Job Complete — Belleville firemen leave the Junior High School last Friday after dousing a blaze there, a blaze being called arson this week by officials.

Officials labeling blaze at Junior High as arson

By Ed Capparucci

A fire swept through the southeast stairwell of the Junior High School Friday afternoon and this week officials were calling the blaze arson.

School Superintendent Dr. John Greed said a lit cigarette thrown onto a wrestling mat stored under the stairway was the cause of the fire. No one was hurt, and damage was light.

The fire started at approximately 2:20 p.m., and the first alarm was called at 2:22 p.m. according to Deputy Fire Chief Joseph Santiglia.

Moments after responding to the call, firefighters had the blaze under control.

"This would of have been a serious catastrophe," said Greed, "if it was not for the swift and responsive work by our Fire Department. They did an excellent job containing the fire and putting it under control immediately."

Greed said school officials feel the fire was set deliberately by either a junior high student or someone from another school in the area.

"It was a case of arson," Greed said. "The mats were not stored near any combustible items, so that only leaves us with someone who set it deliberately. At least that is what we are going on at the moment."

Fire officials refused to say what caused the fire but did not rule out arson as a possibility. The Times also learned through sources that police officials have questioned several suspects in the case and that an arrest could be made soon.

According to Greed, damage could run well over $500.

"We are not talking about the overtime that will be needed to clean the wallway up," said Greed. "Physical damage will total more than $500 when the job is finished."

The fire was reported by two gym

Parents, teachers fighting transfers

By Linda Telesco

Temper flared at Monday night's Board of Education meeting as objections were voiced for the third time this month to the proposed transfers of three School 8 teachers.

The involuntary transfers were recommended by School 8 Principal Arthur Pico, and the teachers involved have filed labor grievances. The changes would place one first and one second grade teacher on the sixth grade level and another first grade teacher in the third grade, effective in September. The teachers will fill positions vacated by retirements and maternity leave, and their own positions will be filled by three other teachers, not yet identified, from within the school system.

Reiterating protests made to the board earlier this month, parents from School 8 complained that the changes will disrupt six classes in the school, transfer three experienced lower-grade teachers into higher grades, place new staff members in formative grades, and create an atmosphere not conducive to either teaching or learning.

School 8 Home and School Association President Patricia Albert told trustees Monday that members of her organization had met with Pico last week but "questions were not answered to our satisfaction."

Drawing applause for her remarks, Mrs. Albert urged the board to render a decision "tonight."

Another parent, Carol Capizzi, read from a letter she had written several weeks ago to School Superintendent Dr. John Greed who supports Pico's recommendation.

Mrs. Capizzi informed the board

Playground program set to begin Monday

The Belleville Recreation Department's summer playground program begins this coming Monday. Playground sites will be located at Schools 1, 2, 8, 9 and 10, at Municipal Stadium, the Rec House, Fairway Park and the Friendly House. The special education playground will be at the Belleville Little League Field.

The playgrounds will be open to all Belleville residents 6 through 17 from 9 a.m. to noon and 1 p.m. to 4 p.m., Mondays through Fridays until Aug. 21.

A college director will be on hand at each playground to organize games, parties and other activities, and an arts and crafts supervisor will travel from site to site.

Learn-to-swim classes and special tournaments will be held throughout the summer. The playground season will wind up with the Recreation Department's annual carnival, proceeds from which will go to charity.

NEW PRINCIPAL NOT CHOSEN

DeCesare will leave BHS for Nutley post

By Ed Capparucci

John DeCesare will not be returning as principal of Belleville High School next fall.

Monday night the Nutley Board of Education voted to appoint DeCesare as its new assistant superintendent of schools, a post left vacant when Dr. Thomas Davis was named superintendent of the Roxbury system.

DeCesare, who has been principal at Belleville High since January 1978, was among 400 applicants considered by the Nutley School Board in its hunt for a new administrator. Last Monday DeCesare became the leading candidate as the board limited the field to five finalists.

The vote by the board on Monday was 6-2 with Trustees Gerald Restaino and Carl Perez casting the only no votes. Restaino said he voted against DeCesare because he felt the top three administrators in the system should live in town. DeCesare presently lives in Belleville and says he has no plans to leave.

Perez said he voted no because he had some reservations about DeCesare's professional educational background.

DeCesare was given a two-year contract which calls for a salary of $46,000 for the first year. His second-year salary will be determined later.

Reaction from local officials to loss of DeCesare to the Nutley school system was mixed. Everyone was sorry to see him leave, though, and many wished him luck in the future with his promotion.

"We are losing a top-notch administrator," said School Superintendent Dr. John Greed. "John DeCesare has done a very good job for us since coming here in 1978 and he will be missed very much, but we could not stand in his way of moving up the ladder. The students, teachers and administrators of Nutley are very lucky."

Trustee Thomas Zampino said that DeCesare meant a lot to the Belleville school system and will help improve the Nutley schools.

"The administrators of Nutley made an excellent move in picking DeCesare for the position," Zampino said. "He is a very competent administrator, and they will discover that shortly."

School Board President Charles Miele said the position of high school

School attorney gets revised pact

Lawrence Schwartz was given a revised contract and reappointed to his third term as attorney for the Board of Education by trustees Monday night.

Board members voted unanimously to appoint Schwartz while reducing his retainer fees from $19,000 a year to $7,500. In recent weeks, controversy has surrounded the attorney's old contract, one that enabled him to earn more than $35,000 this year with benefits and payment for extra work.

Last year besides his $19,000 salary, Schwartz's contract called for payments of $60 per hour for work other than teacher and administration labor negotiations and attending board meetings. This year his contract will be for $7,500. It will include attendance at board meetings and telephone and meeting conferences. The new contract will not include any labor negotiations. Please see "Attorney" on page 19.

Preventive Maintenance — Chrysler Corporation instructor Ralph Vargo leads a class of women in a course called Women on Wheels held in the service department of Bigelow Motors, 50 Washington Ave.

Bigelow Motors presents course 'diplomas' to 20

Twenty local women were involved in a unique "graduation" last week when they completed a Women on Wheels (WOW) course in preventive automobile maintenance at Bigelow Motors.

The course, according to Jerome Seiden, head of the local Chrysler Corporation dealership, was offered to acquaint women with the pitfalls and solutions to automobile maintenance. The women were instructed by William Wunder and Ralph Vargo, Chrysler Corporation representatives; and Steve Nardone, service manager for Bigelow Motors, and assisted by general manager Mark Pfeffer and mechanic William Gingerelli. The graduates learned emergency repairs and how to recognize and prevent breakdowns as well as how to get the most for their money in repair situations.

Seiden noted that it was the fourth time that Bigelow Motors had conducted such a course as a public service to the community. Seiden reports that all of the participants responded enthusiastically to the instruction. Further courses are in the planning stage.

Local realty company sees staff expansion

Govel Realty, a real estate firm specializing in condominium and cooperative sales, expects to substantially expand its staff at its Belleville location. "Recent residential trends, particularly the condominium and cooperative craze, are forcing us to increase our staff," says William W. Govel, president of the 10-year-old firm.

"In the past year, we have been appointed the sales agent for more than 600 condominium and cooperative developments in New Jersey," Govel says. "Our rapid growth is forcing staff expansion. We're looking for some top-flight sales agents who are familiar with the housing needs of the condo and coop dweller and have free time weeknights and weekends."

Govel Realty is the exclusive sales agent for three, new, luxury condominium developments in New Jersey, Sleepy Hollow, 91 units in Nutley; Patricia Village, 48 units in Clifton, and The Commons, 24 units in Spring Lake Heights.

Govel is also the exclusive sales agent for Hastings Village, the 362-unit cooperative complex in Rutherford. Hastings Village is the first middle-income cooperative conversion in New Jersey, with insider prices ranging from $14,500 for a studio to $29,000 for a two-bedroom duplex.

"We receive inquiries weekly from rental apartment owners considering a conversion and from builders evaluating the luxury housing market in New Jersey," Govel says. "What we see is the tip of the iceberg of New Jersey's revived housing market. Only mortgage interest rates are holding back a pent-up demand for equity housing. Yet, even with the interest rates as high as they are, there is still a large market of home-buyers looking to purchase now."

Zoppi vs. Fornarotto in court this morning

Former School Board president Ernest Zoppi, his son Ernest III, and town critic Joseph Fornarotto are scheduled to appear in Municipal Court this morning to answer to charges of assault and battery.

The case was last scheduled for May 7, but Belleville Judge Edward Abromson disqualified himself from hearing it because of his association with two of the three defendants and several witnesses, including Mayor Michael Marotti.

Nutley Municipal Judge Robert J. Citrino is scheduled to preside over the hearing today.

The two Zoppis and Fornarotto were involved in a fight after a March 23 meeting of the School Board at its office on Washington Avenue. Fornarotto and the elder Zoppi exchanged words after the meeting during which Zoppi refused to allow Fornarotto to speak and Fornarotto continued to do so, becoming personally abusive. The fight, which took place in the hallway outside the board's meeting room, flared up suddenly. Zoppi's son joined his father against Fornarotto and all three ended up on the floor.

Fornarotto was the first to press charges, doing so the day after the fight. Fornarotto claims that Zoppi asked him to "step outside" after the meeting and that that is when the shouting match turned into a fight with the younger Zoppi jumping in.

The Zoppis have a different view, saying that Fornarotto threw the first punch and that the younger Zoppi jumped in to protect his father. The day after Fornarotto pressed charges, the two Zoppis filed their counter-charges.

Shortly after the fight Zoppi lost his bid for re-election to the School Board.

Jury gets drug case

The case of a Union City couple facing charges of possessing more than 25 grams of marijuana with the intent to distribute was sent to a grand jury last week in Municipal Court.

The man and his wife were arrested June 11 by Det. Sgt. Martin McNish for attempting to sell marijuana. The are now free on $5,000 bail each.

The case of a Newark man accused of auto theft was also sent to grand jury.

The man was arrested June 1 while in possession of a 1980 Oldsmobile allegedly stolen shortly before from Celestino Clemente of Belleville.

Another Newark man had his case sent to the grand jury last week. He was charged with drug possession after his arrest in Belleville June 13.

Michael Lodato, 32, and Gary Kraus, 29, both of Branch Brook Place, were given two-year probationary sentences for possessing and being under the influence of controlled dangerous substances.

Lodato was given a suspended 60-day jail sentence and ordered to participate at an in-patient program at a Newark hospital.

Kraus was given the same sentence and ordered to participate in an out-patient program.

A Belleville man pleaded guilty to charges of assaulting his wife and children and received a 20-day suspended sentence and two years probation.

Appearing before Judge Abromson, Guillermo Rosado of Belmont Avenue, pleaded guilty to assault and battery charges against his wife Fidela and their children.

Abromson gave Rosado a suspended 20-day jail sentence and put him on one-year probation for the April 26 incident.

