DEFEATS CHIEFFO 4-3

Zoppi new president of Belleville schools

By Mike Olohan

School Board Vice President Ernie Zoppi was elected president by a 4-3 vote Monday night before about 30 persons at Belleville High School. Trustee Charles Miele, elected last April, was named vice president by a 6-0 vote.

Rather than marking a new period of harmony between trustees, the vote at the annual organizational meeting pointed to the possibility of two political blocs dominating the board — and the continuation of the difficulties the board has had in gaining the public trust.

Another apparent indication of the split was the board's second 4-3 vote on who should represent it before the New Jersey School Boards Association. As was the case with the first vote, Trustee Mike Chieffo and new colleagues Thomas Zampino and John DiStasi voted together, with Zoppi, Miele, Caesar Romano and Anthony D'Agostino on the other side. The first group voted for Zampino and it had earlier for Chieffo as president, and the second for Romano as it had earlier for Zoppi.

However, before the second 4-3 vote, Romano passed on the first ground and urged his colleagues to vote together since he said it was very hard for a state delegate to push legislation if he didn't have full board support.

However, the vote still stood 4-3 after Romano's plea. Zampino declined an alternate position offered before the polling, obviously wanting to force a vote on his nomination.

"Whoever's elected certainly has the unanimous support of this board," said Chieffo, also asking that trustees vote to decide at once who would represent them before NJSBA, and not on an alternate position. Chieffo had earlier abstained from voting on the vice presidency.

Last year, at board election time, trustees were criticized because citizens felt political "blocs" were forming, and this year's two early 4-3 votes led to the belief that trustees are distinctly split two ways — and that both sides are ready to fight for what they believe in.

Before the meeting ended, new trustee Zampino attacked the board's closing resolution as being too vague, repeatedly pointing out trustees should let citizens know exactly what they're going to discuss in private and specifically what issues "which may be discussed in private" would be considered.

"I feel the wording of this resolution (to meet in private) is improper. This matters which may be discussed in private is too broad," said Zampino.

Lawrence Schwartz, a trustee for nine years and now the board's attorney, never once argued about the board's adjourning resolution.

That one discrepancy points out a major difference between Zampino, Chieffo and DiStasi, and Zoppi, D'Agostino, Miele and Romano. While one side seems to care passionately about strictly following the Sunshine Law, the board's majority doesn't seem to feel quite as strongly.

Twice during the discussion Zampino, unaware of board procedure, missed out on opportunities to speak and Zoppi continued right on, declining to permit him the opportunity.

Zoppi said, however, he has asked Schwartz to "redraft" the board's closing resolution to make it conform to law.

After the meeting, Zoppi said he thought the board's first two major

Valley residents battle new zone

An amendment to rezone a section of the Valley from residential to general business was actually passed by the Town Commission last week, but it will be challenged.

Commissioners voted 3-2 to rezone six properties on the west side of Main Street from Joralemon Street to the Jet-Line Company.

The Valley Association submitted petition signatures in a legal maneuver to block the change in ordinance. The State Municipal Land Use Law says that when at least 20 percent of the owners of land up for rezoning or owners of lots within 200 feet of that land oppose a change, the governing body can only approve it by a two-thirds majority. That would have made a 4-1 commission vote necessary.

The only mark was that the Valley Association didn't present enough signatures to meet the 20 percent requirement. However, the association gathered over 33 percent within three days after the commission vote and is now preparing a legal challenge.

New rent ordinance up for hearing on Tuesday

A new rent-leveling ordinance that would allow local landlords to pass along fuel costs to tenants is up for a public hearing this coming Tuesday. Because the hearing is expected to draw a large crowd, commissioners will hold their meeting at School 10, 527 Belleville Ave. Their caucus session starts 6:30 p.m. with the regular meeting to follow at 8.

The five-year ordinance, tentatively approved last month, would permit landlords a 3 percent surcharge on any type of fuel from Nov. 1 to April 30.

The surcharge would be based on the rent a tenant was paying Nov. 1. On May 1, a tenant would go back to paying the rent he had before the start of the surcharge period, unless of course his annual increase had come up sometime between Nov. 1 and April 30.

The surcharge provision is likely to be the ordinance's most controversial. One of the most important changes raises the maximum yearly increased allowed from 5 to 6 percent.

The ordinance would also change the so-called hardship formula. Right now, the law allows landlords to apply for rent increases above the usual 5 percent when they fail to make at least a 10 percent return on their investments. The new ordinance would allow the hardship increase when landlords failed to realize a 10 percent return on the assessed value of their property.

The new ordinance, like the old, would apply to buildings with three or more units. A tug of war over the extent of rent controls was apparently ended last month after commissioners reversed themselves and decided against an exemption for all one, two and three-family dwellings as well as ~~occupied~~ four-family buildings that they had agreed to in March.

Commissioners also reversed themselves when they decided in April to allow non-residents with property in Belleville to sit on the Rent Leveling Board. Earlier, they had limited membership to residents.

Other provisions of the new zoning ordinance would allow tenants to collect rebates only for overcharges dating back two years and would free new landlords from responsibility for

Memorial Day services planned here Monday

A barren field marred by bombed-out craters, lifeless bodies and machines of war...that has been a scene many times etched in the minds of countless parents, relatives and friends of men killed over the years in wars America has fought.

Many of those killed were in the prime of life, their lives sometimes taken slowly, painfully...others quickly snuffed out by a bullet, bomb or grenade. The tragedy of their deaths is literally indescribable, words can't reach the depth of emotional pain felt by their survivors.

On Monday, May 26, the Belleville Veteran's Council will sponsor Memorial Day observances to honor those men and women who've given their lives for freedom.

At 8:45 a.m. by the Rutgers Street Bridge, members of many local veterans' organizations will gather for a memorial prayer and place a wreath on the Passaic River in honor of their lost comrades.

A firing squad from Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 275 will salute the fallen servicemen and church bells will ring at the Dutch Reformed Church. At 10 a.m. by the war monument on Union Avenue, members of town veterans' organizations will again assemble with local dignitaries. The high school band will play and flowers will be placed on the statue.

Later at 11 a.m., a wreath will be placed by the monument at the Nutley-Belleville chapter of the Disabled American Veterans at 251 Washington Avenue, and at 11:30, memorial services will be held at Town Hall to honor the deceased members of Belleville's police and fire departments.

For many people, though, Memorial Day means very little besides an extended weekend, an attitude which American Legion Post 105 Commander Pat Wynn doesn't understand.

"There's a lot of good Americans out there...at least we do remember our dead buddies. But there used to be much bigger crowds who'd come to the ceremonies. People now just seem to forget," said Wynn slowly.

"They're very, very small," he said of the group of people who

Sidewalk sale on tomorrow

Belleville merchants will offer bargains galore at a sidewalk sale scheduled for tomorrow and Saturday. The sale will run from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. tomorrow and 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday.

Stores which have so far signed up for the sale are Belleville Shoes, Sherman's Children's Wear, the Terry Shop, Walcoover Direct, Fleming's Food Service and Charles Jewelers, all on Washington Avenue near Town Hall.

Chamber of Commerce Executive Director Harry T. French says merchants are still welcome to join the sale and notes that it is not limited to stores on Washington Avenue. Merchants wishing to sign up for the sale may call the Chamber at 759-4848 or visit the Chamber offices at 302 Washington Ave.

Palsy School to hold dance

The Parent-Teacher-Therapist Association of the Cerebral Palsy School and Treatment Center here will host a square dance 8 p.m. Saturday, May 31, in the center's all-purpose room at 7 Sanford Ave.

The dance will feature a professional square dance caller, a catered hot and cold buffet, beer, soda, coffee, dessert and door prizes. The general public is invited.

Infants, children and young adults afflicted with cerebral palsy, developmental disabilities, multiple handicaps and other crippling disorders are provided with education, therapy, medical treatment and an adult work activity program at the center which serves persons from Essex and West Hudson Counties. The center is not associated with any national cerebral palsy group. All proceeds from this month's dance will go directly to helping patients.

Tickets, $10 each and tax deductible, may be obtained by calling 751-0200.

First National ranked largest bank in Jersey

First National State Bancorporation of Newark ranks as New Jersey largest bank holding company, according to the latest rankings of banking organizations published by The American Banker.

Bancorporation, the parent holding company of six banks in New Jersey, is ranked 64th in the American Banker compilation of the country's 100 largest bank holding companies. First National State's rank was based on its 1979 year-end reported assets of $3.1 billion.

Midlantic Banks, Inc. of West Orange, United Jersey Banks, Inc. of Princeton and Fidelity Union Bancorporation were ranked the second, third and fourth largest in New Jersey, with national standings of 689th, 82nd and 89th respectively.

First National State's lead bank is Newark-based First National State Bank of New Jersey, the state's largest individual commercial bank. First National's local offices are at 350 Centre St., 575 Kingsland St. and 356 Franklin Ave., all in Nutley.

Police hunt for youthful vandals who broke cherry blossom trees

Police have intensified their search for the vandals who destroyed a dozen young cherry blossom trees in the Belleville extension of Branch Brook Park, marring the annual festival that ended early last week.

The trees were completely broken in half at the trunk area with branches ripped apart and left scattered on the ground.

Park officials estimate that the damage, which occurred somewhere between 8 p.m. and 7 a.m. May 6, will run as high as $1,500.

County Executive Peter Shapiro said he was "shocked and outraged" that this kind of "insensitivity and sheer destructiveness could be vented in a setting of such natural beauty."

"We are not going to sit idly by and allow this kind of vandalism to destroy the enjoyment of those who use this park regularly and particularly now for the thousands of people who have been coming to Branch Brook Park during our cherry blossom celebration," Shapiro said.

Branch Brook Park, the oldest county park in the United States, is the site of the county's annual cherry blossom festival. The display has grown over the years to encompass more than 2,000 flowering trees making it larger than the

Washington, D.C., display.

Essex County Police immediately began an investigation of the incident and increased the frequency of patrols through the area. "Police have intensified their efforts," said a county park spokesman Tuesday. "We're quite sure it was done by youngsters."

At the time the damage was done, there were two county police cars assigned to the park on the 6 p.m. to midnight shift. During the midnight to 7 a.m. shift, the park was patrolled three times each night by one of five cars assigned to cover all the county parks.

Parks and Recreation Director William Scalzo noted that it was the first time such an attack on the trees had occurred and that "we cannot and will not accept this kind of disregard for public property."

