First Customer — Nutley resident Bill Dougherty shakes hands with Pathmark manager Ron Bergondo as Dougherty's fiancée, Andrea Paolino, and Pathmark checker Rita Gonzalez survey the new store.

Pathmark 'super center' opens up to large crowd

Two years and $5 million later, the new Pathmark mini-mall has opened on Washington Avenue, and if the size of the crowds and the number of cars in its parking lot are any indication, the "super center" is an instant hit.

Finance Commissioner Joseph McGreevy cut the ribbon marking the official opening of the 72,000-square-foot shopping facility a little after 8:30 Sunday morning. Customers weren't supposed to be let in for another half-hour, but scores of them were already waiting outside the doors and began pouring in when the clock struck 9.

The crowds kept coming early this week and on Monday and Tuesday afternoons, most of the 259 spaces on Pathmark's outside parking lot were filled. Another 161 are available below the store itself. The mini-mall is open 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

The "super center" is the 32nd of that prototype built by Pathmark, and the Belleville store is the 117th in the total chain. It is the first new super center to be built in Essex County," reported Pathmark Vice President Bob Wunderle in note to The Times this week. "The Belmont Avenue store is also a super center but was enlarged and renovated to become one rather than built on that form."

Pathmark calls its stores "super centers" because they sell much more than just food. Customers can also buy cosmetics, housewares, appliances, clocks, records and a large variety of other items.

Technically, the new Pathmark isn't yet a "mini-mall" since its satellite stores aren't in operation. However, they are on the way. A pizza parlor and liquor store have signed up as tenants, and at its meeting tonight, the Planning Board will consider the application of a new store on the site.

The planners, whose meeting starts 7:30 p.m. at Town Hall, have also received an application from Ground Round to build a restaurant at the mini-mall. Though the application has been placed on the agenda, it is doubtful it will be heard tonight. However, the Ground Round chain received a considerable boost last week when commissioners gave tentative approval to dropping a provision in the town code which said liquor licenses must be located at least 1,250 feet apart from each other. Final approval of the change is expected at Tuesday night's commission meeting. (See story this issue.)

Also on tonight's Planning Board agenda is an application for a drive-up facility submitted by McDonald's Restaurant, right across the avenue from the Pathmark. The McDonald's case is being carried over from last month when legal questions arose involving parking requirements near the site.

Silver Lakers plan suit on water rate

Sunday at 7 p.m., a group of annoyed Silver Lake residents will gather at district leader Marie Gammara's house to plan a lawsuit either against Belleville, or against both the town and the Newark Water Company for charging them 33 percent more for their water than residents in other parts of town pay.

Nearly 5,000 Silver Lake residents who live south of Newark Avenue are affected by the higher rates, which they have been paying for years. Only recently with water rate threatening to surge forward has the price difference become a more prominent issue, though.

Already, a committee including Arthur and Rae Saulino has raised $400 to hire a lawyer, and residents hope to plan strategy to garner another $600 Sunday. With $1,000 they expect to retain a lawyer who has agreed to file suit against Belleville for discriminating against its own residents by allowing Newark to charge two different prices.

"I spoke to the attorney and he says we've got a good shot at it," said Arthur Saulino, following Tuesday's Board of Education meeting. Saulino said he'd spoken to Mayor Michael Marotti, Commissioners Joseph McGreevy and Vincent Strumolo, along with water monitor Steve Vogel and Public Work Superintendent James Soldo. Saulino noted the local officials have yet to take any action against Newark for its price "discrimination."

Newark officials say Silver Lake is charged more because it was once a part of that city and its pipes are still maintained by the company. Newark also provides free sewerage

BUT STILL ONLY ONE DECLARED

A dozen candidates may join school race

By Mike Olohan

With the School Board election little more than six weeks away and with just one week left for candidates to declare, only Bell Telephone engineer Tom Spillane has entered the campaign, though nearly a dozen prospective candidates are on the horizon.

Among the newest names to surface as possibilities are Bob May, Valley Association president and frequent critic at School Board and Town Commission meetings, and Judy Sobanko and Judy Wright, co-signers of the Valley Association lawsuit brought against trustees for closing School 1. Belleville's current board has no women on it, which would make a race by Mrs. Wright or Mrs. Sobanko significant.

The two incumbents whose three-year seats are up in the April 7 election remain question marks. Ernie Zoppi, the board's first-term president, is leaning towards entering the race. Six-year Trustee Mike Chieffo is planning some political campaign, but whether that's an Assembly, commission or Board of Education tussle isn't yet known.

Doug Cantarella and Niles Monica, managers of Trustee Tom Zampino's successful campaign last year, are weighing School Board bids, along with former board president Ralph Risoli. Another name being bandied about as a possible contender is Joseph Del Guercio, a school administrator in Orange who finished last in the 1979 race.

An interesting and often overlooked syndrome in School Please see "Three" on page 21.

the Belleville times

Belleville cuts water use by a record 24.9 percent

Water conservation reached 24.9 percent here last week, just one-tenth of a point shy of Gov. Brendan Byrne's 25 percent goal, and town officials are singling out local industry for special praise in helping Belleville record its all-time best reduction figure.

"I think a lot of factories are cutting back a lot more," said Steve Vogel, who has been following Belleville's wavering water stats since early October, shortly after the conservation mandate went into effect. The good news has traveled all that far, though. Vogel said no state officials had yet contacted him to see how Belleville was doing, though the town's supplier, Newark Water Company, is apparently recording local conservation progress.

If residents saved 42,000 cubic feet more per week, they'd be using exactly 25 percent less water than they were in February of last year. And only a few thousand gallons separate residents from reaching that vaunted 25 percent goal when compared to September's readings.

Last Monday at a special town meeting, two water emergency officials, one from the state, the other from the county, told local business and industry leaders how critical the situation has become, and earlier Newark had threatened to turn off Belleville's supply, voluntarily agreeing not to only after Wayne got a restraining order prohibiting the shutoff.

However, as one landlord observed at last week's meeting, the talk may have been misdirected. Vogel, like Lt. Alfred Livingstone of New Jersey's Water Emergency Task Force, fingered apartment tenants as the worst water wasters.

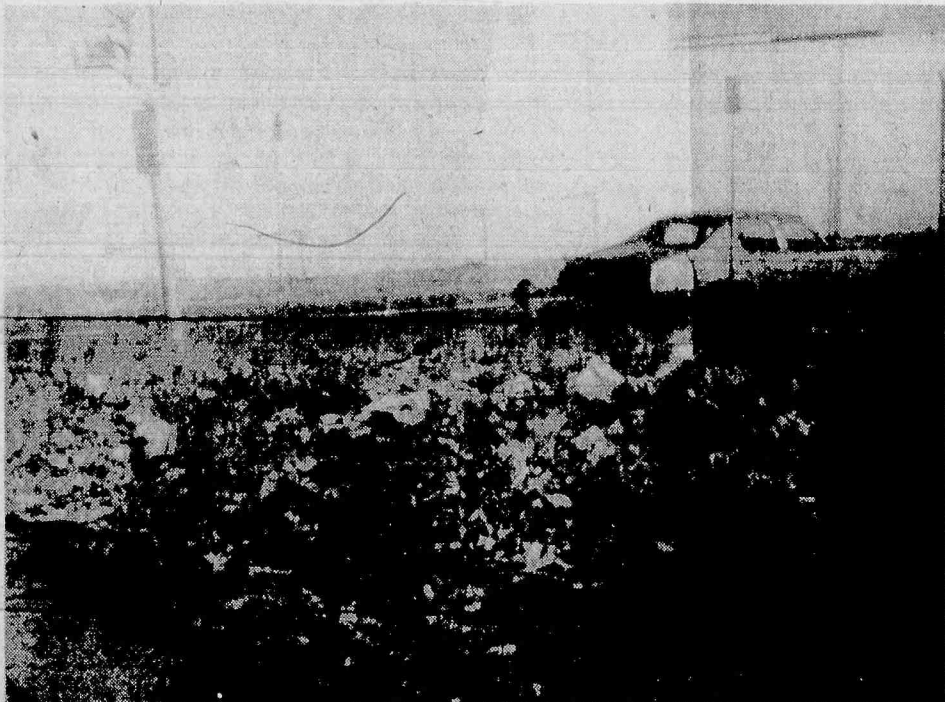

Though landlords can be hit with surcharges if apartments exceed their per person daily allotment, landlords can pass those surcharges right along to tenants if they can prove to the state task force that they have fixed all plumbing leaks, offered to install water-saving showerheads, and put up conservation signs available at Town Hall.

Putting one sign on each floor should be enough, said Vogel, stressing "if they do those things, the task force can give them an okay to pass along the (surcharge) costs."

The penalty or surcharge is $5 for the first 750 gallons over the permitted limit, and $10 for every 750 gallons more. Under state regulations, second-time offenders have a flow-restrictor attached for 15 days, cutting their supply to a trickle and three-time violators have a restrictor placed on their water line for an indefinite period.

"Apartments are still way up Please see "Vogel" on page 21.

Eyesore of the week

Paper Parking — This lot at the corner of Washington Avenue and William Street is littered with papers, cans and various trash.

Library will appeal for furniture funds

Overwhelmed by the cost of furnishing its recent addition, the Belleville Library Board of Trustees has agreed to hire a fund-raising firm in the hope of obtaining $100,000 to $200,000 worth of help from local businesses and industries.

Belleville Library Director Gerard Hickey couldn't confirm specific dollar figures but noted that Institutional Development Counsel of Glen Rock will soon be hired to conduct the library's fund-raising drive.

Initial estimates had the library's now-completed 4,320-square-foot addition at $240,000 but spurting material and labor costs shot the final price tag to $335,000, including $25,000 for architecture fees.

In December, Hickey estimated $80,000 to $100,000 would be needed just for furniture alone, and last week School Superintendent Dr. John Greed said about $100,000 to $200,000 would probably be sought.

Greed is an ex-officio library trustee.

About 20,000 new fiction selections are expected to be added when the new addition opens, but now only Hickey's offices in the addition are being used. Most of the addition's construction work is completed, but it could be summer or later before local residents will get full use of a $335,000 improvement, for which they paid $185,000 extra in taxes, with $154,000 coming out of the library's regular budget.

Hickey wouldn't reveal how much hiring a fund-raising firm cost, but said details will be available March 13 at the library board's next scheduled meeting.

"It's no longer a question of how we're going to do it," said Hickey, emphasizing that signing a contract with Institutional Development Counsel is just a formality since library trustees have already voiced

Chamber Notes

We welcome as a new member Dr. Ralph J. DiMaio of the Essex County Chiropractic Center, 625 Joralemon St. He joined us at our membership meeting Jan. 22, one of the best we have ever had. The food and the service were excellent, and the program by IBM was most interesting. Attendance was pretty good (21), and everyone had the opportunity to make suggestions for the 1981 program and activities of the Chamber of Commerce. Disappointing was the fact that not one merchant attended the meeting.

Our latest board of directors meeting was held Tuesday this week at the Casa Polizzi. Sgt. Martin McNish of the Belleville Police Department was our scheduled speaker. His topic, "How to protect your home, office, store or industry against ever-increasing crime, how to cooperate with the Police Department in crime-prevention and what to do if you need the police."

Where are we going? In 1979, serious crime in the United States increased by the sharpest rate in four years. Robbery rose 12 percent, murder 9.7 percent, aggravated assault 10.7 percent and forcible rape 3 percent. According to the FBI, there is one property crime every three seconds, one murder every 24 minutes, one rape every seven minutes, one robbery every 68 seconds, an aggravated assault every 51 seconds, one burglary every 10 seconds, one larceny-theft every five seconds and one vehicle theft every 28 seconds. Those are the 1979 records. Want to bet on the 1980 figures?

There are 18 federal regulatory agencies. The regulations have a multi-billion-dollar impact on the public through their effect on the cost of products and services. They also have an effect on the federal budget. The estimated number of employees in the regulatory agencies is 60,181.

New Auditor — Jean T. Moeller has been named auditor of Bloomfield Savings Bank. She started her career with the bank as a teller in 1964, and after serving in many areas, was named assistant manager of the Ampere branch in 1966. She was worked in the auditing department since 1976. Mrs. Moeller and her husband Fred live in Belleville.

Belleville native is named assistant U.S. postmaster

William V. Chapp, a former Belleville resident, has been named assistant postmaster general for the engineering and technical support department's operations group. The announcement was made by U.S. Postmaster General William F. Bolger in Washington, D.C.

