Trustees' budget at cap but further cuts are due

A tentative school budget of $12,392,455 was submitted to Essex County Superintendent Howard White yesterday, but school trustees say they hope to make further cuts below Belleville's state-mandated 10.26 percent budget cap limit.

The $12 million budget is, even with its "cap" figure, up from the $11,275,576 in 1979-'80 which had a 6.38 percent cap. Caps, budget ceilings first imposed by the legislature in 1976, are designed to limit increases in both municipal and school budgets. Each year, a town's cap figure is readjusted according to a formula taking into account population, tax rates, tax equalization rate (the difference between the amount of local land and what percent can be taxed) and local tax rate based on county, municipal and school services.

If the present tentative budget were approved by trustees — and that's very unlikely — it would raise taxes $96 on a $40,000 home. Last year, after much haggling and over two months of budget hearings, a budget exactly even with cap was approved. Caps were raised between 9 and 11 percent for all school districts this year because of increasing budget pressure from rising fuel costs, utilities, insurance and salaries.

Administrators cut the tentative budget $250,000 even before it was approved Monday, said School Superintendent Dr. John Greed, noting he'd be opposed to further cuts. Last year, the amount residents paid for schools increased 8.08 percent or $561,795, and it's expected to be even higher this year with an increased cap.

Although the $12 million budget is now even with cap, trustees note that rising fixed costs may limit the amount they can slice from the tab. However, they'll have to do some in-depth explaining, with details, if they expect any budget to pass.

If the county superintendent okays the tentative budget as expected, local officials say one budget hearing will be held in March before the board takes a final vote.

Trustees have stressed that because of the state building aid grant referendum this coming Wednesday and the soon-to-come "restructuring" report, they've been forced to push aside budget hearings, although critics contend once again trustees have failed to adequately plan in advance for the proper presentation of important school issues.

"This is a tentative budget, it's not in shape, it's got to be trimmed. Because utilities and energy costs are up so much, it's hurting us a lot," said Greed.

Most trustees repeated that the budget must be reviewed more, and most had "no idea" where cuts could be made. Because the state has always returned most of the money cut by commissioners after a local budget defeat, schoolers point out that their budgets are sound, but citizens just refuse to approve them.

Whether trustees can convince citizens the money is needed, especially with rising prices all over, will mean the difference between budget success or defeat. Unfortunately, some trustees already concede defeat, saying no matter what's done, Belleville voters will defeat the budget because it's almost a knee-jerk reaction against higher taxes they feel they can't control.

POLLS OPEN WEDNESDAY

Town votes next week on school building aid

If Belleville voters don't approve the $679,000 free state building aid grant referendum being held this coming Wednesday, the money will simply go to another town and residents will then be forced to pay out of their own pockets if they want to add four new industrial arts classrooms onto the high school.

The voting will be held from 2-9 p.m. at Schools 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 7, 8, 9 and 10, the junior and senior highs, the Rec House on Jorammon Street and American Legion Hall on Washington Avenue. Nervous public officials have been urging a big turnout Wednesday, fearful that a small but organized opposition might otherwise defeat the referendum.

Although school trustees have repeatedly emphasized that no local taxes will be increased by the referendum's passage, they don't wish to leave anything to chance, so the long-awaited report of Belleville's "restructuring" committee, has been postponed until Feb. 4 to avoid confusion with the bond referendum.

If the $679,000 free building aid grant is passed, the local district must float bonds to obtain the money. The state will then pay off the bonds gradually over the next 20 to 25 years. But the $679,000 belongs to Belleville, no strings attached, except that it must be used to build vocational or industrial arts classrooms under the high school's administrative wing.

Over the years, trustees have cringed when discussing Belleville's small course offerings in vocational education, pointing out that something must be done to improve vocational training and experience for students here. By approving the $679,000 free building aid grant, trustees say Belleville voters will be fulfilling a long-postponed dream.

Despite criticism that they may be underestimating the cost of the total project, trustees say even if additional funding is necessary for industrial arts equipment, furniture and extra teachers (the money might again be available from the state),

Administrators' contract signed with little dissent

By a vote of 5-0 Monday, School Board members ended 26 months of tedious, often abrasive negotiations with the 20-member administrators' union, approving a 20 percent salary increase over the next four years.

Although administrators were looking for a yearly raise of about 7 percent, they got only about 5 percent along with longevity benefits, which total only several hundred dollars after many years.

The agreement was cast Dec. 14 when both sides signed a memo of understanding before a long-scheduled fact-finding session was to take place. The agreement ended an impasse of 19 months with no negotiations whatsoever.

There was no clapping at Monday's official signing, but several smiles and handshakes were exchanged along with the signatures of the administrators' chief negotiator, George Nucera, and Board President Ralph Risoli.

The contract is retroactive to 1977 and remains in effect through the 1980-81 school year. Longevity payments, which were an obstacle, crept into the final contract awarding administrators $200 extra after 20 years and $250 after 25 years.

Trustee Mike Chieffo was the only dissenter from the contract but was off the stage at the high school auditorium when a final vote was taken and didn't vote.

Yearly increases of 5.5 percent for 1977-78, 5.75 percent for 1978-79, 6.25 percent for 1979-80 and 6.5 percent for 1980-81 were negotiated. "I'm very happy at the ceaseless efforts made by the board and us," said Archibald Gallombardo, the administrators' spokesman. "There's been a meeting of the minds."

Before signing an initial agreement, both sides met privately after several public airings of complaints against each other. The administrators embarrassed trustees by walking out of a Nov. 26 public meeting vowing not to attend any more night meetings until a contract settlement was reached.

Chieffo had told The Times last week that because Nucera, the Belleville system's director of grants, is getting a $2,000 salary raise "and has not yet got us one single grant, I'm going to vote no." Nucera is also Title I director for all Belleville schools.

In July 1978, Chieffo, along with former Board President Matthew Pica, voted against creating a $26,681 director of grants position, stressing that the post was unnecessary and voting for it would be a misuse of funds. Chieffo vehemently objected, saying he thought the appointment was just a political favor. Other trustees foresaw state and federal funds 10 times Nucera's salary immediately beginning to flow into Belleville.

Nucera has repeatedly and emphatically told trustees that both

By-laws to be drawn for new athletic loop

Although an Essex County Athletic Conference probably will not be starting until 1983, Belleville school trustees are more optimistic than ever that they'll have enough support from neighboring towns to begin a strong league by then.

Although Belleville and Passaic are the only towns definitely committed to a new league, Nutley, Seton Hall Prep, Montclair, Kearny, Bloomfield and Irvington are all keenly interested in joining.

At the latest area meeting on the new conference last Wednesday in Belleville, representatives from here, Nutley, Kearny and Seton Hall decided to formulate some definite by-laws for the league and were elated when Seton Hall's Joe Walsh and Nutley's John Jacone said they'd meet together Jan. 28 for that purpose.

Walsh said he wasn't sure how long it would take before the final by-laws would be ready, but it's expected to be several months. "I think many of the teams that are now interested will lose interest if we don't soon come up with some by-laws," Jacone warned.

After the idea of a new suburban league was suggested by Nutley Trustee Jerry Restaino several months ago, Belleville Board President Ralph Risoli and Trustee Caesar Romano began making phone calls, providing the full-scale promotion necessary to getting talks for the new league started.

Last week, Nutley Trustee Jim Murray suggested the new league be called the "Vince Lombardi League," and those present agreed that would be a good title, but left the door open for other suggestions.

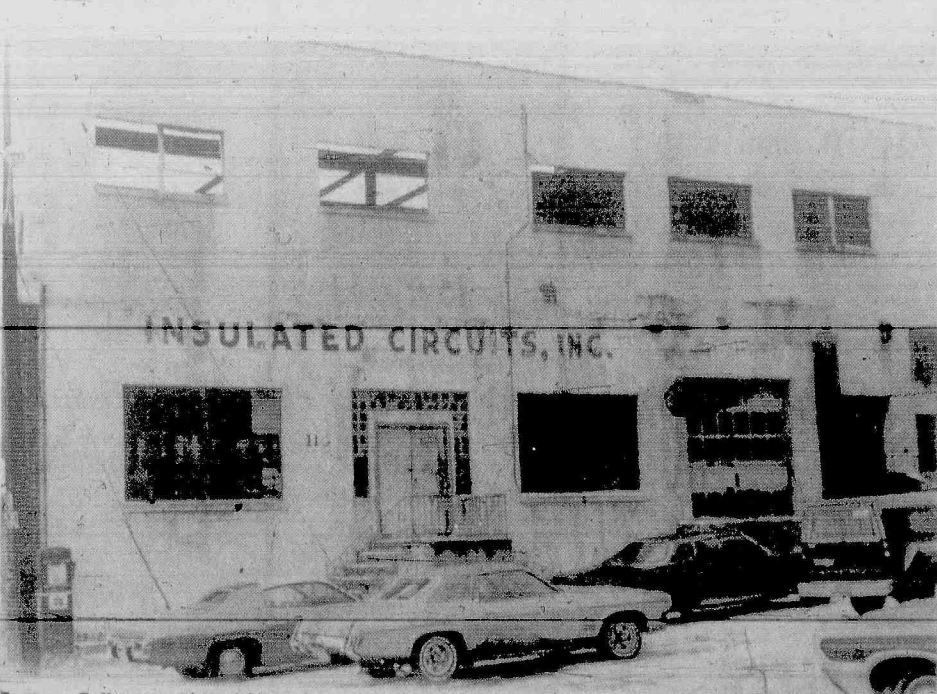

Questions to be dealt with in making the by-laws include how many teams would be permitted to join the league, whether any would be excluded, and if a code of conduct would be established.

"Eight teams would be a good base to start with," said Jacone, "but

Residents on Valley Street called to complain about it, and police often chase youngsters from inside the building, which is littered with broken glass.

Maxi-Teller's millionth user gets challenge from Fidelity

How much money can you withdraw from an automatic banking teller machine in five minutes? That's the challenge a Fidelity Union Trust Company customer faced yesterday when selected to be the honorary "millionth Maxi-Teller" user. Maxi-Teller is Fidelity's automatic teller machine, and the bank celebrated the one-millionth transaction of the system with its "free spree" yesterday. According to Stephen Nardoni, manager of the bank's office here at 144 Washington Ave., every customer making a Maxi-Teller transaction of any kind during the 24-hour period yesterday was to be eligible for the drawing to select the honorary millionth customer. The name of the lucky customer was not available at press time.

The customer selected was given a five-minute period to make as many withdrawals of $5 bills as possible and go to keep whatever amount was withdrawn.

The Maxi-Teller Banking Center here is part of Fidelity Union Bank's statewide system of 35 electronic banking machines that enable customers to make normal banking transactions 24 hours a day, seven days a week at any Maxi-Teller machine in the state. It is the state's only widespread system of one-line, fully computerized automatic teller machines.

Began a little over a year ago, the statewide system recently recorded more than 1 million transactions. "The modern age of convenient electronic banking as received a high level of acceptance by our customers," Nardoni said, "and has brought us to this millionth transaction milestone far sooner than we anticipated."

Happy Millionth! — Fidelity Union Trust Company holds a "party" marking the one millionth milestone of its year-old Maxi-Teller automatic banking system. Yesterday, a Fidelity customer was selected as the honorary millionth customer at the bank's 144 Washington Ave. office and was allowed five minutes of "free time" at the Maxi-Teller to make as many withdrawals of $5 as possible within the allotted time. Here cutting the Maxi-Teller cake is Fidelity President Peter Cartmell.

Indigestion is a symptom of disorder in the digestive tract. Simple indigestion is due to a functional rather than an organic condition. Functional nervous indigestion is a distressing condition frequently caused by faulty eating habits. Overeating, irritating substances such as alcohol and emotional stress are common causes of disturbances in the function of the alimentary tract and results in the discomfort of indigestion. The assistance of a physician is often required to determine and treat the basic cause of indigestion, not just the symptoms. What seems to be simple acid stomach may occasionally be something more serious.

