

Post Vacant

We Still Need
School Physician

—The Board of Education here has been unsuccessful to date in hiring a permanent school physician to replace Dr. Philip Rispoli, who resigned over a month ago. Administrators have been buying temporary outside services whenever needed or in emergency situations.

According to School Board president Richard Mahmorian, the failure of the system to find a full-time replacement for Dr. Rispoli can be blamed on the lack of civic pride and community responsibility among many professionals here.

Dr. Rispoli resigned from the school physician spot in early July after holding the post since April, shortly after the death of Dr. Donald S. Brown, who held that position for over 40 years. According to Dr. Rispoli, he gave more than enough time to the Board to find a replacement. The doctor cited increased demands on his private practice as the reason for his resignation.

The School Board is offering $5,500 per year in salary for the school physician post but most local doctors believe that money is not nearly enough to compensate for services rendered. Dr. Rispoli was to have made $5,500 the first year and $9,500 the second year of a two-year contract.

Mahmorian believes that the only solution to the problem may be coordinating three, four or maybe even five local physicians to give one day per week for services to the system. Mahmorian has instructed superintendent of schools Anthony Greco and athletic director Herman Wische to look into the situation and possibly work up a schedule involving a number of physicians.

"I don't think we can get one doctor to serve the schools. They are asking exorbitant fees for their services," remarked Mahmorian.

Pathmark Issue
May Be Dead

The longtime controversy surrounding a bill limiting the opening and closing hours of retail food stores may be dead. In a sudden move Tuesday night Commissioner Robert Laterza, sponsor of the measure, withdrew the ordinance just before a scheduled first reading vote.

According to Laterza, attitudes in the Silver Lake neighborhood surrounding the Pathmark Food Store, may have changed over the past few months. At first area residents thought that a 24-hour opening of the Pathmark would bring undesirable into Town but now, reports the Commissioner, neighbors say that they feel more secure in the thought that the store is open all night and is safer with the lighting and activity in the area of Pathmark.

"I'm ordering our police chief to put a 90 to 90 day surveillance of the area to see what is going on there," stated Laterza. "After that time I will decide whether or not to reintroduce the ordinance."

The Pathmark bill was defeated by a 4-1 margin by the Commission last month after Mrs. Mary Senatore revealed a Town-wide survey that favored a midnight closing for the store. The original ordinance called for an 11 p.m. closing so when the bill was defeated Laterza promised to come up with a new measure calling for a midnight closing.

Laterza's thinking, however, changed when he began seeing positive thinking from residents living near Pathmark favoring an all night opening.

For Two Years

Mayor Asks Stop
Apt. Construction

An ordinance declaring a two year moratorium on garden apartment construction was introduced by Mayor Joseph McGreevy Tuesday night. The measure, which passed on first reading by a 3-2 margin, would forbid the erection of multi-family dwellings in Belleville for two years.

Both Commissioners Mary

Senatore and Robert Laterza voted against the measure, saying they did not have enough time to study the ordinance. The bill comes up for a public hearing and final vote at the next Commission meeting, September 26.

In the wording of the ordinance, Mayor McGreevy cited "in order that an effective zoning plan be developed it is deemed to be in the best interest in the Town of Belleville that a moratorium of two years be placed upon any construction of garden apartments or additions to any existing units."

McGreevy, obviously concerned with the Town's suburban image, said "Belleville is getting to look like a city," referring to the recent increase in apartment construction here.

An informal poll of Town Fathers showed that Commissioners Michael Farotti and Vincent Strumolo are receptive, though not committed to the proposal. Mrs. Mary Senatore and Robert Laterza, however, said they would be concerned with rates in the Town, should such an ordinance be passed. All four indicated they would have to study the measure further before making any final judgment.

Town Hall officials are currently revamping the zoning laws here and Mayor McGreevy believes the apartment halt is necessary.

Office Alteration Work
Bids Are Being Studied

The Board of Education Thursday night received bids on alterations for new administrative offices on Washington Avenue. It was the second time the School Board went out for bids on construction work.

Although no company has been chosen for the work yet, the School Board seemed pleased with the response by construction companies. Last time the bids were received Board president Richard Mahmorian said they were way out of line with what he had expected. The Board president thought seemed more pleased with Thursday's bids.

"We have made no official determination on the bids yet. They have now gone to the Board attorney and secretary for further study," remarked Mahmorian. "All we did was to take them in."

The School Board received three bids for general construction work. Pasquale Intindola of Nutley came in as low bidder with a total of $15,600. L.A. Dava Co. of Belleville came in with a $32,419 bid while the Conforti Construction Co. of Bloomfield entered a $19,800 bid.

There were four bids received for heating, ventilating and air conditioning work. The L.A. Dava Co. was low there with a total of $2,522. Others bidding included

John H. Cooney, Inc. of Harrison with $2,880; Conforti Construction at $3,300 and George L. Dennis Co., Inc. of Newark with a $3,077 bid.

Low bidder for electrical work was the Conforti Construction Co. at $7,200. Others bidding were L.A. Dava at $8,390; Beaver Akcei Co. of West Orange with $8,650 and Dynamic Electric Co. of Newark at $9,500.

An orientation for prospective members of a revitalized Belleville Jaycees will be held next Wednesday night. The get-acquainted session with appropriate refreshments will get under way at 8:30 p.m. at the Mountaintop, 46 West Essex Avenue.

The Jaycees offers leadership training through community service projects to young men between the ages of 21 and 35. The organization also has a full program of sports activities and social events.

There are 195 Jaycees chapters and 9,000 Jaycees in New Jersey, as well as 350,000 Jaycees throughout the United States.

The Jaycees right now is an exciting, active and relevant organization," according to Bill Wellman, membership chairman. "Each chapter gives young men the opportunity to get involved in their community and to take an active part in improving it."

Interested young men may attend the orientation without reservation. Additional information is available from Wellman at 667-4139.

Eighty nine years of existence exceeds the life span of most individuals which leads many of us to assume a newspaper enjoys athenasias. This unfortunately is a myth, as was learned when the NEWARK EVENING NEWS, long an institution offering a most valuable service in providing accurate, responsible news coverage of local and world events announced it was halting publication.

It is with a feeling of lugubrious regret that I reflect what the loss of this once powerful newspaper means to the City of Newark and its environs, not to mention its overall influence over the political climate of the entire State. Known for its crusading campaigns to expose corruption and promote decency in government, it gained the reputation of being the "Bible of Essex County." It was feared by the political bosses and their followers who flouted the public's interests while proving an invaluable aid to the reform candidates dedicated to cleaning up corruption.

It battled Democratic County "boss" Nugent and later G.O.P. chieftain Jessie Salmon, rooting out corvose corruption and spear-headed the crusade that brought "Clean Government" into political control of the County Court House. Arthur T. Venterbilt, competent, courageous leader, lead the Party to new heights of respect and recognition surrounded by such forceful figures as Dr. Cle and Party leaders Seely and Colby.

Cleveland Ave. Drug Raid
Nets Cocaine, Marijuana

Two Belleville young men were arrested on various drug charges Friday night as local police aided a Cleveland Avenue home, believed to be a sale and distribution point for illegal drugs in the area. Coincidentally, patrolmen charged three other local people on heroin charges in a separate incident that same evening.

Deputy Chief Frank Haight reports that two detectives and three uniformed officers raided the one-family home about 9 p.m., Friday. There they arrested its 22-year-old occupant after discovering cocaine, marijuana, hashish and a hypodermic needle set in the home. Officers also found a grinder and scale at home, believed to be used in the manufacture of marijuana for sale.

