Fight or comply? Trustees and public torn, confused

While school trustees fight among themselves about what should be done to satisfy, or then again maybe even oppose the state desegregation mandate, many citizens at meetings seem confused over how to decide for themselves what should be done, if anything, to eliminate "racial imbalances" at Schools 1 and 9.

Residents will get a chance to express their views 8 p.m. Monday at the Belleville High auditorium when the first of two public hearings on desegregation will be held. The second is tentatively set for March 3 when trustees should make their final decision.

Although Schools 1 and 9 are the only two directly named as racially imbalanced, by the state, Belleville's other seven grammar schools can technically also be called out of balance since other than School 8, their minority enrollment is practically non-existent.

A 51-member restructuring committee, which dropped to 38 members over several recent months, proposed ending those imbalances by creating magnet schools at 1, 3 and 7, and transporting students interested in either gifted and talented programs, fine arts and English as a second language to those schools.

Magnet programs emphasize a specific curriculum enabling students to more fully concentrate on an area they enjoy. They also have been used across the United States as a voluntary way to end "de facto" or unintentional segregation caused by housing sale patterns.

Statistics compiled in September show School 1 has 32 black, 31 Hispanic and one Asian or Pacific Islander minority student, a total of 64 out of 153 students. School 9 has two blacks, 12 Hispanics and six Asian or Pacific Islanders, a total of 20 minority students out of 117 pupils.

After voting 4-3 on Aug. 9 to restructure the school system hoping to appease the desegregation order, every trustee except Charles Miele agreed the board had to work "together" to solve de facto discrimination evident in racial imbalances at 1 and 9. But now Miele is undecided about fighting, while Board President Ralph Risoli and Trustee Mike Chieffo want to fight.

Belleville's magnet school program would be voluntary under the restructuring committee's plan, and, coupled with careful redistricting by trustees, should be able to end racial imbalances, according to committee members. A state school law passed in 1970 says racial imbalances in schools occur whenever a school's minority population is either 5 percent above or below a community's minority percentage. Belleville's minority percentage is 8.9.

Trustees privately agree that acceptable to end racial imbalances, ac-

D'AGOSTINO TOPS BALLOT

Board's record target of school challengers

By Mike Olohan

With School Board elections a month away, five candidates, including two incumbents and three former restructuring committee members, are now beginning to discuss what they consider the major problems that will confront trustees over the next three years. Their differences of opinion appear to be sharp on some points, and the performance of the current Board of Education seems certain to emerge as an issue.

The five drew ballot positions Friday and incumbent Trustee Anthony D'Agostino got the top spot. Following him in order will be local lawyer Thomas Zampino, Board President Ralph Risoli, tax manager John DiStasi and engineer Thomas Spillane.

Trustee Peter Clarizio, originally appointed in a controversial vote after Lawrence Schwartz retired, was reappointed last summer at another stormy board session to fill Matthew Pica's slot when Pica was elected to the commission.

Clarizio has decided not to run because of increasing work responsibilities, but both Risoli and D'Agostino are gung-ho about another three-year term. The other hopefuls for the three seats up for grabs are all expected to put pressure on the incumbents by questioning their desegregation stands, the board's poor credibility and the annual budget defeats.

Press releases have been filtering into local newspaper offices as the candidates begin to let their feelings be known on many volatile topics. The campaign has begun under a cloud, Consolidated PTAs President Cora Boice has dropped out due to "hundreds" of harassing phone calls, and so, as was the case last year, no women are in the race. Mrs. Boice said the persons who phoned her called her names and said she didn't have the right ethnic background and lacked the necessary "political nepotism" to win. (See story below.)

After a little more than a year's experience on the board, D'Agostino, who recently received his doctorate, says he hasn't had enough time to reach the goals he had set for the school system before becoming a trustee.

"One year of my service to the fine people of the Belleville community is just not enough. I need at least three more years to adequately use my background and experience to further the cause for quality education for all of our kids in the town of Belleville," he says.

D'Agostino is principal of Newark's Mount Vernon School. He graduated from Seton Hall in 1963 with a master's degree in educational administration and in 1957 received a baccalaureate from Upsala College.

He pursued his doctorate for nine years, attending night school at Rutgers, New Brunswick. D'Agostino travels throughout America "and is an authority on basic skills, testing and human relations," according to one of his press releases.

D'Agostino favors more services for the children with needs in special education, more girls' sports programs, an enlarged academically talented program, a revision of curriculum guides, expansion of state compensatory education programs and Title I (for slow learners). He also wants constant monitoring of both remedial programs and Belleville's present testing set-up to ensure student progress.

D'Agostino is against classifying school districts as either approved. Please see "Educational" on page 2.

Boice out of race; cites harassment

Only one day after becoming a candidate for the School Board, Consolidated PTAs President Cora Boice decided to get out of the race after being bombarded by hundreds of phone calls from people opposed to her candidacy.

Mrs. Boice left the Board of Education offices on Washington Avenue in tears Friday after announcing to four of her opponents that she was withdrawing from the race to avoid any harassment of her family.

"They (the callers) were telling me I wasn't from the proper ethnic background and that I didn't have the necessary political nepotism to win," she said slowly. Many of the callers also cursed her, insulted her reputation and used vulgar language, causing her to become very upset.

"I don't know if it was an organized campaign to get me out of the race," said a disappointed and dejected Mrs. Boice Monday. "I've never walked away from a good fight in my life. I feel very annoyed right now," she added.

Mrs. Boice said she "couldn't be sure" why she was hounded out of contention for a School Board seat, although she has often criticized trustees for inaction and politicking which has just often provoked immediate battles and sometimes prolonged controversy between herself and board members.

Right after filing last Thursday afternoon, Mrs. Boice said the threatening telephone calls began and didn't stop until after she resigned Friday night.

"I had my full intentions set on running for the School Board, but Please see "Phone" on page 2.

March 1 party for Chief Smith

Retiring Police Chief Joseph Smith will be honored at a cocktail party Saturday, March 1, by Belleville Patrolman's Benevolent Association Local 28.

Smith announced his retirement last month after 32 years on the force, the last 10 as chief. He is being succeeded by Deputy Chief George Lister.

The party, which will run from 2-6 p.m., will be held at the Knights of Columbus Hall, 98 Bridge St. Tickets, $10, may be obtained by calling Joe Kisal at 751-3842 or 759-4600.

Imperiale: Newark's disease steadily overtaking Belleville

"The cancer of Newark has certainly reached the town of Belleville," Assemblyman Anthony Imperiale told a group of Republicans this past week. Imperiale said he warned Belleville commissioners of impending problems involving the question of desegregation in local schools, "but the officials of Belleville, who are mostly Democrats, paid no attention to me, preferring instead to call me a 'coo coo bird.'"

Imperiale, who earlier represented Belleville as a state senator, offered his comments during an address to the Nutley Republican Club. He was warning Nutley that Newark's "dilemma of destruction and deterioration is on its move like a swarm of bees moving to see where they can make their nest."

The Newark assemblyman said Belleville has fallen and continues "to lose ground daily. Belleville is losing its battle in the schools. Belleville's drug problem is exceeding the problem of Newark, and the problems of Newark have already become the problems of Belleville."

Belleville's leaders failed on several fronts, Imperiale believes.

School officials paid no attention to then Senator Imperiale's plea that racial surveys of student enrollment be constantly updated and school district boundaries adjusted "so integration might proceed normally, without mandates from the state or federal courts."

Imperiale urged Nutley to make such enrollment studies now. He also urged Nutley municipal officials and school leaders to continue leading the fight for home rule which he said was not done in Belleville.

"Fight for the right that a town Please see "Imperiale" on page 8.

approved with conditions or unapproved because it could be "stigmatizing" to children in negatively classified towns. State officials have already okayed statewide classification plans.

He's against open contract negotiations because too many items "may be misinterpreted" and the negotiators would probably be inhibited by citizens and press.

He says women's sports like swimming and field hockey should be started, and that funds might be obtained from approaching nearby businesses and industries.

"They're all just yellow-bellied politicians using this (desegregation) for their own political gain with them (minorities)," says Board President Ralph Risoli, a three-year member.

Risoli has come down hard on both federal and state politicians for legislating programs without supplying any funds to get them going or keep them going.

"The state has us on the defensive on this (desegregation). We (Belleville) are on the defensive. The burden is on the state to prove our schools are discriminating, and they can't because we're not," says Risoli. "Mr. Burke doesn't bluff Ralph Risoli," he says, referring to the state education commissioner.

Risoli says too many students leave high school without being adequately prepared to find jobs or cope with the competitive world around them and was especially pleased when Belleville okayed $679,000 in free state aid to build a new vocational wing.

He has been pushing for a vocational high school since joining the board, but funding was just not available.

Risoli campaigned three years ago to reduce the school budget, something he has not talked about this time perhaps because of soaring costs across-the-board and because nearly 85 percent of each school budget is fixed — tied up for salaries, utilities and maintenance.

Getting back to what appears to be his main campaign theme, Risoli said Friday, "Why doesn't the state go after other towns by us? How about Nutley, what about them? Why doesn't the state go after other towns just like us?"

Since 1970, the state educational department has ordered 113 school districts to desegregate their schools, with many being granted extensions to comply. Most have at least made an effort to submit a plan while others like Piscataway have challenged the order.

Risoli says the state should give more money to local schools, cutting back on business tax concessions and subsidies that he says are just political payoffs.

Risoli was born in Wimber, Pa., in 1917 and attended Essex County Vocational Technical School in Newark. He was voted board president last spring in a split vote.

