Belleville's yule almost was dark

The increasing number of vacant stores on Washington Avenue nearly left the Chamber of Commerce without any sponsors to light the town's main street with Christmas decorations. In fact, had not the Town Commission chipped in with the major share for the lights' expense, Belleville's Christmas this year would have been dark.

Chamber officials appeared before Town Commissioners last month to report the number of decorations this year would be reduced to four poles — compared to 22 last year.

"Last year the merchants contributed $1,700 for the lights, but now half the stores are empty," Aaron Cohen, project chairman, said.

Stan Slaven, also representing the Chamber, said contributions were so poor from merchants "that as far as I am concerned, the avenue can stay in darkness this year."

Cost in 1977 was $1,700 to merchants with the town picking up an additional $1,500. Slaven estimated only $1,000 could be raised this year, and thus the Chamber had planned to drop 14 sets of the electrical decorations and put up lights only at Washington and Belleville Avenues, at Rutgers Street, and at Williams Street.

Mayor Michael Marotti, however, felt Belleville's Christmas should not be dark and he won an immediate endorsement from Commissioners Mary Senatore and Rocco Saletta.

"The heart of our town should be bright for Christmas," Saletta said. "We are in dire straits because of the stores that have moved out and I suggest that banks, industry and others be asked to participate in the program."

Commissioner Senatore agreed. "I am sure no one wants Belleville's Christmas to be dark."

The Chamber of Commerce left the pre-Christmas meeting with the message to go out and raise as much money through contributions as possible. "Whatever the difference that has to be paid, we will share the cost among our five municipal budgets," Mayor Marotti said. "Especially with the declining activity on Washington Avenue, we do not want to add any unhappiness by not having Christmas lights this year."

Just prior to the Christmas holiday, the Belleville Chamber of Commerce listed 24 firms which had contributed to the project including Provident Savings Bank, Michael's Men's and Boys' Wear, Flowerama, Terry Shops, Pine Bar, Lenzie Beauticians, New Jersey Bell Telephone Co., Yudin's Paint Store and Wilner's Liquors.

The Chamber collections also help finance the Santa Claus parade held earlier this month. So far, the Chamber hasn't announced its total collections for the parade and holiday lights.

In addition to paying a major share of the street decorations, Commissioners also agreed the continuing practice of installing Christmas lights on the facade of Town Hall. That project was coordinated by Marotti's Parks and Public Property Department.

Partisan politics key to next school election

By MARY FREEMAN

School board elections lie only six weeks away, but already it seems clear that politics, and political ties, will enter into the race.

Three candidates have sprung up within the last week, all registered Democrats, but diametrically opposed politically.

Incumbent Trustee Michael D. Chieffo believes the election will be a test of whether Belleville submits to organized politics or elects a board member on the issues.

"I have nothing personal against either of the men who already announced their candidacy, but both are definitely tied to Commissioner Mary Senatore," Chieffo said.

The two candidates Chieffo refers to are Ernie Zoppi and Pete Vaccarelli, both taking their first shot at elected office in Belleville.

Zoppi is a political district leader for Commissioner Senatore in her role as town Democratic chairman and he openly admits his involvement in Belleville politics.

"It's my right as a citizen to be politically active in a town of Belleville's size," Zoppi said. "I will not combine politics with sitting on the Board of Education — I'm looking to create an educational environment there, not a political one."

IF ELECTED, Vaccarelli, 25, would become the youngest trustee to sit on the board in recent years. His opponent, Chieffo, is the youngest person ever elected to the board although Trustee Lawrence Schwartz, up until now, was the youngest person to sit on the board.

Schwartz was appointed at the age of 29 to fill a vacancy resulting from the death of Dr. Frank DiRuggerio.

Both Vaccarelli and Zoppi have worked in past campaigns, supporting School Board candidates Larry Schwartz and Board President Caesar Romano, as well as Commissioner Senatore.

Now, the tables are turning and Schwartz and Romano are endorsing their former supporters for the two available board seats.

School Board Vice President James Risoli already has announced he will not try to regain his board seat due to a lack of time.

"I have commitments at work because of a recent promotion and may be going to college for a few courses," the vice president explained. "I just won't have the time necessary to be a board member."

Time seems to be one thing that each candidate has taken into consideration in deciding to run for the Board of Education here.

"Before this year, I didn't have the time to run for the board," Zoppi said, "but now I can devote the time necessary to be a good board member."

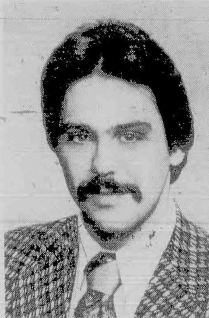

Zoppi, 49, who lives at 45 Fairway Ave., has been a Belleville resident 17 years. He attended the Newark public schools and received a political science degree from St. Peter's College, Jersey City.

DURING the past 16 years, much of Zoppi's time has been occupied with the Salem Paint Company in Please see "3 candidates" on page 5.

Trustees don't favor an appointed board

If Ralph Risoli wants to have an appointed board of education in Belleville, he will have to convince almost all of his fellow trustees to abandon their views and come over to his side of the fence.

Although Trustee Jim Risoli said he can not evaluate an appointed board's worth, he, along with every other board member, agreed that an elected board is a good thing.

"Like the elected board, after all, I ran two times," Jim Risoli noted. "I wouldn't be able to evaluate the appointed board because I've never worked on one."

Belleville did have an appointed board of education, but that was some 20 years ago. It was not until this year, when Ralph Risoli circulated a petition around town, that the idea resurfaced.

The petition, which Risoli says was signed by 15 percent of the registered voters here, asks Eugene Barnett, the town clerk, to call a special election so the voters themselves can determine the worth of an appointed as opposed to an elected board.

Under the law, if an appointed board ever comes to Belleville, the mayor has the sole right to appoint trustees. He may decide to waive this right and allow each of the commissioners to appoint board members, too.

"I believe an appointed board may work in some communities, but it's not the best system for Belleville," Trustee Lawrence Schwartz commented. "Most boards have moved toward elected boards of education because that form allows for the true feeling of the people."

Trustee Matthew Pica agreed with Schwartz, saying, "It would be a horrible mistake to have the people's choice of a representative dictated to them — now voters have the opportunity to elect representatives, and, if they're not sound, they can choose not to reelect them."

Board members would be turned into pawns, Pica added, noting that such a move would be one of the worst possible steps for education.

Two trustees, Richard Mahmarian and Michael Chieffo, detect political motives in the whole concept of an appointed board.

"An appointed board is political in tone — pure, unadulterated politics," Mahmarian said. "If anyone tries to bring partisan politics onto the board, they better check the law."

He added that the people and not town commissioners should decide who will sit on the board of education.

Chieffo also believes the appointed board would offer the town commissioners more influence and Please see "Trustees" on page 2.

Saletta, columnist feud at Town Hall

By MIKE COREY

A feud simmering in the press for the past few weeks between Times/News columnist James Golden and Public Safety Commissioner Rocco Saletta came to a boil Tuesday night at Town Hall.

Golden, a former Belleville commissioner, made a surprise appearance before the board to confront Saletta regarding a number of his department policies and public statements.

The Belleville columnist, in a statement which lasted approximately 25 minutes, accused Saletta of misusing town funds and failure to understand a town ordinance regarding parking regulations.

Golden also challenged Saletta to a public debate sponsored by any reputable Belleville organization.

"You'd like to hide behind the pen of the newspaper and I'm not about to sell newspapers for the Belleville Times," stated Saletta in answer to Golden's question of why he never answered charges made in the former commissioner's column.

"That crappy column doesn't even fit into 'Midnight' or the 'Enquirer,'" Saletta added. "Besides, by the time I could respond to a column written two weeks ago, people don't even know what I'm commenting on."

