NEWSPAPER REPORTS BHS FAILS TESTS

School officials upset over erroneous report

By Linda Telesco

Assistant Schools Superintendent Seymour Grossman took pains this week to dispel notions, resulting from a newspaper article, that "serious deficiencies" in Belleville schools prevented the district from obtaining "full approval" in the 1981 State Department of Education school classification report released last week.

"The article is both inaccurate and misleading," said Grossman. "It is very damaging to the reputation of our schools and it is untrue."

The article, which appeared in the Herald-News last Thursday, was relayed through the Drukker News Service by a Trenton correspondent. The report read that Belleville's Senior High School, Garden School, and elementary schools 5, 9, and 10 were "among a minority of districts statewide failing to get full approval of the State Department of Education."

The news item further stated, "Belleville Senior High School was classified as seriously deficient in minimum basic skills." Defending the accuracy of her statement in a telephone call to Grossman on Friday, reporter Virginia D. Sederis said her statement was based on facts supplied by the Department of Education.

The Times determined later that afternoon that Sederis had been misinformed by the Education Department with regard to the high school.

Acting in the Friday absence of School Superintendent John Greed, Grossman displayed copies of the state report indicating that Belleville schools have progressed toward, but only narrowly fallen short of meeting "fully approved" classification status.

The report does not label the senior high school as "seriously deficient" in basic skills, but rather as close to possible full approval. Additionally, the above elementary schools failed to merit full support not because of weakness in the educational program, but as a result of disrepair in the physical facilities.

In the second such report since the classification system was instituted last year, the state's 587 school districts were evaluated in four major categories: acceptability of educational planning, basic skills achievement, compliance with state law and regulations regarding facilities, and meeting locally established educational objectives.

Each district received a separate rating in each of the above areas. The rating categories are: approved, interim approved (shows potential for full approval), interim approval pending (indicates serious deficiencies), and approved.

Any district receiving a grade of "approved" in all four areas is considered "fully approved" and free from undergoing state evaluation for the next three years. A grade of "interim approval" in any area(s) will subject the district to reinspection the following year. An "interim approval pending" label indicates severe deficiency that must be corrected immediately.

Of the 2,168 schools operating in the state, 2,094, including Belleville schools, were graded "approved" for educational planning. Similarly, the local system was among the 2,121 schools meriting the highest class-

Rent Levelers move to revise ordinance

By Jeff Weinberger

Faced with a continuing backlog of cases, the Rent Leveling Board unanimously agreed Thursday to request a meeting with the Board of Commissioners to discuss revision of the township's seven-year-old rent control ordinance.

Board member Danny DelTufo, who suggested the meeting, said he wanted the board to sit down with the commissioners to draft a "new ordinance" which could differ significantly from the present one.

The commissioners directed the Rent Board to review the ordinance several months ago but, board member Viola Spray said, the board has not been able to get together long enough to discuss the matter.

In recent months, a number of board members and the commissioners have argued that a change in the ordinance is needed. Among the reasons they cite in favor of a change are an increasing antagonism between landlords and tenants, and a series of burdensome regulations which are borne by both landlords and the Rent Board, itself.

At a time when cries of deregulation are being heard in all sectors of government, board members advocated changes which would cut down on time and paperwork. A recently enacted law requiring landlords to receive certification from the State Bureau of Housing before they can apply for hardship grants was called unnecessary by some board members.

DelTufo said the requirement "should not be needed," and called it "a lot of red tape." He refused further comment after the meeting, however.

Earlier, DelTufo criticized the board for its decision last week to grant a conditional hardship to the

Apartment owner told to reduce pool charge

By Jeff Weinberger

Tenants of Bridgebrook Gardens will swim for less next year, thanks to a Rent Leveling Board ruling that the owner of the Joralemon Street complex had overcharged on pool fees.

Due to a three-year-old amendment to the township's rent control ordinance, the board determined that pool fees are subject to the six percent ceiling on annual rent increases along with the base rents of apartments and various other charges.

Dotty Gutheimer, spokeswoman for the Bridgebrook Gardens Tenants Association, said William Govel Associates, the owner of the complex, had raised the fee to $135 for the first two members of a household, plus an additional $25 for each person over the age of five. In 1980, she said, the fee was $125 for an entire household.

Charging the apartment firm with a "blatant attempt to circumvent" or "to openly violate" the rent control ordinance, Gutheimer said Govel also had increased the fee for single adults the fee was $125 for an adult plus a guest in 1980, while this past

Township fire fighters honored in Franklin Avenue hall of fame

Local nostalgia buffs with a passion for Belleville's past can indulge themselves in a most unlikely spot, the Franklin Avenue fire station where a firefighters' hall of fame is in its embryonic stages.

In fact, numerous improbabilities surround this new museum. Its unofficial curator is not a veteran of the good old days, but a 32-year-old firefighter who modestly declines to take credit for this project.

Fireman Walter Beresford conceived of this tribute to the history of the township's fire department while performing the sad task of paying last respects to recently deceased colleagues.

"In a two-year period, several of our men passed away," Beresford said in an interview at the station last week. "When I visited funeral parlors and residences of bereaved families, I noticed many things that should be available for everyone to see."

In an effort to centralize the memorabilia, Beresford called upon the president of the Belleville Historical Society, Ed O'Neill, for information and direction. With O'Neill's expertise and "the great

Roger Greco surrenders medical director position

In a surprise move last week, Dr. Roger Greco of the Essex County Geriatrics Center gave up his fight with county officials, surrendering his position as medical director, and accepting a post as the center's chief medical consultant.

In accepting the new title, Dr. Greco gave up numerous administrative and managerial duties attached to his former post which he had held since 1978.

He will hold the chief medical consultant position until December 13, 1982. Thereafter, he will hold the honorary title Medical Consultant Emeritus. The agreement stipulates that as consultant, Greco will remain in his residence at the center and will maintain his present $42,476 annual salary.

Following weeks of negotiation with Greco's attorney, Steven Kern of Elizabeth, Essex County Executive Peter Shapiro and County Administrator Daniel Boggin, Jr., joined Greco in signing the pact that stipulates the doctor will "provide daily ongoing medical advice and consultation," and dispense treatment when necessary.

Shapiro praised Greco's 40 years of service, in various capacities, at the Center.

"Dr. Greco's intimate knowledge of the institution and its patients, many of whom have been there for many years, will be invaluable to us as we make some internal reorganizations which should improve the management of the institution," Shapiro said.

In accepting the post which became effective last Thursday, Greco said, "I'm pleased to accept this appointment, which will allow me to continue my service to the patients of the Geriatrics Center. Now I will be able to devote myself full-time to providing medical care, which is what I do best."

The county plans to hire a clinical director within the next few months who will assume the bulk of administrative duties and be responsible for overseeing the doctors who treat patients.

In a telephone interview last Friday, Greco said the medical duties of his new job will remain essentially unchanged, but he will be relieved of the administrative work that consumed time he could have spent with patients. "Before I became director, a business office handled that kind of work. Lately, I was expected to do it. I had little time for patients," the doctor explained.

The doctor declined comment when asked why he agreed to accept the position he had adamantly refused not long ago, determined to remain director of the 272-bed facility until his contract expired in December 1982.

His attorney explained that until recently, Greco did not understand fully the significance of his new position. Now that he realizes he'll perform many of the same duties as before, he is agreeable.

"He understands this is a county move to improve the Center," Kern said.

Previously, the doctor believed county officials were pressuring him to retire at age 70, which he attained on August 14. The county has repeatedly denied that charge.

Ironically, the new appointment comes as Greco faces the State Board of Medical Examiners' on malpractice charges filed against him last July 9 by State Deputy Attorney General Peter Green.

The charges were based on an affidavit filed with the state by an Essex County regional consultant for Medicaid.

Greco first appeared before the Board on August 12. After hearing nearly five hours of testimony, the Budget cuts worry officials

By Jeff Weinberger

With the Reagan Administration's social services cutbacks due to take effect within a month, local welfare officials are expressing concern regarding how the cuts will affect Belleville's recipients — especially the elderly.

"I'm afraid a lot of them will be cut down on social security," said Ceil O'Toole, head of the township's welfare department last week. At the time, she did not know how many social security recipients would suffer from the cuts, or which recipients would be referred to welfare as a substitute income supplement.

Nor would O'Toole predict how many of those benefitting from food

New Belleville Jaycees chapter still looking for more recruits

The Belleville Jaycees will hold a membership rally on September 23, at 8 p.m. in the recreation center at the corner of Garden Avenue and Joramemon Street.

The Jaycees is an organization for young men, ages 18 through 35, with the purpose of developing leadership skills in its members through community service projects.

According to President Sandy Greenfield the Belleville Chapter is still looking for recruits, and believes the Belleville Chapter can be a strong one.

