Town firemen warning again of undermanning

Most local firemen have said for some time that Belleville's present department is undermanned, and the issue has been brought to the fore again following the recent Lawrence Street blaze in which several persons, including firefighters, were injured. However, there are no plans now to bring the department up to the standards called for by the Belleville Firemen's Mutual Benovolent Association.

Most firemen won't talk "for the record" because they fear their jobs are at stake. In addition, their rules manual also forbids them to talk to the press.

However, most will say privately that not only are their lives in jeopardy but so are the lives of each and every Belleville resident. Although that charge isn't new, it's amazing, say many firemen, how nonchalantly most people seem brush off the potential danger they face.

Without the quick help of 20 Newark firemen who assisted Belleville's two-man Silver Lake brigade, the weekend fire on Lawrence Street could have been much worse, say firemen.

Local officials, like Public Safety Commissioner Matthew Pica, disagree with the FMBA's undermanning charges. Pica notes that he's hired four additional firefighters this year, and he says that combined with the firemen who'll rejoin the force when Belleville's volunteer emergency medical technicians (EMTs) take over the ambulances, Belleville will be adequately protected.

But what's the definition of adequate? Whether you listen to Pica or the firemen, you're sure to get a different point of view. And which is right?

Belleville has three firehouses, on Washington Avenue, Franklin Avenue and Franklin Street. But on most shifts, only 13 men are on call. In March when three Washington Avenue dwellings were gutted and several firemen injured battling a big blaze, nearly 25 off-duty firemen had to be quickly called in, and the Sunday before last fire officials made hasty phone calls also to retrieve off-duty firemen to assist.

Town critics note that although residents want the added protection and would probably be temporarily enraged reading about undermanning. Please see "Town firemen" on page 22.

TRUSTEES WOULD SELL SCHOOL 2

School 1 may be used for Board of Ed office

By Mike Olohan

Although no final decision has been reached, it seems clear that because the Board of Education's administrative offices are becoming crowded, they'll soon be switched to the recently closed School 1.

Under a plan discussed Monday night, trustees would then be able to move their supply depot from School 8, where it's monopolizing the all-purpose room, to School 1's basement, allowing School 8 children full use of their auditorium and gym room.

Though Trustee Anthony D'Agostino wants to see School 1 used to house Belleville's present magnet programs if it's not sold, most of his colleagues, along with School Superintendent Dr. John Greed, would rather put the board's offices there.

Last week, Greed, Plant Superintendent Joe Grande, Board President Ernie Zoppi, Vice President Charles Miele and Trustee Tom Zampino inspected both Schools 1 in the Valley and School 2 in Silver Lake, also shut down this fall, to see which would better accommodate board offices. Board members have been talking for more than a year about moving from their present offices at 383 Washington Ave., especially with recurrent roof leaks and crowded space. By Monday most trustees had decided on School 1 as the best place to go.

Although D'Agostino has said he'd rather see both closed schools sold to save money, he stressed this week that if 1 stayed open, he'd rather have it used for education, not administration.

Though several School 1 parents, including PTA President Judy Sobanko, attended Monday's meeting, they made no public comments about trustees' plan to use 1 for offices.

"Why not utilize 1 as a magnet-type structure?" asked D'Agostino.

D'Agostino said he is "diametrically opposed" to conversion. Please see "Trustees" on page 23.

Old Friends — Msgr. Robert Eagan of Boystown shakes hands with Richie Gough. The former Belleville police officer, who suffers from multiple sclerosis, was honored with a benefit softball game Sunday at Clearman Field.

Recreation vehicle code held up for citizen study

Until a citizens' committee formed by Belleville Fire Capt. Leo Killeen reports back to commissioners, there will be no tampering with a recreational-vehicle ordinance that provoked 75 local RV owners to jam last week's commission meeting.

On the other hand, the law on the books won't be enforced.

The RV owners were upset because they felt Public Safety Commissioner Matthew Pica was trying to push through an ordinance that would impose tight controls on their vehicles, though Pica in effect was trying to do just the opposite.

Once the angry residents learned he favored changing the RV ordinance, Pica was bombarded with numerous questions and criticism, which he answered by repeating over and over that no changes in Belleville's 1939 "restrictive" RV law would be made until Killeen's group made its recommendations.

Killeen is expected to consult commissioners in two to four weeks, and Pica gave Killeen's group an okay to use Washington Avenue's firehouse conference room as a meeting place.

The old ordinance allows parking of an RV in Belleville only when housed in a garage, whether the vehicle is being repaired or stored. The new ordinance, had it been approved, would have permitted temporary parking for RVs in driveways or streets for two hours, and would have allowed parking right behind the owner's house as long as no part of the camper, trailer or boat projected "beyond the walls of the dwelling."

Whatever type RV is parked behind the house can't be used for storage. Please see "Recreation" on page 23.

BHS open house Wednesday night

The Belleville High Home and School Association will sponsor an open house at the high school 7 p.m. this coming Wednesday.

Parents will have a chance to speak to their children's teachers and visit classrooms. Refreshments will be served.

A membership drive will also be conducted Wednesday night, and all parents of children attending BHS are being urged to join the association.

Citizens comply with water edict

With water supplies slipping away, Belleville residents have taken Gov. Brendan Byrne's water conservation edict in good stride and appear ready to do their part in saving enough water to prevent any forced business closings.

Driving about town, that's the feeling one's apt to get since no cars are being washed and no lawns are being watered. Belleville police report that most citizens are obeying Byrne's emergency water conservation mandate, but appearances may be deceiving. No actual figures on how much local water consumption has gone down are yet available since the Newark Watershed's meter readers only examine Belleville's four meters once a month. What those figures reveal will tell the true story.

"In the final analysis, the public's cooperation is essential. It's a very serious situation," says Jim Staples, the Department of Environmental Protection's water conservation officer. Please see "State" on page 23.

Magnet plans ready but need added time

Two completely opposite though complementary educational courses were described by their curriculum committee chairman Monday, but much remains to be done before they'll get off the ground.

Susan DiRuggiero, head of the academically talented curriculum committee, and Paula Cummis, chairman of the fundamental (or basic skills) magnet committee, both agreed that although their programs may separate or temporarily isolate youngsters, they're not at all stigmatizing, discriminatory or elitist. The two programs are among the four which are slated to become "magnets," housed in particular schools and drawing particular groups of children.

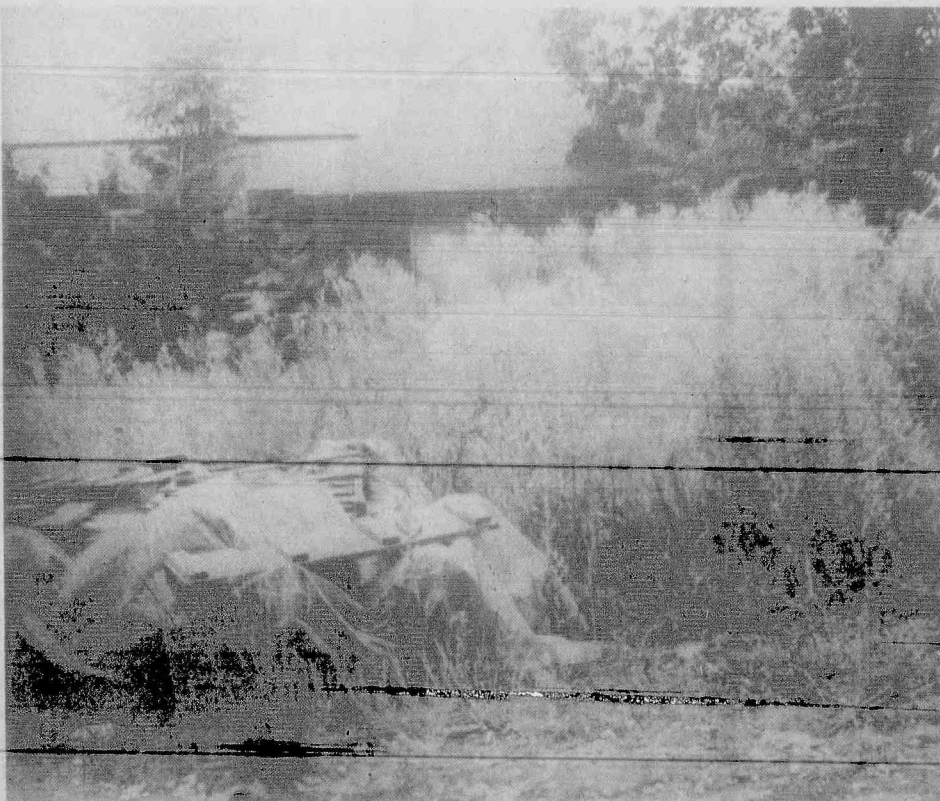

Both programs are unquestionably needed, agreed trustees, who seemed more than pleased with both curriculum guides presented to them. Each was prepared over a three-week period this summer.

"The basic skills staff should be volunteers to duty," said Mrs. Cummis, emphasizing that teachers must be enthusiastic about teaching basics to do a good job.

She noted that a "self-contained classroom affords teachers greater flexibility" to work with children and that "integration (of basic skills into other subjects) is the keynote of a fundamental school."

She said an underlying philosophy teachers must follow in magnet schools is to provide a

Machete-wielder receives 20 days

Is there really a positive correlation between alcohol intake and release of personal inhibitions? One person to ask might be Oscar Varga of Mount Prospect Avenue in Newark. On the night of Sept. 6 he was arrested in front of Washington Liquors on Washington Avenue for waving a machete with a 20-inch blade near a handful of people, none of whom were hurt.

Varga, 35, was taken into custody by Officer Anthony LaVista after he was spotted flaunting his extravagant weapon at about 7 p.m., shortly after he was refused service by the proprietor of Washington Liquors. Varga was attempting to purchase more beer, while the storekeeper figured that he had had enough. Varga left the store, and returned later with the machete.

Varga was charged with possession of a dangerous weapon, and his bail was set at $500. He appeared in Municipal Court last Wednesday and was sentenced to 20 days in the Essex County Correctional facility by Judge Edward Abramson.

A Belleville man, David Hogenbirk of Columbus Avenue, was arrested June 23 for criminal trespass at the Joraleman Street reservoir.

Hogenbirk said he went there because he "wanted to cool off." Judge Abramson, perhaps in light of the current water shortage, responded, "The reservoir? Where people get their drinking water from? Very nice, $100 fine."

Phyllis Visco of Nutley was found guilty of attempting to cause bodily harm to a police officer and preventing him from making a lawful arrest. On the night of January 17, the woman was pulled over in Belleville by Officer Richard Fatore who suspected that she was driving under the influence of alcohol. According to Fatore, she became violent and began hitting and biting another officer also on the scene. She was found guilty on both counts and fined a total of $300 by Abramson, who said, "An on-duty officer shouldn't be subject to being kicked or bitten."

Richard Nestarez, a 27-year-old Newark resident, was found guilty of shoplifting at the Belmont Avenue Pathmark on the morning of Sept. 14. The complaint, filed by Michael Daniluk, a Pathmark security employee, accused Nestarez of concealing $18.63 worth of merchandise on his person. The Newarker was fined $100.

In another shoplifting case, John Lilienthal, 19, was convicted of stealing $83 in merchandise from K-mart on Sept. 9. Lilienthal, a construction worker, drew mild laughter from the courtroom when he told Judge Abramson that his salary was "$35 a week." Abramson responded, "You ought to see someone. We have a minimum wage law, you know." Lilienthal was given a 30-day suspended sentence, one-year probation and a $100 fine.

Phone call helps police foil break-in

Two men were arrested late last Wednesday night after attempting to break into a car on Davidson Street.

Shortly before 10 p.m. on Sept. 24, police received an anonymous phone call from a resident of Davidson Street who reported seeing a pair of men trying to gain entrance into a parked car. Officers Joseph Tortorella and John Drop were dispatched to the scene where they observed the suspects attempting to flee. In his haste, one of the men dropped an object which police later identified as a burglar's tool. The officers gave chase, and both men were apprehended not far from the scene.

A search of the men revealed a stolen nine-millimeter handgun, a pair of wirecutters and a slaphammer, an instrument used for prying open car doors.

