

BIDDER WARNS OF LEGAL ACTION

New scavenger deal faces battle in court

By John Jurich

Despite the threat of legal action and a criminal investigation, commissioners Monday evening awarded the town's garbage contract to the Lodi firm which has had it the last 15 years.

The commission voted 5-0 to accept the three-year, $1.5 million bid of Lorenzo Pucillo and Son, rejecting a five-year contract which would have cost $2.68 million.

Capasso Brothers of Ridgewood, a scavenger firm which had last week withdrawn its bid, will now seek a temporary restraining order and then a court injunction to block the awarding of the contract and have bids readvertised. Hackensack attorney John B. Paoletta, representing Capasso, told commissioners in a letter that his office would launch an investigation "into the validity of the procedures undertaken by Belleville in processing this public bid." He added that a copy of the letter was being sent to the State Division of Criminal Justice.

Town commissioners had at first planned to open bids for the scavenger contract at their Nov. 27 meeting, but because of minor changes in the contract specifications, they decided to readvertise the bids and open them at their meeting last week.

Frank Capasso withdrew his bid, telling commissioners the time between the day they awarded a contract and Jan. 1 when the contract is set to begin was insufficient for his firm to set up for service. His withdrawal left Pucillo the lone bidder.

Paoletta pointed out that had Capasso not been able to start collecting garbage by Jan. 1, he would have forfeited the $20,000 bond that was required for filing a bid. "It is the opinion of this office that the dilatory tactics used by the Board of Commissioners of Belleville serve to

BHS band trip depending largely on parent support

Almost $8,000 must be raised by the Music Parents Association in addition to $20,000 raised by the Belleville High School Band before the spring trip to Florida, planned by the students becomes reality.

"The band parents will be assessed about $75 each by the Music Parents Association," said BHS Principal John DeCesare. "But if a lot of kids' (parents) decide they're not going to donate, then there goes the trip. We just won't have it."

Parents of band members can't be forced to pay, but without the extra money, the trip will be impossible unless tremendous amounts of cash flow from the band's fund-raisers, which include a fashion show, sham-poo sale, citrus fruit sale and a band show.

The proposed five-day trip to Florida and back is being run by Super Holiday Tours and begins May 14 when 125 band students and chaperones will board AMTRAK Silver Star No. 81 at Newark's Penn Station around 8 a.m. They'll arrive in Florida about 7:48 next morning, be bused to the Orlando Marriott Inn, then visit Wet 'N Wild, go back to the hotel and later have a poolside picnic.

On Friday, May 16, they'll get breakfast, then it's off to Walt Disney World, where they'll parade down Main Street, U.S.A., about noon then wander around Disney World for a leisurely afternoon, return for a pizza and coke party at the hotel and disco from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m.

After breakfast on Saturday, they'll go to Walt Disney World again at 9 a.m. for a day's fun and back to Orlando via AMTRAK at night.

Or...maybe Saturday will see band members venturing off to Sea World, then to Jetty Park for swimming, surfing and sunbathing, a barbecue on the beach, then back to Orlando by AMTRAK from where they'll leave for Newark at 8:25 p.m.

Whichever Saturday is chosen, by Sunday at 8:30 p.m., a tired bunch of band members should arrive at Penn Station.

Although Band Director Andre Silbert first recommended taking several buses to Florida, both he and DeCesare later agreed the train trip would be more comfortable and safer than buses. The price difference is

State demands back-up for desegregation plan

By Mike Olohan

Two desegregation plans, one voluntary and one definitely designed to end the school system's "racial imbalances" must be prepared for the State Department of Equal Educational Opportunity before any plan at all will be accepted.

By Jan. 31, Belleville must have the school desegregation plans on file in Trenton, and trustees are expected to hold at least one public hearing on the restructuring committee's conclusions before deciding on the plans, since public acceptance will mean the difference between success or failure for the proposals.

Board Vice President Ernie Zoppi, chairman of the consolidation committee, stresses that although Belleville must have a back-up or contingency plan in case "restructuring" doesn't eliminate "racial imbalances," he doesn't think they'll have to use it.

"If you move district lines or close schools, people are going to be forced to move," he said. Zoppi said that because some children will no doubt end up going to different schools, many people will literally have no choice but go along with the plan. The only other alternative would be to withdraw their children from public school.

Four members of the restructuring committee, Nadine Janik, Candida Valiente, Cora Boice and Rae Saulino spoke before just 15 persons at the Junior High last Wednesday about the school group's work.

"The state says we have to consolidate, close or utilize our facilities better. The woman we met with from the state said they are going to look at the curriculum, not just eliminating the minority imbalance," noted Janik. "The state officials said we're doing the (desegregation) work okay," she added.

"If we go to the people (with a plan) before the board votes on it and the people approve of it, the board's going to look awfully silly if it doesn't support the people," said Janik, noting trustees could conceivably ignore the committee's recommendations and choose their own plan.

How much "restructuring" will cost local taxpayers also remains unknown, although the state usually helps out with desegregation expenses.

"I'm told this is a free country. If the state wants to be that bold, then let them pay the costs for it," said August Maassmann of Belleville Avenue. "They're (trustees) going to get enemies no matter what they do. Which plan do you think would be most practical?" asked Maassmann of the restructuring committee and PTA members. None of them seemed to know, or wanted to speculate, except Boice.

"I have a feeling that two schools in this town are going to be closed down and that's the feeling of some of the parents. I think they'll be using one grammar school as a middle school," she said, adding that Schools 2 and 9 seem likely candidates for closing.

"But we haven't heard all the plans and all the ramifications, so I can't give an opinion on what the most practical way would be," said Janik.

From conversations with trustees, restructuring committee members and parents, it appears one school will close soon, a magnet school or schools will be established and redistricting will take place followed

Careful explanation needed to pass 1980 school budget

By Mike Olohan

Boring budgets. Trying to understand where your local tax dollars are going or even where they've gone is time-consuming, tedious and oftentimes exasperating work. But understanding a local school budget, where your federal, state and local tax dollars go, is only boring if you don't realize what that budget means: what quality of education your children will receive.

Of course, a school system's educational quality relies on its teachers, administrators and quality of materials (books, supplies) as well as students' motivation and parents' concern.

But without the money, there'd be no public schools. Without voter approval of budgets, money becomes a problem, and Belleville voters have defeated the school budget 17 out of the last 18 years. To prevent another defeat this coming April, school trustees will have to find a way to clearly convince residents of the budget's merits.

On Aug. 29, 1978, nearly 16 months ago, school trustees were handed a detailed report explaining to them exactly what steps would be necessary to present an understandable, complete, item-by-item breakdown of school costs so Belleville residents might fully comprehend where their money is spent.

Because School Board elections were moved from February to April last year, trustees let the October 1978 deadline to begin budget presentations in each school slide, finally beginning budget hearings in mid-January continuing through March 16. At each school, the citizen turn-

First DeWitt officers urge savers to lobby for tax break on interest

John P. Dailey, chairman, and Henrik Tvedt, president of First DeWitt Savings, have announced a campaign to urge savers to contact their United States senators and representatives to enact legislation that would provide tax exemptions on all or a portion of interest earned on savings accounts.

have suggested that savers either write directly to Washington or that they sign a petition available at each First DeWitt office to demonstrate support for this type of legislation. The savings and loan industry has long supported enactment of such a tax exemption. "It's time savers got a break from the federal government and an incentive to save," said Tvedt.

"There are currently over 200 bills pending in the Congress, most of them sponsored by thrift associations throughout the United States. If any of these were enacted, it could mean major savings for our customers and for thrift-minded individuals all over the country."

"Already, support is developing in the halls of Congress for such action," Tvedt continued, "and a little pressure from the home front may be the catalyst that speeds up the necessary changes that will benefit savers."

According to the First DeWitt president, the Senate Finance Committee recently fired the first shot in a campaign to win the battle of the tax cut dollar. In Washington the week before last, the committee approved a tax break on dividends. The proposal would allow an individual to escape taxes on the first $200 a year of dividend income. A married couple's maximum exemption would be twice that figure, or $400.

"The Finance Committee's vote and the Senate's likely concurrence gives supporters of tax relief on dividends a head start in the race for a share of the tax cuts Congress is considering enacting before fall elections," Tvedt said.

The House conferees, however, are expected to oppose the tax break for savers, according to reliable sources. This is because current committee plans tie the break into an amendment to the "windfall profits" tax on oil currently before the Senate.

Despite legislative red tape and legal maneuvering, Tvedt and Dailey emphasize the importance of pressure from constituents to impress their representatives with the need for fast action for tax relief.

