Saletta suffers another seizure

Rocco Saletta

Commissioner Rocco Saletta, director of Belleville's Public Safety Department, is in serious condition in the intensive care unit at Clara Maass Memorial Hospital after suffering a heart seizure in his office Monday afternoon.

Saletta was taken to the hospital at 4:20 p.m., where he is currently under observation.

Saletta has suffered two previous seizures in the last four years. His first attack came close to threatening his candidacy for the Belleville Commission in May 1975.

The commissioner suffered his last attack in June 1977 necessitating his absence from his town office and management position at the Newark Public Service Electric & Gas Company for almost two months.

Saletta has recently been involved in the controversy over Parrillo's disco, which has drawn attention to the public safety department and Saletta himself. He has also spoken out on curbing pinball action that may be moving into the Belleville area.

One of the more outspoken commissioners, he was the only non-incumbent to win a seat on the Belleville commission in the last election.

Earlier in his career, Saletta was both president and vice president of the Belleville Board of Education.

An alumnus of Belleville High School and Seton Hall University, the commissioner was included in "Who's Who In American Universities and Colleges," is active in the Kiwanis Club, Optimist Club as past charter president and Knights of Columbus, Council 835.

Disco could reopen in time for weekend

Although Parrillo's was closed Friday night after rulings from ABC director Joseph Lerner and Superior Court Judge John F. Crane, disco attorney Allen Marra says he's "optimistic" the Harrison Street discotheque will be reopened soon, perhaps for the coming weekend.

"I'm still hopeful we'll be granted a stay," Marra told the Times/News this week.

At the moment, however, the Town Commission's decision to close the disco for 120 days has been dropped to 105 days, but that penalty has been strenghened first by Lerner and secondly by Judge Crane's ruling Friday.

"The charges brought by the town against Parrillo's last week were similar to those pressed earlier and demonstrated the serious nature of these incidents," Lerner said.

Usually a license owner is granted a stay, while his appeal is being considered by the ABC board. Lerner denied the stay.

Marra then appealed to Superior Court Judge Crane who agreed with Lerner's decision saying there may be "irreparable harm to residents" if the stay is granted.

Marra's plan today is to appear before the weekend for a hearing with a three-judge panel including Crane and two other Superior Court judges. Parrillo's hopes that panel will convene today and at the latest, tomorrow.

Marra also tells The Times/News his legal brief will stress his belief that the charge of Parrillo's being a public nuisance, the basis of denying the stay, was not proven.

"We were not found guilty of the 'right' charges, but rather the second, third and fourth charges of 'creating a public nuisance,'" Marra added.

The disco attorney stressed that in the second hearing, the police testimonies conducted by town attorney John Scott and the Belleville Police department were "not enough to prove a public nuisance."

"THE LAW DOES NOT protect police officers from public nuisances and yet in fact, no one testified that Parrillo's was a public nuisance."

As far as the results on the first hearing, Lerner said he would receive the hearing's report and make his final decision "in a couple of weeks."

Lerner also added that the second hearing would be decided on as a separate case. In the event that Parrillo's is charged in both counts, they could face a double penalty.

The disco is currently closed pending Lerner's decision on the first case. The three-judge panel that Marra will submit his brief to, however, could open the disco. In the event that the panel closes Parrillo's, Marra said he would confer with his client to possibly appeal to the Supreme Court.

WILL RUN FOR FULL TERM IN APRIL

D'Agostino named to school vacancy

Anthony D'Agostino, a Newark elementary school principal with 23 years in education, has been appointed to fill ex-trustee Lawrence Schwartz's spot on the Board of Education. The appointment came by a 3-0 vote with two abstentions.

The appointment is only for a two month term. D'Agostino, however, says he intends to be a candidate in the upcoming April 3 school election.

Trustees Mike Chieffo, Peter Charizio and Ernie Zoppi okayed D'Agostino with Board President Matt Pica and Vice President Ralph Risoli abstaining without comment. Trustee Caesar Romano was absent.

Twelve candidates applied for the open slot with Joseph Fornarotto recommending Viola Spray, a past board member, at the last moment. Risoli seemed annoyed at the suggestion, noting of 9,500 women in Belleville, not one applied for the post.

"It appears females are not interested in serving the school system," Risoli said. "Not one came forward to serve on this board." Risoli won a close 1977 board election over Spray.

"I hope you never get another woman's vote in this town. Just because they don't want to be on this board doesn't mean they're not interested in the town," said one woman as other women applauded.

Risoli later tried to explain he would vote for a woman board member, hoping one would apply. But Pica kidded, "The damage has already been done."

D'AGOSTINO, 44, is principal of Vailburg's Mount Vernon School. He taught the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades and served a year as vice principal before becoming principal.

D'Agostino has lived 13 years in Belleville and served on many board committees, notably the Citizens Survey Committee.

His family includes his wife Rose Marie, daughter, Michelle 3, and sons, Joseph 18, Anthony 16 and Vincent 13. The family resides at 49 Dorthea Terrace.

D'Agostino will serve the final two months of Schwartz's tenure and

New property restrictions upsetting several residents

"Although the Planning Board scheduled two emergency meetings for community feedback on the new zoning ordinance which changes permitted uses of property throughout the town, only a small group of residents attended the first such special meeting Thursday night.

Less than 10 residents approached the board to question stipulations or ask that the hastily adopted ordinance be changed. The Board of Commissioners was forced to adopt the ordinance two weeks ago to meet a state-mandated deadline. But commissioners said they'd try to be fair, schedule emergency hearings and then promised to enact any changes in the new zoning law which the public demanded.

Several concerned residents, some who attended earlier commission sessions, appeared before the Planning Board this past Thursday.

Virginia Desmond, owner of the Wadsworth Funeral Home expressed disapproval of the ordinance which changes Union Avenue to a residential district primarily, discouraging the growth of small businesses.

Mrs. Desmond charged that her business will be in jeopardy should the area become a residential zone. Under the new ordinance, the Wadsworth Funeral Home is now a non-conforming use which means the building cannot be altered without prior hearings and permits from Town Hall.

Mrs. Desmond and Camilla Bucciarelli from Nino's Candy and Card Store, also on Union Avenue, agreed that the ordinance only allows businesses in that area to have a minimum of two employees. "What if business picks up on certain days

Howard assets rose $205 million in '78

Year-end assets at the Howard Savings Bank exceeded $2.4 billion, reflecting a 1978 increase of $205 million, according to a recent announcement by the firm's president, Murray Forbes.

Deposits increased $181 million to over $2.1 billion. Howard depositors received a record $131 million in dividends. The Howard disbursed over $318 million in mortgages, bringing the Howard's total mortgage investment to over $1.7 billion.

In his annual report to depositors, Forbes noted that the introduction of the six-month certificate last year prevented the heavy outflow of deposits which might otherwise have occurred because of the prevailing economic conditions. However, the effect of the savings certificates on the mortgage market was not as positive as bank regulators originally anticipated.

By year-end, the rate paid by the Howard on the certificates reached 10.48 percent, almost a full point above the ceiling rate New Jersey savings banks are allowed to charge on home mortgages. In his report, Forbes said, "It is evident from this that the traditional level-payment, fixed-rate mortgage cannot work very well in today's rapidly changing financial environment. For this reason, I have been advocating the need for alternative mortgage instruments, such as the variable rate mortgage."

"I feel this type of mortgage with a flexible interest rate tied to a suitable money market index could better serve the people and the housing industry of New Jersey," Forbes said. Howard earnings were up substantially in 1978 with a 34 percent increase in operating income. The Howard added over $15 million to its surplus and reserves, funds accumulated for the additional protection of depositors.

The Howard Trust Department, which provides customers assistance in managing their financial affairs, continued to grow in 1978. The bank formed an investment section within the department devoted exclusively to portfolio management for trust customers.

During 1978, the Howard provided over $34 million in student and consumer loans — up over $18 million from the previous year. The Howard introduced a new automatic transfer service in November, designed to protect customers from the embarrassment of overdrawing their checking accounts. Response to Dial 'N' Pay, the bank's telephone bill-paying service, continued to be enthusiastic — hundreds of merchants were added and now more than 10,000 Howard depositors are paying bills and transferring funds between accounts by phone.

The Howard is New Jersey's largest bank, with 32 offices in eight counties, including a branch in Nutley.

School 10 renovations set providing budget is okayed

Eleven people showed up at School 10's budget hearing a week ago Thursday night and learned their school auditorium will be renovated into an all purpose room at a $50,000 cost if the '79-'80 budget passes. Trustee Mike Chieffo and Superintendent Dr. John Greed also admitted fears that school closings would take place soon.

As a light snow fell outside on a chilly night, Board President Matt Pica and trustees Chieffo and Ernie Zoppi, the only trustees who appeared at the hearing helped thaw several citizens of the numbing impact caused by the tentative $11,554,872 budget.

