PUBLIC HEARING NEXT TUESDAY

Town about to change all property zone lines

A new Belleville Zoning Ordinance — one that redefines minimum standards for large sections of town — comes up for a public hearing next Tuesday night. Although the ordinance is sweeping in its effect on real estate properties here, the ordinance is expected to be adopted by Belleville Commissioners following Tuesday's 8 p.m. hearing at Town Hall.

Presently, all of Belleville is divided into three major zones: residential areas (single-family, two-family and multiple dwellings), business zones and an industrial zone. But if the new ordinance is accepted Tuesday, the town will be redivided into no less than nine zones, each with its own set of standards and permitted uses.

Two projects already past the planning stage — a senior citizens housing complex on Mill Street and a new Pathmark shopping center on the Westinghouse tract along Washington Avenue, both will have been prohibited if the new zone code is okayed next week.

The proposed law also sets up a new residential zone, RA-2, which demands 50-foot frontages, excludes even home-offices, churches and schools, and which would encompass the area along Greylock Avenue between Norton and Passaic Avenue, roughly, and including parts of Austin, Elm and Norton Streets.

This new "highest of high" residential areas otherwise is limited to the undeveloped property of the Essex County Golf Course, the Forest Hills Field Club, Belleville Park (owned by the county) and the reservoir in the Ruston Estate neighborhood.

Another new zone being created by the proposed law is called RD-neighborhood retail. These isolated zones are scattered along Union Avenue for the most part and permit both residential and neighborhood business activity to exist side by side. Previously, these neighborhood business areas were classified simply as "business" but if the new law is adopted, the future use of such land would be dramatically limited.

The rest of the old "business" zones have been divided into two additional areas: BA for commercial business which includes only major retail shopping centers, BB for general business which is the way most of Washington Avenue remains classified, and BC for high rise business — areas at both ends of Washington Avenue where eight-story buildings would be permitted if the new law is adopted.

The commercial business zones (BA) are shown on the map only in two locations, the new Grand Union plaza at the foot of Lexington Street, and the Pathmark complex on Belmont Avenue in the Silver Lake area. The proposed Pathmark shopping center on Washington Avenue at the Nutley line would fall into the high-rise business zone once the new Belleville law is approved.

About the only area not seriously affected by the proposed zone law change are Belleville's industrial zones which would be labeled IB on the new maps and can be found in the Valley along Cortland Street, the area adjacent to the Belmont Avenue

Accepting school budget with 16% hike 'foolhardy'

By MIKE OLOHAN

Acceptance of a school budget that exceeds state spending ceilings by 10 percent came by a 5-1 vote at this week's Board of Education meeting. Retiring trustee, Lawrence

Schwartz, immediate past president of the N. J. School Boards' Association, called the acceptance of the budget by local board members "foolhardy."

The budget, largest ever presented by a Belleville Board, totals $11,554,872 and despite the fact it exceeds the Caps Law, the figures can be approved with an dispensation by N.J. Education Commissioner Fred Burke. He can even restore budget cuts should Belleville voters reject the final budget at the April 3 referendum.

Belleville School Board was given a 6.38 percent cap figure for the next budget. Trustees estimate the budget reflects an overall increase for 1979-80 of about 16.38 percent.

Trustees are also requesting the Essex County School Superintendent's Office to review the Belleville "cap" limitation to determine if the local system is eligible for a waiver.

While Matt Pica, Peter Clarizio, Mike Chieffo, Ralph Risoli and

Ernest Zoppi all okayed the tentative budget — which is $229,165 over the cap — Schwartz stressed its burden would be too taxing for local citizens.

Despite Pica's repeatedly noting the budget is "only tentative," Schwartz criticized the document as being excessive while pointing out that three overriding concerns should be acted on immediately. They include establishing a school closing plan, redistricting, and eliminating bus transportation.

"I don't know how the taxpayers of Belleville can afford this budget," said Schwartz, speaking calmly while his colleagues appeared disinterested and bored.

Schwartz suggested that by closing three schools and ending bus transportation, Belleville could save about $300,000.

"We have declining enrollment and I feel we could close three schools. I don't believe children will suffer at all and walking a little bit

New disco hearing set next Monday

By DONNA ABATE

Belleville commissioners have called a special Excise Board meeting for 7 p.m. Monday to hear additional complaints about the operation of Parrillo's Disco on Harrison Street.

Disco attorney Allen C. Marra isn't happy with the Monday meeting, charging the new complaints merely repeat arguments now pending before the N. J. Alcoholic Beverage Commission.

Commissioners, pressured by the Harrison Street neighborhood, say complaints continue to arrive at Police Headquarters and Monday's meeting will collect additional testimony to be presented to the State ABC for its deliberation.

Marra says the legal documentation presented for Monday's "hearing" is so weak that a serious legal argument is hardly warranted.

"I received the so-called notice, but it lists only a duplication of the same charges which are already pending before the ABC Board," states Marra, a Millburn attorney.

Marra complains the notice does not list specific dates and times the complaints occurred and therefore he cannot properly defend the charges.

"My client is being put into double-jeopardy," Marra argued. "He is being tried again for the same complaints."

Marra said he would attend the hearing with client Tony Fierro and "use the hearing as a forum." He expressed interest in how many people the hearing would attract.

COMMENTING on recent efforts to outlaw discos in Belleville, he asked, "What's the next step?" and promised the time will come when town commissioners will be sued for harassment of his client and abuse of their offices.

Commissioner Rocco Saletta, director of public safety, urged another hearing to submit new evidence supporting the charge that the disco is a public nuisance. His suggestion came during the last town meeting.

Although Marra said that the ABC board would not accept the additional evidence, Saletta stressed that the hearing on Monday could result in a completely separate charge against the disco.

SALETTA SUBMITTED police records covering several disturbances at Parrillo's to Town Attorney John Scott for formal presentation at next Monday's hearing. Saletta said he expects a number of Belleville policemen will be called as witnesses.

Scott was not available for comment on how he will handle the case.

Scott and Parrillo's attorney, David S. Piltzer, both received the hearing transcripts of the case pending at the State ABC board last Friday and will submit response briefs early next week. No specific date has been announced for a final decision.

Making A Point — Tony Fierro, owner of Parrillo's, speaks out in support of the new Belleville disco at a recent meeting. Fierro will join his attorney Allen C. Marra at the Excise Board hearing Monday night to face recent town charges.

Chamber will install new officers Monday

The Belleville Chamber of Commerce will install Henrik Tvedt of First DeWitt Savings & Loan as its new president during a noon luncheon Monday in the Fountain Restaurant, 44 Watessing Ave.

The session will also hear from Gerald E. Zedren, vice president of Fidelity Union Trust Company, who will discuss, "1979 Economics."