Civil Defense offers fuel-conserving tips

With the possibility of some very cold weather ahead, the Belleville Civil Defense Office has issued some suggestions for saving fuel:

- Lower thermostats to 68 degrees during the day and 60 or less at night.
- Conserve natural gas by closing off unoccupied rooms, keeping shades and draperies drawn during the nights and open during the day to allow sunlight warmth in.
- Do not set gas range flames higher than necessary. Run only full loads of laundry, dryers and dishwashers. Check dryer exhausts to be sure they are free of any stoppage or lint collection.
- Maintain hot water heaters at the lowest possible temperatures. Suggested temperature is 150 degrees.
- Repair all leaky faucets. Extinguish all outdoor or aesthetic gas lights.

Those who needed assistance in a home fuel emergency may call Civil Defense Director Leonard Gianetti at 759-6386 or Deputy Director Irene Decker at 759-5100 or 759-4854.

Reformed Church here installs a new minister

The Rev. Charles B. Bridgman has been installed as minister at the Belleville Reformed Church. He replaces the Rev. Paul Ruter who is now at a Reformed Church in New York.

The installation took place Jan. 6 at the 171 Main St. church and was conducted by the Newark Classis of the Reformed Church of America. A reception in the church's Fellowship Hall followed the installation.

Rev. Bridgman comes from Saugerties, N.Y. He is a graduate of Columbia University and the New Brunswick Seminary. He has served at two churches in New Jersey and had been at the Trinity Reformed Church of Amsterdam, N.Y., before coming to Belleville.

A native of New Jersey, Rev. Bridgman and his wife Marie have two children, Edward and Ellen.

Police arrest former super for burglaries at Commons

A former superintendent of the Commons complex on River Road was arrested early Saturday morning after allegedly burglarizing two apartments at that 500-unit dwelling on the Belleville-Nutley line.

A 23-year-old Nutley man was also arrested later and charged with disposing of physical evidence — a .22 caliber revolver allegedly belonging to the first suspect. The man at first refused to turn the weapon over to authorities, saying he did not know anything about it, but he later retrieved from the spot in the Passaic River where it has been thrown.

A suspicious man was seen roaming around the Commons early Saturday, said Belleville Det. Sal LoCoco, and the 30-year-old Nutleyite was arrested by Nutley patrolman Frank Rusignuolo, who saw a TV on the back seat of a car the suspect was driving near the apartment complex.

Belleville and Nutley police officers recovered a stolen TV, assorted jewelry, a stereo and liquor allegedly taken from the two apartments, said LoCoco. "We've had a rash of entries recently over there," said LoCoco, noting that the case is now being probed by both him and Det. Bart Rossi, along with Nutley

Dets. Anthony Intile, Sal Centanni and Richard Laudadio.

LoCoco said police arrested the first suspect within two to three hours of the thefts. The man has been released on $3,500 bail. He was arraigned yesterday in Nutley Municipal Court on charges of possessing stolen property, and he'll be arraigned this coming Wednesday in Belleville on burglary charges.

Whether the former superintendent still has keys to many of the apartments at the Commons is not known, but police are investigating the possibility.

Prayer for today

Slow me down, Lord!
Ease the pounding of my heart by the quieting of my mind.
Steady my hurried pace
With a vision of the eternal reach of time.
Give me, amidst the confusion of my day,
The calmness of the everlasting hills.
Break the tension of my nerves.
With the soothing music of the singing streams
That live in my memory.
Help me to know the magical restoring power of sleep.
Teach me the art of taking minute vacations of slowing down;
To look at a flower.
To chat with an old friend or make a new one;
To pay a stray dog;
To watch a spider build a web;
To smile at a child;
Or to read a good book.
Remind me each day
That the race is not always to the swift;
That there is more to life
Than increasing its speed.

Jerome Greco

The Essex County Board of Freeholders, at its 1980 organization meeting, elected Verona Mayor Jerome Greco as chairman of the Essex County Board of Freeholders. Greco is a very able, dedicated public official. He understands and respects the responsibility of public office. He follows in the footsteps of a grand lady, retiring Freeholder Director Pearl Beatty.

From Pearl Beatty we got what we expected — good, decent, responsible leadership. We expect the same from Jerome Greco. Pearl lived up to our expectations of her performance as freeholder director and we are just as certain Greco will do likewise.

We congratulate Pearl Beatty for a job well done, with the expectation that her continuing membership on the Board of Freeholders will be enriched by virtue of her role as director. To Mr. Greco we extend our best wishes for a successful administration.

The Postal Service

The 1979 Christmas season has become part of our rich history — and in the process, it was the U.S. postal system that contributed a great deal to the pleasures of the period. It is sheer tenacity that permitted a postal system to timely handle the enormous volume of mail and packages so expeditiously.

We congratulate the postmen, postwomen, clerks, supervisors and our Postmaster, the Honorable Joseph Benucci, for service above and beyond the call of duty. Yes, a job well done. May we be so fortunate come Christmas 1980.

Individuals, families hold key to ending drug, alcohol abuse

By Mike Olohan

"In the school marketplace, almost any drug is available. We have no doubt, after carefully considering the testimony, that the use of drugs in our schools in Essex County is tragic. Parents have certainly not devoted enough time and effort towards the solution of the increased use of drugs among their children.

"No matter what programs are mandated by the legislature, no matter what efforts and programs are initiated by school officials, no matter how many drug pushers are arrested by police, all these efforts will fail to eliminate drug abuse among our young without the concern, love and active involvement of parents.

"It is obvious that drug education in Essex County has been a failure. Drug education as it exists has not prevented the drug explosion. The system has failed and must be revised."

These three paragraphs, contained in an Essex County Grand Jury report issued in 1978, capsule the major reason why drugs, notably alcohol, marijuana and pills like barbiturates and quaaludes, continue to be abused by students not only in Essex County but across the nation.

"If you do something erratic, say you run a stop sign or go through a red light and a police officer pulls you over, the first thing they're going to ask for is your driver's license and registration, and if it's in your wallet, they'll ask you to take it out just to see whether or not you fumble with it. And if they think you've been drinking, they'll usually ask you some questions and they'll usually be able to smell any alcohol on your breath," attorney Frank Pomaco told nearly 100 eighth and ninth graders at the Junior High Thursday in part of a drug awareness program last week.

"Often, they'll ask you to perform a field sobriety test, such as walking a straight line, or standing at a curb while leaning your head back or touching your nose with an index finger with eyes closed. You wouldn't believe how much just a small amount of a drug can affect your abilities," Pomaco said.

"Alcohol is a drug that affects you mentally as well as physically, and believe me, it can hurt you in many ways. We're not here to scare you and there's nothing wrong with drinking...if you drink correctly and moderately," said Dan Palumbo, a high school sophomore, speaking before a class last Wednesday at the Junior High.

"You shouldn't be pressured to drink. You should drink only if you want to," said Karen Lordi, another sophomore complementing Palumbo's calm and personal explanation of alcohol use and abuse.

"Don't just follow," said Palumbo. "Don't be pressured into doing something you don't want to. Always try to be a leader because when you're a follower, you're always letting someone else do the thinking for you. At a party once, I got pretty messed up, but I learned to talk to my parents about my problems. You know, your parents understand a lot more than you think," he said.

Pomaco, Det. Joe Pariso of the Essex County Sheriff's Office, Palumbo, Miss Lordi and other sophomore and senior high school students talked about drug abuse, its causes, symptoms and prevention during a 10-day program this month, run by Science Coordinator Bess Efsthion and science teachers Frank Catrambone, Susanne Rego, William Baka, Vincent D'Anton, Larry Fritts, Bruce Kemnitz, Ralph Kobberger, Paulette Kruk, Nicholas Massa, Dennis Villano and JHS PTA President Cora Boice.

The Drug Awareness Program at the Junior High has been held the last five years "and is unique to this type of school," according to Principal Mario DiMaggio, who urged nearby towns like Nutley and Bloomfield to begin a similar program.

"It really hurts your parents if you don't tell them what you're doing. When I drink, it's mostly to have fun, not because I feel any pressure to drink," said Miss Lordi, telling students they should "ask (your) parents what they think about alcohol. You think they won't understand your feelings about drinking, but they will because they were your age."

"If you're drinking because you have a problem, the problem is not going to get any better," said Miss Lordi. "If you're drunk, you can't make decisions about the rest of your life. There's always booze available at parties, most parents allow it, but it's different because none of us are pressed to drink," she said.

Pomaco told students if they're pulled over while driving and refuse to take a breathalyzer test, they'll lose their licenses immediately for 90 days. "So if you've only had a few beers at a bar and this doesn't impair your judgment, by all means you take that breathalyzer test," urged Pomaco. "But it's very important that you don't get yourself in that predicament. But if you do, it doesn't pay not to be cooperative. If it's only your first offense or you don't give the officer a hard time, he may let you off with just a warning," said Pomaco.

While Pomaco urged youngsters to cooperate with the police if stopped or apprehended for a traffic or drug violation, and high school students explained the dangers of experimenting with drugs without knowing their effects, Pariso emphasized not only talking things out with parents, friends or a counselor, but the proven effects of marijuana.

Although marijuana provides a temporary escape, smoking only one joint a week over a period of time allows the body to build up about a large amount of THC, the strongest of the three mind-altering components of marijuana, and that can be dangerous. Pariso said an average marijuana cigarette sold in Essex County contains 2 percent THC, while those bought elsewhere are higher, about 3 to 5 percent.

"Students are being shortchanged in their drug education," he said. "We have to start at an early age to give them respect about all kinds of chemicals. We have to make it cool for them not to use drugs, and to do that, the parents are the key. They're at the top of helping to end the drug problem," Pariso said.

"A lot of the same researchers who said marijuana was harmless 10 years ago are not saying the same thing now," stressed Pariso, referring to mounting evidence that marijuana causes deformities in unborn fetuses, decreases the sperm count in animals and humans and increases abnormal sperm.

A study by the UCLA School of Medicine completed on 74 marijuana smokers (ages 21 to 33) who smoked five joints a week for five years revealed a "25 percent increased airway resistance... (this) airflow obstruction means you can't get as much air in or out," according to the study, often causing chronic shortness of breath.

Because marijuana is fat soluble, or absorbed by the fatty tissues in the body, it can accumulate. Just one marijuana cigarette takes almost seven days to get out of your system, provided you don't smoke another, say scientists.

The brain absorbs much THC because it is one of the main fatty organs of the body. Dr. Robert Heath, chairman of the department of psychology and neurology at Tulane Medical School, New Orleans, found that implanting electrodes in the brains of monkeys produced "bursts of abnormal electrical activity in the septal area of the brain — a focal point for pleasure, and also in the hippocampus and amygdala, sites of such negative emotions as irritability and fear."

A psychiatrist at the University of California, Berkeley, Dr. Harvey Powelson, discovered that because of marijuana's pervasiveness and the feeling among many people that it's harmless, "the pot smoker's ability to judge the (real) harm is impaired to such an extent that he rejects the evidence that is obvious to everyone else. We found a gradual development of 'goallessness' (lack of motivation); blunted emotions, a counterfeit impression of calm and well-being and a prevailing illusion of recently developed insight and emotional maturity," he said.

A lowered immunity to disease and a greater concentration of carcinogens (cancer-causing substances) await marijuana smokers, according to many studies.

"Five marijuana cigarettes have as many carcinogens as 112 cigarettes. If people would objectively look at the facts about marijuana, they wouldn't use it," Pariso told students here. "A junkie once said to me that most of his life he was high, always high on some drug, but that now he gets high on life," he added.