A 43-year-old Newark man was charged with attempted burglary and possession of burglar's tools. He was later released on his own recognizance. The other man, a 36-year-old native of Saddle Brook, was charged with possession of burglar's tools and stolen property and unlawful possession of a weapon. His bail was set at $500. Both men will appear in Belleville Municipal Court this coming Wednesday night.

Residents enroll at Lincoln Tech

Andy M. Bove and John H. Lilienthal of Belleville have enrolled at Lincoln Technical Institute in Union.

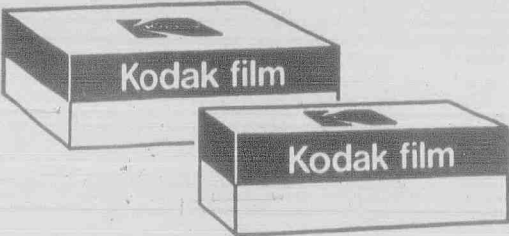

Bove is entering the automotive mechanics and diesel engines program, while Lilienthal has enrolled in the air conditioning and refrigeration servicing program. They will receive training geared to prepare them for entry level positions.

Knights' blood bank to be held next week

The Belleville Knights of Columbus will hold their annual blood bank 3-7 p.m. Friday, Oct. 10, at the Council 835 Hall, 94 Bridge St.

This year's bank has been named for Eugene "Cappy" Barnett, the late town clerk and a past grand knight who chaired the council's blood drives for 30 years.

The drive is held every year to aid the North Jersey Blood Bank, which right now is experiencing a critical shortage of donors. Donors must be 17 to 65, and 17-year-olds must have written consent to donate. Participants will be given a complete physical. For appointment, call Grand Knight Frank Corbo at 751-4965 or Deputy Grand Knight Tom Dillon at 759-4516.

Prayer for today

Good morning, God!
You are ushering in another day
Untouched and freshly new
So here I come to ask You, God
If You'll renew me, too,
Forgive the many errors
That I made yesterday
And let me try again, dear God,
To walk closer in Thy way...
But, Father, I am well aware
I can't make it on my own
So take my hand and hold it tight
For I can't walk alone!

School offices

The School Board is considering moving its administrative offices to the School 1 building down in the Valley. This is a bad idea. School 1 is an old building, much too large for the administrative needs of the School Board. Better for the School Board to demolish the old building and consider building an administrative building more central to the community.

The land upon which School 1 stands is very valuable. It should be sold for modern development.

Demolition code

More often than not, in this column, we have criticized actions of the Town Commission. Now it is time to say something nice — something complimentary.

In an effort to rid the town of eyesores, the Town Commission has adopted a demolition code which permits it to take immediate legal action against the property owner who fails to maintain his or her property. All we can say is that it is about time civic pride was the motivating influence behind an action of the Town Commission. The ordinance, adopted three weeks ago, should put everyone on notice that the Town Commission means business about cleaning up Belleville.

Happy day! Congratulations to the Town Commission. It deserves praise.

Mideast tensions

Iran and Iraq are having a go at it. In this contest all the world is a loser. Even Iran and Iraq are in a no-win situation. With a crazy man leading Iran and a despot in charge of Iraq, liberty-loving people have little to choose between the two.

The interests of America are endangered by the conflict between Iran and Iraq. Oil needed by the western nations, including the United States, may not be available because of the conflict. Our country is in grave trouble. In part, the present

Mideast problem can be traced to Carter Administration policies. The United States encouraged the downfall of the Shah of Iran, and in so doing, we sowed the seeds of Mideast disaster. Where to now? It's anybody's guess. We can all join in prayer that things will not get as bad as they could.

Census takers didn't just ring on our doorbells and run away

To the Editor:

As a crew leader in charge of the enumeration of a large part of Belleville, I feel it necessary to refute certain allegations made by Mary Senatore regarding the 1980 census.

First, the matter of vacant buildings. All residences were visited at least three times by the census taker. If a house was found to be vacant, a neighbor or rental agent were consulted. To insure accuracy, different census takers were later sent to verify that these apartments or houses were indeed vacant. A neighbor was again questioned and their name and telephone number were taken for backup. Census enumerators most certainly did not just ring bells and decide that the residence was vacant if no one answered.

Second is the matter of pay. The enumerators were paid piece rate for each correctly completed form returned by them. Forms for vacant housing were the lowest paid and certainly the enumerator would not choose less pay for visiting a residence unless necessary. (i.e. actually vacant.)

Third, general accuracy is questioned. I am not saying that mistakes were not made in town but until specific instances of error can be proven, I feel that Mrs. Senatore was unfair in making speculative accusations of some fine, hard-working people. The enumerators are all town residents and certainly realized the importance of an accurate count. It is unfortunate that many of the townspeople refused to cooperate with the census, making their job more difficult.

I, too, live in Belleville, and have no argument with Mrs. Senatore's desire to gain everything possible for the town via the appropriations based on the census count. However, disparaging remarks about the enumerators are insulting, incorrect and not politically wise.

Sincerely,
Gail Landolfi

Ocean could end our water crisis

To the Editor:

I believe the time is now to appoint a committee to investigate the possibility of tapping the ocean water.

We could purify it, desalt it and pipe it to all reservoirs.

With all the losses to crops, which cost millions of dollars, expenses to the homeowners to redevelop their lawns and shrubs, it would pay in the long run.

The ocean water is plentiful, plus with the unemployment in New Jersey it will put people to work.

I believe the money can come from the federal department through some agricultural program.

Thank you,
J. Fornarotto

Senior Notes

By George Chenoweth

It may be difficult to find someone who is really qualified to discuss the problems of health in old age. Few doctors and nurses are equipped to give more than general counsel unless they have been specially trained in geriatrics (i.e. the study of the physical processes and the problems of aging). Moreover, most doctors are likely to be too busy with their practices for this kind of activity. If you live in an area where there is a good group health program, it may be able to provide a qualified speaker. Other possibilities include geriatrics departments of universities.

Our local health department, under director Vincent Strumolo, has a list of health subjects which can be presented as a health screening and education program. The listing for the education program contains many subjects of interest to the aging. These lists are available for the asking and the seniors' clubs in this area can use them to find out the greater needs for their members. Speakers on these subjects are available through the health department.

Free screening programs for blood pressure, diabetes, lung function, uterine cancer, colon-rectal cancer, oral cancer, vision, hearing, urine and hemoglobin are also offered at the health department.

In many communities, there is a growing emphasis on providing alternatives to hospital and home nursing care. Some areas offer assistance to citizens in their homes and in their communities so that individuals will not have to leave their own residences simply because they need help with housekeeping or meal preparation. In programs such as "Meals-on-Wheels," visiting homemakers, and home health service, the emphasis is on helping people to live independently at home, perhaps delaying or eliminating the need to seek institutional care. Contact the County Office on Aging or your local health department for more information about services available in your community.

Late voter registration set tonight, tomorrow, Monday

Town Hall will be open until 9 tonight, tomorrow and Monday so that citizens can register to vote in the November general election.

Monday is the last day to register or to transfer registration if you have moved. Registration will take place in the town clerk's office on the first floor of Belleville Town Hall.

Weisses mark anniversary with parties

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Weiss of Tappan Avenue celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary Sept. 21 with a cocktail and dinner party at Atrium West, West Orange. Arrangements were made by their daughter, Grace Robertson, and the invocation and toast were offered by their son, Robert of Belleville. Members of various American Legion posts and auxiliaries were among the guests.

The Weisses were married Sept. 8, 1920. Mr. Weiss was an accountant for F. Schumacher and Co., New York City, before retiring in 1967. The couple have lived in Belleville the last 47 years.

Another celebration, a beach party in Manasquan for over 40 people, also marked the anniversary. It was hosted by their daughter.

Search starts for Essex Miss

The search is on for the Essex County high school senior girl most representative of her classmates in communities throughout Essex County. The young woman chosen as Essex County's Junior Miss will compete with other finalists from the state and nation for the national title in the 24th annual Junior Miss scholarship program.

More than $1 million in scholarships, savings bonds and merchandise will be presented to participants in the 1981 local, state and national contests.

Young ladies between 16 and 19 presently in their senior year in any Essex County high school are eligible to participate. Contestants must reside in Essex County.

Judging is based on qualities and abilities in the areas of poise and appearance, youth fitness, academics, talent and personal interviews.

Entry forms may be obtained by writing the contestant chairman, Michael Paolino, 161 Ohlson Ave., Nutley, N.J. 07110, or by calling him at 667-7315.

Irish Women set gathering Oct. 26

The Women of Irish Heritage will hold their annual cocktail party 5-8 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 26, at the Sacred Heart School Hall, Vailsburg, Newark. Music will be provided by Pat Roper and the Good Times and entertainment by the Jimmy Friel School of Irish Dancing.

Dorothy Critchley, chairman of the affair, can be reached at 338-6792. Tickets, $12, may be obtained at the door or by calling Joan Faux at 485-8979.

Mr. and Mrs. David Williams — nee Mary Ann DeMeo

Miss Mary Ann DeMeo weds David B. Williams

St. Peter's Church was the setting recently for the marriage of Miss Mary Ann DeMeo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael DeMeo of Belleville, to David B. Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Williams of Hyattsville, Md.

The Rev. James Heavey performed the ceremony which was followed by a reception at Friar Tuck Inn, Cedar Grove. Vocalist at the ceremony was Sister Carol Dempsey, a friend of the bride.

The bride, escorted by her father, wore a gown fashioned with long-fitted sleeves and full train and accented with re-embroidered Alencon lace and pearls. A matching headpiece held her cathedral-length veil and she carried white roses, stephanotis and babies breath.

Miss Gail Fredericks of Florham Park was maid of honor. Bridesmaids included Miss Virginia Nappi of Nutley, cousin of the bride, Miss Anna Maria DiMeo of Newark, another cousin, Miss Karen Zimmerman of Belleville and Miss Jean Rutkus of Washington, D.C.

They were attired in mauve gowns, wore matching flowers in their hair and carried lavender and pink silk flowers.

Michael Miller of Hyattsville was best man. Ushers were Steve Cooper, Robert Nagle and Ken Goldstein, all of Hyattsville, and Keith Conroy of Reading, Pa.

Mrs. DeMeo chose a mint green chiffon gown with beaded bodice, while the groom's mother was in pink chiffon. Each wore an orchid wristlet.

Mrs. Williams, an alumna of Caldwell College, earned her master's degree in library science from Catholic University, Washington, D.C. She is a senior reference librarian with Welch Medical Library, Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Md.

Mr. Williams, a graduate of Stevens Institute of Technology, Hoboken, is a process and development engineer with Davison Chemical Division of W.R. Grace, Curtis Bay, Md.

The couple honeymooned in Florida following the June 8 ceremony and have made their home in Rossville, Md.

Umberto's Corner

Dear Umberto,

At the end of this summer I found some strands of my hair to be light blonde. I never colored my hair. The only thing I did was to use different brands of shampoo. I also washed my hair everyday because we bought a pool for our kids this year and I took advantage of it by being in the pool everyday. Can the shampoos and the chlorine change the color of my hair?

Yours,

Blondish Strands

Dear Blondish Strands,
Negatory, neither one can cause your lighter hair color. You forget to tell me you're a dirty blonde. How I know this is because you were sun bleached and dark blondes become lighter from the radiation of the sun. If you have dark hair it'll have reddish highlights. Hoping to satisfy your question.

As Always,

Umberto

P.S. I'll be attending a hairdressers convention in Italy from Oct. 14 to the 29th. At your service on Oct. 30th.

Assembly of God plans anniversary celebration

The Belleville Assembly of God Church will celebrate its 60th anniversary with special services Sunday, Oct. 12.

Rev. Dominick Tummaro, the church's district superintendent and minister at the Van Nest Full Gospel Church in the Bronx, will be the guest speaker at the 10:30 a.m. worship service.

A musical concert featuring the Metropolitan Organ Club will be held at 4 p.m. Members will present vocal and instrumental selections. The church choir under the direction of Pauline DiQuattro will also sing. Immediately following the concert, refreshments will be served in the fellowship hall.