Plans for the coming year will be outlined and members will have the opportunity to offer additional suggestions.

The event will honor the new president and directors who include John Gallagher of H & G Industries, chairman; James V. Hardman of Hardman Incorporated and William W. Reinhold of Wallace & Tiernan Co., vice-presidents; Stephen Nardoni of Fidelity Union Trust Co., treasurer and Harry T. French, executive director.

Board members include S.

Thomas Aitken, Peoples Bank; James Baharian; Channel Home Center; Ralph Ciccone, Mattia Press; Joseph De Filippis, Central

Show to feature Mary Senatore

Belleville Commissioner Mary Senatore, director of Public Works, will guest on "Bloomfield Tonight," a discussion show, on Suburban public access channel PA 1 Monday night at 8 p.m.

The show, which is filmed live in Bloomfield, also airs in Belleville and as a result many Belleville features are included.

This particular episode of "Bloomfield Tonight" with Senatore will be aired also at 10 p.m. Monday night and at 8 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday.

New law up for hearing

Pathmark, and the complex at the western end of Mill Street near Montgomery Place and Montgomery Street close to the Bloomfield boundary.

Once adopted, properties not complying with the new zoning ordinance could not be altered, expanded, improved and in some cases, not even sold, unless appeals were filed with either the Planning Board or the Belleville Board of Adjustment.

The 8 p.m. hearing Tuesday signals the end of a two-and-a-half year endeavor by a special Planning Board committee whose chairman, Edward Heibert, along with members Joseph Doyle and Al Schmitt, are predicting final passage of the ordinance will come next week.

"I think there will be definite discussion and questions for interpretation, but the feedback should be positive," Doyle told the Times/News this week.

The effort to re-do the present zoning ordinance first came about as a result of the New Jersey Municipal Land Use Law passed three years ago. According to the law, the town had to revise the ordinance by February of 1977 for ultimate clarification.

Schmitt "unearthed" the old ordinance which he explained, was "frayed" and "very unorganized, contradictory and misleading." The Planning Board then chose the specific to begin work to devise a new ordinance.

Due to the condition of the old ordinance, the committee applied for an extension to complete the new ordinance, which was granted by the state for a deadline this coming February 1.

The committee emphasizes that commissioners must approve the new ordinance even if the town ratifies have reservations. Planners say the law can always be amended later but the state deadline in three weeks must be met.

Commissioners attempted to schedule, without success, a number of caucus sessions with planners to review the ordinance. And as sweeping as the new law will be, most commissioners up until last week were unfamiliar with its content and specific neighborhoods which will be affected.

Beside adding more zones, the new ordinance, planners say, is basically more specific and explanatory in its descriptions than the code which is being replaced.

"The old ordinance was written in negative terms which stipulated what was not prohibited in a particular zone," Heibert notes. "This new ordinance sets positive conditions in each zone."

Doyle, who was elected vice chairman of the Planning Board last Thursday, is confident about the new ordinance and feels that it will strengthen the authority of the Planning Board as well.

"I hope the ordinance is the first step to help bring the Planning Board out of the cold," he said.

Two areas of zoning which have been in the local headlines of late concern discotheques and senior citizen housing. The new law will attempt to ban discos, but the idea to create a special zone for seniors was short lived.

ALTHOUGH THERE was some discussion for a specific senior citizen housing zone, the planning committee decided against this. Instead, senior housing will be made a conditional use in either an R-C (multi-family) zone or a B-B (general business) zone.

This means that a senior housing complex can be constructed in those two zones throughout Belleville, as long as they meet with specific conditions such as being near good public transportation and food shopping and having access to indoor and outdoor recreational facilities.

But the proposed site at Mill Street and Franklin Avenue for senior housing would be prohibited by the ordinance and any construction of that kind would have to win an okay after appeals were filed with the Zoning Board of Adjustment.

It should be noted that the new ordinance "liberally uses the Conditional Use feature" Schmitt points out. The use, which is permitted in a particular zoning district under certain conditions, is spelled out specifically and clearly through out the ordinance.

In the case of future discos in the town of Belleville, the adoption of the new ordinance would automatically void the previous ordinance that the commissioners passed to insure no further discos in the town. The committee members, however, explained that they included the principles of that ordinance into the new plan.

The new ordinance stipulates that "discos, discotheques or similar dancing facilities are not permitted in any zoning district in the town of Belleville." A discotheque is defined as "an establishment where dancing is permitted and one or more of the following is present: an admission is charged; a minimum or cover is paid; a disco facility is used such as a disco jockey or similar presentation and the use of the term disco, discotheque or related concept is used in any advertising whatsoever."

THE NOISE LAW is stipulated in the zoning ordinance under prohibitions and is worded as follows: "Noise which can be conveyed across lot lines so as to interfere unreasonably with the comfortable enjoyment of life and property." All provisions of the State of New Jersey "Noise Control Act of 1971" are enacted amended and augmented shall apply."

Regarding other changes in the new ordinance, the committee stressed that the plan clarifies off-street parking and loading requirements in town. According to the members, there existed conflicting amendments relative to the size of parking spaces as well as to loading.

The parking requirements stress that no building or premises can be erected or expanded unless the proper parking spaces are provided. Number of spaces are determined according to the size of the premises. For example, for a residential area two spaces per dwelling unit are required and no parking is permitted in front setback area. In an "A" zone, one space and in a "B" zone two spaces shall be in a garage. The remaining one and two spaces may be in driveways appurtenant to a garage.

Restaurants and bars are required one space per two fixed seats of capacity; for benches — 20 inches of bench equals one seat — and where the capacity is not determined by seats — one space per 60 square feet.

The new ordinance also affects all areas that were not zoned at all in the past, such as the Forest Hill or Essex County golf courses. Without stipulation of zones, those areas could have been sold and developed without control. These open areas have been zoned as RA-2, residential lots with 50-foot frontage minimums.

A notable change was made along the business zone of Washington Avenue and various business areas such as near Franklin Street and Franklin Avenue. In the old ordinance, the business zone was determined by lots that were 100 feet deep. According to Doyle, this made the zoning map look very neat and organized but it also caused many businesses that extended under 100 feet to be classed under two zones. In the new ordinance, the lot line is drawn where each business extends in order to contain all businesses and nearby residences in only one zone.

This aspect makes it more practical for business merchants to apply for expansions since they will be contained under one zone. Previously, only certain zones could go back 100 feet, but if the business were less than 100 feet, the zone may extend beyond the lot into a residential lot behind it. If the lot is more than 100 feet, only part of the lot is zoned for business thereby requiring a variance to implement business use. With the new ordinance, the planning committee

ASK RITA

Comments and letters can be sent to RITA, care of the TIMES/NEWS, 108 Greylock Ave., Belleville, N.J. 07109. Letters may be signed or submitted anonymously. Rita is a social worker at the town's Juvenile Aid Bureau. Her weekly column is geared to those problems facing adolescents, their parents and anyone else dealing with teenagers.