As for decriminalization, Pariso is vehemently opposed, noting that it would not only mean a windfall profit for tobacco companies but that there are "only two reasons people want pot decriminalized, either they use it themselves or they have not studied all the facts in an objective manner. You can't decriminalize pot without encouraging its use. Because once you decriminalize it, then everybody will say 'Look, we've been right all along, and probably use it more,'" Pariso said.

Smoking pot once a week is considered regular use, said Pariso, stressing that the possible brain impairment due to its chemical properties is a very great risk to take just to get high.

Pariso said using marijuana to relieve some painful symptoms of cancer or glaucoma "is stupid" because of 394 chemicals in a lit marijuana cigarette, only one (THC) does anything to relieve pain. Many of the other chemicals, formed by combining with each other, are harmful.

In February 1979, Belleville commissioners banned the local sale of drug paraphernalia, like rolling papers, bong pipes and roach clips after the Board of Education prodded them to take action. However, on Friday, a federal court judge struck down a similar Paramus ordinance as being unconstitutional because it was vague in specifying what could be banned, impinging upon the storeowner's right to free speech. That decision has opened the door for challenges to ordinances like Belleville's.

Knights participating Tuesday in Washington 'March for Life'

Members of Belleville Knights of Columbus Council 835 will be among more than 100,000 persons expected to participate in the March for Life in Washington, D.C., this coming Tuesday, local Grand Knight Frank Corbo announced today.

Corbo noted that this is the first year the Belleville council will send its own bus. It is expected that 250 buses will be sponsored by the New Jersey Knights of Columbus this year.

Tuesday March for Life will be the seventh annual conducted on a national basis. Marchers will be petitioning Congress for a Human Life Amendment to the Constitution that will reverse the Supreme Court ruling of Jan. 22, 1973, that permits abortion for any reason up until the third month of pregnancy.

"We believe in the dignity and value of human life, before birth, and at every stage of life thereafter," said Corbo, "and millions like us are revolted by the disregard for life that abortion fosters."

Those interested in participating in the march may contact Corbo at 751-4965 or John Perrone at 759-2576.

Knights' Anniversary

The Belleville Knights have completed plans for the council's 76th anniversary dinner-dance at the Fiesta, Route 17, Carlstadt, 7:30 p.m. Feb. 9.

Belleville Council 835 was born Jan. 31, 1904, with the granting of an eagerly sought charter. The occupations of the first members were varied and interesting, reflecting a cross-section of the community. They were bakers, butchers, clerks, bankers, clergymen, masons, carpenters, teachers, doctors, lawyers, machinists, mechanics and laborers.

The first council meeting was held in the old St. Peter's school. In the years that followed, meetings were held in the old post office, First National Bank, People's Bank and the VFW Hall. The present meeting place at the 94 Bridge St. building was occupied in 1958.

The council's first social was held on the property of a member, Edward J. Butler. The place was known as Butler's Grove and was located on the present site of the Gold Links near Belleville Avenue.

It was on the present site of Bamberger's in Newark that the 34 charter members were awarded all of their official degrees in 1904.

The Belleville council celebrated its silver jubilee at St. Peter's old school in 1929, the golden jubilee anniversary was held at the Robert Treat Hotel in Newark in 1954, and the diamond jubilee was marked at Gene Boyle's in Clifton Feb. 3 of last year.

The grand knights, listed in order of tenure, who have led the council since then are James T. Boylan, Dr. John F. Condon, Andrew L. Boylan, John A. Breen, John T. Burke, Thomas Connolly, Bartholomew Kinneally, Joseph Donnelly, William F. Horkness, John P. Maher, James E. Specht, Cornelius McGonigle, James A. Murray Sr., Corwin A. Stickney, Daniel L. Gibbons, Harry B. Morton, Timothy Monaghan, John Baney, Edward Smith, Eugene Kelly, Joseph Harder, James Baney, Oliver Brown, Eugene Barnett, John Kennedy, Mark Grady, Lawrence McGuirk, George H. Caron, Joseph A. DeFabbio, Robert E. Nebelung, Thomas J. Cusick, Robert J. Cusick, Thomas F. Dillon, Michael A. Batty and Frank Corbo. Besides Corbo, others officers now serving the council are Rev. James F. Heavey, chaplain; Robert Nebelung, deputy grand knight; T. William Sloan, recorder; Kenneth Murray, financial secretary; Thomas Dillon, treasurer; Walter DuBoye, chancellor; John Burke, advocate; Ralph Wendler, warden; Peter S. Mackiewicz, Vincent Marchese Jr., Joe Massuci and John Perrone, guards, and Frank Marchesano and Lou Mattia, co-lecturers.

Spelling Bee

The council will hold its annual spelling bee at the 94 Bridge St. hall 2 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 3. The contest is open to eighth grade students from all Belleville schools. Candidates will be selected by their teachers.

The first, second and third-place winners will receive trophies and all contestants will receive certificates. The first-place winner will represent Belleville in the county spell-off. The winner at that level will represent Essex County in the state finals. The first three state finishers will be awarded $100, $50 and $25 savings bonds respectively.

Family, friends and public are invited to the Feb. 3 contest. Refreshments will be served.

Senior Notes

By George Chenoweth

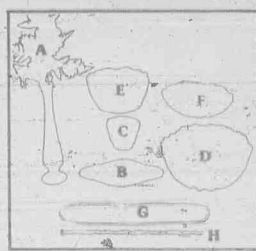

There has been a lot of talk among our seniors about their inability to participate in the Pharmaceutical Assistance Act program. They cannot understand why the state government, particularly the Division on Aging and the Department of Human Services, are so lax in servicing the forms that would allow our elderly to continue to have their prescriptions filled for the agreed upon price of $2 per prescription.

Many have complained that their PAA cards have not been honored at the drug store, and after many inquiries we find that the cards are outdated and have not been renewed. Hurried calls to Trenton got no results. The toll free, 800 number, which we are advised to use for information, is either jammed or unanswered. So no luck from that quarter. Our request for 200 renewal forms has, to this date, been ignored.

The inability to obtain prescriptions for needed medicine at the reduced rate of $2 may have an effect on some elderly persons who have become dependent on the drugs to survive and can afford the medicine at the reduced rate only.

One other reason for unsnarling the mess in Trenton as quickly as possible is that the Lifeline Utilities Relief uses the same criteria for determining eligibility for the $100 assistance with heating bills. Without the PAA, you cannot get the other. The Advisory Board of the Essex County Division on Aging has been alerted to help in all ways to contact key people in Trenton to get the PAA program back on the right track so that it can again aid deserving seniors. If you need help, call Eunice Conover at 759-6389.

We should like to have more seniors' clubs in Essex County be represented and become involved in senior affairs through the Essex County Council of Senior Citizens Clubs. We have forum-type meetings for exchanges of ideas and we have legislative reports and discussions for the betterment of all concerned. Our meetings are held on the third Monday of each month at the Community Center, Broad Street, Bloomfield, at 9:30 a.m. Delegates from your club would be welcomed. The dues are $5 per year, and the number of delegates allowed from each club is determined by the number of your membership. Next meeting is Jan. 21. See you there!

Dr. James Orsini back in Belleville as oncologist on Clara Maass staff

Care and concern for cancer victims is bringing James Orsini, M.D., back to his hometown of Belleville this month as the medical oncologist joins the staff of Clara Maass Memorial Hospital, 5 Franklin Ave., Belleville.

The local doctor, at the same time, will assume the directorship of medical oncology at United Hospitals, Newark, a position he accepted several weeks ago.

Dr. Orsini, who returned late in May from a two-month period of study at the Milan Cancer Institute, Milan, Italy, visited his hometown hospital last week to familiarize himself with the system under which he will work in the coming years.

"Clara Maass has made tremendous strides in adding a large radiation therapy department," Dr. Orsini said. "With this department, I will be doing some good cancer work — there is a whole floor at the hospital dedicated to patients suffering with cancer."

Clara Maass' department of radiation oncology, where the former Belleville resident will work, treats 40 patients per day, double the number expected when the center opened one and one-half years ago.

Dr. Orsini, as one of the five medical oncologists on the full-time staff, will deal with the problems of in-patients, as well as an out-patient population almost twice as large.

"Now, most cancers can be treated and the medical profession definitely is making strides," the local doctor noted. "Although some cancers elude us," we can predict cures in a certain number of tumors previously thought incurable — some examples are leukemia in children and Hodgkin's Disease — cures in either used to be unheard of," he continued.

The former Bellevillite made oncology his life's work after seeing a specialist, Dr. Fred Cohen of Newark's Beth Israel Hospital, treat study at Mount Sinai Hospital, New York, in the department of Neoplastic Diseases under the directorship of James F. Holland, M.D.

From Mount Sinai, he moved on to a two-month study in Milan under the guidance of Gianni Bonadonna, one of the world's foremost authorities on breast cancer and Hodgkin's Disease.

"I was encouraged to go, first of all, because I spoke Italian," he said, "but also because of the center's reputation as a leader and trend-setter in the treatment of breast cancers and lymphomas."

"It was an honor to have been invited and asked to participate in the work at Milan — what a fantastic opportunity to see the specialists design treatment schedules and work on new forms of treatments," he continued.

Dr. Orsini's entire family traveled abroad with him during his sojourn, and the group was able to visit the Pope in Rome, as well as tour the Italian cities of Florence and Rome before returning home to Glen Ridge, where they reside at 5 Adams Place.

Formerly, the Orsini family lived in Belleville, where both Dr. Orsini and his wife, Marie, spent their childhoods. The couple has four children: Tiffany, 11; Lisa, 10; Noelle, 3, and James, nine months.

The doctor is a fellow of the American Cancer Society, a member of the Associated Board of Internal Medicine and the Essex County Medical Society.

Born in Nutley, he attended Belleville schools and eventually worked as coach and substitute teacher in the local school system after his graduation from Youngstown State University, Youngstown, Ohio, in 1967.

Dr. Orsini attended Bologna Medical School, Italy, from which he was graduated in 1975, and then completed his training at New Jersey College of Medicine and Dentistry.

Dr. Orsini had the opportunity to work with his mentor for one year at Beth Israel's, Flo-Okim Oncology Group before he accepted a grant to

Dear Umberto,

My daughter has long hair and to save money I have been giving her permanents. In a months time I gave her three permanents because they didn't take. I apply the lotion for 5 minutes and the neutralizer for another 5 minutes. Finally I started to see some curls. But the curls are here and there. What have I been doing wrong? Why did this happen? Please answer before I give her a fourth permanent.

Here and There Curls

Dear Here and There Curls,

The first thing you're doing wrong is the timing. Probably your daughter has thick hair which requires more time. The reason why she has curls here and there is because you do not distribute the lotion right. If she has thick hair use big rods. I don't know if you noticed, rods have a central perforation and there are small holes all around. The reason for this is to squeeze some lotion in the central holes. In order to give her a good permanent squeeze some lotion in the rods after you have finished applying it all over her head. This method will work.

Drama Club presenting 'George M!' in spring

Casual Classmates — A smile, surprise, a shrug and a sigh seem to be the emotions of Jason Lande, Heather Meir, Jason Schmeer and Patricia Cavallo who stand patiently under the brightly decorated Yule Tree in Mrs. Nadine Janik's class at School 3.

By Sue Cardillo

The Belleville High School Drama Club will be presenting another musical masterpiece for the spring. It is titled "George M!" and portrays the life of George M. Cohan, a famous musical composer and actor. He collaborated on many memorable tunes, including "Give My Regards to Broadway," "Yankee Doodle Dandy" and "You're a Grand Old Flag."

The auditions took place in the high school auditorium Friday, Jan. 4. All arrived with a tremendous amount of energy and an optimistic response.

The senior class will be receiving all proceeds from this play. This being the senior play, all seniors had priority for all major roles. Leftover roles or those which did not fit a senior were passed on to underclassmen.

All vocal auditions were held between 2:45 and 5:30 p.m. under the direction of Mr. Tom Finetti. Certain songs depended upon how large a part auditioners were trying for.