Although only tentative, some citizens who have attended budget hearings voice concern that many budget items are not being fully explained. About 60 people have attended the two recent hearings.

Pica said a tight 6.38 percent budget "cap" increase over last year and long delayed board "priorities" make putting a new lighting system into School 10 impossible now.

He said except for School 3 and School 2's new addition, most other schools need new lighting systems to meet state standards which would cost several million dollars — a project too expensive to begin.

School 10 Principal Arthur Picao urged the board to hire a librarian, nurse and physical education teacher although Schools Superintendent John Greed noted only a librarian has been included in the tentative budget.

Presently, Belleville has only two librarians for nine elementary schools. Greed said over the next three years, they hope to add a nurse and physical education teacher.

One parent asked how they can help to get the budget passed. Zoppi said first board members "should be in total agreement on it," while saying to providing citizens, "You just have to work at it."

Zoppi's budget committee has stressed parents and local citizens should attempt to understand the school budget forum at their school.

Fears about possible school closings were eased with Chieffo calling such plans "nonsense." He said "there would only be short term savings which would be quickly absorbed. I don't see any tax savings that will accrue from closings," he added.

A public hearing on the ninth grade's proposed move to the high school in September will be held Feb. 6 at 8 p.m. in the high school.

One parent said she and "many others" she talks to would like to see the Junior High closed with 7th and 8th graders going back to the elementary schools. However, Greed said most elementary schools could not hold both grades.

He said a proposal to move the seventh grade back to elementary school is being considered by the board.

Pica appeared happy with the comment to close the Junior High, but noted special art, music, library and reading programs would then have to be "given up" by those students.

"You're going to run into problems," he said. "I don't know, but I think that kids have been brainwashed into wanting to go to Junior High School."

School 10's long range goals include a full time librarian and expanded media center to assist in developing research, communication and computational skills. Also, a full time school nurse for a more comprehensive health program.

Long-range building renovation plans include a new lighting system, replacing all school windows, improving lunchroom facilities and to repair or replace a maple floor in room 101.

Budget Committee Chairman Zoppi said he was "somewhat disappointed" by the small turnout at School 10 while Pica added areas in the '79-'80 budget where cuts can be made are not yet evident.

"We didn't want to do an injustice to anybody's budget requests," he said, noting trustees will soon trim down some accounts.

Pica said the board did not plan to apply for a cap waiver, although it might be possible.

School 9 parents angry at trustees

Broken and cracked windows at School 9 will be replaced if the budget passes, school trustees told a neighborhood hearing a week ago Monday night to reassure residents their complaints have not fallen on "deaf ears."

However, only about half of the window replacements may be completed at this time because the $19,600 cost estimate was made two years ago and prices have since risen.

Nearly 50 citizens filled School 9's gym, the largest budget turnout yet, questioning allotments and make school by school comparisons.

Most people listened patiently as before several short outbursts broke out with board delays in "Every year at election time we one man as a chorus of criticism seated annoyance and disgust at highlighted citizens' comments.

SEVERAL PERSONS noted district defeats. School 9's budget. "We don't ever get what we others attacked trustees for ignoring School 9 and giving its repairs "low priority."

"Everything's on some priority list but we never get anything done," charged another parent. Residents reported snow has blown through broken windows, now temporarily repaired, and that the heating system has gone haywire.

The temperature control system in most of your schools stunk," said Board President Matt Pica, noting heating malfunctions are difficult to repair.

Pica said one way to make window replacements at a lowered cost would be to begin construction after June, when prices should drop because of a projected manufacturing slowdown.

Joseph Fornarotto urged board members to cooperate with commissioners in reducing bus costs by consolidating services. Accusing trustees of continually failing to reduce the budget, Fornarotto called for an end to board political patronage and prodded members to budget under the 6.38 "cap."

A resolution to force the administration to budget under "cap" was proposed by Trustees Peter Clarizio and Ernie Zoppi. "Then we can begin to make cuts," said Zoppi who has criticized the board's budgeting attempts as "working in reverse."

"You people sit down and cut out things that you didn't need in the first place," charged Fornarotto.

TRUSTEES AGAIN said no complete school shutdowns are planned next year. "Closing schools would have a negligible effect on your local taxes," said Trustee Mike Chieffo. Pica emphasized that all nine elementary schools are self-supporting from property taxes in their neighborhoods.

Vice President Ralph Risoli noted, however, "in five to 10 years," some schools will probably be closed.

Principal Joseph Grosch said School 9 hopes to expand its library into a media center and to add librarian and physical education teachers for another day and a half each.

Role of Peter Shapiro

Former Assemblyman Peter Shapiro was elected last November as county executive for our County of Essex. We assumed the job description limited Peter Shapiro to the role of chief executive of one of America's leading county governments.

Peter has just completed his first 30 days in office. He has produced a county budget of $208,136,466.00 for 1979. The document is now in the hands of the Board of Freeholders for a decision.

Included in the proposed budget are funds to staff the county executive's office. For the remainder of 1979, Shapiro requests, approximately $815,000 with a full year funding going over the million dollar mark. Already questions have been raised by members of the freeholder Board concerning the need to spend such a vast sum to operate the chief executive's office.

Shapiro's budget provides for 35 full-time employees. Without the benefit of any study, it appears Shapiro will have a difficult time to justify spending a million dollars to operate his office.

Meanwhile, while putting together a budget Peter Shapiro has been reported to publicly acclaim himself as the political leader of the Essex County Democrat party. If Peter Shapiro tries to assume the dual role of political leader and chief executive, he is heading for trouble and so is the County of Essex.

If Shapiro does an excellent job as chief executive of Essex County, political authority will flow to his door but to reach out and make abortive attempts to establish himself as a political leader can only hamper Shapiro in his effort to be a good county chief executive.

In November we expressed confidence in Shapiro's election, and that he would be a dedicated, able, and responsible chief executive. We still think so. However, we did not believe the chief executive's role was also meant to reflect political leadership of his party.

Judge Fred Lacey

The Omnibus Judgeship Act of 1978 created another seat on the U.S. Third Circuit Court of Appeals. The jurisdiction of this court includes Pennsylvania, Delaware, New Jersey and the Virgin Islands. The court membership is increased to 10 members.

A special 15-member nominating commission has recommended five persons to fill the vacancy. Four of the nominees are from Pennsylvania and one is from New Jersey. He is Federal District Court Judge Fred Lacey, a Glen Ridge native. Judge Lacey has been a member of the federal judiciary for eight years. During the eight years Fred Lacey has been obliged to render decisions on some of the major controversial issues of our day. His judgments have been sound. His service has been exemplary.

On more than one occasion Judge Lacey has been importuned to become a candidate for governor. Judge Lacey, while a keen student of government, has resisted all appeals from the highest stations of New Jersey's political life for the office of governor and U.S. senator — a reflection of the high esteem in which Lacey is held by eminent citizens of our Garden State.

We warmly endorse his nomination.

The choice is for President Carter to make. In this connection we urge U.S. Senators Harrison "Pete" Williams, Bill Bradley, Representatives Peter W. Rodino and Joe Minish to let Carter know that New Jersey should be favored for the Appeals Court vacancy — and the man to fill that vacancy is Federal Judge Fred Lacey.

Frank Lacey

Candidates should attend all meetings

To the Editor:

Candidates should be attending meetings. As a dedicated Belleville resident and taxpayer, I'm asking all candidates for this coming May's commissioner election to appear at all town commission meetings.

They can see and hear how our taxes are spent. Now's a good time to face up to the commissioners, and ask questions where monies are used on line items, and where they are needed.

The next meeting will be Jan. 23 at 8 p.m.

Joseph T. Forarotto,
Union Ave.

Prayer for today

Save me, O God, by thy name, and judge me by thy strength.
Hear my prayer, O God; give ear to the words of my mouth.
For strangers are risen up against me, and oppressors seek after my soul; they have not set God before them.
Behold, God is mine helper; the Lord is with them that uphold my soul.
He shall reward evil unto mine enemies; cut them off in thy truth.
I will freely sacrifice unto thee; I will praise thy name, O Lord; for it is good.
For he hath delivered me out of all trouble; and mine eye hath seen his desire upon mine enemies.

Charges Strumolo with doing poor job

To the Editor:

I think this problem should be brought to the public's attention. (Commissioner Vincent) Strumolo and the Health Department have been fighting me for months to keep an above ground pool under and alongside of my house which is keeping my house continuously damp.

I have to dry all of my clothes before putting them on. The wetness penetrates my bed clothing and blankets at night so I have been sleeping in a wet bed every night. I have no dry clothes to put on in the morning and it is cold and damp in my house. Even my slippers and rugs are wet.

This pool has a cover which is several feet down in the water and a bubble which is below the top of the pool and all the cold water lays there and is forced into my house. My house is in one of the driest parts of the town and I should not have any dampness problem. Never did before.