"Our concern is that people continue to feel they can enjoy the beauty of their parks, and therefore I have today submitted emergency requisitions to replace the trees that were lost," he said.

Scalzo estimated that the value of the damaged trees amounts to nearly $700 and that replacements would cost nearly $50 apiece. In addition, he cited the cost of maintenance and tree preparation work.

The damaged trees, which were about 10 years old, were all in the Branch Brook Park extension area near the senior citizen building on Belleville Avenue.

The Damage Done — One of the 12 young cherry trees destroyed by vandals stands forlornly in the sun. The damage will run as high as $1,500.

Cooperative ed dinner scheduled for Tuesday

The sixth annual employer-employee banquet of the Belleville High School Cooperative Education Department will be held 6 p.m. this coming Tuesday at the Branch Brook Manor, 13 Washington Ave. The event is sponsored by the Board of Education and the Vocational Advisory Council.

All students involved in Cooperative Education programs, their parents and employers are invited to attend. Programs include distributive education directed by Ralph LaConte, home economics supervised by Sandy Boyjian, industrial education under Nicholas Grande and office education under Barbara Klotz. Directors will be honored and employers taking part in the program will receive certificates of appreciation. Students will be awarded certificates of achievement.

A fashion show sponsored by Hit of Miss of Belleville will highlight the evening's festivities. It is expected that 200 persons will attend the banquet to celebrate the closing of the sixth successful year of the Cooperative Education Department.

Everyone is concerned about vitamins these days. Whole vitamin diets are being discussed to go along with food diets. Vitamins are taken to prevent or relieve complaints or taken simply as a general supplement to normal diets. A physician will often prescribe certain vitamins to correct natural deficiencies or even treat certain symptoms that respond to such treatment. If not otherwise indicated, a balanced, multi-vitamin supplement usually insures that all minimum daily requirements are met. Rarely can vitamins do harm, but they can cause discomfort or illness if used excessively or in incorrect combinations.

If you have any questions concerning vitamins, or a prescription we have filled, just ask us. This is part of our complete service at ROSMORE PHARMACY, 338 Washington Ave., 759-1968, 759-1956. Six are honored for veteran work

Six Belleville residents were honored last Wednesday for their volunteer work at the East Orange Veterans Administration Hospital.

Topping the list of local volunteers was Lillian Metcalfe who put in 7,500 hours at the hospital. Eugene Harvey and Naomi Kandra contributed 500 hours each, while Elizabeth Doeffinger, Edward Januszewski and June Januszewski volunteered 100 each.

Volunteers received certificates, pins, silver bowls, engraved plaques and golden medallions according to the number of hours they had served.

A total of 487,575 hours of volunteer service was accumulated by 168 adults and teenagers. Hospital Director Peter Baglio commended the 61 men and 107 women who were honored, noting that they contributed immeasurably to the quality of life of the hospitalized veterans. He added that the volunteers' compassion, dedication and charity had enhanced the VA's patient care program.

Pica has a point

The Town Commission last week voted on zone changes for the Valley.

Public Safety Director Matthew Pica had an idea that an industrial zone for the Valley section of Belleville would upgrade that area of the community as well as produce tax dollars to keep down the tax burden on one-family and two-family homeowners.

Faced with an overflow crowd of angry protesters, the Town Commission majority rejected the Pica effort to improve the quality of life in the community and at the same time help keep down the tax burden for the oppressed taxpayer. Pica pointed to the number of vacant homes in the Valley and their condition and wondered aloud why anyone would want to retain the present zone when the houses are empty and a blight exists upon the area.

In the quiet of our office and away from the bedlam of a crowd almost out of control, it is easy to see the common sense in the Pica proposal.

The commission vote obviously was a political vote — though not totally. There is some credibility to the desire of residents to maintain the zone in which they live. That is a valid proposal. However, public officials must rationalize their votes based upon the greater public interest.

Had the commission voted to create an industrial park zone in the Valley, such action would still permit one-family and two-family homes to remain. Nobody would be evicted. No one-family or two-family homeowner would be driven out of his home. But you can't talk sense to an inflamed mind. The passions were too aroused to try and reason over an issue that was inflammatory.

We congratulate Commissioner Pica for holding to his conviction to the very last for we think Belleville's long-range interest in the Valley is best served by the orderly development of an industrial park zone. An industrial park zone would give the present one and two-family homeowners a park environment in which to live — and that's a big improvement over what we face in the Valley today.

Frank M. Pica

God forbid!

This week the School Board met and elected Ernie Zoppi as its new president by a 4-3 vote. The School Board also voted to elect Caesar Romano as state delegate by the same 4-3 vote.

Both Ernie Zoppi and Caesar Romano are competent and worthy members of the School Board. That there is competitive spirit on the School Board is a good sign. What would be bad is if more actions of the School Board were adopted by 7-0 votes.

What concerns us especially about the Monday night results was not the names of the victors but the fact that the same trustees were part of a four-member block that elected Zoppi and Romano. Our deep concern — shared by many members of our community — is a lurking suspicion that this vote — this separating of seven members of the board in blocks of four and three — may presage a permanent power block development.

Should this come to pass, the Belleville school system would indeed be in serious trouble. We have too much respect for all seven trustees to conclude at this early date that a power block has been put together by trustees who now enjoy the trust of the public.

Perhaps the alignment of trustees Monday night on these critical votes may have been coincidental. Let us be generous at this point and conclude that it was a coincidence.

God forbid that what we saw happen Monday night turns into a permanent power block. Not only will the school system be in trouble but also the power brokers on the Board of Education.

Letters

School 3 will welcome children from School 1 with 'open arms'

To the Editor:

This letter is in answer to the article written by Mike Olohan on desegregation in the May 1, 1980 issue of the newspaper. In the article it said that many of our parents in the School 3 area feel their school is being used as a "dumping ground" to temporarily cover over a racial imbalance in our school system. Due to this, citizens feel that our parents are being racist by considering an influx of minority students as "dumping."

I found out that your reporter had only spoken to two or three parents who obviously were not at our meeting. Dr. Greed presented the plan to our Home and School on March 26, 1980. I was very proud of our parents. There were only two issues that they were concerned about. Firstly, were there any programs the children might lose. Not only the children attending School 3 now, but also the new children that will attend School 3 in September. They were also concerned, and this was upmost in everyone's mind, for the safety of the children having to walk so far. We would like the Board of Education to address itself to this problem. We are a very friendly and open group of people and our children and their parents from School 1 will be welcomed with open arms.

When I read this article I felt that I had to answer it because our parents are not racist. You will have a few people in every group that feel this way, but this is not the majority. I just wish that the next time something is said, that you will come to our school and see for yourself.

We have made provisions to include our parents from School 1 to join our executive committee. Our school administration and faculty are planning a welcome and the kindergarten orientation is being delayed so that we may include our children and parents of School 1 to have that feeling of being together.

Our feeling has been, and will continue to be, a welcome to all children with their interest as our prime concern.

Sincerely,

Elinor Paterno,
Home and School Outgoing President
Annmarie Puglio,
Home and School Incoming President

Senior Notes

By George Chenoweth

Tax relief for retirees got a small shot in the arm last month as a bill to grant a tax boost to small savers was signed into law and legislation to upgrade the present tax credit for the elderly (IRS Schedule R) came up for hearings in the Senate.

Also signed into law was the repeal of a provision of a tax law requiring heirs to pay capital gains on taxes on the difference between the original value of inherited property and its price when sold by the heir.

These bills are small but important attempts by Congress to make our tax system more realistic and responsive to the average taxpayer.

An amendment by U.S. Rep. Henson Moore (R-La.) and U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentson (D-Texas) to the windfall profits legislation has exempted $200 in interest from savings accounts for a single person ($400 on joint returns) for tax years 1981 and 1982.

A second part of that bill repealed a provision of existing law which went into effect this year requiring individuals inheriting property to pay capital gains taxes on the difference between an item's original value and the price when sold by the heir. Repeal of this provision means that the capital gains tax will be based only on the item's price difference between the time of inheritance and time of sale.

Years of continual complaining about the tax credit for the elderly has apparently prompted the Senate Finance Committee to again hold hearings on legislation to upgrade the credit to a more reasonable level. Hearings were held by the subcommittee on taxation and debt management.

Legislation of this nature passed the House and Senate two years but was killed in a House-Senate conference committee. Two senators, Inouye and Matsunaga of Hawaii, are active in pushing this legislation on behalf of the nation's retirees.

Take the time to make or review a list of your Social Security number, numbers of all bank accounts, insurance policies, stock certificates, ownership deeds and other papers. Give your list to a friend or family member and tell him to put it away until it's needed. By taking these steps now you will ease the family's burden of making decisions at a time of great emotional stress.

BIPPY program meets tomorrow

Belleville Intervention Program for Pre-School Youngsters (BIPPY) has made a strong effort to involve parents and it appears to be successful. "Appropriate Family Activities for Pre-School Children" will be the topic of the third in a series of meetings to be held 1 p.m. tomorrow at School 7.

An evening meeting for parents unable to attend afternoon gatherings is scheduled for 8 p.m. this coming Wednesday. The topic will be "Understanding Children's Misbehavior." All interested citizens are invited to attend.

The first meeting, held March 6, was an orientation session for parents of children taking part in the BIPPY program, designed to help pre-schoolers overcome learning disabilities of various kinds. Parents were introduced to the type of pre-school program their children would be part of and basic elements of the daily routine were emphasized.

A second meeting was held April 11 in the new home of the program, School 7. The school's principal, Michael Rosamilia, and Belleville's director of special services, Anthony Chirico, were on hand to welcome parents. Chirico gave a brief overview of the program, as well as a personal invitation to parents to participate in a school-sponsored outing, a visit to the Shriner's circus May 1.

The program's coordinator, Bonnie Hillerbrand, and lead teacher, Virginia Haskin, outlined the goals of the parent program, explaining the concept of parents as partners in teaching, sharing their understanding of children and support of each other. The parents organized themselves as a group which will meet regularly to investigate such topics as discipline, television viewing, child development and homemade educational games. The strong parental support of the program was evidenced through the excellent attendance of 16 parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nuckel — nee Kim Marie Lindsay

Kim Lindsay weds Thomas J. Nuckel

Miss Kim Marie Lindsay, daughter of John Lindsay of 146 Birchwood Drive, Belleville, and the late Mrs. Marie Lindsay, became the bride April 12 of Thomas James Nuckel, son of Mrs. Gloria Nuckel of 75 Franklin Ave., Nutley, and William Nuckel of Harmon Cove, Secaucus.