According to Golden, Saletta had Please see "Parking" on page 2

Jury awards resident $744,000 settlement

A Belleville man, injured in a construction accident four years ago, was awarded a $744,000 judgment Thursday in Essex County Superior Court.

The suit by James and Mary Gleavy, 303 Fairway Ave., challenged the White Construction Co. of Paramus. Gleavy worked for the firm in April 1974 when he fell from a scaffold, landed on his head and suffered "permanent and progressive brain damage."

Attorney Adrian I. Karp of Morris Plains represented James and Mary Gleavy at the eight-day trial before Judge James Owens in Superior Court, Newark.

Gleavy's health continues to deteriorate, he testified. At the present time, Gleavy takes 27 pills a day, is suffering from an incurable ailment which is affecting his memory and ability to concentrate. He told the jury he suffers headaches "60 to 70 percent of the day."

Gleavy was a brick mason and shop steward for White Construction which was working on the new Prudential Building in Roseland. On April 16, 1974, he was on a scaffold which pierced a piece of flake board and toppled over.

Attorney Karp successfully argued that White Construction had created a hazard by placing the thin particle board to temporarily cover exposed holes in the floor. When the scaffold's leg pierced the board, it slipped down another 18 inches and Gleavy fell from the top.

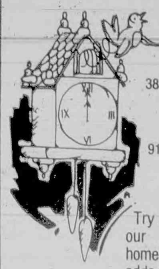

White Construction Co. has since gone bankrupt but its insurance carriers, who opposed Karp, were Joseph Zavenksi of Newark.

The actual verdict awarded $60-0,000 for Glevy and $50,000 for his wife. The jury found Glevy to be
"contributory negligent" to the extent of 5 percent, but despite that reduction, court rules dictate interest be paid at an 8 percent rate. The Glevy's total award thus resulted in the total of $744,000.

Glevy is 50 years old and the power over the schools, while taking power away from the people.

"An appointed board would vest more power in the commissioners over the school system," he said.
"Unless a member of this theoretical appointed board does what whoever appointed him dictates, he's going to be out."

The trustee continued, "People should always have a voice in what's going on, they need more of a say — an appointed board would be a political move that would take away another elective office from the people."

Although Board President Caesar Romano said that he disagrees with the idea of an appointed board of education, he stressed that it's not the form, but the people in it, that count.

"Mr. Risoli is a leader for the community, but I think people are more discriminating than to go along with his position — the people have a voice," Romano said.

The commission and the board of education should be completely separate, Romano noted, with the people of a town directly involved in the board of education.

He added that the complexion of the board of education here can change within a year as a result of annual elections where at least two board seats are in contest.

spent $3,750 of the town's money to hire attorneys to defend two Belleville police officers battling countercharges brought against them by private citizens.

"We have a capable legal department (town attorneys John Scott and Frank Zinna)," stated Golden.
"Why should we go outside for private lawyers when the town allots
$40,000 to its legal department?"

The Public Safety commissioner said he had discussed the problem with Scott, and Scott said there was a conflict of interest, and the department couldn't defend both sides.

"There is a possibility of a conflict of interest when dealing with counter complaints with police officers," stated assistant town attorney Frank Zinna sitting in for the absent John Scott.

According to Saletta, there is a state statute which forbids the town attorney to both prosecute a citizen accused of a crime by a police officer and defend the officer from a counter suit leveled by the citizen.

Golden also accused the commissioner of losing his credibility with the Fourth Estate by not knowing why parking regulations in Belleville were first established.

Reading from a copy of the ordinance itself, Golden said the purpose of parking restrictions was for street cleaning and public safety.

Saletta opposes lifting alternate side of the street parking bans as has been done in the past during the winter months.

PERMANENT CARDS ISSUED

Library tightens security

By DONNA NEWCOMER

On Monday, Dec. 5, library identification cards were distributed among the students at Belleville High School with the help of Mrs. Dorothy Roche, the school librarian. Because students have been frequently checking out their books under another's name, with the result being a great increase of stolen books, Mrs. Roche felt the cards were definitely needed.

Engraved on the identification cards is the student's name, address, and his student number.

These cards are to be kept by the students through their years at Belleville High School.

Each September, when the new sophomores come to school, free cards will be given to them. If a student who has already received a card should lose it, he will have to pay $1 for a replacement. Otherwise, no more books can be borrowed.

The Home and School Association is paying the total expense for the rental of the card check-out machine and for the printing of the cards. The rental of the machine is for one year only and then the school has the option to buy.

Mrs. Roche also added, "The cards are working out very well and it's making the desk work a lot easier. It will really be convenient at the end of the year when everyone returns their books."

School newspaper coming in January

"This is going to be an exciting paper, one that everyone will want to read," says the advisor of the Belleville High School newspaper, Mr. Gary Kadesh.

Our school paper will consist of a sports column, gossip column, club events, reviews of films and music, and also school problems as they occur. Any person who wishes to submit material to the paper may do so, whether they are a member of the staff or not.

Mr. Gary Kadesh's job, as advisor of the school newspaper, is to work with each member of the staff individually, and make sure articles are properly dated. He also states, "It's the students' paper, and I'm going to try my best not to reject anything that goes into it." The first paper will be available at the end of January.

'Mack and Mabel' puts audience in the movies

By BARBARA HAGIN

Highlighted by innovative theatrics, talented lead performers and a few "surprises," the BHS Drama Club's production of "Mack and Mabel" was presented to the public on the evenings of Dec. 8, 9 and 10.

"Mack and Mabel," based on the love story between silent film director Mack Sennett (played by John Dillon), and his leading lady Mabel Normand (played by Linda Fabian), was a rather unique musical performed by the Drama Club, for besides slapstick comedy, it also contained quite a bit of drama, closing with an unexpectedly sad ending.

Musically, the play was excellent, featuring the talents of John Dillon and Linda Fabian, who did outstanding jobs in performing their roles. The most memorable and well executed musical number was "Time Heals Everything," sung by Ms. Fabian, which definitely was the emotional climax of the play, as well as being an audience favorite. The opening number, "Movies were Movies," sung by Mack, was an audience pleaser featuring the extremely well-performed singing and dancing of talented John Dillon.

Throughout the play, the leads were assisted by chorus members providing interesting musical and dancing interludes, at times relying heavily on physical comedy, including a pie-throwing sequence.

Adding additional dimensions to the performances were the filmed slapstick sequences shown during the overture and also in the middle of the first act, which produced much favorable audience reaction.

Credits were given and characters were introduced in the first film, and a small sampling of silent slapstick comedy was shown, including an extremely funny chase scene featuring the majority of the cast.

The second film contained the pie-throwing sequence, which was an exceptional surprise to the occupants of the seats in the first two rows, who were warned prior to showtime that they sat there at their own risk.

In the pie-throwing scene, members of the cast threw pies into the audience. Immediately following the film was a re-creation on stage of the pie scene, with the audience again being the recipients of the pies, which to their great surprise (and relief) were made only of confetti!

Movies Were Movies — Linda Fabian as Mabel and John Dillon as Mack in the Belleville High School Drama Club production reviewed here today.

The choreography, by BHS graduate Janice Lynn Nazzola, was impressive. The dance highlight of the evening was "Tap Your Troubles Away," which featured Felicia Falzarano, Diane Preuster, John Dillon, and Chris Oleartchick in an exceptional tap exhibition.

The sets and lighting, headed by Mary Jane Izzi, a graduate of BHS class of '75, were extremely effective, providing a realistic atmosphere to the story, while the background music was supplied by a four piece combo under the musical direction of another BHS alumnus, Lee Romano.

The only "weak spot" noticed in the play was the absence of several performers, due to illness, resulting in some slight confusion. Student director Kevin Waters portrayed two roles which were performed extremely well, though may have led some audience members astray. Diane Preuster also performed ably as a replacement in the role of Lottie, as well as in her original role of Iris.