In his new position, Chapp will have overall responsibility for planning and approving the country's requirements for postal facilities and mechanization. Chapp, 52, replaces Peter A. Del Grosso, who retired in January. Most recently, Chapp was western regional director of the Postal Service's real estate and buildings department in San Bruno, Calif. A postal employee since 1958, Chapp's first assignment was in the Washington headquarters as a process machinery engineer. He moved up through the ranks in various engineering and real estate and buildings posts.

Chapp holds a bachelor of science degree in industrial engineering from Fairleigh Dickinson University and he has done graduate work at Stevens Institute of Technology. In addition, he has taken advanced management training at the University of Oklahoma and the Brookings Institute. He is also a graduate of the Harvard University advanced management program. He is a member of the American Institute of Industrial Engineers.

Chapp and his wife, the former Sophie Barbara Liskowicz, are both natives of Belleville. They have three daughters and a son.

Green appointed to hospital board

Herman Green, president of Eller Outdoor Advertising in Fairfield, has been named to the Clara Maass Memorial Hospital Board of Trustees.

Eller-United operates outdoor advertising facilities in numerous metropolitan markets in New Jersey and Connecticut. The corporation is also an important designer and builder of commercial signs, exhibits and interior decor.

Green plays an active role in industry affairs, having previously served as chairman of the board of the Outdoor Advertising Association of America and chairman of the Institute of Outdoor Advertising. He is currently a member of the board of directors of the Traffic Audit Bureau and the Advertising Council.

Green is past president of the National Electric Sign Association. Also active in the local business community, Green is a member of the board of directors of the Greater Newark Chamber of Commerce and served as a director of Security National Bank in Newark.

Green has been associated with the advertising corporation since 1946, serving as president of the United Sign Division, vice president in charge of all commercial sign operations, director of the corporation and a member of the executive committee. He was elected president in 1973.

Recently, Green presented a $10,000 grant to Clara Maass on behalf of the Gannett Company, of which Eller is a subsidiary. The money was used for the upgrading and expansion of the hospital's special care nursery.

Green and his wife, the former Arona Schlesinger, reside in Verona. They have two children and are members of the Preakness Hills Country Club, Wayne.

Suburban awards bicycle to resident

Tom Ferreri Sr. of Belleville has won a 10-speed bicycle in Suburban Savings and Loan's "Wheels of Fortune" sweepstakes.

Ferreri was one of 26 winners in the promotional contest run by the bank whose local office is on Centre Street in Nutley. Part one of the sweepstakes, which ended with the drawing of Ferreri's name from over 50,000 entries Feb. 7, started early last month when Suburban began accepting entries at all 26 of its branches.

Each Suburban office drew one name, awarding that person a 10-speed bike. One name was then drawn from among the 26, and the winner, Renee Greene, a nurse from Montclair, was given a new Chevy Chevette.

Entries are now being accepted for part two of the sweepstakes. Names will be drawn at each office at the end of this month and winners will again receive bicycles. As in part one, there will also be five second prizes of rollers skates and 20 third prizes of matchbox cars. The winner of the second Chevette will be selected March 7. The third and final part of the sweepstakes starts March 2. A third Chevy will be awarded at the end of that month. One of the winners of the three cars will be awarded the grand prize, a new Cadillac Coupe de Ville.

The "Wheels of Fortune" is open to anyone 18 and older. Entrants need not bank at Suburban but must complete an official entry blank. Participation is limited to one entry a person per month.

Schools 1, 2 closed — as polling places

Voters in Belleville's School 1 and 2 districts will have to travel further to cast ballots in the April 7 Board of Education election since trustees voted 3-2 last week against reopening either school for polling.

Though they permitted presidential election voting to take place at both schools last November, Vice President Charles Miele spoke for the board majority when he maintained that trustees "have to make a decision" soon about what they're going to do with the schools, and voted against opening either one.

Voters from School 1's area will probably be moved to Belleville Junior High and voters from School 2 probably to School 10. Trustees decided to keep Schools 1 and 2 closed for the spring election only after School Superintendent Dr. John Greed read off the number of voters in each district over three years. Though the statistics varied somewhat from year to year, about 150 votes were usually cast at School 1 and 100 at School 2.

Trustee Mike Chieffo thought closing both polling places could reduce the number of voters from each district by 40 percent, while Trustee John DiStasi said both polling places should be kept open until June 30 to avoid voter confusion. Chieffo and DiStasi were on the losing side, however.

Board President Ernie Zoppi, Miele and Trustee Anthony D'Agostino felt both schools should remain closed. Miele emphasized dollars in his decision. Board Secretary Administrator Mary Shader said trustees would "probably save" $200 to $300, but they would also have to pay to move extra voting machines into School 10 and the Junior High.

To their critics, trustees' 3-2 vote once again pointed out the political division on the board. Trustees Tom Zampino and Caesar Romano were absent but might have been expected to split on the issue, Zampino with the minority, Romano with the majority.

"The fact that children are going to other schools is a good fact as any" to keep both closed, said Zoppi. Miele also pointed out what he saw as a benefit to having more voters cast ballots at School 10. "It'll also give them an eyeeful of what's happening there," he said, referring to construction underway on the multipurpose room.

Prayer for today

All you peoples, clap your hands, shout to God with cries of gladness

For the Lord, the Most High, the awesome, is the great king over all the earth.

He brings peoples under us; nations under our feet.
He chooses for us our inheritance, the glory of Jacob, whom he loves.

God mounts his throne amid shouts of joy; the Lord, amid trumpet blasts.

Sing praise to God, sing praise; sing praise to our king, sing praise.

For king of all the earth is God; sing hymns of praise.

God reigns over the nations, God sits upon his holy throne.

The princes of the peoples are gathered together with the people of the God of Abraham.

For God's are the guardians of the earth; he is supreme.

Water crisis

Make no mistake — the present drought is a cause for alarm for all of us. Water supplies are very short. Four weeks from now, if we have no rain — or little rain — our faucets may run dry. For 16 years I have been a member of the North Jersey District Water Supply Commission, participating in the operation of a 30 billion-gallon reservoir serving one million people. The drought that faces us today is worse than that in the '60s — and even worse than the drought years of the '30s.

Both the towns of Belleville and Nutley are involved in exploratory efforts to find well supplies as a substitute source of water.

The water emergency is upon us at this moment — and by the time June or July rolls around, conditions will be much worse — unless, by act of God, a future rainfall will be adequate to replenish our water supply.

Local officials should be encouraged to seek a new water source by exploring the possibility of wells to at least serve, partially, the needs of our communities. We commend officials in both towns for their initiative in going ahead with plans to develop a water resource within the town boundaries.

Meanwhile, residents of both communities should treat a drop of water as a drop of gold — equal to the importance of the air we breathe — for without water, there is no life.

Yes, we are in a crisis — and worse — there is no end in sight.

Frank A. Orechio

Peter, oh Peter

County Executive Peter Shapiro sent letters to members of the New Jersey Legislature urging that certain legislation concerning farm workers be enacted into law.

The legislation does not affect anyone in Essex County. Despite this fact, Peter Shapiro, writing as the Essex County Executive, contacts legislators in an effort to use his influence to adopt legislation limited to farm workers, including a bill requiring "that all farm workers be provided a written statement in Spanish and English of their legal rights..."

We are not living in a bilingual country, nor are we living in a bilingual county. People should learn English; but here we find Peter urging adoption of legislation requiring dissemination of information in two languages.

We believe any requirement in America that establishes as its base, a bilingual society is un-American. We believe America is for Americans. Immigrants coming to America must realize they must be Americans first — and acceptance of that fact requires them to learn English — our native language.

What the county executive is doing in a legislative area which has nothing to do with his job is beyond us — although we note a copy of his correspondence was sent to Enrique Arroyo, Board of Directors, Puerto Rican Congress. Maybe that legend on his correspondence might suggest the motive for his correspondence.

Shapiro puts cash 'savings' ahead of tender loving care

To the Editor:

I was delighted to read in the Jan. 20 issue of the Newark Star Ledger an article lauding Essex County Executive Peter Shapiro's decision to eliminate the resident physicians at the Essex County Geriatrics Center. I say delighted because Mr. Shapiro just drove another nail (partway) into his political coffin. Mr. Shapiro has added another dimension to his now saddled personality, that of indifference and disinterest. He is an uncaring person incapable of comprehending what tender loving care is all about.

Let us examine for a moment what impact this decision will have on the patients and relatives of patients. At present there are six physicians on the geriatrics staff, not including the medical director. A total of seven. At present there are a total of 272 patients, all with a variety of ills. Average age is 81 years. Case load for each staff physician is at present approximately 40 patients. Each physician spends four hours a day seven days a week at his duties. The medical director spends 10 hours a day seven days a week overseeing and evaluating his staff and their opinions. So it appears that the patient receives a fair shake in the administration of medicine and diagnosis. Two physicians are on 24-hour call on a rotating basis.

Now who is to take the physicians' place? Mr. Shapiro has decided that the patients can call on or engage their personal physicians. The latter can bill Medicaid for services rendered. Now just imagine for a moment 272 physicians running in and out of the center seven days a week. Talk about a parking problem! And imagine if you will the amount of paperwork involved (the Medicaid Division will be inundated with forms), the cost of postage that will be incurred, the errors that invariably will be made, the frustrations the physicians will suffer from not receiving payments on time.

I could go on and on. But to be serious, the worst part of the decision to remove the physicians is the lack of services the patient will suffer. No one can tell me that the visiting physician can replace the staff physician in terms of tender loving care. The visiting physician does just not have the time. And will he come when called? How many patients have a personal physician? How many of the admitting physicians (when the patient was admitted to the center) have severed relationships with their patients? How many physicians moved out of the state? How many physicians want to become involved with the overabundance of Medicaid forms? How many patient-personal physicians are educated in geriatrics and gerontology?

There is really not a lot of money to be made as a consulting geriatric physician. Not once since Mr. Shapiro's administration has been in office have I read or listened to a speech by him in which the welfare of the geriatric patient has been referred to. Not once have I read an article in any newspaper or magazine a statement that was altruistic in nature relative to the Essex County Geriatrics Center resident, or for that matter, any geriatric resident. Is it because Mr. Shapiro is only 28 years old? Or is it that the Shapiro Administration is not people-oriented or social service-oriented, but rather number or profit-oriented?

What of all these things? Mr. Shapiro supplies no answer. And if he did he could never in a million years justify the decision to remove the staff of resident physicians. I don't know where Mr. Shapiro gets his information (if any) and who disseminates the information, what alternatives were discussed (if any) and if the final decision was a unanimous one.

Again the profit motive raises its ugly head. I assume that the county would save a few dollars in salaries, about $100,000 (I guess) a year. But the loss of personal services (TLC) will run into infinity. One cannot quantify services rendered to a patient in terms of tender loving care. The average length of stay at the Geriatrics Center is 2.8 years. During the time spent, patients have built up a personal, trusting rapport with the staff physician. A confidentiality has been established with the patients' relatives. The patient has learned to trust and at times love the physician, and the relatives of patients have responded in a like manner. Now all this is to be discarded like some obsolete machine. It has served its purpose and is no longer needed. (We can make more money with this new computer. Nothing personal, it's just that...).

In closing, a reminder that the "grey power" that is prevalent in our country and county today will increase in the next 20 years to 50 percent of the population. Over half the population in 20 years will be 50 years or over. So if Mr. Shapiro has an intention of remaining a politician (which I hope and pray he doesn't), he should make himself aware of the stark realization that the "grey power" relatives of geriatric patients, and some geriatric patients not too seriously ill, are still a force to be reckoned with.

Ocean water could well be the solution

To the Editor:

I believe if we pump and purify ocean water to our local reservoirs, we can supply this northeastern area.

The government of Israel has been doing this for many years. The equipment and machinery that are used are bought from the U.S.

The few million dollars that will be spent for this process will save billions. With the water shortage, companies will have to lay off many of their employees or maybe close.

Many government officials say this process is expensive. Nothing is cheap when you've got to have it. Look at the price of oil and gas.

Thank you,

Risoli a public servant town can be proud of

To the Editor:

I am responding to the irresponsible editorial commentary appearing in The Belleville Times on Feb. 5, 1981.

I believe the publisher owes Mr. Risoli an apology for his uncalled for remarks.

Mr. Risoli is one of Belleville's most dedicated public servants. His contribution to our community goes unchallenged.

The publisher's charges that Mr. Risoli wants to throw out the present members of the Board of Education is a distortion of fact. Doesn't the publisher know that all appointments are made by the mayor?