The cocaine alone, said

Haight, adds up to several thousand dollars if sold on the street. In charge of the raid was detective Ronald Thompson of the Belleville Department. Passaic County police, who were instrumental in the pre-raid investigation, arrested a 20-year-old Belleville man alleged to be a co-owner and operator of the Belleville home.

Belleville Adult Course
Registration Next Week

The Belleville Adult School will hold its fall registration on Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday, Sept. 21, at Belleville High School from 7 to 9 p.m. Registration for courses may be made at this time or during the day from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

In addition, students may register by mail using blanks found in the adult school brochure. Brochures have been mailed throughout the town and have been placed in the Belleville Library, local banks, and various business establishments.

A.W. McGinnis, director of the adult school, recommends mail registration wherever possible as courses fill up rapidly and it is sometimes necessary to disappoint students when classes are filled.

The school offers courses in a number of different areas: arts, crafts, business, homemaking, hobby, sports, cultural, continuing education, and general interest, to name a few. Tuition is always consistent with operating costs and the financial goal of the school is to meet its financial obligations—not to make a profit. The teachers and students have available to them the complete facilities of a modern public high school in addition to special equipment and materials that have been acquired by the adult school itself.

Two of the courses offered by the adult school in the field of the arts are ceramics for beginners and the drawing and painting studio. Each of these courses have proven very popular in the past and provision has been made to run additional classes this year in the event they fill up early. Students are always impressed with the facilities available to them when they take these courses.

In the area of the crafts the adult school has offerings that include: everyday auto mechanics (popular with the women as well as the men), general woodworking and furniture refinishing. The latter is a new course that will enable students to completely refinish old furniture or to enhance the beauty of a piece of unfinished furniture. For the homemaker there are courses in interior decorating, knitting, and sewing for beginners. Sewing has always been one of the school's most popular offerings, reflected in the fact that four courses for (Continued on Page 2)

Take A Trip Back When Administrating Was Easier

The Board of Education here has been in the center of the news in recent months and our Town Historian, Allan Crisp, has taken notice. Today he brings us back to a less complicated time in Belleville's history, when the local schools were much easier to administer. Ed.

Belleville's Board of Education dates back to 1892 when the Township School Act provided for a Board to take the place of the former boards of trustees for each individual schools. With a population of 3,487, the new administrative set-up permitted more rapid expansion. In 1896 a high school department was organized; its first class was graduated two years later. My father, Robert Crisp, was a member of the second graduating class, in 1899.

Another eight-room school was needed in 1897. In the light of Belleville's growth over the next 75 years, it is amusing to note that the Board's choice of a site for School #3 at Joralemon Street and Union Avenue caused considerable agitation among Belleville's residents, most of whom believed the location too far removed from the town's population center.

School #4 followed in 1903. Such frequent additions to the Belleville school system were made possible only through the strictest economy. Records show that in 1901, a teacher's "request for a song book, costing 67 cents, for the Assembly Room, was laid over till the next meeting." But the matter was never taken up again, and the teacher probably paid for it herself.

Equal concern was evinced by the Board over the traceless disappearance of several "granite drinking cups" from the chains by which they had been tied to the pump at School #1. Once the Board ordered all school pumps padlocked, because an extremely dry season had dried up most of the wells in town and

Spinelli Returns From Washington

Larry Spinelli of Belleville has recently returned from a six-week program working in the Washington office of Congressman Peter W. Rodino Jr.

Spinelli was chosen by Rodino for this program last summer and then re-selected by the Congressman because of his outstanding performance. Spinelli is currently a junior political science major at Drew University. He is also currently serving his second term as president of the Belleville Young Democrats.

Spinelli's association with Rodino began in 1969 when he served as Belleville's representative to the Congressman's Youth Congress, a body made up of representatives from every high school in the 10th Congressional district.

That same year Rodino nominated him to be a delegate to the White House Conference on Youth. In the 1970 campaign, Spinelli served as Youth Co-ordinator for Rodino, a role he played in the Congressman's recent primary election.

Said Spinelli of the experience, "It was a great opportunity to see close up how Congress works."

In a separate incident that same night two uniformed officers, patrolmen Louis Pompanio and Anthony LaVista, arrested a Belleville trio on heroin charges after observing the three driving their auto in an erratic manner in the Valley Section of Town.

The two patrolmen reportedly stopped the car and found several glassine envelopes of what was to be believed heroin on the seat. Arrested were three Belleville 20-year-olds, two men and a woman.

A variety of classes are held to meet the needs of the students desirous of entering the field of business. Courses include: typing for beginners and advanced, bookkeeping for beginners, shorthand for beginners and advanced, office machine practice, and business machines operations and wiring (IBM equipment).

For the person needing a high school diploma, the adult school offers courses in the following areas: English, social studies, mathematics, and science. Completion of these courses will have prepared the student for the GED (General Educational Development) Tests given by the state leading to a New Jersey High School Equivalency Certificate, the legal equivalent of a high school diploma.

For the recent arrival to this country the school has two courses designed to teach our language - English For new Americans I and II (beginners and advanced). These courses are invaluable to those seeking citizenship and it is to be hoped that friends and relatives of non-English speaking Americans will advise them of the existence of these offerings.

For the sports and figure minded the adult school has a beginners and advanced class in tennis as well as an activity night for women (where anything goes - including the pounds). For those desiring real action, ju-jitsu is available.

The Good Old Days When Schooling Was Just ABC's

Only Schools #1 and #2 had telephones. Schools #3 and #4 had to keep in touch by messengers on foot or bicycles, or by such conveyances as Gash Reeve's Livery Stable could provide. Only two of the four schools could boast of central heating plants. In the unevenly heated classrooms, whose windows had been sealed airtight in the fall, those further away froze. There were no inside toilets, and only School #2 had running water. Even that gave out during the winter of 1903-4 when the pipes were frozen and, as in the other schools, water had to be carried from a pump into the classroom in pails, from which pupils and teachers served themselves with a dipper.

In 1901, the Board resolved "that teachers' salaries shall range from $300 (music teacher) to $600 (principal) per year." The supervisor of schools at that time drew $1,600 annually and substitutes were paid $1 per day.

In 1911, the supervising principal, George R. Gerard was granted a salary increase. The local paper editorialized under the insinuating heading, "Board Eludes Publicity."

Instead of raising the salary of Mr. Gerard in open meeting, the Board resorts to that detestable procedure in public bodies - executive session. During the star chamber session, the salary of Mr. Gerard was once again increased, this time from $2,800 to $3,000. Mr. Gerard has been connected with the Belleville Public Schools about six years and has had his compensation increased five different times in that period.

Teachers' salaries seem to have remained the town's pet peeve for several years. In 1916, a local reporter wrote:

"It seems that some of the teachers are kicking because they have to teach a week after their last payment in June. Wouldn't anyone think that our teaching force would have enough public spirit to be glad to teach for nothing that week so as to help the town in the matter of getting attendance money (from the State) for the addition to the Silver Lake School?"

"Ah, teachers, teachers, you have sordid souls!"

Sen. Case Reports

Congress Recognizes Role That Good Nutrition Plays

By Sen. Clifford P. Case

In 1935 Congress authorized a program to provide hot lunches to school children in the United States. In schools participating in this program every school lunch is subsidized, partially by the Federal Government. Along with the general subsidy, needy children have been able to receive hot meals at a reduced price, and especially needy children are able to receive meals at no cost.