The Belleville Assembly of God congregation first met in 1920 for prayer services at the D'Angelo residence, located at the time on lower Clinton Street. In subsequent years, the congregation held services in a store front building at 58 Union Ave. and moved on to 70 William St. before settling in the present church building at 174-178 Holmes St. in December 1952.

Rev. Anthony DiQuattro has been pastor of the church since 1948. He was previously pastor of a church in Rochester, N.Y.

JHS open house set October 22

The administration and staff of Belleville Junior High School are inviting parents of JHS students to attend an open house 7-9:30 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 22.

The evening is designed to allow parents to become acquainted with their children's school. Parents will follow a mini-version of their children's daily schedule. They will be able to meet with teachers of individual subjects, hear introductions to courses, take a look at textbooks and become aware of specific goals and course requirements. Guidance counselors will also be available to discuss any problems. Parents and teachers will join in the cafeteria for coffee and other refreshments.

A big turnout is expected for the special evening, and the JHS administration and staff are urging all parents to attend.

Seton Hall awards six

Six Belleville residents have been honored for their academic achievement at Seton Hall Preparatory School in South Orange.

Receiving roll of honor medals were seniors Joseph N. Biase and Mark J. Mendolla and junior Stephen A. Skaleski. Senior Thomas J. Joyce and sophomores Joseph H. LaPara and Gary E. Rossi won list of merit certificates. Medals were presented to those students who earned an average of 3.5 or better for the previous academic year. Certificates went to students with averages between 3.0 and 3.5.

The awards were presented during an assembly last week in Archbishop Walsh Auditorium on the school's campus. Faculty, students, parents, alumni, staff and friends attended the traditional ceremonies, and the Rev. Michael E. Kelly, Seton Hall's headmaster, made the presentations.

Archdiocese testing pupils in November

Testing for eighth graders applying to area Catholic high schools will be conducted in November by the Archdiocese of Newark.

Pupils now in the eighth grade in Catholic elementary schools will be tested Nov. 10-12 in their own schools. Public school students must obtain applications at their local Catholic elementary schools or CCD centers. Applications must be registered with the Archdiocesan School Office, One Summer Ave., Newark, N.J., 07104, by Oct. 31. Public school applicants will be sent to designated testing centers, and the archdiocese will notify students of the test times, places and other requirements after Nov. 11. Testing for public school applicants will take place Nov. 15.

Test results will be provided to Catholic high schools in January 1981, and notices regarding action taken on applications will be sent to pupils Jan. 21.

"The testing program provides the high schools with an objective standard by which the student is measured, but it is only one of several factors entering into the final choice," notes Brother Timothy Dean, assistant superintendent of schools and testing coordinator for the archdiocese. "The student's academic record in elementary school, the appraisal of the student's teachers and principal, and other factors all go into determining whether or not the student should be admitted to a particular school's program. We encourage all students in our public and Catholic school eighth grades to participate in this program, investigate the Catholic high schools in their area and make application for admission to the schools they feel best meet their needs."

Junior Women awarded

Junior Award — Citing the major contributions the Belleville Junior Woman's Club has made to the community, Clara Maass Memorial Hospital honored members of the organization recently with a special plaque. Pictured (l-r) are Nancy Masiello, Clara Maass director of nursing services, and club President Sherry Moccia. Among the programs recognized was "Bobby Goes to the Hospital," a pre-hospitalization puppet show for local youngsters. During the past three years, hundreds of children have seen the presentation in the Clara Maass pediatrics department. The club designed the show to help ease children's apprehension of hospitals, and club members have been responsible for every phase of the production, from stage design and props to the puppeteering.

Evening Dept. opens season

The Evening Membership Department of the Belleville Woman's Club held a successful potluck supper Sept. 17 to mark the opening of the fall season. Special guests included Woman's Club President Estelle Keeney, Junior Woman's Club President Sherri Moccia and Junior advisor Janet Pickover.

The business meeting that followed the supper was presided over by the EMD Chairman Marie Drake. The main topic was the Belleville EMD's 25th anniversary party scheduled for Wednesday, Oct. 15. Many important guests from the federation, district and local levels of woman's clubs have been invited, along with past chairmen of the Belleville club. The event will be held at the club house, 51 Rossmore Place. Entertainment will be provided during the evening.

The EMD is seeking new members. To join, call membership chairman Barry Shafter at 759-2372.

History should help allay BHS fans' fear

Here are some basic questions following the Belleville High football team's opening loss to Livingston last week. Number one: Is the Belleville team better than it was last Friday? Number two: Are the Lancers as good as they were last Friday? Number three: Can the Bucs rebound against Montclair tomorrow?

The answers to these questions are yes, probably and definitely. The Bucs played a tough game late Friday, but were hurt by some questionable call from the officials, some missed blocks and dropped passes.

Now before anyone thinks that this team cannot duplicate or better last year's mark, remember the following facts: First of all, the team got off to a "slow" start last season. After a 35-8 triumph over Livingston, the Bucs were beaten by Montclair 14-7. After that loss, the team won six straight and advanced to the Group IV, Section 2 playoffs where it fell to Union 15-12.

So if the team can rebound against Montclair, the record will be 1-1, the confidence will be restored and the Bucs will be in the same spot they were a year ago. Secondly, remember the Livingston saga of a year ago. The Lancers started the season with that 35-8 shellacking at the hands of Belleville. Following that loss, they buried Mountain 54-32 and did not lose a game until the Group IV, Section 2 final with Union in late November.

The point is that Belleville should not let down because of the tough loss to Livingston. Some of the best teams in the state, Westfield included, have lost their opening games of the 1980 season. The encouraging thing is that the Bucs have some good, young talent that will make itself known in the weeks to come.

Frank Fazzini, a junior running back and safety, played a gutsy all-out game and earned the respect of all the Livingston players. He is the Belleville High School athlete of the week. Joe Cecere showed signs of quickness with some good running, as did Mike Dalla Riva.

Defensively, the Bucs registered some good hits and the defense started to jell late in the Lancer game. Although it was too late, the defense did prove that it has talent and now that the opening day jitters are behind them, the Bucs should have some confidence and motivation for tomorrow night's game with Montclair.

The team's schedule is not easy, with Seton Hall, Marist, Clark, Essex Catholic and Passaic still on tap, but keep in mind that the schedules of the other clubs in the Group IV, Section 2 area are quite competitive and the chances are good that by the time playoff season starts there won't be an undefeated team in the area.

Also keep in mind that Union, the defending state champ, was blown out by Westfield early last season then won its last eight games, including victories over Livingston and Belleville, to capture state honors.

So the 1980 season is off to a slow start, but it can end with the same glory as it did last year. It will still be a very exciting season of Belleville football.

The Cosmos closed out the 1980 season by winning the Soccer Bowl championship for the third time in the last four years. Giorgio Chinaglia was the scoring hero for the team and had two goals in the victory over Fort Lauderdale.

Following the win, the team played in Giants Stadium against an NASL select team in Franz Beckenbauer's last game, as a Cosmo. Beckenbauer will return to Germany in November to play in the Bundesliga.

Over 70,000 people showed up for the game and the NASL team prevailed 3-2. Personally, I'm glad to see Beckenbauer leave. His attitude toward America appeared to be cold at times and to top it off, he wanted $30,000 to play in his own farewell game. The other players weren't getting any extra money to play. If Pele hadn't made a guest appearance for the Cosmos, the match would have been a total flop. Furthermore, when Beckenbauer left the field late in the game, he waved to the fans and left. It would have been class for the guy to stay on the field, at least on the sidelines, for the rest of the chilly evening. After all, the fans were there to say goodbye to him.

As for the Cosmos, the team might be in for some trouble next year. Hennis Weisweiler, the coach, had said at the beginning of the year how important it was to play the American players. However, he had benched Mark Liveric, Ricky Davis, Bruce Wilson and Larry Hulcer. Although Davis and Wilson played sparingly, Weisweiler is looking for players from Germany and all of Europe to come to the Cosmos. What he'll do is ruin the team, the enthusiasm for soccer in the area, and the attendance, which dropped this year, will take a nose dive next season. The popular players who attracted the fans are no longer playing and the Cosmos could ruin a perfect situation for themselves.

The Muhammad Ali-Larry Holmes fight is tonight and I still think that Ali will win it. He's dropped some 40 pounds during training, showing how serious he is about the fight. He has speed in his hands and that old flair for winning. It would be quite an accomplishment and one that Ali is capable of.

Special thanks to the Belleville Varsity Club for providing the programs for the football game last Friday. The club does a number of good things for the athletic program, including the football dinner and all-sports dinner in June. Varsity Club members sell programs at all home games and your support will help make their efforts a continuing success.

Some "old" faces in the news: Julie Ranucci, who was captain of the cheerleading squad a couple of seasons back, wants everyone to know what a fine job the current squad is doing. She's absolutely right... Angelo Santinelli, who starred for the Bucs in football and wrestling, shined in his first grid game for Fordham University this past weekend. Angelo, a freshman playing varsity, was awarded a special helmet for being the outstanding defensive back against Pace University. He made 14 unassisted tackles and sacked the quarterback twice as the Rams blasted their way to a 32-6 victory.

Now for this week's picks. The Giants were beaten by Los Angeles last Sunday 28-7, thus ruining my prediction of an upset. Unfortunately, the Giants must play Dallas this week and worst of all, the game is in Dallas. The Cowboys have all the guns smoking and Danny White is doing a great job at quarterback. The Giants were outscored 63-10 over the last two weeks and the Dallas game will provide no break. Phil Simms cannot do it all and the defense is suddenly fading. Dallas 27, Giants 6.

The Jets return home for a must game with New England. Over the past three years, the Jets are 2-1 against the Pats at Shea. Furthermore, New England is erratic at times and Grogan does have a bad day now and then. If the Jets lose here, especially with Buffalo streaking and Miami starting to come around, the season will be history. New York 28, New England 27.

There are a number of big games in the NFL this week, but no bigger than the San Diego-Buffalo battle. The game is in San Diego, but the Bills have been playing awesome football everywhere. The

Yagiello air show spoils gridmen's 1980 opener

By Mike Lamberti

The Belleville football team did three things it hasn't done in quite awhile during last Friday's gridiron opener with Livingston.

First of all, the Bucs lost a regular-season game, something they haven't done in 11 months. Second of all, they lost at home, something that hasn't occurred since October 1978. Finally, they lost to Livingston, which hasn't happened since September 1977.

Needless to say, it wasn't a nice entrance into the 1980s for the team as it lost to Livingston and the Stan Yagiello show 36-12.

The Bucs had a tough time containing Yagiello, the fine Livingston quarterback. On the night, all he did was complete 13 of 22 passes for 211 yards and two touchdowns. He impressed Buc head coach John Senesky. "Yagiello and his entire team were very good," the coach commented. "At times, they looked like the number one team in the state, and at other times, we made them look like it."

Indeed, the Bucs had some fine drives muffed up by some sloppy plays, indicative of a young team on opening night. A crowd of 10,000, the largest to see a Belleville football game in quite some time, roared their team on, but it wasn't enough. "The big crowd, a beautiful field and the number one team in the state, that's quite a way to start," said Senesky.

The Bucs won the opening toss and drove down the field like it was 1979 all over again. They started the drive from their own 24 and powered to the Lancer 29 behind the fine running of Frank Fazzini (55 yards). Please see "Buccaneers" on page 15.

Mounties arrive tomorrow night

During the regular season last year, the only blot on Belleville's football record was a 14-7 loss to Montclair in week two. It was a game in which many coaches and scouts felt the Bucs had outplayed the Mounties.

This season, the Bucs must not only outplay Mounties, they must beat them because the blot on the Belleville record has come a game earlier. The BHS football team will take on Montclair 8 p.m. tomorrow at Municipal Stadium, looking to even its record at 1-1 following the opening loss to Livingston.

Doing that will not be easy because as usual Montclair Coach Butch Fortunato has put together a very strong team.

The Mounties, ranked 10th in the state and third in the county, are led by senior quarterback John Cummings who completed 16 of 19 passes for 208 yards in a 52-0 opening victory over Irvington Saturday.

