BOW TO WESSEX 22-7

State championship eludes Buc gridmen

By Mike Lamberti

Somehow, it just seemed too good to be true. The script was written perfectly, with no flaws, no room for error. And somehow, some way things just didn't work out as everyone in Belleville had hoped.

The script had gone something like this: The Belleville High football team was to lose its opener to Livingston, draw a lot of criticism as a young squad, a team still a year away with the potential but without enough ability to compete against the rugged opponents on its 1980 schedule.

Then the plot called for the Bucs to shock the experts, win their next nine games, many by one-sided scores, and advance to the finals of the state Group IV, Section 2 championships against West Essex. To make things even more interesting, Madison Central, the No. 1 team in the state, would lose just before the Belleville game on a field goal in overtime as the Buc players roared their approval.

The Bucs, the No. 2 team in the state, would then take the field and conclude their marvelous season by beating the Knights of West Essex and taking home their first state title.

The script provided all of that but left out the happy ending. The Belleville Buccaneer football team closed out its 1980 season on a disappointing note Sunday evening, falling 22-7 to West Essex.

Belleville ended up with a glittering 9-2 record, but it was a crushing blow to the Bucs to have come so close to a state title and then to fall.

The week building up to the playoff game with West Essex made it seem something like a mini super bowl. Both teams received a lot of publicity in the press and drew huge followings to Giants Stadium.

Perhaps the reason for Belleville's loss was the superior play of West Essex and not the subpar play of Belleville. West Essex played error-free ball, not fumbling once or throwing an interception. The Knights continually pinned Belleville in bad field position in the first half and it wasn't until the third quarter that the Bucs were able to get their powerful offense on track.

West Essex won the toss and Jim Sullivan, the Knights' fine runner, returned the kickoff all the way to the Buc 47. From there, the Buc defense took over and on third down, sacked the Wessex quarterback, John Papa, for a five-yard loss. From the Wessex 48, Chris Tripucka sailed a 31-yard punt that put the Bucs on their own 21, their best starting field position of the first half.

Paul Scheuplein gained two yards on Belleville's first offensive play and Mike Dalla Riva scooted nine for a first down at the Buc 32. The drive extended to the Buc 43, but quarterback John Melillo was sacked for a Please see "Breaks" on page 16.

Season's End — The night had not gone well for Belleville and it only got worse as Buc quarterback John Melillo was carried off the Giants Stadium field Sunday near the end of the state championship football game which Belleville lost 22-7 to West Essex. Melillo suffered possible torn ligaments in his knee.

Freeholders launch probe into the Geriatrics Center

Concerned over complaints by residents of Belleville's Geriatrics Center, the Essex County Board of Chosen Freeholders last Wednesday formed an investigative committee to check gripes about poor food, roaches and a lack of action to correct some longstanding problems such as inadequate staffing.

The board made its decision after Freeholder Martin Scaturro told his colleagues about a Nov. 20 story in The Belleville Times detailing complaints that surfaced during a meeting of the center's family council (made up of residents' relatives) with County Executive Peter Shapiro.

Shapiro agreed at the meeting that there was a need for more nursing help, but noted budget restraints, namely the county "cap" along with salary raises due to inflation, made providing it extremely difficult. He pointed out that not enough nurses were available, or more likely, willing to work at county facilities.

Both Louise Maniscalco and Ti-lie Till, 94 and 90 years old respectively, told Shapiro they often went to bed hungry because their food tasted terrible and they refused to eat it. Often, cookies were their only nutrition, they said.

"We want to identify what problems there are," said Scaturro, contacted Tuesday at home. Scaturro chastised Shapiro's handling of the center during his two years as county executive. He said most complaints by residents began only recently, and couldn't be blamed on past county administrations.

"They came in like a bull in a china shop," he said of the Shapiro Administration's entrance into county power. Scaturro said by achieving a 6 percent county employee attrition rate, Shapiro has hurt services. "Of course, we'll look at the budget," said Scaturro, when asked if he'd examine how funds are allocated to the center.

Noting he never has been or will be a Shapiro fan, Scaturro stressed he's "a little tired of catch-phrases" such as the Shapiro Administration's emphasis on "productivity."

The investigative committee is actually an off-shoot of a committee begun to review problems at the Essex County Hospital in Cedar Grove several months ago. Freeholder Lincoln Turner headed that committee, and will probably chair this one.

"I think he's using this as a political football," said Shapiro, contacted Tuesday night. "Martin Scaturro is part of the same old crowd that ran Essex County for a generation...we have just begun the Please see "County" on page 15.

Water savings here rise again

More than two months after the start of mandatory water conservation, Belleville's water readings are gradually climbing towards the 25 percent savings cutback called for by Gov. Brendan Byrne — with last week's 15.7 percent reduction the highest ever.

That figure marks the second straight week local residents and industry have combined to top the 15 percent savings plateau, first achieved during the 13-day period from Nov. 19 to Dec. 2. From Dec. 2 to Dec. 9, the reading from Belleville's four main water meters shows 3,705,300 cubic feet used, a daily average of 529,329 feet or a drop of 3,194 cubic feet from last week, and an incredible 98,325 cubic feet since an early October reading.

Local water monitor Steve Vogel thought last week's 15.2 percent savings may have been a fluke since most industry was closed two days by Thanksgiving, but this week's 15.7 percent reduction proved both industry and individual residents are beginning to seriously conserve, perhaps wary of stricter conservation mandates or fines possibly being imposed if water isn't saved.

"More and more people are getting involved in conservation," said Vogel, asked about the slowly increasing conservation stats. Asked if he felt Bellevillites deserved a pat on the back for reducing consumption, he said, "Not yet. I don't think we can do that until we've reached 25 percent."

Belleville receives most of its water from Newark, which also serves Wayne, Elizabeth, Pequannock, South Orange, Bloomfield and the Essex County Hospital in Cedar Grove. Overall, Newark's consumption has dropped only 7 percent, a statistic that has state officials upset and Newark's water conservation people frantic. Their reservoirs are 30 percent full, meaning only a 40-day supply is left if no rain, or limited precipitation is received over the next two months, says Joseph Paradise, Newark's director of customer services.

"It's critical. There's really a crisis here. Some companies that we brought in today are getting big fines," he said, when called Tuesday afternoon. "The (water) situation looks very bad," he added, referring to New Jersey's continued below average winter precipitation.

He said Newark's 7 percent cutback "is not good. We're under pressure because we're the largest supplier. We just need more time," he said, emphasizing Newark's just beginning to fine continued water abusers "into the thousands of dollars. Please see "Newark" on page 16.

School drug panel stresses education

By Mike Olohan

Showing parents how to explain the dangers and side-effects attributed to drug abuse will be the "top priority" of Belleville's Drug Education Committee after its organizational meeting, scheduled Dec. 29.

The drug committee, once an active group of parents dedicated to helping other parents and children understand and confront the tragedy of drug abuse, has become inactive over the last two years since former chairman and trustee Richard Mahmarian headed for a new job in Palos Verdes, Calif.

Mahmarian hoped the committee wouldn't fall by the wayside and would remain a potent force in Belleville's battle against drug abuse, but since his departure, the committee has not only lacked direction, but become invisible with meetings hardly ever publicized or its officers rarely outspoken on any issues.

Board President Ernie Zoppi said he appointed Trustee Tom Zampino to the committee several months ago to get it active once again. Following Please see "Committee" on page 16.

Local Italy relief drive showing solid results

A large pile of clothes donated by concerned Bellevillites to help those left homeless and cold following the devastating Italian earthquake several weeks will probably soon be shipped abroad to assist many needy victims.

The idea of helping out Italy's stunned survivors began two weeks ago with commissioners urging townfolk to contribute clothing, food and money at any of Belleville's three firehouses, the Department of Public Works or Parks and Public Property Building on William Street.

Workmen from Belleville's DPW picked up clothes at local drop spots this week, taking them to the Parks and Public Property garage. "There was a good, sizable amount of stuff," reported Fire Chief George Sbarra Monday. He said people have been sporadically dropping clothes off over the last week.

"It's coming in pretty good," said Mayor Mike Marotti of the clothing drive. He said the town has yet to decide when the clothes will be shipped to Italy, but it will probably be done soon.

Checks can be made out to "Italian Earthquake Relief" fund, in care of First National State Bank, P.O. Box 1810, Newark, N.J. 07101.

Donations at Belleville's DPW and Parks Building should be made from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Santa greeting kids downtown

Santa will be in town 3-6 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays and 3-8 p.m. Fridays. Christmas week, Dec. 22-24, his hours will be 3-8 p.m. All children will be welcome and they can have their pictures taken with Santa for a nominal fee.

Portrait Unveiling — A portrait of the late Dr. William D. Crecca, a member of the Clara Maass Memorial Hospital medical staff for 60 years, was unveiled at a cocktail party at Mayfair Farms, West Orange, recently. Dr. Crecca's widow, the former Marie Caputo (center), presented the portrait of her husband to hospital president Albin Oberg. The artist, Julia Schleicher of Belleville, stands at the right. Dr. Crecca was one of the prime movers in acquiring the property which facilitated the hospital's relocation to Belleville in 1957. The portrait will be displayed in the Clara Maass Room.

Unhappy with delays, trustees consider hiring a new architect

Annoyed because they could be spending more money than they have to due to delays, school trustees have revealed that they are appraising several firms with an eye toward the possible replacement of their present architect, Gilbert Seltzer.

Trustees believe some of their projects may be costing more dollars due to Seltzer's large volume of clients, which pushes work on their projects back further. They have no complaints about Seltzer's qualifications or work except that drawing up specifications takes what Vice President Charles Miele once called "a hell of a long time" and trustees want that to end.

"I'm concerned with the amount of time that it's taking us to get started on projects," said Board President Ernie Zoppi, who also looked quizzically at Seltzer's long delay in drawing the vocational addition specs for Belleville High.

On Sept. 15, Seltzer told trustees "it's not unusual for a process like this to take six months," but then trustees were immediately concerned with okaying construction of the addition despite the added price. They believed that the longer they waited, the higher the price would be boosted by inflation.

"What galls me is we still continue to use Seltzer despite this (delays)," said Robert May, a frequent town critic. "Let it be the last time."

Trustees discussed hiring a new architect as soon as possible but were told costs would go up even further if they suddenly transferred all their projects to a new man because he would suffer delays simply because he's not familiar with Belleville's projects.

What bothered trustees most was the feeling they might be losing money, and aren't able to do anything immediately about it. Zoppi stressed that no project can be okayed before he has been handed the specs, so he's handcuffed until Seltzer presents them.

"I'm not satisfied with the time lag," said Trustee Anthony D'Agostino, who also said he knows other school architects nearby who don't have a long waiting time. "I'm firmly in accordance with Mr. May."

"I'm sure down the road we'll be interviewing other firms," said Zoppi at the board's Nov. 24 meeting. He emphasized trustees aren't questioning Seltzer's integrity, but merely the time span between when he takes on their project until the time he finally hands over the specs.

"This is a shocking thing to hear," said Seltzer, contacted last Tuesday at his West Orange office. He said he was surprised trustees are looking for another architectural firm, and refuted charges by a citizen that his firm has either deliberately or unintentionally let costs increase on any construction job so that his percentage of the contract would be higher.

"This firm has an enviable reputation," said Seltzer, who seemed caught off-guard by trustees' feeling that his firm takes too long to prepare specifications. "There's no sense in putting up a cheap building," he said, noting some architects may prepare specs faster but that they're probably not as thorough as his.

He said any firm that would allow a price to increase simply to increase their cut of the contract "doesn't deserve" to be known as a professional architectural firm.

Seltzer conceded there are problems "when several projects have to be done at the same time," but emphasized six to eight months is not long to draw up specs and blueprints of an "average" project, meet with a district's superintendent, principal or whoever else is involved, and get state approval of the plan.

He said criticism that Seltzer Associates takes too long "lacks understanding. It not only takes time drawing up the plans, but you've got to keep things in perspective." He gave an example of a shopper reaching for a can of beans only to have the clerk quickly grab it and stamp a higher price on it before he could buy it. Inflation affects all businesses, Seltzer said.

"We're subject to the same problems everyone is. But if they're doing this (looking to hire another firm) because of our tardiness, then I'm very unhappy to hear that. We live by our reputation. We don't advertise. We get work by referral," said Seltzer.

His firm, which employs 14 people, has "10 to 15" school board clients and has done work for Denison University, Ohio, Trenton State College, William Paterson College and Newark's College of Medicine and Dentistry.

"It's indicative that we're called back constantly," said Seltzer, stressing the quality of his firm's work, though trustees didn't question quality, but rather what they considered to be delays.

The Bucs make Belleville proud

Another sports season begins tomorrow at Belleville High School, but we cannot lay the one just ended to rest without a few words about the football team and its season, one that will stay with us for a long, long time.

It was obvious even in early September that this would be a very special team — just how special was not quite so apparent until after the drubbing the Bucs took in their opener with Livingston. This talented group of young men, under the direction of Coach John Senesky and his great staff, never confused a setback with defeat. The Bucs went on to capture victory after victory against some of the state's best teams. By the time they arrived at Giants Stadium once again Sunday evening, they had run up nine straight wins.

Victory number ten was not meant to be. Almost nothing went right for the Bucs and almost everything went right for a fine team from West Essex. So finally, victory and a state title eluded Belleville, and there is no denying that the result is disappointing.