In continually expanding this program, Congress recognized the role good nutrition plays in the physical and mental growth of a child.

While the program has grown over the years, not all states, however, benefited equally. For example, at the beginning of the school year in 1970, New Jersey was serving only 17,000 free lunches for needy children daily. Happily, in less than two years we were able to increase New Jersey's participation rate to a June, 1972, program total of 154,000 children receiving free lunches.

But this expansion of the school lunch program in New Jersey was accomplished only after a prolonged battle. The United States Department of Agriculture, which views the program essentially as a way to dispose of surpluses, has relatively little interest in urban, industrial New Jersey. Consequently, the Department bucked every effort we made to enlarge the lunch program.

In 1971-72, the central issue in New Jersey was how to determine which children are eligible for free and reduced price lunches. The State set standards to reflect the high cost of living in urban areas and allowed even higher standards in the cities to encourage the participation of children of the working poor.

But the Department argued for a national average income standard which would have cut thousands of New Jersey children from the lunch program. Persistent efforts in Congress and passage of an amendment that I authored thwarted the Department's attempt to cut back the program.

Failing in its efforts to block the lunch program, the Department turned its attention to other child nutrition programs. Last Summer, the Department held back funds for the summer feeding program which insures that needy children will eat meals during the months they are out of school. When the Department took this action I organized an effort in the Senate and, with over 40 of my colleagues, we forced the Department to get this program going.

Again this year the Department campaigned to stunt the growth of this program by administrative foot dragging. Eventually, after the President indicated his desire to see the program doubled, the Department gave up.

One of the newer child nutrition measures is the school breakfast program which has won wide support among school teachers and nutritional experts. Because many children arrived at school hungry, restless, and in poor condition to absorb learning, some schools began serving lunch at an earlier hour. Congress responded in a measure I strongly supported - by creating the school breakfast program.

Once again the Department resisted. The situation grew so acute that Congress directed the Secretary to determine just how many schools wanted to begin the breakfast program if funding were available. Within a study was forthcoming some months later, I pressed the Secretary to get the job done.

The Department's first report claimed only a little more than 3,000 schools wanted the breakfast program. Testifying before the Senate Nutrition Committee, I questioned the Department's facts and figures and, after a new survey was undertaken, it was found that over 20,000 schools are ready and will be able to begin the breakfast program.

Almost every study confirms that the children's nutrition programs are an extremely good investment in the future of our young people. Yet, it is clear we will have to remain vigilant to protect these programs.

Judge Abromson Named Town Magistrate Again

By Elaine Auerbach

One Year Ago

Dedication ceremonies for the opening of the multi-million dollar Continuing Care Center at Clara Maass Memorial Hospital was scheduled to take place September 1, State, county, and local officials, headed by U.S. Senator Clifford Case, were expected to attend the opening of the hospital grounds. Albin Oberg, executive director of Clara Maass, extended an open invitation to all to attend ceremonies, followed by a tour of the new facility. The new addition added another 150 beds to the hospital.

Torrential rains left much of Fairway Avenue under almost a foot of water due to the overflowing of the Third River. Residents complained that not only did the flood water ruin their property, but also logs, railroad ties, garbage and floating debris had caused considerable damage. Fairway Avenue suffered the most, but other areas of town were also affected by the heavy rains. There were numerous reports of flooded basements and power failures throughout Belleville.

After one week of school, enrollment figures for the Belleville school system showed an overall increase of 121 over the tally for June. Although the overall figure was slight, Superintendent of Schools Anthony Greco expressed concern over the growing student body. The total number of senior high students was 1,311 and a junior high's total came to 1,442. Greco stated that both schools were in need of more space.

Ten Years Ago

Magistrate Edward Abromson was reappointed to another three-year term. The surprise development came in the form of a resolution offered by First Ward Councilman Vincent Strumolo, seconded by Deputy Mayor G. George Addonizio and supported by Mayor Laterza and Councilman Golden and Greco. The appointment came as a surprise since Judge Abromson's term did not expire until December.

Michael A. Querques, former assistant U.S. Attorney in charge of the Crime Division of the Department of Justice for New Jersey, was appointed by the Town Council as special counsel to aid in the investigating committee of the Council with its probes of the Department of Revenue and Finance, the Tax Assessor's office, the Tax Collector's office and the charges made by former Commissioner Kenneth Smith against Councilman James Golden concerning the alleged use of town-owned facilities for some of Golden's campaign literature.

Mayor Robert Laterza, with the unanimous approval of the Town Council, appointed a nine-member Planning Board. Those selected were: Michael Dacey, Theodore Wells, James La Motte, Fred Burlazzi, Dennis Simonetti, Nicholas Landolfi, Mayor Robert Laterza, Councilman Thomas Greco, and Daniel Varese.

An eloquent appeal by Leonardo Ronco on behalf of the Italian Blooming Society of Belleville failed to obtain for his client the club liquor license it had been seeking for several months. The Board of Commissioners by a 4 to 1 vote denied the organization's petition. Mr. Ronco explained, to no avail, that the Society represented a social and benefit group and that it had been in existence for 40 years.

At a ceremony held in Atlantic City during the New Jersey Police Benevolent Association Convention, Robert F. Layton of 74 Rossmore Place and James Ferguson of 120 Oak Manor Parkway, South Plainfield, were presented with civilian gold medals as a sequel to an incident in which they played important roles. The exploit which earned the valor awards for the Belleville and South Plainfield men was the capture of an armed robber who was attempting a robbery in East Orange.

Nutley's efforts to break an impasse with the New Jersey Highway Authority over the Essex Plaza Tollgate on the Garden State Parkway by creating a toll-free wicket leading to the Hoover Avenue ramp was given official endorsement by Isadore Padula Mayor of Belleville. Mayor Padula said that Belleville Town authorities were supporting Nutley because a survey convinced them that the dispersal of traffic by the Hoover Avenue ramps would be preferable to the construction of a new ramp at Belleville Avenue in Bloomfield.

Passage of an ordinance on first reading creating the post of another deputy chief in the police department was approved by the Board of Commissioners. The ordinance was introduced by Public Safety Director Noll. He announced that Captain Kenneth Smith would be named to the post.

The Belleville American Legion, Post 105, installed its officers for 1942-43. Those installed were: Andrew Cooper, commander; Richard Shannon, finance officer; Kermit Giroward, sergeant-at-arms; Harry McCumber, chaplain; Charles Harrier, service officer; Alan Bonhoff, historian; Otto Breanich, ritual officer, and Arthur MacCreedy, adjutant.

Richard Slauer, the town singles tennis champion in 1931, and Sidney Summerfield the doubles champ, kept their titles and won the singles and doubles tournaments sponsored by the Hillcrest Tennis Club. Slauer defeated Corbin Lewis 6-1, 6-3, 6-1.

Twelve charges against Recorder George Fitzsimmons, claiming various irregularities in the conduct of his office and incompetency to hold his job were filed with the Board of Commissioners. Fitzsimmons had been under suspension since August 13 and his office had been filled by Acting Recorder Everett Smith.

The Times was conducting a straw vote of Belleville's residents to determine whether they favored Hoover, Roosevelt, or Thomas for president and whether they wished a repeal of the Hobart Act—a state law that enforced prohibition.

Golden Comments

Later, Arthur T. Vanderbilt Jr., Chief Justice of the New Jersey Supreme Court bringing innovations and reforms, added much dignity and austere respect that August body. Throughout the long of the then state's leading newspaper which always reaches home. THE NEWARK EVENING NEWS cleared the path for improvement and reform.