"We are looking for a few good men, and we have them in this town and I know that," he said. "Because I have lived in this Township of Belleville for the past two years meeting and speaking to the people of Belleville.

"My family and I have a stake in this town. Most our lives revolve around Belleville," he continued. My kids attend School 4 and I work in this town at Atlantic Uniform Company on Washington Avenue. My wife shops at the Pathmark on Belmont Avenue, and even my car gets serviced in town at the Belleville Atlantic service center on Franklin Street and Belmont Avenue.

"Anybody who is interested in any kind of change in this town, those are the kinds of members we need," he continued.

Other members of Belleville Jaycees, include Fred Vaccaro, David Perry, Paul Effenberger, Anthony Nesta and Richard McMickle. All are interested in making Belleville a safer town for young and old alike. And we are also looking forward to giving something for the kids to do, to keep them off the streets.

"There are just not enough things set up in this town for the kids right now," said Greenfield, "but we hope to solve that in the near future."

The Jaycees are also looking for corporate sponsors, stores or businesses in town who for a membership fee of $50 can send out a representative to meetings and give advice and guidance to the members.

"They will get a chance to get involved in the town," said Greenfield, "and most of all their money will go into projects for this town. We also need corporate members. Dues for this is the membership fee of $30 paid for by their company, store or business, and with our leadership training we give to a member the employer gets back a more rounded employee, so everyone benefits more.

More information can be found by writing to the Belleville Jaycees, P.O. Box 101, Belleville, N.J. 07109.

There will also be an information meeting held on September 16 at 8:30 p.m. at the home of Fred Vaccaro, internal vice president, at 14 Division Ave.

"Remember you can't spell community without the word unity," said Greenfield. "It's a word inside a word and that's what the Jaycees are trying to sell and that's unity."

season adults paid $85 for one pool badge and $100 for a second.

Before the board ruled that tenants should receive rebates within 30 days on fees paid beyond the six percent limit, and that such charges should return to a per-household format, an attorney for the apartment firm challenged the tenants' plea.

"The entire history of rent control is geared toward preventing exorbitant rent charging," said Frank Pomaco, the attorney. Citing a November 1977 case in which the board determined pet fees were not subject to rent control, Pomaco argued that "rent" does not entail pool fees, but only the base rent of an apartment.

Board member Danny DelTufo, however, noted the board amended the rent ordinance, about a year after that decision, to include fees for pets, pools and other benefits under "rent."

Pomaco charged the board with exceeding its jurisdiction in the case. He added that, if the apartment firm appeals the decision, he would attack the constitutionality of the amendment as being "far too wide in scope."

Meanwhile, the attorney attempted to use the broadness of the amendment in his client's favor, during a rent appeal case later in the evening.

Although the board has not yet ruled on the matter involving a claim by a Bridgebrook Gardens' tenant that she was overcharged on her rent, Pomaco questioned whether the adjusted rent for the apartment should include only base rent or the base rent plus additional charges referred to in the amendment.

Prayer for today

O Blessed Lord, I beseech Thee to pour down upon me such grace as may not only cleanse this life of mine, but beautify it a little, if it be Thy will, before I go hence and am no more seen. Grant that I may love Thee with all my heart and soul and mind and strength, and my neighbor as myself — and that I may persevere unto the end.

Belleville Jaycees have the backing

Welcome aboard young men of Belleville. Thanks to the efforts of Nutley Jaycees President John Tiene, Belleville now has a Junior Chamber of Commerce. Tiene went the last mile in making the effort to encourage local young men to organize themselves as a junior chamber.

Belleville is in dire need of all the help it can get from any quarter. The organization of the Jaycees will prove a shot in the arm for Belleville. All Jaycees are constantly involved in projects for the betterment of communities which they serve.

We invite the new Junior Chamber of Commerce to use the columns of this newspaper to further its objectives.

Today's interest rates causing problems

From the president of the United States on down, everybody, directly or indirectly, is feeling, thinking or talking about the high cost of money. As this is being written, the prime interest rate charged by banks to their favorite customers is 20 percent. The average businessman or woman is obliged to pay from 22 percent and upward to borrow money or finance a purchase.

Financing of homes currently is around the 16 percent/17 percent mark. For the most part, this level of interest cost freezes out the single person. The income required to sustain the amortization of a mortgage which bears a high interest rate disqualifies 80 percent of the people who are looking to buy a home.

At the beginning of the year, Ronald Reagan promised that interest rates would come down in six months. Well, we are now into the ninth month and they are still way up in the sky. Sunday, the Federal Reserve Board chairman made a pledge to continue to keep interest rates high.

We believe this policy is disastrous. If continued, it will hurt the Republican Party and Republican candidates. If this is what the party wants, it is guaranteeing a November failure.

Thought for today

My gracious God I pray;
I meditate Thy name by night

Newark Avenue area develops an eyesore

To the Editor:

As concerned neighbors of a property located on Newark Avenue between Brighton Avenue and Cuzzo Street adjacent to 120 Newark Ave., and next to an apartment complex, we feel that you should have a picture of this Eye Sore in the paper and have the town try to get it cleaned up. It is a degrading property for the area in addition to being a hide out for who knows what. There had been a fire and it was boarded up but apparently the windows have been opened creating a hideaway for rodents. The front weeds have also overgrown the new sidewalk that the Town of Belleville has just installed which prevents anyone to walk on it.

We would very much appreciate something being done by the town with the owners of said property to improve the area of this part of town.

We would appreciate anything you can do to create a more decent environment. Thank you.

A gun control appeal to prevent violence

To the Editor:

The Attorney General's Task Force on Violent Crime has recommended four common-sense steps to strengthen the nation's gun law and make it more difficult for the criminal and the crazed to acquire handguns. The Task Force has urged the President to stop the importation of "Saturday Night Special" parts; require that handgun buyers be checked out to make sure they don't have a criminal record before they pick up their handgun; put behind bars anyone who uses a gun in the commission of a crime; and have handgun owners report the theft or loss of their weapons.

This gives President Reagan, himself nearly killed with a "Saturday Night Special," an opportunity to lead this Congress in an effort to stop handgun violence in America. If passed, these handgun control measures would save lives and help make America safe once again.

Write the President today and urge him to adopt the Task Force's recommendations. You can use this address: President Ronald Reagan, The White House, Washington, D.C. 20500. Do it today. Every letter counts!

Golden Comments

By James R. Golden

The much expected activity in the political arena burgeoned forth with gusto as the campaigns for Governor and State legislative offices got underway, even before the students were acclimated to their new school setting.

Radio and TV debated between the gubernatorial candidates Jim Florio and Tom Kean filled the air on Jersey Television as their staunch supporters urged them onto ethereal heights of rhetorical grandiloquence.

Preparations for opening up headquarters of the various candidates began to spring up throughout the entire state with intensified action, throughout the next two months, until the outcome is determined on November 3rd, the tempo of the campaign will reach a crescendo.

Locally, Belleville has been removed from its previously motley legislative district which included Newark and Harrison, across the river, moving out of the old district into the suburban atmosphere of the revised 30th state election district which includes our northern neighbor Nutley.

This change will provide interesting rivalries in the upcoming fall election, pitting popular political personalities of both Belleville and Nutley against one another as Nutley banker John Kelly, running the G.O.P. ticket, vies with Belleville's Commissioner Mary Senatore, the Democratic candidate, for the assembly position from this newly redistricted area.

Local town critic Joseh Fornarotto is also seeking this coveted office, running as an independent candidate whose name will appear on the November ballot. The number of votes he might garner possibly could affect the outcome of a close election.

The prime office for this new district that Belleville has been placed in is that of State Senator from Essex County, a first class county because of its size and influence in the functioning of state government. Carmen A. Orechio, the present incumbent and mayor of Nutley, has won much respect and acclaim from his colleagues in the Senate, who have in turn demonstrated their regard for his talents by choosing him Senate Majority Leader. Naturally, he is seeking re-election to the Senate office where he undoubtedly would be designated Senate President. The holder of this prestigious position serves as acting governor when the governor leaves the state. Senator Orechio is a Democratic candidate running with Jim Florio.

Despite the apparent clout of strong vote-getter candidates on the opposition party ticket, the Republicans have come up with formidable aspirants to do battle with their five counterparts. In a kaleidoscopic climate of changing political moods and objectives of a new Republican occupant in White House who has been influencing once said, hidebound Congressmen to do tricks and somersaults, the elephant party is entering the political wars with a new found confidence and animation.

No longer to be regarded as pushovers the candidates of the donkey party will know that they have a battle on their hands. Take Councilman John I. Crecco of Bloomfield, the G.O.P. candidate seeking to unseat Senator Orechio, he is well liked and popular; a four term councilman in prosperous Bloomfield he is conversant with the problems of municipal administration and has satisfied his constituents who consistently return him to office at town hall.