Growth in their child's height and weight are high on the priority list of parental interests. Mothers and fathers write and speak with great pride about the birth length and weight of their babies. The average newborn baby measures about 21 inches and weighs about 7 pounds. Throughout the period of infancy, growth is very rapid. During the first year, the average male child tends to grow nearly ten inches in height and triples his birth weight. Bear in mind, however, that departures from the average are not in any way abnormal.

Sound policy on fire alarms

A fire broke out at the junior high school this past week. Officials believe it was an arson case. Last week there were several false alarms. As a result of this track record, teachers were instructed to turn in an alarm only after determining whether or not the signal was valid. School Superintendent John Greed disagreed with this edict and reversed it, thus requiring school staff to immediately turn in an alarm to the fire department when the internal system sounds.

This makes much sense. Even though we apparently have to live with false alarms — one of them might concern a real fire. We would hate to be in a position of witnessing the death of students because the fire department responded late to put out a fire.

A new contract for board lawyer

This week School Board trustees renewed the contract with attorney Larry Schwartz for another year, making it the third year that Mr. Schwartz was appointed as counsel of the School Board.

This year the contract reflected one substantial difference. Last year the board paid Larry Schwartz a $19,440 retainer, the extra work fees amounted to $11,730 and the fringe benefits cost the town $4,500, for a total of $35,670. This year the board reduced the retainer to $7,500 with a $60 per hour fee for additional work, a very reasonable hourly fee. There were some board members who wanted to consummate a contract with Mr. Schwartz with no retainer but a basic $60 per hour fee. The majority prevailed and so the new school year finds Mr. Schwartz with a contract stipulating a retainer of $7,500 plus additional fees.

Mr. Schwartz is able, the Board of Education chooses wisely when it selects him as its attorney. This circumstance does not lead to the need for payment of a retainer. If Mr. Schwartz puts in 1,000 hours, he is entitled to 1,000 hours times $60. If he works 100 hours, he is entitled to 100 hours times $60. Pay him when he works. Fair enough?

The retainer includes attendance of meetings. This requirement may be unnecessary. Why not start out the new fiscal year without the attorney in attendance and see what happens? Maybe — just maybe — it might be possible that taxpayers will save some money. School trustees should give it a try.

Federal budget cuts will harm those who are emotionally ill

To the Editor:

In the town of Belleville, the state of New Jersey, there once existed a federally funded program. This program was designed to aid the deinstitutionalized people suffering with emotional illness. The program offered them socialization groups (day and evening), medication monitoring and most importantly, workers who were there for these people whenever they needed support, concrete services, assistance during a crisis time, advocacy.

Now, they have nothing. The program funding has been terminated. They will be offered other services, put on the waiting lists, etc. The loss of this program has been devastating for them. Yes, they can apply for services elsewhere, but there is no guarantee what will happen to various other programs in the coming months.

There comes a time in a person's life when he feels uncomfortable, insecure, out of control, weak. At these times people feel a need for support, comfort, companionship. We have all, no doubt, at one time felt this; whether it was the death of a loved one, loss of a job, loss of a relationship, or some tragic experience. The feelings can be overwhelming, overflowing, unbearable. However, most of us pull through. We find the strength to survive, others support us. We make it through the cold, the dark, the ugly. We are able to resume a happy, comfortable life. The dark becomes light, the cold becomes warm, the ugly becomes beautiful.

If you can for one moment recapture those feelings of vulnerability, weakness, instability, hold it for a moment. Then, imagine if you could live an entire life in that manner.

Alone, scared, no support, no one to understand. Coping with a desire to end your state of being but not sure how or why. Can you do it? It's tough.

People with an emotional illness suffer with these overwhelming feelings everyday. Imprisoned for life. They vary in degree, of course, and medication has helped them to cope somewhat. They still have a great need, that is, to feel human, comfortable even if it means a few hours of relief. Is it possible in a world full of confusion, coldness and contradiction for these people to pull through?

It could be possible. I believe anything is possible, but it takes the courage of a number of people to come together in one voice and demand that changes be made. A voice to scream out. THIS IS NOT RIGHT. We need to STOP, LOOK AND LISTEN. STOP to take the time, which is so precious, so we can LOOK to see what sort of world we are creating, for we create what we live and LISTEN to the sounds around us. Are they sounds of pain, or hurt? Is there laughter and singing?

Do you know someone suffering from emotional illness? Don't destroy what can help relieve these people from their pain. Where is the power, who holds the power? Every individual has the POWER to say NO, I will not let this person suffer.

The question is, can you utilize your power? Use your power to say NO. Write to your government officials, congressmen, county officials, state officials, municipal officials: President Reagan, White House, Washington, D.C., Sen. Bill Bradley, 2107 Dirksen State Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20510; Joseph G. Minish, 2162 Rayburn House Office Building, Washington, D.C., Peter Rodino Jr., 2462 Rayburn House Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20515, James A. Courter, 325 Cannon House Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20515 (202-225-5801), Bernard Dwyer, 437 Cannon House Office Building, Washington D.C. 20515 (202-225-7300).

Ask them not to make such destructive reductions!

Mental health is as important as physical health for a full human life. Federal funding is being cut nationwide. Programs and supportive assistance for the emotionally ill will simply come to a halt because the funding is being pulled out WITH NO REPLACEMENT. In the particular program in Belleville, N.J., deinstitutionalized people attending socialization groups have progressed, improved, made enormous advances and now will have nothing to fall back on. The program was funded by CETA monies. Now, there is no program.

My purpose is not only to gain your empathy, but also and more importantly to offer you an opportunity to understand so that you may act on behalf of a human need.

Mental Health Aide

Is there really a GOP in town?

To the Editor:

Is there a Republican Party in Belleville? Last week The Times published an article saying that after repeated attempts they were unable to contact town Republican officials and could only "assume" that Jerry Ferrara had been re-elected town chairman. This is not the first time that the town GOP has been silent. On numerous occasions Mr. Ferrara has been "unavailable for comment" while the town's Democrats have gotten a great deal of publicity under leaders like Marotti, Senatore and Chieffo. If the Republicans in Belleville are to ever catch up to the progress made in other suburban Essex towns, than Ferrara and Co. better get the lead out or get out.

Citizen patrol helping to reduce crime here

To the Editor:

My sincere thanks to the Citizens Patrol for the fine job they are doing in their fight to stop crimes in the Silver Lake and Soho areas.

They are a credit to the town and the people and appreciated by all. Without their help to the police the town could have become a jungle for the animals that roam the streets.

These men also believe in law and order. They are unarmed, receive no salary and are putting their lives on the line to make Belleville a safer place to live.

Commissioner Pica should be happy to have their support. They do not stand on corners or stop for a coffee break. They cover the areas from 8 p.m. to 4 a.m. There has been less crime in these sections since they entered the picture to protect the people and their property.

It is gratifying to know somebody cares what is going on in their town. I feel the same way, since they are a big help to the police department in these uncertain times, they operate their own cars with donations received from the people, and are more than welcome. God bless them.

It should be townwide. Working together with the men appointed to walk their beat on the night shift is paying off.

Sincerely Yours,
Albert Guglicelli

Senior Notes

By George Chenoweth

The new Medicare claim form is a simplified version of the original. The new form, known as "Patients Request for Medicare Payment," was designed to make it easier to report your treated illnesses. Now only the information to be completed by you is requested. Pay particular attention to the instructions on the reverse side of the claim form. When submitting a new claim, all information on the front of the form should be completed and all itemized bills from your doctor or supplier should be attached to the back of the form.

There have been many complaints from doctors and the insurers about forms being improperly filled and payment held back because of this. The new forms should help eliminate this problem.

There have been no changes in policy or reimbursement procedures, only a newly designed form to make the filing of your Medicare claims easier for you.

Under Medicare Part B Insurance, benefits are paid for physicians' services, inpatient and outpatient medical services and supplies, physical and speech therapy, ambulances and other supplies and services. For these expenses, Medicare pays 80 percent of reasonable charges after the $60 deductible is met. Home health care is covered up to 100 visits (up from 60) and payable at the rate of 100 percent of reasonable charges after the $60 deductible has been met. For outpatient hospital treatment, the coverage is unlimited and is judged by what is medically necessary. Blood is a covered service and is charged at 80 percent of reasonable charges after the first three pints.

Medicare does not cover certain kinds of care. Most private insurance policies do not cover them either. Among them are private duty nursing; skilled nursing home care costs (beyond what is covered by Medicare); custodial nursing home care costs; intermediate nursing home care costs; home health care (above number of visits covered by Medicare); physician charges (above Medicare's reasonable charge); drugs (other than prescription drugs furnished during a hospital or skilled nursing home stay) and care received outside the U.S.A. Dental care or dentures, checkups, routine immunizations, cosmetic surgery, routine foot care, examinations for and the cost of eyeglasses or hearing aids are also not covered.

Registration beginning Monday for senior trip

Plans are being made now for the annual senior citizens' trip to Asbury Park, and registration will begin this Monday. The trip will take place Monday, July 27, with buses leaving the Belleville Senior Citizens' Center at 10 a.m.

Registration for the journey starts this coming week at the center. The week of July 6; registration will take place at the Essex County center. The registration site will shift to Town Hall the weeks of July 13 and 24. Seniors must present proper identification in order to sign up.

Jewels & Gems

by Lou Cicien

Certain gems and metals are usually measured by the metric carat, a term derived from a small oriental bean, the "carob". Now, the carat is largely standard, but it once had different meanings in various countries. The United States adopted the metric carat in 1913. It proved to be a great improvement over the old system. With regard to the metric system, a stone weighing three-fourths of a carat is expressed as a .75 carat. The term "carat" is also used abroad to express the purity of gold alloys. In the United States, the spelling "karat" is used for this latter purpose. It is hoped that confusion on the part of the consumer can be avoided by knowing a few of these facts.

Do you want us to design a special wedding ring for you? Come see me, Lou, at CHARLES JEWELERS, 163 Washington Ave., Belleville, and let my 34 years of experience help you with the design. We offer service, selection and are priced competitively. Remember that nothing can match the special feeling of wearing fine jewelry designed and made just for you. We have a staff of fine old-world craftsmen and we offer "practically overnight service". Stop in today and see me or call 759-2468.

JEWEL TIP:
Pearls are sometimes sold by the carat, but usually by the grain.

A BETTER WAY TO CLEAN TEETH

Dental plaque is a sticky, invisible film that contains bacteria and is the major cause of tooth decay and periodontal (gum) disease. The trouble with removing plaque from teeth is that you can't see it easily with the naked eye. But there is a way to make the "invisible" show up. Chew a disclosing tablet before brushing your teeth and it will leave a red stain where the plaque is on your teeth. Remove all the red stain and you'll remove the plaque. Here's a five step procedure to use before going to bed each night if you want healthy teeth.

1. Make the plaque visible by chewing a disclosing tablet.
2. Brush your teeth; using a dry, soft-bristle brush without toothpaste. Place the bristles at a 45 degree angle pointing toward the gum. Move the brush back and forth with short strikes. Clean chewing surfaces with short, scrubbing strokes.

