Belleville students given earlier summer vacation

By Donna Abate

The Board of Education has given Belleville students and faculty members a "shortened sentence," voting Monday night to close down the school system two-and-a-half days early.

Instead of holding full-day sessions all week as earlier planned, the board voted 6-1 to hold full day sessions Monday and Tuesday, June 18 and 19, and end school after a half-day session Wednesday, June 20.

Board member Caesar Romano cast the only dissenting vote, favoring an original resolution to permit half-day sessions June 18 and 19, as well as June 20. "Most of the extra time is just wasted," he said.

According to law, schools must remain open for 180 days of instruction each academic year. Credit for a full-day session is given if school remains open at least four hours of the day. The Belleville school system met the requirement with 181 days.

Will the teachers be able to complete their clerical work in a shortened time span? "They could have the national debt figured out if they knew it meant two days off from school," Superintendent Dr. John Greed joked.

In other business, the board agreed to increase substitute teacher starting pay from $23 to $28, Greed explained that "it's becoming increasingly harder to get substitutes."

Greed cited several towns in the area and noted the vast difference between what they pay as compared sions Monday and Tuesday, June 18 and 19, and end school after a half-day session Wednesday, June 20.

In other business, the board agreed to increase substitute teacher starting pay from $23 to $28, Greed explained that "it's becoming increasingly harder to get substitutes."

Greed cited several towns in the area and noted the vast difference between what they pay as compared to Belleville. After 41 days of substitute teaching, Belleville increases the salary to $35 a day. Nutley pays $25 a day, $53.63 after 10 days; Bloomfield $25, $29 after 10 days; East Orange $30, $35 after 40 days; Irvington, $30; Montclair, $29 and Newark, $42.37.

Greed said that during the winter months, there are as many as 20 teachers out of school. When asked if the budget allowed for the increase, he said that appropriations for substitutes increased this year.

"Mary Shader, the board's administrative secretary, said $57,530 was allotted this year and the figure will increase to $60,790 in the coming school year.

Trustee Anthony D'Agostino questioned whether the substitutes communicate to teachers what they cover during their stay, and it was explained that each substitute writes comments on what he has accomplished with each class.

Teachers also keep a special substitute manual in the back of their planbooks which they keep up to date. See "Opening" on page 5.

ADUBATO TOP VOTE-GETTER

Cryan edges Carrino in sheriff's race here

As the county went, so did Belleville in Tuesday's Democratic primary, but the vote here was not a carbon copy of the balloting across Essex.

Incumbent John Cryan won a resounding victory over his nearest challenger, Anthony Carrino, in the race for the sheriff's nomination countywide, but the organization Democrat beat the Newark city councilman by a scant 77 votes in unofficial returns here. Cryan had 1,917 votes to Carrino's 1,837 in Belleville, while the sheriff won in Essex, leading in incomplete returns 24,464 to 11,434.

Incumbent Larrie Stalks had an easier time against her nearest opponent locally in the Democratic county register's race, Peter Einnegan, winning 1,366 to 261 in unofficial returns. Countywide, she also won a smashing victory, outpolling her nearest challenger, Max Wohl of Newark, 21,880, to 2,922 in incomplete returns. Wohl had run under the same slogan as Carrino.

The biggest vote-getter here Tuesday was Michael Adubato of Newark, running unopposed for the Democratic Assembly nomination in the 30th District, which includes Belleville. The incumbent Adubato, seeking a fourth term as was the district's other Democratic assemblyman, John Cali of Kearny, received 2,254 votes. Cali had the next highest total with 2,057.

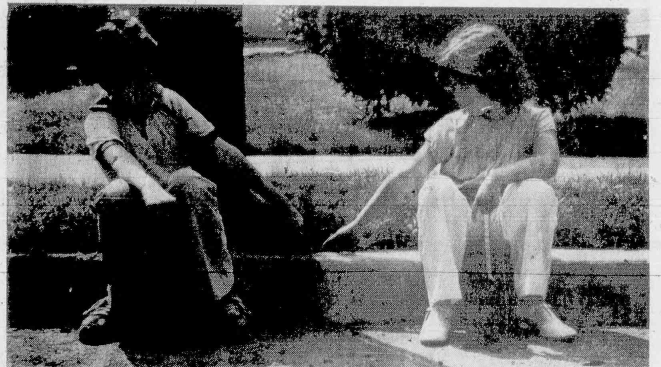

None of Tuesday's Republican primary races was contested, and voting was even lighter than in the Democratic primary. The GOP Assembly candidates from the 30th District will be former assemblyman and state senator Anthony Imperiale of North Newark and Michael Bucco of Kearny.

The Republican candidate for county sheriff will be Charles A. Cummings of Montclair, a former commanding officer of that town's detective bureau. Benjamin Mintz of Livingston, who promises to work for abolition of the office he seeks, will be the GOP's candidate for county register.

"Everyone thought it was Mary Senatore's last hurrah, but it was really their last hurrah!" exclaimed said the town's Democratic chairman, Mary Senatore, as the results of the race here became apparent. Mrs. Senatore, who also serves as Belleville's public works director, had backed the organization candidacy of Cryan.

Mrs. Senatore noted that she had delivered the town for Cryan against great odds. (Her district 7 in Ward 2, gave the sheriff the most votes of any district in Belleville.) Locally, School Board members Caesar Romano, Ernie Zoppi and Michael Chieffo and former commissioner Rocco Salletta had supported Carrino. "My leaders did a fantastic job. I'm very proud of them," said Mrs. Senatore, "but I'm very disappointed with the low turnout and the apathy within the town."

She cited the fact that there have been three elections in the last two months here as a possible reason for the lack of attendance at the polls.

Eyesore of the Week — Ramon Villa (left) and Adrienne Basile point out the dividing line between newly repaired sidewalk curb and curb turning to rubble on Reservoir Place. Residents have complained about the curbing for months. One who did so vehemently enough got the town to fix it — in front of her house and nowhere else.

Tenants plan demonstration against rent law on Tuesday

Belleville tenants will hold a demonstration Tuesday evening in front of Town Hall to protest the local rent ordinance. Organizers expect about 100 persons to turn out for the event which will run from 5:30 p.m. and will be followed by a presentation to town commissioners.

The demonstration is being organized by the 217-member Branch Brook Garden Tenants Association and tenants from the Bridgebrook Garden Apartments and Jorammon Gardens here have also been invited to attend. David Baslow, president of the New Jersey Tenants Association, will also be on hand.

Tenants want to see Belleville's rent leveling ordinance, which permits landlords a 10 percent profit on the value of their property, thrown out, charging the law does not take into account deterioration of facilities when determining that value. The Branch Brook Garden group favors a bill supported by the state tenants' association and now before the New Jersey Senate which would tie rent increases to the amount of money spent by a landlord for improvements.

The Branch Brook Association is seeking to overturn the town ordinance in court. Tenants at the apartments off Belleville Avenue were handed a 13 percent rent increase several months ago when commissioners voted to allow the owners a hike above the town's 5 percent ceiling. Funds beyond the 5 percent increase are being held in escrow pending the outcome of the case which goes to pre-trial in Superior Court in Newark, June 29.

Demonstrators will be carrying placards outside Town Hall Tuesday, and said Branch Brook Association spokesman Wanda Tucker, "Hopefully, it will be peaceful."

First DeWitt officers voice criticism of Jersey's mortgage interest ceiling

Officers and directors of First DeWitt Savings of Belleville joined executives of the state's 217 other thrift associations at the annual meeting of the New Jersey Savings League held May 21-24 in Orlando, Fla. The chief topic was the controversy over the state's mortgage interest ceiling.

Chairman John P. Dailey, President Henrik Tvedt and Directors Clarence R. Lommerin, Walter J. Davis and Frank H. Bridge were delegates to the affair, each attending various seminars and meetings to discuss topics and problems relating to the savings and loan field in general and specifically to associations in the $200 million asset category.

Dailey said that participants were in complete agreement with New Jersey Banking Commissioner Angelo Biachi who told the group that the tight supply of mortgage funds must be loosened in order to free up commitments on home loans.