Nutley's John Kelly, president of the Nutley Savings & Loan Association, cognizant of the role finance plays in the operations of government on all levels in these troubled inflationary times would be aptly competent to discharge the exacting role of a legislative solon at Trenton which gives rise to hope that the Grand Old Party may be able to wrest from the democrats their domination and control of both houses of the state legislature.

At this juncture of the ensuing contests in the various categories we anticipate a more closely contested race than has been characteristic of the past few elections. The propinquity of Belleville in relationship with both Nutley and Bloomfield will add much spice and even direct personal participation of many Belleville voters to go forth in promoting the futherance of the candidates whom they are familiar with, many on a personal basis, as they strive to gain or retain public office in their quest to serve as representatives of the people.

Senior notes

By George Chenoweth

I was perturbed by recent newspaper stories projecting as much as a 50 percent increase in automobile insurance premium rates for some senior citizens, and inquiries into the proposed changes brought the following facts to light. (Our source of information is James J. Sheeran, commissioner of the New Jersey Department of Insurance.)

The stories on the papers were based on rate projections prepared by the Insurance Services Office (ISO) which is a private insurance industry rating bureau. The ISO in making its projection, ignored some of the basic rating assumptions that underlie the proposed changes.

We were assured by the Department of Insurance that they will continue to use rating distinctions that reflect the driving habits and better driving record overall of senior citizens. The number of years of driving experience of all age groups will be used as a rating factor and this seems to be a more equitable method of determining car insurance rates. New drivers because of their inexperience and whether they are teenagers or adults, will be expected to be charged more than other policyholders.

Then the question is not whether the new drivers should pay more, but rather how much more? The present differences do not reflect the true picture and some good drivers of all ages are being penalized because they are in a certain age group. The auto insurance rating should be based on driving performance. By rating drivers by years of driving experience, there is hope to assess more fairly the risk of accidents. If new drivers or inexperienced drivers have traffic law violations or chargeable accidents on their records, their premium rates will be higher.

In the past, insurance companies have not rated different policyholders on the basis of their driving records. The result has been that many drivers with clean records have been overcharged for their insurance while drivers with at-fault accidents and traffic violations often have not paid a penny more for their insurance, this despite their poor driving record.

We have this word from Commissioner Sheeran: The most important things to remember are that (1) some senior citizens will see rate reductions under his proposals, while others will see small increases; (2) the full effect of the reforms on your rates will not be known for at least one year, after all three stages of the needed reforms are implemented; and (3) every senior citizen who deserved a break on his or her premiums because of safer driving, less driving, or other reasons related to driving performance, will indeed receive such a break under the reforms that he has ordered.

James Cozzarelli named to mental health board

James Cozzarelli, practitioner of mortuary science in his own firm, has been appointed by Mayor Michael Marotti to the Board of Trustees of the Community Mental Health Services of Belleville, Bloomfield and Nutley.

A resident of Belleville for many years, Cozzarelli participated actively in the political arena. His other interests include music where he is both a composer and a pianist and writing in which he is an author in the fields of funeral services and procedures, diseases and joy as the opposite side of grief. Architectural science is another of his avocations.

Elizabeth Cozzarelli, his wife, is a registered nurse at St. Mary's Hospital, Orange. Their daughter, Cara Ann, is 25 months old.

In addition to James Cozzarelli, others serving on the Services Agency Board as Belleville representatives include Joseph Cappello, Patricia Diana, Gerry Di Nicole, Lenore Keeney, Rev. John Shaw and Tom Spillane.

Crecco wants funds for senior citizens

Republican candidate for the New Jersey State Senate John Crecco recently announced that he supports the use of the state Casino taxes for the purposes originally intended and expresses "concern and dismay that the past allocations of the bulk of the revenue by the Byrne administration constitutes a breach of faith with the general public."

"When the casino question was on the ballot in 1976," Crecco said, "the voters were led to believe the taxes generated would be used to offset the rising cost of utilities and property tax burden of the disabled and our senior citizens."

He also stated, "The shifting of the casino tax monies over the past four years to finance well over $100 million in homestead rebates that benefit people other than seniors and the handicapped under the assertion that the general revenues were needed to fund pharmaceutical assistance for the aged, a prescription drug program, was budgeting by proxy and subtle intimidation of the seniors who favored development of new tax and utility credit program."

"Less than a third of the $150 million in casino taxes paid in June have been used as originally intended by the voters," he continued.

Crecco, a four-term Bloomfield Township councilman, also pointed out that the state Lifeline Program which this year provides $150 credits on energy bills for seniors and the disabled was both underbudgeted and mismanaged by the state in 1979 and last year.

"The Lifeline Program has had a budget of roughly $20 million compared to $80 million in homestead rebates this year," he said. "It seems that compared to $80 million in homestead rebates this year, it seems that even when the Democratic administration tried to live by the promises made to voters, they failed to make a significant impact and reach out to eligible people."

Crecco, a long time civic leader in Essex County, is running on the ticket with assembly candidates Jo Mongiello and John Kelly and Arthur Clay for Essex County Freeholder from the 5th District.

The newly formed 30th district includes Belleville, Bloomfield, Nutley, Glen Ridge, Montclair and Cedar Grove.

Crime victim advocate to speak with elderly

The New Jersey Council on Crime Victims Chairman Robert Grayson will address the Volunteers of the Friendly Visitors Program for Senior Citizens on Thursday Sept. 24 at 7:30 p.m. in the Fewsmith Church on Union Avenue.

Grayson's topic, "Victimvision," will explore the plight of crime victims throughout New Jersey and the country, and what can be done to help.

The council chairman will also discuss some of the victim-related legislation now pending in New Jersey State Legislature.

"For every $51 spent on the criminal, $1 is spent on the crime victim, and unfortunately, that same inequality exists for the victim throughout the criminal justice system," Grayson said.

Grayson was one of the co-founders of the New Jersey Council on Crime Victims. He also serves as Crime Victims Advocate for the City of Paterson.

Grayson was himself the victim of a violent mugging by four men six years ago which left him blind in his right eye. Since then he has received nationwide attention for his work on behalf of crime victims. A former newspaper reporter, Grayson has written numerous articles on the topic of crime victims' rights, and has written "The Victim's Companion," an informative booklet to help crime victims through their ordeal.

He has also developed "The Property Recorder," a record-keeping portfolio for anyone with valuable personal property.

The council chairman has also spearheaded a nationwide campaign to call attention to the plight of the elderly crime victim.

The volunteer Friendly Visitors Program of the Community Mental Health Services of Belleville, Bloomfield and Nutley, works with senior citizens 60 years of age and older, who because of chronic illness, physical handicap, or life circumstances, are alone or feel alone and are in need of companionship.

Sister Marie Gagliano assumes principal post at Holy Family

Sister Marie Gagliano, who recently was appointed principal of Holy Family School in Nutley, is no novice when it comes to education and school administration.

A principal of junior high schools in the diocese of Scranton, Pennsylvania and Newark for eight years, Gagliano also taught mathematics at those schools, as well as at schools in Camden and Paterson. She has been mathematics coordinator for the 7th and 8th grades at Holy Family for the past three years.

Sister Marie Gagliano

"I come with a lot of enthusiasm," Gagliano said Tuesday of her appointment.

During her initial year as principal, she said, the school's educators would be focusing their teaching on the theme of discipleship. She said this would include more scripture reading and more prayer in the classroom, as well as parent involvement in liturgy.

Gagliano also said students would be instructed to evaluate television programs with an eye toward their moral content.

Another important focus of the Sister, which she put into practice as moderator of the student council, is her belief that students should be allowed to develop leadership abilities.

She described the religious environment and goals of Holy Family as "indications that it is a true faith community."

Her appointment was announced by Reverend Mother Clare Testa, the Provincial of the Religious Teachers Filippini, whose motherhouse is Villa Walsh in Morristown. The Provincial, herself, is a Nutley native, and was employed in the local school system prior to her entrance into the convent.

Gagliano was born and raised in Perth Amboy and took her final vows as a religious at Villa Walsh in 1961. She received her Bachelor of Arts degree in education from Marywood College in Scranton, Pennsylvania and a Master of Arts degree in school administration and supervision from Rider College in Trenton.

As to her experience in fields allied to teaching and administration, she has been vice-president of the Principal's Council, secretary of the Hudson County Principal's Association and chairperson for several school evaluations.

She now serves as treasurer of the Sisters Assembly of the Archdiocese of Newark, and representative to the same Assembly for Nutley, Belleville, Bloomfield and Montclair. She said she would continue in the latter two roles.

