvenile Bureau led to the apprehension of four Belleville youngsters and a Newark youth. All are

Channel still won't close up on Sunday

Four more summonses were handed to Channel Home Center officials this past Sunday for violating the town's blue laws. Top executives at Channel won't admit the firm is challenging Belleville's ban on Sunday sales.

"Our official comment is that we are still investigating all aspects to decide how to handle the situation," a spokesman for Channel told the Times/News yesterday.

Meanwhile, the first set of summonses are answerable before Judge Edward Abromson a week from today. Police Chief Joseph Smith so far has eight shoppers to summon as witnesses.

"None of the customers whose names are being taken by the police are in any trouble," Channel spokesman assured. "The names are just being taken so the police can call them to testify. But the ones entirely on Channel — the customers are not liable for anything."

Public Safety Commissioner Rocco Saletta, who personally favors Sunday openings, says the Police Department is bound to uphold the law. "I'm hoping to reintroduce the proposal to permit Sunday sales again next month," Saletta said during a ground-breaking ceremony Monday. "I only hope we can persuade one more Commissioner to vote with us."

Past votes have sided Mayor Michael Marotti and Saletta for Sunday sales but Commissioners Mary Senator, Vincent Strumolo and Joseph McGreevy are just as strongly opposed.

Officials here say that Channel is either challenging the law or has decided to pay the fines in hope of picking up the extra pre-Christmas business. Despite the desire of Grand Union and Pathmark to open Sundays here, neither of those giant food chains has deliberately broken the law.

When Channel announced its opening date here, the firm said it would abide by all local laws. "Obviously, the firm is not a law-abiding company," the commissioner said.

Hangouts identified for drugs, beer

When Belleville's Board of Education met with Public Safety Commissioner Rocco Saletta, Police Chief Joseph Smith and Captain James Mundy recently, the group pinpointed the schools, the Recreation House and Clearman Field, as areas where local teenagers tend to loiter and "hang out."

"Usually after the custodians have gone home, the kids congregate at the schools," Capt. Mundy said. "Few cause trouble, but they do want a place to meet."

The police officials noted that lights at the schools go out at 10 p.m. and after that no one is allowed on the property. They also said that no one should be at Clearman Field unless he has obtained a permit to play ball there.

"One solution to the problem might be to the problem strong Town-wide ordinance establishing a curfew, enforcing a more stringent policy on littering and asking parents to make restitution more than they do now," Commissioner Saletta said.

The police representatives cited such an ordinance which recently was adopted by Cedar Grove. In that community, a 1 a.m. curfew was established for juveniles 16-years-old and additional receptacles provided to offset littering.

"I would like to have all kids away from the property by 10 p.m., but our problem is one of manpower — we just can't afford to patrol all the schools all the time," Chief Smith said.

The high school, however, is patrolled nightly by a patrol car and an officer on foot, he noted. The lights kept on there until 10 p.m. to allow students to play basketball on the courts there.

"The vandalism is not being done by the kids just being there," the Chief continued. "There'll always be some problems with kids bringing in beer or pot, but most are decent kids."

A survey between July 1, 1976, and June 30, 1977, reveals that window breakage results in 95 percent of the taxpayers where vandalism to the schools is concerned.

Who's Bernie?

That's a question we often hear at Bernie's Youth Center and Room at the Top. Actually "Bernie" is all of us — a family! The Papa, that's me at the left, and the Mamma, on the right, have been in business in Rutherford for 32 years selling women's and children's apparel. We built a reputation at Bernie's Rutherford, of quality service and customer value that is very rare in today's world of shopping malls and "super stores".

Now we've opened another store in Clifton's Styertowne Shopping Center. We call it Bernie's Youth Center and Room at the Bottom. To help operate this new store we've added daughter Shelly at the right (lovely like her mother) and Billy, her fiancé at the left. Together we can assure you the finest fashions for boys and girls, designer fashions and chic contemporary clothing for young juniors — to aware grandmothers!

We pledge you will be helped by knowledgeable salespeople. Your gift will be wrapped free and beautifully, your garment will be altered free before and after Christmas and that gifts can always be exchanged. We sincerely want to become your fashion store. We think you'll like our down-to-earth prices, friendly service and free parking.

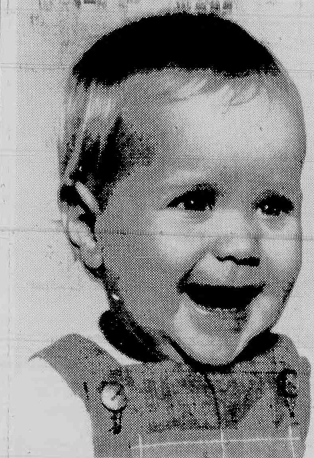

Oh, and our question, Who's Bernie? A terrific guy, Mamma's Papa, but that's another story. For now,

GOLDEN COMMENTS

Some bad decisions at Town Hall

By JAMES GOLDEN

In what exudes the objectionable, perverse impression of Prussian Junker, Commissioner Rocco Saletta has contributed little to offering Belleville anything to be thankful for this holiday season by his obstinate, unreasonable disinclination to go along with the time honored custom of suspending enforcement of the winter alternate side of the street parking for street cleaning purposes.

After the leaves had been cleaned up the fall and with the cold winter weather coming on which immobilizes the mechanical sweepers with their water freezing, the governing body in the past had wisely considered the convenience of its motorists by suspending concentration on street cleaning and directed its attention to snow plowing needs.

Early in Commission/Saletta's term in office his Deputy Commissioner, Joseph Granese, came up with prudent plans of making one-way streets in congested areas to facilitate a more efficient flow of traffic and to provide for better plowing of the town streets. Granese also provided a badly needed proposal to clean up that disgraceful drive-in line of cars using Washington Ave., a state highway, to accommodate the patrons of the Fidelity Bank. Obviously, Saletta spurned these constructive proposals.

Now! At the last town meeting when Mayor Marotti solicitously inquired of Saletta when the resolution to suspend the winter enforcement of the alternate side parking regulations was to be introduced, he was shocked to hear Saletta pompously intone that he, on the advice of professional opinion (that of a cop, apparently the same one who vetoed Deputy Director Granese's proposals) he was not going to bring in such a resolution, saying the people were getting used to it. That was stupid.

We readily accept that Saletta knows very little about traffic control, but then too, neither does a cop qualify as a traffic engineer. It becomes obvious that neither of them seem concerned about the gross inconveniences they would subject so many of our townspeople to by their unreasonable calloused futile attempt to enforce an ordinance that was never designed to be observed throughout the Winter... chaos would be the only result.