Under the Scudder ownership it is a great power in the state. It reports, handles, and handles the news. Over the years, the newspaper men such as Lloyd Felmy, James Foley, James P. Logan, John Maynard, Arthur J. Simnet, Eugene Farrell, many, many others rose to key editorial positions with the paper and watched it grow.

Its unfortunate demise resulted from many factors, not the least of which was our changing times. Night baseball gave the edge to morning dailies which could give late results to its readers at the breakfast table. TV changed the evening ritual where the breadwinner, shucked his shoes, listened to the radio and read the evening news to keep abreast of things. Today TV and some radio stations offer new summaries which "clew" their audience on world happenings.

Price of the paper, raised to meet increased wages of employees and cost of publication, also helped to reduce circulation. The price of the paper was more than T.V. Guide which gave the whole week's program schedule, the section most looked at by the readers, after they had scanned the headlines. Then, too, we learn many students have not learned to read, despite the high cost of public education.

Why, you may properly ask, this requiem by me of a now dead newspaper. How you may further inquire does this concern Belleville. Please allow me to explain.

Back in 1933, college education was a luxury which most kids of poorer families couldn't afford. A high school diploma was considered sufficient to forge one's way in life. You had gumption and weren't afraid to work. I was one of the guys whose family had felt the sting of the great depression. College was out. My first job was digging ditches for F. D. R.'s W. P. A. at $15.00 a week of which I was allowed to keep $5.00 and still had good times.

A guy with a yen for knowledge and information, I had to seek available substitutes. Where to turn? Answer: THE NEWARK EVENING NEWS, reliable, accurate, and, then, 2 cents a copy. I bought it, read it, learned quite a bit. It wasn't formal education, but it was an alley to knowledge that I, otherwise, would have never acquired. It also lighted the road for me, to seek out, as a candidate for public office, the opportunity to strive for improvements and efficiency in government.

As a town critic, my arguments and discussions before the town commissioners were aired in the pages of the NEWS. Statements submitted by New Jerseyans for publication in Belleville readers could learn from the town matters. All this when both local papers would "shut out" and ignore the comments of any citizen who attacked their favorites on the governing body, especially when the locals were getting that profitable local advertising which made money for the paper.

The NEWARK EVENING NEWS was fair, objective and dedicated to service to its readers and the promotion of the candidacy of those it had determined from studied observations would, if elected, perform in public office with honesty, dedication and, in general, best serve the best interests of promoting good, clean government. Less may be said of many news publications which put their profits above the public weal.

The NEWARK EVENING NEWS was to me both a source of supplemental education, after my high school days and also a healthy sounding board to impart my views to Belleville residents who up to that time didn't really know the "score" about what was going on before their very noses.

If this column seems like a rueful lament please forgive me, but, like any concerned person with sentiment and feeling who has lost a respected and worthy friend, please allow me to properly pay my proper respects to a fine, wonderful newspaper which has contributed so much to making life better and viable for citizens of this area and the entire State of New Jersey.

As the paper went to "bed" for the last time amid mournful wails, many a manly figure was not ashamed to shed a tear of sad remorse. Had there been no courageous, militant NEWARK EVENING NEWS there probably never would have been a Councilman Jim Golden, nor a "GOLDEN COMMENTS" column in this paper. The passing of the NEWARK EVENING NEWS brings down the curtain on an era of many good and startling events cleverly chronicled in the faded copy of the paper, now flown away for the reference of a new generation.

Following with keen interest the appeal of Peter Bridge, a Belleville resident, who as a reporter for the Evening News refused to answer questions put to him by an Essex County grand jury and was held in contempt and sentenced to jail by a Superior Court Judge for his refusal to answer questions put to him by the grand jury. I was pleased to see that the intelligent Sue Cotti of WCBS-TV's editorial staff present that station's editorial opinion on the subject of Newsmen's Privilege. She graciously sent me a copy of the editorial.

The editorial stressed the point that Supreme Court rulings that reporters could not refuse to tell grand juries about their confidential news sources made news gathering a lot tougher. The result being the public will be less informed about such matters as corruption in government, organized crime and the activities of radical political groups, since most such news tips come from sources known only to newsmen. If this situation continues, legislation protecting the Newsmen's privilege must be enacted or the potential news sources will dry up.

Bicycle Cops

An upsurge in popularity has enveloped the bicycle in recent years and now that renewed interest centers on policemen. In several cities it has been found that law officers can drastically reduce crime using bikes. In Baltimore's high crime area (of narrow streets) the inauguration of regular patrols on bicycles had an immediate, major effect; the crime rate dropped substantially. Bicycles allow a silent approach and can get into many places cars cannot.

On some of the six-speed bikes being used, officers can achieve 45 to 50 miles an hour downhill and 35 to 30 m.p.h. on level streets. Thus their mobility and the officer's patrol range are greatly increased. In addition, bicycles cut costs of law enforcement. Therefore, more and more towns and cities seem likely to utilize them in police work.

THE ART OF HAITI

One of the most unique branches of the naive art movement is certainly the art of Haiti.

Up to the 1940's, there were no portable paintings created in Haiti. Prior to that time, peasant wall-paintings and voodoo flower-drawings could be found on their homes and temples for religious ceremonial and decorative purposes.

The earliest artistic evidence could be found in the voodoo symbols, the "vèvères." Before the ceremony the voodoo priest would commission the local talent of the community to have these symbols drawn with geometrical precision onto the floor with flour and ashes to invoke a particular voodoo deity. Voodoo is a way of life for the Haitian, where the ultimate purpose of possession is a means of escape from the turmoil of the world. His contacts with the demons and gods preserve the primeval African identity, lending his paintings a unique drive and appeal: a combination of religious mysticism and naive imagery. It reflects his rich historical background, the cross-currents of European culture, ancient Indian beliefs, primitive voodoo cults, African fetishism and Christianity.

De Witt Peters, an American, who was sent to Haiti by the United States to teach English in 1943, recognized the artistic sensitivity of its people. He was largely responsible for launching Haitian art by founding an art center in 1945 under the joint sponsorship of the Haitian government and the American Embassy with the help of the well known author, Selden Rodman, the sculptor, Jason Seley and others. For the first time in the history of the island talented artists were able to find facilities, guidance and the opportunity to create and sell their product. Exhibitions were organized throughout the world. Since then naive Haitian art has become a must for the collector of naive art.

By 1951 some of the finest examples of Haitian art were marveled by the completion of murals painted by such masters as Castera-Bazile, Wilson Bigaud, Philome Obin, Rigaud Benoit, Prefete Dufaut and others, in the Episcopal Cathedral of St. Trinite in Port-au-Prince.

Since the discovery of Hector Hyppolite and Philome Obin, who are said to have already painted before De Witt Peters arrived, Haitian painting has evolved and culminated into one of the major naive art movements in the world today, producing many internationally famous painters and sculptors.

Bold imagination and unusual skill are also exercised by the Haitian sculptors, working in both wood and metal. When working with metal even the bottom of oil drums is transformed into fascinatingly intertwined compositions of men, gods, devils, animals, birds, fish and vegetation. Jason Joseph encouraged by the sculptor, Jason Seley, did the pioneer work, then left sculpture in favour of painting. Georges Liautaud is the most prominent among the metal sculptors, his immediate successors have been the brothers Loujuste, Andre Dimanche's works of scurvy wood roots have some tortured figurative: some erotic and some of magical voodoo context. Other unique work is being done by Odilon Duperier, now working in the United States, Murat Briere, Gabriel Bien Ami and Damien Paul.