In becoming principal, she succeeds Sister Ascenza Tizzano, who has been assigned as superior and principal at St. Nicholas of Tolentine School in Philadelphia.

Candidate Kelly looking to improve NJ bus lines

"There are specific improvements in public transportation that are entirely possible and one is that any bus which leaves its garage has timetables available, just as it has to have gas for its engine," John V. Kelly, Assembly nominee, 30th district, (R), stated. "This will be known as the Kelly Plan."

"I know that with the June 27th Transport of New Jersey fare increases and cuts in service, a new group of Assemblypersons like myself could influence the TNJ managers to start acting in a more consumer-minded fashion," Kelly said. "They tell us there will be fewer buses, more crowded buses and more standees, more stops and more time spent waiting for buses and trains," Kelly said, "so the whole trip will result in even more wear and tear on the commuters and others using mass transit who live in the seven towns of Belleville, Bloomfield, Cedar Grove, Glen Ridge, Montclair, Nutley and Verona. I plan to represent in the next New Jersey Assembly."

"The reports I have received to date indicate that N.J. Public TV ought to have a couple of hours of adequate explanation of how the new TNJ schedules will function," he continued. "Through phone-ins the riding women and men of Essex County and other counties should be able to register their constructive suggestions. The out-of-state, temporary managers of TNJ should have to answer them."

"Some very thoughtful suggestions have been made to me by residents of the seven towns, and I think some consumer representatives ought to be on the panel in the Newark NJPBA studio in addition to the state officials chosen by the outgoing Byrne administration."

Kelly urged former Assemblyman Gordon MacInnis, (D-Morris), present executive inspector of NJPBA, "to start using the taxpayer-funded network to cover the urgent local needs of the whole state and to use public broadcasting stations in the suburbs on which could be aired a series of workshops on such issues as public transportation."

"NJPBA is so expensive for the limited local programming it performs that the time has arrived for the talents of our bright and local people to be used to help improve TNJ," Kelly said.

He added, "For many months, and especially since the state government take-over of TNJ, local men and women have told me about the increasingly deplorable conditions on the buses and trains." TNJ has been neglecting mechanical failures and has not kept its vehicles on accurate schedules which means that many working men and women are frequently late in getting to their jobs."

"As an assemblyman, I will try to see if some recognized level of service can be spelled out and carried out. I know this will not be easy, otherwise it would have been attempted before, but they must upgrade service. I wish there were firm commitments of better service before any fare increases were permitted."

Kelly concluded, "I will have some other specific improvements to suggest regarding TNJ in Essex, but let's see if NJPBA's TV and the officers of TNJ make any effort to get Questions and Answers on TV and radio during June and July."

Views On Dental Health

PHILIP WASSERMAN, D.D.S.

TONGUE THRUST PROBLEMS

Every person swallows some 2,000 times a day. During that swallow, the tongue can exert one to six pounds of pressure. During the correct swallow, the tip of the tongue presses with the force slightly behind the top teeth. The main pressure of the tongue is against the palate. This is good.

During an incorrect swallow, the tongue force is exerted fully against the front teeth. The teeth are not equipped to withstand this type of pressure and may be pushed out of alignment. Also, it may prevent new teeth from erupting properly.

In order to correct this situation, Myofunctional Therapy (sometimes called tongue-thrust therapy) is used for both children and adults. This therapy is designed to retrain the muscles of the tongue, lips and cheeks to properly perform as to strength and placement; to teach correct swallowing patterns; and to instill a permanent, correct swallowing pattern. Tongue thrust can be overcome, but it requires full cooperation by the patient.

In addition, fixed or removable appliances are available to physically restrain the tongue in more severe or persistent cases.

County seeking foster homes to replace closed agencies

Essex County's Division of Youth Services is seeking foster homes for young people aged 12 to 17 who need temporary shelter away from their families.

The foster homes would be used as temporary placements for young people who are facing a disruptive crisis in their own families.

"One of the saddest things I have seen during my term in office is the inhumane dumping of children in institutions," said County Executive Peter Shapiro. "This foster home program, which places children with families, not institutions, provides for placement on an emergency as well as routine basis."

Rebecca Doggett Andrade, Director of Essex County's Department of Citizen Services, explained that foster home placements are part of the County's overall "deinstitutionalized" approach to the problem of abused or troubled youngsters. Youths who were previously housed in the County's Juveniles in Need of Supervision (JINS) facility will now be cared for in the community through a Family Crisis Center, group shelters, social service agencies and foster homes, Andrade said.

The Division of Youth Services will establish a Family Crisis Center which will be staffed 24 hours a day and will screen cases of troubled children. The Family Crisis Center will make referrals to group shelters, social service agencies, foster homes and the juvenile justice system. The Division has contracted with the Protestant Community Council to provide a 10 bed group home. Youngsters with behavioral problems will be referred to the group home; children who are not considered disruptive will be referred to a foster home.

Foster homes must meet space and family size requirements and be available for placement of a youth at all times. The County will pay foster homes a $150 per month retainer and a per diem fee of $10 per child.

"The foster home and family will provide the vital means of enabling the child to remain in the community and receive the benefits of a family environment," said John Clancy, Director of the Division of Youth Services.

"In a foster care situation, a child's physical, emotional and social development can proceed with as little disruption as possible," Clancy said.

Clancy explained that the Family Crisis Center will be notified of domestic problems through referrals from police, social service agencies and a county operated 24 hour hotline. Clancy said that immediately upon receiving notification of a family problem, the Family Crisis Center will assign a case worker to determine what steps must be taken to deal with the problem. Should it be necessary for the youth to be removed from the home, the youngster will enter a foster home or a group home.

The day following the initial crisis, the case will be turned over to one of seven community based social service agencies in Essex County which will work with the division in making appropriate referrals. The seven lead agencies head a network of community based organizations which would help the family and juveniles at the direction of the lead agency.

One of the services to be provided by the community agencies is counseling for all family members involved in the crisis. "By counseling the entire family, we try to alleviate the cause of the crisis, rather than simply picking up the pieces," said Clancy.

The various community agencies would also provide such services as income maintenance, homemaking services, career counseling, job training, legal advice, tutoring and preparation for high school equivalency tests.

"This approach of handling troubled youth is based on an extensive research project which confirmed our belief that children in institutions are extremely vulnerable," Clancy said. "Replacing institutionalization with a closely knit network of agencies designed to alleviate the causes of crises will be much more effective in helping solve the root problems of troubled families," Clancy said.

Persons interested in being foster parents should call the Division of Youth Services at 751-0562.

John Dennis appointed Mongiello's manager

Josephine M. Mongiello, Republican candidate for the New Jersey Assembly from District 30, announced that former Assemblyman John N. Dennis of Verona will serve as her campaign manager.

Mrs. Mongiello, a Councilwoman and Deputy Mayor of Cedar Grove declared that Mr. Dennis, four times elected to the Assembly, had an "outstanding legislative record; he shares my ideals and goals in state government, and I am proud he has agreed to serve in this capacity."

Mr. Dennis was first elected to the Assembly in 1967 and was re-elected in 1969 and in 1971. He was elected again to the Assembly in 1975, serving until 1977.

During his legislative tenure,

Mr. Dennis served as Chairman of the Assembly Banking Committee and as a member of the State Library, Transportation and Communications, Revision and Amendment of Laws, Appropriations and Law, Public Safety and Defense committees.

He has also served on a number of state commissions, including Election Law Revision, Watch Dog Committee on Bond Monies and commissions to study school safety and federal housing for senior citizens.

Mr. Dennis was prime sponsor of a number of bills that became state law, including the Narcotic and Drug Abuse Control Act, an annual state appropriation to aid the Newark Museum, a bill adding 50 state police and a measure to provide personal immunity from damage suits to certain persons working with individuals who are addicted to narcotics.

Commenting on the election November 3 this year, Mr. Dennis said: "Our state government is indeed in a sorry way. We are over-taxed, underprotected on our streets and overregulated in our schools and businesses. We have got to start turning this around. With the election of Tom Kean as our next Governor and of Jo Mongiello and her Republican runningmates, we can do it."

Belleville's past

The Reformed Church was established in 1697. Services were first held by the Rev. G. Berthoff and he served until 1725. A new church was built in 1725 and was located where the present Church stands today. The committee for this new Church were Garrit Weurterse, Frank Van Dyke, Gideon Van Winkle and Hohannes Knoning. The deed for the property was given to the church by Francis and Gatrnya Speer. The new building was a square stone structure with a belfry constructed upon the center of the roof and the sexton, in ringing the bell, stood in the center aisle. The belfry was later removed to a stone tower erected in the north end of the church.

In 1726 the Rev. Henricus Coens was installed as Pastor. It was during his time that the "Schuyler Trust" was established, and to this day the church continues to benefit from the proceeds of this bequest. The Schuylers, who owned the Schuyler Copper Mine in North Arlington, were influential founders of the first church.