When Mr. Risoli talks about "the ugly hands of politics," he might have been referring to the publisher, Mr. Orechio.

I think the time has come when Mr. Orechio should join the grandstand viewers shouting words of praise for public servants instead of crucifying them.

Geriatrics Center resident looking for counseling job

To the Editor:

I am interested in counseling people ages 16 to 55. I already have a job taking care of the elderly, working for two organizations. I call four to five people every day, checking to find out how they are, what their needs are. Now I would also like to do work with younger people.

Not that I'm giving up the old job, not by any means. I love what I'm doing. However, there are a lot of young people out there who need help and some one to talk to. They haven't got anybody to communicate with. The counselors they do come in contact with have only a short time to spend with them because of their busy schedules. I'm willing to do this voluntarily as I do with the other organization.

I have contacted two groups and a minister. One of the groups was the Nutley Family Service Bureau, the minister was Rev. Alvarez of Belleville. They have me the same answer: Looking for college graduates. This leaves me out, but (and I put this "but" in a capital "B") I do not give up easily. Where there is a will there is a way and with God's help everything is possible.

One thing I know they worry about is people trying to commit suicide. Since I don't have a college degree to back me up, I could get myself in a lot of trouble. However, this case doesn't have a leg to stand on because a lot of people who do commit suicide go to the best psychiatrists available. So this argument doesn't hold water.

Another argument against me: If they did give me this job, some of the college graduates might get jealous and complain about me not going through the hardships and work of college. True — I don't debate this at all, but I can assure you I'm a good reader as well as a good listener and I do keep up with what's going on in the world through television and radio. If I have to, I can get myself some books on counseling and read them. I would also be willing to work along with a college graduate. I feel in my heart I would really like to do this and that there is somebody out there who could use me. I have no doubt that this is what God wants me to do, and I can't go back on Him.

I do speak with many people by telephone and many do say I'm a great help to them, although most of those I talk with, as far as I know, have no big problems.

There is an exception. One girl, about a year ago, had a big problem I helped her with. I won't mention her problem here because all counseling must be confidential.

I just hope and pray that somebody out there will be willing to take a chance with me. I can promise you it will not be a let-down!

To the Editor:

I read in The Belleville Times this past Thursday an editorial where your publisher took my grandfather, Ralph M. Risoli, to task for expressing his constitutional rights.

I was always under the impression that the people had the right to their opinions.

Your publisher states that public servants sacrifice so much for so little in the interest of Belleville students and taxpayers. As president of the Board of Education, my grandfather's achievements in the system go unchallenged.

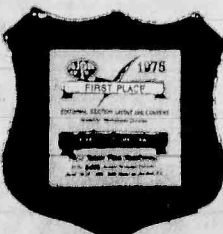

When your publisher tries to degrade my Pop, let me say this to him: Hanging on the walls in my grandfather's den at 18 Valley St. are many, many plaques awarded him for his many contributions to our community. How many does he have?

(Publisher's Note: Baloney! Mr. Risoli's tenure as president of the Board of Education was fraught with conflict — and one of the worst.)

P.S. Mr. Risoli is OK at City Hall. He performs a commendable job as registrar and deputy to Commissioner Vinnie Strumolo.)

Senior Notes

By George Chenoweth

This morning's newspaper brought some good reports concerning the status of Social Security benefits affecting our senior population. In today's news there is a statement that some social services will not be cut as part of the president's austerity program, and among those will be the Social Security retirement program, Medicare and supplemental security income. What will be cut to shave $50 billion from the 1982 budget will be revealed by President Reagan in the State of the Union message today.

We seniors would like to hold on to any gains that we have made over the years. It is clear that while increases in Social Security benefits are needed and are undoubtedly welcome, no one will be overwhelmed by sudden wealth. On the other hand, we would be a lot worse off if cutbacks are allowed.

The principle of cost-of-living increases is one way of keeping pace with rising prices; until the government does something meaningful about controlling inflation, workers and retirees alike will keep hanging on to cost-of-living clauses for dear life.

One of the major failings of the Medicare program is the lack of coverage for health care services provided in the home. The lack has been called "penny wise and pound foolish" since health care in the home is less costly than in a hospital or other institution. At the present time, Medicare will pay for certain out-patient services, but it's difficult for many people to meet all the eligibility requirements. Briefly, here they are:

Medicare Part A (hospital insurance) covers home health services only when a patient has been hospitalized for three days or more, and when admitted to a home health care program within 14 days after hospital discharge. Patients are allowed no more than 100 visits in a one-year period, but coverage is 100 percent of the cost.

Medicare Part B (medical insurance) will also pay for up to 100 visits for skilled and semi-skilled care in the home. Coverage here is also 100 percent after the patient has met his deductible.

The kinds of services covered are the primary health care services, nursing, physical and speech therapy as well as occupational therapy and home health aide services where approved. Medicare will not pay for a full-time nurse in the home. When furnished by a home health agency, some medical supplies and equipment will be covered.

If you need home health care, don't miss out for lack of information. Ask for the pamphlet, "Home Health Care Under Medicare," available at any Social Security office.

Driver's ed program attracts little interest

Only 16 girls and 28 boys out of 750 eligible students at Belleville High would be interested in taking an after-school driver education course, according to a survey conducted by BHS administrators.

School Superintendent Dr. John Greed said BHS juniors and seniors were "underwhelmed" by the program because they probably thought it would start soon (it won't) or because they overlooked the money they could be saving in the long run.

"Ten percent over seven years (from 18 to 25) could save a lot," said Greed of the insurance break offered to young people who have taken a driver ed course.

He said another survey would be taken at BHS after students were made fully aware of how much they could gain as well as save by taking the $80 behind-the-wheel course for six hours. Previous estimates had private lessons costing $25 an hour, meaning those taking lessons at BHS could save $70.

Greed said "more than half" of all insurance companies give a 10 percent discount to students who've taken behind-the-wheel courses, though some have eliminated discounts for driver ed instruction.

Initially, 40 students had agreed to take driver ed, and Trustee Tom Zampino, the program's biggest booster, believed that was just the beginning. Much to everyone's chagrin, only 44 students signed up. "We have to get the word out," said Greed, referring to the benefits of driver education.

Trustees removed driver ed from their budget several years ago, and reportedly saved $40,000 in instruction salaries and car purchases by shelving the program again this time around.

Career night Wednesday

Belleville High School will hold its second annual career night 7:30 this coming Wednesday in the cafeteria.

The night will provide an opportunity for those attending to talk with dozens of representatives from colleges, business trade schools and the military.

Better Late — Nursing student Linda Borgo of Belleville offers some reassuring words to Manuel Cardona of Newark as she takes his blood pressure. Mrs. Borgo is one of a growing number of "non-traditional" students at the Clara Maass School of Nursing, women who have opted to make a career change and study nursing later in life.

Older women are pursuing delayed careers in nursing

It was a dream that they all had, but somehow never had the opportunity to pursue. Suddenly it was within their grasp, and although they would have to work harder and sacrifice more, they knew that in the end it would be well worth their efforts.

Patricia Suleski of Bloomfield is not unlike many 32-year-old suburbanites. She gets up early in the morning and sees her three children, ranging in age from 5 to 13, march off to the nearby grammar school.

But it is at this point that Mrs. Suleski's life diverges from that of her peers. She must hurry to get ready, for in an hour she will be sitting in a class with other student nurses at Clara Maass Memorial Hospital School of Nursing. Mrs. Suleski is one of a growing number of "non-traditional" students at Clara Maass.

"I had always wanted to be a nurse but because of my age and the fact that I had a family, I never seriously considered it," Mrs. Suleski said. "Thanks to the encouragement of a friend, I applied to nursing schools. Luckily, my acceptance was followed by financial assistance."

Mrs. Suleski admits that during the first two weeks of school she panicked. "I had been out of school for 15 years so it was scary in the beginning," she said. "It took my awhile to get adjusted to the routine of going back."

Her sentiments are shared by Cathy Matus of Caldwell, another freshman student who began nursing school at age 33. "Going back to school meant getting up earlier and going to bed later. It was an adjustment," she said.

Linda Borgo, 30, of Belleville said the main reason she decided to study at the hospital school was that the program offered more clinical hours than most area schools. "You learn so much more in a hospital setting," Mrs. Borgo said. "You can begin to develop that rapport with patients that is so essential to good nursing."

Most of the "senior" freshman class members seem to feel that their age is not a hindrance but an asset. Especially Beverly Trammell, who at 45 is the oldest nursing student at Clara Maass.

"This is the last chance that I'll have for a career change," the Newark resident said. "It's either now or never."

Mrs. Trammell is the mother of four, the youngest 9. She says she has gotten nothing but support from her family. "My family is really delighted," she said. "And my mother has wanted this for me for the longest time."

"I try to study with my daughter," Mrs. Borgo explained. "I don't want her to feel divorced from what I'm doing. She knows that what I'm doing is important."

The school's director, Anne C. Knox, reports that the "older" students are really quite serious about their work and that this is reflected in their grades. "They may be shouldering a lot of responsibility right now, but they are happy and their output is top quality," she said.

All of the women agree the biggest difference between what they were doing before (homemaker, bank teller, underwriter) and what they will be doing in the future is that one is clearly a career while the other was just a job.

Belleville Juniors mark 10th birthday Monday

The Junior Woman's Club of Belleville has finalized plans for its 10th anniversary party to be held 7:30 p.m. Monday at the clubhouse, 51 Rossmore Place.

JoAnne McGough is general chairman for the event, the most important on the club's calendar this year. Her committee includes Pam Van Holland, food;

MaryAnn Flor, entertainment; Linda Caputo, decorations; Lucy Cappello, publicity; Michele Monica, invitations, JoAnn Braniff and Diane Schroeller, art.

Town officials have been invited to attend the event. Also on hand will be club alumni, past presidents, the Eighth District clubs, the Evening Membership Department and the Woman's Club of Belleville. Barbara Spillane, former president of the local Juniors and current state chairman, will also be attending, and a memory lane skit is planned.

Any past member wishing to attend the party may call Mrs. McGough at 759-7746 for more information.

Puppet show bows at hospital March 4

A child's fear and apprehension about hospitals can be alleviated significantly if an effort is made to expose him to the hospital in a non-threatening situation while explaining simple medical procedures.

This is the aim of "Bobby Goes to the Hospital," a special service project of the Belleville Junior Woman's Club. The free pre-hospitalization puppet show for youngsters will take place 1:30 p.m. Wednesday, March 4, in the ground floor lecture hall of Clara Maass Memorial Hospital.

The show lasts about 45 minutes, during which time children are encouraged to participate in song and discussion. Refreshments are served to guests and the children are given special souvenirs of their visit to the hospital.

For more information, call Mary Dominski in the hospital public relations department at 751-1000, extension 817. Advance reservations are required for large groups. Individual youngsters may also attend with their parents.

THEY WORK HAND IN HAND

The combined dental specialty of Children's Dentistry and Orthodontia is a very natural combination and one that is becoming ever more popular in the United States. When a dentist asks his patient to "Open" he is looking for cavities and dental disease and when an orthodontist asks his patient to "Close" he is looking for problems with the bite as well as the usual problems of dental crowding, crossbites, and improper development of the teeth and jaws.

It therefore seems natural to us that starting at the age of two and one half to three years and continuing until the patient is fully grown that a person can be best served by the "dual specialty". Early detection of dental disease, prevention of tooth decay through the administration of fluorides, and the early detection of malocclusion can all be done with a single visit to those dentists who are qualified to do both Children's Dentistry and Orthodontia.

Cost of addition rose above first estimates support for an independent fund-raising effort.

Former Library Director Ben Grimm wanted to build an addition to improve Belleville's library years ago, but the project never got started. By 1979 when Hickey persuaded commissioners to assist the library's expansion, construction costs were, of course, far higher. They continued to soar, but the board hoped there would be enough money left over to buy furniture. However, the till ran dry.

"I feel positive about this," said library treasurer James Cozzarelli. He declined to discuss the rationale behind hiring a fund-raising firm, agreeing with Hickey that statements should come from one person. The firm being hired is expected to outline specifics 7 p.m. March 13 at the board's regular monthly meeting.

Commission votes liquor law change

Concerned that Belleville might be losing potential business, four commissioners have given tentative approval to junking a town ordinance that says liquor licenses must be located at least 1,250 feet apart from each other.

Only Public Safety Commissioner Matthew Pica opposes the change, charging it would hurt more businesses than it would help. Though he doubts it would cause any "safety problems," he emphasizes "you should not have liquor licenses on top of liquor licenses."