On the receiving end of seven of those passes was split end Daryl Giles, a junior who scored three touchdowns against the Campers. The Mounties' potent offense also features running backs Mike Harris and Alton Long and flanker back Todd Carnevale. Len Robinson is the center, with Paul Winer at left tackle and Mike Seasar at right. Nick Zichello is the left guard, Doug Hodgson the right guard. Malcolm Green is at right end.

Montclair runs out of a 52 monster defense, and some players are going both ways for the team. At the corners are Long and Carnevale, while Giles plays safety. The linebackers are Jim Brown and Todd Drew who picked off an Irvington pass Saturday and returned it 50 yards for a touchdown. The monster back is John Mayer, Bill Ostrowski and Keith Gierney are the ends. Seasar is at left tackle, Winer at right. The nose guard is Ed Giles.

This lineup held Irvington scoreless while pumping over point after point, but Fortunato, who has been at the Montclair helm now for 41 years, is not impressed. "Let's say this. Unfortunately, Irvington came out in the second half and didn't want to play football. They were looking more to start fights than to play football," reported the coach. "It's unfortunate when anybody wants to do that. So the score didn't indicate accurately the comparative abilities of the two teams."

Fortunato was pleased with his team's aerial attack but felt the running game left a bit to be desired. "To be honest, I thought we were going to be more experienced this season," continued the coach. "Last week we started five juniors on our offensive team. We were more experienced on the defensive team, and yet our defense was not what it will have to be against Belleville."

As for the Bucs, Fortunato was again not impressed — with the lopsidedness of the score here Friday. He did not attend the game with Livingston, but his scouts did and they reported that "the difference in the score was not really indicative of Belleville's ability."

"Secondly," the coach added, "The Star Ledger at least is playing Yagiello up to be the greatest thrower in the state."

Fortunato had another candidate in mind for quarterback of the year. "Wait till you see Cummings," the coach said proudly. The Bucs will see Cummings and all the rest of the Mounties tomorrow and they'll be hoping to show them some talent of their own.

Musical Opening — Junior defensive back Brian Carpenter stands at attention during the playing of the national anthem before Friday's football game at Municipal Stadium.

Soccer squad plays hurt, loses to Kearny, Passaic

By Mike Lamberti

Some bad luck and nagging injuries played a key role as the Belleville High soccer team lost to powerful Kearny 6-1 last Friday and less powerful Passaic Monday.

Coach Anthony DeAquino's squad is now 0-4 and will face a strong Nutley team tomorrow at Clearman Field starting 3:45 p.m. Yesterday, the Bucs hosted Orange.

The score of the Kearny match was really not indicative of the type of game that Belleville played. The Bucs battled the Kards evenly for three quarters but at the outset of the fourth lost a player due to unsportsmanlike conduct and then gave up a fluke goal to the opposition.

"We really cannot afford to play one man short," said DeAquino. "I try to stress the importance of playing with a cool head and to not get yourself into trouble by being thrown out of a game."

The Kards went on to score five last-period goals and pull away to the 6-1 win.

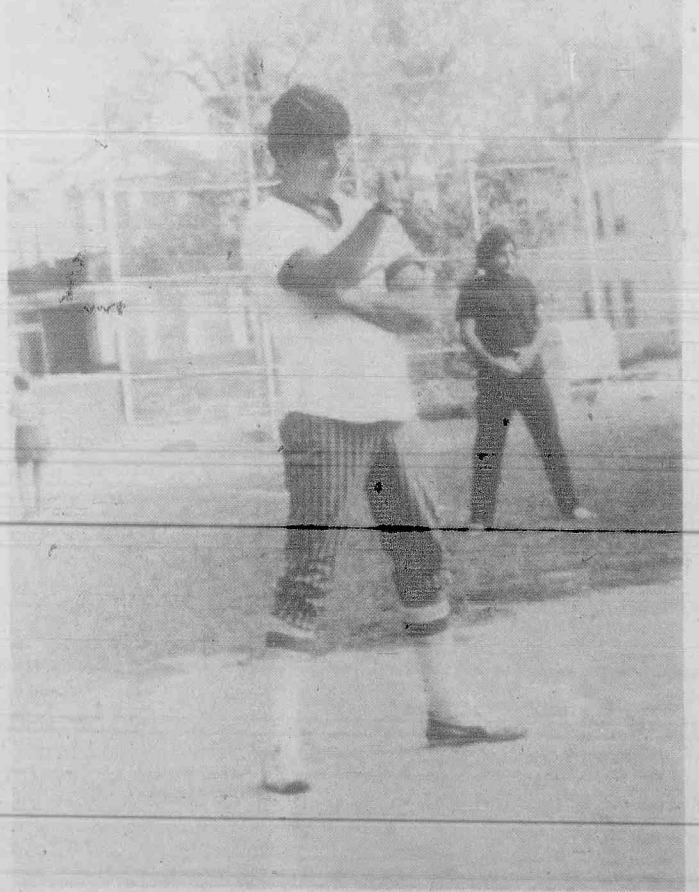

Monday at Clearman Field, Belleville played extremely well but came out on the short end of a 2-1 score. Larry Buenafe of Passaic got the game's first goal at 14:34 into the first period with an assist from Stephan Banko.

Belleville evened things up 53 seconds into the second quarter when John Lee booted one home on a pass from Dennis Dilican. The Indians came back at 2:48 into the same period, though, when Banko scored what proved to be the winning goal on a pass from Alex Baez.

Belleville's two goalies came up with 12 saves, Brian Cook with seven, Russell Mazza with five. Passaic's lone goalkeeper, Mike Zazaia, also had 12. The Bucs had 14 shots on goal to 16 for Passaic.

BUC BOOTS: The Bucs were without the services of high-scoring Rick DePrizio, who has been hampered with a foot problem. Tom Dunn played a good game Friday but was also injured. Brian Woods, whom DeAquino terms "ultra tough," came up with a concussion last week after a scissors kick and was questionable for this week's games. The Bucs lack depth and experience and can hardly afford any injuries. They will need to be back at full strength if they are to come up with a good season.

Cop on the Corner — Det. Sgt. Marty McNish stands on third during the special benefit softball game Sunday between Belleville's police and fire departments. The police won 11-5. The game was a winner itself — over $3,000 was raised for Officer Richie Gough, a victim of multiple sclerosis.

Netwomen are victors over Immaculate, 4-1

Victories do not come often for the Belleville High tennis team, but when they do, the girls can savor the moment thanks to some hard work.

Such was the case Monday as the girls defeated Immaculate Conception 4-1. Head coach Karen Fucello was glad to pick up the win, but is always quick to point out that the team can do a lot better. "I keep on stressing the importance of playing in tournaments and to keep on practicing after the season. Carol (Salerno) has been a good example. She has been very effective this season and has been giving the other schools a run for their money. She has been working hard and her game shows it."

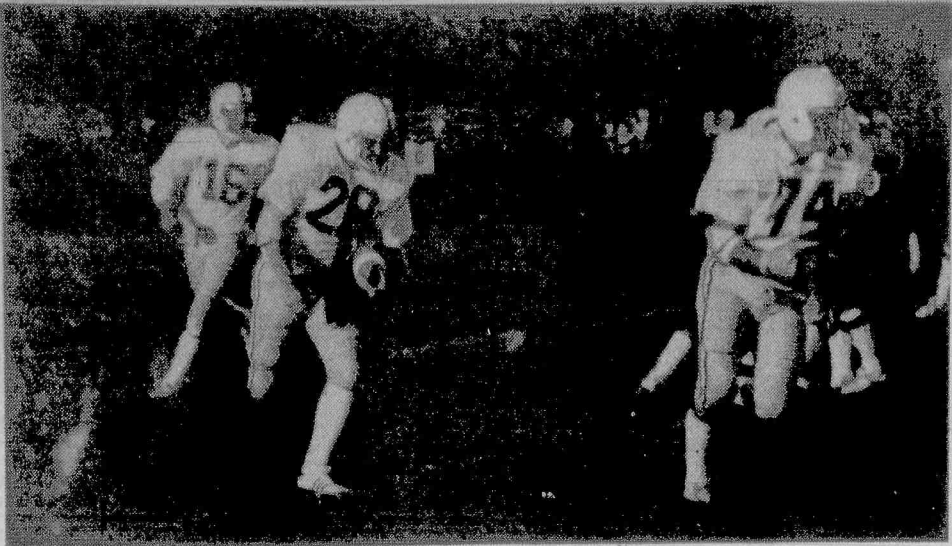

Besides the victory over Immaculate, the girls lost to Nutley 4-1 and dropped a tough match to powerful West Orange 5-0. The team's record now stands at 2-3 and the girls hit the road this week for a match with Kearny today and a visit to Irvington tomorrow afternoon. Earlier in the week, the team took a trip to Verona.

The Nutley match saw Salerno defeat a fine player from Maroon Country, Robyn Powell. "Carol was very strong in that match," commented Fucello. "I was very happy with the way she played, she definitely dominated the match."

There isn't too much room for argument with that statement. Salerno was a 6-2, 6-0 winner against a tough, highly touted senior girl from Nutley who has been playing varsity since her freshman year. Salerno will indeed be a factor in the coming weeks. Against West Orange, she lost to a very strong opponent 5-7, 3-6. The girl to whom Salerno lost was in the first singles finals last year and according to Fucello, "The match could have gone either way."

The team has shown signs of Please see "Tennis" on page 15.

Leading Man — Buc halfback Frank Fazzini carries for a short gain early in the first quarter Friday night. To his rear is Ken Constantino, up ahead Chip Verian.

Bucs fall to Lancers 36-12

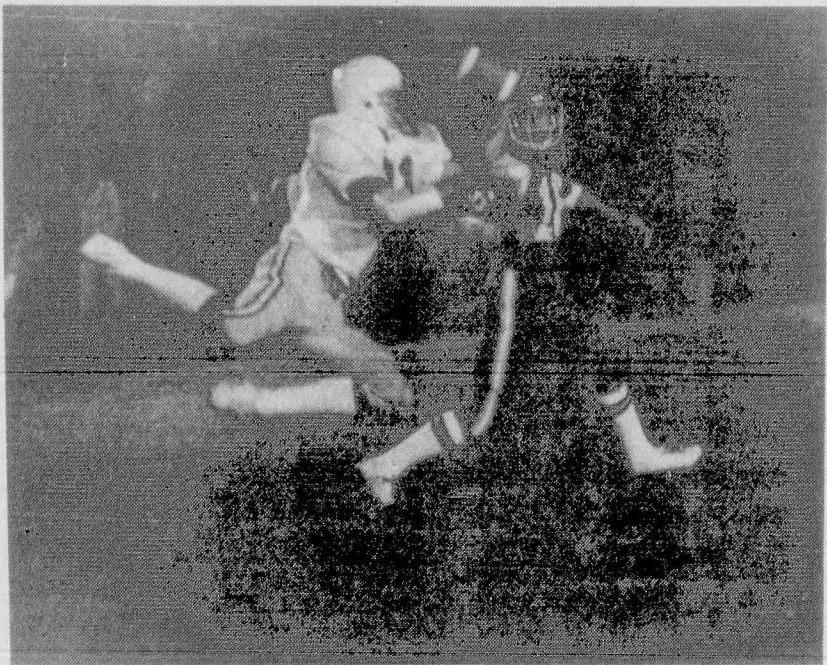

Bouncing Ball — Frank Fazzini and Bob Price chase down the opening kickoff under the lights at Municipal Stadium. Belleville was dropped by the Lancers 36-12.