In 1735 the Rev. Gerardus Haughhoort was installed as Pastor and he served until his death in 1776. He is buried under the church.

During the Revolutionary Period and until 1784 there was no regular Pastor, services being conducted by the Voorleser or clerk of the church. It was during this period of the Revolutionary War that the church has gained fame for its legendary tunnel under the Passaic River. The tunnel's entrance was in the basement of the church. The American soldiers would use the tunnel to skirmish with the British across the river on the Kearny side. In 1777 a guardhouse was set up near the church and Capt. Abram Speer commanded the Second Essex Regiment of Militia stationed there to guard the river.

In 1784 Rev. Henricus Schoonmaker became Pastor. In June, 1790 the church became incorporated as "The Reformed Dutch Church of Second River." Rev. Peter Stryker was installed as Pastor in 1794. He was the first Pastor to conduct services in other than the Dutch tongue. (Services had been in Dutch until 1794.)

In 1804 a violent tornado destroyed the church so a new edifice was erected and dedicated in 1807. During the period of construction the church was permitted to hold services in the Episcopal Church. This demonstration of the ability to work together in a common cause and in unity with other Faiths, was again demonstrated when in 1835, the use of the Reformed Church was permitted during the building of a new Episcopal Church. The same spirit of friendly cooperation was again evident in 1846 during the rehabilitation of the Methodist Church whose congregation were accorded the use of the Reformed Church.

The present church was erected and dedicated in 1853. The building committee consisted of Messrs. John Van Rensselaer, John H. Joralemon, Nicholas N. Joralemon, John C. Lloyd, James Brown, Sebastian Duncan and Dr. Samuel L. Ward. The first school building was torn down at this time and the material was used to help build the church.

In 1882 some 35 Chinese families became members. They were employed in a laundry across the river. Their children attended Sunday School. The present Chapel was built in 1895, while Rev. Andrew Hageman was Pastor. The dedication service was one of the most impressive events ever witnessed at the Church and included the presentation of several of the memorial windows. The services were of a week long duration and are still a pleasant memory to a few old members.

In 1915 a new organ was purchased with the help of the Carnegie Foundation and is still in use today.

Around this time the Church with its congregation including many prominent citizens of the town, suffered from river pollution causing many to move elsewhere and the buildings to deteriorate until 1926. By 1927 the pollution had been reduced to a minimum and under the leadership of Rev. John Struyk, a program of rehabilitation was begun which when finished, attracted many new members.

The Church today is in its (277th) year of its existence with the Rev. Paul Ruter as Pastor. The cemetery looks like a country estate now. This is a big improvement over the weed covered place it was in 1947. In the early Church years there was a shelter on Rutgers Street for the Parishioners carriages. Now there is a area with entrances on Stephens and Main Streets. Before you pass through the front door, you will notice the plaque with the Revolutionary soldiers names on it, placed there by the Daughters of the American Revolution in 1927. Also a plaque placed in 1972 stating the organization of the congregation in 1697.

EDITOR'S NOTE:

This is a reply to Mrs. William S. Fisher of 22 Duncan Ave., letter which appeared in August 27 edition of The Times.

Mrs. Fisher was correct. Rev. Hechert Freeland's name was left off the the list. He did come after Rev. Hazel Thomas. Records have been corrected.

Rev Frank Shannon is listed 1960-61 in the 175th anniversary booklet of Wesley Methodist church dated Sunday, Feb. 27, 1966.

He could have served two years as did Rev. Clifford Hewitt, 1953-59, and Rev Paul Woodward, 1962-63.

Coach Fuccello's memorable game

Karen Fuccello has been a member of the Belleville sports program for over 12 years now. As a head coach of the girls basketball program, Fuccello has turned that team into one of the most respected in the area. Her nine year mark stands at 102-74 and that hopefully will be even better with a respectable squad returning to the hardwood in November.

Fuccello also heads up the tennis squad and has been in charged of that program for seven years. Obviously Fuccello has seen her share of good games and matches throughout the years, but remembers a game back in 1978 as her most memorable contest.

The game was a Belleville-Nutley girls basketball matchup at Belleville High. The game had particular significance because this was a state battle and the loser would see its 1977-78 season come to an end.

The year 1978 was Fuccello's third season after returning to the reigns of Belleville basketball in 1975. She had taken a year's leave of absence and when she returned, said that the team would need three years before it would return to prominence.

The head coach was exactly right. After back to back 6-16 seasons in 1975 and 1976, the 1977-78 team came through with a 13-7 mark, with that game against Nutley drawing a lot of personal attention. The Raiders have always been a big and bitter rival of the girls and since Nutley was a 27-1 state champ just a year previous, the Bellegirls wanted to win this game desperately.

"We got off to a slow start that year," said Fuccello. "We dropped our first three games of the season, two of which we should have won. After the third loss, I told the girls that we were much better than our record and we will turn it around."

The team did just that, that winning it's next seven straight and with some super players like Denise Juliano, Karen Sciacca, Karen Portuese, Denise Zarra, Michelle Giordano and Patty Connelly the girls had both good height and good speed.

The Maroon was having a better than .500 season that year but nothing near the super squad of a year ago. Nevertheless, Nutley was a big winner over Belleville in their regular season meeting and many of the Nutley girls were pretty confident about victory, even though the game was being played in Belleville High School.

As the game started, the optimism surrounding the Nutley players seemed to be justified. Nutley jumped out to a big lead, while Belleville hit on just one field goal and five foul shots for the entire half. As the intermission horn sounded, Belleville was on the very short end of a 25-7 count.

"I never counted us out of this game," said Fuccello. "I always found that our teams did very well in come from behind efforts and with the home court, I didn't feel we were out of it yet. I decided to employ the full court press in the second half and play man to man defense."

The girls, with a fine press, used it to their advantage and Nutley decided to match the girls by employing their own man to man defense, breaking out of a very successful zone defense that had pretty much bottled up the girls offense in the first half.

The idea worked like a charm from a Belleville standpoint as the girls took control in the second half and grabbed the lead for the first time early in the fourth quarter. "From then on, it was a nip and tuck battle," Fuccello recalled.

Belleville held a two point margin with seconds remaining and had two foul shots coming that would seal victory. "All I could remember from that scene was Karen (Portuese) standing at the side of the foul line and telling me the game was in the bag."

Fuccello could not share that same optimism until the final buzzer and when it sounded Belleville was a two point winner and earned the right to advance to the state quarter final round.

The game was a big step in the revitalization of the Belleville girls basketball program. While Belleville lost in their next game, the season to many of the players had been completed following the victory over the Maroon.

The victory was very big because most of the players from that team were back the following year for Fuccello. That team, in 1978-79, was Fuccello's best, 16-7 and a spot in the Essex County tournaments semi-final round.

"Although 1979 was our best year, a lot was accomplished in 1978. For the first time, we were able to compete well against the tough teams, mainly Montclair and Nutley and with some key wins against those clubs, our program was on the way back. We even beat East Orange that season."

The following year, the girls posted a major victory over Paterson East Side in a continuing effort to upgrade the team. Now, entering the 1981-82 season, the Belleville girls basketball team should be one of the most respected teams in the area.

So, for the sixth time in six years, George Steinbrenner has fired his manager. Gene Michael is gone, perhaps temporarily, and is replaced by interim manager Bob Lemon. As Billy Martin said the other day, "Bob Lemon is my choice for interim manager of the year." He certainly has plenty of practice. Since taking over the Yankees back in 1973, Steinbrenner has fired Bill Virdon, Billy Martin (twice), Lemon, Dick Howser and now Michael. What he is trying to prove is beyond me. The real joke behind this is Steinbrenner's reason to dismiss Michael. "I gave him a chance to keep his job, but he just would not apologize for speaking out against me."

Sounds pretty childish. The Constitution does read that a person has a right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. A man can also speak what he feels. George, you're acting more and more like a king size jack ass every day.

No comment on the play of the Jets and Giants, read the NFL Report for further details.

Here is the answer to last week's quiz.

The question was, when was the last time the St. Louis Cardinals won a pennant and who did they play in the World Series. Also, who was the MVP of that Series. Answer: The Cards played Detroit in the 1968 World Series after winning the National League crown with a 97-65 record. The Cards led the series with a 3-1 mark but lost the next three games. Mickey Lolich of the Tigers, by virtue of his three series wins was the series MVP.

For this week's quiz, let's think back to some happy times for Jets fans, mainly 1968. The Jets had their best record ever that year and of course won the Super Bowl. Now, can you name the Jets' record of 1968, who they beat in the AFL title game, what the score of that game was and the player who scored the most points in the Super Bowl win?