Interviews with officers of the Citizens Tax Union indicate their concern over this controversial issue. Indications suggest that they plan a survey to determine public reaction to this radical deviation from past practice. Prospects exist, that if opposition is sufficiently strong, they may insist that the majority of the town commissioners overrule Saletta's plans and pass a resolution suspending the regulations, as they had done in the past.

While Saletta is on the pan; We might just as well "clobber" him on his obvious attempt to ignore the State's Sunshine Law by his introducing a ridiculous ordinance to "saddle" to taxpayers with seven Deputy Chiefs in the Fire Department to "pay off" what appears a political debt. An attempt that Town Attorney John Scott Disagrees with Saletta about. We'll put our money on Scott's ruling, especially since it is so obvious that Saletta is trying to "get around" the Civil Service regulations regarding appointment from an invalid list which will have expired.

Had Saletta sincerely intended to move for these additional deputy chiefs in the fire department why did he wait until now, when the list is running out. Even he says: "I don't know whether I want seven deputy chiefs, but noted that the civil service deputy chief list is running out."

We definitely feel Saletta is only resorting to a ploy and a gimmick in the hopes of providing a conditional or provisional appointment of two men from the expiring list for a brief time, then returning back to their former rank, in the expectation that should any later vacancies in the deputy chief ranks come up that these two men would be next in line for the job, even if a new civil service list was certified. If this is his plan, it is a subterfuge and insult to all the other men in the department who might desire to seek higher rank through civil service advancement... outside of the illegal prospects of the move because of violation of the Sunshine Law and the prospect that, as town attorney John Scott contends, the civil service list will have expired.

THIS QUESTIONABLE ORDINANCE SHOULD NOT BE APPROVED NOR ADOPTED. Should it be, it seems apparent that the town will be subjected to defense of a legal action that its own town attorney had already disagreed with.

Maybe Commissioner Saletta would do better were he to heed the legal advice of a real professional man like town attorney Scott and pay less attention to political schemes and to the traffic suggestions of professional police officers who do not quite qualify as traffic consultants. You should realize Comm. Saletta that these men have the security of their professional status in their chosen fields; Their positions afford them security, yours as an elected public official does not.

Running rampant and kicking over the traces of established precedents and established rules doesn't bode well for those who must depend upon the whim and caprice of an easily aroused and inflamed public... a body you seem to ex- cede in exorbitance, almost as if you had a special talent for it, Comm. Saletta.

Indeed Comm. Saletta's position in regards to the two herein touched upon subjects does little to enhance his esteem in the eyes of but only a few individual who might personally gain by his action. It does nothing in the way of adding to his political prestige.

Belleville cops bust network of illegal lottery gambling

After two weeks of investigation by Belleville police and the Essex County Strike Force, authorities broke up a local gambling operation which netted more than $50,000 a week.

Belleville detectives Thomas Ricci and Lt. Raymond Kimble together with county agents made the raid, at 40 Washington Ave., Nov. 17 at 2:30 p.m. and arrested Richard Gesumaria, 21, of 150 Van Buren St., Newark, police said. Gesumaria was charged with possession of lottery slips and operating a lottery bank, stated Belleville Deputy Police Chief Frank Haight.

He is currently being held in lieu of $10,000 bail pending a court appearance slated for Dec. 8, authorities reported.

Random rifle shot is almost deadly

A random rifle blast fired by a 20-year-old Belleville man narrowly missed hitting a Watchung Ave. woman, last week, while she sat in the living room of her home, police report.

Carmine Repoli, 70 Watchung Ave., was charged with firing a gun within city limits and malicious damage, Belleville Deputy Police Chief Frank Haight stated.

According to authorities, Repoli apparently randomly discharged a .22 caliber rifle shot from his apartment house window about 1 a.m. Nov. 23.

The bullet smashed through the glass front storm door of the house located across the street, 77 Watchung Ave., narrowly missing the occupant and imbedding itself in the wall, Haight said.

Investigation by detectives Bart Rossi and Raymond Caruso led to the apprehension of Repoli, the deputy chief added.

According to police the defendant is scheduled for a hearing in Belleville Municipal Court Dec. 14.

First officers on the scene were patrolmen Anthony La Vista and Robert Zahary.

Local artist shows prints at library

Belleville printmaker Carol Yudin will be exhibiting her work at the main branch of the public library until Jan. 15.

Creations composed from carefully etched metal plates and precisely embossed paper mats has won the local artist the distinction of having prints included in the permanent collections of the State Museum, Trenton, the Jersey City Museum, St. Peter's College, Jersey City, the Miniature Art Society of New Jersey, and New York State University. Along with her New Jersey exhibits,

Mrs. Yudin displays her work nationally with the Old Bergen Art Guild and at the International Miniature Print Exhibit in Poland.

Past president of the Painters and Sculptors Society of New Jersey, the Belleville woman was elected to the Graphic Jury of the National Association of Women in 1975 and '78.

Compositions included in her exhibit are, "Leaves," "Through the Looking Glass," "Midnight Sun," "Homage to Wil," and "Lunar Luminosity."

5 arrested at cemetery

13 years old, Deputy Police Chief Frank Haight stated.

The juveniles were released to the custody of their parents, authorities said. "What we'd like to know is what is the mentality behind such an act of deliberately destroying property, stated Rev. Heavey. "Much of the cemetery, which can't be seen from the rectory, was completely flattened. It looked like Dunkirk during the war."

We've had incidents similar to this before when perhaps two or three stones were overturned but nothing too serious," added Heavey. "This is the worst in my 23 years here."

firm had done work on the project while Busch was a town employee.

"I think the project is dead," Scott said at one point during a conference meeting of the Town Commission last Monday. Scott said he doubted the project could be salvaged because of the time it would take to resolve all the difficulties. The town must begin work on the water mains by Dec. 15 or lose the federal grant.

Busch said Monday he would not resign and added, "As far as I'm concerned, there's no conflict."

DeCesare called best for job have a principal who lives in the town and who shares the heritage of the majority of the people who live in the town," Mahmarian contended. He estimated that 65 percent of Belleville is Italian, of the same national origin as DeCesare.

DeCesare, according to Greed, has plans to move to Belleville and already has looked for houses here, based on the chance that he would be chosen principal.

That means moving from Reading, Pa., with his wife, Cassandra, and teenage sons, John and Steven, who attend the Reading schools.