Dear Rita,

I'm 19 and have been going steady with my boyfriend for 3 years. We're even pre-engaged. But Rita, I love to date other guys too...and I do! If my boyfriend ever found out, I'm afraid he'd leave me. I feel so guilty. What should I do?

Wanting it all

You should ask yourself a few questions. What is the purpose of your relationship? Is it fulfilling your needs or his? It sounds like you are not ready to settle down, so why tie yourself to one guy, now.

When you're ready to have a relationship with someone that you love, it should be based on honesty and communication. This one is obviously not! If you both agreed that you could both see others and continue to love each other, that might work better. Many open relationships like that work better than relationships, where you lie to each other and do what you want anyway.

It takes much more effort to be honest with each other and possibly risk a seemingly secure relationship. I think that anything that's really as special as a fulfilling and honest relationship is worth working harder for. Who said that you can't have it all?

Rita

Prayer for today

May I be no man's enemy, and may I be the friend of that which is eternal and abides. May I never quarrel with those nearest me; and if I do, may I be reconciled quickly. May I never devise evil against any man; if any devise evil against me, may I escape unharmed and without the need of hurting him. May I love, seek, and attain only that which is good. May I wish for all men's happiness and envy none. May I never rejoice in the ill-fortune of one who has wronged me. When I have done or said what is wrong, may I never wait for the rebuke of others, but always rebuke myself until I make amends.

Bella Abzug

Last week President Jimmy Carter decided he no longer needed the services of former Congresswoman Bella Abzug to promote women's rights in America. He dismissed her from the advisory job to which she was appointed by Carter a year earlier.

Daily, we hear and read that a legion of Bella Abzug's friends and associates are calling Carter all kinds of names for firing their Bella.

Bella Abzug never represented a majority viewpoint in America's females. But that is not the point of my editorial. Jimmy Carter has a right to appoint, hire and/or fire at will. If Jimmy Carter believed Bella Abzug could serve no further useful purpose in his administration, then his judgment becomes final and absolute. It was so expected that Bella Abzug would bow out gracefully. She is not that kind of a person. Throughout her public life Bella Abzug manifested an abrasive quality which sometimes prevented her from successfully performing her job.

There are other women around who would be privileged to serve in the administration of President Carter — some better qualified than Bella to perform the job from which she was fired.

Zoning important

Every property owner in Belleville should become somewhat familiar with the proposed zoning ordinance up for public hearing and final adoption next Tuesday night. It's a law that affects how you can use your property today and in the future. It's a law that could affect the value of your property. It's a law which might force you to appear before an Adjustment Board hearing before being able to make any improvements on your home, business or industrial property.

We are not passing judgment on the merits of the law. All we're saying is that it's important, and to some property owners, the law's application can be both disastrous and a financial blessing.

The public hearing is Tuesday, 8 p.m., on the second floor of Town Hall, 152 Washington Ave.

Proposed Belleville zoning map

Up for public hearing and final adoption next Tuesday, 8 p.m. Town Hall.

Look for your property. Here's what the map legend means (see page one story for more complete explanation.)

RA-1 Single-family homes — a brand new zone requiring 50-foot minimum frontages and restrictions on use other than residential.
RA-2 Single-family homes — similar to "old" A-residential zone with 40-foot lot frontages.
RB - Two-family homes permitted here.
RC - Multi-Family for all types of homes along with three-storied apartment complexes.
RD - Neighborhood retail - scattered areas where small neighborhood stores can exist alongside single-family homes. These areas presently are zoned "business." New law would restrict development in these areas.

BA - Commercial — New retail zone requiring five-acre lot minimums.
BB - General business. Formerly zoned simply as business (like along Washington Avenue.)
BC - High Rise business. Zone for 8-story buildings - see ends of Washington Avenue.
IB - Industry. Authorizes 8-story buildings, on 5,000 square foot minimum lots.

GOLDEN COMMENTS

Padded town payroll adds to tax burden

by JAMES GOLDEN

It being past the middle of the first month of the new year and struggling to get my finances into some semblance of fiscal responsibility after the usual impact of Christmas spending, the horrifying stark reality presented the despairing picture that within less than two weeks I was going to have to pay "tribute" to the doges (commissioners) at town hall in a whopping tax bill for the quarter due Feb. 1st. of $400.

My gosh, I thought...That's nearly, in one quarter, half as much as I used to pay on the same home for the whole year (four quarters) back in 1968; That was the first year after the voters of Belleville decided to go back to commission type government. The form lacks centralized responsibility and the establishment of five separate departments that is conducive to creating political dynasties whereby the commissioner who heads each department does his own hiring and determines salaries, within ranges which are variable, depending upon the whim and caprice of the commissioners.

What generally ensues, and it has in Belleville, the number of employees in departments are increased. Friends and relatives, those loyal and subservient to the commissioner are put on the public pad. We pay for it...What the hell! The politicians probably say that's the way to build up a strong "machine" that'll get out the vote. Sure it will! So do the huge political organizations most of our commissioners have by which to encourage fellowship and support for their perpetuation in office at the contingent obligation of doing a few favors for the faithful...and thus political dynasties are built, a la Hudson County's Frank "I am the law" Hague. But is it good government? Of course not.

But back to my immediate problem, but, then again I guess it's about most peoples' knowing dilemma in town, that damn ruinous, ever growing local tax bite. Using my own figures over the past ten years for the total yearly tax, and I guess it even out to an average $100 per year increase for all of us, with tenants rents rising in the same proportion, it amounts to $900 more than back in 1968 or more than double.

Yea? We know all about inflation and wage increases, but, what about all those new additions to the town payroll and the additional perquisites for our commissioners like town owned air-conditioned cars and free gas, $5000 a year expense accounts that are tax exempt and lavish, numerous convention expenses that resemble junkies? Don't we pay for them?

Have conditions or services improved enough to warrant a more than double tax hike in ten years? Where are the objections to this costly pattern of town government? Where have the critics gone? I vividly recall back in the late fifties and early sixties when I, as town critic, sparked a movement that brought about a change from a tired, complacent government of men far better qualified than our present incumbent officials, to a new promising form of government that failed only because it badly interfered with a long established pattern of outmoded local government which a contented society had grown accustomed to because it set up popularity idols to whom they might accept as colloquial surrogate overlords, a condition which in substance it remains today.