Belleville Bucs open pre-season with pair of scrimmage contests

Stressing the need for depth, the Belleville football team began week number two of training for the 1981 gridiron season.

The Bucs opened up its pre-season with a scrimmage against Perth Amboy yesterday afternoon. It's up to Caldwell on Saturday for a tri-scrimmage that will also include Shabazz.

John Senesky's troops began its first week of training with pads after the boys competed in the annual decathlon last Monday at BHS. For the second straight year, Jeff Walsh was the leader, piling over 1000 points, the only Buc to break that mark this season.

The decathlon is a fitness test that measures the boys' abilities in running and weight lifting. Nine athletes did break the tough 900 point barrier.

Seniors Anthony Guarino, Tom Apicella, Joe Murphy and John Bucciarelli cleared that hurdle while four juniors, Ray Kimble, Bob Dalla Riva, Ron Charles and Steve Sorce and one sophomore, John Guarino compiled some pretty impressive scores.

Following the decathlon, the team handed out pads and actual hitting took place. The boys competed in double sessions all of last week, and Senesky was happy with certain aspects of the workout.

"We had good weather to start with," the coach said. "It wasn't that hot and it made it a little easier for the boys."

Senesky said that the team is working to build depth and make the squad as deep as possible.

"We're hoping to use a different offense and defense in the scrimmages," he said. "This way, a lot of players will see action and we'll (the coaches) will see what the kids can do."

The Bucs had an intersquad scrimmage last Friday and Senesky pointed out that there isn't much time before the start of the regular season on September 26 against Livingston at Livingston High School.

"That's why we don't want to have too many scrimmages," he said.

Ready for Action — A Belleville Buc sets up on the line of scrimmage during a recent football practice at Municipal Stadium. Head Coach John Senesky has his troops working a double shift to prepare for the upcoming season which starts September 26 at Livingston High School. The only loss which the Bucs faced during the regular season last year was to the Lancers of Livingston.

"As a team, we have a lot of things to work on and time is getting thin."

Stressing fundamentals is the main goal of the early workouts.

Senesky also wants to establish some communication amongst the players, thus making their job on the field that much more easier.

"Against a team like Livingston, which relies on a strong passing game to generate its offense, we have to be able to communicate on the field," he said. "These are very important weeks and we'll have a lot to work on."

Decision on athletic leagues due to be announced in mid-October

A decision which will have a major effect on Belleville High School athletic teams will be made next month, when officials from two New Jersey athletic leagues review the Bucs applications for admission.

Officials from the Northern New Jersey Interscholastic League (NNJIL) and the Iron Hills Conference, will be making their decision on which teams to accept in their leagues by the middle of October, and Belleville sports directors have sent applications into both leagues, in hope that they can end their independent status.

Officials from the NNJIL also had an interview with Belleville High School athlete and administrative officials to discuss the school's application.

"In the middle of July, officials from the Northern New Jersey Interscholastic League called us for an interview," said Belleville Athletic Director James Silvestri, who filed the application, "and now we will just have to wait and see what their decision is. We are very interested in joining a league, but I really don't know what our chances are."

The Bucs have been without a league since the dissolution of the Big Ten Conference four years ago. Since that time Silvestri has had a difficult time arranging a sports schedule each season. This year the football team will travel to upstate

New York for a game to fill their nine-game schedule. One of the reasons for the problems with the scheduling is that many of the team which originally belonged to the Big Ten Conference, have joined other leagues, therefore leaving no dates for the Bucs to fill.

Silvestri feels that by joining a conference, Belleville has nothing to lose and everything to gain.

"There are pros and cons to everything," Silvestri said, "but joining a league would make it much easier for everyone and really be a boost for the kids."

"By joining a conference the kids and the school could become more recognized throughout the state," he continued. "By winning a conference title you bring more attention to the athletes and to the school which they perform for. It also helps make the scheduling job easier."

"Instead of having to just get the officials and the buses," he said, "I will not have to find teams to play. All around it is better for everyone involved."

The NNJIL includes Bloomfield and Bergen County schools, while the Iron Hills Conference includes Columbia and other teams from the Morris County area. Silvestri said that both leagues have teams which would be competitive to Belleville.

Both leagues contain group IV schools," said Silvestri, "which makes up the largest schools in the state. The leagues would prove a good challenge to our athletes, which is one standard which we have been looking for in a league."

Silvestri has to be careful about the teams which he does schedule, making sure BHS does not lose its state status as a top competitor in varsity sports.

Should the Bucs be accepted into both leagues, Silvestri says he will sit down with members of the School Board and his coaches to decide which league to enter.

"It would be a tough to decide, since we do not have a league in mind," Silvestri said.

But back in April when the School Board sat down with Silvestri to approve the applications to the two leagues, he said his coaches preferred the Iron Hills Conference, since it would be easier to travel to the games.

Most of the Iron Hills team are accessible by Route 280, and there was also talk that it would generate more cable TV coverage for the Bucs.

"Right now we will just wait and see what happens, and then we will make a decision," Silvestri replied. "We may turn up empty."

Should that happen than Belleville, like others schools, because of a state mandate would be able to appeal the decision of the league officials. But Silvestri does not know if Belleville would take that step. And it may not even come down to that.

Cosmos' corner

By Mike Lambert

Before the Cosmos and Tampa Bay began their quarter final playoff series, many writers felt that the teams would split their first two games. After all, the Cosmos has won but once in nine tries in Tampa while the Rowdies were winless against the Cosmos in Giants Stadium.

Taking a look at the paper, you'll see that the teams did split their first two games, but it didn't happen in the expected fashion. Last Wednesday, the Cosmos were 6-3 winners over the Rowdies in Tampa Stadium but last Saturday were stunned by the Rowdies, 3-2 in Giants Stadium.

Yesterday, the Cosmos attempted to dispose of the Rowdies and advance to the semi-final round. Should Tampa have won that game, they will have pulled the biggest upset of the 1981 season and will go to the semi-finals.

Before the series began, there were rumors of dissension on the Cosmos team. A lot of respect towards head coach Hennis Weisweiler had been lost, Giorgio Chinaglia, the team spokesman and unofficial head coach seemed to be taking over and many players weren't happy with their playing status.

But the Cosmos put that all behind them and played a flawless match in defeating the Rowdies at Tampa Stadium. Steve Wergle was the hero of the game as the ex-Rowdie tallied twice in leading the Cosmos to an early 4-0 lead they never relinquished. The Cosmos offense, which was AWOL for a few weeks prior to this contest made a big return as Rowdie goalkeeper Kevin "Cat" Keelan had a very unmemorable evening in front of the home crowd. What made the game even more surprising was thea Chinaglia, the NASL scoring champ, was held goalless.

So, the Cosmos returned to Giants Stadium before some 39,000 fans in an attempt to dispose of the Rowdies in two straight games. It appeared that the Cosmos were in the driver's seat. Even Rowdie head coach Gordon Jago admitted his club was a little down following the game in Tampa.

However, if the Rowdies were down, it didn't show on the outside. Luis Fernando, the team's top scorer, tallied early in the contest, beating Hubert Birkenmeier point blank for a 1-0 lead.

Later in the first half, the Rowdies upped the margin to 2-0 before Bob Iarucci of the Cosmos headed a ball past Keelan to cut the deficit to 2-1 at halftime. The Cosmos goal was a bit controversial as it appeared that Keelan made the save, but a replay of the goal showed the ball did just barely cross the line.

The Cosmos were very lucky to be that close last Saturday at halftime. Tampa Bay could have easily taken a 4-1 or 5-1 halftime lead, but Birkenmeier, as usual, was there to make some key saves and the Rowdies had one goal called back for offside and barely missed two more when a ball hit the post and later a Frank Worthington header just nicked the cross bar.

Late in the second half, Julio Caesar Romero knotted the contest at two when he beat Keelan on a neat shot into the corner of the net. Romero pulled up lame, however, and Rick Davis took his place. The two teams went into overtime and then to the unlucky shootout where the Rowdies pulled out the win.

For Birkenmeier, the match was more like a war than a game. For starters, he sprained his ankle in the second half running for a loose ball. Later, on the Rowdies goal that was called back, Birkenmeier crashed into the post trying to make the save. Finally, if that wasn't enough, Hubert made a save but a Rowdie player tried to kick the all out of his hands and instead kicked him in the face, touching off a mild brawl in which defender Jeff Durgan was awarded a yellow card.

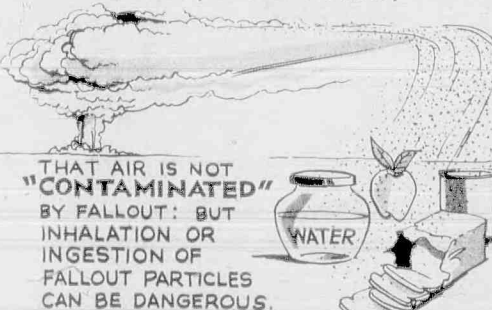

Birkenmeier was nearly unconscious following the kick, but stayed in the game. However, he appeared to be in another world during the shootout as four Rowdies put the ball into the net.