Much credit for this performance of "Mack and Mabel" must be given to Director Robert Lefebline, and Student Director Kevin Waters, who did fantastic jobs in performing their duties as co-directors, and to the entire cast who performed beautifully in their respective roles.

Christmas concert funds

By DONNA NEWCOMER

On Thursday, December 15, 1977, the Belleville High School's chorus and orchestra, presented a Christmas concert, at 8:00 p.m., in the school's auditorium.

Beginning the program, was the mixed chorus, which consists of 108 students, under the direction of Mr. Thomas Finetti.

Among the songs performed by the choir were "Fanfare for Christmas day," "Joy to the World," "Mary Had a Baby," "Jazz Gloria," and "O Holy Night." From the Bach overture were "For us a Child is Born," "Laud we he Name," and "Alleluia."

Soloists from the Bach overture were baritone, Mr. Wendall Parr, singing "So Appears Thy Natal Day," Tenor, Mr. Curtis Watkins, performing "Lord, My Thanks to Thee"; and contralto, Donna Schutz, singing "Immanuel! I Give to me" and "Lord, I sing thy Name."

Senior, Linda Fabian and junior, Robert DiStasi, performed "The Twelve Days After Christmas," while Robert DiStasi also sang a solo verse in "O Holy Night."

Junior, Theresa Cassin, performed a carol arranged by Mr. Finetti, entitled, "Dormi, Dormi, O Bel Bambino."

Accompanying the chorus in the Bach Overture were twelve instrumentalists playing piano, violin, cello, flute, oboe, percussion and bass.

The orchestra then performed the second half of the program, under the supervision of Mr. Edwin Black. Selections played were "Adagio and Allegro," "Sleigh Ride," "Let It Snow! Let It Snow!," "White Christmas," "Air and Cakewalk," and "A Christmas Festival."

The concert concluded with both the chorus and orchestra performing "Hallelujah Chorus." Alumni of the school and any person from the audience, who knew the song, were asked to sing along.

Tickets were $1.00 and the profit made from the concert will go towards the chorus and orchestra trip to Washington, D.C., in the spring.

Mixing politics with schools

Idealistically, a community's school system best serves its purpose when the attention of educators is focused on teaching children rather than being involved in local politics. Unfortunately, Belleville not only has failed to reach that idealistic objective but, if recent events are an indicator, the local school system is being dragged into the political arena on a regular basis.

No matter how one feels about the Board of Education's hiring of a Pennsylvania educator as the next principal of Belleville High School, the reaction of Town Commissioners leaves much to be desired. Like Commissioners, members of the School Board are elected by townspeople, who if displeased about the hiring of the principal can express their dissatisfaction at the February polls.

The high school principal issue was one in the spotlight. Unfortunately there are several others not quite so important, but yet issues which signal an ever present Town Hall political posture in School Board activities. School trustees, for example, have consulted with their commission friends at Town Hall on hiring staff members. Commissioners offer political backing to candidates in the Board of Education elections, and visa versa.

When school administrators, educators and board trustees have to ponder every decision's political ramifications, the learning process and Belleville's pupils suffer. Even at this juncture, who hasn't wondered aloud how the headlines generated by the Belleville School Board's hiring a new principal were interpreted out in Reading, Pa., or how difficult a job John DeCesare might face in coming to what appears to be a hostile political arena.

Perhaps divorcing school business completely from town politics will never be achieved in Belleville. But the ideal should at least be the one goal shared by both Commissioners and School Trustees. The objective would be a worthy New Year's resolution in the interest of a better school system and a better community.

GOLDEN COMMENTS

Belleville politics are far from being a love feast

By James Golden

We see by the paper, to borrow Will Rogers old cliché, that Jackie Rega is now a Christmas tree entrepreneur of great stature along with his other titles and attainments. Yea! That feature article blurb in a Passaic Sunday newspaper really placed the old Lemon Ice king right up on a pedestal that will probably require a ten-foot ladder to get anywhere near enough to even approach him now...something like the English liney had commented, when reference was made to the Queen.

Aside from the gushy, maudlin details of Jackie's love of humanity and his sentimental Christian charity for little children, we observe he's still smarting about the time "Tricky Dick" Nixon "stuck" him for that pumpkin he forced upon the then president.

We also noticed that although many protests have been registered by several votaries of Mr. Rega against the inference that he is politically involved and referred to as "Boss" Rega, that the Herald News reporter was successful in eliciting from him that he does serve in that role...a complete vindication of this column's reference to him in a true light...just as I advised one little lady some time ago...Yes, Virginia!

There is a "Boss" Rega.

It being the Yule Season, however, we can't be too harsh on the "Boss." He, too, has his ambivalences, frustrations and crosses to bear. Few know it, but in a way, Rega crucified a man in a Pontius Pilate manner, not physically, but politically. His reasons were selfish, vindictive and revengeful and now, not only does he suffer from deep remorse, but bitter sorrow over the horrendous fact that he helped to create a Frankenstein that he "champs at the bit" to destroy.

IT ALL GOES back to the last town election. Rega was on a powerful committee designed to elect Ken Smith Commissioner. Somehow Rega got the idea he wasn't getting enough recognition, so he bolted and somehow mysteriously influenced Smith, who should have known better, to tie in with the McGreevy-Sullivan faction by inviting them to share the dias at his (Smith's) big pre-election party. Then Commissioner Senatore, strong Democratic Party leader, long friendly with Smith whom many surmised was going to aid in Smith's candidacy, came upon the scene and observed whom Smith had aligned himself with: a faction she was feuding with, at the time. It is assumed she "dropped" Smith like a "hot potato" and "picked up" Saletta, who just happens to be related to Rega by marriage.

Why Smith ever "fell for" Rega's ploy we could never figure out, but we think it cost him an election and helped elect the "Boss's" relative.

The sad story don't end there however for Rega. It turns out he can't stand Saletta as a commissioner and wants to have him recalled and certainly not returned to office under any circumstances. This infuriates his family, who constantly put pressure on the "boss" to "lay off" Saletta, but the animosity that dwells in Rega's mind and heart over the way he feels Saletta has conducted his administration, grieves him deeply and leads to a possible "guilt complex" for having contributed to Ken Smith's loss, which he now recognizes was a regrettable event...We too think it was and so, likewise, do a lot of fine cops and firemen who would have preferred having Smith as their boss.

We truly trust that as the yule logs armily glow and the embers dart about "Boss" Rega's hearth, at this Holiday Season, that he will with contrite heart repent for his political indiscretion of a few years back that hath wrought such pangs of despair to his troubled conscience and in the spirit of the Season, in the Christian manner we will try to forgive him, for perhaps, he may not have known what he had done? Poor fellow. We ask, whose sorry now?

The Postal Service

Every year about this time we reflect upon the tremendous burden placed upon the U.S. Postal System. It seems to us an annual miracle that the postal system in Nutley and Belleville is able to digest the overwhelming load in a manner which merits the highest praise.

From Postmaster Joseph Benucci on through the clerical help, the electronic wizards who route the letters and the postman who delivers the letter to our door — all must be congratulated for a job well done.

From time to time complaints are heard about the mail service. It is appropriate that when the same mail service rises to uncommon heights in its efficiency of performance, public recognition of this fact be made. We congratulate the people who make the system work.

The Battle of Trenton

The Battle of Trenton, fought December 26, 1776, was one of the most important of the American Revolution. By December, 1776, Washington had suffered several humiliating defeats. He was forced to evacuate New York City, had lost the fight at White Plains, and had to fall back into New Jersey with the British in close pursuit. At the same time, through illness and desertions, his force was dwindling and with many enlistments expiring at the end of the year, the future looked discouraging. About this time, Tom Paine aptly wrote, "These are the times that try men's souls."