No fault may be found in the choice of an electorate to select its own leaders, however, it should conceivably contribute to the improvement in the quality and efficiency of any government if more thought and consideration were given to the talent, experience and ability of officeholders, rather than their popularity or their organizational strength...It is doubtful that any incumbent can truly claim certain "ownership" of any sizeable bloc of votes. Indeed in a town the size of Belleville with around 17,000 registered voters, it is conceivable that an aroused citizenry that came out en masse to cast their ballot could effect surprising upsets in the makeup of the town's government...The May commission election isn't too far away, gird for it.

Senior Citizens' Social Club organizes as new town group

The Senior Citizens Social Club of Belleville, a new club for seniors and handicapped adults, has secured a meeting place after three years of struggle.

The new club, which now meets every Friday afternoon at 1 p.m. at the Belleville Senior Citizens' Recreation Center, Franklin Avenue and Mill Street, originated when several senior citizens expressed the need for a group in which they could have more freedom to plan social events and leisure activities.

A large number of seniors were dissatisfied with the existing senior citizens' club under president George Chenoweth, feeling a lack of personal participation in various activities in such a large group.

Sally Hood, treasurer for the new club, has been the spokeswoman for the senior citizens and is partly responsible for the club's origin.

"Many senior citizens approached me with the idea and asked if I could try and organize something," Mrs. Hood said. "so I looked into it and approached the town commissioner about it."

"Many of the senior citizens just wanted to belong to a smaller group where they could become more involved in activities," she added. "They didn't care about politics."

Mrs. Hood stressed her belief that the Senior Citizens Recreation Center should be open for use by other clubs in addition to the Senior Citizens Club. "It's a public building, and other clubs should take advantage of this."

She was puzzled by the delays and problems in securing a meeting place for the new club. "Many people were unhappy, but they were afraid to speak out," she said.

Since the first meeting, the new club has gone on a trip to Radio City Music Hall and held its first Christmas party. Both events drew a large crowd of interested seniors.

Presently, the Senior Citizens Social Club of Belleville has 165 registered members under Harry Reynolds, president; Betty Barr, secretary; Thomas Basso, first vice president; Michael Sesso, second vice president; Mrs. Hood, treasurer; and Joseph Piscopiello, Mertz Marra and Michael Deltoufo, trustees.

"I feel very happy after such a long struggle that the club is finally underway," Mrs. Hood said. "Members can come and go as they please and have freedom to plan events."

"I feel happy because the people are happy," she added, "and delighted that the building is being used by more than one club."

The topic of transportation to meetings and events for senior citizens and handicapped persons was brought up at a recent commissioners meeting. Betty Barr, club secretary, questioned the use of Dial-

A-Ride, a transportation aid of the Health Department. Barr stressed that seniors can use the service anytime between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. for access to any particular place in Belleville. A senior citizen had complained that the service was not available. This was disputed by Commissioner Vincent Strumolo, who said the service was, in fact, available to all senior citizens and handicapped.

The Senior Citizens Social Club of Belleville, which also includes Alice Cilli as sergeant at arms, Stella Draghi as corresponding secretary and Josephine Molinaro as parliamentary historian, meets every Friday at 1 p.m. Yearly membership is $1.

Dear Umberto:

My husband is a handsome 33 year old man who is bald. I finally convinced him to buy a toupee which he puts on with adhesive and blends in his own hair. The toupee got dirty. He took it off and I shampooed it like normal hair. It tangled so badly that no chemicals could remove the tangles. He had to buy a new toupee.

This, too, is human hair but doesn't match his hair color. We would like to color it. Should we do it or is there another way?

The Toupee Lady

Dear Lady,

I do not suggest coloring it by yourself even if the colors are easy to apply. You probably don't know that wigs and wiglets are chemically treated and store-bought colors may react differently.

Try a temporary rinse that matches your husband's hair. To make the color lighter, add more water - for darker, go to the next shade.

If you want a permanent dye, take it to a colorist.

As usual we are at your service. If you like, bring it in and I will examine it free of charge and recommend a solution.

Spelling bee ready for Jan. 28 at Hall

Knights of Columbus, Belleville Council 835, will sponsor a spelling Bee Jan. 28 at Council Hall, 94 Bridge Street, beginning at 2 p.m.

The contest is open to eighth grade students of all Belleville schools. Candidates will be chosen by teachers. First, second and third place winners will receive trophies and all contestants will be awarded certificates.

First place winner will represent Belleville in the county spell off with the winner of that contest representing Essex County in the state finals. State finals winners will receive savings bonds of $100, $50 and $25 respectively.

Further details about the contest to which family and friends are invited may be obtained by calling Thomas F. Dillon, chairman, at 759-4516.

Refresher courses set for registered nurses

A refresher course for inactive registered nurses who wish to go back to work will be given at Mountainside Hospital, Montclair, Feb. 26 through May 14.

The course consists of 240-hours of study divided equally between theory and supervised clinical practice. Classes will be held from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. every weekday except Wednesday.

"This refresher course has been developed by the hospital's Nursing In-Service Department to renew skills, build confidence and familiarize the nurse with advances in medicine and nursing," said Christine O'Connor, Nursing In-Service Coordinator.

Since the class is limited in size, interested nurses should call the In-Service Department at 746-6000, ext. 216 as soon as possible to arrange for an interview, she added.

In order to qualify for the course, nurses must hold a current New Jersey license or a letter of permit from the New Jersey Board of Nursing. In addition, applicants must have been inactive in nursing at least three years.

A physical examination, chest x-ray and urinalysis must be completed by the applicant's own physician. Tuition for the course is $150 which includes the cost of a manual and other printed materials. A refund of $400 will be granted to those nurses, who, following the course, are employed by Mountainside for a minimum of two full shifts per week for a period of one year.

Firewood can help cut high fuel cost

Firewood has become a popular commodity. More and more Belleville homes are using fireplaces in an effort to reduce fuel bills and every year about this time, members of the forestry department at Cook College, Rutgers University, are asked to define the various measurements of firewood such as face cord, rick, rack, stack, truckload or "pile." Buyers often believe they are getting a good deal.

A "cord" of wood is that amount that takes the space of 128 cubic feet or a neatly piled rack of wood that measures four feet high, four feet wide and eight feet long.

A "face cord" measures four feet wide, eight feet long and as wide as the length of the pieces of wood. If the pieces are 16 inches long, you have one-third of a cord of wood.

Other terms such as stack, truckload or "pile" vary in the number of pieces of wood involved and comparison shopping is necessary to be sure you get the best buy.

It is also important to know the kind of wood you are buying and whether it is seasoned or not. Green or unseasoned wood will cause soot problems. It burns with a slow, smoldering fire which releases running sap. This sap sticks to the flue and an accumulation can cause a fire in the chimney. The minimum drying time is one year. Hardwoods burn better, hotter and longer than the softwoods.