Haitian art is spontaneous, rhythmic, dynamic, exciting and poetic. World-wide interest by critics and young minded collectors alike is rapidly gaining momentum. Naive Haitian art has been purchased and exhibited by major museums here and abroad, including New York's Museum of Modern Art. The trend is expanding to interior designers and architects as well as to the collecting public. Books have been written about the art of Haiti. Haitian painters are now a part of every important book and dictionary written on naive art. In addition, numerous articles devoted to Haitian art have appeared in museum catalogues and in the international press.

From the collector's point of view, Haitian art is an attractive investment because of its still-modest prices. Its vitality and strength is certain to cause a substantial increase in its value.

GENERAL

On my first visit to Haiti, I found a people warm and friendly, unspoiled, living close to nature - an island one never thought could still exist in our troubled world.

An evening's visit to a friend of the family, whose beautiful home also served the purpose of a gallery, gave me my introduction to the art of Haiti. And it was a large selection of paintings, one caught my eye. It was the dramatic visualization of my futuristic dream of a new world come to life: the interpretation of my innermost feelings were there revealed on canvas.

The painting was by the artist, Prefete Dufaut, school of Jacmel, who was to win the first prize at the Festival of Cagnes sur Mer, France, 1971, a year after my purchase. Born of a sensual brush and a facile imagination, the painting depicted his native town in a fairylike world, surrounded by endless rows of mountains and dreamlike arials suspended in air.

The art intrigued and fascinated me. I began to study all available literature to increase my understanding of the art and made frequent trips to Haiti. And it was through my own maturing process that it was inevitable for me to become deeply involved with this unique form of art, wanting to share this fascinating experience with others. I started by exhibiting at home mostly for friends, and not long thereafter I found myself devoted to furthering the course of Haitian art, opening the Fabian Gallery in the Spring of 1972.

Mrs. Richard Dixon-nee Catherine Weiss

Story Hours At Library

The Children's Department of the Belleville Public Library is now taking registration for its fall series of preschool story hours.

This popular preschool program, which runs for 11 consecutive weeks, is open to all Belleville four and five year olds without charge. Group size, however, is limited and advance registration required. Interested parents should call the library at 759-9200 or register their children in person as soon as possible.

Two separate groups will be formed, one meeting Tuesdays beginning October 3rd and the other starting Thursday October 5th. Each session runs from 10:00 a.m. to 11:00 a.m. in the Children's Room of the Main Library.

Mothers or fathers are requested to be in attendance and are invited to join a series of lecture, film and discussion programs conducted in the adult department concurrently with the preschool program.

Miss Catherine Mary Weiss, daughter of Mrs. Francis T. Weiss of 132 Hornblower Avenue and the late Mr. Weiss, became the bride of Richard F. Dixon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard F. Dixon of Fair Haven, on August 26.

The wedding was held at St. Peter's Church in Belleville. The Rev. Aidan C. McMullen, Dean of Students at St. Peter's College in Jersey City, performed the ceremony after which the reception was held at Shadowbrook, in Shrewsbury.

The bride, escorted by her brother, John F. Weiss, wore an embroidered white organza gown embellished with flowers overlaid on crepe satin. With bell sleeves and a satin bow in front, the gown, made by Miss Weiss, had an empire waistline and a bell-shaped skirt.

The veil, made to match the dress, was elbow length tulle edged with embroidered flowers and she carried a cascade of giant lily mums.

Mrs. Robert Pelsu, of Piscataway, was matron of honor. She wore a gown of peach chiffon with a puckered top and a neckline bodice. The jacket sleeves were edged in embroidered braid, and a white picture hat with peach streamers completed her dress. She carried a basket of mums.

James V. Puso, of Fair Haven, was the best man and William G. Weiss, brother of the bride, served as usher.

Mrs. Weiss chose a light blue linen sleeveless dress with a matching coat the sleeves of which were edged with crocheted cotton lace. She wore a white orchid corsage. The groom's mother wore an oatmeal knit short sleeve dress decorated with ribbon lace, and her corsage was made of baby orchids.

Mrs. Dixon, a graduate of Saint Peter's College in Jersey City, is employed at P. J. Cassan Boro High School, where she is a chemistry teacher. The groom, a graduate of Pennsylvania Military College, Chester, Pennsylvania, is an administrative assistant at Catawba Corporation in New York.

After a one-week tour of New England, the couple plans to reside in Rumson.

Pissotts Celebrate 50 Years

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Pissott of 750 Washington Avenue recently celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary with a mass at St. Mary's Church and a celebration for family and friends at The Darwood, Belleville.

The couple were married in Wilkes Barre, Pennsylvania in 1922. They have five children, Carl of Belleville, Lawrence of Carlstadt, Donald of Belleville, Louis of North Arlington and Mrs. Geraldine McGeachen of Three Rivers, Michigan. They also have 11 grandchildren.

You And Your Pet Good Manners Essential

By Raymond Minor, D.V.M.

With people, good manners are often the secret to good companionship. It is the same with dogs. They become good companions to people when they learn good manners. And good canine manners involve obedience to simple commands such as heel, sit, stay and come.

For a puppy, age six to seven months is the ideal time to start training. As little as 10 minutes of training in the morning and evening can produce a well-trained dog. Equally important, the training can save the pet's owner from many awkward and embarrassing situations.

Uninterrupted daily lessons are essential and you should start with simple tasks which the puppy can perform. Good manners are not taught overnight. They are the result of daily practice over a period of time until the dog understands his commands and responds willingly.

Before you begin training, first consider your dog's personality. Some dogs are shy and timid, while others are overbearing or stubborn. Bear in mind that timid dogs need lots of encouragement and gentle handling with a soft voice.

What can you reasonably expect from a well trained dog? Let's look at some of the more familiar commands and see.

must sit in front of you, facing you, awaiting further orders. Remember, your voice tone is the single most important element in training your dog.

Initial dog obedience can be taught indoors. When your dog begins to obey your commands, start training him in areas such as shopping centers and parks. Get him in the habit of working under various conditions.

When you begin teaching your dog a new lesson at home, do so without an audience or the distraction of radio or television.

You should always use the same command for the same exercises without any additional words. Your dog only understands the sound of vowels in your commands, and he learns to associate a particular sound with a certain exercise.

Food bribes should not be given during training. Yet, we all appreciate rewards for our good work and our dogs are no exception. When the training period is over (and it should end on a lesson your dog does well) reward him with his favorite treat. He will look forward eagerly to the next training session.

The secret of training any healthy animal is patience and perseverance.

You know, it's nice when someone takes the time to point out the good things today's youngsters do. I received a lengthy letter from Edy the Klein of South Orange. Ms. Klein is an independent contractor in market research and she covers a certain section of Belleville. In her letter, she said: "Your town can be extremely proud of two of its young citizens." She related that while driving on Franklin Avenue, her car broke down. Two young men (she failed to get their names) in a white, four-door Cadillac came out of their car, ran over and lifted Ms. Klein's car hood. The problem was a broken radiator hose. The young men took off, returned with a new hose and installed it, refusing to take any money. Ms. Klein offered, "They said it was a pleasure to do this favor!" The young men finally accepted $4, the cost of the hose, after much persuasion. Thinking the problem solved, Ms. Klein tried to drive away, but this time the car wouldn't go because the radiator hadn't cooled off. The heroes followed Ms. Klein to the Arco Gas Station, waited for the radiator to cool and filled it with water. And advised Ms. Klein the car was now safe to drive. It was getting late, and Ms. Klein had a 7 p.m. appointment in town, so one of the men let her use the phone in his dad's car so she could call and alert her appointment she would be late. This is quite a story, and the letter ended, "I just know that there are thousands of young people who are so eager and willing to help others as these two wonderful fellows helped me. God bless them and all the other great kids in this world!" Anyone know who these nice young men were, please write, so I can give credit where it's due, and thanks, Ms. Klein for saying "thanks."