Strumolo and the Health Department are not doing the job they are supposed to do. They are being paid to protect my health and they have been fighting me for months to keep a health hazard under my window. I feel as if this condition should not go on as it is getting worse and unbearable and making my house unfit to live in.

I am a senior citizen 76 years old and need my house to live in. I cannot even sit in my house without some thing over my shoulders and that even gets damp. I have to put all of my bed clothing on the radiators to dry during the day and then wrap them in a rug to keep them dry and put them on the bed just before going to bed and they are wet again in a couple of hours. I have written to the State Board of Health, Town Board of Commissioners, Gov. Byrne, State Zoning Board to have an amendment made to the code. Town Zoning Board, Dept. of Community Service, Town Board of Health. Went to office for the aged. The Town Board of Health told them they would not do anything about the pool. I wrote to Joe Minish who tried to do something about it because Strumolo was mad because I had written to him.

The Town Health Department sent a man who said he was an inspector up here, who really came up to pick a fight with me. He suggested that a dehumidifier might help. Why a dehumidifier if the house was normal or dry? When I told him the pool was not covered properly, he said I was trying to tell him how to run his business as he had been an inspector for 30 years. We have not had pools around for 30 years and certainly not people who are mean enough to put them under other peoples' windows and run their overflow onto other peoples' property.

I feel the Belleville Health Department and Strumolo are not capable of doing their job they are paid for. They are not protecting the old peoples' lives; instead they are fighting to destroy the old peoples' lives and health. I could write a book on what they have done to me but I am trying to keep this short but alert people that at next town election, they should remember that Strumolo and the Health Department are not for the old people.

Sincerely,
Mrs. John Stunes

Big Tree

In the "Big Tree" section of Belleville at the north end of Washington Avenue is the old Westinghouse site which is scheduled for a shopping center development.

A hearing on the proposed plan is scheduled for tonight.

Obviously the abandoned Westinghouse property should be put to good use — a use resulting in tax benefits to the town of Belleville.

The inevitable is about to take place — a mini shopping center is being planned for the area. With proper safeguards including adequate parking and traffic flow we see no reason why Belleville's town officials should not give the go-ahead sign to the developers.

Parrillo's Disco

The Belleville Town Commission suspended Parrillo's liquor license for six months. The operator of the disco resorted to legal remedies and appealed the decision to the State Alcoholic Beverage Commission — a right available to any tavern owner.

This is where the controversial matter stands today. There are some residents of the area who complain the Town Commission is not doing enough to close down the Parrillo's Disco.

There is such a thing as harassment — and equal rights for everyone.

We agree with the residents that Parrillo's location is in the wrong place for a disco in Belleville.

We agree with the residents that disco use of the property was not the intended use for the restaurant/bar.

It is possible that health, fire, public safety and public welfare regulations may be violated by the disco activity. These areas should be looked into by our elected and appointed officials. If there are violations, the offenders should be brought to the bar of justice. The wise man said: "Justice delayed is no justice at all."

All speed should be the password for our officials to remove this problem from the life of our community.

Golden Comments

By James R. Golden

The local school budget tentatively set at over $11,000,000 for the next school year, most of which consists of teacher and administrative salaries, looms forebodingly as a precursor of another increase in the local tax rate right on top of the one we got last year, especially, with the increased assessments resulting from revaluation which is what the people of California rebelled against in voting for Proposition 13.

It's generally accepted custom to reward exceptional or superior service or standards, such as expecting to pay more for a Cadillac than a less serviceable or ornate car. Why then would one be expected to "fork out" more money for an inferior product? With student test data indicating substandard results in basics in public school math, reading and writing results, why then should not the same pattern policy apply to inferior teaching talent? ... That we pay them less, not more.

Isn't it largely attributable to the unreasonable influence the New Jersey Education Association (NJEA) has been permitted to wield over docile, gutless school board members, educators like State Commissioner of Education Fred G. Burke and politicians like Gov. Byrne who "kiss its hide" for fear of losing votes because of its organizational strength, while disregarding the interests of the huge unorganized masses of people who get "soaked" to pick up the tab!

I wish more of the readers of this column would read Robert J. Braun's articles on education appearing in the educational section of the Sunday Star-Ledger so they might obtain a more factual view of the pressure tactics the NJEA exert on public officials to impose their will upon an unsuspecting public at the expense of the taxpayers and, at times, the students.

The dread of the NJEA of teacher evaluation and fear of tenure loss borders upon obsession. Is it predicated upon their realization that many of their member educators are incompetent to qualify in meeting minimal evaluation standards for teachers?

The State Comm. of Education Fred G. Burke, up for reappointment this year, is "soft" on the demands of the teachers possibly because he knows their organization played a part in "dumping" his predecessor because he didn't dance to the tune of the NJEA fiddler. Burke is "wishy-washy" on teacher tenure as it applies to their evaluation to the extent that he has angered the members of the State Board of Education which have directed the issue revision guidelines for the evaluation of tenured teaching staff members which are more firm and demanding than those he had.

Obviously this disturbs the NJEA no little. So what do they do? They "throw their weight around" and at their best five subservient democratic legislators loyal to Gov. Byrne come up with bills in the State Legislature that would effectively eliminate any state role in the evaluation of tenured teachers and would create a so-called "permissive" area of negotiations that would overturn a decision of the State Supreme Court limiting the scope of collective bargaining.

The court ruled school boards could not negotiate "management prerogatives" like control over the operations of the school district nor were either allowed to discuss anything beyond wages, benefits and other items directly related to the teachers as wage-earning employees.

The newly proposed bills that the obsequious, fawning legislators are sponsoring would carefully insert the proviso that stipulated "management rights could be negotiated if both parties agreed." The bills, if passed, would nullify as worthless the state policy on evaluation of tenured teachers.

The deceptive nature of the proposed bills is inherent, but, difficult to readily detect. The legislation specifically mandates the annual evaluation of tenured teachers which isn't the kind of bill normally favored by the NJEA. But, there is a catch — the bill reads, "in accordance with negotiated procedures."

In substance, one bill is a repealer of the court decision, the other singles out one item — teacher evaluation — that would be excluded from the ban on bargaining management rights. The bills have powerful sponsors, all close to Gov. Byrne who "plays up" to the teachers who helped him get his income tax. If the bills pass, the politicians will try to claim accountability by saying they voted for a bill calling for teacher evaluation, although, they did just the opposite. Such phonies.

Clara Maass active with United Drive

When speaking of the 1979 United Way Campaign of Essex and West Hudson, the name "Clara Maass Memorial Hospital" may be mentioned several times. For good reason, too.

Leslie L. Ralson, senior vice president of Group Insurance of Prudential, and an active member of the Clara Maass Board of Trustees, is the United Way general chairman for the '78-'79 drive.

Hospital president Albin H. Oberg is the chairman of the hospitals' division of the Essex and West Hudson campaign. And, one of the most successful drives in the area was led by John Pipik, director of Dietary Services at Clara Maass who chaired the drive at the Belleville institution.

The United Way presented Clara Maass with a goal of $16,500. Thus far, employees at Clara Maass have donated over $18,000. Pipik calculated that each full time employee should donate $15 and each part timer would contribute $7.50 to the cause. The response from the hospital family was overwhelming.

Pipik, a resident of Metuchen, received a special plaque from United Way lauding his work. He accepted it noting, "I'm not accepting this for anything I've done — all of the good has been the result of the generosity of the Clara Maass staff."

The contributions of the Clara Maass Memorial Hospital staff to the Essex and West Hudson United Way will aid more than 100 agencies and organizations serving over 30,000 people in this area. United Way returns 89 cents of every dollar donated to the fund to the agencies which need the money so desperately.

Among the numerous services receiving financial assistance from the United Way campaign are the Boys Clubs, Boy Scouts, YW-YMCA's, Salvation Army and family and child guidance centers.

Retirement plans could increase tax savings

An employee not covered by a qualified retirement plan can set up his own retirement plan and get a tax deduction, according to H & R Block, located at 143 Washington Ave.

The "Income Tax People" stated that the employee can receive a tax deduction for the amount he puts into his own retirement savings, up to a maximum amount of $1,500 per year.

The deduction is permitted whether or not the employee itemizes deductions because it is a direct deduction from gross income.

The savings account, which is called an Individual Retirement Account, IRA, will earn tax-free interest until it is taken out of the account, usually upon retirement after the age of 59 and a half or earlier because of disability.

A taxpayer eligible to establish an IRA who has a spouse with no earned income may also contribute to a spousal IRA on behalf of himself and his spouse. The maximum deduction of an individual for contributions to spousal IRA's is $1,750.

The maximum is allowed for qualified contributions of $875 for each spouse. An individual who contributes to a spousal IRA may not contribute to a regular IRA for the same year.

Umberto's Corner

Dear Umberto:

I have a problem which I doubt even you can solve. My boyfriend had very long hair which he kept neat. He cut it to shoulder length, then got a crew cut. Now it looks horrible. When I started to grow, his father wanted him to cut it again which he did. My prom is in four months. I don't want his hair to look like that for such a special occasion. Is there anything to help his hair grow faster? I am desperate!