But that doesn't mean that the season has been dissatisfying. Far from it. One game will not overshadow a season of great ones. The Bucs played with great skill, dedication and courage and in the process showed everyone everywhere what a class town Belleville is. The 1980 Bucs were one of the best things to happen to Belleville in a long time and we hope the town will be proud and grateful to them for that

John Degnan makes sense

Attorney General John Degnan is proposing the use of state police to supplement the efforts of municipal police in fighting crime.

No one is a stranger to the fact that crime is increasing at an alarming rate. Taxpayer funds available to public officials are inadequate for proper police protection. Add to that the complication of the state-mandated 5 percent limit on annual budget increases and the problem of law enforcement becomes an understandable subject for those among us who are concerned for the safety of lives and property. Degnan's proposal merits serious consideration. It is endorsed by the president of the New Jersey State Policemen's Benevolent Association, Frank Ginesi.

We need more street patrols. High patrolmen visibility is known to reduce the crime level — but that costs money because it involves an increase in police personnel.

Although Degnan proposes at the outset to dispatch state police into high-crime commercial districts in four urban districts, the program should be expanded to include communities like Nutley and Belleville. The state-mandated 5 percent budget increase limit makes it impossible for town commissions to increase police personnel at a level that would successfully contain and reduce criminal activity.

If Degnan's proposal is adopted into law and includes suburban areas as well as urban cities, the effort will go a long way toward relieving the fears of people who must walk the streets at night. Degnan's proposal, coming at this time of the year, makes us feel his proposal is a gift from Santa Claus. Although the Degnan proposal may need fine tuning to insure municipalities will not lose local control over their police forces, the basic philosophy is novel and provides a partial solution to our crime problem.

Loose dog, hit-and-run driver add up to tragedy on Fairway

To the Editor:

I am a resident of Fairway Avenue in Belleville and have recently experienced a tragedy. On Wednesday night, the eve of Thanksgiving, my beautiful Irish setter was struck by a moving vehicle. As a result of this, he died six hours later in the West Caldwell Animal Clinic.

A few neighbors, who live at the other end of Fairway Avenue, witnessed the accident. They were kind enough to cover my dog and stay with him until my husband, the police and I were notified and able to get to him. The only information these people were able to give was that the vehicle was a "blue van." Apparently, the ruthless driver did not have the compassion or human decency to stop and see what had happened.

Those of you reading this letter who have never raised and loved an animal wouldn't understand the anguish and tremendous loss one feels in a situation like this, but to those of you who do, I know you can identify with this unfortunate mishap. I sincerely hope that this "mysterious driver in the blue van," whoever he may be, will read this and realize the unhappiness he has caused. I know that animals shouldn't dart out into the street, as mine did, but nevertheless, it does not excuse this driver's (or any other hit-and-run driver's) lack of compassion and involvement.

On a more positive note, I would like to commend Belleville Police Officers Grover Lewis and Lermy Burrell for transporting my dog to the animal hospital along with my husband, and Officers Vincent Cappelta and George Sheridan for responding so quickly to our call. Each of these officers showed kindness, understanding and sympathy to me and my family.

I am proud of our policemen and the fact that my husband is one of them!

Laws need tough backbone to save society from chaos

To the Editor:

On Nov. 1, I watched the show called "The People" on Channel 2. The subject they talked about was whether people should be allowed to carry guns in New York City. I found it so interesting I said, "I have to write a letter about this."

The way things are today with the judges and lawyers running the show instead of the police department, you can bet your bottom dollar innocent people should carry guns. However, it is a damn shame that it has to be. If the police department were given back its real authority you would be able to walk the streets without fear of being robbed, mugged or raped.

Let's stop thinking of the colors and creeds that we are and start thinking what we really are: human beings and Americans. Age makes no difference when it comes to a criminal. If he has the strength to pull that trigger at the age of 8 or 9, you can bet he will rob or even kill.

If he does either of these, he has to suffer the consequences. It's just plain logic — no ifs, buts or ands about it. Bring back capital punishment and make it stick. You will see how crime drops. You'll not wipe it out completely, but it would cut a lot of it down. The real answer to all this is treating human beings as human beings and not being prejudiced against anyone, but treat them the way they want to be treated and vice versa.

As things stand right now, if I were a storeowner in New York City, I'm positive I'd carry a gun and have two bodyguards to boot. I can assure you a robber would walk in but would not walk out. This is rough speaking, I know, but it is the plain truth. You can read three books out of five that Moses wrote and you will see he did the same things. If you want a society and a good one one, you have to have all in order or else you'll have complete chaos. Let's bring back the cops on the beat and not in police cars.

Sincerely,
 Wm. H. Rundle

Drug-selling, assault cases are sent down to grand jury

The case of a Nutley man accused by police of selling drugs in and around Belleville High School was sent to an Essex County grand jury last week by Municipal Court Judge Edward Abramson.

The 22-year-old Nutleyite was arrested by Belleville police on Nov. 13. The man, who had been a suspect in a police investigation, was nabbed with 527 pills and a half-pound of marijuana, according to authorities.

Another case sent to a grand jury in Newark last week involved a Montclair resident arrested Nov. 24 for attempted aggravated assault on a local woman and public lewdness for the purpose of sexual gratification. The man, who was arrested by Officer Edgar Painer, was also charged with possession of a knife with intent to use it.

In another case sent to the grand jury, two men were brought before Judge Abramson on charges of attempting to commit armed robbery at Washington Liquors on Washington Avenue Nov. 28. The pair allegedly walked into the store and demanded cash from the two employees on duty. One of the men allegedly punched a clerk and pulled a cap pistol on both employees. The men were charged with committing bodily injury to the employees and possession of a weapon, although it was a toy. The defendants, both residents of New York, were arrested by Officer Joseph Simonetti not far from the scene.

In other action, two brothers were fined for interfering with two policemen while the officers were performing their duties. The two men were charged with punching and kicking the officers on the evening of Oct. 24. Patrolmen Pompino and Edwards brought the complaint against Donald and Bruce Duryea of Elston Street in Bloomfield. The two were apparently giving the officers a hard time.

Senior Notes

By George Chenoweth

Did you read the card that came with the December Social Security benefit check? Because of increased hospital costs, the Medicare hospital insurance deductible and daily amounts that you pay when you are an in-patient will go up in 1981. For the first 60 days in the hospital, it will be $204, up from $180; for the 61st through the 90th day in the hospital, $51 a day, up from $45; for the 21st through 100th day in a skilled nursing facility, $25.50 a day, up from $22.50.

The increased deductible represents the higher average cost of one day of hospital care. The daily amounts you will pay for a hospital stay of more than 60 days or for a long stay in a skilled nursing facility represent a percentage of the deductible. When costs go up, the law requires the same rate of increase in the hospital insurance deductible and daily amounts paid by in-patient beneficiaries. This, we are informed, is necessary to help keep the program financially sound.

That was a nice gesture on the part of the Assembly of God Church in Nutley to furnish turkey dinners for those in the area who otherwise would have been alone for the holiday. About 125 people were served turkey and all the fixings on Thanksgiving Day at the Belleville Elks Club. The senior citizens in the community and others who took advantage of the feast are ever thankful for the opportunity to have a truly blessed Thanksgiving.

The members of the Belleville Senior Citizens Club came through with flying colors when it was suggested that a collection be taken up for the Italian earthquake victims. The sum donated was matched by the club and sent on its way to help relieve in some way the suffering of those unfortunate people. Many of the members have relatives in the devastated area and one person saw a picture in the newspaper of her relative who had been rescued after having been buried for five days. We will continue with the collection of money and clothes.

While we are at it, we would like to thank the trio from "Shapes and Forms" who entertained so well at last Tuesday's meeting. The proceedings were livened up by this enthusiastic musical group, sponsored by the Nutley Junior Woman's Club. Let's do this again real soon!

Belleville police hosting St. Nick at Grand Union

Santa Claus will be available for pictures with children 2-8 p.m. on weekdays and noon to 8 p.m. on weekends at the Grand Union shopping plaza.

Proceeds from Santa's picture-taking visit will go toward the Belleville-based Multiple Sclerosis

Association of Essex County which is seeking to build a therapy center in the Valley. Funds will also go to special olympics groups who will use the money to buy medals to be given out at their competitions for the mentally handicapped. Santa's visit is sponsored by the Belleville Police Benevolent Association.

Umberto's Corner

Dear Courtes Umberto,
I say courtes because the help that you give us ladies is more than nice. No matter which page you're on I search for your corner. Let me tell you I belong to the "Ladies Auxiliary Club" and I talk about your column. Some of the ladies tell me that they read your column and others say they will look for it. Don't let this go to your mind.

I like to put my hair on the side from left to right. When I finish teasing and combing it out I get roller marks in the front. I hate that. What can be done? Searcher Lady Dear Reader

I thank you. I do know that alot of people read my little corner. It doesn't go to my head because this is a small part of what I do for you people. In Italy I write a full page in a magazine. This has given me the most joyful thing that life can bring, helping people when they're down. In my case with their hair. In your case, it is very simple to avoid roller marks. Curl a front strand of your hair going back. Behind it curl as you usually do from left to right. This front roll after being teased and styled will cover the roller mark which was made by the curl styled from left to right.

Grant me to say Your Courtes, Umberto
This is for you Angelina Happy Belated Birthday

high school. The event is being hosted by the Special Education Parents and Professional Association. Santa Claus will be on hand to distribute presents donated by several local businesses. Entertainment and refreshments are planned.

The association is a group of parents and professionals who are very interested in reaching the parents of children in need of special educational assistance. The group was organized several years ago and has since sponsored many educational programs for parents and recreational programs for the children. The association is especially proud of the annual special olympics which are held each spring at the high school.

A film and hobby show is planned for the next meeting to be held 7 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 13, 1981, at School 4. All programs are open to those interested in special education.

Juniors' 'wish tree' up Saturday at St. Peter's

The Junior Woman's Club of Belleville will set up a "wish tree" in the vestibule of St. Peter's Church

Saturday. The public will be invited to choose an ornament on the tree in exchange for a small gift listed on the ornament. The tree will be up through Dec. 21.

The gifts will be brought to the church the following weekend and placed in a box at the entrance. They will then be presented to senior citizens in the Essex County Nutritional Program.

The tradition started last year under the direction of Linda Caputo of the Junior Woman's Club, who is again in charge this year. Under the direction of Mrs. Caputo, the Juniors will also be assisting the Marine Corps Reserve in its "toys for tots" campaign. The Marine Corps collects toys, both new and old in good usable condition. The Juniors then distribute the toys to those in need. Anyone with toys to donate may contact any member of the Junior Woman's Club or call President Sherri Moccia at 751-5075.

Agape Homes request help

Residents and friends of Agape Group Homes celebrated Thanksgiving with a dinner Tuesday, Nov. 25, at the Heywood House in Orange.

Heywood House is one of two homes owned and operated for boys 13 to 18 by the Orange-based Agape, an organization which works closely with the courts and the Division of Youth and Family Services.

Dinner arrangements were made by Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Sawyer, Heywood houseparents. The dinner was preceded by scripture reading, prayer and the singing of "Alleluia" by a few of the boys under the direction of a staff counselor.

Agape is a project supported by Church Women United of Essex County. Dorothy Chown, president of the Belleville unit, remarked, "The boys are given much love and care by the staff and friends, but materially they receive very little. The children are often forgotten by their families, and unfortunately their need for love and recognition is considerable. Anyone wishing to remember the boys at Christmas may write a check payable to Agape Group Homes and mail it to Agape Group Homes, 105 Main St., Orange, 07050. Even the smallest gifts will be appreciated."

Views On Dental Health

Phillip Wasserman, D.D.S.

WHY A "TEMPORARY" FILLING?

Have you ever had your dentist tell you he was using a "temporary filling" and wondered why? No, it is not a ploy so he can get a second crack at you. This is a perfectly proper dental procedure.

It is referred to as "indirect capping," and is used in cases where the nerve (or pulp) would be exposed if all the decay were removed from the cavity. Regarded as a conservative treatment, the application of medicated cement in the temporary filling helps the pulp of the tooth to repair itself by containing the decay and allowing the buildup of a wall of tooth structure between the pulp and the decayed material.

This is a "holding action." When your dentist removes the temporary filling, he may take an X-ray to determine if the pulp has healed. If so, the balance of the decay is removed, and a permanent restoration, or filling, can be placed in the tooth.

In summary, your dentist is trying to keep your tooth alive, avoiding the need for a root canal filling, pulp capping, or extraction of the tooth.

A public service to promote better dental health. From the office of: DENTISTRY FOR CHILDREN, P.A. 562 Kingsland Street, Nutley.

Officials exploring proposal for making town a township

Hoping to tap some more funds before the federal revenue sharing well runs dry, Belleville Mayor Mike Marotti has met with State Sen. Carmen Orechio of Nutley to discuss changing Belleville's official designation from a town to a township.

After last month's election, local officials were criticized for not adding a referendum to have local residents decide whether they wanted the change, but both Marotti and Finance Commissioner Joe McGreevy said they didn't think Belleville would get more money. Anxious to at least explore the possibility, though, the mayor met with Orechio who is also mayor of Nutley where a referendum proposal is being discussed too.

Though there are no immediate plans to hold a referendum here, said Marotti last week, he emphasized he's keeping on top of what has now become a sore spot among several town critics.

"We're studying it," said Marotti contacted last Tuesday, repeating his words of three weeks ago. He agreed with McGreevy's assertion that even if Belleville became a township, it might not get much more than it's presently receiving.