"The league itself," Dailey said, "questions the value of the recent increase in the state's mortgage rate interest ceiling, maintaining that the actions will do little to improve the flow of funds into housing."

Tvedt, who is president of Belleville's Chamber of Commerce, said a legislative compromise that was reached recently allowing for an increase in rates does little to solve the problem.

"The high cost of funds to mortgage lenders," Tvedt said, "has created a very tight spread from which savings and loans have to recapture their costs and make a profit. Currently savings and loans have about 80 percent of their assets in mortgages and have been paying close to 10 percent in recent months on savings certificates. The 10.5 percent mortgage ceiling, when we are paying so close to that figure for funds, certainly does little or nothing to help us make home loans readily available," he continued. "As a matter of fact, it does not fit in well with other money market rates and the interest rate ceilings of other states."

"We are eager to make such loans and want desperately to service the needs of the people in our marketing area," Tvedt said. "After all, that's what we're in business for and that's what we have been doing since we were founded almost a century ago. But if legislative controls prevent funds from being liberated for the purpose, we are severely limited in what we can lend."

The First DeWitt delegates were also unanimous in their approval of statements made by Gov. Brendan Byrne who said in an address to the convention that he believes New Jersey's mortgage ceiling should be eliminated and the banking commission given authority to set the maximum rate lenders may charge for residential loans.

Other topics of interest discussed by the association's delegates included legal issues, retail financing, marketing, capital adequacy and improved customer services.

The associations branches are as follows: main office, 463 Washington Ave., Belleville; Bloomfield Center office, 667 Bloomfield Ave., Bloomfield; Watessing office, 20 Watessing Ave., Bloomfield; Brookdale office, Broad St. and Watchung Ave., Bloomfield; Forest Hill office, 60 Belleville Ave., Bloomfield; Hopatcong office, Sharp Avenue and Hopatcong Road, Hopatcong.

ASK RITA

Comments and letters can be sent to RITA, care of the TIMES/NEWS, 108 Greylock Ave., Belleville, N.J. 07109. Letters may be signed or submitted anonymously. Rita is a social worker at the town's Juvenile Aid Bureau. Her weekly column is geared to those problems facing adolescents, their parents and anyone else dealing with teenagers.

Dear Rita,

I want to help my kid, but frankly, I don't know what to do! My 14-year-old is not a bad kid, but sometimes I wonder if I wouldn't die if I saw what he did when I'm not around. How can I instill the kinds of values that will help him become a well adjusted, all-around person?

Concerned Dad

Dear Dad,

There are ways to raise a child who chooses to be respectful, cooperative and self-disciplined as a result of genuine consideration for the needs of his parents and for the sake of doing good without a parent or teacher standing over him. Is that what you mean? If it is, then you'd be interested in the popular "parent effectiveness" approach that you hear so much about today. You may be interested in reading about it such books as "P.E.T." (Parent Effectiveness Techniques) by Dr. Thomas Gordon. It's in paperback for $4.95 or can be borrowed from the library. It is very easy reading. There are others, such as "Raising a Responsible Child" by Doctor Dinkmeyer and Gary McKay and "Between Parent and Teenager" by Dr. Haim Ginott.

On Monday, June 18, at 8 p.m. in the high school cafeteria, the Juvenile Aid Bureau will be sponsoring a one-evening seminar devoted to parents who are interested in learning new methods or asking questions about raising their kids. The topic is "Improved Parenting Skills: As a Mean of Prevention." I think that this may also give you some ideas that could assist you.

Bus Gausepohl: a good leader

Horace (Bus) Gausepohl, Essex County Democratic chairman, will seek re-election next week to the post he won last year in a very hard, clean fought contest. Gausepohl beat Newark Mayor Ken Gibson for the leadership post. This year, Mayor Gibson is supporting Gausepohl's bid for re-election.

Gausepohl also is the Democratic leader for Bloomfield. On a day-to-day basis, he holds down the position of Essex County Supervisor of Public Works and Building Maintenance, which he is retiring from Aug. 1.

Although the title is relatively new, Gausepohl has served in the job for more than two decades. It's an area of public activity where corruption is usually found. The courts of our state are filled with convictions of politicians on the take for the kind of job Gausepohl holds down. His record in public employment is as clean as a houndstooth. Gausepohl's record as leader of the Democratic Party is equally without blemish. Decent and good man that he is, Gausepohl is no political hack, nor is his power or influence up on the block for sale.

Gausepohl has a genuine, long-standing interest in the welfare of the Democrat Party. His re-election bid is being contested by Charles Walther, reportedly the candidate of Essex County Executive Peter Shapiro. Why Shapiro needs a hand-picked Democrat county chairman is beyond us. We do not believe the people of Essex County elected Peter Shapiro to be the Democrat leader of the county. We thought — and we still think — that Peter Shapiro was elected to be the chief executive of county government, to serve Democrats, Republicans and Independents alike.

We believe Peter Shapiro could be a successful county executive if he would tend to the business of running government and letting political leadership be the responsibility of someone else. To some the ominous clouds of a political dictator are forming on the horizon. This from a reformer and crusading public official?

The Essex County executive wheels tremendous power. If county employees believe the county executive is politically partisan motivated, they will live constantly threatened with the possibility of political reprisal if they fail to click their heels to the marching tune of the county executive.

It is Shapiro's responsibility to persuade county employees and citizens of Essex County that he will not corrupt his office by using his power to badger county employees to support his Democrat candidate for county chairman or his Democrat candidates for county and state office. This is not the role of a county executive.

Gausepohl was leader of the party last November when the Democrats scored an overwhelming Essex County victory in winning eight of nine freeholder seats and electing Peter Shapiro county executive by over 45,000 votes. Gausepohl did this at a time when the party was divided — at a time when many reform elements in the county broke away from the Democratic Party to support the Republican candidate for county executive. Despite the odds that faced him, Gausepohl went on to lead the Democratic forces to a major victory at a time when most political pros gave the Republicans 50 percent of the freeholder seats.

Gausepohl is an honest man. Even Peter Shapiro concedes that Gausepohl is a man of integrity and enjoys a reputation beyond reproach. For 24 years Gausepohl has been the leader of the Bloomfield Democrat Party. He has long served his apprenticeship as a leader of his party. This last year has demonstrated that a good guy could be a political leader. Now if Peter Shapiro wants a rubber stamp, he will not find him in the person named Horace Gausepohl. Instead, he will find a fighting man who will listen, who will reason together, and in the end, the judgment will be his, but more often than not, his decision will parallel the objective of County Executive Peter Shapiro.

We do not think a county executive should have a rubber stamp for Democrat county chairman. We believe the very vitality and health of the Democrat Party — and indeed — the two-party system in Essex County, is dependent upon both major parties electing County leaders who are independent, make up their own minds, and render their own judgments.

Next week, we believe the best interests of county government, the people of Essex County, and the Democrat Party are best served with the election of Horace Gausepohl as Democratic county chairman.

Prayer for today

O God, animate us to cheerfulness. May we have a joyful sense of our blessings, learn to look on the bright circumstances of our lot, and maintain a perpetual contentedness. Preserve us from despondency and from yielding to dejection. Teach us that nothing can hurt us if, with true loyalty of affection, we keep Thy commandments and take refuge in Thee.

Guarnaccio family says accident was terrifying

To the Editor:

I would like to publicly thank Officer Escott and Officer Kerber. The first minutes following a recent car accident were the most terrifying of my life. My son was badly injured and their quick thinking and compassion spared my son much pain.

I will never forget their help, and James has two "real life" heroes to look up to. God Bless them both.

Sincerely,
Pat and James Guarnaccio
Little St., Belleville

Belleville too often kept in dark on official doings

To the Editor:

Why is it that the people of Belleville are the last ones to learn about major events in this town. First, Parillos, opens without a proper certificate of occupancy last September, known to all the Commissioners and only after a terrible community struggle is something done.

Last November, the Board of Education joined the Essex County Education Commission and only after Nutley raised a stink about it were articles written which informed the people of Belleville. Now the Board of Trustees has reservations about Dr. White since he has shown his dictatorial hand by refusing to approve Belleville's current school budget unless certain items are included.