3. Use dental floss to clean between the teeth and under the gum edges.

4. Rinse and examine the teeth for any remaining red areas.

5. Brush again using toothpaste, concentrating on the areas that still contain plaque. For best results, don't eat again before going to bed.

Can you find the five areas in this room where cool air and energy are wasted?

The more areas you can find and correct in your own home, the more energy dollars you can save this summer. To test your energy awareness, check your answers against the five energy-saving tips below:

Lights out! Heat produced by lighting and other heat-producing appliances — TV sets, stoves, dryers, etc. — must be removed by your air conditioner.

Close windows and outside doors! Remind the kids not to hold doors open and let the hot air rush in.

Close the drapes! Or draw the shades. Keep out the heat of the sun.

Set temperature higher to 78°F! Running the air conditioner at its lowest setting won't cool your room off any faster. Don't keep the temperature setting any lower than is necessary for your comfort.

Install units on the shady side of the house. Direct sunlight falling on a window air conditioning unit increases its workload and costs more to run.

Check your energy awareness score!

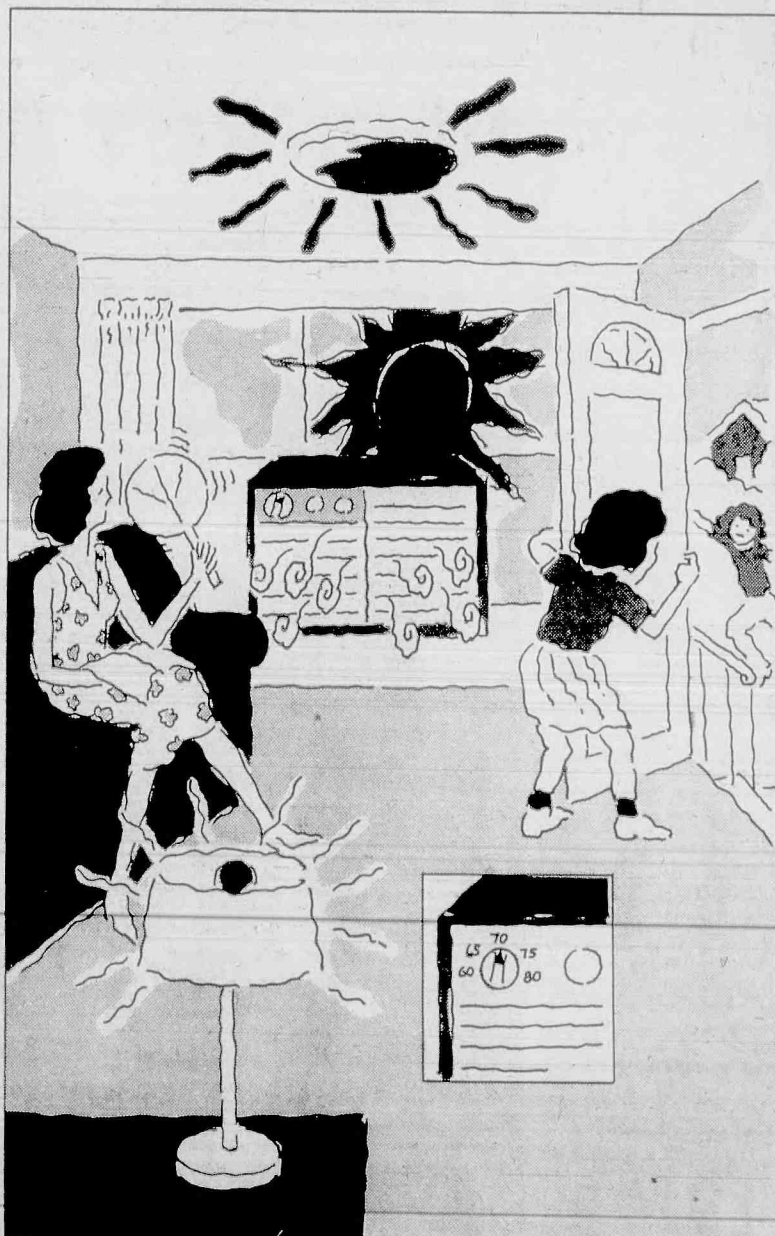

All 5 correct	A wise energy miser!
3 to 4 correct	An energy-conscious consumer!
1 to 2 correct	Brush up on energy conservation!
0 correct	Hit the books! Read PSE&G's new conservation booklet, "Dollar Saving Tips for Home Energy Use."

No matter how high you scored, you can still find over 100 new ways to save energy and money at home in PSE&G's conservation booklet. To receive your FREE COPY, send your name and address to "Dollar Saving Tips," P.O. Box 249, Fanwood, New Jersey 07023.

Mental health agency appoints new trustees

Five community leaders have been appointed as members of the board of trustees for the Community Mental Health Services of Belleville, Bloomfield and Nutley. The appointments came during the agency's recent 1981-82 reorganizational meeting.

Appointed by Mayor Michael Marotti were Tom Spillane, Dr. Joseph Cappello, Rev. John Shay, Jerry DiNicola and James Cozzarelli.

Spillane is an engineer at New Jersey Bell Telephone Company, and is a newly elected member of the Belleville Board of Education.

Dr. Cappello, is the acting director of Direct Services Division to Non-Public Schools, and the Essex County Education Service Commission. He recently received his doctor's degree from Fordham University in New York.

Rev. Shay is minister of Wesley Methodist Church and has just received a bachelor's degree from Drew University.

DiNicola is marketing director of Frontier Security Inc., East Orange. He supports the mental health agency because of his determination that it should continue to offer help to unhappy and disturbed persons who cannot easily advocate their own cause.

Cozzarelli, a well known member of the business community, is the owner and manager of Irvine-Cozzarelli Memorial Home on Washington Avenue.

All of the men appointed are involved in a variety of organizations and associations which are dedicated to helping the citizens of Belleville.

In recent months the agency has been beset with problems. There is the possibility that Belleville and Bloomfield may drop out of the program, and Bloomfield has already given the agency a Dec. 31 deadline.

Ruth Cowell, executive director of the program, feels that the newly appointed Belleville residents can help solve the problems now facing the agency.

"The Board of trustees is indeed fortunate to be able to welcome such splendid new members," said Mrs. Cowell. "Their understanding and support of the agency's work with children, families and the frail, homebound elderly, will be a great asset. It will also be an inspiration to the staff members who, in all the agency's programs last year, brought a degree of comfort and help to 121 children and 430 adults from Belleville."

The agency is supported by the three towns it serves, along with the United Way of Essex and West Hudson, the United Fund of Bloomfield and the State Department of Human Services, as well as the Schumann Foundation and other private and public sources.

Summer tips are available by telephone

The Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts were on the right track when they chose the motto, "Be Prepared." They were, in effect, saying that it is best to be ready for every type of situation we may encounter even though we may not expect it.

You don't have to be a Boy Scout or Girl Scout to "be prepared" and acquaint yourself with the important health tips offered by the Clara Maass Memorial Hospital Tel-Med system. Now that summer has arrived, it would be wise to use a service that can help you and your family have a safe and healthy vacation.

Tel-Med is free, simple to use and completely confidential. And it is as close as your telephone. When you dial 751-7000 and give the volunteer operator the number or exact title of the tape you wish to hear, you will receive a three to five-minute discourse on a health or safety problem.

A free brochure listing the more than 200 Tel-Med topics is available by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Tel-Med, c/o Clara Maass Memorial Hospital, 1 Franklin Avenue, Belleville, N.J. 07109.

Some of the tapes that may be helpful to you and your family are 406, "Accidents, Safety & Children"; 1082, "Sports Tips for Youngsters"; 195, "Bee Sting: It Can Cause Death"; 1101, "Exercising: Warm Up Slowly"; 91, "Severe Bleeding"; 94, "Shock"; 96, "Poisoning By Mouth"; 98, "Head Injuries"; 99, "Sprains"; 102, "Mouth-to-Mouth Resuscitation for Babies"; 103, "Mouth-to-Mouth Resuscitation for Adults"; 108, "Fainting"; 110, "Finding Someone Unconscious"; 118, "Animal Bites," and 121, "Bee Stings."

Topics covered by the Clara Maass Tel-Med system range from arthritis to birth control, diet to mental health, aging to venereal disease and home health care.

It is suggested first-time callers to Tel-Med listen to tape 429, "What Is Tel-Med?" The five-minute tape explains the system and how it works.

Tel-Med is open 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. weekdays and 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturdays. It is closed Sundays and holidays.

Tel-Med is not to be used in an emergency or to replace regular checkups by your doctor, but it can help you to recognize early signs of illness or how to handle accidents. Most importantly, it can help you to "Be Prepared" and enjoy a safe, healthy summer.

Departing — Shown from left are Sisters Mary Esther Carsele, Dolores Jensen, Holy Family Principal Sister Ascenza Tizzano and Sister Josephine Calo, all of whom will be leaving the school for new assignments. The new principal will be Sister Marie Gagliano, an eighth grade teacher at the school.

Holy Family principal, three teachers leaving

Holy Family School has announced its most significant personnel change in the last 10 years. Sister Ascenza Tizzano, principal the past nine years, has been reassigned to St. Nicholas School in Philadelphia. Sister Marie Gagliano, an eighth grade instructor at Holy Family, will become the new principal.

In addition, three teachers are leaving Holy Family. Sister Dolores Jensen, a longtime instructor at the school and head of its expanded science program, has been transferred to St. Nicholas. Sister Josephine Calo, a fourth grade teacher, will be going to Holy Rosary School in Perth Amboy, and Sister Mary Esther Carsele, a first grade teacher, will teach the same grade at Villa Victoria in Trenton.

A solemn concelebrated Mass in honor of the transferred nuns was offered Friday night. A parish reception followed in the Holy Family School auditorium.

The school is administered by the Religious Teachers Filippini, who provincial is the Rev. Mother Clare Testa, a Nutley native and former Holy Family parishioner. Mother Clare made the announcement of the transfers.

The school closed for the summer last Friday evening with commencement exercises for 57 students. Holy Family has continued to maintain a steady enrollment; the incoming kindergarten class numbers 58. A waiting list for vacancies has become necessary and is being kept on file.

In 1981-82, Holy Family's 587 students come in about equal numbers from Belleville and Nutley.

Belleville's past

The date of origin for Belleville Hall, located on Washington Avenue opposite the Junior High School parking lot, is uncertain, but a good guess would be about 1850. The Belleville Historical Society has in its possession a program for an event held in the hall sponsored by the Belleville War Veterans Organization. There is no date on the pamphlet, but reading it leaves the impression that the program was printed right after the Civil War.

The building was used as a Town Hall before the present Town Hall was built in 1913.

During the Depression years, it was used as a recreation center. Amateur boxing matches were held once a month and "Bun" Derbyshire, the old baseball umpire, announced the fighters of each contest. He was the "Joe Humphries" of Belleville.

The Belleville Historical Society has motion picture films of some of these bouts taken in 1931.