The Rev. Dominic Scibilia of Holy Trinity Church, Red Bank, performed the ceremony in Bethany Lutheran Church, Belleville. A reception followed at Landmark II, East Rutherford.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a knitted chiffon gown accented with Schiffli lace and fashioned with semi empire bodice, short sleeves and chapel train. The gown was accented with seed pearl clusters. An Alencon lace hat was trimmed with a silk rose and held her fingertip illusion veil. She carried a nosegay of white roses and stephanotis.

Miss Karen Lindsay of Belleville was her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids included Miss Kathy DeSilva of Toms River, Miss Karen Haase of West Orange and Miss Mary Maroulakos of Belleville.

The honor attendant was attired in an apricot chiffon gown with orange rosebuds. A matching apricot hat had a wide brim and she carried yellow carnations and apricot roses. The others were similarly gowned in maize.

William Nuckel Jr. of Little Ferry served as his brother's best man.

Ushers were Craig Lindsay of Belleville, brother of the bride, Joe Ritacco of Nutley and Butch Dacey of Belleville.

The groom's mother chose a mauve Qiana gown with bone accessories. Her corsage was of baby rosebuds.

Mrs. Nuckel, an alumna of Belleville High School and Bergen Community College, attends William Paterson College, Wayne.

Mr. Nuckel, an alumnus of Nutley High School, is a carpenter's foreman with William Hamilton Builders, Lodi.

The couple honeymooned in Aruba and have made their home in Bloomfield.

Future of senior housing here is uncertain at best

By John Jurich

The Belleville Senior Citizens Housing Corporation will meet sometime in the coming week to discuss its highly uncertain future. In the wake of the Zoning Board's rejection of the proposed senior project on Franklin and Mill Street and the resignation of the corporation's president, the outlook appears bleak.

A variance for the project was denied by a 4-3 vote April 24 and Andrew Colaninno's resignation followed five days later. Since then, the corporation has appeared to be in a daze with nobody quite sure what to do next. Commissioners have recently expressed strong support for senior housing in Belleville, though, and now it looks as if the corporation is ready to get back to work.

"There's no sense quarreling and quibbling over it, we have to try another avenue," said Chris Albanese, the corporation's secretary, Tuesday. He admitted, though, that the road ahead would be very rough and his impression was confirmed by other backers of senior housing.

There are several big obstacles in the way of such housing. "The site is all-important," said the corporation's attorney, Jack Soriano, who pointed out that the land at Franklin and Mill offered a unique advantage because it was already in the hands of the town. Other sites which had been explored earlier were smaller and prohibitively expensive, he and other corporation members said.

Another problem facing that corporation now is that the services of professionals such as Soriano will be hard to come by. Both Soriano and project consultant Vincent Corrado pointed out that they had served the corporation for free. "You're talking about a guy who spent many hours without pay, and frankly you couldn't expect my office to support me for an indefinite period of time," Soriano said.

"All the professionals on this project did all this work for naught and it's just very unfortunate," said Corrado, who like Soriano indicated that he was discouraged but did not intend to jump ship just yet. Both said they were waiting for a meeting to be called to see what the corporation had in mind. "However, I think it's going to be an effort of futility on their part," said Corrado.

Corrado said even if corporation members did manage to come up with a new site, there would be a new problem. The rejection of the first site would mean a harder time in getting funding from the federal Housing Finance Administration for a project. "It puts us at the bottom of the priority list," said Corrado.

The first reaction of some corporation to the Zoning Board vote was to make a court appeal. However, as Soriano pointed out immediately following the decision, the corporation doesn't have the money for an appeal.

Corporation members felt zoners decided the case on grounds that were more the province of the Planning Board and that that might be the basis for an appeal. The Zoning Board rejected the application for several reasons. In its written decision, the board pointed to a lack of public transportation near the site, and said the corporation had made no commitment for alternative transportation.

Zoners also felt the lack of nearby shopping areas would be a hardship past overcharges. Under two other proposals up for adoption Tuesday, landlords would have to provide tenants with copies of the rent ordinance and pay for them, and apartments would have to be inspected by the Rent Leveling Board before a new tenant moved in.

for senior citizens living in the complex. They said the site was too small for the proposed 11-story, 134-unit complex and said "personal security and fire safety" could not be guaranteed.

Parking was the major issue throughout the months of hearings on the project, and zoners agreed with opponents of the plan that the site could not accommodate cars from the project and the existing senior citizen recreation center on the same property.

Some of those questions are the type ordinarily worked out before the Planning Board. The Zoning Board's function was deciding whether or not to permit a senior housing complex in an area zoned residential. However, zoners noted that the corporation had refused to make modifications in its plan, and added that the density and the height of the proposed building and the parking plan were "inherently relevant" to deciding whether or not to permit the use.

Marotti auction set tonight at AMVETS

The Michael V. Marotti Civic Association will sponsor a Chinese auction 8 p.m. today at the AMVETS Hall, 100 Newark Ave.

The auction table will include a large selection of gifts to choose from. Prizes will include a television set, automatic coffee-maker, iron, camera and electric blanket. Refreshments will be served.

Tickets, $2.50 each, may be obtained by calling Lydia Salzano at 759-2897 or Gail Boscaino at 751-7069. Proceeds of the auction will go toward the Marotti Association's annual scholarship.

TRADE UP TO SNAPPER DEPENDABILITY!

SNAPPER walk mowers include these performance features:
1"Vacuum" power for a smooth professional cut and the ability to bag cuttings under tough conditions.
2With an optional Mulcherizer, your SNAPPER is converted to a mulching mower which chews up cuttings so fine they become lawn food.
3Another option, the Snapperizer, converts your SNAPPER to a leaf shredder and lawn vacuum so you can go over four times as far without emptying the bag.
4Self-propelled models have rear wheel drive and six forward speeds for mowing slowly in tough grasses or quickly in normal situations. A fingertip control disengages the drive for trimming in tight places.

The rear-engine SNAPPER Hi-Vac rider gives you a smooth, even cut. Plus: immediate response steering for cutting in tight places; on-the-go adjustment of cutting height and speed; and a floating cutting unit which minimizes scalping damage.

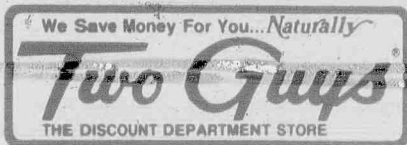

SNAPPER Hi-Vac riders can vacuum cuttings, leaves and litter into an optional 6 or 30 bushel catcher, even during high moisture conditions. Before you buy, compare the quality and performance features of a SNAPPER. You'll find SNAPPER is worth more because it does more. And its price is competitive with other quality mowers.

Bellevillites awarded Phi Beta Kappa keys

Three Belleville residents were among 55 students and recent graduates of the Newark College of Arts and Sciences of Rutgers University inducted last week into the New Jersey Alpha Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa.

The three were Keith Allum, 23 Wallace St., Susan J. Radom, 89 Gless Ave., and Lauren M. Vitello, 56 Tiona Ave.

The initiation took place Friday morning in ceremonies conducted at the Robeson Campus Center in Newark. A lunch for the new Phi Beta Kappa members, their parents and guests followed the ceremonies.

At New Jersey Institute of Technology, one annual program is so heavily stated in the index that it might almost consider it another Mother's Day. The event is the institute's Ph.T. program, a springtime recognition of the wives of the year's graduating class that was held at College Center Sunday.

Now in its 30th year, the Ph.T. (Putting Him/Her Through college) program dates to the post World War II years when the wives of ex-GIs ran the house, raised children and frequently held down a job while the husbands attended classes. This year, Joni Elizabeth Muse of Belleville was honored for helping out her husband, Lawrence Jay.

From Fairleigh Dickinson University's Rutherford campus comes word that a name was omitted from last week's list of local graduates. Joseph Capezio of Belleville is receiving a master's degree in public administration.

One graduate who was mentioned will have a more prominent role in commencement ceremonies at the Rutherford campus than simply receiving his diploma. John Codomo of Belleville, a graduating music student, will sing the national anthem to open the program May 31. He will also sing the alma mater.

Rossi wins scholarship from National Distillers

Glenn M. Rossi of 41 Sanford Ave. has been named the winner of a Howard E. Mower Scholarship by the National Distillers Distributors Foundation. A graduating senior at Seton Hall Preparatory School in South Orange, the Belleville resident plans to pursue economics as his field of study in college.

Rossi's scholarship is a four-year award. He has received second honors at Seton Hall and is on the school's honor roll. He is a member of the Knights of Setonian, the school stage crew, bowling, railroad, rifle and magic clubs and also plays intramural football.

Members of the National Distillers Distributors Foundation are independent distributors of brands marketed by National Distillers Products Company and the Munson Shaw Company, its import arm. These include such well known names as Old Grand Dad, Coco Ribs Liqueur and Keller Geister German wines.

Schools keep programs for talented intact as teachers strive to keep them interesting

By Mike Olohan

Although statewide cutbacks are being made in programs for the academically talented, Belleville's school system is not only planning to keep the current level of funding but pursuing further development of such programs for fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth graders.

Since Belleville uses no state money for its programs, the local system is able to progress unaffected by state actions, though yearly budget defeats here hamper trustees' ability to provide funds for academically talented classes.

There has been a program for the academically talented at the Junior High School for some time. Three years ago, Kathy Fornarotto and Anthony Verdi began "team" teaching, a system that involves continual consultations on how their classroom activities can mesh.

Fornarotto teaches social studies and Verdi handles English, and both feel their program is not only unique but extremely beneficial to the almost 40 academically talented students they teach.

"We try to draw parallels between the two subjects," says Verdi. "Our team-teaching helps, but you still have to look out for the individual needs of the students. I think more is being done now to help students who are academically talented," he adds.

Both Verdi and Fornarotto say that like to experiment and let students use their imaginations so that they become more involved in their subjects. Fornarotto, who's been teaching six years in Belleville schools, says she wants children to learn both sides of historical debates and likes "to have them draw their own conclusions based on what they know. I try not to push any one opinion on them," she says.

"I try to give kids an awareness of the background of their country," she says. "I try to teach them pride in their country." Fornarotto says topics like the Constitution, the Bill of Rights, civil rights and the Equal Rights Amendment keep students interested in class.

Besides Verdi and Fornarotto, Susan Rego handles science classes for academically talented seventh, eighth and ninth graders; Rosemary Halley and Robert Kierney teach English and social studies to eighth graders, and Maryann Jeglikowski and Kathy Partus teach pre-algebra, algebra I and geometry to JHS students enrolled in the program.