HELEN'S THING

We should all be Ph.D's

by HELEN MAGUIRE

A HEADLINE in The Star Ledger this morning (Monday) reads, "Jersey will allow college credits for on-the-job training programs." The first paragraph states that the State Department of Higher Education is expected to authorize college credit for training programs offered by business and industrial firms, labor unions, professional associations and government agencies. With none of them am I presently associated.

However, I wonder if the Department would consider granting college credits for on-the-job training not covered by any of the above.

FOR EXAMPLE, raising children to maturity without them demolishing one another is a major accomplishment, worth at least three credits. Perhaps, so many points for every argument you referee, so many points for every disagreement you help settle, so many points for every time you have to listen to three sides of the story, his, hers and the truth. How about a credit for getting through a week without resorting to that cop-out, "Just wait until your father gets home." Or a credit for every tail you've refrained from whacking when nothing would have made you feel better.

Surely, keeping track of the whereabouts of a multitude should be worth something. That television school bell ringing a scant hour query always gets me. "It's ten away, whether the child is suffering or not. Do you know where your children are?" Certainly I know where they are at 10 p.m. They're all in bed. It's where they are at 3:45 p.m. that concerns me. That's the time when the phone rings with a plea from the son with the saxophone to pick him up before his arm drops off, the request from his brother to invite "just a few kids" over to play football in the yard, rain, snow or sleet notwithstanding, the cries from the girls that is the very day, mind you, that I have faithfully promised to take them for new sneakers and if I don't do so immediately, they are going to be disgraced in gym tomorrow wearing these wretched excuses for footwear which, correct me if I'm wrong, I purchased at great expense a scant few weeks ago.

COULD THE STATE ante up a credit or two for wives married to men hanging plaid wallpaper on asymmetrical walls? Keeping the man in question from flinging paper, paste, brush, roller, sponge, bucket etc. out the front door in sheer frustration is a task for a Solomon and with none of them around these days, falls to his mate.

I really think that playing physician and psychiatrist all in the same morning deserves some recognition credit-wise. This mother, and I suspect thousands more, are often called upon to determine, with the best of intentions, whether the child is suffering from a legitimate physical ailment or a psychological one brought on by undone homework, impending tests, etc. Does this child's throat or stomach or head hurt because he is truly sick or would just like to be? Unfortunately, sometimes when you decide the symptoms are psychosomatic and ship him off to school, they turn out to be legitimate and it is embarrassing to have the nurse phone with a request that you come remove this typhoid mary from the premises post haste.

I THINK THE STATE Department of Education is on to a good thing here. I also believe they haven't gone far enough. A million New Jersey mothers and wives could earn a master's in short order if this whole thing were more carefully thought out.

Senior Notes

By GEORGE CHENOWETH

Social Security Benefits are an important part of your financial picture during retirement, that's why it is essential to keep informed on the changes in the annual earnings limit and the special provisions in the Social Security laws which take effect this year. For 1979, the amount a Social Security beneficiary 65 years of age and over may earn annually without losing any benefits is $4,500. If you are under 65 and receiving Social Security benefits, the amount you may earn and still collect a full benefit is $3,480. People who are 72 years of age and over may earn any amount and receive all benefits. Social Security benefits will be reduced if your annual earnings exceed the limits. Money you receive in the form of wages or salaries for work you perform, or income from self-employment is counted toward the earnings limit. Money you receive in the form of interest, dividends, pension payments, insurance and veteran's benefits, rents, and gifts is excluded from the annual limit. If your annual earnings exceed the limit, your Social Security payments will be reduced by one dollar for every two dollars earned over the limit. An important change in the Social Security law affects divorced people and widowed people. There will no longer be a reduction of benefits for widows and widowers 60 years of age or over if they should remarry. If you have remarried and had your Social Security benefits reduced, you must apply for the higher benefit amount you received before your remarriage. However, you will not be eligible for benefits lost under the old law. Divorced people who were married at least 10 years may be eligible for Social Security benefits based on the previous spouse's work record. Before 1979, divorced people were required to have been married for at least 20 years to qualify. However, if a divorced person has remarried, he or she may not be eligible to file a claim on the previous spouse's work record. For additional information about the changes in the annual earnings limit, and the new laws for widows, widowers, and divorced people, please write to or call your local Social Security office.

The force which moves blood throughout the body is provided primarily by a muscular organ approximately the size of a fist, the heart. The three layers of tissue which make up the heart receive their blood supply through a system of blood vessels, the coronary vessels, and not by absorption through the wall of the heart. ## Blue-Gold matmen felled by Westfield

By MIKE LAMBERTI

In spite of some great individual efforts, the Belleville High School wrestling team lost its first match of the 1978-79 season to Westfield 30-14.

The loss dropped the team record to 2-1-1. Yesterday the grapplers traveled to Irvington to battle the Campers. Tomorrow they will be host to the very powerful Pony Pirates of Seton Hall. Seton Hall has lost only one match this year, that to Westfield. Match time is 8 p.m.

Despite the loss, head coach Gene D'Alessandro was very satisfied with his team's performance. "They all did a good job," said the coach. "I feel that we're getting better and are starting to get in tip-top shape. It's disappointing to lose, but it's not the end of the world. We're getting ready for the second season, because that's when it counts the most."

The second season that the coach was referring to was the tournaments that begin Feb. 16-17 with the Essex County Tournament and go right through until the middle of March with the state tournament.

The coach continued, "I don't think the final score was indicative of how the match really turned out. Our kids wrestled quite well but made some mistakes that proved to be quite costly. Westfield is a strong club, and you can't make those kind of mistakes against a veteran club such as them."

In the 101-pound weight class, Belleville's Tom Graziano was beaten 5-2. Despite the loss, Graziano wrestled a very strong third period and, according to his coach, could have won the match had he been a little more effective in the earlier rounds. The win gave Westfield a 3-0 lead.

Belleville's 108-pound entry, Jim Cali, continued to wrestle impressively as he outdistanced his Westfield opponent 2-0. Cali really didn't have much trouble with his opponent and turned in another fine job. Thus far he has been beaten only once and that in the championship round of the Caldwell Christmas Tournament.

With the score tied at 3-3, Belleville grappler Gérard Mimichini squared off against a very good wrestler in Vince Hurley. For two-and-three-quarter periods, Mimichini held the upper hand and with 30 seconds left in the match led 3-2. It was then that Hurley escaped from Mimichini and scored five points in the final half minute to win the match 7-3. The win boosted the Westfield lead to 6-3.