However, Pica's colleagues view repeal of the ordinance as a way for Belleville to roll out the red carpet for relocating or beginning businesses. The present ordinance might discourage businesses from coming here, they feel.

The case that provoked the move for a change came up several weeks ago when the Ground Round chain revealed that it wanted to open a restaurant in the new Pathmark mini-mall on Washington Avenue but needed a liquor license first. A liquor store is also locating at Pathmark, however, and the Place III bar is across the avenue, leaving the Ground Round high and dry under the present ordinance.

Attorney Bob Gaccione, representing the chain, told commissioners that Belleville's 1,250-foot liquor license restriction wasn't needed anymore and would keep a business intent on locating here from opening. This past Tuesday, commissioners cast a preliminary vote repealing the law.

"This would eliminate the footage requirement entirely," explained Pica, reached Tuesday at work. He said his opposition wasn't a "big thing," but he felt some restrictions should still be maintained.

The one remaining limitation on liquor establishments would prevent them from operating within 200 feet of a church or school.

A final vote will be taken at next Tuesday's commission meeting, when the change is expected to pass. "It's open for a public hearing...what facts and feelings are brought forward then" might change commissioners' minds, noted Pica.

Silver Lakers meeting Sunday on water suit levy is tacked onto their water bills.

Saulino said his recent bill, if computed using the rates printed on the back, would have totaled $28.50, but his actual charge was $40.01, $11.51 more than he feels he should be paying.

"They (Newark officials) say just add a third to the bill that's on back, but that's illegal," said Saulino. "I want to pay what everyone else in town is paying. We're all taxpayers and this is discrimination."

Saulino said while some Silver Lake residents are forced to pay $17.76 for the first 500 cubic feet of water, and $11.55 per 1,000 cubic feet afterwards, nearly all other residents pay $6.50 per 1,000. Newark residents are charged $12.46 for the first 500 and $8.02 for each 1,000 following.

Silver Lake residents have been overcharged since 1972, said Saulino, noting Vogel determined that date. Those interested in attending Sunday's meeting may call Saulino at 759-2912.

Essex County Parks system cutting lights to save money

Energy conservation measures have prompted officials of the Essex County Department of Parks, Recreation and Cultural Affairs to reduce night recreational lighting in some Essex County parks' facilities.

According to William C. Scalzo, director, recreational lighting will be reduced in "facilities where weather conditions prohibit maximum use." Specifically, the lighting on all tennis and basketball courts will be eliminated. This conservation effort will be in effect until early spring.

Night skating at four Essex County parks will not be affected. Irvington Park, Irvington; Orange Park, Orange; Verona Park, Verona and Grover Cleveland Park, West Caldwell, all have sufficient lighting for night visibility. Brookdale Park, Bloomfield/Montclair, has facilities for daytime skating. Daylight cross-country skiing is also available at the Francis A. Byrne Gold Course, 1100 Pleasant Valley Way, West Orange. There is no charge for these activities.

Civic Donation — The Michael Pizzi Civic Association purchased this sign on Belleville Avenue welcoming home the 52 American hostages from Iran.

Pizzi Association aids town's needy

Donations made by the Michael P. Pizzi Civic Association helped to make the holiday season a little brighter for needy families in Belleville.

The association will continue to make contributions to other worthy causes in the future. The group recently donated a billboard sign on Belleville Avenue welcoming home the American hostages.

The association's standard-bearer, Michael Pizzi, is a law enforcement officer and investigator with the State Motor Vehicle Division and a lifelong Belleville resident. In 1979, he ran a strong sixth in the race for Town Commission.

The group meets 8 p.m. the second Wednesday of every month at The Fountain, 46 Watsessing Ave. For information about becoming a member, call Carol Ann Russo at 759-6195.

Holy Family Rosary Society elects new slate of officers

The Rosary Altar Society of Holy Family Church has inducted new officers for 1981. Helen Barra will serve as president.

Other officers are Frances Fitzpatrick, vice president; Marianne Zoppa, recording secretary; Barbara and Diana Marcantuono, corresponding secretaries, and Marie Wright, treasurer. Named to the advisory board were Lee Maurillo and Esther Meola.

Committee chairmen are Erma Mastro, sick and welfare, fundraiser; Mrs. Maurillo, nominating, program and communion breakfast; Mrs. Meola, publicity; Rose Mary Buccino, altar care; Felicia Cantagallo, altar linens; Fay Fulcoli, by-laws; Agnes Scaglione, Catholic action; Ann Greenberg, closing affair; Helen Natalizio, communications; Terry Brancascio, hospitality; Carmella Arietta, membership.

The society meets every fourth Monday of the month at 8:15 p.m. in St. Joseph's Center.

Rummage sale begins tonight

The Ladies Aid Society of the Belleville Reformed Church, Main and Rutgers Streets, will sponsor a rummage sale today and tomorrow.

The sale will run 5-8:30 this evening and 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. tomorrow at the church.

Two Newark men arrested for rape

Two young Newark men were arrested last week and charged with the rape and robbery of a 50-year-old Belleville woman.

The woman had returned to her home about 9:30 p.m. last Wednesday night and parked her car in her garage when she was accosted by the two men, according to Belleville Deputy Chief of Detectives Frank Haight. The men allegedly punched her about the face, then forced her back into the car and sexually assaulted her.

The pair then took off with the woman in the car, beating up and raping her again before dumping her off in Newark. Haight said passersby found the woman and took her to Clara Maass Memorial Hospital for treatment.

An alarm on the stolen car and a description of the men was broadcast and about 1 a.m. Thursday, two detectives from the Newark Violent Crime Division spotted the two alleged assailants. They were arrested and charged with assault, rape, abduction, robbery and grand larceny. The men, one 18 and the other 19 years old, are both residents of Georgia King Village in Newark. They were scheduled for arraignment Tuesday and the case is expected to go to an Essex County grand jury.

An investigation was conducted by Dets. Bart Rossi and Thomas Ricci. The first officers on the scene of the crime were George Sheridan and Vincent Cappetta.

Health information available by phone

If you have small children you are undoubtedly concerned about their health and safety. Certainly you have wondered about what the warning signals are for childhood diseases, how medicines should be stored and what types of accidents children are prone to.

Now you can get this information and other health advice for you and your child by calling the Clara Maass Memorial Hospital Tel-Med system. Getting the advice of a professional is expensive these days, but Tel-Med is free and simple to use. When you call 751-7000, a hospital volunteer will answer and play the tape you ask for by number or title.

Tapes on the care of children are just a small part of the Tel-Med service. A brochure of more than 200 tapes can be found in many places in town — the Health Department, library, banks and churches. You can also obtain a brochure listing all available tapes by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Tel-Med, c/o Clara Maass Memorial Hospital, 1 Franklin Ave., Belleville, N.J. 07109.

Other topics covered by the free information service include eye care, birth control, arthritis, heart disease, first aid and alcohol abuse.

The health tapes run three to five minutes. You will hear a discussion of the illness or problem which interests you.

Tel-Med is designed to provide health information but is not to be used in an emergency situation or to take the place of your family physician.

Clubs or organizations wishing to distribute Tel-Med brochures to members may contact the Clara Maass Public Relations Department at 751-1000, extension 817.

Tel-Med is open 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. weekdays and 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturdays. Requests for information are kept confidential.

Talk on VD set March 2

Upsala College professor Sook Chong Choi will address students at Belleville High School Monday, March 2, on the subject of social disease and its implications for society.

Dr. Choi, a biology professor, came to the United States from Korea as a registered nurse when she was 19. She pursued her education and eventually earned a master's degree in zoological sciences and a doctorate in physiology at Rutgers University where she received a special award as the most outstanding graduate student.

She was spoken at numerous graduation ceremonies, especially at hospitals including Clara Maass Memorial School of Nursing here. Her paper on liver regeneration was published in the international journal, "Cancer Research," as a result of which she received requests for more information from scientists in 12 foreign nations.

Dr. Choi's address next month will begin at 8:55 a.m.

U.S. Savings Bonds Increase Interest Rates

And Shorten Maturity Period.

Here's some good news
for those already holding or about to purchase
U.S. Savings Bonds.

The Treasury has announced that effective Nov. 1, 1980, all Series EE Bonds will earn 8% interest if held for 9 years.

Intermediate yields will also rise from 4½% to 5½% after one year and to 7½% after five years.

All outstanding Savings Bonds will also benefit from a 1% increase to their next maturity. U.S. Savings Bonds are now growing bigger, faster. So they're an even better way to save than they have been over the years.

They're still safe, still guaranteed, still easy to buy through the Payroll Savings Plan. But now the interest rate has been improved.

And the maturity is shortened so that you reach that full 8% a lot quicker.

Take another look at Bonds. As a saving instrument. At the tax benefits. At the new interest rates. The shortened maturity. Bonds do make sense. For you and for your country.

Remember When? — Members of the Belleville High School class of 1931 will be doing plenty of reminiscing at their 50th reunion scheduled for 6 p.m. Saturday, May 9, at the Glen Ridge Country Club. Plenty of them should be on hand too, as their class was the first in BHS history to graduate 100 students. They are shown here on the steps of the Capital Building in Washington, D.C. Chairman of the upcoming event are Ruth (Lloyd) Bayly, 14 Reid St., Westend, 07740, and Herbert Welhoffer, 7 Ferncliff Terrace, Montclair, 07043. Committee members are Ralph A. Casale, 11 Emmet St., Belleville; Gracye (Hopper) Roberts, 209 Stanhope Road, Box 1423, Sparta, 07871; Howard McMaster, 28 Bryant Ave., Bloomfield, 07003; Phyllis (Calicchio) Cuppara, 217 New St., Belleville, and Jerry Bonavita, 244 Watchung Ave., Glen Ridge, 07028. For reservations and information, contact any committee member. If you know the location of any classmate, let the committee know.

Weekly bulletin board and future events

(Items for the Belleville Bulletin Board may be sent to P.O. 56, Belleville, N.J., dropped off at 777 Bloomfield Ave., Nutley, or telephoned to the Times/News at 759-3200. Hard work pays off for Karen Fuccello

For eight years, Karen Fuccello has worked long and hard to make girls' basketball at Belleville High a top-notch program.

Many coaches, fans and players feel that Fuccello has reached that level of excellence for her program and last Friday afternoon, the head coach was rewarded for her hard work in a special way.

When Belleville defeated archrival Nutley 45-42, it marked the 100th career victory for Fuccello, who started coaching the girls back in the 1971-72 season.

When Fuccello began coaching on the varsity level, she had a number of talented athletes, but the competition in the area was not that intense and the sport was not a big item at the time. In that 1971-72 season, the Belleville girls put together a 10-2 record. That team consisted of, among others, Debbie Meola, who now does the jayvee coaching job at Belleville High.

The 1972-73 season saw a significant upsurge of interest in girls' basketball. Consequently, the girls played 16 games and was victorious in 12 of them. A winning tradition was beginning to blossom at Belleville High. The following season, 1973-74, the results were the same as Belleville put together another 12-4 campaign. That was the year that Belleville's star guard, Donna Stone, then a junior, came down with a case of the measles and had to miss the state quarterfinal game against Columbia. Without her, Belleville went down to a one-point loss. Had the girls won, their opponent in the semifinals would have been Cranford High School and "The Blaze," Carol Blazewski.

The following season, Fuccello took a year's leave of absence and Mike Cieri took over her position. Although the team posted an 8-7 record that year, Fuccello stepped right into a major rebuilding process the next year.

The 1975-76 and 1976-77 seasons both resulted in 6-16 campaigns, but with players like Michelle Giordano, Robin Giordano, Joyce Iacullo, Karen Portuese, Karen Sciacca, Denise Zarra and Denise Juiliano playing on the jayvee level, the future of girls' basketball looked bright.

The 1977-78 season saw the team take a major step forward by posting a 13-8 record and defeating Nutley in the state tournament. Nutley, which had gone undefeated season the year previous, was a big favorite to defeat Belleville in that game, but with the home court advantage, the Bellgirls were fired up for the upset.

Perhaps Fuccello's finest team was the 1978-79 squad, the one that advanced to the semifinals of the Essex County Tournament before bowing out to a very good Barringer squad, one that eventually lost to Columbia in the finals that year.

That Belleville team was basically a senior-oriented club, although it boasted a sophomore by the name of Dawn Ritacco who would later become a star in her own right. The 1978-79 team went on to finish the season with a very impressive 16-7 mark, the 16 victories setting a club record.