Thus, the Cosmos had their backs to the wall, knowing a loss to the Rowdies would spell sure disaster for 1981. However, what some fans must realize is that the Cosmos are not getting worst, the other teams in the NASL are getting better. There was a time that five or six teams were threats in the league, now 10 or 11 clubs pose legitimate problems. The Rowdies, by virtue of their opening round victory over the tough Vancouver Whitecaps, are no pushovers and will be a major obstacle for the Cosmos to overcome.

COSMOS CHATTER: Jago, the Rowdies coach, termed his club's play "very professional" in the Giants Stadium win. "Even when they tied the game late in the second half, we played well and stuck together. Personally, we shouldn't have let the game go the the shootout." Chinaglia has yet to score a goal in the playoffs. Weisweiler felt that his team was a bit weary when it came to the overtime. Chico Borja, Roberto Cabanas and Angelo D'Bernardo are all injured. D'Bernardo is out for the year, having torn ligaments in the victory over Tampa Bay and being operated on three days later. Wim Rjesibergen is also hurt but the Dutch defender feels he's ready to crack the starting line up again. Romero has a pulled hamstring and was questionable for last night's game.

Giants-Jets fans face very long, long season

By Mike Lambert

Oh man, it's going to be a long, long season. For Jets and Giants fans, if their opener was any indication, 1981 might indeed be one to forget. Just like 1980 was on to forget, just like 1979, 1978 and so on, and so on and so on.

On the basis of the Giants 24-10 loss and the Jets 31-0 setback to Philadelphia and Buffalo respectively, some evaluations can be made. Now first of all, the Eagles and Bills are two of the NFL's best, as a matter of fact, they're my choice of the 1982 Super Bowl.

But if the local clubs are to be winners, they have to beat those clubs, or at least give them a good game. The Giant contest started off well for the locals. Before a Giant Stadium sellout, the Giants looked impressive on offense the first two times down the field, scoring a field goal on the second possession and playing a fine defensive game.

Then suddenly, the turnovers, the penalties and the mistakes happened and it was old news for the Giants again. First round draft pick Lawrence Taylor played well at linebacker and Phil Simms did a fairly good job at Quarterback, but the Giants just made too many mistakes against too good a team like Philly.

Out in Buffalo, the Bills proved that they're a definite Super Bowl threat while the Jets proved that Richard Todd is a bigger mistake each week. The Jets got absolutely no offense from Todd and before everyone thinks I'm picking on Todd, all you needed to do to back up my statement was to watch the game last Sunday. The Jets trailed, 10-0 at halftime, thanks to a strong defense which kept Joe Ferguson and company under wraps for most of the half. However, no defense can keep as good an offense as Buffalo quiet the entire game, especially when the Jet offense spends very little time on the field.

The next two Bill touchdowns came on a Todd interception and a Todd fumble on a fourth and a millimeter. Now go ahead and blame the defense for that. On one play, Todd had Wesley Walker wide open some 40 yards down field, but threw the ball to the fan in the first row of the stands.

Finally, the Bills head coach, Chuck Knox, seeing that he has a fine backup QB in Matt Robinson, played the former Jet for a good part of the fourth quarter. Robinson kept the ball on the ground, but mixed the plays well and the Bills kept possession for the last six and a half minutes. Finally, Robinson is playing for a coach who intends to use him properly, not like Walt Michaels who plays Todd the entire game, no matter what the score is, and no matter how ineffective the man is.

While Buffalo is a super ball club and Robinson is associated with a good coach, the Jets will host the Bengals this Sunday in their home opener and should they play like this again this week, it's going to be another disaster in Queens.

Checking out some other games in the NFL, the Houston Oilers might have some problems off the field, but they played well enough to stop the Rams, 27-20 in Anaheim.

You can't grow grass without grass seed!

All lawns need an annual program of lawn care and every program must contain both granular and spray. Some chemicals work better when applied in a granular form, and others, like weed controls and post emergent crab grass controls, work better in a liquid form. All lawns also require periodic aeration and seed, but only Lawn King gives all these via LAWN COMBINE & SPRAY — THE BETTER WAY! WE KNOW IT'S THE ONLY WAY!!!

We are chemical applicators, not miracle workers. We know what your lawn needs and when it needs it. What you see in the program, is what you get. Top quality chemicals and seed — only the best — that's all we use. There's no such thing as "specially formulated for drought."

Aeration, seed, lime, Fungus controls and grub controls are part of our program — not options at extra cost when you need them. By the time you know you need them it's too late anyway. No slopes please. If we can't aerate twice a year we can't help you.

There's a one time charge if you need any extras like a preparatory service, extra seed or additional lime. We may not be the cheapest lawn service around but we are the only ones who give your lawn everything it needs at a price you can afford to pay. You can figure your costs from the chart below. No contracts to sign, no guarantees, no promises, no slopes, and no nonsense. Pay from service to service or prepay for the year and we'll give you a 5% discount too!

owner of Brighton Estates, "And then you hear a case anyway," he said, referring to the fact that the landlord in that case had not received state certification. DeTufo was absent from last week's meeting.

Board member Edith DeFeo agreed that the certification law, which was included in an amendment the commissioners adopted in April, was a burden. "I don't think that's right," she said.

DeFeo also favored fuel and tax surcharges to tenants in accordance with related increases to their landlords. The outspoken board member added that she would prefer a system of rent decontrol for vacated apartments, rather than the existing parity law.

DeFeo said decontrol would be the "same as parity," with one difference being that landlords would not require approval of the Rent Board to raise rents on vacated apartments.

Under parity, a landlord may raise the rent on an apartment, with the board's okay, to equal the rent on a comparable apartment. In the past, tenants have expressed fears that decontrol would open the door to greedy landlords, allowing them to demand unreasonably high rents.

DeFeo, however, said she did not think landlords would "go overboard" if decontrol were approved.

The issue of the existing six percent ceiling on annual rent increases, excluding hardships and capital improvements, was not brought up at Thursday's meeting.

President's new budget cuts causes worry among local welfare officials stamps, energy assistance and general welfare assistance in the township would be affected by cuts in those areas.

But last week the state Department of Human Services announced that, of the county's 37,983 welfare recipients, 2,337 would lose all benefits, and another 1,616 would have their assistance reduced. These figures included households on the Aid to Families with Dependent Children program, which comprises the largest area of welfare subsidies.

The department also announced that nearly 1,700 food stamp recipients in the county would be dropped from the program.

Regardless, though, of how many families and individuals will feel the impact of the cuts, which O'Toole said would make survival "almost impossible" for some of the elderly, she opposed the service reductions on a philosophical level.

"The government has been giving and giving," the welfare director said. "You don't give and then stop."

She also pointed out an apparent incongruity between scientific advancement and social stagnation.

"Modern medicine keeps them alive longer and society is killing them," she said.

Yet, despite the obstacles to smooth operation, either inherent or habitual, of the welfare director's job, O'Toole is hopeful for change rather than cynical.

Confronted with what they see as mismanagement, waste and inefficiency, at every level of welfare's bureaucratic hierarchy, local officials clearly know what they want, though the means often appear illusive or even unobtainable.

One point of contention between local welfare systems and agencies operating at the state and federal levels, is the localization of human service centers.

"Washington and Trenton abhor the word 'decentralization,'" said Michael Ippolito, the local department's case worker.

The food stamp program is just one area of human services where, the officials said, decentralization would be advantageous.

Although a food stamp coordinator visits the township twice monthly, recipients must go to the main office, in Newark, for identification photos and recertification. Ippolito noted that, in some cases, recertification was required every few months.

The inconvenience of frequent visits to Newark, especially difficult for some elderly recipients, is compounded by the fact that the office is located in the high-crime district of south Broad Street. Ippolito and O'Toole each mentioned instances in which their clients had been mugged, turning a trip for financial assistance into a harrowing experience.

On other occasions, the perils of their periodic peregrinations are for nought. Ippolito said that for one six-week stretch, the county office was without film for the camera and that such breakdowns occur with annoying consistency.

But the biggest breakdown may be one of communication, namely between central and local agencies. "The county doesn't inform the municipality of its programs," said O'Toole, noting she had been caught off-guard by prospective applicants on several occasions, unaware that a specific program even existed.

She also cited the county welfare agency for failing to inform its clients on a number of issues. For example, O'Toole said welfare recipients received no preparation for switching from the county to the local welfare rolls, which occurs when a client's children surpass the age of dependency. Under county welfare, recipients may qualify for Medicaid assistance, but this is not so under local welfare guidelines.

