INCUMBENTS, PICA FAVORED

Few surprises likely in commission battle

By Donna Abate

Belleville voters will choose five commissioners this coming Tuesday, and it's expected that when the last ballot is counted the line-up on the board will have remained pretty much the same.

Polls open 7 a.m. and close 8 p.m. at 18 different locations around town. (For a complete listing of polling places, see page 7.)

Most political observers agree that Mayor Michael Marotti will be the top vote-getter in the field of 16 candidates. Beyond that, the conventional political wisdom has it that all the incumbents — Vincent Strumolo, Mary Senatore and Joseph McGreevy — will be re-elected and School Board President Matthew Pica will gain the seat being vacated by Public Safety Commissioner Rocco Saletta who decided not to seek another term.

Of the remaining candidates, Michael Pizzi, Harry Romeo and Joseph Yeaman are considered to stand outside chances of gaining a seat on the commission.

The campaign has for the most part been a quiet but highly visible one with political signs dotting front lawns all over Belleville. The largest storm amid the general calm has been raised by the Belleville Citizens Union, a group favoring, among other things, charter change for a new form of government. The Citizens Union this week released its ratings of the candidates based on their responses — or lack of them — to a questionnaire distributed by the organization.

The questionnaire asked candidates if they favored government change and an appointed school board, and in both cases, the Citizens Union was looking for "yes" answers. The four incumbents along with candidates Joseph Capezzeri, Kevin Kennedy and Harry Romeo did not participate in the poll and thus received zero ratings from the Citizens Union. Many candidates, including some who did submit answers to the questionnaire, said they found the questions too vague and simplistic for "yes" or "no" answers.

Yeaman received the organization's highest rating, followed in order by James Golden, Pizzi, Joseph Granes, Joseph Fornarotto, Pica, Jerry DiNicola, Albert

Although commissioners meeting as an excise board closed the disco 180 days, the ABC director changed the license suspension to 173 days since the disco had been closed pending a stay on the same decision.

Disco attorney Allen C. Marra said Tuesday, however, that he will appeal the decision and feels "highly optimistic" that Parrillo's will be open tonight as usual.

Lerner cited as reasons for his decision assaults which allegedly were made Dec. 30, 1978 by Parrillo's employees on James DeAngelia and Vincent Rispoli.

Belleville trustees defy state on desegregation

By Mike Olohan

The state deadline for Belleville school trustees to submit a desegregation plan expired Monday. No plan has yet been drawn up, however, nor has any action been taken against Belleville by the state.

Despite their vow at a crowded, emotional meeting at School 1 March 12 to fight the desegregation mandate, trustees appeared noncommittal Monday about what will now happen.

Most trustees conceded action on the desegregation dictate was still "up in the air," noting several board members have discussed Belleville's plight with State Director of Equal Opportunity Nida Thomas.

Trustee Caesar Romano, who along with Trustee Ernie Zoppi, School Superintendent John Greed and board attorney Frank Pomaco met April 16 with Thomas, said he presented a "personal letter" to Thomas about the desegregation controversy. Romano declined to discuss any details of the proposal, however.

Belleville's school system could lose $3 million in state aid if trustees fight the desegregation ruling. Trustees say no segregation exists in Belleville schools, thus no desegregation plan is needed.

The state has been after Belleville for three years to submit a desegregation plan.

Board members say their rejected $200,000 "magnet school" proposal for School 1 is a good substitute.

St. Peter's will sow community garden

By Donna Abate

Members of St. Peter's Church are literally trying to "sow" the community together as they begin planting for a new William Street Community Garden this weekend.

"What began as a seed in my heart is now blossoming into an idea that is getting an overwhelming response," resident Ray Teemer commented.

Teemer, his wife and several friends, approached Father John Byrne of St. Peter's about getting the community involved in a garden project so crops could be harvested for members and needy friends.

The pastor granted permission to use the vacant lot just across the street from the church and a parking lot which is property of St. Peter's. Little by little, interested members of the community had several meetings with planting experts and devised the William Street Community Gardens.

The group, which totals about 30 members, is an outgrowth of an archdiocesan program called RENEW. Members are planning the garden to include several individual plots, two large gardens and a meditation garden in the center.

The William Street Community Garden will include various flowers, vegetables and fruits to be planted, cultivated and harvested by members and interested parishioners and friends.