Realizing he must strike again before he lost the bulk of his army, Washington decided to launch a campaign against the scattered British troops along the Delaware River in Jersey. In this bold effort, he would first lead his 2400 men across the river and attack Trenton from the north. His plan was to begin the move on Christmas night and be in position to attack at dawn, the 26th. Trenton had 1500 Hessians under Col. Johann Rall. Washington commandeered all boats for some distance up and down the river. This kept the British on the east bank. Scouting indicated the Hessian troops in Trenton were scattered and practically without defenses. Meanwhile, other American troops under General James Ewing and Colonel John Cadwalader were to cross the river below Trenton. Their mission was to tie down and if possible defeat the 2000 Hessians in Bordentown. Although the plan was involved, Washington carried out his part perfectly. Despite strong winds and treacherous ice flows, Colonel John Glover's Marblehead, Massachusetts fishermen successfully ferried the ragged army across the river. At 3:00 a.m. the nine mile march to Trenton began.

Halfway there, Washington divided his column; one wing under General John Sullivan set out along the road following the river—the other under General Nathaniel Green skirted to the left in order to enter Trenton from the northeast. Washington accompanied Greene. When the Americans attacked, the Hessians were taken almost completely by surprise. Sluggish after a festive Christmas night, they tried unsuccessfully to form up and offer serious resistance. Their confusion was heightened by a driving sleet and the fire of Colonel Henry Knox's American artillery. Soon after the battle began, Colonel Rall fell mortally wounded, and all Hessian resistance ended.

Though hazardous conditions had kept Ewing and Cadwalader from crossing the river and menacing Bordentown, Washington's effort was highly successful. In an action lasting no longer than 45 minutes, Washington took 918 prisoners, 1200 small arms and large quanties of supplies. Hessian losses also included about 30 dead. Washington reported no Americans killed in the battle and only a few wounded.

Victory in the Battle of Trenton gave a mighty boost to the sagging morale of all patriots. The cause was far from lost. Washington, himself, had displayed vigor and imagination. From then on, he waged aggressive warfare. Frederick, the Great, studying the encounters at Trenton, Princeton and Washington's subsequent moves against the British, called these winter maneuvers the most brilliant campaign of the century. This victory gave new life to the American cause, brought enlistments, re-enlistments, more help from Congress, and led to the eventual withdrawal of the British from New Jersey.

Canvass raises $640 for Muscular Dystrophy

To the Editor:

I would like to take this means of thanking everyone who donated to the Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Assoc. through the help of my son Eddie and his friends. These boys worked very hard to collect this money by going house to house and at the Grand Union Shopping Center here in Belleville.

A check in the amount of $640 will be presented to the Muscular Dystrophy Assoc. To the following boys I want to say a special thank you, you all did one heck of a job and I am proud of you all: my son Eddie and his friends, Faust DeFranco, Vinnie Resciniti, Victor Canning, Mike Saggau, Bobby Stecker, Mike Fischetta, Craig Hill, David Grand and Carl Hauschle. I'm sure their parents are all very proud of them too. Again to everyone who donated, thank you. Also thank you to my two daughters Jackie and Cathy and to Lisa Fischetta who helped me sort and count all the money.

Firemen thanked for emergency aid

To the Editor:

A letter of thanks to Chief Sharra and his men, Vincent Sorrento and Nicklas Greco, for the wonderful work they do. Their response to emergency is one of the best around. On July 21st once again they came to the rescue of Angelo Pesci of 60 Harrison St., saving his life, as they have done many times in the past, while having a heart attack.

We also thank our fine policemen, Officers Frank Falcone and George Sheridan. We greatly appreciate their great work and fine response. They are Johnny on the Spot.

We want to express our gratitude of thanks to a great Fire Dept. and Police Dept. we have in the Town of Belleville.

Writer named wrong color guard in parade

To the Editor:

Please note that the Cardinal Belles Color Guard was the group that accompanied the Belleville High School Band on Memorial Day and not the Bonnie Scots as Florence DeAngelis stated in her letter to the editor which appeared in the June 16, 1977, issue of The Belleville Times.

Would you please print this correction so that these dedicated youngsters may receive proper recognition for their contribution?

Thank you.

3 candidates in school race

Hackensack, a retail paint and wallpaper center chain which he founded and owns.

Vaccarelli, 132 William St. has been a Belleville resident 15 years, attending local schools and William Paterson College.

He was graduated with a major in education and a minor in political science and went on to become an investigator for the Essex County Probation Department a year and one-half ago.

He has operated a record business in the past on Washington Avenue and has all the requirements for teacher certification except classroom training experience.

Vaccarelli and Zoppi are running on the same principle and stance — to put harmony back on the Board of Education. Both feel the board has been split and some reconciliation must be effected.

Chieffo, too, feels there are differences on the board, although not so serious to force a split.

"We've had a lack of leadership on the part of the board president," Chieffo noted, "and that hasn't helped resolve any problems."

The incumbent, 33, has served three years on the board and also worked for the reelection of Romano as a campaign manager seven years ago.

A lifelong Belleville resident, Chieffo went to school here before earning a bachelor of science degree in marketing from Fairleigh Dickinson University.

The 269 New St. resident is president of both Michael D. Chieffo Associates as an independent life agent and of Chief Motors, a newly-established Belleville business.

HE IS THE ONLY announced candidate with children in the Belleville schools — his daughter Lenore and son Michael Jr. both attend School No. 3.

Vaccarelli is single but said he has a definite interest in Belleville's education system as he plans on making his future here.

And Zoppi, father of three children who went through the local educational system, noted he hopes to have his two grandchildren, who reside in Belleville, attend schools here in a few years.

All three announced candidates must officially file their intentions with Mary Shader, board secretary-business administrator, before next Tuesday.

So far, none has done so, but the board secretary noted earlier this week that several people have picked up nominating petitions.

Petitions must be signed by at least 10 registered voters in order to be valid. Ballot positions for candidates will be drawn Jan. 6 at 8 p.m. in the Board of Education offices.

Registration deadline for the Feb. 14 election is Jan. 17 and all requests for absentee ballots also should be made by this date.

VOTERS SHOULD be aware that no sample ballots will be available and that 14 polling stations will be set, manned by an approved list of election officers. These officers each will receive the sum of $14 for their services.

Turnpike sets traffic record over Thanksgiving holidays

A new single-day record of 436,585 revenue vehicles on the New Jersey Turnpike was set the day before Thanksgiving without any major tie-ups.

The record traffic of Nov. 23 was handled smoothly and expeditiously, thanks to the Turnpike Authority's automatic traffic surveillance and control system which balanced traffic loads and changed speed limits to maintain uniform traffic flows along the 12-lane section between New Brunswick and U.S. 46 in Bergen County.

Prizes await first baby

If your baby is the first one born in the 1978 New Year at Clara Maass Memorial Hospital, 10 local shops and businesses will shower you with gifts and mementos of the special occasion.

That's been the custom of Belleville's Chamber of Commerce for the last 13 years, and Mrs. Shirlee Sherman, owner of Sherman's Children's Shop, said it will continue in 1978.

Mrs. Sherman, chairman of the "First Baby Contest," already has enlisted the cooperation of 10 businesses here, but expects the number to double by the time the infant is born.

These businesses donate all types of gifts and gift certificates to the baby and its parents, who must be Belleville residents to qualify.

As of this week, the stores that will gift the new arrival and its parents include Belleville Shoes, Sherman's Children's Shop, Terry Shops, the Rossmore Pharmacy and Flowerama.

Also, The Glass Company, First DeWitt Savings and Loan, Kondreck Studios, the Peoples National Bank and The Telegram are planning on giving the newborn presents this year.

Lean Lines

If you want to lose weight, you have to learn how to love your body.