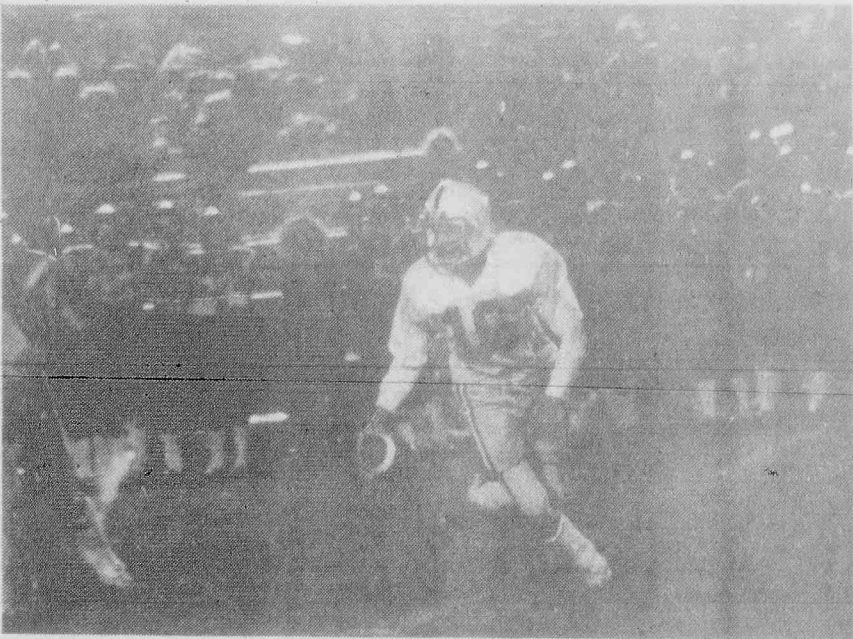

Swirling Mass — Frank Fazzini (center) leaps on a first-period Belleville fumble, one of several mistakes that slowed the Buc attack Friday. Teammates moving in are Jeff Walsh (43), Lugie Chimento (75) and John Bucciarelli (38).

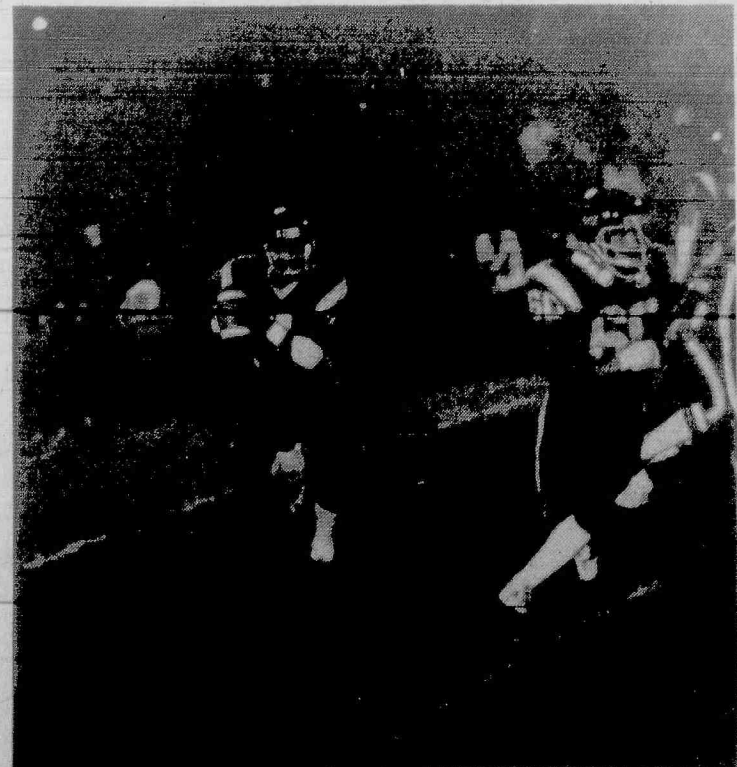

Season's First — The Lancers' Frank Dietrick tackles Ken Constantino but too late. The Buc end has just made a finger-tip catch to give Belleville its first TD of the game and of the year.

Broken Up — A bomb intended for Belleville's Ken Constantino is broken up and nearly intercepted by Steve Pontiakos of Livingston in the third quarter.

Scrambling — Stan Yagiello searches for a receiver and finding none open churns out two yards in the second quarter. The Lancer quarterback threw for over 200 yards and tossed two TD passes.

Keeper — Buc quarterback John Melillo hangs on to the ball in the first quarter and picks up a couple of yards. The Bucs' opening drive stalled and Livingston took over following a Belleville punt.

Run for Nothing — The Bucs' Jeff Walsh pursues George Alpert late in the fourth quarter as the star Livingston end tries to gather in yet another pass from Stan Yagiello. This one was overthrown.

Sam MacArthur extra pleased with Division IV soccer victory

By Fred Lardaro

Excuse the man. He is unfamiliar with sighing in relief, having coached so many teams of championship caliber over the past five years. Sam MacArthur's Division IV soccer team outlasted the Allendale Shooting Stars 3-2 Saturday in Belleville Park to raise its record to 1-2.

In other Saturday afternoon matches, Division II tied Wyckoff 0-0, the Division III Cobras scored a wild 3-2 victory over Tenafly and Division V lost to Jersey City 4-1.

MacArthur, having previously coached in Divisions I and II, has seen an impressive array of players who have performed with the best in New Jersey. This season, he has accepted the reigns of the Division IV team where many of the players are new to the sport and must be taught fundamentals before they can even think about championships.

"Sure they can dream about playing in important matches," said MacArthur, "but right now, I'd prefer they concentrate on trapping the ball, working together and learning how to use and create open space. Their most important matches are in the future."

All the Division IV goals were scored in the first half and materialized in the midfield. Belleville owned a commanding 3-0 lead at halftime.

Early in the match, Sal Woodcock, with possession of the ball at left half, broke toward the center, passing diagonally to Billy Bustamonte who was charging down the left wing. Bustamonte, an adept ball artist at age 11, beat two defenders and headed in for the near post forcing the goalkeeper to leave the goal mouth. Bustamonte having sufficiently drawn the keeper from his net then shoved the ball in front to Woodcock who had accompanied him on his flight. Woodcock scored unmolested, leaped into the air and then rushed to embrace Bustamonte.

Moments later, Allendale, retaliating, fired several shots on goal testing Belleville keeper Peter Hywel. Hywel smothered one severely curving ball to silence the frightening sequence and punted downfield to Giorgio Ricci. The husky striker drew defenders inside and then crossed the ball outside left. On the receiving end was Bustamonte who wasted no time feeding the ball back to Ricci who was sprinting toward the goal. Ricci caught the ball on a volley and slammed it for a second goal.

Belleville registered its third goal when it again controlled the ball in the midfield with methodic, deliberate passing then suddenly the ball was fed to Woodcock who had smartly and inconspicuously disappeared from play only to reappear inside the 18-yard line. Woodcock kicked a wicked ball which beat the goalkeeper high and toward the right corner.

The second half took a dangerous twist. Allendale quickly broke through to the scoreboard with two goals. However, the team could not manage an equalizer when the stingy defense anchored by Jim Dunphy settled for some serious play. Dunphy, Mike Gable, Phil Zamloot and Keith Woods played well in defense in the second half. Hywel had a good day in goals despite the fact that his lateral movement was hampered due to a recurring ankle injury.

In the second game played at Belleville Park, two of the finest Division II teams in the Northern Counties League locked horns and when the dust settled the score was an unsatisfying 0-0 tie.

To make matters worse, Belleville lost the services of Santiago Borja for an indefinite period when the six-foot, 165-pound striker collided in full flight with an equally immense adversary. Both were moving to head the ball. Neither player met the ball but their foreheads ricocheted off one another. The Wyckoff player fell backwards to the ground, his face covered with blood. Borja, like a cat, landed on his feet and took several steps forward before he fell to his knees, also bleeding profusely from a deep gash above his left eye.

Both players required stitches and will be forced to sit until their wounds heal. Division II, coached by Gary Serio and Bill Forrest, is enjoying a 2-0-1 record.

Division III journeyed into the Lions' den Saturday to face Tenafly. The Lions had scored 17 goals in two matches while allowing none and were labeled as one of the premier teams in the division.

However, the Cobras proved that a solid defense can best the best of the offensive powers, winning a 3-2 cliffhanger before several hundred Tenafly fans.

Eddie Acosta was superb at the sweeper scoring the winning goal off his head on a corner kick to open the second half. Goalkeeper Billy Donnerstag enjoyed another fine afternoon in goals. Freddie Cruz, Jimmy Jerez and Lenny Cocco played well on defense.

The Cobras scored first. The "Gallant Signor," Freddie Calvache, bombed away with a 35-yard shot which arched over everyone and into the net. Tenafly answered with two goals and looked ready to explode for more when Acosta and Donnerstag closed the door. Then it was the halfbacks, Mike Silletti, Luke Silletti and Mark D'Antonio who took the match away from Tenafly long enough to earn a free kick just outside the 18-yard line. Calvache converted with a rocket kick that ripped into the net to tie the score at two ending the half.

Seven minutes into the second half, the Cobras were again applying pressure. Tenafly, unfamiliar with such pressure this season, kicked the ball out of bounds behind the end line. Belleville was awarded a corner kick.

Calvache looped the corner toward the far post and it looked as though a perfectly placed shot would go for naught when Acosta suddenly burst out of nowhere and hammered the ball into the net off his forehead.

The final 33 minutes proved to be a wild affair with Tenafly trying its best to score and with a very vocal crowd making its presence felt. However, time and time again, the vaunted Cobra defense turned the Lions away.

The Cobras are currently undefeated and sitting atop the Northern Counties Division III with many difficult opponents on the horizon.

Division V traveled to Jersey City and suffered a 4-1 defeat as its record fell to 2-1.

Rec soccer play gets underway

The recreation soccer season began for all three divisions last Saturday. In the league for the youngest players, Division III, the Toros edged the Comets 1-0 on a goal by Steve Gogosa. Steven Hywel had two goals and Louis Coco one to lead the Cosmos over the Lancers 3-0. The Aztecs and Spurs played to a scoreless tie.

In Division II, Jeff Apple scored the only goal in the Aztecs' 1-0 win over the Spurs. The Toros registered their first win of the season on George Ricci's goal, topping the Comets 1-0. Gustavo Lijo, Joe Perna and Eric Nordmann each had a goal as the Cosmos downed the Lancers 3-0.

In Division I, Steve Mulhern tallied three goals leading the Spurs to a 3-2 victory over the Lancers. The Aztecs edged the Toros 2-1.

Harriers are blanked in double dual action

The Belleville High cross country team was shut out in a double dual meet with Vailsburg and Bloomfield last week.

The Bucs' record was 0-3 early this weekend when they entertained powerful Essex Catholic at home. Belleville competes this Saturday in the Passaic County Coaches Invitational at Garret Mountain.

Coach Rich Ruffalo didn't have much to say after the double loss last week. "Except for Dana (Caruso), we didn't perform that well," he commented.

Caruso posted a fine time of 19:25, second only to Bloomfield's Nancy Dennica who ran a sizzling 17:56 on the Bucs' home course. Other than that, the team was rather flat and the only excitement was the outcome of the Bloomfield-Vailsburg encounter. For those interested, Bloomfield won 27-28.

As for the locals, they will have to stay in and give it their best shot. As mentioned in previous weeks, the team did not have a large turnout, and the eight runners Belleville does have will have to give it 100 percent all the way.

overall) and Joe Cecere. The drive stalled on the 29 and Livingston took over after a Fazzini punt.

Yagiello started from his own 17 and relied, surprisingly, on the running game. As a matter of fact, Yagiello missed his first three passes before hooking up with his favorite receiver, George Alpert, for five yards to the Lancer 46. But after that, the Lancer passer took control, hitting Alpert for 21 yards and Fred Apicelli for 18. Apicelli also did a fine job on the ground, driving the Lancers to the 6-yard line of Belleville before Yagiello scooted around right end to score the Lancers' first touchdown. He also added the two-point conversion on a boot leg to boost the Lancer lead to 8-0.

Belleville quarterback John Melillo passed for 117 yards on four completions and two touchdowns, but was better than his stats might indicate. He had good speed and had to use it because the Lancer front line was on his back most of the evening.

After the Lancer score, Belleville could not generate any offense and punted to the Lancers. From the Buc 48, Yagiello found Alpert who beat the Buc secondary and scored untouched to boost the Lancer lead to 14-0. The two-point conversion was nullified because of a penalty.

After both teams failed in their next possessions, Livingston drove from its own 15 and in 11 plays boosted the lead to 22-0 as John Whelan scored from two yards out.

The Bucs went in to the locker room on a positive note as Melillo threw a 45-yard touchdown pass to Kenny Constantino as the half wore out. The Bucs just missed a two-point conversion and went in trailing 22-6.