During the basketball season the hall was used on weekdays by a town recreation league and on Friday or Saturday nights, a Belleville professional team would play outside teams with dancing before and after the games.

The red brick building is privately owned today and is in commercial use.

Troop 350 makes last camping trip

Fifteen Scouts and their adult leaders, Dave Hill, Dave Haight and Rick Dombrowski, took part in Troop 350's last campout of the season recently.

Traveling to Scout Acres in Den-ville on a Friday evening, there was great excitement, for Saturday the troop was going canoeing. Saturday's breakfast finished, camp cleaned and lunches packed, the troop hiked two miles to the head waters of the Rockaway River in Boonton. With equipment checked and partners chosen, the canoes were launched by 10 a.m.

The troop paddled upstream until 12:30 p.m. Then the canoes were beached and a swimming party started. The boys swamped canoes and jumped off a high river bank. Then they ate lunch and again launched the canoes upstream. By 2 p.m. it was time to turn back to the starting point and it was then that a great sea battle began. For approximately six miles, the object of the game was either to steer your buddies' canoe into the river or by using paddles splash them with water. There was not a dry body in the group by the time the trip was completed.

With canoes and gear packed onto the boat trailer, the tired and sunburned troop hiked the two miles back to camp. The highlight of the evening meals prepared by the various patrols included dutch oven-baked and pan-fried chicken, puddings and a two-layer cake with chocolate icing.

The troop is now preparing for summer camp in the Adirondack Forest and a four-day, 50-mile canoe trip.

Mental health agency seeks grassroot boost

By Suzi Hedrick

A major campaign is being launched by the Community Mental Health Services of Belleville, Bloomfield and Nutley to insure that member towns will continue to participate in the program.

Both Belleville and Bloomfield have indicated they may withdraw from the agency. Two months ago, Bloomfield had sent notice that it was dropping out as of Dec. 31, but has since agreed to reconsider if the agency, now providing service to persons of all ages, becomes the child guidance clinic it was at its inception. The agency's executive director, Ruth Cowell, said last week that she has discovered Bloomfield is also considering many other plans besides that one. Those alternatives will be presented to the town council Aug. 3.

Belleville also presents a problem for the agency. The Town Commission has postponed a decision on retaining the service until October. "This is very late in the year for us to consider alternatives," said Mrs. Cowell. She added that Belleville has failed to pay "one cent" to the agency. "They have allotted only $37,000 to us, but their fair share is $40,000."

At a meeting last week of the Belleville Woman's Club, members of the Community Mental Health Services Auxiliary began a campaign to win grassroots support from Belleville and Bloomfield citizens. They explained that the current situation is a "delicate and difficult" one and that because Belleville has not paid its share of the funding in 1981, the agency has been forced to use money in reserve. "They're just about exhausted. Simply, our situation could not be more dire," said one member.

Agency officials say there is no way the two towns considering alternative mental health programs could save money by dropping the service they have now. "They pay $40,000 per year for what we do and really it's worth anywhere from $150,000 to $160,000 a year," said Mrs. Cowell. "They couldn't begin to give the service we give them for that amount of money anywhere else." Mrs. Cowell said it would be "disastrously expensive" for the towns.

Belleville Public Affairs Commissioner Vincent Strumolo, a longtime opponent of the agency, had attempted to formulate a plan under which the town would run its own mental health service for adults using federal and state grants. The school system would have handled care for children. However, Strumolo decided not to pursue his idea several weeks ago when it became clear he did not have the support of enough of his colleagues.

Community mental health care is more important now than ever, according to Dr. Virginia Drobner of the agency. A recent trend away from long stays in mental hospitals places the burden of good mental health on the community, she said. "We're seeing more and more people now and sicker people because of that trend," said Drobner.

Since deinstitutionalization has become popular in the medical community, the agency has been treating more persons on parole and probation and more troubled ex-servicemen whose cases the Veteran's Administration will not take. Veterans' groups have been pushing for the VA to consider mental disabilities incurred in war on a par with physical injuries, so far without success.

The Community Mental Health Services began in 1958 as a child guidance clinic but by the 1970s had expanded into a full-service agency treating persons of all ages. Critics feel the agency has wandered far from its original purpose, but Alice Ricci of the agency notes that programs in one area almost always overlap others. She clarified the point with the example of a 15-year-old girl who was deteriorating emotionally because of a problem with drugs and alcohol.

While counseling the girl, however, a case worker discovered that her entire family situation was becoming a difficult one because of the recent death of the father and the financial difficulties which followed. "They thought the husband had provided for them but because of poor investment, he had not. The service helped the young girl not only with the drug and alcohol problem but also helped the mother to re-enter the job market after 15 years as a housewife," said Ricci.

Plans are currently in the works to intensify the effort to "get the service back on its feet." Mrs. Cowell said the plan will be presented to the agency board this week and if approved will be announced to the public Tuesday. "If we should fail, there are people in Belleville, Bloomfield and Nutley that are sick people who aren't going to have refuge, aren't going to have someone to help them," Mrs. Cowell said.

Trio of women aid dog injured in fire

Three Belleville women, all strangers to one another, joined together to come to the aid of a dog seriously burned in a fire last Wednesday.

June Ferraer, Mary Rudy and Helen Fiello all saw a house which had caught fire on Celia Terrace last Wednesday afternoon and stopped to investigate. Mrs. Ferraer, who was on her way home from work at the Essex County Geriatrics Center, said that she spotted Mrs. Rudy sitting on the ground comforting a collie which was injured in the fire. The owners of the house were not home at the time of the blaze.

Mrs. Ferraer offered to drive the dog to the Nutley Animal Hospital for treatment, and was accompanied by Mrs. Rudy and Mrs. Fiello, who was visiting a niece around the corner from the fire.

"We decided that it was best to take the dog to the hospital for treatment," said Mrs. Ferraer. "Its paws, nose and one eye were burnt and it had suffered from smoke inhalation. We were all very worried about the dog. One of the women was crying terribly, the whole scene was upsetting."

Mrs. Ferraer said that when she got to the scene, the police were about to call the Humane Society, but when the question of whether the dog might be put to sleep if it went to the society came up, the women decided to bring the dog to the animal hospital.

"The three of us are going to split the hospital bill for the dog," Mrs. Ferraer said. "The people whose house was on fire lost everything and we don't want to burden them with the bill for the dog."

"Many of the neighbors in the area have said that they will donate some money to help foot the bill," she continued, "but even if no one helps it wouldn't be that bad. At least we know we did the right thing by bringing the dog to the hospital."

The dog, whose name is Lucky, will be hospitalized for about a week, according to doctors at the hospital, but he should return to normal soon.

Belleville association hosts third wrestling tournament

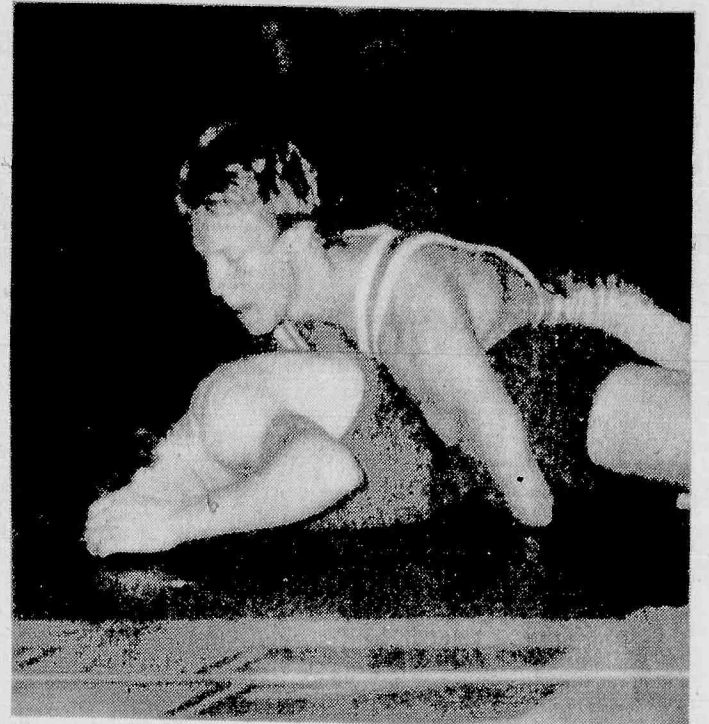

Annual competition here draws scores of the best area matmen

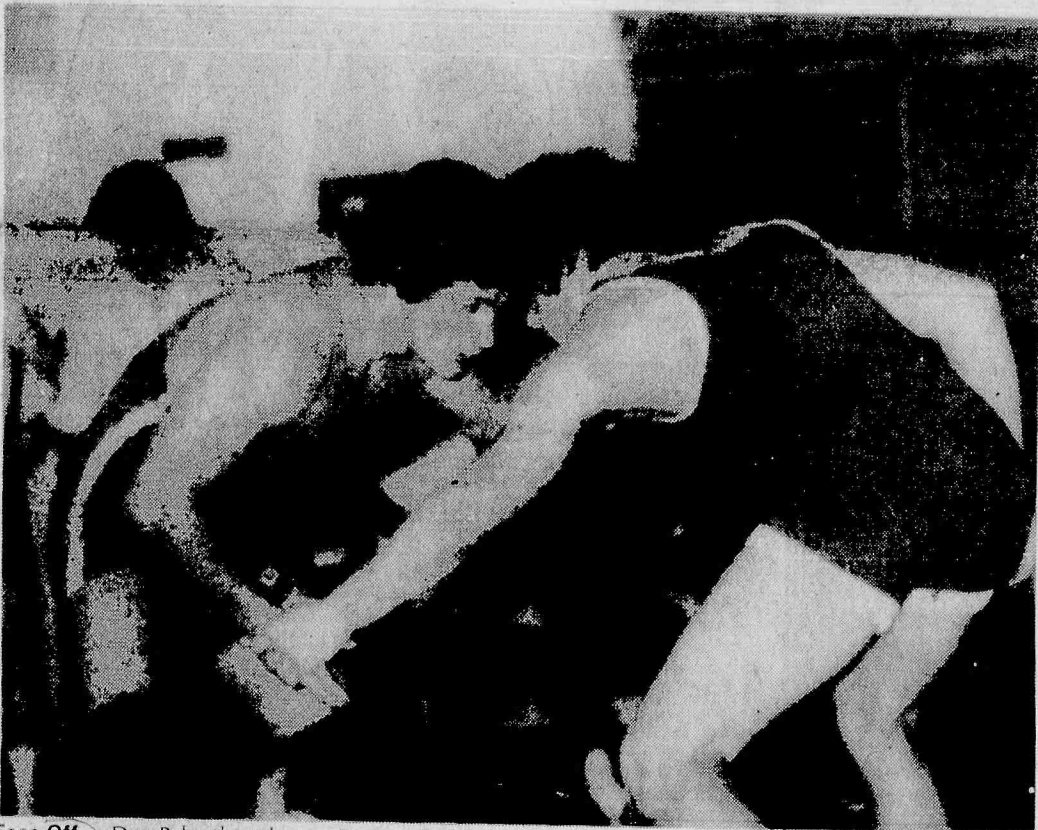

Keeping Tabs — Ernie Musmanno, pretty fair hand at math, totes up the scores as he watches one of the many matches taking place on the mats at BHS.