Last year, the team jumped out to a 9-1 start behind the fine play of senior Joyce Iacullo, Robin Giordano, Ritacco, Rosie Leonidis and Maria DiPaolo. As the season wore on, the team ran into assorted injuries, but none was worse than the mental injury the team suffered when it lost by two points to the No. 1 team in the state, East Orange. Had the officiating been fair on that day, Belleville would have won the game, but because of referees who were in desperate need of a seeing eye dog, Belleville was denied a victory that it had earned.

The 1979-80 varsity finished the season at 12-10, but with the seventh and eighth grade team coming off an undefeated season and the freshman team looking great, the 1980-81 season was eagerly anticipated.

Currently, the team is 13-6 behind the fine play of freshman Jennifer Apicella, Ritacco, Barbara Gundry, Janine Renna, Debbie Mundy, Dina DeAquino and Carol Ann Salerno. Had the team not lost Rosie Leonidis to a knee injury early in the year, Fuccello probably would have had victory number 100 tacked on a long time ago.

The 100th victory for Fuccello is something that she has worked long and hard for. Thanks to her, the Belleville girls' basketball program is one of the most respected in the area. Her program for the younger kids has resulted in such players as Gundry, Leonidis, Mundy, Apicella, DeAquino and Lorlei Wells, who is currently doing a fine job on the jayvee level. Furthermore, Fuccello has surrounded her self with some fine coaches who do a fine job with the younger players. Meola handles the jayvee assignments, while Camille Casaletto handles the chores on the seventh, eighth and ninth grade levels.

It took Fuccello eight-and-a-half years to pile up the first 100 wins — it looks as if it will be only half that time before victory number 200 shows up on the record books. To Karen Fuccello, congratulations on achieving such an impressive milestone. You are certainly a deserving recipient of such good fortune.

The Essex County Tournament girls' semifinals will be held at Belleville this coming Wednesday starting at 7 p.m. The second game will take place at 9. Fuccello, by the way, is tournament organizer. Unfortunately, Belleville was knocked out of the competition by Orange last week in the initial round. However, the girls have the state Group IV, Section 2 tourney coming up and are seeded sixth. Their first foe will be Scotch Plains, seeded 11th.

The Belleville High School athlete of the week is a landslide victory for freshman Jennifer Apicella. "The Iceman" scored 55 points in two games last week as Belleville defeated Nutley and came close versus Orange. Apicella scored 29 versus Orange and followed that with a 26-point effort against the Raiderettes. So far for the month of February, she has scored 105 points in four games, an average of over 26 points an outing. Not bad for a freshman, huh?

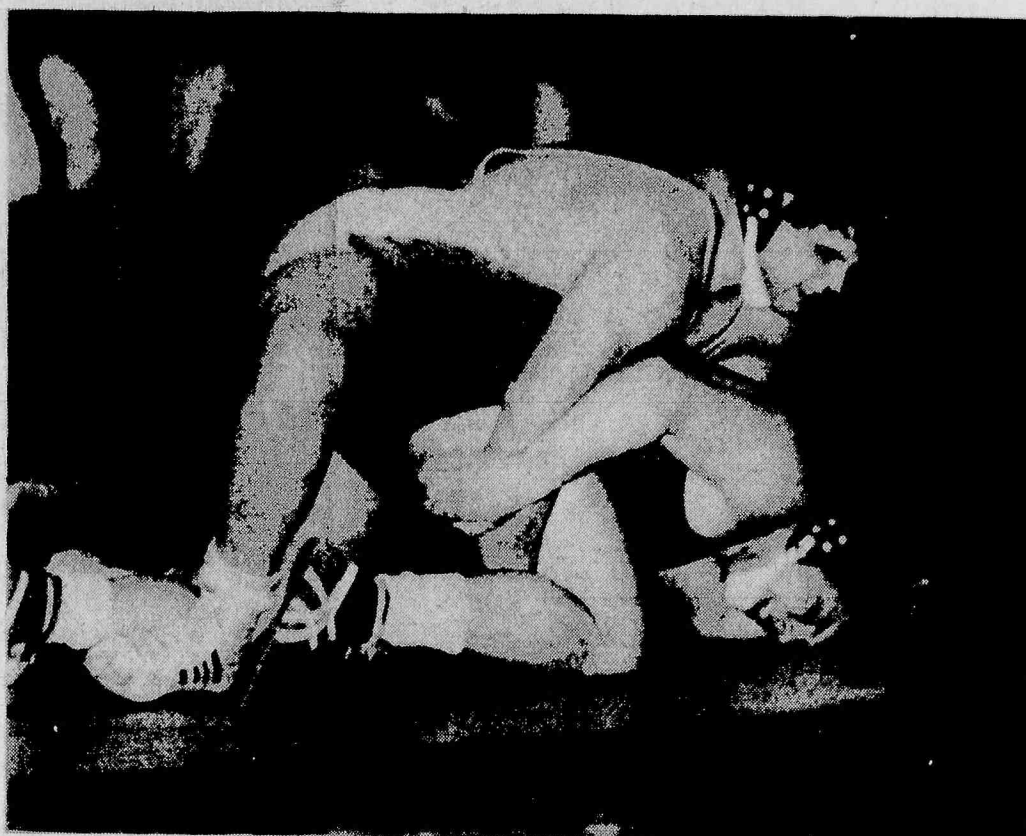

Special congratulations to the Belleville wrestling team on its second-place finish in the Essex County tournament this past weekend in Belleville. Danny Palumbo (158), Joe Iacona (141), Bob Gallagher (170), John Bucciarelli (188) and heavyweight Anthony D'Agostino all made it to the finals with Iacona, Palumbo and D'Agostino capturing county honors. The team ends its spectacular regular season tomorrow at Nutley going for a record 14th dual meet win in a row.

Another vote of commendation goes to Wayne "The Train" Bubet of the boys' basketball team. "The Train," who has been playing superb basketball over the last five weeks, received an award from the Belleville Optimist Club for breaking the 1,000-point barrier.

Here is the answer to last week's quiz. The question was, what teams did the Belleville boys' basketball squad defeat in the Big 10 during the 1974-75 season? The answer: Belleville beat Nutley twice, Columbia twice and Kearny twice while taking the measure of Irvington and Orange once. The team was 8-8 in the tough Big 10 that year while posting a 4-0 mark outside the conference.

For this week's quiz, name the two teams that played for the 1969 NBA championship, who won and how many games the series took. A clue: The final game of that series took place on the loser's home court.

Streak hits a lucky 13

By Joe Plegaro

Thirteen has traditionally been an unlucky number for most teams, but for the Belleville Buccaneer wrestling squad, 13 has become a charm. The Bucs posted their 13th consecutive dual meet victory by demolishing Garfield High School 46-9 last week.

In the process, Coach Gene D'Alessandro's charges tied a record set in the 1974-75 campaign for the most consecutive dual meet victories in a season. The boys get a chance to extend that streak and set a new record against archrival Nutley tomorrow evening at BHS.

In other action this past week, Belleville was a strong runner-up in the Essex County Wrestling Tournament held here Friday and Saturday.

Garfield High came into Bucs' country virtually unknown to Belleville fans. With the exception of the 115, 148 and 158-pound weight classes, each match was an adventure in trying to guess what to expect from the opposition.

The Bucs' "Kiddie Corps," Anthony Stefanelli and Ricky DePrizio, opened the proceedings with back-to-back major decisions to give the home team an early 8-0 lead.

"Stef" was awesome as he continued to pile up the victories in his first varsity campaign. John Weglarz was the unfortunate foe for Garfield, and he was sent home licking his wounds after a sound 10-2 thrashing in the 101-pound bout.

Ricky DePrizio refused to be outdone at 108 pounds, so he recorded a major victory of his own, an 8-0 whitewashing of Garfield's John Sinka.

Team captain Tommy Graziano (115) continued to experience bad luck as he suffered a bitter 5-4 loss to opposing team captain Phil Dolcimascolo. "Peanuts" was again caught in a pinning combination early in the first period and never recovered as he was sent down to his fourth dual meet loss of the year. "Peanuts" has been in a horrible slump for the past three weeks and is making the same mistakes in each match. The District 7 championships are only two weeks away and if Tommy expects to help his team to a title, he will have to regain his form in a hurry.

Chris Botta got the Bucs back on the winning track with a tough 6-3 victory over Fred Williams in the 122-pound bracket. Botta hasn't had too many easy matches this year, so it must have been a relief for him to face someone other than a returning district champ.

Belleville's 129-pounder, Jim Lombard, joined the fun with a ridiculously easy 12-0 win over Garfield's John DeFalco. Lombard now has 10 victories on the year, and none of them was easier than versus Garfield.

Matters continued to get worse for the Boilermakers as 135-pounder Frank Racanelli used only 58 seconds to pin sophomore Brian Hughes. Racanelli now sports an impressive 7-3 record as a varsity

Girls' basketball squad gives coach 100th win

By Mike Lamberti

Reaching the century mark did not come easy for Karen Fuccello, but the win that gave her 100 victories as head coach of the Belleville girls' basketball team couldn't have been any sweeter.

You see, Fuccello's milestone victory came against archrival Nutley and to make things even nicer, the triumph came on the Maroon Raiderettes' home court.

The Belleville girls boosted their season mark to 13-6 as they stopped Nutley 45-42 Friday but lost to Orange 64-62 in the first round of the Essex County Tournament earlier last week.

On Tuesday of this week, the team hosted Kearny in the last regularly scheduled game of the season. The local girls will probably have about two weeks off before the start of the state tournament in March.

Boys bow to Nutley; end season Tuesday

By Mike Lamberti

Some atrocious officiating and some hot Raider shooters sent the Belleville High boys' basketball team reeling to its 16th loss, 78-61 at Nutley Friday night.

The team battled Kearny Tuesday and Queen of Peace yesterday. Next Tuesday, the club will close out the 1980 season with a home game against Arts High School.

The first quarter was a close one as Nutley led 16-14. However, the Maroon Raiders bridged the second and third quarters to outscore the locals 42-28 and take a commanding 58-42 lead going into the last frame. The Raiders finished off the game by outscoring the Bucs 20-19 to come away with victory number 15.

Wayne "The Train" Bubet had another fine game for Belleville as he scored 30 points. Bubet has been superb the last couple of weeks, averaging 27 points a game over his last seven outings. Ron Wittman had 13 and Anthony Coco scored eight. Sammy "The Boss" DeCapua, Ray Kimble and Phil Colallio closed out the scoring with two each. For Nutley, Mike Gargiulo had 23 points and Joe Barry scored 18. Three other Raiders hit for double figures.

The loss was the sixth in a row for Belleville, but the first one that wasn't close since the Bucs lost to Seton Hall 79-35 some four weeks ago. Belleville had lost its last five games by just 24 points combined but had a tough time with Nutley under the boards. "They were banging pretty hard," head coach Joe

The Nutley game was a bitter tooth-and-nail affair from the outset as the teams battled to a 14-14 half-time knot. The third quarter was dead even, with both clubs scoring 14 points. However, Belleville broke the 28-all tie in the fourth quarter with four unanswered points, and though the Raiderettes battled back, they were unsuccessful.

Jennifer Apicella led the way for Belleville with 26 points, while Dawn "The Enforcer" Ritacco hit for 11 and pulled down 17 rebounds against Nutley's tough center, Tracy Dixon. Lorlei Wells had four points and Carol Ann Salerno scored two as did Barbara "The Bouncing Bubble" Gundry. Gundry's pair came as the final buzzer sounded and insured the hard fought, emotional victory.

The story of the game was the outstanding play of Ritacco against Dixon. Ritacco turned in by far her best defensive effort of the season and according to Fuccello, "played her finest game of the year."

Earlier last week, the girls hosted the Tornados of Orange in the first round of the Essex County Tournament. Unfortunately, the game was not rosey. Orange, playing perhaps its finest game of the season, jumped out to a 17-13 first-quarter lead and extended that margin to 34-26 by halftime.

In the third quarter, Ritacco ran into foul trouble and had to sit out the entire frame. Belleville managed to cut the gap to 40-33 after three quarters and made a desperate comeback attempt in the final period before the Tornados' Val Thruston hit a jump shot with :06 left to pull Orange away to victory.

Apicella again led the Belleville attack, this time with 29 points. The 5-8 freshman forward has been nothing short of marvelous the last four games. Against Irvington two weeks ago, she scored 33 points. "The Iceman" followed that with a 17-point effort against Bayonne and this week hit for 29 and 26 points against Orange and Nutley respectively. Now that her ankle injury (incurred in a Christmas tournament) has completely healed, Apicella is red hot.