If there were any questions about the Bucs' chances of a comeback they were all answered in the Lancers' first possession of the third quarter. The Bucs kicked off and Livingston drove down the field, using seven minutes and 64 yards. Apicelli capped off the drive with a four-yard run. The two-point conversion failed and Belleville trailed 28-6.

On their next possession, the Bucs, drove from the 26 to the Lancer 19, but the stingy Lancer defense shut the door on the Bucs. Livingston increased its lead to 36-6 in the fourth quarter on a Yagiello to Steve Baker touchdown for 13 yards.

The Bucs added a touchdown late in the game on a 45-yard bomb from Melillo to Bill Zeimer. The conversion failed and Belleville trailed 36-12. That's the way the game ended.

Frank Fazzini did a fine job on both sides of the field for the Bucs.

improvement and with the upgraded play of Rosie Leonidis in second singles and Angela Chimento in the third spot, the team can be a definite contender. The doubles teams have been Karen Petinio and Gina Pasquale in the first spot and Kim Laidiero and Rose Cataldo in the second spot.

Chargers have a good offense, perhaps the NFL's best, while Buffalo is riding a high. The balloon might break here, especially with a screaming home crowd. San Diego 23, Buffalo 20.

The answer to last week's quiz. The question was what Belleville cross country runner set the record on the Bucs' home course. The answer, Bill Goodwin. "Goody" ran a 15:20, the top time for a Belleville harrier on the home course. He did it in 1973.

This week's quiz is more like a test, but give it a try. In 1968, the Baltimore Colts went through the season with a record of 13-1. Their only loss that season came in week six to the Cleveland Browns, 30-20. Furthermore, they were without quarterback Johnny Unitas for the entire year. The Colts made it to the Super Bowl where they lost to the upstart New York Jets of the AFL. Can you name the teams the Colts beat after the Cleveland loss, who they defeated in the playoffs, the team's head coach and the quarterback who replaced Unitas?

Belleville's big event — the Marotti picnic

Burlap Bounce — John Bruno and his grandson, Craig Brown Jr., hold their own private sack race. The annual picnic was held Sept. 21 at the Old Cider Mill Grove in Union.

On the Field — Taking time for a picture before tossing around the frisbee are Frank Alessio, Luke Silletti and Ralph Chimento.

Under the Arch — Seated beneath the shady roof at the Grove are Judy Salmon, Jack McCabe and Colleen Salmon.

Yoke's on You — One of the most exciting games played at the picnic, and certainly the messiest, was this one. Two lines of children faced each other, tossing eggs. The winner was the last remaining youngster not to have caught an egg and broken it.

Camera Shy — Stephanie Perrone, 10½ months old, needs a little prompting as she swings in the playground.

Generation Gab — Mayor Marotti has a word with his grandson, Billy Escott Jr., whose father is PBA President and Belleville Police Det. Bill Escott.

PLAY REVIEW

NLT overcomes jitters to make 'Sam' success

By Michael C. Gabriele

The Nutley Little Theatre opened its 1980-81 season Friday night with Woody Allen's "Play It Again, Sam," directed by Vicky Chalk Little. Though opening night jitters and strain were present in the early stages of the play, the well chosen cast overcame its problems and fashioned a spirited, satisfying comedy for a receptive audience that more than filled the house.

There were no outward problems or flaws during the first act; the players were energetic and delivered their lines directly, the music and lights were on cue and without mishap. But a subtle, unspoken uneasiness seemed to nag the early stages of the play. It was as though the performers were overly conscious of their situation or trying too hard to make things work. It took time before a relaxed, comic flow was achieved. It was a credit to the cast members that they were able to burn off their nervous energy, iron out the kinks and make the play work with many funny and touching situations for the final two acts.

Robert Sapoff of Nutley, in the lead role of Allan Felix, was the focus of the comedy and set a brisk, athletic pace for the other players to follow. Sapoff wisely shunned any temptation to mimic Woody Allen in his portrayal of Allan Felix, which lent him credibility and allowed his own more aggressive interpretation and comic style to shine. Sapoff, who had a refreshing comic charm, was much more urgent and expressive in the role than the Allan Felix seen in the movies.

Art Turnbull of Kearny, as Allan's best friend Dick Christie, was an excellent straight man for Sapoff. Though forced to conform to his role throughout the play, Turnbull was at his best extending his range in an outrageous dream scene as a passionate jilted Italian lover seeking revenge, a brief role he relished and played to full advantage.

Dennis Gualtieri of Belleville was truly a find as Humphrey Bogart, and just his physical "Bogart" and presence was an icing for the play. Though at first a bit timid in deciding how much Bogart he should project, by act two he was in full command as he coached Allan to take advantage of his opportunity with a "dame" like Linda Christie on his sofa, a highlight scene of the play.

The quiet trooper who tied everything together during "Sam" was Maureen Cooper of Lodi, who as Linda developed her affection for the unlucky Allan in a coy, believably feminine performance. Cooper made Linda a delicate and touching character as she accepted a small toy skunk from Allan for her birthday. Her gentle manner was a most successful complement to Allan's clumsy romantic advances. This "tender affair" between two lonely and awkward people was an endearing victory in character development for Cooper, Sapoff and director Vicky Chalk Little.

Another victory for Little was her pinpoint casting. The actors she chose all "looked good" in their roles and fit well together. Technical elements of lighting and background music were smooth and enhanced the play, especially the mood lights for Allan's worrisome neurotic conscious and fantasy skits. These dream interludes were smartly staged gems which featured Lita Kean as Allan's cold yet alluring ex-wife Nancy, as well as advice from Humphrey Bogart.

Kean, just one of many NLT newcomers in the "Sam" cast, showed style and made the most of her dream scenes. Gail Rog's spilling tresses and doleful longing for a man as capable as Allan Felix made her just one of an effective harem of dream girls that also included Denise Guerrero of Belleville, Linda Holgerson, Antoinette Rinaldi and Phyllis Cupparo of Belleville. Not a "dream" girl, but still adding a sharp one-scene performance was Carol McConnell as Sharon Lake, the unsuspecting blind date for Allan.

"Play It Again, Sam" will run 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday and 3 p.m. Sunday this weekend and next. Tickets are $3.50. The NLT Barn is located at 47 Erie Place, Nutley.

N.J. Theatre Ensemble offering acting classes

The New Jersey Theatre Ensemble is sponsoring free acting classes at the First Lutheran Church in Montclair, beginning this month. Classes will be open to students and adults.

Enrollment starts noon this coming Sunday at the church's fellowship hall, located at 153 Park St., Montclair. Those who cannot make enrollment may call 743-2235 for the fall schedule of classes.

A spring workshop is planned to exercise participants' involvement in the classes held during the fall and winter.

In addition to acting classes in technique, stagecraft, mime and dance, a special program of music and creative dramatics for the handicapped will be offered during the fall months. Details will be available at enrollment. Jane Aulenbach of Belleville will be teaching music and creative dramatics for the handicapped for over seven years in the Nutley school system and is working towards a master's degree in music at Montclair State College. She serves on the board of trustees of the New Jersey Theatre Ensemble, a non-profit stock company in summer residence at Kean College in Union. In addition to musically directing shows at Kean, she writes music and teachers in her spare time.

Blacksmith plays benefit for church

Blacksmith, a rock quintet made up of local residents, played a benefit concert Sunday for St. Theresa's Church in Paterson.

The group consists of Bill Tucher of Belleville and Dennis Smith of East Orange on lead guitars, Fred Cizzi of Belleville on rhythm guitar and lead vocals, Tony DiEduardo of Nutley on bass and Mark DiEduardo of Nutley on drums.

Pep rally in gym kicks off BHS sports season

First assembly greeted with great enthusiasm

By Donna Shaw

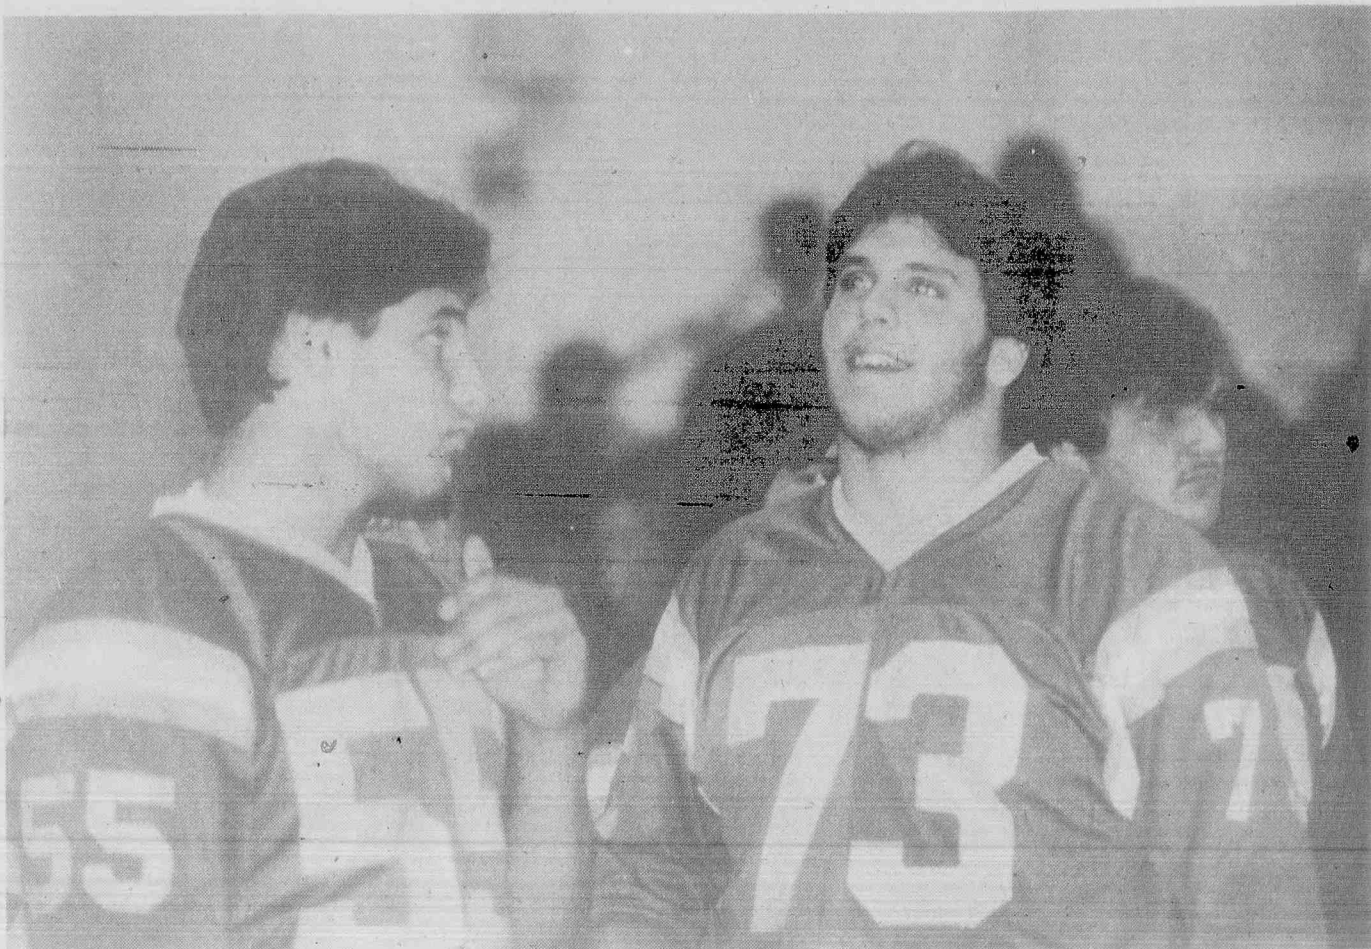

Belleville High's first pep rally took place this past Friday in the gym. The assembly, which was sponsored by Mrs. Thompson, the girls' gym teacher, was held from 1:15 to 2:31 p.m., omitting periods 11 and 12. The pep assembly began with a color guard presentation and "The Star-Spangled Banner."

After that, the cheerleaders led off with some cheers, which included "Go Buccaneers" and "Yea Coach." As the coaches were introduced, they brought forth the teams and squads and told the students their names, numbers and positions.