Belleville fell behind 12-3 in the 122-pound class. Lou Pomponio of Belleville, wrestling in only his second varsity match, was pinned in the first period.

In the 129-pound division, Belleville's Mike Sticlatella outclassed his Westfield opponent 12-3. Sticlatella was in control most of the way and has been showing marked improvement since the beginning of the season. The win was a big one for the Bucs as they closed to 12-6.

The Bucs closed to within three points in the 135-pound class as Ken Miele won a tough battle with his Westfield opponent 2-1. "Ken did a fine job," said D'Alessandro. "He scored his points on a first-period takedown and held on strong the rest of the way." Westfield now led 12-9.

In the 141-pound division, Al DeMayo of Belleville was beaten 9-4. DeMayo got off to a strong start in the match and led 4-1 at the end of the first round. However, he weakened due mostly to an injury that has kept him out of action for a week and he eventually was beaten. Westfield upped its lead to 15-9.

In the 148-pound battle, Blue-Gold grappler Jim D'Angelo was matched against a very highly rated wrestler in Joe Shields. D'Angelo rose to the occasion with a strong showing but just fell short and lost 8-6. Even though he was beaten, he had 1:45 of riding time over Shields. The win increased the Westfield margin to 18-9.

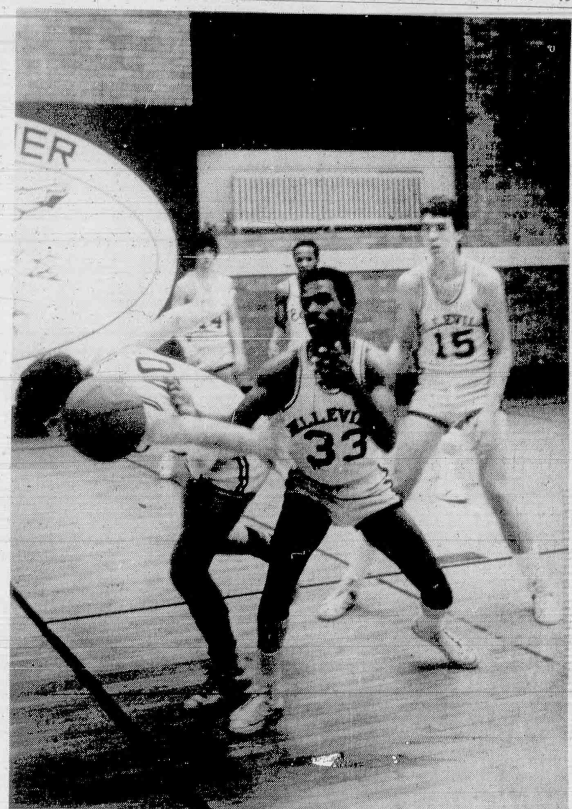

Chris Mussamano of Belleville remained undefeated in the 158-pound class as he rolled over his opponent 7-1. Mussamano, only a junior, has been in complete control of almost all of his opponents all season. He has gained a great deal of self confidence and is favored by many to advance to the state tournament. Mussamano was the only member of the team last year to do so.

With the score 18-12 in favor of Westfield, Brian McManus wrestled in the 170-pound class for Belleville. McManus has been subbing for Angelo Santinelli who is out with a knee injury. McManus made his varsity debut in the Montclair match and came out victorious. This time he fell short, despite a strong effort and was beaten 4-0. The win gave Westfield a 22-12 lead.

Joe D'Agostino was the Belleville entry in the 188-pound class. D'Agostino led in the second round 2-1 but was caught in a reverse cradle and was shown the lights a few seconds later. The win assured Westfield of the match as the Blue Devils took a 28-12 lead going into the heavyweight battle.

Scott Grant was the Belleville wrestler in the unlimited division slot. Grant had just one loss going into the match and wrestled quite well against Westfield. He held a 6-2 lead over his man with just 10 seconds left before his opponent scored on a takedown and salvaged a tie in the match at 6-6. "Scott did a good job," said D'Alessandro. "His problem was that he was too over aggressive."

Iacullo arm leads girls

By MIKE LAMBERTI

Behind the sharp shooting of junior Joyce Iacullo, the Belleville Buccanear girls' basketball team defeated Passaic 48-42 to boost its record to 8-2.

Last Tuesday the girls were host to Nutley and defeated the Raiderettes 48-40. Today the Buc ladies will host a very good Patterson East Side team starting at 3:45 p.m. On Tuesday the girls will travel to Montclair.

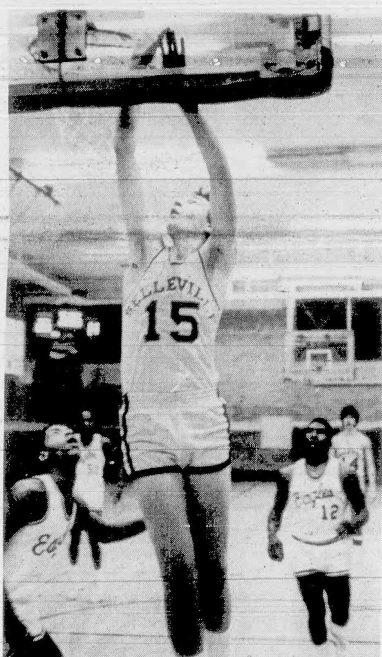

Belleville got off to a slow start in the Passaic game. This was mainly due to the absence of senior co-captain Karen Portuese. Port has been nursing a sore thumb and sat out the first quarter. Consequently the girls had fallen behind 10-5 by the end of the period.

In the second quarter, Belleville played the full court press and with Portuese returning to the lineup took control of the game and led 22-20 at the half.

"They pressed us in the first quarter," said Blue-Gold head coach Karen Fucello. "Without Karen we had some problems with it in the first quarter, but when she checked in for the second frame, we turned things around. We went into a press in the second quarter, and it worked to our advantage."

Passaic closed to within one point, 37-36, at the end of the third quarter. The

By MIKE LAMBERTI

Despite playing fairly good basketball, the Belleville High School boys' cage team lost three contests this past week.

Tuesday the locals traveled to Nutley for an afternoon contest with the Maroon Raiders and lost 75-47. They don't play again until next Tuesday when the tough Mounties of Montclair, featuring 6-7 wonder, Craig Robinson, invade the courts of Belleville for an afternoon game.

Last week, the Bucs fell victims to the Vikings of Vailsburg 50-48 and to the Eagles of Essex Catholic for the second time this season 78-59. The double loss combined with the defeat in Nutley lowered the team record to 3-9.

Against Essex Catholic, Belleville enjoyed its best shooting day of the season but wasn't able to stop the Eagles' quick guards. Essex Catholic was paced by guards Alan Knight and Dan Ford and by forward Joe Reto. Ford popped in 24 points. Reto 21, and Knight came up with some great steals.