The two DeWitt officers deplored the fact that Americans save only 4.1 percent of their disposable income versus figures approaching six times that amount in other countries.

Dailey pointed out that savers in Japan put away 25.3 of their disposable income annually and cited examples of countries in Western Europe that compare favorably with that figure. "The exclusions we seek would add billions and billions of dollars to savings and capital formation," he asserted. "This, of course, converts into funds for mortgages and home loans, the first priority of our economy. In addition, it will help reverse the trend of rapidly accelerating inflation," Dailey said.

The two officers urged savers to write to their senators and representatives expressing their desire for protective tax exclusion on their savings accounts. A list of the names and addresses of both senators from New Jersey and of representatives in the districts served by First DeWitt is available at any of the association's offices.

Petitions will also be made available at each of the six First DeWitt offices for customers who would prefer to employ mass persuasion.

First DeWitt's main office is located in Belleville at 463 Washington Ave.

Local school trustees opposing state district classification plan

By Mike Olohan

Evaluation of school districts in New Jersey for compliance in basic skills progress, planning and operations under the state's Thorough & Efficient (T&E) Law will not start this month, and local school trustees are glad.

Charging that the state classification plan would "stigmatize" districts that failed to meet standards, Trustee Anthony D'Agostino urged board members to send telegrams opposing it. The board voted unanimously two weeks ago to oppose classification.

"This will attach a stigma to some systems, not that I'm concerned about Belleville...but this could affect the real estate values by putting a label on an entire town," said D'Agostino.

"I'm just concerned with the hucks that the state is spending on this. I believe this will lead to unfairly evaluated school districts," he said.

As part of the 1976 Public School Education Act, or T&E, districts were to be rated either approved, approved with conditions, or unproved. In 1977 and 1978, State Education Commissioner Fred Burke asked the state school board not to begin classifying districts because they needed more time to assess T&E requirements and begin implementing them.

Recently, Burke's classification plan has come under attack from the New Jersey Association of School Administrators. New Jersey Education Association, the state PTA group and many local school boards. These organizations charge the plan is discriminatory since children would be labeled, black children would be hurt because some urban schools will go unapproved, "white flight" would occur with more parents pulling their children out of public schools, and property values might fall.

"They (state officials) don't have the manpower to do this, and I'm glad they don't," said School Superintendent Dr. John Greed. "They also don't have salary ranges that attract competent people to these jobs."

"You need at least three weeks to pass judgment on a district, and these guys are going to do it in a couple of days...who monitors the monitors?" asked Greed, smiling.

Whether a classification plan must be approved by the state school board before it begins is not legally clear, but it appears the classification plan will be tied up for many months to come, considering the opposition. A district would only be labeled "unapproved" if it had completely refused to cooperate with the state to begin remedial programs and the state were forced to step in.

Calling labeling negative rather than positive reinforcement, classification plan critics have forced the Joint Committee on Public Schools to once again review the plan despite the legislative committee's okay of a stronger classification plan adopted three years ago.

The classification plan's apparent initial intent was to focus attention on New Jersey school districts which were failing to help children get a decent, "minimum," education. Now, fearing political repercussions, local officials throughout the state are calling for the plan's defeat.

Parents warned of toys' hazards

Public Affairs Commissioner Vincent J. Strumolo has issued a warning to Belleville parents to beware of hazardous toys.

"With Christmas just around the corner and our children anxiously awaiting the shiny new toys that they will receive as gifts that should provide hours of laughter and entertainment, I want to caution parents of the hazards of some toys if not properly selected," Strumolo said in a statement.

Last year, the commissioner noted, about 140,000 children received hospital emergency room treatment for injuries associated with toys. Strumolo warned that despite government regulations, not all toy-related injuries can be prevented. Some safety tips:

- Toys should be appropriate for the child's age and development. Many toys have age recommendations on the label to guide you.
- A toy that is safe in the hands of one child may be dangerous in the hands of an unsupervised younger child.
- Avoid giving toys with small detachable parts to children under 3.
- Encourage children to put their toys away so that no one trips or falls on them.
- Inspect toys periodically for sharp edges and points that may have developed. Discard them if they cannot be repaired.

Hazardous toys or toy-related injuries may be reported to the Department of Public Affairs by calling 759-2832.

THANKS FOR HELPING TO KEEP UNITED WAY IN BUSINESS.

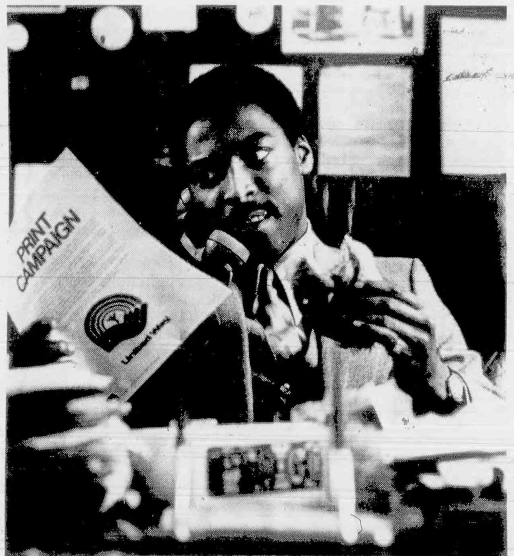

Every year, United Way successfully continues to support local human service agencies in communities all across the United States.

A lot of the credit for this success goes to the dedicated efforts of people in business—to top corporate leaders who volunteer their organizational skills and financial expertise, to middle-management people who work lunch-hours and evenings to help organize local campaigns and collect money, to the newest mailroom clerk who swallows his shyness and asks his fellow workers for a last-minute contribution.

And by operating like any other modern, well-run business enterprise, United Way succeeds in delivering the maximum in human services for the dollars that are collected.

Prayer for today

I got up early one morning and rushed right into the day
I had so much to accomplish
That I didn't have time to pray.
Problems just tumbled about me
And heavier came each task:
"Why doesn't God help me," I wondered.
He answered, "You didn't ask."
I wanted to see joy and beauty
But the day toiled on, gray and bleak
I wondered why God didn't show me.
He said, "But you didn't seek."
I tried to come into God's presence.
I used all my keys at the lock
God gently and lovingly chided,
"My child, you didn't knock."
I woke up early this morning
And paused before entering the day.
I had so much to accomplish
That I had to take time to pray.

The garbage contract

The Town Commission this week awarded a new municipal garbage contract to the present town scavenger, L. Pucillo and Son. A competitive bidder, Capasso Brothers of Ridgewood, withdrew its bid explaining there would be insufficient time between the award of the bid and the contract start-up date of Jan. 1 — a date when a new contractor should have his equipment in place and ready to go.

Capasso makes a valid complaint. For five years the Belleville Town Commission was aware that a new contract would take effect come this Jan. 1. Would it not have been in the public interest to advertise for bids at an earlier date to encourage more bidders to participate in the bidding process?

The low bid for one year was $440,000; $1,500,000 for three years, and $2,680,000 for five years. However one looks at these figures, they're mighty big — and they make a tremendous impact upon the tax rate.

Giving prospective bidders a three-month lead time might not have produced any more bidders, but at least the public interest would have been served and there would never have been any doubt that adequate time was provided for the opportunity to solicit more bidders.

Franklin D. Pucillo

A sobering thought

During this holiday season, the New Jersey State Council urges everyone to consider some sobering thoughts about drinking and driving.

For years, the rule has been: "If you drink, don't drive; if you drive, don't drink." It's the best rule...but...

Consider the fact: more than 51,000 persons were killed in motor vehicle accidents in 1978. Alcohol was a factor in about half of the fatal accidents.

Obviously, some people who drive, do drink.

Here are some other facts: Drivers who get into trouble are not always chronic alcoholics. He or she is often a "moderate" to "light" to "only occasional" social drinker — law-abiding citizens with families, stopping for a "few" with friends.

The Safety Council concerned about the death toll from drinking while driving has made the following observation:

When you drive, the brain is a computer, constantly receiving information through the senses and making decisions that help you keep your vehicle moving safely through traffic. Alcohol short-circuits the computer. It slows reflexes, reduces visual acuity. You cannot think as clearly, as quickly or as rationally as you usually do. And, you cannot act as fast.

Along with everything else, alcohol short-circuits the red warning light in your computer. You don't know that you're impaired. You even develop a false sense of well-being.

So, if you're planning to drive to a holiday celebration, start with a sober resolution: if you drink, don't drive. However, should you be faced with a holiday driving dilemma, here are some practical solutions.

Let someone else drive if you are under the influence of alcohol. Or, as another alternative instead of abstinence, take public transportation, or have a friend drive you home.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Please, don't destroy classic architecture!