But town critics like Joe Fornarotto and Angelo Veneziano were adamant that Belleville could and should be receiving more federal aid. It is claimed that East Orange increased its funding $250,000 and Montclair $500,000 by renaming themselves townships.

"The more people into this, the less money (federal revenue sharing dollars) there'll be," said Marotti. "Right now, there's two or three into this," he added, pointing out that Belleville will try to get more funds if it's worthwhile.

McGreevy said commissioners would need signatures from 30 percent of those voting in Belleville's last election to hold a referendum. Since 16,961 voted Nov. 4, commissioners would need 5,088 signatures to hold a referendum.

"We met with Carmen Orechio and he's going to try to get us in," said Marotti. "But the slice of the pie may not be that big," he added.

Mortuary panel certifies Filipek

Richard E. Filipek, son of Ted and Jean Filipek of 59 Smith St., has received a license from the State of New Jersey Board of Mortuary Science. His designation as a practitioner of mortuary science follows a two-year residency and a written and practical examination.

A 1975 alumnus of Belleville

Richard Filipek

High School, Filipek continued his education at Fairleigh Dickinson University in Teaneck, where he graduated on the dean's list in 1979 with a bachelor of science degree in biochemistry. While at FDU, he was assistant to the curator at the Gross Anatomy Laboratory located in the FDU College of Dentistry, Hackensack.

On Sept. 26, Filipek graduated cum laude from the American Academy McAllister Institute of Funeral Service in New York City. He was presented the Mu Sigma Alpha Award in recognition of outstanding academic performance. The award went to seven graduates, all in the top 10 percent of their class. Filipek was one of five to students to win the AAMI gold Key Attendance Award for perfect attendance.

In recognition of his outstanding ability, the AAMI administration, with the recommendation of the faculty, appointed Filipek a full-time instructor. He has been teaching in the areas of restorative art, osteology, inorganic and organic chemistry, biochemistry, chemistry of embalming and toxicology since Oct. 1. In the near future, Filipek will also be instructing clinical embalming and clinical restorative art at the Bellevue Hospital Morgue in New York City.

Filipek is presently employed at the Kiernan Funeral Home, 101 Union Ave.

Chamber of Commerce honors its founder

Times Publisher Frank Orechio is 'Man of the Year'

Happy Smiles — Belleville Times Publisher Frank A. Orechio and his wife Edith has a great time at the Belleville Chamber of Commerce dinner honoring him as "Man of the Year" Nov. 22.

Belleville Times Publisher Frank A. Orechio accepted the Man of the Year Award at the annual Chamber of Commerce dinner Nov. 22 and at the same time offered some words of advice — and criticism — for local businessmen and politicians.

Orechio, accompanied by his wife Edith, received the award from Chamber President William Reinhold in a brief ceremony at the Branch Brook Manor and thanked the Chamber for the honor, bestowed on him as the business organization's founder 30 years ago.

Several commissioners and School Board members attended the Chamber dinner-dance, along with nearly 170 other members and friends.

Following the ceremonies, Orechio made several observations about the town's business health in an interview for Channel T in Nutley. "I don't see any type of leadership on the horizon right now," said Orechio, asked if Belleville could develop a one-stop, shopping center along Washington Avenue. Asked if he saw that kind of leadership 20 years ago, he replied, "No sir, that's the problem with Belleville, it lacks leadership with vision to anticipate the needs of the next generation."

Orechio noted that 20 years ago, local ratables were "substantially higher" than in Nutley, but now Nutley ratables have increased almost 30 percent over Belleville's.

"That gives you an indication of what's happening. Belleville is not keeping up with the times. It's slowly, slowly, gradually falling behind the times. It's becoming a second-class citizen among the family of communities," said Orechio.

Earlier in the interview, he repeated an often-heard theme that has many residents worried: "The town is eroding slowly at the Newark-Belleville line, and it's creeping...actually it's a creeping paralysis."

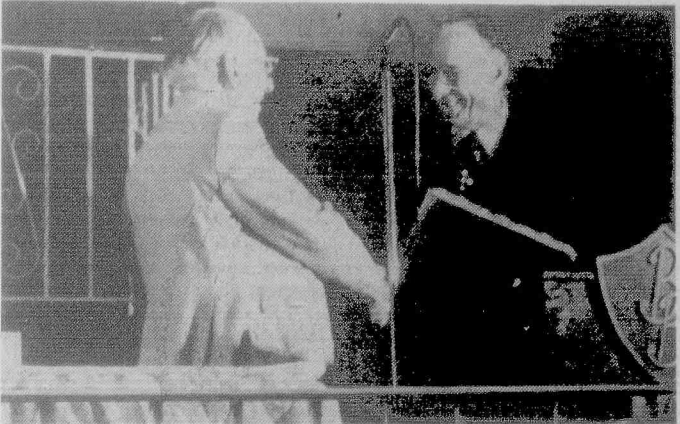

Orechio said he wished commissioners hadn't encouraged the building of the Valley shopping area. "I think they made a mistake to permit that kind of development along the Passaic River," he said. "They should have contained the development of the retail area between Washington Avenue and Franklin Avenue. It's a mistake to have a proliferation of retail merchandising spread around town and makes the whole town weak."

"I think a town like Belleville which is 3.3 square miles would be healthy economically if it had one section that would be a community shopping center. As it's now, it's tough to make the buying together," said Orechio.

Asked what he would do if he could wave a "magic wand" over Belleville and change its direction, he said, "I'd demolish the town hall and about a block of the building to the south of it, and try to develop a shopping center. I'd eliminate the Junior High School... and use that whole block for a shopping center, develop off-street parking and make it a one-stop shopping area for one-third of Belleville."

He also said "enforcement" of Belleville's property maintenance code and more use of the railroad tracks to transport commuters would help upgrade Belleville.

Plaque Presentation — Dinner committee chairman Aaron Cohen shakes hands with "Man of the Year" Frank Orechio at the Branch Brook Manor head table.

Belleville Biggies — Sharing the spotlight are local school trustees and commissioners. In front are Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Zoppi, to the left Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miele, John and Connie Macaluso, Joan and George Lister, Mayor Michael Marotti and Commissioner Matthew and Margarita Pica.

Pop star 'Superman' leaves audience in stitches at BHS

By Mike Olohan

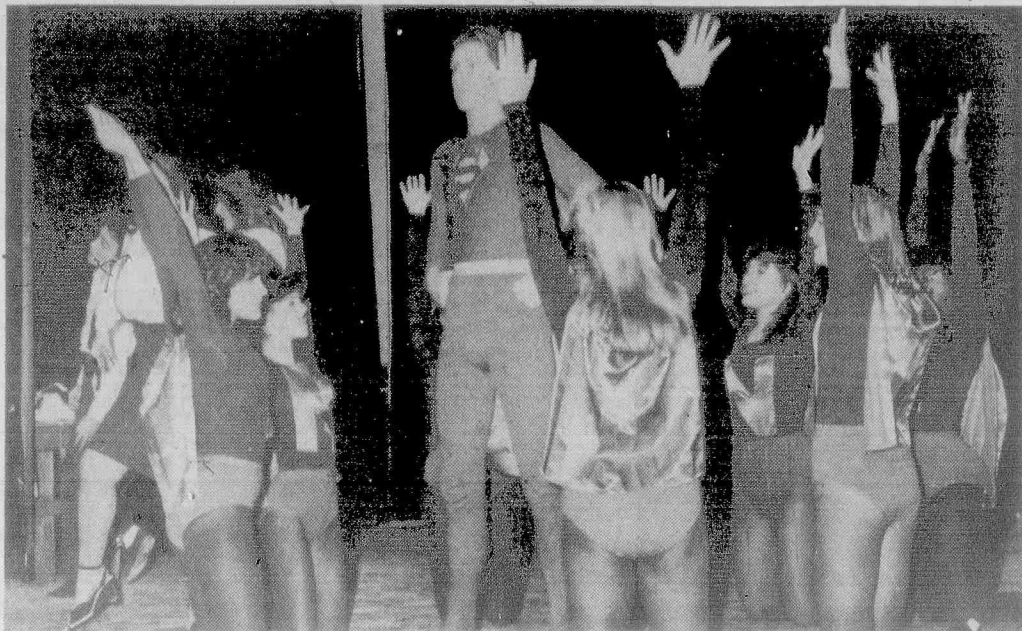

Look, on the Belleville High School stage, it's singing and it's acting and it's a hit! "Great Caesar's Ghost?" Perry White would exclaim, they've done it again.

Last Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights, Belleville High's drama club, directed by Robert Leffebine, presented a fast-paced, song-filled, occasionally humorous production of "Superman," the man of steel we all remember since as far back as we can think.

However, this Superman has weaknesses, little faults like being at a building dedication ceremony while Metropolis City Hall blows up, and being addicted to the adulation of his fans. Unlike the aggressive Clark Kent portrayed by George Reeves or the hilarious do-gooder molded by Christopher Reeve, David Flynn played a wallflower-type Kent who tried to do good but was obviously a dim-wit.

Dr. Abner Sedgwick, played frantically by James Maino, attempted to find out who Superman really was and asked Lois Lane (Marianne Scarpelli) to give him some background. Lois handled all Superman stories, and seemed bored yet strangely fascinated by the powerful, mysterious man of red and blue.

Lois showed Sedgwick a ridiculously goofy film wherein the planet Krypton was depicted in cotton with sparkles on it and small houses seemingly plucked from a discarded Christmas scene shook about before being attacked by boulders and a flaming meteorite.

Superman lectured the audience on film to "be good, listen to your parents and teachers. Be healthy in mind and body," while everyone yawned. At least it was good for a chuckle.

The singing of Sue Cardillo and fancy footwork of Marianne Potito combined to make Sydney (Potito) a forceful, sensual entertaining character who plotted with Max Mencken (Anthony Complitano) to discover Superman.

Kent's competition was Mencken, who along with Sedgwick finally deduced that Kent was the only person at the Daily Planet never seen with Superman. Sedgwick's Grouchesque hoofing and psychoanalysis of Superman were logically laughable.

"Flying is a well-known dream symbol of frustration," proclaimed Sedgwick after he'd unmasked Superman in front of Lois and Max. "Are you a happy man?" asked Sedgwick, while telling Superman that "catching criminals and stopping robberies" aren't the usual pastimes of too many Metropolitans. The doctor chastised him, saying he "should perform good deeds in a less ostentatious manner" and change his name.

"Who picked out that name...who told you that we needed a Superman?" asked the scholarly Sedgwick while Superman sullenly stood by. Aided by the Lings, a group of Chinese chop-chop experts played wildly by Lisa Bongo, LuAnn Frioendino, Sharon Callahan, Sandra Carlucci, Jessica Llamas and Melissa Prill, Sedgwick was able to tame Superman temporarily, but when the man of steel realized he'd "used" Lois for his own need for self-adulation he apologized and then turned tenaciously on the once-powerful Lings, knocking them all out cold.

Before the Lings could capture Superman, secreting him back to China to display as a symbol of "capitalist corruption," he tossed them about like the man of steel we all know him to be.

Then when Max tried desperately to convince the savoir-faire styled Sydney that Kent was Superman, Sydney knowingly replied, "Listen Max, I've gone out with Clark Kent and believe me, he's no Superman," to which the audience roared.

Jim Morgan, probably patterned after affable Jimmy Olsen, was played by Donald Flynn, the shy type who falls in love with Lois, who's torn between two men. Perry White was handled by David Rock, who's black, giving Perry an iconoclastic treatment. The orchestra, stage crew along with director Leffebine and his choreographer-wife, Janice Lynall deserved and received a hearty round of applause. Set designer Rick Kiernan and film producer David Schoner also deserved much credit for Superman's success.

Also appearing in the play were Lisa Brown, Cathy Danchak, Sharon Robinson, Suzanne Whitney, MaryLou Clark, Alicia Colasuonno, Wendy DeVine, Debbie Garafolo, Steve Hangee, Paula Penna, Kenneth Watson and Jeanne Tramon-tana.

Ballet students travel to see 'The Nutcracker'

Denise Lande and five of her ballet students from the Belleville Academy of Theatre and Dance attended "The Nutcracker" at Symphony Hall, Allentown, Pa., this past Saturday.

The performance was presented by the Ballet Guild of the Lehigh Valley and directed by Alexi Ramov. Guest artists included Megan Murphy and John Sowinski of the Eliot Feld Ballet Company.

"Nutcracker" was the first of four ballets to be attended by students at the Belleville Academy, which is under the direction of Mrs. Lande. The academy's ballet department plans to see the Royal Ballet of England in New York City in May 1981. Plans are also being formulated to attend the Garden State Ballet in the spring, while the theater department is planning to attend a Broadway production in late winter.

Guest teachers from the New York City Ballet Company will be providing special instruction in March 1981 at the studio located at 382 Union Ave. Among those from the company participating will be Paul and Francis Sackett.

Board of Ed, teachers agree open talks would be harmful

By Mike Olohan

Although teacher contract negotiations are now open to varying degrees in several states, it's highly unlikely the public will be able to sit in on local talks soon.

In 1978, when Belleville's teacher contract talks were bogged down by public haggling, picketing, name-calling and threats, then Board President Matthew Pica asked Belleville Education Association President Paul Del Polito if he'd like to hold negotiations in public.

The teachers' union apparently never had any intention of going public, though the association charged trustees would have more to lose by opening the negotiations. Later, officials on both sides conceded the offer to open negotiations was mainly due to accusations being printed in local papers, and just a ploy to get negotiators talking seriously.