Rounding out the offensive picture for Belleville in the Orange contest, Ritacco scored 16 points, Gundry hit for 13 and Doreen Penet-

Please see "Hot Orange" on page 15.

Student Standouts — Tom Candura and Ted Rajnes, secretary-treasurer and vice president respectively of the Belleville Optimist Club, flank Wayne Bubet and Wendy Rovell who were awarded plaques by the organization Thursday. Bubet scored his 1,000th point for the Buc basketball team earlier this year. Miss Rovell is a three-year flag twirler co-captain, a member of the Keywanettes, secretary of the BHS National Honor Society, a three-year member of the SGO and four-year wrestling manager.

performer and will be seriously considered as the representative in that weight class when the districts arrive.

Moving up to 141 pounds, Lenny Cardinale was awarded a forfeit victory to bring the score of the meet to 28-3 in favor of the Bucs. However, Joe Iacona was not so lucky as he lost another heartbreaker 3-1 at 148 pounds. "Ike" had the misfortune of facing of the three respectable Garfield wrestlers and went down to his third defeat of the season.

Iacona was moved out of his weight class to face Gary Zalarick and the seven-pound disadvantage was too much to overcome. Two of Iacona's three losses have occurred when he has been moved out of his weight class.

John Demko of Garfield gave the Boilermakers their last chance to cheer as he worked over Danny Palumbo 10-4 at 158 pounds. Demko is one of the outstanding 158-pounders in the area and proved it as he roughed up a pretty good wrestler in his own right in Danny Palumbo. The loss lowered Palumbo's record to 10-5 for the season.

The script for the remaining bouts was a standard one for Belleville wrestling fans: all Buc victories, no opposing resistance. In quick succession, Bob Gallagher won his match by default over Garfield foe John Malleo, John Bucciarelli worked over Pete Barno at 188 pounds before recording a pin at 5:32 and heavyweight Anthony D'Agostino ended the carnage with a first-period fall versus Alex Hodor.

Three days after the Garfield slaughter, the Bucs joined seven other squads to compete in the eighth annual Essex County Wrestling Tournament. Belleville placed a very respectable second in the tourney behind highly touted West Essex High School. In fact, right up to the 170-pound final bout, the Bucs had a chance to walk away with the first-place trophy.

The final standings read this way: West Essex 107 points, Belleville 95½, Essex Catholic 88½, Nutley 65, Columbia 63, Irvington 33½, Millburn 21 and Newark Academy 13.

Joe Iacona at 141 pounds, Danny Palumbo at 158 and heavyweight Anthony D'Agostino all earned first-place honors in the prestigious competition. Bob Gallagher at 170 and John Bucciarelli at 188 pounds placed second.

Belleville sent nine wrestlers into the semifinals as the Bucs ran a tight race with West Essex for early leadership in the tournament.

Ricky DePrizio, Chris Botta and Steve DeCesare were all eliminated in the first round. DePrizio, competing at 108 pounds, was pinned by Kevin Ellis of Millburn with 25 seconds left in the second period. Ricky continues to make the same mistakes, and as long as he persists in making such blunders, he will continue to be on the wrong side of the ledger.

At 122 pounds, Chris Botta was unlucky enough to draw the eventual champion in his class, Steve Coppola of Essex Catholic. Coppola had an easy time versus Chris and ran up a 10-0 score against the Belleville senior. Finally, Steve DeCesare again came up short in a match he should have won, losing to Nutley's Todd Roundtree 5-2. DeCesare has been in numerous close matches all year, but obviously lacks that certain quality to put out a little extra when the chips are on the line.

Coach D'Alessandro's had two boys finish fourth in the tournament. They were Tommy Graziano at 115 pounds and Lenny Cardinale at 135.

"Peanuts" continued his recent stretch of bad luck as he wrestled three poor matches in succession. Versus Columbia's Fred Furbeck, Tommy sweated out an agonizing 1-0 victory. In the semifinals versus Nutley's Bill Maher, Graziano held on to a 4-1 lead going into the final period when disaster struck. Maher put Tommy on his back for a four-point play and held on to defeat him 7-4.

In the consolation bout, Graziano was pitted against Essex Catholic's Hugh Hall and was a victim of that ever-present rulebook. The bout went into overtime with neither boy able to score a point in the extra time. However, Graziano was clearly the aggressor throughout the bout. Unfortunately, a tournament match decided by referee's criteria awards the win to the wrestler who executes the first reversal. In this case, that boy was Hugh Hall and he was awarded the third-place trophy for his efforts. For Graziano, it was just another tough loss in a streak which has seen him drop three and tie one match in his last five outings.

Also finishing fourth for the Bucs was Lenny Cardinale. The aggressive 135-pounder won his first bout of the tourney by dominating John Yeager of Newark Academy 8-1. After that, however, there was nothing but hard times for Lenny. He was pinned twice in the last two bouts, in the semis by eventual champ Kevin Bianchi and in the consolations by West Essex freshman Guy Russo.

The two third-place finishers for the good guys were Anthony Stefanelli at 101 pounds and Jimmy Lombard at 129. "Stef" lost his semifinal bout with tournament champ Dave Barry of Columbia with only 14 seconds remaining. "Stef" was ahead by two points when he was put on his back, ending his dream of a gold medal.

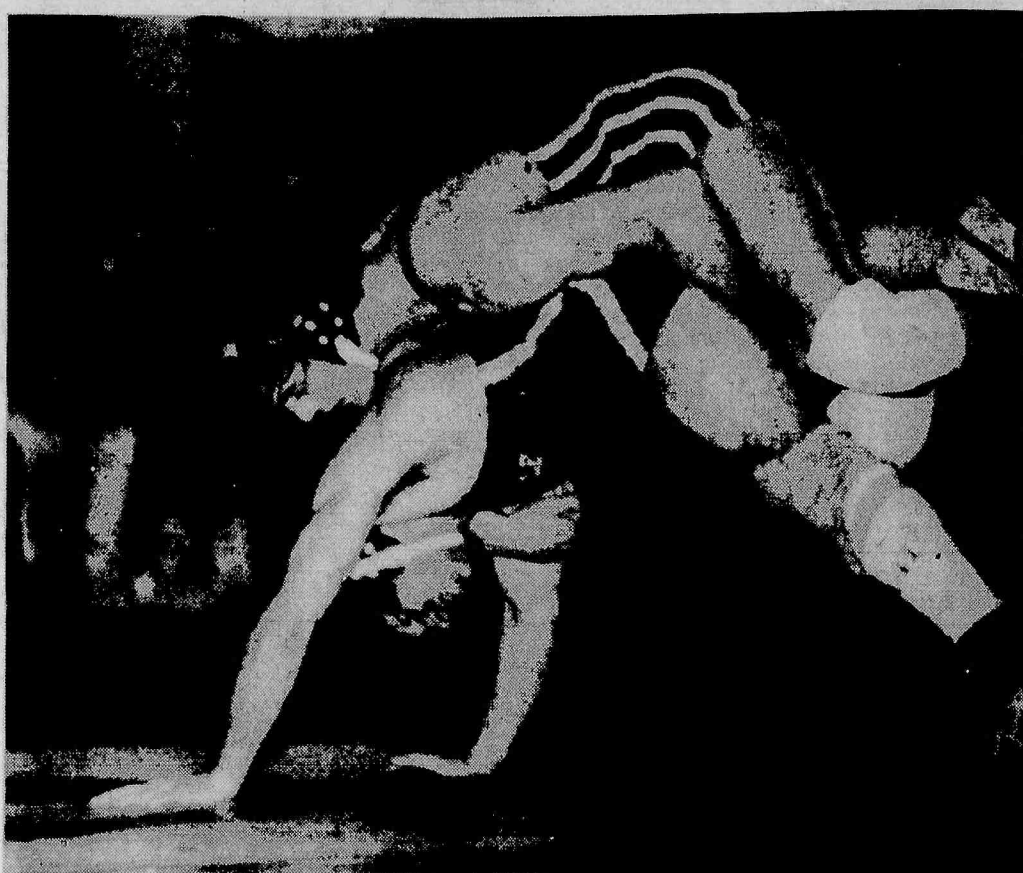

Stefanelli had blitzed Millburn's Al Weiss in the quarterfinals 11-0 and also shut out Mike Gianetta of Essex Catholic 6-0 to earn his third-place trophy.

Jimmy Lombard avenged a tie recorded earlier in the season versus Millburn's Al Martino in the preliminaries and earned a chance to tangle with Gene Kelly of West Essex for the third time this season. After pinning Martino, Lombard nearly did the same to Kelly as three times he put the undefeated West Essex star on his back. However, the bubble burst for Jimmy as he wound up on the short end of a 13-11 score. In his defense, Jimmy had the match stolen from him by a poor call of the official, not taken from him by the superior wrestling ability of Kelly.

There were two second-place finishers for Belleville, 170-pounder Bob Gallagher and 188-pounder John Bucciarelli. Although both grapplers ended up with silver medals, they got there by totally different means.

Gallagher drew a bye in the prelims and pinned Columbia's Pete Zimmerman in the semis. In the finals, Bob faced John Papa of West Essex and lost all his poise before being pinned with three minutes gone in the match. Gallagher was taken apart by Papa as the West Essex grappler time and again was cool under fire and took advantage of Gallagher's numerous mistakes.

Bucciarelli followed Gallagher in the lineup and was also pinned in the finals. "Booch" was hoping to gain revenge against Essex Catholic's Charlie Matos for a loss inflicted just two weeks ago. However, Matos had other ideas and made quick work of "Booch" by recording another fall at 1:43 of the first period.

The Buc 188-pounder had reached the finals by pinning Irvington's Darren Hargrove in the prelims and besting Bert Tribioli of Columbia 8-2 in the semifinals.

The three first-place winners for Belleville, as mentioned earlier, were Joe Iacona, Danny Palumbo and Anthony D'Agostino.

Iacona was the surprise of the tournament as he was seeded a lowly fourth but overcame a series of difficult opponents to gain his first varsity gold medal. "Ike" had a laugh in the first round as he annihilated Newark Academy's Charlie Waggoner 16-4. In the semis, "Ike" had to face top-seeded Marcello Guimares of Columbia.

Freshman wrestlers take a page from varsity with long win streak

By Debbie Garofalo

The freshman wrestling season is coming to a close with only a tournament remaining, and Belleville still has yet to drop a match since its initial loss to Wessex. The freshmen are now 11-1.

Coach Dennis Villano has a team he can be proud of because it is aggressive, talented and has a lot of class. This past week, the Bucs defeated Caldwell 46-24 and Essex Catholic 40-27.

Mike Giuffrida has done an excellent job this season at 91 pounds and sports a 10-2 record. Against Essex Catholic, he won a 14-6 major decision but lost via a pin at 4:25 versus Caldwell.

Robert Contaldi (101) did not have a good week. He was pinned against Caldwell in 3:17 and against Essex Catholic in 5:45.

Ralph Zarro (108) did better and ended the week with a 7-5 season record. The eighth grader pinned in 3:01 versus Caldwell, losing a 9-6 decision to his Eagle opponent.

There have been two starters all season at 115 pounds. Anthony Inzano has a 3-3 record. He was pinned in 3:45 against Caldwell. Danny Cifelli (1-5) was pinned in 5:20 versus Essex.

Co-captain Jimmy Meyler brought his season record to 9-3 this past week. The 122-pounder won a 9-0 major decision over Caldwell but was pinned in 5:02 against Essex Catholic.

Jimmy Raccanelli has done well this season at 129. A forfeit win against Caldwell gave him a 4-3 record.

Co-captain Jaime Lijo, also at 129, is a good wrestler and has a 7-2 record to prove it. He pinned against the Eagles in 1:05.

Undefeated Carmen Cerreto's perfect 12-0 record shows why he is a co-captain. The 135-pounder won by default on the jayvee level against Caldwell. Versus Essex Catholic on the frosh level, he pinned in 2:39.

Brian Pomponio (141) won by forfeits in both his matches this past week. His record is 8-4.

Anthony Torromeo and Nick DiNardi both competed at 148 this past week. Anthony, with a record of 8-2, won by forfeit against the Chiefs. Nick, who has a 6-3 mark, won by forfeit against Essex Catholic.

Eighth grader Mike Gibbons has finally broken into the lineup at 158. He won by a fall in 1:41 against Caldwell but was pinned in 1:18 by his Essex Catholic opponent.