Moving Up — John Bucciarelli is in the process of taking a 10-6 decision over Chavis of Dover in the quarterfinals. "Booch" went up from 188 pounds to the heavyweight class for the tourney.

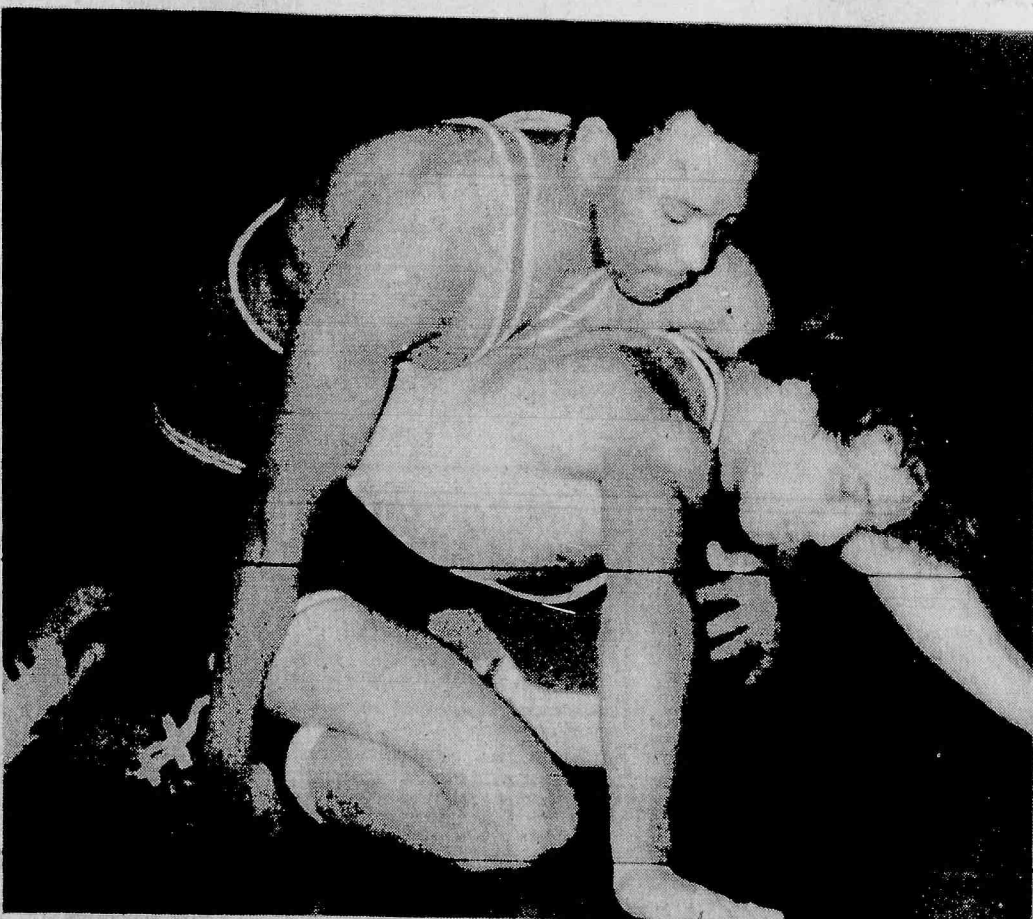

Shutout — Tommy Graziano controls Ellis of Millburn. The Belleville 122-pounder racked up a 7-0 victory in the annual tournament, held June 13.

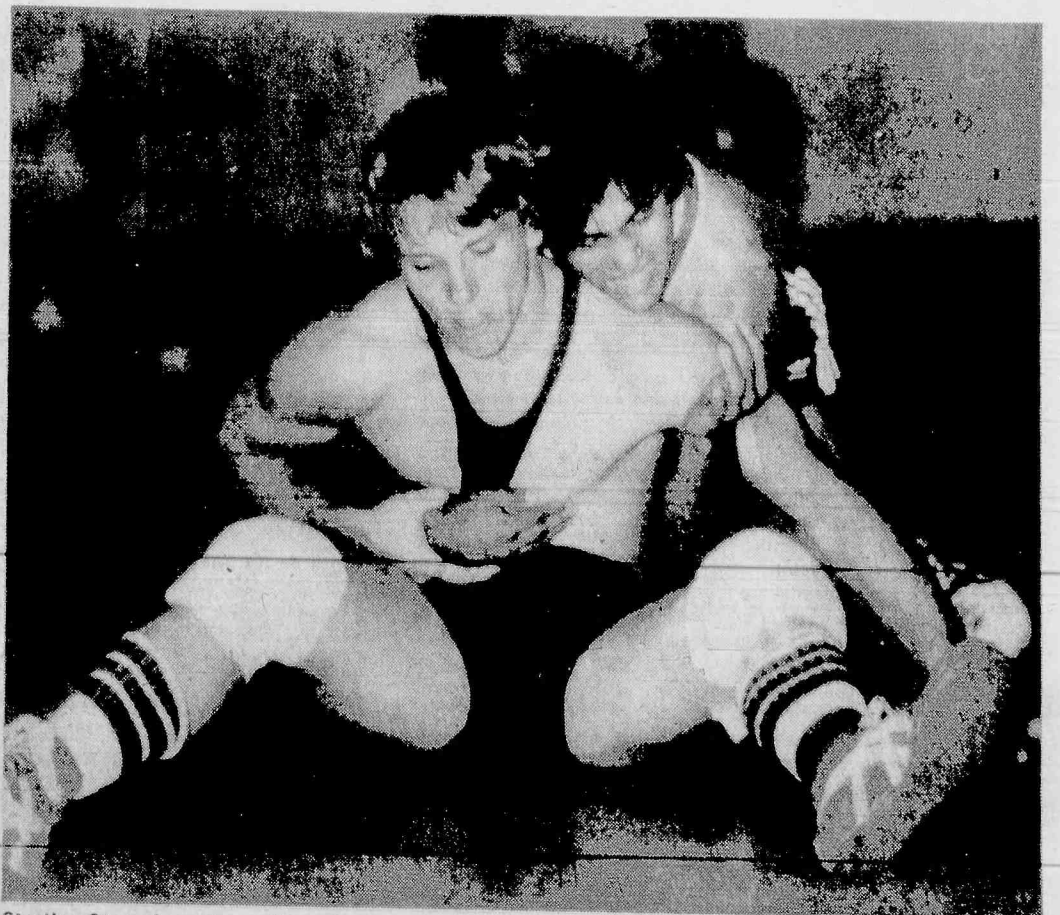

Face-Off — Dan Palumbo takes on Pozzonyi of Roselle Park in the 170-pound quarterfinals. The Belleville grappler lost a narrow 4-3 decision.

No Mercy — Joe Iacona toys with Merkle of Roselle Park before recording a pin at 4:50. The bout took place in the 158-pound division.

Tough Foe — Jim Lombard is in the clutches of Truesdale of Passaic, a highly regarded wrestler. Lombard, no slouch himself, lost the 135-pound bout 8-5.

Starting Struggle — Jimmy Lijo grimaces in the opening moments of his 148-pound bout with Meeth of Ramapo. Lijo was able to pin his opponent at 4:06.

Track star Caruso athlete of the year

There were many fine senior girls who gave a great account of themselves in athletic competition during the past school year.

Carol Ann Salerno was brilliant on the tennis courts, advancing to the third round of the state tournament. Dawn Ritacco was marvelous on the basketball court, doing a great job in the center position and turning out to be a fine team leader.

However, one athlete shined above the rest this year and for her efforts, Dana Caruso is the 1981 Girl Athlete of the Year. Her selection was not an easy one, but one I'm sure many will agree with it.

Dana competed in three events in her senior year in track and led the cross country team this past fall. To give you an idea of the banner year she put together, Dana broke records in all three track events and also set the girls' cross country record on the Belleville course.

According to her head cross country coach, Rich Ruffalo, you couldn't find a better athlete or person. "She, along with Sue Smith, are the two best girl athletes I've ever coached," Ruffalo said. "Dana is a fine runner and most important a super individual. She really did a great job keeping the team together and was always a favorite among the team members."

Dana captured a number of medals along the way in her cross country career and this year broke Sue Smith's four-year-old record on the Belleville cross country course.

Perhaps the finest moments of Dana's high school career came on the track cinders in her senior year. Dana had always wanted to break the 800-meter record which stood at 2:29.6. She got her big chance in the Kearny meet this past season. On an overcast day at the beautiful Kearny track, Dana ran her hardest race ever and broke the record by 1.8 seconds. Crossing the finish line, she collapsed but quickly came around when informed of the record.

"When I crossed the line, I didn't know if I made it," Dana recalled. "I was gasping for air and trying to ask if I broke the record, but somehow I couldn't seem to get the words out."

While breaking that record was perhaps Dana's biggest individual thrill of the 1981 track season, let's not forget the other two records that she broke along the way. In the Essex County Championships, Dana shattered both the 1,500 and 3,000-meter marks.

Larry Jinks, Dana's coach for the last two years, described her as "the best kid on the block" at the Varsity Club dinner three weeks ago. No truer words were ever spoken about an athlete. Besides the fact that Dana Caruso is an outstanding runner, she is known for her leadership ability and her teammates respected her the most for that.

Many of Dana's trackmates regarded her as not only a fine athlete but also a super friend and one who would always be there if needed. She also was one who wanted dearly to win and would do almost anything to help her team take a meet.

The 1981 track season was indeed a super one for Dana. In addition to breaking the records, her powerful running left many competitors in the dust and gave her team valuable points. Perhaps her finest showing in one day came in the season finale against Bloomfield. Dana captured both the 1,500 and 3,000 meter runs and in both races left the second-place runner far behind. As a matter of fact, she lapped everyone in the 3,000-meter run.

That type of powerful running did not come easily for her. When Dana was a freshman, she was a sprinter and hurdler, but after that year, she decided to go the distance route. Dana did have a rash of injuries early on in her career, but that never kept her from working hard. This past year was her finest. In addition to remaining healthy all year long, Dana worked very hard in between the cross country and track seasons. There wasn't a day that you wouldn't see her running miles through Belleville Park or on the Belleville track, getting ready for her senior year of track.

That type of hard work and dedication is what Dana Caruso is all about. As we wrap up the 1981 sports season at BHS, it seems only appropriate to finish it with a story on Dana. She epitomizes what the class of 1981 was to Belleville High School. Her super determination, charisma and style will never be forgotten by her teammates, friends or coaches. She was indeed, a phenomenal athlete.