Zampino, a local lawyer, sees violations of the Open Public Meetings Act as a major issue that needs to be immediately acted on. Calling exemptions to the Sunshine Law a "protective shade for matters such as terminating an employee or any pending or anticipated litigation," he emphasizes, "the board has turned this protective shade into a gloomy darkness that is cast upon the community."

He points directly to state law, citing 1975's Sunshine statute. "The board of education cannot exclude the public from any meeting to discuss any matter without first adopting a resolution at a public meeting stating the general nature of the subject to be discussed and stating as precisely as possible, the time when and the circumstances under which the discussion conducted in closed session of the public body can be closed to the public."

He emphasizes that the above paragraph is the "exact words contained in the law, yet they go unheeded time and time again by the board. Openness breeds trust, and trust allows the furtherance of public education. If I am elected, I intend to restore the trust that has sorely been misused by our community," says Zampino.

Zampino says teachers' and administrators' expertise must be used more fully and trustees should avoid making decisions that impinge upon educators' responsibilities.

He stresses the School Board needs to make decisions for educational reasons, not political ones.

He says trustees should focus on improving education, not running the schools. He's against open contract negotiations but feels periodic press statements should be released to inform citizens about what's happening.

"As a father of three school-age children, I believe in quality education. I believe that my children should be as well prepared to enter the adult world as possible," says Tom Spillane. Like D'Agostino, Spillane favors "management by objectives," noting this system "forces the board to define what it wants from the school system, it allows the administration to know what the board expects, it allows for measurement of results and permits salary increases to administrators based on performance."

Spillane is a New Jersey Bell Telephone engineer, a member of Belleville's Optimist Club and a member of the high school Educational Advisory Council, Knights of Columbus Council 35 and School 8's Home and School Association.

"Belleville, like any other community, has limited resources. How well we manage our resources set aside for education will result in how well our children are educated," says Spillane.

Spillane says trustees should be strictly policy-makers and let administrators make all educational decisions.

Spillane is a 1958 Belleville High graduate and received a baccalaureate from Rutgers. He attended Rutgers graduate school of business and Montclair State graduate school.

"If I am elected, I will make implementation of management by objectives my primary goal," he said.

John DiStasi, a state and local tax manager with Stone and Webster Inc., N.Y., believes trustees "must act now" to end racial imbalances at Schools 1 and 9. "To procrastinate any longer will jeopardize our entire educational system because the state board of education will move in and dictate what's best for our children," says DiStasi.

DiStasi says he's not satisfied with the restructuring plan, despite being on the committee, because "it is a compromise of many varied viewpoints."

He notes the plan "represents a basis on which the state mandate can be satisfied. The state and federal funds our schools need to operate might be jeopardized if the Belleville board doesn't act promptly."

"The legal cost to the Belleville taxpayer, over the months and perhaps years it will take to resolve the issue will be enormous," he says.

Fighting the desegregation mandate "will be foolhardy," DiStasi says, since the board has been advised that no district so far in New Jersey has beaten such an order. "The state board has been successful in defending its position in each instance in New Jersey," he adds.

"The only thing constant in our world is change. Yet change is the hardest thing each of us must face," says DiStasi, referring to Belleville students who will either be going to another school or walking farther to school.

"Ninety percent of our students will continue at their neighborhood school, unless they opt to attend one of the special programs offered at another school," notes DiStasi. He believes more economizing within schools would make each one more efficient.

DiStasi is deputy police commissioner, an alternate member of the Zoning Board, a Music Parents Association member and a former member of the Board of Education advisory, budget and restructuring committees.

Planners to meet on BHS addition

A special meeting of the Planning Board will be held 7:30 p.m. this coming Wednesday in the Board of Education offices at 383 Washington Ave.

Planning board members will discuss the new vocational arts addition to the high school and decide whether to approve the site plan. A $679,000 free state vocational bond referendum passed overwhelmingly last month, providing funds to construct an addition.

School Board members are now trying to get local and neighboring businesses and companies to underwrite the cost of floating $679,000 in bonds.

Phone callers outrage remaining candidates

after this...I'm just not going to subject my family to this kind of thing," she said. "I personally feel those people who were calling me must have thought I could win."

As president of the Consolidated PTAs, the Junior High School PTA and the Title I parents' group, Mrs. Boice has built up a powerful network of friends throughout town, an interweaving group she described as "a strong people-power base."

"I'm not scared, but I'm not going to have my family put up with this kind of vile and arrogant harassment," she said. "The calls have basically stopped now, but I'm still quite upset," said Mrs. Boice.

Mrs. Boice refused to even hint at who was involved with the phone calls, and she cast no aspersions on anyone. Though board members have opposed many of her positions and the teacher's union was certain to disagree with her call for public involvement in contract negotiations, Mrs. Boice wasn't pointing any fingers.

Mrs. Boice was even more outraged because her sister couldn't contact her on Thursday when her brother-in-law died, since Mrs. Boyce's phone was continually tied up with crank calls.

Although the callers emphasized that Mrs. Boice wasn't of Italian background and shouldn't be a trustee, three recent trustees, including Lawrence Schwartz, Richard Mahmarian and Viola Spray, were not Italians. The current board consists entirely of Italian-Americans.

Another current candidate, Thomas Spillane, also a non-Italian, said he hasn't received any threatening phone calls.

"I'm very disappointed by this (act). I'm appalled by it. I don't know, I just don't think people are that way," said candidate John DiStasi. He noted that Spillane, an Irishman, hasn't resigned or received threats from any local resident.

"Those calls don't reflect the general character of Belleville," commented Tom Zampino, a lawyer and board candidate. "I think the majority of people vote on qualifications," he added.

"I don't think there's too many people who vote for others based on ethnic background," said Spillane. "I think this whole thing is crazy, it's ridiculous," he emphasized.

Many called Mrs. Boice's withdrawal a disheartening development, saying that without her in the race, much of the excitement and depth she brought to educational topics will lie dormant.

Court fight unpromising path

ually there aren't enough local minority students to make desegregation worth its cost (probably about $150,000), but most think a court battle would undoubtedly fail, based on a State Supreme Court ruling in Booker vs. Plainfield Board of Education in 1964, which was upheld on April 17, 1978, by a state appellate court judge.

That ruling explicitly stated: "Whether or not the federal constitution compels action to eliminate or reduce de facto segregation in the public schools, it does not preclude such action by state school authorities to furtherance of state law and state educational policies."

In 1978, Piscataway's school trustees charged that "compulsory racial balance as defined by (the state education commissioner) is contrary to the Fourteenth Amendment," but appeals court judge Leon Milmed said State Education Commissioner Fred Burke's demands for racially balanced schools are "merely suitable steps taken by him to avoid racial imbalances in the local public school system and in no way conflict with any provision of the Fourteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution."

"These actions, being well within the ambit of the Commissioner's and department's authority, are entitled to a presumption of correctness, and will not be upset unless there is an affirmative showing that they were arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable. No such showing has been made," said the decision.

The State Department of Education says every school district in the state "must strive to establish a student body that represents a cross section of the population of the entire district" to attain racial balance.

Board attorney Lawrence Schwartz declined to reveal what new angle the desegregation mandate might be attacked from, but noted if trustees decided to fight it, he'd go for the gusto.

Before Schwartz was hired last July 9 as board attorney, he'd been a trustee for nearly nine years and repeatedly advocated closing down three schools to create a more efficient school system. But Schwartz said he doesn't inject his own opinions into private board conversations on any issue unless a legal question or problem is raised, discounting suspicions he wields undue influence in board decisions.

Although the cost of desegregation was estimated at $150,000 for busing and curriculum changes, trustees are unsure of any exact figures but will no doubt know ballpark prices for desegregation before making a final decision.

Exactly how much taxes will increase because of what could be a longterm commitment to desegregation is unknown, although its start-up costs will obviously be higher than follow-up expenses to keep each school racially balanced.

State officials contend a racially balanced school system leads to a better all-around education because each child has an equal chance to meet with and get to know people of differing races and backgrounds.

Some Belleville parents apparently fear busing. In fact, several at last week's board meeting said they didn't want their children being bused anywhere and would withdraw them from schools if they were.

If the proposed voluntary magnet school desegregation plan were to fail, racial redistricting simply based on numbers would probably have to take place to eliminate Belleville's imbalances, an option not too appealing to schoolers.

Because neither the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) nor the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) has stepped in on Belleville's case, Risoli feels the state's charge of de facto segregation is absurd.

Board Vice President Ernie Zoppi admitted last week that state officials want racial balance in Belleville schools more for socializing purposes, enabling students to mix freely and equally with other cultures. "They've (state) never said we give an unequal education," stressed Zoppi.

Calls to the Equal Educational Opportunity Office in Trenton have been fruitless lately, since no replies or call backs are received.

As for Board President Ralph Risoli's suggestion that Belleville citizens be permitted to decide if they want to comply with desegregation by holding a referendum, most trustees seem opposed to putting any question on the ballot noting it's their job to make tough decisions.

"That's ridiculous, it's our decision," said Miele, echoing the views of everyone else. "The people elect you and now they're relying on your judgment."

Prayer for today

Be strong!
We are not here to play, to dream, to drift;
We have hard work to do, and loads to lift;
Shun not the struggle - face it; 'tis God's gift.
Be strong!
Say not, "The days are evil. Who's to blame?"
And fold the hands and acquiesce - oh shame!
Stand up, speak out, and bravely, in God's name.
Be strong!
It matters not how deep entrenched the wrong,
How hard the battle goes, the day how long;
Faint not - fight on!
Tomorrow comes the song.