The group hopes to begin planting by Saturday, May 15. Vegetables such as beans and cucumbers will be the staple crops.

Teemer explained that the group hadn't determined how the harvest will be distributed, but he suggested the possibility of vegetable carts on William Street for people to purchase items for a small donation.

The question of vandalism arose since the site has only a small fence. "There would be a great sense of pride in the garden," Teemer commented. "Vandalism would be rare in this situation."

"We are getting a great response from everyone," Teemer added.

According to Teemer, the group will begin tilling the soil Saturday morning if the weather permits. Anyone wishing to participate in the project may call 751-2089 for further details.

Rabies clinic begins tonight

The Belleville Health Department will hold a free rabies control program beginning 6-8 tonight at the department office, 383 Washington Ave.

The program will continue 6-8 tomorrow night at the Washington Avenue office and Saturday 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Recreation House, 407 Joramelon St.

Most dogs vaccinated on the above dates will not require re-vaccination until May 1982. Dogs vaccinated in the age range of three to 11 months will require re-vaccination the following year. Cats must be vaccinated annually.

Rabies is a preventable disease spread to humans by contact with a dog, cat or other warm-blooded animal. It is caused by a virus which is carried in the saliva of the infected animal and goes in the bitten person causing serious illness.

For further information, contact the Health Department.

A Time to Reap — Ray Teemer (far left) tills the soil with Father Anthony Lionelli (far right) as St. Peter's parishioners Barbara Scarfile, Mrs. Elaine Teemer, Suzanna Teemer, Lois Laudati, Robert Laudati, Rich Haynes, Robbie Laudati, Sister Rita, Carleen Laudati, Rosemarie Sperduto, Harold Davis and Angelica Stefanelli display a sketch of the upcoming William Street Community Garden to be located just across from the Belleville church.

Dear Rita,

I've threatened and I've pleaded with my 15-year-old son about smoking marijuana and he still comes home high.

What can I do?

FEELING LOW

Dear Feeling Low,

In threatening and pleading, all you have done is to create reasons for your son to avoid you or lie to you. You need to deal with this problem objectively. Nothing you can say in reference to drugs can have much bearing on him when you're competing against a large proportion of his peers who say it's harmless.

I would suggest that you work together on goals that you both agree are important, such as school grades. Why not set up agreements that will assist him in bringing that C to a B. In order to accomplish that, he may have to choose to cut down or stop doing drugs. Until he brings those grades up, you might request that he stay in a few nights a week or give him an earlier curfew so he can study more. By doing that, you at least cut down on the amount of time he'll be exposed to the temptation of getting high.

You can also remind him occasionally why you are concerned for his well-being and why you fear his use of drugs will interfere with that. But be careful of being a "nag."

Work with him on MUTUALLY AGREED upon goals, which by his accomplishing, you can assume he has cut down or stopped the use of drugs. If you fall back to using threats, you'll lose your credibility with him. So learn to respect his choices and trust in his ability to learn from his mistakes. You'll be surprised how he manages to grow up into a responsible adult, just like you.

A QUESTION FOR THINKING BELLEVILLE TAXPAYERS VOTING IN THE MAY 8th ELECTION FROM COMMISSION CANDIDATES

3A JOSEPH R. YEAMANS

How can you justifiably be expected to support the candidacy of Matt Pica who, as a school trustee, voted for and supported the school board budget, amounting to $11.4 million, that was soundly defeated by the people? Isn't this an indication of the peoples' repudiation of his leadership?

How can you justifiably be expected to elect one town commissioner who, among others, had hastily and imprudently without previous public notice or discussion committed the Belleville Board of Education to joining a new county-wide school district which angered all other suburban school boards which refused to join, fearing loss of home rule, diminished local power and the grim prospect that it would open the Pandora's box of controversial school busing from other schools within the new county-wide district that Nutley objected to? Would it be wise to elect such a candidate?

Commissioner McGreevy gloats about Belleville's debt free status which he calls fiscal leadership. "The Town That Pays As It Goes" to make it sound good. He compares this with the debt statements of surrounding towns to suggest "smashing" success and achievement for his archaic, outmoded fiscal trends of bygone years, but, he neglects to point out the devastating lack of the modernistic advantages enjoyed by neighboring towns like Nutley and Bloomfield who have long range capital improvement programs with bonds to bring progress and improvement that encourages a fresh community spirit and interest.