Hoora! School's open, welcome back to all teachers and administrators, etc., we missed you. How about some news of upcoming events?

They've been palsy-walsy for months, whispering sweet nothings in the corner. But the "funny" is another guy with the same name was really calling the tune...who dat?

He picked up his marbles and, finally was accepted by another group, yet when he returned to the scene, why did he leave abruptly before public recognition? C'mon, you can't hold a grudge forever.

He said he was there and enjoyed the evening immensely...so howc'm, he doesn't remember going home? Watch that kickapoo joy juice!

Did he make it or didn't he? After twenty-six years on the job, our knight in shining armor (well, at least he wears a shield) asked time for a worthy cause. He was turned down, because the King wasn't at the Castle, and the second in command could only offer an exchange. The King was due back September 5th...was that enough time to grant our Knight some days off? Tune in next week and find out.

He was there - honest! He left and took his temper with him, which was the result of a sharp tongue from one who had risen to power...and fell. Tsk, tsk, did sharp tongue speak in jest? Methinks he should practice what he teaches. "To associate ourselves together."

Yes, we have no bananas, but the monkeys are not bemoaning that fact...they're missing peanuts!

"Thanks, I needed that." It was a hot night, and she was thrown in the pool...who dat?

No woman ever makes a fool of a man; she merely exhibits him.

Freedom is not always the right to do and say what you please.

The Best Warranty This Side of a Rolls-Royce

You can't put a price on the warranty you get with a Volkswagen. You see, a Volkswagen warranty runs twice as long as anybody else's small car warranty. And only one car, the Rolls-Royce, has one better. Here's how it works. All you do is maintain the car according to the Volkswagen maintenance schedule. If any factory part is found to be defective in material or workmanship within 24 months or 24,000 miles, whichever comes first except normal wear and tear on service items (U.S. or Canadian VW dealer will repair or replace it free of charge. See your dealer for details.)

More Than 5,000 Inspections Per Car

The story behind our warranty starts at the factory. Where 1,104 nipping inspectors have one job, and one job only. To find something wrong with Volkswagen before that Volkswagen finds its way out of the factory.

Every one of the more than 5,000 parts that go into a VW is carefully examined. Some of them get the once-over two or three times. If one of our inspectors is unhappy with only one of the parts, the whole car gets pulled off the line. Sometimes we pull as many as 225 VWs a day. But it's worth it. We pick the lemons. You get the plums.

The Most Advanced Service System In The World

No other car maker anywhere can offer you Medi-Car, Volkswagen's ultrasensitive Electronic Diagnosis. It's designed to spot problems in your Volkswagen when they're at the minor adjustment stage. Long before they can do any real damage to your car or your wallet. Every one of our dealers has VW Diagnosis. And you get the first four check-ups free with a new VW.

The Highest Resale Value

Based on what's happened in the past, no other economy car on the road holds its value after 3 or 4 years as well as a Volkswagen. So, if you're thinking about buying a new car, think about what it's going to be worth when it's an old car. Because when the time comes to part company with your VW, you won't be left holding the bag.

Unless that's what you carry your money in.

Personalities

She Makes Waves Even Out Of Town

A Belleville resident since 1943 Mrs. Keeney has been teaching and coordinating Home Economics in the New Providence School System for the past fifteen years. She was a graduate of Penn State University and received her Master's Degree at Columbia.

This reporter met Mrs. Keeney several years ago when a member of the Belleville Community Council. I was impressed at that time with her innate good humor, sparkling personality and her ability to get things done quickly and efficiently. Lenora was leted upon her retirement from the New Providence School system in June.

A beautiful clock adorns her wall, a present from her co-workers. The inscription reads: "For your loyal, conscientious service and deep personal interest in your students." Another treasured memento is a scrapbook, compiled by Lenora's students, which held pictures of the retirement event and copies of speeches by officials.

One speech said: "The teacher who is attempting to teach without inspiring the students to learn is hammering on a cold iron." Lenora has inspired many students. She also received a silver bowl from the administrators "For caring and sharing" is the inscription.

As well as those gifts mentioned, Lenora received a rhododendrum for her garden — she is an avid gardener "when I have the time." In the New Providence High School Memogram, Lenora is referred to as "one of our 'young' oldtimers." In addition to her duties as an Economics Teacher she was in charge of Food and Clothing for 7th thru 9th graders at Lincoln School and also supervised the cafeteria. The acceptance of boys in the food classes was started after a Chef's Club proved successful. She also began fashion shows to display items made by the students.

On a local level, Mrs. Keeney was recently appointed to the Board of Trustees of the North Essex Child Guidance Clinic and is active in the Family Service Bureau of Essex County, the aforementioned Belleville Community Council, the Salvation Army and is a Deacon at Fewsmith Memorial Presbyterian Church.

When interviewed, Mrs. Keeney was redecorating her kitchen with the help of her granddaughter Nora Jo Arnez. Mrs. Keeney has one daughter, Mr. and Mrs. George Scharff of town. This lively lady can best be described by part of a speech the former Supt. of Schools gave: "Mrs. Keeney never let me down. I was always

Fidelity announces

Checking account choice

You choose the one that fits your life style.

1 New Improved Regular Checking Simple as 1-2-3. Works like this. No service charge if you maintain a low monthly balance of $300 or more. If your balance drops below $300 but stays above $200, you pay a monthly service charge of $1. If your balance drops below $200 but remains above $100, the service charge becomes $2. If your balance drops below $100, your service charge for that month is $3. There's no charge for the number of checks you draw—write as many as you like.

2 Executive Checking No service charge. All you do is maintain an average collected monthly balance of $800 or more. Question: If your balance drops below $800 . . . even as low as, say, $50 . . . but the average is $800 or above, do you pay a service charge? You do not. And should your average balance fall below $800 in a given month, only a modest service fee is charged. Executive checking is particularly useful for people who are paid by the month.

3 Special Checking Especially advantageous if you write only a few checks each month. No minimum balance required. A monthly service charge of 75¢ . . . plus 10¢ a check. Tiny price for a ton of convenience.

Whether you choose new improved Regular Checking, Executive Checking or Special Checking, your monthly statement will keep you up to date on your finances.

Tri-Captains Talented Trio

Much of the Belleville varsity's success on the gridiron this season depends on three senior veterans who have been named tri-captains by head coach Rocco Cafone. Of the three, two are defensive standouts while the other specializes in pass receptions.

Defensive end Alan Frank and split end Mark Cervasio serve as a liaison between the players and the coaching staff while star linebacker Robert Luongo is considered the toughest disciplinarian. Each captain adds his own personal touch to heading the team and the three, working in unison, are popular and well-liked among the players.