The withdrawal of Cora Boice

Last Friday, Consolidated PTAs President Cora Boice withdrew her name as a candidate for the School Board after receiving many harassing and abusive phone calls. The callers told her to get out of the race because she didn't have the "right" ethnic background and because she wasn't connected to the "right" people in Belleville.

Mrs. Boice decided not to run because she didn't want her family subjected to any more ugliness and bigotry. Her decision is a tragedy for the town's educational system, just as the behavior that prompted her decision is a shame on Belleville.

We know that the vast majority of Belleville residents deplore this behavior. We hope too that the tragedy will be a temporary one. We believe Mrs. Boice would have made an outstanding member of the Board of Education, and it is our hope that she will continue her active role in Belleville's educational community. Maybe someday when the kind of sleazy politics and ignorance that forced her from the race have disappeared in Belleville, Mrs. Boice will be able to take the seat on the School Board to which her qualifications, interest and dedication entitle her.

Maine results mean Carter's in trouble

The week before last, Maine Democrats went to their caucus rooms and once again President Carter was revealed to be in trouble. Yes, Carter did win a plurality of votes. Fifty-six percent of Maine Democrats voted against Carter. The 14 percent who voted for California Governor Jerry Brown represents an anti-Carter vote, as does the Kennedy vote. Let us not forget that the Maine election came upon the heels of the Readers Digest anti-Kennedy story about the Chappaquaddick incident. As election day in Maine arrived, Ted Kennedy hit rock bottom. The 40 percent vote that Kennedy received was a major victory considering the smear campaign conducted against him and the opportunity presented to President Carter arising from the Iran and Soviet Russia problems.

It is almost a safe bet that Kennedy will win in New Hampshire and following that election Kennedy will win again in Massachusetts.

At this writing, the political record seems to indicate that Carter's domestic policies are meeting with the disapproval of a majority of Americans.

If President Carter becomes the Democratic nominee, it is quite likely a Republican may be elected president.

It's time Belleville's citizens stood up to big government

To the Editor:

The Belleville restructuring committee has submitted their report to the Board of Education. I commend the members of the committee for their hard work and the many hours they sacrificed. The only criticism I have is that a simple majority of the committee allowed one member to submit a minority report that was unnecessary, deceitful and poorly conceived and researched.

When the committee came up with the Board of Education for the sole purpose of creating one. They were not asked to investigate the charge of the State of New Jersey of a racial imbalance problem in Belleville schools. Nor were they asked to find out directly from the people of Belleville, if they in fact, felt they had a problem in their schools, as the state so dictated.

As a citizen of the United States, I am tired of the government, at all levels, interfering in every facet of my life. It is time that we the people stand up and demand our freedom.

Belleville has a unique opportunity to stand up to the State of New Jersey, and win a court battle that will be the beginning of a nationwide awareness of the immoral and interfering government. The model for this is the government.

The past two decades of desegregation orders, busing, smaller classes, special classes, state aid, federal aid, teacher's aides, new math, liberal dress codes, T & E, the state lottery for education, more modern facilities, have produced high school graduates with fourth grade reading levels, poor math and spelling abilities, and a general education far inferior to the graduate of 20 years ago. The facts are clear: the more government intervention we allow, the worse our education system becomes.

So, people of Belleville, it is extremely important that we all show up at the board meeting, February 25, 1980, and demand our board members tell the State of New Jersey they can't tell us how to run our lives.

Don't be deceived by the threat of losing federal or state aid. Federal and state aid comes from different pockets in the same pair of pants. AND THE PANTS ARE YOURS!

Bring as many people as you can to the February 25 meeting, and PLEASE, stay to the end.

Children thank flea supporters

To the Editor:

On behalf of The Friends of the Children's Shelter of Essex County, we would like to thank you for your generous support which helped to make our fall flea market a real success.

We would like for you to know that all of the profits made from our flea market will be used for the children of the Essex County Shelter to help make their lives a little happier, and a little more meaningful. Again we thank you.

Very truly yours,

Lines at pump prompt question from reader

To the Editor:

I may not be too bright but, for the past few weeks I have noticed cars lined up at the BP gas station on Franklin Avenue to save about three cents a gallon for gas.

The line starts at Franklin and Joralemon Streets and ends at Harrison Street, Nutley. The people are running their cars to keep warm, burning up fuel, and I was thinking wouldn't it be better if they went to a station, pulled right into the pump and saved about five cents a gallon because this is about how much they are losing by waiting in line and burning fuel. People don't really stop to think what they are doing.

This happens every Saturday and Sunday.

Thank you,
Bill Freid
P.S. Am I still stupid?!

Fast-acting resident receives Navy medal

Raymond W. Brubaker of Belleville has received the U.S. Navy Commendation Medal for his actions when his ship, the USS Milwaukee, was struck alongside a pier in port by a civilian tanker early last month.

The presentation was made on behalf of the secretary of the Navy by Vice Adm. Thomas J. Bigley, commander of the U.S. Second Fleet, in ceremonies at the Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock Company in Virginia.

Brubaker, the 27-year-old son of Mrs. Thelma Brubaker of 155 Main St. was one of 12 Navy men cited for their actions on the night of Jan. 3. Five received Navy Commendation Medals, nine got Navy Achievement Medals and 18 received letters of commendation.

The USS Milwaukee, a 44,000-ton oiler, was struck by the 42,000-ton civilian tanker, Sanko Prestige, while the Navy ship was docked at the U.S. Naval Station in Norfolk, Va. There were no injuries on either ship. Aboard the Navy vessel, which sustained a 40 by 15-foot gash in its port side, the lack of injuries was credited to fast action by Brubaker and his shipmates.

The citation accompanying Brubaker's medal reads, in part:

"Aware of an impending collision, Petty Officer 1st Class Brubaker forewarned his shipmates without concern for his own safety and, subsequent to the collision, rapidly inspected the engine and fire rooms for potential flooding, thereby ensuring personnel safety and ship-board integrity.

"Through his correct damage assessment and rapid reaction in securing exposed steam and electrical lines, he contributed significantly to the prevention of more serious consequences."

Brubaker, a machinist's mate, was engineering duty officer on the night when the collision occurred. Although he recalled clearly the events of that night, the 1970 Belleville High School graduate tended to highlight the importance of what other crewmen were doing.

"I was in the lounge when I heard a yell, then the collision alarm."

Brubaker said, "After the impact, I went to the engine rooms and fire rooms to make sure we weren't taking water. Everything was OK there, so I went to the damaged area to shut off water and steam lines.

"Actually, I spent most of my time directing other people. They did the real work," Brubaker said. "Everybody did their jobs well and helped out where they were needed.

"It was a '4.0' operation," he said, referring to the highest mark an enlisted person can get on a period evaluation report.

Brubaker, who has been aboard the Milwaukee since June 1977, initially joined the Navy in September 1970. "I expected to be drafted and chose the Navy because I felt it offered more choice of jobs and assignments," said Brubaker. "After recruit training in Great Lakes, Ill., I went to the precommissioning unit of the USS Mount Hood, an ammunition ship. When the ship was commissioned, we took it to Concord, Calif., where it was homeported.

"I made a couple of deployments to the western Pacific and Vietnam before my enlistment ended in September 1974," continued the Belleville. "I had been hesitating about re-enlisting and by then it was too late, so I headed back to New Jersey.

"I had enjoyed what I was doing in the Navy and it didn't take me long to realize I'd made a mistake, getting out, so in May of 1975, I re-enlisted and was assigned to the destroyer USS Newman K. Perry. After a couple of years, I came to the Milwaukee. Aboard this ship, I've been to the Mediterranean Sea and visited Spain, Italy, Greece and Yugoslavia among others."

Brubaker is due for transfer again in May and says he will be going to the Naval Reserve Support Unit in New Orleans, La.

No matter what the future holds in store for the Belleville native, he's not likely to forget the night when, as his citation concludes:

"By his decisive actions and professional competence, Petty Officer 1st Class Brubaker reflected great credit upon himself and upheld the highest traditions of the United States Naval Service."

Umberto's Corner

Dear Umberto,

I have a daughter who always played with her doll's hair when she was small. Last year she finished high school and went to work in an office. She didn't like this job at all. At night she would come home upset and disgusted. I couldn't calm her down. She is my only daughter so I would do anything for her. As a matter of fact I asked her if her happiness would be to become a beautician. I would pay for the course. She said all right and signed up for the course. I am paying for the course. I asked her to give me a permanent and she said to wait another month. She said "I will give you a sandwich permanent." I started to laugh. Isn't that funny? She has heard of this sandwich permanent but she doesn't know anything about it. What is it? I think it means having a sandwich while having a permanent done or is it something else?

The sandwich-permanent amateur Dear Lady,

You can have anything while having a permanent done. It can be coffee, a sandwich, tea, etc. What your daughter heard about is nothing else than one piece of permanent paper under strands of hair and one on top and rolled on a rod. This is called a sandwich permanent. She can give it to you right now.

Mother program starts next week

Registration for a mother-infant workshop to be held at the YWCA of Montclair-North Essex is now underway. The group will begin meeting this coming Wednesday and will continue for eight consecutive weekly sessions.

Created for mothers whose children are under 4, the workshop is designed to provide an opportunity for mothers to share experiences, questions, dilemmas and ideas with one another in an informal atmosphere.

Organized and led by professional social workers May Benatar and Ethel Deeter, the mother-infant workshops have been offered at the YWCA several times during the past year. Participants have been pleased with the groups, finding it helpful to meet and share with others issues that are unique to this period in their lives.