Asked what she thought of the pep rally, sophomore Lisa Sylvestro enthusiastically replied, "I think it's great. It's a good way to find out who's on all the teams and get us in the school spirit."

After seeing the slides of the previous year's football games, Tobi Tango had this to say: "I loved it. I'm a senior. That's the most school spirit I've ever seen since I started high school. I had a ball."

Getting the Spirit — Buc football captains Rich Racioppo and Anthony D'Agostino enjoy the limelight at the first Belleville High pep rally last Friday. All the coaches and teams were introduced at the big event held in the BHS gym.

Color Me Crayon — Four-year-old Kenneth Johansen works diligently in Mrs. Angela Bonzio's School 10 kindergarten class. The paper award on his shirt indicates he knows the days of the week.

Sock hop draws dancing throng

By Valerie Housenick

The yearbook staff sponsored a sock hop last Thursday in the BHS gym. Admission was $2 in advance and $2.50 at the door. There was a live DJ and refreshments at low 50s prices.

About 200 students showed up. Many of them were dressed in the 50s style and they rocked around the clock to the music of the 50s. A few of the favorite tunes were "Love Me Tender" by Elvis Presley, "Diana" by Paul Anka, "Big Girls Don't Cry" by the Four Seasons, and everyone's all-time favorite, "California Girls" by the Beach Boys. At 10:30, the DJ began to play a few up-to-date records.

One of the highlights of the night was when Jack McCabe, a sophomore, got up and sang "Born to Run" to a very appreciative audience. The other thrilling event was the raffle. Raffle tickets were 25 cents. The first prize winner was Georgette McDavid who won a camera. The second prize, a transistor radio, went to sophomore Lisa Sylvestro. The third-place winners received stuffed animals and frisbees.

Asked about the dance, Donna Shaw, a sophomore, commented, "I thought it was great. I never had so much fun in my life!"

The resource room teacher can be an asset to a school because all the children and teachers can benefit from the expertise of the resource teacher. One way this was done at School 7 was to have a perceptual improvement club for first graders. This was possible because School 7 has a voluntary club program during school time.

This past school year, six youngsters were selected by Mrs. Janet Longo, the first grade teacher. The selection was based on poor progress in handwriting, reading and math. In February when the program began, the children made many reversals and poorly formed letters and numbers. They had difficulty copying from the board, and frequently lost their place. Letters and letter sound relationships were difficult for them to learn. Numbers from 0 to 10 could not be written or recited.

The children attended the club for a half-hour weekly from the first week in February to the last week in May. To observe progress, the students' work was put in a file biweekly. During club, exercises and games were provided for eye-hand coordination, large and fine motor development and auditory and visual memory. Left and right directions were stressed in as many activities as possible.

Some activities used for eye-hand coordination were peg and block designs, finger plays and sorting. Large motor activities included jumping jacks, Simon says and ball-throwing. A favorite visual or auditory memory game was "I am going on a trip and taking along..." For this game, the children could just tell the things they wanted to take along or use picture cards to show and tell the things going on the trip.

Progress was made by all the children. Letter and number formation was improved with fewer reversals. The children could copy from the board with losing their place. All the children were reading words and sentences. Numbers from 0 to 100 could now be written and recited, and concepts — before and after, and addition and subtraction — were learned.

For the children, the highlight of the program took place at the last meeting. On that day, each child made his own game to share with the others and enjoy over the summer. One child made a story about flowers on four cards to be placed in correct sequence. Another child made an outdoor scene with something wrong. The children were asked to find it. From paper, seven objects were made for the game, "I am taking a trip." After the children played the game, they tried to name all the objects from memory. Designs were made from graph paper for block building. Animals and birds were made from paper facing different directions. The children told the correct direction. Last of all, a child using tagboard made a car with removable parts. Each child had fun telling the part of parts that were missing. It is felt that the perceptual improvement club played an important role in the academic improvement of the youngsters. The club this past year last only four months. This year, it is hoped that the time can be lengthened to seven so the children can enjoy it from October to May. Since the children enjoyed making the games so much, more of this will be included in the program.

School Can Be Fun — Listening to a story told by School 10 librarian Betty Johnson is the whimsical class of Mrs. AnneMarie St. George. All the children listened carefully as Miss Johnson enthralled them.

Band labors hard on show

By Nancy Roberts

The many members of the 1980-81 Belleville High School marching band busily prepared the formations, routines and music to be ready for their first halftime performance Friday night.

The students and faculty members involved in this demanding but fulfilling pastime are putting in many hours of their own time practicing after school and at night.

The musical selections this year span many decades, all the way from the early 20s and 30s to the contemporary sound of 1980. Some of the songs featured are "Charleston," "Shake, Rattle and Roll" and "Wipe Out," just to name a few.

Band director Andy Silbert believes that it is a bigger and better marching band that will be performing at football games, band shows and parades this year. He and his squad directors, Mrs. Josephine Montemurro, Mrs. Dolly Rodriguez and Mrs. Grace Worley all share a very optimistic outlook for the band in 1980.

Orchestra and chorus set annual hoagie sale

By Toni Grippaldi

On Oct. 17 and 18, the Belleville High School Orchestra and Chorus are going to hold their annual hoagie sale, in keeping with school tradition.

Fresh rolls will be delivered to Belleville High School on Saturday morning, and the variety of cold cuts, lettuce, tomato and dressings will make up the hoagie. Hoagies are delivered to the buyer's home.

The hoagie sale is designed to raise funds for an exchange trip. In an exchange trip, the Belleville High School Orchestra and Chorus will perform at another school, and the other group will perform here. It has not been decided where the exchange trip will take place.

The orchestra and chorus would appreciate your support.

Good Group — These budding artists are in Mrs. Lucy Cappello's School 3 class. Standing (l-r) are Ann Renninger, Maria Nardone, David McNeio and Louis Matthews. Kneeling are Charlene Villane, Vincent Nucci and Mike Chieffo.

School 8 Association hosting open house tonight

The Home and School Association of School 8 will kick off the year with an open house 7:30 tonight in the school's multi-purpose room.

The program will begin with a greeting from Mary Anne Verano, the association's president. Some brief remarks by Arthur Pico, School 8's new principal, will follow. Parents may then visit their children's teachers and classrooms.

A bookmobile will be parked outside the school and parents and friends may peruse the selections and make purchases. The bookmobile was a very successful project of the association last year, and Pat Lima, chairman of this year's bookmobile committee, reports that over 1,000 books will be for sale, along with small games and puzzles. The Home and School Association's executive committee urges all parents with children in School 8 to attend the meeting tonight and support the bookmobile.

Magnet plans stress teachers' input

Trustee John DiStasi worried that those attending a "fundamental" school might be stigmatized, but Cummis said, "We use any types of groupings and group (children) according to interest (not achievement)". She noted that parents must involve themselves with homework to reinforce what their child is learning in school. "Hopefully, the parents who bring their children to this program, bring them fully aware of what the program is all about." She said she hoped a fundamental magnet would draw from "all aspects" of the community.

Classroom size in a fundamental magnet shouldn't exceed 25 or fall below 16 because "that's not a good, workable grouping," she said. The basic skills focus would be strictly on second, third and fourth graders at School 10, the proposed fundamental magnet school. "I believe every school teaches basic skills, we're just putting more emphasis on it," said Mrs. Cummis.

Mrs. Cummis said all affected School 10 teachers have been given copies of their curriculum guide to study and contemplate before deciding if they'd like to stay to teach fundamentals there.

She said Jan. 1 would be the earliest "realistically" that 10 could begin as a fundamental magnet.

"We're only fooling each other if we rely on volunteers," said Trustee Anthony D'Agostino, who pointed out that trained specialists would be much more suited to teaching at Belleville's fundamental school.

Though Mrs. Cummis agreed with Dr. D'Agostino, she felt that local teachers could handle the job themselves. She also gave trustees a list of supplies she could use, such as tape recorders, headsets, paperback books and other "manipulative" materials used to entice children to learn.

Underlying Belleville's program for the academically talented (AT) is a strong belief in "creative problem solving," according to Sue DiRuggiero, the committee chairman and a second-year AT teacher. She and committee members Pat Pagano and Social Studies Supervisor Richard Graves believe coordination between English and social studies is crucial to developing a well-rounded student. Other subjects will probably be phased in as the opportunity permits.

DiRuggiero said the AT program emphasizes creativity through field trips and "actual production of something." Last year, AT students put on a "Vaudeville Broadway" show, drawing several hundred spectators and proving the teachers' ability to draw out the talents of the youngsters.

"It's a new field and we're feeling our way," said DiRuggiero. She said "problems were being solved slowly but surely and we need more workshops for parents and teachers."

Greed noted that Belleville's proposed fine arts magnet at School 3 will "take some of the tension off the AT program," and also possibly become a building block for the entire AT course.

"It's (exposure to literature and critical thinking) broadening their horizons at that level (grades five and six)," said DiRuggiero, noting a self-contained AT program within one school would be better than the traveling road show both she and Miss Pagano now conduct.

"They (DiRuggiero and Pagano) make a great investment of time; they really care and I think that's one of the reasons the program is working," said Greed. He noted that both Pagano and DiRuggiero show "emotional maturity" in dealing with varied administrators, which helps them deal with talented kids.

Asked whether some children consider themselves better than others because they're in AT, DiRuggiero admitted it was a problem, but no more so than with any talented person who is able to show off his abilities.

School Board President Ernie

Zoppi suggested using AT in School 7 so that neither teachers nor students would have to move about during the day, but Greed hesitated. He told Zoppi to ask all three committee members before making a final decision.

"We can always build a school for it. That shouldn't be too controversial," joked Trustee Mike Chieffo.

Greed said "at least" five classes would have to be set aside in School 7 for AT, and wasn't sure whether it could be arranged. When the program will begin also remains a question.

Constant emphasis is needed to boost English skills scores

A minimum competency English test for high school sophomores coupled with a continued emphasis on English skills, including writing, speaking, critical thinking, debating, essays and poetry must take place daily in order for students to become proficient and comfortable with their native language.

That's the assessment of Leonard Marciano, Belleville's English supervisor for grades 7-12. He feels that although local students "have come a long way" since 1973-75 when English scores plummeted, there remains a pressing need for all teachers to repeatedly stress the basic skills of English — reading, writing, speaking and listening comprehension. Along with polishing those skills, he says school libraries "should be beefed up and they should be the hub of our schools."

In the recent statewide classification of schools, Belleville High was given "interim" rather than flat-out approval because it fell 1.1 percent below the state's reading standard.

To comply with the state standard, Marciano must now submit a "remedial plan" to state officials to show that educators are working to correct local skill deficiencies. However, both Belleville High Principal John DeCesare and Marciano feel the students will have no trouble next year not only meeting the state standard but exceeding it.

Marciano, who has taught 25 years in Belleville's school system, believes the key to unlocking better grades lies with the student but must be turned by the teacher. "The key word is individual instruction. It must be given as much as possible and homework also should be given every night," he said.

Class size is crucial to teaching basic skills, added Marciano, pointing out that 20 to 25 students are about tops to adequately teach with a decided basic skills emphasis.

He said he will instruct the 29 teachers he supervises to spend about 80 percent of their time in basic skill areas, though they will still retain free reign, after consultation with him, to choose other areas and books that complement their classes.

Trustee John DiStasi questioned what coordination between elementary, junior high and high school exists. Though Marciano was confused by the question, he noted that curriculum guides help teachers learn what other teachers are doing.

He noted that the thorough and efficient state education law isn't all bad because "it helps them (teachers) keep their fingers on the pulse." Responding to Trustee Anthony D'Agostino's question, Marciano said a survey may soon be started to find out what happens to students who had trouble with English skills after they graduate.

People in Service

Resident promoted to airman first class

Kenneth H. Nash Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth H. Nash of 4 Melwex St., has been promoted by the U.S. Air Force to the rank of airman first class.

Airman Nash is an administrative specialist at Fairchild Air Force Base in Washington.

Navy Gunner's Mate 3rd Class Edwin T. Brady, son of Edwin P. and Patricia M. Brady of 321 Stephens St., is participating in the exercise "Team Work 80." He is a crew member aboard the guided missile destroyer USS Sampson whose homeport is Mayport, Fla.

