REAGAN WINS 91 PERCENT OF GOP VOTE

Ted Kennedy carries town by wide margin

By John Jurich

Belleville residents cast their ballots very nearly the way voters did statewide in Tuesday's primary election, giving big majorities to Democrat Edward Kennedy and Republican Ronald Reagan in a fight but larger than expected turnout.

Kennedy was the favorite of town Democrats, gaining 60.4 percent of the vote to President Carter's 35, while New Jersey Democrats were giving the Massachusetts senator a 58 to 39 majority. Reagan won 91.5 percent of the vote here to 6.6 for George Bush, who dropped out of the GOP presidential race last week. Statewide, Reagan garnered 84 percent of the Republican vote to 16 percent for Bush.

The Democratic vote totals for the presidential race Tuesday were:

Edward Kennedy	1,780
Jimmy Carter	1,032
Uncommitted	82
Lyndon LaRoche	53

The totals on the Republican side read:

Ronald Reagan	720
George Bush	52
Harold Stassen	15

Slightly over 22 percent of Belleville's 16,961 registered voters turned out Tuesday, a low total, but one that was not quite as small as might have been anticipated considering that both Carter and Reagan appeared to have their parties' nominations locked up and there were no really hot local races.

The biggest vote-getter here was not Kennedy but Rep. Joseph Minish who ran unopposed in the Democratic primary for a tenth term in the U.S. House of Representatives. Minish won 2,354 votes, while Robert Davis of Verona, running without opposition for the Republican nomination, gained 509.

The second most popular candidate in Belleville was incumbent Democratic County Clerk Nicholas Caputo who won 2,015 votes. His challengers, Newark bookkeeper Anna M. Groves and Seton Hall University law student Theodore Stevens II, ran far behind with 161 and 157 votes, respectively.

Sandra Isaacson, a former member of the Millburn Board of Education, gained the Republican nod for county clerk unopposed. She won 487 votes here.

Locally, the lopsided Kennedy majority represented a victory for the Democratic organization. Rosemary Ciccone, president of the Belleville Democratic Club, will be going to the party's convention at Madison Square Garden this summer as a delegate for the Massachusetts senator and she said she wouldn't be changing her vote even though it appears President Carter has gone over the top. Her attitude reflects that of the challenger himself, who has vowed to stay in the race through the convention.

"This is a big win for Kennedy," Please see "Ted's win" on page 21.

Board of Ed moves to let in more light at meetings

By Mike Olohan

Is there enough public participation at Belleville's Board of Education meetings? The answer varies, usually depending on whether it's a citizen or trustee who responds to the question, but now residents are seeing visible changes in what is discussed in public and who may discuss it.

This year, attorney Thomas Zampino was elected to the board overwhelmingly on a campaign platform that stressed the merits of New Jersey's Open Public Meetings Act, or Sunshine Law. During the campaign, Zampino charged, "In the past, the Belleville Board of Education has turned the protective shade (for personnel matters) into a gloomy darkness that is cast upon the community. The board of education cannot exclude the public from any meeting to discuss any matter without first adopting a resolution at a public meeting stating the general nature of the subject to be discussed and stating as precisely as possible, the time when and the circumstances under which the discussion conducted in closed session of the public body can be disclosed to the public."

That position seemed to touch a responsive chord throughout Belleville. Repeatedly, citizens attending board meetings had criticized trustees for going behind closed doors or drawn curtains to discuss business.

On last week's public business meeting agenda, the closing resolution which stated trustees would meet Monday in private session got a more specific than in the past. It didn't just cite as a reason for the closed meeting "matters that may be discussed in private in accordance with Ch. 231, P.L. 1975," but added "more specifically, the discussion of the staffing of the schools and the salaries for various school personnel. The results of this discussion will be acted upon at the next regularly scheduled business meeting (June 23) of the board."

Zampino says board attorney Lawrence Schwartz has devised another closing resolution, which says matters discussed privately will be disclosed at the next regular meeting, to make sure citizens are made aware of what went on in private.

A more detailed monthly budget breakdown supplying citizens with long lists of expenses may also be coming soon, according to trustees. Some trustees feel that if more detailed cost breakdowns are seen by the public, the school budget would stand a better chance of passing.

"We've always been functioning according to law, but now we're becoming a little more specific," says Trustee Caesar Romano. "The board has been open before...not one thing has been done in the back rooms as suggested."

Asked if trustees should get more specific on particular resolutions appointing personnel and allow citizens to see the lists added onto trustees' agendas but not onto any others, Romano said: "I agree with that, maybe we should attach the lists."

He agreed also that citizens could get upset because they don't get all the material trustees routinely receive, but board actions "are a matter of public record, and anyone can see where our money goes," said Romano. "They can go down and Please see "Zampino" on page 21.

County: solution to BP line is here

Franklin Avenue residents angered by the line of cars blocking their driveways waiting to get gas at the BP Station were told last week that the solution to the problem lies here in Belleville and not with the county.

Homeowners along the stretch of road leading up to the discount station on the corner Franklin Avenue and Joralemon Street had petitioned Essex County freeholders to do something about the situation. Last Wednesday, residents got a chance to talk to county lawmakers face to face as the Freeholder Board held its meeting at Town Hall. Though freeholders said they would see what they could do, they stressed that strict enforcement of existing laws was the real answer to the problem.

"Basically, you're going to have to get municipal police and county police, when available, to enforce the ordinances that are already on the books," said Freeholder James Piro, who represents the 5th District which includes Belleville.

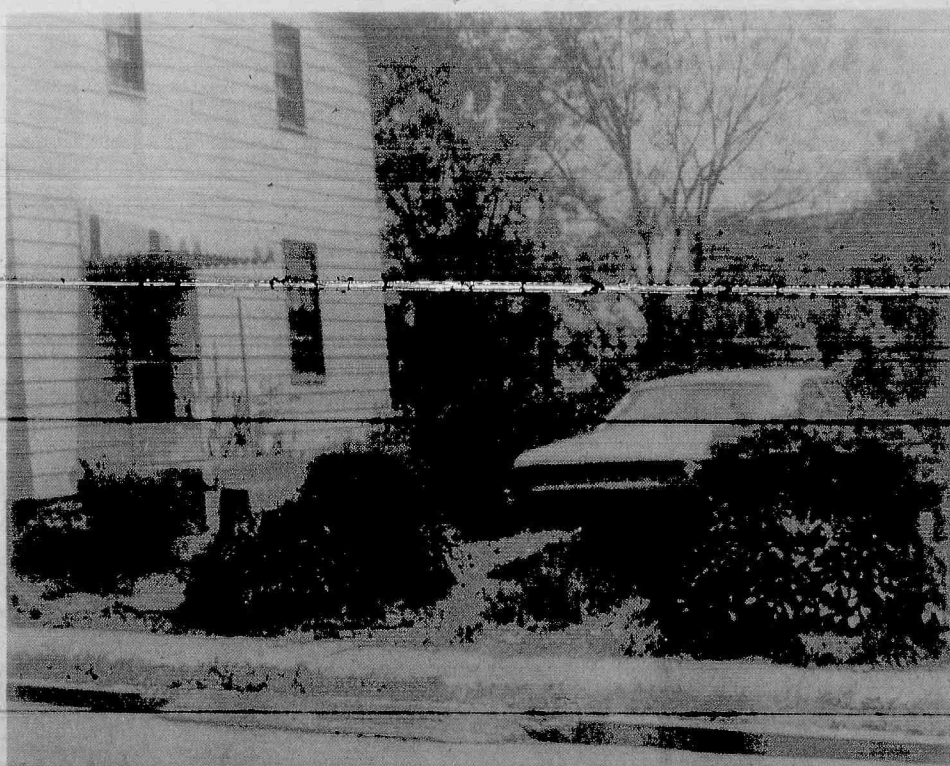

The BP service station, which offers gasoline at considerably lower prices than most competitors, opens in the small hours of the morning, and on Saturdays the line of cars waiting to take advantage of the lower prices stretches far north on Franklin Avenue well into Nutley. Residents have complained in petitions to Belleville commissioners as well as to freeholders about blocked driveways, litter, noise and hazardous conditions for children that result from the gas line.

dous conditions for children that result from the gas line.

Freeholders asked the County Engineer's Office to study the problem and make recommendations. Those suggestions have been forwarded to commissioners for adoption into ordinance, and one result has been a prohibition of U-turns on Franklin Avenue.

Of course that hasn't made the Please see "Road" on page 21.

Calendar proposals worry teachers here

By Mike Olohan

Could some of Belleville's school teachers "burn out" next year if trustees decide to eliminate the spring vacation? While School Superintendent Dr. John Greed scoffs at the suggestion, Belleville Education Association President Paul Del Polito, and other teachers, think it's highly possible.

Whatever the answer to the question, trustees won't have to worry about it next year since they decided last week to continue the present winter and spring vacations through 1980-81.

However, there's still debate over the possibility of adding two days onto December's vacation, to close local schools for 11 days, thereby cutting heat costs.

The possibility of six four-day weeks during winter was suggested by Greed, following parents' written suggestions, to close schools for three-day weekends. However, Del Polito objected, stressing that the elimination of the April vacation entailed in the plan would mean 17 straight weeks of work for teachers without an extended break.

Del Polito noted that even with the four-day weeks, teacher "burn-out" or exhaustion could still occur because a three-day break is not really a vacation. But Greed backed his argument for four-day weeks, citing the comments of teachers who have said that after weeklong breaks, lessons often have to be completely retaught because students forget.

"I think we should listen to the parents," said Greed last Monday, noting that four parents sent letters asking for a four-day week. He said he wasn't sure how much could be saved by closing down for an extra day for six weeks, but pointed out it would probably be well worth it.

"What does this (four-day week) Please see "Four-day" on page 17.

Anthony D'Agostino finds himself at home in the world of education

By Mike Olohan

If there's one person on Belleville's Board of Education who can quickly diagnose and dissect educational issues and trends, that man is Dr. Anthony D'Agostino, principal at Newark's Mount Vernon School for the past nine years.

D'Agostino has spent 24 years in education, eight years as a teacher at Newark's Peshine Avenue School, several years as a Title I project coordinator. He was a vice principal at 14th Avenue School before becoming principal at Mount Vernon. He also taught the fifth through eighth grades at Mount Vernon.