To the Editor:

The major function of a library is to preserve for posterity the endeavors of mankind. The cherished word, the inspired concept or the creative thought still remain in the beacons of enlightenment which are vehicles to new vistas and horizons of advancement which have brought man to the pinnacle of his present development.

To destroy the word, the thought or the picture (the elimination of certain books for example) has always been an anathema to civilized man and society. To destroy the creation of the mind has fashioned and which reflects the advancement of society is wrong. To do otherwise is not barbaric but still a characteristic of the uncivilized.

The Carnegie front, that beautiful physiognomy of the stately edifice of our public library on Washington Avenue, is about to meet the mighty sword of Goliath — the expansion for the want of space because of ignorance and a cerebrally diminutive ability to plan for the future. To destroy the Carnegie front and its unique characteristic by that museum-like structure exposed by the local papers is destroying what a library by its essence is suppose to preserve — the word, the concept, the creation, the aesthetics, etc. of the mind and spirit of man.

To expand the library by destroying its classic front is the epitome of what unknowledgeable men do because they have permitted themselves to be placed in a situation which gives them no alternative, and hypocritically declare it all for a purpose that is meant to cherish and preserve the very thing which is about to be destroyed.

Alternatives should and must be found. Destruction of the Carnegie front can never be justified in the name of expansion. The price is too much to pay. Modernization side by side with classic antiquity yes, but not its replacement. I urge the library board to reconsider any decisions it has made in destroying the front of our present library.

Respectfully,
Joseph R. Yeamans
54 Tappan Ave.

Veteran proud of compatriots

To the Editor:

It has been my pleasure to have been involved in Belleville's Veterans Day Parade for many years and I have always been proud of the time and effort the members of the Belleville Veterans Council put into the parade.

This year I am prouder than ever before because the Veterans Council under our chairman Al Pico and co-chairman Pat Wynn did an outstanding job under the terrible weather we had on Veterans Day. I want to thank all the Council members that stood in the rain to keep the parade moving and all the people that were out there to cheer on those wonderful groups and organizations that participated in the parade.

Many people are saying patriotism is dead but that day proved that patriotism is ALIVE and WILL ALWAYS BE in towns like Belleville because the young and old know what our country is all about.

Let's play the World Series when the weather is nicer

To the Editor:

The 1979 World Series to me and others was a disaster because of the weather. Although the games were played it did not get off to a good start. This was the first time in memory that the World Series did not start on its scheduled day. It had to be postponed one day on account of the rain. I do not think these games should be played that late in the season. Let's keep in mind that baseball is a late spring-summer game and not meant to be played in the fall for the simple reason it's too cold and wet. The weather is unpredictable in October.

Because of the playoffs between the teams that win in the American and National Leagues I think the games are a little prolonged. Instead of playing 162 a year they should cut back to 150. This way they would be over near the end of September when the weather is more predictable. Then the World Series would be finished in September.

I know there's a lot of things involved like tickets, sport stadiums, radio and TV networks plus an awful lot of money, but I am sure that nothing would be lost. All this could be the same in September.

Upon reading the October 4th issue of the Belleville Times/News I came across your comments in reference to closing Schools 1 and 9.

Any knowledgeable, involved citizen would know that School 9 is not old and below acceptable level. In fact, it is one of Belleville's newer schools with a stable pupil enrollment. As a taxpayer of Belleville and being very familiar with the PTA of No. 9, I do not mind contributing to maintain the high standard of education that the children of No. 9 receive.

I also go on record as saying that No. 9 has one of the most active student, parent and teacher associations in the town of Belleville.

Senior Santas — Members of the Belleville Senior Citizens relax after a hectic afternoon. The club held a bazaar at which members were allowed to choose from a wide variety of gifts.

Senior Notes

By George Chenoweth

Do you know your rights under the law if you are unable to pay your gas and electric bill and are threatened by the utilities company with a shutting off of these essential services? The answers are contained in an information circular from the Essex County Division on Aging which states that according to the New Jersey Utilities Commission, the present administrative guidelines regarding utility shutoffs are as follows:

1. A person's utilities cannot be disconnected (due to a delinquent payment) at any time from a Friday evening through the following Monday morning.

2. If a person who is unable to pay his utility bill has a medical problem, the local utility company can allow a 60-day grace period for payment if notified that such a condition exists. The 60-day grace period can sometimes be extended if these circumstances continue to prevail. It is recommended that local groups publicize this relevant utility information to their senior citizen population. These seniors, many of whom are used to paying their bills on time, should be apprised of the fact that there is some flexibility in the system.

Our trip to Trenton Dec. 13 under the auspices of the New Jersey Federation of Senior Citizens was a very lucrative one. We accomplished what we set out to do that was, primarily, a show of strength by numbers to impress our state legislators with the importance of the senior segment of society in matters concerning the care of the elderly. The rally filled both the Assembly and Senate chambers to overflowing.

As heard from the federation leaders on important issues such as the proposed cuts in Social Security benefits and the possibility of a tax of up to 50 percent on those whose income exceeds $10,000. These proposals are, of course, on the national level. A statewide demonstration was necessary to draw attention on both state and national levels.

Change in the Pharmaceutical Assistance Act was discussed. It said change to take effect automatically Jan. 1, 1980. If it is done to prevent it. The part of the act that would prevent it is the one which reduces the quantity of a drug from a 60-day to a 34-day supply. If it were to happen, it will cost a beneficiary an extra visit to the doctor so that he will have a prescription. It would be a good idea to contact your senator and assemblymen and urge them to support this proposal. Many seniors must be assured that this time and asking themselves the question, "What did we do to deserve this?"

We will entertain you in Big Apple

School between the escalator banks overlooking the terminal's main concourse. The chorus, under the direction of Thomas Finetti, will also sing at the World Trade Center today. Afterwards, the group will tour the place skyscraper.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Morales Jr. — nee Lois Gross

Lois E. Gross Bride Of Nicholas Morales Jr.

Wedding vows were exchanged Nov. 3 in Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, East Orange, by Miss Lois Eleanor Gross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gross of Belleville, and Nicholas Morales Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Morales of Brooklyn.

The Rev. Burton H. Vincent performed the ceremony which was followed by a reception at the Robin Hood Inn, Clifton.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of crepe backed satin and Venice lace detailed in seed pearls. It was fashioned with a Queen Anne neckline and chapel train. Her mantilla veil was lace edged and she carried roses, stephanotis and babies breath.

Ms. Janet Loibissio of Cedar Grove was maid of honor. Bridesmaids included the bride's sister-in-law, Ms. Barbara L. Gross of Shark River Hills, and the groom's sister, Ms. Esther Uhlfelder of Hyde Park, N.Y.

The honor attendant was attired in a shirring mock halter gown with matching chiffon cape. She carried baby mums in tones of rust, and shirring with babies breath. The others wore rust gowns.

Ernesto Carreres of Brooklyn was best man. Ushers were Ross Uhlfelder of Hyde Park, brother-in-law of the groom, and Eric Gross of Shark River Hills, brother of the bride.

Mrs. Gross chose a cocoa chiffon gown accented with sequins. Her corsage was of yellow baby orchids. The groom's mother, in a turquoise chiffon gown with matching cape, had a corsage of white baby orchids.

Mrs. Morales, an alumna of William Paterson College, is a training analyst with Mutual Benefit Life, Newark.

Mr. Morales, a graduate of Lehman College, Bronx, N.Y., is a programmer with Mutual Benefit Life.

The couple honeymooned in Barbados and are living in Piscataway.

Leo D. Dwyer earns degree

Leo David Dwyer, son of Kenneth J. Dwyer of 40 Essex St., has been awarded a bachelor of arts degree from Washington University, St. Louis, Mo.

Dwyer is an alumnus of Essex Catholic High School, Newark.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Driscoll — nee Cynthia Esposito

Mr. and Mrs. Driscoll honeymoon in Hawaii

Miss Cynthia Jean Esposito, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Esposito of 65 Salter Place, and Daniel Michael Driscoll, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Driscoll of 25 Essex St., were married Oct. 21 in St. Anthony's Church.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. John Collabelli and Deacon Samuel Ventola, uncle of the bride. A reception followed at Camelot, Wayne.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a white Qiana gown with chantilly lace sleeves. A Queen Anne neckline was also accented with lace and beading and matching petals held her fingertip veil. She carried peach silk roses with beige babies breath.

Ms. Lois Monaco of Lawrence Harbor was her sister's matron of honor. Bridesmaids included Ms. Joann Cavanna of Bloomfield, and Ms. Diane Faldut of Metuchen and Ms. MaryAnn Mauro of Newark, cousins of the bride.