Would we not be much better off abandoning his old fashioned patterns and start moving into the mainstream of modern day reality whereby we could share the numerous advantages and progress that contrasts so vividly with the sorry blight that has infected Belleville?

Why not NOW start reversing the decadent, downward trend that reflects the character of our once proud, well managed community. FOR THE HIGH TAXES WE PAY...WE DESERVE BETTER THAN WE'RE GETTING

Tuesday choices for commission

Of the 16 candidates for the five commission berths, we reiterate our belief that Mayor Mike Marotti is far and away the best choice to serve on the Belleville Board of Commissioners. Voters will be obliged to elect five commissioners either by default or by visiting the polls next Tuesday and pulling down five levers of their choice.

Incumbent Commissioners Mary V. Senatore, Vincent Strumolo, and Joseph McGreevey are asking the voters for one more term. The question before the citizens of Belleville is whether or not they are among the five best qualified to serve Belleville on the commission in the four years ahead.

During the past four years there has been a reasonable amount of harmony on the Board of Commissioners.

There are qualified challengers among the 12 outsiders. The most qualified outsider seeking a commission post is Matthew Pica, president of the Board of Education. Pica has an outstanding record. As a member of the School Board, he has demonstrated qualities of leadership, integrity, ability and dedication. We would place Pica in the same class as Mayor Mike Marotti. So for starters — we endorse Mayor Michael Marotti and School Board President Matthew Pica for election to the Town Commission.

The team of James Golden and Joseph Yeamans presents an exciting alternative to the other three incumbent commissioners. Joseph Granese is also outstanding among the challengers.

When comparing the candidacies of the challengers, versus Commissioners Senatore, Strumolo and McGreevey, we see the possibility of disharmony and little improvement in the quality of government dispensed at City Hall. Therefore, we endorse for reelection Mayor Michael Marotti, Commissioners Mary V. Senatore, Vincent Strumolo, and Joseph McGreevey. For the fifth spot we endorse the candidacy of Board of Education President Matthew Pica.

The disco closes

Parrillo's Discoteque received a jolt last week when State Director of Alcohol and Beverage Control Joseph Lerner upheld the decision by the Belleville Excise Board closing the establishment for 180 days.

Under Lerner's directive, the disco will be closed from May 9 until midnight June 30 when the license expires. If the license is renewed, the disco will have to remain closed until Oct. 29.

Lerner's investigation confirmed seven incidents of violence between Oct. 27 and

Jan. 7. Additionally, his investigation confirmed the disco activity created loud noises, was responsible for foul and abusive language, horn blowing, parking and other violations.

On the basis of Lerner's findings it will be almost difficult for the Belleville Town Commission to renew the disco license. We congratulate Director Joseph Lerner on his decision.

Letters Criticizes but offers no specific suggestion

To the Editor:

As a candidate for commissioner of Belleville, I am disappointed at the way the Commission conducted the budget hearing at the high school April 16 without cutting the budget. I am sure the budget could have been cut $150,000 or more if the commissioners would have scrutinized some departments and taken out some of the deadwood.

I think that Mr. Albanese, of the tax council, tried to get the commissioners to reduce some of the department budgets but to no avail.

It seems to me that every year when there is no election, we carry a surplus in this budget. However, when it comes to an election year, they use all of the surplus and it makes them look good. What is going to happen next year, will they have surplus again? I am very disappointed at the amount of candidates that filed for commissioner. Where were these so-called fly-by-night candidates for the past four years. At no time have I seen any of these candidates, whom now have all these suggestions what they would do when (if) elected.

Why didn't these candidates care enough about the town the past four years and attend the town meetings and voice their opinions. They are just confusing the voters now with all the various suggestions.

As a senior citizen in the town of Belleville for the past 72 years, I am asking for the support of all senior citizens who have helped to build Belleville and make it a better town to live and work in. I am seeking the support from all the citizens. I do believe that with my business experience and experience as deputy commissioner for the past four years I can give the citizens a good community and be sure they have services for their tax dollars.

5 percent pay hike too much at Town Hall

To the Editor:

While I have great respect for our Mayor Marotti and all the Commissioners I was shocked to hear at the Budget Hearing, according to Mr. Joe Fornarotto that they are negotiating salary hikes some 5% and 7% to the town employees.

During these bad times of inflation and high prices, it is unbelievable! That is just what causes inflation and it will go on and on.