In February 1979, D'Agostino joined the local School Board, taking the place of Lawrence Schwartz, who is now board attorney. D'Agostino won a close election over Felix Linfante in 1979 to fill the remaining year on Schwartz's term and placed an incredible second in this year's elections behind runaway winner Tom Zampino.

D'Agostino downplays his expertise in education, and is quick to point out that teachers, not administrators, or trustees, are the "front line" in public education's fight against illiteracy.

But at his school, which has been called a "mini-United Nations" because of its wide variety of cultures, D'Agostino takes special and justifiable pride in the unique courses that strive to motivate and enrich students' lives by getting them directly involved with learning.

D'Agostino is assisted at Mount Vernon by two able vice principals who handle nearly 1,000 students. He says he likes to view the students "as just one part of a big family," and walking through Mount Vernon's halls, students often wave "hello" as he passes.

Mount Vernon, in Newark's Weequahic section, has suffered increasingly from vandalism, as most Newark schools have, but D'Agostino hopes to end the problem by instilling pride in the school not only among the students, but the school's neighbors.

Newark's school system began "Project Pride," wherein principals, neighbors, students and parents banded together to help stamp out vandalism. The estimated toll on Newark schools from vandals was almost $30 million a year.

D'Agostino had buttons and flyers made up to tell people how important pride is to preserving a community. He urges people to contact him if any student trespasses or destroys a neighbor's property so the culprit can be caught.

D'Agostino declines to make any comparisons between Newark and Belleville, stressing that Belleville residents could perhaps have a little more pride in their town and its schools. Although graffiti does mar Mount Vernon's entrance, D'Agostino glosses over obvious signs of vandalism, instead focusing on his school's unique and innovative programs.

One of those is "Chisanbop," which is Korean for finger calculation. A child uses his hands as a calculator, to reinforce math skills like addition, subtraction and multiplication. In "Chisanbop" each finger represents a numerical value and each hand represents part of the decimal system.

Besides being fun, "Chisanbop" develops self-confidence in children because they work with their own hands and can prove to teachers their skills. A child can calculate with speed and accuracy and doesn't guess at answers but actually sees them by using his fingers.

Mount Vernon School is as large as most high schools, and D'Agostino definitely has a full day from morning to night as principal. His main concern is "basic skills" or making sure every Mount Vernon graduate can survive by being able to read, write and compute.

From 1972 to 1978, the reading level of students in each grade rose about one grade level, an achievement D'Agostino is extremely proud of since reading is the area he's personally most interested in.

He attributes the rise to "good teachers" and their ability "to keep up with various new methods and technology. We make sure that in kindergarten, first and second grades all children have a firm foundation of the basic skills," said D'Agostino, sitting behind a large, cluttered desk.

Talking to D'Agostino, it is immediately apparent that he is well-educated and enjoys making decisions and solving problems. He's a busy, complex man but is willing to between citizens and trustees before board members gain the respect they're entitled to.

During his campaign, D'Agostino emphasized that special attention should be given to slow learners, expanding women's sports programs along with classes for the academically, revising curriculum guides, enlarging compensatory ed and Title I programs. D'Agostino's pet project, however, has a review of the testing program, possibly with an eye toward beginning criterion-referenced testing.

When criterion-referenced tests are used, students are not compared with a national average. Scores are based specifically on what they've learned in class.

D'Agostino would like to see criterion-referenced testing begin in of Mount Vernon's 67 teachers. He says that by reading each teacher's PIP, he gets to know every teacher better, especially their strengths and weaknesses.

"The number one requirement of the principal is supervision of instruction," stresses D'Agostino. "A lot of people say the principal is the key to success in a school, but really it's the rapport you establish...it's the teachers who make a school," he notes.

D'Agostino is tri-lingual, speaking English, Spanish and Italian, but right now, there are 28 different languages being spoken at Mount Vernon, and last year there were 36.

After eight years of attending Rutgers graduate school at night, D'Agostino or "Dr. D," as he's now called, received his doctorate in education. That subject remains his consuming interest and he's sorry that citizens aren't as interested in education as he feels they should be. Often, D'Agostino himself can be seen taking notes and listening carefully, puffing a long cigar, as citizens who do turn out for Board of Education meetings address trustees.

D'Agostino and his wife Rosemary have found the time for four children, Joseph, 20, who's attending Montclair State College, Anthony Jr., 17, a senior at Belleville High, Vincent, 14, a freshman, and Michelle, 4, who'll be attending kindergarten soon.

"My biggest accomplishment, is just ebbing in the educational area," says D'Agostino. "You get many rewards for helping kids and taking time with problem kids. Sometimes, years later, they'll come back to you and say, 'Thank you' and that's the most gratifying reward," D'Agostino said.

At Home — Trustee Anthony D'Agostino sits in his office at Newark's Mount Vernon School where he has been principal for nine years. Education has been Dr. D'Agostino's main interest for many more years.

take time out from his hectic planning to listen to student and teacher problems.

D'Agostino has had to tackle some major problems here in Belleville, of course. Although he voted to shut down Schools 1 and 2 and took some major flak from that decision, he won the respect of many residents for his strong stand and his belief that the shutdowns would reduce costs.

Basically a calm man, D'Agostino, like his board colleagues, has several times ripped into citizens who sarcastically have accused trustees of various misdeeds, often without any proof. He feels credibility must be established

Belleville, along with a complete curriculum update. He began reviewing curriculum guides last year and has already made suggestions to the administration. Much of D'Agostino's free time is consumed by either board or principal responsibilities.

For instance, D'Agostino must check every PIP or personal improvement plan submitted by each

Chief Lister gives residents tips for avoiding burglaries

Today's economy and lifestyle are contributing factors to a growing incidence of home burglaries throughout the country. The trend is increasing the national average of a burglary every 15 seconds, according to many law enforcement agencies.

Police Chief George Lister has designated June as Burglary Prevention Month in Belleville. Lister is asking all citizens to assist the Police Department in fighting home burglaries, especially as the warm weather and vacation season start.

"As a rule, burglaries increase when the economy levels out, and this is aggravated by the high cost of gold and silver that is stimulating home break-ins," Lister said.

"The increase in working wives has made empty homes and apartments on workdays easy targets for burglars.

"We noticed too that there is an increasing number of garage burglaries, and we're reminding citizens to keep garage doors closed at all times," the chief added.

Failure to practice the fundamental techniques of home protection was largely responsible for many burglaries committed in town last year, Lister noted. Most victims didn't intentionally invite intruders to ransack their homes, but they might as well have hung up a sign saying, "No one's home, burglars welcome!"

A stroll around your neighborhood any day will tell you at a glance who's away: porches cluttered with circulars, an unkempt lawn, an empty garage with the door open or a bulging mailbox. All of these are tipoffs that will broadcast, "No one's home," to anyone canvassing the neighborhood, Lister pointed out.

In the evening, most empty homes can be spotted too — just look for the dark houses. It's a known fact that light is one of the best deterrents to crime, yet most homeowners go out for an evening and leave their homes completely dark. Or, they'll go off for a weekend or vacation and leave the same light burning day and night. No light at all, or a light burning continuously, is a good giveaway that no one is home.

A simple, but effective means of having light in your home every evening is to connect a Time-All automatic timing device to one or two lamps. Such a timer will turn a lamp on early in the evening, then turn it off several hours later. With lights turning on and off during the evening hours, it will appear that someone is home and a burglary may be averted.

Chief Lister listed several precautions for homeowners:

- Close and lock all doors, including porch, basement and garage. Use pin-tumbler cylinder locks on outside entrances and safety latches on the windows.
- Connect a lamp to a Time-All automatic timer to turn lights in the home on and off each evening. Since sound is a deterrent, connect a radio or TV to a timer.

- Protect all doors and windows with an inexpensive, portable burglar alarm which sounds whenever someone attempts to break in.

- Light up your porch and yard with outdoor lights to increase the likelihood that an attempted burglary will be seen. These lights can also be timer-controlled if desired.

- Be sure all screens are fastened from the inside.

- Never leave valuables lying around, keep them in a safety deposit box.

- Notify the Police Department when you'll be leaving and how long you expect to be away.

- Cancel all deliveries, such as the milk, laundry or cleaning. Be sure too to discontinue the newspaper or arrange to have it sent to your vacation address.

- Have a neighbor or the post office hold all mail until your return.

- Arrange to have a friend mow the lawn and sweep your sidewalk once a week. Also ask him if he'll pick up any circulars or handbills that may be left on your porch.

- Leave your shades and blinds as you normally do. Closed blinds keep the sun out, but also make an effective screen for the burglar.

- Never advertise your departure with an item in the local paper. Give the story about your vacation to the newspaper after you've returned.

There is no such thing as a "burglar-proof" home, Chief Lister said, but he added that following the suggestions listed above will help to protect your home whenever you're away.

Improvements on Board of Ed

The Belleville Board of Education has put into action one new idea and has some others still under consideration that could bring about a badly needed improvement in the local body's relations with citizens.

The first idea, the brainchild of new Trustee Tom Zampino, involves making more specific the reasons given by the board for retiring into private session. Heretofore, the board simply declared that it was going behind closed doors to "discuss matters that may be discussed in private" under the law. After some prodding by Zampino, Belleville trustees agreed to at least outline what it was they'd be discussing.

This is a step in the right direction. Other ideas being banded about now involve giving the public easier access to the details of the board's operation — the minutes, of past private sessions, the documents which trustees have available to them at meetings but which citizens don't, and more comprehensive monthly budget reports.

We know that Belleville's school trustees are men whose first concern is for the children of this town, but considerable skepticism about their motives exists among many residents. A lessening of secrecy and a willingness to share with residents the details of operating their educational system — and perhaps to include them directly in the decision-making — can only lead to an increase in trust and make the School Board's job easier.

Government closer to home

One of the first items of business undertaken when Essex County's new Board of Freeholders took over under the new executive form of government was to schedule meetings closer to the people.

Taking note that the new district representation on the Freeholder Board was designed to bring the legislators closer to the citizenry, the board itself agreed to holding a minimum number of county sessions in the suburbs surrounding the Hall of Records in downtown Newark.

The idea was a good one and during the past two years has increased the public's awareness of the complex problems facing county government.

Last week, our own district hosted one of the special freeholder meetings in suburbia.

On Wednesday, the entire Freeholder Board convened for a regular meeting in Belleville Town Hall.

Belleville's district representative on the board is Freeholder James Piro, the lone Republican on the county governmental unit. Freeholder Piro played a key role in many of the topics up for discussion which affected this area primarily.