Babysitting is available at the YWCA for those attending the workshop. For further information or to register, call Nancy Winkler at 740-5400.

MERIT smokers report "no taste sacrifice" in switch from high tar brands.

MERIT: Proven Long Term Alternative To High Tar Brands.

New national smoker study results prove it.

Proof: The overwhelming majority of MERIT smokers polled feel they didn't sacrifice taste in switching from high tar cigarettes.

Proof: 96% of MERIT smokers don't miss former high tar brands.

Proof: 9 out of 10 enjoy smoking as much since switching to MERIT, are glad they switched, and report MERIT is the best tasting low tar they've ever tried.

Smokers Prefer MERIT 3 To 1!

New taste tests with thousands of smokers prove it.

Proof: A significant majority of smokers rate MERIT taste as good as—or better than—leading high tar brands. Even cigarettes having twice the tar!

Proof: Of the 95% stating a preference, 3 out of 4 smokers chose the MERIT low tar/good taste combination over high tar leaders when tar levels were revealed.

You've read the results. The conclusion is clearer than ever: MERIT delivers a winning combination of taste and low tar.

A combination that's attracting more and more smokers every day and—more importantly—satisfying them long term.

Harsh Words — Assemblyman Anthony Imperiale told an audience at the Nutley Republican Club last week that Belleville is fast going the way of Newark.

Imperiale blasts Belleville's officials for ignoring warnings on town plight

should have a right to say how it operates, that home rule is the most important thing because without home rule, your town will die."

During a question-and-answer period, it was noted that Belleville was one of the leaders in organizing a countywide school district which Nutley educators believe was the crucial first step toward ending control of local schools by a town's own board of education.

"We've seen what's happened in Belleville, God forbid we would want that to happen in Nutley," Frank Tangorra, a Nutley board member with 25 years' experience, said in response to Imperiale's comments.

"I tried to warn Belleville, to help Belleville when I was their state senator. But they just laughed at me," Imperiale continued.

"You have a beautiful town here in Nutley. And I'm jealous because Newark used to be like this, and Belleville used to be a nice town too."

"You in Nutley should take a look at Belleville and learn why it's losing ground daily because, ladies and gentlemen, the dilemma of Newark is on the move and when Belleville falls, you are ripe picking in Nutley."

Imperiale also addressed himself to several other topics and defended his role in the North Ward Citizens Committee. "Each time that someone refers to me as a vigilante, I hold my head up high because I am a vigilante on the right side of the law."

He also announced that shooting of a major motion picture about his life is soon to begin and that the film's title has tentatively been changed from "Beyond the Law" to "North Ward."

He charged practically the entire Newark city administration with being corrupt, suggested Brendan Byrne should be arrested for impersonating a governor and praised the Republican Party for giving Imperiale a new base of strength from which he can expound his views.

Senior Notes

By George Chenoweth

Members of the Belleville Senior Citizens Club who are delinquent in dues are being asked to pay up now! On going over the membership rolls, we find that there are hundreds of members who are behind in their dues. Within the next few weeks, there will be an earnest effort to bring all of the members up to date.

The advantages of being a paid-up member are great — reduced-price party tickets and trips plus other goodies. In order to remain in good standing, one need only to stop in any Tuesday and pay his dues and show proof of residency in Belleville. Proof of residency should be the address on a utilities or phone bill, Social Security address from check, Medicare payment address, current car driver's or car owner's license — any one of the above. There will be spot checks of membership cards from time to time as has been done in the past. Members without paid-up cards will not be welcome. The yearly dues are still $1. Where else can one get such a bargain?

The time for filing homestead rebate applications has been extended to March 1. To qualify for the rebate check, a person must have owned and lived on the property as a main place of residence up to Oct. 1, 1979. Any taxpayer who has not received the rebate application should get one from his local assessor's office or from the Division of Taxation in Trenton.

The following is an editorial from the paper, "Senior Power," a publication of the New Jersey Federation of Senior Citizens: "It seems too often that the news media encourages the misconception that the poor and recipients of welfare programs are being coddled and that aid to the economically disadvantaged is often misdirected.

"An example of such distortions is the widespread criticism of the monies provided by the fuel assistance program. It is claimed that funds given to be used to assist in meeting high fuel prices are being subverted for other purposes. Not explained to the public is the fact that this assistance is not solely for relief of utility expenses, but basically for any aid in the prevention of hardship or danger to health. This means that many persons, not directly involved in payment for heating bills, can and should use the stipend for such important goods as clothing, blankets and footwear.

"This one-time payment is badly needed by people on SSI who are elderly or disabled and trying to survive on $231 a month. It can be of crucial importance to those in boarding homes who may keep a mere $25 a month to cover personal expenses and purchases of clothing and other necessities.

"This myopic approach to aid to the needy ignores the many hospital admissions and budget costs caused by the lack of small sums needed to keep as warm and healthy as possible during the winter months."

Buc Shots

Zebra men disgrace themselves on court

Heart and pride. For the basketball teams at Belleville High School last week, these two elements were what made the week something to remember.

In the won-lost column, the week was a disaster. The girls lost two games by a total of four points while the boys played two of the better teams in the state and put on a terrific fight, losing to the best.

Let's take Karen Fuccello's girls' team. The squad battled East Orange last Tuesday at Belleville. The Panthers are ranked number three in the state, number one in the county and are unbeaten in 18 games. The local girls' task obviously was a difficult one. But they came out ready to play and gave East Orange everything they could handle, and then some. As late as two minutes left in the game, the Buccanettes either had the lead or were tied with the Panthers. They might have won had they not missed a couple of layups and some important free throws. It could have been the upset of the year, and as Rosie Leonidis, the guard who played so well, said afterward, "Can you imagine if we had beaten them?"

There were many calls that were more than questionable. On a number of occasions, the Buc girls had drawn offensive fouls, only to have the whistle blown against them, or not at all. All told, there were 34 fouls assessed. But what had to be the worst call in the recent history of girls' basketball took place late in the game. With the score tied, an East Orange player attempted to throw a long pass downcourt. She threw the ball the way a shot putter would toss the iron ball. The ball was tossed high and hit the ceiling before falling to the court. You would think Belleville ball, right? Wrong. The officials, get this, ruled that a Belleville player tipped the ball before it was thrown. That's a pretty good trick considering there wasn't a Buc girl around the pass. Furthermore, it would have taken a world-class high jumper to tip the pass, that's how high the East Orange girl threw it.

The officiating in this game was a farce, or to put it bluntly, a downright disgrace. What these two men — and the word men is used quite loosely — did was take away the fun and the competitiveness of the game and instill some ugly, angry feelings on both sides.

There were many calls that were more than questionable. On a number of occasions, the Buc girls had drawn offensive fouls, only to have the whistle blown against them, or not at all. All told, there were 34 fouls assessed. But what had to be the worst call in the recent history of girls' basketball took place late in the game. Furthermore, it would have taken a world-class high jumper to tip the pass, that's how high the East Orange girl threw it.

Fuccello jumped off the bench, which is a sight not normally seen. You see, Fuccello isn't known to say boo to the officials. The fans went absolutely hysterical. The officials ran over to Fuccello and asked her to sit down. It was a class move all the way.

And so, the girls lost a game they could have won, should have won. It was so sad because those girls played their living hearts out. Joyce Iaculo played without a doubt her finest game of the season. She took control of the team and along with Leonidis handled the East Orange press with relative ease. Dawn Ritacco was unstoppable on the boards and popped in 14 points. Robin Giordano played a fine game and did a fantastic job on Valerie Walker, East Orange's fine forward.

The boys experienced the same thing in their game against Bergen Catholic. It's had enough that Bergen Catholic is 17-3 and ranked highly in the state. What made matters worse was that Belleville was playing this team on an even keel and the officials went out of their way to keep Belleville out of the running. The Bucs had the chance to take the lead in the first quarter when Eddie Aulisi made a steal and started a fast break. He made a nice pass to Ronnie Wittman who went up for a layup. A Bergen Catholic defender blocked the shot, but it was clear that the ball was on the way to the basket. Goaltending, right? Wrong. The officials didn't blow the whistle. Bergen Catholic came down and scored a basket and the complexion of the game completely changed.

What made the officials even more popular with BHS head coach Joe Papisidero was their "I don't give a damn attitude" throughout the contest. Late in the game, with Belleville convincingly behind, Papisidero went to his bench to give the younger kids some playing time. While the Belleville kids were hustling down the court, the officials were kidding around with some people in the stands. Nice, huh?

Things got even better on Friday when the Belleville girls played Irvington in the first round of the Essex County Tourney. Late in the game, with Belleville trailing 40-38, Fuccello called a time out. Now what happened during the timeout is somewhat foggy, but it definitely got the attention of assistant coach Debbie Meola. While the two teams were huddling, the official walked by the Belleville bench. The next instant he was over by the Irvington bench, speaking to the jayvee coach. From what could be seen by way of lip-reading, it appeared the official was outlining Belleville's play. The girls missed their final shot and Irvington won. While the Camperettes were rejoicing over their "victory," Meola informed the official in a rather angry way that the referee had told the Camperettes of the Belleville play. She finally had to be restrained.

Folks, let's be honest. What the officials did to Belleville was atrocious. Whether they had a personal grudge against Fuccello or Papisidero is not known. But the officiating on the high school level should be thoroughly scrutinized. What these men did last week was take two teams that had worked hard all season long, called the game as they wanted to see it, not the way it really was, and consequently broke the hearts of the athletes who tried so hard to win.