It has been mandated that DeCesare's children attend Belleville schools when they arrive here, but that should pose no problem, the superintendent said.

For the past five years, Belleville High's new principal has served as principal of Muhlenberg High School, Reading, Pa.

Prior to that, he was assistant principal in the East Stroudsburg School district, K to 12 social studies coordinator in the Easton school district and social studies teacher at Easton (Pa.) High School and Washington High School.

DeCesare has held part-time educational positions like college instructor at Penn State University, Lafayette College and Reading Area Community College.

He also has taught courses at the Northampton County Prison and the Easton Adult Evening School and Summer School.

Enrolled in the doctoral program at Lehigh University, DeCesare holds a bachelor's degree from Moravian College in social studies and in English, a masters in history from Lehigh University and a masters in education from Lehigh in educational administration.

Belleville's newest administrator holds permanent teaching certificates in Pennsylvania and New Jersey as well as principal's and superintendent's certificates in both states.

The 38-year old principal was president of his high school class and a member of the high school band, college fraternity and the Bucks County Principals' Association.

A professional musician, athlete and auto buff, DeCesare was a dean's list student in college and is presently a member of Phi Delta Kappa, an honorary educational fraternity.

The new principal will take over from John Westlake, now acting principal, Feb. 1, 1978.

Trustees and citizens gather for School Three dedication

A Job Well Done — School Board Trustees gathered around the lobby of School No. 3 Nov. 19 for the unveiling of the plaque dedicating the new building. From Left, they are Caesar Romano, president, and trustees Matthew Pica and Lawrence Schwartz.

The Roots of the New School — Contractors Rocco and Charles Cerami, far left and right, of the firm of Cerami Bros., prepare the front of the new school for the tree which they donated. School Board President Caesar Romano and Trustee James Risoli watch the pair, while in the background is the cornerstone of the new School No. 3.

Your Attention, Please — Belleville High School Color Guard members Mary Alice Wanchow and Suzanne Verian stand at attention while School No. 3 Principal Austin MacArthur addresses the crowd at Nov. 19's dedication ceremonies. At far right is Lawrence Schwartz, member of the Belleville Board of Education.

Memories of Max — Mrs. Max M. Schwartz (center) reminisced about her late husband as the school library was dedicated to him Saturday. Mrs. Schwartz noted that, besides serving the School Board as legal counsel for many years, Mr. Schwartz also attended School No. 3 as a child. Around her are Trustee Michael Chieffo, Board President Caesar Romano, Trustee Lawrence Schwartz, Trustee Richard Mahmarian and Assistant Superintendent of Schools Seymour Grossman.

Matchful Glances — School No. 3 Principal Austin MacArthur addresses the crowd of spectators who welcomed the building to the community while Trustee Lawrence Schwartz casts a discerning glance at the group.

Smiling Students — Fifth-graders Traci Janik and Denise Sibilia stopped off in the Speech Room at School No. 3 while parents and teachers toured the building. This room is only one of a group of rooms which are specially designated for areas like speech, music, and art.

Inspection By Parents, Pupils — Among the throng of Bellevillites who visited School No. 3 Nov. 19 were first-graders Raymond Zamloot and Frank Orrei, Mrs. Anna Marie Zamloot, second-grader Vincent Orrei and Ruth and Frank Orrei. Classrooms throughout the school were brightly decorated with autumn leaves and holiday greetings.

And the Work Goes On — Even though the construction of School No. 3 has been completed, officials still are taking steps to beautify the grounds. Here, Rocco Cerami, contractor, Caesar Romano, Board president, and James Risoli, School Board member, seem to be enjoying the task.

Lending a Helping Hand — Sue Mobilio, past president of School No. 3's Home & School Association, and Gail Chieffo, current president of the group, begin to lift the first shovel of ground where the school tree will be planted. Caesar Romano tries to lend a word of encouragement.

Scout troops see nation's capital

Belleville Scout troops 301, 302, 305, 307, 350, 475 and 487, numbering 67 scouts and 17 adult leaders, recently spent three days in Washington, D.C.

Oct. 9, two buses loaded the scouts, leaders and equipment at St. Peter's Church parking lot and by 6:30 a.m. were on their way to Ft. Belvoir, Va., located just south on the nation's capital. They arrived at Ft. Belvoir in time for lunch and set up a tent city. Heavy rains that night soaked most of their gear and quarters were moved to barracks. Excellent meals were enjoyed on the spot. Surprise for some leaders who recalled Arrow-of-the-past.

Highlights of the trip included visits to the Capitol, Air and Space Museum, Museum of Natural History, Jefferson, Lincoln and Washington Monuments. While in the vicinity of the Capitol, the group witnessed the helicopter arrival of President Carter.

The troops returned to Belleville Oct. 11 around 7:30 p.m.

Lean Lines

By Lolly Wurtzel
and Toni Marotta

The newest technique in dieting is the liquid-protein fast and it's also the newest potential health hazard for dieters.

The impatient and ill-informed are embarking on this diet without medical supervision. And, this is one diet that absolutely demands the attention of a physician. There are no exceptions. People on a liquid-protein fast each day consume four bright ounces of a fruit-flavored syrup made up of amino acids and collagen. They also take vitamin pills and 1½ to 2 quarts of noncaloric liquids—black coffee, club soda, water. It is possible to lose 10 pounds a week on this regimen.

By taking this protein diet, the dieter loses fat without losing lean tissue. This is important because some of the lean tissue that can be lost is in our vital organs.

The diet was developed 10 years ago by a professor of medicine at Harvard, Dr. George Cahill. It was first used for patients who could not eat solids. Since then, it has been used successfully for the obese at the New England Deaconess Hospital and Mt. Sinai Hospital in Cleveland.

However, most dieters have become familiar with it because of the popularity of the book, "The Last Chance Diet" by Robert Linn, an osteopath.

Many responsible authorities on nutrition are alarmed by the misuse of the diet. Not the least among them is the American Medical Association, which has warned:

"We view this as an experimental procedure that should only be undertaken by physicians familiar with the protocol."

Some of the possible side effects of a liquid-protein fast are: dehydration, vomiting, dizziness, constipation, diarrhea and emotional disturbances. And these are side effects in healthy people. This diet can aggravate kidney problems and gout, among other maladies.

Another problem is the lack of potassium in the diet. And, potassium is available only through prescription, which means that you must be under a physician's care.