Most citizens have never seen their county government at work. Bringing the freeholder sessions closer to home is an idea we applaud.

Florida travel company gives marching band a rave review

To the Editor:

Super Holiday Tours is a company which specializes in the handling of traveling high school bands. Our personnel are fortunate enough to meet and work with today's young adults who will be leaders of tomorrow. Your community probably has some of these future leaders as residents and we hope you know it!

Recently, it was our privilege to host the Belleville High School Band during its visit to Central Florida and Walt Disneyworld. Each member is certainly a credit to his parents, school directors, and in fact, your entire community.

Their performance equalled their behavior and all of you are to be congratulated, but most especially the band director, Andy Silbert, who has done an excellent job.

Give not only the band members, but yourselves, a pat on the back. How often is it you hear-praise — not criticism — for 87 high school students?

Rest assured, the Belleville High School Band is not only welcome, but invited back to Central Florida anytime!

Sincerely,
Super Holiday Tours

Belleville resident offers a solution to Ford plant shutdown in Mahwah

To the Editor:

The Ford plant in Mahwah, N.J., is about to shut down laying off some 5,000 employees due to a decrease in sales.

When Mr. Ford created the auto, he needed financial help. He appealed to General Motors. They were willing, but there were too many strings attached. Mr. Ford refused, so he came up with a plan of his own.

He sold franchises to the dealers. They had to pay cash for the cars and made loans from the banks. They knew it was a winner, so the Tin Lizzie was born.

In later years, Ford made a lady out of Lizzie. In order to prevent those layoffs and keep that plant in operation, I believe this plan has merit. All employees in the Ford company should be forced to buy a car from the company and pay cash. That includes the 5,000 to be laid off.

An order for 5,000 cars at one time by those employed at the Mahwah plant is the medicine needed to save their jobs.

It will also put a dent to all foreign cars into this country.

The millions that will roll in could be placed in a bank and at an interest rate of 15 percent, that interest alone could meet the payroll at Mahwah.

It is worth consideration.

Sincerely yours,
Albert Guglicelli

Umberto's Corner

Dear Umberto,

I am a chemist. My daughter has been a beautician for 3 or 4 years and one day last week we had a dispute about a word. She calls this a substance that is found in cold wave (permanents) since the cold wave was discovered. I asked her if she knew where this comes from. She knew it was an acid used in permanents but she doesn't know where it comes from. This comes from thio glycolate. Can you please print my letter so I can show her.

Chemist Mother

Dear Chemist,

I thank you for all the compliments you gave me in your letter. I loved receiving it because it was written technical. I am sorry due to space in my column I had to cut it. Yes, you are right. This is an abbreviation for thio glycolate. It is an acid used in permanent liquids. It is mixed with ammonium hydroxide, a basic compound of ammonia dissolved in water which reacts with acids, bringing pH to an estimate of 9.2. When applied to hair rolled on rods it will give a structural change.

Yours,

Umberto

Local youngsters complete Tri-Town babysitting class

Youngsters from Belleville, Bloomfield and Nutley had the opportunity recently to participate in a five-week babysitting course, sponsored by the Tri-Town Business and Professional Women's Club of Belleville, Bloomfield and Nutley, in cooperation with Clara Maass Memorial Hospital.

Training sessions included recreation aid for children, instruction in care and handling of infants, life saving first aid, crime prevention, fire prevention and caring for ill babies.

The annual course has been a project of Tri-Town for several years, according to chairman Nancy Orio of Belleville. "Youngsters are awarded a certificate of achievement for successfully passing the course and parents are pleased to have a well-trained baby sitter," she said. Other Tri-Town members on the committee included Josephine Rôbestello, Lillian Westcott, Fay Williamson, Margaret Keckeisen, all of Belleville, and Margaret Mostica of Nutley.

Those completing the course included Linda Witczak and Donna Tillberg of Bloomfield, Anna Jimenez, Monica Pesaniello, Donna Shaw and Catherine Carpenter of Belleville. Persons interested in obtaining a qualified babysitter may contact Clara Maass Hospital or Tri-Town BPW.

"While the class was smaller this year," Miss Orio added, "the instructors were happy to volunteer their time, because each graduate will have the knowledge to care for a baby carefully and, in fact, could be instrumental in saving a life."

New Officers — School 5's new PTA officers were installed during ceremonies April 28. From left are Denise Comitiano, treasurer; Maryann Theiren, secretary; Principal Archibald Gallombardo, second vice president; Barbara Pucci, vice president, and Marlene Lemongello, president.

The evening concluded with a musical presentation led by Eileen Luongo, corresponding secretary; Patricia Albert, treasurer, and Marianne Mauro, friendship. The elegant ceremony was conducted by School 8 secretary Jean Broo.

Other officers installed were Patricia Lima, vice president; Francine Albanese, second vice president; Nicholas Petti, honorary vice president; Joan San Filippo, recording secretary; Carolyn Matekya, School 8's music teacher. Fourth graders played instruments and the fifth and sixth grade chorus sang selections from the music of Richard Rogers.

BHS athletic year: something special

Believe it or not, another athletic season at Belleville High School is coming to a close. Graduation is just 12 days away and many of our local heroes will be traveling to spots unknown. Many will continue their athletic careers on the collegiate level, while some will just savor their moments at Belleville High School.

This week and next, we'll get a look at the teams that made this year at Belleville High something very special and give you a look at next season.

Flipping back the calendar some 10 months, we come to the early part of September 1979. The summer has just reached its climax and the athletes reluctantly return to the athletic field to start the grueling drills. But wait, there's a group of athletes that can hardly wait to start practice. As a matter of fact, they've been at it since late August and seem very happy about missing shore time and working up a sweat in high humidity.

These athletes are members of the Belleville High football team and they have good reason for optimism. The Bucs are coming off a 6-3 record in 1978 and have about 30 returning lettermen. As practices continue, there is increased optimism about the success of the team. The Bucs start off the year with a rousing 35-8 win over a Livingston team that is rated higher in the county rankings than Belleville.

The following week sees a frustrating 14-7 loss to Montclair, but the Bucs bounce back for a 7-0 win at Nutley. The next week, Belleville wins a big game over a tough Passaic squad, 26-14. It is Passaic's only loss of the year and features a fine performance by the Bucs' tough fullback, Bob LaBruzza. Game number five is a 7-0 win over Irvington for the team's fourth victory. Belleville goes crazy the next week with a 53-0 trouncing of Essex Catholic. With their record at 5-1, the Bucs play their biggest game of the decade against the Pony Pirates of Seton Hall.

Seton Hall was the biggest game for Belleville in recent years. The Pirates had totally embarrassed the Bucs 63-0 in 1977, and many members of that Buc team remembered that game all too well. The Pirates, with their big running back, John Merklinger, led 13-7 late in the game, when Belleville quarterback Ed Aulisi hit running back Lenny Mendola for the winning score. Ralph DePasquale added the conversion and Belleville had won the game of the decade 14-13.

The following week saw almost as big a game for Belleville. The opposition was Clark, which had just a 1-6 record, but the Bucs had to win in order to make the playoffs. What happened almost aged most Belleville fans 30 years. The Clark team took a 10-7 lead into halftime and led 17-13 late in the game. Behind Mendola, the Bucs scored two quick touchdowns though, and it was off to Giants Stadium following a 26-17 win.

The Bucs' opposition in the first round of the playoffs was Union, the defending state champ. Late in the game, with Belleville leading 12-8, Union started a time-consuming, field-grinding drive that resulted in a 15-12 win. It was a disappointing, heartbreaking loss, but Belleville showed its class with a 50-0 trouncing of Kearny on Thanksgiving Day. All together, the Bucs finished with an 8-2 record behind the super coaching of John Senesky.

The Belleville High basketball team was surprising a few people indoors this past year. During the past five years, the team was considered the joke of the area. Belleville had won six games stretched over three years and in 1978-79 won just four. However, there was some bright spots coming up for this season. Joe Papasidero, a native Bellevillite, was hired as the new basketball coach, and the Bucs jumped out to a 9-3 start. Incredible was the feeling among the players and coaches as Belleville suddenly became respectable. The Bucs made it to the Essex County and state tournaments. Ronnie Witman and Wayne Buhet provided the scoring, while Garry Farrar and Eddie Aulisi handled the ball. Rich Cook did the job of fighting under the boards for those ever-crucial rebounds.

The team's final record was 11-13, but it wasn't indicative of Belleville's fine showing and determination over the course of the year.

The Belleville girls' basketball team finished the season at 12-10, but at one time held 9-1 record. A late-season slump following a controversial loss to state power East Orange marred an otherwise beautiful season for Karen Fuccello and company. Getting to that East Orange game, Belleville was actually beating the undefeated Panthers late in the contest when a strange number of bad calls started coming the local girls' way. The result, Orange won by points and the girls lost all of their momentum.

The Belleville High softball team has just finished with a remarkable 18-8 record under the fine coaching of Eve Corino. The girls, led by seniors Joyce Iacullo and Marilyn McCaffrey, made it to the finals of the Essex County Tournament before losing to powerhouse Cedar Grove. The girls played out the year with six straight wins.

That's only a small section of the fine feats that Belleville High athletes performed on the field this past year. Next week, the other teams will be mentioned and in the next couple of weeks, the Belleville High Boy and Girl Athletes of the Year will be selected as will the Belleville High Coach of the Year.

The Belleville High Athlete of the Week is a tie between Rosie Leonidis and Nancy Coffey of the girls' softball team. The two had tremendous weeks for the Buc ladies who closed out the season with four wins. Both players will be back next season.

Here is the answer to last week's quiz. The question was, what team did the Vancouver WhiteCaps defeat for the Soccer Bowl championship last year? The answer, the Tampa Bay Rowdies. The WhiteCaps beat the Rowdies 2-1 at Giants Stadium before 50,000 irate Cosmos fans.

For this week's quiz, can you name the Buc player who scored the first touchdown in the famous Belleville-Seton Hall game last year?

Diamondmen fall twice in crucial Lancer jousts

By Mike Lamberti

It seems that any time Belleville and Livingston play a baseball game, the decision is marred by some shabby umpiring.

It also seems that when the shabby officiating occurs, it always seems to benefit Livingston.

Back in 1976, Belleville and Livingston played for the Section 2, Group IV championship. With the score tied at 2-2, a Livingston batter hit a grounder to the Buc third baseman, who threw to first, only to see the runner supposedly safe and the winning run score. The verdict brought about some controversy.