The freshman 170-pounder needs little introduction. Mike "The Pinner" Murphy explained the origin of his nickname again this past week, pinning at 3:05 versus Caldwell. He won by forfeit against Essex Catholic to bring his record to 6-0.

Ralph DeFalco won by forfeits in both his heavyweight matches. He has a 3-1 mark.

JV matmen prevail over three schools

By Debbie Garofalo

The jayvee wrestling team has increased its record to 8-4-2 with three straight wins. The Bucs gained a forfeit victory over Caldwell and blasted Essex Catholic 59-14 and Garfield 62-18.

Against Essex Catholic, Derek Lombardi (108), Ronnie Young (115), Ronnie Caruso (129), Jaime Lijo (135), Joe Koehler (141) and Charlie Giuliano (148) all won by forfeit.

Al Henry wrestled to a 13-13 tie at 122, while Ronnie Charles (158) and George Ritacco (170) won by pins at 3:49 and 3:40 respectively. Heavyweight Mike Patrizio was pinned in 43 seconds.

Against Garfield, Belleville gained forfeit victories in the 101, 108, 115, 129, 135 and 141-pound classes. Ronnie Young, moving up to 122, pinned at 2:55. His place at 115 had been taken by Al Henry.

Ronnie Charles was an 11-9 decision at 158, and Ben Dominguez (170) won 13-2. George Ritacco, moving up to 188, gained a major decision, 15-6, while Mike Patrizio pinned in 2:55 at heavyweight. Joe Koehler at 148 was pinned in 3:24.

Jewelers pound out 7th win in rec loop

Charles Jewelers and Sandra T's held their ground in the Recreation Boys' Basketball League standings last week, while the L&Z Lakers earned undisputed possession of third place by setting back their competition, Silkscreen Photo, in a head-to-head contest.

Charles Jewelers was led by six players in double figures as they defeated the Raiders 89-17 and maintained their first-place standing with a perfect 7-0 record. Allan Talmadge, the league's leading scorer, tossed in 28 points as Jimbo Walker, Billy Spencer and Walter Brooks tallied 12 points apiece and John Brooks and Morris Thomas each scored 10. Mike Vega led with eight points for the Raiders (1-6).

Sandra T's improved to 6-1 to hold its second-place position by beating The Telegram 58-33. Steve Byers led the surge with 24 points, while teammates Pete Valentinsson and Billy Sotomayor added 14 and 10 points respectively. League scoring runner-up Jack Mallack pitched in 23 points for The Telegram (2-5).

The L&Z Lakers bested Silkscreen Photo 34-26 to claim third place with a 5-2 mark. Phil Cerza's 14 points and Pat Morel's nine paced the Lakers, while Nick Biase was high scorer for Silkscreen (4-3) with 10 points. Silkscreen

DeBacco's edged the Outlaws 33-30 to improve to 3-4 and gain a fifth-place tie with their opponents. Frank Snyder led the winners with 11 points and Louie Ricca supported the cause with seven. Greg Bevere was high scorer for the Outlaws with 14 points. The Outlaws bounced back from a 22-8 halftime deficit.

Two weeks remain on the regular-season schedule, with the playoffs slated to begin Feb. 25.

Over-30 Basketball

The Rec House finished in first place for the second year in a row with a 7-0 record in the Men's Over-30 Basketball League. The Rec House team closed out the season with a 64-50 victory over Radio Shack. Rich Lowack paced the Rec with 15 points and Tom Joyce added 14. Frank Caraccia had 15 points and John Jablczynski 14 for Radio Shack, which finished with a 4-3 record.

McCabe's Tavern had to settle for second place with a 6-1 record. The Tavern received a forfeit from Chief Motors this past week. The Mavericks (4-3) downed the Lenape Indians 51-27 behind Tony Sorrentino's 25 points. George Turturiello chipped in 14 for the winners. Paul ti scored two. The game was probably Gundry's finest of the season as she drove to the baseline with a great deal of consistency and hit for some key jumpers.

Afterwards, Fucello tried to summarize the setback. "We fell behind by eight points at halftime and I had to resort to the press," she said. "Unfortunately, it wasn't enough. Another thing that hurt was that Carol Ann (Salerno) had the flu and missed the game. Her ballhandling could have really helped us."

Without Salerno, Fucello had to start three freshman (Apicella, Jeanine Renna and Dina DeAquino), and the lack of experience in county tournament play hurt the club.

Stunted Shot — Belleville's Carol Ann Salerno provides some interference as a Nutley player goes for two. The local girls defeat the Raiderettes 45-42 at Nutley last Friday.

Williamson scored 16 for Lenape (2-5). Floor-Lift of New Jersey (4-3) received a forfeit from Megaro Funeral Home.

Ladies' Volleyball

The Mad Netters kept their perfect record the past two weeks behind the fine performances of Eve Corino and Pat O'Brian. The Netters defeated the Sugar and Spikes 15-4, 15-6 and also set back the Nooks and Crannies 15-7, 15-6.

The Sugar and Spikes, led by Linda Moller and Michelle Postiglione, gave the Set-Ups fine competition last week. Set-Ups Pat Scheible and Joanne Muse played good games to offset the play of their opponents, and the Set-Ups won the match in three games, 15-9, 15-17, 15-9. The Set-Ups also defeated the Rookies 15-2, 15-6 despite the efforts of Cathie Duffy and Betty Gilligan.

The Nooks and Crannies' Anne Marie Briguglio and Pat Cunningham led an offensive barrage against the Fragiles but could not prevent a 15-8, 15-13 defeat. The Fragiles also turned back the Rookies 15-8, 15-0. The standouts in that match were Dotty Hay and Chris Keasaian.

Dancercize Classes

The Recreation Department is offering free "dancercize" classes for women 18 and over. Dancercizing is a form of aerobic activity in which exercises are set to music. Dancercizing is aimed at improving lung efficiency, circulation and muscle tone.

The classes begin 7:30 p.m. Thursday, March 5, at the Friendly House, 21 Frederick St. Donna Aulisi, a Belleville High School graduate now teaching physical education in Montclair, is the certified instructor. She recommends that loose fitting clothes be worn and asks those attending to be on time. Participants must be Belleville residents and must wear sneakers to be admitted.

If there is a large turnout, the class will be divided into two groups for the second week's session.

BHS Hall of Fame committee selects officers

Officers of the Belleville High School Hall of Fame committee were elected at a meeting held Feb. 10. Evelyn Hannon was chosen as chairman.

Other officers are Michael Casale, vice chairman; Michael Swinarski, secretary, and Vincent Sorrentino, treasurer. In an effort to revitalize the Hall of Fame established several years ago, a decision was made by the committee to induct new members and recognize previous members at the annual Belleville

High School homecoming football celebration. In addition, an annual dinner will be held for members during homecoming weekend.

A financial committee was set up under the chairmanship of Douglas Cantrell and Richard Raccioppi, and other administrative procedures and matters were established and reviewed. The next meeting of the Hall of Fame committee will be held 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, March 3, at the high school.

Freeholders want geriatrics staff retained

Though the freeholder committee investigating Belleville's Geriatrics Center will recommend keeping a permanent six-man medical staff there, County Executive Peter Shapiro still wants either to eliminate the staff entirely or hire three full-time doctors.

Freeholder Lincoln Turner, chairman of the investigative committee, says his panel will recommend keeping six physicians — hiring three full-time and three on a staggered work schedule. Because doctors at the center have reportedly failed to show for "on-call" hours under the present system, Medical Director Roger Greco has been forced to stand in for them too often, said Turner.

Shapiro has proposed dropping funds for doctors at the Geriatrics Center from the county budget as an economy move. In their place,

Shapiro says patients should use their private physicians. Whether Shapiro and freeholders will reach a compromise is uncertain now, but the county executive appears to be sticking to his guns. Shapiro press liaison Rona Parker stressed that by eliminating the center's six-doctor staff, "we are opening more medical services and getting a wider selection of doctors. We're not taking anything away. We're extending coverage."

Don Vaillancourt, president of the center's family council, has adamantly opposed axing of the staff, and he has an ally in Greco. Vaillancourt believes patients could be endangered if an in-house staff isn't kept on full-time at the center.

"In one wing, there are a number of comatose and otherwise debilitated patients who require constant medical supervision from a physician to stay alive...elimination of the medical staff would mean that physicians would have to be brought into the center from outside the institution, leaving the care of patients to the whim of an outside doctor's schedule and availability," wrote Vaillancourt to freeholders.

While Vaillancourt calls it "abnormal" for a geriatrics center not to have full-time physicians, Mrs. Parker said a survey done by county officials found nine nursing homes in Essex County without full-time medical staffs. "It was just purely a numbers survey," she added, noting she wasn't sure how much further research was done by county officials before deciding to eliminate the center's staff. Only Greco would be retained if county officials had their way.

In his letter to freeholders, Vaillancourt cites four nursing homes that have full-time staffs — Morris View Nursing Home in Morris County, John Runnells Hospital for the Chronically Ill in Union County, Pollack Hospital for Chronically Ill in Hudson County and Bergen Pines Hospital for Chronically Ill in Bergen County.

All four have full-time medical directors, three have at least seven full-time doctors, while Bergen Pines has three full-time resident physicians in a joint venture with New Jersey's College of Medicine and Dentistry.

Having outside doctors at the center will "cost substantial money from the state and federal government," writes Vaillancourt. "An ambulance service will have to be provided, fees paid for emergency room care and inevitably, additional fees for prolonged hospital stays until the patient is transferred back to the long-term care facility."

"Things should be changing for the better and we have indications they already are," says Turner, though. "We've (investigative committee) made a difference already."

The center is hiring additional nurses and should soon reach the 54 required for a facility of its size. Some 63 beds will be opened when the center begins accepting admissions again, since a 32-bed wing will be staffed and 28 other beds in a closed wing will probably be available.

Turner said many problems his committee found "were administrative in nature," and he added staff discord can be eliminated mainly through closer contact between center, county and state officials, along with improved communication between center administrators and employees.

Center Director John Merrigan could not be reached for comment this week.

Taken aback by Vaillancourt's finger-pointing, though, the center's senior clerk typist, Elizabeth Cutrone, this week noted she had collected $23,000 more in Medicaid reimbursements for 1980 than 1979 and that a licensed "medical librarian is employed who has a thorough knowledge of medical terminology."

Vaillancourt had alleged one girl was burdened by having to process all forms for Medicaid reimbursement, unaware of medical vernacular which delayed reimbursement. Cutrone said the center billed "based on a monthly sum of days at a per-diem rate."

When Medicaid changed reporting procedures, Cutrone said, she had to read doctors' charts, noting "the writing was illegible 90 percent of the time. If the doctor was available, he was called to the billing department to decipher his penmanship. In his absence, the assistant clinical director was called. When he was available, I endeavored to assist him in translating," she said, in a letter hand-delivered to The Times Tuesday afternoon.

She said she doesn't feel another typist is needed to assist her because "one diligent worker can maintain complete control." — Mike Olohan

School 2's price still 'negotiable'

Belleville Board of Education President Ernie Zoppi says trustees are willing to "negotiate" over the appraised prices for School 2's property with local commissioners if they decide to buy it for recreational uses.

So far commissioners haven't contacted Zoppi to say whether they're interested in the Soho school, closed by trustees as part of their desegregation plan last March. However, Zoppi has already received "three or four" inquiries from potential buyers. He says commissioners will be given the first chance to purchase the property before trustees consider any outside bids.

Last Tuesday, Mayor Michael Marotti called several of School 2's price appraisals "ridiculous," apparently much more than commissioners would like to spend — unless trustees decide to reduce the pricetag.

Though providing the town with another recreation facility is commissioners' main interest, two other companies are known to be looking for prospective senior citizen housing sites, and commissioners might be taking that into consideration as they eye the School 2 property. But Zoppi said no company has yet contacted him about either School 2 or School 1, also shut down this past fall.

Several inquiries were made about the price of both Schools 1 and 2, and although 1 hasn't been appraised yet, trustees have unofficially agreed it might be wise to keep one building just in case enrollments start climbing again. While no public discussion of a pending "baby boom" has taken place, some trustees feel foresight demands they keep at least one school for several years to see if Belleville's school population increases.

Since September, the question of whether both closed schools should be sold, leased or possibly reopened as board offices has nagged trustees. Some trustees suggested using School 1 for board offices in September, but no decision was reached because an appraisal had not made and because School 1 parents had filed a lawsuit against them to force a reopening of the building.