JHS Principal Mario DiMaggio emphasizes he's heard nothing, but good things about Belleville's academically talented (AT) program, and pointed to several students who have gone through AT and are now attending prestigious colleges.

"I have always felt two conditions must exist before you can have a program like this. First, the students have to be mature enough to do the work, and second, the teachers have to be not only certified but qualified to teach," DiMaggio says.

Though some critics charge AT programs discriminate against some children by labeling them as less intelligent and make for an elitist mentality among those enrolled, DiMaggio doesn't feel that's true. "Probably it happens to some kids (feeling they're smarter or better) but when we come across that kind of problem, we usually have the student's counselor talk to him," he notes.

Whether academically talented programs are elitist or not will probably be debated forever, but maybe if, as restructuring committee members have suggested, all teachers treat their students as talented in one way or another, there'd be less bickering over a program that seems to do so much good.

Why does Belleville draw a blank spot?

If you read Sunday's edition of the Star Ledger, you probably didn't know that Cedar Grove defeated Belleville for the championship of Essex County softball.

If you read the Star Ledger earlier in the week, you got a good idea of what a fine team Cedar Grove was and that it was playing some team from where? Oh yes, Belleville.

If you read the Star Ledger last week, you also would have read the headline that Cedar Grove would be playing Nutley for the championship of Essex County. I guess that Nutley is the capital of Belleville, because the Star Ledger wouldn't make a mistake like that. Right? Wrong.

If you've read the Star Ledger on any topic concerning Belleville sports, chances are quite good that either Belleville was not mentioned, was mentioned but just briefly or wasn't given much of a chance.

What happened to the girls' softball team last week was really sad. Those girls worked their tails off all season to reach the county finals and it took a statewide newspaper some three days to realize that Belleville, not Nutley, would be playing Cedar Grove in the finals. The Ledger never mentioned that Marilyn McCaffrey is having a fine season behind the plate. It never mentioned the super play of Joyce Iacullo at shortstop or the good performance of Donna Campang at the plate.

How about the fine pitching of girls like Michele DeMeo, Debbie Jinks and Debbie Mundy that enabled the Buccanettes to reach the finals. It might be pure coincidence, but not too much has been mentioned about the fine play of the Belleville girls' softball team.

You would have needed a microscope to see that the girls had upset a good Columbia team to reach the finals. Had the verdict been the other way, that story would have been at the top of the page. When Cedar Grove defeated Belleville 4-0 for the championship of the county, a lot of mention was devoted to Cedar Grove on its 45th win in a row, but hardly any mention was given to the Belleville girls for the hard-fought game they played or for the scoring opportunities they had. The Buccanettes were never once given the courtesy of a compliment and if you read the headline, you'd never know who Cedar Grove defeated in the finals.

Can you imagine if Belleville had had the nerve to defeat Cedar Grove. After all, Cedar Grove is a Ledger favorite and a loss to Belleville would have marred the entire In the Schools section. Chances are there would have been a small article near the obituary page.

The Star Ledger is a fine newspaper with a basically excellent sports section. Its coverage of major league baseball, football and all professional and college sports is superb. But its sports coverage of the town of Belleville is unfair. The Belleville football team did not even appear in the county rankings at the beginning of the year, yet was considered a two-touchdown favorite over Livingston, rated sixth in the county. When the final ratings were printed at the end of the year, Livingston got the nod over Belleville because the Lancers made it to the finals and Belleville did not. What was not mentioned was that Belleville beat Livingston 35-8 and that Belleville lost to Union just 15-12 in the playoffs' first round. In the championship round, Livingston lost to Union 35-14.

Why was the Belleville softball team ranked fourth in the county going into the championship game, considering that it had beaten number two Caldwell and number three Columbia during the season. Here's another good question: Why wasn't the boys' basketball team not even mentioned this year, especially when the team had won nine of its first 12 games. The Ledger probably wasn't aware that the town of Belleville had a new basketball coach and that Abdel Anderson had graduated and gone on to Rutgers.

When the Belleville football team defeated Clark 26-17, the Bucs earned the right to enter the playoffs. You never would have known that fact the following morning. You would have found out that Livingston had earned a spot in the playoffs because Montclair (boo-hoo) had lost to Brick. On the same page in the remote bottom, there was a small article about how Belleville had beaten Clark. Never was there mention that the Bucs had earned a playoff berth and that they were the number one seed in the playoffs. Livingston, by the way, was ranked fourth.

There were major headlines about how Montclair had been upset by Brick and that the beloved Mounties would not be in the playoffs. And poor Barringer. The Bears did not make the playoffs because of a weaker schedule and the paper made a big fuss about the court case that Barringer was waging.

When Belleville defeated Seton Hall 14-13 this past autumn, the paper went into near hysteria. After all, Seton Hall cannot lose, it's just not right. Any team of the caliber of the Pony Pirates cannot lose to who? Belleville.

Well, in case it doesn't know, the Star Ledger should learn this. Belleville is a small town situated near Bloomfield and Nutley. You know where Bloomfield and Nutley are, right? The town has top-notch football and soccer teams, a powerhouse wrestling squad, a superb baseball team, a superb crew team, a classy softball team, a very good girls' basketball team and an improving boys' basketball team that finished with a better record than some other schools which made the county rankings during this past season. Belleville also has a fine athletic director in Jim Silvestri and a great bunch of parents who support their teams to the hilt. After you get done reading how great Cedar Grove, Columbia, Bloomfield and Livingston are, you should discover the fine sports year that Belleville had. You remember Belleville, it's just a hop, skip and a jump from the Star Ledger offices.

Did you see the Cosmos defeat the California Surf last weekend. Giorgio Chinaglia scored his record-breaking goal in the process, and the team appears to be on a hot streak. Since Hennes Weisweiler took over as coach, the Cosmos are 4-0 and currently sport a 7-2 mark.

Congratulations to the Belleville volleyball team. The girls, the guidance of Grace Worley, stunned Caldwell, the number eight team in the state, Monday. The girls' volleyball team is only in its first year and defeating a team of Caldwell's ability is quite a feat.

The Los Angeles Lakers certainly proved that they can win without their super center Kareem Abdul Jabbar. The Lakers wrapped up the NBA crown last Friday night with a 123-107 win over the 76ers and did it without Jabbar who was back in L.A. resting a sprained ankle. The big guy hurt the leg in game five and it appeared the Sixers would take advantage. However, the Lakers moved their super guard, Magic Johnson, to center and

Diamondmen to battle Seton in GNT semifinal

By Mike Lamberti

Thanks to some fine pitching, the Belleville High baseball team has advanced to the semifinal round of the prestigious Greater Newark Tournament.

The team defeated Valley 4-2 to gain the semis and also blasted Orange 12-3. The Bucs were edged by a good Secaucus team 2-1 in another regular-season game and currently sport a 12-5 record.

The Blue-Gold hosted Irvington yesterday and will battle Linden tomorrow afternoon in the first round of the state tournament. You might remember that the Bucs lost to Linden 1-0 in the state finals last year and dropped a heartbreaker this year to Linden 7-6. On Saturday, the club will play Seton Hall in the semifinal round of the GNT. The Bucs host Nutley the following Tuesday and are looking to avenge an earlier defeat.

If the Bucs defeat Seton Hall, they will face the winner of the Columbia-Livingston game for the championship a week from this Saturday. The semifinals and finals will all be held at Verona. Saturday's game with Seton Hall is scheduled to begin at 11 a.m.

Head coach George Zanfini is pretty happy with his team's current status. "We've made it farther this year than the previous two when it comes to the GNT," said the coach. "The Secaucus pitcher (Jeff Dittinger) was super. I don't think I've seen a better pitcher in 10 years on the high school level. He was throwing the ball at 93 mph. I was very proud of our guys though, they hung in there and played a tough game."

Against Valley, the Bucs used some fine pitching by Eddie Aulisi to hold off the Knights 4-2. Belleville started the scoring with a run in the second when Aulisi singled, went to second on a Joe Guarino sacrifice and scored on a Lenny Mendola single. In the fourth, the Bucs boosted the lead to 2-0 when Dominick Vazzano walked and scored when Aulisi singled and the opposing catcher threw the ball away.

Valley tied the game in the fifth inning, but Belleville won it in the seventh when Aulisi walked and Rich Valiente came in to pinch run.

Guarino sacrificed him to second and Mendola singled him home. Steve Coffey singled Mendola to third and Mike Nicosia doubled home Mendola with the second run.

Aulisi boosted his record to 5-1, striking out four and walking two. Brian Caravan took the loss for Valley.

The Orange game Friday was a bit easier for the Bucs. The locals banged out 11 hits and Anthony Coco pitched a fine game to snap a three-game losing streak. Coco (3-3), allowed just six hits as Belleville won 12-3. He struck out five and walked just one.

Belleville started quickly with a run in the first inning. Mendola singled, stole second and scored on a double by Coffey. In the second, Vazzano walked, advanced to second on a wild pitch and scored when Guarino hit a grounder to second and the second baseman threw the ball halfway to Nutley.

In the third inning, Belleville put the game out of reach with three runs and a 5-0 lead. With two outs, Nicosia reached on an error by the shortstop and advanced to second on a passed ball. Rich Vitiello singled home Nicosia and Fazzini reached safely on an error by the rightfielder. Both men scored when Vazzano doubled.

All told, the Tornados committed five errors and that led to an easy win for Belleville. Vitiello and Vazzano were the hitting heroes with two safeties and three RBI apiece.

The Secaucus game Thursday was a tough one for the Bucs. Dittinger allowed just three hits while striking out 15 batters. He boosted his personal record to 9-0 and helped list his team's mark to 17-2. The losing pitcher was Mike Nicosia who pitched a phenomenal game in defeat. The senior allowed just six hits and struck out 11.

In the fourth inning, Secaucus scored both its runs when Frank Labano reached on an error and Joe Scaglione hit a long homer to center field. Belleville scored its only run in the fifth when Aulisi walked, went to second on a single by Vazzano and came home on a sacrifice Guarino.

Slaughter Time — Michele DeMeo socks an RBI double in Friday's game with Orange. The BHS softball team exploded for 30 runs against their hapless opponents but were beaten in the county final with Cedar Grove the following day.