Mr. Robert Leffelbine, the director and Drama Club advisor, then gave all seniors a chance to express their feelings through words. After senior readings were over, underclassmen tried their best. Mrs. Leffelbine observed carefully and took notes.

Dance auditions followed promptly. Janice Leffelbine, the choreographer, demonstrated a few tap steps difficult enough to determine lead roles. The students were given time to practice and memorize the steps. Then by fours the students repeated what they were taught while Mrs. Leffelbine observed and also took notes.

All methods were used to determine participants' dramatic talents for this specific musical. Everyone was rated fairly, and high scores were received in whatever anyone excelled in.

After waiting out what seemed to be a never-ending weekend, students hopefully approached the posted cast list. All who were chosen enthusiastically attended rehearsal 2:35 p.m. that day.

Every person involved in this special event is going to do his best to make it worthwhile for everyone who decides to go.

It would be to everyone's advantage to come and see "George M!" March 20, 21 and 22. The Belleville High School Drama Club will put out a tremendous amount of effort to make the audience go home with a smile.

BHS students get choice of new courses in history

By Kelly Sweeney

Belleville High has designed various schedule selection changes in the upcoming year for career-minded seniors. Not only will the changes focus on seniors. Changes have been made for underclassmen as well.

Until recently, junior and senior students were given U.S. history I and II as a state requirement for graduation. But now if a senior wishes to take a selected course instead of history II, he will still be fulfilling New Jersey requirements for graduation.

Belleville High is now offering seniors the option of electing to take two half-year courses to accommodate history II requirements. "Modern United States Social Inquiry" will emphasize urban problems, immigration and minority group treatment, among other things. The goal is to get a better understanding of American lifestyles.

In "Political Systems," a Comparative Study, U.S. democracy will be compared to communism, facism and other political systems. The goal will be to attain greater appreciation for American government. The purpose of another elective course, "Modern International Crisis," is to study American foreign policy and how the United States treated the major crises of the 20th century.

Seniors who wish to further their knowledge of social studies are encouraged also to elect such two-semester courses as "Famous People," "Current America" or enriched U.S. history. Two half-year courses or one full-year course is equivalent to U.S. history II.

The Belleville school system in the past has assigned history courses immediately to every junior or senior. This year, and in years to come, history courses will be distributed in the sophomore year for several reasons. If any students who have finished their required two-year history courses wish to further their study, they will have the chance to elect a course in their senior year.

The English department has also made several changes for seniors. Students can elect two half-year courses entitled "Creative Writing" and "Development of Drama" which will be equivalent to English 4. Both courses focus on various topics that English 4 covers periodically throughout the year.

These electives are excellent choices for any student who wishes to attend college. The goal in both of these courses is to familiarize students with the areas of study colleges focus on today.

Belleville High not only has widened widened students' choices of electives but has added material to each required course to broaden the students' interests and learning skills. Required courses have extensive new topics and points of interest to give the students better understanding and a fulfilling attitude toward the subjects.

With new courses and an emphasis on broadening the required courses, Belleville High each year expands the lists of opportunities to the students of today.

Orchestra taking trip to Virginia

By Toni Grippaldi

In the spring, the 40-piece Belleville High School Orchestra will be taking a trip to Williamsburg, Va., along with its conductor, Mr. Edwin Black.

It will be an excursion of both performing and leisure for the members of the orchestra.

They will arrive in Williamsburg at approximately 3 p.m. Friday, May 2. The performances will take place in Jamestown at lunchtime Saturday, May 3, and in Yorktown 2:30 p.m. the same day.

Selections to be performed will be songs from the play, "Annie," musical highlights from "Rocky," the theme from "The Lord of the Rings" and some songs written by popular composer Barry Manilow.

While in Williamsburg, the students will stay at a motel with a game room, a pool and a disco. The trip will also include tours of Williamsburg, Jamestown, Yorktown, Bush Gardens and the Old Country Amusement Park.

Teachers, pupils prepared for holidays in many ways

By Michele DeMeo and Joe Fischer

The holiday season at Belleville High School was full of Christmas spirit as decorations which were made by the art classes gave the school an atmosphere of cheer.

Mr. Ralph Correll, a science teacher, played Christmas songs on the organ at the front entrance of the school each morning allowing the students to get in the Christmas mood.

Many clubs at BHS participated in special activities to show their Christmas spirit. The Future Teachers Club, under the direction of Marilyn Mango, sponsored a toy drive for battered children. Students involved dressed up as Santa and his helpers for school and that night passed out a total of 224 presents which were collected in advance from the students of BHS.

The Key Club, advised by George Zanfini and Ann Schneider, purchased gifts for a Christmas party at the Essex County Child Center.

Elsie Winship and the National Honor Society held a food and money drive. Food and money were distributed to the welfare department for needy families in Belleville.

DECA, run by Ralph LaConte, sponsored a holiday tea for the faculty. This was a Christmas get-together for the teachers. "Letters from Santa" was an offer to students who wished to purchase letters for themselves or friends. One was also able to have one's picture taken with Santa Claus.

The orchestra with Edwin Black and the chorus with Thomas Finetti had a busy schedule for Christmas. Both performed at Fewsmith Church for the American Association of Retired Persons. Two programs were given at the Junior High School. The annual evening Christmas concert was performed using a professional harpist accompanied by 40 selected girls from the mixed chorus. The Rotary Club and Schools 3 and 7 were also audiences for some performances.

Finally, the chorus sang two shows at the Port Authority in New York City in the morning and gave two shows at Newark Airport that same afternoon. The Belleville High was the first school to perform at both these places many years ago.

The efforts of these groups were deeply appreciated by all involved. The students at Belleville High have something to be proud of.

basis for making the team.

On Nov. 12, Belleville was to compete against Irvington, but at the last minute, Irvington canceled out. The International Geographic Encyclopedia and Atlas is what Belleville won and the volumes will soon be used in the school library. All were disappointed about not being able to compete because much preparation was made.

In September, the team met with Mrs. McGrath to start practicing. To prepare for this type of confrontation is a difficult task. Many types of sources must be used, including "The Book of Lists," all school books, current events, TV, movies, political matters and sports.

This information is gathered by Kathy Costentino. She is the alternate as well as scorekeeper for the team. She must make sure that the team members are keeping up with their studies. This is no easy job and Kathy has made sure that she is successful. She plays an important part in keeping the team going.

According to Mrs. McGrath, "The questions can be on anything. They must know everything on everything. Each player must be a well round student."

All of Belleville is invited to attend the next show taping 5:30 p.m. Feb. 5 at TV-3 studios, 43 Prospect St., East Orange, against Union Catholic Boys High School. Belleville High wishes the best of luck to the players.

Santa's Elves — Kindergarten pupils at School 4 experienced the joys of working in a woodshop when they made gifts for mom and dad before Christmas.

Belleville bowl team limbers up intellects

By Joe Fischer and Michele DeMeo

Long overdue recognition must go to Ed Aulisi, Kathy Costentino, Tom Hammell, Mike Sheldon and advisor Marilyn McGrath, all of Belleville High School's bowl team.

The bowl is a competition between area high schools in which questions from almost any subject are asked in a game show-type atmosphere. Overall class standing and teacher recommendation are the

Key Club's paper drive on Saturday

The Belleville High School Key Club will sponsor a paper drive this Saturday. Members will be in the school parking lot behind the cafeteria collecting papers from 9-11:30 a.m.

Anyone who has newspapers but is unable to bring them to the high school may arrange to have them picked up at his home by calling Anthony at 759-8840. Any contribution will be greatly appreciated.

The profits from this fund-raising activity will be used to support the Key Club's community service projects. They will also defray the costs of sending members to the district convention in the Poconos in April.

Music, charity top SGO's discussions

By Rich Ottenstroer

On Jan. 9, the SGO held its first meeting of the new year. The main topics for discussion were a resolution dealing with music in the morning and the possibilities of the SGO sponsoring a charity.

The resolution for music in the morning was made by the grievance committee after it was asked why there couldn't there be some form of enjoyment before school begins. The resolution designated 7:50 to 8:10 in the morning as the time music, programmed from students suggestions and approved by the SGO, was to be played. The resolution was accepted by the SGO assembly and is being brought to the principal for discussion.

Also brought up at the meeting was the suggestion that the SGO find a charity and sponsor an annual fund-raiser for it. A committee of one to find a suitable charity was formed and asks that any information about local charities be sent to the SGO advisor, Mrs. Pugliese.

Parents at School 3 must decide how to keep Thomas's promises

By Mike Olohan

Should the money made by the School 3 children who appeared in the Thomas's English Muffin commercial be put aside for future use in special trust funds for them?

The answer is "yes," according to both Board of Education attorney Lawrence Schwartz and school trustees who are concerned about the matter because the commercial was done on school time and in school.

To avoid having any of the money misspent before the children reach age 18, Schwartz urged the board members to take full responsibility and send letters to the children's parents telling them a trust fund would be their best investment.

"We have a responsibility for that child while he's in school, and we have an obligation to make sure the money is used for the good of the child," stressed Schwartz, asking trustees to advise parents to set up the trust funds.

Although Trustee Mike Chieffo felt parents should ultimately have the freedom to invest their child's money any way they wish, he also agreed that trust funds are a wise choice. Chieffo pointed out, though, that if parents are going bankrupt, they should be able to use the money.

Schwartz noted that the commercial celebs receive $75 each time they appear on TV; adding that could add up to several thousand dollars before the commercial is taken off the air.

School 3 Principal Austin MacArthur has received $800 from the commercial to be used for general school expenses, but trustees said the money should first be sent to them; it would then be directed to School 3's account.

The commercial is being seen all over the country, even in the Golden State. Former trustee Richard Mahmarian, who now lives in Palos Verdes, Calif., recently called Schwartz to wish him a happy New Year. Mahmarian also told Schwartz how surprised he was to see Belleville on TV.

The children were chosen for the commercial by drawing names from a hat. Second, third and fourth graders who got permission from their parents to appear in the commercial took part in the drawing.

Interviewed in November, many of the kids didn't expect to reap the big bucks they'll probably be getting.

Crystal Aydelotte said she expected to get about $100, John Hromoko was dreaming of $400 and Jennifer Guarino set her sights much lower, expecting only about $50 which she'd use to "buy a dress and new shoes."

Belleville's School 3 got the commercial because it has been working in cooperation with Family Research of Rutherford, which asks opinions of different groups of people to judge the marketing potential of products.

Representatives of the DeGarmo Advertising Agency came to the school, after buying a loaf of bread and Thomas's muffins from a neighborhood store, and did the testing between Thomas's and the toast unrehearsed.

Now the Belleville kids face a different version of the dilemma presented to them before, Thomas's or toast. Either way the issue is decided, Dina Cardinale, Dina Guziejewski, Crystal Aydelotte, Eddie and Laurel O'Shea, Laurie Pulco, Kimberly Millar, John Hromoko, Nestor Hill and Jennifer Guarino have the bite on Belleville's non-celebrities.

Housewife sells 'glass plate' for $40; worth $1,800

NILES, Ill.—The story of a small fortune, lost because a housewife had no idea her glass plate was a collector's item, recently came to light.

In a letter to J. R. MacArthur, chairman of the Bradford Exchange, world's largest trading center in collector's plates, a Madison, Wis., woman wrote: "I had a Lalique 1965 plate... which I sold to a friend for $40. I had not heard of you at that time."

The plate she sold is actually valued at more than $1,800. Although MacArthur points out that this price is exceptionally high, he said, "I'm afraid others may be losing hundreds or thousands of dollars by not knowing what their plates are worth."

To aid in identifying valuable plates, the exchange issues a report that includes current prices on more than 900 plates, guidelines on what to look for and when to buy, and the plate evaluation checklist used by the exchange.