All I can say is the future looks very frightening. I remember the last depression only too well.

That is what it's coming to now. Our present town officials just don't care. Well we will just have to try our luck with the new candidates. We want a new Commission Government.

Joe Fornarotto, as all know, spends much time speaking

To the Editor:

This coming May 8th the people of Belleville will elect five people who are qualified to the position of Town Commissioner.

Now is the time to make your votes count. A man, Joseph Fornarotto, who has been speaking for us at every Town and Board of Education meeting for our interest, is running. To represent us, he has lost many hours away from his family. He should get one of your five votes.

At the last budget hearing of the Board of Education, the Trustees passed an eleven million dollar budget, with the homeowners increase going up 19 points, every $40,000 value. Only seven people were at this meeting. Only one person spoke for us, and asked the trustees to cut more of this budget because of the hardships of the taxpayer....that man was Joe Fornarotto.

I hope the people will realize what he is trying to do for all of us. If he is elected he will do more. Make your votes count on May 8th, give one to Joe Fornarotto.

Thank you and God bless him.

Jailed resident asks to help others stay out of trouble

To the Editor:

My name is John Thomas Sr. I am presently in Passaic County Jail. Out of the last 12 years, I have spent about half of them in different jails. Although there have been a few different type charges. None were violent in nature.

I am writing in offer of my assistance. Relating to drug use and abuse by our youth. I say our youth for two reasons, I have children of my own and today youths are a big part of my future.

I feel myself qualified, not by college degree, but by the many years of practical experience that I have lived and learned to regret.

Also, I have something that many degree holders do not. Not that I don't acknowledge their effort and accomplishments. I have heard and particularly lived 1,001 different versions and complaint, story of lives that are lived in this type of circumstance.

These I've lived through many thousands of men and women, young and old that I have lived with at my different times in jails in these years. When I say qualify, also part of my qualification stems from being legally married twice, and common law twice. I have been in two comas, stemming from the previous. I have nine brothers and sisters, that I grew up with. But have lost, not physically, but they do not associate with my past life style. Now I realize why.

Since June of 1977, I have been out of jail about four times totaling around one month.

In these many months in jail, I have turned my head around to see what normal people live like. I have written 117 different rhymes and poems concerning this matter. I have truthfully taken many, many hours to think my future out. Into my future, I've tried to look. Trying to see the life, I'll live in the remaining chapters of my life's book. I want to try to help and give. It must be better to give than it is to take. Because I'm in here for making that mistake.

P.S. I almost forgot to tell you, I am from Belleville all my life. This is why I am writing to your paper.

I ask that you please acknowledge the receipt of my sincere and respectful efforts as soon as possible.

Thanking
Trying to think about what's right. Trying to express the way I feel. As I sit and begin to write, I know my words are sincere and real. The life that I've been through. I have sorrow inside because of more than one mistake. If you want the same, it's up to you. It's truly hard, when your true life you break.

I am to be released May 24, I give you my permission to set up any speaking engagements you think in all best effort. Be it Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, PTA, high school, junior high etc. I feel expressing to the parents will be great step.

Sincerely,
John Thomas

School budget state's worry

To the Editor:

I wish to thank the people who voted against the school budget. It is illegal and unconstitutional under the law with the approval of the state income tax which is on the books.

All school budgets are the responsibility of the state, and should be removed from the tax bill.

O God, we go through life so lonely, needing what other people can give us, yet ashamed to show that need.

And other people go through life so lonely, hungering for what it would be such joy for us to give.

Disappointed town isn't using street hockey rinks

To the Editor:

This is an open letter to the youth of Belleville —

This May will mark three years since the mayor of our town authorized the purchase of a street hockey rink to be erected, as he promised, on sanitation property.

This rink was purchased by the town, with town funds, and with the full approval of the town commission...at a cost of several thousand dollars. Now, almost three years later, this rink is sitting and rotting in the town garage.

There has been considerable effort on my part and on the part of many other concerned citizens to get our mayor to do what he initially promised to do for the youth of Belleville...to erect the rink on the site where it was originally intended. Unfortunately, all we ever got for our efforts were a lot of broken promises, evasions, and political buck passing.