Worried and Hopeless Girlfriend

Dear Worried:

Don't worry. If your boyfriend can't make it, I will come. Seriously, do not let him cut his hair again. In four months it will grow four inches. There are many products on the market but would not recommend any of them. The best thing is to have him do gymnastics and exercise to stimulate his circulation.

Yours Umberto

P.S. to the girls who use to partonize my shop, and asked me if I ran into money, I didn't. I am simply reaping the fruit of the seeds I planted for many years.

Woman's Club is ready for annual flower show

Belleville Woman's Club delegates report containers of flowers, vegetables and herbs will overflow the patio setting created by the State Federation of Women's Clubs for the 1979 New Jersey Flower and Garden Show.

The largest exposition of its kind in the Metropolitan area, the 13th annual salute to spring will explore the theme "Gardens to Reflect Today's Living" March 3-11 at the Morristown National Guard Armory.

Thousands of amateur and professional garden enthusiasts will be able to enjoy the colorful splendor of more than 20 life-size gardens and educational displays and attend scores of informative lectures.

The State Federation of Women's Clubs, an annual contributor of the show, will prove that "one doesn't need a large backyard to have a beautiful garden," according to Mrs. Robert Lauterbach, the exhibit's chairman.

"We wish to demonstrate to the home gardener that even a small patio graced with lush potted plants and herbs can provide all the pleasure and delight of a full-scale garden," she told the Belleville Times/News.

Temporary patch up job stops School 4 roof leaks

A temporary patch-up job on School 4's leaking roof has been performed after repeated complaints from parents and a prolonged heavy rain forced trustees to take action.

Several classrooms in School 4 have ceilings where the plaster is continually peeling off due to water leakage. The workshop classroom also has flooded several times during heavy rainstorms.

Water leaks have been found in about 10 classrooms, says Lebro Charles, president of the School 4 Home and School Association. This has caused other floors to buckle up, creating hazardous walking areas for children, he notes.

Despite a ceiling collapse recently on the fourth floor, just five minutes before classes were to begin, trustees have hesitated committing any funds for repairs.

After controversy enveloped roof repair bids last year when the low bidder suddenly backed off, with the cost rising to $46,000, several trustees led by Vice President Ralph Risoli, alleged the contractors were trying to "ripoff" the board.

The contractors' bids were then thrown out and re-advertised by Secretary-Business Administrator Mary Shader.

Tracy Oliver is first in town spelling bee

Tracy Oliver of St. Peter's School received the first prize trophy a week ago Sunday in the annual spelling bee sponsored by the Belleville Knights of Columbus Council 835.

Miss Oliver will represent Belleville in the County Spell-Off as a result of her spelling performance. The winner of the County Spelling Bee will represent Essex County in the state finals and the winners of the state finals will receive Savings Bonds in the amounts of $100, $50 and $25.

Carlos Viteri of St. Peter's won second prize in the bee which was held at the Knights of Columbus rooms on Bridge Street. Susan Harris of Belleville Junior High School won third prize. Both winners received trophies.

Seven local students also received certificates for spelling excellence: Thomas Crowther, Lisa Delre, Marie Lucernad, Ray Nardone and Tina Zucca from the junior high; and Michael McGreevy and Carol Reig from St. Peter's.

Past Grand Knight Thomas Cusick, Belleville Library director Gerard R. Hickey and Ralph Wendler judged the contest.

Marie DiMaggio, Belleville Junior High principal; Leonard P. Marciano, Junior High English coordinator and Sister Ann Roberts of St. Peter's School accompanied the students to the spelling bee.

Principal Michael Nardiello says minor repairs will not solve the roof's deterioration problem. He says water leakage has already affected many classrooms, with dripping ceilings and falling plaster residue presenting hazards.

Though money is available for a new roof, trustees cite the need to conserve dollars because of monies cut after the budget defeat. They warn against a "rush-rush" job, and that temporary repairs may cost more in the long run.

Charles says parents may "hold a mass demonstration" if the roof isn't fixed properly. "Why has this taken two or three years to repair?" asked Joseph Fornarotto, while attacking the maintenance dept and its supervisor for laxity and incompetence. He said that not only School 4's problems, but maintenance throughout the school system is very poor.

Fornarotto suggested board members ask local citizens who have expertise in craft fields to provide reliable information on repairs and costs.

The deteriorating chimney at School 4 will also be fixed within several months, since Business Administrator Mary Shader recently advertised for bids.

Shader said the chimney has "dangerous cracks" in it presenting a safety hazard to children and passersby.

The cost will range between $2,500 and $5,000, she said. The school administration must open to competitive bidding any expenses estimated at or above $2,500.

Moderate, consistent exercise suited to the individual plays an important role in the control of body weight. It is a fallacy to assume that it is a simple matter to exercise away quickly the many pounds accumulated over a period of time. It is likewise a fallacy to think that exercise is of little value. Among the many benefits that exercise can offer is that of maintaining normal body weight. Eating to lose weight frequently leaves an individual dissatisfied, with an eating pattern that he is not likely to continue.

An outgrowth of Provident's commitment to the communities and customers we serve, our unique Preferred Area programs for mortgages, installment loans and savings have been enthusiastically received by thousands of families throughout the state. ## Today marks start of drive by police to cut fatalities

Colonel Clinton L. Pagano, State Police superintendent, today announced the beginning of a special selective enforcement program aimed at reducing the number of motor vehicle fatalities on major highways in the northern one-third of the state. The program goes operational today.

New Jersey has been the safest in the nation for 1976 and 1977 but might not hold that record for 1978 since the number of fatalities has increased. There were 1,056 deaths in 1976, 1,108 in 1977 and 1,153 in 1978. The increase for 1978 in State Police patrol areas is most apparent in the northern one-third of the state on interstate highways where there were 35 fatalities, up 18 from the preceding year.

Buc Shots

Buccaneers make wrestling art form

Wrestling is an undying art at Belleville High. Notice the word, "art," is used to describe the sport. Wrestling is not a game in which you run 32 minutes up and down the court with an occasional time out. It is not a sport that requires you to hit a white ball and run when it is hit.

No, wrestling is an art. It is two strong men of equal weight on a hard rubber mat, each trying with great desperation to bring the other down and score points for a team. It's not as easy as it sounds. Wrestling is two opposing forces that won't budge. The sport requires a tremendous amount of self-discipline and long hours of weightlifting and running.

A WRESTLER IS NOT JUST AN athlete who works out in the gym five days a week. He is a special type of person. He learns to deal with pain, exhaustion and fatigue. He lives on guts and sweat. If you were to see a wrestler after a three-hour practice session, you would probably think he had just run 100 miles across Death Valley with a camel on his back. If you didn't know that he was a wrestler you might think that he was a masochist. Wrestling is painful. But the wrestler learns to deal with the pain. He learns to give that little extra push; to run that extra mile and to lift that extra weight. He does this even when he is saturated with sweat and every muscle aches and the body is crying, "Let's stop." The wrestler punishes his body, but this is why he is so special. He is a very dedicated artist.

At Belleville High School you can find a lot of these artists. Wrestling has been THE sport in town now the last six years. Witness the Blue-Gold's record of 67-13-1 over that span. And over the last five years, Belleville has a record of 58-7-1.

The intensity of a wrestling match at the Belleville High gym is unbelievable. There usually isn't an empty seat. The fans love the sport. They go crazy when their side registers a win. They go into hysteria when their side registers a pin. It sounds like 76,000 people in Giants Stadium after the Cosmos score a goal.

IF THE ELECTRICITY IN THE air could be bottled by Con Edison, New York City could be lit up for a week.

One of my most unique experiences in sports was being in the stands for a match in February 1976 between Belleville and Pascack Hills. Let me tell you about this school. Pascack Hills is the Pittsburgh Steelers, New York Yankees and Montreal Canadiens of New Jersey high school wrestling combined. There is no off-season at Pascack Hills. That team's idea of enjoyment is to plow the fields on a Saturday night and head for the stable to wrestle the toughest bull. Nine times out of 10, the bull loses.

So this machine invaded Belleville that Saturday afternoon in February. The hillbillies were on a 56-match winning streak. Belleville, then coached by Jim Silvestri, was 12-1, a great record for the Belboys but a subpar season in Pascack Hills.

THE MOUNTAINMEN DOMINATED the first half of the match and going into the 158-pound class led 25-10.

The fans were still yelling, still optimistic. The result was that Belleville's 158-pounder, Chris Tremel, pinned his man. Suddenly it was 25-16. Next Keith Waddel dominated his 170-pound match, and the Belboys drew closer 25-20. At the 188-pound level, Kenny Milano pulled off a huge upset to the hysterical delight of the crowd, and it was anybody's match at 25-23.