Isn't that what it's all about? Isn't high school athletics for the benefit of the players who try to improve their skills with the hope of continuing in college? Let's take these clowns called officials, and I'm not referring to all of them, and kick them the hell out of sports. They are a disgrace to the games they officiate and make a mockery of high school sports. There are plenty of fine officials who do a nice job at the games. These few are ruining the reputations of the good officials and are ruining the kids' attitudes towards playing sports. Why don't you guys do your dishonest work somewhere else, and leave the officiating to people who have the guts to make the right calls?

Congratulations to Eric Heiden, the American speed skater who has captured two Olympic gold medals so far. As for the Olympics, they have been very well played and the competition has been very exciting. For a moment, it was nice to think about the Soviet Union and the USA without the threat of war being mentioned.

How about Billy Martin considering managing the Oakland A's? Billy has said he loves a challenge and taking over the A's will be all he can handle. Not only are they the worst team in baseball, their owner, Charles O. Finley, isn't the easiest man in the world to get

BHS matmen prepared for county competition

By Mike Olohan

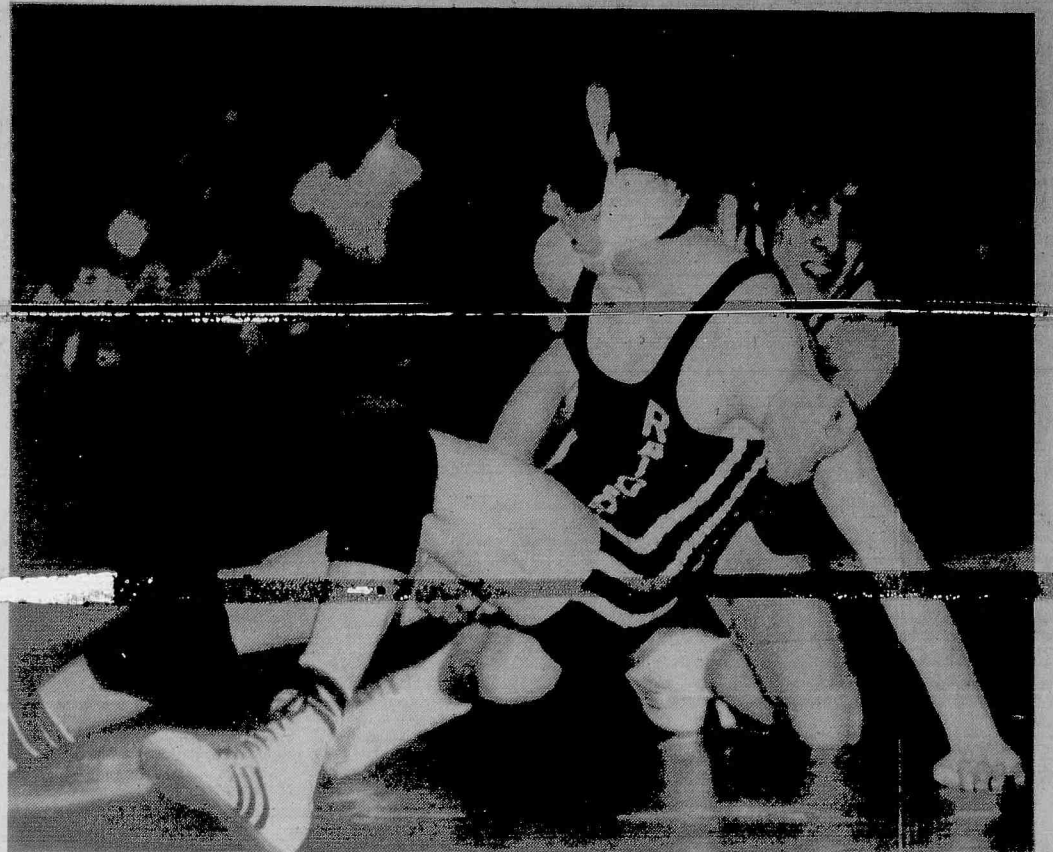

The county wrestling championships commence 6 p.m. tomorrow in the Belleville High School gym, and the local squad should put on quite a show since against both Nutley and Clifton this past week the Bucs displayed gutsy determination.

Belleville's record is now 8-7, but that mark doesn't truly reflect the talent and skill of numerous Belleville wrestlers, most notably Chris Musmanno, Gerard Minichini, Tom Graziano, Anthony D'Agostino, Bob Scherrer, Lou Riccardi, Jim Lombard, Brian McManus, Rich Racioppi, Lou Pomponio and Elio Gonzalez.

"I thought we did a fairly good job against Nutley. We wrestled well to the best of our ability," said Coach Gene D'Alessandro, emphasizing that despite the loss, his charges had performed admirably.

Because Tom Graziano was out with the flu and Lou Pomponio was changed from 6:45 p.m. to 3:45 p.m., leaving many people to speculate the switch was made to avoid any after-dark ruckuses, though D'Alessandro said that was not so. Anyway, no serious problems occurred, other than some foul-mouthed and cowardly shouts at several Belleville wrestlers, especially Chris Musmanno.

Please see "Grapplers" on page 10.

Buc cagers run into the big boys and are run out of Essex tourney

By Mike Lamberti

When Joe Papisidero was hired last summer to coach Belleville High's boys' basketball team, he was told that the squad had an easy schedule. Gone from the slate were perennial neemeses East Orange, Orange and Bloomfield.

Well, if schools such as Bergen Catholic, St. Benedict's, Irvington, Montclair, Queen of Peace, Memorial and Nutley are breathers, then people haven't gotten a look at those teams' records.

Last week, the Bucs ran into Bergen Catholic, a bunch of maulers who had a 17-3 record. When they aren't playing basketball, you'll probably find the Crusaders bouncing people at Eddie's Bar and Grill. The Bergen team defeated Belleville 109-78 and last Saturday, the Bucs were stopped in the first round of the Essex County Tournament by Clifford Scott 95-71.

The team's record is now 10-9. The Bucs played Kearny Tuesday and hosted Queen of Peace yesterday. This Saturday, the Bucs travel to West New York to play another of those "easy" teams, Memorial High School.

Against Bergen Catholic, the Bucs played a pretty even game for one half, but fell victim to the quickness and finesse of the private school. Bergen Catholic led 25-19 after the first quarter and 49-37 at the half.

It was 76-59 after three quarters, and Bergen Catholic poured it on in the last frame, breaking the century mark enroute to victory.

Rob Romaine led the winners with 23 points. For Belleville, Wayne "The Train" Bubet had 24 points and Ronnie "Swish" Wittman had 20. Harry "The Pistol" Anderson

Girls' team edged twice

By Mike Lamberti

It was quite an emotional week for the Belleville High girls' basketball team. The Buccanettes were beaten by East Orange 53-51 and lost in the first round of the Essex County Tournament to Irvington, 40-38. The team record now stands at 12-7.

Yesterday, the girls traveled to Kearny, and should battle Nutley next Tuesday. The game is tentative, pending Nutley's county play.

Head coach Karen Fuccello returned to the sidelines after a bout with the flu and saw her team lose two heartbreakers. Against East Orange, the state's number three team, the locals put up a great battle scored a career-high 10 points.

Papisidero had these comments after the game. "They kind of wore us out," said the coach. "We played pretty well in the first half, but they had just too much."

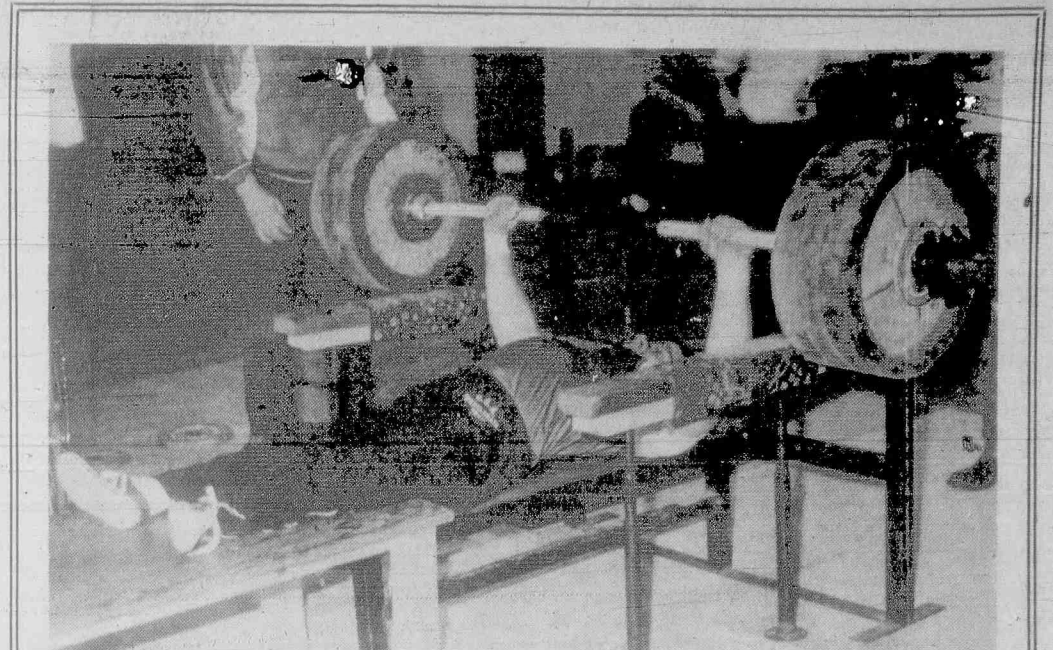

The same was true of the Clifford

Scott game. The Bucs were super for the first half, but after that, it was just a matter of running out of gas against a team that was bigger and quicker. The Bucs, making their first appearance in the state's most prestigious tournament since 1975, led 23-21 after the first quarter. Clifford Scott rallied to lead 43-37 at the half.