LuAnn Travisano will wed Patrick Anthony Benedetto

Mr. and Mrs. William Travisano of 10 Emily Ave., Nutley, announce the engagement of their daughter, LuAnn to Patrick Anthony Benedetto, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Benedetto of 456 Washington Ave., Belleville.

The troth was made known Nov. 8.

Miss Travisano, an alumna of Nutley High School, is with Wallace and Tiernan, Belleville.

Mr. Benedetto, also a Nutley High School graduate, is a private first class in the United States Marine Corps.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank celebrate 44th anniversary with trip

Steve H. and Evelyn M. Frank of 175 New St. celebrated their 44th anniversary with a five day trip to Puerto Rico which included a tour of the entire island.

The couple has four children, Jean of Jersey City, Susan of Nutley, Charles of Brattleboro, Vt., and Steve Jr. of Freedom, N.Y. There are also 14 grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Mr. Frank worked for Colgate, Jersey City, General Foods Research Center, Tarrytown, N.Y., and Wallace and Tiernan from which firm he retired. He has also handled public relations for entertainers and done some sports writing.

Mrs. Frank is retired from Walter Kidde in Clifton and Belleville and now does charity work.

Mr. and Mrs. James Mauncele — nee Debra Nardiello

Mauncele-Nardiello rites in Hazlet church

Miss Debra Ann Nardiello and James Anthony Mauncele were married in St. Ann's Church, Hazlet, with the Rev. Gregory Vaughn officiating at the double-ring ceremony. A reception followed at the Roman Inn, Hazlet.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Domenick Nardiello of Hazlet and Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Mauncele Jr. of Belleville.

Attending the bride were her sister, Ms. Brenda Nardiello as maid of honor. Bridesmaids included Ms. Angela Garaffa, Ms. Gina Carlinio, Ms. Ellen Guiry and Ms. Nancy Smith. Jeanne Colatrala was flower girl.

Nicholas Mauncele III was best man for his brother. Ushers were Anthony Nicosia, James Zuccone, Carmen Tridera and Sam DeLorenzo, all of Belleville.

Nicholas Mauncele IV was page. Mr. Mauncele is an alumna of Raritan High School. Mr. Mauncele, a graduate of Belleville High School, attended Chowan College, Murfreesboro, N.C., and owns Chancellor Cleaners, Irvington.

The couple has made their home in Irvington after honeymooning in the Poconos. The wedding took place Sept. 22.

Cops awarded for good work

Four Belleville police officers received commendation bars and several others were given letters of honorable mention during a ceremony at Town Hall Dec. 5. Police Chief Joseph Smith read the citations and Public Safety Director Matthew Pica made the presentations before families of the men and fellow officers.

A prowler fled police May 11, leaving behind a sawed-off shotgun, mask and cap in a car. Det. Fred Puleo, who was off-duty, gave chase, and Officers Ronald Edwards and Louis Pomponio eventually made the arrest.

The three men received commendation bars as did Sgt. Robert Estelle. Nine new cars were stolen from the Supreme Oldsmobile lot on Washington Avenue Aug. 4. Estelle and Officer George Sheridan, who won a letter of honorable mention, did some checking, and seven of the cars were recovered along the Belleville-Newark line.

Dets. William Escott and Michael Petrillo and Sgt. Philip Salmon received letters for their work in apprehending a prowler who had broken into a van June 12. Officers Peter Fraone, Joseph Simonetti and Joseph Larceri were also given letters of recognition by the Public Safety Department.

This is the second year such awards ceremonies have been held. The department hopes to put together a journal detailing annually the accomplishments of its men.

Car Hunt — Sgt. Robert Estelle accepts a handshake of congratulations from Public Safety Director Matthew Pica. Estelle was awarded a commendation bar for his work in recovering seven autos stolen from the Supreme Oldsmobile lot in August.

'79 saw BHS sports take upward course

It seems hard to believe, but the year 1979 and the decade of the '70s are coming to an end. The last 10 years have seen happy and sad times. Many breakthroughs occurred during the decade and of course, tragedy marred it all too often.

As for 1979, in the annals of Belleville sports, it was quite a year. From January to December, the Bucs gave their fans some moments to remember and displayed some exciting play that should carry over to a very successful decade of the '80s.

The year started out with the great success of the Belleville wrestling team. The Bucs finished 6-2-1 for the season, but once the "second season" as Coach Gene D'Alessandro puts it, started, the Bucs were untouchable. The team captured the district and sectional championships and finished in a tie for the championship of Essex County.

Many wrestlers shared the spotlight of success. Mike Stellatella was strong all year, Tom Graziano displayed great form as a sophomore, Lou Pomponio was impressive. Joe D'Agostino held his own against the state's best, Angelo Santinelli displayed a great deal of pride and courage. Ken Miele came through with some key victories and Chris Musmanno did what no other Buc wrestler had done in a long time, advance to the state finals.

Musmanno charged through the season untouched, winning 24 straight matches. His streak was snapped in the finals of the 158-pound championship match as he lost a tough 5-2 decision. There is some bad news for opposing wrestlers. Chris is back for another shot this season and wrestling in the 170-pound class, should be terror on the mat.

The boys' basketball team finished the season with four victories, the most notches in the win column since the 1974-75 season. At the conclusion of the campaign, Dan Grasso stepped down as head man after six years. The '79 season was highlighted by the fine play of senior Pete Martin and sophomore Wayne Bubet. Gary Farrar showed excellence at guard and Eddie Aulisi was a tough man to handle all year long. The Bucs finished with victories over Weehawken twice, Caldwell and St. Michael's.

The girls' basketball team accomplished a couple of firsts last season. Under the direction of Karen Fucello, the team finished with 16 wins, the most in the history of girls' basketball at Belleville. They made it to the semifinal round of the Essex County tournament for the first time.

Overall, the Buccanettes' record was an impressive 16-7. The team was led by junior Joyce Iacullo, seniors Karen Portuese, Denise Juliano, and Robin Giordano. Juliano earned the nickname, "Jack Lambert," because of her aggressive style of play, similar to that of the Steeler linebacker.

The Buccanettes' tough guard of last year was Denise Zarra, a 5-0 menace in sneakers who was nicknamed "Earnie." Her quick ballhandling made her a force to contend with and with Portuese gave the girls a fine backcourt tandem.

As winter melted into spring, the baseball team took off and turned in another spectacular season. Behind head coach George Zanfini, the Bucs finished at 18-4 for the second straight year and came within a game of winning the state title. The Bucs were upended in the Greater Newark Tournament by an upstart team from Irvington, but the defeat could not offset a fine season turned in by pitcher Dan Borgo. Borgo shattered all the records at Belleville High for most victories and strikeouts. Sophomore Anthony Coco finished with a 6-0 record and will be heard from for the next two seasons. Ed Aulisi, Belleville's all-season athlete, was a fine pitcher, and Mike Nicotia was spectacular in center-field and at the plate.

The golf team finished with an 11-2 mark to the surprise of most Bellevillites, some of whom did not know the team existed. Mike Salzarulo's group represented Belleville with class and style.

The track team did not win many meets but did have some members turn in some fine performances. For instance, Mike Graham, Joe D'Agostino and Karen Portuese advanced to the state finals in the half-mile, discus and javelin, respectively. Graham set the half-mile mark at Belleville High in a sizzling 1:59. Other top performances were turned in by Tom Graham in the mile and two-mile and by Ken Duva in the quarter-mile. Dana Caruso, only a sophomore, stunned everyone with some overwhelming victories in the half-mile, mile and two-mile.

As the weather cooled off towards autumn, the athletics got hotter. Almost everyone knows of the great success of this year's football team. The Bucs finished at 8-2 for the season, the team's best mark since 1962. The Bucs made the playoffs and lost a heartbreaker to Union, which went on to win the state title. Russ Pagano and Joe Garofolo were named first team all-state while Lenny Mendola and Dan Amadeo were named to the second team. Later, Pagano was named first team all-state and Garofolo second team. Mendola led the team in scoring with 102 points on 17 touchdowns.

The cross country team won only one meet but displayed a never-say-die attitude that exemplifies Belleville High sports. Tom Graham ended his cross country career by leading the team in scoring, and Caruso had a fine junior year and placed seventh in the counties.

The soccer team turned in a second straight winning season under first-year coach Anthony DeAquino. The Bucs were nosed out of the state playoffs by eventual state winner Columbia.

The girls' tennis team had a rebuilding season and finished with three victories. Joyce Iacullo, Rosie Leonidis and Carol Salerno led the team. The girls hope to be even more competitive next season with more girls trying out for the sport and a growing interest in tennis.