The heavyweight for Belleville was George D'Allesandro. The place was shaking so much that it registered three on the Richter scale. George pinned his man in the second round, precipitating a near riot. The Pascack Hills wrestlers sat in their chairs stunned. There wasn't a dry eye among them. It was one of Belleville's greatest moments.

Three great seasons later the success continues. This year's squad is 6-2-1 and has won its last three matches, including a 26-23 thriller over Essex Catholic. The head coach is Gene D'Alessandro. He is in his third year in the helm and has a record over that period of 31-4-1. He is a very low-keyed man who doesn't take credit for his team's great record — he gives it all to the kids. "These guys are tough," said the coach. "In order to be a wrestler, and I mean a wrestler, you have to be dedicated. When it comes to wrestling Belleville has the ideal team."

D'ALESSANDRO TOOK OVER at the start of the '77 season when Silvestri became athletic director. D'Alessandro should give himself more credit. He is the Red Auerbach of area wrestling. There is hardly anything he doesn't know about the sport. He has been coaching now for 18 years, having spent two at Raritan and 13 at Essex Catholic before coming to Belleville. He feels that the program has gotten better each year. "Over the last couple of years, our schedule has become a lot tougher," he notes. "It is important to compete against the best, and that is what we're striving for." D'Alessandro also credits his assistant coach, Dan Greco, whom he calls "the best wrestler Bloomfield High ever had."

This year's squad as in the past is tough and hungry. The Buc's 101 man is Tom Graziano who is 6-3 but has been perfect in the last five matches. The 108-pounder is captain Jim Cali. Cali missed the Essex Catholic match with an injury but has completed a 7-1 record thus far. He also finished second in the Caldwell Christmas Tournament.

GERARD MINICHINI is THE 115-pounder and is 6-3 thus far. Like Graziano, Minichini has been awfully tough as of late. The 122-pounder for most of the campaign has been Lou Pomponio. He has a 1-5 record but is a hard man to beat. He is aggressive and with a little more mat time will be a very difficult man to contend with.

Mike Stettellata is the 129-pounder. His record is 7-2, but he could very well be undefeated. He placed third in the Caldwell journey, and will be a big asset when the district one starts in a couple of weeks. In the 135-pound slot is steady Ken Miele. Miele is also 7-2 and has been consistent all year.

The 141-pound spot has been shared by Al DeMayo and Bob Scherer. DeMayo has only wrestled twice this year, compiling a 1-1 record. He is currently on the bench with a cracked vertebrae. Scherer is 4-2 and has done a great job. He has filled in quite well for DeMayo.

Jim D'Angelis has been the 148-pounder all year. He is 3-6 but

Grant's final-bout pin gives matmen thriller

By Mike Lamberti

It was like 1975 all over again.

Some of you Belleville wrestling fans might remember what happened when the club met Essex Catholic that year. The Eagles held a 24-19 lead as the heavyweight match was about to begin. If you know anything about scoring, then you know that in order for Belleville to have won that match it had to win by a pin. You might also remember that Belleville's heavyweight, George D'Allesandro, then only a sophomore, pulled out the miracle when he pinned his man in the second round. Belleville won that match 25-24.

Four years later, Scott Grant, Belleville's heavyweight, now shares the limelight. Grant won his biggest match of the year when he pinned his man at 2:49 of the second round to rally Belleville to a 26-23 win. Belleville trailed 23-20 going into that bout.

"It was a good win," said head coach Gene D'Alessandro. "There were some upsets on both sides, but overall it was a good effort on the part of both teams."

The win boosted the Bucs' record to 6-2-1. They have now won their last three matches. Essex Catholic now stands at 5-4. On Wednesday the Bucs were host to Passaic Valley. This Saturday they were to close out their regular season when they hosted arch-rival Nutley, currently 8-3. However, an outbreak of impetigo at the crosstown school has meant a postponement of that long-awaited match.

Belleville jumped out to a 3-0 lead against the Eagles when its 101-pounder, Tom Graziano, blanked John Zosca 6-0. Graziano has been wrestling very well recently and has won five straight matches.

Belleville's regular 108 man, Jim Cali, was sidelined with an injury, so the Bucs turned to David Haight. Haight wrestled his heart out but fell short, dropping an 11-9 decision to Pat Fernicola. The Essex win evened the score at three.

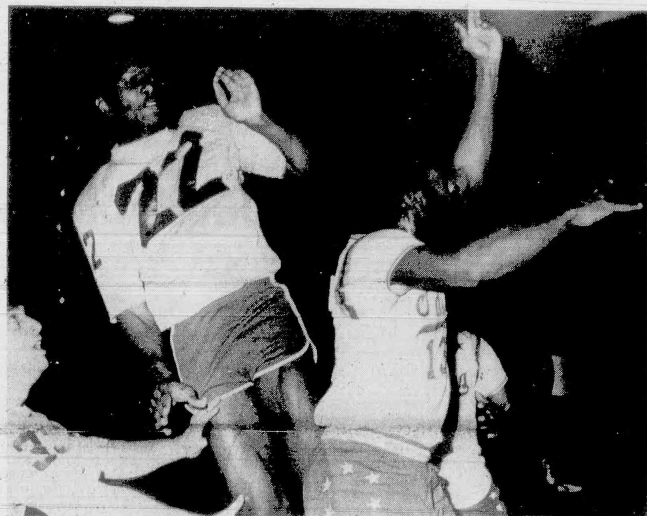

The Bucs pulled to a 9-3 lead when Gerard Minichini, who also has been impressive of late, pinned Steve Coppola at 2:36 of the second round.

The Eagles cut the margin to three points when Joe Stampone (12-2) decisioned Buc Lou Pomponio 8-4. Belleville got the points back in the 129-pound class as Mike Stettellata topped Bob Mautone 9-4. The Buc lead was now 12-6.

Belleville took its biggest advantage of the day, nine points, when Ken Miele downed Mike Owens 6-1. Essex drew three points closer as Mike Cox (14-1) decisioned the Blue-Gold's Matt Pica 11-4. It was Pica's first loss of the year.

Essex Catholic tied the score at 15 when its 148-pounder, Rich Vindici, pinned Buc Jim D'Angelis at 5:21. Super man Chris Musmanno of Belleville continued undefeated as he won his 158-pound bout over Bill Getz 7-0. The score went to 20-17 in favor of Belleville after Angelo Santinelli and Eagle Charley Matos battled to a tie at three.

Essex Catholic grabbed the lead 23-20 in the 188-pound bout as Bob Matos pinned Buccaneer Joe D'Agostino at 5:37. Belleville then returned the favor and won the match as Grant pinned Don Zalesky at 2:49.

Pulling Up Short — The Jets' Burgess Owens (22) puts on the breaks to avoid the shooting Del Alston of the Oakland A's during Thursday's benefit game between the Board of Education and the New Jersey All-Stars at the BHS gym. Behind Owens is Trustee Mike Chieffo. See story on page 12.

Belleville High girls' five squeaks past Irvington inspite of injuries

By Mike Lamberti

And so it continues. The Belleville High girls' basketball team kept on that sweet path of victory as it squeezed past the Camperettes of Irvington 34-31. The win, the girls' seventh in a row, boosted their season's record to 13-2.

Tuesday, the girls were host to Irvington again, but the results were too late for this edition. Today they will host the Kards of Kearny in a game that was rescheduled. Game time is 3:45 p.m. Tomorrow, the girls were scheduled to face the Maroon Raiderettes of Nutley at Nutley, but that game might be postponed because of an impetigo attack that has hit the Raider school.

The reason the Kearny game was scheduled for today is that the local girls have a first-round Essex County Couches' Tournament game the day of the original Kearny game. The girls will meet Weequahic High at 3:45 p.m. next Tuesday at the Belleville High gym in the first round of that tourney. The quarter and semifinal rounds of the tournament are scheduled in Belleville, so if the Buccanettes can defeat Weequahic then they have the opportunity to have their home court until possibly the final round.

Against Irvington, the girls went up against a much improved club. In past years, the Buc girls always had easy times with the Camperettes, but that is no longer the case. Irvington came into the game with an 8-6 record and pretty much controlled the tempo of the contest.

Said head coach Karen Fucello, "Irvington is a good club and we had our hands full. It's very difficult to get up for every game, and it has been a long season. I also feel that the gaps we have in our schedule also hurt. We haven't had a game since last week now, and it's hard to reach the peak."

The local women were hampered by an injury to center Robin Giordano. The junior pivot woman did play the second half, but it was fairly evident that she was not near her normal performance. The Buc ladies played fairly good defense, but their offense couldn't get on track. Another thing that slowed the Buccanettes attack was the flu bug that has been hitting Karen Portuese, the team point guard. Without her normal aggressiveness, the team wasn't as sharp.

The first quarter was played evenly with the score tied at eight going into the second frame. Belleville pulled slightly ahead in the second quarter and led 14-12 at the half.