Because Belleville is a political hotbed, many people prefer to speak off the record or not at all, but three contrasting viewpoints on public negotiations are being offered for citizens to judge. One comes from Cora Boice, a long-time school advocate, former board candidate and supporter of open negotiations. Another comes from School Board President Ernie Zoppi, who helped negotiated Belleville's 1980-82 contract and opposed open talks. A third is from an NJEA spokesman, opposed to open bargaining, who requested anonymity.

In 1976, Florida passed the "Government in the Sunshine Law" requiring all public school contract talks to take place in public. The law was forged despite passionate pleas from labor leaders that negotiating with news media and citizens present would limit candid give-and-take, result in grandstanding or playing to the crowd and just generally delay completing a contract due to unnecessary influences and misinterpretations.

However, some 400 open teacher contract negotiations have taken place since 1976, and few of these feared consequences have come to pass. "Experience has shown, however, that the presence of the press has, to the contrary, led to more realistic initial positions on both sides," said George Volsky, a Miami freelance writer, in The New York Times.

But no one interviewed, except Mrs. Boice, agreed with Volsky's assertions, despite their being backed up by comments from two college professors and two labor negotiators. However, Zoppi noted he might be agreeable to California's Rodda Act, which requires initial proposals by teachers and school boards to be made public, since that would benefit trustees by initially placing the bargaining burden on teachers.

"I don't think contracts can be publicly negotiated. People don't realize the ploys both sides use," said Zoppi, emphasizing percentages and statistics would be "blown out of proportion."

He said citizens "should be periodically updated," which is what trustees usually say but have rarely done, as is the case with Belleville's local teacher's union. Though they publicly claim citizens should know the facts, both board and teacher contract negotiators have often spoken in vague words that lack concrete meaning.

"It's sort of like a game," said Zoppi, of both sides' negotiating tactics. "The public wouldn't take part, but the media would take part," which he repeated would cause negotiating positions to be distorted and hurt both sides.

Zoppi said he wouldn't want to open the teacher negotiations because before contracts are "approved or disapproved, you (public) know the percentages." He said that "could cause a lot of resentment against the other side (teachers)," adding citizens would probably hear a tentative figure, and jump all over it, figuring the final settlement was that high. Keeping negotiations closed ensures honesty and uninhibited dialogue, said Zoppi.

"They (negotiators) seem to act more professional when there are non-professionals around," said Mrs. Boice, a frequent school board critic. She said opening up teacher negotiations could help pass Belleville's school budget since many feel that people would be inclined to vote "yes" if they had the facts.

"It (open talks) gives people a responsible and educated view on exactly how much is being spent. They've got to know exactly what public education is all about," said Mrs. Boice.

"Let's face it, everybody's going to grandstand," conceded Mrs. Boice. She agreed, however, with the chief negotiator for Florida's university system who commented in The Times. "Shouting, threatening, throwing papers on the table and name-calling used to be pretty effective in private, but on television, they look laughable."

The NJEA spokesman spoke freely about public negotiations, but requested anonymity because of what he felt was Belleville's explosive political climate. "Much more confrontation would take place. You have to expose all your proposals and it makes it a lot more difficult to negotiate," he said.

Told public teacher negotiations have been held in Florida over the last four years and few of the feared (problems) have come to pass, the spokesman remarked that he'd talked with several labor negotiators working there who felt inhibited by the state's open meetings act.

"More strikes, more job actions... and the leadership will be much more concerned about their position than reaching agreement," he stressed. "We've heard a lot of complaints about it (open negotiations)," he continued. "Even if it were public, the public as people wouldn't participate anyway. It's not healthy," he added.

Asked if open negotiations might not help restore board credibility, get people involved with education by providing budget information, and more important, the reasoning behind budget stats, the NJEA spokesman replied, "I'm not so sure why people want to hear about the negotiations. We may want to be frank on our proposals, but I'm not so sure that's possible."

He said if open negotiations were held "we'd have to invite all the teachers. They'd (trustees) bring their (supporters) and we'd bring ours," adding much more confrontation would delay rather than hasten bargaining.

He said with citizens and press present, it's easy "to be sidetracked by other issues." No current school trustee publicly favors open negotiations, though most do grudgingly say citizens should have the facts after contract approval.

Although negotiators privy to contract proposals rarely comment on or off the record, it's clear their speculative 14 to 16 percent two-year pay increase was off since a closer look shows a fluctuating increase of between only 12 and 14 percent for local teachers.

County to probe Geriatrics Center

long and difficult process of repairing the damage that was caused by he and his cronies when they were in control of county government," he emphasized.

Shapiro questioned why praise of the center's new housekeeper, who has done what many consider an excellent job so far cleaning up the place, and praise for center director John Merrigan wasn't included in the Times article. Both have helped turn the Geriatrics Center into a much better health care facility than it was, he said.

Shapiro said the problem with cold food had been remedied. Several metal electric warmer carts were short-circuited but subsequently repaired after complaints on Nov. 12. He said center staff members quickly cleaned the scum-lined bathtub complained about during the meeting. But he said occasional roach infestation will remain a problem despite an exterminator on call there.

"Roaches are, to some extent, a continual problem," said Shapiro. "A lot of this stuff is minor," he said, referring to complaints about cold food. Even Residents' Council President Bill Rundle conceded it's "difficult" to get special meals and food to residents since about only 50 of 300 residents eat regular meals and aren't on restricted diets.

Shapiro pointed out that many residents aren't too happy being in the center to begin with and that could be part of the reason some constantly complain. He said Scaturro was concerned about county employee cutbacks "because he used to be in charge of party patronage. The only reason the Geriatrics Center is improving is because we fired people who weren't doing their jobs."

Responding to what he considers Scaturro's political war against him, Shapiro said he'd reduced taxes to their lowest in a decade, made lower county budget increases than past administrations and cut 800 county employees through attrition — leaving about 7,500.

The other members of the board of freeholders are much more responsible than Mr. Scaturro," said Shapiro, adding he definitely wants to make that opinion known. He said that's undoubtedly why Scaturro won't be the investigative committee chairman.

"The article (about Nov. 12 meeting) crystallized a lot of complaints that we've heard before," said Freeholder James Piro. He said the charge that the center lacked nurses "was based upon the opening of a new wing there." He admitted the county "doesn't pay competitively," so it's difficult to easily acquire nurses.

"When we do an investigation, we really go in and take an overview of what's happening," said Piro, who's also involved in checking on the Essex County Hospital.

"There was some hesitation on the part of my colleagues to do this," admitted Loryne Lane, a committee member. "But it has merit to go over there," she agreed.

Breaks go Wessex way as gridmen falter 22-7

12-yard loss and Frank Fazzini punted two plays later.

On the Knights' next possession, Sullivan broke a big run from his own 39. Fazzini brought him down at the Buc 7, but on the next play, Steve Schelling scooted seven yards for the first score. Tripucka kicked the extra point and the Knights led 7-0.

The teams exchanged possessions before the Knights' next scoring drive of the first half started from Belleville's 46. Sullivan carried the ball four times and Schelling three for 37 yards before Papa went to the air and hit tight end John Fell for a nine-yard score and a 13-0 Wessex lead. Tripucka missed the extra point, a rarity for him, and the lead was 13-0.

The Bucs' next two possessions started at the their 12 and 1-yard lines, not very good places to begin a drive 13 points down. The half ended with West Essex ahead 13-0.

At the outset of the third quarter, Belleville started its most effective drive of the day from its own 39. First Melillo hit Fazzini for 13 yards to the Knight 48. Fazzini gained six yards on the next two carries and on third down, Dalla Riva cracked seven yards to the Knight 26. The Bucs were hit with a costly 15-yard holding penalty, but Melillo made up for that by connecting with Ken Constantino for a 43-yard scoring strike on the next play. Robbie Cancelliere added the conversion and all of a sudden it was anyone's ballgame at 13-7.

West Essex took over on its own 31 following the kickoff and started an 11-play drive that consumed six minutes and was aided by a crucial, controversial 15-yard pass interference penalty against Belleville. The drive stalled at the 7 and Tripucka booted a 24-yard field goal. The Knight lead was now 16-7.

The West Essex defense stiffened from that point on, not allowing Belleville in Knight territory for the rest of the game. A desperation pass turned into a Knight interception by Mike McGrath. Belleville was able to regain the ball, but Melillo was injured a couple of plays later and was carried off the field. Preliminary indications were not good as the all-area player suffered knee damage.

As the final seconds ticked away, Belleville had the ball deep in its own territory. A fumble was scooped up by Tim Driver and West Essex had a touchdown. The extra kick failed again, but the Knights led 22-7. Suddenly, it was over. The Bucs had lost this game.

The 1980 season was a winning one, though, by any measure, and as far as the Belleville coaches, players and fans were concerned, the Bucs are champions. The excitement the team generated all season could have lit New York for an evening and the great times everyone enjoyed this past season will help to heal the wounds of the loss.

Committee wants parents kept alert

an undercover report revealed in August by Juvenile Det. Sgt. Martin McNish that most Belleville High students don't use any type of drug, many local parents were relieved that what once was thought to be widespread, casual drug abuse had been halted.

The undercover detective's report took two months last spring into account and it gave Belleville high extremely high grades, a fact that happily surprised BHS administrators and trustees alike.

But trustees want to see drug abuse remain low, and the best way of doing that available to them is their No. 1 concern, education.

"This (committee) is for parent awareness," said Zampino. "I guess, we'll want to deal with what parents can do to become aware of what their child is doing in school. You want to let them know how they can deal with their children about drugs.

"There's a lot of peer pressure to use drugs," continued Zampino, noting he'd rely heavily on the advice of former trustee and committee member Viola Spray to make drug education an important topic in Belleville.

"A child doesn't learn if he's come to class high on drugs," stressed Zampino. He said he taught in Jersey City High School where drug use was common and realizes how much understanding and guidance is necessary to reach drug-abusing students.

Zampino should also undoubtedly be encouraged that he has the support of most Belleville parents, as revealed in the Citizens' Survey taken two years ago which showed 93 percent of local parents felt drug education should be provided "at an appropriate grade level."

Newark top priority in event of water cut

The Newark Water Company has asked its municipalities to begin charging $267.92 per million gallons of water as opposed to the previous rate of $250 per million gallons. He said because Newark's reservoirs are being sucked dry, they're purchasing water from Elizabethtown at $389 per million gallons, so they're now forced to raise rates.

"We have to have an extended program to save water," stressed Paradise, adding Newark may decide to fine towns like Belleville if their actual savings don't approach 25 percent. Newark would fine the town of Belleville, forcing local commissioners to either pay or contest the charge, said Paradise.

Told about Belleville's 15.7 percent savings, Paradise said, "If we're shooting for 25 percent, then it seems the word is getting out. We're all a little bit lax about water use," he added, pointing out people tend to take an unlimited supply of water for granted, although that may not be the case several years from now.

Noting the city of Newark comes first, Paradise said despite tremendous problems enforcing water conservation in Newark's numerous housing projects and multiple-apartment buildings, that Newark would get first priority and other towns would be gradually cut back if supplies keep dwindling. But state officials have said water will be equally distributed among a supplier's customers depending on their required needs under mandatory rationing — not according to the water company's whims.

Paradise said he didn't have exact figures to show how much water each town is conserving since mandatory cutbacks began, but may have them by the end of December.

Buc Shots

Joy and sadness mix as a great year ends

The Belleville High football team did not win its last game, its most important game. The Bucs lost to a very good West Essex team 22-7. Although the year is now officially over, the fantastic season that the Bucs put together will not be overlooked or forgotten, not by this writer anyway.

How can anybody forget that thrilling 13-9 comeback over Passaic, the stunning 35-7 rout of Marist, the impressive 34-8 win over Seton Hall and the exciting 20-12 victory over Clark? How about Frank Fazzini's marvelous 1,000-yard-plus effort this season? How about John Melillo's 1,000-yard-plus, all-area performance spanning the past season at quarterback?

The Buc offensive and defensive lines were as impressive and strong as any in the area. Anthony D'Agostino and Lugie Chimento led the rock-solid line that gave opposing runners fits and gave Melillo enough time to find his all-purpose receiver, Ken Constantino.

The memories of one of the greatest seasons in the school's history should not and cannot be washed away in the wake of one game. A victory over West Essex just wasn't meant to be. The Knights jumped out to a 13-0 first-half lead, thanks mainly to a good punting game that pinned Belleville deep in its own territory throughout the first half. Although Belleville was able to penetrate the Wessex line, the Bucs made those little mistakes that they weren't making during the regular season and those cost dearly.

And West Essex, a good club throughout the season, put all of the elements together and was a super ballclub on this day. The Golden Knights capitalized on Belleville's errors and didn't give the Bucs an opportunity to capitalize on their turnovers because West Essex didn't make any. In essence, the Knights were absolutely perfect on this night and there was little the Bucs could do to change that.

But the main thing to remember in regard to this game was not that Belleville lost, because even great teams like Belleville are bound to lose a game some time. What is important to remember is that the Bucs played with class, style and a great deal of enthusiasm, never giving up or giving in. They came out for the second half as if they were leading 30-0 and wanted more. The kids were psyched, motivated and wanted the victory more than anything else they could ever have wanted.

After Melillo hit Constantino for a touchdown to cut the gap to 13-7 in the third quarter, the backbreaker occurred on the ensuing Wessex possession. The Knights had driven into Buc territory and were threatening to break the game open. The Buc defense stiffened and on third down, the Knight quarterback, John Papa, threw — overthrew really — a pass to Chris Tripucka that fell incomplete. In addition to the ball, Tripucka also fell, prompting the officials to call a 15-yard penalty against Belleville and an automatic first down for West Essex.