To obtain a copy without cost or obligation, just send your name, address, and zip code before Saturday of next week to: The Bradford Exchange, Dept. A50103, 9301 N. Milwaukee Avenue, Niles, Illinois 60648. A postcard will do.

One BHS cage team that deserved better

When you think of the year 1977, what comes to mind? Well, in 1977, Jimmy Carter was installed as this country's new leader, there was a great blackout in New York City, the nation lost two great performers in Bing Crosby and Elvis Presley, the Denver Broncos were using their Orange Crush defense to advance to Super Bowl XII, Reggie Jackson was hitting home runs left and right to beat the Dodgers in the World Series and a singer named Dolly Parton was driving the nation crazy with her new song, "Here You Come Again."

And on Dec. 9, 1977, a group of athletes from Belleville High School embarked on a season that wasn't too productive as far as wins were concerned. But those athletes gave a new meaning to the words, "win" and "determination."

On Dec. 9, the Belleville High boys' basketball team opened its season with a home game against Montclair High School. The Bellboys were paced that season by Tommy Smith. Smith would eventually become Belleville High's fourth leading scorer. He came within 75 points of breaking the 1,000-point mark, a mark he would have achieved had he not been injured or sick for five games. Joe Salters, a gutsy type of basketball player, was forward with Smith all season long. What made Salters so impressive was that he played on a very bad knee, one that required surgery just seven months earlier. If you knew Joe Salters, you were aware that it took a lot more than a bad knee to keep him off the floor.

Keith Isler was the third forward on that team. He was only a junior at the time but played super, aggressive defense.

The team guards were seniors Paul Donahue and Dean Campana. Donahue was the inspirational leader of the team. He never, never, never quit. He played the game as if his life depended on it. He would dive after loose balls, he would psych up the entire team before the game with his determination and would psych himself up in the warmups when the song, "Serpentine Fire" by Earth, Wind and Fire would come over the P.A. system.

Campana was the quiet member of the team but was known to hit key shots and was a good ballhandler. Finally there was Mark Veniero, another senior, who was strong under the boards and a good, aggressive ballhandler.

The players were pretty good, and their coach, Dan Grasso, was tremendous at his job. So, you might ask, what was the problem? Well, first of all, the team was up against a schedule that included powerhouses Montclair, East Orange, Orange and Bloomfield. Second of all, it wasn't until early January that the team finally had all five members of the lineup playing at the same time. The team was hit with an early case of the flu, and it kept Donahue and several other players confined to their beds.

The team's final record that season was 2-20. Its victories came over Nutley 62-50 and Queen of Peace 57-56. The Queen of Peace game was quite a win for the team because it was its last home game and the Queensmen had a 17-5 mark. The Bellboys lost six games by five points or less. Included in those games was a three-point loss to powerful East Orange.

This team never quit. It started the season with 12 players and ended it that way. A sub player named Don Roll was very effective during the lean hours he spent on the court. He was the only player who would take on Montclair's biggest forward in the season's opener in a battle for a loose ball. Luckily for Roll, he realized that the season was more important than a brief encounter with a future bouncer at Eddie's Bar and Grill.

The 1977-78 Bellboys played the game with good sportsmanship and with class. However, they would not be intimidated by any team or any tactic that another team might employ.

For instance, Tommy Smith had a brief encounter with a Kearny player that resulted in Smith's ejection from the game in the first quarter. When the two teams played later in the season at Belleville, Salters had a similar encounter with the same player, leading some people to believe that the Kearny player was looking for trouble. Well, he got his hands full after the game when Smitty decided to show the player the consequences of being a troublemaker.

Through it all, the team had great respect for its coach and went into every game as if it had an undefeated record and was rated the state's best. The team didn't draw many fans and it didn't win many games, but to know these players and to see their determination could only command your respect and admiration.

In case you hadn't noticed, the Cosmos of the NASL are making some noise. Their head coach, Ray Klivecka, recently resigned and veterans Werner Roth, Erol Yasin and Terry Garbell announced their retirement. Furthermore, the team figured to make some moves before the season starts. One thing is for sure, the Cosmos will once again have a strong team in 1980.

Did you watch the Los Angeles Laker-Boston Celtic game last Sunday? It was perhaps one of the best regular-season games in the NBA this season. The Lakers rallied and won 100-98, sending the Celtics to only their second home loss of the entire season. Boston is 32-11 and with Larry Bird, Dave Cowens and Cedric Maxwell leading the way, the Celts have to be considered a favorite to win the NBA title. As for the Lakers, they made a fine second-half comeback and with Kareem Abdul Jabbar using the skyhook to near perfection, the team could be the Celtics' opponent in the finals.

The Super Bowl is rapidly approaching, and the Steelers continue to be huge favorites. As for my pick, I have to go with Pittsburgh. I have always been a Steeler fan and it's tough to bet against them. The only thing that is hard to understand is the point spread. Pittsburgh is an 11-point favorite. Come on now, in a game as important as the Super Bowl, do you think the Rams are 11 points worse than Pittsburgh? No way. The Rams have too many good athletes and a rock-solid defense. Watch for the final score to be 27-24 Pittsburgh. In other words, it will probably be decided by a field goal.

Speaking of the Super Bowl, did you hear who is going to sing the national anthem? Well it's Cheryl Ladd, the actress from "Charlie's Angels." Among those who lost out to Ladd was singer Robert Merrill. Personally, I feel the committee made a bad mistake. Ladd is a beautiful actress and will be a pleasure to see on the television screen, but there is something more important to be considered. As you know, our country is under great difficulty and the game will be seen all over the world. It would have been much better had a singer of Merrill's reputation sung our country's song. He would have done it with

Blue-Gold cagers coast to third victory in a row

By Mike Lamberti

Would you believe this? The Belleville boys' basketball team has a record of 6-3. That's right, 6-3. Last week, the Bucs won three straight games, defeating nemesis Kearny and Essex Catholic and beating Weehawken rather handily.

The Bucs were home to face St. Cecilia of Kearny Tuesday and battle Essex Catholic 8 tomorrow night at BHS.

The last time the Bucs won three straight was back in 1975 and the six victories represent the most by a Belleville team since the 1974-75 season. Furthermore, Belleville hadn't beaten Kearny since Jan. 31, 1975, and had never beaten Essex Catholic before.

The Essex Catholic game started looking as though the Bucs would be on the low end of the scoreboard again. The Eagles jumped out to a 19-13 first-quarter lead and extended that margin to 35-25 at the half. Suddenly, in the third quarter, Ronnie Wittman, the hero of the week, started hitting his famous jump shot and the Bucs outscored the Eagles 21-9.

The fourth quarter was the Gary Farrar show as the senior guard scored seven points and the Bucs rolled to a 64-55 win. Wayne Bubet was the high scorer with 18 points. Wittman had 17, Farrar had 15 and Eddie Aulisi contributed 12 points. Head coach Joe Papisidero was extremely pleased with his team's win. "We made a fine comeback after a bad first half," the rookie pilot said. "I was really happy with the guys' super effort."

Speaking of super efforts, the Bucs played a magnificent game in stopping Kearny in triple overtime at Kearny 75-73. Wittman won a thrilling game with a jump shot from the corner with just two ticks left in the third overtime and a Kearny player's hand over his face. All told, he finished with a career-high of 30 points while Farrar, Aulisi and Bubet had 15, 14 and 14 points respectively.

The Bucs actually had control of the game until the last quarter. They led 18-14 after one quarter and extended that margin to 35-29 at the half. The third quarter was even and Belleville led 51-45 as the last frame began. It was then that the Kards made a fine comeback that put the game in overtime. Things looked particularly bleak for the Bucs too since Bubet had fouled out.

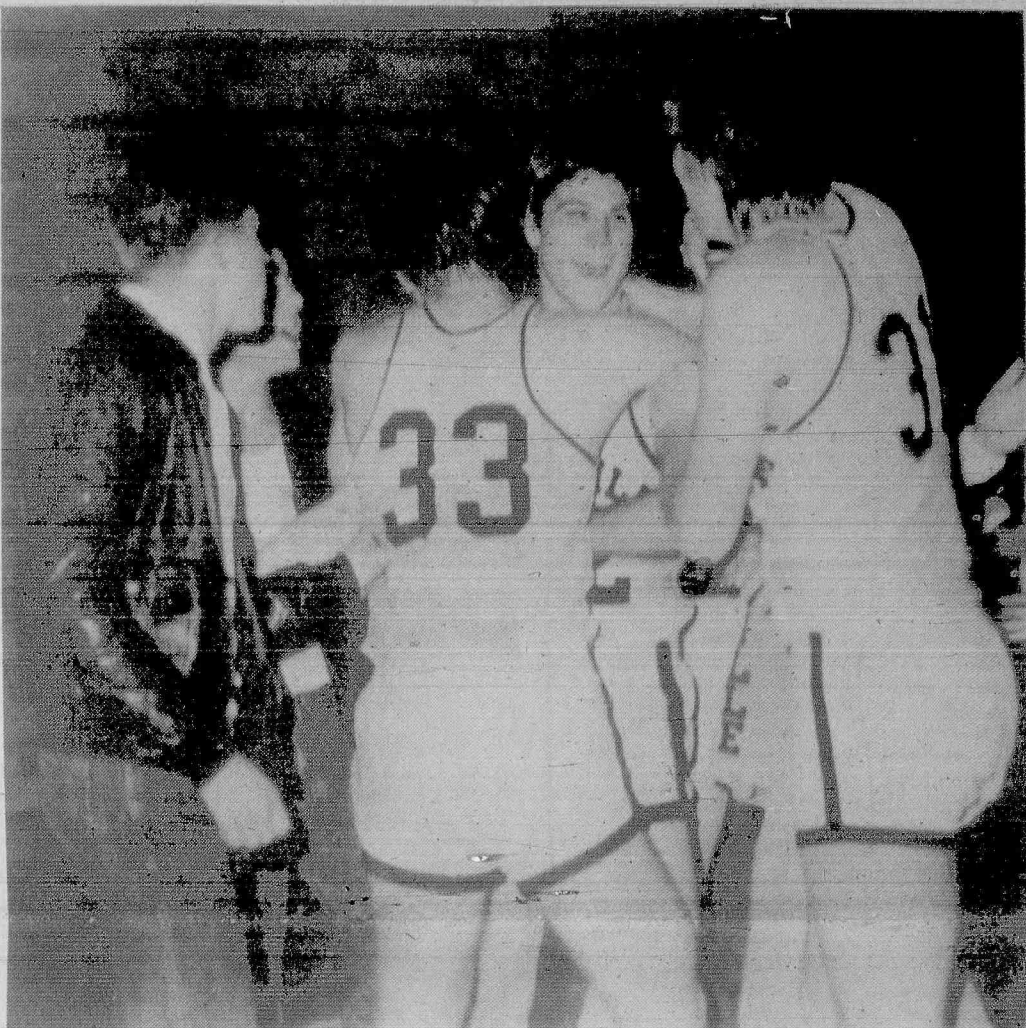

Wittman had a chance to win it in regulation time, but the junior missed the first half of a one-and-one and the game went into overtime. He more than made up for the miss in each of the succeeding periods. His shooting was deadly, and he contributed a critical rebound.

Papisidero was naturally quite elated over the win. "It was a beautiful game," said the coach. "What a win for us! It was a great game to watch and it's great to come out on top of an emotional game such as that."

The Bucs' adrenalin might have been down for their next battle with Weehawken, but the result was the same, victory. Belleville took the easier path this time, leading most of the way and coasting to a 64-49 win, its second victory over Weehawken this season.

Bubet took up the scoring slack in this game with 25 points and 13 rebounds. The junior hit on seven of 10 free throws. Aulisi played a fine game, scoring 11 points, handing out 15 assists and hitting five of six from the charity stripe. Ronnie Cook led the Bucs with 19 rebounds and chipped in with 10 points. Wittman was held down a bit, but he did score 10 important points. Finally, Farrar hit for seven points.