This past Saturday, the two teams got together for the final of the Greater Newark Tournament and if it weren't for two bad calls, a la 1976, at third base, the Bucs would be wearing the tourney crown. The Bucs lost 8-6 to the Lancers and also were beaten 12-8 by the same Livingston team in the state semis last Tuesday. Belleville did win, however, beating Essex Catholic, Kearny and Nutley in regular-season games.

The team's record is now 17-7, and the Bucs closed out their season on Tuesday against Irvington. Next week, The Belleville Times will present a wrapup of the 1980 season.

Head coach George Zanfini was very happy with his team's performance, but not too pleased with the calls at third base. "We gave it everything we had," said Zanfini. "I feel that Saturday's game was taken away from us by some shoddy officiating, but we also failed to get that timely, big hit."

Against Livingston in the GNT, the Bucs held a 3-1 lead after four innings thanks to a two-run triple by Dave Starr and an RBI single by losing pitcher Eddie Aulisi. The Lancers scored four times in the controversial fifth inning, an inning that definitely changed the momentum of the game. With Belleville leading 3-2, a Lancer player slid into third base and was apparently out. However, the umpire saw things a bit differently and called him safe. The result was a big Lancer inning instead of Belleville being in the clear.

In the sixth, Belleville tied it at 5-5. Aulisi and Joe Guarino walked. Lenny Mendola hit a double that brought home Aulisi and Mike Nicosia hit a sacrifice fly to drive in Guarino. The Lancers came back in their half of the sixth with three runs for an 8-5 lead. The Bucs didn't give up though and scored a run in the seventh when Dom Vazzano singled, Aulisi walked and Joe Corbala, pinch-hitting for Guarino, singled home Vazzano with the sixth and last run for Belleville.

Aulisi took the loss, his second against six victories. Both teams had 10 hits, but Belleville hurt itself with

Please see "Diamondmen" on page 14.

Sweet Victory — Belleville's Steve Coffey leans off first base after reaching on a fielder's choice in Monday's baseball rematch with Nutley. The Bucs gained revenge for an earlier loss, edging the Raiders 2-1 at Municipal Stadium.

Northern Counties Soccer League banishes state champion Gunners

By Fred Lardaro

"We were railroaded right out of the league," Coach Tony Cullen broke his silence following the Northern Counties Soccer Association meeting last Thursday with a defiant cry against the action taken by the league's executive board to not only suspend the Belleville Soccer Association (BSA) Gunners from further league competition in 1980, but also to retain the state champions' 1979-80 registration passes, thus preventing the Gunners from taking part in any United States Soccer Federation (USSF) affiliated matches for the remainder of 1980.

The BSA has lodged an appeal with the USSF asking that the governing body reinstate the Gunners in their league and bring about the immediate return of the player passes.

Cullen asserts that the league's decision to suspend the Gunners is unjust and excessive punishment and that retaining the player passes in this instance is illegal.

"The league's executive board went to extremes to assure our suspension after the games conduct committee had ruled a suspension of Galo Calvache for two games and a player from the Bergen Express for one game as adequate punishment," Cullen said.

The decision to expel the Gunners from the league came in response to the free-for-all that erupted with seven minutes remaining in the Gunners-Bergen Express match at Municipal Stadium Friday, May 23, a contest in which the Gunners enjoyed a comfortable 2-0 advantage.

BSA representative Sam MacArthur pointed out that "If they won't allow us to compete in the league, it will virtually assure the Kearny Scots a championship. Kearny possesses two executive board votes and a great deal of influence over that board's decisions. This and the fact that the Scots are still hurting from their loss to the Gunners in the state championship

Softball team nabs last four to finish the season at 18-8

By Mike Lamberti

Concluding a most successful season in classic style, the Belleville High softball team finished the 1980 season with a flourish.

The Buccanettes won four straight this past week to end the year at 18-8 and to close out the season with six consecutive victories.

Next week, the Times/News will present a wrap-up of the girls' fantastic season.

Eve Corino's troops were winners over Nutley, Kearny, Livingston and Irvington. Corino was very happy with the last week of the year and especially happy with the wins over Nutley and Kearny. "Both those squads beat us earlier in the year," said Corino. "It was good to beat them, especially Kearny who had no hit us in April."

The Nutley game last Tuesday saw a big offensive show for the Buc girls. Debbie Jinks earned the victory in relief, but the real story of the 19-10 win was the torrid hitting. Marilyn McCaffrey was two-for-four with three RBI, including a bases-loaded triple in the third inning. At the time, the Maroon Raiderettes had a 4-0 lead.

Joyce Iacullo had three hits in six trips to the plate, driving in five runs and also hitting a triple with the bases packed. Rosie Leonidis closed out a great sophomore season with a fantastic week. In this game, she had three hits in six trips, while Nancy Coffey was one-for-four with two RBI. Finally, Kim Indiero, only a freshman, was one-for-two, but she reached base five times and scored four runs.

Against Livingston last Wednesday, Debbie Mundy started, but didn't have her better stuff and quickly yielded to Jinks who earned her second win in relief in two days. The Buc girls were led by Coffey and Leonidis who collected six hits and five RBI between them in an 8-3 win.

The Irvington game last Thursday was a seesaw battle from the outset. The Buc ladies fell behind by a whopping 8-2 margin after one inning and in the process lost pitcher Jinks who didn't have it going in this game. Michele DeMeo also pitched in the disastrous first inning, but she fared no better. Finally Mundy came in, cooled off the Capri batters and pitched the rest of the game.

Belleville trailed 8-2 in the fourth when those hot bats came through with nine runs to capture the lead. The game turned into a laughter from then on as the girls scored 14 more runs in two innings before the game was halted after six innings. Belleville won 25-8, with Mundy earning her seventh win.

There were many heroes in this game. Iacullo was three-for-five with two RBI, Leonidis crashed a home run, Coffey was three-for-five, and a little-used freshman catcher named Oxiris Barbot pinch hit a grand slam home run.

The season came to a very pleasant end with a win over Kearny 6-3 Friday. The Kard girls had embarrassed Belleville 11-0 earlier in the year behind the no-hit pitching of Sue Dolan. In this game, Dolan did not start, but did relieve. DeMeo earned her sixth victory in nine attempts, allowing just three hits.

Corino is very optimistic about the future of the team. "We lose just three seniors to graduation and should have a strong team next year. I was very surprised with the way we performed this year. I figured with such a young team that we would probably not do as well as we did."

Attentive Mentor — Girls' softball coach Eve Corino studies the situation Friday in Belleville's season final with Kearny. Michele DeMeo, seen in the background, pitched for the 6-3 victory as the girls finished at 18-8.

Gunners charge politics to blame for loop action

must have been a factor." "If they don't want us in the league, that is one matter," said Cullen. "However, the Gunners are the state champs, and we've been entertaining offers and invitations to play other state, national and international junior division champions as well as all-star squads. They are illegally preventing us from playing soccer outside the league by withholding our passes. Without the passes, we are unrecognized by the USSF and could never pass the pre-game inspection," he continued.

MacArthur indicated that NCSA President Brian Knight and the executive board went to extremes to suspend the two-time defending league champions who are currently sitting atop the league this season.

On Tuesday of last week, the league's conduct committee met and ruled for the suspension of two players. However, on the following day, Knight and the board called for a suspension of the Gunners and the Express during a special closed-door hearing. For the president to question the decision of the conduct committee is unprecedented. The action was regarded as legal only as it was not regarded as illegal under the Northern Counties constitution.

On Thursday, Knight presented each league member with the minutes of the special hearing which served to justify suspension. The minutes presented a distorted image of the Gunners-Express incident. The minutes also included a supplementary section titled "Mitigating Factors" which listed a series of glaring untruths. The BSA was denied the floor to refute the mitigating factors.

The minutes explain that during the free-for-all, players of both teams were beyond the control of their coaches and that every player was involved. This is untrue as it was the coaches who restored order and every player did not resort to violence as there was a great deal of restraining and shirt-tugging going on. It was the kind of fight that looks impressive but results in no injury.

But beyond the incorrect description of the fight, there were the "mitigating factors" which were prejudiced against the Gunners.

The section presents a very flattering appraisal of the Bergen Express coach. Nowhere in the section is any mention made of the contributions, accomplishments or good character of Tony Cullen, a USSF-licensed coach and a state referee.

The section lists several previous incidents which involved BSA teams, dating back to 1977. However, in each case, the incidents occurred with anywhere from two to 10 minutes remaining in a match and with the Belleville team firmly established as the winner. Never once have BSA clubs received written or verbal reprimands nor have BSA clubs ever been suspended or placed on probation. In every instance where a Belleville player has been ejected, so too have players from the opposing team.

BSA teams have been proven innocent in every circumstance and yet even if they hadn't been, it is obvious that prior incidents should never be used to judge a situation in the present.

The minutes, Mr. Knight and the executive board served to incite the membership against the Gunners, who are now champions without a league. It is apparent, however, that there are several questions to be resolved concerning the manner in which the Gunners were suspended.

The BSA is confident that it has a strong case as the decision was so strongly biased against the Gunners. However, the appeal could represent a long process. The BSA is hoping that the USSF will accelerate the decision-making so that the Gunners will have an opportunity to defend their league and state championships as soon as possible.

Of course, no one expected the Gunners to be suspended in the first place. If the USSF votes to uphold the Northern Counties decision, the BSA will lodge an appeal with the International Football Association.

"This was a purely political action. There is no place for politics in soccer. We have proven ourselves on the field, now we must see how adept we are as politicians," said Cullen.

Volleyball team finishes with 2-9 mark and hope

The Blue-Gold volleyball team completed a rough but rewarding first season last week at the Belleville High gym. The year ended with a loss to powerhouse Nutley and a 2-9 record for the varsity, but the local girls can look back on their first campaign as one of steady improvement and some unexpected early success.

The varsity jumped off to a 7-1 lead in the first game against the Raiderettes last Wednesday before bowing 15-7. The girls lost the second game 15-1. The jayvee, which finished at 3-8, also fell to Nutley.

"It was a very, very good year considering that out of the 11 teams we played, nine were ranked," noted Coach Grace Worley. "I felt we made a great showing. There was a lot of improvement," added the coach, noting that an official who had worked the team's first match and then another late in the season had complimented her on the noticeable difference.