That play might have changed the complexion of the game because four plays later, Tripucka kicked a field goal and instead of Belleville trailing by six and having the ball, the Bucs were down by nine and waiting for the kickoff. Not to make excuses, but from my angle, Tripucka tripped under his own power, he was not interfered with by the Buc defender.

As the fourth quarter rolled in, a patch of fog accompanied by rain rolled in too, dampening one and all. While everyone in the stands and on the field struggled to stay dry, the eerie feeling crept in too that this was not going to be Belleville's night. The feeling was validated when Melillo, who was superb all evening, threw a desperate pass that was picked off with three minutes left in the game by Mike McGrath.

The final three minutes seemed more like three days. The clock ticked away second by second, and it was hard to keep from watching its ominous progress. The Bucs called a timeout to try and preserve another chance at victory, but the Knights' players were already starting a celebration on the sideline similar to that on New Year's Eve in Times Square.

The looks on the Belleville players' faces told the story of this very difficult evening. Danny Palumbo, the Bucs' tough guard, stood looking into the sky, a dazed expression on his sweaty face. Many players joined the cheerleaders in tears, but crying was no shame because when a team puts forth as much energy and effort and cares as much as Belleville did, emotion will usually take over. Despair never took over, though. The players bravely wiped away the tears and kept going, and the cheerleaders re-formed their line and kept shouting until the end.

The night hit total disaster near the end of the game when Melillo went down following a Knight punt and did not get up. As concerned players from both sides huddled around him, the first impression was not good. Melillo clutched his knee and did not move at all. As he was carried off, the look of pain and sadness on his face told many that he wasn't going to be running on any field or court for some time.

John's teammates silently carried him off into the lockerroom following the final tick as the Wessex players rejoiced in victory and carried their coach. Perhaps the most moving scene of the evening took place during that exit as D'Agostino and John Cataldo walked off the field together. As they entered the tunnel, the two embraced for a split second and just reflected on what might have been.

And finally, John Senesky was classy as ever in his summation of the game. He praised the West Essex players for a job well done and of course spoke very highly of his kids for the fantastic season they had given Belleville. But his biggest concern was for Melillo. As we stood in the tunnel talking, a car pulled up in front of the Buc lockerroom, the players assisted their fallen signal-caller into the back seat and he was rushed off to St. Barnabas Hospital.

Shortly after, the players assembled outside the lockerroom and walked slowly towards the bus. They didn't speak with one another, rather they just accepted the moment, as hard as that might have been.

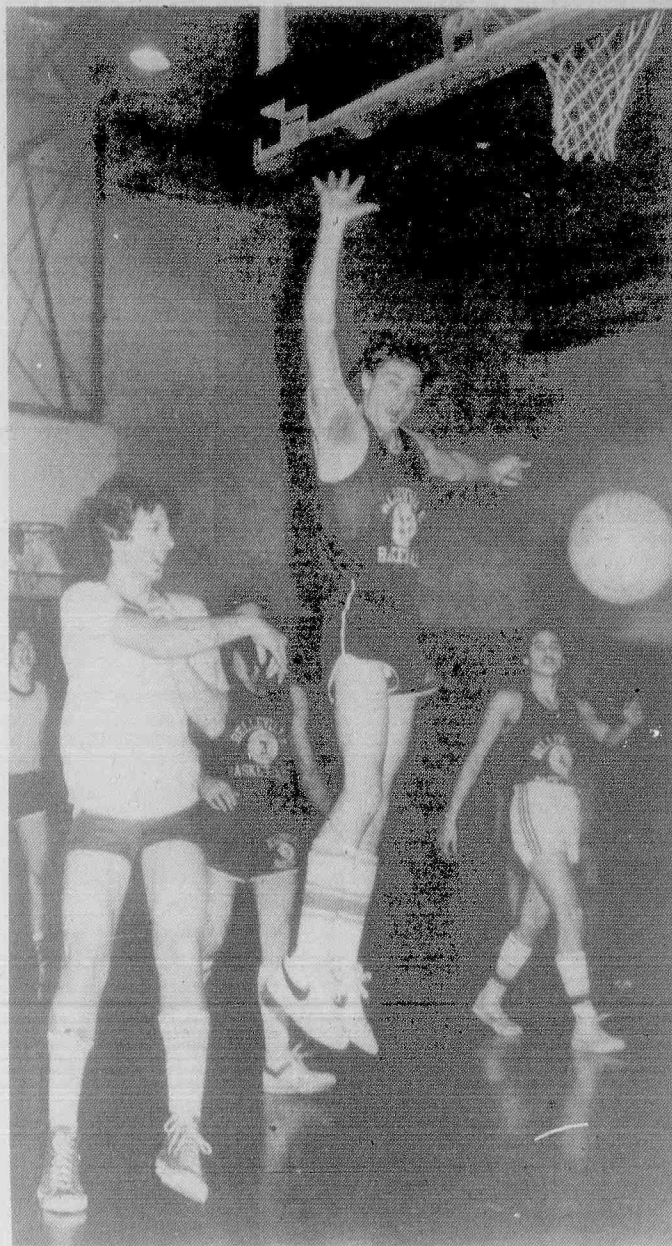

The 1980 season, one that produced a 9-2 record, was the epitome of excellence for the Belleville football team. One cannot begin to feel the pride that the kids exhibited all season long, and covering the team throughout these last three-and-a-half months, I cannot help but feel the hurt that the kids felt last Sunday.

But, that's life and the Bucs will be back next season for another try at a state title. There's plenty of talent returning next year and another reason to believe that the Bucs can go all the way. The ratings might have Belleville fifth or sixth in the state this season, but the Belleville fans will always be chanting, "We're No. 1, we're No. 1!" and they will be right.

The Belleville High School athlete of the week is Ken Constantino. Kenny caught three passes, one for a touchdown in the third quarter, and turned in a fantastic season. The Belleville Times will carry pictures and statistics from Sunday's game, along with full

Boys' basketball starts at BHS tomorrow night

Basket Weave — John Bocchino passes around a leaping Ron Wittman at basketball practice Monday afternoon. The Bucs open their season at the BHS gym tomorrow night versus Weehawken.

Coach Papasidero hoping to have winning campaign

By Mike Lamberti

Last season, under first-year coach Joe Papasidero, the Belleville High boys' basketball team did something it hadn't done in five years: The team hit the double-digit mark in the win column.

The Bucs' record last year was 11-13, including an appearance in the state and county tournaments. Belleville had not played in the prestigious Essex County Tournament since 1975.

Papasidero has reason to believe that his team will play there again and improve on last year's mark. That quest begins tomorrow night at 8 when the boys take on Weehawken at the Belleville High gym.

The Bucs, who got off to a 9-3 start last year, return Ronnie Wittman and Wayne Bubet to the front line. Wittman, nicknamed "The Greyhound" this season for his fluid shot, average 20 points a game last year and over the summer attended basketball camp. The same is true of Bubet, "The Terror Train." Bubet returned from summer camp even stronger than ever under the boards. Furthermore, both players have displayed great leadership ability, the kind of asset a winning team needs.

"We will be depending a lot on those two," said Papasidero. "We will need some help in the backcourt now that (Gary) Ferrar and (Ed) Aulisi have graduated. We have a number of candidates for that position and I'm happy with the progress."

In addition to Wittman and Bubet, other candidates for the varsity team are Todd Talmadge, Sterling Lutz, Scott Murray, Mike Isler, Sammy DeCapua, Richie Wilkes, Joe Zangari, Anthony Coco, Billy Coda and Joey Yaniga. Some additional help should be available now that the football season has concluded, but John Melillo, who was looked upon as a likely starter, was injured in the finale Sunday night. The first reports were that he had torn ligaments in his knee.

HOOPLA: The Bucs scrimmaged Wayne Valley and then went up against a good Vailsburg team. Belleville gave Vailsburg an even battle on the varsity level, handling the Vikings' press with relative ease. One more scrimmage was set last week before the opener tomorrow night... Tuesday, the Bucs travel to Caldwell for a 3:45 p.m. start. They are at home to face Passaic 8 p.m. Friday... The jayvee coach this year is rookie Rocky Collucci and the freshman coach is George Turturiello.

Buc wrestling squad will face next Wednesday West Essex

By Joe Piegaro

While talk around the town still centers on the fortunes of the Buc-cancer football team, Coach Gene D'Allesandro has been quietly setting the table for the 1980-81 wrestling season.

That season begins 6:30 p.m. this coming Wednesday against — of all schools — West Essex. The Bucs are at Springfield 6:30 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 20.

Last year was not a typical Bucs' season as the boys did not win a tournament and finished with a 9-7 record. Technically, 1979-80 was classified as a "rebuilding year."

This year, some if not all of that rebuilding should bear fruit.

Coach D'Allesandro has a fine nucleus of eight returning lettermen upon which he can build a championship squad. The coach also has five boys up from the jayvee team who have had some varsity experience. Here is the rundown.

Anthony Stefanelli, only a sophomore, appears unchallenged in the 101-pound class. Anthony was a standout on Coach Dennis Villano's frosh team last year and finished second in the prestigious Belleville Summer Tournament. Although "Stef" has no varsity experience, he should be able to carry his share of the load during the season.

The 108-pound class could be a cause for concern as two unproven youngsters are vying for the varsity spot. Derek Lombardi, a soph, and Dan Giordano, a junior, are both

Please see "Competition" on page 19.

Talented netwomen open up with Verona

By Mike Lamberti

Another basketball season opens tomorrow night for Belleville High, and the signs look very good for the girls' squad this year.

Coach Karen Fuccello's 1980-81 team hopes to improve on last year's 12-9 season and has the tools to do just that. The season opens 8 p.m. tomorrow at Verona.

A number of underclassmen will see a lot of action this season, and most of those girls are products of the magnificent grammar school program put together by Fuccello and her staff.

Senior center Dawn Ritacco returns this year and will be a key factor in the pivot. Ritacco (5-11) has been impressive in the scrimmages and is a dominating force in the middle. "The Enforcer" will exert some authority over opposing centers.

Carol Salerno earned the nickname, "Pressure Cooker," for her last-second shots that either won games or gave the team a much needed lift before that half. Salerno, a senior, will be at the point guard spot this season. She has a fine shooting eye.

The ex-kamakazi pilot, Rosie Leonidis, has shed that name with a calmer approach to the game. Leonidis will be at the other guard this season and her good shooting will be a big factor. Stay tuned for Rosie's new nickname.

The forward positions will be filled by junior Barbara Gundry and freshman Jennifer Apicella. Gundry, otherwise known as "The Mad Bubble," has improved immensely over the year and is in fine shape following the cross country season. Apicella was a great scorer in the seventh and eighth grade league as well as the freshman team and will fit in nicely. She is not afraid to go to the basket and is very confident in her style. Call her "The Ice Woman."

Luisa Dinis, Cecelia Graham, Debbie Mundy and Doreen Penetti

Please see "Girls" on page 20.

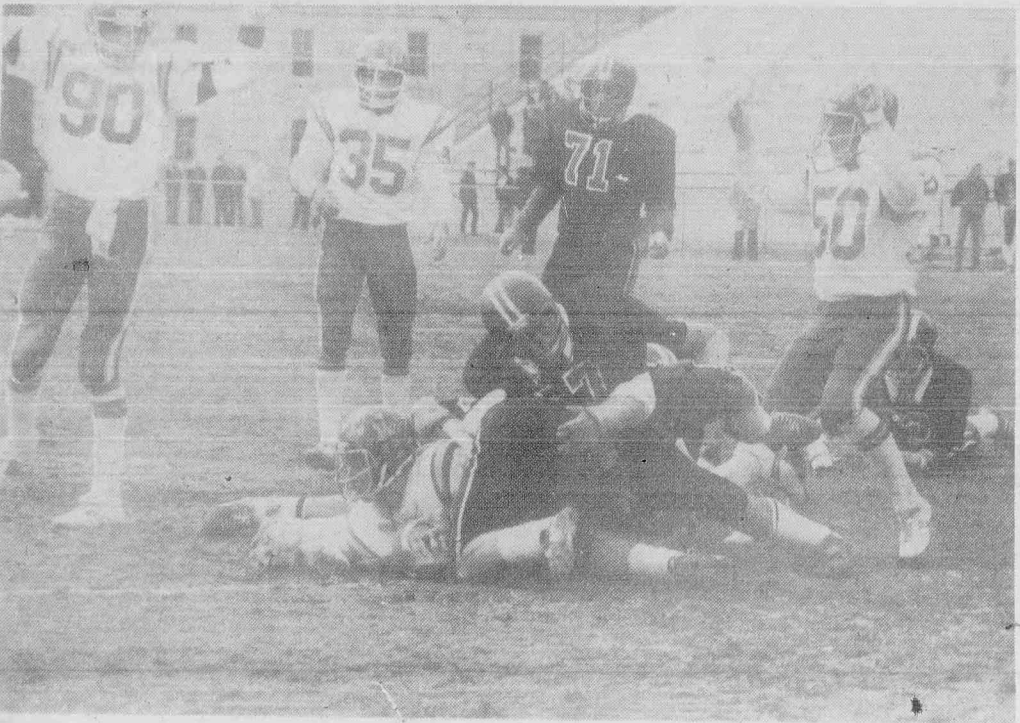

Twine Tune-Up — Dina DeAquino looks on as Barbara Gundry takes a shot. The girls' basketball team opens its season tomorrow night at Verona.