Two of the footballers, Frank and Cervasio, were standouts on the Bellboy baseball team. Frank, in fact, made all-state, while Cervasio was considered a stalwart second baseman for the 1971 diamond club. Luongo, besides football, was active as a heavyweight performer for the wrestling squad. He also was a field performer for the track team, where he specialized in the discus throw and shot put.

All three captains are optimistic about the coming season and believe the varsity can make improvements upon the team's 1971 record of five wins and four losses. Frank, especially, sees more drive and determination in the current club.

Of the trio, Luongo brings to the team the most experience. The six-foot linebacker, who doubles on the offensive line, this is Luongo's third full season with the varsity and he is rated by the coaching staff as the best all-around player on the club. In his sophomore season Luongo tore up the ligaments in his left knee but the injury was perfectly healed by his junior year.

Named on the area all-county team after the 1971 campaign, expected improvement and maturity in Bob may find him garnering all-state honors after this fall.

Alan Frank is another Bellboy footballer who may see action on both the defense and offense this year. He was a standout defensive end during the 1971 season and the coaching staff is now experimenting with Alan as a tight end on the offense. The Montgomery Place resident has had three full years at the (Continued on Page 12)

'Rounding Out To Form'

Gridders Small But Quick; Must Rely Upon Execution

Clearman Field last Saturday was used as a testing ground for coach Rocco Cafone and his staff. The Bellboy gridders came away from their first scrimmage with a passing grade, though there seems to be much room for improvement.

The scrimmage with Pequannock showed Cafone some of the havoc and have nots of his current crop of Belleville grid hopefuls as the team continues its prepping for the season opener September 23 with West Essex High School. After Against Orange

Belleville Harriers Open Season Tuesday

Coach Ray Haneke will guide his cross-country runners against Orange High School Tuesday in the season opener for both teams. The Bellboys travel to Orange for a 4 p.m. starting time for the race.

The 1972 version of the Bellboy harriers will be out to improve upon last year's dismal 2-11 record. A 10-1 shows three veterans returning. Unlike last season, the team is relatively healthy at this point. Haneke has appointed senior Rocco Cuozzo as the cross-country Tuesday the Bellboy runners will be out to avenge a loss to Orange in 1971. Although another scrimmage yesterday, this one with massive Essex Catholic, the local squad meets Barringer Saturday in its final pre-season test 10 a.m. at Clearman Field. The Barringer scrimmage will be run under game conditions and should prove the most important barometer as to the class the current club possesses.

"We learned a lot," were the first words from Cafone's mouth after viewing his team knock heads with the much larger Pequannock team. "I believe West Essex will be similar in style and make-up to Pequannock so it was a wise decision to scrimmage a suburban school." Belleville's running game seemed to click Saturday, according to Cafone, but when the offense displayed their precision at the long pass it left much to be desired.

"Our split end Mark Cervasio had the defense beat several times and he was in the clear but we failed to get the ball to him," remarked the head coach. "We hit on the short pass though and that was good to see."

Cafone explained that clicking on the long pass takes time and experience to develop but that aspect of the offense, along with the quarterback option play, will come with the expected development of the backfield performers.

"It was good to see Cervasio open so many times," the coach added. "Now we know its there and the main thing now is to work on it."

Cafone said that the quarterback option, another play that could be highly productive if it is executed properly, didn't go because the blocking wasn't operating correctly. He indicated that blocking assignments on that play will be changed this week and that offensive play should soon go better.

"We had a good ground game going for us, especially our counter plays. Both Phil Cuzzi and Joe Troise looked good in there."

Troise did much of the running for the Bellboys last season and he was expected to bolster the team this year. Cuzzi though, was used mainly as a blocking back last fall and his newly found running ability has pleased Cafone.

Although the Belleville secondary did get "burned" twice on long scoring passes, Cafone was happy to see his defense shut down the Pequannock ground game. According to Cafone, stopping the opponent on the ground is imperative to Belleville since (Continued on Page 12)

LETTING LOOSE with a toss in the Pequannock scrimmage at Clearman Field Saturday is junior quarterback hopeful Bill Telesco, who looked good at the signal-calling spot. Squad completed several short passes but failed to connect with the bomb.

THIS HUDDLE at Clearman Field was overseen by the Bellboy coaching staff. Although Saturday scrimmage was run under game conditions, coaches were allowed on the field to oversee the play of gridders.

MSC Booters '72 Outlook Optimistic

A new head coach who must get to know his material and the loss of all-time scorer Bill Kazdoba are the two key factors in Montclair State College's soccer picture in 1972.

Bob Wolfarth is a veteran coach who is a fine teacher and handler of players, and it should not take long for him to get his team together. The loss of Kazdoba could be another story.

In the last three years, the all-time Indians scorer tallied 42 goals with a single-season high coming in 1969 when he rammed home 19. For most of those three years, he was the MSC offense. A tremendously skilled forward, Kazdoba dominated his teammates.

This season the Indians' attack will have to depend on team play to do the job since there is no Kazdoba in sight. On the front line there are three veterans returning in Roman Hanyez, John Tkaczuk and Paul Papadogeoropoulos.

Hanyez, despite the fact that he played a wing position last season, was the Indians' second-highest scorer with six goals.

For Great Gorge Club

Our Betty Thompson As A Playboy Bunny

That is the name selected by Betty J. Thompson for her role as Playboy bunny at the club-hotel at Great Gorge here.

The 23-year-old Belleville High School graduate has an alternate interest to being a bunny: "Working with mentally retarded and physically disabled children."

The 5'4", 105-pound daughter of Hugh and Rachel Thompson of Belleville is one of four children. She measures 35-21-35, and has brown hair and eyes.

B.J. was graduated from American Airlines and Bar-bizon Modeling Schools, and likes ballet and modern dancing, and all outdoor sports.

"I like meeting new and interesting people," the Playboy bunny comments, adding "and experiencing all the fantastic feelings of really being female."

She sums up her attitude: "Make the best of any and all situations."

One of 105 bunnies at the new resort complex in Northern New Jersey, B.J. remembers the time she was doing the famous "bunny dip" and a candle set her bunny tail on fire. It was quickly extinguished, however.

B.J. won her bunny ears and tail last November, prior to the opening of the fifth Playboy club-hotel in December.

Goodwin, though, will help the local runners. The outstanding junior has been rated as one of the top runners and if he stays healthy he may be the key to a successful season. Goodwin also competes for the Belleville track team in the two-mile event.

New members to the squad include Steve Dyba, Dan DeSantis and Wayne Kellenbence. All three are juniors but have shown ability. Walter Stubs, a sophomore, also adds more depth to the team.

Last season the cross-country runners fielded only six or seven men on an average at each meet. This year prospects are more optimistic as up to 10 runners have been reporting for daily practice sessions.

the team is one of the smallest in the area. If Belleville is beat on the ground they are beat physically, and as a result, get beaten on the scoreboard.

"We can shore up our secondary. In fact, that's one of our strong points. Saturday we had two inexperienced sophomores in the game and they got burned for the long touchdown passes. That won't happen during the regular season," noted Cafone.

Practice sessions of late have been plagued with minor injuries but this week some of the key players have come back to take part in training.

Alan Frank, a team captain who figures in both the team's offensive and defensive plans, is running again after an unfortunate accident where he was stabbed in the leg with a knife. Joe Lavalle, who had foot troubles, is back at his guard spot, while Joe Cerca, who may be the team's starting center, has overcome his bad knee. Joe Cancellieri, free safety, is also back after suffering with a pinched nerve.