This brings us to the present. The boys' basketball team won its opener last Friday over Weehawken 60-43. The girls' team was victorious over Verona 39-26 and the wrestling team lost to an exceptionally good West Essex team 40-25. The wrestling team is loaded with talent and will be in the thick of things soon enough.

As for the basketball teams and the spring sports coming up in March, success is likely. The decade of the '70s and particularly the year 1979 were great times for Belleville. Let's hope to see more of it in the '80s.

Congratulations to the Buc football team on its final rankings of the season. The team was ranked 10th in the state and second in Essex County, losing out to Livingston of all teams. The Lancers, you might remember, were beaten by Belleville 35-8 on opening night. Both teams finished with two losses, with Livingston's other loss coming to Union in the state finals. Belleville lost to Union 15-12 in the first round of the state championships and Livingston lost 35-14. It seems since both teams finished with two losses and Belleville beat Livingston, the Bucs would finish the number one team in Essex County, but unfortunately it didn't happen.

The Jets and Giants closed out their regular seasons on different notes. The Jets beat Miami again, this time by a 27-24 score. The Jets have not lost to Miami since Nov. 6, 1977, when

Boys' hoop team belts Weehawken in opener

By Mike Lamberti

The debut of Fantasy Island was aired at Weehawken's gym last Friday night. Joe Papsidero who portrays Mr. Rourke, waved his magic wand and everyone lived happily ever after.

Translated, that means that the Fantasy Island boys, the Belleville Buccaneer basketball team, won their opener last Friday night, trouncing Weehawken 60-43. The game was originally scheduled for 3:45 p.m. at Belleville, but due to a mixup in the schedule, the game was switched to Weehawken.

No matter though, the Bucs came through like champions, winning their first opener since a 68-44 drubbing of Garfield back in 1974. The Bucs were host to Caldwell Tuesday and travel to Kearny tomorrow to face St. Cecilia.

You wouldn't believe how well the Bucs played. They jumped out to a 14-4 first-quarter lead. They led 28-16 at halftime. The lead extended to 41-28 after three quarters and the Bucs coasted in from there. It was quite a debut for rookie coach Papsidero, but he gave the credit to his players. "The kids played super defense," he said. "Rich Cook was awesome on the boards, Wayne Bubet and Bob Wittman were shooting well and the guards Eddie Aulisi and Gary Farrar controlled their press."

The Bucs' performance overshadowed a fine showing by Mike Jodice of Weehawken who led all scorers with 24 points. "We figured he'd get his points," said Papsidero. "We wanted to hold off the rest of the team. We did a pretty good job of that."

The Bucs were 17 for 25 from the important free throw line. They were led by junior sensation Wayne Bubet who popped in 23 points. Wittman also hit in double figures, scoring 17. Aulisi and Farrar had eight points apiece and Cook finished with four.

The season has only begun and there are still two solid months of basketball left. But to watch this team on the court, Belleville fans could only be enthused about the future of the club. Stay tuned for more of Fantasy Island.

Girl cagers top Verona

The continuing excellence of the Belleville High girls' basketball team was displayed Friday night as the locals routed the Chiefs of Verona 39-26.

Karen Fucello's Buccanettes, who finished 16-7 last year, are 1-0 and were host to Caldwell and Livingston earlier this week.

Fucello was pleased with her team's debut. "We played very well defensively and could have scored more had I decided to go to the press," she said. "Our depth is not that great and therefore I didn't want to risk anything by trying to press. We were pretty conservative and played our zone quite well. Overall, I was happy with our performance."

The first half was a see-saw battle as both teams traded baskets without gaining any advantage. The

Buccaneer matmen stopped by West Essex Knights 40-25

By Mike Olohan

Was it opening day jitters, inexperience, lack of aggressiveness, overconfidence, too much cautiousness or you-name-it that caused Belleville's varsity wrestlers to drop a 40-25 decision to West Essex, a team they had battled to a 24-24 tie last year?

West Essex Coach Dan Moskowitz thought his matmen had the edge in aggressiveness, a point that Belleville Coach Gene D'Alessandro would not exactly agree to, but admitted was probably part of the problem.

"I don't know whether I expected that many pins," said Moskowitz of the six falls executed by his team. "They all wanted it. We were pretty strong last year, but a lot of times we lost, but this year we have a balanced team," he said, adding "It's obvious from their performance that our guys were psyched up for this."

"We have a very much inexperienced team with a lot of younger players...we don't take a loss as seriously as some people think. I didn't want to see them get that overly upset over a loss. Wrestling is an individual sport, but the game of sports is not just winning or losing, it's just being proud of your effort," stressed D'Alessandro.

D'Alessandro had hedged on making any predictions before the match, but it's obvious he backs his wrestlers 100 percent. "I'm behind them all the way whether they win or lose. It's like teaching in a classroom: If a kid makes a mistake, you just go back over the problem with him until he gets it right. Life's too short to get upset over a defeat," he added.

Several hundred spectators filled Belleville High's gymnasium to watch the varsity bouts and were treated to instant success when 101-pounder Tom Graziano rode his opponent all over the mat, blanking him 8-0 for a 4-0 team score.

However, the next five Belleville wrestlers lost, four of them on pins, which created stretches of quiet filled by West Essex supporters and cheerleaders shouting encouragement.

Lou Ricciardi (108) was pinned by Chris DeFrance at 5:13, while Lou Pomponio was decisively by Tom Mattia (115) by an 11-3 count.

Gerard Minichini (122) fought a tight battle, leading 3-0, before the "tough and spunky" kid he was wrestling, said D'Alessandro, simply caught him by surprise and pinned him at 3:37 of the second.

Dave Haight (129) was within 46 seconds of finishing his bout when pinned by Rich Kelly of West Essex, while Jim Lombard (135) was nailed at 2:09 by opponent Glen Radli.

In the seventh match, Belleville's Bob Scherrer (141) decisively Bob Gorman 5-1, but McCarthy of West Essex pinned Dan Palumbo at 5:01 in the 148-pound bout.

However, after 158-pounder Adrich pinned Belleville's Brian McManus at 2:54, Buc matmen, led by Chris Musmanno, racked up three final pins for 18 points.

Musmanno was all over 170-pounder Tim Gordon from the start, leading 13-3 and finally pinning him at 4:50. Before the crowd could catch its breath, 188-pounder Rich Racioppi nailed Dave Kreeger at 34 seconds. Quickly following, heavyweight Anthony D'Agostino threw and pinned a heavier Mike Ferraro at 55 seconds.

The crowd loved it, but it just wasn't enough.

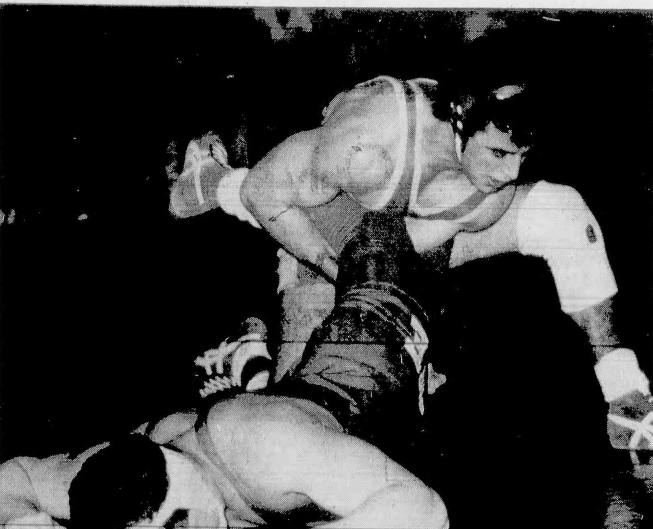

"We always try to do well for my home fans, but it's not really the winning or losing that counts," said D'Alessandro. "We have one of the

Cheering program tonight at School 3

A cheerleading instruction program for girls in the seventh grade and up begins tonight at School 3. The session will run 8-9 p.m. each Thursday.

Cheers used in tryouts for freshman and varsity cheerleading will be taught by two instructors. Girls are required to wear sneakers.

Little Trouble — Chris Musmanno maneuvers Tim Gordon in the 170-pound bout of Saturday's wrestling opener at Belleville High. Musmanno built up a 13-3 lead before pinning his West Essex opponent at 4:50, the first fall of the season registered by a Buc wrestler. As a team, though, the Bucs did not fare so well.

Health Spa conquers in men's cage action

The Health Spa raised its record to 2-0 by defeating the Lakers 77-49 in Men's Basketball League action last week. L. Wagner, who scored 21 points, and G. Sodera paced the Spa.