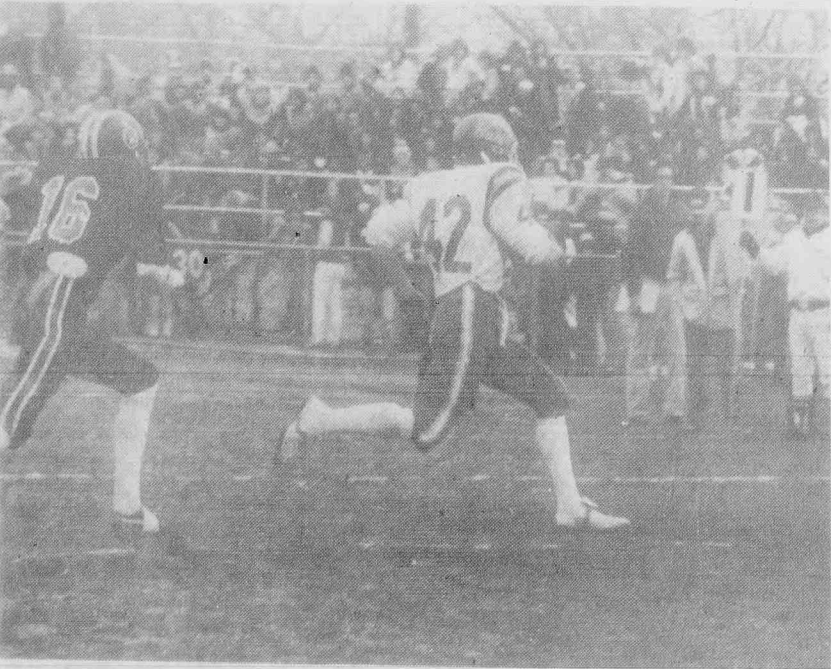

Futile Chase — The Kards begin to slow down as Paul Scheuplein moves into high gear and scores a second-quarter touchdown in the Thanksgiving Day game to make it 26-7 Buc.

Belleville thrashes Kards

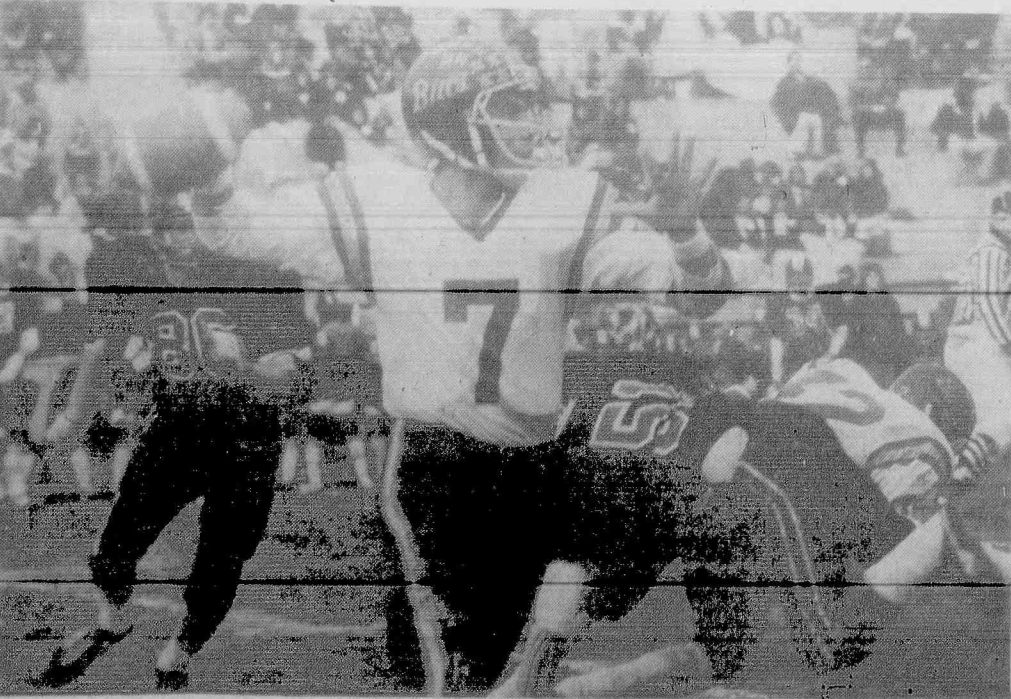

High Sign — Bill Walsh (90) and Bob Cassin (50) indicate that Frank Fazzini has just scored a touchdown in the second period. No. 35; Paul Scheuplein, is a bit more cautious.

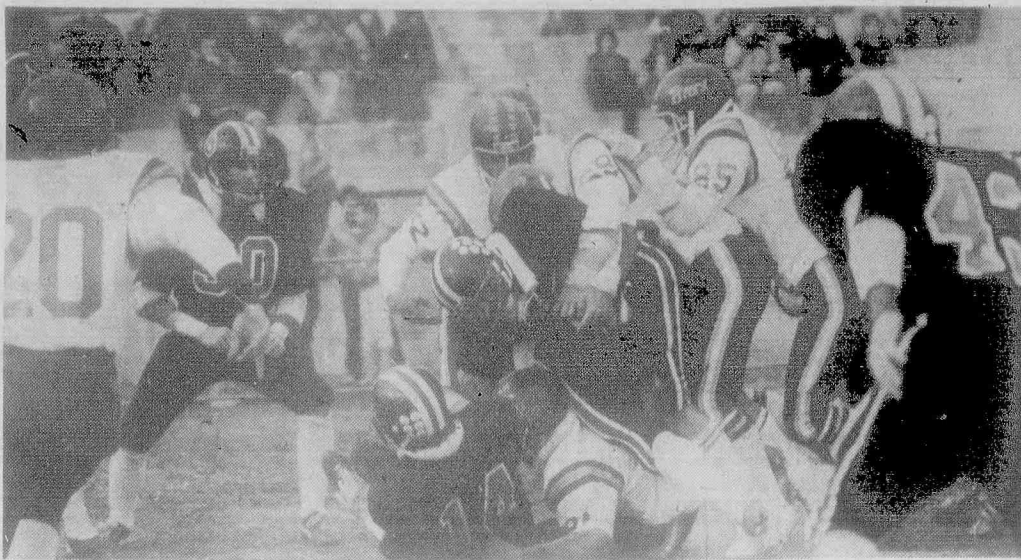

For Openers — Dennis Hyde has no chance of preventing Mike Dalla Riva from scoring Belleville's first touchdown.

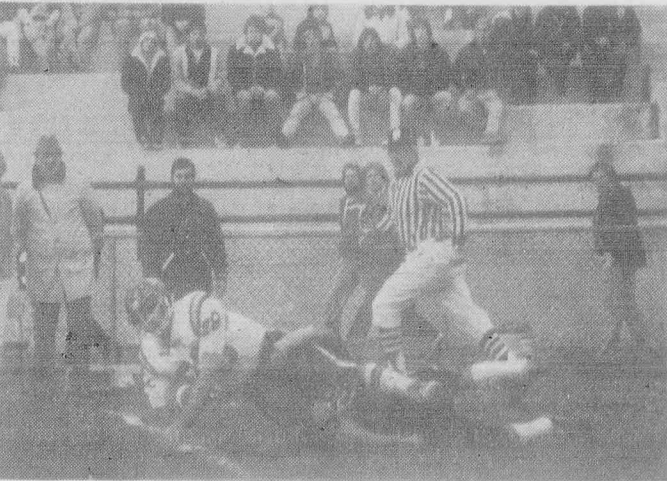

Let Us at Him — Anthony D'Agostino and Rich Racioppi struggle to reach the Kearny quarterback in the second quarter.

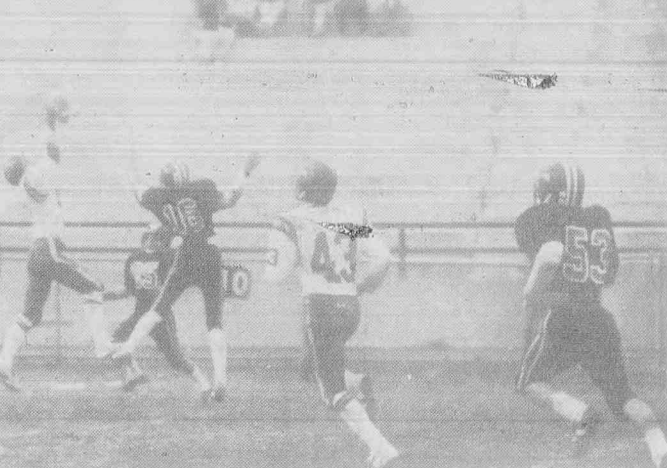

Pocket Pick — John Melillo searches and later finds Frank Fazzini for a seven-yard pickup in the second period.

Triple Thump — From left John Cataldo, Russ Cirillo and Ray Kimble pounce on Steve Nash as the Kard halfback returns a kickoff in the second quarter.

Double Figure — Frank Fazzini grabs 20 yards in the first period before being hauled down.

Tip Tap — Harried by two Kards, Frank Kokos just misses a great grab late in the fourth quarter.

Soccer award night set Tuesday at BHS

The Recreation Department will show the film, "Soccer: New Game in Town," and present awards to this year's winning teams in the recreation soccer league 6:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Belleville High auditorium.

"New Game in Town" is a look at the New York Cosmos and their spectacular former player, Pele. The film contains lots of action and slow motion replays. All residents are welcome to attend.

Awesome Gunners sock Kearny Scots

By Fred Lardaro

The Meadowlands Seagulls circling above Kearny's Gunner Oval might just as well have been vultures. Much to the chagrin of 1,300 Kearny faithful, the powerful Scots fell victim to the absolutely awesome Belleville Soccer Association Jersey Gunners 3-1 Sunday.

"It was more luck than design that enabled the Scots to hold the score as close as 3-1," commented Gunner Coach Tony Cullen. "We could just as easily have blown them away with any kind of luck at all."

Indeed the score did not reflect a match that was so convincingly dominated by Belleville. Sweet-scoring Joe Puga initiated the Gunner attack with a long kick goal, 10 yards in, off the left sideline and 25 yards deep at 15:37. Minutes later, Puga received a smart pass from Guy Cilento. Again from the left wing, Puga wheeled on the ball and without hesitation launched a rocket which curled in high over the goalkeeper's outstretched arms and ricocheted into the goal off the post.

The Scots managed to regain bringing life to the hometown fans, but the Gunners silenced the raucous crowd when the team reversed a Kearny scoring opportunity to cash in for a score off a lightning counterattack.

With time growing short in the first half, the Scots were driving against the Gunners when a Kearny midfielder misinterpreted the motion of his own centerforward, sending a lofted pass too far into the penalty area. The Gunners' keeper, Michael Ponperiero alertly charged out to handle the ball with very little difficulty and punted long down the middle of the field to Horatio Mazzeo. Mazzeo trapped the ball and passed to Puga, darting through the Scot defense. Puga snuck between two defenders, faked the keeper and jammed the ball across the goal line.

Kearny scored one goal in the second half but was so badly outplayed that the Gunners are now generally acknowledged as the team to beat in the Northern Counties.

The team is currently 3-0 having previously disposed of Chatham Township 4-0 and the Union Americans 2-1.

And if the division-defending state champions can maintain their winning ways in all probability a great deal of credit will be issued to the defense intact from last season and one year better. Anchoring the team at sweeper is Steve McCann, flanked by the incredible Wascor Jannick, young Brian Woods and the "Silent One," Hector Gaiton. Also returning are John MacArthur, one of the state's most celebrated schoolboy halfbacks of 1980, Galo Calvache, and Scott Swann.

Coach Tony Cullen is at once both the most feared and most respected within the hierarchy of Jersey youth soccer coaches. Superlatives speak well of the man, but statistics spell out a five-year coaching career marked with great accomplishment.

His teams have captured three league championships, and this one is the defending state champ, riding an impressive eight-match winning streak since a loss to the eventual champion Hicksville, Long Island, team. Cullen's teams have won 55 of their last 56 matches and have never lost at home in Branch Brook Park or at Municipal Stadium in five years.

are also back for another season and will be very much needed if this is going to be a big year for the Buccanettes.

As far as Fucello is concerned, "We have some talent but we have a lot to work on. Miss (Debbie) Meola (assistant coach) and I know we'll have to be patient with the girls. We have to box out a little better and to know where to be, especially on the fast break. I think this can be a good year for us, but we'll have to be ready to play. The early part of the season is also a killer."

Indeed, after the girls' opener tomorrow, they will play three times next week. On tap will be Caldwell at home 3:45 p.m. Tuesday, Livingston away 3:45 p.m. Thursday and Columbia away 8 p.m. Friday. Belleville has just seven games scheduled at home.

statistics for the year, in next week's edition.

The answer to last week's quiz. The question was what was the starting lineup for the 1975 Belleville basketball team in the Essex County Tournament? The answer, Abdel Anderson at center, Wayne Riche and Joe Dunn at guards, with Doug Jackson and Michael Meagher at forwards.

For this week's quiz, name the team Belleville defeated in its 1969 gridiron finale.