The exercise, being conducted in the North Atlantic, English Channel and the North and Norwegian Seas, involves more than 60,000 personnel, 170 ships and 400 aircraft from Canada, Denmark, Germany, the Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, the United Kingdom and the United States. It is designed to demonstrate and improve the capability of the NATO Alliance to reinforce and resupply shipping from North America across the Atlantic and from the U.K. to northern European ports. The ships will defend against simulated attacks from surface ships, submarines and aircraft.

The field training phase of the exercise involves an amphibious landing in central Norway by 16,800 troops from the Netherlands, Norway, the United Kingdom and the United States. Aircraft providing cover to the ships and infantry will be operating from bases in Germany, Iceland, Norway, the U.K. and the United States.

Brady joined the Navy in January 1978.

Joseph T. Flynn, son of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Flynn of 36 Mertz Ave., recently completed a U.S. Air Force ROTC field training encampment at Dover Air Force Base in Delaware. During the encampment, he received survival and small arms training and aircraft and air crew indoctrination. Flynn is a student at Trenton State College.

ing, they're not about to force the issue since it would probably raise taxes.

Instead of 13 men per shift, the FMBA recommends 19. With 13 on, if an ambulance goes out, it leaves only eight or nine men to handle a working fire — even fewer men if both ambulances are being used.

With 19 men on each of the department's four shifts, along with three backup firemen in case of sickness, Belleville will be adequately protected — enabling firemen to handle all calls, according to the FMBA.

Pica, citing noose-like budget "caps," says he will have to wait until at least after the new volunteer EMTs get some experience before assessing the manpower situation.

What infuriates the firemen most is that they feel local officials are downplaying the situation, and will continue to do so until someone is killed.

"They've been acting like it's not too important, sure, this bothers us but so far the courts have ruled against us," says local FMBA President Harry Scott, reached at the Washington Avenue firehouse.

Scott was referring to a case brought by New Jersey's public advocate against East Orange for endangering its citizens with less than adequate fire protection, a case thrown out of court on a technicality. The state FMBA now plans to appeal it to the New Jersey Supreme Court.

From 81 men, the Belleville department is now down to 75, says Scott, only enough for 13-man shifts. He stresses that a 15-man shift would be much better, but views the FMBA's dream of 19-man shifts as probably out of reach unless a court decision goes its way.

About nine people were rushed to Clara Maass Memorial Hospital early last Monday morning, all suffering various injuries, despite valiant rescue attempts by Silver Lake Fire Capt. Gabe Santuoso and fireman Ronald LaMotta. Both arrived alone at the scene, with fire already bursting from the house and a man visible inside. They saved the man, along with several other women inside, said Chuck Aughenbaugh, a local FMBA spokesman.

"An engine company should have four men on it," says Aughenbaugh, "but we'd like to see a minimum of three per company." He says Pica has cut shifts from 16 to 13-man rotations.

Asked if Belleville is adequately protected, Aughenbaugh quickly replied, "No, it's not adequately protected, ask any insurance company or fire association you can talk to. No one operates with two men in a company any more," he added.

He said buildings like Clara Maass Hospital and the Essex County Geriatrics Center here could cause big problems if a fire ever broke out at either place. Neighboring firefighters would have to be called in, along with all Belleville's off-duty men, to attempt containing a large fire.

He said the U.S. Fire Administration has hired an independent firm to study the impact of reduced manning in fire departments, with its conclusions due in several years. "But we can't wait three years," said Aughenbaugh.

State promises tough penalties for those who violate water law

Local officials weren't available to give an approximate rundown on Belleville's water crisis, but Staples noted Monday "it's hard to get a handle" on exactly what local savings are since water meters are read only about once a month, or once every three months.

Added charges for excessive water use and penalties for repeated violations will be imposed under Byrne's order. The monthly surcharge amounts to $5 for each extra 100 cubic feet (750 gallons), up to 300 cubic feet, followed by a $10 surcharge for each additional 100 cubic feet. It's estimated that normal water use for a four-member family totals 7,500 gallons a month, 1,500 more than is allowed under Byrne's conservation mandate.

First-time violators will get a warning from their water company, while second-time violators will get a "flow restrictor" in their water line for 15 days which won't be removed until they pay a $50 fine.

Three-time violators get the flow restrictor put back into their lines and face up to a $500 fine.

Staples suggested that local residents scoop up shower head water restrictors, which reduce the flow of water, at a local plumbing store. He said doing this, along with installing small half-gallon or quart jugs inside the toilet tank, will reduce the five to seven gallons used per flush.

A shower uses three to three-and-a-half gallons a minute, a tub bath 20 to 50 gallons, a leaky toilet up to 100 gallons a day, a dishwasher 13 to 15 gallons per load, a washing machine up to 50 gallons a load, and leaving water running while shaving, brushing teeth or washing hands about three gallons per minute.

"The name of the game is to have the reservoirs back to full capacity by next June, and we can't assume it's going to rain," noted Staples.

A proposed pipeline from Lake Hopatcong to the Rockaway River feeding into Jersey City's reservoir is planned, and could be constructed with emergency funds if desperately needed, said Staples.

"This is the first time the law has stepped in and mandated conservation," noted Staples, referring to Byrne's unprecedented Saturday declaration to save our most precious resource.

Commercial businesses are supposed to cut consumption 25 percent. Even those with private wells have been put under Byrne's 50-gallon per person maximum.

Even in 1964-65 when New Jersey suffered through another drought, no conservation measures were imposed except for voluntary restraints.

About 3 percent of Nov. 4's $145 million bond issue for natural resources will go to build a huge interconnector system and pumping station at Great Notch Reservoir.

Recreation vehicle code temporarily suspended

"living, sleeping or housekeeping" according to the as-yet-unapproved ordinance.

Valley Association President Bob May said last week that many RV owners can't get their vehicles through snafu driveways to park them in the backyard. Asked by one resident to junk both ordinances, Pica replied, "I don't know if that's what the town really wants."

Former policeman Hugh O'Toole said a previous police chief told policemen not to enforce the old RV ordinance because it would cause too many problems, and admitted he was annoyed and frustrated by today's politicians.

"When do you people stop telling us what to do?" asked O'Toole. "I'm resentful of the fact I have to be told what I can and what I can't do." He said he likes to "move around and see this country," and said he felt commissioners would be "infringing" on his civil rights by passing any ordinance on RVs.

"The ordinance that we had to live with was crazy. Giving summons out under the old ordinance was wrong," said Pica. He declared a moratorium, or suspension of the old ordinance, until a compromise could be agreed upon.

O'Toole called any RV ordinance "a big bag of rattle snakes" and urged Pica not to become enveloped in it. Town watchdog Joe Fornarotto told Pica a Nutley resident often parks his truck along Union Avenue at night because he knows Belleville police won't ticket it.

Pica resented Fornarotto's implication that Belleville police weren't doing their job, calling his charges "a fallacy" and adding that Belleville police do a good job.

Mayor Michael Marotti emphasized after several citizens had spoken that revisions would be made before a final RV ordinance was okayed, hoping to curtail a repetitive public hearing. However, numerous speakers continue to ask commissioners about the RV proposal.

"Let this thing die a natural death," said Killen during the commissioners' pre-meeting caucus. However, Pica is hoping that Killen comes up with a less radical solution.

Trustees want to keep School 1 for future use verting either school into board offices. He pointed out that enrollments were declining and that education's present "era of specialization" demanded more room for special classes, rather than administrators.

"I concur with Tony (Dr. D'Agostino)," said Trustee John DiStasi, "but the board facilities are not the best." He noted that more space for executive and business sessions would be available at School 1, along with added room to expand administrative services and storage.

Town commissioners own the building at 383 Washington Ave. but permit trustees rent-free occupancy. It's estimated that trustees saved $300,000 by closing Schools 1 and 2, but if they now decide to reopen 1 for board offices, they'll be socked with maintenance costs.

"You keep the better building within the system (by using 1)," said Zampino. He noted that more children could enter Belleville schools in the next 10 years, and if they needed another school, they'd have one.

"Utilizing 1 now is the most practical," said Zampino. However, while Zampino pointed out the shrewdness of keeping 1, Zoppi noted School 2 is not only too small for board offices, but also would be the easiest school to unload.

Trustees own nine-tenths of an acre at the School 2 site, while commissioners own another one-half acre. If the school is sold and demolished, about six to eight houses could be built on the property, say trustees, pointing to the valuable tax ratables the local treasury would accrue.

Bill Cosby talks to Jim Lund: Red Cross lifesaving hero.

Cosby:
"Must've been fate that brought you to that motel 1,000 miles from home, Jim."

Lund:
"Good thing I walked out by the pool when I did, Bill - that boy would be a drowning statistic. Nobody else knew what to do."

a man was shaking the kid by his heels!
All I could think was get air in those lungs. I laid him down and tilted his head back to open the airway so I could breathe some life into him.

The mouth-to-mouth was - everything was automatic. My Red Cross training came back clear as a bell that day - 25 years after I took that course.

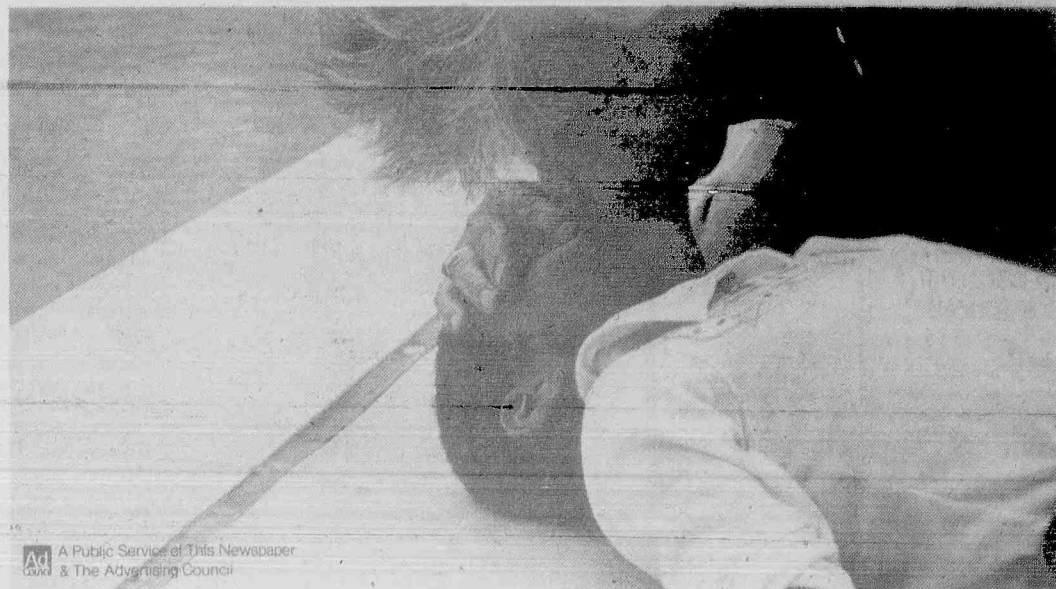

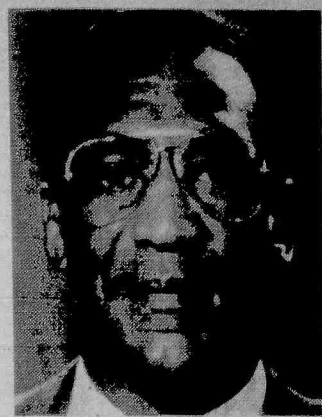

Cosby:
"And the boy - O.K.?"

Lund:
"First time I ever got pleasure seeing a little boy cry. His father cried, too."

Cosby:
"Bet he was grateful."

Lund:
"Yes, that boy's father was grateful. So was I. Grateful for Red Cross."

PROFESSIONAL SERVICE

We realize that our responsibility to you includes more than just handing a prescription bottle over the counter and taking your money. We want to make certain that you know just how to use medication. How frequently should it be used? Should it be taken with food or on an empty stomach? Should it be refrigerated? Does everyone know how to use an eye drop? All these and many more are the discussions we have everyday with you, our valued friends. We want to help you get the maximum benefit from your prescription dollars!