All told, the Bucs hit 19 of 26 free throw attempts and that along with some fine shooting extended the team record to 6-3. Can you believe it? Who ever thought at the beginning of the season that the Bucs would be 6-3? Maybe, just maybe, Joe Papisidero had an idea that they might be.

Hero of the Second — Ron Wittman is mobbed by his teammates, friends and family after scoring the winning basket with two seconds left on the clock in triple overtime Friday night at Kearny. The Buc Cagers won 75-73 as the BHS junior pumped in 30 points.

Matmen master Mt. Holly 63-3, drop close one to Millers 27-23

By Mike Olohan

As mid-season swiftly approaches, Belleville's varsity wrestlers have several problems to grapple with, problems their 4-2 record belies.

After a rough-and-tumble Christmas tournament in which they edged their way to a fourth-place finish, the local matmen were disappointed when Montclair forfeited after they had waited eight days for the scheduled match.

But before a packed house last Wednesday, the wrestlers found themselves in a nip-and-tuck bout with Millburn all the way through, eventually losing 27-23. Nearly 1,000 fans were on hand to see the Millburn match from start to finish, a crowd described by BHS head coach Gene D'Alessandro as one of the biggest in years.

Belleville's Tom Graziano (101) was able to out-manipulate Ted Schlein for a 4-1 decision before Vinnie Dopp of Millburn slammed Lou Ricciardi (108) for a pin at 1:55.

In the next match, Buc 115-pounder Lou Pomponio drew with Scott Cohn 2-2, but Roger Serruto shut out Gerard Minichini 6-0 in the 122-pound bout. Coach D'Alessandro noted that Pomponio performed well in the first and third periods but was equalled by his opponent, while Minichini was simply outclassed by a more experienced wrestler.

Jim Lombard (129) lost a close, 3-2 decision to Andy Schwartz, a former county champ "after he did an excellent job. But he lost on a penalty point for stalling. It was a good call," said D'Alessandro.

Elio Gonzalez (135) was decisioned in a squeaker 6-5 by Millburn's Barry Goldberg, but Bob Scherer managed to pounce all over Bob Massengill for a convincing 12-3 stomp in the 141-pound class.

However, Joel Eicher (148) quickly reversed the short Belleville streak by overwhelming Danny Palumbo 11-1. Belleville's Brian McManus (158) then slipped one by Adam Lukejan, though, for a 9-7 win.

The seemingly invincible Chris Musmanno (170) did his thing in easily working over Stuart Brown for a 12-0 decision, while Rick "Quick Pin" Racioppi was uncharacteristically nailed by Mike Jeffrey at 2:45 of the second period in the 188-pound bout.

Pinning his way to his third victory of the season, Buc heavyweight Anthony D'Agostino twisted Phil Reynolds about until he floored him at 2:33 in the second period.

"Overall, the team is definitely showing signs of improvement," said D'Alessandro. "You know wrestling is a tight sport and one mistake can be critical. Our performance has been getting better, but we still have some major weak spots on the team. But we're improving with each match," the coach added.

On Saturday, the matmen smothered Mount Holly 63-3, but the match wasn't much to talk about, despite the eight pins wracked up by the varsity.

"They (Mount Holly) just didn't have much to offer in the way of competition. The more difficult the opponent, the better we have to be. Everyone was a little disappointed that they didn't offer more," said D'Alessandro.

In the 101-pound bout, Tom Graziano slaughtered Bob Leschak 14-0, but Mount Holly's Mark Lip-

Honda tops in Musicians in recreation basketball

The Belleville Recreation Senior Boys' Basketball League resumed play last week and the Christmas spirit shone through on the faces of the winning team members. In the feature game of the evening, Belleville-Newark Honda bested Mickey Music 45-36 to move into a tie with DeBacco's Clifton Avenue for first place.

Honda took an early lead on successive breakaway shots by Lou Ritacco and held the lead throughout the game with the point spread reaching as many as 12. Midway through the second half, though, Mickey Music rebounded to within four points, only to have the margin widened to nine at the end of the contest.

Mike Nicosia and Steve Coffey scored 16 and 15 points, respectively, to pace Honda to its third victory without a loss. David Cary was the top point-getter for Mickey Music with 13.

DeBacco's Clifton Avenue gained its third victory at the expense of T. Bird Sewer Service 44-20. Ralph Velardi and John Melillo scored 15 points apiece to power the winners into a tie for first place. Gerard Tucci contributed eight points for T. Bird.

In a battle between two winless teams, DeBacco's 76'ers earned their first victory by defeating the 69'ers 72-31. The 76'ers used a balanced yet powerful scoring attack to set back their opponents. Tom O'Kean and Ricky Kiernan had 19 points each. George Kalas scored 18 and Anthony Rosania 13. Anthony Soriano and James Paterno led the scoring for the 69'ers with 11 and 10 points, respectively.

The Silver Lakers moved into a tie for second place with Mickey Music by crushing the Maniacs 51-8. The Lakers were awarded their second victory when the game was terminated by the referees at the conclusion of the second quarter due to the lopsided score. Anthony Coco (17 points), Sam DeCapua (16) and Antonio DeBenedetto (10) had a field day for the Silver Lakers.

Men's Basketball

Triple "S" Sports remained undefeated at 5-0 and in first place in the Men's Basketball League following an explosive 105-32 win over the Lakers. Abdel Anderson led Triple "S" with 28 points and Clyde Robinson and Ed Jernigan chipped in with 17 points apiece.

Chief Motors upped its record to 3-2 with a 79-59 victory over Red Shingle. Joe Dunn paced Chief with 21 points and Frank Petite added 17. Mike Dondarski scored 20 points for Red Shingle.

Small World picked up its first victory over winless J&R Insulation 58-55. Rich Baker's 19 points paced Small World. Lauman Goon had 18 points for J&R.

OPAC registered a big upset by defeating last year's champion, Then Play On, 74-70. Jack Scura and Gary Cordavano led OPAC with 18 points apiece. Terry Shoebridge led Then Play On with 25 points.

In the most exciting game of the night, the Health Spa scored a last-second win on a buzzer shot, edging the Knicks 80-79. A.J. Boreson scored 29 points, Harry Grau 20 and Steve Menconi 21 for the Spa. Rocco Marotti pumped in 33 pions and Robert Trash 24 for the Knicks.

Nu-Plas picked up its fourth victory against one setback by defeating the Record Shop 70-54. Bruce Gardner led Nu-Plas with 23 points and Anthony Cotugno chipped in 15.

Over-30 Basketball

Chief Motors raised its record to 2-0 with a 50-30 victory over Radio Shack in the Men's Over-30 Basketball League. Rich Luzzi scored 19 points and Lou Raniero 14 for Chief. Jim Reilly led Radio Shack with 12 points.

McCabe's Tavern handed the PBA its first loss in a low-scoring, defensive battle 33-23. Gary Mascitelli led McCabe's with 14 points. Phil "Bootsie" Cerza had 10 points for the police.

The Rec House team upped its record to 2-0 by belting the Jive-Five 60-24. Rich Lowack topped the Rec with 16 points and Bob Byers added 12. Vin Alfano led Jive-Five with 10 points.

Suburban Girls

The Belleville Recreation Suburban League girls' basketball team opened its season with a 59-52 victory over Livingston on the road. The squad is made up of seventh and eighth grade girls and is coached by volunteers Camille Cassaletto, Debbie Meola and Patty Pfiel, all coaches from the high school program.

In the opening game, Belleville was forced to take to the court without some key players due to the flu bug and injuries which took their toll. A sparkling performance was turned in, however, as Belleville, losing at halftime 17-15, rallied behind Jennifer Apicella who scored an incredible 41 points.

Lorlei Wells had 10, Dina DeAquino four and Ana Strutski and Ursula Massermann two points each. Other members of this year's squad are Janine Renna, Cheryl Marion, Donna Paterno, Cheryl McCarthy and Vanessa Pagan. Belleville plays in Verona Saturday at Whitehorn School.

Buc booters gain all-state honors

Three Belleville High players have been chosen for the New Jersey Soccer Coaches Association all-state team. The three honored at a dinner in East Brunswick last month were Galo Calvache, John Lee and John Larkin.

Calvache, was named to the Group IV second team. He scored six goals and had eight assists for the Bucs during the regular season.

Midfielders John Lee and John Larkin were given honorable mention. Lee had six goals and five assists for the Bucs in 1979.

All three players had previously made the all-county team.

Local wrestler 3-1 at Rutgers-Newark

One of the mainstays of this year's Rutgers-Newark wrestling squad is Bernhard Steins of Belleville. A heavyweight, Steins was sporting a 3-1 record after the team's first four matches.

"Bernie's been wrestling up," Coach Bob Mizerek said, "and will have the 190 slot when we resume action. He's had some excellent matches, including the one against Glassboro where his opponent outweighed him by perhaps 40 pounds and yet Bernie pinned him in the first period."

At 27, Steins is considered the "old man" of the team. He is a graduate of Bloomfield High School where he wrestled for three years and was team captain his senior year. He was also named Most Valuable Wrestler while at Bloomfield.

NJIT cagers lead in defense under Belleville's Catalano

Confusing? Hardly. Just ask New Jersey Institute of Technology basketball coach Jim Catalano how his team happens to be ranked No. 1 in the nation in defense and he'll give you a simple answer.

"If we sit down and think about it, we have 12 different defenses we use," said the rookie coach. "They're really variations of four basic defenses."

"But we change them so frequently, just about every time down the floor, that it keeps people off balance. Our opponents don't know what to expect."

The Highlanders have gotten off to a dazzling 10-2 start, all the more impressive compared to last season's 4-21 overall record. With NJIT yielding just 51.7 points a game to rank first in the NCAA Division 3 stats, every game the Highlanders play is a defensive clinic. "Everything we do is based on man-to-man principles," said Catalano, a Belleville native. "That's our philosophy. More or less, we play a match-up in areas on the floor."

"At times it looks like we're playing a zone when we have three people in zone areas and two others playing man-to-man."

"The good thing about it is that we can't be attacked by a man-to-man offense. We're not susceptible to cuts or picks. It aggravates a lot of teams. Our motto is that we're 'frustrating' teams to death."

Girl cagers take four straight to raise mark to fantastic 9-1

After a tough loss to the Camperettes of Irvington, the Belleville High girls' basketball team rallied with four successive victories to boost their record to an incredible 9-1.

Yesterday, the girls were away to battle Paterson-East Side. On Tuesday, the team will travel to Nutley to face the Raiderettes. The Nutley game will be a 3:45 p.m. tipoff.

The local girls started their successful week with a win over a good Passaic team at Passaic Tuesday last week. The Buccanettes jumped out to an 11-5 first-quarter lead but saw the Indians tie the game at the half.

The third quarter saw the girls recapture the lead at 30-28, and the last frame was a deadlock as both teams scored 15 points. Belleville won the game 45-43.

Robin Giordano led the locals with 17 points. Joyce Iacullo had 10. Head coach Karen Fucello was glad to come away with the win. "Our foul shooting wasn't that good, and we were on the opposite team's floor. But we came through with some key shots and I was glad to get the victory," she said.

The girls' next encounter was a tough struggle with the Kards of Kearny Friday. "They jumped out to a good lead and then tried to stall," Fucello said of the Kards. "I was glad to see that we could come back."

Belleville trailed 10-4 after the first quarter but cut that gap to 12-11 at the half. The aggressive Kards boosted their lead to 24-21 after three quarters, but the Buc girls rallied in the final frame to tie the game 33 all and won it in overtime 40-37. Giordano and Iacullo once again paced the Belleville attack, scoring 13 points apiece.