And School 1 proponents are politically shrewd; they've protested to keep School Board vehicles out of their parking lot, and one has suggested moving School 9's children back into School 1 because it's bigger and doesn't need $130,000 in repairs. Though they've taken "education, not administration" as their fighting slogan, they'd rather see School 1 used as board offices if only to keep it intact so possibly it could be reopened.

Another element was added to the building question just two weeks ago when Trustee John DiStasi reported that the town was interested in moving Commissioner Joseph McGreevy's finance department from Town Hall to the School Board offices at 383 Washington Ave. That building, which also houses the Belleville Public Affairs Department, is owned by commissioners. Board Vice President Charles Miele urged his colleagues to make a decision then on both schools. However, they agreed to wait until School 1's appraisal is in.

Marotti conceded commissioners have decided to use Town Hall mainly as a police station, moving the finance department from the first floor there to the School Board administrative offices. However, Marotti quickly pointed out there's no rush.

"We're looking for room, but we're not pushing them out," said the mayor last week. He said commissioners will give trustees as much time as they need to relocate. Trustees have paid commissioners $1 a year for rent since moving to 383 Washington Ave. and contribute about $400 per month for utilities, said Marotti.

With School 1 tied up in litigation, it may be summer or later before schoolers decide its fate, but it looks now as if School 2 will be sold. Trustees can still reject all bids if they decide not to sell.

Three are awarded med scholarships

Howard J. Cox of Carpenter Terrace, Michael G. Giuliano of Marion Court and Alexander P. Russoniello of Fairway Avenue have been awarded scholarship grants from the William P. Grupe Foundation. The announcement was made by Dr. Abdol H. Islami, president of the Grupe Foundation and attending surgeon at Saint Barnabas Medical Center in Livingston.

Cox is a recent graduate of the University of Dominica in Dominica, West Indies. This is the third consecutive year he has been awarded a Grupe scholarship.

Giuliano is a senior medical student attending the Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine and will graduate in May. Russoniello is a student at Rutgers Medical School in Piscataway and expects to graduate in May 1983.

The three were among 127 candidates recently selected by the foundation for grants to aid the advancement of their medical education. The scholarships, established under the will of the late William P. Grupe, a businessman and inventor, aid medical students who live and intend to practice in New Jersey.

Doreen K. Ragogoni of Belleville has been inducted into the Bloomfield College chapter of Alpha Sigma Lambda, a national honor society. To be selected for membership, a student must be enrolled in the college's evening program and must have an outstanding academic record.

Susan Jeanne Stone, daughter of Alfred W. and Norma Stone of 19 Tiona Ave., completed the clinical teaching phase of the undergraduate teacher education program at the University of Kansas during the fall 1980 semester.

The program placed students in elementary and secondary schools throughout Kansas for first-hand experience as teachers in classroom situations. Students were under the supervision of a master teacher and a university faculty member.

Charlotte Roberts has been named to the dean's list for the fall semester at Caldwell College. A freshman English major, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Roberts, 47 Bridge St.

Three Belleville students have made the honors list at Upsala College for outstanding academic achievement during the fall semester.

Named to the list were Anthony Cordaro, son of Vincent and Rosalia Cordaro of 20 Lincoln Terrace, John B. Narucki, son of John and Viola Narucki of 423 Joramelon St., and Patricia Helene McLaughlin of 93 Heckel St.

Cordaro, a senior, is majoring in art and music. He is a graduate of Belleville High School. Narucki, also a senior and a BHS graduate, is majoring in philosophy. To qualify for the honors list at the East Orange school, a student must achieve at least a slightly better than "B" average.

Frances Viegas of Belleville was among 21 students who received certificates Feb. 6 at the Coachman Inn, Cranford, for completing Union College's administrative assistant program. The non-credit certificate program is conducted by the college's division of continuing education for adults who need to acquire business and management skills as a stepping-stone to more responsible positions.

Risoli wants ads for Times ended

Angered by a Times editorial denouncing his plan to revive an appointed board of education, the board's former president, Ralph Risoli, has requested that both local school trustees and commissioners refrain from advertising in the paper.

Risoli contends that because Times offices aren't located in Belleville, the newspaper isn't legally entitled to receive any official town announcements or advertisements. He's correct — The Times isn't Belleville's "legal" newspaper. Another weekly, The Telegram, located on Washington Avenue, receives all legal advertising, though Belleville's official governing bodies have the option of advertising with The Times also.

Risoli is leading a drive to re-establish an appointed board of education, claiming politics dominates Belleville's present board. An appointed board would probably have the mayor appointing all seven members, possibly after taking recommendations from his four colleagues. That, Risoli believes, would lessen or eliminate political influence on the board.

Previously, Risoli has expressed his resentment at The Times for failing to endorse his School Board bid last year, claiming he was told the paper would always support incumbents. Risoli has also chastised The Times for quoting some of his more colorful statements, though he has never been one to demand that any conversation be kept "off the record," something that has endeared him to reporters down through the years.

Town Clerk Mary Lou Hood notes that although The Times isn't Belleville's "official" paper, advertising is occasionally submitted so more local people will hear about certain proposals, meetings or announcements. Last year, the town and School Board budgets were published in The Times as legal ads, but almost no other ads were submitted.

A state law says a newspaper dedicated as "official" must be published in English, be a paper of general paid circulation, have news content not less than 35 percent, be published locally for not less than two years and be entered two years as second-class mail.

Because The Times has no offices in Belleville (the office on Washington Avenue was closed in August 1979), Town Attorney Frank Zinna says "there could be a problem" with putting any advertisements in. "My initial reaction was as a second newspaper it was okay, but I thought they still had an office here," said Zinna.

The Times has been produced in Nutley for most of the last 20 years. For a few years in the 1960s and again in the '70s, Times reporters worked out of the Belleville office, running stories up to Nutley for page production, a process that was abandoned because it proved too time-consuming and because stories were often lost on the way. Afterwards, the Belleville office was used mainly as a maildrop, with a secretary there to answer phone calls and sell subscriptions. The Times has shared space with The Nutley Sun in Nutley since about 1975 and with Channel T, a UA-Columbia cable television station reaching nine towns in Essex and Passaic Counties, since 1979.

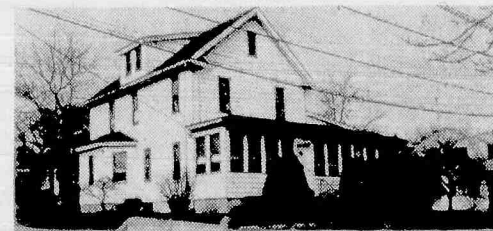

Risoli, in his letter to both local boards, notes he only learned Feb. 5 that The Times offices had moved to Nutley.

Three candidates respond to league's query

Board elections is seeing who turns up at meetings just before or after filing time begins. Noticed recently was Doug Cantarella, who has appeared sporadically at previous meetings, Cora Boice, who declared then withdrew last year, but hasn't made any moves lately. Potential candidates May, Mrs. Sobanko and Mrs. Wright, along with Spillane have appeared at a majority of meetings over the last year. May wondered why some residents apparently take a sudden take interest in the meetings when previously they never attended any, much less voiced an opinion. Zoppi, often lambasted by critics for gaveling down dissenters and leading the board's so-called "Gang of Four," says he believes no political bloc exists on Belleville's board and that anyone checking past votes will find the "bloc" often splits rather than unites over crucial issues. On Monday, Spillane, Zoppi and Chieffo answered questions posed on New Jersey League of Women Voters questionnaire. As a reason for running, all three cited "service" to the community and wanting to contribute "something" to help improve education. Asked if Belleville schools can provide a challenging education and "still keep within the community's financial means," Zoppi pointed out that with inflation and average student spending below both the state and county averages, "I'm not looking for a more challenging education, just a better basic education, which is a challenge in itself." He said $1 million is being set aside for specific school renovations long delayed and added that local current expense allotments "are tight," providing little flexibility or "fat" to work with. He said a separate referendum should have been sought for Belleville's proposed $1 million capital outlay budget, "but the average person today probably would reject it because the timing is wrong. These are things that have to be done," he stressed. Chieffo felt a challenging education could only be provided by spending more than Belleville's permitted 11.5 percent "cap" increase, but none of his colleagues has supported that position. He believes trustees should aim for the best educational package they can provide and should let the cuts fall where they may if voters defeat the budget.

By including extra funds, Chieffo believes even with a budget TKO, the school system will have money to begin programs only dreamed of before. Spillane said the board should operate on a "management by objective" (MBO) basis, an industry term meaning goals are set and results achieved before proceeding on to new goals. "If you don't make a goal, then you don't get a raise," said Spillane, explaining his philosophy. However, he agreed that administrative functions were the main ones that should be MBO-oriented, though he pointed to helping more ninth graders pass reading as one goal that could be based on MBO.

"There's a lot of waste in education, but it's almost impossible to find. We should do an operations review. Get people from industry in the community to find out what could be done to make the board more efficient," said Spillane.

Asked how citizens can obtain "maximum" benefits under New Jersey's Open Public Meeting Act or Sunshine Law, Zoppi said Belleville's board of education is confronted by too many vocal minorities.

"I firmly believe that the public should know what's going on, it's just very difficult to do it," said Zoppi. He said one issue of the school system's newspaper should be out by month's end — the only issue in the 1980-81 school year — but had no plan on how to better inform residents.

"I don't think people get enough information (about the board)," said Zoppi, but he emphasized the board's proposed budget has been simplified. "There's been a lot of improvement in that," he repeated. "When the board starts not only acting to the letter but the spirit of the law and doesn't take votes behind closed doors, that's when it's going to work," said Spillane of Sunshine meetings.

Chieffo believes everything should be done "in the open. It's not done that way all the time...your credibility is the key word. If the teachers don't have faith in the board because of a lack of communication, then there's a problem," he said.

He believes because most local teachers don't live in Belleville, they lack feeling for the community, the desire to instill pride in youngsters. "That's always been disheartening to me, but you can't change that," he noted.

He said a budget chock-full of programs and explained completely and openly to the public would stand a better chance of passage than one that settled for the minimum "cap" allowance. "If they show this (total, uncut budget), it'll have a better opportunity," Chieffo said. Asked if his colleagues' rejection of this plan was a deep defeat, he replied, "It's a big one."

Water Watcher — Belleville Tax Collector Steve Vogel, now doubling as town water monitor, displays the Hershey-Sparling water counter that jammed and prevented his three meter readers from keeping tabs on local consumption for several weeks. The counter is now fixed.

Vogel points to tenants as worst water abusers

there, and the state has told landlords they're going to be levied with surcharges if they don't obey," said Vogel. "They (tenants) might not know the particulars of this water shortage, but if the landlord can prove he checked every toilet, shower and drip, he'll probably get it," he said, referring to an okay to pass along surcharges to tenants.

The signs available at Town Hall measure 17 by 11 inches, reading, "Don't Waste Water, Be Wise, Save Water, Not A Drop To Spare." As long as landlords place those around their apartment buildings, they've at least notified tenants to be cautious about water use, and proved to task force officials they're doing their part to effect conservation.

Vogel said he hopes residents will surpass their 25 percent goal by March, and since March usually signals the start of a slowly increasing water cycle, he'll begin comparing water readings with readings taken a year ago, rather than September's base period. "I just hope people don't get bored reading about this week after week," said Vogel when asked if being a water monitor is a tedious, lonely job. "With other people, I think their habits are going to change," he said, noting he now turns off the water whenever brushing his teeth. He said the only thing he remembers about New Jersey's water crisis of the 1960's was his parents' warning not to wash his car.

We've come a long way.

Our nursing and health services have covered a lot of ground since we started 100 years ago. We began by caring for the wounded on the battlefield. Later, we called on the ill at home. Then, as we trained and recruited more nurses, we began to develop programs to teach people how to help themselves and their families.

Today, we give instruction in home nursing, disease prevention, parenting, child care, nutrition, managing stress, preparation for disaster, health maintenance—all of this in addition to providing services to the community on an as-needed basis.

But we're not saying this to pat ourselves on the back. We just want you to know that if you need help, we're ready.

...That nitroglycerin tablets are easily spoiled and certain basic precautions should be observed by anyone using this most essential drug.

a.) Nitroglycerin tablets must be kept in the original dispensing bottle.

b.) A fresh bottle should be obtained at least every six months even if unused.

c.) Never put any other medication in your nitroglycerin bottle.

d.) Replace the cap quickly & tightly after each use.

e.) Remove the cotton that comes with the bottle and do not replace it.

f.) Store as cool and dry as possible.

Nitroglycerin tablets are relatively unstable and can deteriorate in as short a time as one week when handled or stored improperly.