At the March 13, 1979 Commission meeting, executives from Suburban Television were present to answer public questions. Many citizens were disturbed because again no one was informed of this public meeting and the opportunity to question those executives.

The William Street firehouse is closed and again the people of Belleville, especially in that community, were not publicly notified.

What's happening to this town? Why aren't the people made aware of what's going on. It's about time the people of this town had Commissioners who informed the people of what is happening.

Sincerely,
Patrick J. Higgins

I would like to thank everyone who gave themselves and their time, in assisting me in my campaign.

For those who felt that there is no hope in the system, I ask all to re-evaluate the present situation and to participate in all of the coming elections. The people, not the self interest groups rule.

Golden Comments

By James R. Golden

When former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger announced his recent trip to return to China as a private citizen, many of the pressmen who had toured with him on previous journeys sought to go along, but only one was chosen — columnist Joseph Kraft.

Kraft had known Kissinger for years and had been a student of China since his World War II days in the Pacific, having visited that country five times and turned out much copy on it, thus becoming Kissinger's logical choice to join him on his trip.

Kraft is not popular but is "must" reading in Washington circles through his use of elite sources to write his column which runs three times a week in 250 newspapers throughout the country.

Christian Science Monitor correspondent Richard Strout says, "Washington is getting more difficult and technical all the time, but Kraft manages to be familiar with a wide range of things."

This fact became obvious with Kraft's disclosure of the row between Secretary of State Vance and Robert Strauss, the president's special envoy to the Middle East. As related by columnist Kraft, despite the administration's putting out the word that the appointment of Strauss delighted Vance, the secretary and the Department of State opposed the nomination. That has produced constant bickering between Vance and Strauss ever since.

This battle between Vance and Strauss emerges as a major factor in the next developments of the Israeli-Egyptian move affecting peace in the Middle East. Egypt want autonomy for two pieces of Israeli-occupied territory densely populated by Palestinian Arabs — the Gaza Strip and the West Bank of the Jordan River. The Israelis strongly oppose this. The stalemate pits Vance and Strauss antipodes apart.

Ambassador Strauss hedges on pushing hard for Palestinian accord now, preferring to let "the dust settle," while Vance opposes delay, believing the key to peace in the Middle East is a settlement satisfactory to the Palestinians.

Vance argues convincingly that unless the Palestinians are satisfied, Egypt will become isolated in the Arab world and there will be a continuing deterioration of American relations with Saudi Arabia, Iran and the other oil-producing states of the Persian Gulf, all of which could read out to meaning less gasoline and heating oil in the months ahead at higher prices for everybody.

Of course, and not surprisingly, there is the not-so-insignificant matter of domestic politics. President Carter's most significant accomplishment, out of a limited few, is the Israeli-Egyptian peace agreement. Strauss knows it helps Carter look good to make that achievement appear successful. Obviously, it wouldn't help to pursue the more pragmatic, statesmanlike policy of Vance and the State Department which would realistically address the situation by revealing that factually, to date, Carter's achievements in his bid for Middle East peace are a mere stepping-stone to something which probably won't happen anyhow — a point columnist Joseph Kraft, a war cryptographer, so cleverly deciphers.

As if to confirm the accuracy of Kraft's revelation, just two days after his column appeared in the Sunday papers, Secretary of State Vance announced that he would not return after his present term, regardless of the outcome of the 1980 presidential election.

We expect silly squabbling among children, but for senior citizens that's absurdly ridiculous, especially when it concerns such frivolous nonsense as arguing intensely, among such rival groups, over who pays for what in the "terrible toilet tissue tiff." We wonder, if among his other ponderous problems, Mayor Marotti will be called upon to resolve his sermonous local battle of Belleville's bitter seniors?

Kim Santangelo is elected president of high school's student government

Kim Santangelo will lead the Belleville High School Student Government Organization (SGO) as president for the coming academic year. Serving as vice president will be Michael Rock; secretary, Donna Marie Jones, and treasurer Lisa Sisbarro. The four were winners in last Thursday's student elections.

"I intend to concentrate on two issues," Miss Santangelo said, "communication and organization."

The newly-elected president hopes to "unite the school and inform students on events going on in the school."

"We have a large communication gap between students, faculty and administration and I will try to fill that gap," Miss Santangelo stated.

Newly elected vice president, Michael Rock, stressed that he would "put all effort into improving the school and serving the president and SGO members."

"I will be open-minded and glad to hear any suggestions any student has to offer," Rock said. "I hope to create an understanding between SGO and the administration."

As secretary, Donna Marie Jones said she will "keep accurate and up-to-date records on all that concerns the student government."

"Striving for the betterment of the school," Miss Jones said, "I will try my best to gain all the respect from the student body."

Treasurer Lisa Sisbarro said she would "keep careful record of all financial matters of the club and fully participate in meetings."

"I will do my part and contribute any helpful suggestions that will better the organization," Miss Sisbarro said. "I am hoping for much accomplishment."

The new officers of the Student Government Organization, once again under advisor Patricia Pugliese, will meet sometime within the next week to discuss plans for the upcoming year.

Student Leaders — Kim Santangelo (left) was recently elected to serve as president of the Student Government Organization at Belleville High School. Michael Rock was voted to serve as vice president. Elections were held last Thursday.

Government Business — Lisa Sisbarro (left) will handle all monetary business as newly elected treasurer of Belleville High's Student Government Organization, while Donna Marie Jones as new secretary will keep records and reports during meetings which will begin sometime next week.

The nails and hair have much in common. Hair grows from a follicle, and the nail from a funnel-like fold of soft cells. Both are outgrowths of the skin and a diet that nourishes the skin nourishes them. In prehistoric times, when the fingernails were used as weapons for fighting, they were permitted to grow long and assume a clawlike appearance. Today, in addition to their natural function of protecting the fingers and toes, they are important adjuncts to grooming.

Umberto's Corner

O. Dear Umberto,

I gave my daughter a Toni home permanent. The permanent came nice and curly - I liked it and she wasn't crazy about it. She went to school and her classmates started to make fun of her saying "Michelle went to Toni's." She started to cry and the teacher sent her home. I brought her to a few beauty salons to fix it up and they said they can't do anything about it. A friend of mine told me about you and your column. She said to call or write to you. I have never been to your place so I'm calling. I'm writing. What can I do? She doesn't want to go back to school. So please answer. The daughter with Toni on her head.

A Dear Mother,
There is a way that your daughter's hair can be relaxed. Take big "Gubby" rods, roll the hair, and put the same oil on the hair. Let it remain for 10 minutes on hair and rinse. Put the neutralizer on hair for 5 minutes. You'll see it will do the job. If you run into any problems please feel free to call me or visit.

Sincerely,
Umberto

Belleville Avenue apartments okayed, but may not be built

Residents near a proposed Belleville Avenue apartment complex were happy with last Tuesday's decision by the Zoning Board of Adjustment to reduce the number of units in those apartments, but now, after many months of controversy, it's not even certain the complex will be built.

The board unanimously reduced the number of units in one of the complex's three proposed structures by six, bringing the total number of units in the complex from 66 to 59. The complex would now be comprised of buildings with 24, 18 and 17 units. In an other major compromise between Riefolo Construction Inc. and residents, it was agreed that ingress and egress from the apartments would be on Belleville Avenue only, rather than the residential Smalwood Avenue as earlier proposed.

But, said Ralph Riefolo of the Belleville construction firm Tuesday, "I haven't decided yet what I'm building. Our application was semi-rejected or semi-approved, depending on how you look at it, and I've got several other options that I'm looking into."

One of those possibilities, he said, would be an office building. The final decision, Riefolo said, would be based on the firm's ability to attract tenants.

"The decision made by the Board of Adjustment, as I see it, is reasonable and equitable," said resident spokesman Albert Viviani. "I feel it is fair not only to the residents but hopefully to the owners of the property."

Originally, Riefolo had proposed one 400-foot-long, three-story rectangular building for its property at 731-733 Belleville Avenue when it first submitted plans to the town in January. In subsequent weeks, that proposal was modified to one 18-unit and two 24-unit, three-story structures. Area residents objected to one of those 24-unit buildings since it would have been 15 feet from the residential boundary. The board loped six units from the building to bring it farther away from the border.