Victory number three was a convincing one at the expense of Bloomfield Saturday. The game was played at Elizabeth and was a preliminary to the Jersey Gems' contest. The first quarter saw Belleville jump out to a 12-9 lead. The next two frames were even, with Belleville clinging to a 35-32 lead as the last quarter began. However, from then on, the Buc girls were awesome, outscoring the Bengals 19-4 and waltzing to a 54-36 win.

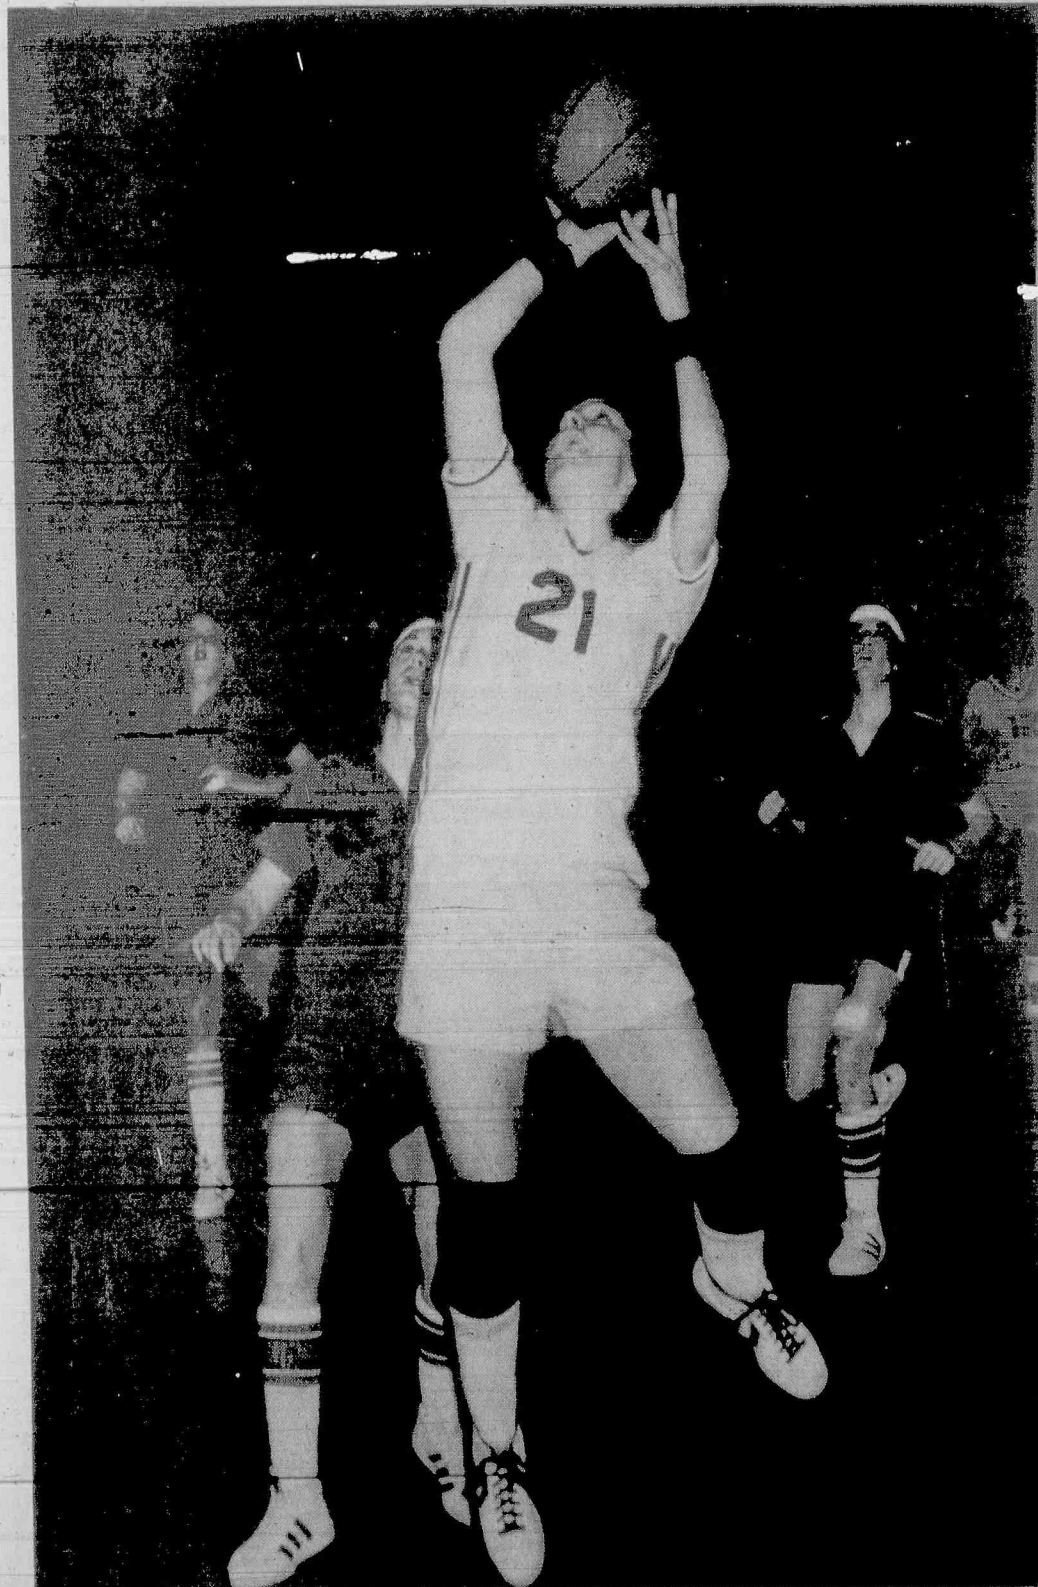

Iacullo was absolutely devastating, popping in 29 points. She scored 10 of those in the third quarter.

The girls added win nine to their victory belt by pummeling Union Monday. In this contest, Belleville was in command from the outset, leading 12-4 after one quarter and 28-14 at the half. The third quarter was more of the same as the girls outscored the Farmers 18-10. As the last quarter began, Belleville was well on its way to victory.

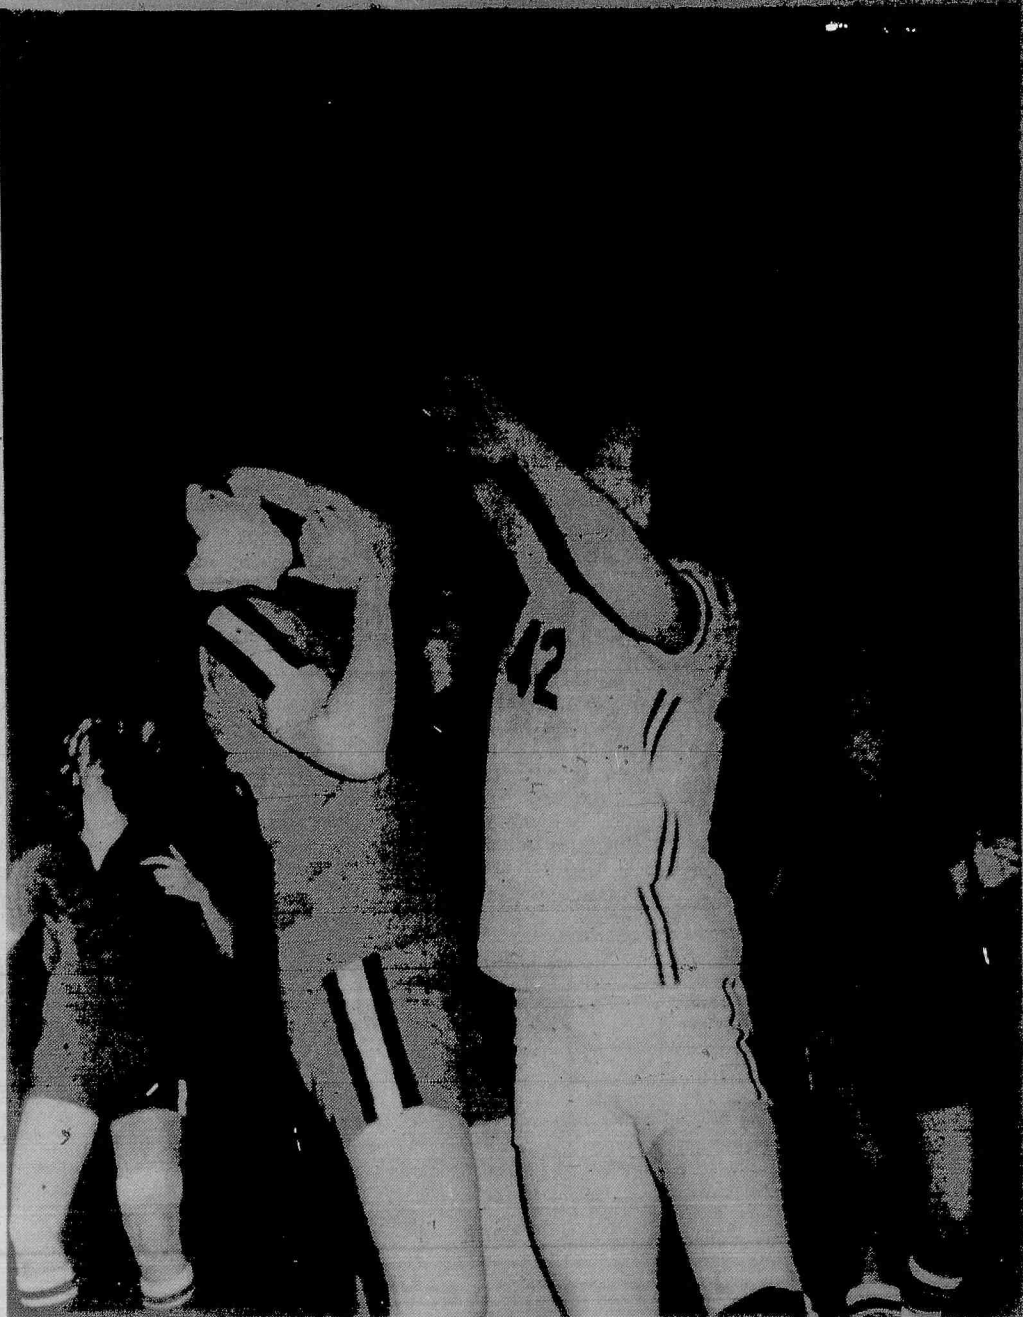

Robin Giordano had 19 points and 11 rebounds, and Iacullo had another fine game, popping in 12 points. But the story of the game had to be sophomore Rosie Leonidis, "the kamikazie pilot" of the team. Leonidis, who plays with reckless abandon, popped in 11 points and had seven steals. It was by far her most impressive game of the season. "She's been playing very well," said Fucello. "Her defense is strong and her shooting is quite impressive. Overall, I'm happy with our performance, but we have to realize that our toughest games are still ahead. Paterson Eastside is unbeaten and Nutley is a stiff challenge. We also have to play Passaic again, so the next few weeks should be quite interesting." — Mike Lambert

Up and at 'em — Dawn Ritacco watches the progress of her shot while her Kearny opponents look on. Ritacco scored nine points in the overtime victory.

Ripping the Twine — Joyce Iacullo goes in for an easy layup versus Kearny. She and Robin Giordano led the Buccanettes with 13 points apiece. Iacullo was on a scoring tear all through last week.

On the Attack — Robin Giordano throws caution to the winds and gets off a shot against Kearny Friday afternoon. The Belleville girls' hoop team won 40-37 with Giordano chipping in 13 points.

Boys' jayvee hoops off to a shaky start

By Melissa Prill

The 1979-80 Belleville boys' jayvee basketball season has begun with four losses, but the hard-working team should pick up and gain some successes in the remainder of the campaign.