Panthers nose out BHS for county softball title

By Mike Lamberti

Despite a fine, gusty effort, the Belleville High softball team could not overcome powerful Cedar Grove and lost in the county finals 4-0 Saturday. Monday, the team was upset by Roxbury in the first round of the state tourney and earlier last week defeated Archbishop Walsh and absolutely buried Orange.

The team's record is now 12-8. Eve Corino's troops were home to West Orange on Tuesday and visited Irvington yesterday. Today the team hosts Montclair and next Tuesday will entertain Nutley.

In the county finals, the Buccanettes put up a game battle against a Cedar Grove club that has recorded an astonishing 45 victories in a row and a number one ranking in the state. Corino was far from disappointed by her team's effort. "We definitely came to play," exclaimed the coach. "Their pitcher was excellent, but we did get some hits. We made good contact all evening and I feel made a good show for ourselves."

The local girls certainly did. They made few mistakes against a Cedar Grove team that was extremely well drilled. "They were superb," Corino said of the Panthers. "You can tell they worked long and hard to get where they are and it's a good lesson for our kids. We have a young team here with just three seniors. For our younger players, the experience of playing in the finals was very valuable, while I was glad for our seniors that we had a chance to play for the title."

"The fan support was exceptional," Corino continued, "and there was a great turnout all told for the game."

Monday, the team battled Roxbury and was beaten 5-2, thus being eliminated in the tourney's first round. "I'd have to say we were down after the game on Saturday," Corino said. "We made some silly mistakes that bothered me a bit, and we just weren't in the game."

Michele DeMeo was the losing pitcher for the locals against Roxbury. She made a fine effort for the girls against Cedar Grove, hurling the distance but suffering a tough loss there.

Thursday last the week, the team defeated Archbishop Walsh 5-2 and demolished Orange 30-0 Friday. The game with Orange, possibly the worst team the Buccanettes have faced all season, was mercifully halted after four innings. Debbie Jinks was the winner against Orange game, while DeMeo picked up the victory versus Archbishop Walsh.

Volleyball team shocks Caldwell

The first victory had been sweet, but the second — almost completely unexpected — made their competitive tastebuds go completely haywire. The girls on the Belleville High volleyball team, still grinding out their first year ever, shocked Caldwell, ranked eighth in the state, 15-11, 15-8 Monday at the BHS gym.

"The girls were totally elated over the win, there was nothing but chaos on our side," reported an equally elated Coach Grace Worley Monday night.

The local girls could be excused for going wild with joy because they had not just won a great victory but had arrived at the riches end of a story that had begun with rags. Back on April 10, the Belleville girls, playing just their second interscholastic volleyball match ever, had been humiliated by Caldwell 15-3, 15-4, still one of the worst defeats in a season that has seen eight of them.

Monday, there was a complete turnaround. The Buccanettes were never in trouble fashioning their two-game sweep. Rhonda Esquillo led Belleville with nine points and Donna Dombrowski added seven. Sandy Nardone, Marie Clarizio and Chris Lane played tight, consistent games and the blocking of Rebecca Bridge was excellent.

Most important, the girls played well as a team, exploiting Caldwell's weaknesses and avoiding its strengths. "We were driving them back all the time, keeping them away from the front line where their heavy spikers were," said Coach Worley.

"It's like something that has come all of a sudden and I don't know how to explain it," said the coach, somewhat confused but obviously delighted. "It's taken a lot," she added later. "Everytime we play another game, there are a lot of things that we are learning."

The jayvee had beaten Caldwell the last time but lost this time around. However, the defeat couldn't puncture the Belleville balloon because both games were hard-fought and the Buc girls were never out of the picture. The junior varsity lost 11-15, 15-17, with juniors Rose Cataldo and Ava Zarrello playing their usual fine games.

The girls' future schedule remained up in the air this week, with possible matches at tenth-ranked Westfield yesterday and at St. Benedictine (the first victim) today. The Buc ladies were supposed to travel over to Nutley for a match tomorrow to end the season, but because of activities going on in the NHS gym, that contest was likely to be shifted to Belleville. The Blue-Gold was waiting to pounce.

Crew teams in nationals

By Mike Olohan

Belleville's senior four boat will be competing in the crew racing national championships tomorrow at Princeton, and despite the Bucs' recent losses, BHS skipper Sam Giuffrida believes they can come home winners — in more ways than one.

The senior four shell has been in a slump of late, but because of the crew's potential, Giuffrida thinks it should be able to at least qualify for the finals, which just in itself, will make the crew a winner.

At the Stotesbury Regatta last Saturday, all three Belleville crews, the boys' and girls' senior fours, and the boys' jayvee eight, advanced past

Please see "Two fours" on page 14.

Finishing Kick — Belleville's Tom Graham nears the tape in Thursday's 800-meter race. He finished third in 2:11.3 versus Essex Catholic which won the home meet. The Buc trackmen did pick up another victory, though. See page 14.

Tape Tackler — Tom Fuscaldo of Belleville takes first in a 200-meter heat Thursday against Essex Catholic. The Eagles swept the event, however, overall. Fuscaldo's time was a fine 26.8.

Two fours and eight are off to nationals the quarterfinal round but lost out in the semifinals, all being nicked by about three seconds.

"We rowed okay, the girls made the semis and I was very pleased about that," said Giuffrida Sunday. "The competition is very tough at a race like that," he added.

Rowing for the girls were Lisa Sisbarro at bow, Pala Hochstuhl,

Special olympics seeks donations

The Essex County American Legion Special Olympics Committee is looking for donations to arrange competitions for mentally retarded children.

The committee will be taking pledges by phone 6 p.m. to 12 a.m. May 31 and 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. June 1. The number to call is 284-1444. To mail a donation or to request more information, write Essex County Special Olympics Committee, c/o American Legion Post 70, 45 Franklin Ave., Nutley, N.J., 07110.

All-sports dinner scheduled June 11

The Belleville Varsity Club will hold its 22nd annual all sports dinner Wednesday, June 11, at the Wayne Manor, Route 23, beginning 7 p.m.

The club will honor senior participants in crew, softball, golf, bowling, basketball, wrestling, track, cross country, baseball, soccer, twirling, band, flag twirling, tennis, color guard and cheering.

Tickets are $12.50 a person, $14.50 each at the door. A large crowd is anticipated, though, and the club suggests making early reservations. Full tables of 10 should be pre-paid. Tickets may be obtained by calling 751-0668 or 759-3833.

Cottage, McCabe's locked up in three-way Tavern tie

Town Cottage and McCabe's both won games Sunday to remain in a three-way tie for first place in the National Division of the Essex County Tavern League.

The Town Cottage softball squad defeated Hopkin's of Newark 6-4, while McCabe's whipped previously unbeaten Dapper Dan of Newark 13-7.

The only other Belleville team of the five in the league to come out on top was B&J Bar which beat Waterhole of Bloomfield 15-8. Nanny's Cafe was edged by Capital of Newark 6-5, and Frea's and Pat's lost to Nutley Pub 13-0.

The bar teams enjoy an off day for the Memorial Day weekend, returning to action Sunday, June 1. In 9:30 a.m. games, Town Cottage will take on Sup's 917 of Newark,

Town golf tourney scheduled June 12

The annual golf tournament sponsored by the Belleville Recreation Department will be held Thursday, June 12, at Hendricks Field.

After a day of golf, a dinner will be held at the Chandelier, Franklin Avenue, at which prizes will be awarded to the winners. For tickets, call 759-9100, extension 851.

Chris Ritchel, stroker Gail Hochstuhl and coxswain Rhonda LaLama. The girls finished at 5-4.

"The girls rowed well...they haven't been together that long but they did a good job," said Giuffrida.

Besides the girls, Giuffrida stressed Belleville's jayvee eight shell "rowed very well" to make the semis since it's composed mostly of freshmen and sophomores.

"We did as good as we thought we would," said Mr. G., as he's affectionately called by his crew. "But the senior four didn't row well, there's not enough consistency there. Maybe I'll make some personnel changes (before the nationals)," he hinted.

"I really don't know what's wrong (with the senior four)," said Giuffrida. He said having the Poughkeepsie race the Saturday before cuffed because of choppy waves "was a real downer" for them, since even Giuffrida felt they had a good chance of winning.

"There's lots of question marks (for Friday)," he noted. "But if we row well, we certainly could be there for the finals (Saturday)," said a confident Giuffrida.

Boys' track team divides decisions

The Buc track team defeated Livingston 74-57 and lost to Essex Catholic 70-48 this past week to put its record at 4-6.

The squad is at home to face East Orange this afternoon in a 3:45 p.m. start. Next Tuesday, the team will host Bloomfield.

The highpoint of Belleville's efforts last week was the performance of the weight team which outdistanced Essex Catholic Thursday 27-0. Joe DeLorenzo won the shot with a throw of 45-2½, while Russ Pagano threw 41-9 and Carl Lordi 34 feet for a sweep. In the javelin, Pagano was the winner with a toss of 153-6, while George Suarez was second at 125 and DeLorenzo pulled up the rear at 104.

Against Livingston, the weight team was a 21-6 winner with DeLorenzo winning the shot at 48-3 and Pagano second at 39-8. Pagano won the javelin with a throw of 144-5, while Suarez was second at 126-11. DeLorenzo won the discus with a toss of 115-7.

In the Nulley Invitational Saturday, DeLorenzo earned a second-place medal with a toss of 42-8 in the shot. DeLorenzo might have won that event but fouled on his last two attempts. The senior was also fifth in the discus, while Pagano earned fourth-place honors in the javelin with a toss of 154-5.

For the girls' weight team, Barbara Gundry and Karen Lordi came in two-three in the shot put while Doreen Peneti was second in the javelin. Jo Ann Benecchi was second in the discus at 76-6 and Diane Jiosi tossed the disc 61-7, a personal best.

Another mat crown for Chris Musmanno

Belleville High's Chris Musmanno won first place in the 180.5-pound competition at Upsale College's first Viking Open Wrestling Tournament.

Competing were more than 200 wrestlers, 132 of them in the high school class, from six states including New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Maryland and Georgia. Musmanno was one of five New Jersey high school athletes who earned championship titles. The BHS senior won the state high school wrestling championship earlier this year at 170 pounds.

Buc netmen trounce Irvington's Campers

By Mike Lamberti

The Belleville High tennis team added to its victory column last week by trouncing Irvington 5-0. Unfortunately, the team also added to the debit side with a 4-1 loss to the Kards of Kearny.

Mike Pollard's men are currently 5-7 and the team has a good chance of breaking the 500 mark this year, a feat the Bucs have yet to accomplish in their brief, three-year history.