While a liquid-protein fast is potentially dangerous to your health, it is also potentially dangerous to your morale. Many people who lose a great deal of weight gain it back after they stop fasting. It is possible, without overeating, to regain 15 pounds in one week after ending the fast.

The real secret to staying slim is behavior modification. As long as you have bad eating habits, you will never be a thin person. You may have a thin body for awhile, but you will not be thin where it counts—in your mind.

Cadette Girl Scouts launch active autumn-winter season

Cadette Girl Scout Troop 950 of Christ Church, began their busy fall season with a camping trip to Campgaw, Bergen County.

A day hike to Bear Mountain, N.Y. followed in early October. The girls climbed to the top of the Mountain for a nosegay lunch and a look at the Hudson and surrounding area from the tower. Returning to the foot, the girls watched a reenactment of a Revolutionary War battle and browsed through a fair of handicrafts, including demonstrations of spinning and weaving. Supper was prepared on tin can stoves and buddy burners at Lake Tiorati.

Oct. 15 the girls covered 13 miles on their bikes leaving from Peoples Bank on Franklin Avenue and riding to Brookdale Park, Bloomfield, where they had lunch and played games. The return trip took them to Applegate Farms for dessert, and back through the Nutley Parks to Harrison Street. The loss of brakes and a flat tire marred on otherwise very successful trip.

Celebrating Founders' Day Nov. 2 the troop invited parents and friends to share a candle-lighting rededication program, including a renewal of their Promise and Law and an explanation of the World Association to which they belong. A welcome was given by Cathy O'Kean and a brief scouting history by Debbie Abshire.

Last-minute Christmas shoppers may use a guaranteed overnight delivery system for mailing gifts over 600 U.S. cities, according to Newark Postmaster Joseph Bennuci. The high-speed delivery service, known as Express Mail, is backed with a full-refund guarantee.

Kearny Boystown making yule appeal for donations

New Jersey's Boystown of Kearny is appealing to citizens for financial assistance.

A Christmas appeal letter from Boystown director, Msgr. Egan, states: "Thousands of boys have come to New Jersey's Boystown in Kearny, during the past 105 years. They come from the cities and towns of New Jersey — of every race and creed. We gave them a home, we gave them a good training, we gave them a new way of life. The boys range in age from 12 to 18. They attend school at Boystown's grammar school and the High School boys are educated in the Kearny area. Boystown conducts its own vocational school in printing, carpentry and wood-work, plumbing, masonry, brick-laying and electricity.

Senior notes

By GEORGE CHENOWETH

We attended the hearing at the Board of Freeholders meeting at the Hall of Records in Newark Nov. 16. The meeting, chaired by Director Bernard Gallagher of the Essex County Office on Aging, presented requests by the Essex County Senior's agencies to determine their needs for 1978.

The seniors were assured that most of the projects for the elderly would continue to be carried out. It was further disclosed that there would not be enough funds to start any new projects. The need for funds for continuing the nutritional centers and the day care centers along with the need for transportation was heavily stressed. The allotment of funds would follow the area plan, our assurance of funds came from a good source in that the Reverend Maxwell of the New Jersey Office on Aging, told us that the federal government had plans for financing the Essex County present existing needs for at least the next five years under the Older Americans Act of 1965.

The Outreach Program was defined and the needs of the Information and Referral Services along with Shopping Assistance for Seniors, was presented.

Our involvement concerned the budget request of the Essex County Council of Senior Citizens Clubs, Inc., and I testified in their behalf and submitted their budget for 1978.

The needs program, if all requests are granted, would entail the outlay of between $44 thousand and 1 million dollars for the present programs and up to 4 million for new programs and the expansion of the old.

Elderly Americans who are having difficulties making ends meet may not be fully informed about federal programs that already exist to help them meet their most basic needs. There is a fact sheet supplied free of charge of the United States Government with a summary of facts on current programs, telling where application can be made for assistance or further information. In all cases, the federal agencies in Washington are glad to reply to inquiries, but older persons will find it quicker and more direct to ask for information in their own states or communities. For general information on all local services, programs, and opportunities for the elderly, individuals can always turn to their state and area agencies on aging. A list of federal agencies is enclosed with this fact sheet. Write to H.E.W. Fact Sheet. DHEW Publications, Washington D.C. 20201, and ask for publication No. OHDS, 77-20229.

Too much TV viewing could be a health hazard

Excessive television viewing may cause both intellectual and emotional problems, says the current issue of the New Jersey Education Assn.'s monthly journal. Sitting passively for long periods can be harmful and children are most susceptible, it adds.

"TV causes apathy in children due to their intense viewing of the passive medium for too many hours," says the NJEA Review, which reports the views of author-psychologist William Glasser.

Too much television viewing deprives children of the time everyone needs to "relax and ponder," Dr. Glasser warns. "This makes youngsters less capable of learning in school," he states, because "they have not had their needed renewal-growth periods."

Another problem with excessive TV watching, Glasser continues, is its message to the child that most problems have simplistic solutions. "This makes it difficult for children to cope with harsh life-realities when they are faced with their own severe problems," the NJEA Review reports. "They have no stamina or patience to work their way through problems of any magnitude."

The increase in student misbehavior since the end of World War II may be linked with growth of television, Glasser reports. Children who regularly watch TV before they go to school are more likely to be hostile in class during the day. "TV causes much of the discipline problems found in schools today," he points out.

Glasser's advice to parents is to turn the set off and turn the child out of doors — especially if he is of preschool age.

"This releases hostilities and aggressions," the NJEA Review says. "It allows children to grow within the social system of play."

"Children learn to relate to one another, to game rules and to a variety of behavior in others, all of which is necessary for them to know by the time they enter school."

CONSIDERING LATER HOURS FOR BARS

Let's pour drinks until 3 a.m.

Public Safety Commissioner Rocco Saletta thinks it would be good for Belleville business if taverns were allowed to keep on pouring until 3 a.m. Fridays and Saturdays.

"From a Public Safety standpoint, I for one would not be against it. It would be a help toward keeping business in Belleville," Saletta says. Belleville taverns presently close 2 a.m. seven nights a week. Saletta says Newark is presently experimenting with a 3 a.m. Friday and Saturday closing which appears to be working well and is likely to be extended on a permanent basis.

"Many of our tavern owners tell me that people begin leaving town shortly after midnight, knowing they can drink in Newark an hour later. The Belleville customers don't wait until 2 a.m. to leave town and the result is our businessmen are losing money," Saletta believes.