"We shot very well but didn't get enough shots at the basket," said BHS head coach Dan Grasso of his team's performance. "Their guards were super quick and gave us problems all night."

The big story for the Bucs was the amazing effort turned in by senior Pete Martin. Martin, the Bucs' 6-5 center, scored a career-high 34 points, the most for a Belleville player since Abdel Anderson scored 43 in 1975. Martin hit 16 of 23 from the floor, blocked six shots and pulled down 10 rebounds.

"Pete played an unbelievable game," said Coach Grasso. "It was by far his best effort of the year, and it goes to prove how good he can really be." Wayne Bubet scored 15 points for the Bucs who shot 60 percent from the floor.

Against Vailsburg last week, Belleville displayed an awesome defense.

Vailsburg was averaging 96 points a game going into the meeting with the Bucs and had a front line of 6-6, 6-5 and 6-5. Still in all, Belleville played a great game and just came up short.

Vailsburg jumped out to a 4-0 lead on baskets by Rex Parente and James Terry. Belleville fought back to tie it 6-6 on a Barry Delaney layup. The first quarter ended at 8-8.

Vailsburg ran off an 11-2 spree starting the second quarter to lead 19-10, but Belleville stood tough and with six

The All Stars are a team made up of former and present major-league ballplayers from New Jersey. Among those expected to be on hand Feb. 1 are New York Yankees Roy White and Paul Blair, Cleveland Indians Manager Jeff Torborg and several players from the Red Sox. The line-up for Belleville will be named at a later date.

Proceeds from the benefit game will go toward a courtyard in front of the high school for future use by senior classes, says School Board member Mike Chieffo, an organizer of the event.

Tickets are $3 and may be purchased at DeBacco's Sports Shop, 470 Washington Ave.; Rossmore Pharmacy, 338 Washington Ave.; Muscara Music, 325 Washington Ave.; Plaza Drugs, 351 Franklin Ave.; Belle Maid Deli, 460 Joralemon St.; Corner Deli, corner of Union Avenue and Greylock Parkway, and the high school main office.

Edward's, Chief Motors take Rec League forfeits

There now remain two undefeated teams in the Men's Basketball League. Strangely enough, both took an unusual forfeit in this highly competitive league. Edward's Lounge became 4-0 on a forfeit from Qualified Construction. Chief Motors is also 4-0 with a forfeit from Half Penny Pub.

In the biggest upset thus far this season, Small World knocked the Knicks from the undefeated ranks with a 47-46 win. Rich Baker had 21 points and Barry Dunleavy and Alan Amiano 10 apiece for Small World. Billy Sherman had 25 points for the Knicks. The Knicks are now 3-1 and Small World is 1-3.

Then Play On edged the Jaycees 75-62. Then Play On had four players in double figures including Tino Sorrentino 20 points, Terry Shoebright 18, Bob Toscano 19 and Jim Corino 10. The Jaycees also had four in double figures: Mark Verniero 16, Steve Dondarski 14, Mike Dondarski 10 and Joe Troise 12 points. Then Play On is 3-1, the Jaycees 0-4.

Nanny's beat O.P.A.C. 68-57 behind Bruce Gardiner's 30-point performance. Nanny's had seven other players in the scoring column. O.P.A.C. was led by Neil Auriochio's 16 points. Both Nanny's and O.P.A.C. are 2-2.

Belleville-Newark Honda, the Silver Lakers and Mickey Music all upped their records to 4-0, remaining undefeated in Recreation Senior League basketball play.

The most outstanding victory last week was Mickey Music's 71-25 rout of Guarino's. Stanley McDaniel, 15 points, David Carey, 14, and Alan Talmadge, 12, led the scoring attack for the winners. Jerry DiGori scored 10 for Guarino's.

The Lakers defeated Three Guys Pizza 43-20 behind the scoring of John Catalso, 10 points, Anthony Dondarski, nine, and Jim Tensfeldt, eight. Ralph Velardi led Three Guys with 10 points.

Belleville-Newark Honda handed Town Cottage its fourth loss of the young season 59-39. Joe Ritacco and Jim Kelly with 12 points each and Dan Borgo and Lou DiPasquale with 10 apiece led Honda to its fourth victory. Joe Wolf scored 10 for Town Cottage.

Channel Lumber improved to 2-2 by defeating a winless Giuliano's team 56-10. George Lockhart, 14 points, and Pete Bukunus, 10, paced Channel to its victory. Jim Giuliano was the only threat for the losers, scoring nine points.

DeBacco's improved to 3-1 and secured sole possession of second place by beating Salvatore's Pizza 35-29. Frank Danieli, 13 points, and Joe Tamborino, 10, led the scoring for DeBacco's. Joe Tramontana was high scorer for Salvatore's with 10 points.

This year the Recreation Department entered a seventh and eighth grade girls' team in the Junior Girls' Suburban Basketball League. The girls play a 12-game schedule against teams from other towns in the area.

In the first game of the season, Belleville defeated East Hanover 46-26. Jennifer Appicelli had 25 points, Donna Campana nine, Janine Renna six, Kathy Woods four and Dina D'Aquino two.

Other members of the team are Lorilee Wells, Diane Dickinson, Gina DiPaolo, Jackie Russano, Mariene Talmadge, Theresa Critchley and Maria Lacerenza. All team members played and contributed to the victory. The team has three coaches who donate their time to promote the girls' program. They are Karen Fucello, Camille Casaleto and Debbie Meola.

Girls' record stands at 9-2

Buccanettes held tough and outscored Passaic 12-6 in the last quarter to win 49-42. Joyce Iacullo led all scorers with 17 points. Portues tallied 16 in three quarters of play. Denise Zarra had five, Robin Giordano four, Lisa Wells four and Denise Juliano three. Passaic's Zehlers led the Indians with 15 points.

"Joyce has been playing good ball," said Fucello of Iacullo. "Our guards have been doing most of the scoring this year; we need more of an outside game. I was glad that we were able to come back after the first quarter. Passaic threw a number of different formations at us, and we adjusted to them fairly well."

"These next couple of weeks will be really big for us," the coach continued. "The competition gets pretty tough from now on."

Vailsburg loss is heartbreaker

players scoring in the quarter pulled to 26-20 at the half.

The Buccaneers popped in two baskets at the start of the third quarter to pull within two. Vailsburg ran off four points of its own and led 32-26. The Buc took the lead for the first time in the game soon after when Bob Keeser hit a jumper. Vailsburg's Parens answered with a jumper, however, just as the buzzer went off, and the Vikings led 37-36 going into the last frame.