On Tuesday, the team traveled to Passaic and yesterday hosted the Panthers of East Orange. Today, the locals will take on the Scots of Cliford Scott High in a 3:45 p.m. start. Tomorrow they are set to host Nulley.

Pollard has been very happy with his team's output the past few weeks. "The guys have been playing some good tennis recently," said the coach. "We have a good chance at a winning record if we win our remaining matches. East Orange is one of our toughest matches, but I feel that the way they've been playing now, we can definitely beat them."

The coach pointed to the free play of the doubles team of Kenny Beck and Jerry Gold who currently sport an impressive 7-5 mark. Next week in Buc Shots, there will be an in-depth look at these two fine athletes.

As for the rest of the team, Anthony Collarsurdo has been strong at first singles, Anthony DeMeola has improved in the second spot and Rich Cook has been consistent at the third singles.

The second doubles team of Emidio Salamon and Mark Dombrowski is young and will be returning next season.

JV baseball now at 13-1

The jayvee baseball team boosted its record to 13-1 the week before last by defeating Linden and Montclair.

The Bucs embarrassed the Linden pitching staff May 6 by nailing 14 hits for 12 runs. Belleville won the game behind the pitching of Roger Lentz who upped his record to 7-0 and tossed his fourth complete game. Jeff Walsh led the team at the plate by going four-for-five on the day.

The Montclair game May 9 was a little more of a test. The Bucs held the Mounties scoreless in the first inning, however, the bats of Belleville weren't so quiet. John Melillo reached base on a fielder's choice, moved to second on a walk to Joe Corbalis, went to third on a single by Billy Corbalis and crossed the plate when Joe Britting hit a sacrifice fly.

With men on second and third, Danny Palumbo hit a two-run double, scoring Joe and Billy Corbalis.

The only inning in which Montclair scored was the second. Zimmerman led the inning off with a walk, went to second on a wild pitch, moved to third on a single by Perrotti and scored on a double by Tiernay that also drove in Gregory.

The third inning saw Belleville score two more runs. Billy Corbalis came home on a single by Danny Palumbo, and Palumbo scored on a single by Zangari.

The final run was scored when Anthony Guarino led off later with a ground-rule double and came in on a two-bagger by Joe Murphy.

The winning pitcher was Joe Britting. Roger Lentz received the save.

Stingy Stint — Debbie Jinks works Friday against Orange. The Belleville pitcher gave up just two hits while her teammates were going crazy at the plate during an abbreviated game.

DeBacco's in first in Men's Softball

DeBacco Brothers holds first place in the Wednesday Men's Softball League after gaining two victories this past week. DeBacco's defeated Frenchy's Tavern 22-3 and then downed Belleville Hess 11-4.

Frenchy's rebounded with a 7-5 victory over Giordano's Pizza. Hess also came back to beat Rossmore 5-5. The Howard took a 22-7 decision over Giordano's but was edged 8-7 by Rossmore in the nightcap.

Belleville Shoes won both ends of a doubleheader in the Thursday League, downing Garden State Pet 10-2 and then nipping Belleville Kawasaki 10-8. International Paint beat Clyde Paul Insurance 17-4, but lost its second game 7-4 to Garden State. Binky's Tavern split its doubleheader, topping Kawasaki 12-8 but losing 8-6 to Glyde Paul.

Rain forced postponement of the Monday and Tuesday Men's Softball League games.

Peanut League

The Peanut League Braves were victors in their two games this past week. Against the Bears, the Braves, the Dodgers edged the Bombers 10-8, the Aces took the Cubs 15-7, the Mike Pucci's three-run triple. Joe Mastrocola, Richard Sobanko, Joseph Marone and Eric Ensar all went three-for-three. John Stampone, Neil Morgan and Louis Bruno led the defense.

The Braves also registered a win over the Tigers. Bill O'Keefe, Chris Young Jr. and Richard Patton had singles and were driven in by John Stampone's triple in an 11-run inning. Gerard Tucci, Sue Aufiero, Carl Paserchia and Anthony Stella played strong defense.

The Aces won their second game of the year over the Dodgers 13-10. The Aces scored seven runs in the seventh inning with eight straight hits by Joe Masone, Joe Holland, Ron DePiro, Nick Turano, John Arya, John Mele, Joe Sequeira and Andy Cueva, who had a three-run homer.

The Tigers slipped by the Cubs in a rain-shortened game 12-10. Nelson Dias paced the Tiger attack with the game-winning two-run double. Second baseman Cheri-Ann Velese and first baseman Richard Rizzolo were defensive standouts. In other games, the Dodgers edged the Bombers 10-8, the Aces took the Cubs 15-7, the Yanks clubbed the Clippers 18-2 and the Cards downed the Pirates 20-1.

BHS graduate receives Christian Athlete Award

Vito Guarino of 22 Mary St. received the Fellowship of Christian Athletes Award at the annual all-sports dinner honoring more than 300 male and female athletes earlier this month at Moravian College.

Guarino, a graduate of Belleville High School, was the recipient of the award for good sportsmanship, character and contributions both on and off the playing field. A senior at the Bethlehem, Pa., college, Guarino will receive a bachelor of arts degree in criminal justice at commencement June 1.

Guarino was an offensive guard on the football team and was named to several weekly Eastern College Athletic Conference teams for outstanding line play. He also received several coaches' awards for scoring the most blocking points.

Guarino completed his academic requirements in December and has been a criminal justice investigator and researcher for the Verona Department of Public Safety.

Gunners defeated 4-1 in U.S. soccer opener

By Fred Lardaro

When ancient, grizzled veterans of innumerable soccer matches and younger veterans as well gather in the local pub, they repeatedly share and compare tales of their mightiest accomplishments on the field and such conversations invariably progress in terms of "magic" and "luck." It is the romantic, gentlemanly language of the sport.

This past Saturday, as always, there were the frequent flashes of "magic," but for the Belleville Gunners "luck" took an unfortunate turn for the worse as New Jersey's state champions were eliminated from the initial round of the United States Cup soccer tournament, suffering a 4-1 loss to the Hicksville Americans, New York's champions, at the Farmingdale University Sports Complex, Long Island, N.Y.

The Americans, an experienced team returning 12 of 16 members from 1979's U.S. Cup runner-up team, enjoy good overall size, are well conditioned and are favored to win the U.S. Cup in 1980.

The Gunners countered a severe height disadvantage with their considerable skill on the ground, and though Belleville staged some impressive runs on goal, its only goal was the result of a penalty kick.

Also to the Gunners' detriment was the fact that they played without the services of their two brilliant midfielders, John Lee and Ramiro Borja. Lee was serving a one-game suspension after having been ejected from the Jersey Cup final and Borja is still nursing injuries incurred during the Jersey Cup qualifying rounds.

Hicksville scored early on a header off a corner kick and led 1-0 at the half. Later at 53:47, the Americans' left wing lined a straight cross pass toward the Gunners' goal. A teammate charging down the middle of the field fell forward. He attempted to break his fall by thrusting his arms to the ground. The cross pass made contact with his hands and rolled over so slowly across the goal mouth untouched.

Players raced for the ball and the Gunners managed to clear it. Suddenly, the referee was blowing his whistle to stop the action. He proceeded to charge a handball foul against the Gunners in the box and to award a penalty kick to the Americans. No Gunner had touched the ball, but the ruling was made and the kick was converted despite vehement protestation from the Gunners.

It was obvious to everyone, with the exception of the official, that no whistle should have been blown at all since the ball was unintentionally handled by the Americans' attacker. If a penalty was to be ruled, a free kick should have been awarded to the Gunners from the point of infraction.

The Americans' third score was a fine goal at 61:38. A Hicksville forward fired a low-winding shot to split fullbacks Steve McCann and Hector Gaiton to just barely beat goalkeeper Guido Vacacela inside the right post.

The Gunners scored on a penalty kick taken by Wascar Jannick at 73:11. The call was obstruction against Galo Calvache as he was moving to a free ball near the goal mouth. Calvache and Joe Puga proved to be Belleville's most effective scoring threats, but Puga was forced to exit the match at halftime with a bruised knee affording Hicksville the opportunity the double cover Galo.

The Americans' final goal came off a long run down the left wing, a cross pass to a breaking striker who volley-kicked to beat Vacacela in a one-on-one situation. The Gunners contended that the left wing was off-sides at the time before he made his run. It proved to be another very close decision that went against Belleville.

Goalkeeper Vacacela played an excellent match handling the ball under many dangerous circumstances and making many critical saves to keep the Gunners within striking distance of the Americans on the scoreboard. All four goals were nearly impossible to stop.

Coach Tony Cullen inserted Brian Woods as right halfback in place of Lee, and the 15-year-old Belleville High School sophomore responded with an admirable performance. Brian tirelessly challenged for the free ball throughout the match and demonstrated great poise in what must certainly have been an enormous pressure situation for the youngest player on the field.

However, Woods also proved to be more conscious of his defensive responsibilities. Left halfback John MacArthur is defense-oriented, and with George Benevidas playing in place of Borja, the Gunners who are usually strongest in the midfield were suspect on offense.

This forced the defenders to take a greater initiative on offense. Ivan "Chino" Mancheno lofted numerous long kicks to propel forwards on the attack, grimacing on each kick as he taxed injured muscles on his left thigh. Hector Gaiton and Steve McCann found it necessary to overextend their boundaries to become more involved in the Gunners' offense. McCann registered his first shot on goal of 1980. Normally he would not have to have taken a shot, but the Gunners could not find the net.

Jersey's champions now return to league competition with a Northern Counties title to defend against all challengers.

QUICK KICKS: Early in the Hicksville match, Wascar Jannick was spiked in the right ankle but continued to play. At match's end, he slowly walked off the field and offered this thought: "When you win, the little hurts do not matter so much, but this will hurt some," Wascar said as he examined his badly swollen, bloodied ankle. Many of the Gunners are playing with injuries as the team now heads into a hot and heavy league schedule with as many as three games a week. The last time Vacacela surrendered as many as four goals in a match, he was playing for a pitifully poor Essex Catholic team. With Essex, he averaged close to 20 saves a game. The Gunners second-line players saw extensive action in a scrimmage with Tenafly last Friday. Scott Swann scored a beautiful goal with a head flick. John MacArthur scored one goal while playing as a center halfback, and Santiago Borja netted a pair of magnificent goals. Young Julia Vacacela was impressive in goal as he registered a 4-1 victory.