Other Commissioners have not reacted to Saletta's proposal although Public Works Director Mary Senatore said she had heard tavern owners were working on a petition to be submitted to Town Hall.

A few weeks ago, Saletta had called for stricter controls over taverns. As Public Safety Director, Saletta reported the activity around some bars was "the biggest police problem" in town at night.

Streaking Comets sweep by Bellboys

BY MIKE COREY

A fired up Hillside Comet football squad, with its sites set on a winning season, spoiled the Blue-Gold's Turkey Day celebration, outmuscling Belleville 34-7 Thanksgiving morning at Woodfield Stadium.

The BHS hash mark club closed off the 1977 pigskin year with a 2-6-1 record.

"We were a little disappointed with our performance," stated Bellboy coach John Senesky, concluding his initial season at the helm. "We didn't expect Hillside to be as fast as they showed."

The Comets(5-4) streaked through the tail end of its season to post a winning mark by gaining victories in its final four contests.

Hillside took advantage of a first quarter Blue-Gold runner, after Belleville had taken the opening kick-off and marched 30-yards on the games initial series of downs.

"We were moving the football pretty well but we put ourselves in a hole early with a fumble," pointed out the Bellboy mentor.

The home team capitalized on the miscue when halfback Jeff Gardner broke loose for a 25-yard gain and moments later galloped 30 more yards and into the endzone to give Hillside a 6-0 lead.

Extra point booter Bob Bell split the uprights for the first of his four placement kicks on the day and the Comets had the early seven-zip advantage.

"Our defense throughout the game was just not forcing them into any long yardage situations," said Coach Senesky. "On their first score we blitzed two linebackers but they countered with a draw trap which got their halfback free."

Hillside mounted another TD drive, late in the opening quarter, accumulating 60 yards in five plays to put six more points on the board. Gardner capped the touchdown march with a 40-yard burst on a power sweep along the right side.

"We concentrated a lot of our defense to the outside but we still were not able to do a real effective job in containing them wide," said Senesky. "Our overall pursuit was very poor which was surprising considering during practice we had done

Broncos win 4th Marotti Bowl, 13-6

Bronco tailback Angelo Centanni scored two touchdowns to lead the local traveling pigskin squad to a 13-6 win over St. Anthony's of Union City Sunday and post its fourth consecutive Marotti Bowl victory at BHS Stadium.

The Belleville back gained 113 yards on 15 carries and sparked a Bronco second half scoring drive which proved to be the margin of victory.

Early in the opening period the Broncos capped a 51-yard drive with the game's initial score.

Centanni climaxed the march when he took a pitch from Bronco signal caller Frank Fazzini and swept right end nine yards into pay dirt.

The Belleville QB, moments later, connected with Eugene Cancelliere with a pass to post the extra point and give the Broncos a 7-0 advantage.

The home club's lead held firm until midway through the third period. St. Anthony's capitalized on a Bronco fumble to cut the Bronco edge to one point.

The visitor's QB Ricky Corea hit Caesar Paccio, on a third and six situation, with a 27 yard pass for the touchdown.

The TD marked the first time the Bronco "Big D" had been scored upon in 16 contests.

St. Anthony's point after attempt was stymied by the Belleville defensive unit to preserve the Bronco's 7-6 spread.

The home team drove once again in the final period as tailback Centanni took charge and carried the ball four straight times to give the Broncos possession at midfield.

On the next play from scrimmage the Bronco back boiled through the St. Anthony line and galloped 50-yards to the endzone for Belleville's second score.

The defensive squad held the visitor's in check the rest of the way and extend the Bronco's Marotti Bowl victory streak to four.

Sunday's win marked the Bronco's

Local lifter picked to represent U.S.

Belleville's Phil Grippaldi has been selected as one of the United States representatives in the international weightlifting tournament slated for Dec. 3 in Las Vegas.

The meet is scheduled to be televised live on the CBS Sports Spectacular, channel two, beginning at 4:30 p.m.

Grippaldi, the current U.S. champion in the 198-pound class, joins two other Americans, Bruce Wilhelm of Sunnyvale, Calif., and Tom Stock of Belleville, Ill.

Twelve foreign entries will round out the field which includes Vasily Alexeev of the USSR, the world's strongest man, who has been World Superheavyweight Champion for the past eight years.

The theme of the tourney is "The Record Makers," since all entrants are capable of creating new world records each time they compete.

The local lifter has already announced he will be attempting to exceed his own American record in the clean and jerk category, presently listed at 450-pounds.

A teacher in the Belleville School system, Grippaldi, will be accompanied to Las Vegas by Belleville Barbell Club Coach Bucky Cairo as well as a pair of town lifters, Ed Lowry and Bruce Klemens.

Unlike lifters from eastern european countries, US athletes are not state supported and must work fulltime as well as train nearly every day.

I would like to express my gratitude to the Belleville Board of Education for allowing me to leave my teaching duties on Thursday, Dec. 1, in order to compete in Nevada, said Grippaldi.

BHS racket squad looks to the future

Fresh from the conclusion of its greatest court season ever, the Belleville girls tennis squad (9-4) is already looking forward to 1978 and an even better year.

"One of the keys to success is not only playing against each other this summer but in getting outside the town and playing the toughest competition we can find either through county tournaments or by setting up matches with other coaches," stated Blue-Gold racket mentor Karen Fuccello.

The faces of the players on next season's BHS tennis squad will be familiar ones as the club will lose only three seniors to June graduation.

Junior classwoman Toni Sperduto led off the '77 Blue-Gold's court matches posting a 7-8 mark.

"You have to realize Toni was meeting the premier players of each school we came up against," said Coach Fuccello. "She has the ability to get the ball and return just about everything. As the season progressed her overall play became a little more aggressive."

The 1977 second singles spot was held down by another junior, Denise Juliano, who compiled a 10-6 record for the Bel-girl courtiers.

"For someone who played doubles last year, Denise was able to move right into the second singles position and it worked out very well," explained the coach. "I feel with a little individual instruction she will be twice as good next year."

Junior LuAnn Graffeo (10-6) rounds out the first line of solo performers slated to return to the baselines for the Blue-Gold in September.

"LuAnn probably has the most tennis potential of anyone on the team," confessed Coach Fuccello. "If she can correct her tendency to sometimes stand up straight while making contact with the ball, that together with her powerful ground strokes can carry her."

The doubles team of Patty Connelly and Tina Ogilvie (6-6), both seniors, will be lost to graduation. "Patty's aggressiveness and Tina's quickness complemented each other very well," said the coach.