Then Play On edged the Record Shop 64-62 in a see-saw battle. John Brillo led TPO, now 2-0, with 21 points. Rich Kelly had 18 points for the Record Shop.

Jack Scura's 28 points proved too much as OPAC beat Small World 71-57. Frank-Mauro added 19 points for OPAC, while Rich Baker scored 24 for Small World.

In a big match-up, Nu-Plas rebounded from a 12-point deficit to edge Chief Motors 47-43. Tony Cotugno's 19 points and Bruce Gardner's 17 spearheaded the Nu-Plas attack.

Triple "S" Sport Shop walloped the Red Shingle 84-44. Ed Jernigan's 23 points, A. Carr's 22 and Abdel Anderson's 20 led a solid Triple "S" attack. Mark Veniero had 19 points for Red Shingle.

Rocco Marotti and Robert

Thrash scored 19 points apiece to lead the Knicks to a 61-47 victory over J&R Construction. Lauman Goon scored 26 points for J&R.

Senior Boys' Basketball

The returning champion Honda team continued on the winning track as the 1979-80 Belleville Recreation Senior Boys' Basketball League tipped off action last week.

Steve Coffey and Mike Nicosia scored 16 and 15 points, respectively, to lead Honda past the 69'ers 43-26. Bill Thompson was the top scorer for the 69'ers with 10 points.

John Melillo almost single-handedly led Clifton Avenue to its 55-33 victory over DeBacco's as he sunk 29 points. Tom O'Kean threw in 14 for DeBacco's.

The Silver Lakers chalked up their first win of the young season as they bested T-Bird Service 40-22. Sam DeCapua's 17 points and Anthony Coco's 15 were enough to beat T-Bird, which was led by Gerard Tucci and Dave Volpe with six points apiece.

In a game that was discontinued by mutual agreement due to the outrageously lopsided score, Mickey Music mauled the Maniacs 59-7. David Carey's 14 points and Barry Taylor's 12 led the scoring, for Mickey Music.

Initial Victory — Tom Graziano puts a hold on Joe Tufariello in the 101-pound bout Saturday at BHS. Graziano won an 8-0 decision, giving Belleville four team points that were all the Bucs were to get for awhile.

Buc matmen drop opener

tougher schedules in the area and we're out to go against the best teams. We want to see where we stand individually," said the coach. "We don't take any match easily, you have to be a worker to be involved in sports," he added, noting that most wrestlers practice four hours every day after school.

D'Alessandro conceded that Belleville is weak in several weight classes, "but we'll perform to the best of our ability." He said Belleville was simply overpowered in some weights but stressed he expects those same wrestlers who lost to do much better in the future.

Tomorrow starting 6:30 p.m., the local matmen host Springfield, the defending Union County champ. "Again, you might see changes in the lineup," said D'Alessandro, noting that some javve wrestlers have impressed him and may soon be joining the varsity.

BHS girls take opener 39-26

Bucs led 10-6 after the first quarter and held the same four-point lead, 16-12, at intermission.

In the third quarter, Belleville came out winging, and thanks to saggy great defense by Maria DiPaolo, the Buccanettes put the game out of reach by outscoring Verona 9-2. As the fourth quarter started, Belleville led 25-14.

Verona desperately tried to come back, but the Buccanettes would not be deprived, hitting on key foul shots. Verona never came within nine points, as the local girls coasted home.

For Belleville, the scoring was balanced. Joyce Iacullo, the team's top scorer of a year ago, popped in 11 points. Dawn Ritacco, perhaps the team's most improved player, turned in 10 points and dominated the boards. Robin Giordano survived some first-half jitters and was her usual awesome self on defense. Overall, she popped in nine points. Carol Salerno, who teams up with Iacullo in the backcourt, found the range early and scored eight points. Rosie Leonidis, a sophomore with outstanding potential, closed out the locals' scoring with one point.

For Verona, Kirsten Sullivan scored nine points and Cara Hudson chipped in seven.

Fucello closed with these comments: "I'm looking for a little scoring from Joyce (Iacullo). I hope to use the press later in the season because it could be a good weapon. But overall, it's nice to start out with a win." — Mike Lamberti

Trustees ignored committee report

nout was poor, averaging about 20 to 30 persons, and because they were not given school budgets ahead of time, most remained quiet while others often asked specific questions pertaining to money budgeted for their schools — questions trustees usually could not answer because they said the budgets were "tentative."

However, most citizens were told by trustees, and often by former Board President Matthew Pica, that "all their questions" would be answered at the final budget hearing vote at the high school first scheduled for Thursday, March 15.

On March 12, after being bombarded by citizens demanding action against the state's desegregation mandate, trustees switched the final public hearing to Friday, March 16. Most citizens apparently didn't realize a final vote would be taken then.

In between setting March 15 as the final budget hearing, then changing it to March 16 (not even in the high school auditorium), trustees had been saying Monday, March 19, at the high school would be the final hearing.

Apparently, many citizens thought March 19 was still the final hearing date since trustees did not go out of their way to inform townspeople March 16 was now the final hearing when "all their questions" would be answered.

On March 16, Pica noted that trustees had "other commitments" for March 19 and had canceled the meeting. Incredibly, no one showed March 16 to question the budget, and in about 15 minutes, in the shortest meeting of 10 hearings, an $11,275,576 budget had been approved.

Only Joe Fornarotto, then a Town Commission candidate, was present and asked trustees to delay the final vote until more citizens could ask questions. However, trustees refused, saying the meeting had been properly announced and advertised.

Why the final budget meeting's date was changed three times remains a mystery, as does the importance of trustees' "other commitments."

Noticeably absent, in fact canceled, from trustees' scheduled budget hearings was Belleville's Junior High School. No budget from the Junior High was made public. Over the past 20 years, trustees have avoided spending the money necessary to fully repair the school's rotting window sills, leaking roof, jammed windows, poor lighting and inefficient heating system, which forces teachers to open windows on freezing days because some classrooms are so hot.

Claiming constant budget defeats have made it impossible for them to adequately repair deteriorating, sometimes hazardous buildings, trustees ask for local support to pass the budget. Some feel they undercut their credibility by waiting until a minor problem turns into an "emergency" before acting.

The budget packet breakdown proposed last year consisted of detailed budget line items for each school, two graphs for the past and present year showing price contrasts — amounts and percents derived from taxes, aid, tuition, and a specific listing of expenses.

Before the recommended budget hearings even began last January, however, Mike Ippolito, the secretary, abruptly resigned when he discovered trustees had decided to ignore many budget committee suggestions, while also downplaying the importance of properly presenting the budget to citizens.

Despite lavish praise for the budget committee and its report, trustees ignored presenting cost comparisons between schools (what many parents asked for) or visually showing by pie graphs what percentages were involved.

Separate pages for accounts like "Anticipated Revenue," "Administration," "Instruction," "Health Services," "Transportation Services," "Operation of Plants," "Maintenance of Plants," "Fixed Charges," "Food Services," "Capital Outlay" and "Debt Service," with listings of major increases and decreases over the years were recommended, but not included.

A table comparing assessed valuation, total school budgets, local taxes needed for the budget, total tax rate, school tax rate, average enrollment and cost per pupil over the last 10 years was recommended but not included in the budget booklets distributed at individual schools, nor at the final March 16 meeting.

However, in the "final" tentative budget, a cost comparison between each school was included, although few people saw it.

Residents were confronted by four pages of numbers, comparing a multitude of school costs over the last three years, upon reading their budget booklets at each meeting. Despite the committee recommendation, budgets were not delivered a week early to each school so parents and area residents could peruse and formulate intelligent questions.

"An annual budget can no longer be construed as a mere listing of probable expenditures, but should be more specific in indicating the purposes and objectives of the educational program in terms of dollars and cents," the committee recommends a newsletter be prepared and available for distribution through each school explaining contractual and variable items which can be color-coded showing those areas that have already been fixed," states its report.

"The committee feels change is overdue...and the new procedure will instill confidence in the budget, and hopefully with the inclusion of Home and School Associations, PTAs and teacher organizations, (it) will culminate in a successful budget presentation," read the report.

Pressured by their own desegregation deadline of Jan. 31, 1980, to submit a "restructuring" plan, trustees may again decide not to present a more detailed, comprehensive budget plan. With costs, especially for fuel, skyrocketing they may very well have cut into maintenance improvements, educational programs and possibly jobs if the budget is defeated. That increases the pressure to present have the budget presented in such a way that voters can understand it in detail.

Lamberti's Buc Shots

the Dolphins won 14-10 at Shea Stadium. However, Miami is in the playoffs despite losing to the Jets twice this season. The Jets finished with an 8-8 record. The Giants played absolutely terrible football in losing to the Baltimore Colts 31-7. The Colts had a worse record than the Giants, but to watch the game (which I left early), you'd never know it. The Giants finished the season at 6-10.