We're not talking about narcissism, but a healthy appreciation of ourselves.

To us, it's exciting to see someone who has lost weight stand in front of a mirror preening and smiling. To a perennial skinniness, this type of behavior is seen as vanity. But, to those of us who fight the war against fat, glowing at the mirror is a positive sign that self-esteem has returned.

This new feeling of delight in ourselves has overwhelming benefits, not the least of them is a surprising new ability to get along with almost everyone. We've often heard people who've lost weight use phrases like, "The whole world's changed for me." Actually, what's changed is the person's self-image.

If your relationship with yourself is healthy, you will find that you attract people with the same positive feelings. There is a quotation that says it all: "The soul attracts that which it secretly harbors."

If you are overweight, you are probably suffering from low self-esteem. That is where you lose those extra pounds. And the extra pounds are keeping you down. It's a vicious cycle that you must break for your emotional and physical well-being.

How can you tell if you have low self-esteem? If you love yourself, you should be able to agree with all of the following 10 statements:

- I have confidence in my abilities.
- I enjoy pleasure without feeling guilty.
- I give myself what I want and know that I deserve it.
- I let myself be a winner.
- I follow my own intuition.
- I take credit for what I did.
- I reward myself. I don't punish myself.
- I forgive myself for mistakes.
- I never let others tell me who I am.
- I love my own body.
- If you don't agree with most of those statements, you have some corrections to make in your life.

Motorists Cautioned Against Deer Running Across Roads

Motorists should use extra caution at this time of the year to avoid hitting deer.

The New Jersey Division of Fish, Game, and Shellfisheries said today that fall is the period of the year when deer are most apt to cross roads at any hour of the day or night.

Deer are now often on the move since it is their normal rutting period, human activity in the woods is high, and does frequently disturb the deer.

The division advised motorists to reduce car speed on rural roads, watch for deer at all times, and heed the warning of deer-area signs posted along roads.

House Mastery

by Dr. J.G. McNeill, P.E.

Just as a general must know the strengths and weaknesses of his troops, the home-owner should know the fitness of his power system in order to keep it under command.

This week, before the combination of winter and holiday electrical demand arrives, take a look at your wiring in the basement, attic or wherever it's accessible.

If you have a system enclosed in conduit you're not likely to see any problems. This is, in effect, a piping system around the wiring that protects it from things that fall over, do-it-yourself panellers, gnawing mice or squirrels and other external threats.

If you have armored cable ("b"), the protection is almost as good. But there are usually areas where it may get flexed. And what you ought to know about very old armored cable is that it carries wires insulated with a rubber compound that, by now, may be as crumbly as toast. If you disturb the cable, the insulation may fall off, leaving bare wires in contact with each other or with the metallic armor.

If you see any breaks in the armor this is also a potential danger. The armor, along with its metal connectors at switch, outlet and fixture boxes, serves as a grounding system, connected to the grounding terminal at the service entrance box.

Grounding outlets, which look like little faces with open mouths, are important in the kitchen, basement, garage, and other areas where you might handle metal tools and appliances that could conceivably develop "shorts," contacts between the electrical conductor and the casing. In such instance you could become the grounding conductor.

If you have non-metallic sheathing over the insulated wires, it may be a saturated, lumpy winding that shows the spiral paths of the conductors, or a semi-flat, smoothly finished plastic. Both types are available with a grounding wire inside, for the areas in which grounding is required or desirable.

Don't store anything on or against the non-metallic sheathing. If you have the plastic, make sure nothing's been gnawing on it. Plastic in the basement, or to outdoor patio or driveway lights, should be of a special grade marked "UP."

Next week: Lighting up.

BELETED MERRY XMAS!

Sorry! You've kept us so busy that we forgot to wish all of you a Merry Christmas! We'd like to take this time to wish you a belated Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year! You've made 1977 an even greater year than 1976, and we know that with your continued patronage 1978 will be even better! We thank you from the bottom of our hearts! Again, forgive us for our oversight.

AND NOW ON TO OUR COLUMN!

Q. Dear Umberto:

I've noticed that the new looks in hair-fashion are the "free motion" styles. I have very curly hair which I usually set with large rollers to give it a loose curl, but with all this damp weather my efforts are in vain. You know all the answers, so how about an answer to this problem?

Curly: Curly...

A. Dear "Curly, Curly":

If you don't want to be bothered by constantly setting your hair with those big rollers, I have a suggestion. Get a permanent and make sure they use the big rods, condition your hair more than once before getting the permanent. Curly hair and damaged hair need the same conditioning because they both have the same porosity. If you use this method your hair will be more versatile and you will be able to achieve that "free motion" look that you like so much. What's more, you'll find your hair will be much more manageable in inclement weather.

Belleville man loses license

Judge Robert Citrino fined a Belleville man $500 and $15 court costs while revoking his license for three years in municipal court last week.

The Judge treated Michael Barsky, 31, of 87 Hornblower Ave., Belleville, as a second offender, noting "I'm giving you a break, even though you don't deserve a break."

Barsky must also attend meetings of Alcoholics Anonymous four times each week for one year and submit a weekly signed report to the court each week.

Citrino warned Barsky that he will spend 90 days in jail if he fails to comply with his instructions.

Cancer registry aids in detection

New Jersey, thanks to the computer age and its new statewide cancer registry, will soon have a much better view of its cancer problem and how to deal with it.

Celestino Clemente, MD, president of the Cancer Institute of New Jersey, said that the fight against cancer in New Jersey has been severely handicapped up to now by the fact that the state has had no centralized information on cancer occurrence.

The cancer registry, signed into law by Gov. Brendan Byrne last month, will require the reporting of all cancer cases to the State Department of Health in Trenton, plus whatever additional information that the state may require about each patient.

The registry, when fully operational, should put New Jersey in the forefront among the states in the field of cancer reporting, Dr. Clemente said. Such a registry is of special significance to New Jersey, which has at least as high a cancer death rate as any other state in the nation.

"We at the Cancer Institute are extremely pleased at the state government's action to get the cancer registry started," Dr. Clemente said. "Much credit should go to Gov. Byrne, to Dr. Joanne Finley, the health commissioner, and to State Sen. John M. Skevin for their role in bringing this about."

Ideally, Dr. Clemente said, the cancer registry will accumulate and computerize data not only on the occurrence of all cancer cases in the state, but also on a great deal of related information.

This will include such items as the geographical location of each case, information on the patient's life-style, whether he or she moved to the state recently and family cancer history.

The life-style information will include data on smoking and drinking practices, at least. Beyond that, the registry would compile information on what treatment is given a patient, and subsequently filed information would indicate the patient's response to the treatment.

Construction at $37,935

November building construction in Belleville was valued at $37,935, according to a report prepared by Simon Lieberman, building inspector.

Lieberman's Code Enforcement Office collected $332.50 in fees for the month, he reported this week to the Board of Commissioners.

Bellboys gain two more mat victories

The Blue-Gold matmen continue to roll on, posting two more victories last week and upping its early season record to 3-0.

The Bellboy wrestlers knocked off arch-rival Nutley 39-14 on the Maroon mats last Wednesday, and out-muscled Irvington at home Friday 47-3.

The local grapplers were slated to compete in the Bloomfield Christmas Tournament yesterday but results of the holiday encounter were not available as the Times/News went to press.

Belleville squares off with Middletown Tuesday in the BHS gym in a match scheduled to begin at 6:30 p.m.

"We were very concerned about Nutley," stated Bellboy mat mentor Gene D'Alessandro, "mainly because we prevented Nutley from having a perfect season last year and we knew they had a good second team. We were very very pleased with beating them the way we did."

"They are our archrival and the match is like the traditional Army-Navy football game," continued the coach. "The Nutley match determines whether we have a successful season or not."