Second doubles saw the duo of Suzanne Reiman, a junior, and freshman Carol Ann Salerno post a overall 9-6 mark on the year.

"They were a steady combination and many times during the season matches came down to the two of them and they pulled it out for us," stated Coach Fuccello. "They got the job done with clutch performances."

The Belleville court chieftain expects juniors Sue Klein, Peggy Gilday and Leonore Siubis to work their way into the lineup next season, although the coach admits the club will sorely miss the leadership of seniors Karen Sciacca, Patty Connelly and Tina Ogilvie on the court in '78.

The local racketeers closed out the year with an overall record of 10 wins and six losses which includes matches in both the county and state tourneys.

"Beating Nutley in the first round of the states when they had beaten us a week before during the regular season has to be one of the highlights of the year," pointed out Coach Fuccello. "Being seeded sixth in the Essex County Tournament was also quite an accomplishment."

"I'm extremely proud of everyone's effort this year," added the Blue-Gold coach. "And I'm looking forward to next season."

Daylight Dasher

Belleville Bronco halfback Angelo Centanni breaks free and heads down the sidelines 50 yards for a touchdown in the final period of the Annual Marotti Bowl classic at BHS Stadium Sunday. The local club won the confrontation 13-6.

Quarterback Keeper

Bronco signal caller Frank Fazzini elects to opt for a fair catch on a St. Anthony's punt during the third period of the weekend clash. The Belleville junior traveling squad closed out the season keeping its 23 consecutive winning streak intact.

Members of the undefeated Belleville Bronco football team proudly display the spoils of Sunday's Marotti Bowl victory with the annual event's namesake, the Mayor himself, center right.

Bellboys close grid year with eye to next season

some of the best hitting we had done all year."

"When you're playing a lot of young kids there are going to be some mistakes made," added the Blue-Gold chieftain. "Defensively we have only two or three seniors on the unit and looking at the films a lot of mistakes like the wrong pursuit angles and misreading the ball were from inexperience, although there's no excuse for poor tackling."

The Bellboys cut the Hillside margin in half when it took a Comet kick and jaunted 70 yards on eight plays spearheaded by the running of fullback Joe Salters.

Sophomore signal caller Ed Aulisi dove over from the two-yard marker to climax the Blue-Gold's final scoring spree of 77."

Hillside bounced back with a TD

of its own when halfback Harem Smallwood plowed his way into pay dirt from the three to top off a 55-yard, 12 play, drive to give the Comets a 20-7 lead at the halftime intermission.

The home team stretched its margin of victory even longer in the final pair of periods with two more scores.

On the first play from scrimmage, QB Glenn DiLeo chucked a pass 55-yards to flanker Henry Wendell for the TD.

In the fourth period, Comet end Mike Sapp took a Belleville punt on his own 32 and raced 68-yards for the last Hillside touchdown of the holiday confrontation.

"We had a few punts blocked this year and the players were just holding up at the line of scrimmage a little too long," stated Coach Senesky.

The Hillside offense utilized almost perfect ball control strategy dominating most of the game clock and allowing the Belleville offense little time to operate.

Senesky, however, did cite the blocking of offensive linemen Sam Fusaro, Mauro Tucci, Lou Valenti and Joe D'Agostino.

"Hillside was going for a winning season for the first time in many years," stated the Belleville coach. "They just played a little harder than we did."

"We're already starting to think about next season," continued Senesky. "We will have close to 25 players returning and it's rare a team finds itself in a situation where it can pick up teaching techniques almost where it left off the previous year."

Broncos extend win streak to 23

23rd consecutive victory since the 1975 Marotti Bowl success. The 1977 Belleville junior football squad, who many feel was the best ever fielded, was under the direction of head coach Rich Luzzi.

Assisting Luzzi were coaches Len Luongo, Mike Limongelli, Don Cicalese and Vin Casale.

This year also marked the debut of Belleville's junior football squad — the Bearcats. The club, coached by Lou Montemmaro, was established to complement the Broncos and give the youngsters the opportunity to gain football experience at an earlier age.

Assistant Bearcat coaches were Joe Falcone and Earl Wake.

The junior teams consist of players between 10 and 14 years of age weighing 80 to 150 pounds.

Both Belleville teams competed in the Bergen County Junior Football Conference made up of squads from Fair Lawn, Bergenfield, Englewood, Dumont, Oradell, Cresskill and New Milford.

Bellboy named athlete of the week

BY BARBARA HAGIN

"This year the varsity soccer team was fantastic. Everyone was really close and we all worked together," exclaimed Joe Coscarelli Belleville High School's athlete of the week.

The Blue-Gold footballer has been playing soccer practically all his life and claims it is a super game. Born in Italy, he first began kicking around a soccer ball at the age of five. Joe moved to the United States while he was in the fifth grade and his interest in the European sport soon declined.

"There wasn't anyone here who I could play soccer with so I didn't actually get involved in the sport again until the ninth grade when a freshman team was formed at Belleville High," pointed out the BHS booter.

Coscarelli continued playing on the high school level and was a member of this season's varsity squad.

The Belleville High senior states his most memorable game was his initial varsity contest, last year, against Orange.

"The score was tied 1-1 and the game went into overtime," Coscarelli remembered. "I knew someone had to make a move, so I did, scoring two goals to help us win, 3-1."

Recently the Belleville student was named to the all-county soccer squad.

In his spare time, Joe weightlifts and enjoys playing American football. His future plans include majoring in business at Kean College where he hopes to play soccer and possibly, someday, to go back to his native Italy and compete in the sport he loves.

"I know I'm never going to forget the Belleville High team," said Joe. "Especially Coach (Tony) Cahill. He's the kind of coach every club should have and I wish him the best of luck with future teams."

Veteran fighters plan holiday fest

President of the Veteran Boxers Social Club Inc., Frankie Bove, has announced plans for the organization's Christmas Party, Dec. 3, at the Fountain Restaurant.

Meetings of both members and committees to finalize plans for the holiday event are slated for Sunday, Nov. 27, at 2:30 p.m. and Thursday, Dec. 1. The meetings will be held at the club's headquarters, 177 Malone Ave., Belleville.

The club has selected Paul Minai, Washington St., Belleville, to be honored as "Man of the Year." Minai, a former boxer, is now one of the best trainers in the area, Bove said.

The event usually attracts about 300 people. Among the celebrities expected to be on the dais are Paul Cavelier, Sammy Sangis, Joseph Biancardi (Master of Ceremonies), Bove and Minai.