Though the project would be built on business-zoned property, neighbors feared it would change the residential character of the area. But Viviani said Riefolo had made several changes in its proposal that allayed that fear.

The firm's plans now provide for specific locations of dumpsters and fences shielding the dumpster sites. The plan also provides specific spots for lights which Viviani called "visibly aesthetic." In addition, the buildings would now have sloping rather than flat roofs and a screen would be erected on the easterly border of the apartments, separating them from the residential area.

Parenting seminar due June 18 at HS cafeteria

The Belleville Juvenile Aid Bureau will sponsor a one-evening seminar entitled, "Improved Parenting Skills: As a Means of Prevention," Monday, June 18, beginning 8 p.m. in the high school cafeteria.

Speakers will include Rita Leone, a bureau social worker; Robert Mackey, residential treatment director at the Brookside Academy for emotionally disturbed adolescents; and Phil Weck, director of WAY Counseling Center in Wayne.

Mackey and Weck are both consultants to the counseling service of the Belleville bureau and each has a private practice in the community area. The local bureau is directed by Det. Sgt. Martin McNish.

The seminar will include a discussion of adolescence today, the role of the parent in a changing society, opening family communications, and ideas for developing skills in order to raise a child whose choice of behavior is motivated by self rather than by fear of punishment.

Water work nears finish

Belleville residents should notice water pressure improvements in their homes as the Public Works Department moves into phases two and three of its project to repair town water mains.

The project got underway when commissioners accepted money under the Public Works Fund Act last year. The first section to be completed was the water main along Greylock Avenue from Main Street to Cortlandt Avenue which cost approximately $70,000.

"But there will be no cost to the taxpayers of Belleville," Public Works Commissioner Mary Senatore noted, explaining the funds were allotted from the county.

Mrs. Senatore said some clogged water mains had deteriorated from eight inches to four inches in diameter capacity. "Most of them over 50 years old," she said.

The department is currently completing repair of water mains on Bella Vista Avenue, from Cortlandt Avenue to Stephens Street; Mill and Terrace Streets and Mitchell and Austin Streets.

Phase three, which will begin in about two weeks, will bring department workers to Belleville and Pleasant Avenues for completion of the water main repairs.

The three phases of the project will cost about $200,000.

In a separate project, Vitello Contractors of Nutley will begin repaving Little, Ralph and Stephens Streets next week. The work will be funded under the Community Development Act, the grant being secured with the help of funding counselors Bruno Associates. The town received $80,000 for the repavement.

Mrs. Senatore said that the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development chose those particular streets to receive repair.

GHOST GRADUATES OF 1979

High school commencements are being held all across America. It's a happy time — with one exception. This June, as in several years past, some 2,300 18-year-olds won't be receiving diplomas with their classes. Tragically, they were killed in automobile crashes during the past 12 months. They are the Ghost Graduates of 1979.

The fatal accident count swings upward sharply during the June commencement period. And we know why. Graduations mean parties and parties mean alcohol. Add automobiles to the mixture and the results are predictable.

Young adults regard a driver's license and the right to drink as signs of their growing maturity. However, they also know that maturity isn't merely having legal permission, that maturity means acting with a sense of prudence and responsibility. They realize that a mature person does not endanger his or her life and is just as considerate of the lives of others.

And as some wise person once said, judging maturity by age is immaturity in itself. Young people are now starting to decide about drinking at an earlier age: between 13 and 14 years old, researchers tell us. That's why The Foundation for Safety recently launched a new state-wide awareness program called AL-CO-HOL FOR JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL. We are providing, without charge, workshops for teachers and a complete kit of classroom materials to every school in New Jersey with a seventh or eighth grade.

AL-CO-HOL addresses itself directly to situations junior high students might actually experience, thus providing an opportunity for young people to think through and act out their own reactions under adult guidance. The Program provides accurate information that future graduating classes can use when they make their own decisions about drinking and driving.

So congratulations to you graduates! Celebrate the moment and plan for a wonderful future. But, please, we ask you to do it responsibly, maturely. Don't become a Ghost Graduate of 1979.

Women to meet tomorrow to revive political caucus

The N.J. Women's Political Caucus invites Belleville residents interested in women's increasingly active role in politics to attend a meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. to consider the revival of the Essex County Women's Caucus.

The meeting, both social and political in nature, will be held in the home of activist Connie Gilbert-Neiss, 512 Hillside Terrace (off Montrose Avenue, just below Ridgewood Road) South Orange. Kathy Brock, state coordinator, offered this comment about tomorrow's session: "Just as the old saying about the freedom of the press belonging to those who own the press, political power usually belongs to those who fill the elective and appointive political positions at the municipal, county, state and national levels."

"Women's priorities will not be met until more women fill these positions and this is a major goal of the Women's Political Caucus."

The once-active Essex County Caucus faded in the face of the state ERA defeat in 1975. "But there are numerous astute, politically active women in Essex County," Brock said, "and even more who might be interested in elective and appointive office, if they only knew where to go for information and support. An active county caucus can provide this type of information and expertise."

A number of successful women politicians, including Assemblywoman Jane Burgio and former Freeholder Reita Greenstone have indicated their intent to attend.

For more specific directions and information, call the hostess, Ms. Gilbert-Neiss at 763-3326. All interested women are welcome and urged to attend.

Art show here this Saturday

Belleville Public Library's annual art show will take place this Saturday, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. and will feature work by both professional and non professional artists aged 6 years through adulthood.

Art work in many kinds of media have been accepted and details regarding the show and registration prior to Saturday are available at the library.

Rain date for the show is Saturday, June 16, during the same hours.

Belleville tots will visit zoo Sunday with local Knights

Several Belleville youngsters will be at Turtle Back Zoo this Sunday when the local Knights of Columbus sponsors a day's field trip for members' children and guests up through the age of 7.

Joe Jarman, chairman of the youth committee, reports a bus will depart Knights of Columbus Council 835's building at 98 Bridge St. The excursion will include lunch, a train ride, guided tours and other planned activities. The Belleville Knights today also thanked townspeople who contributed to the recent "Annual Retarded Drive." Chairman Deputy Grand Knight Frank Corbo also thanked members who assisted in the fund-raising effort and "a special thanks to St. Peter's Parent Teachers Guild, the Womens Auxiliary of the Knights of Columbus, St. Peter's Guard of Honor and the Boy Scouts who donated their time to this worthy fund raiser." The drive was conducted April 6-8.

Ed Strat of Belle Maid Catering donated refreshments for the volunteers and Martin Lies donated candy which was distributed at various locations.

"We thank The Belleville Times/News for publishing our news releases and announcements and the people who permitted us to collect at their place of business and last but not least the great citizens of Belleville and vicinity for their generous contributions," Corbo concluded.

Holy Family seeking $30,000 in '78 appeal

Holy Family Parish, which serves Belleville and Nutley, will launch a $30,000 fund drive Sunday, June 17. The sum is the parish assessment in the annual Archbishops' Annual Appeal.

The Rev. Francis Blake, pastor, and Holy Family priests, the Rev. Joseph Barbone and the Rev. Robert Cuzzini, are working closely with a lay committee in the fund-raising effort.

Rocco Casale is the general chairman.

Belleville joining Essex Girl Scouts for 20th anniversary celebration

Belleville Girl Scouts, including the Brownies and Adult Council workers, are joining the Greater Essex County, Council in celebrating its 20th anniversary.

Grace Robertson, council president, today recalled some of the highlights scored by the Girl Scouts during the past two decades.

"Today — as it was 20 years ago — girl scouting serves a vital need to the youth and adults of Belleville and every community in which we are active. There have been many changes in scouting over the years, but the same basic principles stated by Juliette Low when she founded the national girl scout movement 67 years ago, still apply today.

"Girl Scouting helps girls to develop their full potential, to take advantage of the many avenues open to women today and to be able to function in, contribute to and interact with the diverse people of a pluralistic community," Mrs. Robertson states.

The Greater Essex Council was chartered on June 1, 1959, after five years of intensive study and planning which resulted in the merger of 10 small Councils in the Greater Essex area. Experience across the country had shown that one strong council could supply better staff support, offer more training opportunities and, most important, provide better programs for the girls.