Scouts of Troop 388 walk Revolutionary War trail

Scoutmaster Al Lurker and nine Boy Scouts from Belleville Troop 388 joined together with Scoutmaster Bob Bochantin of Bloomfield Troop 7, nine of his charges and one of their fathers for a weekend hike Nov. 22-23. The two troops started out 9 a.m. Saturday from the Ramapo Valley County Reservation and hiked 17 miles along the historical Cannonball Trail to the Tamarack Boy Scout camp. The Scouts learned comradery, hiking skills and a bit of New Jersey history.

The Cannonball Trail was a secret roadway set deep in the mountains and carved out of the woods. It was used to transport military supplies to the American Revolutionary troops. The complete trail stretches from the Ramapo Valley to West Point, N.Y. Very few people know the exact route.

The Scouts and their leaders enjoyed the experience, and Troop 388 is looking forward to expanding its cooperative efforts with other troops.

This year's ideal gift idea: give a pet for Christmas

Sometimes the most treasured Christmas gifts are not those which come in gaily wrapped boxes. A ribbioned puppy, a hamster in a cage, even an aquarium placed beneath the tree on Christmas morning is sure to surprise and delight that special person on your gift list for which nothing else seems right.

Pet-giving is an ideal way to solve that yearly dilemma of what to give to whom. According to the Pet Information Bureau, the popularity of pets has grown to the point today where over 50 percent of American households own at least one kind of animal—and many have more than one!

Give a friend a fish

Fishkeeping is the second most popular hobby in the U.S. Why not get a friend started in that hobby with a gift of fish?

Aside from being an interesting and gratifying pastime, fishkeeping will provide hours of relaxation, as the new owner admires the aquarium's tranquil beauty.

The hobby can be as simple as maintaining a tank filled with several hardy varieties of goldfish or as involved as raising exotic guppies.

Most pet shops stock a variety of complete aquarium set-ups, including tank, gravel, pump, filters and heaters.

After purchasing the tank and accessories for the person on your list, get a "fish certificate" as a creative stocking stuffer, and give him the pleasure of picking out his own fish. Pet shop personnel can advise on proper tank, fish and accessory selections.

Cheerful chirpers

The companionship of a bird is a pleasure that will continue all year long. If Mom, for example, appreciates a good song, give her a canary to serenade her 'til her heart's content.

If she loves to talk, a mynah bird will supply ample conversation. And, if affection is the order of every day, she'll cherish her loving cockatiel.

Bird-givers should consult reputable breeders or pet shops for cages proportioned to the wing span of the chosen breed.

A WINNING "CAT-EGORY" for Christmas gift-giving—This holiday season can be the most memorable and happiest yet when your youngster receives her very own kitten. Cats are naturally clean, easy-to-care-for animals that make good pets for young children, says the Pet Information Bureau. By giving a child a pet for Christmas, parents are giving a gift guaranteed to shine for years to come. Photo courtesy: Pet Information Bureau.

Information concerning habits and diet requirements can also be acquired.

Children love animals, and usually puppies and kittens vie for the spot on a child's "most-wanted" list. A puppy or kitten given to a child at Christmas is a gift that will not be forgotten once festive decorations are put away.

Not only will a child find a friend in the gift, but he or she will learn valuable lessons in responsible pet ownership.

Like babies, kittens and puppies must receive special attention and care during their first few growing months. Parents must be sure to educate their offspring in the feeding, exercising and general care of the new pet.

Local breeders or pet shops will answer any questions concerning puppy and kitten care; veterinarians can detail necessary medical attention as the pet grows older.

All that's needed to get the new pet started is a proper diet, water, a bed and a loving child. Then, let nature take its course.

Make this Christmas memorable for those on your gift list by giving them a pet that will offer enough love and enjoyment to last for many more holiday seasons to come.

KEEP CUPBOARD READY FOR UNEXPECTED GUESTS

Holiday time usually means unexpected guests. And, it's axiomatic that unexpected guests expect, however unreasonably, to be fed—any thing from a complete meal to a snack with drinks.

How to accommodate them without throwing yourself and your household into a tizzy, every time the doorbell rings?

Stock up in advance with delectables. A few cans or jars of nuts, some candies packaged in bright holiday wrappings, a couple of cheeses—a hunk of Edam, a round of Brie, some of that scrumptious cream cheese with herbs spread—and some boxes of savory crackers will go a long way to satisfying the appetites of those friends and neighbors who stop in for a while to share the Christmas cheer.

They'll also make a hit with the family on Christmas Eve, or whenever a late-night snack is desired.

Also, make sure to keep your bar stocked—red wine, white wine, some liqueurs and a bottle or two of vodka or whiskey might be a good selection.

THE TWELVE DAYS TWO WAYS

Quick, do you know what gifts were given on the twelve days of Christmas, according to the popular old song?

They are: a partridge in a pear tree, two turtle doves, three french hens, four colly birds, five golden rings, six geese a-laying, seven swans a-swimming, eight maids a-milking, nine pipers piping, ten drummers drumming, eleven lords a-leaping, and twelve ladies dancing.

Whew! According to Christmas Customs and Traditions, by Frank Muir, another version of the song, originating in Western France, counted out as the gifts: one boneless stuffing, two breasts of veal, three joints of beef, four pig's trotters, five legs of mutton, six partridges with cabbage, seven spit-roasted rabbits, eight plates of salad, nine dishes for a chapterful of canons, ten full casks, eleven bosomy maidens, and twelve musketeers with their swords. Just try putting that to music!

Buying Johnny what he needs, not just what he says he wants

What do you buy during the holidays for the young boy or girl who seems to have everything? Well, first you'd best ask yourself whether the child actually has what he needs—rather than just what he wants.

Increasingly, our children are subjected to sugary Saturday morning television commercials which often predetermine what they want from "Santa."

Confused customers

At the same time, parents walk into toy stores today and are overcome by colorful conglomerations of new and sensational toys and games—and, in the end, a sales clerk directs the confused buyer to the market "best seller."

According to Tiger Electronic Toys, Inc., consumers—when faced with a purchase decision—should consider buying toys for children that are not only fun, but educational and of value to a youngster's mental and physical development as well.

Select wisely

What should you consider when choosing a favorite toy at the retail counter? Tiger suggests the product should measure up to the following criteria:

- Does it develop skills which are important at your youngster's age level?
- Does it encourage self-competition as well as further play interaction with adults?
- Is it programmed to continually challenge and motivate the child—even as his or her skills improve?
- Is it designed to cultivate motor skills, sensory perception, eye-hand coordination, memory and recall, and judgment of spatial relationships?
- Will the toy be relatively timeless—or does it merely reflect a fad or current movie interest?

• Will you be able "to pass it down" to younger children a few years from now and still trigger the same enjoyment and excitement as when it was new?

Interested consumers can learn more about selecting beneficial toys and games for children by contacting Tiger for a free booklet on the subject—written in conjunction with a child psychologist from the University of Chicago Medical School.

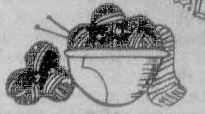

Free booklet

To obtain your booklet, write to Tiger Electronic Toys, Inc., 909 Orchard St., Mundelein, IL 60060, or telephone 312/949-8100.

Look for some of Tiger's newest learning toys—OWLY musical numbers and HIPPO-LOT-O-FUN—in finer stores across the country.

YULETIDE GOODIES DELIGHT GUESTS

Holiday entertaining offers every host and hostess the opportunity to bring out the very best.

To make your holiday hosting better than ever, take time to plan a few get-together basics that will guarantee a smooth-running, fun and festive evening for all.

Christmas homes are laden with every sort of treat and "goody" imaginable.

Pull out all of the candy dishes, compotes, cheese boards and nutcrackers so that your guests will be surrounded by generous helpings of Christmas delights.

Place dishes of candy, bowls of nuts, and plates of cookies and crackers near every chair.

For an added bit of "entertaining psychology," keep the treats separated; don't put a little bit of everything everywhere. This is a great way to keep people mingling.

As they move from the cheeses to the candied fruit, your party conversation will move and flow without effort!

If you're planning a whole evening of entertaining, don't rush things in a well-intentioned attempt to keep the canapes hot and the bread crusts crisp!

From first cocktail to last coffee, keep your hosting pace slow and loose—no one should have to interrupt a good conversation to come to the table and get a piece of pie!

Have everything prepared so that your guests set the pace—then relax and have a good time, the best thing any host or hostess can do!

Old-fashioned peanut brittle quick, easy in microwave oven

Everybody loves the holiday season—it's the time of year when friends and family are busily preparing special mouth watering goodies to share with others.

Old fashioned peanut brittle is one tempting treat that has been a yuletide favorite through the ages.

"Even nicer," say home economists from Whirlpool Corporation, "delicious peanut brittle can now be made quickly and easily in a microwave oven. No more stirring constantly and checking closely until the mixture reaches the proper temperature."

Quick-cooking

The following recipe takes only nine minutes to prepare in a microwave oven, and it's so good you'll want to make several batches for gift giving, too.

OLD FASHIONED PEANUT BRITTLE

- 1 cup raw peanuts
- 1 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup white corn syrup
- 1/8 tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. baking soda
- 1 tsp. vanilla
- 1 tsp. butter

In a 1 1/2 quart casserole, stir together peanuts, sugar, syrup and salt.

Cook 8 minutes at HIGH, stirring well after 4 minutes.

Add butter and vanilla.

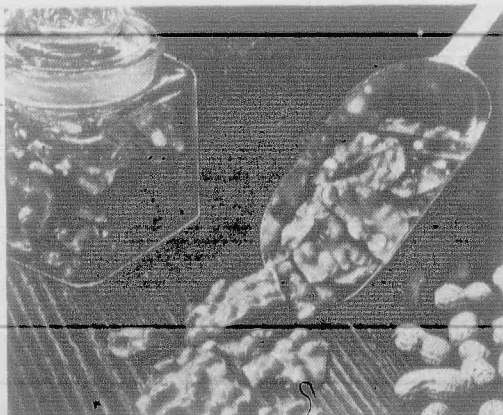

Cook 1 minute longer at HIGH.

Add baking soda and quickly stir until light and foamy.

Immediately pour onto lightly buttered baking sheet.

Spread out thin.

When cool, break into pieces. Store in air-tight container.

OLD-FASHIONED PEANUT BRITTLE from the Whirlpool microwave oven is a favorite Yuletide treat.

Tradition of kissing under the mistletoe is of Druidic origin

The quaint and agreeable custom of kissing under the mistletoe has its origins in ancient Celtic tradition.

In ancient Britain, mistletoe was regarded by the Druids as a sacred and mysterious plant. It was the symbol of life and the sun, protector against disease, and, some believed, an aphrodisiac.

Each year at the winter solstice, the Arch Druid and his fellow priests would perform elaborate rites which centered around the mistletoe.

These forest worshippers would gather in the woods to seek out the oak tree upon which grew the most mistletoe. Clad in white robes, the Arch Druid climbed the tree until he reached a bough laden with the semi-parasitic plant.

He next cut the plant with a golden sickle, being careful not to let the sacred branch fall to the ground.

Some legends have it that he caught the branch in his flowing white robes; others hold that it was caught by virgins holding a white cloth at the base of the tree.

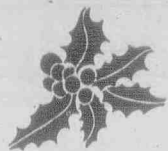

With great celebration, and prayer to the gods, the branch was divided among the Druids as a symbol of peace and prosperity. The people then took the mistletoe home to hang over their doors, as it was believed to ward off evil spirits and to ensure fertility.

It is not clear how the actual custom of kissing under the mistletoe evolved, although it is believed to have stemmed from the Druids' belief in its powers of fertility.

According to tradition, each time a young maiden happens beneath the mistletoe whether it's suspended from a chandelier or hanging in a doorway, a lad may claim a kiss from her.

For each kiss claimed, a berry is picked off the plant and given to the maid, once all the berries are plucked, there is no more kissing. And, the hapless young maid who receives neither kiss nor berry will not marry that year.

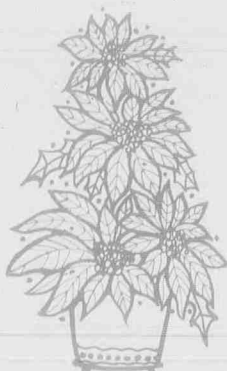

Ideal stocking surprises

FOR THE MUSIC LOVERS on your Christmas list, Sony's high quality audio cassettes and featherweight stereo headphones make ideal stocking surprises. Sony's wide variety of audio cassettes cover nearly every recording requirement, from simple speech to sophisticated musical performances. And, the best way to capture the subtleties of Sony tape is through a pair of Sonyphones, the ultimate in easy listening. So light that they feel virtually invisible, these new headphones—compatible with any variety of home components—promise long-term wearer comfort and state-of-the-art sound reproduction.

CARDS OFTEN DISPLAYED ON TREE

Do you display the boards of Christmas cards you receive each year? Many families do, lining them up on a table or piano top, or along the mantel piece. Another, more unusual manner of displaying them might be to hang them on your Christmas tree.

THE POINSETTIA: A BRIEF HISTORY

Although the poinsettia plant is not indigenous to the United States, Americans have come to associate its brilliant red bracts with the Christmas season.

The plant was actually introduced here in 1828 by Dr. Joel R. Poinsett, at that time the U.S. Ambassador to Mexico, for whom the plant was named.

Poinsettias grow wild in Mexico, reaching the height of their splendor just around the third week of December.

Their Spanish name, Fleur de la Noche Buena (flower of the holy night), derives from a Mexican legend which holds that the poinsettia originated in a miracle.

A poor peasant child, with nothing to take to the service honoring the birth of the Christ child, sadly picked a few weeds to give as an offering.