Crew supporters planning dinner

The Belleville Parent and Alumni Crew Association is sponsoring a dinner-dance at the Chandelier, 343 Franklin Ave., Jan. 21.

The event will start at 7:30 p.m. with a cocktail hour, followed by dinner and then by dancing until midnight.

Blue-Gold gridders end '77 season

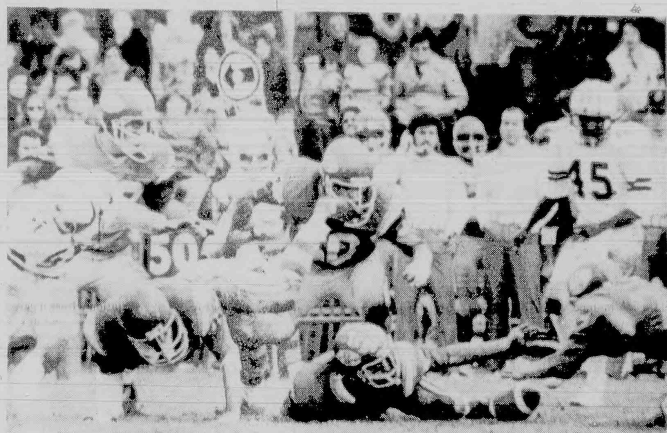

Happy Returns — Belleville back Frank Pizzi prepares to take a Hillside kickoff under the auspices of fellow Bellboy Gerald Paladino. The Blue-Gold offensive unit had precious little time to operate last Thursday as the Comets played an almost flawless ball control type of contest.

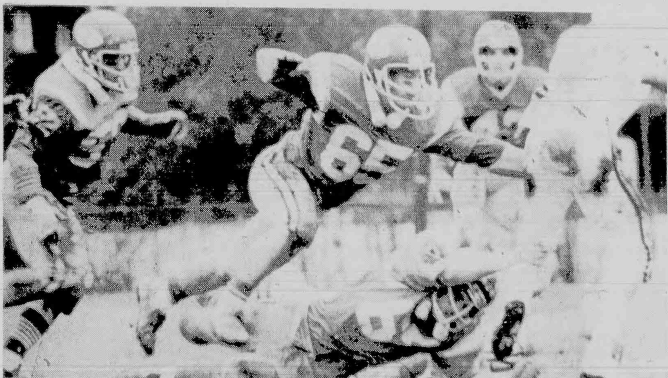

Forward March — Bellboy signal caller Ed Aulisi sets up in the pocket of Thanksgiving Day loss to Hillside. The Belleville football squad concluded its season, under the direction of first year coach John Senesky, with a 2-6-1 record.

Defensive Charge — Leading 27-0 in the third period, the scoreboard clock tells the rest of the holiday story as the Comet's Frank Pais punts one beyond the outstretched hands of the Blue-Gold defenders led by Angelo Santinelli (50).

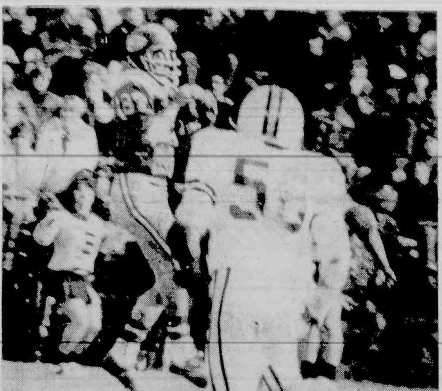

Loose Ball — Blue-Gold quarterback Ed Aulisi reaches out for the loose pigskin and halfback Frank Pizzi prepares to pounce on it during a mad scramble for the ball in the second half of the holiday contest. The Bellboys recovered but gave it up on downs later in the period.

Hit Men — Bellboy defenders Mike Limongelli (52), Joe Garafolo (65), Anthony Longo (42) and Tom Henry (67) reach out for a straking Comet in the first half of the Turkey Day contest. The Blue-Gold defensive unit will almost all be returning to next season's squad.

Sideline Situation — Coaches Joe D'Ambola, center, and Bill Trimmer disagree with a referee's judgment call in the third quarter of the annual morning pigskin confrontation.

Pigskin Reception — Belleville receiver Ted Zangari snares a toss from QB Aulisi for a first down in the third quarter.

Bench Concern — Members of the Blue-Gold defensive unit watch in sadness as hopes of a successful conclusion to the 1977 Belleville High football season slowly tick away on the game clock.

Field Communications — Assistant coach Joe Vitiello checks out a new Hillside formation with the scouts above the gridiron during the opening minutes of play last Thursday.

Party trays for holiday depositors

First DeWitt Savings of Belleville, Bloomfield and Hopatcong is getting the Noel Season off to a gala start by offering colorful party serving trays to its 1978 "holiday club members."

The Association is further sweetening the season by paying dividends due on completed holiday clubs according to a joint announce-

Cancer registry aids in detection

New Jersey, thanks to the computer age and its new statewide cancer registry, will soon have a much better view of its cancer problem and how to deal with it.

Celestino Clemente, MD, president of the Cancer Institute of New Jersey, said that the fight against cancer in New Jersey has been severely handicapped up to now by the fact that the state has had no centralized information on cancer occurrence.

The cancer registry, signed into law by Gov. Brendan Byrne last month, will require the reporting of all cancer cases to the State Department of Health in Trenton, plus whatever additional information that the state may require about each patient.

The registry, when fully operational, should put New Jersey in the forefront among the states in the field of cancer reporting, Dr. Clemente said. Such a registry is of special significance to New Jersey, which has at least as high a cancer death rate as any other state in the nation.

"We at the Cancer Institute are extremely pleased at the state government's action to get the cancer registry started," Dr. Clemente said. "Much credit should go to Gov. Byrne, to Dr. Joanne Finley, the health commissioner, and to State Sen. John M. Skevin for their role in bringing this about."

Ideally, Dr. Clemente said, the cancer registry will accumulate and computerize data not only on the occurrence of all cancer cases in the state, but also on a great deal of related information.

ment made by John P. Daily, chairman, and Henrik Tvedt, president and chief operating officer.

Daily and Tvedt explained a person saving $10 per week would receive $515 for the 1978 holiday period. Similarly, a member saving $20 per week would receive $1,030. "All clubs must be completed on schedule to be eligible for the dividend" they said.

First DeWitt Holiday Clubs are available in weekly saving categories of $1, $2, $5, $10 and $20.