There should be a big difference next year too in that Belleville may be playing as many as 25 matches. Some schools the Buc girls battled this year will be gone from the schedule in 1981 and teams more in Belleville's league will be added. That should make for a better season.

Another thing that will help is the fact that Coach Worley loses only four seniors this year, and next year's starting six should have good height to go along with the experience they gained in 1980.

The four soon-to-be graduates are Dolores Paladino, Marie Clarizio, Shawn Juliano and Julie Navarro, and Worley had nothing but praise for all of them.

"Dolores Paladino showed considerable leadership on the floor after our rough start," said the coach of the starter and alternating captain. "Her skills improved, she channeled her energies in the right way, her game improved and she gave me an excellent season," Worley called Paladino a good server and pointed particularly to her jumping ability which enabled her to spike the ball despite her lack of overpowering size.

Of another captain, Marie Clarizio, Worley said, "She worked all year on her skills and tried to sharpen up her serves and to spike which was difficult at times. But Marie always gave me very consistent games and Marie never hurt me in a game. She scored points when we needed them. You might say she was a clutch player."

Shawn Juliano was a substitute who was used mostly as a server, and according to Worley, she was a very good one. "I also used her on the front line to block," said the coach. "I could always count on Shawn's blocking skills."

Julie Navarro, the captain of the jayvee squad, was called the squad's "mother-in-law" because she had the most team spirit. "Her skills always improved which is a difficult thing to do as a senior playing on the jayvee team," said the coach. "And when the varsity was on the floor, you could always count on her to be cheering." Navarro was the type of player any coach loves to have on a team: She helped off the floor as well as on, switching roles as player, manager, linesman and scorekeeper, always doing what had to be done.

Though the girls did not have a great year by any means, Worley was happy with many things. "We had the best equipment, the best uniforms, the best of everything," said the coach, adding, "We had good camaraderie with each other. When you begin to lose, everybody blames each other for little things, but we always pulled each other up."

Worley is hoping that some of the players on her jayvee team get pulled up over the next couple of months. "Aside from the fact that they were a very young team, they were also a very short team," said the coach, noting, however, that the three clubs the jayvee beat were all considerably bigger.

The coach also hopes to get volleyball going in the Junior High so that the Belleville program has strength from the ground floor up. That way, in a few years local girls might be able to face the Nutleys and Columbias on a more equal footing. This year, Belleville took a good step in that direction.

Tennis team drops three

By Mike Lambert

The Belleville High tennis team dropped its last three matches of the year and concluded the season with a 7-12 record.

Despite the losses, there were some bright spots for this year's squad. The doubles team of Kenny Beck and Jerry Gold compiled a 12-8 record, while the other doubles team of Emidio Salamoni and Mark Dombrowski put together a 10-10 season.

The Bucs dropped decisions to East Orange twice and Clifford Scott to close out the year, but Mike Pollard, the team's head coach, was happy with some of the individual play. "The doubles team did a great job for us this year and our guys in the singles performed well. Next year, I hope to use Kenny (Beck) in the singles and continue the doubles team of Salamoni and Dombrowski."

The Bucs will lose four seniors to graduation. The entire singles team, Anthony Collasurdo, Anthony DeMeola and Rick Cook, with Gold will all graduate and their spots on the roster will be hard to fill.

Next week, the Times/News will present a summary of the 1980 season.

McCabe's holds tie for Tavern top spot

Play resumed Sunday in the Essex County Tavern League after a holiday layoff, with Belleville bar squads going two-for-five.

McCabe's remained in a first-place tie in the National Division with an 11-2 win over Frea's and Pat's, also a local tavern. In another Belleville matchup, Nanny's Cafe edged B&J Bar 3-2. Town Cottage was nipped 9-8 by Sup's 917 of Newark.

This coming Sunday, Cottage takes on Dapper Dan of Newark, Nanny's squares off with Hopkin's of Newark, and McCabe's faces Capital of Newark in 9 a.m. games at the Belleville Avenue extension of Branch Brook Park. Frea's and Pat's will go up against Eric & Frac of Newark and B&J Bar battles Nutley Pub at 11 a.m.

The standings after six weeks of play:

four errors.

Against Nutley Monday, Belleville used an unearned run in the sixth to beat its archrival. The Bucs broke a scoreless tie in the fourth inning when Nicosia singled, Frank Fazzini bunted him to second and Joe Vitiello singled him home. Nutley tied the game in the fifth, but Belleville won it in the sixth when Fazzini doubled and Vitiello hit to the pitcher who threw the ball into rightfield, allowing Fazzini to score.

The winning pitcher was Nicosia, who boosted his mark to 5-2. He struck out six and walked none.

The Bucs avenged an earlier loss to Essex Catholic last Wednesday with a 6-2 win for Anthony Coco (4-3). Coco showed good control, striking out six and walking none, and the offensive punch was supplied by Nicosia, Fazzini, Vitiello and Vazzano who each had two hits. All told, the Bucs pounded out 11 and committed just one error.

Against Kearny Friday, Belleville avenged an earlier loss by rallying for a 7-5 win. In this game, Ricky Kiernan earned his second victory in two tries with some relief help from Aulisi. The Bucs scored three times in the first when Mendola singled and Coffey and Nicosia walked to load the bases. Mendola was erased at home plate on a fielder's choice, but Coffey scored when Vitiello reached on an error. Vazzano then singled home two more runs and the Bucs led 3-0.

Kearny scored four times in the third inning to take a 4-3 lead and added a fifth run in the fifth inning to boost the margin to 5-3. In the Belleville sixth, Coffey and Nicosia singled and powerful Fazzini blasted his fifth homer to put the Bucs back in the lead, 6-5.

The Bucs outhit the Kards 7-6 and committed three errors. However, they played well enough to earn the victory.

Finally, the Bucs lost to Livingston 12-8 in the state semifinals, despite pounding out 16 hits. Steve Slotnick was the winner for Livingston as he was in the GNT final. Nicosia absorbed his second loss, pitching the first four innings.

The Lancers started off with five runs and never lost the lead, despite that fact that Belleville came very close.

Offensively, Fazzini was perfect with four hits in four trips to the plate. Guarino was two-for-three, Mike Rainone was two-for-four, Vitiello was two-for-four, Mendola two-for-four and Nicosia added a solo homer in the third inning. Both Fazzini and Guarino had two RBI apiece.

Tight races order of the day in recreation men's softball

Suppas II continues to lead the Tuesday Men's Softball League with a 5-0 record. Suppas downed Chief Motors 17-5 and J&R Insulation 11-0 last week. Govel Realty also swept a doubleheader, beating Belleville Political and Social Club 13-2 and Circle II Bar 16-13. Circle II downed J&R 17-15 and BPSC defeated Chief 10-2.

DeBacco Brothers and Rossmore are locked in a first-place tie at 4-1 in the Wednesday League. Rossmore handed DeBacco's a 3-2 loss in an exciting game last week and later downed Frenchy's Bar 12-6. DeBacco's bounced back to beat Giordano's 12-3. The Howard Hustlers swept two games by beating Frenchy's 14-8 and Belleville Hess 12-10. Hess was a winner over Giordano's 15-1.

The Thursday League race is very tight with three teams tied for first place. Binky's Tavern edged International 6-5 to hold a piece of first place. Belleville Shogs, the second top team, won 12-6 over Clyde Paul Insurance. Belleville Kawasaki squeezed by Garden State Pet 8-7.

Recreation Baseball Leagues

The Senior League Braves have gained sole possession of first place in the first half of Recreation baseball play, displaying a 5-1 record. Trailing the Braves were the Cubs (3-3), the Yankees (2-2-2), the Pirates (2-3-1) and the Giants (1-4-1). The Braves have been led by the pitching of Mike Johansen and Frank Harrington.

The Giants and Mets finished with identical 4-1-1 marks to share first-place honors in the first half of Intermediate League play. Brian Cook singled to drive in two runs in the bottom of the seventh to give the Giants a 4-3 decision over the Mets. Tom Reid pitched the final five innings, striking out eight to gain the victory.

In an abbreviated game, the Giants topped the Cubs 15-1. Mike Debelak pitched the complete-game victory in his first outing, yielding just two hits while striking out seven and walking none. Reid knocked in five runs and Andy Haraschinski three. Cook and Nick Calfo also collected two hits apiece.

The Yanks finished at 3-3, the Cubs 2-4 and the Braves 1-5 to round out the Intermediate League standings.

In a battle of the unbeaten, the Tigers bested the Clippers 14-9 to claim first place in the Junior League American Division with a 5-0 mark. The Tigers' third victory of the season came on a 21-6 win against the Bears. Joe and Antonio Lomas combined for the pitching victory, striking out 11 batters between them and driving home seven runs. Anthony Cosenzo, Ed Norton and A.J. Serafino drove in three runs apiece, while Gus Lijo, Anthony Caputo and Eric Monahan knocked in one each.

In the Junior League National Division, the Cubs moved into first place with a 5-0 record following an eight-inning battle with the Dodgers. The Cubs emerged as the eventual winners in the tangle, but it was no easy task as Tim Buckley of the Dodgers pitched eight innings of good control baseball. Giuseppe Giacomazza was the winning pitcher, and his home run and two RBI helped the Cubs clinch a tie for the first half. Sal Marchello and Mike DeChiara of the Dodgers had two extra-base hits each, driving in two and three runs, respectively, three of which Buckley scored.

Prior to that loss, the Dodgers staged a come-from-behind rally to defeat the Pirates 12-9. Marchello led the hitting attack with three safeties, including a double and a home run for six RBI. Ben Cerca, Mike Danduone and Buckley each added two hits, and Danduone made a miraculous catch which resulted in a double play to preserve the victory for winning pitcher DeChiara. Jeff Corio cracked a homer in a losing cause for the Pirates.

The Dodgers' magic seemed to disappear, however, as they dropped a mistake-filled decision to the Yanks 23-4. The Yanks were paced by the seven-hit pitching of Anthony Rock and a grand slam by Vito Caprio. Again, Sal Marchello led the Dodgers with two hits, while Jeff Luberto singled in two runs in the four-run fourth inning. Ernie Brodie banged his first hit, a double, and Ben Cerca added a two-bagger.

Peanut League

The Pirates picked up their first victory of the season by edging the Indians 14-11. Yahir Cardona and Minosh Patel had two doubles each. Jerry Imperato and David Murphy also had two hits apiece. John Moyer turned over two double plays and Richie Searls one, while Craig DeLillo made two outstanding defensive plays.