Girl Scouting originated in Essex County in 1920 with the formation of five troops in Maplewood serving 160 girls. Since then, Montclair, Glen Ridge, Verona and the Caldwell were chartered, followed by the Oranges, Newark, Nutley, Belleville, Bloomfield, Millburn, Summit and Irvington. By the mid-40's, girl scouting was flourishing throughout Essex County.

Today, the Greater Essex Girl Scout Council is active in every community in Essex County as well as in Summit and New Providence in Union County. In 1978, the council served 13,875 girls and included 1,875 registered adults. Camps — both day and resident — were attended by more than 600 children and special summer programs for boys and girls were provided to 1,125 children.

In discussing some of the changes during an anniversary dinner May 15, Mrs. Robertson called attention to the new logo, introduced last year, for the entire girl scout organization.

"This new emblem," she said, "a dramatic redesign of the familiar trefoil, features a stylized silhouette treatment of girls' faces in profile and best represents the idea of growth and diversity which is the major goal in today's girl scouting movement."

Highlighting some of the diverse activities the Greater Essex Council has embarked upon, Mrs. Robertson pointed out several programs:

• Summer Scene — an eight-year old day-camp program for innercity youth, served over 1,000 boys and girls last year.

• Project Plus — now in its fourth year, is an innovative year-round program structured to fit the needs of urban teenagers.

• A Multi-Racial, Multi-Cultural Competency Team — organized last year to introduce Hispanic youth into girl scouting.

SCHOOL CRITICS CHARGE:

Lack of desegregation plan jeopardizing federal grants

By Mike Olohan

Without a desegregation plan, Belleville schools are losing thousands of dollars a year in federal and state aid, two local residents charged last Tuesday.

Cora Boyce and Candida Valiente, both local education activists, emphasized that because trustees refuse to submit a desegregation plan to the state, Belleville schools are the big loser.

They said the system's director of grants, George Nucera, "has his hands tied" because no desegregation plan exists and that prevents him from applying for many federal grants that require a desegregation plan for consideration.

A hot-line desegregation committee formed in March also came under fire at last week's School Board meeting because only representatives from Schools 1 and 9 were included, making the committee "illegal" in the view of critics.

Nucera himself admitted in November that thousands of dollars were being risked and wasted because trustees refuse to draw up a desegregation plan. Trustees say filing a desegregation plan would imply Belleville's schools are segregated — an allegation they vehemently deny.

Boyce noted a state ruling last year also mandates a desegregation plan is necessary before Title I federal funds are distributed. She said Belleville was "unnecessarily" risking losing $300,000 in Title I money by having no desegregation plan.

Trustees are considering abandoning the desegregation "hot-line" committee formed quickly after they vowed to take immediate legal action against the state in March to protest its desegregation mandate.

"I think it's totally unfair to consider dissolving this (desegregation) committee," said Boyce. "As long as you have the desegregation problem, you should have the desegregation committee."

After several citizens made negative comments about Nucera's ability to obtain more grant money than previously, Boyce retorted: "Damn him rightly or damn him wrongly, but don't damn him for something he's unable to do simply because you (trustees) don't have a desegregation plan!"

Last week, Boyce accused board members of "superseding" the recommendations of the desegregation committee. Boyce resigned in protest from the committee attacking trustees for ignoring its suggestions. The role intended for the committee, a subject of debate, is now being considered by trustees.

Senior Notes

By George Chenoweth

Requests have been heard from a number of sources for help in selecting a suitable nursing home. The requests are mostly from relatives of the aged for those elderly persons who need care around the clock, care that is not forthcoming from the relative or friend who has other commitments such as earning a living or having to be away from home for long periods of time.

The best reference that we have on hand is a brochure published by the Nursing Home Advocacy Program, 439 Main St., Orange, N.J., 07050. This booklet is entitled, "Consumer Guide to Essex County Nursing Homes." Lois Hull, director of the Advocacy Program, informs us that Essex County's 27 licensed skilled-care facilities are home for almost 3,000 persons. It is estimated that more than 1,000 more beds are needed. Only 10 nursing homes, less than half, will accept Medicaid recipients. The waiting time for entry into those homes which do accept Medicaid patients is often over six months.

The purpose of this guide to nursing homes is to provide reliable and consistent information to consumers and professionals about long-term care in Essex County. The guide provides essential and basic information collected over the past year about 21 of the 27 skilled-care nursing homes.

The objective data, which we hope to write about in a later issue of this column, regarding fees, staff, policy and programming, was provided by the administrators in each nursing facility. The subjective information is based on the observations of three-member volunteer teams during on-site visits. Six nursing homes refused to participate in this project. Omissions of this kind may inconvenience the consumer in need of comprehensive information. This guide does not take the place of visiting a nursing home to see for yourself what it is like. When it comes to your loved ones, remember that they deserve the best.

Legislation to increase spending for Section 202 senior citizen housing has been introduced by Sen. Harrison A. Williams, chairman of the Senate Housing Subcommittee. Williams said that his bill would continue funding for the federal program of low-interest loans to be used exclusively for the building of non-profit housing for the elderly poor.

The New Jersey senator, who has consistently fought for decent, affordable housing for older Americans, said that his bill calls for higher levels of spending for such housing than that asked for by the Carter Administration. Noting that the administration proposal actually represents a "loss in total commitments for housing units," based on the rising costs of housing construction, Williams termed the proposal "unacceptable."

Belleville students hike in mountains for credit

While some students were 'trapped' in steamy classrooms starting drearily at textbooks, two Belleville boys were fighting the rain on the Appalachian Trail late last month. The two Wallace Street residents, sophomore Ralph Mociola and freshman David DeLorenzi, took part in an experimental learning project at St. Benedict's Prep in Newark which led them up the mountain trail during record-breaking rains.

Every spring, St. Benedict's suspends traditional classroom learning for a project phase. Students break into small groups and do intensive work in a chosen area. Backpacking is a required course for graduation and concentrates on the development of small-group communication. Students depend on each other with a minimum of adult interference while they plan, train for and carry out a five-day hike through the New Jersey portion of the Appalachian Mountains.

This year's 45-mile hike was cut short by the constant rains and driving winds. The groups returned one day early, and spirits were the only things undampened at that point. "I'm sure every tent had sprung leaks by then," advisor Paul Thorton said. "But the students kept a sense of humor and huddles around the puddles as if they expected them. The drier the tent stayed, the more crowded it got."

Compassionate Friends set meeting for June 20

The next meeting of the Compassionate Friends will be held 7:45 p.m. Wednesday, June 20, at the Verona United Methodist Church, 26 Montrose Ave., Verona.

The Compassionate Friends is an international, non-profit, non-denominational self-help organization offering friendship and understanding to parents who have suffered the loss of child.

For additional information, write the Compassionate Friends, P.O. Box 63, Verona, N.J., 07044, or call chapter leader Pat Turoczy at 857-0579.

Mociola and DeLorenzi will be reporting on their trip to the school body at the end of the project. Students from other groups who explored creative writing, architecture, filmmaking, the courts, the city of Newark, sports history, children's theater, and photography will also share their experiences.

Coaches know more than front offices do

Well it's finally happened. The Cosmos of the NASL have become the Yankees of the NASL. Last week, the Cosmos, perhaps the most successful team in the history of the NASL, fired their head coach, Eddie Firmani.

The reason why I say the Cosmos are turning into the Yankees is that Firmani was fired despite the fact that the squad from the Meadowlands had a 9-2 record and had been the champion of the league for two straight years. The Cosmos' 9-2 mark was the best in the league, and Firmani did an incredible job in getting the Cosmos to their current position.

The team has been playing most of the season without the services of its forward, Franz Beckenbauer, who just had surgery done on his left knee. Also out with injuries has been the team captain, Werner Roth; the club's starting forward, Seninho, defender Eskandarian, and, just recently, Vladislav Bogicvic, perhaps the Cosmos' steadiest player.

Other players such as Dennis Tuert, Giorgio Chinaglia and Wim Ruisbergen have been limping through the season with a rash of injuries. And through it all, Firmani had done an excellent job in keeping the two-time champs together. What did Firmani in was his relationship with the front office. What else?