Members of the team are Eugene Cancelliere, Billy Cook, Sterling Lutz, Scott Murray, Anthony Torre, Richie Wilks, John Yaniga and Joe Zangari. The coach is Hank Adamowski.

The first game of the season was played Dec. 14 against Weehawken and the local boys took a 54-35 loss, though they played a good game.

The Bucs lost the second game of the year Dec. 18-61-41 to Caldwell. The last jayvee game of the decade was played Dec. 20 against Irvington and resulted in a 63-50 Belleville defeat. On Jan. 8, Belleville was topped by Essex Catholic 61-49.

pinco decided Chris Botta 4-0 to make things close after two.

After that, it was all downhill for Mount Holly as Belleville quickly took the next 10 bouts, eight of them by pins.

Lou Pomponio pinned Tony Ofidani at 1:49 of the first period, and Gerard Minichini followed by sticking Dave Matthews to the mat only 44 seconds after the bout began.

Marino Ortega of Mount Holly was whipped by 129-pounder Frank Racinelli 9-0, and Jim Lombard pinned Dave Florida at 1:06. After that, Elio Gonzalez pinned Chuck Wright at 2:47, Bob Scherer nailed Jim Horne at the minute mark and Brian McManus pinned Brian Helsel at 4:57.

Not surprisingly, Chris Musmano won by forfeit and "Quick Pin" Racioppi got untracked by nailing Bob Montgomery at 1:03. Anthony "Tony D" D'Agostino followed by pinning Ed Meffron at 3:00 in the second period. It was D'Agostino's third regular-season pin of the year.

"I can't help but give members of our team compliments because these kids are out there almost every day practicing for three hours after school. Every day they practice, so winning and losing is immaterial, they just do the best they can," noted Coach D'Alessandro.

Yesterday, the wrestlers battled Westfield, ranked third in the state. "We're definitely going in there as the strong underdog," said D'Alessandro, "but any time a Belleville wrestler goes on that mat, anything could happen." The Bucs also host John Ossi 1 p.m. Saturday.

Lamberti's Buc Shots

more vigor and added an inspirational quality to the song. It also would have shown the people around the world the great pride this country has. Let's hope Ladd can accomplish that feat.

Speaking of rising tensions around the world, President Carter has threatened that the United States might boycott the 1980 summer Olympics. Some of the athletes who have worked so hard might find fault with this move, but what has to be considered is the safety of our athletes. We don't want a repeat of the 1972 Munich games. If the leader of our country says that we will boycott the games, then it is for our best interest. Let's respect our president and back up his decision.

While we're at it, let's respect the right of people to speak freely what's on their minds, one of the things this country is all about. I refer to The New York Times's decision to kill a column by Red Smith, a Pulitzer Prize winner, who called for the U.S. to boycott the Olympics in protest over Russia's invasion of Afghanistan. The party line at The Times is that politics shouldn't be injected into the Olympics, that we should just pack our bags for Moscow this summer as if nothing had happened. Since when has politics not been involved in the Olympics? Remember that basketball game in 1972?

Finally, the answer to last week's quiz. The question was what team did the Tampa Bay Bucs beat for their first victory in the NFL? The answer, the New Orleans Saints. The Bucs blasted the Saints 33-14 in New Orleans in the 13th week of the 1977 season.

Here is this week's quiz. In the 1976 summer Olympics, the United States recaptured the gold medal in men's basketball after that controversial loss to the Soviet Union in 1972. Who did the U.S. defeat for the gold medal in Montreal?

Junior varsity women 2-3 so far this season

In the third contest, Belleville came out on top in a close game with Cedar Grove 32-29. Belleville's top scorers were Debbie Mundy with 10 and Barbara Gundry with eight points.

The Buccanettes lost the fourth game in a heartbreaker 25-24 in overtime to Irvington. The leading scorers were Cecilia Graham and Barbara Gundry, each with seven points, and Doreen Pennetti with six.

Members of the team are forwards Debbie Mundy, Barbara Gundry, Doreen Pennetti, Cecilia Graham and Franchette Polite, guards Debbie Jinks, Angelo Chimento, Luisa Dinis, Nancy Lisboa, Mary Callahan and Mona Stampe.

Codomo is named to '80 'Who's Who'

John Codomo, 582 Union Ave., a Fairleigh Dickinson University senior, has been selected for inclusion in the 1980 edition of "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges."

The campus nominating committee chose Codomo for his outstanding academic achievements, his community service, his leadership in campus activities and his future potential.

At FDU, Codomo majors in fine arts-music and minors in business administration. He has been elected to the Phi Zeta Kappa Honor Society.

As a voice student, Codomo performs with the Music and Performing Arts Quintet and the university chorus. He was instrumental in establishing the Music and Performing Arts Club and serves as its vice president.

During his college career, Codomo has been a student senator, a consultant to LUNCH, the university literary magazine, and music-editor of The Spectator, a campus newspaper. He works as an assistant to the music librarian.

Codomo is employed by Miele Caterers on Union Avenue. His business interests involved him in the university's Hotel and Restaurant Society. He is an active member of Holy Family Church.

As a "Who's Who" member, Codomo joins an elite group of students singled out from more than 1,200 institutions of higher learning in the United States and several foreign nations. Outstanding students have been honored in the annual directory since it was first published in 1934.

Three Montclair State College students from Belleville are going on accredited study trips abroad this month. Donna A. Berrigan of Beech Street is one of 19 students going to London. Mary Angelino of Berkeley Avenue and Esther Krom of Bell Street are going to Russia, Poland and France.

Miss Berrigan is participating in a course entitled "Focus on British Film" and she will examine the broadcasting facilities of the BBC and survey London as a major western European cinema capital. Miss Angelino and Miss Krom are among 14 students taking part in a course entitled "Masterpieces of World Famous Museums, East and West."

Brian Erik Copsey of Belleville has graduated from the College of Aviation Technology at Northrop University, Inglewood, Calif.

After successfully completing the airframe and powerplant maintenance program, Copsey is preparing for a career as an aviation technician. He was awarded a certificate of completion in airframe and powerplant maintenance and is now eligible to take the Federal Aviation Administration examination. Copsey may also choose to continue in Northrop's College of Technology for bachelor of science and graduate degrees in engineering.

Wilma Muniz of Belleville is among 40 Seton Hall University students holding Martin Luther King scholarships who will honor the memory of the slain civil rights leader with a special day in his honor tomorrow.

The students are planning and will participate in an all-day program of events centering on the theme, "Unified Progression: Why We Can't Wait." The program will include a Mass, lectures, films, music and drama focusing on the aims, achievements and philosophy of Dr. King.

Lone trustee opposed pact

state and federal aid funds usually available won't come to Belleville until a desegregation plan is drawn up and accepted. Probably millions of dollars in potential grant funds are being lost by not having the state-mandated desegregation plan, stresses Nucera.

Nucera did not work on the $679,000 free state building aid grant up on referendum Wednesday.

Contacted Tuesday of last week, Nucera said he didn't want to get into a public battle with Chieffo over the trustee's decision, preferring to possibly take a stand at Monday's board meeting. "I just can't understand his position," said Nucera, who did not take issue with Chieffo at the meeting.

"I'm going to vote 'no' because I feel the administrators are getting a raise I don't believe they should," said Chieffo last week.

Chieffo conceded that the local administrators had received a raw deal because "they didn't have a contract over the past two years (actually 26 months)." He added that the new salary ranges "are not too much or unrealistic."

East Orange situation looming large over plans for conference

if you don't have 10 teams and want to start a new league with eight, it would necessitate going out and getting extra teams for football," he said, emphasizing that for other sports like baseball and basketball in which more games are played, it would be necessary to schedule even more independents.

Both Belleville and Nutley have school board policies that prohibit their athletic teams from playing East Orange because of past problems, including threats, cursing, several fights, and rock and bottle-throwing incidents.

Though East Orange hasn't asked to be included in the new league, Belleville board attorney Lawrence Schwartz said considering the large amount of publicity given the league, if East Orange doesn't ask for inclusion, it won't be able to contest not getting in.

However, he stressed that if the league tries to intentionally exclude East Orange, State Education Commissioner Fred Burke would probably fail to approve it.

"My gut reaction is unless they (East Orange) make their wishes known to us in a letter they wouldn't be able to contest the new league," said Schwartz.

When Murray noted that one of the main obstacles he saw to joining a new conference was Nutley's policy not to play East Orange, Schwartz said, "Fortunately, or unfortunately, I think it's going to have to change."

as is Belleville's exclusion policy.

Because East Orange has mostly black players on its teams, some feel both Belleville and Nutley could be accused of practicing discriminating by refusing to play that school, forcing it to schedule independent competition with far-away schools, some out-of-state.

However, league advocates point out that Montclair and Passaic schools with large black populations, have been included in talks on the new league. East Orange has not been invited to any of the roundtable discussions here, which often revolve around it.

"I think we're in agreement that there's no way they can be excluded," said Trustee Peter Clarizio, who chaired the meeting last week, while Nutley's trustees and Kearny's representative, Don Locasto, appeared uncertain about what to do.

After the meeting, Seton Hall Athletic Director Joe Walsh stressed, "At this point, all I want is for the league to be open to all applicants."

"You could see that there was tremendous interest. I just regret we didn't start this league two years ago. Then we could have easily got 10 teams," commented Risoli.

Besides those mentioned, also taking part in the meeting were Nutley Trustee Jacqueline Imhoff and Belleville Athletic Council President Vincent Sorrentino.

A correction

A page 5 story in last week's edition of The Belleville Times contained an error. The story, about new closing times for town bars, stated that Commissioner Joseph McGreevy had abstained on a vote to move weekend closing hours back from 3 a.m. to 2 a.m.

McGreevy actually voted "yes." In addition, the commissioner is not the owner of McGreevy's Tavern here; an incorrect inference which might have been drawn from the story.

State money goes elsewhere if referendum is voted down

that's no reason to vote against the free building grant referendum.

While resident Joe Fornazotto reminded trustees Monday that a nearby town voted down a $1 million free building referendum because residents felt there were hidden costs, trustees stressed that nothing is being hidden.

Board President Ralph Risoli

said "100 percent of the money is going to be used for construction," and School Superintendent Dr. John Greed noted that necessary equipment and furniture may be included in the building specifications.

Until the $679,000 free building aid grant is approved by the voters, trustees can't even put the job out for bids. No one on the board opposes the grant, and Industrial Arts Coordinator Victor DePauw believes if residents don't okay the grant, they'll be making an irreversible mistake, only costing themselves more in the long run.

"We're going to look like fools if we vote this down," said Trustee Mike Chieffo, repeating it twice for all 20 residents at Monday's meeting to hear.

"If this money is not accepted by the people of Belleville, somebody else is going to get this," said Risoli, noting some incidentals like furniture and teacher salaries may have to be paid locally, but it's too early to know.

Forms available for postal jobs

Newark Postmaster Joseph J. Benucci has announced that applications for garagemen and auto mechanics will be accepted Jan. 28 through Feb. 8 and urged all those interested to apply to take job-related tests that could lead to Post Service employment.

Salaries, not including fringe benefits, for garagemen begin at $7.83 an hour and increase to $9.06 an hour over an eight-year period. That is a $15,778 starting salary.

Salaries, not including fringe benefits, for auto mechanics begin at $8.40 an hour and increase to $9.84 an hour over an eight-year period. That is a $16,914 starting salary.

About 14 vacancies should occur in the next two years, according to Benucci. Information and applications may be obtained from the examination specialist, U.S. Postal Service, Post Office Building, Room 109, Newark, N.J. 07102 Monday through Friday 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. starting Jan. 28.

"We should expand vocational opportunities and enable many children who perhaps wouldn't be able to do something to learn a trade," said Chieffo.

About 65 percent of Belleville's high school graduates do not go on the college. Instead, many enter the job market. It is these students who would benefit most by passage of the bond referendum and expansion of the high school.