The Aces won their fourth game, beating the Tigers 14-9. Joseph Holland, John Arya and Andy Cueva all had home runs.

In other games, the Bombers defeated the Cubs 27-6 and then beat the Aces 19-7. The Tigers topped the Bears 19-7 and the Dodgers squeezed by the Tigers 11-10. The Cards downed the Yankees 25-4, but the Yanks bounced back to clip the Astros 19-4. The Giants, with a 6-0 record, held first place by beating the Clippers.

Local teachers experiment with 'non-sexist' education

By Mike Olohan

How many parents still give their boys little trucks to play with and the girls little dolls? Do the girls still help out mom in the kitchen and the boys help dad cut the grass and fix the car? And while little girls are allowed to cry, do some parents tell the boys to "act like men"?

Affirmative answers to those questions, in the minds of some educators, indicate that a parent is subtly teaching his children to believe that there are certain specific male and female roles which they must adhere to in society.

And that's wrong, these educators claim, not just because such divisions according to sex make children believe boys and girls must conform to set, immovable standards, but because they inhibit and limit children's willingness to try new things and achieve their potential.

At School 1, fourth graders in Michele Capriglione's class and Lucy Cappello's special learning class are being taught that simply because they think or view people in a particular way doesn't necessarily make it so.

Ever since the first charges of "sexist" education were made back in the early 1970s, educators have become more aware of how they often unconsciously influence their students not only by what answers and behavior they accept, but by the questions and behavior they reject.

"They (students) remember all the things that we talk about and we can see how their views have changed," says Mrs. Capriglione, noting that as an equal rights advocate herself, she finds it rewarding to help children understand and break down adult stereotypes.

Recently, Mrs. Capriglione and Mrs. Cappello went over a list which included the words "gentle," "hard worker," "lawyer," "nurse" and "dancer" and asked students whether a man, woman or both should fit into those categories.

The object of the lesson, said

Mrs. Capriglione, was to help students understand why they think the way they do about themselves. She said students often change their attitudes about others — and themselves — when they realize how beliefs instilled by others mold their behavior.

Except for the category of hard worker, most of the boys and girls felt both sexes could be gentle or have an occupation like lawyer, nurse or dancer. However, nine of 17 children voting thought only women should be gentle, and none thought only men should be gentle. Nursing is another highly stereotyped profession, since seven felt only women could be nurses. However, seven also felt persons of either sex could be a nurse.

Three months ago, when Mrs. Capriglione and Mrs. Cappello began their lessons, most students had "very rigid" opinions of what either a man or woman could and should do, but many have now changed.

Mrs. Capriglione said showing pupils that either a man or woman could handle many different jobs helps make the children more open to accepting either a man or woman as their equals, at school, work or anywhere in society.

However, whether the new attitudes they've learned have any lasting effect on the children has much more to do with the reinforcement received from their peers, parents and relatives, according to the teachers.

Four-day winter weeks, end to spring vacation proposed do for us educationally," asked Trustee Caesar Romano. Greed replied that it would probably keep students' minds on their work for longer periods of time.

"I've read quite a bit about teacher burnout, and I think you'll be seeing more of this if you let this (calendar) go 17 weeks without a break," said Del Polito. He noted that secondary school teachers would probably suffer the most if forced to teach 17 straight weeks.

"The longer they're (students) at it, the more their work seems to deteriorate," said Eleanor Arthur, a School 8 teacher. "I think they need a week's vacation, and so do we," she added.

Both Arthur and Maryann DiGuglielmo, another teacher, stressed that more students also get colds during winter months and need a break, while Del Polito and Jerry Kennelly, another teacher, noted that oftentimes parents want to take vacations in April during spring break, and ending it would upset their plans.

"I don't think the four-day week would do any damage," said Consolidated PTAs President Cora Boice. "I'm glad you finally asked the parents too what they want in a school calendar," she said.

Romano pointed out that teachers would probably have a hard time planning lessons for four-day weeks instead of five, and that some parents may have made a "commitment" for next year's April vacation.

"At first, I couldn't understand what this (burnout) meant," said Board President Ernie Zoppi. "But being a grandfather, after three days I'm sometimes burned out," he said, as the audience chuckled.

"We should study this to see what we're really going to save and then gain educationally," said Romano. Finally at midnight the vote was cast, with Trustees John DiStasi, Tom Zampino, Anthony D'Agostino and Caesar Romano agreeing to keep April vacation for now, while Zoppi and Charles Miele voted no. Trustee Mike Chieffo abstained. Few of the 75 citizens who originally turned out for the meeting remained for the final vote.

TRADE UP TO SNAPPER DEPENDABILITY!
 SNAPPER walk mowers include these performance features:
 1 "Vacuum" power for a smooth professional cut and the ability to bag cuttings under tough conditions.
 2 With an optional Mulcherizer, your SNAPPER is converted to a mulching mower which breaks up clumps and returns the clippings to the lawn.
 3 Another option, the Snapperizer, converts your SNAPPER to a leaf shredder and lawn vacuum so you can go over four times as far without emptying the bag.
 4 Self-propelled models have rear wheel drive and six forward speeds for mowing slowly in tough grasses or quickly in normal situations. A fingertip control disengages the drive for trimming in tight places.
 The rear-engine SNAPPER Hi-Vac rider gives you a smooth, even cut. Plus: Immediate response steering for cutting in tight places; on-the-go adjustment of cutting height and speed; and a floating cutting unit which minimizes scalping damage.
 SNAPPER Hi-Vac riders can vacuum cuttings, leaves and litter into an optional 6 or 30 bushel catcher, even during high moisture conditions.
 Before you buy, compare the quality and performance features of a SNAPPER. You'll find SNAPPER is worth more because it does more. And its price is competitive with other quality mowers.

Local school trustees considering more detailed budget breakdowns

By Mike Olohan

Residents may be seeing an entirely different, more in-depth school budget breakdown at this month's public business meeting to be held at the high school June 23.

The reason is that several citizens have pressured trustees over the last two months to devise a clearer, more detailed list of all the monthly school system expenses so everyone can understand exactly where the school budget money is going.

Another reason for a possible change is that trustees view a more open monthly format as another step toward building public credibility — and support for the school budget.

Several weeks ago, Valley Association President Bob May held up a copy of Nutley's monthly budget breakdown, which is the size of a book compared to Belleville's two or three sheets.

He urged trustees to begin a similar monthly tally of expenses, a proposal which then Board Vice President, now President, Ernie Zoppi said they'd take "under consideration."

Last week, another citizen urged trustees to take a newspaper ad out at least twice before budget time to show citizens how much money has been spent; how much is left, what's been ordered and what needs improvement so that citizens get a chance to have budget statistics easily available for their perusal.

"I'm very interested in seeing how school money is being allocated. We never hear anything after it's (budget) defeated and the commissioners get a hold of it," said Vince Moller. But Trustee Caesar Romano took offense at Moller's statement.

"You're alleging several things transpired here," said a visibly angry Romano after Moller implied trustees might be playing loose with public money.

"You're saying that there are wild insinuations that we (trustees) misappropriated funds," said Romano. "But before the end of the year, our (school) system is audited," he noted, stressing Belleville's school dollars have always been accounted for.

"Every year, people turn the budget down but the schools stay open and the people think we're lying to them because the schools still stay open," said Romano, citing one reason trustees constantly use to explain budget defeats.

"Let's see if we can get together on this as a board," said Zoppi.

The pressure is on to change Belleville's method of presenting school costs — what's done will obviously be evident later this month.

County tennis classes get underway June 30

The Essex County Department of Parks, Recreation and Cultural Affairs' annual summer adult tennis instruction schools, featuring seven weeks of singles and doubles play, will get underway at Branch Brook Park with evening classes starting Monday, June 30, and at Brookdale Park, Tuesday, July 1, and Thursday, July 3.

Classes will be offered to beginners, intermediates and advanced class players. Groups will meet 6-8 p.m. The department will offer day classes at Brookdale Wednesdays, starting July 2, Fridays, beginning July 11, and Saturday, starting July 5. Saturday classes will also get underway at Branch Brook. Time schedule for all day classes will be 9-10:30 a.m. and 10:30 to noon.

Racquets and sneakers are required. Balls and teaching equipment will be provided. Cost of the series will be $15 a person. Those wishing to register may come to Brookdale Park June 17 and 18 from 9 a.m. to noon or contact the tennis information desk at 482-6400, extension 321.

Road residents threaten action long line disappear and residents have been pushing for more direct measures, such as regulating the station's hours and putting up "no standing" signs along the road. Residents feel such signs might decrease the number of customers and force BP to broaden hours on its own.

It's the opinion of Town Attorney Frank Zinna that the town has no legal right to impose hours on the station, and freeholders were not very comfortable with the idea of "no standing" signs to discourage patrons from lining up. "They'll just be traveling around the neighborhood continuing to molder until there's space available on that (BP) property," said Piro, who promised nonetheless to have the suggestion studied. Freeholders were to have discussed the idea yesterday at their conference meeting.

"Everybody's frustrated because it may be a problem for which there is no easy solution," Piro said, and the frustration of residents was evident. "If we want to be obnoxious, we can," said one who said homeowners might get their cars out onto the street and block the line. Residents are also upset with the emergency "no parking" signs set up along the road. They feel the signs help BP, while denying them the right to park in front of their homes.

Whatever the legal remedies eventually decided on, it is clear the immediate if not the total solution lies with local police. But patrolling a long line of cars and issuing what could add up to scores and scores of summonses may be a difficult thing to do.

In another matter discussed last Wednesday, freeholders said they would come up with a plan within 30 days for another trouble spot in town, the Belleville Avenue extension of Branch Brook Park where parking is scarce and cars numerous.

Hundreds of children and adults, many involved in athletic leagues and many out-of-towners, use the county-owned park for recreational purposes, but there is little parking space on the site itself. As a result, visitors must park their cars on the already badly overcrowded streets off Belleville Avenue. Town and county officials, including Piro and Mayor Michael Marotti have already met to discuss the long-standing problem and it appears some solution may finally be at hand.

Zampino pushing for more openness talk to Mrs. (Mary) Shader (board secretary-business administrator) or find out (in the minutes)."