Say, did you read in the Daily News two weeks ago that Richard Todd wants more money or he'll play out his option and go elsewhere? That had to be the best news I had heard all week. If Todd wants to try the free agent waters, he is sure to drown. What team in the NFL wants a sixth-year quarterback who performs like he's coming off his rookie year? Not only can Todd not throw an accurate pass over 20 yards, he also has no leadership qualities whatsoever. Maybe, just maybe, the Jets might want to trade Todd to Denver, perhaps for Matt Robinson.

The Giants, on the other hand, seem to have a promising young team on the rise. They, of course, had a super draft, and many experts feel the team might have the makings of a respectable ballclub. Phil Simms is turning into a good quarterback and has the respect and backing of the Giant players. The Jets of course have super personnel on the offense and seem about ready to make a move to the top.

Here is the answer to last week's quiz. The question was, who won the All-Star game in 1967 and who scored the winning run? Also, who were the MVPs in the National and American Leagues that year and the Cy Young Award winners in both leagues? The answers: The National League won 2-1 and Tony Perez scored the winning run. The MVPs were Orlando Cepeda of St. Louis and Carl Yastremski of Boston. The Cy Young award winners were Mike McCormick of San Francisco and Jim Lonborg of Boston.

Starting in late July, the fans of Belleville and any other section of the reading area are welcome to submit quiz questions to me. Each week, I'll print one along with the name of the person who made the quiz up. The following week, of course, I'll print the answer. If you wish to submit quiz questions, mail them to 777 Bloomfield Ave., Nutley, N.J. 07110, care of Mike Lamberti. You may also call them in at 759-3200. Of course, please give me the answer, just in case I don't know it.

For this week's quiz, let's stick with baseball. In 1975, the Red Sox and Reds engaged in a great World Series. Can you remember how many games the series went, where the final game was played, who won the series and the winning and losing pitchers in the final game. Also, did any Red pitcher or Red Sox pitcher hurl a complete game?

Legion falls then rallies to crush Irvington 16-7

The Post 105 baseball team divided a pair of games this past week to bring its record to 2-1. Saturday, the Legionnaires lost to West Orange 8-6 but Monday they mauled Irvington 16-7.

Belleville was scheduled to be at Vailsburg yesterday. Tomorrow, the Legionnaires host Montclair in a 6 p.m. start, and Monday they travel to North Newark. A home game is scheduled with Bloomfield Wednesday.

The Legionnaires hurt themselves with errors in the weekend loss to West Orange. The opposition got three runs in the first and two in the second before Belleville broke through two innings later. After Frank Fazzini and Bobby Brave had walked, Joe Corbalis smacked a two-run triple. Then an error that allowed Eugene Cancelliere to reach base also brought home Corbalis.

Post 105 went ahead briefly 6-5 in the fifth frame. Joe Guarino and Brave drew bases-on-balls and Corbalis again delivered, this time stroking a two-run double. Cancelliere hit a sacrifice fly to put Belleville in front.

But not for long. West Orange scored two runs in its half of the fifth and another in the sixth. Belleville starter Mike Forte lasted until the fifth. He struck out four, surrendering three hits and four walks. Anthony Coco came on in that fifth frame and ended up taking the loss. He gave up three hits and four walks and struck out two.

Belleville again got off to a bad start at Irvington but this time the final outcome was different. The Irvington club chased starter Mike Murphy in the second inning after tallying four runs in the first. Murphy gave up six hits and a walk, while fanning one man. Joe Lipoma came in to calm things down and he went the rest of the way, giving up two runs in the fourth and one in the sixth. He struck out three and dished up six hits but only one walk in gaining the victory.

Meanwhile, Lipoma's teammates were pasting the ball. In the third inning, they exploded for seven runs to make the score 7-4. Dave Starr doubled, Guarino walked and Corbalis hit a sacrifice fly for one run. After Fazzini reached on an error, Dick Vazzano singled for another run. A two-run triple by Chris Paoello and a double by Rich Vitello followed to put Belleville up by a run. Brave then clubbed a two-run homer to cap the rally.

Belleville pushed across three more runs in the fourth inning. Corbalis hit a single to drive in Guarino who had gotten aboard via an error. Fazzini then doubled to score Corbalis. Following a walk to Eugene Cancelliere, Paoello singled to give Post 105 its tenth tally.

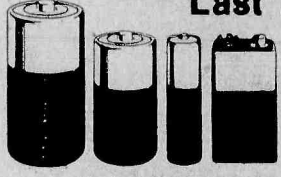

A single by Guarino, walk to Fazzini and double by Vazzano made it 11 in the sixth inning. Cancelliere then drew a walk to load the bases and Brave promptly unloaded them with a three-run single.

In the seventh, Corbalis walked and Robbie Cancelliere came in to run for him. Joe Zangari replaced Fazzini and singled and Bob Grogan was hit by a pitch to fill the sacks. Consecutive walks to Eugene Cancelliere and Mike Forte drove in Belleville's final two scores.

Trio named to all-Essex for softball

By Mike Lamberti

Three deserving athletes, Nancy Coffey, Donna Campana and Debbie Jinks, received all county honors for softball from The Star-Ledger this week.

Coffey was named to the first team for her standout play at third base. The junior hit .563 and pounded out 49 hits. Furthermore, she was a gem defensively and with one more year of varsity eligibility left, there is no telling the success that Coffey can enjoy in softball. She definitely deserved the honor because you can't find a more dedicated athlete or a harder worker. Nancy is also a great team leader and will be a strong asset to next year's squad.

Campana, voted to the second team, was a durable player for head coach Carl Corino. She was at second base most of the time and also saw duty in the outfield. When asked, Campana could play any position and do a reputable job. Donna also possessed good power and helped the club with some key hits during the course of the fine 18-8 season. She was a timely hitter, and defensively, she did a great job, especially at second base while Rosie Leonidis was out with a knee injury.

Jinks, selected to the third team, posted a 7-5 record in her senior campaign. She was Corino's best pitcher this year and no one will forget her super performance against powerful Westfield. Debbie hurled 20 gruelling innings to outduel all-state pitcher Bonnie Bell and lead Belleville to an upset 3-2 win. Later in the year, Jinks pitched a shutout victory over Nutley avenging a defeat at the hands of the Maroon earlier in the season.

Jinks worked long and hard at becoming a good pitcher, and her attitude toward the game really helped the team during the year. "Debbie was an inspiration to all of us with her good pitching and excellent leadership," said one teammate.

While the three Belleville athletes were enjoying their new found popularity, the Ledger missed out on one fine player. Mona Stampe, the girls' super first baseman, was left off the list despite the fact that she hit well over the .400 mark. Mona was also a standout defensive player and one that Corino will be glad to have back next season.

GOOD YEAR

Mr. Dee's wins doubleheader, stays first in softball division

COSMO CHATTER: Julio Caesar Romero, who was second on the team in scoring last year, seems to have fallen out of favor with head coach Hennis Weisweiler. He has been relegated to the bench due to the success of Borja and with more Cosmos regulars due back from injuries, it seems the Paraguayan might be seeing a lot of time on the bench... Rick Davis, Steve Wegerle and Angelo DeBernardo should be back for the Chicago game on Sunday. By the way, that game will be seen live on WOR-TV at 2:30 p.m.... The Cosmos drew 38,600 fans for the Los Angeles game and were hoping for a large turnout against Fort Lauderdale. They had reason to be optimistic. In 1979, the two teams attracted 72,700 fans to Giants Stadium and last year, over 70,000 fans were in attendance. The team's largest turnout this year was the 53,000-plus crowd for the Sao Paulo of Brazil game and the Cosmos would like to draw larger crowds for the NASL games. The largest league attendance for the Cosmos was 44,000 for the Chicago game.

Minuteman Press used two victories to take a commanding lead in Tuesday "B" softball play. Victories over J&R Insulation 7-4 and SPH Limousine Service 13-7 boosted Minuteman's record to 8-1. Hair Design moved into second place with a 6-3 tally by edging SPH Limousine Service 12-10 and the Circle II Bar 11-9. J&R Insulation was 5-4 after beating Belleville Political and Social Club 7-2, while CPSC

International Paint edged Kawasaki 7-6 in Thursday "B" action to knot those two teams in a tie for the league lead with 5-2 marks. Kawasaki also topped Giordano's 8-4, while International Paint dropped a 13-1 decision to Burger King. Red Shingle split but remained in second at 4-3, by defeating Giordano's 6-2, while losing to Garden State Pet 11-1. Burger King's second win was by a 13-4 margin over Garden State Pet.

The Tigers with an awesome hitting attack defeated the Dodgers 27-8 and won their division for the first time in five years. The hitting stars of the game were Richie Rizzolo, Frank Citarella, Ed D'Antuono and Dave Sheldon. Contributing great defensive play were Mike Miele, Mario Iannuzzelli, Sal Gagliardi, Joe Cicchino, Leon Koski, Vinnie Scricco, Dale Walkowski, Peter "P.J." Klinger, John Gibbons and Vinnie DeBenedetto. The coaches are Mike Miele, Vinnie DeBenedetto and Sue Citarella.

Earlier last week, the Bombers upset the Tigers 16-8 to move into a tie for first place. The Bombers, with a strong defensive effort, held the Tigers to four runs through the first six innings. Michael D'Achille, Brian Defense prevailed again as the Cubs held on and defeated the Bombers 11-10. The Cubs took an early lead in the offensive battle and never gave it up. The Bombers staged a good rally in the bottom of the seventh inning for four runs to make it close, but the improved Cub defense held on. The defense again was anchored by Paul Aueriema.

Other Peanut League scores last week were Tigers 29, Aces 28; Giants 35, Cards 16; Astros 20, Braves 3; Yankees 37, Pirates 0; Pirates 16, Cards 14; Bears 9, Dodgers 5; Braves 27, Cards 17; Yankees 12, Astros 10, and Aces 27, Clippers 12.

The White Sox blanked the Dodgers this past week 4-0 behind the outstanding pitching of B. Sypher who had 11 strikeouts. E. Hochstuhl, K. Marion and Sypher aided the hitting, while A. Viegas displayed some fancy footwork by scoring from first base.

The Dodgers (2-2) edged the Pirates 4-3 behind the complete-game pitching victory of Jeff Luberto and a two-run homer by Ernie Brodie.

The Yankees lead the Intermediate League thus far in the second half with a 2-0 tally, while the Senior League Yankees also reign at 3-0.

Joe Perna, aided by clutch hitting and fielding from Joe Tortorello and Toby Russo, picked up the win.

Russo led the offensive attack by going three for three, including two doubles and two RBIs. Tortorello also had two hits in the game and made the final putout, an outstanding catch on David McNeil's solid line drive to right with two Lions on. Graduates view future with hope

A strong belief in self is critical to overcoming life's obstacles

By Donna Jones
Valedictorian

Dear parents, friends, administration, faculty and honored guests:
Today is a momentous occasion which marks both a beginning and an end for the members of the graduating class of 1981. As we complete one very important portion of our lives, we venture into another world filled with the thrill of adventure and of the unexpected. Although we are unsure of the direction our lives will go, we will proceed with faith and determination and knowing that we decide the future.