One of the finest football games I've ever seen was played this past weekend at Dallas. I'm referring to the Cowboy-Redskin battle that was televised by Channel 2. Washington blew a 34-21 lead late in the game and lost to Dallas 35-34. Unfortunately, they also lost out on the playoffs because the Chicago Bears had a better point ratio than the Redskins. That does seem a bit absurd.

The NFL playoffs should be quite interesting with first-round action this weekend. Philadelphia plays Chicago and Houston plays either San Diego or Denver. In either case, when the smoke clears, look for Pittsburgh and Dallas in Pasadena for Super Bowl XIV.

Here's the answer to last week's quiz. The question was "Whom did the Mets obtain when they traded Rusty Staub to Detroit in 1976?" The answer: Mickey Lolich. Lolich played one year with the Mets and was 8-13. He left the team the following year and is now a relief pitcher with the San Diego Padres. As for Staub, he turned in three strong seasons for the Tigers.

Here is this week's quiz. The Chicago Bears last made the playoffs in 1977, but were beaten in the first round. Who was the team that beat the Bears and where was the game played?

Finally, I'd like to wish all of you a very merry Christmas and happy holidays!

Students at Junior High find trip to New York interesting

By Ava Zarrello

Sixty-four seventh grade science students from Belleville Junior High went to the American Museum of Natural History Nov. 30. The bus left for New York at 9 a.m.

Among the exhibits the students saw was the well known Hayden Planetarium, a wonderful experience for all.

Other exhibits were the Old of Eldorado which shows the history of Colorado, the Theodore Roosevelt Memorial and, of course, the giant-sized heart.

The group, led by Joe DiPasquale and Suzanne Rego, returned home at 5 p.m. An enjoyable time and interesting experience was had by all.

Christmas Cookies — A smile, grin, stare and sigh are evident on the faces of (l-r) Dennis Boniecki, Eugene Gencarelli, Tara Giovani and Laraine Nesto as they hold up an assorted array of edible Christmas ornaments. Mrs. Janik's School 3 second grade class also made handprints in gold-painted clay which they could present to their parents for Christmas.

School 5 pupils go to D.C.

By Joe Fischer and Michele DeMeo

Marcia Garcia, David Harrison, Colleen Kelleher, Christopher Nardone, Linda Pissotti, Vincent Puccio and Geoffrey Valente were students from School 5 who took a trip to Washington, D.C., Nov. 28 and 29.

Students take scoliosis tests

Belleville High School for the last week has been conducting scoliosis testing in the gym classes.

Scoliosis is a curvature of the spine which in time can cause death or a grotesque appearance in the person. The disease can cause a hunchback position and may even crush the lungs.

The test for scoliosis has now become mandatory in all New Jersey schools.

A total of 40 pupils went along. Patrice Pagano is the teacher of the sixth graders who have IQs ranging from 115 to 135.

Fourteen students from Schools 5, 7, 4 and 9 meet at School 5 every morning. Twenty-six students from Schools 8, 1, 3 and 10 meet each afternoon at School 8.

The courses that are taught to these students are the same as those in the high school. Algebra, ancient history, foreign language, environmental science, sociology and international relations are a few of them. Learning about international relations was what prompted the trip to Washington.

Miss Pagano believed that the trip would give the students a chance to see exactly what they were learning. She also felt that the responsibility which was given to the students would help them greatly in future endeavors. Lastly, Miss Pagano believed the trip was just a good time which she felt was necessary in any learning process.

The trip itself was a full tour of Washington. The FBI Building, the U.S. Treasury, Lincoln Memorial, Washington Monument, Arlington Cemetery, the White House and over 15 other sites were visited. While at the White House, the Belleville students received a private tour and saw rooms not ordinarily open to the general public. They got a glimpse of Mrs. Carter, which no one had expected. According to Miss Pagano, the lessons of the trip were something that the students really had to experience, not have taught to them.

A trip to see the New York Experience is being planned for later in the year. This trip will again be used as a teaching experience for the international relations class.

Twinkling, tiny specks of white... distant galaxies which we have yet to explore attract and fascinate us as we wonder, gaze and aimlessly search the skies above.

But just what are these twinkling, often infinitesimal flecks of light made of, how did they begin and what do they mean to us?

Swirling gases collide and join, expanding outward. When the temperature reaches minus 280 degrees Fahrenheit, hydrogen is formed and then a nebula at minus three degrees Kelvin (absolute zero).

As the gases continue to collide, more kinetic energy is formed. With the kinetic energy caused by friction, more heat is given off, causing the electron atoms to become active. As the cloud continues to grow, it can stretch more than 100 million miles.

From the time a star begins until its completion takes about 10 million years. Once the star's expansion reaches a certain point, a supernova explosion may occur, causing it to contract, and when the core because of contraction hits 10 million degrees Celsius, nuclear fusion begins. By converting its hydrogen atoms to helium, the nuclear process continues.

"The stars are just like nuclear power plants, and if the gravity (pull) is greater on the star, you will (later) have a black hole where the star once was," said Gary Swangin, director of the Newark Museum last Friday. Swangin visited two advanced groups of physics students at Belleville High School. His talk was arranged by Bess Esfathiou, science coordinator for grades 7-12.

About 60 students came voluntarily to hear Swangin speak, and he tantalized them by mentioning the mysterious black holes throughout his talk while clearly explaining that the normal stars are many times the size of earth "and would (easily) fill a major portion of our solar system."

To give students some perspective on the size of a star, he noted that you need about 10 to the 57th power (or 10 with 57 zeros after it) of atoms to make a regular star, while all the grains of sand on the earth equal only 10 to the 25th power.

"Baby stars appear infrared when they first appear because they're so small. When you look for beginning ist, "but if you took the sun and (shrunk) it down to two miles wide, it would become invisible. That's (two-mile line) is called its horizon line."

Were an astronaut to inadvertently fall into a black hole, said Swangin, "you would forever see that astronaut tumbling into that hole if you looked into it." Swangin said because traveling at super fast speeds appears to slow something down, the image of the astronaut falling into the hole would always be there, creating an eerie, spine-chilling sight.

Swangin attended Rutgers University in Newark, Mas-

Galaxy Gazer — Newark Museum Director Gary Swangin spoke before several groups of advanced physics students two weeks ago at BHS. Swangin discussed star formation and black holes. Science coordinator Bess Esfathiou arranged Swangin's visit.

stars, they're hard to find because (its beginning) is a very rapid stage," said Swangin.

"The sun is resting right now; it's in the prime of its life, it's in a state of hydrostatic equilibrium. The core, which was once mostly hydrogen, has now converted over billions of years to helium," he added.

Swangin said the sun still has several hundred million years to exsachusetts Institute of Technology and Columbia University in New York and has been Newark Museum director for 13 years.

"I write the planetarium shows and articles on astronomy and physics...yes, I like talking to high school students. It helps open up new vistas of knowledge for them," he said, quickly walking through the hallway to address his second class.

Band director sees class trip a 'hair' away

By Sue Cardillo

The 1979-80 Belleville High School band and drill team have gone to many extremities, to coin a phrase, "make a buck!"

The senior high always has many little vendors selling band candy and perfumed candles and asking for interested customers all the time.

Now the band director, Mr. Silbert, has taken it one step further. At the moment, dealings with shampoo are being conducted. Five types of Henco Hair-care Product are being sold. They weigh 16 ounces and cost $2.50. A Lemon Sparkle cream rinse is also being sold for after-shampoo use.

With all these money-making, sure-fire plans, the band has raised $6,000 out of the $14,000 they need for the trip to Disney World in May.

Mr. Silbert said he has many more profit-making ideas in mind for the future. So all you pushovers at BHS, watch out!

Junior class plans activities for year

By Ralph Piccininni

After a successful presentation of the sales of Thanksgiving corsages, the junior class will start displaying class pins with the insignia, '81, at prices around $5. This is something to get junior students involved until graduation, says Mr. Giuffrida, the class advisor.

Also in the upcoming weeks, a Christmas special will be held to raise money for charity. Students from the sophomore, junior and senior classes are to sit in groups to spread Christmas spirit around Belleville. Afterwards, they will meet at the high school for a Christmas party in the cafeteria.

In the future, juniors plan on having a volleyball marathon to raise money for the class. Mr. Giuffrida hopes to gather some faculty members and volunteers for a successful volleyball game. The teams will be mixed, and all juniors are welcome to attend.