The Blue-Gold's fast start off the mats this season is twice as satisfying because this year's club wrestles six seniors on the varsity squad with the rest made up of sophomores and juniors.

The Bellboy matters again went up against a team, similar to Beeton (the Blue-Gold's first opponent this season), going through a rebuilding year.

"They were a well disciplined and well-drilled team," stated the Bellboy coach. "We expected a victory but we always want our people to realize that wrestling is not only a team sport but an individual one as well and each athlete has to give out 100 percent while performing."

In the 101-pound class Rob Gobencione pinned the Camper's Alfonso in

2:14 of the opening match. "Gobencione did an excellent job and showed a lot of poise," said D'Alessandro. "He wrestled varsity at Glen Ridge for a few years before coming to Belleville."

Bellboy Frank DeLorenzo followed Gobencione's lead and notched a pin himself in the 108-pound division 3:19 into the second period.

The 115-pound category saw veteran Blue-Gold grappler Ed Lijo make quick work of Irvington's Mascola, pinning the Camper in 50 seconds utilizing an overhook wizard.

Junior classman Ken Miele, competing in the 122-pound division, gained a 4-2 decision while Belleville's Mike Stellatella out-pointed Camper Wilcox, 6-1, to take the 129-pound matchup.

"Mike is getting tougher and looking better all the time," said Coach D'Alessandro.

Mark D'Amico, coming back from a painful rib cage injury, out-wrestled his opponent 11-1 and Mark DiGiacomo took his third consecutive match, gaining a 10-1 decision in the 141-pound class.

Bob Racioppi, 148-pounds, shutout Nelson of Irvington 3-0. "Bob is becoming more effective and more aggressive," said his coach. "Last year he had a

Bellgirls win 1st two games

Bellgirl guard Karen Portuese connected on a pair of corner jump shots, in the closing seconds last Tuesday, to help seal the Blue-Gold's initial roundball victory of the year over Orange 43-42.

The Belleville female cagers continued its mini-winning streak two days later by beating Irvington on the Camper court Thursday, 35-15.

The local (girls) hardboard squad trip to Orange and Our Lady of the Valley High School to compete in the opening round of the Christmas tournament against undefeated Westside of Newark, but results of the contest were not available at press time.

A victory permits the squad to meet the winner of the Clifford Scott-Columbia matchup for the tourney championship tomorrow night.

The BHS club picks up where it left off on the regular schedule, welcoming 1978, when it meets East Orange at home this Tuesday afternoon.

The Bellgirls were up 23-6 at the half in Irvington Thursday as the Blue-Gold-five completely dominated the Camper cagers over the first two periods.

"We didn't play well," stated Belleville girls roundball Coach Karen Fucello despite the lopsided outcome. "We played a good first quarter and a good first half but we just didn't play as effectively as we would have liked."

The Blue-Gold's usual third quarter whammy extended into the final period as the cager club managed to score just 12 points in the last pair of periods to the nine posted by the Campers.

"We just can't do what we did against Irvington and expect to win against better clubs," pointed out Coach Fucello. "We have to put in four quarters."

According to the coach, the Blue-Gold had started off the Camper contest utilizing a zone defensive array but employed a man-to-man in the final period to deny Irvington the ball and also to try and liven the team up.

Michele Giordano, playing her most effective game to date, scored 17 points and collected 16 rebounds for the home team. Karen Portuese placed second in team point honors, notching 10.

Against Orange last Tuesday, a capacity house rocked the Tornado gym causing atmospheric pressure in the stands when the Blue-Gold girls abandoned the hardboards at the

Sports year filled with joy and sorrow

BY MIKE COREY

The 1977 sports year in Belleville was like a ride on a roller coaster. There was no middle ground. Many of the local teams posted some of their best records ever while others matched some of the worst.

Rebuilding was the key to a number of the Belleville High School varsity club with football, basketball, soccer and track leading the way, establishing "youth programs" to lay a solid foundation and insure future Blue-Gold athletic success.

The 1976-77 Bellboy grappler season was one of achievement. The Blue-Gold sent seven of its 12 men to the District tournament, four wrestlers to the state finals, was ranked 11th in New Jersey (recording a 15-1 mark) and had its head coach named tops in the Region.

"In the beginning of the year I never would have believed we were going to have the kind of season we had," stated Bellboy wrestling coach Gene D'Alessandro in February.

D'Alessandro, long time mat mentor at Essex Catholic, took over the coaching reins from Jim Silvestri who moved on to become BHS athletic director last year.

"The season was a good indication of the type of athlete we have here in Belleville," pointed out Coach D'Alessandro. "And it's a reflection on the people of the community who came out and supported us."

The coach also had high praise for Silvestri. Jayvee coach Joe Zarra and freshman coach Dennis Villano.

Although this year was the one which saw the Belleville crew team snap its unbeaten string in the "Excalibur" shell at 20, the Blue-Gold four-man boat exploded in the final 500 meters to pour ahead of three shells to take a third in the 43rd annual Scholastic Rowing Association of America Regatta at Princeton University.

The win made the Bellboy four rowers third in the United States, the best any Blue-Gold crew team has done since 1952. "It was the highlight of my coaching career," stated crew coach Sam Giuffrida.

On the Belleville varsity hardboards victories were a little harder to come by and bright spots a little tougher to find. The Bellboy varsity roundball squad continued to struggle posting just two successes both over a hapless, winless Nutley squad.

The Blue-Gold roundball club closed out the season at 2-18 but Coach Dan Grasso is optimistic the club will improve when this year's club, hampered all year by injuries, is at full strength.

The female cagers did better although they were not able to reach the goal of a .500 season set by coach Karen Fucello in the beginning of the year.

Key injuries to top scorer Karen Portuese and leading rebounder Michele Giordano snagged the Bellgirls chances of evening their record toward the end of the season but with the squad healthy this year the club has already won two of its first five contests.

Belleville's batsmen ended an erratic season in June. A lack of hitting, a break down in team discipline together with an illness to coach George Zanfini contributed to the Blue-Gold's disappointing diamond year and an 18-15 record.

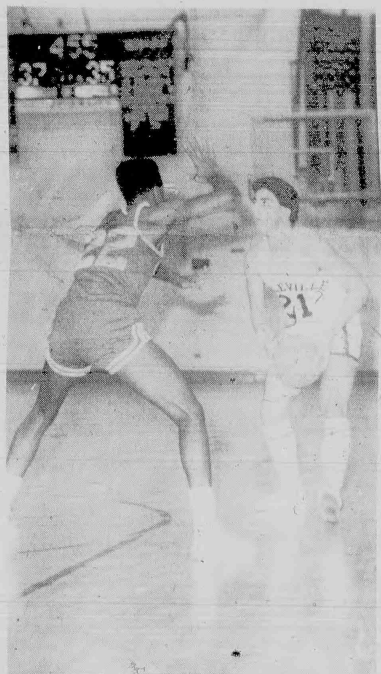

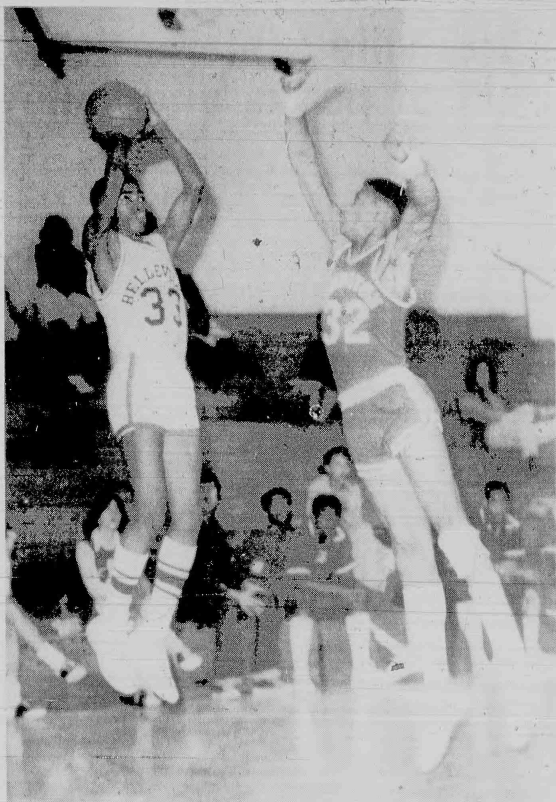

The club was hurled into confusion the final week of April when Zanfini, who piloted last year's Bellboys to a championship in the Big 10, was sidelined for the remainder of the year by hepatitis.