For the past 13 years, we have played and we have studied; we have learned and we have taught. We have been as one but yet have remained individuals. Above all, we have helped each other to grow and prepare for a time when we would be left alone to make our own decisions, to stand up on our own two feet and to fight for that in which we believe. Well, that time has come.

No one knows what the future has in store for any of us. However, we must realize that we are not alone; each of us is going through his or her own test. Although we have different obstacles to overcome, the final outcome will be the same and we will learn and grow from our choices. Many of us will not continue formal education, but our minds will continue to be engaged. We will never stop learning.

As we walk through life, we will reflect upon our high school years. We will see how much we have matured and changed throughout the years. Once, we were young, innocent children comprehending only love, faith and goodness. Now, we are aware that life is made up of not only goodness, but evil as well. However, we are fully prepared to face these challenges head on. Life isn't all peaches and cream, and therefore, we must make the best out of the life that we have. Sooner or later, goodness does prevail over evil.

As we each go our separate ways, we will be thankful for the blessed years which we have shared. We will remember the friendships which have formed and our loved ones who have supported up and who have given us more love than we could possibly ever dream of. Most of all, we will remember the warmth and understanding which pervades the halls at Belleville High School. The smiling faces, the laughter and the unbreakable bond between both student and teacher will never be forgotten.

Sure, there have been moments when the world appeared to be a dark and lonely place, when we felt as though all abandoned us, leaving us to face adversity alone. However, there was always someone on whom we could depend to listen to our sorrows and to understand our needs. That person would pick up the pieces and soften the blows. He or she would help us to use this precious time to gain inner strength and confidence which we would then use to conquer obstacles and to become a more complete person.

Thus, we must believe in ourselves, that is most important. If this is accomplished, we can conquer anything.

These past 13 years have taught us more about life than any history book. We have grown into young men and women who face the future with open arms and hearts, and we are ready for any challenge. Our decisions may not always be the right ones, but they will be our decisions. We hold the future in the palms of our hands. The choices are ours. We can conquer the world.

BHS Valedictorian — Donna Marie Jones, this year's valedictorian, graduated first in the class of 414 students. She told her classmates of the opportunities available to them in today's world.

SGO President — Michael Calabrese, president of the Student Government Organization, represented the honor group during the graduating exercises.

Student Government President

This evening, we, the class of 1981, are receiving our high school diplomas for successfully completing 12 years of studies. It is through these studies that we are given an education which greatly assists us in expanding our minds and thoughts, and will enable us to either go out into the working world to practice a trade or to further our educations at an institution of higher learning. Yet, there is still another type of education which, in some ways, is more important than the former. This education is one not found in textbooks or exams, but rather among ourselves.

When you spend one — fourth of your day, five days a week, nine months of the year, with people you have known for over a decade, a special bond begins to be created. These people become a major focal point in your life. All of a sudden, they're no longer just "classmates," but rather a "second family," people with whom you can share your problems, talk about current events in news or sports, or just have a laugh or two during lunch. These relationships may then be intensified either through extra — curricular activities within the school, or functions outside the school community where students can gain further insight of each other.

It was through this time together that we saw each other in many perspectives. During one moment, a cloud of depression may have been casted upon us; however, a little while later, we may have been happier than anyone in the entire universe. A feeling of anger and aggression that filled our hearts and souls at one instant would give way to love and compassion the next. Times dominated by problems which seemed unsolvable would suddenly become carefree once we found the answers.

In each of these situations, we went from a negative force of feeling to a force of feeling which was positive through our abilities to cope with our moods. These abilities came from two sources: ourselves and our friends. Most important, during these moments, both sources were able to learn from each other valuable lessons and solutions for the future; and thus we were able to gain knowledge of an all — important education — the education of life.

I would like to thank the parents of the class of 1981 for their children. They have been everything one could hope for in a class: warm, caring and beautiful. I also feel indebted to two other people this evening: my mother, seated in the stands, and my father, whose memory remains a part of this world.

BHS Salutatorian — Lisa Sisbarro finished second academically in the class of 1981. She told the graduates that although they would be going their separate ways, the memories of their friendships would last forever in their hearts.

Salutatorian

Reverend Joseph Barbone, Town Commissioners, Mayor Michael Marotti, members of the Board of Education, Dr. Greed, Mr. DeCesare, faculty, relatives, friends, honored guests and fellow classmates:

What does graduation mean to me, to you, to all of us?

Knowing for these past few weeks, I would be privileged to speak to all of you here tonight, I wanted to talk about something which involved everyone and to which everyone could relate. The simple fact that we are all in this stadium now leads me to that something. What does graduation really mean?

For one thing it is a time for our class to look back on the learning, the playing and the growing we have done in the past four years. Images of many memories pass through our minds as we recall sweating through those tests or cheering at our games. Especially we remember how we thought four years would take forever.

As we sit here today, though, we realize how quickly those years have passed. Graduating also means enjoying what is with us now, living our lives day by day. At this moment, we are all experiencing June the 16th, here at our graduation ceremony. Receiving diplomas, shaking hands and signing with happiness, we are fulfilling our "today" — for high school is once — in — a — lifetime.

Graduation, then, must also open the door to our futures. We search for and sometimes quickly find that lifestyle suited for us — college, a career, or whatever we choose awaits us in the future. Our current plans do not have to be exact, though a glance into our later lives is essential.

Thus far, I have only mentioned our class. Where do all of you come into the picture? Friends, you have been the basis for many of our memories; teachers, you have been our guidance for the future; and parents, your teaching, loving, and understanding in our pasts have led us to today and will continue to strengthen us for the future. All of you here tonight in some way have touched us, the class of 1981. Therefore, in some way you have shared, you are sharing, you will share in our meaning of graduation. For this sharing, which has made yesterday, is making today, and will make tomorrow more special to us, we would like to thank you.

I know the class of '81 will never separate in spirit, but as we look to the future, a physical separation is inevitable. We do, however, have a vivid portrait of our past and a wonderful today, which is a reminder to us of the unity we hold. Our class is one which was, is and will be, then, now and later.

Thank you.

Graduation just one step among many to be taken

By Philip D'Agostino
Class president

Parents, relatives, friends, faculty, administration, honored guests and the class of 1981:

Tonight some 400 of us culminate one phase of our lives and look forward to beginning another. It will not be the first challenge we have shared. In grammar school we worked toward sixth grade and being at the top. Our success seemed short — lived however, as we entered the seventh grade and began again at the bottom. ninth grade brought us to another temporary peak while we thought ourselves to be the ruling class.

Finally, as BHS sophomores, we began working our way through the ranks. My fellow seniors, that job is complete.

We are now faced with our most formidable task yet. This new challenge, however, finds us better prepared. We have 13 years of experience behind us. Our teachers have tried to broaden our academic horizons. Our parents have offered us the benefit of their experience to make the road easier.

The Class of '81 has done a lot of listening in more than a decade. Only the future will tell whether or not we learned.

In situations that parents and teachers could not help us we relied on each other. We made friends, many of whom shared our accomplishments and sympathized with our failures. Hopefully, we will be friends forever.

This ceremony marks the beginning of another cycle, but this time our rise to the top will be lasting.

Class President — Philip D'Agostino gave the welcoming address to friends and relatives at Tuesday's night commencement exercises.

Residents flock to festa Italiana

Belleville Italian-American Association members attended the 11th annual festa Italiana held at the Garden States Art Center in Holmdel this month. The event is of historic importance to Americans of Italian heritage since it allows them to see the ways they have contributed to the growth and development of the nation.

In recent years the event has become known simply as the Arts Center Heritage Festival, and has always produced a sellout the days it is held. This year was no exception, as families from throughout the state enjoyed the all-day affair with free exhibits of art and Italian culture, and bocce tournaments.

The daytime program ended with a Mass offered by Msgr. Vincent Puma and Rev. Nicholas DiMarzo.

The Plaza drew 15,000 who enjoyed the activities plus the displays of pizza, calzone, canoles, sausage, zeppoles and many other delicacies.

The evening program drew over 6,000 persons. The proceeds from the festival will go to the Garden State Cultural Center Fund which provides free programs for senior citizens, disabled veterans, the blind and school children.

The program opened with the presentation of the Colors by the United States Marine Corps Color Guard, and was followed by the singing of the national anthem by Geraldine Luongo and the Italian anthem by Ronald Naldi.

Under Secretary of Labor Albert Agresani presented greetings from President Reagan, and scholarships were given to Nancy Occhipanti of Union Catholic High School and John Pulise of Freehold High. Belleville's Paula Casale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Casale, finished high in the statewide contest.

Performers over the weekend were Dana Valere, Corbett Monica, Claudio DeAngelis and John Gatto accompanied by the Gondoliers.

Twenty-eight Belle Signorines were presented by Italian Clubs throughout New Jersey. Gina Fanelli was the young lady who represented the Belleville Italian-American Association.

Sal Carbaro, president of the local association, attended the festivities along with other association members including Chris Albanese, chairman and coordinator of Italian-American clubs, north-south Jersey; Al Vecchione, food concessionaries chairman; Frank Ceres; Lucy Vecchione; Vinnie Vecchione; Jim Carlo and George Sbarra. Besides Agresani, honored guests included State Sen. Joe Merlino; Clinton Pagano, superintendent of the New Jersey State Police; Angelo Bianchi, state commissioner of banking; State Sen. Thomas Gagliano and Assemblyman Anthony Villane.

Lovely Lady — Sal Calabro, president of the Belleville Italian-American Association, poses with Gina Fanelli, who represented the town as one of 28 Belle Signorines at the annual festa Italiana in Holmdel.

Wet School — Firemen pump out water from the south side of JHS. No one was injured in the fire last week, but some damage was done. Though school officials were of course not happy about the fire, they were pleased with the quick and orderly manner in which students exited JHS after the alarm had sounded.

JHS evacuated quickly, safely teachers, who pulled the fire alarm, notifying the front office of the blaze. Because of the recent number of false alarms that have been called in past weeks, Principal Mario DiMaggio went to see the flames himself before pulling the alarm to connect the Fire Department.

"The number of false alarms which we have had in recent weeks is unbelievable," said Greed. "Last week alone we had seven. Because of this it is required that an administrator check first to see if there really is a fire in the building. It is a dangerous procedure, but it is something which must be done."

The entire school was evacuated in a little more than two minutes, preventing any injuries to students.

"We take great pride in the fact that the students are orderly and move quickly during fire alarms," Greed said. "We are required by law to have a fire drill twice a month, and now everyone can see that they come in handy."

One disappointing note about the fire from the students' viewpoint was that the damage was not enough to force the cancellation of the rest of the school year. The students attended school until their last day yesterday.

Parents, teachers fighting transfers that one of the teachers in question holds a master's degree in education for the learning disabled and had detected a perceptual disorder in her child which was corrected "in the early years of his education." She implored the board to keep such a skilled teacher where she will do the most good, dealing with children in their formative years.