The attitude of the county welfare agency is "totally unresponsive," said Ippolito. He charged it with devoting too much time to referral, and not enough to service.

"There are too many referral agencies," he said, describing what he called an "overlap of services" in a Kafkaesque county bureaucracy.

"Only one referral agency is needed," said O'Toole, and "we should be it."

Pro football is back again

How about the Kansas City Chiefs stopping Pittsburgh and Baltimore edging New England in Foxboro to start a brand new NFL season. The NFL's first week is usually filled with upsets, and this was no exception, but for some other clubs, 1981 should be filled with excitement.

Now for this week's picks: Pittsburgh at Miami: The Dolphins host the Pittsburgh Steelers tonight in the Orange Bowl and it's still hard to believe that the Steelers are through. Miami is coming off a 20-7 win over St. Louis and will be primed in front of the home crowd. Should be close, Pittsburgh 28-24.

Cincinnati at Jets: The Bengals rallied from an early 21-0 deficit to stop Seattle and the morale has to be better than what the Jets are feeling. Cincy is an up and coming club while the Jets need this game very badly. Already this is a must situation and perhaps they can pull it out. Jets 24-20.

Giants at Washington: The Skins are reeling following its loss at Dallas while the Giants need a good performance to boost the team spirit. The Giants usually do well against Skins, but with Riggins, Washington and Metcalf, it might be too much. Washington, 17-10.

Houston at Cleveland: Should be a classic shootout with Stabler battling Sipe and a lot of balls in the air. Look for a lot of points and the home field advantage the decisive factor. Cleveland 27-24.

Buffalo at Baltimore: Can the Colts make it two straight? With Bert Jones, anything is possible. The Bills are riding high, very high, could be in for a possible letdown. However, Buffalo has depth and a world of talent. Buffalo 31-27.

The rest of the NFL should be something like this. Atlanta over Green Bay, San Francisco over Chicago, Seattle by a field goal over Denver, San Diego to sky over the Lions, L.A. to handle to New Orleans, New England to upset Philly, Tampa Bay to oust Kansas City, and Oakland to rebound against the Vikings. Look for major upset as Dallas stumbles against St. Louis. Catch you next week.

Clara Maass to offer free eye testing for glaucoma and cataracts on Sept. 23

Clara Maass Memorial Hospital will hold a free eye clinic to test for glaucoma and cataracts 1-5 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 23. Participants will register in the main lobby of the hospital and be escorted to the examination site by volunteers.

The annual screening at the Belleville hospital tests for evidence of any eye disease or systemic disease reflected in the eye. The program is open to all persons over 35 who are not already under the care of an eye specialist.

Participants in the eye screening should be aware that it is not a complete eye examination. The testing detects many but not all abnormal conditions. If a positive diagnosis is made, treatment or followup by a physician is recommended.

Two major causes of blindness are glaucoma and cataracts. One out of every eight blind persons is a victim of glaucoma. Most of them had normal vision most of their lives and lost their sight because of undetected glaucoma.

The disease known as the "sneak thief" involves the building up of fluid pressure in the eyeball. If glaucoma is detected in the early stages, it can be controlled to prevent blindness.

Older members of the population should be tested since it can steal sight without one's being aware of its presence.

Cataract is a clouding of the lens within the eyeball blocking passage of light rays necessary for sight. There are no pills, ointments or drops which will dissolve, absorb, retard or prevent the progress of the cataract. The only known cure is surgery.

Although a delicate operation, cataract surgery has been perfected to a point where it is safe and effective. The results of surgery are dramatic in restoring sight.

No advance registration is necessary for the screening. For more information, call 751-1000, extension 817.

WHAT IS HYPERTENSION?

Hypertension is the medical term for high blood pressure. It occurs when the pressure the heart needs to pump blood is higher than normal. People who have untreated hypertension are more likely to suffer from heart disease and stroke. High blood pressure can be detected with regular blood pressure checks. The risk of heart disease and stroke can be reduced with treatment to control high blood pressure. Contact your local American Heart Association for more information.

Sen. Orechio opens headquarters Friday

Senator Carmen A. Orechio (D-Essex) has officially signaled the start of his campaign for re-election by announcing the opening of his district-wide campaign headquarters. The event will take place tomorrow night at 7:30 p.m. at the Sunbank Building on Chestnut Street.

Senator Orechio, who serves as Senate Majority Leader, is seeking his third term in the senate.

Bob Noonan, the senator's campaign manager, stated "We are anticipating a tremendous turnout to help us kick off the campaign. I have never known the Senator to ask a constituent's party affiliation when he has been asked for assistance. It is only fitting, then, that we extend an invitation to everyone — regardless of their political persuasion — to come on out and help us celebrate."

The office will serve as the central campaign headquarters for the seven towns served by the senator in the 30th District — Nutley, Montclair, Belleville, Bloomfield, Verona, Cedar Grove and Glen Ridge. Additionally, it will serve as the Nutley Democratic headquarters for the entire Democratic ticket which is headed by the gubernatorial candidate, Jim Florio.

All of the Democratic district candidates have been invited to the opening. They are assembly candidates Mary Senatore, Assemblyman Buddy Fortunato, and freeholder candidate Vincent Pirone, in addition to the entire at-large freeholder slate.

Refreshments will be served and the public is invited to attend. Additional information may be obtained by calling 235-1166.

Belleville man ordered to rehabilitation center

A 20-year-old Belleville man has been convicted of the August 8 burglary at Gino's Pizza Parlor, 543 Washington Ave., and ordered to become a resident of Discovery House, a drug rehabilitation center in Marlborough.

Frank Del Re, of 31 Preston St., who has a history of drug abuse, also was convicted of striking Office Christopher Kondeck and preventing him from making an arrest on August 1.

Del Re was given two suspended jail sentences of 180-days for the burglary and the incident with the officer.

Del Re also was fined $100 for disorderly conduct, committed on August 1. He was ordered to remain at Discovery House until his treatment is complete.

In other court business, the case of a Newark man has been referred to a grand jury stemming from charges of possession of 36 white pills, a controlled dangerous substance, with intended to sell them.

The man is being held in Essex County Jail in lieu of $1,000 bail.

James Colabelli, 189 Homes St., was fined $100 for issuing a bad check, of $188.80, to the National Siding Corporation, 94 Stephens St., on October 14, 1980.

Glen Russomanno, 14 Valley Rd., Nutley, was fined $75 and another $25 for the state's violent crimes fund, in connection with an assault and battery committed on August 10.

The case of a Belleville man, who allegedly threatened a woman with the words, "I'm going to get you," while holding a knife, has been referred to a grand jury. The man was released on his own recognizance.

A Newark woman, Helenmary Hart, 24, of 544 No. 11 St., was fined $300 and given a 20-day suspended sentence for stealing four state police barricades from Branch Brook Park on August 15.

County freeholder president looks for strict prison terms

Essex Freeholder President Jerome D. Greco this week stepped up his campaign to create special county crime units aimed at removing the career criminal from society.

The Verona lawmaker also set forth a controversial proposal which, if enacted, would mandate severe prison sentences, including lifetime suspension of drivers' licenses, for anyone convicted of alcohol-induced auto accidents involving loss of life or serious injury.

Greco said he has, in his testimony before the State Democratic Platform Committee, urged "immediate" consideration of his proposals.

Career criminal divisions, as envisioned by the freeholder, would be established, with state assistance, in all New Jersey counties and empowered and structured to deal exclusively with serious crimes perpetrated by recidivists, persons repeatedly convicted of felonies.

To support his proposal, Greco cites Norfolk County, Mass., where a similar program has been successful in obtaining a 94 percent conviction rate, with 91 percent of all defendants being sent to jail.

D.A. staffs assigned to these offices have lighter caseloads than other divisions, there is no plea bargaining and jail terms are always recommended.

"The race is on in our society to see who controls the streets, indeed our lives," said Greco. "Unless society takes stern steps soon, the race will be over and the masters will be the barbarians from within. Creation of these special forces is a step toward heading off that awful fate."

Greco said he called for stiff sentences in dealing with "drunken highway killers and maimers" in light of recent publicity over lenient sentences given persons convicted of alcohol-caused vehicular homicides.

Greco cited as an example of liberal sentencing one California man convicted twice of drunken vehicular manslaughter who received two 35-day jail sentences and temporary license suspension.

"Somebody has got to speak for the victims of alcohol-related car accidents," said Greco. "Society has to demand retribution. I don't think jail sentences and lifetime suspension of licenses is too severe. Perhaps we should require those guilty of causing these accidents, to work in hospitals with the victims — especially children."

Greco said the proposal was targeted especially to those convicted of hit and run accidents.