A New Jersey School Boards Association pamphlet on the Sunshine Law notes, "While explanatory materials may not fall under a notice requirement of the Sunshine Law, they may be considered 'public records,' as that term is defined in the 'Right to Know Law' (N.J.S.A. 47:7A-1 et. seq.) and thus may have to be made available for public inspection and duplication."

"Another aspect of agenda is whether it is meant as a fixed boundary of discussion or a general outline to which topics may be added. Generally, if possible, all matters not specifically set forth in the agenda should be postponed to another meeting. This is particularly true when the agenda has been part of the 48-hour notice," states NJSBA's pamphlet.

"You just can't blanketly say what's being discussed," says Zampino, stressing disclosure of private talk is essential to establishing community trust.

He thinks all of Belleville's trustees will agree to discuss what they are permitted to under law about private sessions. "What they did in the past was go behind a curtain, but we're not going to be doing that anymore," says Zampino.

Another gradual shift has come at public executive sessions to which the public is invited but technically not allowed to participate. Often, though, the board will permit citizens to speak on certain topics if they request the time.

Former board presidents Matthew Pica and Ralph Risoli allowed citizen comment despite the caveat, "no participation," written into the notices of such meetings. The feeling was and continues to be that if citizens have taken the time to come to a meeting, trustees will listen to what they have to say.

"These changes (more public discourse and openness) are going to help the public see what's going on," says Zampino.

Ted's win pleases local Dem leaders delighted Mrs. Ciccone at The Chandelier Restaurant on Franklin Avenue Tuesday night. She noted that Belleville had been a "target town" in Kennedy's Essex County campaign and that the senator's aides had been calling constantly election night wanting to know what returns here were.

Mrs. Ciccone has worked hard for Kennedy, attending Mass with him this past Sunday at St. Francis Xavier College in Newark. So too has her mother, Town Democratic Chairman Mary Senatore, who also serves as Belleville's public works commissioner.

Mrs. Senatore came out rather well herself Tuesday. Not only did the Belleville party roll up a big victory for Kennedy, but the few challenges to her organizational county committee slate were beaten back easily. In the first ward's second district, challenger James Morris was defeated by George Mitchell 85-36 and Marian Morris lost to Catherine Naden 91-36. In the first ward's third district, John Kieferdorf was the winner over Patrick Finn 64-24, and Theresa Kieferdorf beat Alice Finn 60-23.

The most interesting race, though, was in district 12 of the first ward. There the organization's candidate, Marie Gammara, was challenged by Rose Pizzi, the wife of Michael Pizzi who finished a strong sixth behind Mrs. Senatore in last year's commission election. Mrs. Gammara was running for the first time, attempting to take the place of her mother, Connie Strumolo, a district committeewoman for 21 years. She succeeded, winning 220 votes to Mrs. Pizzi's 61.

VALLEY ANXIOUS TO KNOW WHY

State officials question school integration plan

By Mike Olohan

"You're going to have to make some changes." That's the word from State Education Commissioner Fred Burke on Belleville's school desegregation plan, but so far what comments he's made about the plan have not been revealed. And parents from the Valley are particularly upset because trustees refuse to tell them until Monday's public executive session exactly what changes are being demanded by the state.

The parents, led by Valley Association President Bob May and School 1 PTA President Judy Sobanko, are furious with trustees since they see "no reason" why trustees must wait until Monday to reveal the contents of the letter received from Burke this week.

School Superintendent Dr. John Greed got the letter in Tuesday's mail, and so trustees faced a fairly placid group of Valley residents at Monday's meeting.

Asked by May how soon the commissioner's letter would be made public after receipt, Board President Ernie Zoppi said, "The board needs time to digest this so as not to give an ambiguous or distorted answer (to questions about it)." Thus, Zoppi said, he didn't feel temporarily holding back the commissioner's reply was wrong.

"The board needs a time to sit down, shut their mouths and look this over together. If everybody starts interpreting this (letter), you'll have seven different answers coming. Please see "Local, state" on page 2.

BHS grads lining up next week

Three-hundred-eighty-one seniors will bid adieu to Belleville High School next Tuesday night. Of those, about 70 percent will opt to continue their education in a college or trade school rather than immediately get a job.

The commencement will get underway at 6:30 Tuesday night. To avoid the problems encountered last year with relatives and friends photographing the graduates, school trustees decided to have several policemen on hand to control the crowd, enabling everyone to see and photograph the seniors.

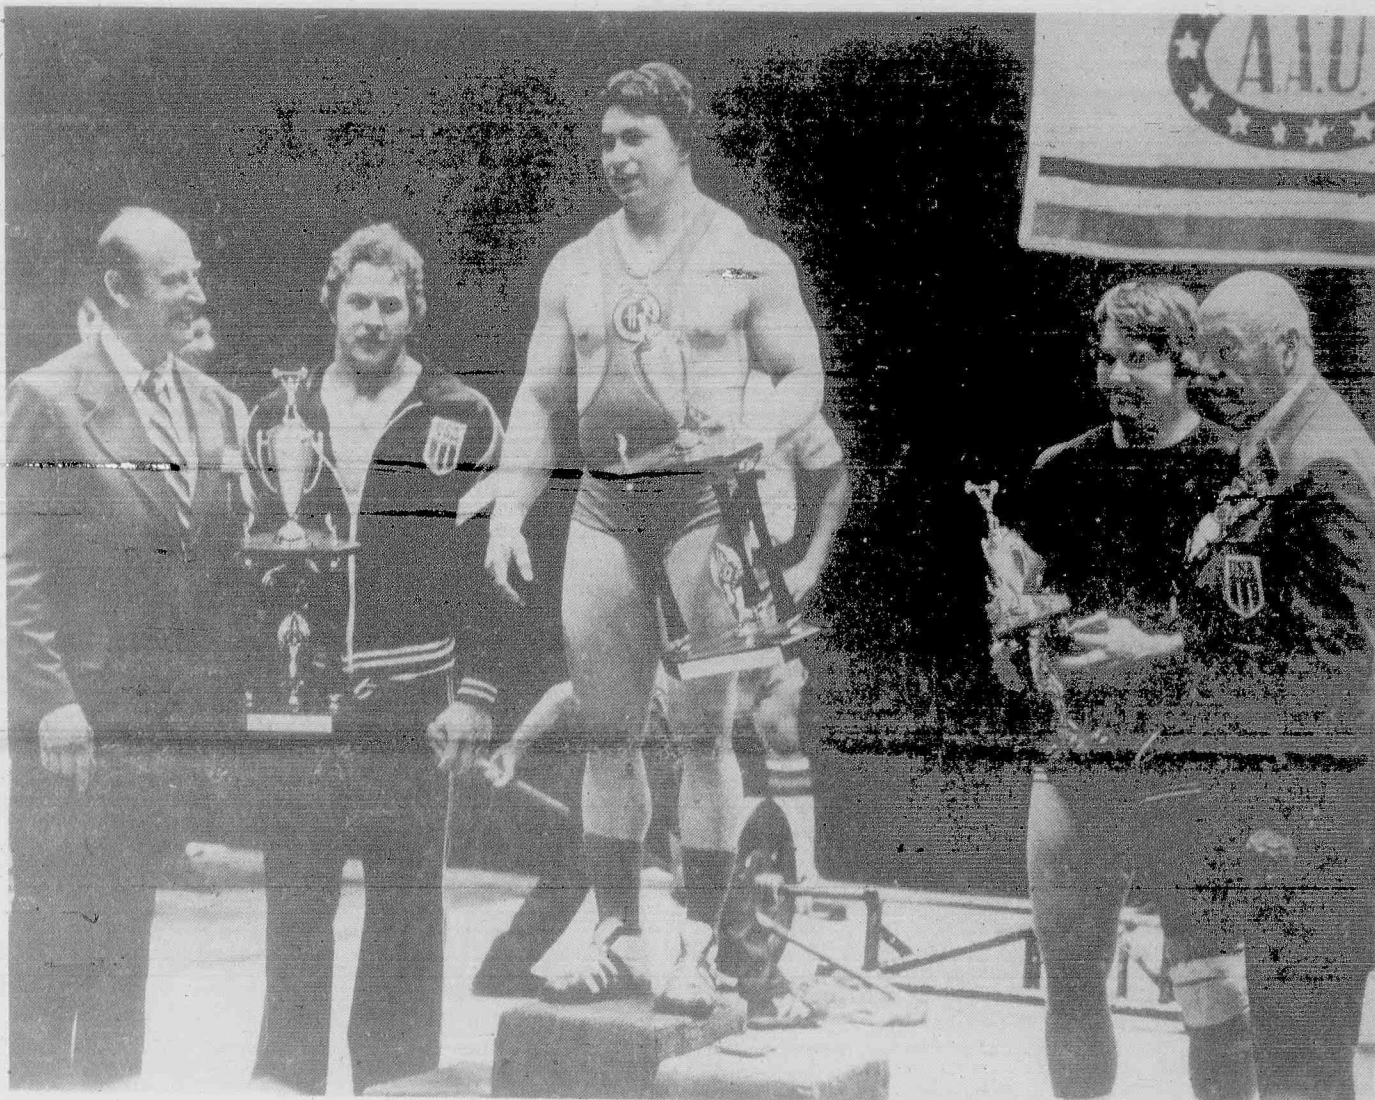

Despite minor incidents of rowdiness at past graduations, Belleville students have been fairly well behaved over the past several years. That good behavior should obviate that problem posed by money shortages in Belleville's Police Department which have forced the department to cut back police assignments. Trustees must now foot the bill for police officers at graduation.

Four officers will probably be on hand, two being paid by the town and two by board members, said Board Business Administrator Mary Shader Monday night.

The traditional graduation program will begin with the playing of "Pomp and Circumstance" by the Belleville High School Band, under the direction of Andrew Silbert, and an invocation by Rev. Frederick Long of Christ Episcopal Church. A flag salute will be led by Glenn Rayco, president of the Honor Society, and the national anthem will be played by the BHS Band. The school song will be sung by the high school chorus, under the direction of Thomas Finetti.

After a welcome by Adam Frank, senior class president, speeches will be given by co-valedictorians Edward Aulisi and Michael Sheldon, along with salutatorian John DeCesare. Another song selection will be played by the band and then School Superintendent Dr. John Greed will give a brief speech.

The diplomas will be presented by Board President Ernie Zoppi and Vice President Charles Miele, with announcers Martin King, class vice president; Gladys Greed, secretary; Georgina Fratella, treasurer; Adam Frank, senior class president. Please see "Many" on page 14.