In the third quarter, the Camperettes made some adjustments which worked in their favor. Irvington outscored Belleville 8-2 and led 20-16 as the last period began.

Although a four-point lead doesn't sound like much, the Camperettes tried to sit on what they had by employing the four-corner offense. That offense works quite well down at North Carolina but proved to be costly for the Irvington girls.

Belleville jumped out of its offensive doldrum in the last frame, scored 18 points and came away with the win. Joyce Iacullo, the team's swing woman, hit two foul shots with four seconds left to tie the record.

Denise Zarra was the squad's high scorer as she popped in 13 points. Iacullo had 12. Denise Juliano scored seven and Portuese had two. Tonya Alexander, Irvington's fine forward, scored 21 points.

Early Camper surge makes cagers 4-12

By Mike Lamberti

Sadness visited the Belleville High School basketball team last week. Before last Wednesday's game with the Camperettes of Irvington, it was learned that Coach Dan Grasso had suffered a death in the family.

With Grasso absent, the Bucs just couldn't do anything right as they fell to Irvington 71-52. The loss dropped the team's record to 4-12. On Tuesday, the team, with Grasso back, hosted the same Camperettes, but results were in too late for this edition. Tomorrow, the Bucs were to have a rematch with Nutley 3:45 p.m. at the BHS gym. However, the contest was in doubt due to an impetigo outbreak at Nutley High. Next Tuesday afternoon the Bucs travel to Kearny.

Against Irvington, Belleville fell so far behind that it was out of the contest by half-time. With the score tied at two, Irvington scored 14 straight points to open a 16-2 lead. The first quarter ended with Belleville trailing 16-6.

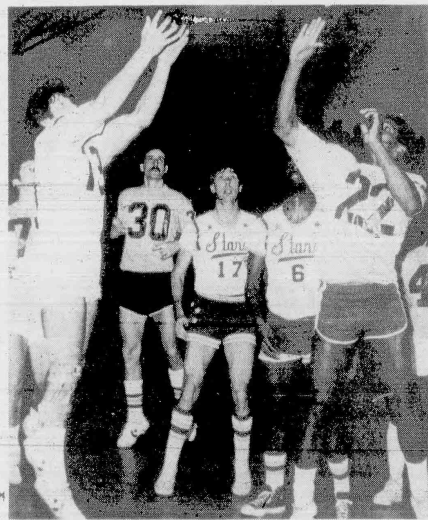

If the Camperettes tread on the Bucs in the first quarter, then they must have put on their full gear and trampled on them in the second frame. The Camperettes couldn't do anything wrong, while the Bucs could do no right. Irvington outscored Belleville 21-6 in that period and took a 37-12 lead into intermission.

Belleville performed a little better in the third quarter but still fell behind further. After three frames the Bucs trailed 57-26. The one bright spot was that the Bucs scored 26 points in the last frame — their best offensive showing in a quarter all year — and allowed Irvington 14. The final score thus looked a bit more respectable with the Bucs on the short end of 71-52 count.

Blue-Gold assistant coach Hank Adamowski commented on his team's effort. "We were very flat in the first half," said the coach. "They started the game with a man-to-man defense and quickly switched to a

All-Stars expel school trustees in BHS basketball game 94-67

Reaching Out — Preparing to grab for the rebound in the benefit game are (l-r) Greg Buttle of the New York Jets and teammate Burgess Owens. The two played for the local Board of Ed Thursday night.

By Mike Olohan

Several Belleville school trustees briefly dashed about the high school gym Thursday night during a benefit basketball game — creating a flurry of activity rarely seen at board meetings.

However, neither Board President Matt Pica or Trustees Ernie Zoppi and Mike Chieffo or School Superintendent John Greed tallied in the board's valiant 94-67 losing effort to the Major League All-Stars.

About 1,000 people saw an exciting opening quarter as board members and New York Jets Burgess Owens and Greg Buttle bumped and hustled against All Stars Paul Blair of the Yankees, Del Alston, Oakland A's; Willie Wilson, Kansas City Royals; Gene Michael, ex-Yankee shortstop, now coach, and Glen Borgmann of the Minnesota Twins.

Approximately $1,500 was raised by the game which will pay for a high school senior courtyard. The game was proposed by Chieffo, who produced other trustees to play.

The trustees' fleet feet quickly turned to lead several minutes after the opening tap and they exited. Pica apparently suffered a pulled muscle and did not return.

Several more appearances were put in by board members in the last quarter but to no avail. They moved sluggishly, seemingly undecided about offensive and defensive strategy. Two of the board's recruits, John DiStasi and Peter Bridge, however, showed a bit more stamina.

A few trustee shots came close to a basket — within a foot. Greed, off a twisting, dazzling move heaved a shot that hit only air, evoking smiles courtside and from the crowd.

Former board member Lawrence Schwartz seemed amazed at this colleagues' determination despite their loss. Fortunately, however, trustees were more content sitting than playing.

Rocco Marotti, the mayor's son, recruited about an hour before the game, topped all scorers with 26 points. Billed as a 'Night Of Festivities' — the trustees and All Stars departed for the Chandelier after their "show" to soothe aching muscles and bruised egos.

Quail season open in N.J. with high populations seen

The quail season in New Jersey remains open until Feb. 10 with good prospects predicted.

The State Division of Fish, Game, and Shellfisheries said today that quail populations are at high levels in areas with suitable habitat.

Most of the better bobwhite covers are located in the southern portions of the Garden State.

Now 2 undefeated Rec cage clubs

The number of undefeated teams in the Recreation Senior Basketball League was reduced to two last week as Belleville-Newark Honda shocked the Silver Lakers 55-29.

The 26-point edge was a surprise to everyone except the Honda players who paced themselves with a well balanced scoring attack. League-leading scorer Dan Borgo topped Honda with 14 points, with help from Jim Kelley, 11 and Jim Galasso and Joe Ritacco 10 each. Sam DeCaprio scored 17 in a losing cause for the Lakers.

Mickey Music upped its record to 7-0 by punishing DeBacco's 78-20.

Domenicks help Marlin swimmers

The Montclair YMCA Marlins boys' and girls' swim teams finished second and third respectively at the Northern New Jersey Swim Meet held at Bergen Community College Jan. 5-7.

Among the finalists were local swimmers Anthony and Angelo Domenick. Anthony's time of 2:00.3 in the open 200-yard backstroke was good enough for second place. He won the gold medal in the 100-yard backstroke with a time of 56.3.

In the medley relay, with Anthony swimming the backstroke once again, the Marlins won victory with a time of 3:39.2, shattering an old meet record. Three of the Marlins' relay teams broke records at the three-day event.

Angelo swam on the boys' 13 to 14-year-old medley relay team which earned a third-place medal.

Anthony and Angelo are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. R. Domenick of Belleville. Anthony is a senior at Montclair-Kimberly Academy.

The Marlins' squad is currently ranked first nationally, and the boys are ranked second. Both teams, coached by Joe Slowski and Bob Domenick, will be competing in the nationals in Florida against all Y teams in the country.

David Cary and Percy Flowers tallied 13 points each and Barry Taylor and Mike Isler 11 apiece to power the winners. Joe Giuliano was high scorer for DeBacco's with eight points.

Third-place Channel Lumber boosted its mark to 5-2 by defeating Salvatore's Pizza 49-16. Ralph Gallo (13) and Shawn Bruce (10) led Channel past the winless Salvatore's squad.

Town Cottage improved to 3-4 by edging Three Guys 46-41. Tom O'Kean (13 points) and Ron Pennetti (12) powered Cottage to its victory. Ralph Velardi led Three Guys with 14 points.

Guarino's scored its second victory of the season with a 48-36 decision over Giuliano's. John Kennedy (14 points), Jerry DiGori 13 and Steve Coffey 12 paced Guarino's attack. Jim Giuliano led the losers' fight with 20 points.

Men's League

In the battle of the unbeaten, Chief Motors (7-0) defeated Edward's Lounge (6-1) 69-54. Chief ran off the first eight points of the game and was never caught. Frank Petite had 21 points and Dan Dunn 17 for Chief. Edward's was led by William Hershed's 17 points, and Charles Carr added 14.

Then Play On (4-3) beat Small World (1-6) 93-59. Tony Sorrentino and Jim Corino scored 23 points apiece to pace Then Play On. Rich Baker had 20 and Alan Amiano 15 for Small World.

In a very low-scoring, loose game, Half Penny Pub (4-3) edged Qualified Construction (0-7) 36-32. Red Higgins led all scorers with 12 points for Half Penny Pub. Qualified had no one scoring in double figures. Check Fanelli had nine points.

In the closest battle of the night, Nanny's (5-2) squeaked by the Jaycees (11-6) 63-62. The hustling Jaycees had been close to a victory in all their games but one. Frank Russomano led Nanny's with 23 points. Mike Dondarski had 23 points and Mark Veniero 21 for the Jaycees.