Jayvee coach Ralph LaConte replaced the ailing "Z" man and admitted he did not take over under the best circumstances.

"The team and I had to orient ourselves to each other," said Coach LaConte at the end of the year. "There were some attitude problems with some of the boys. It was just a handful of seniors—only four or five, but the effect they had on the team was more than even they realized."

of their own under the tutelage of assistant varsity coach Debbie Meola. The initial year the cinderellas posted a 3-8 mark while the boys, directed by coach Rich Ruffalo, rebuilding with a young inexperienced team, recorded a 2-14 mark.

Boys varsity tennis also debuted at Belleville High in 1977. The court club, coached by Mike Pollard, took its lumps with an eye to the future and closed the year with one win and 12 losses.

Inconsistency marked the 1977 Blue-Gold girls softball squad under head coach Eve Laugenschlager. The high end club was 9-12 in the won-lost column.

During the summer Belleville athletes wishing to compete in American Legion baseball had to play in Nutley since Belleville, blaming lack of funds, was not able to field a team this year.

The local National Little League all-stars scored 10 runs in the first inning to outslug Livingston National 16-0 and capture the District Eight Championship. A week later the Belleville club was ousted from the state sectional by Palisades Park, 5-4.

Despite recording the best regular season in the league, 11-1, the Belleville PBA softball team was eliminated from the slow-pitch playoffs by Orange.

The year also saw the Belleville Bruins eliminated from the Essex County Baseball League Tournament. The squad finished the regular slate with a 20-12 mark.

This fading year was also one in which Town Cottage took the Tavern Championship of softball by winning the rubber game of the best of two-out of three series with a dramatic come from behind victory over Nutley Pub, 9-8.

Past glories and accomplishments were celebrated, toasted and remembered at the first Athletic Hall of Fame Dinner at the Chandelier Restaurant in September.

More than 370 people jammed into the main dining room of the restaurant to honor 76 former Bellboy athletes. The affair was organized by local residents Fred Chick, Puleo and Michael Chieffo.

When high school sports started for again the Blue-Gold girl racket squad took the tennis courts and recorded its best season ever, qualifying for both the state and county tennis tournaments and posting a 9-4 notch. The club is slated to lose only three seniors to '78 June graduation.

The Bellboy cross country trackers, still at the rebuilding stage of development, started off slowly and broke the tape of the season with two wins and 11 losses with six of the defeats coming in the form of shutouts.

With 25 players returning to the Belleville High grid squad Coach John Senesky, who closed out his first season as coach of the Blue-Gold with a 2-5-1 mark, looks to the future with optimism.

The Bellboy football team had only six experienced players returning to the '77 hash marks and the Bellboy mentor, installing a new offensive and defensive system, opted with youth and decided to give the younger players as much gridiron time under game conditions as possible.

The best way I can describe my initial season is we are looking forward to next year," stated Coach Senesky at the conclusion of the 1977 season.

The highlight of the Blue-Gold football campaign was two consecutive upset wins, at BHS Stadium, over Irvington and Essex Catholic.

The Belleville soccer squad, occasionally battling the swampy waters of Lake Louise, closed the season at 4-13-2. The booter club will only lose five players in June.

This year the team was stripped of experience with 15 players from the '76 squad lost to graduation forcing Coach Tony Cahill to go with underclassmen many times.

A lackluster offensive unit plagued the Blue-Gold kickers all season as it managed only 24 goals in 19 games.

Belleville's junior traveling football team, the Broncos, won its second consecutive championship beating Dumont 33-0, compiling its 15th successive shutout in taking the Bergen County Football Conference crown.

The local squad broke the goose egg string a week later in beating St. Anthony's of Union, 13-6, in the Annual Marotti Bowl.

The Bearcats, a newly formed junior football team, closed out its first year of competition with a 6-2 mark. The Belleville junior teams consist of players between 10 and 14 years of age weighing 80 to 150 pounds.

The Belleville Barbell Club traveled to Milwaukee, Las Vegas and Los Angeles to compete in national weightlifting meets in '77. The trips were sponsored by the Belleville Kiwanis Club.

The year 1977 was definitely one of ups and downs in local sports. The highs and lows on the Belleville fields of competition brought both joy and disappointment. Mainly, though, the past 12 months of athletics here instilled a little something extra in those who participated. An intangible feeling inside which both fans and players will carry with them the rest of their lives.

Zoning Board sets 12 1978 meetings

Belleville's Zoning Board of Adjustment has set 12 meeting dates for next year, beginning with a Jan. 3 session.

All meetings of the board will be held in the Commission Chambers of the town hall at 8 p.m. The remainder of the dates set are Feb. 7, March 7, April 4, May 2, June 1, July 6, August 1, Sept. 5, Oct. 3 and 31, and Dec. 5.

Bellboy cagers continue search for first victory

Belleville's roundball squad, battling both the flu bug and hardwood opponents, is still in search of its first victory after incurring its fourth and fifth losses last week.

The Blue-Gold cagers dropped a 111-53 decision to Orange last Tuesday and lost a 59-56 thriller to Irvington on Thursday. Both contests were on the BHS hardwood.

The Bellboys are slated to compete in the St. Joseph's Christmas Tournament in West New York on Tuesday of this week and will play again in either the consolation game or the finals tonight. The first tournament contest is set to begin at 7 p.m.

The Belleville five is scheduled to meet East Orange next Tuesday in Panther territory.

Orange employed a full court press throughout last Tuesday's exhibition, forcing the Bellboys into numerous turnovers to pile up more than 100 points.

"The press was unwarranted," stated Blue-Gold cager coach Dan Grasso. "We had seven kids out because of the flu and injuries, forcing us to play many of our jayvee players."

Forward Joe Salters, suffering from a recurring knee injury, returned to the lineup for the first time this season and with his rebounding strength almost helped to lift the Bellboys over the Campers.

Belleville was ahead at the half-time break 35-29 but Irvington outscored the locals in the crucial third period 16-2 to take the advantage it would never relinquish.

tendency to be too much on the defensive."

Belleville's Chris Musamano out-decided Barber 5-1 in the 158-pound class and Angelo Santinelli blanked Webb, 4-0, in the 170-pound division to give the home squad two more individual victories.

Bellboy Joe D'Agostino took his first loss of the season, 10-2, in the 188-pound category but earned high praise for his mat effort from coach "D."

lagher, with over a 100-pound weight advantage over his Camper counterpart, won by forfeit when the Irvington brain trust decided not to take the chance of having its largest grappler injured.

"When they saw how Wild Bill was they decided to forfeit the match," explained the Blue-Gold coach.

 half with a 25-1 edge.
 "The score of the game really wasn't indicative of the game," explained the Belleville eager mentor. "It should have been much bigger."
 Orange began the battle in a full court press but the Blue-Gold beat the pressure by letting Karen Portuese dribble through the defenders and pass to the open women when she was double teamed.
 The Tornadoes changed its strategy in the second half and went into a zone. Its shooters began connecting from the outside, outscoring Belleville 17-8 in the third period to close the gap to 33-30 going into the final quarter.