Passaic River isn't crystal clear, but it's still not sea of garbage

By Mike Olohan

When one thinks of the Passaic River, certain thoughts come immediately to mind. Among them may be pungent odors, murky, chemical-infested water, dead fish, discarded wood, bottles, tires, balls and other assorted garbage.

Last Thursday, Tom Berry from New Jersey's Public Interest Research Group in West Orange, and a local reporter, canoed down the Passaic River from the Rutherford Bridge to the entrance to Belleville's Second River, plotting discharge pipes along the river's banks.

Although a heavy rainstorm hit the area last Tuesday, Berry noted there'd be little runoff still flowing by

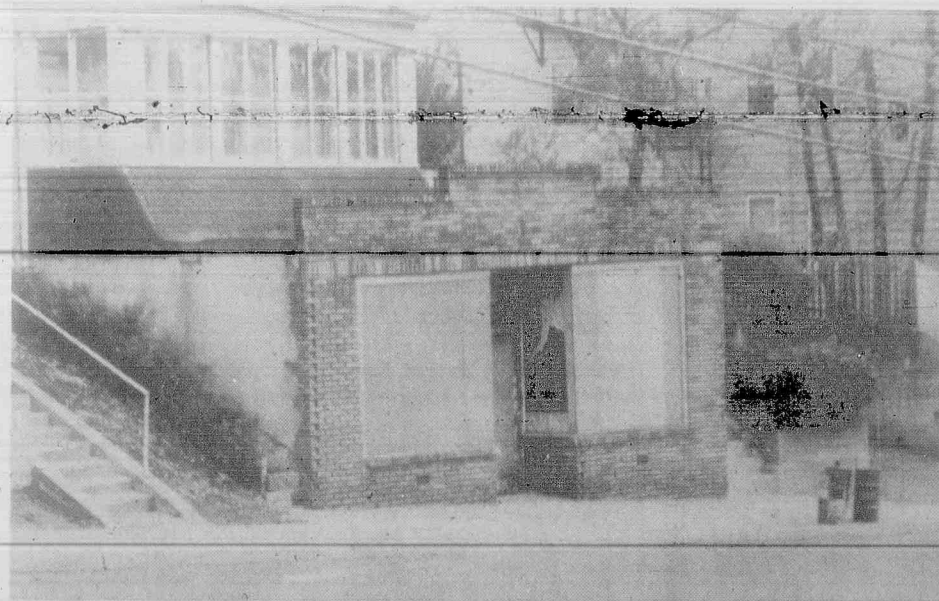

Thursday, but canoeing along the Passaic, four large discharge pipes were spotted swiftly draining some type of fluid into the Passaic. All were mapped on Berry's river chart for further investigation at a later date.

Berry noted the fluid sloshing into the Passaic might not have contained Please see "Team" on page 14.

Msgr. Byrne finds joy in 25 years as a priest

By Mike Olohan

At first he was called Father Byrne. Now it's Monsignor Byrne, and after spending 25 years in the priesthood, many of his local parishioners expressed their heartfelt thanks to him last Wednesday at a Mass of Thanksgiving.

Msgr. John Byrne of St. Peter's Church is a tall man, not only in physical stature, but because he believes in people and cares about them. Sitting in his small office at St. Peter's last Friday afternoon, Monsignor Byrne said he was happy with the anniversary party thrown for him, but he seemed at embarrassed being the center of attention.

Monsignor Byrne is 50 years old and proudly notes that his parents, who are in their 80s, are still alive and well. But since entering the priesthood June 4, 1955, he's had to contend and get along with a different kind of family — comprised of neighboring Catholics in three different areas, Maplewood, Roseland and Newark.

And he looks all the richer and more knowledgeable from his experiences. Monsignor Byrne might be described in today's vogue slang as a "laid back" type of guy, appearing calm, but actually full of an energy to help others.

On Nov. 18, 1978, Monsignor Byrne came to St. Peter's. He was Please see "Monsignor" on page 14.

Taxi boost of 85 cents is 'studied'

Commissioners have agreed to table "for further study" an ordinance that would have raised town taxi fares here from $1.30 to $2.15 a mile.

A commission majority appears to favor the rate hike, but Tuesday night the votes weren't available to pass the ordinance. At the town meeting two weeks ago, Mayor Michael Marotti and Commissioners Mary Senatore and Joseph McGreevy voted in favor of the increase when the proposed ordinance was brought up for first reading, with Commissioner Matthew Pica opposed. Commissioner Vincent Strumolo, who rents office space to one of Belleville's two cab companies, abstained to avoid a conflict of interest.

Tuesday, Mrs. Senatore was attending a meeting of the Democratic County Committee, making only two affirmative votes available, not enough to pass the ordinance.

The present ordinance allows cabs 80 cents for the first sixth of a mile, 10 cents for each additional sixth and 60 cents for each added mile. That works out to $1.30 for the first mile. The cab companies, Belleville Yellow Cab and Belleville-Franklin Taxi Cab Company, had applied for $1.30 for the first tenth of a mile, 10 cents for each extra tenth and $1 for every mile thereafter. That would have meant $2.20 for the first mile.

The town transportation committee set up earlier this year to study the matter recommended increases that settled on something of a middle ground — $1.25 for the first sixth of a mile, 12 cents for each added sixth and 72 cents for every additional mile, or $1.85 for the first mile.

Commissioners discussed the committee proposal in April and came back with a formula nearly the same as the one the cab companies Please see "Seniors" on page 2.

Local, state officials quiet on school plan questions forth about it. Just let us digest this so that we all can sing from the same song sheet," repeated the board president Tuesday.

"We'll make this public at a public meeting after we at least first get a consensus of what they (trustees) think," said Zoppi.

Both May and Mrs. Sobanko said most people won't be able to "ask intelligent questions" about the letter unless they receive it in advance of Monday's meeting, where discussion may take place but no final decision can be made.

A final decision on the commissioner's recommendations can only be made at a public business meeting, where citizens and the press are given at least 48 hours advance notice. The next scheduled public business meeting is June 23.

Many parents aren't able to obtain materials from the school board's office because they work and can't get there between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m., when it's opened, stressed Mrs. Sobanko and May. They noted that since board information is so hard to obtain, many parents get angry and frustrated, feeling trustees are hiding public documents.

"What's the difference if we see the letter now? Why can't we see it ahead of time. I can't understand this...you've got a lot of involved people here ready to go off the deep end because they know they (trustees) know what's going to happen to their children and they don't," said Mrs. Sobanko.

"Instead of receiving this letter just at Monday's meeting, why can't we receive it ahead of time?" she repeated.

Trustee Tom Zampino said he would have requested that trustees immediately release the letter had anybody stood up and objected to Zoppi's Monday night response that trustees needed time to "digest its contents."

"If there was any objection to that (release delay), it should've been made then. But now I'm really bound by what we did last night," said Zampino Tuesday. He said that should trustees meet before Monday's 7 p.m. public session, he'd request they release the letter's contents before Monday. Monday's public session begins 8 p.m.

"If a (final) vote on this were to be taken Monday, I might feel differently," said Zampino, emphasizing no final decision can be made unless a public business meeting is scheduled. He noted, however, trustees would probably discuss the commissioner's letter at Monday's session.

Zoppi said copies of the letter would be available at Monday's meeting for anyone to obtain.

"The board has the right to discuss this in private first. It's legally proper. Whether it's politically proper, I wouldn't know much about that now," said board attorney Lawrence Schwartz Tuesday.

Parents from School 1, which is located in the Valley, and the Valley Association have been pushing to keep School 1 open since March, when trustees decided to close it to save money. The parents feel little money will be saved by closing 1, and that trustees are using their children as "playpieces" to move around and satisfy an arbitrary state desegregation mandate.

"We don't want his (Zoppi's) interpretation of the letter. We're entitled to see it right now word for word," said Sobanko Tuesday.

Belleville's desegregation plan involves closing Schools 1 and 2, redistricting students and starting several new "magnet" school programs, along with establishing a "central registrar" to balance the racial make-up of the seven remaining elementary schools.

What objections or reservations Burke has about the plan remained a mystery this week, with state as well as local officials keeping tight-lipped. "This plan will not be officially approved until the commissioner's questions and some other things are answered," said State Equal Educational Opportunity Director Nida Thomas Tuesday. Thomas said she thought Belleville trustees were playing it smart by first reviewing the commissioner's recommendations among themselves before making them public, and she refused to do that herself.

"The trustees are the ones that have the responsibility for deciding about this. I don't know if it's suppression, but I think the people who have the responsibility for implementing something should know what's involved with it first," said Thomas.

wanted, with a $1.25 charge for the first tenth of a mile the only difference.

Tuesday, Jim Golden, a member of the transportation committee, called the proposed fares "exorbitant" and cited figures to show that they would be out of line with rates in other towns and that cabbies would be making a "reasonable profit" under the committee recommendations.

Nutley cabs are allowed $1.25 a mile within that town, said Golden, and taxis in Newark get 75 cents for the first fifth of a mile and 20 cents for each added fifth, or $1.55 for the first mile. "If Newark can be $1.55 and Nutley can be $1.25, I don't see anything wrong with giving them (Belleville companies) $1.85," said Golden, a former councilman here.

Golden noted too that his committee had heard testimony that taxis here weren't always using their meters and that they sometimes stopped to pick up extra passengers. That, he said, had influenced the committee's decision not to give cab companies all they were asking for.

Also on hand to oppose the increases was a group of about eight senior citizens. Their spokesman, Michael J. Gallo of 27 Rocco St., echoed Golden's opinion that the proposed increases would be a particular hardship for the elderly and working people. Gallo supported the transportation committee's recommendation.

At the end of the short public hearing, McGreevy made a motion to table the ordinance for further study. The motion was approved 4-0. The ordinance should come up for a vote at the commission meeting June 24.

A correction

The story appearing in last week's Belleville Times on the primary election contained an error. Rose Pizzi, an unsuccessful candidate for the town Democratic committee, was incorrectly identified as the wife of Michael Pizzi, who ran for Town Commission last year.

Actually, Mrs. Pizzi is Michael Pizzi's mother.

Stephen Semienick of 53 Fairway Ave. will enter the Newark College of Arts and Sciences of Rutgers University this fall as a recipient of a University Scholar Award. Semienick has won a $500 merit scholarship from the state university for academic excellence.