Pleasant surprise has been the good work of linemen Mike Marra and Frank Papasidero. John Ciallella, who last season specialized in dumping the quarterback, is again rounding out to form, according to Cafone. Besides Cuzzi and Troise at fullback, a Bellboy named Joe Napolitano has been progressing faster than usual.

Cafone notes that the quarterback position is still up for grabs with a three-way battle being seen at that spot. The kicking duties though, are falling into place as Mike Sharra has been booming punts with regularity during practice sessions.

Cafone also said that the concept of tri-captains for this year's squad, has also worked out well. According to the coach, Robert Luongo, Alan Frank and Mark Cervasio have been providing the team with valuable leadership.

"Frank has come back this week and is taking part in some practice sessions," commented Cafone. "I think this provided the team with a big boost. Frank is a valuable man and fits into our plans well this year and his return should provide incentive to the squad."

3 Grid Captains Combine Talents

defensive end spot so he is one of the most experienced performers at his position on the entire defense.

At 5-8 Frank isn't considered one of the monstermen at his position, but the talented senior does combine quickness and determination to stop the sweeps of the opponent's offense. Frank considers baseball his first love, "except during the football season."

In his freshman campaign, Frank played defensive end. In his sophomore year Alan saw action both on offense and defense, splitting duties at his regular defensive end action with tight end chores on the offensive unit. Last year he won a regular spot on the Belleville varsity defense, and combined with the now graduated Gary Falkman to shut down the outside plays.

The third captain of the team, Mark Cervasio, may be the fastest performer on the Bellboy squad and his speed has been put to use by the coaching staff as a split end. In fact, coach Cafone feels Cervasio's addition to the offense should provide Belleville with the much needed threat of the long "bomb" reception. Cervasio may also see some duty on the defense, where he held a regular spot with the varsity unit last year, but Cafone feels he will save his speedy senior mostly for offensive plays.

As a freshman, Cervasio was a tailback. In his sophomore campaign the versatile speedster switched to defense. Again last year he was a standout on defense but this year he seems to be destined for the offensive unit.

While Luongo sees his college future in football, Cervasio and Frank look to baseball in their post high school years. Both Cervasio and Frank are too small to compete on the college gridiron but Luongo has the size and the weight to make a well-rounded college defender. Several colleges have already spoken to Frank about a future in baseball and Luongo is leaning toward an Ivy League school for his college football.

Beck's Column

There are quite a number of customers who think that a color TV set can not be moved around. This is incorrect.

Every color TV has a so called degaussing coil built into it. This coil is the surrounding magnetic field. It is used to be that for instance a vacuum cleaner used near the color set would change the colors. Or an electric clock near the TV would completely upset it. Then a mechanic had to come with an external degausser and set the set straight again. Now every color TV has its own degausser, which clears the colors every time the set is turned on. It can happen that in severe cases it takes a few times of turning the set on and off in order to clear the contamination of colors. We had one case where a heavy motor was used right next to the TV set. This set up an unusually heavy magnetic field that thoroughly saturated every iron containing part in the TV. In this particular case we still had to apply the external degausser. Such cases are very rare though.

We service what we sell.

Summer Music Camp Benefits Young Belleville Clarinetist

Bruce M. Creditor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Creditor of Belleville, has recently returned from New Marlboro, Mass., where he spent six weeks at the Red Fox Music Camp as a scholarship student. At Red Fox, he was principal and solo clarinetist of the Senior Orchestra conducted by Mr. John Covelli and participated in various chamber music ensembles.

On Sunday, August 6, Bruce gave his first solo performance with an orchestra. He performed the Concerto for Clarinet by the Czech composer Franz Krommer, accompanied by the Senior Orchestra. He was chosen through auditions, and was given ovations and accolades from the audience and his fellow musicians. This concert is a typical piece of music, not frequently performed.

Red Fox Music Camp is located in the beautiful Berkshire Hills, and directed by Mrs. Isabelle Sant Ambrogio of Bloomfield, and her son, John Sant Ambrogio, who is the first clarinetist with the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra. It is a summer music community of about 180 students, where faculty and students live together and share their enthusiasm and exchange ideas about music. The faculty is comprised of the New Marlboro Chamber Players and visiting members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra from nearby Tanglewood. At the concluding concert on August 12, Bruce was the solo clarinet in the colorful and exciting piece, "Pines of Rome" by Respighi.

During the past year Bruce was a freshman at the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston, Massachusetts, where he was a member of the New England Conservatory Symphony Orchestra conducted by Gunther Schuller, President of New England Conservatory and well known composer and conductor; the New England Conservatory Wind Ensemble conducted by Frank L. Battisti; and the chamber music program coached by Harold Wright, principal clarinetist of the Boston Symphony Orchestra. It is not usual for a freshman clarinetist to be chosen for the New England Conservatory Symphony Orchestra. He also performed with the Brookline Symphony Orchestra and did music copying for composers in the area. Bruce will return as a sophomore to New England Conservatory this fall, and will also be assistant to Battisti with the Massachusetts Youth Wind Ensemble.

Bruce is a 1971 honors graduate of Belleville High School, and had participated in many music organizations during his high school years: the Belleville High School Band and Stage Band, New Jersey Regional Bands, All-State Bands and Orchestras, New Jersey Symphony Preparatory and Junior Symphony Orchestras, All Eastern Band, the Youth Symphony of New York, and American Youth Performers.

National Orchestra. During the summer of 1970 he was in the Young Artists Program at Tanglewood in Lenox, Massachusetts. Last Summer he toured Europe with the Concordia Youth

Wind Ensemble of Boston, performing in many cities in Germany, Italy and Austria, such as Vienna, Salzburg and Heidelberg.

Bruce is presently studying privately at New England

Conservatory with Peter Hadcock, assistant first and Eb Clarinetist of the Boston Symphony Orchestra. Previously he had studied with John Morsillo of Joralemon Street, Belleville.

Young Democrats Meeting Yesterday

The Belleville Young Democrats held their monthly meeting yesterday at 8 p.m. The meeting, held at 192 Passaic Avenue, was jointly held with the North Essex and Nulley Young Democratic Clubs.

All members were requested to attend in order to assist in the planning of campaign activities. President Larry Spinelli invites any young citizen who is interested, to come and join the Belleville Young Democrats.

M. Rogers Enters Marine Training

Michael J. Rogers, a June graduate of Belleville High School, recently reported for basic training with the U.S. Marine Corps at Parris Island, S.C.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. L.

Rogers of 27 Rocco Street, Rogers has completed more than half of the course. He recently completed the rifle range course, becoming one of the top five experts in his platoon. He will graduate basic training October 2.

Meet Tillie Hubiak, Dollar Stretcher:

She processes premium payments quickly and makes certain that the right accounts are credited.

Tillie is Chief Clerk in the Cashier Section of our Accounts Processing Department. She has been with us for 33 years. It's her job to make sure the premium payments we receive are processed quickly and accurately. Quickly in order to make the money available for the $515 million worth of eligible claims we pay every year. Accurately so that the right accounts are credited, nobody's coverage is discontinued through error and costly, time-consuming membership adjustments are avoided.

Tillie is one of our ablest, most experienced dollar stretchers. Thanks to people like her and our other dollar stretchers, the operating expenses for New Jersey Blue Cross and Blue Shield are only a few pennies of each membership dollar. About one-third the operating expenses of commercial health insurers.

Tillie Hubiak, It's your dollar she's stretching. She's another of the many reasons New Jersey Blue Cross and Blue Shield deliver more health care for your health-care dollar.