Mrs. Capizzi also objected to recent statements by Greed and Pico that she said excluded parents from the decision-making process in this case.

"Under T & E (Thorough and Efficient) laws, parents have a right to participate in this decision. We of the Home and School believe this move is a violation of T & E," she declared.

Pico voiced his concern for the "whole child" and defended his efforts to "make a good school and staff even better."

"Transfers are not new in Belleville," he noted. "Administrative decisions must be respected if we're to service a total program for your children."

Pico affirmed the excellence of the teachers involved and cited them as logical choices in his efforts "to improve the communication and computational skills in the sixth grades."

Enumerating the beneficial changes he said he had made at School 8 since last September, Pico stated, "I cannot and will not yield on this if it is the best I can give."

After hearing all comments, Greed explained that decisions within a school building are the prerogative of the administrator, but since the teachers' contract provides for a grievance procedure, the board would hear the matter in private session. He did, however, announce support for Pico and credited him with "having the courage of his convictions."

Jerry Kennelly, junior high school teacher and negotiator for the teachers' association, criticized Greed for prejudicing the privacy of a grievance hearing by announcing "unqualified support" for Pico's decision. "This kind of nonsense has occurred all year," he charged.

Kennelly also argued that the teachers' contract contains a clause stating that involuntary transfers must be "a last resort," expressing doubt that the administration had exhausted every avenue in this case.

"Don't hurt a teacher's sense of security," added Paul Del Polito, president of the Belleville Education Association. "You will deflate morale to an all-time low," he affirmed to bursts of applause.

The board will hear the matter in private executive session within the next two weeks.

Town's $1 offer for School 2 doesn't thrill the Board of Ed

Although the Board of Education has not made any final decision on Mayor Michael Marotti's request to purchase School 2 for $1, it appears trustees will turn down the proposal when it comes up for discussion in July.

Board President Charles Miele, meeting with members in a closed-door session, read a letter from the mayor offering $1 for the purchase of the school which, along with School 1, has been closed since September. Although Miele did not have board members vote on the bid, the general reaction from trustees was that the $1 bid was "unreasonable."

"There is an outstanding loan balance of $72,000 on School 2," said Trustee Tom Zampino, "and all the board members are taking that into consideration before making a decision. Perhaps if the commissioners were to offer the board the $72,000 to pay the loan off, then I am sure something could be worked out."

Mayor Marotti wants to purchase the school and convert it into a civic center which would include a community meeting room and a television studio.

"I have been acting on my own as the commissioner of parks and recreation in trying to pull this deal off," the mayor said. "There is no room for any town groups or organizations to have meetings and social events. The school would offer a perfect place for this type of a center."

Marotti said he had not received any response from the School Board as of yet, but he did add that he would consider paying off the debt in return for the school.

"I will look into every possible alternative to purchasing the school," Marotti said. "The reason I ask for the building for only $1 is because the building in reality already belongs to the town and its taxpayers, so what difference would it make if the money stays in the municipal funds or the school budget? Either way, it is the same money, it would only be transferring hands."

One problem which the mayor would face if he is forced to pay the extra $71,999 is that the town does not have the money to buy the building.

"I am looking into the possibility of getting a grant of some kind to cover the cost of buying School 2," the mayor said. "If we can get a grant then I will discuss the matter with the commissioners and find out if they are interested in purchasing the school."

The mayor has not gotten the opinion of his colleagues because he wants to wait to see what the final proposal will be.

"After I find out exactly what the Board of Education wants for the school, then I will go before the commissioners and discuss this matter," Marotti said. "Right now it is a little too early to bring it before the board for discussion."

The mayor met last month with members of the School Board to discuss the possible purchase of School 2, and told Miele then that he would make a decision soon on the amount his department was willing to pay. Most trustees expected the bid to be low, but some were shocked at the suggested price.

"We will not give the mayor School 2 for the price of $1," said Miele. "Maybe if he would be willing to pay off the $70,000 debt then we would consider it a possibility, but $1 is out of the question."

Before the private session, Board Vice President Anthony D'Agostino read a message to board members requesting "immediate" action on the sale of Schools 1 and 2 for reasons of revenue and safety.

Both schools were closed in September as part of the town's desegregation plan.

Attorney Schwartz gets board backing

Instead Schwartz will charge the board $60 an hour for negotiations and other outside work.

Several residents have voiced their displeasure with Schwartz's past contract and suggested that the position be pulled out for open bid. But School Board officials rejected the idea, giving their full support to Schwartz, who himself is a former board member.

"The board never considered putting the position up for bid," said Trustee Thomas Spillane. "All the board members have always spoken very highly of Larry and they are very pleased with the job he has done."

Schwartz has often been at the center of controversy since he was first appointed to the board in 1979, taking the place of Frank Pomaco, who served the board for five years.

Schwartz was a School Board member for nine years before resigning in January of 1979 to devote more time to his family and private law practice. In July of that same year he was appointed board attorney over the strong objections of some.

Earlier this year, town critic Frank Montagna appeared before the School Board saying the $11,730 in vouchers which Schwartz submitted for extra work were incomplete, and pleaded with the board to put the position up for bid. On Monday night several citizens appeared before the board requesting that Schwartz not be rehired for another term, saying that he had taken advantage of taxpayers' money.

Zampino said he originally asked that the retainer fee in Schwartz's contract be dropped totally, but a compromise was reached after some deliberation, calling for the retainer to be cut $11,900.

"The $7,500 retainer fee which Larry will receive in the long run will save the taxpayers of Belleville money," said Zampino. "Last year his retainer covered about 300 hours of work, averaged out at $60 per hour. What we have done is cut his hours down to a little over 100, at $60 an hour. Even though all the contracts will be up at the end of the year, the School Board will still have about 200 saved from the beginning. And with the way negotiations went with the custodians, I am sure the talks will be smooth and fast."

Zampino also said that the board has been very "satisfied" with Schwartz' work as its attorney.

"All the members of the board feel that Larry Schwartz is a good attorney and has performed his job very well," Zampino said. "We never gave a single thought about putting the position up for bid at anytime, and I am sure all the members of the School Board are happy with their decision."

Stabbing victim being released

A 17-year-old youth who was stabbed following an argument at a pre-graduation party last week is scheduled to be released from Clara Maass Memorial Hospital today or tomorrow. Meanwhile the 19-year-old Belleville man accused of the stabbing has filed assault and battery charges against the victim and one of the victim's friends.

Paul Sheuplein was listed in good condition by officials at Clara Maass early this week. Sheuplein was rushed to the hospital and treated for stab wounds to the abdomen after a fight which broke out at the party on Hewitt Avenue.

Police arrested the suspect the following day and charged him with aggravated assault in the attack. The following day, the young man in turn filed counter charges against the victim and one of his friends for jumping and kicking him. The suspect was treated at Clara Maass for a concussion and bruises around the eyes and face.

The accused youth's father told The Times that his son was provoked into the attack when he was jumped after an incident with a young lady at the party.

"People never hear the entire story," his father said. "My son is not a criminal and has never hurt anyone before this, but he was provoked by the other youths. They kicked him when he was on the ground and continued to hit him again and again. He stabbed the kid in self-defense."

"I am sorry that he did it and my son is sorry also," he continued. "But you should have seen the condition my son was in after the fight. He had gotten beaten pretty badly and his eyes are still somewhat closed now. The doctors at the hospital said he was worked over very good."

Witnesses testified that the two engaged in a shouting match at the party and "stepped outside" to settle their differences. They proceeded to the golf course and were followed by several other youths, who eventually all jumped into the brawl.

No court date had yet been set for a hearing on the charges.

DeCesare heading for post in August principal would be put up for applications and that the board would start interviewing candidates as soon as possible.

"We have a very big shoe to fill," said Miele, "and one of the first places we are going to look is in our own backyard. We have many good administrators right here in the Belleville school system, and they would be our first choice. But we will have to wait to see how things go. It is too early to mention possible names."

While Miele would not mention any names, one source said that the top contenders for the job were probably high school Vice Principals Michael Lally and John Westlake. Both have been with the town's school system for sometime and are capable of taking over the top post, according to the source.

DeCesare served as the principal of Muhlenberg High School in Pennsylvania before being appointed to Belleville High School Nov. 28, 1977. He took over the position in January 1978.

DeCesare earned a bachelor of

arts degree from Moravian College and two master's degrees from Lehigh University, in educational administration and history.

He will assume his post in Nutley as of Aug. 1, and until then will supervise the transition period between himself and the new principal.

How the Silver Turned to Gold.

Norm stood staring out the window. His mind was already at the supper club. He could almost hear the crowd cheering as he fingered the battered old trumpet in his hands. Tonight he'd have to play better than ever, despite the valves sticking every now and then. Tonight he'd be playing with "Horton's Herd," the best jazz group in town. His uncle "Sweets" had arranged the audition with Gary Horton. Now this would be for the critics.

More than anything, Norm wanted to be a jazz musician like his uncle "Sweets." But his mother and father had been saving for years, buying U.S. Savings Bonds to put him through college so he could be a "somebody." Well, he thought, if he became the musician his teachers said he could be, he would be somebody. Somebody they'd all be proud of.

Norm walked over to the bed, put the horn in its case and snapped the lid shut just as his mother called up the stairs, "C'mon, honey, it's almost time to go."

As he walked down the stairs, the whole family stopped talking and looked at him with anticipation. His father took him by the arm and led him to the center of the room.

"Tonight you've got an opportunity to play with the best. And so you're gonna play the best." With that he nodded toward Mama, who was holding a black leather case. "Your father has changed some of those Savings Bonds he's been buying...into silver." With that she opened the case.

A silver trumpet. Gleaming like a jewel in its velvet setting, Norm picked it up and held it in his hands just feeling the luxury of it.

He hardly trusted his voice to say what he felt. Nodding, smiling, biting his lower lip, he tried to express his thanks. This was the greatest night of his young life.

People said the "Herd" never sounded better than they did that night. When it was over, Gary Horton had Norm take a bow. The applause was deafening.

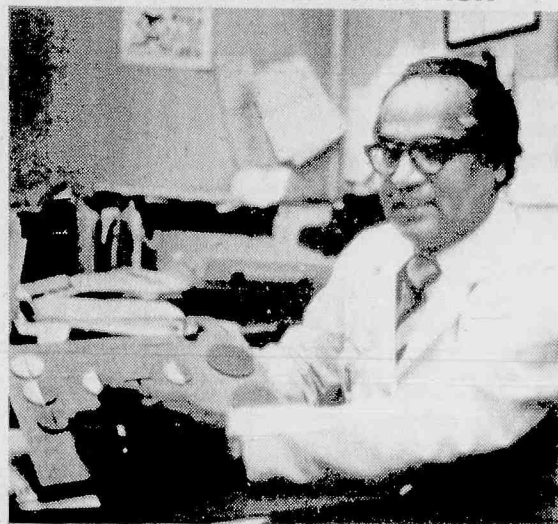

Savings Bonds had helped turn his silver trumpet into a golden future.