In the third quarter, the East Orange school scored six quiet

Inspirational Effort — Paraplegic Charlie Roedelbrom bench presses 341 pounds during an exhibition at Saturday's Belleville Open Weightlifting Championships.

Handicapped weightlifter sets unofficial mark here

A quiet, muscular young man sat on a plywood plank for several moments glaring into space Saturday in the Belleville High gymnasium. Then he lay back beneath a gigantic barbell, breathed ferociously like an angry bull about to charge, and, uttering a loud cry, lifted 402 pounds above his chest.

The bench press unofficially tied a national record. It was a remarkable feat, one made all the more impressive because 19-year-old Charlie Roedelbrom is the victim of a spinal disease that has left his legs shriveled and useless since birth. The handicapped lifting record he tied in an exhibition at the Belleville Open Weightlifting Championships this past weekend is held by his good friend, Eddie Coyle of Pennsylvania.

Roedelbrom wanted to try out for wrestling in his sophomore year at East Brunswick High School but realized it would be impossible. So he began lifting, he says, "just for body-building and keeping shape." Karl Faeth, a coach at East Brunswick, encouraged him to lift competitively in meets for the handicapped, and Roedelbrom, now a sophomore accounting major at Rider College in Lawrenceville, has been doing it ever since. Faeth has been his coach all the way.

Roedelbrom is a member of the New Jersey Blue Devils lifting team which is sponsored by Easter Seals and the Edison organization working specifically to find a cure for his affliction, spina bifida, a disease which diffuses the spine. The East Brunswick resident is a two-time national handicapped weightlifting champ. He won as a featherweight (112 to 125 pounds) in 1978 and last year as lightweight (between 125 and 143 pounds). As a featherweight he unofficially broke a bench press record of 335 by 15 pounds at a non-sanctioned meet in Illinois. Roedelbrom's best official bench press as a lightweight is 360 pounds, though prior to Saturday he had lifted 380 training in his basement where he undertakes several rigorous sets of lifts three times a week, and four if he "really feels good."

Saturday, Roedelbrom was moving around in a wheelchair before his afternoon exhibition. Afterwards, he switched to his normal method of ambulation, braces and crutches.

Roedelbrom had lifts of 341, 369 and 385 before Faeth announced he would try for 402. The crowd of about 50 persons was absolutely silent as Roedelbrom elevated the crushing weight with seeming ease.

After the cheering had subsided, Faeth, obviously moved, spoke over a microphone. "I can't tell you how proud I am to have worked with him and known him a little bit. He's really been an inspiration."

Reverse Shake — Nutley's Ernie Monaco and Belleville's Bob Scherrer prepare to get to center mat Friday afternoon at Nutley. Monaco defeated Scherrer 5-2 on back points in the 148-pound bout.

nursing pulled tendons. Nutley's Bob Ayala won six points via forfeit at 101. Then Belleville's 108-pounder, Ron Young, was nailed by Billy Maher at 3:04 of the second, quickly making it 12-0 Nutley.

"Young is starting to show some real progress, but he just got hit with a beautiful stepover," noted D'Alessandro.

At 115, Lou Pomponio beat Nutley's Mike Intindola 10-4 "by really showing some talent. He's a real hard worker in practice," stressed the coach.

Gerard Minichini, who's only lost two bouts all season and is probably Belleville's most consistent wrestler next to Musmanno, registered a 16-2 decision over Mike Yavorski by completely dominating him from start to finish.

"Minichini put two good matches together this past week," noted D'Alessandro. After two periods, it was 7-0, and Minichini wracked up nine more in the third to blitz Yavorski.

Belleville's Jim Lombard drew 129-pound opponent Bob Monaco 2-2 to make the score 14-10 Nutley and when Elio Gonzalez (135) waltzed past Dale Sasso 9-4, it was suddenly cut to 14-13 Nutley.

But a comeback was not to be.

Nutley's John Monaco floored 141-pounder Steve DeCesare at 3:32, and Ernie Monaco overpowered Bob Scherrer 5-2, after nearly pinning him. Scherrer escaped the pin by rocking back and forth but "a well executed lateral drop" by Monaco caught Scherrer by surprise costing him five points, said D'Alessandro.

Brian McManus, a tough and smart wrestler at 158, was just out-muscled by Jerry Salzarulo, losing a 6-1 decision that wasn't even as close as the score indicates since Salzarulo pretty much wore McManus down despite the Belleville's strength.

When Chris Musmanno and Nutley's Tom Bell took to the mat, most of the jayvee wrestlers came over to see the fireworks. However, Bell managed several escapes in each period and did everything else in his power to avoid a pin.

Musmanno has had only three points scored against him all season, has registered eight pins in 12 matches and whipped Phillipsburg superstar Mike Morgensen 8-2 in the Caldwell Christmas Tournament.

Bell was 11-1 going into "The Bout" against Musmanno but looked pitiful in the third period. It was 6-0 after two, although Musmanno was in complete control.

In the third, Musmanno slammed Bell around for 48 points, giving him seven points on escapes, only to knock him down each time after he got up. Several Nutley fans mocked Musmanno for not being able to pin Bell, but there was no doubt Bell was simply outclassed by Musmanno's awesome ability, as were Nutley's rude fans.

Because 188-pounder Rich Racioppi had broken his finger against Clifton, sophomore John Bucciarelli took his place. He held his own for the first period but was banged by Dave Lindstrom after two minutes, 32 seconds.

Besting Racioppi's quick-pin record, heavyweight Anthony D'Agostino decked Tom Morra at 17 seconds before the Nutleyite knew what hit him.

Although Belleville lost 32-24, the local wrestlers held their heads high departing Nutley since they'd done their best.

As against Nutley, Belleville fell quickly behind 12-0 at Clifton when Tom Rochford won by forfeit over a flu-felled Tom Graziano. "I think Rochford showed a lot of poise in going out there and having his hand raised," said D'Alessandro, a tinge of humor seeping through.

In the 108-pound bout, Clifton's Mike Pillione zinged Ron Young at 1:08 of the first, but 115-pounder Lou Ricciardi slid by Mike Hutchinson 8-5 to make it 12-3. "Lou Ricciardi rose to the occasion for us," said the coach.

Gerard Minichini flipped Clifton's Mark Giust on his back, pinning Giust's 122-pound frame to the mat at 5:40 of the third, while Belleville's Jim Lombard at 129 beat Mesut Akil 6-1 to give Belleville a tie at 12-12.

At 135, Elio Gonzalez lost 5-2 to Mark Ranges, a boy D'Alessandro felt Gonzalez should've won. "He just got caught, but Elio could have won that bout," said the coach.

Next, 141-pounder Steve DeCesare got walloped 11-4 by Darin Ruppert. However, Bob Scherrer beat Mike DeFabrizio 14-3 to make it 18-16 Clifton.

Belleville swept by taking three out of the next four as McManus (158) pinned Bob Daly at 5:30 and Musmanno hammered Alan Wagner at 3:13.

When Racioppi suffered a broken finger getting pinned by 188-pounder Kevin Szott, the score was close at 28-24 Belleville, but D'Agostino came through in the clutch by decisioning Pat Philbin 9-4 for a 31-24 final.

"Philbin had an excellent record. Tony executed an excellent fireman's carry to beat him," noted D'Alessandro.

Looking forward to tomorrow, D'Alessandro stressed that his wrestlers would be ready and more than eager to get their first, and for some what might be their last shot at post-season glory.

"They know the importance of these matches. The workouts are going to be more strenuous all this week, and we'll have a concentrated effort on particular moves and problems. Overall, though, the coaching staff is pretty pleased with most of our wrestlers. We've had some disappointing moments and happy moments, but overall, it's been a good season," he concluded.

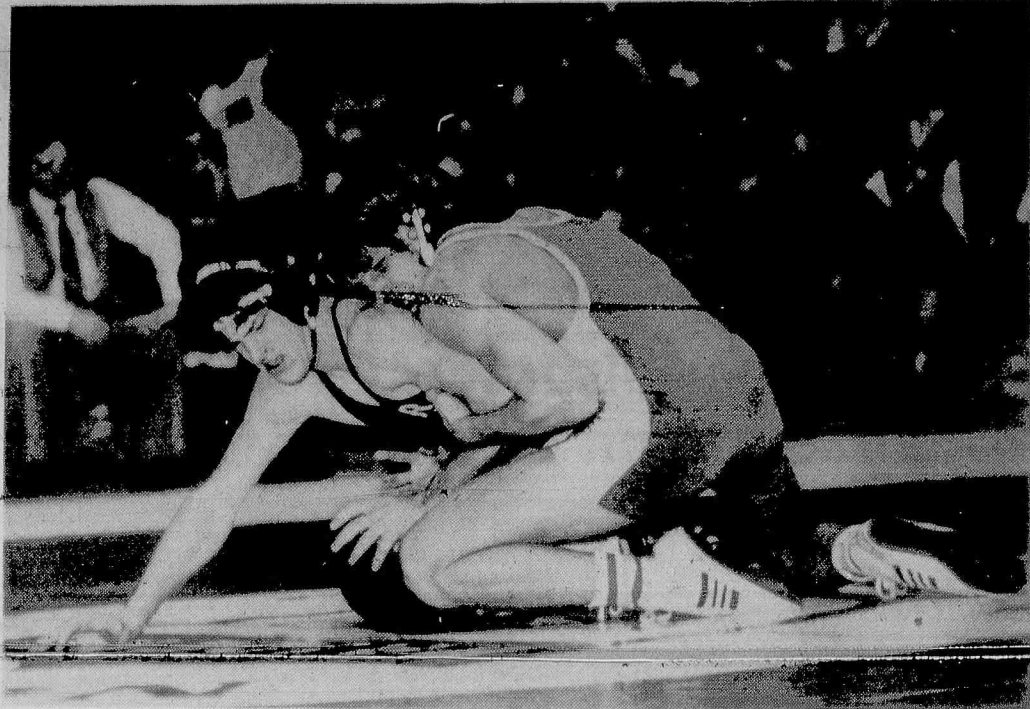

Belleville hosts Columbia next Wednesday in the season finale.