Christmas Toys — Rich Vitiello and Michael Nicosia, members of the BHS Future Teachers of America, wrap up Christmas presents under the tree. The presents are part of a toy drive sponsored by the club. The toys are going to be given to the Children's Shelter here in Belleville.

Belleville High's first honor roll shows 38 students made all A's

A total of 307 students have been named to Belleville High School's regular honor roll released this week. Thirty-eight students received high honors for the first marking period.

The 15 seniors with perfect grades were Edward Aulisi, Gary Cicci, Marie Clarizio, Anthony Colasurdo, Kathy Constantino, John DeCesare, Joseph Diaco, Joanne Frederick, Scott Grisanti, Thomas Hammell, Marilyn McCaffrey, Christopher Musmanno, Michael Sheldon, Cathy Tattoli and Nicholas Vitelli.

The 15 juniors with straight A's were Michael Calabrese, Robert DePrizio, George Dulski, Toni Gripaldi, Michelle Jeannotte, Donna Jones, Anna Longo, Kathleen Murphy, Marianne Poito, Wendy Rovell, Diana Sheldon, Lisa Sherr, Ruby Therese, Ronald Wittman and Ava Zarrello.

Interest from day of deposit to maturity, continuously compounded and credited quarterly. Annual yields apply when interest and principal are left on deposit for a full year.

Federal penalty regulations on Time Savings Accounts

In the event the depositor is allowed to withdraw all or part of his deposit before maturity, Federal Regulations provide for the forfeiture of 3 months interest on Time Savings Accounts with maturities of 1 year or less and a forfeiture of 6 months interest on accounts with maturities of more than 1 year.

Contractor isn't going to court for first time

preclude any new entrance of new bidders for the scavenger contract... and as such, prejudiced my client and grossly favored the existing scavenger contractor..." Paoletta wrote.

The attorney requested that the town not award the contract and readvertise, but commissioners decided to accept Pucillo's bid and risk a court fight. "I see no reason not to award this bid if you're inclined to," advised Town Attorney

Frank Zinna.

Commissioners then debated which of Pucillo's three bids to accept. Besides the three- and five-year offers, Pucillo had presented a one-year bid for $440,000. The three-year contract works out to an annual rate of $500,000, the five-year contract would have cost $536,000 annually. The costs were adjusted upwards with the longevity of the contracts to take inflation into account.

The one-year bid was never seriously considered. "You could have it for a year and then it would come in even higher (for 1981)," said Mayor Michael Marotti.

Commissioners Vincent Strumolo and Joseph McGreevy favored the five-year contract, saying it would be a hedge against the skyrocketing costs of garbage disposal that are expected in the next decade. "I think we're going to have problems no matter what we do," said McGreevy, "but we're guaranteeing ourselves for the next five years."

Commissioner Matthew Pica pointed out that the town would soon be experiencing difficulties staying within the state-mandated budget caps and said the town might be able to help itself more in the short run by going for the cheaper three-year contract. Pica, Marotti and Public Works Director Mary Senatore voted against Strumolo's motion for the five-year contract, and the commissioners then unanimously agreed to accept the three-year bid.

The same night, the Cedar Grove Township Council rejected a lone scavenger bid from its present contractor and voted to readvertise for Jan. 7. Cedar Grove had much more time to work with than Belleville, however, since its contract runs out in April, rather than January.

Capasso told The Times/News Tuesday that Belleville had delayed bidding time and again. "What disturbs me most in this whole matter is that back in August I asked when the bids would be let," Capasso said. "They didn't know. Call back in September. I called back in September. Same thing."

Capasso added that he thought commissioners didn't need to readvertise bids last month but could have made the specification changes simply by sending memos to the bidders modifying the contract language.

This is not the first time Capasso has fought with the town over awarding of its garbage contract. In 1973, commissioners voted to extend Pucillo's contract two years. They had let out bids; but on the night they were to be opened voted not to accept them. The Public Utilities Commission had ruled the week before that scavenger service was a utility, and the town interpreted this to mean that garbage contracts were exempt from bidding.

Capasso contended that the Pucillo extension was illegal since the public contract law demands bids on items above $2,500. He took his case to Superior Court and the judge ordered the town to readvertise. Belleville and Pucillo sought to overturn the ruling in the Appellate Division, but Capasso was upheld in June 1974. The State Supreme Court refused to hear the town's appeal, and Belleville was finally forced to readvertise.

The reason commissioners had given for wanting to extend Pucillo's contract was that the town wasn't likely to get so low an annual price as the $428,000 the Lodi firm was charging. Once the bids were relet, however, they got an even lower price, a $370,000 annual average in a five-year, $1.85 million contract.

Public apathy angers board

by another school closing in 1981-82.

However, parent and public apathy has trustees and committee members angry. "This has been the best publicized meeting to date. Where are all the concerned citizens? Where is everybody? What's it going to be, when the final report comes out, is it that when everybody's going to come out screaming?" asked Janik, obviously annoyed.

"It's very disconcerting to find such low attendance. We wanted feedback, we wanted to know what people think, we wanted to make sure suggestions by citizens are not overlooked. It upsets me to see such a poor turnout even though this is a very busy time of year," she said.

Before Wednesday's JHS meeting, almost 40 people had shown up at each restructuring committee presentation at Schools 3, 4 and 7. No trustees were present Wednesday, although JHS Principal Mario DiMaggio and Vice Principal John Ciccone were there but left after 30 minutes.

When Maassmann told Janik most people feel powerless and thus avoid politics, she stated, "If people had always felt they couldn't do anything, we'd still be 13 colonies under England. You have to keep struggling along. Apparently, people become so embroiled in their own interests they say 'I'll leave it up to the other guy,' but it seems everybody's leaving it up to the other guy."

Alternative proposals for trip being studied

Bus transportation to Florida would cost $13,509 for 125 persons — 115 students and 10 chaperones. By train, it would cost $14,125 and by airplane $20,375. The tour of Florida itself would cost $13,656.

At a Nov. 19 Board of Education meeting, DeCesare stressed, "We felt the train is the better way to go because of the fatigue factor," noting the train takes 21 hours to reach Florida while buses take about 24. He said because buses would stop more often than trains, it would be even harder to keep track of the 115 band students.

The question now is whether parents will contribute the needed $75 apiece to finance the trip and if the band's fund-raising activities live up to expectations.

Although Trustee Peter Clarizio thought board members should donate to the trip, Trustee Charles Miele warned they might be setting a bad precedent by giving away money. No decision was made on giving any funds toward the trip.

Trustee Anthony D'Agostino

Belleville girl sings in Chatham concert

Nancy Idenden of Belleville sang in the Chatham College Choir's Nov. 17 concert with the University of Pittsburgh Men's Glee Club.

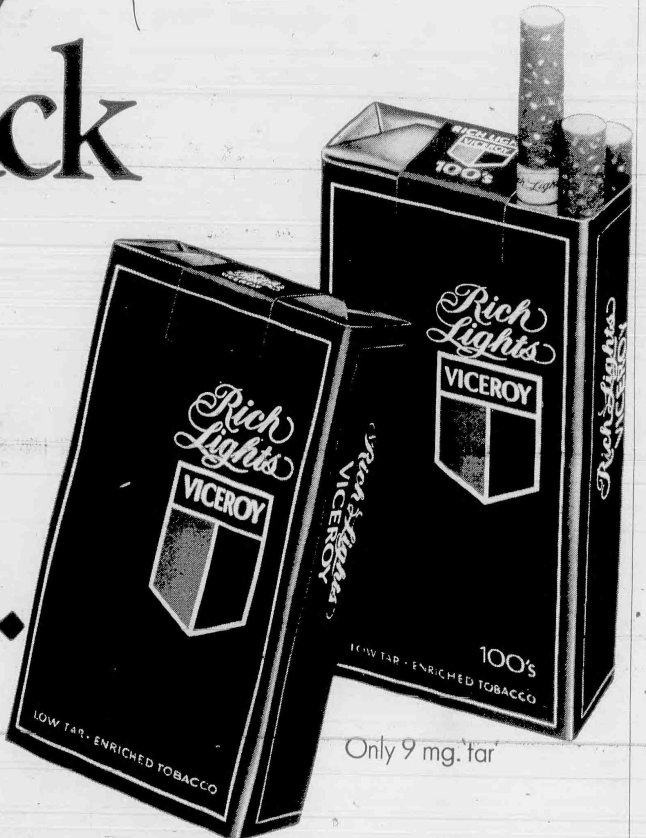

Miss Idenden, a senior, sings first alto in the 42-voice women's choir and is also choir treasurer. A math and music major at the 110-year-old women's liberal arts college in Pittsburgh, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Idenden of Tappan Avenue.