Kneeling at the altar with this humble gift, the child's earnest prayer and tears of reverence transformed the weeds into the beautiful scarlet flower we know so well.

Today, poinsettias are imported from both Mexico and Hawaii, but a careful plant-lover can keep the plant from one season to the next.

Once all of the brilliant leaves have fallen, the plant should be trimmed back to the wood.

It will flourish outdoors in the summer in most parts of the country, becoming more hearty as the weeks of sunshine pass.

From the first week of October to the second week of November, poinsettias require equal amounts of daylight and darkness to ensure the brilliant red bracts at Christmastime.

Merry Christmas Specials

Who says that Christmas has to be a big expense?

It doesn't you know... if, instead of buying high priced decorations, tree ornaments and gifts you apply a little old-fashioned, tender loving care by making them yourself with McCall Patterns.

You don't even have to know how to sew—the patterns are that easy to make. And, nothing could be more personal and appreciated.

You and the kids will get in the holiday spirit stitching up personalized Christmas stockings, a colorful braided wreath to brighten a door, a Santa strip of bow-tied treats, a festive tree skirt, and a whole array of ornaments to trim the tree or spruce up a gift—all for $2.50 in McCall's Pattern #7225.

To decorate your own holiday table, or as a gift for someone special, you can make beautiful Christmas place mats and napkins with a stuffed "tree" centerpiece to match—McCall's Pattern #7274.

"Holidays are synonymous with dazzle and excitement and only a very special look will do."

"Hanging of the greens" fuels Yule spirit at YWCA

Savoring traditions of the old while imparting flavors of the new, Young Women's Christian Associations in more than 6,000 locations throughout the United States fuel the Yule spirit with their decades-old "Hanging of the Greens" celebrations.

The end of the old year and beginning of a new one have long been marked by special ceremonies and decorative motifs themed to imaginative uses of holiday greens.

Because of the diversity of the YWCA locations, decorations usually reflect green plant and tree specialties of these areas, according to Jewel Freeman Graham, president of the YWCA of the U.S.A.

Preparing for the festive season is an "all hands" effort, with women and girls from varied ethnic, social and economic backgrounds contributing their expertise.

"It's this sharing that points up the fact that Christmas and other special events marked by people of other faiths makes this period of the year a holiday for everyone."

"It's a holiday time which draws ideas from everyone to strengthen mutual understanding and to unify us in both a religious and secular sense as we mark the season," she says.

The creche, the international symbol of Christmas, is one feature of "Hanging of the Greens" observances. Set in a bank of fresh pines, the Nativity figures are always the center of attraction.

Holly is used extensively, reflecting the legend that the shiny bush sprang up when the Infant took his first step. Greens, fires, mistletoe and holly have long since moved from the realms of pagan and Christian religions to their role as decorative and warming visual accessories.

Halls continue to be decked with green branches, but they are used also as centerpieces, window and door wreaths, vase and table decorations.

Folklore has it that all the trees in the winter forest bloomed at the birth of Christ—so trees have emerged as the "stars" of the holiday season.

At YWCAs all over the country trees are trimmed with distinctive decorations that are the handiwork of members who have fashioned them during crafts classes at the YW.

Bells, musical instruments, angels, animals, twinkling balls, homemade candies and cookies are traditional, of course, agrees Mrs. Graham, but sea shells, local fruits, nuts, flowers, birds and butterflies join them in localized variety area-by-area.

Many Associations feel that decorations which don't deteriorate are good ideas, sound ones economically, as well.

Live evergreens placed in sturdy wooden tubs can be trimmed as festively as the cut varieties and, after the holidays, are planted on YW grounds or in a community park. They are reminders of Christmas past all through the year and of fresh new year beginnings.

Keep your nose tuned to the sweet scents of the season

Any well-tuned nose can identify the smells of the holiday season with no trouble at all.

There's the wonderfully fresh scent of pine and evergreen that fills the crisp air at the local nursery or garden center which, once inside the house, suffuses it.

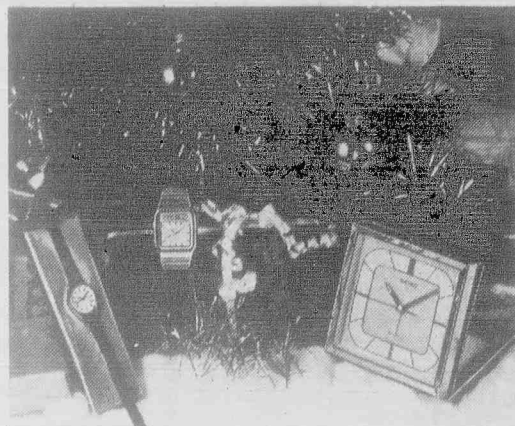

There's the rich aroma of burning bayberry candles, of hot spiced punch or of fresh gingerbread cookies cooling on a rack—smells that are as familiar as they are heart-warming.

There's the warm, welcoming atmosphere created by a crackling fire, which is sure to take the chill from anyone's spine.

And, on Christmas Day, there are the sweet smells of pies baking or turkeys basting, of cranberries simmering or potatoes roasting, which awaken the nose to the good scents of the season.

For under the tree

THERE'S SOMETHING FOR EVERYONE on Christmas morning when you choose your gifts from Seiko's lovely collection of quartz watches and clocks. The punctual lady will adore the Seiko three-hand quartz watch (far left) with white dial and supple lizard strap. The men's personal time control center chronograph watch (center) combines the best looks and features of analog and digital models in an attractive dress case. Fashionable gilt dial, gold-tone case and matching bracelet are included on this model which features 12 different functions. An exquisite home decorating accessory is this folding multi-position quartz table clock with alarm. Gilt case and silver-tone dial highlight this Seiko clock which easily tilts into a variety of positions for easy visibility. A companion model is also available with silver-tone case and black dial.

BECAUSE THE SOUND OF MUSIC is the sound of Christmas, it's a favorite time for audiophiles. The music of Christmas always gives these lovers of high fidelity sound a special urge to tinker with the carefully assembled components of their stereo systems in a constant search for better sound quality. Therefore, if you have an audiophile on your Christmas list, your gift will be especially appropriate if it is a new Shure M97 phono cartridge. The M97 is available in the pre-mounted version shown above, which is designed for instant attachment to turn arms of many leading turntables, or in an unmounted version that your favorite audiophile can easily install.

Auto Sales Reach Record High For Buick Dealers

Buick dealers in the Newark zone posted sales of 3,607 cars, in October, up 21.7 percent from the 2,965 total for the month a year ago, according to G.L. Walbrun, zone sales manager.

The Newark's zone percentage increase far exceeded the increase in October Buick sales nationwide - of 15.8 percent. Nationally, Buick dealers sold 80,015 cars for the month, compared to 69,109 a year ago.

Pacing the General Motors division's performance were the newly-restyled Regal, up 13.7 percent; the Century, up 108.2 percent; and the Skylark, which rose 54.1 percent.

Buick's General Sales Manager, Jack Duffy, said the division has built sales momentum since the middle of the summer.

"After having increased Buick's market share substantially during the 1980 model year, our dealers moved into the 1981 model year on the upside — and already have begun to improve on last year's relatively outstanding performance," Duffy said.

Buick was the only "Big Three" carmaker to increase market share for 1980 — from 6.9 percent to 7.6 percent of the industry.

"With the economic recovery underway, and an excellent start for our 1981 models, there is a good chance that we may have been too conservative in our prediction of 740,000 Buick sales in the 1981 model year," Duffy said.

Five here arrested in gambling raids

Five Belleville residents were arrested Sunday afternoon in raids of 34 New York and New Jersey gambling "offices" including three sites here, according to Deputy Chief of Detectives Frank Haight.

The men were allegedly part of a large gambling operation which covered two states and according to Haight was "a multi-million dollar organization."

The raids were the culmination of a two-month investigation by prosecutor's offices in six New Jersey towns and New York City. Six court ordered wiretaps were used.

In one of the raids on Belleville gambling operations, police arrested a 36-year-old resident of Branch Brook Drive at his home. The man was charged with bookmaking, possession of sports bets, maintaining a gambling resort and conspiracy. He was booked at Belleville police headquarters and released on his own recognizance. Police found and confiscated approximately $900 in cash, $30,000 in sports bets and a .38-caliber handgun from the suspect's home.

Another resident of Branch Brook Drive was arrested at an East Orange gambling location, where over $80,000 in sports bets were confiscated. The man was taken to the Somerset County prosecutor's office.

A second raid at a Belleville location resulted in the arrest of a Mill Street resident who was taken to the Bergen County Prosecutor's Office. He was charged with bookmaking and conspiracy. Police confiscated $10,000 in cash and $50,000 in sports bets.

The third Belleville raid took place at 675 Joralemen St., where a 26-year-old Belleville resident was arrested and charged with bookmaking and conspiracy. Also arrested at this location was a 27-year-old resident who was charged with bookmaking and conspiracy as well. Both men were taken to the Bergen County Prosecutor's Office.

Deputy Chief Haight said that Det. Thomas Ricci accompanied the Essex and Bergen County strike forces on all of their raids conducted in Belleville.

In the two-state area, 44 arrests were made at 34 New Jersey and two New York locations. The investigation was a joint effort of the Essex, Bergen, Somerset, Middlesex, Hudson and Morris County Prosecutor's Offices, along with the New York City Police Department.

Haight said the investigation was continuing and might result in a few "spin-off" arrests.

New program may save hospital patients dollars

By Ed Caparucci

Hospital costs like everything else these days continue to skyrocket upward, but patients entering Clara Maass Memorial Hospital after Dec. 31 of this year may find their hospital stays a little cheaper than in the past.

On Jan. 1, Clara Maass will be one of 40 hospitals to join the New Jersey Health Department's experimental hospital cost program called Diagnosis Related Groups (DRG.)

DRG allows patients to pay according to their illnesses instead of by the length of their hospital stays. The program divides illnesses into 383 different categories, giving a set price for each.

For example, a doctor decides that his patient is suffering from a bladder infection. The doctor then lists the patient into a certain category and provides a price for treatment. Whether the patient is hospitalized for two days or two months the price remains the same.

DRG will also even out hospital costs. Under the old system, a patient who spent four days in the hospital for routine diagnostic care and a patient who also spent four days in intensive care with round-the-clock nursing and monitoring equipment had the same bill. This is changed under DRG.

The program, which took effect during early May of this year when 26 hospitals volunteered to become part of it, is still in its experimental phase, and the final outcome will not be known until late next year.

The objective of the program is to lower patient costs and improve hospital care. Many inner-city hospitals such as St. Michael's and Beth Israel, both in Newark, have called the program a success, noting that DRG is saving the hospitals as well as the patients money while providing better services. But many are still skeptical.

Clara Hospital Vice President Emil Horak feels that the program may not meet the expectations that many have.

"There is going to be a lot of paper-shuffling going on once this program takes effect, and that means adding more personnel," said Horak.

Horak said the program will save patients money, but the hospitals will be losing out. "We are going to have to double the staff in the medical records department, and the bill-preparing office. Initially this is going to be a financial burden," he said.

The program's real winners, Horak feels, will be the consultants who are being called in to help set up and run the program. "This is a consultants' paradise," Horak said. "They are helping to gear up the program and are providing the internal work. They are the ones benefiting from the DRG program, not the hospitals."

So starting Jan. 1, patients will take advantage of the lower hospital cost, while hospital representatives will just have to sit back and see if the prognosis is good.

Town physician debunks claims for cancer 'cures'

Dr. James Orsini, a Belleville town physician and a noted expert on cancer, told a group of high school health students that laetrile and other "miracle cures" "have no proven benefit and there are no controlled clinical trials showing they have any validity in the treatment of cancer patients."

Speaking at Montclair High School, Orsini said such treatments for cancer "are given to people who are generally incurable after having received conventional treatments, and are given by doctors who have no oncological training."

"After patients fail with conventional treatments," he continued, "they will pursue any hope and there are always charlatans available to provide false hopes."

Orsini is a staff physician at five area hospitals and has completed fellowships in oncology (the branch of medicine dealing with tumors) at Beth Israel Hospital in Newark, Mount Sinai Hospital in New York and the Institute of Cancer in Milan, Italy. He told the students that patients sometimes seem to be recovering with laetrile treatments and other "cures" because "they are being taken off the chemotherapy, and although the side effects of the chemotherapy are gone and they seem to feel better, at times the cancer is spreading and the patient is getting worse."

He explained various types of cancers to the students and detailed advances that have been made, particularly in the treatment of breast and lung cancer, through chemotherapy.

Orsini said he has prescribed a legal form of marijuana or one of its derivatives to relieve some side effects of chemotherapy and found it effective. "This is a pill distilled from the plant, and it can stop the nausea and vomiting that comes with chemotherapy in some patients," he said.

Although it is rapidly becoming the leading cause of death in America, cancer can be curable if it is detected at an early stage, Orsini asserted.

Speaking on the topic, "Cancer and the Young," Orsini mentioned the most prevalent forms of cancer in young people and told the students how the potential cure for such cancers as Hodgkins, lymphoma, acute childhood leukemia, testicular cancer and others is possible.

He advocated chemotherapy for most forms, although he admitted that "there are side effects, and sometimes they can make the patient very uncomfortable. But the doctor who does not recognize that there is proven benefit to chemotherapy and who decreases the dosage to eliminate the side effects is doing the patient more harm than good."

Orsini's lecture to the high school students was one in a series of such talks he is presenting to area groups.