Firmani claimed that midfielder Marinho was not doing a good job for the team and played too much one-on-one. The front office said play Marinho because the Brazilian cost too much to keep on the bench. If you combine all the people in the front office and their knowledge of soccer, they don't know one-sixth of what Firmani does.

Firmani started the season with Erol Yasin as the starting goalkeeper. After eight games, (Yasin did win seven of them), Firmani benched Yasin and replaced him with Jack Brand, the man who led the Cosmos to the championship last year. Brand played in two games, and he was magnificent in both. After the second match, Brand came up injured and Yasin went back into the nets. The result: The Cosmos were beaten 3-1. The front office said play Yasin. Firmani wanted to stay with Brand. Personally, I feel there is no comparison between the two goalkeepers. Brand is much better than Yasin, but because of the huge price tag on Yasin's uniform, Yasin starts in goal.

Last Sunday, the Cosmos played their first game in more than two years without Firmani on the bench. The team came out a 3-1 winner, but you should have seen the goal that spoiled the shutout. The opposition last Sunday was Toronto, not one of the better teams in the league, and consequently the Canadian squad did not have that many shots on goal. Yasin started the game to a chorus of boos and seemed to have trouble with easy saves. He dove on one ball, a little blunder that should have been easy to handle.

The one Toronto goal was a shot directly at Yasin that the goalkeeper ducked from. Even the Toronto players were stunned when they scored.

Eddie Firmani's release as head coach is a sad note in more than one way. Once again, front office people who have nothing but ledger books and tickets on their minds have taken over the club, using the coach not as an instructor but rather as a puppet. This type of pattern is typical in baseball and football, witness the Yankees and Giants. The Yankees have been successful as have the Cosmos, but if the front offices are so knowledgeable about sports, why do they even bother to hire a head puppet, or should I say a head coach.

Anytime a head coach says he feels relieved that he is no longer a coach of such a "fine" establishment (witness Firmani's feelings on his dismissal) one should wonder why people call these games "sports."

Well, the Belleville baseball team just recently concluded another fine season with a 1-0 loss to Linden in the state sectional finals. The Bucs finished with a 17-4 mark for 1979, and chances are good that next year's squad can very well equal that mark, if not better it. Hats off to George Zanfini and the entire team.

In case you didn't know it, the Belleville Bruin semi pro baseball team began its defense of the Essex County Baseball League title last week. Last year, the Bruins soared to a 24-10 record, edging out Verona by a half game for first place in the North Division. In the playoffs, Belleville defeated South Orange in the semifinals and Livingston for the title.

The team then entered the tournament of champions, a tourney for the top teams in the state. Belleville won that title in 1975 and made it to the finals last year. But the calendar ran short on the Bruins as the entire team was forced to return to school before the championship game. Without its top players, the Bruins played a tough game and were beaten by three runs in the ninth inning, 5-2.

This year the team lost to Montville in its opener but last Saturday recorded a doubleheader sweep of the Nutley Chiefs. Watch for the Bruins to repeat their league title. They have the talent, and after last year's bitter loss in the finals, they'll be hungry for a return show.

The Seattle Supersonics won the NBA title from the defending champion Washington Bullets last week, taking the championship in five games. The Sonics deserved the title. They are a perfect example of a team that plays with five men on the court and are coached with great discipline by their head man, Lenny Wilkens. It was also a sweet triumph for the Sonics considering that they were beaten in the finals by the Bullets last year, four games to three.

Speaking of the NBA, what do you think of Ervin "Magic" Johnson claiming hardship and declaring himself eligible for the June pro draft, Johnson, you might remember, was a sophomore sensation who led Michigan State to the national title this spring. He is a 6-8 guard, and chances are that he'll be a success as a pro. He has already agreed to terms with the Los Angeles Lakers, who are the first team to select in this year's draft. His contract will be somewhere in the neighborhood of $600,000 per year.

Personally I felt that Johnson should have finished out his eligibility as a collegiate.

Lastly, congratulations should go out to the Belleville track team on its most successful season in three years. The team had three seniors who advanced to the state championships, and the entire team was a very pleasant surprise. Great job, Coach Ruffalo?

Lack of punch at plate catches up to Buc nine

By Mike Lambert

And so a great baseball season at Belleville High has come to an end. And it ended the way head coach George Zanfini feared the most.

"The problem that we had all year finally did us in," said the coach. "We just did not hit the ball or score runs in the big game, and consequently it cost us the sectional championship."

The final team record for 1979 was still a very impressive 17-4. The Bucs' final week of the season saw victories over Nutley in the sectional semifinal, Kearny and finally the loss to Linden 1-0 in the sectional final. Next week's edition of The Times/News will include a wrap-up of the 1979 season.

The loss to Linden also snapped an eight-game winning streak for Belleville. The week started off with an exciting 8-5 victory over Nutley. The Bucs were pitching their ace, Dan Borgo, and jumped out to a 5-0 lead after two innings.

Nutley rallied for two runs in the third and three in the fourth off Borgo before the senior settled down and held off the Raiders. Meanwhile, Anthony Cosentino provided the heroics for the Bucs with a homer that broke the 5-5 tie and sent the Bucs to their seventh straight win and a trip to the sectional finals. The win was the eighth of the year for the senior Borgo who had only one loss.

The Bucs had to pull out all the stops in order to beat the Kards of Kearny last Thursday. Ed Aulisi pitched his third win of the year as Belleville won a toughie 3-2. Aulisi, only a junior, has just one loss, and that setback was a 2-1 edging by Caldwell.

Against Linden (15-5), Belleville pitched Borgo on just two days' rest and the senior came through again with another masterful performance. Borgo fanned nine batters and walked only two in going the distance.

The problem this time was that Borgo got no hitting assistance from his teammates and lost the game 1-0. "Danny was excellent," said Zanfini. "I asked him if he felt he could pitch on just two days' rest, and he said he could do the job. If we had created a little more offense, we might have pulled that game out."

Belleville trailed 1-0 in the fifth inning and had a chance to tie the game, but Bob Coffey, pinch-running for the injured Anthony Dondarski, tripped going around third base and was caught in a rundown. "He just tripped, and the lost seconds cost him the rundown," said the coach. "I felt that there might have been some interference, but the umpire did not agree with me and the result was that we came up a run short."

"All in all, I couldn't have been more pleased with the guys' performances," continued Zanfini. "I told them that I'd gladly sign a contract that stated we would go 17-4 every year. Our pitching was phenomenal, and the record is even more impressive when you consider that the team batted only around .250 as a unit.

"We're losing 11 seniors to graduation, but with the success of the jayvee and freshman teams, next year should be pretty good," said the coach. "As for this year's team, I don't think too many teams in the area can boast that they were 35-8 over the past two years. It was quite an accomplishment."

Racketmen hurt by inexperience

At the beginning of the season, Mike Pollard, head tennis coach at BHS, was confident that his third-year varsity team could very well come through with its best campaign.

There had been gradual improvement since the team's inception in 1977. The inaugural year was a difficult learning process for the locals, and the squad came through with a 2-14 mark. Last year there was a big improvement to 7-12, and 1979 looked to be the year that the racketmen would put it all together.

Somewhere between the end of last season and the commencing of this year, something went wrong with the BHS tennis team.

Pollard was very optimistic at the beginning of this season about his club. The team had a fine mix of experienced seniors and talented underclassmen who were rapidly coming to maturity. The team was up against a difficult schedule with most of the opposition having much more experience and poise than the young Bucs.

There were some bright notes on this year's club, mainly the play of senior Gary Guancione in the first singles and the steady improvement of junior Anthony Collasardo. Only Guancione and Mike DeMayo will be lost to graduation later this month, and with a good mixture of freshman and sophomores coming up, the interest and quite possibly the play at BHS will steadily improve.

The Bucs of 79 finished the season with a 3-14 mark, but that record could be a bit deceiving. Belleville was up against powerhouses such as Essex Catholic, Montclair, Caldwell and Nutley, not to mention other fine clubs such as East Orange and Verona.