The party trays, designed for decorative or functional use, feature a Currier and Ives reproduction, "American Homestead-Winter." Trays are for members opening accounting of at least $2.

The circular tray features brilliant holiday designs and are available for members opening $1 accounts.

First DeWitt's Main Office is located at 463 Washington Ave., Belleville.

Survey shows lung cancer as worse New Jersey killer

Statistics just released by the American Cancer Society in its 1978 edition of "Cancer Facts & Figures" indicate 3,400 persons living in New Jersey will die of lung cancer next year.

Romano didn't like advanced report by Times/News of split board vote

Advanced newspaper reports that the School Board would split 4-3 in hiring a new BHS principal were criticized Monday night by President Caesar Romano. However by the time the midnight session had ended, Trustees went through the reported motions and in fact did split 4-3 in naming Pennsylvania educator John DeCesare to the principalship recently vacated by Raymond O. Smith.

"The newspapers acted as if the vote had already been decided, when, in fact, the voting does not take place until tonight," Caesar Romano, president of the Board of Education, told a crowd in the auditorium of School No. 4, in Belleville's Silver Lake district.

A group of approximately 250 parents, students and teachers gathered there for the first Board meeting to be scheduled in a local elementary school.

The Board had announced previously that it would appoint Smith's successor at this meeting partially accounting for the unusually large crowd attending the Board meeting.

Fifteen citizens addressed the Board regarding its selection of the new principal, with sentiment almost unanimously for one of the three Belleville administrators who applied for the job.

"My experience with Belleville administrators has been great," Joseph Vecchione, 181 Overlook Ave., said. "I am not against any gentleman, but it would be demoralizing to go outside the system for the principal."

He urged the Board to hire a Belleville administrator, noting that in choosing an outsider for the principalship, the Trustees are taking away the incentive to present employees and setting a poor example of the ideal of working hard for advancement.

Vecchione's neighbor, Gabe Nazziola, 169 Overlook Ave., echoed his sentiments.

"People here give of themselves in a way that to me is an unbelievable thing," Nazziola noted, adding, "I think we should hire from within."

Parents and teachers bombarded Dr. John Greed, superintendent of schools, with queries about his recommendation of DeCesare.

One parent inferred that Greed had known DeCesare before the interviewing for principal began, a charge which the superintendent later denied, while several others asked Greed to pinpoint the areas where the Pennsylvania educator surpassed Belleville administrators.

"You are asking me to tell you what I think is wrong with the three Belleville administrators who applied for the high school principal and I won't do that," Greed told the gathering Monday evening.

Calling comparisons "suicidal," the superintendent tried to formulate some picture of his recommendation for those gathered in the school auditorium.

He said that DeCesare would be able to relate well to the community, possesses good organizational ability and is now operating a school that is outstanding.

"Much of my recommendation is based on his instructional leadership," Greed added. "Also, he had references, I spoke with his superintendent of schools and observed an esprit de corps among the students and among the faculty when I visited his school in Pennsylvania early in November."

One parent said that, to her, the origin of the new principal was not important, but his quality should be judged.

"I don't care where our principal comes from — I just want to see the best-qualified person," Candida

Valiente, 124 Adelaide St., told the trustees. "I do object to not having a better basis for judgment, for comparison, though."

Greed reiterated his refusal to go into the particulars involved in his choice of DeCesare over any of the three Belleville candidates, noting that that information was given to the Board in confidence.

In fact, the names of two of the Belleville administrators were not made public until Monday's meeting. At that time, it was noted that Mario DiMaggio, principal of Belleville Junior High School, and John Westlake, acting principal of the senior high, had been in the running for the position, along with George Nucera, administrative assistant at the senior high school.

Although Nucera seemed to be the forerunner in the minds of most participants in the sometimes heated discussion between spectators and trustees, the gathering cheered and applauded whenever one of its spokesmen rallied for someone within the system.

Political leaders of the Town felt the need to have themselves heard, as Commissioners Rocco Saletta and Mary Senatore both appeared at the Board meeting supporting Belleville administrators.

Mrs. Senatore sent a message via one of her Democratic leaders, Ernest Zoppi, urging the superintendent to unite, not divide, the Board.

"Return to the people of Belleville an unblemished school system," she pleaded, noting that a vote against the Belleville administrators "will set a dangerous and demoralizing precedent for our school system."

She added that she is shocked at the people in the Belleville school system if none meet the qualifications for the high school principal's position.

"I cannot believe that we don't have people who are qualified in our school system," Michael Harvey, president of the Belleville Education Association (BEA), said. "I would never run for second place and this morale problem is a big one."

Dr. Greed countered that he is not concerned about morale — that he expects teachers to be professional and to work with the new principal.

The BEA previously sent copies of a petition it had drawn up to all members of the Board of Education, the superintendent of schools, and to two local newspapers, including the Times/News.

In the letter accompanying the petition, the association asked that the Board reconsider its decision on the new principal before the final vote was taken Monday. A focal point of its argument for a local man focused on community spirit as a powerful contributor to the quality of public education.

Several teachers, who also attended Belleville High School in recent years, magnified the importance of a special feeling of love and understanding that comes from caring about the community as a whole.

Marilyn Mango Gennaro questioned how an outsider can feel love for the Town, the school, the pupils if he hasn't been in Belleville, while Annette Guardabascio, 58 DeWitt Ave., coupled the importance of dedication with leadership in choosing a principal.

Both asked the trustees to listen to them and to their fellow residents, adding that they hoped the trustees had not made up their minds and then closed them to outside criticism.

Several comments on this line were directed toward Trustees Michael Chieffo and James Risoli — the two are up for re-election to the School Board this March.

Risoli commented only "This has nothing to do with politics," but Chieffo clarified his position many times throughout the evening.

"I am what I am and I can only do what I believe to be right," Chief-fo said. "I cannot help if what I do here tonight affects anything else."

Belleville welcomes season's first snow

The first icy breath of winter swept into town this week with the season's first snowfall. The white stuff came down Sunday night and could be seen atop windshields Monday morning.

Bellevilles awoke Tuesday to find the area covered with snow which continued into the afternoon before changing to sleet with rising evening temperatures. The Weather Bureau estimated one to three inches had fallen.

The snow did not accumulate on the roads, but a precaution the Public Works Department began to ready its equipment. "We're getting our salters out," Commissioner Mary Senatore said Tuesday afternoon, "but we won't do anything if the snow melts."