 At one point in the last eight minutes of action the Bellgirls actually lost the lead by one but Portuese took charge and hit on two pressure shots with less than a minute left to give the Blue-Gold a 43-40 advantage with just four seconds remaining on the clock.
 Orange took the ball out of bounds from the half-court line and rolled the ball into play hoping to draw a foul and a chance at a three-point play but the Bellgirls cleared to one side to avoid contact, allowed the Tornadoes the shot as time ran out giving Belleville (2-3) its first victory of the season.

 Coach Fuccello cited Karen Portuese for her clutch shooting and her dribbling along with Patty Cornelly and Michele Giordano for their rebounding. "They were just doing the job underneath," stated the Blue-Gold instructor. "Boxing out was the key and this is the best game we have boxed out in."
 "I can honestly say we should be 4-1," added the coach. "The three losses we have are to three opponents (Montclair, Livingston and Columbia) who are still undefeated."

Jersey hunters set new record
 Preliminary harvest figures released by the Division of Fish, Game and Shellfisheries show that Garden State hunters established an all-time record harvest of 7,814 deer during the 1977 firearm deer season, Dec. 5-10. This was 674 animals more than the record 1976 harvest of 7,140 and was accomplished despite poor weather opening day when the take was down compared to the previous year, according to George Howard, chief of the Bureau of Wildlife Management.

St. Peter's takes three after suffering 1st loss

Committing a record setting 27 turnovers, St. Peter's (7-1) bowed for the first time this season in the Grammar School Basketball League, 47-45, last week, to St. Catherine of Siena.
 St. Catherine's Mike Duffy tickled the proverbial twine at the fourth period buzzer to provide the margin of victory.
 John Mallack paced the home squad scoring with 16 points.
 St. Peter's rebounded from the loss, taking out its frustration with a win over Our Lady of Sorrows of Kearny, 45-17. Chris Paoello and Ron Babi led the offensive attack for the Pirates with 14 and nine points respectively.

 Later in the week St. Peter's was awarded a forfeit victory over St. Cassian's of Upper Montclair when the Mountie squad failed to meet the deadline for paying its entry fee in the G.I.L.
 The local grammar school round-ball club closed out the week's slate with a 57-18 win over long time rival Our Lady of the Lake of Verona.
 Paoello with points, Mallack with 11 and Bob Grogan with 10 spearheaded the effort.

 Belleville parochial team coaches Bob Conway and Bob Mallack cited the strong rebounding and tough defensive work of Phil Cerza, Dave Delorenzi and Julio Roig as the main reason for their club's fast start this year posting a 7-1 record.

Senior notes

By GEORGE CHENOWETH

The evil forces are at it again. Evil, that is, in our way of thinking. The infamous Madeline Murray O'Hare has been granted a federal hearing in Washington on the subject of religion on the airways, by the Federal Communication Commission and, if given her way by the Commission, it will pave the way to eliminate the proclamation of the Gospel via the airways in America. If her attempt is successful, all worship services currently being broadcast either by radio or television would stop.

Our concern, should this happen, is that it could deprive many elderly people, shut-ins and hospitalized persons of their dependence on radio and television for fulfilling their spiritual needs. This Ms. O'Hare is the person whose efforts successfully eliminated the use of the Bible reading and prayers from all public schools and she also protested the reading of the message to the world from the Bible by astronauts encircling the moon back in 1968.

Our guarantee of freedom of religious choice depends on not allowing this person to have her way in this matter. We can, as seniors, express our feelings by writing to the Federal Communications Commission, 1919 "M" Street, Washington, D.C., 20036 and asking them to turn down petition #2493 and allow us to continue to fulfill our need for spiritual guidance by choice and not be dictated to by a confirmed atheist.

News from the Belleville Senior Citizens Club. Tickets for New Year's Eve may still be obtained at the Recreation Center.

Applications for the one dollar drug portion of the Pharmaceutical Assistance Program are available. We passed out 200 of these applications with explanation leaflets, so far. We received another 200 to be distributed so stop in and get yours, fill it out and send it in.

A permit card will be mailed to you if you are eligible. This important piece of legislation will allow those who have heretofore been unable to afford the higher price, but necessary, drugs to be properly medicated and hopefully the benefits will be immeasurable.

Peoples' Christmas party features several cash gifts

Peoples Bank took time at its annual Christmas party to present $100 savings bonds to top students in its educational program and $50 bonds to employees receiving high scholastic grades.

The party, held Dec. 16 at the Forest Hill Field Club, also honored winners of the bank's recent logo design contest and announced promotions and retirements of Christine Kaiser and Louis D. Ventura in ceremonies hosted by S. Thomas Atkin, bank president and board chairman.

The evening was filled with festivities, music and dancing, and highlighted by a magic show given by Peoples Bank employees.

Atkin announced scholastic awards for employees enrolled in the American Institute of Banking School. The institute is sponsored by the American Bankers Association and courses are accepted for credit at a number of local colleges and universities. Peoples Bank was recently recognized by the institute for having the largest single increase in enrollment over the previous year's total.

Top students who received $100 U.S. Savings Bonds were Cathy Scully of Cedar Grove and Barbara Mohrbutter of Nutley for the course "Principals of Bank Operations"; Barbara Mohrbutter for "Supervision and Personnel Administration," and Geraldine Maloney of Irvington for "Installment Credit." A total of 10 honor students was awarded $50 bonds. The honor students, all achieving a grade of "A," include John Hendricks of Belleville, Bill Mohr, Holly Lemoine, Terry Buchynski, Jean Shuster, Marietta Zarro and Kay Lewis, all of Nutley; Zigmund Swiderski of Colonia; and John Hendricks.

"We are very pleased of the high enrollment and outstanding achievements of our employees," Atkin told the party. "Peoples Bank is committed to supporting employees who wish to seek educational enrichment for the betterment of their careers. All registration and tuition fees are paid for by the bank. We are confident the students will use their new knowledge to do a bigger job in a better way."

Peoples Bank ran a logo contest among all employees to design a new symbol of identification for the firm after the name change from Peoples National Bank and Trust Company of Belleville, New Jersey. Of more than 50 entries, the best was submitted by Robert Hilla of West Paterson who won the $100 first prize. Second prize of $50 went to Nina DeRosa of Bloomfield while Geraldine Maloney of Irvington and Peter Velkers of Wayne each won $25 for third prize. Hilla's entry, a contemporary design of the initials "P" and "B" can now be seen in all Peoples Bank advertising.

One of the highlights of the evening was the performance of a magic show by the employees of Peoples Bank. Atkin, who was asked to participate in some of the skits, was heard to say: "Maybe they'll make me disappear forever." The magic skit given by PallyAnn Pizzanelli of the Proof and Transit Department and her two assistants, Joe Patula and Frank Mason from Data Processing, delighted all, especially the bank's auditor who stood by while an employee's $5 bill was burned, magical scarves appeared and ropes changed sizes before everyone's eyes.

Robert Hilla, assistant cashier and manager of data processing, was promoted to vice president of data processing. Hilla has been with Peoples Bank four years. William Hildebrandt, cashier, formerly with United Jersey Bank and with Peoples Bank for one year, was promoted to vice president and cashier. A standing ovation was given Mrs. Christine Kaiser, vice president and main office manager, who will be retiring Dec. 31. Mrs. Kaiser has been with Peoples Bank for almost 50 years. Louis D. Ventura also recently retired from his position as assistant vice president from the tri-city office. Ventura had been with Peoples for over 50 years.

Atkin announced that Mrs. Angela Infante of Belleville, secretary to Frank J. Bolen, executive vice president, will be with Peoples, "from here to maternity." Mrs. Infante, who has been with the bank since 1973, is expecting her first baby in May of 1978.

Almost all of the bank's employees attended the joyous evening and are looking forward to next year's celebration. — Nina Rosa.