The Knicks (4-3) behind Tom Booses' 26 points were victorious over 3-4 O.P.A.C. 76-60. Gary Mascitelli added 19 points for the Knicks. Jack Scura topped all scorers with 31 points for O.P.A.C.

The top points per game scorers in the league after five games are Terry Shoebridge of Then Play On, 20.6; Jim Corino of Then Play On, 20.4; Mark Veniero of the Jaycees and Rich Baker of Small World, 18.2 each, and Frank Petite of Chief Motors, 18.1.

has performed admirably. Chris Musmanno (his name is spelled differently each week) is only a junior but has to be the best 158-pounder in the area and quite possibly the region. He is 9-0, came in first in the Caldwell tourney and was the only Buc to advance to the state last year. He could very well be a state champ by the end of this year and if not, almost definitely next year.

ANGELO "THE FORCE" SANTINELLI is the 170-pounder. He has been hampered with a knee injury all year and has a record of 1-2-2. His dedication and aggressiveness make him a person for all to fear on the mat.

Joe D'Agostino wrestles in the 188-pound class. Joe has performed well all season and could still be a challenger in the districts.

In the heavyweight slot is Scott Grant. Scott has won a couple of matches for Belleville this year with his last-second heroics. (Witness the Essex Catholic match.) His record is 5-3-1, and he should be a prime contender in the districts.

There are a couple of other wrestlers who have performed on the varsity level. Matty Pica is 3-1 in the 141-148-pound classes. Brian McManus is 1-1 in the 170-pound group. David Haight wrestled his first varsity match in the 108-pound class against Essex Catholic and fought hard before losing 11-9.

The junior varsity team has lost only once this year which is a good sign for the future. So all in all, things are getting pretty well for this talented group of artists. They epitomize dedication.

Pathmark mall hearing is tonight

By Donna Abate

The town's new consulting engineer, Neil Siciliano, will meet with the Planning Board for the first time tonight when the proposal for a new Pathmark plaza on Washington Avenue will be reviewed.

Siciliano says tonight's 7:30 p.m. session will review Pathmark's plans, "but no official action will be taken."

Siciliano said a final recommendation can't be reached at tonight's public hearing because he has only seen the application and plans briefly and hasn't yet had sufficient time to study its ramifications.

"I made a preliminary review of the site and I will discuss my findings at the meeting," the new engineer said.

The Pathmark shopping complex proposals includes eight satellite stores and a probable movie theater. The complex would be located on the property formerly used as a manufacturing plant by Westinghouse on Washington Avenue, opposite McDonald's and the Olympic Bowl.

Shopping Center Developers,

Ltd., under president Harold Wachtel, filed a site plan in December but various delays including the lack of a town engineer thwarted further action.

Although Wachtel was not available for comment, he is aware of the previous delays and will attend the meeting tonight.

The developers were asked by the board for specific names of the stores that will occupy the new interior Washington Avenue mall. To date, however, neither the Planning Board nor other municipal agencies have been notified of the specific stores involved except it's rumored Herman's Sporting Goods would be included.

The overall site includes 71,810 square feet. All the stores would be accessible through an interior mall with four separate parking areas accommodating 392 cars.

Five vehicular entrances are shown from Washington Avenue on the site plan. Access to parking will be accessible by five separate driveways.

Joseph Barbieri of Barbieri Planners Associates, consultants for Pathmark, report target dates for the project's completion hinge on the municipal action.

"If we get approval sometime in March," Barbieri said, "construction could be underway this summer."

According to Barbieri, the mall could be completed for this year's Christmas shopping season "providing there are no obstacles."

New property restrictions upsetting several residents

"When people of Belleville are involved, they should be notified by the town about such an ordinance," Julie Kelly of Academy Street, added.

Grande commented that the Planning Board would consider specifically the neighborhood business-residential zone, the area for example that encompasses portions of Union Avenue. The planners are studying that zone's restrictions on building height, for example.

The Planning Board will hold a final emergency meeting at the commissioner chambers in Town Hall next Thursday, Feb. 15, at 7 p.m., for residents who have not yet offered feedback on the ordinance.

Grande explained that after the second meeting, the Planning Board would gather the residents' suggestions along with several of their recommendations and submit them to the Board of Commissioners.

The commissioners will have the final say on all changes, amendments and recommendations on the ordinance. It has not been determined when, however, the commissioners will meet on the recommendations.

Maps and the zoning ordinance are available from the Town Clerk's Office at Town Hall. A miniaturized map was included in the Jan. 18 issue of the Belleville Times-News. It has been noted that this map contains and I need more help?" Bucciarelli said.

Planning Board chairman Joseph Grande explained that these suggestions will be considered. "We are not here to hurt anyone," he stressed. "We're only trying to look out for the town of Belleville."

Grande said that the businesses in the R-D zone along Union Avenue "are protected the most by the new ordinance in comparison to the old."

"Any non-conforming use is allowed to continue as is as long as it stands," Grace Harris, Planning Board consultant said.

"No board has helped this town more than the Planning Board," Grande added.

Mrs. Eunice Conover of Ralph Street, however, complemented the board on the new zoning ordinance and said she was happy to see the town now permits two-family homes in the Cortlandt Street neighborhood. "We don't want any more industry in our area," she added.

Frank Simeone, an alternate board member, complained maps should have been distributed to residents in order to study zoning changes. Joyce Cheater of Academy Street agreed. "The town should have distributed the maps as a courtesy to the people," she said.

one error. The R-A-1 zone requires a 40-foot frontage and the RA-2 zone requires a 50-foot frontage.

Senior Notes

By GEORGE CHENOWETH

It is estimated that there are at least 40 million Americans who have hidden or special medical problems that can cause death or serious injury if a physician providing emergency treatment following an accident, is unaware of the problem. That means one in every five people. Hidden medical problems can be categorized as: Cardiovascular disease, allergies to penicillin, sulfa drugs, local anesthesia and pain killers, epilepsy and diabetes. Other medical situations which emergency medical personnel should know about include implanted pacemakers, glaucoma, asthma or the fact that the individual is a neck breather.

The answer to this problem of revealing hidden medical problems to emergency medical personnel is provided by the Medi-Alert Foundation. This Foundation has created an alerting device recognized by medical people, law enforcement officers, firemen and other emergency personnel in the United States and 14 other countries. Medi-Alert is non-profit, charitable and tax exempt, the world's original and largest provider of emergency medical identification service.

First, there is the alerting device bearing the red medical symbol known the world over. The member wears it as either a bracelet or necklace. It speaks for him in an emergency when he can't communicate information engraved on the reverse side (member's identification number, the hot-line telephone number, and a listing of his hidden medical problem) This is backed up by the second part of the service, a wallet card bearing additional personal and medical information. There is also an Emergency answering Service for around the clock, computerized information. The wallet card is dated so that emergency personnel will know they are working with information not more than a year old. The member also receives an annual print out of his total computerized data base for purposes of verifying the information. The member can change, add, or delete information in his file at any time.

For and individual to join the Foundation there is a one-time $10 fee that provides a lifetime membership that embodies the three part protection system. Information on request.

Truck accident rate drops by one percent on turnpike

Truck accidents have decreased by more than one percent on the New Jersey Turnpike since the State Police initiated its Accidents Reduction Program in August 1978.

Turnpike Executive Director William J. Flanagan complimented the State Police for its special task force focusing on commercial vehicle operations.

INCOME TAX TIPS

by ROBERT CARUSO, C.P.A.

EXCESS FICA

You may have paid excess FICA (Commonly referred to as Social Security tax) if you worked for more than one employer and your total salary from all employers was over $17,700. If so, you may take the excess FICA over $1,070.85 as a tax credit. The amount of the excess is reported on line 59 of Form 1040 or line 11b of Form 1040A.

MEDICAL EXPENSES

Medical expenses are subject to a reduction of 3% of Adjusted Gross Income (line 31 of Form 1040). If you do not have deductions that exceed the 3% limitation, you still can deduct 50% or $150, whichever is lower, of your medical insurance costs. When detailing medical expenses, remember to include the cost of transportation to and from the place you receive medical care. If you use your own car you can deduct 7¢ per mile plus parking fees and tolls.

In certain cases items that one may not consider medical expenses are deductible because of their relation to an illness or condition. If you require certain food, beverage, equipment, modification to home or automobile, for example, due to your illness or condition, refer to Publication 502 or discuss these items with your tax preparer.

For tax return preparation, tax planning and complete accounting service call 759-4949 for an appointment.

Hospital puppet show designed for children

A puppet show geared toward children who might be entering the hospital in the future is scheduled for Wednesday, Feb. 21, at Clara Maass Memorial Hospital, Franklin Avenue.

"Bobby Goes to the Hospital" begins at 1:30 p.m. in the hospital's Pediatrics Department and lasts approximately one-half hour. The show is staged and produced by the Belleville Junior Woman's Club as a community project.