New league plan may help Suburban loop

By Mike Olohan

With last week's news that New Jersey's Interscholastic Athletic Association (NJIAA) has proposed restructuring athletic leagues and conferences in the state, the fledgling Suburban Essex Conference being pushed by Belleville trustees may have been given an unexpected boost or may have been shoved off a cliff.

Trustees Caesar Romano, Ernie Zoppi and Charles Miele, who have been working to form a new county league, were expected to meet yesterday to discuss the NJIAA proposal, along with proposed by-laws for their league, with representatives of nearby schools.

Both Romano and former board president Ralph Risoli pushed hard to get a new league going, but because of previous commitments, several county schools could not join until 1983 at the earliest.

An NJIAA report recently presented to State Education Commissioner Fred Burke points out how numerous "urban, poor, minority, rural and Catholic schools" are being discriminated against by present league set-ups. The report notes most of these schools have tough scheduling problems and often must travel far to find teams to compete against.

The proposal presented by the NJIAA committee, which is a voluntary organization of state high schools, states, "each county shall constitute a league and two or more counties may join together in a single league. Also, every member school should play schools in its conference before scheduling non-conference schools, although they may designate one game in each sport as a 'traditional' game," which can be exempt from the rules.

The third proposal is that every member school select schools in the same grouping when choosing non-conference opponents. At its annual December meeting, the NJIAA plans to discuss the restructuring proposals, and if they are agreed upon, the earliest new leagues would be formed by September 1981, when football season begins.

The Suburban Essex Conference local trustees have been promoting could be given an added push by a new restructuring since it would probably free many of the surrounding teams from current league agreements, making them able to join.

The special NJIAA report was spurred on by an appeal from Barringer and Passaic high schools made after they were snubbed from 1979 football playoff competition despite 7-1 records which tied them with four other schools in North Jersey conferences.

Barringer and Passaic both wound up rated below their opponents based on the strength of their schedules. However, the two schools argued that it was very difficult to come up with a stronger schedule because they were already in conferences, and because they were located in inner-cities.

Belleville Athletic Director Jim Silvestri said this week that he'd sent out invitations to all Group IV schools in Essex County, including East Orange, to attend yesterday's meeting here. He said he expected that school's athletic director, Ken Wilson, to show up.

If the NJIAA report is okayed, which appears likely, schools within each county or group would play each other first. However, right now it's unsure if the Suburban Essex Conference would get off the ground if the state takes it upon itself to decide the composition of conferences and groups.

The NJIAA report shows Belleville in a division that includes Barringer, Columbia, Irvington, Livingston, Montclair, East Orange, Nutley, Bloomfield, Seton Hall, Bloomfield Tech, Newark Tech, St. Benedict's and East Orange Catholic.

Silvestri said most neighboring schools are very interested in forming a new league to establish closer rivalries, and renew old acquaintances. "There's a lot of teams in leagues now that think it (Suburban Essex Conference) is a very good idea," noted Silvestri.

"We're looking for a clear delineation of rules," said Romano. "The Big 10 didn't work because of its numbers and the discipline just wasn't there," he noted.

The discipline problem was especially severe at East Orange and led directly to the break-up of the Big 10 Conference of which Belleville was a member. Up until now, schools discussing the Suburban Essex Conference have shied away from mentioning East Orange as a possible member.

Romano said he agreed "with the concept" of county leagues, but emphasized that because some schools don't wish to play against others, it may be impractical.

"We have a rough sketch of the by-laws we'll be discussing," said Silvestri Tuesday. "I think that (league restructuring) is probably coming in," he added.

Moot Point — Seton Hall University Law School Dean Rev. Daniel A. Degnan presents the first-place award to the winning moot court team of Peter Frazza of Belleville and Thomas Kelly of Elizabeth. Looking on at right is faculty advisor Professor Neil Cohen. The winning team was selected by a group of prominent federal court judges. The pair will enter the national competition next fall. Both winners are second-year students at the law school in Newark.

Cultural exchange called unfair

attacked trustees for okaying a cultural exchange program in which four schools, notably 2, 4, 8 and 10, host other schools' "cultural exchanges."

Mrs. Sobanko said many parents at School 1 are upset because they feel Belleville's cultural exchange program places an unfair travel burden on School 1 children, simply to comply with state orders on desegregation.

But Greed obviously feels parents at School 1 are exaggerating the problem. "Our purpose was to get children to meet each other, but I have reservations about courses like this. I have reservations about courses like black history and those that emphasize differences in peoples' cultures...but I see merit in giving small groups of children an opportunity to meet," he said.

Although Greed emphasized Monday that Belleville's cultural exchange programs were operating before Commissioner Burke ordered them to begin, he conceded Tuesday that "tremendous pressure" had been put on him by state officials to begin a more comprehensive cultural exchange program.

May said Tuesday "close to 90 percent" of School 1 parents whose children are involved in its cultural exchange program agreed to the boycott.

He pointed to School 8's large minority population of 49, (School 1 has 64 minority pupils) and questioned why trustees don't have them going from school to school for a cultural exchange program, and instead want School 1's children to do all the moving.

May said a cultural exchange program should involve every school in Belleville, if such a program is run. However, he doesn't really think it's necessary.

"Kids don't have to go to another school to make new friends," said May. "The burden of this desegregation plan should not be falling on these kids."

May referred to School 1's cultural exchange as "a traveling minstrel show," a term which offended Greed. "I'm particularly resentful of the term 'minstrel show,'" he said Tuesday. "I see some value in these programs. This attempt is being made so children get a chance to learn about each other," he added.

Stressing he's "firmly convinced" that School 1's cultural exchange will hurt his daughter's education, May said, "She's not going to go to school to sing and dance and play the fool."

"I told you that I had mixed feelings about this," said Greed Monday.

day. He pointed out that helping children confront and understand their prejudices by meeting children of other races and backgrounds will gradually lead to an end to racial prejudice.

"Are you doing this because of the (desegregation) mandate? The truth please," prodded Mrs. Sobanko while questioning Greed. He admitted state officials had played a part in beginning an expanded cultural exchange program, but denied that pressure was the only reason.

Under the present cultural exchange program planned to begin yesterday, School 1 would have traveled four times compared to three times for School 9 (also in the Valley), two times for School 3 and one time each for Schools 5 and 7.

School 1's sixth grade was to have attended School 7's literature program, and School 9's sixth grade was also to go there. Both choruses from Schools 1 and 9 were supposed to go to Schools 3, 5 and 7. Then School 1's fifth grade to School 3's art program. Schools 1 and 3 were to exchange assemblies, 3 and 9 also were to exchange assemblies.

School 5's ceramic arts class was to go to Schools 1 and 9, and then School 7's newspaper staff was to visit 1 and 9.

May wanted to know why Schools 2, 4, 8 and 10 weren't involved in any "exchanges" where they had to move, an answer that trustees did not have.

the 19-year-old responded with 40 points and a championship for LA.

The Belleville High athlete of the week is Marilyn McCaffrey, the fine catcher on the girls' softball team. McCaffrey has been superb behind the plate and at the plate. Her leadership ability is one of the reasons why the girls made it to the county finals. By the way, she will be taking her talents to Seton Hall next fall.

Here is the answer to last week's quiz. The question was, what feat did the girls' softball team accomplish in 1978? The answer, the girls won the Big 10 championship and for the last time because the Big 10 went the way of the dinosaur that year.

For this week's quiz, can you name the last time the Lakers won the NBA title and who they defeated.

Band show leaves big BHS crowd cheering

Cozzarelli's magic act astounds and mystifies

By Nancy Roberts

Friday and Saturday nights, May 9 and '10, the Belleville High marching band presented the 1980 band show in the high school auditorium. It was an evening filled with outstanding entertainment complete with music, dancing, even magic.

The show opened with the high school band playing the theme from "Star Trek" and "Evergreen." Next, the band played popular music to routines by the twirlers, color guard and flag twirlers. The twirlers were very original with their dance to the "Macho Man-YMCA" theme as they appeared in various masculine costumes, including a chain gang leader and a cowboy.

Next came one of the highlights of the evening, the magic of newly discovered talent Joe Cozzarelli — a junior band member — and his able assistant, Joe LaMonica. They mystified the audience as they removed a girl's midriff and then restored her to her natural state.

Cozzarelli is a true performer as we would see later with his amusing yet astounding portrayal of Houdini's metamorphosis. Cozzarelli, dressed as a referee, locked boxer

Joe LaMonica in handcuffs in a trunk and strapped and locked it shut. As he stood on the trunk and lifted a curtain over his head, presto, there appeared LaMonica, complete in referee outfit who then unlocked Cozzarelli the boxer from the trunk. It was a truly impressive performance.

The second half of the evening featured Jazz Band, an extremely talented group of band members who practice at night with director Andy Silbert. Their music defies description. They performed some oldtime favorites such as Glenn Miller's "In the Mood."

Also in the show, providing a refreshing change of pace was a group of students who sang "Light of the World" from the smash hit, "Godspell." Accompanying them were Mike Rock on piano and Gina Montalto on guitar.

The absolute showstopper and finale to the evening was "Jumpin' with Symphony Sid" performed by Jazz Band in which nearly everyone had a solo and drove the audience wild with applause and cheering. Jack Mallack, a talented sophomore drummer, had an outstanding solo that had the audience on its feet.

There was much, much more to this program, too much to mention here. Needless to say, the evening was a great success, and everyone is eagerly awaiting next year's performance.

School 5 observes 'creature feature'

By Joe Fischer and Michele DeMeo

On May 7, the kindergarten, first and second grades at School 5 were lucky enough to view a program presented by staff members of the Turtle Back Zoo.

Different types of animals were brought to School 5 and the children had the opportunity to see these "creatures" much more closely than usual.

Turtle Back Zoo makes a return visit on May 29 for the kindergarten and third grade.

School 9 installs new officers with pomp and circumstance

By Nancy Lisboa

On Tuesday evening, May 13, the School 9 twirlers and the glee club provided the entertainment for the last meeting of the PTA.

Mrs. Marlene Lazaro, president of the PTA, opened up the evening by leading a salute to the flag and reciting a prayer. The meeting was held to select new officers of the PTA.

Before the meeting took place, the twirlers, under the direction of Mrs. Marianna Fass and former students Jackie Lazaro and Marlene Ortega, presented a box of flowers to Mrs. Lazaro for inviting them to perform that evening.