Although Belleville never took the lead in the fourth quarter, the Buc tied tie the contest once when Keeser hit on a technical foul. Belleville had a chance to tie with three seconds left, but Keith Isler missed on two free throws. Belleville had lost a toughie 50-48.

Isler led the Buc with 14 points. Martin scored 11, and Wayne Bubet popped in eight. Grasso was very happy with his team's effort. "They were an excellent team," said Grasso. "We busted our butts on defense and played a pretty good game on offense. I was very proud of the team. They showed what they were made of."

Maria Domenick stars for Marlin swim team

Maria Domenick of Belleville has been tearing up the swimming lanes for the Montclair YMCA Marlin's girls' swimming team. In the squad's recent victory over Somerset Valley, she had a first in the age 10 and under freestyle with a 31.4 time and a second in the butterfly in 41.3.

Maria recorded an ideal time in the freestyle for a first-place finish in the Marlin's 99-91 beating of Somerset Hills last month in the second meet of the season. She had a second-place knish in the freestyle and a third in the backstroke in the first meet of the season which the Marlin's lost 102-88 to Passaic-Clifton.

MAIN AND JORALEMON STREETS BELLEVILLE

WOULD CLOSE BUILDINGS FIRST

Schwartz critical of budget hike

further will not affect their education at all," said Schwartz.

Chieffo and Pica defended the budget with other trustees only briefly nodding or voicing approval.

CHIEFFO ATTACKED Schwartz's plans to close three schools, saying it would create a "tremendous hazard" for students then forced to walk long distances. "I think your figures are erroneous," Chieffo added. "Closing schools would just cause a higher budget" because crowded students would just cause extra expenses.

If schools were closed, Superintendent Dr. John Greed said several teachers' salaries could be saved through attrition over the years. Greed has said he favors closing or consolidating schools to improve education and reduce its cost.

"The board had better grasp this situation," Schwartz continued. "It is just foolhardy to pass this budget with these schools open. It's time the board looked at the redistricting problem. We keep delaying it."

"My parting words to the board are 'Come up with a plan to phase some schools out.' Unless the board does this, then they're just wasting money."

A meeting on redistricting has been scheduled for Feb. 13.

Chieffo told trustees if action is not taken quickly, redistricting may just become another "political football" in the May Town Commission election.

"Though I think Belleville is a much finer community than Nutley in all respects," Schwartz said, no other district in New Jersey has as many elementary schools. "I feel bad when I have to say to a parent, 'I think your school should be closed,'" he noted, adding despite the consequences trustees must plan to close schools.

Belleville's zoning law

tee believes business expansions will be more practical, provided they are permitted in the particular zone.

CHURCHES or places of worship, which in the old ordinance could be built in any zone, have now been restricted as a conditional use. This stipulation would alleviate the problem of a storefront churches and it would also require adequate parking facilities, landscaping and compliance with the character of the neighborhood.

As far as enforcement, the building inspector shall enforce the provisions of the ordinance and he cannot issue a permit of construction unless he is fully satisfied that all provisions are met.

Penalties for violations of the ordinance are more strict in the new plan. According to the violation, the person, firm, or corporation violating any of the provisions will pay $500 or will be confined to the County Jail for a period of 90 days or both. The imposition of one penalty for any violation of the ordinance will not excuse the violation and each day the prohibited conditions continues will constitute a separate offense. Therefore, if a firm violates the ordinance three days, there would be a $500 fine for each day or $1,500.

Hebert, Doyle and Schmitt are content with the new ordinance and feel that the law will benefit the town. "For one thing," Schmitt noted, "it's all in one place."

The committee members also said that they received considerable input from various sources and particularly constant help and advice by Planning Board consultant Grace Harris. Also, the committee met with three of the five commissioners on the ordinance.

"A lot of people have touched base with the ordinance," Doyle added.

Hebert, Schmitt and Doyle will all be available during the meeting for questions on the new ordinance. A stipulation to make available copies of the ordinance to those who will work with it was also stated. Citizens may view a copy at the town clerk's office as well as a copy of the zoning map.

The committee members said that the commissioners must approve some type of ordinance based on the one they devised Tuesday in order to comply with the state Municipal Land Use Law. But committee members feel the board will pass the ordinance as is and make amendments at a future time.

COMMISSIONERS received copies of the ordinance sometime last September.

Adubato reform measure would cut insurance rate

In what he predicted will be a much-discussed document, Assemblyman Michael F. Adubato, D-30th District, today released the sweeping results of his investigation into automobile insurance rates in New Jersey.

"Insurance for car drivers is a complicated matter and deserves the greatest degree of careful analysis," Adubato said. "and anyone who attempts to deal with the situation with glib, off-the-cuff remarks is denying the public the benefits of objective research."

"According to Adubato's findings and recommendations:

- * All senior citizens in New Jersey will have their rates either reduced or remain constant.
- * Surcharges will be equalized.
- * Bad drivers will pay for their own mistakes, and will not penalize those with good driving records.

- * Provides that every driver can obtain coverage and further that no driver with a good record will pay more than the voluntary market rate.

The main tool in reducing rates according to Adubato will be by capping the territories and classes and then equalizing the expense factors. In addition surcharges will be equalized. "For example, because all of the expense factors are based on a percentage of gross premiums, one person may pay X amount of dollars for his policy's administrative costs, while another may pay many times that amount," Adubato said.

"I would like to thank many people for their help in preparing the facts, figures, and analysis including Philipp K. Stern, the former chief actuary for the State Department of Insurance for his expertise and his concern."

"I hope that the press and the public will concern itself with many matters in the insurance field and find out for themselves why nothing has been done since 1973 to make reforms, and why many public officials don't know the difference

Minish renews work toward health insurance

Congressman Joseph G. Minish, 11th District, New Jersey, announced this week that he will push vigorously for the enactment of a national health insurance program during the 96th Congress. Minish said he again will co-sponsor the National Health Security Act introduced by Senator Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts and Congressman James Corman of California. The legislation was introduced Jan. 15, the first day of the new Congress.

"The American people need and want a comprehensive national health insurance program," Minish said. "Inflation and other factors have caused health care costs to skyrocket out of control. Congress must take steps to assure that every American gets the most for his health care dollar."

The National Health Security Act would establish a universal mandatory program of health insurance coverage for all Americans. It is the result of more than six years of study and intensive development by the Committee for National Health Insurance, a group composed of 100 American leaders from a variety of fields.

"The need for a national health insurance program in the United States is urgent," Congressman Minish stated. "Continuing inflation is driving health care costs to prohibitive levels for more and more Americans. Recent statistics reveal that 38 million Americans have no health insurance and that millions of additional working people and their families lack the security of knowing that their hospital and medical costs will be paid during layoffs and periods of unemployment."