The special presentation is educational as well as entertaining for children and is designed to help ease a child's apprehension of hospitalization.

The show is free and open to all school-age children and their parents. Reservations for large groups are required in advance. For additional information, contact Mrs. Jane M. Roll in the Public Relations Department of Clara Maass Memorial Hospital at 751-1000, extension 817. In case of inclement weather, please check with the hospital regarding the show.

Zoppi claims board in 'bidding' trap

Belleville School Board Trustee Ernie Zoppi questioned the group's building repair bidding process Monday night, calling it an "expensive trap" into which the administration has fallen.

Citing School 4's roof, he noted that the board had received only one recommendation on how to fix it with repairs estimated at $46,000. Recent heavy rains however forced trustees to approve a quick $1,200 repair job.

"I'm not implying there was any bill padding (on the roof bids)," said Zoppi, "but we're wrong if we consider the opinion of just one man and then advertise for bids. I don't often agree with Joe Fornarotto but it seems we're replacing roofs where they could be repaired instead."

"We need opinions from more than one architect," continued Zoppi. "Choosing from only a few bids or getting just one opinion on repairs — the trap we've fallen into. This problem has been gnawing at me the past several months," he said.

Board Secretary-Business Administrator Mary Shader, promised to "make an effort" to get more bids. Controversy has erupted over the paucity of bids presented to trustees before, with implicit allegations of favoritism and bid "rigging" being voiced.

Shader emphasizes all bids over $2,500 are legally advertised, but companies don't always bid, reducing the number of bids to be considered.

"Your suggestions have not fallen on deaf ears," commented School Board President Matthew Pica to Zoppi.

stressed he will be a board candidate in April.

"So many excellent candidates came before this board that it was hard to choose," said Pica.

D'Agostino was graduated from Upsala College and has a master's degree in supervisory administration. He is a certified guidance counselor.

"The board is realizing a need to have educators more involved with the schools," he said of this appointment. "Generally speaking, there is a mistrust of board members the community (a Citizen Survey conclusion). We must begin to establish credibility," said D'Agostino.

school page

Start The Presses — Young journalists (l-r) Lisa Mattia, Margaret Giordano and Dean Sternik work against a deadline to release their school newspaper. These students are members of the Newspaper Club at School 7.

New club programs outline future trades

Fifth and sixth graders take an early stab at a future career world as they currently work together in a variety of valuable clubs that School 7 has organized.

Given a choice of photography, dancing, cooking, newspaper and media work, games and logic, stamps and coins and arts and crafts, the children are given the opportunity to take part in these co-curricular activities.

"The Cooking Club is fun," comments Lorrie Arrietta. "It gives us an opportunity to use measurements and become familiar with different cooking temperatures."

Mrs. Nanette Rotonda and Mrs. Diane Galante, club sponsors, said "We're pleasantly surprised at the positive reaction of the children to this activity."

The "granddaddy" group is the Newspaper Club under the direction of Mrs. Catherine Chirico, a sixth grade teacher. The club enables students to formulate a newspaper and also operate a mimeograph machine.

"Members research, interview and write all material which goes into the paper," Mrs. Chirico said. "I have fun making up puzzles and comics," Lisa Mattia said. "I enjoy working on the newspaper because it is something different," Colleen Skinner, another student, added.

In its second year of operation, the Photography Club is another favorite among the children. Much of the work done on printing and developing occurs before school starts.

"I like the Photography Club," Vito Lacarenza said, "because I learn about different chemicals needed to develop pictures."

"Students are very enthusiastic about developing negatives, enlarging and printing their pictures," Miss Louisa Licameli, club sponsor, commented.

"It is exciting to watch the pictures develop in the darkroom," student Joseph Corio said. Utilizing a closet which formerly housed supplies, the sponsor and members renovated the space to make it appropriate for club use.

The clubs truly introduce a new dimension of learning to the children in a somewhat relaxed atmosphere and students taking part in each club will benefit in later life, according to principal Michael B. Rosamilia.

St. Mary's class of 1929 will hold 50th reunion

The names of several members of St. Mary's School class of 1929 are being sought for a 50th reunion celebration. The dinner will take place Saturday, June 16, at Carbone's Restaurant, Harrison Avenue, Harrison, beginning 7 p.m.

Members sought are Marie Citerella, Francis Filippini, Edward Fouser, Frank Kane, Francis and James McCullough, Frank McDonough, Arthur Sherwood, Robert Veith, Robert Miner, Eugene Baker, Edwin Fox, Peter Griffin, Dolores Moore, Richard Rutledge and Helen Yuni.

Those with information on the whereabouts of these persons are asked to call Eleanor (Stager) Murray at 667-7046.

Board loses to All-Stars but gains BHS courtyard

by MICHELE JEANNOTTE

The Belleville Board of Education bowed to the Major League All-Stars last Thursday, 94 to 67, in a benefit basketball game in the BHS gymnasium.

The event, sponsored by the Board of Education under the direction of Michael Chieffo, was held in order to raise money to construct a student courtyard for seniors during free periods at the high school.

Ticket sales and promotional activities were conducted by class officers and Keywanette Club members. As a result of the efforts, the benefit game brought in about $1,500 for the student courtyard.

Senior class president Joe Longo commented, "The strong support in this activity certainly shows enthusiasm for bettering our school."

The Board of Education team featured high-scorer Rocco Marotti, the mayor's son, with 26 points; Mike Chieffo, Matt Pica, Ernie Zoppi. Schools Superintendent John Greed, John Distas and Peter Bridge.

The team was also helped by Jets Greg Buttle, Bruce Halper and Burgess Owens.

The All-Star team included such members as Glen Borgmann of the Minnesota Twins, Gene Michael and Paul Blair of the Yankees; Willie Wilson of the Kansas City Royals and Del Alston of the Oakland A's.

Actresses join musical

by PAULA SANTUOMO

The Essex Catholic Drama Club will present the musical "The Boyfriend" on March 30 and 31 and April 6 and 7.

Four BHS students will perform in the Essex Catholic Drama Club presentation of the musical "The Boyfriend" on March 30 and 31 and April 6 and 7.

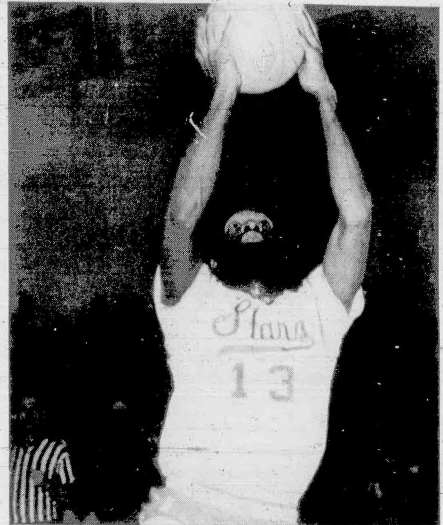

Seniors Cynthia Livingstone, Nancy Marino, Cynthia Morel and junior Cathy Tattoli will exhibit their acting ability on the Essex Catholic stage on the Friday and Saturday nights of the performance.

Miss Marino along with Miss Morel and Miss Tattoli recently performed in the Essex Catholic's fall production of "Godspell," which resulted as a box office success.

All four of these talented actresses have displayed their ability in singing and dancing in productions such as "West Side Story," "The Odd Couple," "Bye Bye Birdie," "Cabaret" and others.

Tickets for "The Boyfriend" can be obtained by contacting Essex Catholic.

Grade "A" Star — Del Aston, well-known player for the Oakland A's, scores the first points in the benefit basketball game last Thursday which joined the Belleville School Board members and various All-Star players. The board lost 94 to 67, but gained enough money to build a social courtyard for BHS students.

YOUR MONEY.

IT'S TOUGH TO HOLD ON TO.

No matter how tight a grasp you have on your budget, it's tough to hold on to your money when inflation, taxes and rising prices all keep tugging away at your dollar.

At First National State Bank we can help you come to grips with your finances. Here are just a few of the ways we can lend you a hand.

To begin with we offer many different ways to save and earn the maximum interest rates allowed by law. From our Regular Passbook Savings to Five Star Passbook Savings to five kinds of savings certificates, plus our popular FirstRate Certificate which pays the highest rates commercial banks are allowed to pay.

And we have a variety of First National State checking account plans, too. There are regular or business checking accounts, special checking accounts and our money-saving, money-earning Investment Checking Plan which allows you to keep all of your money in savings, earning interest right up to the time a check clears the bank.

Of course, there are times when borrowing money to buy now can really help you hold onto your money later. And First National State has the loans you need, as well. Personal loans for vacations, special purchases or emergency needs. Plus auto loans, boat loans, home improvement loans — whatever loans.

To really get the story on all of the ways First National State can help you hold on to your money, you should visit one of our convenient offices. As New Jersey's largest commercial bank we're sure to have one near you. You'll quickly discover that in New Jersey, First National State is the One for your money.