What the reader must realize is that Belleville was one of the last schools in the area to add tennis to its sports agenda, and consequently the Bucs do not yet have the calibre of talent that can match up with some of the neighboring schools which have had tennis on their programs for about seven years.

Guancione was a steady performer in perhaps the most difficult of all positions in tennis, the first singles. First singles position is reserved for the team's top player, and Guancione responded with some fine performances against Essex Catholic's best. He rarely lost without putting up a tough struggle, was very impressive and displayed tremendous improvement as the season progressed.

Playing second singles was junior Anthony Collasardo. Collasardo has tremendous potential, according to Pollard, and just needs a certain amount of work in order to realize that potential. He has come through with some good performances, and with a year of practice he could very well be a player to be reckoned with when the 1980 season comes rolling around.

Senior Mike DeMayo occupied the third singles position for three years. DeMayo, a hard-working player who is also an honors student, is the type of individual who will give everything he has in order to do his best. The senior hardly ever left a stone unturned in pursuit of victory. DeMayo was also a member of the football team and has a number of colleges seeking his academic abilities for this fall.

The first doubles team will be returning next spring for Belleville. Vin DeMeola, a junior, and freshman Bradley Clinton should be even stronger next year. The two lacked experience, but possessed a great deal of desire and the willingness to learn. Look for good things to come from these two athletes next year.

The second doubles squad of Kenny Beck and Jerry Gold will also be on the courts again next year. Beck and Gold, sophomore and senior respectively, are in the same position that the first doubles squad is in. The two have a good deal of talent that has yet to be realized. With hard work over the summer, these two will also be players with a good future.

With Pollard coaching the team and with the talent eager and willing, watch for the Belleville tennis team to be a shining star on the local sports horizon in future years. — Mike Lambert.

Graham, Caruso runs portend a good future

Dana Caruso and Tom Graham are two athletes who will be setting the pace for the Belleville track team when the 1980 season commences.

Last week, Caruso, a sophomore, and Graham, a junior, highlighted The Herald News meet with some dazzling performances. Caruso did quite a job in the all-metric meet as he ran a 5:20.4 for 1,500 meters and came back to run an 11:40.9 in the 3,000 meters. The records for the slightly longer mile and two-mile were both set by Sue Smith in 1978. She ran a 5:46 mile and a 12:27 deuce. Thus Caruso is moving with some fast company.

According to head coach Rich Ruffalo, "Dana did a great job. If the race had not been measured in metric, she could very well have broken those records. Her performance was excellent."

Another excellent performance was turned in by junior Graham. He ran the 1,500-meter race in 4:22.5, which converted to a mile would have put him around the 4:38 area, by far his best run for the mile. John Vaccaro and Kenny Duva each posted individual bests in the 400 meters, with Vaccaro clocking a 54.1 and Duva an even 54. The old master, Mike Graham, ran a 52.6.

Last Saturday, the team sent three members to the prestigious all-group meet in South Brunswick.

made the journey, and while the three did not earn a place, they did earn the respect of the entire team.

Graham, the team record-holder in the half mile, ran a 2:01.9 in the event and did not place in his heat. The senior hopes to attend Fairleigh Dickinson University next fall where he plans to continue his running. FDU has always been known for its strong track team, so Graham will be running with some performers.

D'Agostino, destined for Gettysburg University next fall where he will continue his efforts in football and track, fouled in all three of his throws in the discus.

Portuese, the only senior member of the girls' track team, tossed the javelin 102 feet but did not earn a place. She figures to attend Kean College next fall.

Next week, The Times/News will present a wrap-up of the 1979 track season.

Joe Zente pounds horsehide at NJIT

Joe Zente of Belleville has completed his second year on the New Jersey Institute of Technology baseball team.

The third baseman batted .455 in the Independent Athletic Conference as NJIT won the championship for the fifth year in a row. He was hit a robust .371 overall and played on the north team in the annual North-South All-Star Game held at Seton Hall late last month.

Roselli's, Joe's Alignment, First DeWitt hold on to first places in men's softball

In a week of rainout games being made up in the Belleville Recreation Men's Softball League, there were a few surprises and upsets.

There were no games scheduled for the Monday night league due to Memorial Day. In the Tuesday league, Roselli's Amoco (4-1) maintained a hold on first place by defeating Four P's 9-4. The Red Shingle Inn evened its record at 2-2 by beating Scordo Tile 19-4 and Marson's Plumbing raised its record to 3-1 with an 11-7 win over Circle Bar.

Doubleheaders were played in the Wednesday league, and in the battle of the unbeaten, Joe's Alignment edged Rossmore Pharmacy 10-8 to grab first place. In its second game, Joe's squeaked by Garden State II 10-9. Rossmore won its second game over the Silver Lakers 8-4. Silver Lake picked up a win against the Howard Hustlers 10-6. Howard later beat Michael's Towing 10-4. Michael's also lost to Garden State II 10-4.

The Thursday league also started doubleheaders, and the season's biggest upset was registered when the Belleville Political and Social Club (1-3) beat Belleville Hess (3-1) by a 10-8 score for its first win of the season.

DeWitt Savings (4-0) held first place with wins over Bell Lap Tavern 16-8, and Belleville Political and Social Club 11-1. Hess bounced back with a win over Giordano's 4-3. Giordano's had beaten Clyde Paul Insurance 3-0 earlier. Clyde Paul and Bell Lap played to a 13-13 tie in the nightcap.

Senior, Intermediate Action
The Belleville Recreation baseball leagues survived the floods of two weeks ago and managed to play four days of regular-season and make-up ball before the rains returned again this past week.

In the Senior League, the Braves dropped two decisions to the Cubs and Pirates, the Pirates edged the Mets 5-4, the Yankees knotted the Giants 5-5 and the Pirate-Yankee game was postponed due to rain.

In the Intermediate League, the Cubs won their first two games of the season, 7-3 over the Giants and 7-2 over the Braves. The Mets' Tommy Fecca no-hit the Giants 15-1, and the Yankees won three games to move back into the league lead.

The Yankees were tied 5-5 by the Braves last week in a game shortened by rain. Mike Murphy led the way with three hits and four RBI. The Yanks also topped the Mets 7-1 behind the combined pitching effort of Tony Lombardi and John Guarino and the red-hot bat of Murphy. Murphy went three-for-four and pitched for the victory in the Yanks' 5-2 decision over the Braves. The Yankees are now 6-1-1.

Junior League
The Junior League Tigers came back from a 6-6 tie with three runs in the bottom of the fourth to win a 9-6 victory over the Bombers. John Scricco was the winning pitcher and got defensive help from the gloves of Nicky Wendling, Rich Curto and Anthony Cosentino. The nine runs came off the bats of A.J. Serafino, Tim Daudelin, John Nause and Andrew Persaud.

The Cubs picked up their third consecutive victory 7-6 over the Yankees behind the combined pitching effort of Joe Della Vecchia and John Kozlowski. The Cubs' offensive attack was led by Tom Mobilio who homered, Rich Luberto, Pete Copola and Kozlowski. Mike Jeffers got hits for the Yanks, and Mike Debelak struck out 11 and walked two in a fine pitching performance. The Cubs improved to 4-0 by defeating the Pirates 23-0. The Braves won three games this week, 20-12 over the Giants, 32-6 over the Pirates and 8-7 over the Yankees behind a brilliant pitching effort by Mike Kozlowski.

The Yankees scored three victories last week. The Yankees beat the Giants 11-10 behind the pitching of Andy Russo. Hits by Russo, Michael Jeffers, Michale Gibbons, Michael Debelak and Anthony Rock, coupled with a great defensive play by Frank Morrell, paced the Yanks' victory.

Paul Holly and Mike Debelak combined to pitch the Yankees to a 23-7 victory over the Pirates. Jeffers, Debelak, Gibbons, Mike Donnelly, Holly and Robert Popovich led the Yankees' hitting attack.

The Yankees defeated the Dodgers 16-2 behind the pitching of Anthony Rock and the hitting of Bill Noppie, Mike Debelak, Paul Holly, Mike Jeffers, Mike Gibbons and Roch. Ben Cerca, Mike DeChiara and Dawn Frahm got hits for the Dodgers in a losing cause.