MAT CHIT CHAT: Belleville could easily cop several, if not more county championships this weekend. Watch for Musmanno, Graziano, Minichini and D'Agostino, but don't forget any of the other top-notch varsity matmen since simply wearing a varsity uniform indicates they've given more time to wrestling and practicing than most students will ever spend on schoolwork. The preliminaries start here tomorrow at 6. The semifinals are at noon Saturday, the consolations start at 6 p.m. with the finals to follow.

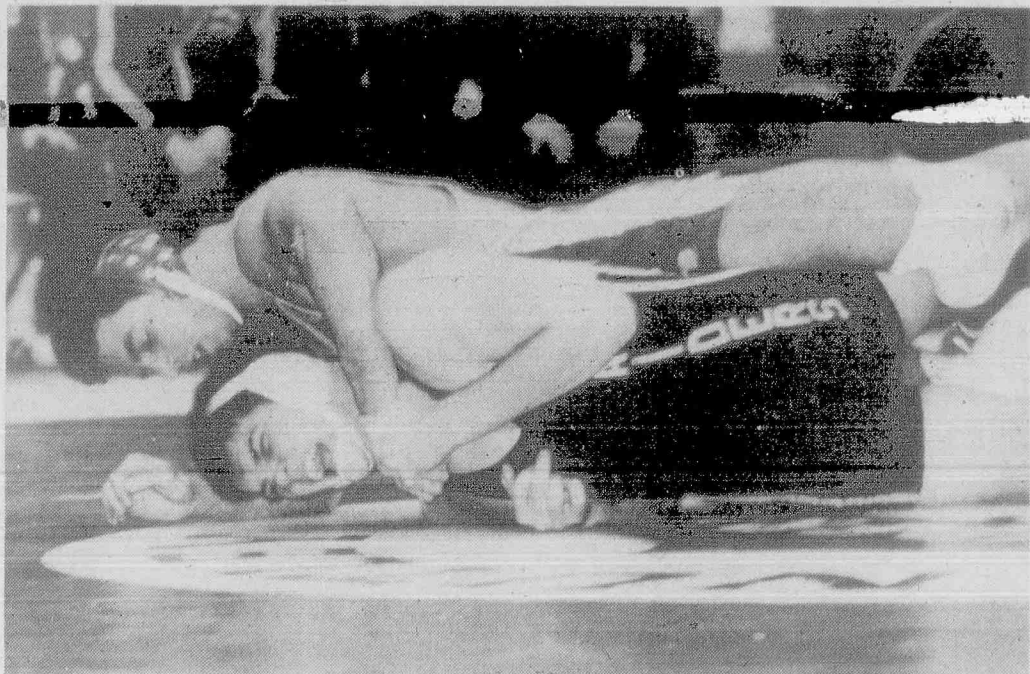

D'Alessandro says he doesn't care if some of his better wrestlers get swelled heads about how good they are, as long as it doesn't affect their wrestling. Watching the season go and bringing marked improvement in several Belleville matmen has elated the coach.

Although Musmanno couldn't pin an exhausted and flustered Tom Bell, he thoroughly embarrassed him which is probably what caused so many Nutley fans to get upset. Bell himself looked so dejected after the match that even his teammates didn't appear to be getting through to him. At least nobody threw a trash basket at him and banished him to the locker room as a certain North Bergen coach did to one of his defeated wrestlers not long ago.

When Racioppi suffered a broken

Open-Mouthed — Belleville's Steve DeCesare attempts to keep his advantage over John Monaco of Nutley. It was not to be, though, as Monaco eventually pinned the Buc matmen in the 141-pound competition.

Grappler Grimace — Chris Musmanno (top), Belleville's ace wrestler, elicits a gasp of pain from Tom Bell of Nutley in the 170-pound bout Friday. Musmanno tossed Bell all around the mat and wound up a 24-7 winner.

before falling short. Belleville outscored the Panthers in three quarters, but a disastrous second quarter made the difference.

The Buccaneers led 7-5 after the first quarter, but trailed 27-20 at the half. In the second half, Belleville whittled the lead to 39-36 after three quarters and cut the lead to two points before falling.

Joyce Iacullo had 17 points to pace Belleville, while Robin Giordano had 12. Dawn "The Enforcer" Ritacco had 14 points and pulled down 16 rebounds. The "Kamakazi Pilot," Rosie Leonidis helped out with six points.

For East Orange (18-0), Paulette Bigelow scored 28 and Diane Walker popped in 13 points.

"We weren't affected by their press," said Fucello. "I was very proud of the girls, they hustled and gave East Orange everything they could handle."

In the Irvington game, Belleville was a bit sluggish and, according to Fucello, "a bit too overconfident." "We didn't want to play them so soon," said the coach. "We beat them by 16 points two weeks ago, and I knew they would be psychologically ready for us."

The Buccaneers jumped out to a 14-10 first-quarter lead and led 21-49 at the half. The Belleville girls extended the lead to 31-27 after three quarters but fell apart in the last frame. Irvington rallied to outscore the girls 13-7 and win 40-38.

Carol Salerno led the local girls with 12 points. The senior guard played a magnificent game and hit some clutch shots. Iacullo scored eight and Giordano had seven.

The girls will close out the regular season in another two weeks and will play Scotch Plains in the first round of the state tournament.

points and was not to be headed. Belleville never came within 10 points again as Clifford Scott went on to win rather handily.

Wittman finished the game with 27 points and was the game's high scorer. Bubet had 24. Ron "Chairman of the Boards" Cook had 10. Eddie Aulisi scored five and Gary Farrar had five.

"We played very well," said Papasidero. "I don't think the final score was indicative of the type of game we did play. Don't forget, we're in the beginning stages here and it's going to take a while before we can go with the big clubs. After all, for a team that had won just four games last year, I think we've made good progress."

The Bucs will play Elizabeth High School in the first round of the state tournament at the Thomas Dunn athletic center in Elizabeth. That game will be played in early March.

Local barbell club wins Belleville lifting open

Three individual members take trophies in annual competition

Through dint of sheer numbers, and, of course, by virtue of sheer talent, the Belleville Barbell Club won the first team trophy in the third annual Belleville Open Weightlifting Championships held Saturday at the high school gym.