During the past three years our mayor has deprived Belleville youth of the opportunity and privilege to play street hockey, or ball hockey as it should be called on an organized basis. It's a wonderful year round sport. They have lost the opportunity to participate in national and international tournaments. The opportunity to compete against each other in their own leagues, junior, intermediate, and senior. The opportunity to hold invitational tournaments with teams from surrounding towns.

The sport is extremely popular. Today, there are over 20 teams in existence representing Belleville, Newark, Bloomfield, Lyndhurst, Passaic and numerous other towns. They play in parking lots, playgrounds, tennis courts and even in the open streets. They play where they can, whenever they can.

Street Hockey is an organized sport with leagues and rinks located all over the country, as well as in Canada and Sweden. The national headquarters is in Leominster, Mass. where a national tournament is held every year. Local teams, like the Belleville Rangers, participate in this tournament. They have some magnificent athletes, but usually wind up as also-rans because they lack the necessary rink experience. The rink that could give them this experience is now sitting, unused, in the town garage.

Paul A. Ciccone

(Mayor Marotti has reported several times during the past year his personal disappointment in not being able to use the rinks. The rinks have been vandalized and the recreation department's budget was drastically reduced this year to help the town meet the five percent cap ceiling on expenditures. The mayor at one time was looking for volunteer help to assist with repairs and also has called upon youth to be more concerned with the repercussions resulting from vandalism. Thus, Mr. Ciccone's criticism is somewhat unfair — Editor.)

Kindergarten tests start Monday

By Mike Olohan

Learning consultants from Belleville's two child study teams will begin next Monday to interview children scheduled to enter kindergarten in September to determine what programs they may require to meet special needs.

Child Study Team Director Anthony Chirico is hoping to get a $102,080 federal grant to begin a "transitional kindergarten" for children who are slow learners or deficient in skills such as language, visual perception, auditory perception or coordination.

"If this money comes through, we're going to go out and begin looking at the 4-year-olds to screen them for any sort of skills deficiencies," said Chirico.

About 250 pre-kindergartners will be screened in May to check for learning problems. "At least we'll be able to get a sign beforehand if something's wrong," said Chirico. "We'd like to be able to work from a position of prevention rather than remediation."

Monday, May 7, learning consultants will be at Schools 1, 9 and 3. Tuesday, May 8 at 3 and 7, May 9 at 2 and 10, May 10 at 3 and 7, May 11 at 5, 8 and 4, May 14 at 1 and 5, May 17 at 10 and 8 and May 18 at 4 and 8. For more information about the pre-kindergarten testing program, call Seymour Grossman at 751-7242 or Anthony Chirico at 759-6050.

Public Safety Site — This section of Washington Avenue near William Street is the proposed site of Belleville's new public safety building, it was announced Tuesday. The proposed structure would house all police offices, the juvenile and detective bureaus, municipal court and the town attorney's and public safety director's offices. Officials are seeking federal funds for the project.

VOTE BIASE 4A

MICHAEL A. BIASE, candidate for the Office of Town Commissioner in this Tuesday's election, pointed to the many inequities in the Government of Belleville which have led to the rapidly escalating tax rate and the deterioration of services.

Mr. Biase, in relating to his opponents cry of 'high taxes', takes note of the fact that not one of them has yet to offer an alternate plan. Being practical, Mr. Biase stated that the increase in taxation cannot be halted because of the inflationary spiral which grips our nation today, but innovative methods could be arrived at by electing new, young and vigorous people to our government.

One of the issues Mr. Biase intends to pursue when elected, will be the amount of acreage occupied by the County of Essex which denies the Town the needed ratables to keep a stable tax rate. When one considers the Geriatric Hospital, Hendricks Field and that portion of Branch Brook Park that is in Belleville, you can appreciate the loss of revenue that our Town is suffering. Mr. Biase stated as a plan to help the taxpayer, Belleville should be compensated for this County-owned land in our Town so as to make residence in Belleville attractive for the middle income resident.

In conclusion, Mr. Biase said he wanted the voters of Belleville to know that while he is a registered Democrat, he is free from any party bosses and leadership and, when elected, will govern in the same non-partisan fashion in which our Town's elections are held.

P.S. Last week I stopped at Talk of the Town. I sipped delicious drinks mixed by Giuseppe the mixologist. The music touched the bottom of my heart because at the organ was Stefano, a well known musician. I had the pleasure of hearing in Italy. Accompanying him was Mike on drums and Maureen was the vocalist. Maureen and I danced a wonderful Polka. They are sensational.