Mike DeChiara went the distance on the mound as the Dodgers scored their first victory of the season over the White Sox 15-13. Mike Danduno and Jim Siclari each had three hits, driving in four and three runs respectively. Other big hitters for the Dodgers were Tim Buckley, Jim McGuire, Dawn Frahm and John Falco.

Jim Siclari, Dawn Frahm, Jim McGuire and Mike DeChiara each cracked two hits to back up a fine pitching performance by Mike Danduno as the Dodgers defeated the Pirates 12-11. Siclari walked to drive in the winning run in the bottom of the sixth, but it was Sal Marchello's three-run tripled in the fifth that brought the dodgers back into the game. Ben Cerca and Danduno also contributed hits and scored in the Dodgers' second straight win.

Peanut League
In the American Peanut League, the Pirates defeated the Cubs 18-7, the Astros beat the Yankees 16-6 and later in the week topped the Cubs 8-1. The Cardinals' game against the Yankees was rained out in the third inning as was the Giants vs. Clippers contest.

In the National Peanut League, the Aces were winners over the Tigers 14-4. Gerard Cimolo had another home run. Vincent Voller, and John Thompson, Alex LeBate, William Sypher and Andrew Cueva all had doubles. In other games, the Dodgers squeaked by the Tigers 10-9 and the Indians had a come-from-behind victory over the Bears 15-14.

Women's Softball

The season is young for the Belleville Recreation Women's Daytime Softball League due to rain. The lead team is the Sluggers, coached by Pat Scheible, in her sixth year managing. Marianne Stetz has also been at the helm six years. Jo Ann Monohan, Jo Ann Friend and Pat O'Brien are the newcomers this season.

The Sluggers were winners over the Bad News Broads 14-4. The score was close until Joanne Falcone hit a pair of homers late in the game. The Bad News Broads bounced back by defeating the Dazzlers later in the week.

Pigtail Softball

Many games were rained out in the Pigtail Softball League this past week. The Cubs, Tigers and Reds have all recorded wins so far this season. The league consists of girls 8-11 years old and there are 10 teams.

Games thus far have all been close. The Cubs beat the Mets 7-2. The score was tied until the fifth inning when Desirée Fazzini and Sally Juliana both hit home runs. Excellent defense by Dina Buccino, Mary Rose DuBoyce, Theresa Del Puono, Sandy Parker and Kim Higgins of the Mets kept the game close. With a little better hitting, the Mets will be strong the rest of the season.

Junior Girls

The Cheetahs hold down first place in the Junior Girls' Softball League. They defeated the Cougars with the help of a home run by Lois DeLuccio and triples by Karen Lordi and Donna Campana. Coach Sue Harrington saw her team turn over a double play and make some sparkling catches in the outfield.

Other Junior League coaches are Sue Gasparini, Donna Senari, MaryAnn Adams, Michele Tramentola and Joann Cassin.

Tennis Instruction

The Recreation Department will run a beginner's tennis clinic tomorrow, June 15 and 22 at the School 3 gym.

Hours are 6:30-7:30 p.m. for boys and girls 8-11 and 7:45-8:45 p.m. for those 12-15. The purpose of the clinic is to teach the most basic fundamentals of tennis — forehand, backhand, serving, scoring and etiquette.

Those participating must wear sneakers, have their own tennis rackets and have one ball with their names on it.

PLAY REVIEW

Arts Company's vacuous 'Two' study in unoriginality, boredom

By Mary Dominski

"Is That All There Is?" The classic question posed by singer Peggy Lee summed up the feeling aptly after the New Jersey Performing Arts Company presented a shallow show devoid of original plots and characterizations last Friday night in its production of "Two" at the Nutley Little Theatre.

"Two" what, one is tempted to ask? Two short, one act plays, containing little substance and hardly fitting the bill as an "evening of one acts" as advertised. Two plays seeking to showcase the alleged talents of two members of the NJPAC?

The first play, entitled "Heat Lightning" typifies a work one might run across in a high school drama class. The action takes place in a bus station, where on a stormy night a distraught girl seeks solace from a kindly older gentleman. She tells the man she has just seen someone dragging a murdered woman from a car but cannot identify his face. So intent is she on what she has just seen, that she imagines a newcomer to the bus station, a young boy, to be the killer.

Does the plot sound familiar? Naturally, the kindly old man turns out to be the villain and the girl gets "it in the end. This one sits with you like a bowl of soggy cornflakes.

In 14 minutes one is exposed to a shower of high-pitched emotion, then mugged with a trite ending. The creators of "The Mod Squad" could have drummed up a better idea than this. The most memorable part of the play is the thunder and lightning special effects.

Don Attanasio and Gabrielle Getting have the leads in both plays with Robert Diacheyns assisting.

In the second one-act attempt, entitled "Just Be a Clown," Attanasio and Getting play two vaudevillians, trying to make it in the '30s era.

A cute song and dance routine keeps this one from being a total bore. The performers, Jack and Jill, are a shining example of compatibility onstage, but after the show, they are at each other for their mistakes: The display of animosity lasts until, alas, they are confronted with the big bad theater manager whom they both despise and unite to tell off. The play ends with the song and dance and a winsome feeling of well, that's show biz, folks.

"Two" was an experimental effort of the New Jersey Performing Arts Company. It was the first time that the company had used the Nutley Little Theatre stage to present original one-act material. An evening of one acts is an excellent idea: They tend to zero in on a certain point of view or present interesting characterizations. Unfortunately, "Two" did neither.

It appears Attanasio especially, who has created and acted in several educational productions for children and founded the New Jersey Performing Arts Company, has overstepped the bounds of his talent, at least for the general audience. Because if that's all there is, that's the last we want to see of the New Jersey Performing Arts Company.

For those who care to test the truth of this review or their ability to withstand boredom, "Two" will be presented 8 p.m. tomorrow and Saturday at the NLT Barn, 47 Erie Place, Nutley. Tickets are $3.50, and reservations can be obtained by calling 667-5492.

Feast for eyes as well as palate awaits diner at Tivoli Gardens

By Jean Citrino

Few of us get to travel to continental Europe. Those who do return raving about the elegant Old World dining experiences that they have had. The rest of us can enjoy exceptional continental dining and service in a magnificent Old World garden decor. At Tivoli Gardens Restaurant, only 20 minutes away on Route 46 in Pine Brook, you will find a feast for the eyes and ears as well as the palate.

Michael Servidio, the host, is a Nutley resident. He took a year to complete the Tivoli Gardens. The paneled bar is interspersed with colorful stained-glass windows. The entire dining room is set within brick arches. Live plants complete the attractive Mediterranean decor.

As you dine, a strolling violinist and accordionist are on hand to fill your musical requests.

Could there be more? Yes. The menu is filled with specialties which make it difficult to select only one. An order of pasta is more than ample for two. The Tivoli Gardens' speciality is second only to the linguini malafemmina. The entrees are truly an epicurean delight. Veal saltimbocca was cooked to perfection. The frutti di Mare Mediterraneo was brimming with lobster meat, shrimp and scallops. The selection of fine wines added the finishing touch to a marvelous meal.

Should you have any room left afterward, there is a complete selection of desserts from which to choose.

School 5 Scouts visit N.Y. ranch

Webelos, Boy Scouts and families of Pack and Troop 305, School 5, visited Rocking Horse Ranch, Highland, N.Y., the weekend of May 18-20.

The group spent many hours riding the various horse trails, paddle boats and canoes, playing tennis and volleyball, shooting rifles and swimming. Many boys earned aquanaut and swimming skill awards at the indoor pool. At night the disco dancers were in full swing.

Chaperones included Leo and Gloria Daudelin, JoAnn and Jim Monahan, Jim and Eileen Dengard, Ralph and Mary Ann Rosamilia, Sam and Eileen Wohl, Anthony and Denise Complitano, Vince and Cathy Coffey, Ann VerNooy, Dot Kisal, Barbara Pucci, Rich Benson and Nick Berrigan.

Troop 305 meets 7 p.m. Wednesdays at School 5, 149 Adelaide St., under the leadership of Leo Daudelin and assistants.