The twirlers participating in the event were, Captain Dawn Scheumeister, Cathy Lazaro and Lisa Current, both co-captains, and Daneen Rock, Lisa Hibinski, Dawn Resciniti, Fay D'Antonio, Carrie Banackie, Roxanne Kunzman, Judy Britting, Sharon DiNicola and Kim Trefsgar. The performance went well, and after the twirlers had finished, they presented corsages to Mrs. Fass and her assistants, Jackie Lazaro and Marlene Ortega.

The meeting had come to order and the old and new officers of the PTA were announced. The old officers were: Mrs. Lazaro; Lillian D'Angelis, first vice president; Sandy Rock, second vice president; Mrs. Joseph Grosh, third vice president; Debra Smith, recording secretary; Mary Ellen Scala, corresponding secretary, and Joan Current, treasurer.

The new officers of the PTA are Kathy Wesolowski, president; Kathy Watkowski, first vice president; Lorraine DeLillo, second vice president;

Joseph B. Grosh, third vice president; Ellen Dorey, recording secretary; Gen Cerca, corresponding secretary, and Joan Current, treasurer.

The burning candles passed from the old officers to the new signified the strength and unity of School 9. Ribbons of various colors were placed on the candles to signify different qualities. The president of the PTA held the gold candles to signify glory, unity, leadership and administration. The vice presidents held the silver, signifying purity and valor. The secretaries held the red to signify vigilance and alertness, and the treasurer held the white to signify complete truthfulness and honesty.

The candles were passed on to the new officers and a prayer was presented by Mrs. Cora Boice. After the prayer was said, the old officers received seeds to plant.

The meeting had come to an end and under the direction of Mr. Wendell Parr, the glee club performed various songs by Richard Rogers to entertain the officers of the PTA. The School 9 glee club had busy schedule, traveling to School 5 to perform for the students there. The performance was part of an inter-school visitation program set up by the administration.

The singers participating were Ann Marie Glunk, Corinne Dent, Billy Malloy, Dawn Scheumeister, Cathy Lazaro, Theresa Renzi, Lisa Current, Diane LaRossa, Donald Sweder, Dawn Resciniti, June Williams, Karen Asher, Daneen Rock, Michael Kane, Fay D'Antonio, Jeffrey Luberto, Chris Rivera, Dean Nicholls and Heather Lutan.

The evening was a very enjoyable and happy event. We on the School Page congratulate all the new officers of the PTA and wish them happiness and success.

Grade schools profit from music exchange

By Michele DeMeo and Joe Fischer

The inter-school cultural exchange program for School 5 began at the start of May. Under the direction of Mr. Wendell Parr, a music teacher, 22 students from School 5 traveled to School 9 to give a demonstration of recorders (straight flutes).

On May 12, grades four, five and six from School 5 had the pleasure of watching 35 students from Schools 5 and 9 give a combined chorus concert.

The demonstration of recorders was then taken to School 1 on May 16. Other schools have already performed dances and small plays.

Mr. Parr feels that the shows are just a rehearsal for the big show tonight at Belleville High School in which all elementary schools perform their specialties. Everyone is invited to attend.

Surrounded — School 7 third graders crowd in around the desk of teacher Denise Chacko who's trying to mark some papers. Her students include Lisa Genzarelli, Renee Strumolo, Tracy Plasner, Theresa Riboli, Melisa Parkes, Danny Murphy, Darlene Juliano, Billy Marshall, Gina Krupka, Bobby Mulcahy and Louis Bruno.

On the Bridge — Belleville girls' crew members Vivian Tomaselli, Donna Marinelli and Kim Nash sit on a steel stanchion on the Rutgers Street Bridge during the recent Goodwill Regatta.

Trustees adopt budget cut 5-2

By a 5-2 vote, trustees gave their final approval Monday to a $200,000 cut in the school budget, but not without raising some dire prospects for the future. Cringing at the prospect of again delaying major repairs to Belleville schools, Trustees Mike Chieffo and Caesar Romano voted against the cut because $147,100 will be axed from capital outlay.

Capital outlay funds go to repair run-down local schools, and obviously tired of constantly postponing improvements, both Chieffo and Romano said no to the budget cut.

A Uniplan survey prepared for state officials in 1978 showed then that Belleville trustees would have had to spend $20.59 million to bring local schools up to respectable shape. With inflation, the cost is now even more staggering.

About the only option available to trustees in future years will be to close some, more schools, unless they're willing to spend massive amounts for renovations — a prospect not too likely.

Because Belleville's school budget was once again defeated, local commissioners were given a chance to cut it, but trustees worked out a deal whereby they agreed not to appeal a $200,000 slash if they could decide where to cut the money.

Besides the $147,100 from capital outlay, $52,900 will be cut from current expenses.

Trustees continue to wonder why for 17 of the past 18 years their school budget has been defeated, since state officials, usually after a long drawn-out process, give them back most of what commissioners cut after the budget defeats.

Some citizens say they don't believe what trustees are telling them about budget statistics, a skepticism trustees can't seem to dispel. Newly elected Trustee John DiStasi is trying to convince his colleagues to attempt another townwide school budget presentation, an effort undertaken in 1979 but not in 1980. The hope is that widespread public awareness of the school system's needs will convince enough citizens to get out and vote for the budget, which in turn might help trustees avoid painful decisions like the one they had to make Monday night.

Ribbon-Winner — Eight-year-old Dana Marie Figuerelli of Belleville took part in a dance competition May 10 at Jefferson School in Westfield. She won two ribbons, one for a jazz performance and one for a song and tap number. She attends Marlene Francis School of Dance directed by Marlene Iovino. Dana has been dancing six years. Her lessons consist of tap, jazz and toe. She intends to make a career out of dancing.

Valley will battle commercial zone

the association might be able to use its expanded petitions to stop the zoning change dead in its tracks. "We might not have to appeal, we might have won it already," he said, adding that the law mentions no time period when the signature-gathering process must be closed off.

The commission rejected another amendment opposed by the association last week that would have rezoned a Valley section from residential to industrial. Both zoning changes were proposed by Commissioner Matthew Pica, and Tuesday May made a special point of denying rumors that his association was circulating a recall petition for the public safety director. "That would not solve anything at all, it would only further drive a line down Belleville," said May.

Two new trustees reserve judgment on voting blocs

4-3 votes weren't indicative of any trend, though DiStasi and Zampino were less optimistic.

"That's a normal thing," Zoppi said of the two 4-3 votes. He said as president he hopes to get citizens to "stop thinking negatively" about trustees.

However, Zampino appeared unsure of what the first two votes meant, but obviously noted how strongly both 4-3 votes split. "That was voting for individuals, not policy," said Zampino, agreeing to wait before making any conclusions. But DiStasi acknowledged the "possibility" of two voting blocs existing, while adding, "I'm just happy to be participating on the board."

Freeholders here next Wednesday

The Essex County Board of Chosen Freeholders will hold its next meeting at Belleville Town Hall 8 p.m. this coming Wednesday.

Heading the list of topics up for discussion is the traffic situation created by cars lining up for gas at the BP Station on Franklin Avenue.

Financial planning seminar set for extension office.

The Essex County Cooperative Extension Service of Rutgers will sponsor a seminar on financial planning, May 12, 19 and June 2, at 7:30 p.m. in the extension office, 125 Fairview Ave., Cedar Grove.

How to be your own best consumer will be the focus of the program May 12.

Arthur Gaer, senior vice president of Baer Stearns & Co., New York, will speak May 19 on investment for the future.

Freeholders will also talk about the parking problem at the Belleville Avenue extension of Branch Brook Park and discuss the possibility of extending Belmont Avenue east across Franklin Avenue into the park.

Freeholders began holding meetings in municipalities last year in an attempt to bring county government closer to the people, and they are encouraging Belleville residents to attend Wednesday's session. "A successful turnout will convince the county that holding board meetings in municipalities is valuable to both citizens and to the freeholders," said Freeholder James Piro who made the announcement of the upcoming event.

Piro, the lone Republican on the board, represents District 5 which includes Belleville.

Men in Service

Husband and wife stay with Air Force

A husband and wife team, Sgts. Edward M. and Carol Novak, have re-enlisted in the U.S. Air Force after being selected for career status.

Assigned at Wurtsmith Air Force Base in Oscoda, Mich., the Novaks were approved for re-enlistment by a board which considered character and job performance.

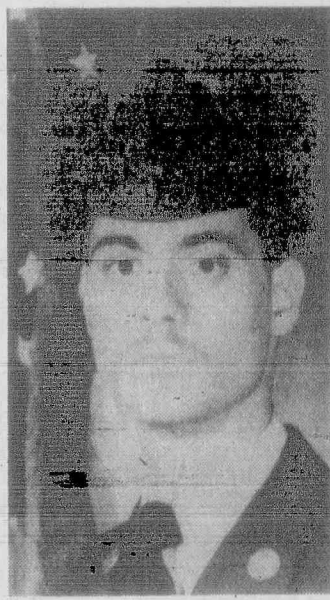

Edward is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Novak Sr. of 363 Main St. Carol is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Coats of Wharton, Texas. She is a 1974 graduate of Bradford District High School, Bradford, Ontario.

Pvt. S.A. Salernitano, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Salernitano, 16 Bayard St., recently completed basic training at Fort Knox in Kentucky.

During the training, students received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map-reading, tactics, military courtesy and justice, first aid and Army history and tradition.

Joseph V. Longo, nephew of Merwin and Phyllis Cook of 608 Washington Ave., has been promoted to private first class while serving with the 2nd Force Service Support Group at the Marine Corps base in Camp Lejeune, N.C.

A 1979 graduate of Belleville High, Longo joined the Marine Corps in July 1979.

gather to honor those killed in war. "We would like to see the rest of the town of Belleville come to these services too," he added.

The invocation on Union Avenue will be given by the Rev. Benedetto Pascale of Silver Lake Baptist Church, and a welcome address by James Leary of Post 275. Retired U.S. Army Col. Harold Lawson will be the guest speaker and Rev. James Heavey of St. Peter's Church will give benediction.

Pat DiAngelis of VFW Post 6265 is the Memorial Day coordinator, with James Leary of VFW Post 275 and John Loree of AMVETS Post 26 serving as co-chairmen.

Besides organizations already mentioned, Belleville American Legion Post 299, Barbone Mosco Post 7 of the Italian-American War Veterans, the Catholic War Veterans and Gold Star Mothers will be participating.

In case of rain, the program will be held at VFW Post 275 at 17 Belleville Ave.