'Vial of Life' begins in Belleville May 8

Strumolo urges elderly, disabled to participate in town program

Vincent J. Strumolo, director of the Belleville Public Affairs Department, today announced a new program labeled "Vial of Life" will get underway here starting next Tuesday.

Designed to expedite to expedite emergency medical services for the elderly, chronically ill and disabled, the program gets its name from the plastic vials which contain a life-saving sheet of medical information.

Inside the vials will be listed such information as medications taken, past medical problems, name of physician or clinic, pharmacy and other facts that will help in an even of an emergency.

The importance of this program, says Strumolo, will be come "when an ambulance team arrives at a home. Many times the patient is incoherent or unconscious, and those people involved with the patient are excited and unable to provide answers.

"This program can help save many lives," the Belleville commissioner believes.

Strumolo notes Belleville is part of a county-wide program in which all health departments in Essex are participating. The Essex County Health Officers Association is working with the Pharmaceutical Society, Hoffmann-LaRoche and the Essex County Office on Aging to implement the program. There is no cost to the participants.

The Belleville Health Department will be using volunteers to assist recipients in completing forms and placing the vial in refrigerators, an appliance found in almost all homes.

In an emergency, rescue personnel would immediately look in the refrigerator for this vital information.

Strumolo is requesting interested residents to call the Belleville Health Department at 759-2832 for information. "Our department has contacted all senior citizen groups, religious organizations and other agencies who would have contact with the possible participants in the program," the commissioner added.

Pre-registration forms can be obtained through the Belleville Health Department, 383 Washington Ave. Pre-registration forms are to be filled out by the participants at their leisure.

When the pre-registration forms are completed, they can be returned to the Belleville Health Department between 1 and 3 p.m., Thursdays and Fridays; where a vial and medical sheet will be issued.

Dr. George Kapnick — The local dentist has volunteered to lead the dental section of Belleville Scouting's Sustaining Membership Enrollment Drive. Dr. Kapnick has been active in civic organizations and Scouting for many years. Troop reports on camp trip

The March camping trip of Troop 350 started out by setting up tents with only the aid of moonlight on a chilly Friday night at Scout Acres in Bounton.

Saturday morning, breakfast began by breaking the ice formed overnight in the water buckets. Wood smoke and breakfast aromas filled the air for the open fires as the scouts were fulfilling their requirements for the Cooking Skill Award.

For their efforts, Tenderfoot Scouts Amro ElHadi, Tom Kane, Jerry Krugs, Jim McGuire, Anthony Rock and A.J. SanFilippo earned the Camping, Cooking and Hiking Skill Awards.

Back packs were slung up on shoulders as the troop hiked out of camp on a four-mile round trip trek. Arriving back at camp, the night observations for finding north by the stars were checked by compass, and verified the deviation between true north and magnetic north.

The remaining meals in camp were started using flint, steel and lint from a clothes drier. Sunday afternoon camp was broken down, the area cleaned, and the gear packed for the trip back to Belleville. Soot smudged hands, faces and clothes smelling of wood smoke, the troop arrived at Fewsouth Church with smiling faces and joined Pack 350 in their Pinewood Derby Races.

National Smoker Study:

"Wish I'd Tried One Sooner."

Low tar MERIT proven major alternative to high tar smoking—see results below.

Can low tar MERIT packed with 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco measure up to the taste of high tar cigarettes?

Read the results from a nationwide research effort involving smokers who actually tested MERIT against leading high tar brands.

Results Confirm Breakthrough

Confirmed: Majority of smokers rate MERIT taste equal to—or better than—leading high tar cigarettes tested! Cigarettes having up to twice the tar.

Confirmed: Majority of smokers confirm taste satisfaction of low tar MERIT.

And in detailed interviews conducted among current MERIT smokers?

Confirmed: 85% of MERIT smokers say it was an "easy switch" from high tar brands.

Confirmed: Overwhelming majority of MERIT smokers say their former high tar brands weren't missed!

Confirmed: 9 out of 10 MERIT smokers not considering other brands.

First Major Alternative To High Tar Smoking

MERIT has proven conclusively that it not only delivers the flavor of high tar brands—but continues to satisfy!

This ability to satisfy over long periods of time could be the most important evidence to date that MERIT is what it claims to be:

The first real taste alternative for high tar smokers.