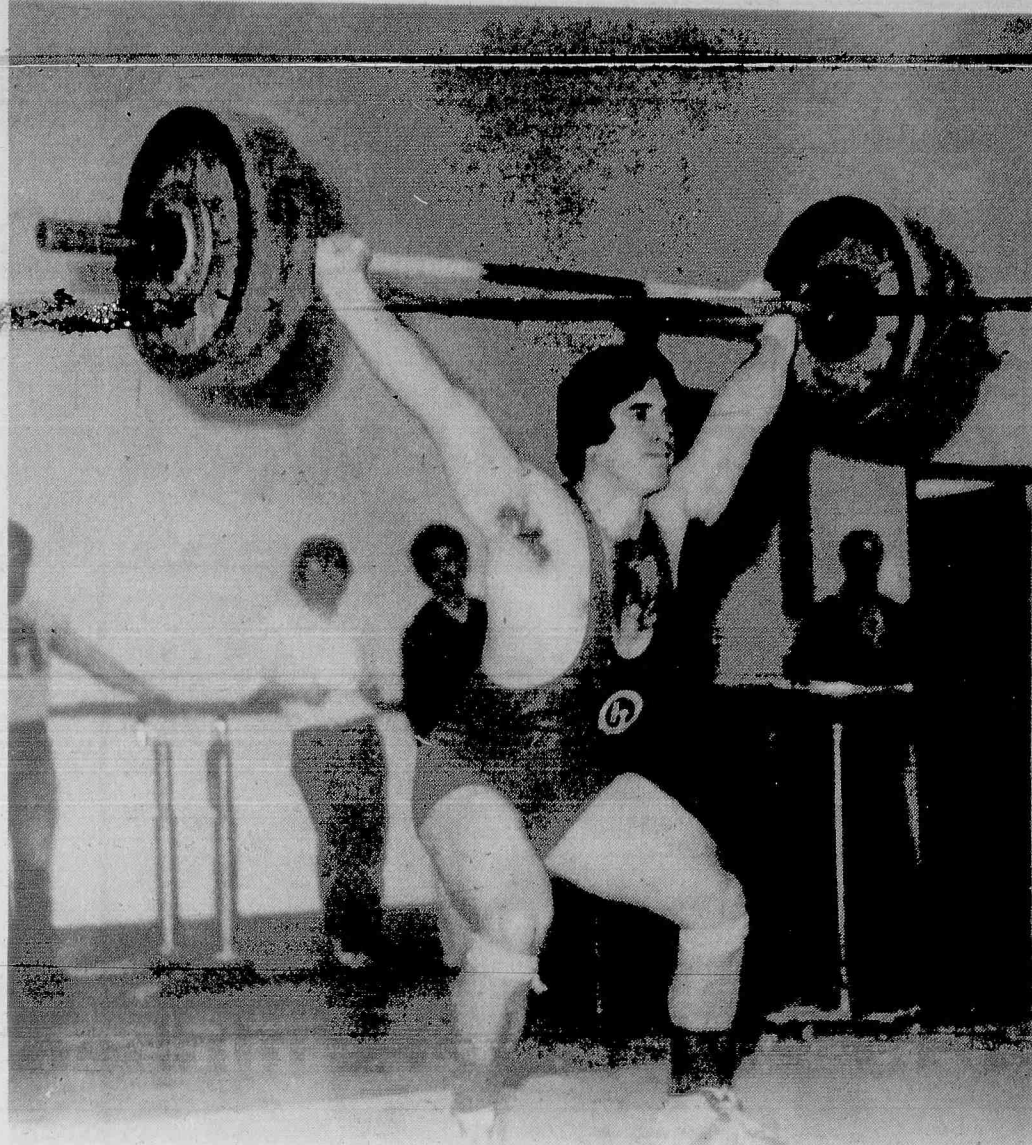

Second place went to Woodbridge Rec on a day that was at once exhilarating and disappointing for the local squad. The audience numbered under 100 throughout the daylong event, and the Belleville club had hoped for a better turnout. The weather kept the crowd down, though.

However, Belleville did win three individual firsts on its way to the overall team championship. Gerry Rooney had a snatch of 214 and a clean and jerk of 275 to capture the 181-pound weight division, while Jim Repice snatched 292 pounds and cleaned and jerked 402 to win at 220. Bruce Klemens won the super heavyweight division with a snatch of 292 and clean and jerk of 352.

Division winners from other clubs were Scott Dalgann (114) who had a snatch of 110 and clean and jerk of 159; Steve Tazaumi (132), 198 and 264; Jason Farrow (148), 242 and 270, a meet record; Charles Burowinski (165), 231 and 297; Lou Mucardo (198), 308 and 407, and Tom DeFillippi, 270 and 336. Mucardo's lifts made him the strongest man pound-for-pound to compete.

Heads Up — Ray Lavender of the Belleville Barbell Club snatches 264½ pounds in Saturday's competition. Lavender was lifting in the 220-pound class, where the eventual winner was Jim Repice, also of the Belleville squad. He snatched 292 pounds.

Last Effort — Belleville Barbell Club member Tim Caso snatches 253½ pounds in his final attempt. Caso, competing in the 220-pound division, had weighed in at 209 pounds at the start of the Belleville Open Weightlifting Championships.

Take-off Point — Bill McKeown of the Belleville Barbell Club gets set for the final stage of his lift. The 231-pounder hoisted 248 pounds above his head.

Next Time — Belleville club member Gerry Rooney fails to snatch 214 pounds here, but he eventually did it and won the 181-pound division championship.

Successful Attempt — Belleville super heavyweight Bruce Klemens wears a determined look as he snatches 292 pounds. The 262-pound Klemens won his division title with that snatch and with a clean and jerk of 352 pounds. The Belleville Barbell Club won three individual championships on the way to the team trophy in the third annual event sponsored by the Parks and Recreation Department.

Record Score — Anthony Paserchia poses with Diane Lombardi, a junior bowling coach at the Olympic Lanes on Washington Avenue. Paserchia, 15, bowled a 277 recently, the highest score ever in the Essex County Junior Bowling Tournament. He received a gold medal and trophy for his senior boy record.

Triple 'S' sitting atop men's basketball loop

In the feature game of the night, Triple "S" Sports and Nu-Plas met to settle sole ownership of first place in the Men's Basketball League. Triple "S" Sports (9-1) came out on top 54-44. Abdel Anderson (17 points) and Ed Jernigan (15), topped Triple "S." Anthony Cotugno scored 13 points for Nu-Plas.

The Record Shop, led by Mike Liloia's 22 points and Rich Clark's 20, beat Small World 76-69. Rich Baker paced Small World with 28 points and Brian Wood added 29.

The Knicks, now in a three-way tie for second place, defeated the Lakers 73-52. Rocco Marotti popped in 29 points and Robert Thrash had 20 for the Knicks. Bill Croix led the Lakers with 14.

The Health Spa remained in second place with its 82-77 victory over Red Shingle. Larry Wagner poured in 37 points for Spa. Steve Donarski scored 21 points and Mark Veniero 18 for Red Shingle.

OPAC registered a 97-67 win over J&R Insulation. Frank Maura scored 29, Ron Thompson 24 and Jack Scura 20 points for OPAC. Lauman Goon led J&R with 29 points and Tom DiModica had 16.

Chief Motors defeated Then Play On 75-67. Dan Dunn had 18 points and Rusty Pace 15. John Brink led Then Play On with 25.

Senior Boys' Basketball

Two closely played games highlighted the quarterfinal round of the Recreation Senior Boys' Basketball League playoffs last week.

In a rematch of a game played one week earlier, Mickey Music proved its dominance by defeating the Silver Lakers 48-41. The lead changed hands throughout the contest and at halftime the score was tied at 20. However, Mickey Music outscored the Lakers by 10 points in the final quarter to win by the seven-point margin. Allan Talmadge scored 13 points and Mike Isler 11 to power Mickey Music into the semifinals. Anthony Coco scored 15 points in a losing cause for the Silver Lakers.

Belleville-Newark Honda struggled past the 69'ers 34-29 in what was probably its poorest game of the season. The 69'ers led 12-3 after the first quarter and 16-13 at halftime. Honda finally took the lead with a minute left in the third quarter and managed to hang on for the five-point victory. Steve Coffey scored 18 points in a winning cause, while Billy Thompson led the 69'ers with 11.

DeBacco's 76'ers advanced to the semifinals by virtue of a forfeit by T-Bird Sewer Service. The 76'ers will meet Honda 6:15 p.m. Feb. 26 and DeBacco's-Clifton Avenue (which got a bye into the semis) will face Mickey Music at 7 p.m. Feb. 26.

Men's Over-30 Basketball

Chief Motors (6-1) remained in first place after edging Radio Shack 26-25. Rich Luzzi and Tony Hackett scored seven points apiece for Chief. John Reilly and John Jablonski led Radio Shack with eight points each.

McCabe's Tavern raised its record to 4-3 by beating the PBA 41-30. Gary Mascitelli had 13 points, Charles Reed and Ken Edwards 10 each for McCabe's. Jack Herber led PBA with 15 points.

The Rec House (5-2) and in second place, defeated Jive Five 44-25. Tom Lowack paced the Rec House with 16 points and Bob Byers chipped in 11. Earl Wake had eight points and Bob Higgins seven for Jive Five.

Pre-School Program

There are still several openings for 4-year-old children to be filled in the Belleville Recreation Department's pre-school play program.

The openings are in a morning session which begins at 9:15 and ends at 11:15 a.m. Classes, which are limited to 25 students, start Monday.

Mothers of children enrolled in the program must serve one duty day according to a schedule published, in addition to paying a $30 fee for the 15-week session.

The recreation program consists of stories, games, songs, art, outside play when weather permits, a short rest period and parties and trips specially designed for pre-school children.

Further information is available from the Belleville Recreation Department at 759-3142 or 759-3121.

Lamberti's Buc Shots

along with. There should be some fireworks out in the Bay Area.

In college basketball, one thing is for sure, the sport must bring in the 30-second clock. Witness the Kentucky-UNLV game last Sunday. The game was a super contest for the first 35 minutes. Suddenly, with five minutes left, Kentucky elected to stall and sit on a five-point lead. The stall lasted about three minutes and took a lot of the intensity away. Next season, the officials of college basketball should consider bringing the clock into the sport. Even if it's a 40-second clock, it would change the game tremendously. As for the NCAA playoffs, I cannot make a prediction. The teams are all so evenly matched that it would be almost impossible to pick two teams for the finals.

Here is the answer to last week's quiz. The question was who scored the Jets' only touchdown in Super Bowl III? The answer, Matt Snell, the team's fullback.

Now for this week's quiz. In 1977, a team won the NCAA college basketball championship, and in the process sent its retiring coach out with a number one ranking. What team won the title and who was the coach?

Here is something new. The Belleville High athlete of the week award goes to the player who makes a major contribution to his or her team. This week, the athlete of the week is Ronnie "Swish" Wittman of the boys' basketball team. Wittman scored 20 points against Bergen Catholic and popped in 27 in a losing effort against Clifford Scott. Wittman leads the team in scoring and is one of the most consistent shooters in Belleville's basketball history.

A sad note to report, John Marshall, the New York Giants' orthopedic man, was killed in a plane crash enroute to Lake Placid. I knew Dr. Marshall and realize what a great loss the Giants suffered. He'll be missed by a lot of people.

The New Jersey Drug Utilization Review Council has published a drug formulary showing acceptable manufacturers for certain drugs where substitution on a prescription is mandated for the pharmacist, unless the patient or doctor specifies otherwise.

Question-How much can I save on a generic prescription?

Answer-This figure can vary from drug to drug, but a good ball-park figure is about 30 percent.

Question-Are all generics manufactured only by small generic companies?

Answer-No. There are many "branded generics" or other generic drugs manufactured by some of the larger drug companies in our country specifically to capitalize on the generics market.

Question-Do all medications have a generic equivalent?

Answer-No.
